Former president attacks Carter administration

Ford campaigning in Big Spring

By MARJ CARPENTER

"He really did come to Big Spring," a student said to her mother at the Big Spring Airport this morning when a former President of the United States, Gerald Ford, got off his plane.

It was the second time a former president ever came to Big Spring, and the other time, the late Lyndon B. Johnson came quietly into town for a funeral.

The band playing and bystanders at the airport craned their necks to get a look at the former president. It was nothing new for him, but it was new for Big Spring.

Ford touched down at Big Spring

Airport 15 minutes earlier than expected. The band that was on hand for his reception ran into place, their horns blaring as members took their places.

During the press conference with Ford, he said that he thought the political climate had changed in Texas and in most of the nation.

"I hope they elect better leadership for the Congress in 1978 than they did in the presidential race in 1976," he said. He then turned on a boyish grin for the crowd, reporters noted.

The ex-commander-in-chief then blasted the present administration for its policies on energy and what he called "an inability to handle double-digit inflation."

Ford stressed that he and former California Governor Ronald Reagan were close personal friends, and that they were both working for Republican candidates.

"Reagan and I were in Dallas last night attempting to help Clements, Tower and Baker. And I'm in Big Spring today trying to help Bill Fisher," said Ford. "I have heard a lot of good things about Big Spring from my old friend Omar Burleson (Cong. D-Tex.) and I appreciate being invited here today," he added.

Bill Fisher, Republican candidate for Congress from Abilene, was the honoree at the dinner at the Dora Roberts Fair Barns and Gerald Ford was the speaker.

The crowd had swelled to the point that it could not be contained in the Dora Roberts Community Center, so the Dora Roberts Fair Barn was utilized and 400 additional tickets added for a 700 total.

Around 40 persons donated $50 each to help pay the $1500 plane expense for the speaker. They sat in a designated honor area.

Ford is making a swing through Texas backing Republican political candidates and on Tuesday had appeared on the University of Texas campus with Bill Clements, gubernatorial hopeful.

Tuesday night, he and Ronald Reagan, as well as George Bush and Anne Armstrong all appeared in Dallas at a $1,000 a plate fund-raiser for Clements.

Then today, the former president was flown to Big Spring where he landed at the airport, held a press conference, and then spoke at the luncheon.

Subject of his talk was the same as the Republican leaders are stressing throughout the land — the need for a Republican Congress and Republican leadership.

Mayor Wade Choate acted as master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Chaplain Clayton Hicks of the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mrs. Don Newson sang "The Star Spangled Banner." Winston Wrinkle, longtime active in the Republican Party here introduced Fisher and he in turn introduced Ford.

Mrs. Polly Mays and Mrs. Carol Hunter are campaign chairmen here for Fisher. John Currie and R.H. Weaver are chairmen for Clements.

Ben Bancroft is chairman for the re-election of Sen. John Tower.

County Chairman Sam Hunicutt was a special guest, as was his assistant chairman, Mary Randle.

Other special out-of-town guests invited included Ernie Angelo, Texas national committeeman from Midland and Judge Barbara Culver of Midland.

Four limousines carried the former president and his party to the Fair Barns where they came in the rear to be seated and speak to the crowd.

Actually serving began earlier for early arrivals to the seated event. Several young Republican girls served the head table and the rest of the group ate buffet style.

Children from some of the private schools were lucky enough to go to the airport in a group.

The former president has not admitted anywhere that he is an announced candidate to seek the presidency again in 1980, but some backers maintain that he will seek the nomination.

When the former president landed, he landed on what is now a most spacious runway at the former Webb AFB. The once busy Air Force Base was first announced for probable closure during Ford's administration.

School members might select new board member

The meeting of the Big Spring Independent School Board Thursday afternoon might result in the selection of a new board member.

An executive session is listed on the agenda for consideration of several persons, but according to Superintendent Lynn Hise, no preference has yet been expressed by the board.

Also on the agenda is consideration of the Social Security referendum which was voted by school personnel earlier this week. The board will be presented with the results of the vote. If trustees decide to stop participation in the Social Security system, they could only initiate that action at this meeting. Their decision would have no effect until after a two-year waiting period.

The remainder of the agenda is routine.

and closed during the administration of President Carter.

The airport will soon be a full-fledged municipal airport and the industrial foundation is working toward making the former AFB a full fledged industrial park with Lubbock Manufacturing, and soon a minimum security facility for federal white collar prisoners, a Midas Mobile plant, and possibly later Lockheed.

Big Spring was rolling out the red carpet here today, because this was the first time that they received this type of attention from a former President.

Vice President Mondale taking active interest in compromise bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The vice president's office just off the Senate chamber is an ornate place normally given over more to ceremony than hard work.

But with a natural gas compromise hanging in the balance, Vice President Walter F. Mondale has moved in for real to orchestrate the administration's lobbying campaign for the bill President Carter claims is so crucial to the U.S. energy future.

Sources say Mondale doesn't plan to leave until the issue is resolved one way or the other. For one thing, Mondale might be needed to cast a tie-breaking vote. It's that close.

Meanwhile, he is holed up in the office, where he entertains wavering senators, tries to persuade longtime colleagues on the other side to change their minds, and occasionally wanders out onto the Senate floor to confer with the leadership.

As the Senate began its third day of debate on the measure today, the vice president's constant presence was a reminder of the heavy lobbying the legislation is undergoing.

Both sides agree it's the most intense lobbying since the Senate took up the Panama Canal treaties last spring.

An Associated Press survey shows 39 senators supporting or leaning toward supporting the compromise, 41 against or leaning against and 20 undecided.

However, an analysis of undecided votes suggests the administration now has a better shot of prevailing than do opponents.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker conceded Tuesday that opposition forces probably do not have enough strength to have the bill recommitted to a House-Senate conference committee for retooling in what would be a killing blow. If he is correct, the opponents would have to resort to other tactics — perhaps a filibuster.

A motion to recommit the bill was expected today, with a vote on the move possibly coming as early as Thursday.

The compromise would lift federal price controls on newly discovered natural gas in 1985 and allow for a steady increase in the regulated price between now and then.

Chance of postal strike fading

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chance of a nationwide postal strike appears to be fading because of reluctance by many union members to jeopardize their careers and risk going to jail.

Emmet Andrews, president of the largest postal union, the 299,000-member American Postal Workers Union, is sending a message to his members that there is "overwhelming grass roots resistance to the idea of defying the courts and going on strike."

In the message, which union members are receiving today, Andrews said an outpouring of sentiment against an illegal strike has reached union headquarters.

"Many if not most of the members" would not heed a strike call, Andrews wrote. "A strike that is only half a strike is a disaster by definition."

Three postal unions are deadlocked with the Postal Service over a new contract, and special federal mediator James J. Healy is preparing binding arbitration of unresolved issues by a deadline of 10 a.m. EDT Saturday.

The binding arbitration would cover the APWU, the National Association of Letter Carriers and the mail handlers division of Laborers' International Union. Together, they represent 516,000 postal employees.

"While a negotiated settlement is still possible, it is almost certain now that it will be necessary for me to resolve the issues," Healy said Tuesday.

As he spoke, big-city union leaders backed down from earlier threats to stage an illegal postal strike this week. Postmaster General William F. Bolger said the mail will get through even if there is a strike.

Bolger was applauded when he told a convention of business mailers that "it will be safe to mail" in coming days.

He said the Postal Service is better prepared for a walkout than it was during the 1970 wildcat strike, when about 200,000 postal workers left their jobs. Elaborate strike contingency plans include use of federal troops, non-movement of certain types of mail and allowing private firms to deliver letters.

The postmaster general has sent letters to every postal worker warning they could be fired, fined and jailed for going on strike.

Bolger was not the only one predicting a strike would not be called. William Burrus, head of the Cleveland local of the APWU, said, "I really don't expect it to come off."

Burrus is chairman of a group of dissident local leaders that had talked of scattered walkouts as early as tonight.

Carter's effort to reach peace in intensifying

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Carter has met unannounced with Israel's Menachem Begin, setting off intensive U.S. deliberations in the search for a way to compromise Israeli and Egyptian differences over the future of the Palestinian Arabs.

The Carter-Begin session, which lasted nearly an hour and a half Tuesday night, was confirmed today by the White House press office more than 12 hours later. Carter and Begin had not met since last Sunday.

After the meeting, Carter left his principal advisers, including Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, working past midnight. It was understood the U.S. delegation is working on the precise language of a statement encompassing Palestinian and other issues.

Rising early, Carter went back to work at 6:45 a.m. EDT, meeting with Vance, presidential assistant Zbigniew Brzezinski and Harold Saunders, assistant secretary of state for the Middle East.

Carter has yet to impose a deadline for winding up the week-old Middle East summit, although it threatens to disrupt his own schedule for speechmaking and politicking.

Chamber offers free tickets to barbecue

Tickets for the Agribusiness barbecue, one of the highlights of the annual Howard County Fair, will be given free to farmers and ranchers of Howard County but they should be picked up at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce office no later than next Tuesday.

The meal, to be catered by Al's Barbecue, will be served in the South barn at the fairgrounds starting at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Local business men pick up the tab as a gesture of good will to the farmer and rancher. Last year 600 people paraded through the serving lines and as many as 700 could be fed this year.

Music for the occasion will be called by the Texas Brass and Strings, a local group. The musicians are not charging the Chamber for their services.

Action / reaction: U-turn tips

Q. It is legal to make a U-turn within an intersection?

A. It's legal to execute a U-turn unless a sign at the site prohibits it. Turning a vehicle around can be dangerous in areas such as areas along Gregg Street and downtown and you'll usually find signs which prohibit such turns. In residential areas where traffic is heavy such signs are often posted, too. You will find it safer to turn right, go around the block and then head back in the other direction.

Offbeat: Mis-fortune

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — When he got back to his office after a visit to Washington, the staff presented University of Mississippi Chancellor Porter Fortune Jr. with a rearview mirror — for his glasses.

The homemade gift was prompted by Fortune's misfortune: he was robbed while strolling through the nation's capital.

A university spokesman said the chancellor was robbed of his wallet after being grabbed by two or three assailants Sunday night.

He was not injured, except for a scratch on the nose.

Tops on TV: Cheesecake galore

The angelic ones (Charlie's that is) dominate the airwaves for two solid hours, beginning at 8 p.m. today on ABC. But if a two-hour diet of cheesecake is not too appetizing, switch over to the premiere of "W.E.B.," at 9 p.m. on NBC. The show is about the behind-the-scenes machinations at a big network, and is modeled on the movie of that name ("Network") that was a hit last year.

Property owners elect directors

LUBBOCK — A permanent board of directors has been named by the recently formed Lubbock Property Owners Association.

An estimated 200 persons showed up in the Monterey High School auditorium to vote a reduction in the number of directors from 14 to nine.

Preliminary indications at Tuesday's meeting pointed to a more reasonable and better organized tax revolt.

Widows worry

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — House repairs ranks second to only loneliness for widows because many repairs overcharge or skimp jobs when working for a single woman, a survey reported to England's National Association of Widows.

THAT STINKS! — Comedian Steve Martin holds his nose and gives the audience the raspberry during a performance in Los Angeles Saturday. The gesture comes during his routine when, pretending to be a caveman, Martin builds a fire with imaginary dung.

Hobbs police chief quits

HOBBS, N.M. — This city's first black police chief, Jim Palmer, has announced his resignation, effective Sunday.

Palmer has been a member of the Hobbs police force for 27 years and has served as chief for five years. He is seeking medical retirement.

Maj. Bob Cheney, 37, second in command, will be appointed interim chief of the 82-member police force.

Palmer is a native of Plano, Tex. He is credited with instituting two programs that have lowered the Hobbs crime rate the past two years.

Shopping mall ceremonies

MIDLAND — Ground-breaking ceremonies were held here Tuesday for a 750,000 square foot shopping mall, to be located at FM 868 and North Midkiff Road.

Anchoring three sides of the mall will be Sears, Roebuck and Co., J.C. Penney and Dillard's.

The largest single tenant in the climate-controlled mall will be Sears, which will have a 112,684 square foot department store.

Completion is scheduled by the spring of 1980.

Impact of OSHA dust rules at gins mullied

Big Spring area cotton ginners heard reports on the impact of the new OSHA dust standard requirement that has been placed on cotton gins at a Texas Ginners Association Area Meeting Sept. 12. The Big Spring area cotton ginners also heard information on new cotton research and promotion financed by cotton producers and carried out by Cotton Incorporated.

Tony Price, executive vice president of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association, discussed the OSHA dust standard at the Area Meeting, saying, "Ginners will make every effort to comply with cotton dust standards. But it is obvious that in 1979 not all can meet these standards. The Texas Cotton Ginners Association will seek relief of certain impractical requirements of the law, such as requiring two physical examinations of gin workers during ginning season."

Speaking on other proposed government regulations for cotton gins, Price said, "We're advising ginners to use at least three shifts of workers if practical. Otherwise overtime provisions in the law may reduce any chances of a profitable operation.

"The Texas Cotton Ginners Association has been very pleased with the practical approaches that state EPA and OSHA personnel have used in checking ginner compliance with regulations," he added.

David Chamness, a representative of the Cotton Board, reported at the meeting on the success of Natural Blend cotton products, a 60 percent cotton, 40 percent synthetic fiber material developed through Cotton Incorporated textile research programs, in competing with 100 percent synthetic fiber products.

Guilty plea, revocation motion heard

A guilty plea and a revocation motion were heard Tuesday in 118th District Court.

James A. Isaac, 20, pleaded guilty to a burglary charge and was sentenced to eight years in the Texas Department of Corrections. Isaac was also revoked from probation for five years for failure to report to his probation officer. The sentences will run concurrently.

Gilbert Gamboa, 27, 905 Abrams, pleaded guilty to delivery of marijuana and was sentenced to ten years probation and a $1,500 fine. The sentences were handed down by District Judge Ralph Caton.

Californian wins steer roping championship in Wyoming

LARAMIE, Wyo. — Kenny Call, a professional rodeo cowboy from Newhall, Calif., came from behind in the last go-round to seize the World Championship in steer roping at Laramie Sunday.

Call, 33, needed a 1st-place run on his 10th and final steer to snatch the crown from former world champ Walt Arnold of Silverton, Tex. Arnold already had cinched top spot in the average (worth a triple-point bonus) and the rest was up to Call. His rope shot out, and Call completed the tie in 13.58 seconds — the fastest of the go-round and second quickest of the entire Finals.

Call, who resided in Norman, Okla., until recently, was sitting 6th at the halfway point. The 7th go-round didn't appear to be the answer to his prayers either; the steer kicked Call between the eyes and it took him 123.71 seconds to get the job done. He came back to place in the last four rounds, winning a pair of them, and leave Arnold looking at the runner-up slot.

The National Steer Roping Finals, sanctioned by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association, utilized a championship point system for the first time this year. Fast time in each go-round earned the roper 40 points; 2nd through 4th places were worth 30, 20 and 10 points apiece.

Weather

Flash flood watch out for Texas Hill Country

Heavy thunderstorms moved across the Hill Country early today, dumping about two inches of rainfall at Bandera and prompting the National Weather Service to issue a flash flood watch for a vast area of South Central Texas.

More heavy rainfall appeared to be on the way for the area early today as reports indicated another heavy thunderstorm moved across the Rio Grande from Mexico near Eagle Pass, moving northeastward.

The storm was expected to move across the area west of San Antonio during the morning.

Sun sets today at 7:55 p.m. Sun rises Thursday at 7:29 a.m. Highest temperature this date 104 in 1970. Lowest temperature 45 in 1975. Most precipitation .34 in 1949.

Mostly clear skies are forecast for the western half of the country. Cooler weather is expected for the Northeast and the Plains.

Classes still open at Howard College

Air-conditioning, Heating and Refrigeration I is only one of the many classes available to our community at Howard College Industrial Education Division. This and many more classes may still be signed-up for in the registrars' office.

Machine Tool Technology has many courses offered at night. These classes are taught by Clifford Hale, who has been at Howard College for five years.

The Automotive Technology department has a new instructor for evening classes. Gary Prater will be teaching all evening classes. Johnny Moore, who has taught these classes for the past four years is now teaching for Midland College. Prater brings a large variety of experience to Howard College and will be a great asset to the automotive technology program. Classes are still open to register in all classes.

One of the most popular classes on the HC campus has been welding. M.A. Long, one of the outstanding welders of this area, is the instructor. He has been teaching at Howard College for over 11 years. All classes are still open in welding.

Auto Body Repair is the fastest growing program in the Industrial Education area. Brad Mosher teaches this area of instruction. It is one of the only auto body programs in West Texas. As with all the industrial programs, the demand for skilled people in these areas, far outstrips the supply.

Steve Clark starts his second year with HC as the drafting instructor. Steve came to the college last year from industry and has a broad education as well as experience in drafting.

It is hard for Clark to keep students, however, due to their going to work after only one or two semesters of instruction. The job market is wide open in this area and if anyone is interested in a career, contact Steve Clark on extension 69 at Howard College.

Jewelry Manufacturing is still a popular class in the Industrial area. Ms. Cleo Fields teaches this class and still has openings for a few more students.

A special class is being offered this semester which is a rare treat for Big Spring and Howard College. Denver Pettitt and Ed Shrum are co-teaching a class on Guitar and stringed instrument repair. Much work has gone into getting this class at the college and registration is still open for this class.

All areas of Industrial Education are in tremendous demand, according to John Freeman, chairman, Industrial Education. One of the major reasons for the rise in cost of repairing things is the lack of skilled labor to do the work.

Howard College can train students in just about any field. Electronics is an area that has been neglected in the past and now with the advent of digital clocks, radios and other printed circuit electronic equipment, the demand for these people has far outreached the supply.

Howard College has a new instructor in Electronics-Electricity. This area will receive renewal emphasis because of the tremendous job offering in industry.

Registration is through Sept. 15, but some classes will be filled by Wednesday, Sept. 13. So anyone interested in taking any of the Industrial classes should contact the registrars' office 7-6311 at Howard College.

Justifiable Pride

Spinks vows to be the best ever

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "I knew I was gonna be somebody," said Leon Spinks. "If it was a drunk, I was gonna be the best drunk that ever was."

Well the kid that grew up in a St. Louis ghetto is somebody. He isn't the best drunk that ever was ... he isn't even a drunk. He isn't the best fighter that ever was, either ... but he is the heavyweight champion of the world, the conqueror of Muhammad Ali.

Leon Spinks knows where he came from, what he is and is learning what he can be.

"I'd like to be a world figure but I'd like to be a world figure my way," said Spinks, who, in a way, presently is mainly a figure of curiosity, a kind of fate-made freak who beat a living legend but in the minds of many people can't do it again Friday night in the Superdome.

Spinks is a man under pressure, and his reaction to the pressure is a fatalistic one. "I don't do any predicting," he said of his rematch with Ali. "The best man wins. The man upstairs says you ain't gonna win, you ain't gonna win."

But while the spectre of defeat doesn't seem to frighten him, he is spurred by the knowledge that a victory takes him farther up the road from poverty, a station in life that shaped him but one he never wants to visit again.

"I think about the ghetto," Spinks said before a training session. "I think why do I want to go back and play my life as a repeat. You don't want to go back where you came from. If you do, you're a fool."

The 25-year-old Spinks doesn't fit the mold of a fool. But his public image since he won the title has been one of carelessness, possibly recklessness. His attitude is one of "I don't give a damn."

Spinks, painfully aware of the endless comparisons with Ali — "Ali is one hell of a promoter. He's a hell of a man" — said his image has been distorted.

Since winning the title last Feb. 5, Spinks has had several run-ins with the police about driving violations and one concerning drugs. The drug charge was dismissed but the incident, like the others, was widely played in the news media.

"A lot of people in the press turn things around and manipulate things against me," he said. Then, as if to emphasize that he is his own man, he added: "They ain't puttin' no food on my table. They ain't putting no clothes on my back."

"I'm learning to deal with the world the way I want to," Spinks said, noting that he is not, and does not want to be a world figure like Ali.

"I want to make enough money to sit on my can," he said of his fighting future. As for his non-fight future, "The only thing I'm interested in is helpin' the kids."

NOW SEE HERE — Minnesota Vikings quarterback Fran Tarkenton (10) has some words to say to head linesman Gil Mace (90) and side judge Dick Ferguson (87) after officials stopped the clock Monday night with three seconds left after Denver Broncos quarterback Norris Weese was sacked. The three seconds allowed Denver to tie the game with a field goal. At right is Vikes Chuck Foreman.

NFL controversy continues

By the Associated Press Norris Weese could have saved everybody a lot of grief simply by fumbling the ball toward the end zone.

Denver's quarterback Weese, under the gun — and half a ton of Minnesota Vikings as well — only a few hours earlier, allowed himself a moment of comic relief.

"Yeah," he joked, "we've practiced that play a lot, where I sort of flip the ball toward Jon Keyworth and he sort of kicks it ahead to Riley Odoms. But we just didn't have enough time to set it up."

Had he pulled off a play equal to the Ken Stabler-to-Pete Banaszak-to-Dave Casper "fumble" that won Sunday's game for Oakland, Monday night's game between the Broncos and Vikings would have ended on a lot less confusing note.

The National Football League has rules governing just the sort of mayhem perpetrated by Weese and Denver Coach Red Miller.

To quote the pertinent section of the rules, an automatic referee's time-out is called "... from the time an intended passer is downed behind the line until all players involved in a clearly intended pass have had a reasonable time to reassemble."

What happened, basically, was this: Denver, trailing Minnesota 9-6 with 11 seconds to go, was on the Vikings' 6-yard line with no time outs left. Weese sprinted out to his right and was tackled for a 3-yard loss. Referee Don Wedge called time out with three seconds left — and didn't call time in until the Broncos lined up for a field goal. Jim Turner kicked it to tie the game, enraging the Vikings.

It all became moot when Minnesota won 12-9 in overtime.

The two key phrases in the rule are "clearly intended pass" and "reasonable time to reassemble."

"The play (rollout) was sent in from the sidelines,"

Weese said. "I slipped after a step or two and got pressure pretty quickly. I couldn't get behind my blockers as well as I might have. I was running all the way initially. It wasn't a pass play. By the time I realized what was going on and tried to throw it away, I couldn't get rid of it. I was going to throw it away but they brought me down."

The game, it seemed, was over. "I thought it was," Weese acknowledged. But it wasn't. And when the Broncos were given time to set up and kick their field goal, Bud Grant, the usually stolid coach of the Vikings, erupted.

"It was a run all the way and the clock still goes," he fumed later. "If he was sacked, it would be different. But we shouldn't have had to wait for the team to gather for a field goal."

Weese admitted he was taken aback by the time Wedge gave the Broncos "I did think it was a little bit of a long time. Yeah. I was surprised that we could get all lined up and ready before they blew the whistle."

Despite Weese's admission that he never intended to pass, Wedge was right to whistle play dead. "Any time a player is sacked while behind the line of scrimmage attempting to pass, the clock is stopped," he began his postgame explanation.

Tommy Bell, a 15-year NFL referee who retired last year and watched the game in his home in Lexington, Ky., backed Wedge's time-out whistle. "I think he handled it right," he said. "Any time a passer rolls out and is tackled you've got to say he clearly intended to pass. You can't make a judgment that he wasn't going to throw the ball. It's not up to a referee to read minds."

But the rest of Wedge's explanation raised a question. The ball is spotted and the clock doesn't start again until players from both teams are lined up," he said.

Each week during the football season, the Herald will present a certificate of recognition to one player from each of the six area schools. Every honoree during the ten game season will be eligible for the "Brad Stevens Award", a travelling trophy to be presented annually by the Sports Department of the Herald that will signify the winners as the "most talented and courageous" high school player in the six city area. The weekly award is entitled "Above the Call" and is picked by each school's head coach.

Cecil Walker, a 5'10", 155-pound linebacker, is Coahoma's first recipient of the year. There were many others considered, due to winning performances against Wall, but coach Roy Winters picked Cecil because he was the leading tackler in the stingy Big Red defense that limited Wall to seven points.

Even though the Big Spring Steers lost their opener to Andrews, there were some players that performed admirably, most notable of which was wide receiver Joe Willie Jones. The 135-pounder made three acrobatic receptions for 74 yards, one of which set up the only Bovine touchdown of the night.

Grady coach Richard Gibson had nothing but praise for his 130-pound halfback-linebacker, Ruben Gutierrez. He did a good job offensively running the football, but his defensive play won him the award. He had 15 tackles and one interception from his linebacker post. The award also took into consideration the fact that he was playing the entire game on an injured foot.

Randy Cregar, a 173-pound senior, takes home the honor for the Forsan Buffaloes. The conscientious youngster played very consistently from his running back and defensive back positions. Head Coach George White also lauded Randy's punting in the loss to Bronco.

Jesse Ybarra is the initial winner for the Sands Mustangs. The 125-pound halfback scored the Ponies only touchdown in their 7-6 loss to Grandfalls. He also scored another six pointer that was nullified due to an infraction. Coach Dickie Lepard also said that Jesse

Landry defends 'Doomsday Defense'

DALLAS (AP) — The leading tacklers on the Dallas Cowboy team are free safety Cliff Harris and strong safety Charlie Waters, but don't come to the conclusion that the World Champions' front four and linebackers aren't doing their job unless you want a mini-lecture from Coach Tom Landry.

Landry bristled briefly Tuesday when asked why his safeties were having to make so many tackles. Harris has made 10 tackles and Waters is 8 and 6 — tops for the team.

"That's their job," said Landry. "Safeties make a lot of tackles. We have two good safeties and they will lead in tackles in most cases."

Dallas uses its safeties like linebackers. In 1975 and 1976, safeties were Dallas' leading tacklers. Middle linebacker Bob Breung was the top running back stopper last year.

The Cowboys yielded 24 points to the New York Giants last Sunday after blanking the Baltimore Colts in the first Monday night game.

Landry seemed relatively unconcerned about the letdown against the Giants because end Harvey Martin missed half the game after being kicked out for fighting, and linebacker Thomas Henderson and cornerback Aaron Kyle were injured.

"Our defense didn't play well but there's nothing wrong that can't be fixed," said Landry.

No 1 draft choice Larry Bethea got a workout in Martin's position but Landry was not displeased.

"Bethea was active," said Landry. "He is capable and strong. He hasn't learned to pass rush but he makes things happen. He's going to be a good player."

Landry praised the Cowboy offense which has its accustomed No. 1 spot in the National Football League statistics.

"This team has the potential to be as good as the 1976 team," said Landry. "Of course, Tony Dorsett is in his second year now. It's just hard to say how good our offense will be."

Landry said "Tony sees everything in our offense so much better. He knows it now when he does something wrong. He had no idea last year."

Landry said he will miss the rivalry this year with George Allen, his long-time rival at Washington who was fired as the Los Angeles Rams coach two games into the pre-season.

"I'll miss competing with Allen — it brings out the best in you," said Landry.

Landry said Harvey Martin was ejected from the New York Giant game last Sunday because the All-Pro was reacting to an illegal block by runningback Willie Spencer.

"Temper was hot and Spencer tackled Harvey and Harvey tried to kick loose. Harvey was the last one the referee saw," said Landry. "What Spencer did was illegal."

Earlier, Martin was flagged for unnecessary roughness when he tackled quarterback Joe Pisarcik. "That was a good call," said Landry. "There was too much enthusiasm on the tackle. You can't use your forearm when you tackle. Harvey hit him in the back and knocked him down."

Landry said strongside linebacker Thomas Henderson was doubtful against the Rams because of a badly sprained ankle.

THE CHAMP SMILES — Heavyweight champion Leon Spinks displays a smile during one of his happier moments during a workout in New Orleans where he will be defending his title against Muhammad Ali.

Grapeland holds No. 1 ranking

By The Associated Press
The attrition rate was heaviest at the top last week in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll with three of the four preseason favorites losing their top rankings.

The new lineup of No. 1 ranked teams includes Temple in 4A, Huntsville in 3A, Bellville in 2A and Class A Grapeland, the only preseason favorite to hold its top rank through the first week of the season.

Garland, the preseason No. 1 pick in Class 4A, and Mount Vernon, picked No. 1 in 2A, each dropped to second place this week following less than convincing victories.

Brownwood, last week's top 3A selection, fell to No. 5 this week after a 31-22 season-opening loss to 4A Abilene Cooper.

Garland nipped Dallas Skyline 7-0 in a lackluster performance while Mount Vernon beat Pittsburg 18-8.

Temple, with 12 starters back from a 1977 district champion, took over the early lead in 4A with a 50-7 shellacking of Austin Anderson.

Bellville exchanged its No. 2 ranking for the No. 1 spot after blasting LaGrange 37-0.

Huntsville broke on top after a wild week among the 3A ranks that saw the top three ranked teams lose and Palestine, ranked sixth, play to a 7-7 deadlock with Waxahachie.

Huntsville, which blanked Brenham 20-0, won the No. 1 rank this week in a close battle with Gregory-Portland, which doesn't open its season until Friday against Corpus Christi Carroll, ranked seventh in 4A.

Gregory-Portland, rated fourth last week, will take the No. 2 ranking against Carroll.

There were two upset victims in 4A, sixth ranked Port Neches-Groves and No. 9 Houston Sterling.

PN-G, picked earlier this year by the Texas Sports Writer's Association to win the 4A title, lost to Pasadena Dobie 14-6 and dropped out of the top 10. Sterling was defeated by West Orange Stark 10-0 and also dropped out of the list.

LaPorte, No. 8, and Houston Forest Brook, No. 10, are the 4A newcomers.

Brownwood, Dumas and Friendswood, ranked 1-2-3 in 3A last week, all remained in the rankings but Palestine dropped out after its deadlock Bay City moved in as the No. 10 team.

Charlotte pulled off the biggest shocker in A by defeating Brackett, ranked No. 2 in the preseason, 29-7.

Some Reagan supporters have memories like elephants Where was her Tower button?

AUSTIN — The middle-aged delegate's well-tailored dress carried campaign buttons and stickers for various Republican candidates — but not for U.S. Sen. John Tower.

Where was her Tower button? "Oh, I'm going to vote for him," she said. "But I don't have a button for him." Her tone indicated she probably wasn't trying hard to get one.

She was a walking example of the relatively low profile of Texas' Republican senator at the state GOP convention in Dallas last weekend.

Tower came, spoke and drew cheers. But the 1,600 delegates, their alternates and spouses seemed preoccupied with other races.

Political talk I heard at pre-convention cocktail parties centered around State Chairman Ray Barnhart's re-election fight, Bill Clements' campaign for governor and local races.

Ronald Reagan supporters dominated the convention. Some have not forgiven Tower for supporting former President Gerald Ford against Reagan in 1976.

Jim Davis

Few Republicans will desert Tower to support his Democratic opponent, U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger. But Tower previously has counted on frenzied support from Texas Republicans plus the quieter vote of conservative Democrats.

The first part of that equation is not missing this year, but it may be weakened.

In the it's-all-a-matter-of- semantics category:

Bill Clements told the GOP convention that if elected governor he would be tough as nails against "northeastern plundering" of Texas energy assets.

U.S. Rep. Jack Kemp of New York, a convention guest speaker, played down the regional angle.

Asked about Clements' "northeastern plundering" remark, Kemp said he and Clements are saying the same thing in different words.

"He called it 'plundering,' and I called it 'redistribution,'" Kemp said.

State employees will have more to spend from their September paychecks. Sept. 1 marks a new state fiscal year and ushered in two salary boosters.

One is a 3.4 percent salary hike; the other, state assumption of the employee's Social Security payment. For employees making up to $16,500, the latter item will mean a 5.85 percent income increase.

The percent goes down as salaries go up. Legislators thought the Social Security assumption

CRMWD directors face some sticky decisions

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will face some sticky decisions when they consider the 1979 operating budget at a meeting set for 10 a.m. Sept. 21 in Big Spring.

Dwindling supplies from Lake J.B. Thomas, one of two major reservoirs, are being reflected in revenue losses. At the same time, this has necessitated greater energy use to lift water over 70 miles and several hundred feet higher from Lake Spence in greater-than-normal volume. Compounding the problem is the constantly rising unit cost for energy.

During all of this year oil and industrial users have been curtailed in deliveries from Lake Thomas, and since May 1 they have been cut off. This has chewed sharply into revenues of the District. Moreover, Texas Electric Service, which receives water for its Monahans plant from the District's Ward County well field, may have to be cut off next year in order to reserve a greater volume of water for Odessa, which would further reduce revenues. And all the while, general operating costs are mounting.

General Manager O.H. Ivie and other District officials have been preparing alternate budgets, based on runoff into the lakes or little or no runoff. These will be considered at a meeting of the budget committee prior to the board session.

For the past five years, inflow to Lake Thomas has averaged 17,500 acre feet, whereas the 20-year average is 43,000 acre feet. Lake Spence, which have averaged 36,500 acre feet in its nine years of life (with only a couple of those years anything like "normal") has averaged 26,000 during the past five years. It has well over 100,000 acre feet in reserve, however.

Because of possible alterations in pumping patterns to meet needs in event of no inflow, the board will consider purchase of standby pumping equipment for emergencies.

Cooking school to be held Thursday night

They come by the dozens, scores, hundreds. They are brides who are just beginning to cook. They are homemakers who have had a reputation for fine cooking for decades. They are men who are discovering the relaxation and fun of putting with pots and pans.

Why do they come? "Because it's such a great evening," some say. "Because I learn so much new ways of doing things... short cuts," say others. "Because I get ideas for menus that are out of the ordinary." "Because this school snaps me out of the old rut when I can't think of anything different to cook," says a seasoned homemaker. "Because I get such wonderful ideas for entertaining," says a hostess. And some come mainly to have a chance to win one of the many valuable door prizes. They are talking about the Southern Kitchen's Cooking School which will be held 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Municipal Auditorium. Tickets are free while they last at local stores displaying the cooking school posters.

It is important to have tickets in advance and for ticket holders to come early. The doors will be opened to fill empty seats with non-ticket holders 10 minutes before show time.

Judging from past experience, don't expect empty seats. Usually it's standing room only in the auditorium.

This year the Southern Kitchen's Cooking program will feature everything from quick-as-a-wink microwave cookery and tips on the Chinese wok to old favorites such as pumpkin bread — made a very new way.

Door prizes, new ideas, taste treats to be offered

"We will have all kinds of prizes in addition to the chance to learn some fresh ideas and taste treats that will add variety and change to your diet. That is the purpose of our cooking schools," said Joan Powell, program coordinator for the Southern Kitchen's Cooking School.

John will be on stage introducing the program and working with Pat Pittman. Ms. Pittman, who holds a degree in home economics from East Texas State University in Commerce, will be demonstrating the 10 dishes which will be prepared on stage.

Another of Ms. Pittman's qualifications is working nine years as a home economist for a utility company. Later she found herself much in demand as a freelance home economist.

Ms. Powell has had the responsibility of working behind the scene to coordinate the efforts of local merchants, prepare the groundwork, then make sure that the show runs smoothly during the performance. After the show, she might even wash a few dishes.

Don't be caught without materials

Have you ever been in the middle of a complicated process like canning fruit and found yourself missing something essential? Of course you have your canner, jars and lids at hand, but make a note now to also have these:

A slotted spoon for packing fruit into jars.
A wide-mouth funnel for easy, efficient jar filling.
Liquid measuring cups in two- and four-cup sizes for pouring hot liquids.

A sieve or colander for draining fruit.
Jar lifter or long-handled tongs for safely transferring jars to and from canner.

Teakettle with boiling water, so you can add to water in the canner as it boils away.
Rack, wooden board or folded towel for cooling processed jars.

Fruit-Fresh, to protect and preserve fruit's color, texture and taste.
Minute timer for processing less than an hour.

Plenty of clean, dry potholders, dishcloths and towels.
Make sure of yummy, not yukky results by using Fruit-Fresh, a special preservative that "locks in" just-picked freshness and flavor. It's a must for all kinds of fruits, and berries, too. The special Fruit-Fresh formula keeps not only canned fruit from turning brown and mushy, but frozen and fresh served fruit as well.

Here's a new recipe from the Fruit-Fresh kitchen that's a delicious treat, and a sure success with Fruit-Fresh.

Helpful list to watch out for canning mishaps

Part of doing things right is knowing what can go wrong. Here's a quick rundown of things that can go wrong, and why from the makers of Fruit-Fresh, the amazing preservative for canned, frozen and fresh-served fruit. If you watch out for them, and always remember to use Fruit-Fresh, you'll be well on your way to success.

SPOILAGE — This is usually caused by carelessness during processing. A faulty gauge or a failure to make altitude corrections may result in a loss of pressure. Or air may remain in canner after pressure is built up. Or water may have been allowed to stop boiling or to drop below jar tops during processing. All or any of these can cause spoilage, but can readily be avoided.

COLOR LOSS OR CHANGE — Your best protection against this sad sight is to always use Fruit-Fresh whenever you can or freeze fruit. (Fruit-Fresh protects the beauty and flavor of fresh-served fruit, too.) That's because Fruit-Fresh has a special formula that "locks in" fruit's natural color, flavor, and texture so fruit always looks and tastes fresh-picked. Other precautions you should take include: quick preparation for processing so fruit doesn't sit around, complete processing to kill all color-destroying enzymes, care in removing all air bubbles before processing, and storage of canned fruits in a cool, dim place.

FLOATING FRUIT — This happens because you've packed fruit too loosely, overprocessed it, used overripe fruit, or had syrup too heavy for the fruit.

No need to have any of these problems. They can all be avoided by simply using good fruit, good instructions, good sense, and your good friend, Fruit-Fresh.

COUNTRY CAPTAIN . . .
Rice that's different

Rice adds a little spice to economical chicken

If you're one of those people who say "Rice is rice — it all tastes and looks the same," there is something you should know.

Although the various types of rice are similar, Mahatma and Water Maid Rice are different and of premium quality. Look at any package of Mahatma or Water Maid Rice and you'll see snowy white grains enriched with the important nutrients of thiamine, niacin, and iron.

After cooking, Mahatma and Water Maid are tender, separate, and light. They have delicate flavors that are complementary to all entrees. Serve either brand plain, with butter, gravy, or with saucy entrees such as the flavorful and attractive southern recipe for Country Captain.

Using economical chicken, the recipe is made special with a mild curry-tomato sauce laced with rains and almonds. Served over hot, fluffy Mahatma or Water Maid Rice, with seasoned broccoli, a crisp salad and hot rolls of your choice, Country Captain will win you nothing but compliments.

- COUNTRY CAPTAIN
1 frying chicken, cut in serving pieces
Salt
Pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons flour
2 cans (1 lb. ea.) stewed tomatoes
2 pkgs. or 2 teaspoons instant chicken flavored broth
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
6 drops Tobasco sauce
1/4 cup raisins
1/4 cup toasted slivered almonds

3 cups hot, cooked Mahatma or Water Maid Rice

Season chicken pieces with salt and pepper. In heavy 10" skillet over low heat, saute chicken until brown. Fat will be released from skin and meat. Remove chicken from skillet. Drain all but 2 tablespoons fat. Add onion, green pepper, and garlic. Saute until tender. Blend flour into pan dripping. Stir in tomatoes, instant chicken broth, thyme, curry, Tobasco, raisins, and almonds. Return chicken to skillet. Cover and simmer 20 minutes. Serve over hot, fluffy Mahatma or Water Maid Rice.

Makes 6 servings (2-3 pcs. chicken & 1/2 cup rice each)

Various merchants assist in sponsoring cooking school

Various merchants are assisting the Big Spring Herald in sponsoring the Progressive Farmer's Southern Kitchen Cooking School, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Municipal Auditorium.

Admission to the auditorium is free, but those who plan to attend should pick up tickets in advance at Newsom's, Gibsons, Furr's, Thornton's, Wheat Furniture, Dunlap's, Piggly Wiggly, Big Spring Hardware, Giant Food, First National Bank, Western Mattress, Marilee Specialty Shoppe, Gregory's Singer, Texas State Optical and Chapman Meat Market.

Those who have tickets will be seated first, with others being admitted only if seats are still available.

Door prizes including some 20 bags of groceries, a Sunbeam Mixmaster from Gibsons and 10 books of Gold Bond Stamps from Furr's will be given away in a drawing.

Newsom's is furnishing all the food for the demonstrations, with Thornton's furnishing the refrigerator, Wheat Furniture the range, and Big Spring Hardware the microwave oven.

The school is not designed exclusively for women. Men and boys interested in cooking are encouraged to attend.

Crowds for the popular traveling cooking school, sponsored by eight nationally advertised products, averaged more than 1,500 in each of a hundred cities last year.

Herbs make vegetable growth more luxuriant

Herbs are enjoying a comeback. Up until a few generations ago, all Americans used herbs, and soon it seems, they will again. With so many people watching their intake of salt or sugar and looking for substitute tastes, others going back to "scratch" cooking or developing a repertory of really fine dishes, herbs have just naturally grown in importance. In fact, the herb garden no longer seems destined as a picturesque museum piece to bloom only on the estates of colonial restorations. It is actually appearing in back yards all over the country.

Even if you are not ready to devote a big chunk of land to an official garden for herbs, you may want to plant a few here and there amongst vegetables or flowers. In fact, herbs planted between rows of vegetables seem to make more luxuriant vegetative growth, and some people say the herbs will help discourage beetles, aphids and other pests.

Herbs do not need overly rich soil although most of them do love sun. Their ideal location is near the kitchen. It takes no great effort to snip a pinch of dill for a salad, bay for a stew or chives for the morning omelet. A slope for good drainage is also helpful because almost without exception herbs love lots of water; however, they can't stand in a pool of it. If you simply do not have garden space to give to herbs, and of course if you live in an apartment, you can still have a container herb garden. Many herbs will thrive in window boxes or in flower pots. In fact, some are happiest grown this way because they like to be moved outdoors in fine warm weather; but should be brought back indoors on colder days. Basil, chervil, bay, chives, coriander, ginger, parsley, rosemary and sage are among those herbs that can be successfully grown indoors in a container.

If snipping fresh herbs and spices in growing season is a delight, so is enjoying your own herbs during winter months. They will have better color and flavor than those pulverized and sold in little containers, and you'll have the satisfaction of growing your own. Herbs can be either dried or frozen. To dry them, wash under running water, gather into "faggots" (tied bouquets), and hang upside down in a well-ventilated room until they're dry. To speed the operation, spread them on a cookie sheet and put into an oven turned to "keep warm," or turn the oven very low with the door left open. When dry, put whole leaves into this.

Pound of beef serves six hungry people

Hot Tamale Pie is as Mexican-sounding as the soft, musical Spanish language itself. As a main dish, it is popular with everyone including the modern magician who tries to stretch the family budget to include an interesting variety. Hot Tamale Pie calls for one pound of ground beef and then serves six hungry people generously!

HOT TAMALES...
... popular main dish for everyone

Corn meal forms the crust for chili beef in this old favorite recipe, revised to fit the busy lifestyles of today. Now it's simple for anyone to dream up such a mouth-watering meal. The ground beef and onion mixture goes into a 2½ quart casserole with space left all around the edges. The corn meal mixture's poured over the top and, of course, part of the mixture runs to the bottom into the space left by the corn meal dough. When it's served after an hour of baking, the six portions can be arranged attractively on a pretty platter that's lined with shredded lettuce. It can be served with corn chips and mugsful of celery and carrot sticks, olives and red and green sweet peppers.

Since dinner is subtly spicy and marvelously Mexican, dessert should be light and lemony. A Lemon Chiffon Pie sounds difficult but surprisingly, it's easy. And who wouldn't smile when a lovely lemon creation is brought from refrigerator to table?

HOT TAMALES PIE
Heat 1½ cups Pet Evaporated Milk

1½ cups water
½ cup yellow corn meal
¾ teaspoon salt
1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup soft bread crumbs
½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup Pet Evaporated Milk

just to boiling. Stir in yellow corn meal and ¾ teaspoon salt slowly so that milk does not stop boiling. Cook slowly for 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Put ground beef, onion, 2 teaspoons salt, chili powder, pepper, bread crumbs, and baking powder in mixing bowl. Mix thoroughly with ¾ cup Pet evaporated milk. Press into bottom of greased 2½ quart casserole dish. Leave space around edges. Pour corn meal mixture over top letting run to bottom into space left by cornmeal dough. Bake at 375 Degrees F for 1 hour or until firm. Serve over shredded lettuce. Serves 6 (1 cup servings.)

LEMON CHIFFON PIE
1 cup Pet Evaporated Milk
1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon Pet Evaporated Milk

¼ cup sugar
1-3rd cup butter or margarine, soft
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup sugar
½ cup Pet Evaporated Milk

½ cup water
1½ teaspoon lemon rind
¼ teaspoon salt
1 package (3 oz.) lemon gelatin

2 tablespoons lemon juice
Chill 1 cup of Pet evaporated milk in ice tray until icy. Meanwhile mix crumbs, 1 teaspoon Pet evaporated milk, ¼ cup sugar, and butter until well blended. Press in bottom and on sides of ungreased deep 9-inch pie pan. Bake at 400 Degrees F for 10 minutes. Let cool. Mix eggs, ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup Pet evaporated milk, water, lemon rind and salt. Cook and stir until slightly thickened. Remove from heat. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill until slightly thicker than unbeaten egg whites. Whip chilled milk until fluffy. Add lemon juice and whip until stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into pie crust. Chill until ready to serve. Makes 1, 9-inch pie.

Cooking school: hours of fun

The Southern Kitchens Cooking School is a two-hour fun session starting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The event will be in the City Auditorium. Participants will learn how to prepare sophisticated dishes with an Oriental flair or something as simple as a new way to make old-fashioned pumpkin bread.

The Progressive Farmer Southern Kitchens Cooking School is sponsored by the Big Spring Herald and several local merchants.

At the school there will be lots of menu suggestions, creative tips for easier cooking and job-filled two-hour demonstrations plus an all-new recipe book and gift coupons.

It is free and there are lots of door prizes including twenty sacks of groceries and a Sunbean Mixmaster from Gibson's.

The home economist who will share the fun with you is Pat Pittman, who communicates her joy of cooking in every step of the how-to demonstration.

Joan Powell, program coordinator for the cooking schools, says, "This year we have a more exciting show than ever with dishes that are creative, practical and fun. We want every guest to have a good time and to get humdrum out of the kitchen."

Circle Sept. 14 on your calendar for the Southern Kitchens Cooking School and get your tickets now at one of the local stores displaying the cooking school poster, or at the Herald.

Slow cooker convenient

The familiar refrain "What's cooking — it sure smells good" need not become an echo from the past simply because you work or other obligations take you out of the house during the day. One way to capture the simmering pot's aroma is by using a slow cooker, one of the fastest selling appliances on the market today.

Slow cookers make it possible to enjoy such main dishes as Barbecued Spareribs, Pork Chops and Sauerkraut and Pork Chops Polynesian. Just place the ingredients in the appliance, turn it on low and you're free to leave the house for several hours. In the case of ribs, they're even more flavorful if the quick-to-fix sauce which includes corn syrup, catsup, cider vinegar, onion and salt is brushed on after the ribs have been slow cooked. Fifteen minutes under the grill will provide just enough time to brown the ribs.

It may take a while to learn to use your particular slow cooker model since temperatures and techniques vary. The following recipes were developed in the Karo corn syrup kitchens for a slow cooker with a cooking temperature of 200 Degrees F on low, so be sure to check your instruction booklet for the proper setting for your particular appliance. These recipes can be prepared without a slow cooker and instructions have been included for both methods.

SLOW COOK BARBECUED SPARERIBS

4 pounds spareribs, cut into riblets
1 cup water
1 cup catsup
½ cup Karo dark corn syrup

½ cup cider vinegar
¼ cup chopped onion
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
Put ribs and water in slow cooker. Cover; set dial on low and cook 8 to 10 hours. Drain. In small bowl stir together catsup, corn syrup, vinegar, onion, and salt. Place ribs on rack of broiler pan; brush with sauce. Broil 6 inches from source of heat, turning once, about 15 minutes or until ribs are browned. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SLOW COOK PORK CHOPS...

Mayonnaise: the versatile ingredient that saves time

Real mayonnaise is wonderfully versatile! Besides being the classic dressing for chicken, potato, tuna, Waldorf and many other salads, a favorite spread for sandwiches and an ever-ready base for which to make pourable dressings of all kinds, many cooks have come to value mayonnaise as a cooking and baking ingredient that saves time and produces delicious cakes, cookies, muffins, quick breads and pastries as well as savory casseroles and sauces.

Here's still another way to use real mayonnaise as an ingredient in cooking, mayonnaise dumplings. Try them with Chicken Stew or use them to top beef or veal stew. In the dumplings, the mayonnaise replaces the shortening and also adds zesty flavor.

The recipe for Chicken Stew with Mayonnaise Dumplings was developed in the Hellmann's real mayonnaise kitchens. The home economists from these kitchens also offer recipes for Easy Chocolate Munchin' Cake and Pecan Jumbles.

CHICKEN STEW WITH MAYONNAISE DUMPLINGS

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, divided
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 cup sliced onion or 6 small white onions
 1 cup sliced celery
 1/2 cup chopped carrot
 1/4 chicken bouillon cubes
 1 bay leaf
 5 cups water
 2 cups unsifted flour
 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
 3 teaspoons baking powder
 1-3rd cup real mayonnaise
 3/4 cup milk

Sprinkle chicken with 1/2 teaspoon of the salt and the pepper. In 5-quart dutch oven, place chicken, onion, celery, carrot, bouillon cubes and bay leaf. Add water. Cover and bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer 45 minutes. Stir together flour, parsley, baking powder and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stir in real mayonnaise and milk until well mixed. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto chicken. Boil gently, uncovered, 10 minutes; cover and cook 10 minutes longer or until dumplings are fluffy. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE MUNCHIN' CAKE

1 1/2 cups unsifted flour
 3/4 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon baking soda
 2-3rd cup strong coffee or water
 1/2 cup real mayonnaise
 1-3rd cup chocolate flavored syrup
 1 tablespoon vinegar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 Confectioners sugar
 In 8x8x2-inch baking pan

stir together flour, sugar and baking soda. Add coffee, mayonnaise, chocolate syrup, vinegar, vanilla and salt. Stir with fork, scraping corners and sides of pan until mixture is uniform in color. Bake in 350 Degrees oven 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool completely in pan on wire rack. Place a paper doily on top of cake; sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

Remove doily carefully. Makes 9 servings.

Easy to fix snack for party breaks

Invite friends over for an evening of cards or good conversation. When it's time for a food break, let guests fix their own Mini Beef Heros. Unlike ordinary beef sandwiches, these Heros have a unique flavor that begins with a pantry-handy staple — condensed soup. Campbell's Condensed Bean with Bacon Soup, a blend of meaty beans and smokehouse bacon serves as the base for a hot taco-style bean sauce. Onion, pickle relish and taco sauce are blended with the soup, heated, and spread on long hard rolls which have been split and toasted. Heap mounds of browned chip steak on these rolls and serve buffet-style.

Let guests mix and match toppings of green pepper rings, sliced olives, chopped tomatoes, shredded cheese and lettuce. The informality of having guests involved in "preparing" their sandwiches is part of the fun too!

MINI BEEF HEROS

1 pound thin water-sliced top-of-the-round (chip steak) or bologna
 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1/2 cup sliced onion
 1 can (11 1/2 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Bean with Bacon Soup
 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) prepared taco sauce
 2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
 8 long hard rolls, slit and toasted
 Chopped fresh tomatoes
 Green pepper rings
 Shredded process cheese
 Shredded lettuce
 Sliced ripe olives

In skillet, brown steak in 2 tablespoons butter. Meanwhile, in saucepan, cook onion in remaining butter. Stir in soup; gradually add taco sauce and relish. Heat; stir occasionally. Spread on rolls; top with meat. Garnish with remaining ingredients. Makes 8 sandwiches, about 2 cups sauce.

In creating a masterpiece by cooking

Home economist views recipe as first step

"A recipe is to a cook what a canvas is to a painter — just the first step in creating a masterpiece." So says Pat Pittman who will be here Thursday as home economist and super cook in the Progressive Farmer's Southern Kitchens Cooking School.

Miss Pittman will be demonstrating on stage at the Municipal Auditorium how you can turn more than a dozen recipes into a masterpiece of fine eating. The program is free and is sponsored by the Herald and other businesses.

Experience for Pat began in her mother's kitchen on the family farm, but now New ways to stretch food dollar

If you have the feeling that your money isn't buying all that it used to, you're right! As prices continue to climb consumers are finding numerous ways to stretch that food dollar.

Your family will become fast friends with eggs at dinner when you serve dishes like Popeye Eggs 'n' Noodle Bake. Here, hard-cooked eggs share a casserole with noodles, spinach and a flavorful sauce of Campbell's Condensed Cream of Mushroom Soup spiked with soy sauce and ginger.

Any liver-lovers at your place? No matter. Saucy Liver Strips will convert the nays and confirm the yeas. A short simmer with Campbell's Condensed Tomato Soup, oregano and minced garlic will see to that.

Bringing out the best in the much-overlooked bean is Big Bean Bonanza. This money-saving main dish combines lima, butter beans and kidney beans with tomatoes, onions, garlic and Campbell's Condensed Green Pea Soup. Chili powder adds Southwestern punch. Come and get it!

POPEYE EGGS 'N' NOODLE

BAKE
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Cream of Mushroom Soup
3/4 cup water
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
6 hard-cooked eggs
2 cups cooked noodles
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and drained
2 slices tomato, cut in half
In 1 1/2-quart casserole, combine soup, water, soy and ginger. Chop 5 eggs; slice 1 egg and reserve for garnish. Add chopped eggs, noodles and spinach to soup mixture. Bake at 400 Degrees F. for 25 minutes or until hot; stir. Garnish with tomato and reserved sliced egg. Serve with additional soy sauce. Makes about 5 cups, 4 servings.

SAUCY LIVER STRIPS
1 pound sliced beef liver, cut in strips
1 large clove garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Tomato Soup
1/4 cup water
Cooked rice
In skillet, brown liver with garlic and oregano in butter. Add remaining ingredients except rice. Cover; cook over low heat 20 minutes or until done. Stir occasionally. Serve over rice. Makes about 2 1/2 cups, 4 servings.

BIG BEAN BONANZA
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes, chopped
1 cup sliced onion
1 medium clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon chili powder
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (11 1/2 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Green Pea Soup
1 can (about 16 ounces) lima beans, drained
1 can (15 1/2 ounces) kidney beans, undrained
1 can (8 1/2 ounces) butter beans, drained
4 slices (about 4 ounces) mild process cheese, cut in half diagonally
In skillet, simmer tomatoes and onion with garlic and chili powder in butter about 15 minutes or until onion is tender. Stir in soup. Add remaining ingredients except cheese. Heat; stir occasionally. Top with cheese. Cover; heat until cheese melts. Makes about 5 1/2 cups, 4 servings.

includes a degree in home economics. She worked as an economist for a utility company and later was much in demand as a free lance home economist.

Miss Pittman has catered executive business luncheons, taught classes in gourmet shops and prepared food for the camera for national magazines.

In the past two years, she has pleased audiences at more than 50 cooking schools in seven states. Perhaps as many as 75,000 homemakers have enjoyed her practical and creative demonstrations. As far as basic philosophy of cooking is concerned, the cooking expert says, "There is something exciting about being creative in the kitchen. We need to give more care to having our meals look tasty, whether we're cooking hamburgers in a new way or preparing a real gourmet dinner for guests." An evening with Pat Pittman is an event to remember. You'll come away with new ideas and tips to make your time in the kitchen more fun, and your meals more appreciated. Seats for the cooking school are not reserved, so guests are urged to arrive early.

completely give up their privacy for the rest of their lives.

She said, "I'm well-known enough to make a good living and have a good time, but not well-known enough to lose my identity as a person and it's wonderful."

I thought about it this summer as we were tramping through the Queen's Apartments at Windsor Castle. Royalty has no privacy. The queen only stays in Windsor occasionally — so unlike Buckingham, it is often open to the tourists. They roll back the carpets, put down special walking areas and let you tromp through everything except the queen's bedroom.

And it really makes you wonder why anybody wants to be president of the United States. It used to be every little boy's dream and here lately — you never hear a child make that statement. They want to be Astronauts or guitar players or bat man or a Dallas Cowboy.

And I thought, gee I'm glad to be a plain old person where nobody tours through my house looking at my things and discussing them.

You would have to have a strange mother nowadays to bring her child up to want to be president.

But that I just ride fence.

Democrats not together over Carter re-election

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic voters in two large Northeastern states say they don't want to see President Carter run for re-election in 1980, putting them at odds with party members nationwide, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

Only 34 percent of the Democratic voters interviewed Tuesday following primaries in New York and Connecticut said they wanted Carter to try for a second term. Forty percent said they don't want him to run and 26 percent are not sure.

This finding based on interviews with 4,900 voters as they left the polling places contrasted with a national AP-NBC News telephone poll in August. Half of the Democrats questioned nationally in that survey favored a Carter re-election bid with 39 percent opposing it. Eleven percent were not sure.

For all respondents nationally regardless of party affiliation, 50 percent did not want Carter to run, with only 38 percent favoring a bid for another term. Twelve percent of the 1,600 adults questioned Aug. 7 and 8 were undecided.

The sentiment against Carter is at least in part an expression of anti-incumbent mood among some Democrats.

GOURMET PICNIC...
... vichyssoise, steak roll-up, vinaigrette, unbaked caramel crunchies

Ways to avoid traditional picnic hassles

New idea for outdoor eating

Midway into the picnic season, we're suggesting a variation — one that avoids the hassle, AND those traditional picnic bonuses, sand in the sandwiches, ants in the cake, etc.

If what you want is the sheer joy of the great outdoors, prepare your picnics at home. Cover each tightly with Saran Wrap brand plastic film and pack into an ice chest or insulated bag. Bring large napkins for "lap cloths." Add a vacuum bottle of chilled soup for an appetizer and you have the makings of a memorable outing. A break from the usual sandwich, dill pickle, potato chips and cupcake can be refreshing. Besides being handy, you'll find this method great when there's a fantastic view without picnic tables! Who needs a table when a lap will do? And you can look for a private spot away from crowded picnic areas.

Choose plastic coated paper plates with dividers to separate flavors. Arrange your food with an eye to flavor, texture and attractiveness. Then wrap each serving securely in Saran Wrap to seal all the goodness and freshness into the food.

For a gourmet touch to a special occasion, consider vichyssoise for your chilled appetizer. Then you'll see why Europeans begin every meal with a soup, summer and winter. It takes the edge off hunger in a wonderfully satisfying, yet nutritious way. Chopped watercress gives our vichyssoise a distinctive flavor. Carry the soup in a thermos bottle and serve in paper cups.

Then bring out your picture-pretty picnic plates. Slice the sirloin (or chuck) steak thinly, roll it and fasten with a toothpick. Add an onion roll which has already been buttered and a serving of tender but crisp Vegetable Vinaigrette. For dessert, serve fresh fruit and Unbaked Caramel Crunchies.

pieces. Cook each vegetable separately until crisp but tender. Drain. Pour 1/4 cup dressing over each kind of vegetable; chill several hours. Drain off any excess dressing. Arrange the vegetables on serving plates. Garnish with cherry tomatoes and parsley.

UNBAKED CARAMEL CRUNCHIES
2 c. granulated sugar
1 1-3rd c. butter or margarine
23-rd c. evaporated milk
1 pkg. (3 to 4 oz.) instant butterscotch pudding mix
3 1/2 c. quick cooking rolled oats

In a large saucepan, combine sugar, butter and evaporated milk. Bring to rolling boil, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and add instant pudding mix and rolled oats; mix thoroughly. Cool 15 minutes; drop dough from teaspoon onto waxed paper lined tray. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

Vegetable variety important to colorful, nutritious meal

In most families, the crafty cook concentrates on the meal's main course, sometimes the salad and finally the finale. She considers the family's preferences, her food budget and the good nutrition the foods will offer. If she's a master in the kitchen, she considers the colors, textures, and flavors of every part of the meal.

By all standards, she should have magnificent meals but she might have forgotten something very important. Vegetables are well worth considering and giving preferential treatment. After all, they're more than good nutrition. They're fittingly flavorful and as colorful as Nature affords. Each has its own texture and unique flavor and many of them team to make something different that'll blend beautifully with the rest of the dinner.

Company Vegetables, for example, are cheese broccoli with a crunchy onion topping. They're prepared with frozen broccoli, cheese, convenient soup and smooth, rich Pet evaporated milk, an ingredient that will help give any vegetable a rich touch and extra food value. Carrots in Onion Sauce start with fresh carrots, creamy Pet evaporated milk and the flavor of onion. The vegetable is easily prepared, almost with the speed of a frozen or canned vegetable. The last of the trio, Corn Pudding, is custard-like, a favorite of both adults and children.

All three vegetables, enough to make anyone become a definite vegetarian, are old favorite recipes, often requested of the company that recently revised them to fit into today's busy world — Pet Incorporated.

CORN PUDDING
2 cans (8 3/4 oz.) each corn
2 eggs, slightly beaten
3/4 cup Pet Evaporated Milk
2 tablespoons margarine or butter, melted
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Mix well all ingredients. Pour into a greased 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Bake at 350 Degrees F for 45 minutes or until firm. Serves 6 (1/2 cup servings.)
