Ex-wife of dope addict reveals love, hopes, fears

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of a three-part series on the effect of drugs on the individual, the family and society as a whole. In this portion of the series, the ex-wife of a drug addict — herself a non-user — tells, in her own words, the effect of drugs on her family. For obvious reasons, she requested that she not be identified in the article.

By CARLA WALKER

"He wasn't the average drug addict — he had a good job, never resorted to hocking our belongings except once — but it was just impossible to live with someone that you couldn't be sure of on a day to day basis."

"I was never afraid of him, but particularly since he was the husband and provider, it was difficult never knowing if tomorrow he'd be spending all the money, or maybe not even coming home at all."

"I know he loved me and the children and that he felt terribly guilty, but he just couldn't quit. I told him over and over that no center or doctor or law officer or family member could get him off heroin until he really wanted to be over. I guess he just never wanted it bad enough."

The young woman, who says she never took drugs, knew that her husband used drugs before they were married, but still married him.

"I knew what he could be when he wasn't on drugs. He was loving, kind, gentle and always very generous with everyone he knew. I thought that as time went on, life would be important enough to him not to abuse it. I guess I'll believed what I want to, but I still think that someday he could leave them alone. I just couldn't wait around any longer, couldn't take any more of the ups and downs, so I left him."

"...I just couldn't wait any longer, couldn't take any more of the ups and downs, so I left him."

"Sometimes a period of as much as six months would go by without him shooting up with heroin. I would have convinced myself that THIS TIME was it — he was through with drugs for good. Then, he would come home all hyperactive just coming down off a high, and I'd know all my hopes were shot down."

"I always knew when he had been doing drugs. He would always deny it, but I still knew because of the nervous gestures, rubbing his nose, and fast talking. He was hyperactive anyway, and it was just multiplied that much more when he was coming off a high. We argued about drugs, but there was no way to have a rational discussion when he first came home because his mind wasn't clear enough to think straight. Mostly, I would just not speak to him any more than I had to until he was more rational. I would try to give him love and support, thinking that if he loved me enough — and cared enough for himself, he would try to change."

"And, I believe he honestly tried, but pressure always seemed to get to him. When things would go wrong, he couldn't handle the pressure and he'd use heroin as a way to forget everything for just a little while."

"I was always worried about him. He never mistreated me or our children, but I was so afraid of what the drugs were doing to his mind and body and scared that sometime he might take an overdose. I had to look out for myself and the children — that is why I divorced him, but more than anything else I was afraid for him. His whole body would change when he was doing drugs; he couldn't relax and he was an entirely different person.

"He never did drugs at home, so I never saw him when he was really high — he was always coming down when he got home. The children were too young to understand and they never saw him doing drugs. He knew I didn't do them — didn't like him to — and he didn't want the children to see him in that shape. The children just knew he was their father, that is still all they know and they love him deeply, as I did and still do."

"Maybe it is difficult to understand how I could love someone who was doing something as wrong as drugs are. I didn't feel sorry for him or stay with him out of pity, but I knew how much he was hurting inside and I couldn't bring myself to hurt him more by leaving him. I loved him too much to do that, and for the longest time, even too much to admit to myself that I had to disregard that feeling and leave him if the kids and I were to have any kind of life. Maybe

"...drugs have destroyed our chance to make a life together."

now he'll realize how much he had to lose, because I know he loves the children and me."

"I'm still standing beside him — he needs that now as much as he ever did did, but I am not emotionally able to live in a marriage relationship with someone addicted to drugs. If he came back and proved that he had changed, I might take him back, but I'm not sure what time period it would take for him to prove to me that the change was permanent."

"More than time would have to be involved. With him, pressure was the factor that made him turn back to drugs. I've tried to show him that he can handle pressure — other people do every day — but he will have to convince himself. Then, if he withstood the pressures and managed to convince me, we might be able to get back together."

"I guess that is probably not too realistic. After almost 10 years of using drugs as a crutch for daily living, it will be very difficult for him to change. I'll help him any way I can, and I'll keep hoping."

"I don't ever again want to get involved with anyone who is on drugs. I remember too well the times when he would stay gone days at a time or maybe be gone every other day for about three months. He left town once and I found out where he went and followed him. We stayed away six months and he was not taking drugs all that time. That was before the children were born, and while we were away, I found out I was pregnant. Of course, I wanted to be around my family then so we moved back.

Local policeman shoots cyclist following chase

By JAMES WERRELL

A policeman's bullet ended the flight of a speeding local motorcyclist Saturday night.

Paul Eugene Merrell, 25, 2306 Lynn, is in stable condition in the intensive care unit of Malone-Hogan Hospital with a bullet wound in his lower left chest.

According to Police Capt. Jim McCain, the incident began just before 6 p.m. when Patrolman Michael Crawford spotted Merrell seated on his motorcycle near the Airport Grocery, 3107 West Highway 80.

As Crawford drove past the grocery in his patrol car, Merrell sped away east toward the Howard County Fairgrounds. Crawford followed and the chase led to 11th where the motorcycle took to a dirt trail headed toward Fourth.

Crawford continued in hot pursuit, but lost control of his car between Fourth and 11th, crashing, and wrenching his back. The officer also was later admitted to Malone-Hogan Hospital, and will remain there to recuperate for several days.

Meanwhile, the motorcycle reportedly traveled the wrong way on Fourth to FM 700 where another patrol car driven by Officer Mike Eggleston picked up the chase. The pursuit continued toward Malone-Hogan Hospital, through the parking lot, and onto near-by canyon paths east of the hospital.

During the chase along the curving paths, Eggleston also lost control of his auto which became stuck in a ravine.

Alerted to the chase, three patrolmen and a reserve officer entered the canyon on foot.

According to McCain, Patrolmen Dusty Choate and Ray Meek spotted the fleeing Merrell, drew their pistols, and ordered him to stop.

"As far as we know now (10 p.m., Saturday) only two shots were fired. Patrolman Meek fired into the air, and Patrolman Choate fired into the area he judged to be in front of the motorcycle," said McCain. "It was at a distance of about 150 yards. We haven't ruled out the possibility that Merrell was hit by a ricochet shot," he added.

Despite being wounded, Merrell continued to try to elude officers. He stopped only when confronted by Patrolman Robert Carouth and Reserve Officer Mike Dawson, on foot, and with pistols drawn.

Merrell was taken to the emergency room of Malone-Hogan Hospital where he was kept under guard while being treated.

He faces charges of fleeing and eluding arrest, several traffic violations including failure to stop and render aid in the major accident involving Patrolman Crawford.

"Our investigation is far from complete, but we don't anticipate any disciplinary action against any of our officers," said McCain Saturday night.

Action/reaction: Rock(y) relaxer

Q. Are all those rocks at Howard College pet rocks or 'Rock of Ages'?

A. Nothing. This question has been answered twice in a news story and once in this column. The money for the rocks, the fence and plants in the landscaping project was all donated by persons interested in helping beautify the college campus. None of it came from tax monies, so the rock haters and the rock lovers can all relax.

HONOLULU (AP) — It's not unusual for a couple to be nervous during their wedding ceremony. But Donna Erickson and William Lewis had extra reason while they took their vows.

They were married Monday night amidst a half-dozen lions and tigers inside the lion cage at the International 3-Ring Circus. The couple was selected for the circus wedding in a promotion by a local radio station.

The 19-year-old bride, attired in white gown and veil, said she wasn't sure if she was more nervous because of the animals or because of being kissed in front of several thousand cheering circus-goers.

The bridegroom, a 20-year-old Army sergeant, looked as if he wished he were on maneuvers.

The minister didn't mind at all; he stood outside the cage.

Next pope black?

If the next pope of the Roman Catholic Church comes from some place other than Italy, he could be black — and what a revolutionary development that would be.

The idea of a non-Italian pope was broached by the late pontiff himself, who played a considerable role in internationalizing the college of cardinals after his election in 1963.

A black prospect for the job of leading the world's 709 million Roman Catholics is the archbishop of Quagadougou in Upper Volta, Cardinal Paul Zougrana.

Many think, however, that if the talents of a non-Italian are tapped, it will be the Frenchman, Jean Villot, who served as the Vatican's secretary of state under Pope Paul.

Four Herald staffers garner awards at press convention

The Big Spring Herald collected two firsts, a second and a third at the West Texas Press Association Better Newspaper contest in Kerrville Saturday.

For the second year in a row, James Werrell and Marj Carpenter shared a first in news writing, this time for the Galaviz shooting story, published on Dec. 9, 1977.

Marj Carpenter also won first place in columns in the small daily category for the second straight year for her "Ridin' Fence." Her entries were "Fifteen Years Ago" on the anniversary of the Estes arrest and "For All the Beautiful" written after a Webb plane crash.

Danny Valdes, chief photographer at the Big Spring Herald, placed second in over-all photography in two consecutive issues. The newspapers are judged for all the local pictures in two back-to-school issues to denote day-to-day excellence in photography.

Tommy Hart, editor of the Big Spring Herald, who received the awards for the Herald, at the award's breakfast in Kerrville, won third place in columns for his "Hearts and Flowers."

Manhunt follows smash

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 100 law enforcement officers searched the woods around Lake Houston early Saturday for a man who led authorities on a high-speed automobile chase in which a reserve deputy was killed when his car smashed into two trees.

The search was called off when police failed to find the man they were pursuing, but authorities vowed to continue the manhunt.

"He got through us somehow," said Harris County Sheriff's Capt. T.C. Jones. "But we know who he is. It's just a matter of time. We'll get him."

The reserve deputy, James A. Weir, died Friday when the patrol car in which he was riding crashed on FM 1960 near Lake Houston.

Weir, who would have been 37 today, was food service director for the Cy-Fair Independent School District.

Deputy T.D. Twyman, driver of the car in which Weir was a passenger, was injured in the crash. He was listed in good condition at a local hospital.

Police said the incident began about 11:30 p.m. Friday when officers entered a Houston lounge to investigate reports of someone impersonating a police officer and the chase ensued.

Big D assassination test

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas police marksmen will fire shots from the old Texas School Book Depository building into sand traps early Sunday morning as acoustics experts try to determine whether more than three shots were fired in Dealey Plaza Nov. 22, 1963 when President John Kennedy was assassinated.

The secretive audio test was provoked by a police radio recording made during the assassination. Some people have said the recording indicates a fourth shot was fired.

The Warren Commission determined that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, fired three shots at the president from the depository. Tests were made that apparently proved that three shots could be fired in the proper time span from the bolt-action Mannlicher-Carcano rifle—the commission said Oswald used.

Dallas marksmen are expected to fire Italian rifles similar to the one the Warren Commission said was the lone gun fired.

A battery of microphones will be used at the sealed-off site Sunday, and their recordings will be analyzed by the Boston firm of Bolt, Beranek and Newman. That company also analyzed the 18½-minute gap on former President Richard Nixon's White House tapes.

Accused killers nabbed

DALLAS (AP) — Police said two Dallas men, among the 25 arrested during a Thursday night drug raid, are believed to be the ones who shot and killed a Denton pharmacist June 7.

Sheriff Carl Thomas said the two men, ages 17 and 21, were charged with capital murder in connection with the death of Leo Kemp, who police said was ordered to lie on the floor in back of the pharmacy and shot three times after a small quantity of drugs was removed from the store.

Authorities said they found a hand-drawn map during the raid showing a possible entry into a Waxahachie hospital and the word "Drugs" penciled on the map.

Both men were transferred to the Denton County Jail and were still behind bars Saturday night.

Little Matt's burial

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Two-year-old Matthew Schrier was buried Saturday as his father, accused of sexually abusing him, sat handcuffed nearby. Attorneys who battled over detaching the child from a life-support system served as pallbearers.

The comatose youngster's heart gave out Thursday while he still was attached to a respirator, ending a seven-week ordeal for his family who had struggled over his medical and legal fate.

The child's father, Richard L. Schrier Jr., 24, is charged with first-degree sexual abuse and may face a murder charge in the incident, authorities say. He was among the first to arrive for the service, accompanied by three law enforcement officers.

For nine days, Matt's mother, Linda Schrier, 31, and the boy's paternal grandparents, Richard Sr., 48, and Shirley Schrier, 43, battled in court for Matt's custody to determine who should decide whether the life support system that kept him breathing should be removed.

The youngster had been in a coma since June 28. The mother wanted the machine detached. His grandparents resisted.

Police beat Assailants slash away

Three separate cases of assault early Saturday morning resulted in close shaves for two women and trips to the hospital for three men with serious knife wounds.

An argument between Robert Sotello, 34, his sister Anita Sotello, both of 513 N. Nolan, and Jesse Martinez, 44, Midland, led to the first brandishing of blades, 1 a.m. Saturday. Martinez is suspected of stabbing Sotello in the stomach and then attempting to stab Ms. Sotello.

Ms. Sotello narrowly missed being wounded. The blouse she was wearing was slashed several times by the assailant's knife.

The suspected assailant, himself, fared worse. Sometime during the melee, he was stabbed in the lower back.

Martinez is in custody at Cowper Hospital where he is in fair condition. Sotello, after undergoing surgery Saturday is in stable condition at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mary Ann Leal, OK Trailer Courts, also narrowly escaped serious injury. According to reports, a man shot at her three times with a .22 caliber pistol, but succeeded only in hitting her car.

The incident occurred, 2 a.m. Saturday, in the Big Spring Industrial Park. Mrs. Leal's husband, Gilbert Leal, was arrested by local police shortly afterwards in connection with the incident. He was released later that day on $5,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Bob West.

Tiburcio Trevino, 24, 607 N. San Antonio, reportedly was sitting and talking with friends in Birdwell Park when a man approached and began arguing with him, 2:10 a.m. Saturday. When Trevino backed away from the man, the assailant pressed on, and slashed Trevino in the abdomen with a pocket knife.

The victim was taken to the Veterans Administration Hospital where he is reported to be in stable condition. A warrant for the arrest of a local man in his 30s was issued Saturday in connection with the stabbing.

Burglars hit the B&M Fence Company, 4300 U.S. Highway 80, sometime between Wednesday and Friday last week. After breaking in through the south door, the intruder made off with two nail guns, an air compressor, a power saw and an electric drill.

Loss was estimated at $968. Burglars also broke into the home of Clifford McCormick, 3234 Drexel, sometime Friday night. Stolen from the residence were a tuner-tape deck and two stereospeakers.

Loss was estimated at $100. Del Shirey, 615 Highland, reported that two fireplace dampers were stolen from a construction site he owns at 2512 Ann. The dampers were valued at $25 apiece.

Shirey also reported the loss of eight sheets of cedar plywood from a site at 2401 Brent. Shirey told police that he located a skateboard ramp near a church made out of what looks like his plywood.

The lumber was valued at $112.

While a car belonging to Leonard M. Myers, 1409 Marblehead, was parked in the lot of the Holiday Inn, early Friday morning, burglars stole a radar detector from inside. Including damage to the window of the car, total loss was estimated at $200.

Four mishaps were reported Friday.

A vehicle driven by Thomas L. Bedford, 134 Jonesboro, struck a parked vehicle belonging to W. A. Allen, 1211 Sycamore, at the Howard County Fairgrounds, 10:15 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Ronnie G. Love, Colorado City, and Tommy W. Welch, 201 A E. 11th, collided at 1100 Gregg, 10:27 p.m.

Vehicles driven by John O'Barr, 113 E. 18th, and Johnson Young Stanton, collided at Seventh and Rannels, 4:45 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Robert Hughes, 1710 Harvard, and Robert Burris, 2005 S. Birdwell, collided at Highland South Shopping Center, 4:46 p.m.

Ray's alibi in shambles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Convicted assassin James Earl Ray's alibi that he was blocked away from the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is in shambles after three days of public testimony.

The House assassinations committee didn't try to prove that Ray fired the shot that killed King a decade ago in Memphis. It sought instead during its initial round of hearings to knock down his alibi.

Ray, who pleaded guilty in exchange for a 99-year term, was returned to prison still insisting he is innocent. But his claim that he was tending to a flat tire when King was killed has been dealt a severe blow.

Meanwhile, the world waits for a simple, indisputable answer to the question of who murdered King, the Baptist minister who preached non-violence and won a Nobel Peace Prize, but whose years at the helm of the civil rights battle were marred by frequent clashes with police and those who bitterly opposed the movement.

Besides punching holes in Ray's alibi after hearing 12 hours of testimony by the convicted assassin, the committee also produced evidence designed to refute Ray's contentions that:

—He was set up to take the blame for the assassination by a mysterious mystery man identified only as "Raoul."

Ray was unable to give Raoul's full name or prove to the committee that the mystery man ever, in fact, existed. He was unable to provide corroboration by any witnesses of his story that he was frequently in Raoul's company. Ray has contended he was framed for King's killing by Raoul, and that he believed he and Raoul were involved only in a gun-running scheme.

—Ray did not stalk the civil rights leader in the days leading up to King's death on April 4, 1968, in Memphis.

The committee displayed a huge blowup of two laundry tickets indicating Ray put clothes in an Atlanta laundry on April 1, three days before the assassination. Ray said he went to the laundry a week earlier, adding that the ticket was either wrong or forged. He said that a laundry ticket dated April 1 also was a fake. The panel's evidence that Ray had followed King to Selma wasn't so good. It had a motel registration form showing he stayed there March 22. But Ray replied he ended up in Selma only because he got lost driving from New Orleans to Atlanta. And the evidence showed King had already left town.

—The guilty plea he submitted to a judge in Memphis on March 10, 1969, was given under fraud and duress.

Ray was reminded that the trial judge in Memphis had offered him many opportunities to recant the confession at the time, but that he failed to do so. Ray was asked why he told the court at the time that "no one used pressure" to convince him to enter the guilty plea. "I can't see how I do anything differently," Ray replied, saying he was tricked into entering the plea by the prosecutor and the lawyer representing him at the time.

However, the committee produced evidence that while being held in London awaiting extradition to the United States, Ray boasted to a Scotland Yard inspector that he killed King and expected it would make him "a national hero." The inspector, Alexander Anthony Eist, told committee investigators "there isn't any doubt from the conversation that he told me that he was admitting to me that he had done the murder."

Eist, who retired two years ago and since has been found innocent on charges related to jewel robberies, said Ray expressed a hatred of blacks. Ray said the evidence "... is probably the most damaging statement made against me. It is false."

On the final day, the committee's hearings focused on Ray's insistence that he could not have killed King because he was not at the murder scene; that he was having a tire repaired at a service station several blocks away at the time.

Ray said he thought he was involved only in a gun-smuggling operation when he purchased a rifle and rented a room in the rooming house believed to be the spot from which King was shot.

The rifle was later identified as the murder weapon. Pathologists testified that they were unable to show whether the shot that felled King was fired from the rooming house or from the bushes below.

Ray said he turned the rifle over to Raoul the day before the assassination, and that he was at or just leaving a service station when King was murdered at 6:01 p.m. But the only living witness who has claimed he saw Ray at the service station testified under oath Friday that his story was a hoax.

"This story is completely false," Coy Deane Cowden told the committee. "It was a rehearsed story. In fact, he said, he was not even in Memphis at the time, but was more than 400 miles away in Beaumont Texas, where he managed a store.

environment where he had been known for so long as a drug user. He knew the contacts and they knew him. "Drugs are so accessible to him here. If he wanted to shoot up, all he had to do was drive across town on his way home from work and stop off to buy the stuff. In another town, he would have to establish contacts and gain the trust of a supplier."

"Each time he wanted some, he would have a little more time to think about it, to talk himself out of it. And here, he could look around and see his friends and the people he went to high school with. He could see that they had nice homes and cars and he envied that. He realized that it was his own fault but he still envied the others and that just added a little more pressure, dealt one more blow to his confidence in himself."

"We were very happy except for that. He loved me and the children and would sometimes go a year only using drugs a couple of times. There were only three times when he really spent a huge amount on his habit, and I wonder if he didn't want to get caught those times. He wanted help to get off, but he just couldn't help himself enough for anyone else to do him any good."

"In some ways, it seems almost like it was all for nothing when I look back, and yet I don't regret marrying him. We had a lot of good times, and I have wonderful children that I wouldn't give up for the world. I wish some things could have been different but I gained a lot in personal maturity."

"I hope when my children grow up that they don't want to marry too young. If someone had given me advice before my marriage I probably wouldn't have listened because I was so young."

"If my child were old enough to consider marriage and were dating someone involved in drugs, I couldn't do much other than relate my own misery and problems."

"I'd tell them never to rush into anything. Wait—give themselves the opportunity to make sure that that kind of life is what they want before they get so involved they can't turn back."

"Between the teenage years and early 20s, people change a lot. They mature and their values and the way they look at life changes. I don't think most people are ready to make a marriage commitment at an early age, and usually aren't old enough to know what they want or foresee a lot of future problems."

"No one should marry thinking they will change their mate or change some 'personality flaw.' I married my husband thinking not that I would change him, but that he'd change himself. He didn't, and I couldn't and it hurt both of us, our parents—mine and his—and will hurt our children when they learn about it."

"He tried, but he couldn't cope. That kind of life wasn't good or fun for him or for myself and the children. For me, the worst part, I guess, was wanting to believe in someone so desperately that I could almost make myself believe he was off, even when I knew it wasn't the truth. Then, to be hit by the realization that he hadn't quit this time and might not ever, and that in the back of my mind, I knew it all along. I just wanted to make it better for a little while."

"Whatever he is—or wherever—I will love him, and his parents and family will love him. But drugs have destroyed our chance to make a life together. If only things could have been different."

WEED DUMPED — Part of the 35 to 40 tons of marijuana seized aboard the Colombian vessel "Superfly Two" is shown being dumped into a pit near Port Brownville where it was to be burned late Saturday or early Sunday after unloading of the vessel was completed.

Superfly's capture nets big cache of marijuana

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A 111-foot coastal freighter arrived in this port city Saturday with what beaming Coast Guard officials called the largest single cache of marijuana ever taken in a Gulf of Mexico drug raid aboard.

Cmdr. Gary Crosby, captain of the Coast Guard cutter "Durable," said between 35 and 40 tons of high-grade marijuana was found in medium-sized bales aboard the freighter "Superfly."

Coast Guard personnel and U.S. Customs agents boarded the ship Thursday about 200 miles east of here.

Authorities said the weed has an estimated street value of $25 million.

Crosby said all 16 Colombians on the ship were transferred from the Durable's brig to the Cameron County Jail Saturday morning. The men will remain in jail until they are arraigned Monday.

The Superfly's capture brings to nine the number of smugglers' ships confiscated by the Coast Guard and Customs agents in the last eight months. Officials said a total of 162 tons of marijuana has been seized in the raids.

Crosby said one reason for the increased drug traffic along the Texas coast is because law enforcement agencies have been very successful in stopping smuggling along the Florida coast.

Authorities said they believe the Superfly was scheduled to unload her cargo in the Port Aransas, Texas, area.

Funeral Mass is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, with the Rev. Bernard Guley officiating.

Burial will be in Mount Olive Memorial Park.

Mr. Green was born Feb. 5, 1905 in Cherryvale, Kan. He moved to Big Spring in 1929.

He married Helen Duley, May 9, 1949 in Tyler. He was a retired pumper for the American Petrofina Company, and had been an employee of Cosden Oil and Chemical Company from 1950 to 1970.

He was a member of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, and had been a veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, of the home; two daughters, Paula Patricia Green, St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Gaylen (Lynn) Goddard, Plainview; a sister, Mrs. Pauline McClure, Topeka, Kan.; a brother, Gene C. Green, Temple; and two granddaughters.

Pallbearers are Jim Reidy, Bill Sneed, Harold Talbot, Ed Corson, Harry Jordan, Earl Taylor, Charles Weeg, Jack Alexander and Royce Griffith.

Midland pipeline pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Standard Oil Co. of Ohio has agreed to finance $78 million in pollution controls for Southern California Edison in order to clear the way for a huge Alaskan oil terminal in nearby Long Beach.

The terminal is part of a project to feed Alaskan crude oil to the Midwest through about 1,000 miles of pipeline stretching from Long Beach to Midland, Texas. Alaskan crude is currently being more expensively shipped to the Midwest via the Panama Canal and gulf coast ports.

The unusual agreement, believed to be the largest pollution tradeoff pact ever negotiated, was announced at a news conference here Friday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and officials of both companies.

"This is the first time business and government have come together to match economic expansion and environmental benefits," Brown said. "This proves environmental quality and economic expansion can go hand in hand."

The agreement calls for Sohio to spend about $78 million for a sulfur dioxide scrubber and nitrogen oxide reduction equipment at Edison's Alamitos Generating Station in Long Beach. Sohio would also pay $3 million to $5 million to reduce emissions at 13 Southern California dry cleaning plants.

"This is the first time our pollution tradeoff policy has been applied to a large project and it sets a major precedent for industrial development in the nation," Brown said. "Often before, new industrial growth has meant a growth in air pollution. But under a new procedure developed by the ARB, this Alaskan oil terminal will be built without increasing smog levels. In fact, some improvement in air quality will almost certainly come about."

California's tradeoff policy, later adopted as part of the 1977 federal Clean Air Act, requires business to remove as much or more pollution as any new project would create. However, while federal rules require eliminating one pound of pollutant for each pound created — a one-for-one tradeoff — California law mandates a 1.2 for 1 tradeoff.

Cleveland-based Sohio, 50 percent owned by British Petroleum Ltd., has no facilities in Southern California at present. In order to achieve the required tradeoffs, Sohio had to agree to clean up another company's pollution.

Sohio first announced plans for the $525 million terminal in 1975 but ran into objections from the California Air Resources Board (ARB), which said the project would damage air quality in Southern California.

Although Brown and Sohio officials termed the agreement a breakthrough in the terminal impasse, they cautioned that there were further hurdles to be overcome. The project must still be approved by the ARB, the South Coast Air Quality Management District and voters in Long Beach, where a referendum opposing the project is on the November ballot. A favorable ruling from the Internal Revenue Service on the agreement is also needed.

The Sohio-Edison program will make the air in Long Beach nine times cleaner than it is now, according to both company and environmental agency officials. Sohio Vice President J.R. Miller and Edison executive vice president Howard P. Allen said the terminal could be completed in about 30 months.

Ono grew a score of cubic and tetrahedral melons and put them on display at a gallery on the Ginza in downtown Tokyo. After the Ginza display they will be on sale for $28.

Suspended sheriff, wrecker exec Jim Wells indictments

ALICE, Texas (AP) — The suspended Jim Wells County sheriff, his deputy and a local wrecker service operator have been slapped with more indictments by a grand jury probing the alleged sale of confiscated vehicles.

Sheriff Monroe Whitman, suspended when he and his chief deputy, Teo Gomez, and wrecker operator Henry Yelvington were among nine persons indicted June 5, were indicted again Friday. Whitman was indicted on four counts, which accused him of participation in a scheme to illegally dispose of vehicles confiscated in drug raids.

Vehicles were allegedly picked up by the sheriff's department after they were abandoned or confiscated during raids or apprehensions of illegal aliens.

In Friday's indictments, Whitman is accused of falsifying a seller's, donor's or trader's affidavit and knowing that the vehicles were not sold or the price was not paid.

A spokesman for the district attorney's office said an affidavit is submitted to the motor vehicle tax office after a sale. It lists who is purchasing the vehicle and what price is paid.

Whitman's indictments listed the alleged falsification of sale records for a 1963 GMC for $65, a 1966 Dodge for $50, a 1964 Ford for $50, a 1976 Chevrolet for $2,250.

Yelvington was named in one indictment alleging he falsified a seller's, donor's or trader's affidavit and one indictment for tampering with governmental records. One indictment accused Gomez of tampering with governmental records. The indictment alleged he claimed the vehicle was sold at a sheriff's sale when no newspaper strike in NY continues.

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorkers are beginning another week without their three major dailies and without much hope of reading them soon.

Talks aimed at ending the 11-day pressmen's strike were adjourned indefinitely Friday, with a federal mediator reporting no progress toward a settlement.

A new newspaper, The New York Daily Metro, with "an initial press run of between 400,000 and 500,000," was to begin publication Monday, following the lead of another strike paper, City News, by less than a week. Television stations were continuing special news programs. And The News World, founded by followers of the Rev. Sun Myung Moon, reported it was still selling 300,000 copies a day, up six times from its pre-strike run of 50,000.

such sale took place. Dist. Judge C. Woodrow has scheduled trials for all nine indicted in the alleged scheme for Sept. 11.

Membership committee maps orientation meet Wednesday

The membership committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce will hold an orientation meeting, 4 p.m. Wednesday, in the chamber office.

Considerable discussion took place regarding delinquent membership accounts at a Thursday meeting of the committee. Member Johnny Lou Avery suggested that the delinquent accounts be divided among committee members for visits during the next month.

The purpose of the visits will be to "show interest not to collect past dues," said Mrs. Avery.

At the regular September meeting of the board of directors total membership will be divided into quarters, with 25 per cent of the members to be visited by a director or committee member each month. These visits will take place during a four month period, and will be used to gauge needs and priorities of the members.

BIG SPRING CHAPTER

There's not much cause for optimism

Are better days ahead for the buffeted dollar in the world's markets, after agreements reached by the heads of western industrial nations signed agreements in Bonn, Germany, last month?

One would like to think so, but it's hard to see any evidence which would nurture optimism.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Anthony M. Soloman said the overall trade deficit should narrow as the year draws to a close, in part because the dollar's decline will help boost U.S. exports.

Goods valued in U.S. dollars can, of course, be bought in Japan with fewer and fewer yen as the days progress. The once-proud dollar was fetching only 180-plus yens in recent days.

THE OUTLOOK for U.S. sales overseas is promising but the hard fact is that U.S. exports are generally lagging. The Commerce Department says that after discounting for inflation exports have not increased at all the past three years.

As for our trade with Japan, it is headed for an even larger surplus in favor of the Japanese than last year, and last year was a disaster as far as American industry dealing in overseas trade was concerned.

We have a friend in Prime Minister Fukuda, one of many Japanese leaders who wants to see the decline of the dollar stopped. At Bonn, he promised President Carter and other heads of government that the Japanese would voluntarily restrain their exports to keep them below the volume of 1977.

However, Japan's overall export surplus has just reached a record semi-annual high of $8.81 billion. There is no present correspondence between facts and intentions.

The plunging dollar doesn't seem to be discouraging American consumers, however. The Japanese-American Trade Council says that Americans are paying more this year for the same volume of goods they bought in 1977. Japanese car sales to us, for instance, are down slightly in numbers from a year ago, but up more than ten per cent in dollars.

IF THE declining dollar is not operating to discourage American purchases of imports, neither is it operating to encourage American sellers of exports.

"When the dollar declines, it is supposed to make American goods more competitive," the Trade Council points out. After gaining an edge through cheaper dollars, however, U.S. manufacturers don't fight for more sales at more favorable prices; they generally turn around and lose their edge by boosting their prices in line with changes wrought by currency devaluations.

That illustrates the stubborn problem of supporting the dollar. The drop in terms of the yen was said recently to reflect growing fears that the OPEC countries will shift from dollars to some other currency, Swiss francs or Deutschmarks with which to buy their Cadillacs and jet aircraft.

It also reflects, of course, the fact which couldn't be concealed at Bonn; that Congress hasn't given Mr. Carter an energy program and doesn't look like it is going to. And unless we solve the energy crisis, we can all start papering our walls with our currency.

Art Buchwald

(Art Buchwald is on assignment for a few weeks trying to find out if there are any Cuban troops on Cape Cod. He left behind his all-time favorite columns.)

WASHINGTON — This is a government of reports and studies. No matter what happens in this nation, the first solution is to appoint a commission to study it. The commissions take one year, two years, some even longer, and then they make their report to the President. If the President agrees with the report it's released to the nation. If he or his staff disagrees with it it is buried. But where?

JUST BY chance I discovered the secret burial grounds of reports and studies made by presidential commissions. The cemetery is located on a hill overlooking the upper Potomac. It is a quiet and deserted place, and only the chirping of birds or the call of a hoot owl can be heard.

Mr. Gottfried Snellenbach has been caretaker of the burial area for government reports ever since the Harding Administration, and after I had assured him I would not dig up any of the graves he let me enter the large, well-kept grounds.

"We've got some of the great reports of all times buried here," Mrs. Snellenbach told me. "We've got reports that cost $20 million, and we've got reports that cost $2,000, but in the end they all wind up here, buried six feet under."

"Sir, what kind of reports are resting here?"

"IT MIGHT be better to ask what kind of reports aren't buried here. We have reports on violence, the Communist threat, housing, health care, law and order. You name it, and we've buried it."

"How does a report find its final resting spot in this setting?"

"IT MIGHT be better to ask what kind of reports aren't buried here. We have reports on violence, the Communist threat, housing, health care, law and order. You name it, and we've buried it."

"How does a report find its final resting spot in this setting?"

"Well, as you know, the President is always appointing a commission to study something or other, and after the study they're supposed to hand in a report. Now, lots of times the President has no intention of paying any attention to the report and it's dead before it's even written. Other times someone on the President's staff reads a report handed in by a commission and says, 'This stuff is dynamite. We have to kill it.'"

"In some cases the President says, 'Let's release this report to the press and then bury it.' Occasionally a report will just die of heartbreak because nobody pays any attention to it."

"In any case, after the report is dead it has to be buried, because if you're President you don't want someone finding it at a later date and using it against you."

"SO EVERY week each report that has died is placed in a pine box and loaded on a government hearse and brought up here, where we have a simple ceremony before lowering it into the ground."

"If it's a blue-ribbon panel report that's been killed in action, we give it a 21-gun salute. Otherwise, we lay it to rest with a little fuss as possible."

"This ceremony goes for miles and miles," I said.

"No one knows how many reports have been buried here by the different Presidents."

Tummy and derriere—nature's fat cushions

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I hope you can help me with my weight problem. Everyone says I do not look like I weigh 150 pounds, but I do. I am a 16-year-old female, 5 feet, 8 inches, and of muscular build. My face seems OK along with my arms and legs. It's my stomach that is extra large. It bulges and looks terrible. What causes weight to gather in one place? Should I go on a diet, or should I do spot reducing? I heard that if I lose weight I would lose it in the face first. Is this true? — Miss S.K.

If you are a large-framed (big-boned) person, which you seem to be, the 150 pounds at your height is not overweight, although you are at the heavy end of the normal range. You tell me elsewhere in your letter that you are athletic. Even so, the activity might not be of the kind that calls abdominal muscles into play.

I doubt the need to reduce. Rather, find some good exercises that strengthen the abdominal muscles. You may lose a couple of pounds in the bargain. The reason people think weight loss comes in the face first is that it is noticeable there sooner than in other places. Food restriction dieting will not help "spot reducing," and there is no exercise to lose fat at any one specific point in the body. Nature provides a natural fat-cushion about the midsection to protect the abdominal organs. It is one of the first places where excess fat appears. For the same reason it shows up around another convenient fat cushion (the derriere).

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been having hard stools and was surprised when my doctor told me I probably needed greater bulk in my diet. Seems to me the opposite would be true. Do you believe bulk would help? — B.W.

Yours is a common misconception — that bulk produces hard stool. In fact, lack of bulk is often the cause of this condition. Many older persons lose their taste for such food, so the bowel's need for activity is not satisfied. The result, hard stool. Another factor can be lack of liquid, so be sure you are getting sufficient amounts along with the bulk. If you continue to have trouble, your doctor can prescribe one of the effective stool softeners. See my material on constipation, "How to Stop Constipation," which will explain how these things occur. For a copy send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For the past six months or so I have noticed a yellowish discharge. I have noticed it more recently. I had a cancer smear several months ago and it came back negative, but I did not mention the discharge at the time. It doesn't appear during menstruation. I am quite concerned. Should I worry about this? — Miss R.L.

Discharges are not uncommon among young females and usually represent the shedding of cells from the cervix and vagina. However, a yellowish discharge, as you report, is more ominous, and very likely means an infection somewhere in the genital tract. The fact that it is more or less continuous makes this an even stronger possibility. Have it checked. It is very likely an organism that can yield to appropriate antibiotic or antifungal medicine.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The report that raisins contain a cancer-causing agent is of great concern to me. I have been eating them for 10 years. Should I quit? — M.M.F.

You didn't read the report carefully. Raisins do not contain any cancer-causing agent. About a year ago there was an incident in which it was suspected that some raisins had been contaminated. It was an isolated unconfirmed incident, and probably the one that caused your needless concern. Raisins are healthful. You can continue eating them to your heart's content if you like them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 15-year-old son walks with his feet toed-in quite noticeably. I am told this will correct itself. He walked at nine months. Is there anything that should be done now, or should we wait and see if the condition corrects itself? — C.E.

Have the lad seen by an orthopedist, who can tell you if there is any muscle abnormality (as tibial torsion). If there isn't, the legs will correct themselves.

Big Spring Herald

Mailbag

Dear Editor:

A year ago Aug. 16 my "whole world caved in," as Tommy Hart phrased it in the Big Spring Herald. My dearly beloved Elvis Presley died so did a part of me. It's been quite a mountain to climb and maybe I'll never reach the top, but at least the strain has lessened.

This year Aug. 16, I was at Elvis' grave. I spent the night in Memphis in spite of the 8:00 curfew due to the police and firemen strike. At 6:00 Wednesday morning, I set out to Graceland where a throng had already gathered. There I found myself in the midst of a Belgian fan club speaking French. I edged my way out of that and found some nice English-speaking Oklahoma folks who helped pass the time until the gates opened at 9:00. Meanwhile everything from Elvis T-shirts and pictures to carnations and film were peddled up and down the street in front of the Presley mansion.

As we edged our way up the Presley drive, I viewed the beautiful mansion that once housed my Elvis. The elaborate flowers were lined up on the lawn, around the house, and by the pool. I carried a single, white carnation, which I placed upon his grave as a token of my undying love. T.V. cameras filmed us as we wound around the driveway up to the gravesite of Elvis and his mother Gladys. I was informed by several people in Big Spring and my brother's family in Illinois that they saw me on CBS News in an Elvis souvenir shop.

I had a strange feeling as I looked upon the grave. A few silent tears welled up in my eyes, but I kept my feelings to myself. I didn't feel I had to put on a display for the crowd. There were many tears being shed that day. The graves of Elvis and Gladys lie side by side in the bright Memphis sunshine. A sparkling water fountain flows beside the graves just as tears have flowed for Elvis. The swimming pool where Elvis once swam is beside the fountain and the mansion stands next to that. It was time to leave, but I stopped and took one long last look at Graceland, which just hasn't been the same since Aug. 16, 1977.

At the guard house I paused to listen to a newspaper reporter having an interview with Vester Presley, Elvis' uncle. He talked about his brother, Vernon, Elvis' dad. Vernon could not appear because he's weak with a bad heart. Vester also talked about his book, "A Presley Speaks," written about the Presley family, highlighting Elvis. Also, he spoke of the day Elvis died. He was on guard duty and had been driving people up to the door for pictures. He got a phone call at 2:30 saying they had an emergency and that an ambulance would be coming. Vester assumed it was his mother, Elvis' grandmother, but discovered it was Elvis. I was all ears as Vester spoke, but he was interrupted by a phone call.

I made my exit then and crossed Elvis Presley Blvd. to the many Elvis souvenir shops which have sprung up since his death. It was like a wild circus. You cannot imagine the thousands of people who had gathered and souvenirs were flying. I ended up spending over $100 on such things as an Elvis guitar plaque, Elvis trash-can, Elvis glasses, Elvis snapshots, Elvis knives, Elvis necklaces, Elvis earrings, Elvis T-shirts, and Elvis keychains.

One souvenir shop has a T.V. which shows Elvis' first performance on the Steve Allen Show and his three performances on the Ed Sullivan Show. I was in a trance as I watched it.

Finally at 11:30 I pried myself away from Graceland and headed on in to Big Spring, Aug. 16 was not as painful this year, but I still do shed a tear from time to time when I think of Elvis. I'll always love him and will never forget the years of happiness he brought me. Good-bye, Elvis, I miss you. An Elvis fan forever, WASHINGTON — Energy Secretary James Schlesinger, who often acts more like a crotchety tycoon than a Cabinet secretary, is trying to scotch a scheme that would reduce U.S. dependence on Arab oil.

The proposal would move West Coast crude from the oil-saturated Western states to the oil-starved East Coast. President Carter is so intrigued with the idea that he has asked for a detailed study.

But Jimmy Carter's opinions apparently do not carry a lot of weight in James Schlesinger's energy shop. Despite the president's interest, the energy czar and his chief acolyte, John O'Leary, have already proclaimed their displeasure with the plan.

SUCH AN audacious display of defiance is perfectly in keeping with Schlesinger's character. As one of our sources put it, "Whatever he thinks is right is the way it's going to be." The opinions of others — be they presidents, congressmen or taxpayers — are largely immaterial.

Indeed, it was Schlesinger's insistence on marching to his own drummer that provoked former President Gerald Ford into firing him as secretary of defense. On Capitol Hill, he refuses to slap backs and bend elbows in the back rooms. His aloof, even haughty demeanor so irritates some lawmakers that they end up shouting at him.

Thus it is not surprising that Schlesinger would come out four-square against a proposal in which the president himself has expressed great interest.

The idea, originated by the New England Petroleum Company (NEPCO), calls for millions of barrels of West Coast oil to be transported to the Bahamas, where it would be refined and shipped on to dealers in the Eastern United States. But the proposal, if enacted, would apply to other American-owned companies with refineries in the Bahamas.

Experts believe the export-import scheme would shave millions of dollars off the balance of trade deficit and reduce U.S. reliance on foreign oil imports. The president's top domestic adviser, Stuart Eizenstat, saw merit in the plan and asked Carter to sign a memo to Schlesinger requesting an in-depth analysis.

At the Energy Department, in-house experts had previously examined the export-import plan, found it feasible and determined that objections to it were "entirely political." But Schlesinger and O'Leary had already made up their minds they didn't like export-import. Shortly after the Carter memo arrived on Schlesinger's desk, a DOE press release announced the department was "rejecting" the whole idea.

The president's request for an intensive briefing on the export-import plan was still pending when O'Leary, a few days later, told a congressional committee that Carter supported their opposition to the proposal.

This bewildered a number of lawmakers who had been told that the White House was "actively considering" the export-import scheme. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., went so far as to express his dismay over the Schlesinger-O'Leary maneuver to the president.

THE WHITE House will answer Cranston and other legislators, presumably, when it receives the DOE analysis, which is finally being prepared — two months after it was requested.

Footnote: We are unable to report why Schlesinger and O'Leary are opposed to the plan because neither DOE nor White House officials have returned our repeated phone calls.

DIXY'S BITE: Dixy Lee Ray, a feisty grandmother of a governor, used to be an Atomic Energy Commissioner in Washington, D.C., before she became governor of Washington state.

Her canine companions — a Scottish elkhound named Ghillie and a French poodle called Jock — used to accompany her in stately splendor aboard her black government limousine. Her government aides were also occasionally pressed into service as dog sitters.

There are a few officials who wonder nostalgically what happened to Ghillie and Jock. But if they have lost account of Dixy's dogs, they may be relieved to know that her nuclear views are as implacable as ever.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: All I ever hear from preachers is that we ought to believe. Why doesn't anyone talk about repenting of sin and living a Christian life? — D.D.

DEAR D.D.: You are right in suggesting that repentance and holy living are important for the Christian. These are themes I have emphasized more and more in my own preaching.

When we turn to the New Testament, we find a thrilling truth: not only has God saved us through Jesus Christ, but He has saved us for a purpose. His purpose is that we might live under His rule — His Lordship. We are called to live for Christ, and that means we must renounce living for ourselves. "As obedient children, do not conform to the evil desires you had when you lived in ignorance. But just as he who called you is holy, so be holy in all you do; for it is written: 'Be holy, because I am holy.'" (1 Peter 2:14-15, New International Version).

Or again, the Bible says about the death of Christ, "And he died for them and was raised again" (II Corinthians 5:15, NIV).

Don't lose sight of the wonderful truth that we are saved by faith in Christ, and not by our works. No matter how good we might be, we can never be good enough in ourselves to earn our way to Heaven.

Words flow at Stacy reservoir hearing

Is LCRA nit-picking?

The Stacy reservoir proposed by the Colorado River Municipal Water District would have little effect on the flow of the Colorado River at Austin or into the Gulf, S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, consulting engineer for CRMWD told the Texas Water Commission Friday.

By interpolating studies on a section of the Nueces river, which has identical characteristics as the Stacy drainage area, Freese estimated that losses between the Stacy site and Lake Buchanan (uppermost of the Highland Lake chain operated by LCRA) would be 32.6 per cent of all water through and below Stacy. He had a companion study which showed that in nine years after Twin Buttes (San Angelo) and E. V. Spence reservoirs started catching water, there was no discernible effect, compared to the previous 27 years, in the flow of the Colorado River at Austin or the Gulf. Moreover, he added, the studies did not include evaporative-transpiration losses in the sitation area (Freese said it amounted to 107,000 acre feet of silt) above Lake Buchanan.

Concerning the proposed Stacy dam, Robert Thompson, Freese and Nichols design engineer, estimated costs at $5,524,000 "in 1977 dollars." He had given any consideration to flood control for benefit of downstream interests, Larry Smith, LCRA attorney wanted to know. He had not, Thompson affirmed, but the design of the emergency and service spillways would hold back as much as 651,000 acre feet of excess water during the period of worst probable flood for restricted release at designed rates. Wouldn't it have been good public relations to have explored the flood control function, asked Jack Cox, the public's lawyer. TWC Chairman Joe Carter injected: "What is your estimate of how long it would take to get a federal flood control project through?" Twenty years, said Thompson. He had taken into account avoiding

1980 might be cup of tea for Ford, Martin

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Billy Martin and Gerald R. Ford have two important things in common. Both men are out of major management jobs they once held — Martin as manager of the New York Yankees and Ford as the nation's president.

(Continued from Page 1) That's an interesting case shaping up in San Francisco, where an accountant named Tom Horsley, miffed because a girl friend stood him up on a date, sued her for $38 damages. He contends he was out that much on tickets, wasted fuel and lost time. The girl is worried, she says, because she thinks the act of making a date could become a 'delicate' affair throughout the country. The judge likely shares her concern. He postponed judgment.

understand women's magazines. They devote half their pages to recipes, the other half to diets. You have to listen closely to understand what a football coach is saying when he delivers his weekly pep talk to laymen. For instance, if he says "Winning isn't everything. It's the only thing," he likely means "Maybe, if I quote Vince Lombardi, I can get a job with the government when they show me the door on this one."

not applaud. The success of the Swedes in building a society without poverty, in maintaining cities without slums, is recognized throughout the world but isn't especially appreciated in Sweden itself. The fail-safe system condemns everyone to boredom, critics of the socialist system murmur. They complain that life in Sweden is dull, mediocre and gray, that the Scandinavian peninsula is out of the mainstream, too far from everything.

asked how they combine marriage and a career? The American College of Allergists once came out with the report that seven of every ten asthmatic children stopped wheezing within one week after they had been moved away from their parents to new surroundings.

Martin is scheduled to return as manager of the Yankees in 1980 and Ford has indicated he may run for president again that year.

The year 1979 could belong to Josef Stalin in Russia. Indications are his image will be highly polished in the Kremlin, where leaders have been conducting a low-key campaign to erase from public memory Stalin's responsibility for the reign of terror he unleashed when he was dictator and for other disasters that have been attributed to him.

Shed no tears for the commercial airlines in the U.S. They carried 240 million passengers in 1977 — an all-time record — and made $754 million in profits. They expect to carry 260 million passengers before this year ends.

Mr. President, I don't know how you did it with all those newspaper guys around you for a term, but I hope 1980 will be a winning year for both of us," Martin said.

Dallas-Fort Worth remains the fourth busiest airport in the country, behind Chicago O'Hare (which handled 19.2 million passengers in 1977), Atlanta and Los Angeles. Toby Harrah, the Texas Ranger, played a doubleheader at shortstop against the Chicago White Sox June 25 two years ago without handling a chance in the field.

Baseball historians can't recall anything like that ever occurring before. One sports feat which needs researching: Who holds the record for consecutive sentences containing "you know" during interviews with the media?

Second time bit different

MILAN, Ill. (AP) — Veterinarian Robert Herath's wife had already had one child the conventional way — in a hospital. The second time it was different. Herath helped his wife give birth Friday to a nine-pound baby boy in his veterinary clinic.

Stalin died 25 years ago, three years after he was publicly denounced by Nikita Khrushchev, who himself hasn't come away too well in the Russian history books. Several books have been written about Stalin recently, one devoted almost exclusively to justifying the Stalin's alliance with Hitler's Germany.

Swedish taxes keep net incomes within a narrow range. One economist calculates that the tax laws make it impossible for any Swede to retain, from salary alone, any income more than 3 1/2 times that of any other countryman. The incidence of suicide is unusually high in Sweden. The question might then be asked: Does man have to live on the center of a volcano before he can look back with no regrets, before he can regard life as exciting and significant.

Patricia Herath and her 20-inch son William James were reported doing just fine.

Consider the case of Louis Balmonte, a garage owner in Marseille, France. In November 1974 he fired on robbers as they tried to get away with $50. Now he is being sued in a civil case for $25,000 by one of the men who says he was paralyzed by a bullet from Balmonte's trusty fire stick.

Mass hysteria is an accepted affliction in the music world. Officers for the sound tracks of "Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Club," most forgettable at best, covered the amount invested in the movie before it has even been completed.

Herath had one baby born in a hospital, but we thought this would provide more of a personal experience," said Herath, who added that this was the "first time ever" he had attended the birth of a human infant.

Stalin's alliance with Hitler's Germany. Sometimes one is prone to wonder whose side justice is on. The state may take a dim view of Balmonte's defense. He admitted he had not been directly threatened with a gun by the thieves. I've never been able to Vying for the title of Miss Texas-Universive, Kathy will be competing with girls from all over Texas. The young lady chosen as Miss Texas-Universive will represent Texas for an entire year. Whoever wins in El Paso will travel throughout the state as an ambassador of goodwill for her state, and will also represent Texas in the prestigious Miss USA Pageant. Miss Texas-Universive duties will vary from appearing at conventions and sales meetings, riding in parades, visiting veteran hospitals and generally working as a public relations emissary. The state winners will be photographed for magazine articles, modeling assignments and news features and be involved in television and radio appearances. The pageant is being held at the El Paso Civic Center

Student council leaders gear up for great year

The Big Spring High School Student Council sent representatives and delegates to numerous workshops and activities during the summer to gain information and ideas for the 1978-79 school year. From June 25-29, Kevin McLaughlin, president, and Craig Fischer, sponsor, attended the National Association of Student Councils annual convention at L.D. Bell High School in Hurst. Some 3,000 students and sponsors in the United States attended. Sponsor and student workshops were conducted by experts. They also made visits to a Texas Rodeo in Fort Worth, Six Flags over Texas and attended a closing banquet in the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas.

The council members worked in a fireworks booth raising funds for the council for the coming year with this project headed by Mike Evans. Donny Knight, former president of the council, attended the National Student Safety Program convention in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Knight received a plaque for his successful completion of two years service as national vice president of the organization. He was extended a special invitation to attend the 1979 conference as an advisor and consultant. He represented Big Spring High Student Council at the National Student Safety Program convention in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Drama on East Side ends in murder

NEW YORK (AP) — Young and beautiful, she graced the covers of Cosmopolitan and Redbook. With her on his arm, he chased his lost youth and reputation.

CAST IN MANHATTAN'S EAST SIDE MURDER — Howard Jacobson, left, once considered one of the most successful horse trainers in the nation, is charged with the murder of restaurant owner Jack Tupper, right. At the eye of the storm, police said, was lovely 19-year-old covergirl Melanie Cain, who had lived with Jacobson and left him for Tupper just three weeks before the murder.

They stuck together, the $100,000 face and the once-famous horse trainer, and years passed. As a teenager fresh from the Midwest, she loved him. Then she grew, matured. Older than he would admit even to her, he grew no more. He loved her, in his way; more, he needed her.

Enter the other man, younger, on his way up, full of big plans. Their drama unfolded on Manhattan's East Side and ended in murder.

This is not a movie script, though it could be. This is about life on a very fast track and what one detective called "the juiciest murder that has come down the pike in New York for years."

At the eye of the storm, in the beginning as at the end, was limpid-eyed, lovely, Melanie Cain.

Everyone remembers Melanie as nice. Beautiful, certainly. Bright but naive. Down-to-earth in her open, Midwestern way. But mostly, nice.

Listen to Cathy Mains, a classmate of Melanie's in Naperville, Ill.: "There are certain people you can be jealous of in school—they're beautiful, smart, everything you want to be. But there are some you just can't be jealous of, because they're so nice. Melanie was one of those people."

Melanie lived in Naperville, a city of 27,837 not far from Chicago, until 1972. Her family moved to New Jersey following her junior year in high school. But they remember Melanie in Naperville.

They remember that she played the lead in William Inge's play, "Bus Stop." She was the sexy entertainer whose charms felled a naive cowhand. It was the same role Marilyn Monroe played in the 1956 movie.

Melanie went to New York in 1973 and presented herself to Eileen Ford, grande dame of the modeling business. This was the tough agency that takes thousands of pretty young women each year. She tells most, "No. You haven't got it."

reliable, professional, competent. Melanie worked hard, but life in the apartment building was fun, almost like a college dorm. Often they ate at Nicola's, a restaurant that is like the East Side. Expensive, stylish, sprinkled with those who had fame and money with those chasing both.

Their landlord was part of that crowd. Melanie's roommate found him a bit strange. Another tenant, Bob Murphy, called him "the weasel."

But Melanie liked Buddy Jacobson. He looked a little like Charlie Chaplin — lean face, bushy mustache, unruly dark hair. He said he was 29. She liked the two teen-age boys he introduced as his brothers.

Melanie chose not to trouble herself when other tenants said Buddy was lying. He was 43. The boys were his sons. He had an ex-wife.

A year later, Melanie moved in across the hall with Jacobson. He wanted to start a model agency with her. "Melanie wanted no part of it," her old roommate says. She was 19. Her career was soaring.

In July 1974, Eileen Ford ended any debate. She fired Melanie and her roommate. She had heard they were stealing girls for their own agency.

So began the My Fair Lady agency, named for Melanie's favorite musical. Melanie was the main asset, earning up to $100,000 a year, but the agency never took off.

There was a time when nothing Howard "Buddy" Jacobson did was mediocre, when everything he touched turned to gold.

His mother is a sister to three of horse racing's biggest names: Eugene, Sidney and Hirsch Jacobs. Hirsch's daughter Patrice and her husband Louis Wolfson own Affirmed, this year's Triple Crown winner.

Jacobson never graduated from high school. Instead, in 1949, he followed Eugene to Florida to work as a "hot walker," cooling sweaty horses. He later became a trainer and by 1965, had trained for eight owners. He saddled 198 winners and was the nation's most successful trainer for the third straight year.

During this time, Jacobson married, fathered two sons and bought a farm on Long Island and another in upstate New York.

The fuse ignited when Melanie announced her feelings. Tupper's sister, Dorothy, said Melanie simply turned to him one day as they jogged and said, "I have a crush on you."

Melanie moved in with Tupper, back across the hall to the apartment she occupied five years before. She said she was going to marry him. "It was a very loving relationship," she said later.

Tupper's family says he wasn't planning marriage. His sister says he became involved with Melanie only "because he felt complimented by her affections and because he was protective and wanted to help her out of the brutal relationship with Jacobson."

Jacobson tried desperately to win her back. Tupper secretly tape-recorded one plea in which Jacobson offered to set him up in another restaurant and bar if he gave up Melanie.

Melanie tried to ride out the storm, to reason with Jacobson. "We were trying to handle it like adults," she said later. "I thought we were finally getting it resolved."

By Sunday, Aug. 6, that she didn't want to do it. Jack Tupper moved into Jacobson's building sometime last year. It was close to the Third Avenue bar he ran, the All Ireland. His friends say Jacobson introduced Melanie to Tupper.

By then, Melanie was unhappy, her friends say. "Apparently she'd been contemplating breaking up with Buddy for a long time, but it was hard. She'd been with him five years. They were in business together," one says.

Tupper was 34, nearly 6 feet, hefty, round-faced, balding. Tupper was divorced, with a son. He ran sports programs for ghetto kids with his brother, Jerry. And he was ambitious, full of plans for his future. In July, Tupper sold his partnership in the All Ireland and told friends he hoped to score big when a politician acquaintance came to power in Peru.

Those who knew Jack Tupper say he was no sex symbol. Just a nice guy on his way up. He jogged often with his new neighbor, Melanie Cain.

Jacobson was indicted at week's end for Tupper's murder.

Firemen found a burned body inside the charred crate. Police stopped a Cadillac with that license. The driver was Buddy Jacobson. Police say the couple can identify him as one of the two men; the other is being sought.

"A Something For Everyone Each Night"

Remark dissappointing, unwise, crude, clumsy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd rebuked Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland Saturday for reportedly saying the president will retaliate after the Nov. 7 elections against Democrats who don't support administration programs.

"I think that that statement was very disappointing, unwise, crude, clumsy and counterproductive," Byrd said.

But Byrd did say that he thinks the public expects cooperation between the president and Congress and if it isn't forthcoming, the officeholders will be replaced.

President Carter, asked about the Bergland comment, which was reported by the Washington Post, said at a Thursday news conference that there had been no such discussion.

"But I certainly don't have any animosity against any member of Congress," Carter said. "I do not have a list of Congress members who are worthy of punishment."

Byrd told reporters, "I've seen no indication that the president intends to engage in that kind of action."

More than a year ago Jacobson gave Melanie an engagement ring, her old roommate says, adding: "I think she knew even then the 'squabbling' between the president and the Democratic-controlled Congress 'is being exaggerated,' the senator insisted.

Byrd said he did not view the president's decision to veto a weapons bill last week as a sign of his intention to take a "get-tough attitude" with Congress.

The fact that it was only Carter's fifth veto in 20 months indicates that there is substantial cooperation between the White House and Congress, Byrd said.

Within the same period, Presidents Kennedy and Johnson vetoed 11 bills each and President Ford vetoed 46, Byrd said.

Big Spring School bus routes listed

The Big Spring school district has set up its bus routes for the 78-79 school year.

The following schedule lists 30 trips by 17 school buses; four long one-trip rural routes and 3 two-trip routes. Last year there were 34 trips, but four trips carrying ineligible students were operated for one year only due to the campus closings, and have been discontinued.

In this schedule all bus stops may not be given, especially on rural bus routes; but all 30 bus trips are essentially the same as they were at the end of school last year, with stops at the same locations.

Four routes, though, have different bus numbers, and six have new drivers. Pick-up times listed are approximate and are about the same as last year except for these three trips:

Bus No. 79 (Snyder Highway and County Airport) and Bus No. 64 (Cosden and Hilltop Road Areas) — pick-up times are about 20 minutes earlier than last year, since these will now be "first runs", morning and afternoon. Bus No. 65 (College Park and east Monticello) — pick-up times are about 25 minutes later than last year, since this will now be a "second run", morning and afternoon.

All nine rural buses will again pick up kindergarten students and will drop them at Washington School for transfer to a kindergarten bus. A detailed kindergarten bus schedule is listed following the schedule for the 17 regular buses.

In addition to the buses in these lists, three buses will serve Special Education students and two buses will carry Head Start children on essentially the same routes and schedules as last year.

Regular school bus service will begin Monday morning, August 28, 1978.

Additional information is available from Don Green at the school bus office.

Parole lag swelling prisoner count

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas prisons are so overcrowded that 700 inmates sleep on floors, the director of the penal system said Friday.

W. J. Estelle told the Legislative Budget Board the Texas Department of Corrections needs $130 million over the next two years to construct space for its mushrooming convict population.

He said a slowdown in granting paroles swelled the prison headcount to 3,000 more than it would be if the State Board of Pardons and Paroles were working at last year's pace.

The board also heard that despite the state surplus and growth revenue, the Legislature probably will have little money for new expenditure programs.

"There is no room for any new programs or increases except those caused by inflation," observed Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, board chairman.

Board members instructed the staff to draft 1980-81 spending recommendations starting with a 5.1 percent annual pay raise for state employees. This would add $421.5 million to payroll costs for the next biennium.

New prison construction could be a victim of the present freeze on new taxes and legislative decisions to cut state revenue by $491.4 million by repealing the sales tax on utility bills.

Estelle's proposal includes $83.5 million for a brand new prison unit, which would be built at a still undetermined site. When the board of corrections tried to buy Monte Cristo Farms near Edinburg, Attorney General John Hill ruled the purchase violated provisions in the 1978-79 general appropriation bill.

Asked by Hobby where the board now plans to build the new prison, Estelle said, "Somewhere within the confines of the state of Texas."

He said he also wants $750,000 to build temporary housing for 700 inmates who are, in effect, the third men in cells designed for one prisoner.

"We've got to do something to get these people off the floor," he said.

He told the board that paroles are down 35 percent from a year ago, or 3,000 inmates. Paroles are granted by the governor on advice of the board of paradons and paroles.

Estelle later told reporters the prison system houses 24,358 persons, or 3,500 more than a year ago. He acknowledged the growth figure would be only 500 if paroles had been granted at last year's pace.

Asked if he had ever pushed the board to speed up paroles, he said, "We have had discussions, but it is not my role to challenge their wisdom or decision-making process."

He said he no longer stands by his statement that 40 percent of the prison population were good candidates for immediate parole.

"That was five years ago. The inmate population is different now. I wouldn't make that statement today," Estelle said.

He described prison inmates as younger, "less motivated, harder to manage" and more intelligent, with more convicted of violent crimes.

"We don't know what a true first offender is like. Everybody we get has been on probation once or twice," Estelle said.

The prison director also was quick to say he wasn't about to recommend parole simply to reduce the number of inmates.

"Parole decisions need to be based on the merits of the individual case, not considerations of the prison population. . . . But the fact remains there has been a 35 percent decrease in paroles," he said.

Trade act 'out dated'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The steel industry is launching what one official described as an all-out campaign aimed at revising the 1974 Trade Act.

Branding the law as "out dated, outmoded and cumbersome," Robert G. Welch president of the Steel Service Center Institute, said the law should be revised to assure protection for American industry against unfair foreign competition.

Welch said the present Act was originally conceived in 1921 and was never designed "to face up to a world trade situation involving government-owned, controlled and subsidized steel."

Zone change rules agenda

The Colorado City city council will hold a regular meeting, 7 p.m. Tuesday.

During the meeting, council members will hold a public hearing to discuss a possible zone change from Multi-Family Residential to Local Retail for all of Block 82, Original Town.

Members will also consider allotting additional area for the location of mobile homes in the city.

Consideration will be given to bids for oil, gas and mineral rights on some city-owned property.

Andre Previn's new musical

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Andre Previn's new musical baby is having its American premiere here.

"Every Good Boy Deserves Favour," debuting at the Temple University Music Festival, is a 70-minute view of life in a Soviet mental hospital.

But it is not the subject of the work, conceived and orchestrated by Previn and written by Tom Stoppard, which makes it unique. It is the unconventional use of a full orchestra as an integral part of a play which represents the real departure from traditional theatrical forms.

The cast of six actors and a full orchestra was the idea of Previn, who is beginning his third year with the Pittsburgh Symphony.

"The orchestra is part of the action," said Previn, "and the music is more than incidental music."

Seminar on membership drive for TSTA staged

A seminar on a membership drive for the Texas State Teachers Association was held Thursday afternoon in Big Spring. Area TSTA officers, faculty representatives and committee chairmen met in the high school library with representatives from schools in Kermit, Coahoma, Foran, Brownfield, Big Lake and Big Spring.

Also represented was Howard College and Howard County TSTA units. Mrs. Jewell Harris, TSTA, and National Education Association regional consultant from Abilene reviewed techniques and self employed dental hygienist methods of boosting local membership.

Ken DeMore, assistant consultant, presented a packet of materials and the filmstrip "Tell It Like It Is" to those in attendance.

Many TSTA units in Texas dropped down in membership after the unit affiliated directly with the NEA, but have been building their membership back since that time.

Those attending the seminar from Big Spring included Janice Rossion,

Energy

Top credit rating means lower costs

AUSTIN — Electric bills of Texas Electric Service Company customers will be lower over the long term if the company can keep its top credit rating, but that rating is in jeopardy, a financial expert testified before the Texas Public Utility Commission Friday.

TESCO is now "a very risky bond" investment, according to Eugene Meyer, vice president of the investment banking firm Kidder, Peabody & Co.

Noting TESCO's declining financial condition in recent years, Meyer said "unless it can be improved, the triple A rating will be lost. I would not invest in a triple A TESCO bond today unless I had an expectation its financial condition would improve."

The testimony came during the PUC hearing on TESCO's request for a $110 million, 24.4 per cent revenue increase. Meyer was the sixth of nine witnesses scheduled to testify for the company.

In written testimony filed with the commission, Meyer said, "It is my opinion that without the amount and type of rate relief requested, the company's financial results will be such that it will be unable to finance its construction program on a reasonable and consistent basis." TESCO is in the midst of a program to build new power plants which are fueled by cheaper, lignite coal and nuclear fuel. The company is trying to reduce its dependence on expensive and short-supplied natural gas and oil.

Meyer pointed out in his testimony that TESCO obtains most of the money for its construction program by selling bonds and stocks.

"If Texas Electric Service Company maintains AAA bond ratings, it will be able to attract new capital at lower rates and, thus, lower the costs to its ratepayers over the long term," he said. In order to attract investment in stocks, Meyer said the company needs to show at least a 15.5 per cent return on common stockholders' equity.

The staff of the PUC has recommended that TESCO be allowed to earn only a 13.25 per cent return on common equity.

If the PUC allows the 15.5 per cent return requested by TESCO, Meyer said it will "reduce the cost of capital, and minimize the rate increases in the future." The PUC hearing is expected to continue through next week.

Texas Supreme Court dodges liquor issue

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court will not be solving the problem of whether liquor sales will be allowed in Abilene.

The Supreme Court turned down a request Friday from the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission's administrator, who wanted the authority to petition the court on an issue involving Abilene.

The TABC official, Sherman McBeath, wanted to ask for a court order that would keep a district judge in Austin from participating in the case.

The court specified, however, that in turning down McBeath's request it was not making any sort of statement on whether District Judge Charles Mathews has jurisdiction over the complex Abilene "wet-dry" question.

Attorneys for both sides said they were unsure what effect the Supreme Court ruling will have on the case.

The status of liquor sales in the longtime "dry" city of Abilene has been on-again, then off-again, since a June 17 local option election. Initial results showed "wet" supporters apparently winning by about 100 votes.

The Taylor County commissioners court canvassed the vote July 10, throwing out one voting box and declaring the dry forces had won. They threw out the box on grounds some of its voters resided outside the precinct involved in the election.

Abilene District Judge Don Lane ordered the commissioners to count the box, and a second canvass on July 20 showed the wet forces ahead.

Mathews ruled Lane should not have ordered the second canvass. His decision put the July 10 tally back in effect. He also issued a temporary restraining order to stop the Alcoholic Beverage Commission from issuing any liquor and beer permits for Abilene.

On Aug. 14, Mathews said the restraining order would be extended for another 10 days while lawyers submitted more legal arguments. He also declared the July 20 canvass favoring the wets was void.

Meanwhile, supporters of liquor sales in Abilene filed a contest of the election, but no date has been set for a hearing.

Four straight 'A' students

WOOD RIDGE, N.J. (AP) — The principal of Wood Ridge High School told Catherine Bush she was the class valedictorian. He told Jean Dobek the same thing. And Diane Sarlo. And Patricia McNamara.

The four seniors, all straight "A" students, had grade point averages so close that even when the school figured them down to the fifth decimal point, they still tied.

So the principal, Paul Moran, decided to let them share the honors and prizes normally awarded to the school's top academic senior.

The easiest exam of the year.

A routine school eye chart test isn't enough when it comes to deciding if a child's vision is up to the challenge of learning in school. Especially since children often memorize the letters in advance.

You need to be sure your child is looking at life the way it should be. That's why TSO recommends regular professional eye examinations. We hope corrective lenses won't be needed, but if they are, depend on TSO. We can provide the finest quality eyewear, made to the doctor's exact specifications.

Regular professional eye examinations should become a habit for the whole family. Aren't your eyes worth it? We think so.

At TSO, we care how you look at life.

Move called 'a stopgap measure'

Prop for dollar welcomed

LONDON (AP) — Foreign financial experts welcomed the U.S. Federal Reserve Board's effort to bolster the sagging value of the dollar, but they stressed they saw the move as little more than "a stopgap measure."

They urged further efforts by the United States to prop up the American currency, which has plummeted in value against major world currencies in the last 15 months.

The Federal Reserve decided Friday to raise its discount rate to commercial banks from 7 1/4 percent to 7 3/4 percent, effective Monday. The discount rate is the interest the Federal Reserve charges member banks to borrow money.

The White House announcement Friday that a breakthrough had been made to advance President Carter's energy package in Congress also was expected to have a positive effect on the value of the dollar.

The increase in the discount rate is expected to make short-term borrowing more expensive for some business borrowers and could lead to higher interest rates for the general public.

A senior Finance Ministry official in Tokyo praised the action but stressed it was only a "stopgap measure" that must be followed by concrete steps to shore up the dollar.

A Bank of Japan spokesman said the discount rate increase will help the dollar to some extent but he insisted further action must be taken within the next two or three weeks to halt the dollar's slide.

"We're not so optimistic that this step alone will solve every problem," the bank official said.

The board's anouncement came too late Friday to help the dollar on European and Japanese foreign exchanges, where it continued to sag amid widespread disappointment with Carter's failure to announce specific measures to revive it at his news conference Thursday. The announcement did, however, boost the dollar on the New York foreign exchange in late trading Friday.

Few European government officials or monetary experts were available for comment over the weekend.

However, London's highly respected Financial Times commented: "Unless a 'followthrough' results in terms of a more credible anti-inflation policy and effective intervention in the foreign exchange markets, the dollar could topple at the next bit of bad news."

The paper noted that the Reserve Board's action "won't back some of its lost credibility" following the U.S. government's reluctance in recent months to take any firm steps to brake the dollar's slide.

Power of dollar eyed

LONDON (AP) — The purchasing power of the dollar has plummeted in world markets, particularly over the last 15 months.

This is not always apparent from foreign exchange rates, which in some cases are better today than they were five years ago. But because of inflation, the dollar buys less than it did then.

For instance, inflation in Britain over the last five years has put prices up 98 percent. So although in some cases Americans get more foreign currency for their dollars, they can buy less.

Students, parents start school year together

By EILEEN McGUIRE

Unmarked pages in a new notebook, new clothes, new classes and instructors, renewed friendships and a renewed interest in learning — all are telltale signs that the first day of a brand new school year has arrived.

Students return to school with a renewed desire to do well and parents send them off with a renewed hope that they will. Yet educators nationwide are saying that an outside interest on the parents' part is not enough.

They are stressing that students do better in school if parents take an active, rather than a passive, interest in the institution that occupies so much of their children's days and years.

Locally, elementary schools have been taking steps to encourage the involvement of parents by introducing special days and programs to bring the parents to the schools. This year, parent involvement is being stressed in the secondary schools as well, according to Janice Rosson, secondary curriculum coordinator.

The first parent-involvement activity is a parent-student orientation Monday for all Big Spring High School freshmen and new students.

The orientation takes place at 7:30 p.m. at the high school auditorium and parents are urged to show an interest by attending.

"The orientation is designed to introduce the freshmen and new students to our school procedures," Mrs. Rosson explained. "And we want the parents to hear those procedures at the same time."

"Often when problems arise, it's because of a communication gap between the school and the parents. By familiarizing the parents with the school, right along with their children, we can solve those problems before they arise."

"We feel that by orienting the parents and students at the same time, we can get on the right track on the very first day."

The agenda for freshmen orientation includes introducing to the students and their parents some of the key people that both groups will be working with — the principal, counselors, and teachers who'll be sponsoring class activities.

Also introduced will be the freshman student council representatives, elected last spring by their peers. According to Craig Fischer, principal, the council wants to make their fellow students feel welcome to bring suggestions to them.

The students and parents will also be acquainted with clubs and other extra-curriculum activities offered.

"We want to stress that the students get involved with the life of the school," Mrs. Rosson said.

The college-type registration procedures will be explained and the contents of the student handbook will be covered. The school hopes to eliminate possible problems by outlining to parents and students at the same time rules and regulations, and policies on discipline, attendance, and the dress code.

It'll also be pointed out that each teacher has a consultation period scheduled every day. All a parent or student has to do is make an appointment.

"We want to make it known to the parents that they are always welcome at this school," Mrs. Rosson said.

"The Big Spring public school system is working toward a total community involvement in the schools. There's great emphasis here on bringing back the ex-student and keeping them involved in the life of the school.

"In fact, our homecoming theme this year is 'A Teacher Is Forever' since many of our teachers are ex-students of the Big Spring schools."

The Student-Parent Freshman Orientation isn't the only new feature at the Big Spring High School.

"The new freshman class is the first group to have attended school together before entering high school," explained Mrs. Rosson. "Before the two junior highs were combined into one last year, there always existed some rivalry between the two when they came together for the first time here. This year there will be no rivalries."

With the absence of rivalry and more parental involvement, the school administration expects the new freshman year to be one of the most harmonious ever experienced by a group of Big Spring freshmen.

"The trouble is that the parents who have always been involved in their children's academic growth will be at the orientation anyway while many of the parents who never have been involved won't be," Mrs. Rosson said. "It's that latter group we need to reach."

It's not too late to start being involved and the perfect opportunity is at hand with the beginning of a new school year. Whether your child is entering a new school or is returning to an old one, the experts believe he'll get more out of it if you invest more time in it.

SERIOUS BUSINESS of discovering when the first freshmen dance will be brought smiles to the faces of these Freshman Student Council members. Principal Craig Fischer goes over the calendar of bus trips, dances, football games and homecoming with the group who were elected by their peers last

BIG SPRING, TEXAS,
AUGUST 20, 1978

A GOOD YEAR is expected by the Big Spring High School faculty as they make plans to get parents of students involved with the school. Parental involvement begins Monday with the Freshman Orientation and will continue throughout the school year by making parents welcome at the school. In March, Public School Week will include additional activities to bridge the gap between students and parents and parents and school. Preparing for the week of registration ahead are, from left, Harvey Rothell, counselor; Judy Blick, registrar; and Janice Rosson, secondary curriculum coordinator.

READY FOR REGISTRATION are freshman students Kevin Lewis and Joni Avery who are having the procedures explained to them by Shirley Matthews, guidance office clerk, while Morris Molpus, assistant principal and Lynn Calvert, counselor look on. The registration process will be explained at the Monday night orientation. Registration begins Wednesday with seniors registering in the morning and Juniors in the afternoon. Thursday morning, sophomores will be registered with the freshman class completing the process in the afternoon.

FRESH FACES at Big Spring High School this year includes this group of freshman cheerleaders. Clockwise, beginning with Julie Hunter on the top are Debbie Archer, Shanna Hohertz, Laura Warren, Christy Garcia and Lisa Leal.

PROVIDING STUDENTS — Parents of 1978 Big Spring High School freshmen have an opportunity to get involved with their children's academic growth from the very first day by attending the Student-Parent Freshman Orientation Monday night. Providing some of the students for this year's freshman class are, from left, John F. Smith, Jerry and Johnnie Lou Avery, and Susan and Bob Lewis. The group is looking over the student handbook which will be explained during the orientation.

SPRINGING FOR A HOME. These two remaining Animal Shelter last week in hopes of finding them homes. Well cared for and extremely friendly, they are half-English, half-Welsh springer spaniels. One has since been adopted leaving the 4-month-old male on the left to be destroyed Tuesday unless a potential owner acts quickly. Springers are known to be one of the best hunting breeds available. Also at the shelter are a large variety of handsome mixed breeds and one baby coon hound.

Susan Marie Oliver became the bride of Jon Daniell Riley in a double ring ceremony Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist Church chapel, Borger.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Augustus C. Oliver, Borger, and Dr. and Mrs. William A. Riley, Sterling City Route.

Dr. Charles A. Thrasher, pastor, officiated.

The altar was decorated with two large floral arrangements of gladioli and two 15 candle candelabras. A unity candle completed the altar setting.

Nancy Carter, Borger, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sabrina Sasser, Borger; Laura Deane, Amarillo; and Karen Riley, sister of the bride. Ginger Davis, cousin of the bride, Plano, was flower girl.

Faren Hansen, Houston, was best man. Groomsmen were Rusty Thompson, Corpus Christi; James Burleson, and Gus Oliver, brother of the bride, Borger. Robert Holaday, cousin of the bride, Borger, and Robert Grabowski, Abilene, served as ushers.

Joy Holaday, Borger, cousin of the bride, was organist. Vocalists were Rhonda Riley, sister of the groom, and Mike Holster, Canyon.

The bride wore a formal wedding gown of white organdy over English net and taffeta. The dress was fashioned with a high neck, long sleeves, and an empire waistline. It had a Venice lace banded neck, sheer organdy yokes and sleeve. The front bodice was covered in the Venice lace, which also encircled the waistline. The sleeves were full and had a row of small Venice lace dots running down the waist. The matching dots accented the skirt from the waist to a motif of Venice lace flowers at the bottom of the skirt. Two rows of Venice lace dots accented the hemline. The A-line skirt draped from the empire waistline to a chapel-length train in back. The bride wore a waist-length wedding veil.

She carried a bouquet of five white orchids.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore floor-length orchid dotted swiss over taffeta high-necked dresses with sheer full wrist-length sleeves. They wore orchid flower pieces in their hair and carried a nosegay of orchid and blue mums.

A reception followed the ceremony. Assisting at the event were Roanne Riley, sister of the groom; and Vivian and Patti Murphy, cousins of the bride, Odessa. Lisa Riley, sister of the groom, registered guests.

The couple both attend West Texas State University in Canyon, where they are seniors. The bride is a mathematics major, and the groom is a computer information systems major.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at K-Bobs Steak House in Borger.

Brunch marks gift shower

A brunch and miscellaneous gift shower honored Mrs. William Davis, formerly Rebecca Garcia of Amarillo, on Aug. 12 at the home of Mrs. Ross Callihan. The event was held from 10-11:30 a.m.

Additional hostesses were Mrs. Doyce Rice, Mrs. Allen Bailey, Mrs. Bob Newsom, Mrs. E. J. Self, Mrs. William Shankles, Mrs. Kenneth Orr, Mrs. William Riley, Mrs. Jim Berringer and Mrs. Edward Miller.

The hostesses are all members of the Baptist Temple Church where the bridegroom attended.

Special guest was the bride's mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles Davis. She and the honoree were presented with simulated yellow daisy corsages.

A centerpiece of yellow daisies graced the refreshment table which was covered with a yellow gingham cloth. A copper service was used.

The newlywed couple has made their home in Amarillo.

CEREMONY SCHEDULED — Joann C. Holten, 2505 Larry Drive, and J. T. Holten Jr., Carlsbad, N.M., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lucy E., to Don G. Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hughes, Gonzales. The couple will exchange vows Nov. 11 in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church with Father Bernard Gully officiating.

TwEEN 12 and 20 — Killer bees not here yet

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I have just seen a movie about African killer bees called "Swarm." Now I am afraid to be around any type of bee.

What are killer bees and what are the chances of them coming to North America? — Claudia, Big Spring, Texas
Claudia: In 1957, 26 swarms of African bees escaped in Brazil. These bees, which reproduce up to 12 times a year compared with once a year for other bees, have spread over much of South America and are headed north.

Dr. O.R. Taylor of Kansas University, who studies bees, said "there is some proof" to stories that bees have killed animals and people in South America but these cases are rare and could have been avoided.

African bees are expected in North America in 1992 or 1993, but by then procedures should be set up to cope with them.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TwEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Engagement announced

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Myers, 2206 Cecilia, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutte, 2303 Marshall Dr.

Pew markers which lined the bridal aisle were accented with greenery and pink satin bows. The altar was adorned with an archway of greenery topped with bells and baskets of rose and mauve carnations, pink camellias and white gladiolus. Centered under the archway was a white kneeling bench with greenery entwined on it.

Mrs. Betty Birdwell was organist. Mrs. Julie Shirey was pianist. The women performed a duet during the ceremony.

The bride wore a Victorian-style gown of candlelight silk organza. The gown featured Venice lace and lace motifs, as well as a fitted empire bodice overlaid with appliques of Venice lace motifs. A Queen Ann neckline and long full sheer sleeves with deep lace finished cuffs accented the gown, which featured a bell shaped skirt enhanced with panels of silk organza sprinkle with lace motifs. The gown had a chapel-length train. The skirt and train were finished with a band of lace.

She wore a picture hat dressed with identical lace and silk illusion.

The bride carried a lace-covered fan entwined with pink roses and lily-of-the-valley with ivory lace and pink satin streamers.

Maid of honor was Carol Anne Immel. Bridesmaid was Teresa Arcand, cousin of the bride. They were attired in blouson-style, floor-length, rose colored dresses of crepe-backed satin.

MRS. MICHAEL DELANO HUTTE

Completing their attire were pink garden hats. They carried lace covered fans entwined with pink roses and lily-of-the-valley with pink satin streamers.

Rodney Killingsworth, Austin, was best man. Groomsman was John Hutte, brother of the bridegroom, Seminole.

The groom was attired in an ivory tuxedo with a matching ivory shirt. Groomsman were attired in ivory tuxedos with pink shirts.

Ushers were Ricky Myers, brother of the bride; Brian Rosson, Barry Rosson and Blake Rosson, cousins of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard College. She is a marketing major and plans to continue her education at Texas Women's University in Denton.

The bridegroom graduated from Westlake High School in Austin, and recently completed training courses at the Malone-Hogan School of Radiologic Technology.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, Mrs. Jackie Simpson, Mrs. Louise Porter, Mrs. Undine Kernodle and Carol Hart. Judy Tereletsy registered guests.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted for the wedding party Friday night at the Brass Nail.

Parents Need Support When Tragedy Strikes

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are trying hard to cope with the most heartbreaking tragedy a parent could ever experience—losing a child.

Our son was only 18. We're sure he didn't want to end his life. He died of an overdose of drugs. He had everything to live for. He was an honor student, a fine athlete, good-looking and popular. He had such great plans for the future, and had already been accepted to the university of his choice. He had never been in any kind of trouble and we never knew him to touch drugs of any kind. He wasn't an addict. He was a green kid experimenting with pills and angel dust (PCP).

I don't know why I'm writing to you, Abby, except that our son used to read your column every day and he thought you were a "neat lady." Maybe I want to ask you to tell kids who read your column to stay away from drugs. They just don't realize what a terrible price they might pay for wanting to get "high" or experience new sensations.

And yes, Abby, he was our only son.

HEARTBROKEN IN N.Y.

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: You have my sympathy. May I recommend a wonderfully supportive group who call themselves "The Compassionate Friends"—a self-help organization for parents whose children have died. Many bereaved parents have found that their grief is lessened by quietly listening to one another, sharing experiences, talking out their feelings and sometimes crying openly together. There are over 100 chapters in the United States—several in your state.

The person who made me aware of "The Compassionate Friends" said, "Losing a child is positively the worst thing that can happen to a parent, and the only people who can understand it are those who have been through it. This organization was a lifesaver for me."

The national coordinators are Arnold and Paula Shamres, whose 10-year-old daughter was killed in an accident. The Shamreses will provide information about this organization to anyone who writes to them at P.O. Box 3247, Hialeah, Fla. 33013. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for their reply.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if you received the following card:

"Happy Birthday. Buy yourself a $10 gift, and send me the invoice."

1. Ignore it.
 2. Buy gift, and send invoice to giver.
 3. Thank giver of gift (?) and forget it.
- P.S. The gift (?) is not from a spouse.

BIRTHDAY BABY

DEAR BIRTHDAY BABY: Find a book on etiquette that includes "gift giving," and send him an invoice.

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet: "How To Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Gayla Kerby is honoree

Gayla Kerby, bride-elect of Reggie Coleman, was the honoree of a bridal shower Aug. 12 at the Midway Baptist Church fellowship hall.

Hostesses were Mrs. Bill Hipp, Mrs. Horace Bowden, Mrs. Guy Hodnett, Mrs. Alvin Johnke, Mrs. Weldon McAdams, Mrs. Bill Fryrear, Mrs. Phil Wynn, Mrs. Lindell Newton, Mrs. Glenn Addy, Mrs. Bob Read, Mrs. James Archer, Mrs. W. A. Kennemer, Mrs. Dick Stone, Mrs. Ed Gaines, Mrs. Roland Beal, Mrs. Bob Roever, Mrs. Bobby Henson, Mrs. Carl Frazier, Mrs. G. W. Hudson, Mrs. Clovis Phinney Jr., Mrs. Charles Tidwell and Mrs. Ricky Phinney.

They presented Miss Kerby with stainless steel waterless cookware.

The honoree and mothers of the couple, Mrs. H. L. Kerby, and Mrs. Woodie Coleman, were presented corsages of yellow daisies with brown centers and tied with yellow ribbons.

Other special guests were Sherry Mitchell and Diane Donahoo, both of Lubbock.

The 30 guests were served fruit punch, homemade butter mints and a cake decorated with daisies and a miniature bride and groom. The table was covered with a chintilly lace cloth and the centerpiece was a ceramic owl cookie jar, which had been presented to the honoree at an earlier shower.

Miss Kerby and Coleman will be married Sept. 2 at the Midway Baptist Church.

Immaculate Heart ceremony marks Brito, Zonghi rite

The Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church was the setting for the Saturday morning marriage of Consuelo Brito and Kevin Eugene Zonghi.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Brito, Rt. 2, Box 146, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Zonghi, Natick, Mass.

Father Bernard L. Gully officiated at the ceremony, which was performed before an altar decorated with two baskets of white gladioli, yellow and white carnations and two heart-shaped candelabras.

Mrs. Socorro Valenzuela provided music at the organ.

The bride wore a gown formed of satin with a sheer chiffon overlay. The gown, which was bought in Mexico, featured a square neckline and long sheer sleeves which fitted down to the elbow, then were full to the wrist and gathered with flower cuffs. The gown was embellished with lace on the sleeves, neck and hem. The gown featured an empress waist A-line skirt and was floor length. Lace accented the gown down to the front hem, and tiered lace accented the back. The attached cathedral-length train was chiffon and lace-edged. Her three-tiered veil of illusion was also from Mexico, and she wore a pearl and glass tiara.

The bride carried a bouquet of pearls and glass centered with dried gardenias. The bouquet was tied with white satin ribbon. The bouquet was atop a white Bible and white beaded rosary. The bouquet was also from Mexico.

Maid of honor was Elvira Brito, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Linda Brito, sister of the bride, and Cindy Roberts, Sand Springs.

Karl Zonghi, Natick, Mass. was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Ambrosio Uranga, cousin of the bride, and Jerry Marquez. Ushers were Tommy Gutierrez, cousin of the bride, and Vivian Garcia, cousin of the bride, Coahoma.

MRS. KEVIN EUGENE ZONGHI

Cathy Hernandez, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Timmy Gutierrez, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Following a wedding trip to Corpus Christi, the couple will reside in Midland.

The bride attended Coahoma High School and the groom attended school in Natick, Mass. He is employed with Holiday Pools.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the Immaculate Parish Hall.

Out-of-town guests at the event included Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Zonghi and family, Mrs. Emma Lodi and Mrs. Catherine Zonghi, all of Natick, Mass., Jo Beth Tollefson and Jackie Cagle, Fort Worth; Donna Barber and Suzie Rupard, Houston; and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Moreno, Post.

Saturday reception to mark Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Shirley will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a reception from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Kentwood Older Adult Activities Center, 2805 Lynn Dr.

MR. AND MRS. H. L. SHIRLEY

Friends and relatives are invited to attend. Hosting the event are their children and their families. They include their daughter and sons, Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Goodson, Texas City; Mr. and Mrs. T.R. Shirley, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Dan L. Shirley, El Paso; and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Shirley, Houston.

Members of the houseparty will be their grandchildren, Randy and Mary Anne Law, Abilene; Steve and Karen Kay Fraser, Amarillo; Jimmy and Donna Lynn Giles, Lake Jackson; T. Joe Shirley, Big Spring and Steve Shirley, Amarillo.

Others are Michael Gene Goodson, Houston; Danny and Tracy Goodson, Texas City; Jon and Jill Shirley, Houston.

Their great-grandchildren, Kristie Law and Jayson Giles, are also included in the houseparty.

Hollis L. Shirley moved to Howard County in 1927 from Eden. He and his family settled in the Midway Community six miles east of Big Spring. The following year, on Aug. 26, 1928, he married the former Mary Robinson. They exchanged vows in the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robinson, Midway.

The ceremony was performed by the late Rev. W. E. Smith, who was at that time pastor of the Robinson

Chapel Baptist Church. Shirley farmed for several years, then went to work for Cosden Refinery. Following his employment with Cosden, he went to work for the T&P Railroad as brakeman. On July 7, 1944, he was promoted to conductor, a position he held until his retirement on July 17, 1972.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley have lived in Howard County since their marriage.

Mrs. Shirley enjoys sewing, handwork and cooking in her spare time. She is quilt chairman for the Howard County Council on Aging.

Shirley enjoys yard work and woodworking. He is a Mason and a member of the Oddfellows.

The couple are charter members of the Baptist Temple Church.

Out-of-town guests expected for the event include Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Grimes, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. T.R. Higginbotham, Monahans; Mr. and Mrs. T.D. Dearing, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. M.E. Shirley, Elvord; Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Hall, Brady; and Mr. and Mrs. G.A. Lewallen, Saylor, Okla.

Others expected are Mr. and Mrs. D.W. Holcombe, Altus, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Johnson, Roseberg, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Williamson, Odessa; Mrs. J.R. Tonn, Denton; and Steve Shirley, Amarillo.

First reunion held in Melvin

The home of the Otha Fortsons in Melvin was the site of the first annual A. L. Fortson family reunion Aug. 13. Attending the affair were 52 family members.

A. L. Fortson, 87 and a resident of Stanton View Rest Home, was present. Before moving to Big Spring in 1952, he farmed for many years in Vincent. Mrs. Fortson passed away in 1963.

All of Fortson's seven children were present. Also present were 18 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren. Missing were three grandchildren who were unable to attend.

His sons and daughters are Otha Fortson, Melvin; Mrs. Garland Maxwell, Lamesa; Cecil Fortson, New Braunfels; Mrs. W. E. Taylor, Joe Fortson and Ray Fortson, all of Big Spring; and Milton Fortson, Houston.

Attending from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fortson and Karen, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fortson and Terry and Kerry, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson and Robb and Shea, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ray and Theresa, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Schafer.

From Lamesa, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Maxwell attended.

Other family members came from Houston, New Braunfels, San Antonio, Lamesa, Kermit, Odessa, Lewisville, Grandview, and Hugo, Okla.

The group enjoyed a barbecue and visiting.

Beauceants family night

The annual Family Night picnic of the Social Order of the Beauceant will be at 7 p.m. Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Porter, 1919 Parkwood Dr.

Families and guests of members are invited. Those attending may bring any kind of food.

Forsan report

FORSAN — Bernice Galloway, Marie Affleck, Edith Gay and Ruby McElrath drove to Canyon Aug. 12 to visit the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum on the campus of West Texas State University. They drove to the Palo Duro Canyon to see the play "Texas" that evening, and returned home Aug. 13.

Mrs. Nola Story was hostess to the Pioneer Sewing Club Aug. 15. There were 13 members present, and one guest, Mrs. Jeff Green, Midland.

The next meeting is Sept. 5.

A.J. McCall, who had eye surgery recently at Malone-Hogan hospital, is now recuperating at home.

Crystal Overton underwent surgery Wednesday morning. Crystal had an appendectomy at Hall-Bennett.

MRS. DANNY JOE GILLESPIE

Brownwood ceremony marks Saturday rite

Sharon Kaye Garner and Danny Joe Gillespie exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist Church in Brownwood with Dr. Guy D. Newman, grandfather of the bride, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Guy B. Garner Jr., Arlington, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Edd Gillespie, Ackerly.

Karen Gordon provided music at the organ. Denise Newman, cousin of the bride, was vocalist.

The bride was attired in a floor-length bridal satin gown with a high neck and train. She wore a floor-length veil.

Shannon Wilson, Eastland, was maid of honor. The bride's attendants included Louise Flemming, Pecos; David Riggins, Stephenville; and Guy Ben Garner III, brother of the bride, Arlington.

Best man was Tony Gillespie, brother of the groom. The groom's attendants were Kenny Gillespie, brother of the groom; Kay Newcomer, Ackerly, and Sue Straley, Goldwaite.

Heath Gillespie, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will reside in Georgetwest. The bride and groom both attended Howard Payne University.

MRS. GEORGE ANTHONY WHITE

Linda Green, White wed in Austin ceremony

Linda Green became the bride of George Anthony White in a ceremony performed July 29 in the Wilshire Presbyterian Church in Austin. The bride is a graduate of Reagan High School in Austin, and the University of Texas at Austin. She is a teacher in the Austin Independent School District. The bridegroom graduated from Reagan High School and attended St. Edwards University in Austin. He is employed as an electrician. The couple will reside in Austin following a trip to California.

Summer ceremony unites Miss Daily, Birdwell

Rhonda Valynn Daily became the bride of Jack Wilson Birdwell in a ceremony performed Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kennedy, at 206 Circle Dr.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Daily Jr., 1607 Harding. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. George Sandborne, 1202 Wright.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with an arch covered with greenery with a yellow rose on each side and a cascade of yellow daffodils hanging in the middle.

Jay Lane Phinney, Coahoma, was vocalist.

The bride wore a Victorian inspired gown with ivory chiffon and lace accented with satin ribbon. The gown featured a flounced capelet, lavishly ruffled cuffs and a flounce hem. Set-in-waist ties adorned the back. Nylon chiffon and acetate nylon lace also decorated the gown, which was fully lined with acetate taffeta except on the sleeves.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of summer flowers.

Sharon Bickford was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Delores Daily, sister of the bride, and Alma Lou Lavergne, sister of the groom.

Richard Lyons was best man. Groomsmen were Gerald Kennedy, uncle of the bride, and George Sandborne, father of the groom.

Flower girl was Marie Lavergne, niece of the groom. Randy Savell cousin of the bride, Knott, was ring bearer.

The bride is a graduate of

MR. AND MRS. JACK WILSON BIRDWELL

Deer Park Senior High School in Deer Park. She was formerly employed with Furr's Supermarket, and plans to continue her education.

The groom attended Big Spring High School and is employed at Robinson Drilling Co.

The couple will reside at 1602 Harding.

A reception honoring the couple followed in the home.

The bride's table was yellow with white lace. The cake was formed as a fountain with five tiers over it, and was white with yellow roses.

topped with satin cloth. Covered bells filled with yellow baby's breath also adorned the cake. A candelabrum with candles at one end and punch at the other accented the table.

The groom's cake was a German chocolate. A gift table in the home was covered with a yellow and white cloth. A vase with yellow carnations centered the table.

The registry table had a candle circled with yellow roses and white baby's breath on it. A white pen adorned with gold was used to register guests.

Botulism is serious illness

By JANET ROGERS, COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

Botulism poisoning can cause serious illness — and even death.

Symptoms produced by botulism poisoning are difficulty in swallowing, speech and respiration, double vision, and death if paralysis of the respiration muscles occurs.

This year, the second largest outbreak of botulism reported in the United States since recording began in 1899 occurred in New Mexico. Thirty-two people eating in a country club restaurant became ill. To date, one of those affected died.

A study of the foods served revealed that two items — potato salad and three-bean salad — were responsible for the spread of the disease. This indicates that cross-contamination or the addition of contaminated ingredients was responsible.

For this outbreak to occur, the following conditions had to be present:

- (1) The botulism organism was present in the food or foods.
- (2) The food causing the outbreak was canned or processed in some way.
- (3) An inadequate method of food processing occurred to permit spore survival and toxin formation.
- (4) Conditions after processing permitted the spore to grow and produce toxin.
- (5) The food was not heated enough to inactivate the toxin.

(6) The poisonous food was eaten.

To prevent botulism contamination in foods preserved at home, always follow the USDA recommended canning procedures.

Never use any food from a bulging or swollen can. Discard any food with a bad odor or foamy appearance.

Boil all home-processed foods 10 to 20 minutes before serving to inactivate any toxins that are present.

John Thomas Smith

I've been sitting on this for five days now, but can't wait any longer. By the time I get back to this desk, the story may be a dead fish. John Thomas Smith, the 5-4A All-District receiver who scooped in Tom Sorley's passes five seasons ago for the Bold Gold, has survived the first NFL cut with the Washington Redskins. Smith, who many thought would be drafted by one of the pro clubs, walked into the Redskins summer camp a month or so ago and tried out. According to Joe Blair, Redskins public relations director, the Redskins liked what they saw. The 6-2, 200-pound ex-Steer great has turned quite a few heads in two pre-season tilts thus far. Smith has returned four kick-offs 94 yards for a splendid average of 23.5. His longest was 28 markers. He has also run back two punts 24 yards. Does Smith have a realistic shot at making the team? "Very much so," said Blair, from the "Skins Pennsylvania camp. "They like him very much up here, and he is figuring prominently in punt and kick-off return plans." The first cut was last Tuesday. That's when all the teams were trimmed to 60 players. The next hatchet job is this Tuesday, when 10 more have to go. The following Tuesday, the teams have to be down to 45 players, the regular season limit. Chances are very good that Smith will survive the two remaining cuts. His main competition was to be Eddie Brown, a brilliant special teams man, but Brown was traded to the Rams recently. His toughest competition will come from Danny Buggs and Frank Grant at wide receiver, if Smith is used as wide receiver, (a possibility, also).

But Blair thinks John Thomas's best chance is return man, and speciality team player (on field goal, PAT's and kickoffs). I've called the Pennsylvania camp every day and left word for Smith to call me back. That's why I haven't run this before. I was certain that his many friends here would like to hear what he thinks about the whole business. But the likeable guy is probably smothered in all that pro stuff at the moment. Will talk to him soon, however, come brimstone or tsunami.

JOHN THOMAS SMITH Washington Redskins

Number 44 for the Mean Green last year, Smith made national waves when, as a junior, he picked off a pass intended for the NCAA's leading receiver Billy Ryckman of Louisiana Tech, and scampered 100 yards for a NTSU touchdown.

In 1973, his senior year at Big Spring, Smith was one of the top three vote getters for the 5-4A All-District squad. He made the team as a wide receiver, and almost repeated as a defensive back pick.

North Texas, Nebraska, Texas A&M and SMU all wanted him after his outstanding career at BSHS. Now, the Washington Redskins appear to want him. Two Tuesdays from now, they might still have him. Let's hope so. That way, he'll keep up the tradition set by native sons Bob Flowers, Charley Johnson, Danny Birdwell, Cliff Patton, Charley West and at least a half dozen others.

RELATED...

1977's batch of Big Spring seniors have fared rather well in the college grid market. Wade Cobb is going to Sul Ross, Tony Mann to Western New Mexico University, Kenneth Coffey to Tyler Junior College and Ricky Torres to Henderson County (perhaps as a walk-on).

Others will no doubt try their luck walking on at the various colleges throughout the state. Del Poss, receiver for the Steers last year, as well as basketball stalwart, left Friday to try out for the TCU Horned Frog squad.

REMARKABILITIES

"No, but if I did, I'd come back as a cab driver and find out where my husband goes every night." — THE WIFE of roistering Bobby Layne, Hall of Fame pro quarterback, when once asked if she believed in reincarnation.

"Obviously, we didn't have enough money in the bank." — CHARLIE THEOKAS, general manager of the NBA New Jersey Nets, on the paychecks of three players that bounced.

"Basically, I think they're telling the truth." — DAVE PARKER, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, on being told the general managers of the National League chose him as the loop's best all-around player.

"Sometimes I wish I was a dog and Howard was a tree." — MUHAMMAD ALI, on Howard Cosell.

"I'm like a turkey in an oven waiting for the chef to say I'm done." — DANNY WHITE, on backing up Cowboy starter Roger Staubach.

"Sitting around having a drink you'll say, 'I can still do it.' But if I ever thought about coming back, I would only have to look at one reel of the Dallas defense." — SONNY JURGENSEN, former Washington Redskins quarterback. P.S.: John Thomas returned Reagan's call Friday afternoon after he and Valdes had left for the 'boonies' and more football pics for the tabloid.

Herrera signs up

KIRKLAND, Wash. (AP) — All-pro placekicker Efrén Herrera has agreed to terms with the Seattle Seahawks covering his services with the club through 1981, the National Football League team announced Saturday. Herrera came to the Seahawks from the Dallas Cowboys in a trade last week. He will report to the Seahawks Sunday night, said General Manager John Thompson. Herrera scored 93 points for the Cowboys last season on 18 of 29 field goals and 39 of 41 extra points. Both his pointkicking total and field goal percentage were NFL highs for the year.

BENDS OVER BACKWARDS FOR THE TEAM — Pittsburgh Pirate's second baseman Phil Garner stretches backwards on his way into second base on a steal during fifth inning action against the Houston Astros in Pittsburgh Friday. The Astros' second baseman Julio Gonzalez was unable to hold onto the ball giving the Pirates their 143rd stolen base of the season.

Campbell soups Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Heisman winner Earl Campbell charged 55 yards for a touchdown, unleashed a clearing block for another score, and rushed for 151 yards Saturday night to inspire the Houston Oilers to a 27-13 National Football League preseason victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

Campbell, the $1.3 million rookie from the University of Texas, broke through the middle of the Cowboy Doomsday defense late in the middle of the third quarter, fought off cornerback Benny Barnes and scored standing up to give Houston a 14-6 lead.

Less than two minutes later, Ronnie Coleman scored on a 2-yard run after an interception to put the game away. With just 46 seconds left in the first half, Campbell blasted safety Cliff Harris with a cracking block to clear the path for Coleman's 18-yard touchdown run. The touchdown put Houston ahead 7-6 at halftime with Dallas' only points coming on field goals of 30 and 20 yards by Jay Sherrill.

But it was Campbell's scoring run that deflated the sellout pro-Cowboy crowd of 62,242 and this game billed as the "Texas Professional Football Championship."

Former Cowboy Toni Fritsch kicked field goals of 40 and 43 yards after the game got out of hand.

After a scoreless first period, Sherrill, a free agent from North Carolina State, kicked a chip-shot field goal to give Dallas the only lead it had.

The Oilers scored their first touchdown the hard way with officials calling back an apparent 72-yard scoring run by Coleman because tackle Morris Towns was detected offsides. Undaunted, Campbell thundered 34 yards over the middle to set up Coleman's touchdown run.

The World Champions took the second-half kickoff and stormed to the Oiler 3-yard line where strong safety Bill Currier made a clutch tackle of Tony Dorsett to stall the drive on a third down and three play.

Dallas had to settle for Sherrill's second field goal and it wasn't to prove enough as the Tyler, Texas, native put on a familiar show for fans in his section of the country. Campbell gained his 151 yards on only 14 carries.

Roger Staubach, the veteran Cowboy quarterback, played only the first half and completed seven of 11 passes for 108 yards.

White had a miserable outing capped by linebacker Art Stringer's interception, which he returned 31 yards to the Dallas 5-yard line. Coleman scored from two yards out with no time showing on the clock in the third period.

Doug Dennison scored from two yards out with 61 seconds left in the game for a consolation Cowboy marker.

Houston is now 8-4 in its alltime preseason record against Dallas in the game for the Governor's Cup.

Foul play puts Aldyar in the circle

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Calumet Farm's Aldyar, runner-up in a row of the Triple Crown events, won the $104,800 Travers Stakes Saturday when his arch-rival, Affirmed, was disqualified and placed second for interference before a record crowd of 50,122 at Saratoga Race Track.

Affirmed, who became the 11th Triple Crown winner in history this year, crossed the finish line first ahead of Aldyar, but was placed second after a steward's inquiry and a foul claim by Aldyar's jockey, Jorge Velasquez.

Affirmed, racing on the inside, crossed in front of Aldyar approaching the half-mile pole and Aldyar dropped back. Aldyar made another closing rush at Affirmed but fell back by 1 1/4 lengths.

It marked only the third victory in 10 meetings for Aldyar against Affirmed in this great thoroughbred rivalry.

Affirmed, the 3-5 favorite who had won all eight starts this year and nine in a row dating back to last year, was ridden by Laffit Pincay, who was substituting for Steve Cauthen, the injured 18-year-old sensation. Cauthen was hurt in a spill here Aug. 9.

Aldyar finished 3 1/4 lengths in front of Meadowhill Stable's Nasty and Bold. Fernando Acevedo's Shake Shake Shake finished fourth and last, another 15 1/4 lengths back.

The time of the 1 1/4-mile race was 2:02, one and four-fifths seconds slower than the track record set by Honest Pleasure in 1976. Each of the four entrants carried 126 pounds.

Aldyar paid $4 and $2.10. Affirmed returned $2.10. There was no show betting. Aldyar, whose only career losses were handed to him by Harbor View Farm's Affirmed, posted his sixth triumph in 10 starts this year and earned first prize of $62,880. He now has lifetime earnings of $850,097.

FOULED — Triple Crown winner Affirmed (3), ridden by Laffit Pincay Jr., moves to the rail and fouls contender Aldyar (4), with jockey Jorge Velasquez up, by the half pole in the backstretch at Saratoga Race course during Saturday's Travers stakes. Affirmed, who finished first, was disqualified and the win given to Aldyar. Affirmed was placed second.

Ace golfer Tapie leads Westchester

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Longshot Alan Tapie parlayed a hole-in-one and a birdie-birdie finish into a 4-under-par 67 and a tie with journeyman Gibby Gilbert for the third-round lead Saturday in the $300,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

Tapie, a mustachioed non-winner in 4 years of tour activity, and the sturdy Gilbert had matching 54-hole totals of 205, 8 strokes under par on the hilly little 6,603-yard Westchester Country Club course just north of New York City. Gilbert shot a 68 in the warm, almost windless weather.

Hubert Green, who said he "had a chance to blow the tournament wide open" with a front-side 31, cooled off to a 37 on the back nine and, with a 68, was one shot out of the lead at 206.

Jack Nicklaus, winner of the British Open and three American tournaments this year, was in danger of falling out of contention for a third Westchester championship but birdied two of his last three holes to get in at par 71 and 207, only 2 strokes back going to Sunday's final round of the chase for a $60,000 first prize.

Tapie, 29, winner of $46,000 this season in his best year ever, hit irons close for birdies on the second and fifth holes and heard the roar when Bob Greenwood, playing just in front of him, holed a wedge shot for an ace on the sixth.

Moments later Tapie, using a 9-iron, duplicated the hole-in-one, his second as a pro.

Gilbert's big move came with deuces on the 14th and 16th holes. He missed an ace by about 6 inches, the ball sucking back dead on line with the hole, on the 14th, and scored from about 15 feet on the 16th.

Post leads Dearborn

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Sandra Post, who surged to a 3-stroke lead at 7-under-par after 14 holes, bogeyed the next three Saturday, then recovered with a birdie on the final hole to take a 2-stroke lead after the third round of the $150,000 LPGA event at the Dearborn Country Club.

She shot a 1-under 71 for a 54-hole total of 211, two better than her co-leader of the first two rounds, Kathy Whitworth, and Pat Meyers.

No one else in the field of 74 bested par at the 6,411-yard, par 72 layout near Detroit. Top prize in the 72-hole event, which concludes Sunday, is $22,500.

Post's string of bogeys, at 15, 16 and 17, dropped her into a tie for the lead with Meyers at 4-under-par. But Post, who drove into the woods off the 18th tee, blasted a brilliant second shot 10 feet from the pin and sank the putt for a birdie 3. Meyers, in the threesome with Post, was also in the woods on her drive. She didn't recover nearly so well and wound up with a bogey.

She finished with 70 for the day and Whitworth shot a 73. Post, who fell two strokes behind Whitworth on the second hole, eagled the next hole (which Whitworth bogeyed) to regain the lead.

She bogeyed the seventh, then collected birdies at the 10th, 11th and 14th for a seemingly commanding lead of three strokes over Whitworth and Meyers.

Her bogeys followed, leaving Meyers temporarily alone as co-leader, since Whitworth bogeyed the 16th.

The day's best round went to Kathy Martin with a 67 — the best 18-hole round of the tourney. Her three-day score, however, was 222, far off the pace.

Saturday baseball

Mets double LA's tally

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Henderson's two-run single keyed a four-run sixth inning Saturday, carrying the New York Mets to an 8-4 victory over Los Angeles and ending the Dodgers' four-game winning streak.

After New York reliever Dale Murray, 6-5, pitched out of a bases-loaded, one-out jam in the top of the sixth, the Mets went to work against Don Sutton, 12-10.

The Mets victory was only their second win in eight games and just their fifth in the last 19.

Royals take Texas

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Clint Hurdle hit a two-run homer and Dennis Leonard scattered six hits to give the Kansas City Royals a 3-0 victory over the Texas Rangers Saturday.

Ferguson Jenkins, 11-8, held the Royals hitless until Pete LaCock led off the fourth with a single. One out later, Hurdle hammered a Jenkins' pitch into the right field bleachers for his sixth homer of the year.

Leonard, 14-14, issued two walks and a bunt single to load the bases with none out in the first. But he then retired the next 13 Texas batters in a row.

Oakland takes Boston

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Designated hitter Rico Carty drove in two runs with his 22nd homer of the season and an infield out as the Oakland A's defeated the Boston Red Sox 8-4 Saturday and snapped a seven-game losing streak.

John Henry Johnson, with relief help from Mike Norris and Bob Lacey, won his 10th game of the season. The A's got all their runs off Boston starter Bill Lee, 10-10.

Reds spring back at Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Mike Lum's fourth hit of the game, a tie-breaking single in the 10th inning off relief ace Bruce Sutter, and pitcher Tom Hume's two-run single led the Cincinnati Reds to a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Sutter, 7-4, was the loser and was tagged for three runs in the ninth when the Reds tied the game at 6-6. Hume, 6-11, the winner and the sixth pitcher employed by Cincinnati, was touched for a run in the last of 10th when third baseman Pete Rose made an error on Dave Kingman's ground ball with the bases loaded.

White Sox stop Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Francisco Barrios hurled a six-hitter and made a pair of first-inning runs stand up, leading the Chicago White Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians Saturday night.

It was the fifth straight loss and 14th in the last 16 games for the Indians. The defeat also ended a three-game winning string for Cleveland starter Mike Paxton, 9-7, who gave up only four hits and one earned run in his 7 1/3 innings.

Padres top Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — Randy Jones and Rollie Fingers combined on a five-hitter and Jones drove in the winning run with an infield single in the sixth inning as the San Diego Padres downed the Montreal Expos 3-2 Saturday night.

The teams were tied at 2-2 when Gene Tenace led off the Padres' sixth against Montreal starter Dan Schatzeder, 5-4, with a walk. One out later, Fernando Gonzalez singled and Bill Almon reached on a fielder's choice before Jones was credited with an infield hit as the Expos were unable to get the force at second.

Jones, 11-11, gave up a hit in each of the first four innings, but the Expos were able to score only a pair of unearned runs in the second. Fingers pitched the eighth and ninth, recording his 28th save.

Phillies stop Giants

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Steve Carlton pitched his 38th lifetime shutout and drove in a run as the Philadelphia Phillies stopped a five-game slide with a 3-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants Saturday night.

The Phillies' victory increase their lead in the National League East to three games over the Chicago Cubs, who lost Saturday afternoon. The loss kept the Giants from tying for the lead in the West with the Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost to the New York Mets.

Carlton gave up 10 hits, struck out four and walked one in earning his 12th victory against 11 defeats. It was the third straight win for the Phillie left-hander, who missed his last start with a twinge in his pitching shoulder. Giants starter John Montefusco is 9-5.

Cards are shut out

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rookie left-hander Larry McWilliams stymied St. Louis on four hits for his first major league shutout and complete game, and Atlanta scored runs on a sacrifice fly, a balk and a fielder's choice to beat the Cards 3-0 Saturday night.

McWilliams, 6-0, winning his sixth straight game since being called up from Richmond of the International League at the All-Star break, out-duel Bob Forsch, 9-15, who pitched the first seven innings and lost his ninth straight decision.

McWilliams, a tall, lanky 24-year-old whose best pitch is a forkball, walked two and struck out four. He was in control most of the way and never allowed a Cardinal to reach third base.

Pirates chop Astros

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Frank Taveras scored two runs, and the Pittsburgh Pirates took advantage of some wildness by Houston starter Floyd Bannister for their fifth straight victory, a 4-2 decision over the Astros in the first game of a twilight double-header Saturday.

Taveras also stole three bases, giving him 31 for the season.

Pittsburgh right-hander Bert Blyleven, 9-9, scattered six hits in eight-plus innings before yielding Houston's first run with none out in the ninth on Enos Cabell's single. Grant Jackson then yielded Jose Cruz' RBI fielder's choice before Kent Tekulve came in to register his 22nd save. It was Tekulve's 68th appearance this season, leading the major leagues.

The Pirates pecked away at Bannister, 3-8, for their runs on five hits and seven walks. Bannister, who lasted 61-3 innings, also was charged with a balk and a wild pitch, both of which figured in the scoring.

Phil Garner scored on a balk and game home on Steve Brye's single in the second inning. Taveras scored in the third when he walked, stole second and third and came home on Manny Sanguillen's ground-out.

Dale Berra singled to open the sixth, went to second on a wild pitch and came home on consecutive sacrifices by Brye and Duffy Dyer. Taveras opened the seventh inning with a single, stole second, his 31st steal of the year, and reached third on an error by Julio Gonzalez. He came home on Garner's single.

Connors in finals, no sweat

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — Top-seeded Jimmy Connors scored a 7-4, 4-0 victory over fourth-seeded Bob Lutz and Tom Guillikson beat Eliot Teltscher 6-3, 6-4 in the semifinal matches of a Grand Prix tennis tournament. Connors and Guillikson will face each other in the final Sunday. Lutz was forced to retire after four games of the second set of his match with Connors because of a tendon pull in his right knee, probably incurred in the first set tie-breaker. In the other semifinal, third seed Tim Guillikson controlled the match, his serve keeping Teltscher off balance. Guillikson had four service aces and won 18 points with his serve. In the preliminary rounds, the 19-year-old Teltscher, who has been a pro for just three months, had knocked off two of the top seeds, Kim Warwick and Harold Solomon.

Texas out of Little League finals

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Waskom, Texas was eliminated Friday night from the 18th Senior Little League World Series. Burbank, Ill., took advantage of 16 Waskom errors and won, 22-0. Burbank was paired in Saturday's championship game against Taiwan, which has won the title the past six years. Waskom and Taiwan were the only two unbeaten teams until Thursday, when Taiwan took a 12-3 victory over Waskom in the double-elimination tournament. With its loss Friday, Waskom finished third in the tournament.

Saginaw gets 'em in Connie Mack

FARMINGTON (AP) — Saginaw, Mich., exploded for 10 runs in the second inning and went on to crush Bayamon, P.R., 16-1 here in the first round of the 1978 Connie Mack World Series. The game was called Friday after 4½ innings because of the five-run rule. In Friday's other first-round game, Long Island, N.Y., defeated Tallmadge, Ohio, 10-5. Ron Henika led the Saginaw attack with a pair of two-run homers, both in the second inning. He finished the game with five RBI's which, like his homerun total, tied a world series one-game record. Mike Shorkey also blasted a three-run homer as Saginaw (30-3) shelled three Bayamon (19-2) pitchers in the big second inning. The North-Central regional champions scored in every inning and advanced to Sunday's second round of the double elimination tournament.

Gray retains welterweight title

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — Commonwealth welterweight champion Clyde Gray retained his title Saturday when he stopped Sakaria Ve of Fiji in the eighth round of a scheduled 15-round fight. The fight ended when the 24-year-old Ve, a bank clerk who had won 24 of his 25 previous professional fights, had a false tooth broken by the 31-year-old Canadian. Ve said afterwards the only reason he lost was because he turned to his seconds to have them remove the false tooth, which was hurting his gum. When he turned back to resume fight, referee Mumtaz Ali, had declared Gray winner by technical knockout. Gray said he was prepared to give Ve a rematch.

NFL Pre-season

Cardinals thump Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Nate Simpson scampered eight yards for the go-ahead touchdown with 12:25 to play, rallying the Green Bay Packers to a 23-17 National Football League exhibition victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday night. Simpson evaded the grasp of end Bob Bell and cut back to his left for the touchdown three plays after rookie tackle Terry Jones recovered a fumble by St. Louis' Steve Jones at the Cardinals' 21-yard line. Simpson erased a 17-16 Cardinals lead achieved when Jim Otis' one-yard scoring plunge capped a 71-yard march with six minutes left in the third quarter. Jim Hart sparked the drive with passes of 14 yards to Wayne Morris and 14 to Mel Gray.

Eagles claw Falcons

ATLANTA (AP) — John Walton used pinpoint passing to put Philadelphia in control in the first half and rookie Greg Marshall scored on a 23-yard pass interception as the Eagles defeated the Atlanta Falcons 24-7 Saturday night in a National Football League preseason game. Walton, connecting on 12 of 19 passes for 144 yards during his two quarters of action, scored the Eagles' only first half touchdown on a one-yard keeper as Philadelphia raised its exhibition record to 3-1. Marshall, a rookie from Oregon State, scored the clincher late in the third quarter when he picked off a Steve Barkowski pass behind the line of scrimmage and raced 23 yards for the score.

Tampa starts the season right

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Reserve fullback Jimmy DuBose spearheaded two touchdown drives Saturday night as the Tampa Bay Buccaneers remained unbeaten in National Football League exhibition play with a 14-3 victory over the New Orleans Saints. DuBose saw action in the first and third quarters and accounted for 48 yards and a touchdown on seven carries. His touchdown came on an eight-yard burst in the first quarter and put the Buccaneers ahead 7-0. He gained 31 yards on four carries in an eight-play, 68-yard third-quarter drive. Ricky Bell capped that drive with a four-yard touchdown burst. New Orleans' score came on a 35-yard field goal by Rich Szaro in the second quarter.

Steelers top Giants

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Quarterback Jerry Golsteyn and wide receiver Johnny Perkins teamed on a 78-yard touchdown pass on the second play of the game and the New York Giants rode it to a listless 13-6 National Football League exhibition victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers Saturday night. The Steelers and the Giants are both 2-1.

Broncos chew up Bills

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Denver's Rob Lyle scored from three yards out and Charlie West scooped up a fumble and ran 20 yards for another touchdown as the Broncos defeated the Buffalo Bills 23-13 Saturday in a National Football League preseason game. Denver capitalized on loose ball handling by Buffalo in the rain to score three touchdowns in the first period. Larry Canada scored on a 1-yard plunge for Denver's other touchdown. Two TDs came after Buffalo punter, Marv Bateman, bobbed snags from center and the third came after Bills' running back Roland Hooks fumbled.

23 years with Lombardi, Knox

New Ram coach well worn

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — His years of playing and coaching experience under Vince Lombardi, Red Blaik, Murray Warmath and Chuck Knox — and a few months under George Allen — have given new Los Angeles Rams Coach Ray Malavasi a deep background in winning football. Malavasi, a stocky, squashednose former college lineman, has been coaching 23 years. Most were in assistant roles, except for 12 games as interim head coach of the Denver Broncos of the American Football League in 1966, before the AFL was merged into the National Football League. "You pick up aspects of philosophy from different coaches under whom you work," the 46-year-old Malavasi said Monday before directing his first Rams practice at their California State University-Fullerton training camp. He became head coach Sunday when Allen was suddenly fired. Allen was coach of the Rams from 1966-70 and coach and general manager of the Washington Redskins from 1971-77. He had just two losing preseason games in his return to Los Angeles before being discharged by Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom. Malavasi was defensive coordinator for the Rams the last five years with Knox as head coach. Under Allen, Malavasi switched to offensive coordinator and offensive line coach, jobs he had held before with other pro teams. "We're going back to the defensive system we've used the past five years," Malavasi said Monday. The defense he directed played a major role in five consecutive divisional championships under Knox. "We have a veteran team that has been successful with one system," he said. He said the assistant coaches assembled by Allen will have to be the ones to adjust, rather than the players. "We'll do anything for Ray Malavasi," said Rams defensive end Jack Youngblood when first informed of the coaching change. "We believe in him."

Rare bird Hendricks plays for fun (almost)

It is unusual to find a batter who has survived 10 years in the major leagues with a career .219 batting average. But, then, Baltimore's Elrod Hendricks is a rare bird. Officially, Hendricks is the Orioles' third-string catcher, but he does a lot more than warm the bench: he's coached, caught, cheered, pinch-hit, played first base and even put in a surprise pitching appearance this year. But what Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver likes most about Hendricks is that he's a strong man in the clutch. "Although he's mainly here as a coach, Ellie has been directly responsible for winning two or three games for us in the late innings this season," explained Weaver, adding, "I know I can count on him in a crunch — and a manager likes that." Hendricks shines under pressure. He hit .304 during four Baltimore championship series and batted .364, including a game-tying homer, during the 1970 World Series. And he showed his versatility last June with an unexpected turn on the mound during a certain International Incident when the Toronto Blue Jays whipped the Orioles 24-10. Although he never wants to repeat the experience, Hendricks pitched 21-3 innings of one-hit relief in his major league pitching debut and can now claim the team's lowest ERA — 0.000. "I was just lucky. Those 24 runs tired them out before they reached me," said Hendricks, laughing. "Besides I felt nude out there without my catching gear." Clearly, Hendricks is an asset to the team. He admits he's never been an outstanding player. But he hustles. "I wouldn't have lasted this long if I had been the type to loaf around," said Hendricks, "but I've had my streaks and I've played with a winning club." Hendricks never loafed during his nine years in the minors. He was baptized "The Babe Ruth of Mexico" after batting .298 and hitting 109 home runs in four seasons in the Mexican League. That's when Weaver first spotted him. "Earl gave me my first break," said Hendricks, "and while I've been traded twice since 1968, I've always ended up with Baltimore. I never thought about getting out of baseball until last year with the Yankees when I had a few ups and downs. But I'm happy where I am now." Weaver is happy, too, especially when an unfamiliar player strides to the plate. Hendricks, a walking Baseball Register, knows more ballplayers than most. "My 19 years in pro ball can really help. Earl will ask us, 'Who's that guy and what can he do?' and I can usually tell him." Guys who bat .219 don't make much money, but that doesn't seem to bother Hendricks. "You'd probably think that a man who's played big league ball for 10 years would be making $50,000, but I've never even reached the 40s," he said, adding, "It may sound crazy to you, but I'd be doing this for free."

SOCCER HUSTLE — New York Cosmos' forward Vladislav Bogicevic, right, and Portland Timbers' defender Brian McNeil appear to be dancing during NASL playoff action Friday night in Portland. The Cosmos won, 1-0.

HOW MANY SWATS? — The Royal's Amos Otis stands ready at the plate in the eighth inning of Friday night's game in Kansas City, as Texas catcher Jim Sundberg leans forward to pick up a dropped pitch from Doc Medich. Otis grounded out to end the inning. Medich and Texas were the winners by a score of 4 to 3.

Bouton bounces to Braves?

ATLANTA (AP) — The subject was Jim Bouton, but Ted Turner wasn't talking — at least not at first. The question was whether the Atlanta Braves will promote the colorful Bouton to the parent National League club after the 39-year-old knuckleballer's successful comeback with the Savannah Braves of the Class AA Southern League. "I'm not going to say very much," said Turner, controversial owner of the Braves, at the beginning of an interview Monday. But he eventually warmed up and spoke at length. "We want him to stay down there until the end of the season, which ends later this month. Then, we're not sure. The roster expands then and we may bring him up or we may not. We'll have to look at the situation at that time," said Turner. "We're very happy with Jim's performance. He's throwing very well, although he just lost a close game Sunday 3-2," he said.

Arkansas looks like SWC favorite

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas, riding the momentum of its Orange Bowl romp over Oklahoma, is favored to capture the Southwest Conference football title. But Texas A&M, Texas, Houston and Baylor are so strong it would hardly be called an upset if the Razorbacks don't climb to the summit.

The Razorbacks, who posted an 11-1 record including a 31-6 shocker over Oklahoma in Coach Lou Holtz's first year, are loaded.

They finished third last year in the final Associated Press poll and it's not too far-fetched to see Arkansas with a national title — if they can get by rival Texas.

Arkansas has four running backs the equal of any in the nation. In fact, Arkansas' two top 10 career rushing leaders were not in the starting backfield the final day of spring drills.

Roland Sales, the hero and most valuable offensive player in the Orange Bowl, and Michael Forrest were running ahead of Jerry Eckwood and Ben Cowins.

Backfield Coach Don Breaux says, "They'll all play. With the depth we have, the backs who practice best will start."

Sales rushed for 205 yards in the Orange Bowl and kept going strong in the spring. Arkansas has a relatively easy non-conference schedule against the likes of Vanderbilt, Oklahoma State and Tulsa but faces a crucial test on the road against Texas on Oct. 21.

Of course, coaches can find a way to tarnish the silver lining on any cloud.

"I know we're going to be ranked high but we have a lot of question marks," says Holtz, pointing to the offensive line, defensive secondary and kicking game.

"We have some good young talent in our offensive line, it's just a question of putting things together," says Holtz.

The Razorbacks face the task of replacing Steve Little, a punter-placekicker who was a first round draft choice of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League. Junior college import Ismael Ordonez is expected to be the answer.

Arkansas has a quick defense which gunned up Oklahoma's Wishbone-T at Miami.

Texas, which suffered a Cotton Bowl loss to Notre Dame to dash dreams of an unbeaten season, finished fourth in the national rankings.

Coach Fred Akers must replace Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell at running back and Outland Trophy winner Brad Shearer in the defensive line and ALSO find a quarterback.

GETTING READY — As Herald staffers and area football players mill around in the background, Ira Head Football Coach Gary Fox, left, and Bulldog back Keith Bryant (6-2, 197), prepare to observe and take part in the picture session which will result in a color cover for "Football 1978", the Herald's football tabloid coming out Aug. 31. Bryant joined 11 other local and area football players for the photo, while Fox just came along to view the proceedings.

Reporters are fans, too, fella

"Oh, no!" moans White Sox announcer Harry Caray as Chicago let another game get away. "We blew it!"

"Hey, there's another run for our side," exults Cincinnati's Marty Brennaman as the Reds score.

The Yankees' Phil Rizzuto, spotting the fact that an opponent missed home plate on a replay, rushes to the phone to inform the New York dugout.

Objective reporting? Hardly. Just three examples of the current crop of local baseball announcers, a mixed bag of rooters and reporters who bring the national pastime, or an occasionally edited version of it, into homes across the country.

There are those who call 'em as they see 'em. And there are others who call 'em as they've been told to call 'em.

"The control of announcers by ballclubs — owners, general managers, whomever — is a difficult thing to regulate," says Shelby Whitfield, sports editor of Associated Press Radio. "You're dealing with wealthy, powerful men.

Some are egocentrics who feel that when they purchase a club for $15 million they also purchase the broadcaster. It's sort of a fringe benefit."

Whitfield knows about strongwilled owners. He broadcast Washington Senators games for two seasons while the club was struggling under owner Bob Short to make ends meet in the nation's capital. When the club moved to Texas, Whitfield stayed home and wrote a book about his experiences, "Kiss It Good-bye."

As the result of the book and an extensive investigation by the Federal Communications Commission, television and radio stations are now required to broadcast a disclaimer if the announcers are hired or approved by anyone other than the station. That doesn't guarantee an impartial broadcast, but it does put the unwary fan on notice.

The White Sox' Caray is the current king of the "rooters," supplanting Pittsburgh's Bob Prince in that category.

Pep pills are college jock's candy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Former All-Pro safety Tommy Casanova, who recently retired after six National Football League seasons with the Cincinnati Bengals, says players ate amphetamines like candy during his college days at Louisiana State University.

Casanova, 10 months from graduating from medical school, made the remarks Tuesday in a copyrighted interview with Tom Callahan, a columnist for Combined News Service.

He later told The Associated Press that the practice of distributing pep pills in pro football and college ranks is not as widespread now as it was a few years ago.

"We were given little pills. Evidently, everyone in the NCAA was doing that. I didn't know what they were. 'Here, good luck,' they'd say. We took them like candy," he said in the article.

Casanova, who played at LSU between 1968 and 1971, said "football is a game where, if you can't take the pain, you can't play."

He said he stopped taking the pep pills when his father, a physician, discovered they were being used.

"He blew the roof off when he found out they were amphetamines, stimulants for the central nervous system, supposedly to make us run faster and jump higher."

Casanova, 28, said he retired this summer because "I couldn't stand the pain anymore and I was scared what it would be like 15 years from now."

"Through the awareness and intelligence of football players — and physicians — they found they need that stuff."

"It's a very useful drug when used properly. But it doesn't have any place in athletics," said Casanova, who now attends the University of Cincinnati's medical school. He was Cincinnati's No. 2 draft choice in 1972.

"I took 'em, but so did everybody else. I'm not saying LSU was the only school handing them out. All schools did. We were told they were diet pills," he told the AP.

He said he stopped taking the pills after "a half dozen games."

Casanova said he was never offered any amphetamines during his pro football career. "I'm sure you could get them if you wanted them. But I don't know of anyone at Cincinnati who uses them."

But, he added, "It's fair to say a large majority of professional and college players have knowingly used them."

He said his younger brother who recently played at LSU, "said he never heard of anyone using them. The trend has changed and it's nationwide."

Birdie post-poned

BOTTOMS UP — Jennifer Chandler from Mission Viejo, Calif., is in mid-flight during the springboard preliminaries for women at the Berlin World Swimming Championships. The 19-year-old University of California student leads the competition after the first five dives.

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — There was silence at the ninth green as Sandra Post, owning a one-stroke lead, lined up a 25-foot putt on her final hole.

Suddenly, a television sound man started a countdown that pierced the dead air.

Post drilled her putt 15 feet past the pin, putted up close and sank her third putt for a bogey five — dropping her into a tie with Kathy Whitworth for the lead in the $150,000 Ladies Professional Golfers' Association event at the Dearborn Country Club.

Whitworth, who dirdied the ninth hole — her last of the day — and Post both shot one-under-par 718 to go along with the 69s that gave them a share of the first-round lead.

Their 36-hole totals of three-under-par 140 put them one stroke ahead of Debbie Austin and three shots in front of Pat Meyers and Debbie Meisterlin. Tied at 144 were Sally Little and Debby Massey.

No one else in the field of about 100 could break par over the plush, 6,411-yard course.

"Oh, you mean, '28, '29, '30? Oh, no, I didn't hear it," Post said cynically when asked if the TV sound man's countdown was noticeable to her on the final green.

"I've heard it all before," she said, trying to shrug it off. "I wish it wasn't there. (But) I'm not one who tries to make excuses."

However Post, a 30-year-old veteran of 11 years on the tour, was confident she could win the four-day tournament, which carries a top prize of $22,500.

"I'm in position, anyway," she reasoned.

If he says 'Jeez' again, I'll kill him

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Ed Sabo was embarrassed. He was blushing. He was at a loss for words.

"Jeez," he said, then collected himself a little.

"Well, my wife thinks I'm a good payer. I'm not so sure sometimes."

It took him several years to get on the pro golf tour. He failed to make it at the Tour School a couple of times and finally earned his playing rights through the route of the club shops.

He's been on the tour three years now. He hasn't finished higher than 16th since his rookie season. He ranks 136th on the 1978 money-winning list with $8,837. He's never led a tournament, let alone win.

"Why haven't I won? I'm just not good enough yet," he said.

But birdies on his last two holes Friday gave him a three-under-par 68 for a 135 total and sent him sweeping past the awesome figure of Jack Nicklaus and into the 36-hole lead in the $300,000 Westchester Classic.

"Jeez," said Sabo, his eyes wide and a rueful smile on his face.

"That's great," the wide-eyed Sabo said with a rueful smile. "But, jeez, I'm one up on him. I love where I am, but we're just getting started. There's two days to play. He's the greatest there's ever been. The greatest there'll ever be."

"I don't know what to say."

"Him," of course, is Nicklaus, generally considered the finest player the game has produced, winner of the British Open and three American tournaments this year and, quite possibly, playing his last tournament in this country this season.

Nicklaus was at 136, six shots under par on the tight, hilly, 6,603-yard Westchester Country Club course. He had a second round 69.

One shot back of him at 137 were Gibby Gilbert, Jerry Pate, former Westchester winner David Graham of Australia, Mark Hayes and Wally Armstrong. Gilbert had a second-round 68, Graham and Armstrong 69s, Hayes 67 and Pate a 68 that couldn't have been much higher. He didn't make a bogey, hit every green, reached a par 5 in two and took 34 putts.

First-round leader Barry Jaeckel slipped from a 65 to 73 and was one of a dozen golfers at 138. That put 19 players within three strokes of each other halfway through this chase for a $60,000 first prize. Among the others at 138 and their second-round scores, were: Hubert Green, 68; Tom Watson, 68; Don January, 71; Gil Morgan, 67; Tom Kite, 70, and Jerry McGee, 68.

John Mahaffey, the PGA champ who is shooting for a third consecutive victory, slipped to 72-140. Defending champ and U.S. Open titleholder Andy North just made the cut at 71-143.

ALL IN THE FAMILY — Bo Robinson, left, West Texas State fullback, and Robert Mayberry, right, Missouri Valley rushing leader two years ago, see if their freshmen little brothers will be able to fill their jerseys. Josh Robinson (33) and Thompson Mayberry (22) are both walk-on candidates for the Buffalo squad. The Robinsons are from Lamesa and the Mayberrys from Dimmitt.

Rangers get "gimmie"

The Kansas City Royals handed the Texas Rangers a game Friday night — and the Rangers almost dropped it.

All their runs were unearned as the Rangers defeated the Royals 4-3, but Texas almost threw the game away with some poor defensive play in the bizarre game at Royals Stadium.

"Neither team played very well today," said Texas Manager Billy Hunter in an understatement, "but the good guys survived. We gave them a lot of help, but they could say the same thing about some of the runs we scored."

Mike Hargrove singled leading off the Texas first and took second on a wild pitch by rookie Rich Gale. After Jim Sundberg beat out an infield hit, both runners scored when first baseman Pete LaCock threw wildly to second base on a double-play attempt.

"The Royals' manager was in for more shocks later in the game. In the Texas fourth, Bobby Bonds singled and took second on a throwing error by shortstop Fred Patek. Then Richie Zisk struck out but was saved by a passed ball.

John Lowenstein singled home Bonds and Zisk, who moved around to third, came home with the Rangers' eventual winning run on a ground ball by Toby Harrah.

In other American League games, the Boston Red Sox beat the Oakland A's 6-3; the New York Yankees defeated the Seattle Mariners 6-1; the California Angels beat the Baltimore Orioles 3-2; the Milwaukee Brewers blanked the Detroit Tigers 2-0; the Chicago White Sox trimmed the Cleveland Indians 7-1 and the Minnesota Twins beat the Toronto Blue Jays 4-3 in 10 innings.

Red Sox 6, A's 3
Jim Rice had four hits — including his 30th homer of the season — and scored three runs as Boston beat Oakland.

Rice, the major league leader in homers and runs batted in, hit a two-run shot off Steve Renko in the first inning for his 100th and 101st RBI. The slugging outfielder doubled in the sixth and scored on a single by Carlton Fisk to send the American League East leaders ahead 3-2. After the A's tied the score, Rice triggered a game-breaking, three-run rally in the eighth with a base hit.

Yankees 6, Mariners 1
Ed Figueroa held Seattle to four hits and Mickey Rivers drove in one run and scored another as New York defeated the Mariners Paul Mitchell, 6-12, battled Figueroa, 12-8, in a 1-1 pitching duel until the Yankee seventh when Rivers drove in a run with a ground ball.

The Yankees scored twice more in the eighth to put the game away as Graig Nettles and Bucky Dent delivered RBI singles.

Phillies slide back

In the past week, the Philadelphia Phillies have seen their 5½-game lead over Chicago in the National League East slip to two games, so Garry Maddox tried to steal one back, literally.

Trailing 6-4 entering the bottom of the ninth, Maddox doubled home a run, stole third and then tried to steal home with Jose Cardenal at bat. Home plate umpire Ed Montague called the Phils speedster out, ending the inning and the game as San Francisco posted a 6-5 victory over Philadelphia Friday night.

Giants catcher Marc Hill had Maddox out by four or five feet — or did he? The Phils weren't so sure. Witness:

"If Hill leaves the catcher's box before the pitch, it's a catcher's balk, and Maddox is awarded home.

"If Hill interferes with Cardenal, the batter takes first and Maddox returns to third with another chance.

It appeared that Hill may have done one or both (Cardenal swung at the pitch but after backing off from the plate), and Phils Manager Danny Ozark was puzzling over these points of baseball etiquette.

Pinch hitter Mike Ivie provided the winning runs for the Giants with a two-run homer in the ninth off reliever Tug McGraw, 8-5.

Willie McCovey had homered earlier for the Giants, his 12th of the year, to help San Francisco keep pace with the Los Angeles Dodgers in the NL West. Los Angeles beat New York 7-3 Friday, maintaining a one-game edge over the Giants.

In other NL games, San Diego edged Montreal 3-2, Pittsburgh beat Houston 6-3 and St. Louis ripped Atlanta 5-1.

Reds 8, Cubs 3
George Foster and Johnny Bench smacked consecutive home runs in the first inning off Cubs starter Dave Roberts, 5-8, to ignite Cincinnati over Chicago. The Cubs came back in the second with homers by Dave Kingman, No. 21, and Manny Trillo, but the Reds answered with two runs in the sixth to salt the game away.

Dodgers 7, Mets 3
Tommy John, 14-9, continued his mastery over the New York Mets with 7 2-3 strong innings before Charlie

MARTIN RELAXES — Former, and soon-to-be New York Yankees manager Billy Martin is relaxing this weekend at Sun Valley, Idaho, playing in the second annual Danny Thompson Memorial Golf Tournament. Martin was paired with John Phillips of Freemont, Calif., Friday.

Seaver's season draws no help

CHICAGO (AP) — It was once said of Tom Seaver that if he pitched with a power-laden lineup like that of the Cincinnati Reds behind him, he would be virtually unbeatable.

Well, Seaver is in the midst of his first full campaign, with the Reds and he is very beatable.

Seaver, touted as a possible 25- or 30-game winner with the powerful Reds, has an 11-12 record and has been one of the major reasons the Reds have been unable to overhaul the Los Angeles Dodgers or San Francisco Giants in the tight National League West pennant race.

One of the major reasons Seaver is below 500 pitcher is that the Reds have not been scoring as expected for him.

Seven times this season, the Reds have been blanked. Seaver has started four of those games, including Thursday's 2-0 loss to the Chicago Cubs.

In his 27 starts this season, the Reds have scored 88 runs. However, 21 of those runs were scored in two early season games.

In the other 25 starts, the Reds have managed to score 67 runs, 2.56 per game.

Seaver had expected big things from the hard-hitting Reds when the New York Mets traded him to Cincinnati last year. And, when he pitched his first career no-hitter early this season, those big things appeared, about to materialize.

But the right-hander is 2-9 since that no-hit effort. However, Seaver said he is not ruffled.

"I pitched for 10½ seasons this way," said Seaver. "It isn't the end of my season and it isn't the end of the club's season. It's silly to think like it is."

With the exception of Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and Dan Driessen, most of the starting lineup has slumped badly when Seaver has pitched this season.

Here are the Reds averages in games Seaver has started, with the season average in parentheses:

Rose .311 (.311), Ken Griffey .235 (.285), Morgan .300 (.248), George Foster .231 (.289), Johnny Bench .206 (.255), Driessen .294 (.276), Dave Concepcion .237 (.307).

Reds Manager Sparky Anderson believes the answer lies with the players. "If these people don't do it, well..." his voice trailed off as he pointed toward the players.

Astros slip back, lose third Pirates charge back

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Omar Moreno, who might have been an Olympic sprinter for his native Panama, is helping the Pittsburgh Pirates charge back into the National League East race.

"I've always loved to run. It's natural to me," Moreno said Friday night after he led Pittsburgh to a 6-3 win over the Houston Astros.

Moreno, National League leader with 50 stolen bases, didn't attempt any as the Pirates earned their fourth win in a row and their sixth in seven games.

However, he had an RBI triple, scored two runs, and ran down a long fly ball to help Pittsburgh climb to 6½ games back in the NL East after trailing by 11½ a week ago.

"We're back in the race," said the 6-foot-3, 170-pounder, who signed with Pittsburgh at age 16 and opted to give up his career as a promising sprinter in Panama.

Running is natural to Moreno. Hitting isn't. But in the last seven games, he has 14 hits in 29 times at bat, and he's raised his batting average more than 20 points to .233.

"I'm hitting the ball good. I'm hitting like I was at the beginning of the year," said Moreno, who was batting in the .270s in the early weeks of the season.

Houston, which lost its third in a row, fell behind 2-0 in the first inning. Frank Taveras singled off loser

Vern Ruhle, 2-1, stole second, and scored on a triple by Moreno, who came home on Dave Parker's ground out.

Taveras was hit by a pitch in the second inning, stole another base before Moreno was walked, then both came home on singles by Parker and Willie Stargell.

Winning pitcher Jim Bibby belted a solo homer in the fourth, his first homer in the big leagues. He had yielded a solo home run to Jose Cruz in the top of the inning.

Bibby got relief help from Ed Whitson, Grant Jackson, and Kent Tekulve, who notched his 21st save and made his 67th appearance this season, tops in the majors.

Romp on Vikes, despite Tarkenton Dolphins show their stuff

MIAMI (AP) — Linebacker Larry Gordon ran a fumble recovery 35 yards for the winning touchdown and Bob Griese outdueled a vintage Fran Tarkenton as the Miami Dolphins defeated the Minnesota Vikings 30-22 in a National Football League exhibition game Friday night.

The Dolphins were helped by two missed extra points, the second one blocked by linebacker Kim Bokamper. Tarkenton, playing his first game since breaking a leg Nov. 7, threw two touchdown passes and completed 17 of 29 attempts for 209 yards.

Griese completed 11 of 17 passes for 136 yards to lead the Dolphins to their third victory in four exhibitions. The Vikings are 1-2 in preseason play.

Midway through the third quarter, Norm Bulaich carried a Griese screen pass 27 yards to give the Dolphins a 16-9 lead. Tarkenton brought the Vikings back with the aid of a freak play near the end of the quarter.

He drilled a pass over the middle that hit Dolphins defensive back Gerald Small and deflected into the arms of Ahmad Rashad, who went 73 yards for a touchdown.

Bokamper broke through to block Danmeier's attempted conversion that would have tied the game. Danmeier lost a chance to redeem himself with 1:28 remaining when he missed a field goal attempt from 39 yards.

With 7:43 left, Bob

Matheson knocked the ball from runner Robert Miller, and Gordon carried it in for the score.

Tommy Kramer replaced Tarkenton and fired a 20-yard touchdown pass to

Rashad for the final Min-
LeRoy Harris ran through the middle of the Viking defense for a 71-yard touchdown with 57 seconds left in the game to clinch the victory.

SIGN OF DISPLEASURE — Jack Nicklaus bites his lip after his birdie putt missed its mark on the 18th green of his second round in the Westchester Classic at the Westchester Country Club Friday. Nicklaus shot a 2 under par 69 for the day leaving him with a 6 under total in the tournament.

Equine rivalry continues

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Affirmed and Alydar, who met again today in the $104,800 Travers Stakes at Saratoga Race Course, represent the greatest and most exciting rivalry in thoroughbred history.

After nine previous meetings, in which Affirmed had won seven, including the Triple Crown of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes, only about three lengths separated the 3-year-olds over nine miles of racing, with Affirmed holding the edge.

Affirmed was the 4-5 early line favorite over the even-money choice, Alydar, and outsiders Nasty And Bold and Shake Shake in the 109th running of the 1¼-mile Travers.

"After the Belmont Stakes on June 10, the last encounter between these brilliant colts, Laz Barrera, trainer of Affirmed, said, 'We could run from here to China and Affirmed would still beat Alydar. Both are great horses but Affirmed is better.'"

John Veitch, who trains Alydar, runner-up to Affirmed in all three Triple Crown races, maintains his colt will catch Affirmed one day. Both colts have raced over this tract at the current meeting, with Alydar romping to a 10-length victory in the Whitney and Affirmed making up 10 lengths and closing with a rush for a half-length triumph in the Jim Dandy.

A capsule look back at their confrontations:

2-year-olds
June 15, Youthful at Belmont Park, 5¼ furlongs, Affirmed wins by five lengths with Alydar fifth.
July 6, Great American, Belmont, 5½ furlongs, Alydar wins by 3½ lengths with Affirmed second.
Aug. 27, Hopeful, Saratoga, 6½ furlongs, Affirmed wins by a half-length with Alydar second.
Sept. 10, Futurity, Belmont, 7 furlongs, Affirmed wins by a nose with Alydar second.

Oct. 15, Champagne, Belmont, mile, Alydar wins by a length with Affirmed second.

Oct. 29, Futurity, Laurel, 1-16 miles, Affirmed wins by a neck with Alydar second. 3-year-olds

May 6, Kentucky Derby, Churchill Downs, 1¼ miles, Affirmed wins by a half-length with Alydar second.

Affirmed syndication brings $15 million

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Triple Crown winner Affirmed tentatively is scheduled for syndication in January, with stud duty to follow in 1980 at Spendthrift Farm near Lexington, Ky.

The announcement was made Friday after a meeting between Spendthrift Farm owner Leslie Combs II and Louis Wolfson, owner of Harbor View Farm and the 3-year-old colt.

Final plans for the syndication, including its value and the number of shares, will be announced in January, according to a statement by the owners.

Affirmed's value as a stallion prospect has been estimated as high as $15 million. The present syndication record is $12 million for Seattle Slew, the 1977 Triple Crown winner, who will stand at Spendthrift after the current racing season.

Affirmed has earned more than $1.15 million and will continue racing through the 1979 season under Harbor View ownership.

He was here for today's Travers Stakes against archrival Alydar, the only horse to have beaten him.

Alydar finished second to Affirmed in each of the Triple Crown races and has lost seven of nine career starts against Affirmed.

Affirmed would be the ninth of 11 Triple Crown winners to be retired to stud in Kentucky.

It also would continue a profitable association for Combs, who syndicated Affirmed's grandsire, Raise A Native, for more than $2.6 million in 1967, and Affirmed's sire, Exclusive Native, for $1.8 million in 1972.

Secretariat is the only Triple Crown winner currently at stud in Kentucky.

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 20, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A time when you can solve any family or home problems in a logical and reasonable fashion. The use of tact can produce right results when dealing with others at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Go to places where you can be inspired to live a more worthwhile life. Plan how to stretch your finances and have more security.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Listening to the advice of a good friend is wise. Discuss the future with family members and friends. Show true affection for mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Know what your personal aims and go after them in a most direct fashion for best results. Make a sensible plan for the future.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Study affairs of a highly talented nature and learn a great deal from them. Turn new contacts into friends.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Be sure you carry through with promises in a most conscientious way. Take time to be with mate and show true devotion.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Listen to suggestions of a loyal friend and follow through on them and get excellent results. Give more thought to a personal wish.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Ideal day for meditation and knowing just where you are headed in the future. Do something to improve your health.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Study a new philosophy now that could be beneficial to you in the days ahead. Show more consideration for loved one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Allow time to engage in creative work that appeals to you. Rid yourself of any tensions you may have at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You have to be extra patient in going after that data that means a good deal to you. If you are to get. Use care in measuring.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Use good common sense and then use it to improve your monetary position so that you have more security.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): If you are more practical, you can soon get rid of that feeling of discontent. Take time to improve your appearance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... or she will understand the problems of others and how best to solve them. So encourage in this, and then this can be a most successful life. High scholastic marks can be made. Religious training early in life is important.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

'Animal House' has college lampooned

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "What we were aiming at was 'The Marx Brothers Go to College, R-Rated,'" explains Matty Simmons, co-producer of the new comedy "National Lampoon's Animal House."

How well the Lampooners succeed in their aim can be determined at the nation's theaters this summer. The first returns in New York indicate a direct hit, though some critics carped that the humor was sophomoric — but then, what campus humor isn't?

Matty Simmons at 51 may well be the country's senior sophomore, but he has made his ever youthful attitude pay off — handsomely. Having steered the National Lampoon through successes in magazines, books, stage revues, comedy albums and radio shows, he appears to have a winner in "Animal House."

With a cost of $2.7 million — $3.4 million including Universal's studio overhead — the movie could prove a better investment than many of the bloated epics of the hot-weather season.

"We shot the picture in 32 days at Eugene, Ore.," reported co-producer Simmons. "The reason we could do it so quickly was that we spent two years writing it. We had a good director, John Landis, and he filmed the script 98 percent as it was written. There were no big stars to slow down the schedule; Donald Sutherland was the only name actor, and he makes a cameo appearance."

The movie's principals are John Belushi of "Saturday Night Live," Tim Matheson, John Vernon, Verna Bloom and Thomas Hulce. Not exactly household names — yet.

"Animal House" was the natural outgrowth of the flowering of the National Lampoon, which started in 1970. Operators of the Harvard humor magazine made the connection with Simmons' 21st Century Communications for a variety of enterprises. The Lampoon receives royalties on all of them.

"The National Lampoon's High School Annual" was a huge success, selling a million and a half copies. "That was planned as the first movie," said Simmons, "but we decided against it. High school kids would be too young for the sex and language that we intended."

DAMES AT SEA — This musical extravaganza opens at Casa Manana August 21 for a two-week run. Billed as a Cinderella story in the Hollywood style, it stars Virginia Seidel and Bruce Lea.

Rockford sidekick is confirmed snitch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the constancies of "The Rockford Files" is that when the going gets tough you know that Angel Martin is going to run.

Angel, played by Stuart Margolin, may be the most cowardly, sneaky and unreliable sidekick a hero has ever had to suffer. In fact, it seems his main contribution to the series is to see that James Garner's Rockford gets into trouble.

The character has been honed to perfection by Margolin, who got in early practice as Garner's shifty co-star in the short-lived series "Nichols."

"Angel is definitely paranoid," said Margolin. "I think it's his paranoia that people identify with. You never know what the guy behind you is doing."

"Rockford is his scapegoat. He's the most available guy to point the finger at. I think he trusts Rockford the most, and Rockford trusts Angel to do certain things. He knows he will sell him out. He's consistent."

Margolin, 38, who plays Angel in six episodes a year on the NBC series, said the character is modeled after a golf hustler he once knew. "In my mind Angel is a descendant of him," he said. "He's a hustler, a street character. Angel's a snitch."

At present, Margolin is devoting his attention to a comedy pilot called "Young Guy Christian." He is directing from a script by Jerry Belson. Earlier, he directed his first TV movie, "Suddenly Love," starring Cindy Williams and Paul Shenar.

Margolin is also a writer and composer. He was the author of "The Ballad of Andy Crocker," an early ABC Movie of the Week that starred Lee Majors as a soldier returning from Vietnam.

He has several movies he's written under option at this time. He said, "I look for commercial ideas, but I come up with characters. That's what I want to do more of, write. I'm writing so I can direct. My goal is to write and direct."

He recently wrote a script based on the life of Elvis Presley, which he hopes to direct.

Like Angel, Margolin is a product of the Southwest. He was born in Davenport, Iowa, but was raised in Dallas and Scottsdale, Ariz. A brother, Arnold, is a television writer and producer.

Sports books teach how-to

By REBECCA TAYLOR

Recently, there has been a subtle shift in emphasis from spectator sports to participant sports. Look around at local sport fields and parks. On the hottest day or even in the rain, there are golfers on the course. Tennis players jam the courts at parks, apartment complexes and the Country Club. In early morning and late afternoon, joggers and walkers circle Blankenship field's track and jog or walk down many residential streets. Softball, volleyball, and football are being played in almost every park or open place as well as the athletic fields.

Reflecting the rise in participant sports, most newer books on sports are of the how-to-play or improve variety.

The most simple and overall healthful of the new 'sports' is jogging or the two-speed variations, walking and running. George A. Sheehan, a primary advocate of running, has a new book on the psychological as well as physical aspects of running: "Running and Being."

A beginner might be more interested in the James F. Fixx book, "The Complete Book of Running." This volume covers all aspects of jogging from shoes to the problem of dogs. One different aspect covered by Fixx is that some people cannot benefit psychologically from running and should probably try something else in the way of exercise or sport.

Swimming is considered by most experts to be the most universal exercise, benefitting most parts of the body at one time. Swimming, however, has a couple of obvious drawbacks, you need a pool and you have to get wet which produces a whole series of complications. Harcourt Roy has written, "Beginner's Guide to Swimming and Water Safety," for both pleasure and basic safety. Beginning swimmers and non-swimmers will benefit most from this book. It covers subjects from teaching infants to swim to drown-proofing even if you don't want to take up swimming.

Tennis is probably the fastest rising of the competitive sports. "Tennis Weaknesses and Remedies," by Paul Metzler, is for those already familiar with the game, but would like to play well or, at least, better. It is also a good introduction to a lot of tennis jargon.

Moodies release new-old recording

NEW YORK (AP) — After five years away from the studio, the Moody Blues have regrouped and released a new album that sounds like it could have been made before the group's breakup rather than a few months ago.

"There's a Moody Blues sound and we weren't about to move too far away from it because it's our sound, our music," guitarist Justin Hayward said by telephone from his home in England a few days before "Octave" premiered on 500 U.S. radio stations.

"It's a good Moodies album, I think our best, and our old fans will be pleased, I think," he said.

It's likely they will. The Moodies, famed for their orchestral sound and poetic lyrics, again have used the song writing talents of all five members to produce a varied, immediately likable album.

Hayward's guitar work is more dominant this time around, giving the music what he calls a "punchier" sound. Four of the 10 new tunes are his, including "Driftwood" and "Top Rank Suite," which are driven by a saxophone, a change for the band.

"We weren't apart for as long as most people think," Hayward said. "While we recorded 'Seventh Sojourn' in 1972, we were still on the road in the middle of 1974," Hayward said. "After that, we decided we needed a break from each other, knowing full well that we would get back together. We've seen each other continually since then and the only question was when it would be."

The rock world — and the Moodies themselves — have changed considerably since the band first scored with "Go Now," a 1965 AM hit featuring Denny Laine, now with Paul McCartney's Wings. The current lineup — Hayward, Pinder, flautist Ray Thomas, bassist John Lodge and drummer Graeme Edge — released seven bestselling albums together and toured to good notices in the early 1970s.

But the stakes are much higher now. Superstar groups currently sell two or three million copies of a single album, not just the 500,000 to qualify for gold record status. While the Moodies in the late '60s might have been happy to attract several thousand fans to the Felt Forum here, now they'd be expected to draw 60,000 people to football stadiums throughout the country, singing to teens 20 years their junior.

"We were somewhat apprehensive about what kind of reception we'd get, but the offers we've gotten for our concerts now are larger than they were when we were at the height of our popularity," Hayward said, noting the band plans an American tour near the end of the year.

BOGARTS
PRESENTS
AUGUST 25 & 26
Pluggger Wyld a heavy-weight name now in the music world. Three of Texas top-notch concert touring musicians; Paul Brea, Jaime Cantu, Tony Damaine, formed an alliance and targeted their bandit boogie strongly throughout Texas and Oklahoma. Together since 1976 their musical accomplishments have acclaimed these high energy entertainers as the most wanted number one rock act.
They have performed in concert with such well known acts as Epic Recording artists "Brownsville Station" and "Blackfoot". Formerly known as "Padash", they recorded their first single disc "Rock 'N' Roll Duel" and "Can You Hear The Wind" on Trinity Records. Presently their first album, "Pluggger Wyld" is stronger than ever. Make your plans now to be at Bogarts and experience "Pluggger Wyld" and their front band "Rider" August 25 and 26 for real high velocity rock entertainment.
