Key witness in T. Cullen Davis trial remembers little of meeting

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The state's key witness in the murder-for-hire case against Cullen Davis testified today he could remember little of a pivotal meeting last spring with the millionaire industrialist.

"You can't pin it down as to the month, day of week, time of day, or whether it was light or dark, is that right?" the witness was asked.

"Yes sir, that is right," replied David McCrory during relentless cross-examination by lead defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes of Houston.

Haynes also questioned McCrory about a $5,000 payment McCrory contends Davis gave him last spring as an "advance for some investigative work."

Haynes asked McCrory if he deposited the money and the witness said he could not remember.

"You had $5,000 in one hundred-dollar bills and you cannot remember if you deposited any of it in your bank account," Haynes demanded.

"No, sir, I can't," McCrory replied.

Later, however, McCrory said he did not remember buying anything with the $5,000 and in fact, "I still have most of it left."

McCrory said some of the money was in a checking account and some he stashed in a safety deposit box.

Repeatedly, the witness responded to Haynes' questions with such answers as "I can't remember," or "I really don't remember."

Among the things he had difficulty remembering were the details of the early meetings he testified he had sometime last June with Davis at a parking lot on the city's southwest side.

It is McCrory who has testified that Davis plotted the executions of two judges, his estranged wife and three witnesses who testified at the Davis murder trial last year.

Davis, 44, has been in Tarrant County Jail since his arrest Sunday on a charge of solicitation of capital murder in connection with a purported plot to have a professional gunman kill Joe Eidson, the presiding magistrate in the highstakes divorce suit filed by Davis' wife Priscilla four years ago.

McCrory, an employee of a Davis-controlled firm, claims Eidson was one of 15 persons marked for execution by Davis. He has testified Davis asked him to arrange the killings, after which he told authorities of the plot and became an informant.

Wednesday's session purveyed some of the most incredible evidence yet introduced into the bond hearing that defense attorneys predict may last into the middle of next week.

Spectators in a hushed courtroom listened as prosecutors played tape recordings of conversations allegedly between McCrory and Davis discussing the murder plans.

Prosecutors also showed a videotape of the pair meeting and more than a dozen still photographs of the two men in and around their parked cars at a Fort Worth parking lot. McCrory narrated the videotape as it was played in court. There are some technical imperfections on the tape, but the witness and defendant are easily identifiable.

The voice tapes were of two conversations — a telephone call early Sunday morning between McCrory and Davis about six hours before Davis' arrest, and another made as McCrory, wired for sound by the FBI, met Davis in a Fort Worth parking lot.

In one, McCrory is heard to falsely tell Davis that Eidson had been killed, to which Davis replies, "Good."

Haynes declined to attack the integrity of the recordings, saying "I have no reason to think it is not Cullen at this juncture." Smiling, he added, "I have no reason to think it is Cullen."

Information on the parking lot recording indicates that McCrory showed Davis a posed photo of Eidson in the trunk of a car, apparently the victim of a shotgun blast in the back. McCrory shows Davis Eidson's driver's license, Texas Bar identification card and the photo.

At that point, Davis asks, "What are you going to do with these?"

McCrory: "I'm going to get rid of the..."

Davis: "That's good. Glad to hear it."

McCrory: "All right. Who do you want next?"

Davis: "Uh, the ones we talked about, the three..."

McCrory: "Bev, Bev, Bubba (Gus Gavrel Jr.), all right." According to previous testimony, the third person was to be Gavrel's father.

Davis: "Yeah."

McCrory: "All right, I gotta go."

McCrory said he then produced a .22-caliber pistol with a silencer on it and eventually put it into the car.

'We will not honor a national strike' Locals favor postal contract

By CARLA WALKER

"Locally, we went in favor of ratifying the proposed contract and voted against a strike," said H. C. McPherson, president of the Big Spring Chapter of the American Postal Workers Union.

"It is against the law for federal workers to strike, so we plan to honor the law and let our national union leaders work out the problems at the negotiating table, as they did in getting the proposed contract terms," McPherson continued. "We will not honor a national strike even if APWU calls for such a work stoppage."

Members of the local chapter of the National Association of Letter Carriers, the only other of four national postal unions with a Big Spring Chapter, were not so firm, but still voted in favor of ratifying the contract.

"It isn't perfect, but under the circumstances, it is probably the best contract we could have negotiated, because of President Carter's inflation guidelines," said local NALC chapter president Tom Conway.

"Our local chapter voted to ratify the contract, and also against a strike. However, if our national organization calls for a strike, we will have to cross that bridge when we come to it."

"Now we are waiting to determine how the APWU voted on the contract,

TOM CONWAY ...local NALC pres

H.C. McPHERSON ...APWU local prexy

and our national convention — as well as the national APWU convention — has called for a work stoppage five days after we see if Postmaster General William F. Bolger will reopen negotiations. If he doesn't, the national unions say we should strike. Locally, we voted against a strike, but if the nationals call one, we'll have to take another vote to see if the membership here wants to honor it."

"In our eyes, and in most of Texas, I feel that sentiment was probably in favor of ratification," said Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty. "I think that the big cities, where the unions are most militant, and perhaps also where their cost of living is higher, were where the contract rejection and strike votes came from."

"Some of the union leaders here said that job security and satisfaction, not wages, were the reasons for the contract holdup, but that can't be true. They won their 'no lay-off' clause in negotiations, but couldn't get the wage increases they wanted," Hardesty continued. "If it had only been security, they would have ratified it, but I think they feel — perhaps justified — that the wage increment is too small."

The contract calls for the standard 9.5 per cent cost of living increase over the next three years, as well as a 10 per cent salary increase over the same three years in a sequence of five per cent the first year, three the second, and two per cent the third year.

"The contract would have meant that on July 20, 1981 when the contract expired, base salaried postal workers would have been making approximately $3,500 more than they presently do," said Conway.

"Bolger has said that a strike would mean not only a fine and jail for strikers, but that they could never again work for civil service, because

Prospects bright for minimum security unit in Big Spring

The move to locate a federal minimum security correctional institutions in Big Spring is progressing according to schedule.

The U.S. House of Representatives has approved funding for the installation, which will be located at the site of the former Webb AFB. Present plans call for the complex to embrace about 50 acres.

The measure must still be approved by the Senate but that is considered a formality.

Harry Spannaus, manager of the Big Spring Industrial Park, said he expected quick approval of the appropriation.

If approved, the prison will use about 27 buildings formerly used by Webb. They include two brick barracks completed shortly before Webb AFB closed, capable of housing 504 men.

The appropriation becomes effective with the government's new fiscal year, which starts Oct. 1. The first appropriation likely will amount to about $2.5 million.

Spannaus said he had been told the first inmates would be moved here about July 1979. Much work remains to be done before the facility can become operational.

The minimum security facility would retain so-called "white collar" criminals, those not guilty of felonious acts against individuals. Individuals convicted of income tax evasion, fraud, forgery and embezzlement would be sent here.

The facility likely will offer employment to upwards of 150 persons when fully operational. The average salary will be $15,000 annually, according to officials of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Letter carriers reject pact, strike looming

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a mail strike hanging in the balance, the U.S. Postal Service is at a standoff with one of its unions, and two more labor groups may join the dispute by the end of the week.

The nation's letter carriers rejected on Wednesday an agreement negotiated by their union leaders in July. Meanwhile, vote counting due to be finished this week could put two other postal unions in the same situation.

The National Association of Letter Carriers voted 78,000-59,000 against the tentative agreement. Union officials say they want to renegotiate the pact.

NALC President J. Joseph Vacca is authorized by his union constitution to call a nationwide strike by next week if the postal service refuses to return to the bargaining table.

The pact that the letter carriers rejected would have increased their pay and cost-of-living benefits by 19.5 percent over three years, bringing salaries for postal workers to an average of more than $19,000 in 1981, Bolger said.

Patrolman Meek faces disciplinary action

Big Spring Patrolman Dusty Choate, one of the two officers involved in a shooting, Saturday, of a speeding motorcyclist, has resigned from the force.

"He will devote his full time to ranching and farming," said Police Chief Stanley Bogard, this morning.

Bob Choate and Patrolman Ray Meek faced disciplinary action by the department for their role in the shooting. Meek will be suspended from duty for a time to be determined by Chief Bogard.

The incident occurred around 6 p.m. Saturday when motorcyclist Paul E. Merrell, 25, 2306 Lynn, led police on a high speed chase along roads and dirt tracks on the west side of the city.

Officers had allegedly been unable to stop the speeder, and both Choate and Meek fired shots while Merrell tried to make his getaway in the canyon east of Malone-Hogan Hospital. One of the shots hit Merrell in his left chest. No charges have been filed against Merrell.

City Departmental Policy states that "there are no circumstances which justify an officer firing at, or

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Cat lovers non (census)

Q. I am considering breeding White Persian cats for sale in the local area. Are there enough cat lovers here to make my venture possible?

A. No census of cat lovers, to our knowledge, has ever been taken. However, Big Spring seems to have more cats than ever. The trouble, many of those inhabit neighborhoods rather than homes. It is acknowledged, of course, that a dog can be adopted by almost anyone whereas nobody owns a cat. If a cat takes a liking to you, he (or she) figures he 'owns' you. As for White Persians, they might prove very popular.

Calendar: Pep rally in park

Offbeat: Extra innings affair

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — The Bend-N-Elbow tavern team beat the Sullivan County Volunteer Fireman's Association 640-450 in 352 innings, 72 hours, 40 minutes and an undetermined amount of beer.

A spokesman for the softball teams said they had also raised about $10,000 for a burn treatment unit at Albany Medical Center. Last year, the volunteers from Sullivan, Orange and Ulster counties raised about $5,000 for a Monticello hospital in a 54-hour, 9-minute game.

Hundreds of players took part in this year's game, which started at 9:30 p.m. Thursday. One of them, 26-year-old Bob Roche, reportedly played for 39 consecutive hours, rested for two hours and came back for more.

Another member of the firefighters' team, Jack Halchak, said one reason his team lost is that many of the Bend-N-Elbow players were "used to staying up all night" at the area tavern.

Tops on TV: 'The Nelson Affair'

The only non-repeat of the evening appears to be "The Nelson Affair," airing at 9 p.m. on Channel 11. Some pretty talented thespians, Glenda Jackson and Peter Finch appear in the epic which chronicles the love affair between Lord Horatio Nelson and Lady Emma Hamilton. If this doesn't appeal, there's always "Barney Miller" at 8 p.m. on ABC.

Bible Fund victory

The Bible Fund hit its $10,000 objective late Wednesday, when gifts totaling $375 brought the total to $10,200.64.

It was the second year in a row donations have passed the $10,000 and fund coordinator Dr. Kenneth Patrick, speaking on behalf of the Howard County Ministerial Association, expressed gratitude that the campaign achieved success in so short a time.

The objective is usually reached but not until after school has started in the area. Classes take up in Big Spring next Monday.

Success in the drive means that Bible chairs are again assured for high schools in Coahoma, Forsan and Big Spring.

Among gifts received Wednesday was one for $100 from L & M Vacuum Services.

KIM PLEADS GUILTY — Honcho C. Kim, the only Korean to go to trial thus far in the influence-buying scandal in Congress, enters U.S. District Court Thursday with his attorney, David Pouch, left, to face income tax evasion charges. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one year on probation and a $10,000 fine with the government dropping a similar charge against his wife. He was convicted in May of conspiracy to defraud the U.S. and of lying to a grand jury. He was sentenced to six months in jail, but has appealed the conviction.

Body guards sue sheik

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three bodyguards have sued a millionaire Saudi Arabian sheik for almost $2,000 each in back wages plus $1 million in punitive damages. The bodyguards — Cyril Mohwenyo, Mickey Blocker and Bruce Robinson — said sheik Mohammad S. A. Al-Fassi hired them last May for salaries of $800 a month. When they quit in July, the sheik owed Mohwenyo and Blocker $1,190 each and Robinson $1,870, alleged the lawsuit filed Wednesday in Superior Court. Sheik Mohammed, who outraged his Beverly Hills neighbors when he installed plastic flowers and nude statues outside his lavish mansion facing busy Sunset Boulevard, reportedly has returned to Saudi Arabia.

VA expands facilities

DALLAS (AP) — The head of the Veterans Administration says the VA is expanding its outpatient and nursing home facilities in anticipation of a crush of World War II veterans who will soon need the services. Max Cleland, the triple amputee who heads the VA, said he hopes a new toll-free telephone system will allow veterans to receive claims information in seconds rather than weeks. Cleland discussed VA activities in an address Wednesday to the 79th annual national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting here through Friday.

More surgery for girl

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Rachel David, the sole survivor when she, her mother and six brothers and sisters leaped from an 11th-story balcony, has undergone more surgery and a hospital spokesman said she may be gradually coming out of her coma. LDS Hospital spokesman Karyn Haecel said the 15-year-old girl was responding to pain, and, "She seems to awaken a little more each day." She has been unconscious since the Aug. 3 incident and is still listed in serious but stable condition. The surgery Wednesday was to realign her right arm, which was broken in three places.

Navy to close hospital

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Navy will close the seldom-used F. Edward Hebert Naval Hospital Sept. 27, and says it expects the closing will save taxpayers $2 million a year by fiscal 1980. The $21 million monument to Hebert, who was congressman for 36 years and chairman of the House Armed Services Committee for four, had been anticipated for several months as pressure over the hospital's mounting deficit grew.

Mental health care conclusions drawn

Patients discharged from state mental hospitals into nursing homes are in better psychiatric and physical condition than those patients who must remain in the protective care of the state mental facilities. That is the conclusion drawn from a study made by the Program Analysis and Statistical Research Section of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation (TDMHMR) in Austin. A report on the study was released recently by TDMHMR Commissioner John J. Kavanagh, M.D. Members of the Program Analysis and Statistical Research (PASR) staff began the study last April in collaboration with the Texas Department of Health. The study was prompted by questions about state hospital policies in discharging patients to nursing homes. The Texas Department of Health joined the study because it is the state agency that licenses and regulates private nursing homes. Using the TDMHMR's clinical record system as a data base, the PASR staff reviewed the records of the 27,653 patients served in the eight state mental hospitals during the 12-month period ending Aug. 31, 1975. Of that number of patients served, the record system showed 2,495 were discharged to nursing homes. One of the major questions the survey sought to answer was whether there were any physical and mental differences between patients remaining in the state hospital and those discharged to nursing homes. PASR members selected, at random, 497 — approximately 20 per cent — of those patients discharged to nursing homes for a detailed follow-up. A similar number of patients who remained hospitalized during that time also was selected. This included a review of each former patient's medical record and a detailed analysis of each patient's physical characteristics and functioning prior to discharge into a nursing home. The study showed: 1. Patients discharged to nursing homes were better prepared to take care of themselves than those who remained hospitalized. This included personal hygiene, ability to dress, personal appearance and table manners. 2. Those discharged to nursing homes and those retained in the hospitals had similar hearing and visual handicaps, but those going into nursing homes had fewer and less severe speech handicaps than those patients remaining in the hospitals. 3. Patients remaining in state hospitals had less physical coordination and more mobility impairments than those going into nursing homes. 4. While evidence of paranoia was similar in both groups during their hospital stay, patients going into nursing homes displayed fewer symptoms of paranoia than those remaining in the hospital. 5. The discharged patients were better oriented to place and time than those who remained hospitalized. "In summary," said Dr. Kavanagh, "the study showed that physical and mental impairments are less apparent in the patients going to nursing homes than in those remaining in the state mental hospitals."

Mosquitoes swarming in Orlando

ORLANDO (AP) — Mosquitoes are swarming across Orange County in the worst infestation in 20 years, and health officials say the area faces the threat of an encephalitis outbreak. "All the conditions are ripe," said Dr. John McGarry, county health director. "It's only a matter of time." As a preventive measure, county officials plan a beed-up insecticide attack this weekend. A plane will spray the swampy, wooded back country in the eastern reaches of the county and spray trucks will handle residential areas. Encephalitis was prevalent in central Florida last summer, which is why officials view the large mosquito population this year as more than just a nuisance. "We're experiencing the biggest concentration of mosquitoes seen by anybody in Orange County in 20 years," said McGarry. "The type of mosquito that carries this disease is prevalent in the area." Symptoms of the virus, formally called St. Louis Encephalitis, include a high fever, severe headache, disorientation and convulsions. There were some 30 cases of the mosquito-borne viral disease in this county alone, McGarry said.

Air Force secretary to visit here

SAN ANGELO — Secretary of the Air Force John Stetson will visit Goodfellow AFB here Aug. 31, one of several Texas stops planned on a tour of military facilities. A spokesman in Stetson's office said that the secretary wanted to orient himself on the missions and responsibilities of the military installations. Stetson plans to fly to Reese AFB in Lubbock after departing Goodfellow. In addition to Goodfellow and Reese, Stetson plans to visit Carswell, Randolph and Bergstrom Air Force bases before leaving Texas.

Midwives illegal?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas doctors have asked the attorney general to decide if it is legal for midwives to practice in Texas. The Texas State Board of Medical Examiners said it asked the legal opinion because it has received complaints that midwives sometimes administer drugs and perform small surgical procedures without direct supervision by doctors.

Austin attorney Charles Babb said he was filing a brief supporting midwives for the Texas Nursing Association. "There is no way a physician can deliver all the babies in some areas of the state," Babb said. The request from the board of medical examiners said present state law holds that midwifery is not the practice of medicine.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company raises service rates

Installation of a new telephone could cost customers as much as $44.50 with a recent raise in charges by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. "That, of course, is the maximum for one phone in a home where we have to do wiring. If the homeowner uses our customer participation program, a lot of that charge can be eliminated," said Robert Hurt, local Southwestern Bell manager. The increases in several telephone services became effective Aug. 14. Increases will affect charges for service orders, a trip to the home for installation, central office access, station handling and wiring and jack installation for homes that have no hookups. The installation increase will vary according to the amount of work the phone company has to do for the customer. For example, the customer who goes to the phone company, makes arrangements for acquiring the service there, and then takes the phone home and connects it himself will pay $30. The charge had previously been $26. "These installation costs had been averaged nationally, and other services by the company such as long-distance calls, had subsidized it. Now, with competition from other areas, the company has decided to bring the cost up to a more realistic level," said Hurt. "It still costs us $70 to install a phone, and the customer is charged considerably less," he added. Customers may also notice a two per cent increase in their monthly rates. This is a two per cent gross receipts tax levied against customers who reside in the city. "This had been paid by the company and passed on to the customers. Now it will be itemized as part of the bill. We think this is a more accurate way to report costs to customers," said Hurt.

Only six remain of 'the old guard'

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The death of Kenya's President Jomo Kenyatta has reduced to only six the "old guard" of African leaders who led their nations to independence and have survived the ensuing turmoil.

Some 42 coups, countercoups and palace revolts and several civil wars over the past two decades have all but cleared the roll of black nationalist leaders who presided over the demise of colonialism across the African continent.

Kenyatta, a witch doctor's son born in the last century, was probably best known as the African leader who led revolts against European colonial powers and most admired for guiding his nation to prosperity and stability.

Unlike the majority of his colleagues, he died peacefully in bed. His body is now lying in state following his death Tuesday.

By contrast Ghana's legendary Kwame Nkrumah, who opened the era of decolonization in 1957 when his nation gained independence from Britain, was deposed while on a visit to Peking and died in exile.

Zaire — then known as the Congo — was independent from Belgium only five days in 1960 when it plunged into chaos. Within a year its radical first prime minister, Patrice Lumumba, was dead.

The surviving members of the "old guard" include two Area students gain degrees

SAN ANGELO — Two students from Big Spring and one from Coahoma were among 191 students to receive degrees during summer commencement at Angelo State University last Friday.

Receiving degrees were Lee Dale Lowery, M.A.T., majoring in distributive Education, and William David Moore, B.A., majoring in government, both of Big Spring.

Also Charlotte Ann Hatfield of Coahoma, who graduated with a B.B.A. degree, majoring in business with a Teacher Certification.

presidents of former British colonies, Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia and Julius Nyerere of Tanzania. The other four govern nations once ruled by France: Leopold Senghor of Senegal, Felix Houphouet-Boigny of Ivory Coast, Sekou Toure of Guinea, and Ahmadou Ahidjo of Cameroon.

Until a palace coup two months ago, the list also included Moktar Ould Daddah of the former French colony of Mauritania.

Those who still rule have persevered through varying combinations of charisma, ruthlessness, skillful politics and just pure luck.

Like all but a handful of the leaders of Africa's 53 independent states, they have abandoned all but vestiges of participatory democracy to counter the sharply conflicting and often incompatible ideologies, tribal cultures and languages that pull this continent apart.

Zambia's 54-year-old Kaunda, for example, presides over 7; among a chronically unstable Zaire; Angola, which is supported by Cuban troops; and Rhodesia, which only now is headed toward black rule.

Although a Christian idealist who preaches non-violence, Kaunda supports guerrillas fighting in Rhodesia and has detained political opponents at home.

Kaunda's pivotal role in southern Africa and his aspirations to an all-Africa mantle have been somewhat eroded by economic chaos at home prompted by the drop in the world price of Zambia's major export, copper.

Tanzania's Nyerere, 56, has earned the title "the conscience of Africa" for his quiet efforts to create a new socialist philosophy for the developing world.

A quiet visionary, Nyerere has given his relatively poor nation a stability unusual in Africa. His famous Arusha declaration of 1967 has made "Ujamaa," the Swahili word for familyhood, common across Africa as a symbol of an African brand of rural socialism.

Sekou Toure of Guinea, 56, has had the longest reign of the old guard, leading his West African nation since 1958. In a bold move that made him somewhat of an enduring hero to younger black pan-Africanists, Toure severed all links to France at independence. "We prefer poverty in liberty to riches in slavery," he declared.

But Toure's years in power have been marked by numerous real or imaginary coup attempts and ruthless repression of opponents.

In the past three years he has taken steps to restore economic links to France, but he maintains close relations with the Soviet Union and still regards Lenin, Fidel Castro and Lumumba as his guiding spirits.

Senegal's President Senghor is somewhat unusual among African leaders in that he was born to relative wealth 72 years ago. He is also a highly regarded poet, who writes in French and has been considered for the Nobel Prize in literature.

The elder statesman of French-speaking Africa, Senghor has promoted relations with both East and West in his 18-year rule while preserving special ties with France.

In Ivory Coast, Houphouet-Boigny presides over a land he has turned into a showpiece of West Africa through partnership with the former colonial overlord, France.

His open encouragement of "neo-colonialism" has lured 50,000 Frenchmen to Ivory Coast and has provoked the derision of African nationalists. But the resulting prosperity has given Ivory Coast stability and at 72, Houphouet-Boigny rules virtually unchallenged.

The last of the "old guard," 54-year-old Ahidjo is into his 18th year as president of Cameroon and appears to have overcome the ancient tribal feuds, communist-backed uprisings and widespread terrorism that plagued the nation's formative years.

Ahidjo has been accused of authoritarianism and ruthlessness in pursuing national unity, but his efforts have promoted modest economic progress in the West African land.

More Congressional aides mean more bills

Ask a member of Congress why the legislative payroll has increased so dramatically in recent years, he would probably reply by pointing to the greatly increased work load — the rapidly-growing number of bills that must be considered.

A Washington reform group has a likely interpretation of the cause and effect relationship.

Instead of more bills and more work resulting in more staff and more payroll, the increase in payroll has resulted in more bills and more legislative business.

THIS INTERESTING and persuasive theory is put forth by a group awkwardly named "The Foundation for the Study of Presidential and Congressional Terms."

"There is little mystery in the correlation between the enlargement of the staffs of members of Congress and the number of bills introduced in the House and Senate," the foundation contends. "More aides mean more bills."

The House payroll has just about tripled and the Senate payroll more than doubled in less than 20 years. In that period, the total number of bills introduced has increased 77 per cent, from 13,876 bills in the 85th Congress (adjourned in 1958) to 24,583 by bills in the 94th Congress ending in 1976. Already, some 20,583 bills have been introduced in the present Congress.

"THESE STATISTICS reflect the efforts of newly-recruited aides to compete for status and approbation by drafting legislation," the foundation contends.

"Advancement on 'the Hill' comes from producing causes and ideas which members can embrace with political profit. A majority of the recruits are preoccupied with constituent services, but legislative aides are deployed to draft legislation that may be enacted into law.

"THE STRANGE FACT is that fewer bills are being enacted into law as more bills are being written. Some 12 percent of the bills introduced were enacted during the 85th Congress. In the last Congress, only three hundredths of one percent of the bills introduced won final approval.

"In the first Congress (adjourned in 1790), just 142 bills were introduced and 108 (78 percent) of these became law. In those days, the members had no aides and sessions were short; they were too busy with serious problems to draft an avalanche of legislation."

THE FOUNDATION'S research and conclusions are interesting, but touch only lightly on one of the main incentives for increasing Congressional payrolls.

A large staff of aides, maintaining close contact with voters and special interest groups is the equivalent of a full-time campaign organization that an outside challenger could never hope to match.

This is one of the main reasons it is becoming increasingly difficult for an outsider to defeat an incumbent member of Congress.

Vacation awards

Bob Burton

Around the rim

We're all back from vacation, and boy, did we all have a good time. It was great to get away for a little while, but the foreign cultures wear thin, and returning to Big Spring is the best of all.

Coming up is our annual Vacation Awards night at which the annual Vacation Awards are presented.

An apparent shoe-in for the Same Old Thing award is city editor WALT FINLEY, who went climbing in the Himalayas. Walt returned after his two weeks on K2 with only his bulldog and six-male Sherpas for company, and remarked, "Well, you couldn't beat the view."

HALFWAY UP the highest peak in the world, Walt related later, the food ran out. The Sherpas, who had used all the American dollars to line their sleeveless undershirts against the 20 below weather, began to gnaw their toenails for sustenance. But not Finley. Recalling a page from THE OKIE SURVIVOR, Finley placed a long distance call for room service on his shoe phone, and soon the party had lobster bisque all around.

SPORTS EDITOR DANNY REAGAN spent his holiday recruiting foreign felines for an upcoming cat food commercial. The burly sport, renowned for his glib tongue, has been nominated for the Most Insincere Holiday award. Reagan went to the south coast of France where he located several felines "with that extra something" and inveigled them into returning to the States. The most exciting part of the vacation, relates Reagan, came when one of the cute kittens proved to be underage at the customs gate. Officials appeared from everywhere, and if a pack of vovles had not treed the girls up the custom's inspector, our hero's escape might not have been so smooth.

MARJ CARPENTER, long a unique and inventive holiday talent, won the World Slalom Waterskiing Competition in Cypress Gardens, Fla. We fully expect her to capture the IT COULDN'T BE DONE award for her clutch barefoot performance when her ski shattered on the eighth buoy. She knifed nimbly through the rest of the course and finished with a perfect score.

THE HERALD'S own CARLA WALKER spent her time organizing radical American Indians into what she called "a viable political and socio-economic tool for the overthrow of the capitalist running dogs."

Carla was forced, by her own beliefs, to walk barefoot through Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City, and to learn to smoke a pipe. Her first question, when shown the pipe and tobacco, was "How?"

JAMES WERRELL, bon vivant and raconteur, decided to see how the other half lives. James, the sole nominee for the NAW...IT COULDN'T BE...DID HE REALLY??? award, worked on a Georgia chain gang, and counseled the inmates in philosophy and Buddhist economics. James won the respect of the entire crew for his honest love of honest sweat, and his intuitive grasp of the dilemma between the forces of Yin and Yang as represented by the sledge and a Winchester 30-30.

They were great vacations, and we'll let you know who the winners are as soon as wire editor MARIE HOMEYER returns from her course on oral papermaking with the envelopes, please.

Jackie is coming!

Art Buchwald

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. — Ever since the rumor was announced that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis had purchased 375 acres of one of the most important tracts of land on this island, no one has talked about anything else. Reactions have ranged from fear and apprehension to excitement and envy that one of the world's most famous women had decided to make the Vineyard her summer retreat.

My phone hasn't stopped ringing since the story was published.

ONE LADY who knows everything called and said, "Did you hear that Bergdorf Goodman is breaking ground for a new story next to Jackie's land?"

"I hadn't heard that," I said.

"Yes, it will be in the same complex with Gucci, Van Cleef and Arpels and Halston's, who have all decided to build next to her."

"That's fantastic. What about Yves St. Laurent?"

"He's building in Apelier down the road with Saks Fifth Avenue in the same mall. It will be just behind the New York Museum of Modern Art annex."

"The Museum of Modern Art is going to have an annex on the Vineyard?"

"Of course. Jackie loves art."

"Gosh," I said, "this is exciting. Keep me posted in case you hear any more."

The next morning my informant was on the phone again.

"THE NATIONAL Enquirer has decided to set up a five-man Martha's Vineyard bureau. People magazine is thinking of moving its entire staff up here. Three hundred free-lance writers from movie magazines have already applied for press credentials. And Eastman Kodak is going to construct a photo lab on the beach to develop all the paparazzi films, so the photographers won't have to send their stuff to Rochester."

"Where on earth are they going to put all these people?" I asked.

"You didn't hear about the Sheraton Vineyard hotel?"

"No, I haven't been out this morning."

"They bought a tract three miles away, and they're going to put up a 33-story hotel to house all the journalists who will be staying here in the summer. It will have a rooftop restaurant and 15 coin-operated telescopes, all aimed at where Jackie will be sunbathing. For 50 cents you can look at her for two minutes."

"That roof is gonna be a crowded place."

"I got this from a travel agent, so I can't confirm it, but the QE 2 is thinking of anchoring offshore on its way to and from Europe."

"It won't be the same Vineyard that we used to know," I said.

"I heard at the post office that everyone in East Hampton is selling his home and moving up here."

"What on earth for?"

"To be where the action is. East Hampton is out now and the Vineyard is the place to be."

"But Jackie hasn't even built a house yet. Maybe she won't."

"Then what are the French interior decorators doing on the island?"

"You mean there are French decorators on the island?"

"ALL I can tell you is that Air Force has asked for permission to land the SST five times a week at the Vineyard airport."

"How are all the people on the island taking this?" I asked her.

"At the moment there is a lot of groaning. But when the new Cultural Center is built at Menemsha they'll chance their tune."

"Are we going to have a new Cultural Center?"

"Of course. You don't expect Nureyev and the New York City Ballet to dance in a tent."

Pacemakers used for slow hearts

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you tell me if a pacemaker would do any good for me? I am 73 and have a rapid heart. Would it hurt if I did some hard work like using a tiller in my garden? —W.M.

A pacemaker is not used for a rapid heart. You have your own "built-in" pacemaker that generates the impulses to create your specific heart rhythm. If that is impaired the rate is greatly slowed. In such cases artificial pacemakers can substitute for the heart's natural pacemaker. The state of this art has progressed spectacularly in the last two decades.

Your letter is pretty stingy on details, so I can't say whether or not you should continue the garden work. If the work produces symptoms (such as sudden speeding up of the heart) it should probably be avoided or at least modified. A heart examination would repay itself, and I suggest you have it. You should also determine the state of your blood pressure. If it is high, it should be brought under control to prevent greater heart problems later on.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain what a cyst is. I have one on one kidney. Are they common or serious? What is the difference between a cyst and a tumor? Do you have a booklet on kidneys? —B.G.

A cyst is a swelling that contains fluid. It can occur in the sweat glands, ovaries, the kidneys, the pancreas, etc. Cysts of the kidneys are usually an inherited defect. They are not common, occurring in only about one of every 1,000 adults. Single cysts are even less common. Kidney cysts are usually multiple, and the term "polycystic kidneys" is used. Single cysts of the kidneys will probably give no trouble. Polycystic kidneys, on the other hand, can cause elevated blood pressure, albumin and red cells in the urine, and pain in the flanks. A tumor is a swelling of tissue, so technically a "cyst" can be called a tumor, although it's made up largely of fluid rather than of solid tissue, as are other tumors. My booklet on kidneys is available by sending a quarter and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My youngest son is five. He is not trained for his bowel movements yet. His stools are quite small and he has them five or six times a day. One doctor suggested suppositories. Another said he should sit at the toilet for an hour once a day, a battle with no results. The last doctor suggested trying Metamucil for six months. I worry he will be in school before he is adequately trained. Can you suggest anything? —Mrs. M.K.

I think this youngster should be seen by a proctologist. The small stool and the frequency of movements might indicate a defect in the muscles controlling defecation or in the anus. He's probably become discouraged by futile attempts in the past, which would account for the delay in training. The Metamucil is a bulk producer. It can be tried. It's most effective if an additional glass of water is taken after the glass containing the mixture. You should not, however, delay trying to get at the basis of his problems. The psychological effects of an unresolved problem of this kind can be damaging, especially as he begins school. How about bulk in his diet? Is it adequate?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Within 20 minutes after giving birth to my first child I was taken back in for surgery. My doctor told me I had a vaginal hematoma. What are my chances of having another after my next baby? I am 20 years old. —Mrs. K.B.

Hematoma (HEE-ma-TOE-ma) is an accumulation of blood in tissue (blood tumor) that is usually due to tissue injury. It may occur if instruments are required to assist in delivery, especially in those who tend to bleed easily. It's difficult to predict if this will happen with your next delivery, but the doctor, with knowledge of your past experience, will be alerted. The matter is easy to correct.

I do suggest, however, that you have blood studies done to determine whether the clotting chemistry is normal. It may be a temporary condition related to pregnancy.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Editor: Today WRR-FM was back on Cable TV at 100.9 Mhz. I wish to express my thanks to James Lancaster and others for returning classical music to this area.

Mrs. Ben Johnson
703 W. 16th St.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am the only Christian in our small high school and I find it really difficult. I get so lonely sometimes because I don't do a lot of the things the other kids do. What can I do to overcome this feeling? —F.N.

DEAR F.N.: It is natural for you to want friends, and in fact God has made us that way. In your present situation, however, I believe God will reward your faithfulness to Him by helping you overcome this problem. One way He may do this is to help you realize in a new way how close a friend Christ can be to you as you learn to walk with Him each day. He loves you, and he wants you to grow in your relationship with Himself. As you talk to Him in prayer, as you read His word, and as you learn to commit every detail of your life to Him, you will realize the truth of God's abiding presence. "There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother" (Proverbs 18:24).

But God also may answer your need by giving you another Christian with whom you can have real fellowship. You should not hesitate to ask God to bring another Christian into your life.

It will be exciting to see how God answers that prayer. Perhaps He will bring a new student to the school who is a Christian. But very possibly He wants to use you in the lives of some of your fellow students, to bring them to faith in Christ. You should be praying for them, because they need to come to know Christ. You also should be seeking to witness to them, both in your words, if the Lord gives you an opportunity from time to time, and especially by your life. Remember, many of your fellow students are not happy down inside, and they are looking for something — or someone — to fill the void they feel. Ask God to help you love them as Christ loves them.

Continue to avoid yielding to the temptations you face. And remember that God can use this period of your life to bring you closer to Himself. He may be allowing this to happen to you because He wants to teach you to turn to Him every day. Christ also knew what it was to be lonely; He knows your feelings. But He is able to meet your needs as you turn to Him.

Ripoff artists

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Widespread and wanton welfare abuses at every level of government have helped trigger the taxpayer revolt. Property owners and tax defayers are incensed that they keep filling a leaky bucket which spills a stream of wasted dollars before reaching the needy.

A startling number of welfare cheats, it now turns out, are federal workers who collect from the taxpayers with both hands. They have been found out by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano who last fall ordered a computerized crackdown on welfare frauds.

COMPUTERS ARE being used to match the federal payrolls against the welfare rolls. He has now received a confidential progress report which shows 32,655 federal employees have been drawing government pay and collecting welfare from the taxpayers at the same time. Of these double-grubbers, some 5,776 are on the military rolls.

Government workers who are unconscionably ripping off the Treasury may be fired and prosecuted. Some hardship cases may be required merely to repay the money. But some low-paid federal workers with large families are legitimately entitled to welfare assistance.

Califano's sleuths are now running down the double-grubbers through state welfare records to find out how many are cheating. Full reviews have been completed on 3,768 cases. Of these, 806 were ineligible for the welfare they were pocketing. Another 942 were entitled to welfare but were drawing too much.

If this sampling turns out to be typical, 46 percent of the federal workers on welfare are collecting improper payments. The remainder — 1,996 properly paid and another 24 actually underpaid — are entitled to their welfare checks.

"Each case removed from the rolls," HEW's inspector general reported to Califano, "saves about $2,000 annually, of which 55 percent is the federal share. We expect the project will yield total savings of about $12 million."

Footnote: Welfare free-loaders also may be getting improper Medicaid benefits, which the government will try to retrieve. Califano is also conducting a computerized search for government workers who have not paid back their federally subsidized student loans from the college days.

TELEPHONE CHISELERS: Ma Bell, known on the stock exchange at AT&T, is quick to cut off telephone service to subscribers who don't pay their bills. But if the delinquents happen to be members of Congress, the service is not interrupted and the taxpayers are stuck with the bills.

We've discovered from government files that 25 past and present congressmen are at least three months overdue in paying office telephone bills, even though they are given a limited long-distance allowance out of federal funds.

One of the chief offenders is Rep. Michael Harrington, D-Mass., who is retiring from the House at the end of this year. He owes a substantial $8,154.08, according to government records made available to us. A spokesman for the congressman is drawing Harrington is being dunned for "disputed" charges and "doesn't intend to pay."

HARRINGTON WON'T be the first member of Congress to stick the government for a phone tab upon leaving Washington. Former Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., ran up an unpaid bill of $1,767.28. The deadbeat list also shows the following ex-legislators owe these amounts:

Reps. John Dow, D-N.Y., $770.94; Joseph Maraziti, R-N.J., $842.70; Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., $708.40; Philip Hayes, D-Ind., $728.39, and Burt Talcott, R-Calif., $671.39. Another oversight that turned up in the records was $64 owed by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland from his days on Capitol Hill.

Of the sitting congressmen, the heaviest in arrears is REP. William Wampler, R-Va. He owes $2,473.54, which the records show he is paying off on the installment plan at $200 a month. Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., is overdue to the tune of $2,183.40.

Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., has run up $1,250.10 in unpaid phone calls. An office aide said Diggs was over-charged $700 but has paid $274 to reduce the indebtedness. Other current House members on the cuff are Rep. Parren Mitchell, D-Md., $860.09; Nick Rahall, D-W.Va., $302.50, and Walter Fauntroy, D-D.C., $262.10.

Howard County Fair to feature special cotton drought exhibit

By MARJ CARPENTER
Big plans are under way for the sixth annual Howard County Fair to be held in the county fair barns, Sept. 18-23 with a special cotton drought exhibit.

The special 1978 edition of the shortest cotton with open boll and the five stalks of the most doughy cotton are expected to highlight the agriculture division and be one of the most unusual exhibits they have ever placed in their division.

There will be many special events held in conjunction with the annual fair, including the big Shrine Circus and a nightly carnival on the midway.

One of the main agriculture exhibits, one which was incorporated with the original reactivation of the fair, is the annual Barrow Sale. This event used to be held separately by the 4-H Clubs and FFA members in the fall and was incorporated into the fair. Ralph White and Larry Shaw head this division.

Lloyd Robinson heads the big Junior Steer and Heifer Show. Entries in that show must be brought to the fair between 10 a.m. Friday, Sept. 22 and 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 23. Steer classes will be judged at 9 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 23 in the south barn and will be released at 6 p.m. the same day.

Exhibitors must have owned all animals shown by them for a period of at least 30 days prior to the date of exhibition.

The show is open to Howard, Borden, Glasscock, Scurry, Mitchell, Sterling, Midland, Martin and Dawson counties.

Exhibitors must be eligible 4-H or FFA members in each of these counties. No individual can enter more than three steers. There will be a maximum or minimum weight limit.

Steers can have both permanent teeth in view but not in excessive wear. They will be divided into weight classes with no more than eight steers to the class.

In the case of more than eight entries in a class, an additional class will be provided. The steers will be classed as English Breeds (including English Crosses) and Exotic Crosses with at least two weight classes per breed. Classes for the junior breeding cattle show will be set up as needed.

W. Bruce Griffith is overall agriculture superintendent. June Nichols and Andy Vestal head the agricultural products division.

Entries in this department will be accepted Monday, Sept. 18 starting at 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Judging will be the first day at 5 p.m. Entries are limited to one sample in each lot from the same farm or individual and must be from the 1978 crop. All cotton bolls must be naturally opened in the field and no chemically treated seed will be judged.

In cotton, they will judge the best 20 open bolls, best one pound lint cotton direct from the gin, best cotton seed (any variety in one gallon) and cotton stalk, any variety with the leaves stripped. Under the stalk division there will be (a.) stripper and (b.) tallest, largest.

In the grains and seeds division, each sample is to be one-half gallon. It includes wheat, oats, barley, peanuts, field peas except blackeye peas, sudan grass, sorghum sweet; grain sorghum, red or yellow; grain sorghum, white; alfalfa, soybeans, rye, castor, millet and triticale. There is also sheaf grains and seeds division with sheaf samples to be three inches and not over five inches in diameter at center band. Leaves should be stripped—except for hay crops.

These include wheat, hard winter, any variety; oats; barley, any variety; millet rye, sweet sorghum, sudan grass, three heads of sunflower, sweet clover, one bunch of Spanish peanuts, peanuts, other varieties, alfalfa, soybeans, triticale and grass in bundles except for sudan.

In grain sorghum heads, each exhibit consists of ten heads in white or yellow.

Hay should be baled in either standard bales of size 8 by 10 by 16 and must be marketable condition.

The hay divisions are alfalfa, sorghum, cowpeas, unthrashed peanut hay, thrashed peanut hay, soybean, sudan grass and any other grass.

Five ears of corn should be entered in white, yellow, popcorn or any variety.

Vegetables include six each in Irish potatoes, yellow yams, onions, turnips, beets, tomatoes, bell peppers and other peppers.

They ask for 12 in carrots, radishes, rhubarb and okra.

The request is three in eggplant, cabbage, summer squash, cantaloupe, collards, green pickling cucumbers and green slicing cucumbers. They ask two in winter squash.

One exhibit is required in cashaw, field pumpkin, pie pumpkin, watermelon, and one gal. green or lima beans or other beans, and a dry gallon of beans, blackeyed peas and other peas.

In fruits, they ask for 15 strawberries, 12 apricots, and plums, a bunch of grapes and six apples, peaches or pears.

Miscellaneous crops will also be accepted, including ornamental gourds.

Two Italian sources have 'picked' pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Italian Embassy to the Vatican and a leftist Genoa newspaper's computer make Italian Cardinal Sebastiano Baggio the front runner in the race for pope.

A Rome newspaper reported that Ambassador Vittorio Cordero di Montezemolo prepared a "working paper" surveying 12 papabili, or possible popes. It said he concluded that Baggio, 65, and Cardinal Paolo Bertoli, 70, would be the leading contenders in the secret conclave of cardinals beginning Friday to elect a successor to Pope Paul VI.

Both are veterans of the Vatican Curia, the central administration of the Roman Catholic Church.

Baggio, the prefect of the Congregation of the Bishops, was reported "well liked by the Curia" and "intelligent, able, patient and tenacious."

The working paper said Bertoli, former head of the Congregation for the Causes of the Saints, was "open to religious renewal" and had "the right energy."

The survey also said despite speculation that a non-Italian might be chosen, an Italian seemed a shoo-in because of their "flexibility, knowledge of the complex (Vatican) mechanism and habit of freeing themselves from nationalistic attitudes."

State Hospital starts drive for Christmas 1978 fund

For the Volunteer Services Department at Big Spring State Hospital, the Christmas "rush" is on. Beginning with 4,500 letters, appealing to various organizations in the 46 county catchment area to remember BSSH patients at Christmas, right down to the planning and scheduling of parties, activities and fund-raising events, Christmas 1978 is very much in evidence.

The 1946 Hyperion Club will present "Fashion Parade-Kid Style" Saturday, September 16 at 10:30 a.m. in the Cactus Room of Howard College to kick off the fund-raising campaign for Christmas funds. The annual fall rummage sale will be held September 28, 29 and 30 and the 3rd Annual Arts and Crafts Sale is scheduled for December 2 at the Highland Shopping Center Mall. The proceeds from all these volunteer activities will be used by the Volunteer Services Council to purchase items to supplement gifts donated from area clubs, churches and individuals.

Everyone is encouraged to remember the patients at Big Spring State Hospital during this time of the year. The entire hospital joins together with volunteers in an attempt to bring as much Christmas spirit to the campus as possible.

Anyone interested in assisting with Christmas 1978 at Big Spring State Hospital is asked to call the Volunteer Services Office at 267-8216, ext. 308.

Fued over money starts up again

Longoria family member jailed in Mexico

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico (AP) — The imprisonment of a member of the powerful Longoria family of northern Mexico is the latest chapter in the family's continuing feud over money. The struggle has reached such proportions that street people are calling it "The Dance of the Millions." How many millions depends on which facet is considered. Monday, Octaviano Longoria Penn, 45, was jailed at La Loma Federal Prison here on charges he committed fraud and forgery. The charges resulted from a years-long investigation provoked by the defendant's uncles. They claim he bilked them out of an estimated $27 million, although the charges focus on one transaction for $8 million. The Longorias operate a multinational, multimillion-dollar string of enterprises ranging from real estate to auto agencies. Their clout is such that they are given blank certificates of credit from banks, some from the United States. One such certificate is the source of Longoria Penn's difficulties. Charges against him allege he filled in such a certificate for $8 million in his own name in 1971, and that he used the money for his own purposes. That note came due in 1976, and when it proved uncollectable, the federal government slapped liens on the Longoria businesses. Others are being sought on federal warrants in the case. They include the defendant's father, Octavio Longoria Theriot; his sister, Sara Alicia Brittingham; and her husband, Edward Brittingham. That aside, Longoria Theriot has filed several suits in the United States, charging that other family members have bilked him out of some $400 million. A copy of the $8 million certificate was introduced into evidence at Longoria Penn's hearing Monday, co-signed by Longoria Theriot and four of his brothers, Shelby, Eduardo, Alfredo and Federico. Longoria Penn appeared at the hearing with a battery of lawyers, and prosecutors countered by producing a 1,200-page file and volumes of documents they said support their case. Longoria Penn was jailed under what is called a constitutional period of time during which he will be apprised of the case against him.

Proposal has urban support

WASHINGTON (AP) — California may soon become the first state to ratify full congressional representation for the nation's capital, but the outlook in other legislatures is mixed. Prospects for the proposed constitutional amendment generally appear brighter in the larger, more urban states, a survey of officials and legislators by The Associated Press shows. Officials in some smaller states, meanwhile, were indifferent or hostile to the proposal, which would give the District of Columbia's 700,000 residents two senators and at least one representative. "Who knows? Who cares?" asked Raymond Rizzo, an aide to Indiana's Republican Gov. Otis R. Bowen.

"Why should the West give more votes to the East?" asked Montana Gov. Thomas Judge, a Democrat. In Albany, N.Y., however, Richard Roth, a spokesman for Republican Senate Majority Leader Warren Anderson, said, "We'd be delighted to have the extra representation in Congress. The interests of urban states are all the same."

On Tuesday the Senate passed the amendment, already approved by the House, 67-23 — just one vote more than needed. It must be ratified by 38 states within seven years to become part of the Constitution.

Melanie Woolston, assistant director of the Coalition for Self-Determination for D.C., said the California House was expected to vote this week and the state Senate may follow next week.

In Sacramento, state Senate President Pro Tempore James Mills and Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, both Democrats, predicted the legislature would ratify the measure.

John J. Callahan of the National Conference of State Legislatures said lawmakers in Michigan, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York are expected to be in session next month. He said all legislatures except Kentucky's meet next year.

"It's going to be a tough fight for the amendment," said Callahan. "If partisan or regional considerations crop up, it may have tough sledding."

The new District of Columbia lawmakers would almost certainly be Democratic, as more than 90 percent of the district's registered voters are Democrats.

Both houses of 35 state legislatures are controlled by Democrats. Republicans control both houses in four states. Ten states are split while Nebraska's one-house legislature is nonpartisan.

The proposed amendment got a boost Wednesday when AFL-CIO President George Meany wrote state labor organizations, urging them to devote their "full resources and best efforts" to its ratification.

Rotary rigs down by 11 this week

A total of 858 rotary rigs were turning in Texas during the week ending Aug. 21, compared to 869 for the seven-day period terminating Aug. 14. A month ago, 869 rigs were making hole while 790 were active a year ago ending Aug. 22, 1977.

Throughout the United States, the rig count was 2,339 for the week ending Aug. 21, compared to 2,336 for the week ending Aug. 14, 2,322 July 24, 1978, and 2,045 for the week winding up Aug. 22, 1977.

Students attending orientation

Four new X-Ray students are currently attending a week-long orientation program in preparation for the beginning of the 1978-79 school year of the Malone-Hogan Hospital School of X-Ray Technology.

Accepted for the two-year nationally accredited program are Melissa Brown, and Sherry McCutchan of Coahoma, Lynette Hammond, Lubbock, and Julian Gonzalez, Brownfield.

Covering in detail all phases of hospital procedures and routines, the orientation schedule includes lectures, tours, as well as demonstrations in an 8 to 5 school day.

The curriculum outlines a busy week for the students. Beginning with hospital and clinic policies, the coverage includes the History of Medicine, History of Radiology, Radiology as a Career, Ethics, the Physician Assistant, the Patient, the Nurse, the Doctor, and the Law.

Those participating in the presentation of the orientation are Sam Subia, R.T., School Coordinator, P.T. Chacko, R.T., Chief Technologist, Janie McLaughlin, Student Teacher, Dr. Buerk Williams, Chief Radiologist, Dr. Anil Goswami, Staff Radiologist, Belva Harrington, Medical Records Director, Jean Connelly, R.N., Nursing Service Director, Emily Ward, Public Relations Director, James McCutchan, R.T., Nuclear Medicine Supervisor, Maria Cavuoti, Medical Secretary, and Mary Ann Davidson, Executive Secretary. Malone-Hogan Clinic speakers are Dr. P. W. Malone and Howard Mott, Office Personnel Manager. Robert Miller, Attorney, will orient the students into the legal realms of medicine.

Second-year students of the X-ray school will also be a part of the orientation. Participating in this week's activities are Valerie Richardson, Charlotte Meek, Carlos Gonzales, and Luisa Delos Reyes.

Instructor James McCutchan is a graduate of Malone-Hogan's first X-Ray Technology class (1976). He is a registered Technologist in charge of the Nuclear Medicine division of the Radiology Department. Sherry McCutchan is his sister.

Carter takes last run down Salmon River

ALONG THE SALMON RIVER, Idaho (AP) — President Carter is taking a last 16-mile run down the rapids of the Middle Fork of the Salmon River before he flies to Wyoming for a week at Grand Teton National Park.

After breaking camp at Elk Bar today, the president and his family head toward the bluffs of the Impassable Canyon and end their three-day rafting and camping trip at the confluence of the Salmon River and its Middle Fork.

In the Teton, where he will spend the last week of the two-week holiday, Carter said he plans to hike, fish, and probably ride horses. He plans to visit Yellowstone National Park.

During the 71-mile river journey that began Tuesday, the first family shot seven feet down a waterfall in their 20-foot rubber raft. After clearing the fall, an aluminum handle snapped on one of the raft's two long oars.

Carter, his wife Rosalynn, daughter Amy, and sons Chip and Jack, were delayed for an hour as they went ashore while boatmen repaired the oar.

Mrs. Carter and Amy spent that hour fishing from the shore.

The party drifted 24 miles Wednesday through rapids broken by stretches of smooth, calm water.

The brilliant weather on Wednesday contrasted with the rain and hail that greeted the party after it set out on the river Tuesday. Skies Wednesday were blue and temperatures hit the upper 70s.

The president — accompanied by four rafts carrying Secret Service agents, White House aides, and Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus and his wife Carol — stopped for lunch at a sandy spot under a ponderosa pine.

High court establishes 'warranty of habitability'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Down in the fine print of lease agreements used by many apartment owners is a new paragraph wiping out a right granted by the Texas Supreme Court.

New lease forms distributed by the Texas Apartment Association contain a waiver of the "warranty of habitability."

The high court established that warranty earlier this year. It means that when a landlord accepts money from a renter, he or she implicitly guarantees an apartment is safe and sanitary.

Teachers to decide favorites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-one senators and 237 House members could find themselves without campaign support from the American Federation of Teachers when they seek reelection this fall.

Albert Shanker, president of the 500,000-member teachers' union, predicted Wednesday night the 2,700 AFT convention delegates would decide to oppose congressmen who voted recently for tuition tax credits for the parents of parochial and private school children.

"It will be debated Thursday morning, and I think it will go through," Shanker said.

The politically active union wants to punish those congressmen on an issue Shanker has termed "life or death for public education as we know it."

The AFT and other opponents claim the tax breaks for parents who pay their children's tuition at private elementary and secondary schools will siphon badly needed money from the nation's public schools and encourage segregation.

The Senate last week voted 65-27 for a bill that would allow parents or students to claim a tax credit of up to $250 for each semester spent in a private college or vocational school. Before the final vote, however, 41 senators voted to retain sections in the bill that would have provided parallel benefits for elementary and secondary school levels.

In the House, the vote was 237-158 for a bill containing provisions for elementary, secondary and college tuition tax credits.

Three men elude police

DALLAS (AP) — Three men who allegedly tried to run down a pair of FBI agents eluded a Dallas dragnet Wednesday after they apparently escaped a hail of gunfire unscathed.

Joe Marlin Perkins, 21, and Jimmy Earl Ford, 17, were escapees from the Jefferson County Jail in Pine Bluff, Ark. They were in jail on car theft charges and were sought on federal warrants. The two Dallas men and a companion were approached by the FBI agents while sitting in a car at a Dallas park.

As the agents approached, the men allegedly tried to run them down. As they drove past, the agents fired a shotgun and a pistol at the car.

There was no indication that the men were armed.

'PLAZA SUITE' STAR — Scott Brady, who starred in action-filled films for many years, is appearing in the Neal Simon play, Plaza Suite, at the Marsion Dinner Theater in Odessa for five weeks. Brady was star of the long-running TV series, Shotgun Slade, and appeared on Broadway in 'Destry Rides Again.'

Association director Lyle Johansen pointed out the court said a tenant could waive the warranty in writing.

Forms sold by the association through local apartment owners' groups are widely used.

"The most accurate gauge is that we distributed 12,000 pads of the forms last year," Johansen said in an interview. Each pad has 100 lease agreement forms, meaning 1.2 million copies were distributed.

Tenant rights and consumer organizations hailed the Supreme Court's ruling as giving renters a legal defense for withholding rent in order to force needed repairs.

Ron Shortes, University of Texas students' attorney, was quoted this week as saying the new language in the lease agreements might violate renters' rights and be "coercive."

The Austin American-Statesman said in an editorial that apartment owners should voluntarily delete the waiver from their leases.

Johansen said, however, that tenant rights are adequately protected by other language in the standard lease agreements.

Included are clauses binding owners to make necessary repairs, keep common areas reasonably clean and properly maintain such fixtures as air conditioning and hot water heaters.

"That is much more clear" than the warranty given by the Supreme Court, Johansen said. "The lease makes the owner liable for things based on his negligence, which seems to be fair."

He acknowledged that waiver of the warranty of habitability would head off litigation by tenants against landlords.

Johansen also said the lease form "will benefit the tenant who is a reasonable tenant and be tough on the one who tries to bend the rules and regulations."

It includes loss of one's deposit for failing to give 30 days' notice before vacating, moving out before the lease has run to term, leaving a dirty apartment or failing to provide a forwarding address.

Raisin bread is nutritious start for super sandwiches

Keeping the kitchen cool when the weather is still hot can be a challenging task for busy, summer cooks who have to meet the demands of hungry appetites.

Wholesome, flavor-full sandwiches can solve this dilemma for the hungry crowd at lunch, dinner or those "times-in-between."

Start a collection of sandwiches that are generous in good taste and balanced in nutrition, beginning with San Joaquin Bologna Ribbons. Skewered ribbons of bologna, cream cheese, and crisp lettuce leaves are stacked between moist slices of raisin bread.

No matter how you slice it, spread it or stack it, raisin bread makes super sandwiches. Use raisin bread or raisin English muffins to turn the simplest sandwich into something special.

Be sure to have a handy supply of raisin bread and English muffins for all manner of sandwich creations. Just about any sandwich filling is enhanced when raisin bread or muffins are the sandwich base.

San Joaquin Bologna Ribbons is perfect lunch or supertime fare for informal patio entertaining or picnic festivities. Arrange the sandwich on skewers with perky accompaniments such as pickles, olives or chili peppers. Pitchers of iced lemonade or fruit juices are

Eggs, melons, chickens good buys this week

COLLEGE STATION — Best values at Texas grocery markets this week include eggs, melons, fryer chickens and several fresh vegetable items, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt.

Also, there are a number of "specials" at dairy and frozen food counters and along grocery market aisles, she says.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This week's price-quality trends are the following:

POULTRY — Eggs are a good value, with small and medium sizes the most plentiful. Fryer chickens, also a good value, when bought whole will save 8-10 cents more per pound.

Turkey prices, however, are moderate to relatively high due to limited supplies and more demand.

FRESH FRUITS — Honeydew melons, cantaloupes and watermelons are economical choices. Varying price levels appear on peaches, nectarines, plums, prunes, grapes, bananas and pears — so select according to budget limits.

FRESH VEGETABLES — Economical items include corn, carrots, cabbage, cucumbers, okra, dry yellow onions, yellow and zucchini squash and potatoes.

DAIRY — Features include milk (buttermilk and homogenized milk), yogurt and a variety of cheeses.

FROZEN FOOD — Items "on special" are fried chicken, orange juice and a variety of vegetables.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES — Features are tuna fish, canned applesauce, tomatoes, peaches, cooking oil and peanut butter.

BEF — Prices are steady in general. Most markets offer best values on chuck roasts and steaks, round and sirloin steaks and beef liver, along with ground beef.

PORK — Prices also stable. More economical items include Boston butt roasts, end and loin chops, quarter-loin cut into chops, semi-boneless hams, bacon and liver.

TWEEN 12 and 20 Cousins' kids face risk

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D

Dr. Wallace: This may seem different but it's true. My girlfriend and I are deeply in love and would like to get married. We are very mature and responsible teens (we're 18) and don't want to do the wrong thing. You see, we are just cousins.

People have told us that our children will be mentally abnormal. We want a large family. Please give me the correct facts. — David, Fredrickton, New Brunswick, Canada.

David: The facts are that first cousins run a higher risk of having children with defects than non-related couples. It's because of genes inherited from a common ancestor.

If the baby inherited two harmful genes (one from each parent) from a common ancestor, a harmful effect could result.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 13 and a boy and I'm not complaining but I wonder if you can answer a question for me.

I used to live in Tacoma, Wash., and now live in Ukiah, Calif. I own a horse and keep her at a stable and almost every other horse owner is a girl. The same was true in Tacoma.

Why are there so many girl horse owners? Where are the boys? — Larry, Ukiah, Calif.

Larry: There are few competitive sports where girls are able to outdo boys, but when it comes to riding horses, girls are usually superior. Good riders start young and girls usually mature more quickly than boys. This is why you will see more girls than boys at stables. Riding is growing rapidly. There are over seven million private saddle horses in the United States and over one million in Canada.

Dr. Wallace: Two months ago my mother went through my purse and found a pack of cigarettes. I admitted to her that I had been smoking and that I promised to quit. It was difficult, but I did quit, and I haven't smoked in a month.

Still, whenever my mother feels like going through my purse, she does. Even if I was still smoking I wouldn't be dumb enough to leave them in my purse. I think my mother has no business going through my purse, but she says she has every right to.

Please tell mother that she is wrong. — Clara, Alliance, Ohio

Clara: You lived up to your promise. Therefore she shouldn't be going through your purse without your permission. Even though mother does have the right, in this case she is wrong.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Proposed ban on candy sales in school delayed

Final regulations to ban the sale of candy, soda water, frozen desserts and chewing gum in school cafeterias until after the last lunch period will not be implemented at the beginning of the coming school year.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman announced today.

The Department delayed its plan to issue final regulations in time for the new school year in order to consider more fully the large volume of public comments, she said.

Public Law 95-166, enacted last November, authorized the Department to regulate the sale in schools of foods which compete with the school food service program. Rules to implement the new provision of the law were proposed in April.

The Department's Food and Nutrition Service received more than 2,100 comments from students, parents, teachers, school administrators, nutritionists, doctors, dentists, the food industry, concerned citizens and many others before the comment period closed on June 30. "Those who support the proposed rule far outnumber those who oppose it," Foreman reported.

"However, many letters urge that the ban be extended throughout the day and apply to other low nutrient-high calorie foods as well."

"Some of those who oppose the proposed rule believe it infringes on individual choice, or that the distinctions it makes regarding food categories are unfair and arbitrary."

Some commentators also would like to restrict the ban to the school cafeteria, rather than apply it throughout the school building.

"It is important that we take the time necessary to consider thoroughly all the points raised," Foreman said.

Until new rules are issued, schools will continue to operate under existing regulations which allow state and local authorities to adopt and enforce their own competitive food policies.

Sherry buffet ends the summer gourmet-style

Many of us will end the last big weekend of the summer season with an outdoor bash, combining swimming, tennis or some such healthful pursuit with some munching and a little imbibing.

One suggestion that doesn't have to be too expensive is a sherry buffet, exploiting the versatility of that wine to wash down an assortment of warm weather delicacies from tapas, as the Spanish call appetizers, to chilled soup, salad and cold cuts and a few sweets or cheese to round out the feast.

True Spanish sherry comes in five flavor levels from the crisp, dry manzanilla to the heavy bodied cream. Given this taste and body range sherry, although a fortified wine, can be consumed at any stage of the meal.

Let's say we lead off the spread with a tray of salted nuts, green stuffed Spanish olives and assorted tapas such as cold mussels, artichoke hearts, marinated mushrooms, pickled beets and onions. This would go well with the lightest of sherries, the tangy manzanilla which is best served chilled. Some prefer it over a few cubes of ice especially on a hot day.

Next you could serve gaz-pacho, that refreshing cold Spanish soup made from fresh tomatoes, green peppers, garlic, olive oil, lemon juice and a sprinkling of spices. With this you can serve the next sherry in the spectrum, the pale, fragrant fino which also is preferable chilled.

No turn to the main course — a chicken or shellfish salad and an array of cold cuts such as sliced ham, spicy salami, prosciutto wrapped melon chunks and perhaps some smoked salmon. With this you drink amontillado, the golden sherry that can be taken either chilled or at room temperature.

Top off the buffet with some pastry or bland cheese. This can be accompanied by either the medium rich oloroso sherry or the heavy bodied cream that some people pour over ice to offset the sweetness.

To give your tapas and salads a lift, try this recipe for Pesto Vinaigrette sauce. 1 cup well washed, dried basil leaves, 1/4 cup olive oil, 1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese, 1 clove garlic, minced, 1 1/2 cups simple oil and vinegar dressing.

Press basil leaves into cup to measure. Place in blender, adding oil and garlic. Puree, adding cheese gradually, to a coarse grain. A tablespoon or two more oil may be required. Blend 6 to 8 tablespoons of this mixture into the oil-vinegar dressing and stir well. If you want to keep, place the sauce in a plastic container cap and store in refrigerator or freezer. It is excellent with potato salad, cold salmon and white fish like turbot or sole. It's also good on shellfish, with lemon wedges.

Watch out for cans

Don't buy food in leaking, bulging, or damaged cans, cracked jars or jars with loose or bulging lids, cautions Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Although botulism is found more often in home canned foods than in commercial products, be careful either way, she urges.

Nicaraguan government bows to leftists' demands

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Leftist guerrillas still held an estimated 200 hostages in Nicaragua's National Palace early today, but President Anastasio Somoza's regime apparently bowed to their demand for the release of political prisoners and safe conduct out of the country for those freed and the guerrillas.

Although no Nicaraguan official would confirm an agreement had been reached, the armed raiders of the Sandino National Liberation Front freed about 300 hostages in groups Wednesday, and Venezuela announced that the Nicaraguan government had agreed to let an estimated 150 political prisoners and the estimated 100 guerrillas in the palace leave the country.

A Venezuelan air force transport was reported on its way to Managua to fly them to Panama and Caracas. The guerrillas also demanded planes from Mexico and Panama and said three Catholic bishops and the Panamanian and Costa Rican ambassadors who had been negotiating with them must go along as guarantees of safety. But there was no word from the Mexican and Panamanian governments.

The Sandinistas shot their way into the National Palace while the Chamber of Deputies was in session Tuesday afternoon, killing eight persons, most of them National Guard officers, and wounding 15 others.

In addition to freedom for political prisoners, they demanded $10 million in cash and the broadcast of a statement of charges against the Somoza regime. There was no word of the response to the ransom demand, but the government radio-television station read their statement Wednesday evening.

The guerrillas then postponed a deadline they had set to begin killing the hostages, who included many of Nicaragua's 70 congressmen and a number of government officials, and released a large group of their captives. Shortly after midnight, everybody settled down to rest, apparently observing a tacit truce until the arrival of the Venezuelan plane, which was expected about 5 a.m. (7 a.m. EDT).

Among the hostages still held were Somoza's cousin Luis Pailais Debayle, who is deputy speaker of the lower house, and the president's nephew Jose Somoza Abrego, who is the son of the acting commander of the national guard.

About 500 persons were taken hostage when the guerrillas occupied the building. On Wednesday morning, they freed 110 women and children, a condition the government set for opening negotiations, and turned over the dead and wounded. More were let out during the day, and late in the evening 150 were released.

Some of those freed said there was little food inside the white-columned, four-story building, but there was plenty of water. The palace was ringed by members of the National Guard, Nicaragua's army, and the city's streets were heavily patrolled.

The government also ordered all airports in the country closed to civilian traffic and international telephone calls to government offices were blocked.

It sealed the border with Honduras to the north and the southern frontier with Costa Rica, from which the guerrillas frequently launch attacks.

The Sandinistas take their name from Augusto Cesar Sandino, a guerrilla leader of the 1920s and 1930s who died fighting the U.S. Marines who occupied Nicaragua and put Somoza's father, also Anastasio, in power in 1937. The family has ruled the country with an iron hand ever since and without serious challenge to its power until this year.

The guerrillas have been making hit-and-run attacks on Somoza's troops for a decade. Four years ago they kidnapped more than 40 persons, and the government gave in to their demand for $1 million and a plane to Cuba.

White House pushing to sustain Carter veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although President Carter is on vacation, the White House is mounting a major push to sustain his veto of a bill authorizing a $2-billion nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

Administration bigshots are trying to sell Carter's message through a series of public appearances, through a White House briefing Wednesday for about 250 businessmen, lobbyists and interest-group representatives, and through telephone calls to members of the House scheduled to vote on overriding the veto Sept. 7, the day they return from a Labor Day recess.

The message: Carter vetoed the $37 billion defense bill because Congress cut out too much money for NATO, for maintenance, for research and for other nuts-and-bolts military items to pay for "the world's most expensive ship."

The administration's effort is being quarterbacked by Vice President Walter F. Mondale's chief of staff, Richard Moe, who says of Carter's message: "When it is understood, it is inevitably successful."

Mondale, Defense Secretary Harold Brown and National Security Adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski were the stars of Wednesday's session in the East Room of the White House.

The guests included representatives of the Jewish War Veterans, the U.S. Catholic Conference, Gulf & Western, FMC Corp. and about 250 other businesses or interest groups.

They heard Brzezinski say Carter "vetoed the bill because he wants more defense rather than less, and he wants it sooner rather than later."

Mondale said that, based on reports he had gotten from Capitol Hill, "we are confident it (the veto) will be sustained."

And Brown said: "We can't afford to make billion-dollar mistakes. If the nuclear carrier gets built, I feel that the trend toward larger ships and fewer ships will become almost irreversible and the Navy will become more vulnerable."

A nuclear carrier, he said, costs about $1 billion more than a conventionally powered carrier, and doesn't provide enough added military capability to make it worth the cost.

Although conceding that a nuclear carrier doesn't need to be refueled, he said it still has to take on food, aircraft fuel and ammunition the same as an oil-powered carrier.

Pokes slice Young from ranks

DALLAS (AP) — Veteran fullback Charles Young, Dallas' No. 1 draft pick out of North Carolina State in 1974, and placekicker Skip Butler were cut by the Cowboys on Wednesday as the National Football League team trimmed its roster to 50 players.

Seven other players were waived. Head Coach Tom Landry said Tuesday that Butler, acquired only weeks earlier to help shore up the Cowboy kicking game, would go. That made rookie Jay Sherill the No. 1 Dallas kicker.

Young's career with the Cowboys was hampered by injuries which kept him out of action much of the time.

Kenny Randle, a rookie from USC was placed on the injured reserve list because of a bad shoulder.

Also waived were tight end Bryon Billick, a free agent from Brigham Young; safety Darrel Davis, a free agent from Northwest Missouri State; cornerback Devon Ford, a free agent from Appalachian State; guard Tom Randall, No. 12 draft choice from California; guard Tom Randall, No. 7 draft pick from Iowa State; linebacker Harold Randolph, No. 6 draft choice from East Carolina and linebacker Kinzie Weaver, a free agent from Vanderbilt.

Bears, Seahawks square off

SEATTLE (AP) — The winless Chicago Bears, minus their most spectacular player, Walter Payton, visit the Kingdome tonight to play the Seattle Seahawks in the final National Football League preseason game for both clubs.

Payton, who led the league in rushing with 1,852 yards last season, is suffering from a slight shoulder separation and didn't make the trip to Seattle.

"Our medical people feel very good about the prospects of having him (Payton) back for our (regular-season) opener," said Neil Armstrong, Chicago's new head coach.

A crowd of between 55,000 and 60,000 is expected for the game, matching the 2-1 Seahawks against the 0-3 Bears. Seattle is coming off a 26-7 loss to Los Angeles in which the Seahawks' defense allowed its first touchdown in three exhibition games.

Compared to last season, "I think we're a little bit ahead," said Jack Patera, Seattle's head coach. "We have a better idea of what we can do."

Armstrong, who succeeded Jack Pardee at Chicago after eight seasons as defensive coordinator of the Minnesota Vikings, has professed no great concern over the Bears' losses to Oakland, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

"We hope to have a better team than last year," he said. "We've been playing without some of our key players, we've got a new system and we've been playing a lot of people."

Armstrong conceded that tonight's game was important to the Bears.

"It's always important to win," Armstrong said. "But it's important for us to get together and play well, to try to get some cohesiveness."

In Friday's NFL action, as the final weekend of the league's first four-game preseason schedule winds down, Washington entertains Atlanta, Philadelphia is home against the New York Jets and San Francisco visits Denver.

Saturday's matchups include San Diego at the New York Giants, N.J., Baltimore at Detroit, Cincinnati at Green Bay, St. Louis at Kansas City, Buffalo at Minnesota, Pittsburgh at Dallas, New Orleans at Houston and Los Angeles at Oakland.

In the final preseason game Sunday, New England entertains Cleveland.

The regular season begins Sept. 2 with the Giants at Tampa Bay.

Pep Rally tonight, amphitheater, 8 p.m.

Matt Harris listen attentively. The locals are currently undergoing two-a-day workouts in shorts, and will begin pad drills Friday. Most of the local club will also be in attendance tonight at the Amphitheater in Comanche Trail Park as a back-to-school pep rally will get underway at 8 o'clock.

Mitchell's block chopped by Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — With hopes of reconciliation evaporating rapidly, and bitter feelings building even more quickly, the Baltimore Colts have apparently decided to solve their problems with Lydell Mitchell by trading him to San Diego.

The Chargers announced Wednesday night that they had traded running back Joe Washington and an undisclosed draft choice for Mitchell, Baltimore's all-time leading rusher.

"We have not come to contractual agreement with Lydell," said Tank Younger, San Diego's assistant general manager. "We have not signed him to a contract, but we have traded Joe Washington and an undisclosed draft choice for his services."

But the Colts called the announcement premature, since Mitchell and San Diego had not reached the contract agreement necessary to consummate the trade.

But whether or not Mitchell plays with the Chargers this season, his prospects of wearing a Colt jersey again became even more remote Wednesday.

In addition to their contract troubles, the former Penn State star and the Colts are still embroiled in a grievance filed by Mitchell with the National Football League Player-Club Relations Committee.

Mitchell charged the team with racial discrimination, bad faith bargaining and illegally fining him $500 a day for missing practice.

The racism charge was apparently the last straw for Colts' owner Robert Irsay, who demanded an apology from the running back.

"He tells me I'm like a father, that I treat him so beautifully. Then he calls me a racist. I can't tolerate a man like that on the Baltimore Colts," said Irsay in a statement issued from his Skokie, Ill., home.

After spending two days debating the matter, the PCRC also gave up on a solution to the dispute Wednesday.

"The PCRC believes because of the seriousness of the charges, that all parties should be heard under oath. Therefore, the entire grievance has been referred to the arbitrator."

Ump meet set

NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of the Major League Umpires Association and presidents of the National and American leagues were to meet formally today to discuss the umpires' demands for better benefits and working conditions.

Richie Phillips, a Philadelphia attorney representing the umpires, said Wednesday that AL President Lee McPhail and NL President Chub Feeney had agreed to the meeting at 11:30 a.m. EDT, in the National League offices.

"Lee McPhail and Chub Feeney invited me to sit down and discuss informally the propositions set forth by the umpires," said Phillips. He said he was contacted by the two league officials Wednesday morning about the meeting.

"I think it will be a critical meeting," said Phillips, who indicated a strike by the 52 major league umpires would occur in the near future if the leagues refused to negotiate.

The umpires have a contract that runs through the 1981 season and league officials have refused to reopen negotiations. Phillips, however, said the umpires' demands covered items not included in the contract and therefore are appropriate for negotiation.

In a telegram sent to Phillips by McPhail and Feeney on Tuesday, the league presidents warned that the contract included a no-strike clause and that the leagues expected the umpires to honor the provision.

The umpires' demands include three one-week vacations during the regular season, job security after three years, cost of living increases in their salary and increased disability benefits.

Logback thinks 'they can do it'

Ron Logback, Big Spring Steer athletic director and football coach, and his staff are going "Home on the Range" one better. That discouraging word won't even be seldom — it just won't be at all.

Based on training, experience and weight, the Steers should be a good football team, he told the Downtown Lions at their Wednesday meeting at Howard College. "I think they can do it, and they think they can." If there is any alibi fodder floating around, it won't come from the staff, he said.

He paid tribute to the program his predecessor, Don Robbins, now an assistant high school principal, had going. "This is not a rebuilding year," he added, "because he taught them what work was and how you have to work. He had the program going long enough to get those linemen to where they are able to bench-press 320 to 370 pounds. The line — and I'm talking about two deep at all positions — will be around 215 pounds, so we can't say we are outmanned."

These players, while not fast, are reasonably quick.

and Logback is concentrating on the running game — "we'll be playing in that first five yards." None of the quarterback prospects are exceptional passers, but that won't preclude using the pass to keep the defense from loading the line. Logback said he is counting heavily on the quarterbacks for leadership. The punting game should be outstanding.

Defensively, plans are to play a 6-1 man every position over the offensive line, with one drop-back and bear down on pursuit. Simplicity is the keynote, "we're not using numbers but calling names and places. We're telling them what and how, and to have enthusiasm and confidence."

The biggest boost the team could have, he believed, is for fans to fill up the stands and show a corresponding enthusiasm and confidence.

Aggies win berths

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Defensive line coach Paul Register said Wednesday that Eugene Sanders and Jacob Green have nailed down two of the front four starting positions on the 1978 Texas A&M football team.

Register, appraising the day's workout, said Sanders would play left tackle. "He's as quick as anyone we've had. He's definitely all-conference material."

Jacob, who is set at left end, "could be a great one" with a little more discipline, Register added.

Frog kickers go crazy

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A pair of 60-yard field goals by junior college transfer Chris Leiss and freshman Greg Porter highlighted football practice Wednesday at Texas Christian University.

The performances prompted Coach F. A. Dry to say he was "more pleased with the kickers than anything else today."

Leiss transferred to TCU from Ranger Junior College, while Porter prepred at Dallas Lake Highlands High School last year.

Rice mentor pleased

HOUSTON (AP) — New Rice University football coach Ray Albom said Wednesday he was pleased with the Owls' first full scrimmage but plenty of work lies ahead before the team's opener against Iowa State.

"We are hardly ready to play to do," said Albom, replacing Homer Rice this season. "But overall, it was a pretty good workout. The timing was better than I anticipated for the first time out, and I was very pleased with the blocking by the backs."

Albom praised the early work of linebacker Lamont Jefferson, freshmen tackle Rudy Nelson, and safety Carleton Derrett.

Stingley make progress

CASTRO VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Surgeons are pleased with their operation on the broken neck of Darryl Stingley, New England Patriots' wide receiver injured in a game here Aug. 12, but are making no predictions yet on the extent of recovery expected.

After Wednesday's surgery at Eden Hospital in this Oakland suburb, a statement was issued by Tom Hoffman, Patriots' business manager, saying:

"His attending physicians were pleased with the operation and his condition...His postoperative condition is excellent. The operation and anesthesia were uneventful and a highly satisfactory boney position was obtained."

Stingley, a Patriots starter and in the sixth year of his National Football League career, was hit by Oakland defensive back Jack Tate while trying to catch a pass in a preseason game at Oakland Coliseum.

Davis off hurt list

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers will get running backs Rob Carpenter and Anthony Davis off the injury list but Billy Johnson likely will remain sidelined for the team's final exhibition game Saturday against the New Orleans Saints.

Davis, obtained in a trade with Tampa Bay this year, broke his leg on the first day of training camp. Carpenter suffered a deep knee bruise in the Oilers exhibition opener against the Denver Broncos.

Both started working out Tuesday and are expected to be in uniform in the Astrodome Saturday night.

Pecci upsets Dibbs

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — For four years Victor Pecci has been little more than a program name on the world's pro tennis circuit, something like a working stiff playing in a rich man's paradise.

No longer, though. The 22-year-old Paraguayan had a fantasy dream come true Wednesday night in the 51st U.S. Pro Championships at Longwood.

An early-round loser in most tournaments this year, Paraguay's lone representative on the pro tour turned giant killer in a Cinderella fashion, even beating the stroke of midnight.

Bucking odds that even the wildest gambler would consider a joke, Pecci pulled an upset by knocking off top-seeded Eddie Dibbs 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Son's a Loser, Mom Complains

DEAR ABBY: Is losing things a disease? And if so, is there a cure? My son is 30 now, and you would not believe the number of things he has lost in his life. In college he was constantly losing his billfold, books, car keys, briefcases, coats and practically an entire wardrobe!

Since that time, he hasn't improved. He keeps losing watches, sunglasses, clothes, computers and every type of sports equipment you can name. (He even lost an electric blanket once!)

This week his billfold was mailed to him from the sport's arena where he had lost it.

I must have at least 50 beautiful argyle socks—but only one of each kind, because he "lost" the mates.

I am so tired of looking for his things, I am ready to give up. Is there any hope? He's such an easy-going, charming guy, he never gets upset at losing anything. Even a girl. Help me.

LOSER'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The fact that you wrote to tell me about your son's problem might be a clue to the solution. He has never had to develop a sense of responsibility because he has always had a mother to run interference for him. Let him keep track of his own belongings or suffer the loss. Losing things is not a "disease"—it's a careless habit.

DEAR ABBY: I have been trying to find an insurance company that will cover maternity expenses for a single woman and have been unable to locate one so far. I would greatly appreciate your assistance in finding an insurance company offering this type of coverage.

STILL LOOKING IN CALIF.

DEAR STILL: I don't know where in California you've looked, but apparently you have overlooked some of the most familiar names in insurance companies. I am informed that in almost every case, whatever a married woman is covered for, a single woman must also be covered for—no discrimination!

DEAR ABBY: There is a local hang-out in our small town where I met a boy from another state. We just rode around and talked and he asked to see me the next night. I liked him, so I said OK. That night he told me he was married and had two kids. I should have said goodbye right then and there, but I liked him too much.

Abby, I only intended to have a good time and forget about him, and he said he had the same intentions, but it wasn't that simple for either of us. He says he's in love with me, and I know I love him.

He says he's thinking about divorcing his wife and marrying me. It's gone beyond the point of turning back. I think about him night and day; I can't give him up, even if he is another woman's man. What should I do?

HUNG UP AT 17

DEAR HUNG UP: As long as you keep telling yourself you CAN'T give him up, you won't be able to. Tell yourself you CAN give him up because you must. Wipe the stardust out of your eyes, little girl.

If he should divorce his wife and marry you, what would you have? A guy who romances another girl when his wife is out of sight. Is that the kind of man you want for a husband? Think about it. Then lose him.

WASHINGTON (AP) — How much would it cost to hire someone to do the jobs done by a full-time homemaker?

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 25, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Make it a point not to break promises that you have made and to avoid whatever tensions and strains and delays may be about. The evening finds you accumulating more energy and resourceful ideas and you are able to make much headway.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be patient in the face of delays that may occur today to keep you from progressing as you desire. Get busy at other matters and then by evening you can go great guns again.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You need not bother bigwigs during the day for favors since by tonight you know how to proceed intelligently by yourself. Kin may not be understanding early but later are cooperative.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You may be provoked and could lose your temper, but keep calm and later all breaks in your favor. Find right new outlets and add to present income, abundance.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You feel financially depleted but if you think in a positive manner this soon can be remedied. A fellow worker could be annoying but not for long.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't give in to that feeling of depression early and travel in the right circles and you soon make this a banner day. Count your blessings and change your attitude. Consider those less fortunate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get rid of that feeling of being imposed upon and look into new interests that could bring you real success. Find where you can cut down on expenses and do so.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't permit a friend to detain you when you have an important matter to take care of. This is apt to be a difficult time, but evening is fine from the social standpoint.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Handle peaky chores early and then have time for recreation with closest tie. Investigate a matter that puzzles you and get right answers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A new contact could be annoying, so avoid. Be with good and trusted friends. Gain personal aims with relative ease.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Forget some misunderstanding with one you truly like and reconcile. Get your public image improved. Handle community matter well and make your area more livable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Avoid an irate partner for now and get busy on other matters, new projects. Planning a little trip is wise. You can be more successful if you apply yourself more.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be on guard with others in the morning since they are in a bad mood. Later all changes and you can accomplish a great deal. Take time to improve your state of health.

Around since 1898

with Marj Carpenter

Anything that has been around since 1898 is 80 years old. I'm talking about the Howard County Abstract Company. They just moved to new quarters this week and they have been around the courthouse square for the whole 80 years.

First on one side of the square and then on the other,

Howard County Abstract has been in operation since before the turn of the century.

Back in the beginning, it was all started by S.H. Morrison, uncle of Walton Morrison, local attorney; and two other owners.

They were S.A. Penix, at one time the county attorney and A.C. Walker.

As the years rocked by, Walker continued to run the operation. His daughter, Andrea Walker ran it after him. Between the two of them, they operated the company until 1975.

That is probably some kind of Big Spring record for a single family continuously running a local business — except possibly for the Currie family at State National Bank.

Anyway, on April 18, 1975, the Walkers sold the abstract company to Katherine E. McDaniel.

Now Katherine is from an old family too. Her father, Ollie McDaniel, and her grandfather, C.H. McDaniel Sr., have been around Big Spring awhile. The Grandpa at one time owned part of Big Spring Hardware. And that's another one of the older businesses around town.

Richard Atkins, up at Big Spring Hardware, says there's been some kind of hardware store right at that location ever since 1900. It may be the longest continuous type of business in the same location in Big Spring.

Because State National Bank one of the older businesses, has moved around and used to be up in the next block. But Big Spring Hardware and the hardware stores before it have been right there in that location of 78 years.

The Phillips-Cunningham Drugstore had been in one spot a long time and so had Bradshaw Studio, but those are both gone.

First National Bank is one of the old businesses and so is the Big Spring Herald.

But neither of these have been in the same location all that long. The Big Spring Herald used to be up where the Boys Club is now located and there was at one time another business where First National is located.

The original post office was up where State National is located, and then the post office moves across the alley and then later to where the county library is today and finally at its present location.

But in all of this shifting around, the Howard County

Abstract Company has always been somewhere around the square. It's a home run business run by home folks. In fact you can't get to be much more home folks than the McDaniels and Howard County Abstract.

And it's kind of comforting to know that the ones recording the deeds and abstracts are home town folks who know the history of all the land around here.

The original abstract books are in the handwriting of S.H. Morrison, Penix and Walker.

Katherine McDaniel says she hopes to eventually have them in protective plastic and keep them forever "because they are so much more interesting than abstracts today."

And it's an interesting business — a really important part of Howard County history — where I love to ride fence.

Are you running for president?

Mondale has witty answer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems that Walter F. Mondale is being asked the same question over and over these days. In fact, it is a question he has been asked since he took office.

Are you planning to run for president in 1980?

He has an answer for journalists who insist on repeating the question. "Some reporter every day wonders if I am dumb enough to answer that. That is a basic I.Q. question," he told one person unfortunate enough to fall into the trap. It is just another example of the wit and wisdom of the vice president that spices almost any public address he makes.

In a recent 30-minute interview by editors and news directors from outside the Washington area, Mondale managed half a dozen jokes. More often than not, he and his colleagues in the administration were the butts. A standup comedian he isn't, but try this:

"We have an open administration. As a matter of fact, it is a sieve."

"It is almost inhuman what a president goes through. No issue hits his desk that doesn't have a knife in it, or a bomb in it. If it were good news, it would have been announced by someone else."

"I am reminded of Bismarck's gag that, 'he who likes sausages and laws should never watch either being made.' I didn't say that when I was in the Senate. I do now."

One of the more pressing questions around the White House these days is what, exactly, has Gerald R. Ford been doing?

Rafshoon is the Atlanta advertising executive brought into the White House to help patch up Carter's image around the nation.

White House wags have taken to suggesting that the curlyhaired would-be media-master has had a hand in all sorts of things presidential, at least those seen as

Reporters summoned to Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Two U.S. correspondents who defied a Moscow court by refusing to appear for hearings on charges that they slandered Soviet television were summoned to the Foreign Ministry today.

Harold D. Piper of The Baltimore Sun said he and Craig R. Whitney of The New York Times had been told to appear at the ministry's press department.

Piper said a Foreign Ministry official telephoned him and "politely invited" him to a meeting with Lev Krylov, deputy head of the press department. He said no reason for the meeting was given him.

A Moscow court dropped the slander case against the reporters Friday, but the judge said he would inform the Foreign Ministry they had been "disrespectful to the court." A prosecutor urged earlier in the case that they be stripped of their press accreditations, which would force them to leave the country.

The two reporters refused to attend hearings in the case, saying the court was acting beyond its jurisdiction and that the case was tantamount to censorship.

Whitney and Piper were found guilty July 18 of slandering Soviet television by writing stories that said relatives and friends of jailed Georgian dissident Zviad Gamsakhurdia believed a televised confession by him had been fabricated.

Stock market prices high but brokers not

NEW YORK (AP) — An onlooker who relied on nothing but the stock-price indicators might conclude that Wall Street is in the midst of a solid bull market.

But if that's what it is, hardly anybody seems to be enjoying it.

The Value Line composite index, made up of some 1,700 stocks, has doubled since the end of 1974.

Indicators for the American Stock Exchange and in the over-the-counter market are at or near all-time highs.

Trading volume records were set in April and again early this month at the New York Stock Exchange.

And even the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which has consistently been lagging behind most other market measures, recently touched its highest level in more than a year after climbing 150 points from the end of February to mid-August.

Yet most market commentaries being issued by brokers these days read like anything but invitations to a party.

The voices of Wall Street are virtually unanimous in their criticism of the Carter administration and its handling of the economy.

By all indications, pension fund managers, the giants of the marketplace, are more bearish than ever. New data show that they sold more stock than they bought in the first quarter of this year — the first time that has happened since the government began keeping track of their activities.

Mutual funds, for their part, have a near-record 12 percent of their assets out of the market.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the nation's largest brokerage firm, says its cash accounts — a means of measuring patterns among individual investors — have shown stepped-up selling lately after a period of buying, on balance, earlier in the year.

International Moneyline of New York points out that if the Dow Jones industrial average is adjusted for inflation back to 1967 dollars, it stands at about 450, even after its sharp rise this summer.

"This is strictly a selective market," observed Eugene Peroni, an analyst at Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis Inc. Internal market factors have exerted a favorable influence this summer, he said, but the fundamental news is no better than it was.

"There is no check on inflation whatsoever, and the dollar is still in trouble."

Normally, a rising market see any signs of improvement in the current things to come in the economy, even if it is hard to
