WINGING IT — Wing-walker Bob Oates gets a bird's eye view of Toronto waterfront as Super Stearman aerobatic plane flies upside down. Pilot Joe C. Hughes took the photograph by remote control from cockpit: a camera with a 17mm lens was attached to the aircraft's tail by Globe and Mail photographer Dennis Robinson. Oates was rehearsing a daredevil act for the four-day CNE air show which opens Friday. Hughes, a Hollywood stunt flier, will perform aerobatic feats.

Midas to locate here

Midas International signed an agreement with Mayor Wade Choate of Big Spring in Chicago this morning to locate an industrial plant in the Big Spring Industrial Park.

Midas, a subsidiary of Illinois Central Industries Inc., manufactures recreational vehicles. The firm will make mini-motor homes and vans in Building 75 of what was once Webb AFB. Initial employment will total 125 and 150 persons, many of whom will be hired locally.

Accompanying Choate to Chicago for the contract signing were Jack Redding, Industrial Team chairman for the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce; and Jim Gregg, City Attorney for Big Spring. Midas was represented by Dick Klarchek, vice president and general manager for the firm's Vehicle Group.

It was announced that Kent Martin of Elkhart, Ind., will be the local production manager.

Saxon Presley of Fort Worth, associated with the Texas Electric Service Company, was instrumental in bringing Midas officials here to inspect the proffered facilities. Local dealer for Midas vehicles is Bill Chrane.

The contract signed by Choate and Klarchek extends for five years, with options. Midas' operation here is expected to be expanded to the point that eventually the largest vehicles manufactured by the firm will be assembled here.

Production is expected to begin no later than Dec. 1 this year. The firm, when in full operation, will be building five mini homes and as many vans each day.

Klarchek presented Choate with a 24-carat gold pen and pencil set, with which the contract was signed. He suggested that Choate have it ready for use when Midas requires future expansion.

Other members of the industrial team were busy showing representatives of another industrial prospect around the industrial park today.

The Big Spring Steering Committee also expects the minimum security facility planned by the Federal Prison System to receive final approval in Congress soon. That facility, which will offer employment to more than 100, may be in operation as early as next July 1.

Midland publisher dies of pneumonia

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — James N. Allison Jr., 46, president and publisher of the Midland Reporter-Telegram and prominent civic leader, died of pneumonia early today in a Houston hospital.

He had been hospitalized the last month after undergoing surgery. Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity. Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Allison owned the Plainview Daily Herald and the Alpine Avalanche. He also owned the Borger Herald for a brief period before disposing of it within the last year.

The fourth generation newspaperman also was president at one time of the Stanton Reporter.

He was president-elect of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association, a former president of the West Texas Press Association and a former director of the Texas Press Association.

He had other business interests in Midland and was recognized among the community's top civic leaders.

Allison was born Dec. 4, 1931, at Lincoln, Neb., and moved to Midland with his parents in 1940 when his father, the late James N. Allison Sr., purchased the Reporter-Telegram.

He was graduated from Southern Methodist University where he was a member of the Blue Key honor society. He was in the ROTC and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force upon his graduation from SMU. He then served two years overseas before returning to Midland to join the Reporter-Telegram as a vice president.

Allison resigned his Reporter-Telegram position in February 1964 and, after working for The Associated Press at Dallas for a brief period, he moved to Houston to become a business consultant.

He directed George H.W. Bush's successful campaign for Congress from Houston and later joined Bush's staff in Washington.

Fisher to visit here on Friday

Bill Fisher, Republican candidate for Congress, will be honored at a reception from 5-7 p.m. Friday at the Brass Nail, hosted by the West Texas Republican Women's Club.

Fisher will be in Big Spring during the afternoon Friday and will hold a news conference at the Chamber of Commerce office between 1 and 2 p.m.

Defense lawyers wind up case for Davis

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Cullen Davis' lawyers began to wind up their side of the bond hearing today, questioning two FBI agents on the technical aspects of taped recorded and videotaped conversations between the millionaire and his chief accuser.

Agents Joseph Gray and Jerry Hubbell were subpoenaed earlier this week by the defense after case agent Ron Jannings spent one day on the stand.

The state had no questions today for Pat Burleson, a friend of Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla, and the state's key witness, David McCrory.

Defense lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes has tried to weave a complex web of intrigue involving Mrs. Davis, McCrory and Burleson.

He grilled Burleson all day Wednesday about a sequence of meetings with FBI agents, Mrs. Davis and McCrory.

Burleson, a former business associate of McCrory, was the second defense witness called by Haynes during a week-long bond hearing that has seen more sensational evidence than many trials.

Haynes carefully traced the sequence of meetings during the week before Davis' Aug. 20 arrest, but never asked the witness about the purpose or the nature of those meetings.

Burleson was the intermediary between the FBI and McCrory, who claims Davis approached him with a plan to hire a gunman to kill the judge presiding in his divorce case, among others.

Judge Joe Eidson has since disqualified himself from the bitter, four-year Davis divorce battle, claiming he believed he could be impartial but thought others might question his position.

Burleson testified he met with the FBI, McCrory and Mrs. Davis, but claimed he did not tell Mrs. Davis of his meetings with the FBI or McCrory and maintains McCrory was unaware of his visits to the Davis mansion.

Attorneys hired to defend Davis on a charge of solicitation of capital murder have said they intend to show the millionaire industrialist was set up and framed.

A defense attorney said Wednesday that testimony as developed by the defense Wednesday indicates a "means by which three people could be communicating through one person... sometimes known as carrying water or messages."

Carter ready for fight to save administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Looking rested and fit, President Carter is back early from his Western holiday to wrestle with major issues that conceivably could make or break his administration.

The first item on Carter's post-vacation agenda is the push to win Senate passage of a natural gas price compromise. That was the subject of separate lobbying sessions at the White House today with at least 11 governors and about 100 representatives of major natural gas users.

But the fate of natural gas legislation is only one of an array of complex issues and disputes that Carter must contend with in the days and weeks ahead.

Reaching climactic stages at a point when the president is striving to boost his popularity and escape a can't-do image are such other issues as Middle East peace, prospective income tax cuts, Civil Service reorganization, water policy and allocation of defense funds.

These rank with energy policy as items that may well determine Carter's standing with the voters as the 1980 election campaign draws ever closer.

Carter, his wife Rosalynn and daughter Amy returned to the White House early Wednesday evening after a flight by helicopter and Air Force One from Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming.

The president cut his vacation two days short to be here for strategy sessions on the natural gas debate and to prepare for next week's summit meeting at Camp David, Md., with Israel's Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egypt's President Anwar Sadat.

Before leaving Wyoming, Carter told a questioner he "would be reluctant" to send U.S. troops to the Middle East as part of a peace settlement between Israel and its Arab neighbors, but he did not rule out the possibility.

"I don't know," Carter said. "We will just have to wait and see. I would be reluctant to do that."

Natural gas legislation, facing a filibuster threat and an uncertain future in the Senate, dominated Carter's schedule in his first day back in the Oval Office. Besides meeting with governors and gas users, the president had aides arrange a general staff meeting to draft strategy for the Senate debate that begins Sept. 11.

White House press secretary Jody Powell contended the administration has "significantly more votes locked up than the other side" on the natural gas bill. But he acknowledged more votes would be needed for victory.

An Associated Press survey conducted this week showed fewer than one-third of the 100 senators say they will or might support the compromise.

VACATION OVER — President Carter is met on the South Lawn of the White House Wednesday by Frank Moore, right, his congressional liaison after returning from a secluded vacation in the western wilderness. Carter cut his vacation by two days to return to Washington to plot strategy for his energy legislation and prepare for next week's mid-east summit meeting.

Offbeat: Stranger in night

MIAMI (AP) — When Jesse Parsons was awakened by strange noises early one morning this week, he wasn't prepared for the sight that greeted him by his garage.

"Sorry to inconvenience you, but I had no other place to leave him," read the note attached to a 6-week-old horse left almost on his doorstep.

The note was signed "Donna," who listed her telephone number and said she would call Parsons and his wife, Cheryl, the next day and retrieve the animal.

"We knew who Donna was, all right. Cheryl had bought a dog off her. We called her and she sort of explained things. It seems a girl friend of her's had the mother and the baby boarded at a farm and they were turned out into the pasture on Sunday and got loose. The mother got hit by a car and was killed," Parsons explained.

Vatican accused of helping rich

ROME (AP) — Italy's leading economic weekly accused the Vatican bank today of helping some of the country's richest people evade the laws against the transfer of capital abroad. It appealed to Pope John Paul I to impose "order and morality" on the church's finances.

In an open letter to the new pope, Paolo Panerai, editor of Il Mondo, said the Vatican's financial dealings included "speculation in unhealthy waters." Il Mondo is published by the Milan daily Corriere della Sera, Italy's largest and one of its most respected newspapers.

"Is it right that the Vatican operates in markets like a speculator?" Panerai wrote. "Is it right that it has a bank whose acts help Italians transfer capital and evade taxes?"

There was no immediate comment from the Vatican. The editor said the Vatican, "despite reforms by Pope Paul VI, continues to live with a dramatic contradiction in the most temporal manifestation of the earth: money."

"Believe us, Your Holiness, we understand well the exigencies of the Vatican to have financial autonomy to sustain its apparatus, to spread the faith, in addition to pious works. We believe that is right. But don't you think, Your Holiness, that to achieve those objectives there are ways other than the most unscrupulous channels that capitalism offers?"

Panerai said the Vatican is heavily involved in stock and money markets and that the director of its bank, Bishop Paul Marcinkus of Cicero, Ill., "is the only bishop who sits on the board of directors of a lay bank in one of the fiscal paradises of capitalism: the Cisalpine Overseas Bank of Nassau."

Accompanying the open letter was an unsigned report titled "The Wealth of Peter," that claimed Marcinkus also looks after Vatican investments in various parts of the world through the Continental Illinois Bank of Chicago.

The report said the Vatican bank, called the Institute for Religious Works, holds deposits estimated at $2 billion and its 7,000 depositors include "some of the biggest Italian industrialists and businessmen." It did not give any names.

It said these men use the accounts to transfer their holdings abroad in violation of currency laws forbidding transfer of capital earned in Italy.

Il Mondo said the Vatican lost about $80 million in the collapse of the banking empire of fugitive Sicilian financier Michele Sindona, who was convicted in absentia of bank fraud and sentenced to 3½ years in jail. Sindona is fighting extradition from New York.

ANGERED FATHER RETALIATES — Lazaro Perez, father of a youth who was blinded and partially paralyzed when Bahamian gunboats opened fire on a group of U.S. fishing vessels recently, wields a sign that reads "Bahamian justice is with machine guns" in Spanish and shows a photo of his wounded son Vladimir. Perez led a group of 100 lobster fishermen in a demonstration outside the federal courthouse in Miami Wednesday after he and his wife filed a $15 million suit against the Bahamian government.

Teen-age body identified

BALTIMORE (AP) — The body of a teen-ager found shot to death in Prince Georges County has been identified as 13-year-old Elizabeth Archard, an Annapolis-area girl missing for almost three days.

The state medical examiner's office confirmed the identification Wednesday. Miss Archard's body was found in a wooded area some 25 miles from Annapolis near Bowie. She was last seen near her home Monday afternoon, while bicycling to a dentist appointment in downtown Annapolis. Police refused to release details of the killing, saying only that the girl had been shot.

Discrimination claimed

GREENFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A 24-year-old Methodist minister says he was denied a pulpit because he is a white male. New church policy says women and minorities must be given priority until they make up 10 percent of the Methodist ministers in southern New England area.

The Rev. Jeremy Paul Duncan was passed over last March for a ministerial post by the Methodist Board of Ordained Ministry of Southern New England. Two black ministers from the Dominican Republic were chosen from 10 applicants to fill two posts. Duncan and four other white males were rejected by the 50-member board.

Local authority returned

BOSTON (AP) — Control of South Boston High School, one-time focal point of white opposition to busing, has been returned to local officials, who say this is the first step in federal court withdrawal from the nation's oldest school system.

Judge Arthur Garrity, architect of Boston's school integration program, removed the high school from federal receivership Wednesday and returned its operation to the Boston School Committee. The receivership, imposed Dec. 9, 1975, was an unprecedented step taken because of complaints by black students of racial discrimination at the school.

Faubion enters plea in court

GARDEN CITY — Presley Earl Faubion, 75, of Odessa, pleaded nolo contendere to negligent homicide, in connection with the death of Roland Wilkerson, 35, of Midland.

The plea was heard by Judge Ralph Caton in 118th District Court. The death occurred five miles from Garden City when Wilkerson fell off a motorcycle. His wife, and friends were attempting to drag him off the highway when Faubion ran over the man and severed his leg. He left the scene of the accident and was arrested just outside of Midland.

Record permit boosts total

SNYDER — The funds raised last year by voters in a bond election will be used to finance a three-story wing at the Cogdell Memorial Hospital, the largest building permit ever issued in Scurry County.

The $3,693,948 project will add 50 beds to the hospital, and has more than doubled the 1978 building figures to $7,205,044. Application for the project was completed Monday.

Role of PPA is changing

The role of the Planned Parenthood Association has moved from one of how-not-to in the direction of "if" and "when," Gloria Roden, Odessa, director of the work in 17 Permian Basin Counties said.

She addressed the Downtown Lions Club at its meeting Wednesday in Howard County.

Certainly the technology of birth control has improved, but the more important facets of the program now is to assist adults in the matter of wanted parenthood.

The social mores are changing; more and more women are bread winners; life-styles concerning marriages are vastly different in many instances, she said. It is in this context that Planned Parenthood is attempting to help adults.

The organization, she stressed, is not government funded, but is supported largely by United Way and donations.

Next Wednesday's meeting will be postponed until Friday for a United Way presentation, said Morris Rhodes, president. The week of Sept. 13 the club will meet at the Brass Nail. The annual Mop and Broom sale will kick off at the Howard County Fair. Donald Robbins is chairman.

Police beat Freedom only temporarily

A local man wanted for burglary and auto theft in several Texas and New Mexico cities managed to elude police temporarily with a little help from his friends Wednesday night.

But the police prevailed, and both the man and his friends ended up in jail early this morning.

James Isaacs, 20, 1001 E. 3rd, was wanted in connection with two burglaries here, and had warrants for his arrest in Breckenridge and Clovis, N.M., for auto thefts.

"We have information that he may also be wanted in several other Texas cities," said Lt. Claude Morris.

Local police discovered Isaacs' whereabouts, 9 p.m. Wednesday, when they stopped a car for speeding near the intersection of IS 20 and Cauble. Five people were inside the car, and one of them, later identified as Isaacs, bolted from the scene as soon as the auto came to a stop.

Officers David Caudle, Pat Fuller, James Woodruff and Joseph Diliberto spent the rest of the evening trying to track down Isaacs. According to reports, the other passengers in the car continued to supply officers with false leads, to harbor Isaacs, and possibly to steal money for him.

Finally, at 2 a.m. today, officers caught up with Isaacs, and hauled in the others for hindering an arrest, a class A misdemeanor.

Bond for Isaacs was set at $10,000 by Peace Justice Bob West. Bond for the others, three men and a woman, all in their twenties, was set at $3,000 each.

One of the men, George Stuper, 1106 W. 3rd, was being sought earlier Wednesday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Friday in Trinity Baptist Church with Dr. Claude N. Craven, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Born Oct. 9, 1896 in San Saba, Mrs. Miller June 27, 1918 in Goldwaller. He preceded her in death Jan. 27, 1974. She had lived in Big Spring since 1951.

She was a member of Trinity Baptist Church. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Barrington, Abilene; two sons, Lloyd T. Miller, Abilene, and Floyd A. Miller, Maynardville, Tenn.; six grandchildren; 17 great grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by a daughter Genevieve Flippen, July 1, 1978.

Friday evening by Howard County deputies in connection with the disappearance of a moneybag from Jean's Grocery, Snyder Highway.

According to reports, Stuper entered the store shortly after 9 p.m. to purchase some beer, and when he left, employees noticed the moneybag was missing. The bag contained one $100 bill among other checks and a man answering Stuper's description changed a $100 bill at a local gas station around that time, deputies discovered.

Isaacs and Bruce E. Withey, 21, who had previously resided at 4201 Oak, were filed against Wednesday in Justice of the Peace Bob West's office by Detective George Quintero. The charges came in connection with the Saturday night burglary of a habitation belonging to Jennie Clark.

Burglars broke into the home of Susan Hinklin, 511 Galveston, sometime Tuesday night, and made off with an eight-track tape player, a speaker and six tapes. Loss was estimated at $90.

While D.C. Porter was gassing up a car at the Mobil Service Station, 1211 11th, someone stole a .25 caliber pistol from the office. The gun was valued at $53.

Burglars stole a CB radio from a pickup belonging to Frank Tuerck, Fort Stockton, while it was parked at the Mid-Continent Inn, Tuesday night. The CB was valued at $159.

Intruders also made their way into the Bauer Elementary School, 106 N.W. 9th, sometime Tuesday night, and pried open doors and candy and soda machines. Officials have not yet estimated what the losses in coins and damage to equipment will be.

Vandals broke the front windshield of a pickup belonging to Joe Bond, 2109 Cecilia, Tuesday night. Damage was estimated at $125.

Vandals also broke the passenger side window, and dented the driver-side door on a car, belonging to Cindy Lou Rodriguez, 1623 E. 3rd, Tuesday night. Cost of damage has not been estimated.

Only one mishap was reported Wednesday.

Vehicles driven by Leslie Shirley, 911 Lancaster, and Jacklyn Foreyth, 2500 Lynn, collided at 1600 Gregg, 4:51 p.m.

New loan service now in effect

A new Economic Emergency Loan service for farmers (or, farmers and ranchers) who have financial problems caused by credit shortage or cost-price squeeze is now in effect through the U.S. Farmers Home Administration (FMHA).

William H. Pieratt, the agency's State Director for Texas, reports that FMHA is prepared to take applications at its county offices throughout the state.

Economic Emergency loans are authorized under the Agricultural Credit Act of 1978 signed by President Carter August 4. They offer special help to farmers by President Carter August 4. They offer special help to farmers who are hard-pressed by recent shortage of credit from their regular lenders, or by debts accumulated during the recent period of low farm prices.

Pieratt said the Economic Emergency loan program was enacted by Congress with Administration support, in recognition of the fact that "economic conditions, as well as weather, are often beyond farmers' control."

FMHA emergency credit has previously been confined to loans for recovery from natural disaster, or the guarantee of private lenders' loans to livestock producers affected by economic con-

Experts forecast 7 percent inflation

CHICAGO (AP) — A panel of economic experts predicts a 7 percent inflation rate next year that will mean a sluggish economy, but no recession.

One of the forecasters cautioned that the consumer will be the "most vulnerable" in an economic downturn.

Former presidential advisor Alan Greenspan, now a financial consultant, and three other consultants said 1979 economic growth will drop below 3.5 percent, assuming Congress passes a proposed tax cut.

But Greenspan, chairman of the Council on Economic Advisors under President Ford, cautioned against taking predictions too seriously.

The consensus "doesn't mean anything. We're sort of huddling close and hope we're right," he said.

The economic forecasters gathered here for meetings of the American Economics Association and the American Finance Association.

In other predictions, interest rates will peak later this year and drop somewhat in 1979, said Michael Evans, of the Chase Econometrics Association Inc., and Robert Gough, of Data Resources Inc. All the economists forecast an improving balance of payments for the country.

Gough said recent indicators portend an "orderly deceleration process" in the economy. He said the housing market and personal income levels are good and de-emphasized the longer run impact of recent declining sales of cars and other durable goods.

"There is no definite indication of a dramatic improvement in the momentum nor of dramatic weakness," he said.

He warned, however, that the consumer is worried about the economy, particularly about inflation and will find an "individual need for a retreat in spending."

"Every consumer will have to tighten his belt and we figure it will be in an orderly way — one notch a month, instead of three or four notches."

The chairmen and workers for the United Way Fund Drive will meet Wednesday Sept. 6, for an orientation meeting.

The meeting will be held at the Flame Room at Pioneer Natural Gas at 5:15 p.m. All workers and division chairmen are requested to attend, as this marks the first meeting of the combined forces of the fund drive.

LVNs to meet Tuesday, 7:30

The monthly meeting of the LV Nurses Association will be held in the Staff Development area at the Big Spring State Hospital at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday.

All local LVNs are being asked to be in attendance.

School openings plagued by various disputes

By the Associated Press
 Some 150,000 school children across the United States were without their regular teachers today, and eight Indiana teachers were in jail for refusing to return to work, as labor disputes opened the 1978 school year.

The largest school system struck was New Orleans, where some 91,000 students were affected but schools remained open.

Teachers were also on strike in Michigan, Illinois and Indiana.

Other work stoppages were threatened, the situation in many states mirroring that in Michigan, where 192 teacher contracts — about 40 percent — were still up for decision.

Some school bus drivers were also on strike, with New Orleans bus drivers and maintenance men voting to stop work with the expiration of their contract at midnight tonight.

In Tennessee, a strike by county school bus operators cut opening day attendance from the normal 29,000 Wednesday as only 24 of 181 buses traveled their regular routes.

The issue almost everywhere was money.

The New Orleans school board called the 8 percent wage boost sought by the United Teachers of New Orleans "economically suicidal." Officials said schools would stay open despite the work stoppage.

Assistant superintendent Jerry Hart, the school board's chief negotiator, said the board raised its wage increase from $1 million to $2.5 million when negotiations broke off Wednesday, while teachers reduced their demand by only $250,000 — an 8 percent salary increase. Some 4,200 public school teachers in New Orleans now earn between $10,096 and $15,250 annually.

Bus drivers and maintenance workers in New Orleans seek a 7 percent wage increase. The board offered a 4 percent jump. A strike by bus drivers would affect some 14,000 public and about 5,000 parochial school students.

Strikes are prohibited by law in many states, and eight leaders of the Marion, Ind., teachers union were jailed on contempt of court charges as a work stoppage by some 335 teachers there entered its third day Wednesday. A judge imposed fines totaling $16,800 a day.

About 335 teachers are on strike in Marion, where the school board has offered a 6.1 percent pay increase and teachers seek a 12 percent wage jump.

Elsewhere in Indiana, some 130 teachers in Avon and another 330 in Richmond walked the picket lines. Classes were suspended in Richmond.

Some 50,000 students in Illinois were idled by strikes in Rockford, Collinsville, Edwardsville and Waterloo. Strikes were settled in two other districts.

In Michigan, Mount Pleasant teachers rejected a 7 percent salary increase, saying an 8 percent raise was the amount they needed. The school board originally offered a 5 percent pay hike. Teachers were also on strike in Orchard View, Mich.

A major strike was threatened in Cleveland, where the city's 5,000 teachers were told to prepare for picket duty on the scheduled opening day of school Sept. 7.

Carter's gas bill has little support

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter seems to have his work cut out for him in selling a natural gas compromise to the Senate. Fewer than one-third of the senators say they will or might support it.

According to an Associated Press survey, only 17 senators said for sure that they will vote for the legislation, which would lift federal price controls on most natural gas by 1985.

Another 14 indicated they were leaning in support of the plan — for a total of just 31 potential votes. A majority of 51 votes is needed for passage, if all 100 senators are present and voting.

The only solace to the administration may be that compromise opponents apparently are not faring much better in winning converts.

Twenty-seven senators said they will vote against the plan. Another nine indicated they were leaning toward casting a "no" vote — for a total potential "no" tally of 36 votes, according to the survey taken Tuesday and Wednesday.

The rest — 33 senators — listed themselves as undecided.

Coliseum manager has a big job

Carl McMillan, whose job up to now has been reporting the news, will be making a portion of it after Sept. 1. McMillan, who has been news director for Radio Station KBST, has accepted a position as manager of the Howard College Coliseum — no small undertaking.

A COLISEUM like the $3 million beauty Howard College has built can become a "white elephant" unless its facilities are regularly used. Whether the lights go on within the building nightly or not, the expenses continue.

Some such facilities are used four or five times a week. There's likely no way the Howard College building can be employed anywhere nearly that often.

Still, the structure will almost certainly have to be used for many things in addition to HC men's and women's basketball, volleyball, indoor tennis and conventions.

Big Spring's reputation will be enhanced by the coliseum. There's no doubt about that. Not all the big-time show troupes will be booked into Big Spring. For instance, Lawrence Welk said several years ago that circumstances dictate that his promoter rent a hall seating at least 7,000 people. The total seating capacity of the Howard College will be considerably less than 5,000.

On the other hand, some acts trying to work their way into the 'big time' will be eager to gain a booking in a place like the local coliseum.

At least one wrestling promoter has made inquiries about the local facility, hopeful of booking a show here regularly — if not weekly then perhaps as often as twice a month.

SEVERAL YEARS ago, Pat O'Dowdy kept the Ector County Coliseum from becoming a total disaster to Ector County by renting the structure on a weekly basis for a wrestling program.

The local facility likely will be made available for teachers' conclaves, youth rallies and revivals, among other things.

Some organizations will be seeking out McMillan trying to rent the coliseum but the coliseum manager will learn he must originate many of the contacts, if the desired balance in programming can be achieved.

One thing is for sure. The coliseum is going to change Big Spring's personality because it bids fair to bring a lot of visitors to town, people who have been going elsewhere for their preferred type of entertainment.

The structure should be quite an asset to the community.

Won't go away

Around the rim

Bob Burton

Let's you all think we've been entirely convinced by the recent flurry of letters from various very respectable religious officials, here is some copy in favor of alcohol at the city park.

I don't mind discussing the various benefits and drawbacks inherent in either the drug itself or in its use in a public place — but those who would ban such beverages haven't been discussing these issues; they have merely been running a scare campaign.

AN OLD saying defining the basic freedoms we have come to expect says, "You're right to swing your fist ends where my nose begins."

An appropriate corollary is "Your right to prohibition ends where my foot top begins."

It has not been established, at least not to my satisfaction, that alcohol in the park poses any more of a "threat to the lives of citizens, and especially children" (as one zealot put it) than flying golf balls, incompetent drivers, and careless fire-builders.

And if the city council's refusal to bind the majority to the structures of the minority was a "direct assault on Christianity," then our elected officials might safely be expected to drive the money-changers completely from the temple and pass an ordinance banning all Christians from entering the city park. Absurdity piled on absurdity.

Wherever people gather in numbers for recreation and release of tension there will be some hostility. Fortunately, the city has ordinances against excessive displays of energy. These include ordinances against public drunkenness, and disorderly conduct. They are enforced by the police department. If they are not enforced to your liking, feel free to complain. I think the police do an excellent job.

But crying that we must prevent the problem before it starts sets off a fanatic witch hunt reminiscent of such benign Hitler's Germany. The theory that people should be controlled for their own good belongs in the cattle industry, not in city government.

ALCOHOL IS A DRUG. And figures on alcoholism show only too depressingly the problems it can cause. But it is wrong, really wrong, to punish most of the beer drinkers, who like myself relax at the park and watch a softball game and then go quietly home without swerving at toddlers or threatening men in blue, or accosting helpless women.

I respect their threat to turn Big Spring dry. I think the ministers might be able to scare up enough sympathy and stir up enough minds to swing the necessary votes. But doing so wouldn't end the existence of alcohol in Big Spring. It wouldn't make the jobs of the cops any easier to have to deal daily with a complete, ineffective set of liquor laws. And it would be a waste of the considerable energies of the churches involved.

Surely they can find a problem more profound, a misery more abject, than me and my beer, watching the sunset at Comanche Trail Park.

Fighting inflation

Art Buchwald

(Art Buchwald is on assignment for a few weeks, trying to find out if there are any Cuban troops on Cape Code. He left behind his all-time favorite columns.)

WASHINGTON — The wonderful thing about American industry is that it rises to every challenge. Even something as distasteful as inflation has not discouraged most manufacturers. The solution to the problem is not in the product but in the package. Rather than raise the prices of many goods, American industry is devising new methods to make the product smaller, while making the package larger. In this way, the customer feels assured that nothing has changed.

I VISITED ONE of the largest packaging companies in the country the other day to see how they were doing it. The vice president in charge of inflationary design took me around the plant.

"We're going 24 hours a day," he said proudly. "Everyone is asking us for new designs to help them get through this rough period."

I noticed women in white smocks working with tweezers under microscopes.

"What are those women doing?" I asked.

"Those are 15-cent chocolate bars on their tweezers. They put each one in that large aluminum foil and then they wrap wax paper around it. Over the wax paper they put the name of the chocolate bar in large letters. Here's one that's finished."

"Why, from the outside it looks like an old-fashioned chocolate bar!"

"No one can tell the difference until the package is opened," he said proudly.

I went into another part of the building. There were air hoses hanging all over the ceiling and boxes were rolling along a conveyor belt.

I looked perplexed.

"WE'RE packaging soap flakes in here," he shouted above the din. "The lady down at the beginning of the line puts one teaspoonful of soap flakes into one of those giant-sized boxes; then those men over there with the hoses pump air into the rest of the box."

"How ingenious!" I shouted back. "The bottom of the box is weighted very heavy cardboard so no one will know, when picking up the box, how many soap flakes there are in it."

"That's a lot of air to put in a box."

"We don't use the air for only soap flakes. We also use it for cereals, baking products and anything that comes in a box."

"Let me show you this invention which we have a patent on. This is a see-through wax paper window for noodles. Well, when you look at it, you think you're getting a full box of noodles. Right?"

"Of course."

"Now, look at the inside of the box."

"Why, the only noodles in it are stuck to the window," I said in amazement.

"Yep. The windows and the noodles are magnetized. When the window fills up with noodles, the box moves on."

"Are those frozen TV dinners over there?"

"They certainly are. They look like complete dinners, don't they?"

"You bet."

"Now, look under the tray. You see how it's indented? There's nothing in the tray but what you see on the top."

"Fantastic," I said.

HE TOOK ME into another building which had a large sign, PHARMACEUTICALS, on the outside.

"This is where we work on new packaging for medicines." He opened a door, and everywhere I looked were large mounds of white cotton.

"What do you do with that stuff?" I asked.

"We put two pills in each bottle and stuff the rest of it with white cotton."

Go for sensible diet

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: To stay at my best weight I eat only 1,700 calories a day. But because I love sweet things, like pastries, cream pies, brownies, etc., I allow myself to eat some of these sweets nearly every day. I figure I can take my 1,700 calories in whatever form I like. I am naturally unable to eat much meat, vegetables, fruits, cheeses, grains, etc. To make up I take multivitamin capsules and some powdered protein every day.

Here's my question: a friend says that a diet heavy on sweets and light on other foods is a bad diet. She says the vitamins and protein in the bottles don't do as much good as ones you get from fresh food. I say that's ridiculous — that as long as I get the vitamins and minerals and proteins it doesn't matter how. Can you settle this? — W. E.

Your friend is correct in that your diet is not balanced, being too heavy on the carbohydrate side and lacking in bulk and protein. One serving of these sweets could supply you with a good portion of your 1,700 calories. A normal serving of a cream pie would account for about 400 alone. Indeed, unless you are counting carefully, the sweets could easily put you well over your 1,700 figure. These sweets also suppress your appetite so you don't have desire to eat any meat, vegetables and fruit. True, you can get your vitamin ration in a bottle (just as effective, as you say), but your powdered protein is likely to be inadequate.

You'll just have to get off the sweet hitch and take a more sensible, balanced diet. Your friend's conclusions are not as ridiculous as you make them out to be. You'll find what I mean by a "balanced diet" in my booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing." For a copy, send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About five months ago I had a blood clot in my left leg and have been on Coumadin since that time. Does that dissolve the clot? Will I have to take this drug all my life? My doctor didn't tell me, but a little booklet I got advised against eating vitamin K. I have been unable to find a list of food containing it. Can you give me a list? — B.M.

The Coumadin (Warfarin) is an anticoagulant (anti-clotting) drug. It will not dissolve the clot. Its purpose is to prevent the clot from growing and shutting off blood supply.

Vitamin K contains blood-clotting factors so foods with vitamin K should be avoided, and certainly it should not be taken in any supplement form.

Dark green leafy vegetables are rich in vitamin K. Some fruits contain vitamin K.

One cannot say how long a patient will have to continue the drug treatment. Yours may be discontinued once the danger of the clot traveling (an embolism) is over. Or your doctor may want to continue it indefinitely. The blood must be checked periodically to be sure it does not become too "thin," and cause bleeding.

Your doctor can tell you if you need to avoid vitamin K foods. Until you find out, keep away from them.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

This is in response to the question and answer in Sunday's newspaper concerning a person in the Terry Road and Miller Road area of Sand Springs who was experiencing some difficulty with both TV and radio reception, and to your answer. I do not consider that I am an authority on this subject, but I have had experience since a teenager with radio transmission and reception. I write this only to be helpful and constructive.

The answer given in the paper is both incomplete and assumptive. It assumes something that may, in fact, be totally incorrect. There may be a CBER who is using illegal power in that neighborhood, and if so, he should be brought to task and that situation corrected. The problem, however, just may be something entirely different. I remember a man in west Amarillo a few years ago who wrote to the local paper there and aired his hostility at some radio operators who were, he said, responsible for "blanking out" his TV reception each night shortly after he turned the set on to watch. He wanted a lynching mob to take care of the culprit. The paper played this up until a great bit of hostility was generated, but nothing constructive was done. The local radio club sought to give some help, and finally, after a long time trying to get the offended person to cooperate, had the man's TV set repaired so that he no longer was "interfered with." The fact that both radio and TV are involved indicates that perhaps something different from a radio transmitter is involved. Occasionally where I have been pastor, a local police car radio transmission would be picked up by our organ and/or sound system wiring and be aired over the sanctuary during the service. Obviously, we knew better than to try to make "the offender" account for it!

Interference is a complicated problem and exists in all levels of radio and TV communication. From ordinary atmospheric static to the faulty thermostatic controls to the licensed radio transmitter, all radiate energy which is picked up by equipment which was not designed to pick such up.

The solution suggested in your answer is only a partial, and in most cases, a most unsatisfactory solution. The FCC, according to my experience, will not respond with any field unit unless almost an entire neighborhood is affected. Even then, it takes weeks and months for any action to come from them. In the meantime the problem continues to exist. All local solutions should be tried first. This involves consulting a capable serviceman and getting an opinion from him. Unfortunately, not all servicemen are capable of dealing with problems involving interference. The question should be asked, and answered, if possible: "Why is this set, which is not designed to pick up this interfering signal, receiving this unwanted transmission?" A large percentage of answers would indicate some insufficiency in the receiving set. It is entirely possible for the transmitter involved to be at fault, but be sure, but more than likely the receiving set is at some degree of fault. One should ascertain if it would be possible to eliminate the interference by either filtering or shielding within the receiving set. A TV set, along with stereo, hi-fi, etc., should do two things equally well: (1) receive the channel to which it is tuned, and (2) reject all others. Unfortunately those who manufacture our entertainment equipment pay little heed to number 2.

One can write their senators and representatives and ask them to support those bills which have been introduced to require the manufacturers of our home entertainment equipment to install adequate shielding and filtering, which would eliminate most of our interference problems. Sen. Barry Goldwater has introduced such a bill for years in our U.S. Senate. It has been successfully blocked by the manufacturers association who feel that the addition of around $5 to the manufacturing cost of a typical TV set would be too much to pass on to the consumer. If Goldwater's bill labeled Senate Bill No. 864 were enacted into law, most of our interference problems would be a thing of the past!

The FCC will be glad to send to the one who writes, a list of companies which offer some help to set owners who are bothered by interference problems with their equipment. Write and ask for the pamphlet: "How to Identify and Resolve Radio-TV Interference Problems." The information should be helpful to all concerned.

The FCC also requires cooperation between the complainant and the operator of the radio transmitter suspected of causing the interference. A test should be arranged between the complainant and the operator to determine the nature of the interference and to suggest possible solutions. So, the operator should be identified, and asked to cooperate. If he is a legally licensed operator, he will be forced by the FCC to cooperate in finding a solution. If he is illegal, he should not be on the air at all and can be made to desist by the FCC. All of this takes a considerable amount of time, however, due to the overload of cases the FCC has to consider.

The FCC Engineering Office for our area is located at Room 13E7, 1100 Commerce, Dallas, Texas 75202.

I hope that this has been helpful.

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Chairman William Bagley of the Commodities Futures Trading Commission is an affable, if inept, Republican holdover. Belatedly, he is being shown the door by the Carter administration, but his exit has become an astonishing farewell triumph that Sarah Bernhardt might envy.

As skipper of the three-year-old commission, Bagley has run a loose ship. There have been repeated complaints of administrative foul-ups, personnel violations and ethical offenses in an agency set up to police the commodity markets. One former aide described Bagley's caplaincy in these words: "The place is a Titanic."

PRIOR TO HIS departure from the government, Bagley has arranged a lush official visit to Switzerland, Hong Kong and Japan at the expense of the taxpayers. Afterward, he will join a plush office with a major Los Angeles law firm.

Before he became a commodities regulator, Bagley was both a lawyer and a legislator in California. Occasionally, he confused his legal and legislative work. He intervened with state officials in behalf of law clients, sometimes writing letters on his official California Assembly stationery.

Now the ubiquitous Bagley is lobbying with Congress to provide him with an exemption from conflict-of-interest regulations. Congress is in the process of passing a bill prohibiting top commodity regulators from dealing with the agency for at least a year after leaving government.

Our sources tell us that Bagley has been busy on the phone to congressmen to get a rider written into the law, holding off the ban for four months. This would be exactly the special grace period Bagley would need to escape the conflict-of-interest proviso.

His lobbying effort is proving successful. Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, fought to eliminate the Bagley benefit clause from the bill, but he was voted down by the Senate-House conference. Bagley told our associate Howie Kurtz that he spoke to only one congressman about the special exemption. He argued "it would be unfair to change the rules in the middle of the game by applying this restriction retroactively."

BUT HE conceded that in private practice he would have no qualms about appearing before the commodities commission on behalf of clients of his forthcoming California law firm. "I'm not setting myself up as a commodities practitioner," Bagley said in a disclaimer. "But if someone wants advice in that area, I'll surely provide it."

His grandiose farewell tour abroad, added Bagley, was merely a response to long-standing invitations from foreign officials. And his help to law clients with problems before the California Assembly, he said, had been merely a routine service for constituents. Their legal fees had been for other work, he explained.

CARTER'S RETIREMENT: Perhaps with an eye on his decline in the polls, President Carter raised the subject of retirement the other day with his wife Rosalynn. The First Lady recalled the conversation during a discussion with magazine writer Michael Gorkin.

"Somehow," said Rosalynn, "we got on the topic of our retirement, and I said I was looking forward to it. I'd sleep late in the morning, nap after lunch. He could write a little, which is something he always wanted to do more of. And he could relax, too."

"It sounds fine to me," responded the president, "except for one thing."

"What's that?" asked Rosalynn.

"What are we going to do the second week?"

Footnote: Gorkin's interview with the First Lady will be published next month in the magazine 50 Plus.

TRICKY TRADE: We recently reported that government-subsidized Japanese television makers are dumping their sets illegally on the U.S. market with the consent of former Washington officials whose law firms now represent the Japanese companies.

Among their foremost friends in high places, it turns out, is President Carter's chief trade negotiator, Robert Strauss. His former Texas law firm also provided legal service to a Japanese television firm.

The dumping has hurt U.S. television makers who protested to the Tariff Commission. Yet at the same time, Strauss secretly assured the Japanese that he would "strongly urge" the commission "to consider the adverse effect of (its investigation) ... upon the international trading relations of the United States."

In a confidential letter to Japanese Ambassador Fumihiko Togo, the influential White House adviser sent word that "the Treasury Department also has assured me that it will promptly inform the Government of Japan of any significant developments that may arise from such investigations."

Interestingly, Strauss' former law firm was retained by Japanese interests in 1976 to take a deposition in a television lawsuit. Strauss told us he was unaware of this because at the time, he had taken leave without pay to serve as chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

"I've never talked to anybody at the Justice Department about calling off their investigation," he informed us, then added: "But I wouldn't have any hesitation about speaking out just because my former law firm once took a deposition in the case."

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: When should I bring things to God in prayer? I don't want to bother God with unimportant things, although sometimes they bother me. — Mrs. F.J.

DEAR MRS. F.J.: Sometimes we think God is too busy to be concerned about little details of our lives. But that is not true. God is not like we are — He is interested in every detail. I think the answer to your question is found in Philippians 4:6: "Do not be anxious about ANYTHING, but in EVERYTHING, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God" (NIV, italics mine). Or again in I Peter 5:7 we read "Cast ALL your anxiety on him because he cares for you."

Why can — and should — we bring all our concerns to God in prayer? One reason is because He is a loving heavenly Father. Just as a human parent who loves his child will be interested in everything which concerns his child, in a far greater way God loves us and is concerned about everything that concerns us. Also, we should remember that we need the wisdom of God (as well as His comfort) in every situation we face. By committing our way to God, we are seeking His wisdom.

School property values almost double

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — New estimates of school district property values, the knife that cuts the state aid pie, will average almost double those now in use, sources indicate.

A third of all Texas school districts will be so unhappy with the estimates that they will appeal, says Kenneth Graeber, an associate director of the School Tax Assessment Practices Board.

Graeber told the board he expects 300 to 350 of the 1,080 districts to appeal.

Walt Parker, the board's executive director, will present the new figures Friday morning to Gov. Dolph Briscoe, the Texas Education Agency and news reporters.

"The appeals, I assume, will start arriving shortly after the figures are released," Graeber told the board.

The higher a district's values relative to other districts, the less state aid it will get in the 1979-80 school year, unless the Legislature again changes the system.

The 1977 Legislature relied on values calculated by the Governor's Office of Education Resources (GOER), based on 1975 values.

"Percentagewise, ours will be considerably higher than the GOER figures, taking into account that we have had inflation," Parker said.

Inflation alone would add 24 percent to the GOER estimate of $232.6 billion in total market value of taxable real estate in Texas, Parker said.

GOER estimated the market value of all Texas real estate at $232.6 billion. Sources indicate the board figures, based on 1977 tax rolls, will total about $450 billion, including approximately $150 billion for intangibles and household goods.

"Every urban district is going to scream bloody murder about the intangibles," said one source.

Mike Moeller, head of Texas for Equitable

Taxation, said counting intangibles — such as bank accounts, stocks and bonds — might cost urban districts all their state aid if present formulas are used.

"What the figures are going to do is show your urban school districts as budget balanced districts," Moeller said.

Budget balanced districts are so rich they receive no state aid except per capita payments mandated by the Texas Constitution from the Available School Fund.

Intangibles were estimated using Internal Revenue Service figures on income in each county from dividends.

The board appointed two three-member panels to hear appeals from school districts.

"We are only going to treat these people (school districts) the way they treat the taxpayers when they appeal their verdicts," said Parker.

The panel members, all experienced in property assessment, are Julius "Judy" Truelson, Fort Worth; Lonnie Jones of Texas A&M; W.J. Dodd, Huntsville; Luther Jasper, Edinburg; Gail Jackson, Spring Branch school district; and J.O. Burnett, Brownfield.

"There is no need," Parker said, "for a district to bring 50 people down here to pressure anybody. They are not going to pressure Judy Truelson and they are not going to pressure Lonnie Jones. That's why I hired them."

Cohorns grow first bale

LAMESA — The first bale of the 1978 Dawson County cotton crop was grown by M. F. and Jack Cohorn and ginned by Lamesa Co-op Gin.

It was placed on the county square at 6:30 p.m. Monday to win the $400 cash prize offered by the agriculture committee of the Lamesa Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Cohorns stripped the cotton off seven acres on their homeplace farm east of Lamesa after they defoliated the Paymaster 266 cotton.

The first bale weighed in at 478 pounds and was two weeks to the day later than last year's first bale owned by Leroy Holladay and ginned at the Key-Caprock Gin.

Several other cotton farmers were stripping cotton Monday and Ralph Mires, Nolan Volger and J. D. Aldridge were all reported to be hand picking in an attempt to come up with the first bale.

Nelson to get Dawson hearing

LAMESA — Pre-trial hearings are scheduled for the suspended Dawson County justice of the peace and two others who were indicted recently by a Dawson County Grand Jury.

The hearings will be Sept. 12 in the 106th District Court on the cases of Richard Nelson, former JP; Bobby Pollis and Charles Moore, the two men indicted in connection with the Nov. 1977 burglary and vandalism of the Aten Telephone Exchange Building owned by Poka Lambro Telephone Co.

Nelson was indicted four times on charges of official misconduct by misapplication of public funds and three counts of burglary.

In attempt to oust Nicaraguan president

Strike advocates losing steam

INDIAN FACES — Theda Rhea's prize winning paintings have often been the faces of Indian children. Many of these with different models and different expressions were exhibited here Tuesday night.

Rhea especially likes working with children

By MARJ CARPENTER
Theda Rhea, well-known for her Indian art, presented a special exhibition at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ron Cohorn in Big Spring Tuesday night.

A native Texan, Theda Rhea currently lives in Santa Fe and is considered one of the most promising young artists on the contemporary scene, according to Forrest Fenn of Fenn Galleries in Santa Fe.

Stock grows for new firm

Two full cases of bubble gum, 55 gallons of soft drinks, 600 balloons and about $400 worth of free gifts were dispensed at the grand opening of T-shirts Plus, according to manager Robert Kirchmer.

Mrs. Rhea said "Like all artists, I claim that I was interested in art as a child, but I really was. I used to make sketches all the time and upset everyone," she laughed. "I was supposed to be seriously studying."

The Highland Mall store is now in full swing, offering a variety of t-shirts for custom transfers, silk screening, stock transfers and a number of other methods to make the shirt on your back a little more dazzling. Owner David Johnson and Kirchmer say that the available stock will grow with new transfers arriving every week. In addition, the store will offer free memberships to the T-shirts Plus Club featuring a newsletter and special discounts for members.

She said that after she married, she moved to Catalina Island in California and began to seriously study art. She studied with Clarence McGrath, and also with a well-known Russian artist.

"All they have to do is ask us about the club when they come into the store," said Kirchmer.

"My first efforts were mostly paintings of the Mexican people," she recalled. "Then we moved to Gallup, N.M. and I became interested in Indian portraits."

Impact study is now under way

SAN ANGELO — Impact studies are under way at Goodfellow AFB here, threatened with closure by the Department of Defense earlier this year.

Many of her paintings are of Indian children, especially little Indian girls. "Almost all of my paintings which have won top awards have been of young Indian girls," she stated.

The Air Force has undertaken the formal process of analyzing the environmental impact on the community surrounding the military facility.

Mrs. Rhea said, "I have no children, but I love children. Maybe it comes through in the paintings."

Should the base be shuttered, the Air Force cryptological training mission located at Goodfellow would be moved to Lowery AFB, Denver, Colo., or another ATC installation.

She has won a dozen first place awards in major juried competitions. Her paintings stress color, form and mastery of composition, and also convey universal humanity.

The faces of the Indian children that she paints portray joy, sadness, paths and all the emotions in between.

J. Evetts Haley, a writer and historian says, "Theda Rhea is not only a very competent artist, but a delight as a collaborator for any author — I was honored to have her illustrate one of my books on Harvey Bailey, America's greatest bank robber."

A large number of Big Springers attended the three-hour reception Tuesday, along with art enthusiasts and friends from other West Texas towns.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A nationwide strike called to force the ouster of President Anastasio Somoza appeared to be losing steam today, but fighting raged between national guard troops and armed civilians controlling much of the northern city of Matagalpa.

No reliable figures are available on the effectiveness of the strike, in Managua or in the provinces. But only about half of the stores in the capital's major shopping center were closed Wednesday and most businesses elsewhere in the capital were open.

"It certainly is not causing a crisis," said one diplomat who asked not to be named.

The strike was called a week ago by political leaders opposed to Somoza. It was supported later by the Nicaraguan Confederation of Chambers of Commerce and the Nicaraguan Development Institute, the country's two leading associations of businessmen and industrialists. But the response to the members apparently was flagging.

The archbishop of Managua, Miguel Obando y Bravo, failed in an attempt to stop the bloody fighting in Matagalpa, a city of 40,000 about 100 miles north of Managua and returned to the capital to try to see the president.

"It was a scene of savagery like I've never seen," one veteran Latin American correspondent said of the situation in Matagalpa. The correspondent, who asked not to be named, said there was continual gunfire.

The number of deaths confirmed by the government or the Red Cross rose to 38 since the latest outbreak of violence Aug. 22, when leftist guerrillas took over the capitol building and seized 1,500 hostages. But eyewitness accounts from Matagalpa indicated the toll was much higher.

AP photographer Valente Cotera followed Archbishop Obando into the town Wednesday after national guardsmen blocking the road agreed to hold their fire.

"When we went in the archbishop shouted over a bullhorn that he came to arrange a truce," Cotera reported. "People were glad to see us and ran into the streets to help remove the barricades. All of them were armed, mostly with hand-guns. We finally reached a blocked intersection where we were stopped by people who said they didn't want a ceasefire, and that it was just a national guard trick to test their position.

"About that time the guard opened up with rifle fire a block away and the crowd bolted."

Cotera followed the archbishop back to the Red Cross headquarters at the edge of town.

"When we started to drive away from the Red Cross headquarters all hell broke loose. There was shooting on all sides. Everyone but the driver was on the floor of the car."

Another correspondent said he went into the rear of a deserted hotel where several persons were supposed to have been killed.

"We found four bodies on the floor of the front room," he reported. "They had literally been cut to pieces by machine-gunfire. We snapped some pictures and ran out the back door as the guard drove by the front of the building firing a machine-gun."

Red Cross workers said eight rockets were fired at the town from airplanes Tuesday, and that there had been machine-gun fire from the air. Maj. Gen. Armando Jose Fernandez, chief of staff of the national guard, said rockets had not been used, but that the planes strafed sniper positions.

Fernandez claimed the fighting was caused by Communist guerrillas pressuring the population to join the strike. He said the Communists were making an all-out effort in Matagalpa because the strike had failed in other parts of the country.

The businessmen opposed to the 40-year-old Somoza family dictatorship accuse it of mismanaging the economy, of monopolizing much of the industry and business of the country and of condoning widespread corruption. They say the longer the family remains in power, the more people will shun moderation and turn to the Sandinista guerrillas, who advocate a Marxist state.

Many other Nicaraguans say they hate Somoza because he has allowed his national guard, Nicaragua's 7,500-man army, to brutalize the population, a charge the president has denied.

California governor signs tax cut bill into law

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., who joined the Proposition 13 crusade only after its landslide victory in this election year, chopped another $1 billion off state taxes by signing a bill that will allow Californians to "keep more money in their pockets."

Brown, a Democrat, on Wednesday signed a bill which state Republicans take credit for originating. He said the measure would lead to the biggest state income tax reduction in California history. The income tax cut — which comes on top of Proposition 13's $7 billion cut in property taxes — will slice taxes an extra $168 for the average California family of four with a $20,000 income. The combined income tax and property tax cuts will reduce the average homeowner's annual tax bills by $750 to $1,000. "Not since the income tax was invented have we ever seen a permanent reduction in its provisions so Californians can keep more money in their pockets," Brown said. "This really does help the middle income and lower income taxpayers." Each taxpayer will get a least a $75 tax cut, while each couple filing a joint return will realize at least a $150 tax cut, unless their taxes already are less than those amounts. Senior citizens, both renters and homeowners, get up to $375 each in additional tax cuts under the income tax cut bill. The signing climaxed Brown's continuing efforts to respond to what he calls his "marching orders" — the 65 per cent "yes" vote on Proposition 13. Brown, up for re-election this year, originally opposed the Proposition 13 but quickly embraced it after overwhelming voter approval in June. Brown said the income tax cut can be financed from the state's estimated $5 billion budget surplus and still leave $3 billion to $4 billion next year to assist cities, counties and schools hit by Proposition 13's property tax cuts. A major provision of the bill requires annual adjustment of income tax brackets and tax credits with inflation. Under that provision, known as "indexing," most workers who receive only cost-of-living increases will not move into higher tax brackets. Want an in in instruction. See Classified section G

Septien will be Cowboy kicker

DALLAS (AP) — Place-kicker Rafael Septien, who made 60 per cent of his field goal tries last year as a rookie with the Los Angeles Rams, will kick this year for the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys.

The Cowboys, who traded All-Pro kicker Efron Herrera to Seattle because of a salary dispute, signed Septien to a contract Wednesday. The terms were not specified.

Septien, a native of Mexico City, was acquired from the Los Angeles Rams, where he kicked 18 of 30 field goals last season, the fourth best percentage in the National Football Conference.

Septien booted 32 of 35 extra points and was the Rams' high scorer with 86 points. Herrera kicked 18 of 29 field goals and 39 of 41 conversions for 93 points last year.

The Rams put Septien on waivers after signing placekicker Frank Corral, a rookie drafted from UCLA in the third round.

Septien, 24, edged out Jay Sherrill, a rookie free agent from North Carolina State and the fourth kicker Dallas considered during preseason. Others under consideration included former Houston Oilers kicker Skip Butler and Ove Johansson, a native of Stockholm, Sweden, who once kicked a 69-yard field goal for Abilene Christian University.

Septien played for three seasons at Southwest Louisiana in Lafayette. He was originally drafted by the New Orleans Saints in the 10th round in 1977. The Saints waived him last summer and the Rams picked him up.

He proved to be most accurate inside the 40 yard line for Los Angeles, hitting 16 of 18 tries. But beyond the 40, he only kicked two out of 12. Septien rounds out the Cowboys' roster at 45 players.

'Harrassed' Shepard wants red shirt

HOUSTON (AP) — Highly publicized Houston quarterback Darrell Shepard, the object of a recruiting controversy in 1976, says he'd like to red-shirt this season and let Danny Davis and Delrick Brown lead the Cougar attack.

"It doesn't make sense to waste a year," Shepard said. "Danny is good. He knows more than I do. I'll sit and wait my turn, then do the best I can."

Shepard was the center of an intense recruiting campaign two years ago with the University of Texas as the apparent front runner. Shepard changed his mind on the last day and signed with the Cougars. UH was placed on probation last year following investigation over financing of Shepard's car, which he still owns.

"Yep, I still drive it," Shepard said. "It gets good gas mileage too since I took out the catalytic converter."

Shepard said he has had problems in his hometown of Odessa since he signed with Houston.

"Every time I go back home they harrass me," Shepard said. "Sometimes the cops will follow me for two or three blocks, right on my bumper, then turn on the lights and stop me for no reason."

"They ask for my driver's license, then tell me to go on. I feel like they're picking on my parents, too. Everybody knows our van and they stop it, too, for no reason. If it weren't for my parents, I would never go back to Odessa."

During Easter vacation last year, Shepard was arrested in Odessa and charged with misdemeanor possession of marijuana. He paid a $250 fine.

"I was alone in my car and they found a 'baggie' between the console and the seat. It wasn't mine. I don't know how it got there."

Shepard played only 22 minutes during his freshman season last year and the most miserable moment came in the Texas game when he replaced Brown for one play and stumbled at the Cougar eight-yard line. The Longhorns quickly scored for a 14-10 lead and went on to win 35-21.

"I still wake up thinking about that play," Shepard said. "I felt like it cost us the game. It was just something that happened."

Davis, who sat out last season with a shoulder injury, says he advised Shepard last spring.

JUNIOR TOR DUO — The Big Spring Steers and Lamesa Golden Tors will meet in a scrimmage Friday evening (6:30 J.V., 7:30 varsity), and juniors Mark Price (5-10, 160) at quarterback, and center Brent Jackson (5-8, 168) are scheduled to give the locals worries on offense. The scrimmage will be the Steers' trial by fire prior to their regular season opener Sept. 8 in Andrews.

Umps, leagues into extra innings now

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National and American leagues have brought their heavy hitters into federal court in an attempt to settle a dispute with the guys who nearly always have the final say — the major league umpires.

AL President Lee MacPhail and NL President Chub Feeney both testified Wednesday, contending professional baseball has no obligation to reopen negotiations with the umpires, who staged a one-day walkout last week.

"I suppose we could (renegotiate), but we certainly don't have a moral, legal or any sort of responsibility to do so," Feeney testified.

And MacPhail told the judge: "We feel we that have a valid agreement, that it's complete, that it has a no-strike clause. We don't think we should be forced by the threat of a strike to reopen negotiations. We negotiated every issue raised by the umpires during the contract talks and we have no obligation to reopen those talks." The umpires, members of the Major League Umpires Association, struck Aug. 25 after demanding 21 new benefits outlined in a telegram sent to both league presidents Aug. 16.

The leagues obtained a temporary restraining order from U.S. District Judge Joseph L. McGlynn Jr., but it came too late to avert the work stoppage in 13 cities last Friday. The leagues used collegiate and retired professional umpires to umpire the games.

Wednesday's hearing concerned a request by both leagues for a temporary injunction to prevent the umpires from striking when the 10-day restraining order expires next Monday.

After three hours of testimony, McGlynn recessed the hearing until 9:30 a.m. today, when seven NL umpires were expected to testify.

The umpires' presence at the hearings Wednesday forced both leagues to cut officiating crews at some night games from four to three. The National Labor Relations Board also has been asked to force the leagues to reopen the umpires' contract. MacPhail told McGlynn the leagues would comply if so ordered by the NLRB.

Rose taking breather, not benched

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose, sitting out two games at the request of Manager Sparky Anderson to lessen his tension, appears all the more determined to continue his assault on batting records.

Anderson said Tuesday he had decided to rest the veteran Cincinnati third baseman, who had only one hit in 22 bats during the Reds' current plunge that has seen them drop to 7½ games off the pace in the National League West.

Rose, talking during a rain delay in Wednesday night's game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, said he wants to make it clear that he was not being benched.

"Sparky and I talked Sunday. He asked me which two games I wanted to take off. We had first talked about Tuesday night's game but it would have put too much pressure on (replacement) Ray Knight" batting against Bert Blyleven.

"We talked about it again and I thought it would be better for me to sit out here and the first game in St. Louis. Knight batted against Jim Rooker (of Pittsburgh) before and Silvio Martinez (St. Louis) in the minors. It's a better opportunity for Knight," Rose said.

Anderson said he had not realized how much pressure there had been on Rose when he broke the National League consecutive-game hitting record at 44 games.

"I don't know" if a rest would help, said Rose. "I never tried it before."

Rose said he felt he was still hitting the ball well but the hits were not falling in. Despite the 1-for-22 dive, he noted he had gone 6-for-54 before setting the consecutive game record.

Rose is resolute in some personal goals this season.

"I am going to lead the league in hits. I'll be the only player to ever do it seven times," said Rose, who now has 164. He also hopes to reach 200 hits to surpass Ty Cobb's record of six 200-hit seasons.

Rose has also surpassed the 3,000 hit career record this season.

He also leads the league in doubles with 43. Rose believes he can win the National League batting crown. His average is .300 but doubts that .320 will be needed to win this year.

"I think .315 will win it now," he said.

Forsch fouls Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — St. Louis pitcher Bob Forsch would rather forget the last two months.

"It was really hard not to get down on myself," said Forsch, who picked up his first win since June 30 as the Cardinals tripped the Houston Astros, 4-2, Wednesday night.

"I didn't feel I was contributing to the club," said Forsch, 10-15, of his nine-game losing streak. "I felt I was just taking up space."

Forsch's level of self-confidence dropped even lower after Houston loaded the bases with none out in the second inning.

"The second inning was the lowest I've been all season. At that point I felt I'd lost all my confidence. I didn't even know where the ball was going."

But the veteran right-hander came back to retire 19 of the next 21 batters to face him after Julio Gonzalez' double play ball in the second inning and finished with a four-hitter.

"I just made up my mind to throw the ball as hard as I could and the guys made some great plays behind me. I felt I could hold the lead after we scored the four runs."

The Cards, victorious in 18 of their last 24 games following a disastrous early season start, tallied four runs in the sixth inning against losing pitcher Joe Niekro, 11-11.

Ken Reitz' two-run single preceded Jerry Mumphrey's second home run of the season, a two-run blast into the right field seats, as St. Louis took a 4-1 lead.

The Astros tallied their final run in the ninth on a triple by Enos Cabell and Jose Cruz' run-scoring grounder.

"Right now, we're playing good baseball," Forsch said. "I'd really like to knock off some of the top teams."

The loss was only Houston's fourth in its last 23 home games.

Vilas not counted out

NEW YORK (AP) — He's been all but counted out because of an unfriendly surface, a recent stomach ailment and a couple of rugged opponents named Bjorn Borg and Jimmy Connors.

But Guillermo Vilas is not ready to surrender his U.S. Open tennis crown without a fight.

Vilas, charging the net and generally playing more aggressively than usual, fought back from a pair of first-set service breaks and defeated Cliff Drysdale of Australia 7-5, 6-2 Wednesday night in first-round action at the first U.S. Open at Flushing Meadow.

"Now it says 'Guillermo Vilas, 1977 U.S. Open champion. I want it to say '1978 champion' as well," said the Argentine left-hander. "Borg and Connors may be ahead of me, but I have a chance. I would not be here if I thought I did not have a chance to win."

In other first-round matches Wednesday, second-seeded Connors breezed past Tom Gullikson 6-0, 6-4; fourth-seeded Vilas' Gerulaitis was extended by Frenchman Pascal Portes before winning 7-5, 7-5; fifth-seeded Eddie Dibbs beat Mike Fishback 7-6, 6-2 and sixth-seeded Brian Gottfried struggled past Phil Dent of Australia 7-5, 7-5.

Today's program included both men's and women's matches. The three top-seeded women — Martina Navratilova, Chris Evert and Virginia Wade — have all drawn first-round byes, but fourth-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia was scheduled to play Katja Ebbinghaus of West Germany in the opening match on the stadium court.

B.C. Open starts today

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — The $225,000 B.C. Open golf tournament opened today with John Mahaffey, currently on a hot streak, among those expected to fare well.

Mahaffey, who has won $96,017 in the last six weeks on the pro tour, will be shooting for the top prize of $45,000 at the seventh annual tournament here, which is named for a nationally distributed comic strip.

Gil Morgan, a 31-year-old optometrist from Oklahoma, returns to the En Jolie Golf Course to defend his first professional golf championship won last year.

The 72-hole tournament runs through Sunday.

Lee Trevino, Lee Elder, Andy North and Fuzzy Zoeller, all big-money winners this season, will be among the competitors at the course here in upstate New York's Southern Tier.

Tom Kite hopes to recover from last week's 1-stroke loss in the Hall of Fame tournament. The margin of defeat was a penalty Kite assessed on himself.

Raiders, Oilers, Dolphins picked tops in AFC

Everything came up orange in the American Football Conference last season when the Denver Broncos won the first championship in the franchise's 18-year history.

Remember the Orange Crush defense and quarterback Craig Morton's magic? Oakland certainly did and also saw both the defense and Morton get peeved by Dallas in the Super Bowl. Now the Raiders are planning on a new paint job for the conference this season with the primary colors to be silver and black — Oakland silver and black, that is.

In the Central Division, Cincinnati is still trying to figure out how it managed to blow the division title to Pittsburgh a year ago and planning its revenge in 1978, while Houston plots to overtake both powerhouses.

Meanwhile, Miami is busy with mini calculators and

Oakland trick works

The National Football League regular season doesn't open until this weekend, but the Oakland Raiders are already playing games — and winning.

Witness the Errol Mann affair.

Mann, the NFL's leading scorer last season, was traded to the Buffalo Bills by the Raiders Monday in return for "past considerations," apparently leaving Oakland without a kicker for Sunday's opener against the Broncos in Denver.

Then strange things started happening.

Mann refused to report to the Bills, saying he wanted to stay on the West Coast. Buffalo responded by releasing the 11-year veteran.

And do you know where Mann will be playing Sunday? You're right if you said in Denver with the Raiders.

"We were committed to Errol all along," a Raider spokesman said Wednesday, adding that Mann would be back in the Oakland camp today.

The "trade" of Mann, linebacker Randy McClanahan and wide receiver Mike Levenseller was just an Oakland gimmick so the Bills could keep Mann safely through the cutdown to a 43-player limit and then return him the Raiders when the limit increased to 45 players.

Levenseller and McClanahan will stay with the Bills, who have now made good on whatever "past considerations" they owed the Raiders.

Kickers and kickoffs also made the news in Dallas and Cleveland and other NFL cities.

The Cowboys signed Rafael Septien as their new kicker while the Browns released their No. 1 punter last season, Greg Coleman.

Meanwhile, it was announced that television coverage on the installation of Pope John Paul I at ceremonies in Rome Sunday may result in delayed kickoffs or the pre-emption of some NFL games on TV.

Aggies will be more offensive this year

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas A&M football coach Emory Bellard told the Southwest Conference press tour Wednesday that the Aggies will field a more wide open offense this fall, featuring a new twist to the pro-set I formation.

"I'm excited about some of the concepts we'll be using in the I formation, particularly with the sprint out pass," said Bellard, who was the father of the Wishbone T offense at the University of Texas in the late 1960s. "I feel very good about what we are doing. We believe some of the ideas are innovative."

"We'll be using a few elements I've been messing around with for some time. It's not something that's going to revolutionize college football, but we think it's very different."

Bellard went to the blackboard to give a demonstration of what he termed the different technique. His brief explanation included a pulling guard to block on the option and a fullback jumping through the hole the departing guard left to block or become a fourth pass receiver.

Bellard was quick to point out that the I will only be a supplement to the Wishbone T, which will remain the main Aggie formation.

"We will run both of our offenses from goal to goal," said Bellard. "We have a tremendous option quarterback, and I know of no finer tailback in the country."

He was speaking of sophomore quarterback Mike Mosley and junior tailback Curtis Dickey, who just may be the fastest one-two offensive punch in the country. They recently ran a 40-yard dash out of blocks with spikes, and Dickey was clocked in 4.35 seconds, and Mosley was ran in 4.45.

The Aggies worked hard to install the pro-set I formation in a spring training that was described as perhaps the most brutal in Bellard's regime.

other devices, trying to avoid the mathematical tangle that gave the AFC East title to Baltimore a year ago. The Dolphins figure to rectify that problem this season.

This is the way the standings should look, notwithstanding injuries, upsets and other mysteries of the 16-game season.

Olympic Board recommends L.A.

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The executive board of the International Olympic Committee today recommended acceptance of Los Angeles' plan to stage the 1984 Summer Olympic Games.

The 89 members of the IOC will be asked to ratify the decision by mail — a process that may take up to four weeks.

The nine-man executive board approved unanimously a deviation from Olympic traditions. It favored the signing of two contracts.

If the full IOC approves, Los Angeles will be given the go-ahead to sign one contract with the IOC. The other one will involve the IOC, the Los Angeles Organizing Committee and the United States Olympic Committee, which has offered to guarantee the city against a financial deficit and thus protect taxpayers.

Monique Berlioux, director of the IOC, said 45 votes are necessary from IOC members to give final approval to the plan. She said as soon as 45 positive votes have been received, the IOC will give Los Angeles the go-ahead.

The USOC has to give formal approval to the plan at an executive board meeting Sept. 22. It also has to be approved by the Los Angeles City Council.

Los Angeles was provisionally awarded the 1984 Games three months ago, but has not complied with the IOC's request to sign a contract under IOC rules. Instead the USOC has come to Lausanne, backed by a letter from President Carter, to plead for a new formula for financing the Games.

Under this plan, Los Angeles would sign two contracts. One would be with the IOC, pledging to keep to the rules of the Olympic charter. The other would be a financial contract with the USOC and the Los Angeles Games Organizing Committee. The USOC has said it will guarantee financial loss with help from industry.

It's all a lot of juggling with words. Rule 4 of the Olympic Charter says the host city and the Olympic Committee of the host country shall be jointly responsible for financial arrangements. The USOC delegation, led by President Robert Kane, claims that it will be, under the new plan.

But help from industry would amount to a kind of commercial sponsorship — a factor that dominates professional sport but has so far been resisted by the Olympic movement.

Regaining its top spot in the West Division and the Conference championship will be no easy task for Oakland. The club begins the season by playing four of its first five games on the road and finishes it against three of the league's stronger clubs, Denver, Miami and Minnesota. But the Raiders will find a way, so help them Al Davis.

Oakland's personnel includes a devastating offensive line anchored by Art Shell and Gene Upshaw, an attack piloted by quarterback Ken Stabler and running backs Mark Van Eeghen and Clarence Davis and a 3-4 defense that permitted fewer first downs (204) than any other AFC team.

Oakland's chief title competition should come from defending champion Denver, which rode the Orange Crush enthusiasm to the Super Bowl a year ago. The Crush referred to Denver's defense, which surrendered only 148 points, lowest in the conference last year, and tough cookies like Lyle Alzado, Randy Gradishar, Tom Jackson, Bill Thompson and Louis Wright, all Pro Bowl selections.

The rest of the West figures to be a scramble between San Diego, still trying to crack 500, Seattle, improving its expansion club, and Kansas City, rebuilding under new coach Mary Levy. The Chargers improved their offensive line with the acquisition of Ed White from Minnesota but the price (running back Rickey Young) was high. And then, San Diego came up with Lydell Mitchell to take care of the ball carrying Young used to do. Seattle added place kicker Efen Herrera, who scored 93 points for Dallas' Super Bowl champions.

In the Central race, the Oilers are eyeing a move up the standings ladder, hoping that Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell, the No. 1 draft choice, can do for them what Tony Dorsett did for Dallas a year ago. Houston also picked up wide receiver Richard Caster in a trade with the New York Jets to beef up its passing attack, which is directed by Dan Pastorini.

Cincinnati, which somehow managed to miss the playoffs on the final weekend of the last two seasons, may be out of it earlier this time. The Bengals have to replace tight end Bob Trumpy and safety Tommy Casanova, both of whom retired, and defensive standouts Lemar Parrish and Coy Bacon, both traded away in the off-season.

Pittsburgh seems past its peak and has begun a face lift with the trades of Super Bowl veterans like center Jim Clark (to the New York Giants), tackle Ernie Holmes (to Tampa Bay), wide receiver Frank Lewis (to Buffalo) and defensive backs Glen Edwards (to San Diego). Cleveland, under new coach Sam Rutigliano, hopes for progress but being stuck in a tough division makes that difficult.

In the East, Miami and Baltimore figure to battle it out again for the top spot with quarterbacks Bob Griese of the Dolphins and Bert Jones of the Colts, the key men. Miami has added running depth with the acquisition of Del Williams from San Francisco and the Dolphins depend on a young, tough defense. Baltimore must replace the departed Mitchell, who was the club's alltime leading rusher. No. 1 draft choice Reese McCall inherits the tight end job with Raymond Chester traded to Oakland for Mike Siani.

New England hopes wide receiver Harold Jackson, obtained from Los Angeles, can replace injured Darryl Stingley and help keep the Patriots in the chase. New York and Buffalo will be watching the development of top drafts — tackle Chris Ward for the Jets and running back Terry Miller for the Bills.

'Grab your partner' and join the fun

By EILEEN MCGUIRE
Family News Editor

Where can a family of two adults and four children go for an evening of wholesome fun for the same price as a family of two adults and one child?

According to the Big Spring Squares, they can go square dancing.

The group, which numbers about 30 couples and singles plus their offspring meet twice a month for an evening of "do-si-do" and "swing your partner."

The cost is $60 per couple for a year's membership, averaging out to $2.50 per couple per dance. Non-members can participate for $3.00 per couple and children can square dance for free.

The only requirement to join the club or the dancing is that you first learn how to square dance. But if you can't dance, you can still join in on the fun as a spectator, also admitted free.

"A family can't go to the movies for the price that they can square dance," says Sandy Sparks, president of the local club along with her husband Roger.

The purpose of the low price is to promote square dancing as a family activity, she said. Also family oriented are the national by-laws for square dancing clubs which forbid alcohol on the premises or in the bloodstream.

In order to expand their ranks, the Big Spring Squares are sponsoring square dance lessons beginning Sept. 5, at 8 p.m., at the Square Corral in the Silver Heels Addition, Chaparral Rd. The instructor or caller for the 18 lessons will be Randal Phillips of Abilene.

Currently a chemistry and biology major at Hardin-Simmons University, young Phillips is a professional caller who received his training at Frank Lane's Callers' College in Estes Park, Col. He calls for two clubs in Abilene and the Big Spring club considers him one of the best.

Information about the lessons for age nine and up may be obtained by calling Mrs. Sparks, 263-4317.

According to several members of the squares, square dancing is easy to learn, fun, and good exercise. Present members range in age from 11 to 71.

"Age is no factor in square dancing," said Bobbie Alexander, a board member. "It's good exercise for heart patients."

"In fact, square dancing is recommended by many heart patients' doctors," added Mrs. L.H. Steward, past president of the Texas Federation of Square and Round Dances.

In addition to being fun, square dancing is part of America's heritage. The members pointed out that there is currently a bill in Congress to make the square dance the folk dance of America.

The roots of square dancing are older than America, having originated in France and England. According to Mrs. Steward, the dance was popular in the old English courts.

"Henry Ford brought it to the country clubs of this country," she stated. The group observed that square dancing is popular the world over, particularly in Japan where the callers are required to recognize the calls in English.

"At our last national convention," Mrs. Steward said, "there were 23,879 square dancers from all over the world. 4,715 were from Texas. We had the largest delegation."

The 27th annual convention took place at Oklahoma City, Okla. during three days in June. Activities included lots of dancing, educational programs, a style show, and more dancing.

One of the decisions made at the convention, according to Frances Bracken, a board member of the Big Spring Squares, is to give more credit to women members of the club who share club offices with their husbands.

"The men preside while the women do all of the work behind the scenes," laughed Mrs. Sparks.

Mrs. Sparks identified some upcoming events for the club. It'll host the district Westerners Association Dance here in December. Tommy and Nelda Carstensen of Big Spring are the president couple of the district association.

In January, the Big Spring Squares will celebrate their 19th anniversary with a dance. The caller will be nationally known Sleepy Browning.

Dick Parrish of Hobbs, N.M., will be the caller at the club's annual May Festival with Norman and Helen Teague of Wichita Falls calling rounds.

There are also some plans in the making to enlarge the club's building.

"We're one of the few clubs in Big Spring to own our own building," said Mrs. Sparks.

Teenagers motivated to stay out of jail
CLINTON, N.J. (AP) — The seven teenagers were silent as they listened to the tough talk of the convicted murderers at the Clinton Correctional Institute for Women.

"You ain't had it tough 'til you come to prison," inmate 7239 told the girls.

"We all tell you our numbers because that's what we are," said 9699. "You lose everything when you come here."

HUNTING FOR RECIPES from cookbooks published by the national association of square dancers and sold at annual conventions are standing, Sandy Sparks, and seated, from left, Addie Mae Jones and Mrs. L. H. Steward. The group is a small segment of the Big Spring

country," she stated. The group observed that square dancing is popular the world over, particularly in Japan where the callers are required to recognize the calls in English.

"At our last national convention," Mrs. Steward said, "there were 23,879 square dancers from all over the world. 4,715 were from Texas. We had the largest delegation."

The 27th annual convention took place at Oklahoma City, Okla. during three days in June. Activities included lots of dancing, educational programs, a style show, and more dancing.

One of the decisions made at the convention, according to Frances Bracken, a board member of the Big Spring Squares, is to give more credit to women members of the club who share club offices with their husbands.

"The men preside while the women do all of the work behind the scenes," laughed Mrs. Sparks.

Mrs. Sparks identified some upcoming events for the club. It'll host the district Westerners Association Dance here in December. Tommy and Nelda Carstensen of Big Spring are the president couple of the district association.

In January, the Big Spring Squares will celebrate their 19th anniversary with a dance. The caller will be nationally known Sleepy Browning.

Dick Parrish of Hobbs, N.M., will be the caller at the club's annual May Festival with Norman and Helen Teague of Wichita Falls calling rounds.

There are also some plans in the making to enlarge the club's building.

"We're one of the few clubs in Big Spring to own our own building," said Mrs. Sparks.

Can Teen-Age Boy Sue His Mother?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old boy. Last fall my father promised me a motorcycle if I would complete one year at military school. I agreed, and completed the full year, but when I asked him for the cycle, he said unless I had the agreement in writing—which I don't have—I am out of luck.

Now my mother has made me the same offer. I told her she would have to put it in writing, so she did. I really want that motorcycle, Abby.

If my mother backs out of the agreement, can I take her to court and use my sister as a witness?

CADET

DEAR CADET: Only a lawyer can give you legal advice. But a parent who fails to uphold his part of a bargain because it wasn't "in writing" is setting a very poor example in integrity. A person's word should be as good as his signature.

DEAR ABBY: After 14 years of a childless marriage, my husband and I adopted a beautiful baby girl. (We are white; the baby is of mixed blood.) A year later we were blessed with our own little son! And the following year, another son. We love them all, but here's the problem.

My husband's father, who was against our adopting the little girl in the first place, goes out of his way to hurt the child. He favors the boys with gifts and treats, and leaves the little girl standing without—hurt and envious. Behind our backs he refers to the girl as "that illegitimate half-breed Jeff took to raise." She is a sweet and adorable child, and much prettier than his own "legitimate" granddaughters.

We don't want to cause trouble, so we make excuses for Grandpa's slights, but how can I stand by and say nothing? When we leave his home I vow I'll never take the children there again, but I always weaken and do, hoping he'll behave better. What can be done?

BOILING BY THE BAY

DEAR BOILING: Let Grandpa know that you will tolerate no more of his cruel conduct. Deny him the privilege of seeing ANY of your children until he agrees to treat all your children equally. If he doesn't agree, it will be HIS loss!

DEAR ABBY: Everybody says I have a good personality, and although I am far from beautiful, people tell me I am not a bad-looking girl. But I am 17 and have never had an honest-to-goodness date. I mean a date that wasn't fixed up by somebody.

I wear glasses. Could that be my trouble? Please don't suggest contact lenses because I can't stand the thought of sticking something right INTO my eye. I don't want to be an old maid. Can you help me?

FOUR EYES-ST. ROBERT, MO.

DEAR FOUR: Glasses rarely (if ever) have cost a girl her popularity, but they frequently provide a good excuse, which is easily seen through. If you want to be popular, try to develop the kind of personality other people find attractive. Forget about yourself and the impression you're creating, and concentrate on making the fellow you're with glad that he's with you!

THE STIFFER the better is the rule of thumb for petticoats when the female members of the Big Spring Squares get ready for a night of whirling and twirling. It takes a little practice to learn how to gracefully sit down, but the effect of layers upon layers on the dance floor is well worth the inconvenience to most of the members who make their own dresses. Here, Frances Bracken gets some help with her hem from Bobbie Alexander. Both are board members of the Squares.

Make ahead sack lunches are easy and nutritious

With the return of students to school, you may want to prepare for the many lunches your family will be taking to school or work.

Part of your plan of action may be to section off part of the freezer for individually wrapped foods. Foods made ahead can allow each person to pick his or her favorite meal from the freezer in the morning. With 3 to 4 hours of defrosting, their lunches will be ready to eat at noon. Add a carton of milk or a milkshake and your brown baggers will have a nutritious lunch that interest them.

When preparing your sandwiches, spread the bread with softened butter or mayonnaise to prevent moist fillings from soaking through. Sandwiches should be stored in plastic or moisture-proof wrapping materials. If the sandwiches or baked goods will be used within four days you can use waxed paper. Reusable plastic containers, if family members return them, can save money and can be used for long term freezing.

Dairy Council, Inc. nutritionists have compiled a list of Four Food Group foods suitable for sack lunches.

Milk Group: Sandwiches of sliced cheese, cheese spreads or cream cheese can be frozen. Add a carton of milk or a milkshake to balance the meal.

Meat Group: Roast beef, tuna, salmon, peanut butter, baked ham, roast pork, chicken, turkey, dried beef and hard-cooked egg yolks all make excellent sandwich fillings. Do not freeze cooked egg whites as they become tough and rubbery.

Vegetables-Fruits Group: Freeze applesauce, baked apples, stewed fruits, melon balls and some berries in small containers. Dried or fresh fruits and vegetables can also be added to sack lunches.

Breads-Cereals Group:

Biscuits, muffins, yeast rolls and breads are all excellent choices for frozen meals. Try white, whole wheat, rye, Boston brown, raisin or nut breads for variety.

The young women, aged 13 to 17, were here as part of the Clinton Lifers Group, modeled after a program between boys and the inmates at Rahway State Prison. Since May, about 100 young women have come to Clinton for encounters with the lifers.

TwEEN 12 and 20 — Foolish to take pill just in case

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 16 and I'm a good girl. I date but I don't smoke, drink or "fool around." I live with my mother and stepfather.

Last week, he told me that he wanted me to start taking birth control pills, "just in case." I told him I would not get pregnant but he said maybe I would and to get the pills and show them to him.

What should I do? My mom agrees with him. — Angel, Scranton, Pa.

Angel: Only you would know if you would or would not need birth control pills. Your stepfather is acting very foolishly. Stop by your family doctor and have him call your mother and stepfather and set them straight.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 13 and my next-door neighbor makes me feel embarrassed. She is 14, wears granny shoes, long skirts and wears her blouses with her top button buttoned. To make things worse, she has a ponytail and is a Polack.

Whenever a boy stops by to talk with me outside, Polack always comes over looking stupid. This embarrasses me. Please tell me what to do. — Jenny, St. Louis, Mo.

Jenny: I see no reason why you should concern yourself with the way your neighbor dresses or what her heritage is.

To eliminate your "problem," invite the boys into your house for your conversation.

Dr. Wallace: Please help me. I am 15 years old. I have many interests, I can talk easily with people, and I have many friends. I look much older than 15, and guys (mostly older than me) always whistle at me and give me a lot of attention.

The problem is that I have never had a date in my life. I have never been asked out anywhere by anybody.

I just don't know what to think. I guess I should just be patient, but I'm so tired of waiting. It makes me feel like there is something wrong with me. Is there anything I can do? — Susan, La Mesa, Calif.

Susan: Many times teens your own age are fearful of asking you out if you appear to be older than you actually are. It won't be long before school starts again. Get involved in school activities, go light on the makeup and be friendly. You will get the results you want.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TwEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent-stamped large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. R. Wallace in care of this newspaper.

Lodge reminded of obligations

Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 met at 7:30 p.m. in the I.O.O.F. Hall with June Wiggins, Noble Grand, presiding.

Eleven of the 19 members present were past Noble Grands. They reported 13 visits to the sick during the past week.

Mrs. Wiggins reminded members that those who took food to bereaved families in the last few weeks may pick up their dishes at the lodge hall on regular meeting nights.

Several members reported on a trip to Lamesa they took Monday night. They attended an initiation ceremony which they described as being impressive.

Sherri Wilson, District Deputy President, gave a School of Instruction. She spoke on the work of the order and how members are to act as Rebekahs. She reminded the assembly of the obligation each woman took the night she was initiated into the lodge.

Ms. Wilson ended her school with a poem entitled "My Daily Creed," chosen by Betty Reid, president, as her personal creed.

Tuesday will be birthday night for all those members celebrating birthdays during September.

The refreshment committee for September will be Marion Savell, Olean Melton, Delia Sullivan and Agnes Miller.

Data shows most pregnant unmarrieds seek abortion

What does an unmarried woman who becomes pregnant do about having her baby?

More often than she doesn't have it, reports the Health Insurance Institute.

Data from the U.S. Center for Disease Control show that in 1976, the latest year figures are available, among unmarried women there were 16 legal abortions for every 10 live births. Among married women, there was less than one abortion for every 10 live births.

It means that when faced with giving birth to a child they will have to rear without a legitimate father, the majority of unmarried women are opting for abortion.

"It's a matter of changing social values and the fact that abortion procedures are becoming more readily available to the masses," says a spokesman for the Center's Abortion Surveillance branch.

He points out that there are more doctors and clinics around today, making legal abortion operations accessible to those who want them.

There has, in fact, been a steady increase in the procedure since it became legalized in 1973. That year, 616,000 reported they had undergone the surgery; by 1976, 988,000 reported it.

Who pays the bills? Health insurance will usually pay it — if the woman has a policy covering maternity charges, if the abortion is legal, and if it is performed by a doctor.

Through 1976, Medicaid covered 25 per cent of all abortion expenses. Today, only 18 states are still providing public funding for Medicaid eligible women.

"Yet, in spite of this, early evidence is that the withdrawal of Medicaid funds doesn't seem to be slowing up legal abortions," said the Center spokesman.

He says preliminary studies have found "that somehow Medicaid women continue to get abortions." This is attributed to the fact, he says, that both

Sociologist says spouse beating occurs in one of every ten homes

Remember that old television standby the "Honeymooners," the program that helped make Jackie Gleason famous? The high spot usually came when Jackie, playing Ralph, became exasperated with his wife, Alice, rolled his eyes and exclaimed, "one of these days, Alice, pow — right in the kisser."

Only he never delivered. And nobody expected he would.

But in real life, there are a lot more "pows" than we'd like to admit, reports the Health Insurance Institute. A paper prepared for the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights reports that in any one year "approximately 1.8 million wives are beaten by their husbands," many while they are pregnant.

But Dr. Murray A. Straus, professor of Sociology at the University of New Hampshire, who wrote the paper, says the incidence may be much higher.

According to Dr. Straus, many cases go unreported because the family is ashamed to admit it or because getting slapped or punched is so common in some marriages that nobody bothers to report it. He told the Institute: "I'd estimate that in as many as 1 to 10 homes there has been a wife beating incident and — what surprises many — an equal number of husband beating. Of course, the wife beatings are much more damaging. "Unfortunately, we're at the point where many people look at a marriage license as a 'hitting license.'"

Dr. Straus says an examination of police records under the category of domestic disturbances brings light into the dark corner of human behavior. For instance:

A seven-month study in Chicago found that police response to domestic disturbance calls exceeded the total response for murder, rape, aggravated assault and other serious crimes.

Another study in Oakland, Calif., found that the police responded to more than 16,000 family disturbance calls during a six-month period.

And the report added: "Sixty per cent of all police calls during the night shift in Atlanta, Ga., predictably, are domestic quarrels." Further, the battering of women is in no way confined to lower economic classes of minority women as many middle class Americans have come to believe.

The problem, according to Dr. Straus, is that women in the middle and upper income classes virtually never report the assault to authorities.

Their reasons, he says, are complex and include protection of their husband's occupational position or their acquired social status, embarrassment, and feeling that the police would not do anything anyway.

What, then, can a battered wife do to protect herself? Dr. Straus offers these suggestions:

1. Get help from a family group familiar with these situations such as the Family Service Association of America.
2. With the support of others, make it clear that physical force by a spouse is never justified and will not be tolerated.
3. Be prepared to leave. Realize it is better to live with whatever burdens you must face alone than to be beaten.
4. Get a job — then leave. Having a job will make it easier to support yourself if you have to leave.
5. Don't wait. It is important that the situation be faced immediately — at the very first slap.

6. Tell your husband exactly how you feel so the two of you can confront the situation squarely.

7. If all else fails, take legal action. This means you can file criminal charges, sue for divorce or legal separation. There's even the possibility of mental illness commitment if your mate needs it.

McNICHOL SCREAM PRACTICE — Actress Kristy McNichol, who loves rollercoasters, practices her scream, eyes crossed, before riding on Magic Mountain Amusement Park's coaster, the Colossus in Valencia, Calif. McNichol visited the park for a taping of CBS's new fall program "People."

Inexpensive frames for favorite photos

For less than a dollar, your favorite family snapshots, calendar artwork or prints can be framed and ready for display. All it takes, says Hallmark designer Marie Smith, is gift wrap, a cardboard box, glue and a little time. "Both wall and easel frames are projects which can be finished in an hour," says Miss Smith. "And because your investment is minimal, the frames can be changed frequently to give your room a freshly decorated look."

Here are the step-by-step instructions suggested by the Hallmark designer:

Step 1: Select a gift wrap with a small design such as the floral pattern from Hallmark's "Forest Images" collection.

Step 2: Cut three pieces of cardboard to the desired frame size. Out of one piece, cut a rectangle slightly smaller than your photo or print.

Step 3: To cover the frame front, cut gift wrap four inches larger than the frame and paint the reverse side with rubber cement. Lay the frame front on the rubber cement and use a razor blade to cut an "X" in the gift wrap through the frame hole. Glue each triangle to the back of the frame front, making neat corners.

Step 4: Cover one side of the second piece of cardboard.

Step 5: Tape your photo or print to the back of the frame front and cover it with the uncovered side of the second piece.

Step 6: To make the easel on the third piece of cardboard, cut an easel shape, leaving only the top edge attached. Score the top edge to insure an even fold. Cover all sides of the easel.

Step 7: Glue the third piece onto the second.

Step 8: Bring the extra gift wrap from the front around to the back. For neat corners, cut the gift wrap to the corners, then glue.

Step 9: To finish the frame, cover the remaining exposed area on the back.

Wall frames require only one piece of cardboard, a piece of gift wrap three inches larger than the cardboard, and less time. Simply complete steps 3 and 8, add a hook and tape your photo to the back of the frame.

Motorists to pay more for gasoline in state

Motorists driving in Texas during the Labor Day weekend will pay almost two cents a gallon more for all grades of gasoline than they did two months ago during the July Fourth weekend.

The American Automobile Association said that according to its survey of 236 service stations throughout the state, the average full-service price for regular gasoline is 63.4 cents per gallon, an increase of 1.7 cents a gallon over the July Fourth average of 61.7 cents per gallon. The average full-service price of unleaded gas rose from 64.6 to 66.3 cents per gallon, while premium increased from 66.4 to 68.3 cents per gallon.

Average prices for gasoline at self-service pumps increased by about the same amount. Current average self-service prices (with corresponding prices on Memorial Day in parentheses) are: Regular 57.1 cents per gallon (55.4); unleaded 61.8 (60.0); and premium 63.4 (62.2).

AAA said the price increases accelerate a trend which began last Memorial Day. AAA surveys showed that gas prices declined slightly in the first four months of the year, and rose only slightly between Easter and Memorial Day. But July Fourth prices rose about 1 cent per gallon, and the Labor Day prices represent the sharpest increases of the year.

No supply problems are expected anywhere in Texas during the Labor Day weekend. Over 90 per cent of the stations surveyed will be open on both Saturday and Monday, and 75 per cent will be open on Sunday as well.

New 'death row' cell prepared

WHARTON, Texas (AP) — A special "death row" cell is being prepared at the Gooch prison unit for women — a cell where Mary Lou Anderson will wait while attorneys appeal her death by injection sentence for the kill-for-hire slaying of her father.

Prison spokesman Ron Taylor said Wednesday that the 35-year-old Lake Charles, La., woman would be kept in a separate area of the women's unit designated as death row rather than in the portion of the prison housing 94 men marked for execution.

Ms. Anderson is the first woman in 17 years to face the death penalty in Texas. A nine-man three-woman jury Tuesday sentenced her to death by injection a few hours after finding her guilty of capital murder.

The last female sentenced to death was Carolyn Ann Lima, convicted in 1961 of the murder of Houston real estate salesman Fred Tones. The sentence later was reduced to 15 years.

A check of historical records indicates only one woman has been executed in the state. She was Chipita Rodriguez, who was hanged Nov. 13, 1863, in San Patricio for killing a traveling salesman during a robbery.

Ms. Anderson was accused of hiring Faryl Granger, 29, of Lafayette, La., to kill her father so she could collect a $5,000 insurance policy that contained a double indemnity clause.

Fort Bend County Attorney Bill Meitzen said Ms. Anderson, "who has been a prostitute most of her life," needed the money to cover $6,000 in bad checks and thus avoid a jail sentence.

Granger is to stand trial later on capital murder charges.

The bodies of Steve and Margie Anderson were found in their Sugar Land, Texas, home Jan. 3. Anderson had been shot three times in the head at close range. His wife, Mrs. Anderson's stepmother, was shot five times in the head.

Ms. Anderson testified during the trial she feared for her life and that of her 15-year-old son if she crossed Granger, and that she wasn't in the house at the time of the shootings.

M. D. BLEIVINS
Blevins given service pin

A 30-year service pin has been awarded to M. L. Bleivins by L. E. Vandever, district production supervisor in the Coahoma area for Atlantic Richfield. Bleivins was hired Aug. 23, 1948, as a roustabout in Denver City. He transferred to Hobbs, N. M., in November that year as a pumper. He moved to Odessa Sept. 9, 1949 where he worked on the company's pulling unit for six months. He was assigned a vacation relief pumping job until Jan. 7, 1952. He then took a relief pumping job in the Spraberry Field. He was awarded his present pumping position in the Spraberry area in March 1952.

Missing body found yesterday in Oklahoma

FORT TOWSON, Okla. (AP) — The bleached and scattered bones of Gerald Leon Tiffie, who has been missing since he is believed to have picked up two Oklahoma prison escapees last summer, were found near here Wednesday afternoon.

The body was found by a man in thick underbrush about 200 yards off Oklahoma 109, a dirt road, Choctaw County Sheriff James Buchanan said.

Tiffie, of Soper, was believed to have picked up Earl Van Denton and Paul Ruiz, who killed him and stole his car.

Denton and Ruiz are currently imprisoned in Arkansas, after being convicted of murdering an Arkansas law officer.

Authorities have said Ruiz had volunteered to return to Oklahoma to help locate Tiffie's body.

Authorities say they pinned down the identity of the body by matching U.S. Navy dental records with the teeth of the victim.

Buchanan said a wallet containing identification cards was also found near the body.

The sheriff said the skull, part of a rib cage and shreds of clothing were found by a local man who was "brushhogging" Wednesday. He said there were bullet holes in the skull and a bullet fragment under it.

Tiffie, 27, had been missing since June 25, 1977, two days after Ruiz and Denton escaped from the state penitentiary at McAlester.

"The description of the scene was just as Ruiz said it was. We were just on the wrong side of Hugo," Buchanan said of the earlier search for the body.

Son of ambassador to U.S. found dead after kidnapping

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The 35-year-old son of Mexico's ambassador to the United States has been found dead after being kidnapped by guerrillas who reportedly demanded $2 million "for the struggle of the proletariat." A police source said an autopsy showed he was shot once in the leg and bled to death.

fatal bullet was fired during a shootout between bodyguards and the four men and a woman who ambushed Hugo Margain Charles and an American friend Tuesday night near Margain's home on the south side of Mexico City. Police sources said the body was found in a field near Chalco, 18 miles from Mexico City, at 8 a.m.

Wednesday, some 12 hours later, and taken to the morgue at Chalco. But it was not identified until 10:30 p.m., the sources said. Detectives said the body was clad in a suit jacket and underwear, and the spot where it was found was relatively free of blood, indicating Margain had been dead some time before the body was dumped there.

Margain, director of the Institute of Philosophy at the University of Mexico, was riding in his 1972 Dodge with an American friend, Justin Evans, and with bodyguards in a car following. A police report said the Dodge was intercepted by a black Ford Galaxie containing four men and a woman.

Evans, who was not otherwise identified, also was wounded, but a spokesman at the hospital where he was treated said his condition was not serious and he had been released. The kidnapers left behind a leaflet signed by the 23rd of September Communist League, Mexico's most active left-wing urban gang. It said: "Await instructions. The kidnapping is to obtain money for the struggle of the proletariat."

Police sources reported that a member of the Margain household reported the family got a phone call from the kidnapers demanding $2 million in ransom. News of the kidnapping was blacked out until Wednesday afternoon, apparently because the family feared publicity would hamper negotiations for the release of the missing man. For hours after the word leaked out, the family and most official sources refused to confirm the kidnapping.

Margain's father, Hugo B. Margain, is serving his second tour as ambassador to the United States. He also has been Mexico's ambassador to Britain and secretary of the Mexican Treasury. He was reported with the family in Mexico City.

The 23rd of September Communist League takes its name from the date of a shootout more than a dozen years ago between student activists and soldiers at an army barracks in the northern state of Chihuahua. It is Mexico's largest and best-organized guerrilla gang.

Farm Direct marketing demonstrated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he's going to be one of the first customers from a group of farmers sell fresh fruits and vegetables in front of his department today.

About 20 producers from Washington's metropolitan area are expected to participate in the venture as the Agriculture Department of direct marketing of farm produce.

Bergland told reporters Wednesday that the event is "part of a continuing series of efforts on the part of USDA to match up consumers with producers" of farm products.

"I'm going there to buy fruits and vegetables for my family, and I expect I'll be buying the world's best food," Bergland said.

However, if it rains the sales event will be canceled, department officials said.

Congress provided funds a couple of years ago for USDA to help states carry out local farm-to-consumer projects.

The department reviews plans submitted by state agriculture agencies to develop new projects. About 13,000 direct marketing outlets were in operation when the measure was passed in late 1976, according to USDA.

Direct sales account for only a small part of the food sold nationally, an estimated 3 percent of the fruits and vegetables for example.

But some small farmers make sizable portions of their yearly income that way. A spot check of roadside stands in 17 states showed an estimated $208 million in gross sales.

Although USDA has promoted he direct-sales program, which has been financed at 5 million a year, it was deleted in President Carter's budget sent to Congress last winter.

However, a bill to continue the program at the same spending level in 1979-79 passed the Senate and has cleared the House Agriculture Committee.

"We're taking care to see that this wheat comes from smut-free farms, is kept clean during handling and shipping so that it can be in good shape when it gets there," Bergland said Wednesday in an interview.

After ordering wheat four years ago, China canceled several orders, claiming that a kind of smut called TCK had tainted some shipments.

China began buying U.S. wheat again this year and so far has ordered about 2.5 million metric tons or about 91.8 million bushels. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds and is equal to 36.7 bushels of wheat.

Bergland is scheduled to visit Peking and said he probably will go there in early November, although the dates and other details have not been worked out.

Funding approved for study of socioeconomic research

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Southwestern Regional Border Commission has approved funding for a California research center to study the "socioeconomic ties between California and Baja California."

A commission representative said the center was to be established today at San Diego State University using a $44,596 grant from the school and the commission for a six-month demonstration period.

The four-state agency which approved the center Tuesday is composed of representatives from Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas. It was created by presidential order in 1976 by then-President Gerald Ford.

Jay Merrill, deputy commissioner of the agency's California office, said centers are planned for Riverside, Imperial and San Diego Counties and each of the border states.

The centers, he said, will help local planners and policy makers in the government and private sector obtain information in an area "where people don't have much understanding."

He said the center will work closely with Baja California Gov. Roberto de la Madrid's administration for socioeconomic planning on both sides of the border.

Good place to retire

with Marj Carpenter

Luring retired persons to an area has long been a favorite thing for cities and villages to do. And Big Spring is lucky enough to have a large number of railroad retirees amidst them. I say fortunate because I really enjoy railroad people and I agree with their philosophy that "The trains will have to eventually make a comeback."

One has only to look at the passenger service in Europe to know that it could be a really useful reality here. We've done a lot of things in this country to help kill off the railroads. Demands of unions have hurt them, as has the great sympathetic American public who have traditionally awarded gigantic settlements in damage suits to a lot of people who simply carelessly ran out in front of trains.

But if the energy scrunch eventually causes a great comeback for the railroads of the land, a lot of the Big Spring retirees will enjoy saying, "I told you so."

Another group of local retirees is composed of veterans. One reason for this is that Big Spring is fortunate enough to have an excellent Veterans Administration Hospital. They used to also have the base facilities and some of them enjoyed using the commissary facilities here, and that of course was lost with Webb.

But believe it or not, some folks retire here simply because it is still a typical West Texas town. It has senior citizen activities at the Older Adult Center at Kentwood and at the Senior Citizens Center at First Presbyterian Church. It has shopping facilities that the elderly can enjoy without a big scrunch. They can drive without terrifying traffic congestion, and they can enjoy their church and their neighbors, and pretty much whatever they want to enjoy.

Such a couple are Polly and Arch Owens. They moved to Big Spring in February to get out of Houston. "It's way to difficult to drive there," Arch stated firmly. "It's really terrifying to drive around Houston nowadays," he laughed. They wanted to be near their children in Midland but not right in Midland. They eyed Alpine and Big Spring and "my wife chose Big Spring," Owens stated. He admitted they were closer to the two grandchildren that way.

"We weren't fond of the spring dust storms," he admitted and added, "But they weren't as bad as we thought they might be."

The Owens like western music, family, friends and each other. They don't like "bumper to bumper traffic" and decided that it was even worse than possible sand storms in West Texas.

Serenity pierced by radio systems

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — In the raft for aides, Secret Service agents and reporters who accompanied President Carter down the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, the most dominant sound was not the rush of the river.

Instead, at any hour of the day or night, the sound of the ubiquitous radio communication system intruded upon the serenity of the wilderness.

The White House Communications Agency had set up an elaborate radio system for the president to keep in touch with the outside world during his three-day trip. In the mountains high above the river, the communications agency set up at various points along Carter's route, giving each site a name that began with the letter C.

It didn't matter whether you were going through a white water rapid or camped along the banks of the river. There was no escape from hearing the people at the relay stations talking constantly with each other and staff aides.

It usually began like this: "Cowpuncher, cowpuncher. Checkmate?" That meant the checkmate site wanted to talk to the cowpuncher site. Sometimes it was Chaperone or Cablegram.

"They use funny names to amuse themselves," said one White House aide. It was much like the code names Secret Service agents give members of the first family which were also used frequently over the radio.

The press raft knew for instance that 10-year-old Amy had forgotten her eyeglasses when, for several hours, there were various radio messages instructing that "Dynamo's" glasses be put on the next helicopter and flown to the president's daughter.

The radio also was used to keep everyone abreast of the president or "Deacon's" whereabouts, usually as an aid to keep the press raft from getting close enough to see him. Sometimes a staffer in one raft would use the radio simply to tell those in another raft to watch for some local sight such as sheep grazing on the side of the mountain.

The system was installed for the president but several observers concluded it was mainly used by the talkative White House staff.

White House press secretary Jody Powell, who was traveling in the press raft, spent almost the entire journey fishing serenely off the end of the boat.

One afternoon he pulled in a cutthroat trout about five inches long. Since it was "The sandstorms can't kill you and the traffic can," Owens added. The Owens are anxious to learn more about the area and meet more people here.

And it's interesting to know that people choose Big Spring in which to retire.

People used to worry a lot about whether a town had the correct climate to raise their children. This is still important.

But in recent years, with the increasingly large number of senior citizens who are still active and want to spend their years happily and safely, a community also needs to study their "hole card" to see if they measure up for retirees.

Because retirees are important and I for one thoroughly enjoy them — out where I ride fence.

illegal to keep, Powell was preparing to toss the fish back in the river when it slipped from his hand onto the bottom of the raft beneath cartons and baggage.

Having reporters on board in such a delicate situation made Powell obviously uncomfortable. He began a frantic search for the fish.

After some time, he found the fish and, although it was a bit worse for wear, tossed it back into the water.

The rafters speculated on its fate as Powell leaned halfway over the raft keeping track of its progress. Finally he announced: "It turned over and sank."

Ex-boxing champion is released

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former light-heavyweight boxing champion Archie Moore is scheduled to be released Friday from a hospital in Nigeria, where he is recuperating from back injuries suffered in a traffic accident.

State Department spokesman Tom Reston said Sunday that Moore suffered serious back injuries, but did not break his back or sever his spine in the accident in Ibaden, Nigeria.

Present plans are for Moore to leave Nigeria next Sunday for Nova Scotia, where he will be treated by an orthopedist.

Ali has candy bar

DEER LAKE, Pa. (AP) — First there was the Reggie bar, named after baseball star Reggie Jackson. And now, the Muhammad Ali Crisp Crunch bar.

Ali, training here for his Sept. 15 heavyweight boxing championship rematch with Leon Spinks, scheduled a news conference today at Wilbur Chocolate Co. in Litzitz, Pa., to unveil the new candy bar.

The 2½-ounce bar — a peanut and crisped rice confection — will be available in major markets Sept. 1, will cost 59 cents and will carry the former champ's signature, said Wilson Frederick, chairman of the board of Foltz-Wessinger Inc., advertising agency for the chocolate factory.

Holding stocks not popular any more

NEW YORK (AP) — "Buy stocks and hold them" is not the popular doctrine it once was among the investing institutions that manage money for an estimated 115 million Americans.

By all accounts, many of the nation's pension funds, banks, insurance companies and other institutions have grown disillusioned with that time-honored approach in the chancy, high-inflation climate of the 1970s.

Five or 10 years ago, fund managers commonly concentrated on "one-decision" stocks — a select group of high-quality growth companies — with the idea of holding those stocks indefinitely.

"The attitude today is far different," observed Frank E. Block, an analyst at Bache Halsey Stuart Shields Inc. who spent 24 years working in bank trust departments before moving to the brokerage side of the business five years ago.

In place of the old stress on picking the right stock and staying with it — which worked out very poorly once the glamor issues began to fall in 1973 — there has developed an emphasis on "market timing," in which the question is not so much what stock you buy, but whether you buy it "cheap" and get out of it at the right time.

Block noted that timing strategies have grown in popularity because of the market's behavior over the last dozen years or so. In that period it has experienced a long series of volatile ups and downs, but produced little or no net gain to reward those who simply sat and held stocks.

In addition, he pointed out, the rise of interest rates has encouraged a shift of money to fixed-income investments.

Money held out of stocks now can earn 7 percent-plus in short-term Treasury bills.

Sharply reduced commission rates since the advent of full fee competition among brokers in 1975 have also encouraged in-and-out trading strategies, he noted.

And human nature also plays a part. "Since everyone else is doing it, aggressive timing becomes part of the conventional wisdom," said Block.

He recalled a much-quoted warning from the economist John Maynard Keynes that it is risky to be a non-conformist, whether or not one is right. "The non-conformist is given very little credit if he is right and is condemned roundly if he is wrong. The conformist can go down in flames with his head held high, as long as everyone else is going down in flames, too."

All this has left the big-name growth stocks in disfavor for most of the past five years. But those issues have shown some signs of life this summer, leading a strong stock market rally.
