Nicaraguan government claims to have smashed rebel forces

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The Nicaraguan government claimed today it has smashed the violent rebel uprising that has threatened the 40-year rule of President Anastasio Somoza and his family.

"We've got it all cleaned up in Esteli... It's all over up there," Maximiliano Kelly, Somoza's personal secretary, told newsmen early today.

Esteli, about 60 miles northwest of Managua, was the last major city still in rebel hands since the insurgents started their hit-and-run attack on government forces Sept. 9.

"The two guard detachments that were coming into Esteli from different directions have joined up and secured the city center," said Kelly.

Government aircraft had rained bombs on the town of 30,000 since Thursday and had circled the city to prevent guerrillas from escaping into the surrounding hills.

Kelly said the guard is "now mopping up outer areas of Esteli" and had also secured Santa Cruz, a small community 4 miles south of Esteli on the Pan-American highway, where guerrillas had maintained a check-point for nearly a week.

Kelly said the road is "militarily secure" but not yet safe for civilian travel.

There were no reliable casualty reports yet, but Red Cross officials said hundreds were killed in the bombardment of Esteli, Leon and Chinandega. The rebels were forced to flee from the two other towns over the weekend.

Earlier, Red Cross officials estimated 300 dead and 3,000 injured in Leon and 200 dead and 200 injured in Masaya, another rebel center south of Managua, which was retaken last week.

There was no estimate of casualties among the 7,500-man national guard, Nicaragua's army and police force.

The guerrillas from the Sandinista National Liberation Front were estimated to number anywhere from 400 to 2,000, but they were joined by several thousand sympathizers from among the population of the towns they took. They seized control of a triangle of major towns in northwestern Nicaragua, but the superior arms and the planes of the national guard were too much for them.

Many of them escaped into the mountains as the guard took over their cities, raising the threat of hit-and-run guerrilla warfare against the 41-year-old Somoza dynasty.

Some of the rebels slipped across the northern border to Honduras, where they found political asylum, or into Costa Rica, to the south.

Four blocks of downtown Chinandega were still smoldering, but no more resistance there was reported. Residents of the city of 40,000 said 1,000 to 1,500 townspeople joined the uprising, most of them young men armed with handguns or small-caliber hunting rifles.

A Red Cross official said many people in Chinandega buried their dead in unmarked graves because they feared national guard retaliation against the relatives.

Six-part anti-inflation program outlined

Hill probing bridge incident

By MARJ CARPENTER

"The investigation of the incident involving farmers and law officers on the bridge last March is still under way by my office," Texas Attorney John Hill, Democratic nominee for governor of Texas, told a group of interested farmers at the Big Spring Airport Tuesday afternoon.

Hill stopped here briefly on his fall campaign swing through West Texas, and was talking with farmers who were asking him about the McAllen incident, before he could even get inside the terminal building.

"There are many people to get statements from, including the farmers involved, the law enforcement personnel involved, the television cameramen, and others at the scene. I have told them to get that investigation concluded in the next 30 days. I would like to release it before the election and get all the facts on the table," Hill added.

In his official news release, Hill, during his six-day, 22-city general election campaign kickoff, announced a six-part anti-inflation program.

"Government at all levels should take the lead in holding down the cost of living," Hill said.

"As governor, I will work hard to assure that our state government does everything possible to lighten the load on our taxpayers."

"To bring special emphasis to this issue, I am bringing together into a single anti-inflation program six different parts of my campaign platform.

"This program will focus on holding down the cost of government by close budget management and tax ceilings, and on holding down the cost of utility service by closer state review of utility rates.

"Our elderly citizens, and others on fixed incomes, are desperate for any relief we can provide in controlling inflation and minimizing its impact.

"Most people living on a salary are finding that their salary increases never quite catch up with the increases in the prices they pay for food, housing and other necessities.

"Those price increases lead to increases in many of our state tax revenues. Instead of spending all of these windfall tax revenues on new programs, I want to work toward a tight budget that could allow us to return some of our budget surpluses to the taxpayers.

"I want Texas to show the way to the federal government so we can get Washington thinking in terms of reducing our national deficit and cutting the frills out of the federal budget. We all know there's waste, and we need to stop it now."

In answering other questions, Hill again emphasized that he backs the Stacy Reservoir and that "I am hopeful that all of the difficulties on the river can be worked out."

He also stated that he was not impressed with Bill Clements' truth patrol and thought the press could weed out the facts between the candidates without a truth patrol, claiming he was making inaccurate statements.

He said that if he became Governor of Texas, teachers would receive a pay raise the first year and that would help local school districts. When asked if local districts did not have to pay part of the pay raise if granted by the state, he first answered, "No" and then qualified his answer, "that under the foundation program there are a lot of factors and programs involved."

Superintendent Lynn Hise said later that the school district here actually pays about 15 per cent of the salaries and that he had discussed with Hill the need for a decrease in the local fund assignment. Hise and Superintendent J.F. Poyner of Forsan were both at the press conference.

Hill claimed that the polls continue to show him way out front of his opponent, but "we intend to work hard."

In speaking of the recent Democrat convention, he said he did not support the repeal of the statute dealing with deviate conduct. He admitted that he agreed with the boycott of Coors, who is having labor difficulties, but added, "I hope this can be resolved."

A group of close to 50 persons greeted Hill at the airport including Mrs. Jane Ray, newly elected State Democratic committeewoman from the 30th Senatorial District; and Mike Ezzell, state representative from Snyder, as well as many farmers, school officials, and his local campaign chairmen, Bob Miller and Travis Floyd.

Action / reaction: Schools hiring?

Q. Is the school district planning to hire additional aides to help out at overcrowded classrooms?

A. According to Assistant Superintendent Harold Bentley, "No. We have personnel on the payroll now to handle 300 students more than we have enrolled. If we shuffle children around we create another problem as we solve the first one. We have done that which we think is feasible to alleviate the crowding."

Calendar: Indian exposition

The "Sew It With Cotton" contest style show and announcement of winners, and Ray Darby's American Indian Exposition both begin at 8 p.m.; the style show will be in the show barn and the Indian Exposition in the rodeo bowl as part of the festivities of the Howard County Fair.

The United Way division chairmen and other workers will meet at noon Thursday at the Tumbleweed Room, Howard College, luncheon meeting.

Offbeat: Fire trouble

HOUSTON (AP) — Firefighters racing from their central station Tuesday to put out a blaze at the city's central police station were momentarily stymied when their truck caught fire.

The police station fire started when gasoline used to clean a floor ignited. The truck fire was extinguished and the flames at the station were doused, but not before the station fire knocked out power to the municipal building.

The only damage reported was one blackened wall — and several red faces.

Vance arrives in Mideast to keep accords on track

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance arrived here today on the first leg of a Middle East trip designed to keep Jordan and Saudi Arabia out of an Arab front bent on derailing the Camp David accords. He also hoped to ease Syria's opposition to the agreements.

Vance was scheduled to meet with four Arab leaders — King Hussein of Jordan in Amman today, King Khaled and Crown Prince Fahd of Saudi Arabia in Riyadh on Thursday and Friday, and President Hafez Assad of Syria in Damascus on Saturday.

Vance said he would explain to the "key Arab governments not represented at Camp David... the contents, purpose and philosophy of the understandings reached... so they can make their own decisions on how to respond to the invitations to them contained in the basic documents."

But the secretary's mission was set back at the start by statements from Jordan saying it would not be bound by the agreements and from Saudi Arabia saying they "could not be considered as an acceptable final formula for peace."

Both Jordan and Saudi Arabia reiterated the primary Arab demand for Israeli withdrawal from all territory occupied in the 1967 war, including East Jerusalem, which the Camp David accords do not guarantee.

Both called for Palestinian self-determination, and the Saudis also demanded a Palestinian state and recognition of the Palestine Liberation Organization as the "sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people."

Both also called for unification of Arab policy. But while Jordan was critical of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's dealings with Israel without calling him by name, the Saudi government said it did not challenge the right of any Arab country to restore its occupied lands "so long as it does not run contrary to higher Arab interests."

Vance as he left Washington repeated President Carter's request that the moderate Arabs give the agreements "careful and thoughtful study," making clear that he did not expect the Jordanian and Saudi leaders to change their positions immediately. And the Jordanian statement promised "extensive contacts on Arab and interarab levels in order to evaluate the situation."

Coliseum opening may be set by board next week

The Dorothy Garrett Coliseum will be checked out next week by a committee from the board of trustees at Howard College after which the board will try "one more time" to set an opening date.

They are now considering a Sunday afternoon in mid-October as a possible date for the official opening of the facility.

The sound system is being installed, the roof checked for leaks and other last-minute alterations and additions are being made.

The board met Tuesday and also discussed the possibility of rejoining the Concert Association as in the past. Dr. P.W. Malone, charter board member, made this request.

After a brisk discussion on the pros and cons of the measure, Don McKinney, board chairman, said he would name a committee to study the matter.

Dr. Charles Hays told the board that the NCAA Regional basketball tournament will be held in the coliseum in March.

He also announced that the 12th day of registration showed over 1100 students, up 100 from early predictions.

The bid for repairs to the roof of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building was awarded to West Texas Roofing on a low bid of $23,588.88. The other two bids were Coffon at $28,825 and Brown of Lamesa at $37,360.

Some concern that the low bidder could not meet the proposed time limit caused board members to plan to rebid if this occurred.

A bid for floor covering for the gymnasium floor to be used during dances or banquets went to a firm called Rent-a-Tarp with a bid of $11,975. The covering is not a tarp, as such, but a material that is claimed to be durable and will be stretched and taped over the floor for many occasions.

The high bid originally taken on banquet tables at the last meeting was revoked and the low bid from Chuck's Surplus of 100 tables for $3,982 was accepted. The higher bid was $4,400.

Dr. Hays recommended to the board that the employees insurance participation by the college be raised from $5,000 to $10,000 per year on instructors and $20,000 on administrators at a cost to the college of $1,939.

The administration was granted permission to advertise for bids on a tractor and mower, for portable buildings for the auto body shops, for box offices for the coliseum and for a wide angle projector.

All board members were present including Jimmy Taylor, Dr. Charles Warren, James Barr, Harold Davis, K.H. McGibbon, McKinney and Dr. Malone.

Administrators present in addition to Dr. Hays were Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, Dean Ben Johnson, Mike Bruner, Terry Newman and Dr. Bobby Wright.

Tops on TV: Triller diller

Those who tuned into the first half of "Airport '77" won't want to miss the conclusion at 8 p.m. on NBC. Others may be intrigued by the premiere made-for-TV thriller, "Are You In The House Alone?". It's the old story about the beautiful high school student who becomes the target of a psycho's terror campaign. It features Kathleen Beller and the charming Blyth Danner.

Insurance Board researcher says

Inability by most to pay doesn't call for overhaul

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A State Insurance Board researcher says many businesses can't afford products liability insurance but that doesn't justify a major overhaul of the Texas system for pricing the coverage.

Some say it is becoming similar to the medical malpractice insurance crisis there is no availability problem. But many small businesses "do have a significant affordability crisis," Ms. Ireland said.

The insurance board raised rates in 1976 for the first time in years, but Ms. Ireland said most coverage is not written according to the rating manuals issued by the board.

In about 75 percent of the cases, an insurer uses its own judgment about the risks involved and sets the price accordingly.

The committee plans to submit its final report and legislative recommendations next month. Ms. Ireland said 25-35 percent of Texas businesses have problems of either obtaining or paying for products liability policies.

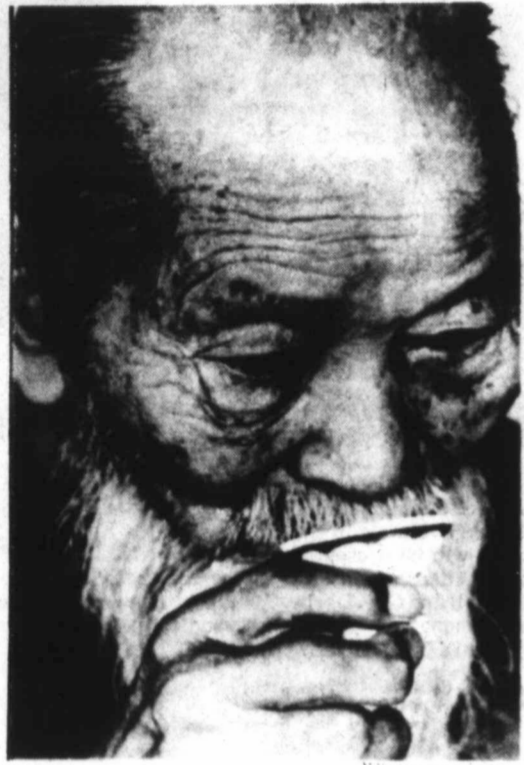

Products liability coverage protects manufacturers against judgments for injuries resulting from defective products.

Ms. Ireland said there are many reasons why large businesses have less problems with products liability than small ones. One is they can afford better loss control programs "and present a more inviting picture to underwriters."

Small Texas manufacturers often make unusual or unique products or items that depend on imported parts, she said.

One company, she said, manufactured a gasoline powered posthole digger that was strapped to a workman's body.

Commissioners decide

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Car insurance rates should not be based on a driver's age, sex or marital status, a national task force of state insurance commissioners has recommended.

Michigan Insurance Commissioner Thomas C. Jones, chairman of the group, said Tuesday use of factors like age "for purposes of classifying automobile insurance risks lacks sufficient justification and therefore violates public policy standards regarding unfair discrimination."

Search called off

BOSTON (AP) — After combing over 100,000 miles of ocean, the Coast Guard has called off its search for the missing Gloucester fishing trawler "Captain Cosmos" and its six-man crew.

The eight-day search ended at 6 p.m. Tuesday after turning up no trace of the craft, which disappeared with its crew on Sept. 9 while returning from Georges Bank.

New restrictions okayed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New restrictions on automatic dialing-announcing devices for "junk" calls and other telephone solicitations have been adopted by the California Public Utilities Commission.

The rules, effective Nov. 4, provide that automatic equipment — which can funnel recorded messages to telephone numbers in sequence or work from a specific list of numbers — can be used only under certain conditions. It requires that the recorded message be preceded by an announcement made by a human operator stating the nature and length of the recorded message and identifying the organization calling.

Immigrant defended

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Attorneys for Kristina Berster plan to defend her against charges of violating U.S. immigration laws by arguing she was afraid of being returned to West Germany and branded a terrorist.

Lawyer William Kunstler said Tuesday that a "defense of necessity" would be employed at Miss Berster's Oct. 3 trial if a motion to dismiss the charges against her is rejected. Miss Berster, 28, has pleaded innocent to charges of violating U.S. passport laws and conspiring to enter the country illegally. The West German woman was arrested in July, after authorities say she crossed the Canadian border near Alburg, Vt.

Court sets aside order

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court set aside today an Austin district court order which apparently had given a June local option election in Abilene to the "drys."

The action apparently cleared the way for the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission to begin issuing liquor permits for Abilene.

Buck Wood, attorney for dry forces in the city, said it would be determined later if an anti-liquor effort would be made to stop issuance of the permits.

The Supreme Court, which acted after hearing 90 minutes of arguments, said it would not consider a request for a rehearing on its decision.

ABC Commissioner Sherman McBeath had asked the court to get him out of the middle of the tangled controversy.

BIG CROWD — The early arrivals at the Agri-Business barbecue are shown loading up with chow while the line extended all the way into the second Fair Barn at a highly successful event at the fair Tuesday night.

Agri-business barbecue attracts large crowd

"They kept coming and coming," the Ambassadors stated at the Agri-business barbecue at the Howard County Fair Tuesday night. "It makes us aware of how big an impact agriculture has in this county," they added.

Close to 800 members of farm and ranch families lined up all the way from the back fair barn, across the vacant spot in between and well into the main fair barn to attend the annual event.

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce president, Ray Don Williams, thanked the local businessmen who annually sponsor the event.

He also welcomed the farm and ranch families, telling them, "We know what an important part of this county and community you are."

The barbecue has been held for five years. It replaced the old practice of giving premium prizes for the first bale of cotton in Howard County.

The chamber decided they would rather take the occasion to honor all farm and

Capt. McCamley to lead Falconaires Show Band

Capt. William R. McCamley has recently assumed duties as deputy commander of the Air Force Academy Band and leader of the Falconaires Show Band. The Show Band, which will appear in concert in Big Spring at 8 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 29, in the City Auditorium, will be the second of two free concerts during the last week in September. McCamley began his military career with a four-year tour in the Navy. While serving in the Navy, he attended the Naval School of Music and performed first trumpet for the renowned U.S. Navy Touring Band of Europe. McCamley's initial assignment as an Air Force Officer was as commander-conductor of the 505th Air Force Band (Band of the Midwest), Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., from May 1973 to May 1978. Under his command the band was awarded two Air Force Outstanding Unit Awards. While he was commander of the Band of the Midwest he was in demand as a clinician and adjudicator. He led clinics at the University of Illinois and Illinois State University, was guest conductor for the South Central Illinois Band Directors Association and adjudicator for the Central Illinois Marching Band Competition and the Illinois Music Educators Association Jazz Festival. Prior to his commission in the Air Force in April 1973, he received a bachelor of science in music education from West Chester State College, West Chester, Pa., and obtained a master of music in trumpet from Temple University, Philadelphia in 1970. He also spent five years developing award-winning high school marching, concert and jazz bands in suburban Philadelphia. A native of Pennsylvania, McCamley and his wife, Ursulene, have two sons, Pat and Jeff. Included among his military decorations are the Navy Good Conduct Medal, Air Force Outstanding Unit Award with Oak Leaf Clusters and the Department of Defense Meritorious Service Medal. Tickets for the concert, as well as the concert by the United States Army Forces Command Band on Monday, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the City Auditorium are available at the Big Spring Herald and the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. Both concerts are free to the public.

Gary Tidwell plays major role in travel guide publication

Gary Tidwell, who grew up in Big Spring and attended public schools here, played a major role in the preparation of the Dallas-East Texas edition of the "Eyes of Texas Travel Guide," a Cordovan Press publication due to go on sale Nov. 1. Tidwell is co-producer of the popular television series, "The Eyes of Texas," which can be seen on KMD-TV Midland Channel 2 at 6:30 p.m. each Saturday. The Dallas-East Texas edition follows the Gulf Coast edition in 1977 which may have been the most heavily-purchased regional book in southwestern publishing history. Cordovan said that some 36,000 copies were sold within two months after it went on sale. Executive producer of the TV series and author of the book is Ray Miller. Both the Dallas-East Texas edition and the previous Gulf Coast editions will sell for $6.95 for the soft cover version and $9.95 for hard cover copies. They can be purchased in Texas bookstores or ordered directly from Cordovan Press, 5314 Bingle Road, Houston, Texas 77092. Bob Gray, president of Cordovan, said that the travel guide series is the most comprehensive effort by a private company to provide the public with a detailed illustrated Texas travel guide. The Dallas-East Texas edition will cover the 47 counties nearest the Texas-Louisiana border. Five maps will provide detailed help for the touring visitor and 330 photographs will show some of what the visitor can expect to find upon arrival. The book includes a forward by former Gov. Price Daniel, himself a native of East Texas. Miller and Tidwell will autograph hard-cover editions of the book. Tidwell, in Big Spring several weeks ago to film segments of the World's Texas-Style Domino Tournament, adopted the name of Gary James after entering television in Houston.

South African Prime Minister resigns

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—Prime Minister John Vorster, at the helm in South Africa during 12 years of growing racial unrest, announced his resignation today. In one of his last official acts he said independence elections will be held in South-West Africa, also known as Namibia. He did not give a date for the elections. Vorster, 63, is reportedly ailing. The stocky, pugnacious

Vorster told a news conference he would be available for the largely ceremonial post of president that has been vacant since the death last month of Nico Diederichs. The South African government has said it wants the Namibia election by Dec. 31. It does not believe the South-West Africa People's Organization, the region's black nationalist guerrilla movement, is strong enough among Namibia's 900,000 people to win. But the government is believed to fear that if SWAPO has much longer to campaign, it will get much of Namibia's black majority behind it. South Africa backs the moderate Democratic Turnhalle Alliance, made up of 11 major tribal and ethnic groups and supported by Namibia's whites. SWAPO claims the DTA is a South African puppet.

The United Nations, which has been negotiating with South Africa over the date and arrangements for Namibian elections, recognizes SWAPO as the representative of the people of Namibia. Vorster said the decision to go ahead with the election of an assembly that would draw up a constitution for a free Namibia is a means of ending what he called "an impasse" with the United Nations.

Law says 'public has right to know'

Members of some elective bodies should wake up to the fact that "the public has a right to know" and that the law holds them in clear violation when (1) they resort to 'executive sessions' when there is no need for them and (2) they fail to post advance notice of meetings — regular, special or otherwise.

The statutes state not only that public notice be posted before the elective bodies go into session but that information should be made available on what subjects are to be covered.

ALL TOO OFTEN, elective bodies have concluded that the public has no right to be privy to information that is going to be discussed and solved the problem by calling what amounts to secret sessions. In other words, both the public and the news media are barred from such conferences and can only speculate on what actually took place in such meetings.

An attorney general's opinion (M-494) states in part:

"Routine matters may be considered by the commissioners' court without notice, but unusual matters or one in which the public has a particular interest should not be considered by the court until required notice has been given.

"The act of the commissioners will be presumed to be valid but will be voidable upon proof that proper notice was not given."

No challenges about clandestine meetings have taken place here in the past but there have been violations of state statutes from time to time in such matters.

MOST PUBLIC officials are acutely aware of the law and do everything they can to uphold it. Others are not so attentive, either because they feel they will not be challenged or because they reason they are adequately protected by those statutes.

There are times when special sessions of elective groups become necessary but those times are not inspired by the most trivial matters. After all, the public invariably has a great stake in most of the matters being discussed and often voted upon, so the public shouldn't be the last to hear such details.

New Life

Around the rim

Dusty Richards

She awoke with a start, the same way she had awakened ever since she had come to live here. She opened her eyes slowly, accustomed herself to the surroundings in much the way a person does when he walks from light into darkness.

She glanced at her clock. It was early yet; no one but herself would be awake, and that meant she had to lie there until she heard the mouse-like stirrings of her family outside her bedroom door.

She thought about turning on the radio, to listen to the evangelical preacher she knew would be exhorting his flock even at this hour, but it seemed useless. When he spoke of needy people, the natives' his missionaries were converting in far-away lands, and the price of radio broadcasts, she felt she should send him something; she felt she could afford it, but her son, with whom she lived, had told her definitely not.

he thought this man was a quack, living off the pensions of old widows.

Lord knows, she thought, her son never meant to deny her, but she supposed it was hard, taking care of an old mother, a wife and children. She hated to be such a burden to him, but he had made up his mind, after her accident, that she should come and live with them.

"Mother," he had said, "you're not so young anymore. It isn't good for you to be living alone in your condition. It isn't good for me, either. I'm always having to drive over to make sure you're okay — it would be better if you'd just come and live with us."

And so she had. She had come to live here, ostensibly until her hip mended, but during her convalescence her son had sold her house — the home in which she and Jimmy had raised four children — the home which contained the remnants of her and Jimmy's life together.

Not that Jimmy would know. No, he had been gone . . . she stopped to count the years. Why, it must be over ten years now since he died. It didn't seem that long since the day he just dropped to the floor like a falling leaf, immobile and dispassionate to her pleas that he wake up. He had seemed so healthy; she couldn't, at first, fathom the fact of his death. But life goes on, and all these years she lived in waiting for her own time to come.

Death isn't always like that, she reflected. Death is not always quick and painless and unexpected. Death can seep in through the aches in a person's bones, replacing the life there with cruel efficiency, as in her own case. Daily, she felt the spark of life leaking out of her, and supposed that some day she just wouldn't feel like getting up; the next day she would be too tired to open her eyes; and the day after that she would just quit hearing, and on and on until the rigor mortis of old age had completely stolen everything from her but her soul. On that day, she thought, I shall just die, and Jimmy will be there to take me to heaven.

Although she was lying in bed, she was tired; tired of waiting, more than anything else, and she decided to arise and fix herself a cup of tea. Oh, she knew it was forbidden, as her daughter-in-law had explained: "Ida, wait until we're awake before you get out of bed. You could fall and hurt yourself again, and we might not even know it until too late."

She thought it strange that in all these years, her daughter-in-law had never called her by a name that reflected their relationship. Never Mother, or Mom, or even Grandma Smith, it was always just Ida. Well, perhaps this is the new way — there were a lot of new things she didn't understand.

She swung her legs over the size of the bed and stood up. At that moment, an iron band constricted itself around her heart and she stifled a small yelp of pain with the back of her hand. She sat down again on the bed, catching her breath, telling herself she shouldn't have eaten so much last night.

She thought, I'll just lie back down for a minute until I feel better. And then she did, all at once, feel so much better than she had in years that she felt as though she could sing and dance around the room. How foolish of me, she thought, I'm just an old lady and I haven't danced in years. She stood up and felt none of the old familiar unsteadiness in her knees; indeed, she felt strong and slightly distant from the aches and pains she had known so long in connection with her body.

She reached for her robe, and to her amazement, her hand passed right through the foot of the bed where the robe was lying. She lifted her hand to eye level and peered at it suspiciously. It seemed solid enough, and she tried to pick up the robe again. She couldn't. Oh dear, she thought, I'll have to tell John and Susan about this.

As soon as she thought was formed in her mind, she found herself in her son's and daughter-in-law's room, where they were in bed, talking. Feeling quite embarrassed, as she was not one to pry, she started to explain to them why she was in their room, standing there beside their bed.

"Johnny, the strangest thing just happened. . . ."

The words trailed off as she realized they were paying no attention to her. She tried again, but louder this time.

"Johnny? Susan?"

"I just don't think she'll be happy there, Sue."

"Of course she will. She'll be much happier there than she ever will here, knowing that she's in the way. And think of the children. They can't even bring their friends home, you know; Ida's always babbling on about something and embarrassing them. And she won't let them play the stereo at a decent level — says it bothers her. Oh, Johnny, won't you even consider putting her . . ."

"I don't know, Sue, let me think about it and see how Mom feels."

It was then she realized that they were talking about her. About putting her in one of those homes like her friend Hannah had gone to. Well, if they're tired of me being around, I guess I'll go, she thought sadly.

Just then, behind her, she heard, "Ida?"

She knew before she turned around to whom the voice belonged. It was Jimmy; Jimmy at last. She turned around slowly to face him. He was absolutely radiant, looking years and years younger than he was when he died. When he died? The truth of her situation washed over her suddenly, like a wave.

"Yes, Ida, it's happened. I'm sorry I wasn't here with you when you crossed over, but I'm here now. Come with me; there are so many people waiting for you."

All at once she was back in her room. She looked at the bed, where she . . . no, where her body was lying as if in sleep. It looked so old and ugly; merely looking at it made her hurt.

She looked at herself. She was dressed all in-white and was young and beautiful again. She took her husband's hand and they stepped off into the light.

Hollywood politics

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The slippery path into national politics for Hollywood glamor boys was embarrassingly revealed when Robert Redford stumbled trying to help Maine's Democratic Sen. William Hathaway, but the last act has just come to light: a personal rebuke of Redford by the party chairman.

Author of a scathing letter to Redford was Harold Pachios, former White House aide to Lyndon Johnson and now Maine's Democratic state chairman. Calling Redford a "peripatetic talk show performer," Pachios accused him of making "superficial, patronizing statements" after he suddenly cancelled a fundraising speech for Hathaway early this year.

Redford cancelled his appearance in Portland, arranged by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, when he learned that Hathaway favored a power-dam project in Maine opposed by environmentalists. Redford is a most vocal environmentalist.

REDFORD'S LAST-MINUTE cancellation of his fund-raising mission cost Hathaway a probable $20,000 to $25,000 and set off a storm of charges and countercharges against Redford for not having checked out Hathaway's environmentalist views before offering to come to Maine. That charge-and-countercharge included a letter Redford wrote to Pachios — copies to major Maine newspapers — accusing him of "irresponsible" conduct that "I thought went out with the last administration."

Pachios' reply was private and confidential: "The dramatic last-minute cancellation of your appearance in behalf of Sen. Hathaway may have been motivated by a desire to undermine his campaign or it may be that you simply caved in under a little pressure. . . . You may be reasonably certain that your recent 'bush' performance is not likely to diminish the box office of your future (film) performances. We enjoy your films. A knowledgeable lecturer you are not."

In other words, to Pachios and the Democrats of Maine, Hollywood stars should stay in Hollywood and stop playing big shots in big-time politics.

CRANE'S SHAKY BASE
Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois, the first announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, has been shaken up on his own political base: the American Conservative Union (ACU).

At a secret meeting of the ACU board in the Rayburn House Office Building which continued into early morning hours, there was a strong consensus for Crane to resign as ACU chairman because of his presidential candidacy.

My answer

Billy Graham

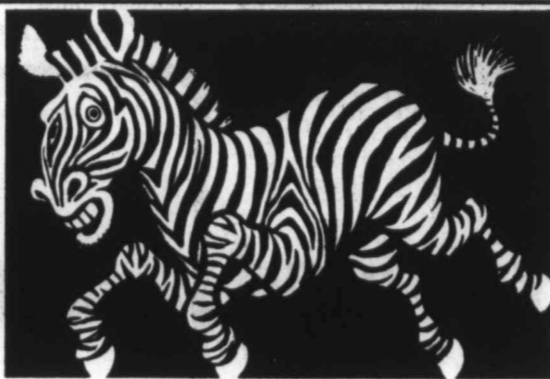

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I live in an area of a large city that is dominated by crime. Things seem to be out of control. I am a believer, but where is Christ in all of this? — G.A.

DEAR G.A.: Many people in our major cities feel as you do. Many of our cities have almost gotten out of control. This is one of our most pressing social problems.

I believe God is concerned about the cities and their problems. When you read the New Testament, you find that Paul often concentrated his ministry on the major cities of the Roman Empire. Many were troubled with all kinds of problems, from gross immorality to crime and festering slums. Yet he knew that a city touched by Christ could become a powerful instrument in God's hands. When Paul went to Ephesus, he found a very

Facts on genital herpes not pleasant

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please give us the facts on genital herpes. I had it a year ago, had treatment, and thought I was cured. Now it has returned and I have not had sex with anyone but my wife. She does not have it. What are the long-term effects? Is it as serious as other forms of V.D.? — Anon.

The facts aren't pleasant. G.H. is the second most prevalent venereal disease to gonorrhea. It's caused by the herpes II virus. Recently the herpes I virus has become involved, reflecting the increase in oral-genital sex. Herpes I is the oral infection.

The incubation time is between three and 14 days after contact. The usual symptoms are blisters in the genital area with some pain and discomfort. There may be temperature and malaise, apparently more severe in women than men. Pain on urination or with intercourse are features, too. There may be swelling of the lymph glands in the groin in either sex.

Blisters and discharge eventually disappear, but the symptoms have an unpleasant habit of recurring, which apparently has occurred in your case. The most unpleasant fact of all is that there is no certain treatment for the infection, unlike other forms of V.D. One treatment is to paint the blisters with a red dye and then expose them to light. Another, apparently more effective technique is vaccination. This apparently reduces the symptoms in a recurrent attack.

For the future, keep the following in mind: Cleansing the genital area after exposure minimizes infection. Contraceptive foam lessens the chance of infection, but the condom is the best protection for either sex. A woman may harbor the virus without symptoms. We don't know enough about the problem to predict long-range effects. There is evidence that infection tends to increase the chance of the woman having cervical cancer.

From this you can conclude that G.H. is a more serious form of V.D. than gonorrhea, if only because cure is so elusive. The tragedy of venereal disease is that we hide it from view and from cure. If one dances one must pay the piper. Unfortunately, promiscuity does not stroll hand-in-hand with openness about its unpleasant consequences.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like your advice. The skin under my eyes is sagging badly and I feel I need a face lift. I am 30. Do you feel this is too young to try this? It really bothers me. — Mrs. B.R.

Thirty is young to begin turning the clock back, but there is no physical reason for you not to have a face lift. But it does not last forever, and you may have to have others later on.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will spices such as turmeric, cumin, cayenne pepper and coriander be harmful to a person who is on high blood pressure medicine? — J.P.

I know of no harmful effects. Unlike salt, they are not absorbed by the body to any appreciable degree.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Mailbag

Dear Editor: I have a plaque that reads — The candle loses nothing of its light by lighting another candle. In Wednesday's Mailbag, Pastor Wilson made some comments on love.

Well, truly this thought lit my candle, at least the thought fanned it into a brighter light, that I had to give some thought on the word love. What is love? Can Webster truly define the word love? In a sense yes, but in true value lets see.

Quoting not a few great men and philosophers, I came up with some answers that I think is worth mentioning, for this trouble world and its people today. Love is the greatest gift of life. It takes the form of affection toward an object; of the desire to promote happiness; of abstaining from anything of an injurious nature; of doing all one may to promote the comfort, interest or welfare of others, whether they are indifferent or appreciative.

Love is like a fruit, there is many kinds. To mention a few, there is the love of self-interest which defeats its own ends; there is the love of abnegation which frequently results in personal injury; there is the well proportioned love that strikes an equitable balance. The love of family, of life, of friend, of God, of good, of the true, of the beautiful — my, how beneficial.

I didn't intend to bring in this letter anything about God, other than that pertains to the natural or of this life in which millions live as they choose, but I must say this: God's law of love gives us ambitions without number, it gives us the will and the power to travel all the avenues of life; it gives us friends, sweethearts, wives, children; it gives the sex-love, that tender, divine reciprocal attraction that enables us to find supreme satisfaction in each other as the mutual complement of life under the law of God.

If you would be loved, love others. Love begets love; love lives on love; love dies for want of love as you love, so are you loved. You receive love in proportion to yours for others.

Please allow me to quote a thought on hatred: Hatred is the consuming fire that reduces to ashes the superstructure built by love. It destroys the finer sensibilities; it dwarfs the growth of the soul; it kills liberality; it stays the operation of the spirit of forgiveness; love builds up, hatred tears down.

One of the most sublime messages yet given this world is "love one another". Let us hope that civilization in its rapid onward march will soon break through the cross-barbed entanglements of ignorance and superstitions; and standing on tip-toe with outstretched arms, facing the east, looking toward the beckoning laden lips of the morning of tomorrow. O love, thou powerful, potent, irresistible, unseen force. At thy shrine we bow, to rise clothed in attributes divine; at thy altar we sip from your cup of tenderness life's choicest nectar, wherein the message of good-will to all mankind partakes of the enduring Golden Rule heart force as our daily conduct guide.

Love is the music of the heart, gentle, mystic, binding, corrective, inspiring influence that impels that nearer approach to brotherhood of man. Love softens, refines, purifies, dedicates, sets one apart, and makes each a part of all. May this letter become a light to the reader and light up his or her candle, as my candle has lost no light in giving it.

May I add this one word about a light. I had been in Abilene in a missionary meeting, on the way home that night I stopped at a truck stop to get a cup of coffee before starting the trip home, a young nice dressed man was sitting at the counter, seemed to be in deep thought sipping at his coffee, I sat next to him, he turned to me and asked in a low tone of voice if I had a light and held out his cigarette, I replied no I was sorry I had no light, then the thought came to me, as I always carried a supply of little Gospel sayings we call (Tracts) I turned to the man and answered Yes I do have a light, and offered him a salvation Gospel tract. He took it and read the short verses on the paper, thought for a few seconds and turned to me again and said, "sir, you'll never know what good this has meant to me." I didn't question him but left him with his new found hope. The candle loses nothing of its light by lighting another candle.

Proposition Six

William F. Buckley, Jr.

SAN FRANCISCO — The people who gave us Proposition 13 are all stirred up by Proposition 6, which is on the ballot and engrossing the attention of all the moralists, and not a few of the immoralists, if we are permitted to use the word. You see, the planted axiom, in the discussion of homosexuality, is in fact nothing less than that it's simply one way to do it; and of no greater concern to anybody than that some people prefer Pepsi Cola to Coca Cola. That view is tacit in much of the argument one hears about Proposition 6, which is the current firecracker in the chain ignited in Florida in January, 1977 when Anita Bryant, the Adolph Hitler of the gay world, launched her campaign.

BECAUSE CALIFORNIA propositions tend to be rather windy, there is an arrangement between the Secretary of State and the Attorney General permitting a paraphrase of the proposed law for the purpose of briefly describing it on the ballot. Proposition 6, the ballot will say, "provides for filing charges against schoolteachers, teachers' aides, school administrators, or counselors, for advocating, soliciting, imposing, encouraging, or promoting private or public sexual acts between persons of the same sex in a manner likely to come to the attention of other employees or students." Proposition 6 also "prohibits hiring, and requires dismissal" of individuals who violate these provisions.

Now: How, concretely, would the passage of Proposition 6 affect Larry Berner? Mr. Berner is a second grade school teacher at the Fitch Mountain School in Healdsburg, Sonoma County, and it is said that he symbolizes the whole issue. He is a homosexual who was not known to be one until he contributed an article to the Lesbian and Gay Alliance News in which he so designated himself. Frenzied activity followed. Mr. Berner is apparently a good teacher, and some parents registered no objections to their children continuing to be taught by him. Others specified that their children would not be permitted in his classroom. And the school board, by a vote of four out of five, came out for dismissing him.

The assumption is that if Proposition 6 were passed, Berner would be dismissed. I say assumption, because it isn't altogether clear from the language of the paraphrase. Note that it does not require the firing of teachers who are homosexuals. The question the board would need to face is whether to write an article in something called the Lesbian and Gay Alliance News, in which one declares oneself to be a homosexual, is on the order of proselyting for homosexuality. Lawyers are capable of disagreeing on the point, and predictably would. If you announce that you are a Republican, are you "advocating" Republicanism? Well, yes and no; and the yes and no-ness is the worst thing about Proposition 6.

The columnist Charles McCabe of the San Francisco Chronicle, whose chosen rhetorical mode is the apodictic, in denouncing Proposition 6 makes the point that it is a hand-crafted weapon for mean children to use against their teachers.

An American speaks up

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Please print my letter. I have just finished reading a letter from Kandi of Oklahoma City who was upset because Americans made fun of her mixed heritage. I am an American Indian and Mexican. My adopted father is white and my adopted mother is black. My father is a military man and we have lived all over the world. Let me make it perfectly clear that Americans have treated me better than in any foreign country. In fact, I've been called so many names and been in so many fights in Europe, my dad calls me "crazy horse." Of course we have problems, but I'm very proud to be an American. — Keith, Little Rock, Ark.

Keith: Thanks for telling us "how it is." Your letter was appreciated. Dr. Wallace: I love my father but he hardly knows that I exist. When I do something special for him or do a good job mowing the lawn, he never says anything nice to me, but he points out all the bad things I do. He also makes my mother feel bad by boasting her around. My father was a lovable person a few years ago but not now. My brothers, my mother and I don't want to hurt his feelings but don't know how to tell him that we would like him to be the way he was.

Dr. Wallace: I've learned a real good lesson and I would like to share it with all teens. Last week, a friend and I went downtown. While shopping, my friend slipped a couple things into her purse. When we left the store, we were picked up by a store detective and taken to a room in the store. After filling out forms, we were asked to apologize to the manager. I was informed that I was as guilty as my friend because I knew what she was doing. Luckily we were not sent to juvenile hall because we had committed a felony. So teens, please don't be tempted to shop-lift. It's an experience I'll never forget. — Please don't print my name, Livermore, Calif.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TwEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dirty Words Roll From Child's Tongue

DEAR ABBY: Jody, our 4-year-old son, shocked us recently by using some filthy words he picked up from some older boys in the neighborhood. (Nouns and verbs having to do with sex. I'm sure you know which ones I mean.) Naturally, we were appalled, and told him we never wanted to hear those words again. However, when Jody gets angry, or wants to get back at us for having punished him, he lets loose with a string of those filthy words! My husband says we should do to Jody what HIS parents did to him when he used dirty language — wash his mouth out with soap! I say we should simply ignore the boy. Which method would you recommend?

APPALLED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Neither. Most youngsters pick up dirty words sooner or later, and when they realize that most adults are upset by such language, they use it as a weapon. Explain calmly that there are better words to say the same thing, and tell him what they are. (This is an ideal way to teach you child healthy attitudes about sex.) And if Jody continues to use "filthy" language, don't react. When he finds that his little game is not working, he'll cut it out.

DEAR ABBY: My 43-year-old maiden aunt recently broke off her engagement to a fine, 66-year-old widower after he told her that he had been impotent for 12 years and the doctors agreed that there was little or no chance of a recovery after that long a period. Would sex be that important to a woman that old?

NO NAME: SMALL TOWN

DEAR NO NAME: It apparently is to your aunt. (P.S. At 43, a woman is hardly ready for the glue factory.)

DEAR ABBY: Last winter my aunt, who has always called me her "favorite niece," gave me her old Persian lamb coat, saying, "It's been hanging in my closet for 20 years and I never wear it, so you may as well take it."

It was in pretty good condition, but the style was really old-fashioned, so I took it to a furrier, who made a nice-looking jacket out of it. (There was enough fur left over to make a hat and muff.) The whole thing cost me $300 but I thought it was worth it. Well, I stopped at my aunt's to show her what I'd done with her old fur coat, thinking she'd be pleased, and she started yelling at me, saying I had no right to cut up her coat — that she had only let me wear it for a while and never GAVE it to me!

Now she wants the jacket back. Is that fair? How about the $300 I spent on it? My mother says I should give her the jacket if she gives me $300. My father says I should keep it and give her nothing. What do you say?

FORMER FAVORITE NIECE

DEAR NIECE: If you are absolutely certain that she GAVE you the coat, you are not obligated either to give her the jacket or sell it to her. Keep the coat, and let Auntie yell.

Prescribed drugs can lead to drug problem

COLLEGE STATION — Possible drug abuse problems can arise from "prescribed drugs as well as "illegal" drugs.

To help in determining if a drug abuse problem exists, a person may ask himself or herself the following questions. (1) Am I defensive if a friend or relative mentions my drug or alcohol use? (2) Am I sometimes embarrassed or frightened by my behavior while under the influence of drugs or alcohol? (3) Have I ever gone to see a new doctor because my regular physician would not prescribe the drug I wanted? (4) When I am under pressure or feeling anxious, do I automatically take a tranquilizer or drink or both? (5) Do I take drugs and drink alcohol at the same time? (6) Do I take drugs more often or for purposes other than those prescribed by my doctor? (7) Do I regularly drink alcohol or take drugs to help me sleep? (8) Do I have to take a pill to wake up in the morning?

If you answered "yes" to any of these questions, you may have a problem with drugs, alcohol or both. Ms. Shearer cautions.

Bad year for farmers could mean even worse year for consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bad year for America's farm crops could nearly double the expected $3.40 weekly hike in a four-person family's grocery bill in 1979, says the Agriculture Department's top economist. Inflation's inevitable effects will increase prices that much, says Howard W. Hjort, but reduced meat and dairy supplies could raise the mythical family's average grocery bill another $2.75.

That projected increase, totaling $6.15, would be on top of the $6.21 weekly hike predicted for such a family this year. In 1977, it cost $62.10 a week to feed such a hypothetical family.

Hjort, testifying Tuesday before a House banking subcommittee, said food prices this year are expected to be 10 percent above 1977 averages, with most of 1978's increase having come in the first five months of the year. One year ago, Hjort came before the same committee and predicted food prices would be up from 3 percent to 6 percent this year.

"You can see that we didn't take into account the effects of farm policies and programs," he said in an interview.

The impact of congressional and administrative decisions which affect the price of food can easily be seen.

For example, the House

Agriculture and Ways and Means committees are considering legislation to hike federal sugar supports by up to 16 cents a pound although the administration has set a target of 14.5 cents for the hike.

But the effects of weather and low production are more difficult to predict.

Hjort said last year's predictions on farm prices were off because an expected "significant expansion" of 10 percent to 11 percent in the hog market, which would have led to lower pork prices, did not occur.

Bad weather and disease which killed animals combined with uncertainty among producers following claims that chemicals used to cure bacon may cause cancer to keep expansion of the hog market to about 2 percent.

Economists had hoped increased pork and poultry production would offset decreased beef supplies caused by ranchers attempting to compensate for four years of losses by trimming their herds.

'Hard Money' featured at Texas Prison Rodeo

HUNTSVILLE — When the curtain goes up Sunday, Oct. 1 for the opening here of the 1978 Texas Prison Rodeo, the performers won't be the usual prominent rodeo riders of the nation. Instead, the stars will be tough convicts from all units of the Texas Department of Corrections competing for prize money atop tougher rodeo stock.

The Texas Prison Rodeo, held here in the prison stadium every Sunday in October, is now in its 47th year and is known as the "Wildest Rodeo Behind Bars." The events include the Mad Scramble, Wild Horse Race, Bareback Bronc Riding, Saddle Bronc Riding and the prison's own special event called, "Hard Money." Events for women convicts are Greased Pig Sacking and the Calf Scramble.

Although the rodeo begins at 2 p.m., there is a pre-show entertainment feature inside the arena beginning at 12:30 p.m. Events on the Midway begin at 8:30 a.m. Adding to the fun will be the best inmate entertainment talent of the state's penal system.

The country and western stars making personal appearances this year are The Kendalls Oct. 1; Larry Gatlin Oct. 8; Tom T. Hall Oct. 15; Tammy Wynette Oct. 22, and Freddy Fender Oct. 29.

Reserved seat tickets at $4, $5, and $6 each may be obtained at all Top Tickets locations (Foleys) in Houston and at Sears locations in many Texas cities. Tickets may also be ordered by mail by writing to Texas Prison Rodeo, P.O. Box 99, Huntsville, Texas 77340, enclosing check or money order.

Net proceeds from rodeo ticket sales for earmarked for the benefit of more than 24,000 inmates of the Texas Department of Corrections.

NL East tightens

The National League season is dwindling down to its last precious few days — and the Philadelphia Phillies lead in the NL East Division has dwindled down to one precious — and precarious — game over the onrushing Pittsburgh Pirates.

The stumbling Phillies suffered their fifth setback in nine games Tuesday night, bowing to the Montreal Expos 5-2, while the Pirates outgassed the Chicago Cubs 12-11 in 11 innings for their seventh straight victory and 30th in 38 games.

With 12 games remaining, including four against each other at Pittsburgh in the final three days of the season, the Phillies have an 82-69 record and the Pirates are 81-69.

Pittsburgh's Dave Parker slugged his second homer of the game and 29th of the season in the 11th inning off Chicago's ace reliever, Bruce Sutter. Parker, the National League's leading batter with a .327 average, also had two singles and drove in four runs, boosting his league leading total to 111 RBI.

Bill Robinson also smacked two homers for the Pirates and Phil Garner hit a two-run homer. Bill Buckner and Dave Kingman homered for the Cubs in Chicago's friendly Wrigley Field.

Meanwhile, the Los Angeles Dodgers reduced their magic number for clinching their second straight NL West title to three, truncating the second-place Cincinnati Reds 8-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Rick Rhoden.

The Atlanta Braves edged Houston 3-2, although the Astros' J.R. Richard set a National League strikeout record for right-handers. The San Diego Padres downed the San Francisco Giants 4-1 and the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Mets 5-3.

FIRES RECORD — James Rodney Richard, Houston Astros pitcher, fires strikes Tuesday night at the Atlanta Braves as he broke the National League record for strikeouts by a right-hander. The old record of 289 strikeouts in one season was held by Tom Seaver since 1971. Richard had 11 strikeouts against the Braves to break the record with 290 strikeouts for the season.

New players in 'Above the Call'

The second week of the football season was highlighted by many "Above the Call" performances. All of the schools were represented by a new performer this week. Garden City has been added this week to bring the total number of schools being represented to seven.

Big Spring Steer tailback Eddie Puga turned in a Trojan effort in the loss to Hobbs. The 5'9", 145-pound tailback darted for 188 yards on 28 carries, many of the yards being on second efforts against the big Hobbs front wall. It was a personal high for Puga in a Black and Gold uniform.

It is a somewhat rare occasion that an offensive tackle that plays only offense gets the nod, but that is exactly what happened to Coahoma left tackle Gary Bayes. According to coach Roy Winters, Gary did a "super job" in opening up holes for the offensive backs in the Bulldogs' 28-15 triumph over rival Stanton.

Stanton fullback-linebacker Mitch Elmore played a very consistent game in the Buffalo loss to Coahoma. He carried nine times for 69 yards on offense and also played a good defensive game. Elmore is a 180-pound senior.

Despite being dominated by a 39-0 score at the hands of Wink, Sands tackle-linebacker David Hall was not. The 190-pound junior played a tough game from his middle linebacker position, and coach Dickie Lepard singled out his performance for this. Rusty Henderson rose above the rest of the herd of Buffaloes in Forsan's 31-0 victory over Garden City. Henderson rushed 25 times for 139 yards, had two pass receptions for 25 yards and scored three touchdowns. He was also outstanding on defense, being involved in 17 tackles. Mark Halfman, 150-pound offensive guard-defensive end, for the Garden City Bearkats did a "good job of blocking and hustling" on offense, according to coach Jesse Smelley. Halfman also had two unassisted tackles and 13 assisted tackles. Quarterback Jimmy Mitchell, 140-pound senior, was singled out by Grady coach Richard Gibson for his outstanding effort in the Wildcats victory over Ira. Mitchell scored three touchdowns, gained 72 yards rushing, 102 passing and played a good game defensively from his safety position.

Lopez challenges Rankin-Carner

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Nancy Lopez, who has won $157,000 already this year, is teamed with Jo Ann Washam for a $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament this weekend.

The three-day team tournament begins Friday at the Columbia-Edgewater Country Club.

Lopez and Washam, 1975 winners of the Portland tournament, should provide a strong challenge to defending champions Joanne Carner and Judy Rankin. Carner recently became the first woman golfer in history to surpass $100,000 in winnings three seasons in a row.

Former Portland champions Donna Capori Young and Kathy Whitworth also are among the 50 teams. Young has two U.S. Open titles in her 11 tour victories, while Whitworth has 80 wins, two shy of Hall of Famer Mickey Wright.

Another Hall of Fame player, Carol Mann, will play with Dot Germain. Jane Blalock and Joan Joyce, a softball pitcher, will be back after trying for third last year.

Sally Little, the seventh leading money winner this season, is paired with Argentine Silvia Bertolacini. The list also includes the combined talents of the ninth and 10th leading money winners — Amy Alcott and 1977 Rookie-of-the-Year Debbie Massey.

The tournament is played under a best ball format. Two women play 54 holes as a team, with only the lowest score counting on each hole.

The twosome with the lowest overall team total wins, splitting a $15,000 first prize.

The tournament is sponsored by Karsten Manufacturing Co., which sells golf equipment under the PING brand name.

NANCY LOPEZ will team with JoAnn Washam in an attempt to unseat the team of Judy Rankin-Joanne Carner in this week's Portland Open.

Ali will wait to make decision

CHICAGO (AP) — Muhammad Ali parries questions about retirement with the same ease he handled Leon Spinks last Friday night to become the first boxer to hold the heavyweight championship three times.

"If I say I'm finished, fight organizations would strip me of the title," Ali said at a news conference Tuesday.

"I'm just holding the title for five or six months before making a decision," he added. "Will I fight? Or won't I fight? You'll just have to wait and see. But I will say that (Leon) Spinks will be the next champion. I told him that and told him to keep after it."

Asked if he made up his mind but did not want to say so at this time, Ali quipped: "That's for me to know and for you to try to find out."

Ali was flanked by his personal doctor, Charles Williams, and his nutrition specialist, Dick Gregory.

The news conference was called for Ali to plug Gregory's health formula "made up of 93 ingredients — herbs, minerals, vitamins and chemicals, with kelp the basic ingredient."

Ali, 36, attributed his victory over Spinks in New Orleans last week "to God, Allah, and the formula."

"Gregory had a great mixture in a formula which he gave me in a drink with juice and honey, and I danced, and danced, and tired that young boy, Spinks, out. I made all the old people of the world happy. They saw me dance. It made them feel young again. It made them say, 'Man, I'm not old' and they went off dancing."

Ali said he and Gregory plan to package the formula, "and through my world organization" send it to feed the starving in Third World countries.

"In the first Spinks fight, Gregory was not in my training camp and I tried to make it (the formula) my way, and I got tired and lost," said Ali. "This time Gregory was with me and I drank it before and after dinner and before going to bed. Then I went out and danced to victory."

Bosox, Brewers gain on Yankees

People gave up on Mike Caldwell three years ago. People gave up on the Boston Red Sox three days ago.

Both are alive and well, however, and they've revived the pennant race in the American League East.

Caldwell completed a four-year comeback from elbow surgery when he won his 20th game of the season Tuesday night, pitching a four-hit, 10-strikeout masterpiece as the Milwaukee Brewers stopped the New York Yankees 2-0.

And the Red Sox climbed within 1 1/2 games of their archrivals by beating the Detroit Tigers 8-6 behind Carl Yastrzemski's five runs batted in.

Elsewhere, the Cleveland Indians edged the Baltimore Orioles 2-1, the California Angels defeated the Minnesota Twins 4-1, the Kansas City Royals nipped the Seattle Mariners 9-8 and the Chicago White Sox swept a double-header from the Oakland A's 8-4 and 7-3.

Brewers 2, Yankees 0
"It was just another typical ballgame against the Yankees this year," said Caldwell, a 29-year-old left-hander who pitched his third shutout of the season against the Yankees and sixth overall, a team record. His 20 wins and 22 complete games tied club records.

"I never gave up on myself," said Caldwell, 20-9, who joined New York's Ron Guidry as the major leagues' only 20-game winners.

Milwaukee nicked Dick Tidrow for a run in the third inning on Robin Yount's double and Don Money's single. Yount hit his ninth homer in the fifth.

Red Sox 8, Tigers 6

Yastrzemski, who has been hampered by a sore hand, belted a three-run homer in the first inning for the Red Sox. Detroit bounced right back on Jason Thompson's grand slam homer in the bottom of the first, but Yastrzemski's two-run double highlighted a four-run uprising in the fourth inning that put Boston back on top.

Register for PP&K at Bob Brock Ford

Registrations for the 1978 Punt, Pass & Kick Competition co-sponsored locally by Bob Brock Ford continue to roll in. The contest, open to any youngster 8 through 13 years of age, seems to get more popular every year.

Any boy or girl meeting the age requirements who can punt, pass and kick a football — or who'd like to try — will want to compete. Participants compete only against others their own age, and there is no body contact.

No special equipment is needed and participation does not impair a youngster's amateur standing. Each youngster competes in three categories — punting, passing and kicking. Judges score one point for each foot the ball travels on the fly, minus one point for each foot the ball lands to the right or left of the center tape.

Youngsters, accompanied by a parent or guardian, may register for PP&K at any participating Ford Dealer. There is no entrance fee.

Registration for the area's 18th annual Punt, Pass & Kick Competition for youngsters 8 through 13 years of age will remain open through September 29.

Nationally, over 1,000,000 youngsters are expected to take part in this year's program sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America in cooperation with the National Football League. Registration blanks and local competition details are available at all participating Ford dealerships.

Punt, Pass & Kick has attracted millions of participants since its inception in 1961. In addition, it has received the enthusiastic support of high school, college and professional football coaches across the country.

A LITTLE EXTRA EFFORT — Rusty Torres, Chicago White Sox, tries his entire bag of tricks as he tries to break up double play by Oakland A's in Tuesday night's game. Oakland shortstop Mario Guerrero got throw off to first to complete double play after Sox Eric Soderholm grounded infield. Sox came from behind to win game 8 to 4 on grand slam homer by Ron Blomberg.

Pruitt ordered to bed

BEREA, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Browns running back Greg Pruitt has been ordered to confine himself to complete bed rest.

Pruitt, who suffered a leg injury in the Cincinnati game Sept. 3, probably will be listed as a doubtful starter for Sunday's game against Pittsburgh.

"We'll try to have him fully ready for Houston (Oct. 1)," Coach Sam Rutigliano said of his star running back.

The Browns said some thought had been given to hospitalizing Pruitt to speed his recovery. However, Dr. John Bergfeld, the team physician, let him go home after Pruitt promised to stay in bed with the leg elevated.

Cook pleads guilty

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Former Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Greg Cook has been fined $250, given a suspended three-day jail term and placed on probation for a year after pleading guilty to shoplifting a $70 pair of trousers.

Boone County District Judge Robert Hall said Tuesday the probation was given on the condition Cook continues to see his psychiatrist.

Cook, 31, was arrested outside a Florence, Ky., shopping center Aug. 25. He was injured in his rookie season as Cincinnati quarterback in 1969 and gave up football in 1974 after several comeback attempts.

Mikita signs pact

CHICAGO (AP) — Center Stan Mikita, the club's all-time leading scorer, will return for his 20th season with the Chicago Black Hawks, the National Hockey League club announced.

Terms of the new contract Mikita signed Tuesday were not given.

Mikita, 38, had been a free agent and would not have brought the Hawks compensation if he signed with another team.

Mikita has won four NHL scoring championships and is the Hawks' last link to the Stanley Cup championship team of 1960-1961.

Last season, he played in 76 games with 18 goals and 59 points.

Delaware still No. 1

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — Unbeaten Delaware holds down the No. 1 spot in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II football poll this week.

Delaware, 2-0, received 60 points in the poll, followed by Northern Michigan, 2-0, with 55, and Winston-Salem with 52.

In fourth place is Youngstown Ohio, 2-0; followed by California-Davis, 1-0; Eastern Illinois, 3-0; Virginia Union, 2-0; Nebraska-Omaha, 3-0; Norfolk State, 3-0 and, in the No. 10 spot, North Dakota State, 2-1.

Fight sets TV record

NEW YORK (AP) — Friday night's Muhammad Ali-Leon Spinks heavyweight championship fight was among the highest rated sports shows of alltime, ABC Television said Tuesday.

The network said that from 10 till about 11:45 p.m. EDT, the time the Ali fight was actually on, the bout drew a 46.7 rating, meaning 46.7 percent of TV sets in the nation were tuned in, and a whopping 73 share, meaning 73 percent of the sets in use were tuned to the fight. Those are records for a TV fight, surpassing the first Ali-Spinks bout.

During that period, the fight delivered approximately 34.8 million homes per minute, an all-time record for a sports event and second only in TV history to the final episode of "Roots". The previous record for homes delivered was Super Bowl XII last January with 34.4 million.

Cajun hunters nabbed

ABILENE—Most traditional areas in northwest Texas are reporting few doves, but seven Louisiana hunters found a hot spot in Jones county and an even hotter judge in Taylor county.

A plea of guilty was entered by each out-of-state hunter for over the possession limit of mourning doves and a fine of $414 per hunter was assessed by the judge after Curtis Jones, warden supervisor, had completed his investigations.

A call from Zane Williams, lake patrolman, prompted the investigation of the Louisiana hunters after Williams had stopped their vehicle which had no license plate displayed. Williams became suspicious when the out-of-state hunters told of dove hunting in Jones county and that they were headed home. Williams contacted Warden Jones who found 456 dove iceed down in a chest in the vehicle.

Jones obtained assistance from Dale Evans, another Texas game warden nearby and the men were escorted to the judge where the fines totaled $2898 before the Louisiana men could continue their trip back home.

The hunters were allowed their possession limit of 140 doves (10 per day and 20 in possession), but 316 doves were confiscated by the P&WD officers.

Ayala scores 7th KO

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Sammy Ayala of San Antonio scored his seventh consecutive knockout in a lightweight bout Tuesday against Lupe Galindo of Mexico City.

Ayala, 7-0, knocked out Galindo, 30-4, in the third round of the scheduled 10-round contest. He is ranked 13th in the North American Boxing Federation among super lightweights. Galindo is the fourth-ranked lightweight contender in Mexico.

Female boxing legalized in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — The bald lady with the dangling gold earrings wiggled her hips while the record player blared, "Hold that tiger!" Her "bust friend strutted around in a green sweat suit with "The Female Ali" lettered across the chest. A stringy girl with a Farrah Fawcett hair-do smiled demurely and said that drama — not boxing — was really her first love.

Women's liberation had shattered another barrier and invaded what always had been considered man's strict domain — the boxing ring.

"Why should it be called 'The manly art of self-defense'? Why not just the art of self-defense?" said Marian "Tyger" Tremiar, a shaven-headed lightweight out of Los Angeles.

"Women got as much skill as men," insisted Jackie Tonawanda, a part Indian from Quaque, N.Y., who claims she has knocked out 13 opponents and served as a bodyguard for Muhammad Ali.

"There is no reason boxing should be any more violent than fencing," added Cathy "Cat" Davis, who claims to be the unbeaten 135-pound champion of the world.

"I took up boxing just for exercise — to improve my physical looks. I really want to get into the theater. I don't think boxing is different from any other sport."

The three were the center of attention Tuesday at the offices of the New York Athletic Commission, at the mandate of the State Supreme Court, they received boxing licenses.

New York, a longtime holdout, thus becomes one of 43 states where women boxers are now licensed. Bouts can be expected shortly in the suburban clubs, such as the Westchester County Center, moving later into the city's mecca of sports, Madison Square Garden.

Davis claims to have signed a $105,000 contract for three defenses of her title, one possibly against Tremiar.

The Commission resisted licensing women boxers for four years but, once faced with reality, decided to take full advantage of the press agency possibilities. Invitations went out to all the newspapers, TV and radio stations. Response was wild.

"I don't like it — not at all," commented former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, a member of the commission. "I don't like to see women cut up and spill blood all over the ring."

Marvin Kohn, deputy commissioner, stood guard over a set of ancient scales on which fighters have been weighed for close to a century.

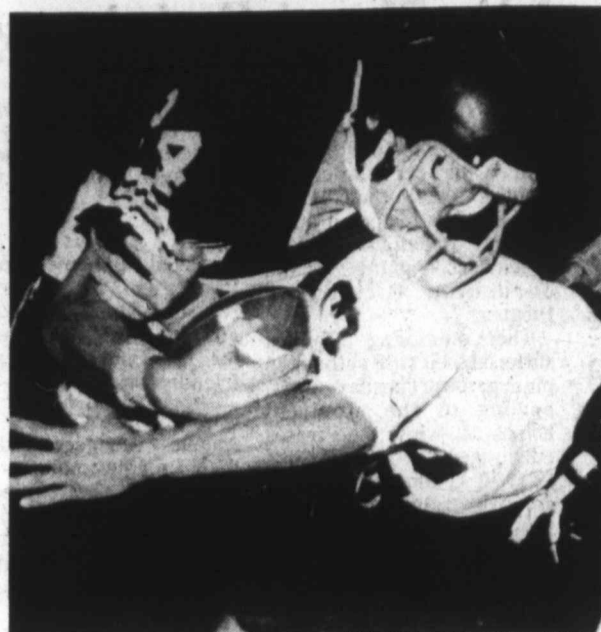

"Don't touch those scales — Jack Dempsey weighed on those scales," he said to the women.

Davis, 26, a former drama major at New Orleans University, said she has knocked out 15 of her 16 opponents and never lost a fight.

"I had one no-contest in Atlanta," she added. "My opponent kept pushing me down in the ring and falling on top of me, hurting my leg. But I have never been seriously injured."

The Cat, as she is known, said she resents suggestions that a women wishing to box has to be tough and masculine.

"I am not a feminist," she argued. "I think everybody should be liberated. I don't see any difference in boxing and fencing. Both require speed and skill. If you're good, there's no way you're going to get hurt."

HANG ON... Mike Evans is hit hard by an unidentified Hobbs Eagles following a seven-yard reception in a 21-6 Steer loss.

Landry credits Rams

DALLAS (AP) — Tony Dorsett's worst day in professional football on average per rush doesn't disturb Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry.

"It (bad days) happens to all great runners," said Landry Tuesday when asked about Dorsett's two yard average on 19 carries in a 27-14 National Football League loss to the Los Angeles Rams.

"Tony is a unique runner," said Landry of 1977's NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year. "He moves with flashes."

"If he has a hole he gets through it in a hurry. He will explode."

Landry added "Any back will have a game like Sunday against an excellent defense like the Rams. His hole will sometimes shut off then he has to rely on his natural instincts. The Rams were pursuing well and he just didn't have much of a place to go."

Dorsett, who has rushed for an average of 5.1 yards on 58 carries in three games, said "I felt like a magnet out there against Los Angeles. Every time I got the ball it was like everyone of their players were there."

Landry concluded "When you are hustling like the Rams were a lot of good things happen."

To shore up Dallas' shaky pass defense, Landry Tuesday moved Mark

UH tries to rebound

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Bill Yeoman says the Cougars will have to eliminate mistakes like six fumbles and 113 yards in penalties if they are to play a good game against improved Utah this week.

"Utah just killed Idaho State (56-0) in their opener and they had an open date last week so they'll be raring to go," said Yeoman, whose Cougars opened their season with a 17-3 loss to Memphis State last week.

"They also have a great little quarterback in Randy Gomez," Yeoman added. "If he was 6-2, he'd be All-American, but if he was 6-2, he'd be at Southern Cal."

As for last week's upset, Yeoman said the Cougars played exactly like a team needs to play if it wants to lose.

"First there were six fumbles and what that didn't get done, we had 113 yards in penalties that fit right in with our scheme," he said.

Yeoman said he saw progress in his young offensive line against Memphis State.

"I was encouraged by the play of our bunch of kids in the offensive line," Yeoman said. "They are young and just haven't been to the trough enough. You throw something new at them and they're confused. But they've got the physical ability to get the job done."

The Cougars missed the running ability of graduated Alois Blackwell, a rookie this season with the Dallas Cowboys.

"If we don't have runners like Blackwell this year we'll just have to block that much better and fake better," Yeoman said.

Yeoman said the Cougars have some young runners who will be better when they learn to "do some things when they don't have the football. Right now they're more like spectators when they're not running the ball. We try to sell tickets for the stands not on the field."

SMU walk-on Nelson Defender of the week

DALLAS (AP) — Gary Nelson was a big man on campus back in Uvalde, Texas where he earned letters in four high school sports.

But he got no scholarship offers. So Nelson attended Southern Methodist University and asked its former Coach Dave Smith, for a tryout.

Smith was impressed enough to give the battling Nelson a scholarship.

"I tried to run Gary off when I got here because I frankly didn't think he could play major college football," said Ron Meyer, who took over when Smith was fired.

"Boy was I wrong," Meyer, who was a walk-on player himself at Purdue, said "His size (6-0 and 185) doesn't impress you. But he's a fighter."

Nelson earned The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week award Saturday with his performance in SMU's 35-25 upset victory over the Florida Gators.

The senior end celebrated his 22nd birthday with four quarterback sacks and some key tackles.

Rice faces another power in OU Sooners

HOUSTON (AP) — With a schedule like the Rice football team faces this year, guarding against intimidation is a way of life for new Owl Coach Ray Alborn.

"I don't know who made out that schedule but I sure think he ought to be down there on the sidelines with me to go through it," Alborn said Tuesday.

The Owls travel to Norman, Okla. Saturday to play the third ranked Sooners. Rice is in the middle of a string of playing four consecutive nationally ranked teams.

So far they have losses to 20th ranked Iowa State and sixth ranked Texas with 10th ranked Louisiana State coming up next week in Rice Stadium.

"Some teams will intimidate you before you even get on the field," Alborn said. "That's what we've got to guard against this week. We've got to get this Texas situation behind us and go on to what's ahead."

What lies ahead is, in Alborn's opinion, will be a tougher situation than last week.

"Right now, at this stage of the game, they (Oklahoma) are better than Texas," said Alborn. "I don't know if their defense is as quick as Texas because you can't tell that on film. But they are better on offense because of their personnel."

Rice also will see its share of Heisman Trophy hopefuls including Iowa State's Dexter Green and, in Alborn's opinion, Oklahoma's Billy Sims. LSU running back Charles Alexander also is mentioned among early Heisman prospects.

"You talk about Dexter Green as a Heisman candidate, but take a look at Oklahoma's first two games and Sims has got to be considered too," Alborn. "I think he's a better back than Dexter Green."

Alborn said first assignment this week is getting the Owls to forget about the Texas game.

"We've got to get that Texas situation behind us and get our minds on what's ahead," Alborn said. "Nobody is pleased with the way we played against Texas so we've got to get some of those things corrected."

Defensive back Carleton Derrett, who suffered a hyper-extended knee against the Longhorns, will miss the Oklahoma game.

Former pro athlete scores primary upset

BOSTON (AP) — A former pro football player who had never run for public office championed the anti-tax movement into a stunning primary upset over liberal Gov. Michael S. Dukakis, while Republican Sen. Edward W. Brooke narrowly defeated another political novice.

Edward J. King, a brawny, tough-talking one-time head of the Massachusetts Port Authority was the winner over the one-term Dukakis in Tuesday's primary.

With 74 percent of the state's precincts reporting, King led Dukakis 307,497 to 255,697, or 51 percent to 42 percent.

Brooke, the nation's only black senator for the past 12 years, edged conservative television talk-show host Avi Nelson.

Though Nelson never made an issue of it, Brooke's campaign was rocked by his admission of making a false financial statement in his divorce.

With about three-fourths of the vote counted, Brooke, who asked liberal Democrats to cross party lines to vote for him, received about 54 percent of the vote — 106,219 — to Nelson's 92,190 or 46 percent.

In other primaries held Tuesday:

—Oklahoma Gov. David Boren overhauled former U.S. Rep. Ed Edmondson in the Democratic Senate contest and will face Republican nominee Bob Kamm and four independents in November. Lt. Gov. George Nigh had no trouble defeating Attorney General Larry Derryberry for the Democratic nomination for governor and a chance against Republican Ron Shotts.

Six members of the Washington state congressional delegation easily won renomination.

"A majority of the voters in this Democratic primary wanted something else," a grimfaced Dukakis said as he conceded defeat.

In the November election for governor, the conservative King will face a liberal Republican — state House Minority Leader Francis W. Hatch Jr.

Hatch defeated Edward F. King — no relation to the Democratic candidate — by a margin of 99,279 to 79,349 with more than 70 percent of the vote counted.

With three-quarters of the votes tabulated, Brooke's Democratic opponent appeared to be U.S. Rep. Paul Tsongas who led state Secretary Paul Guzzi 203,344 to 182,371.

Kathleen Sullivan Alioto, a member of the Boston School Committee and recent bride of former San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, trailed with 20 percent of the vote, while Howard Phillips, founder and director of the Washington-based Conservative Caucus, and state Rep. Elaine Noble, an avowed lesbian, each received 7 percent.

King, who played guard for three years with the Buffalo Bills and Baltimore Colts after starring at Boston College, had urged Massachusetts to adopt its own version of Proposition 13, the California law that forced a 57 percent cut in property taxes and put a limit on future property tax increases.

He also favored adoption of the death penalty, mandatory sentences for drug pushers and raising the drinking age to 21. All were positions strongly opposed by Dukakis.

Standing before a jubilant throng of supporters, King said, "When you made that choice, you sent a message loud and clear for all to hear. Massachusetts needs a Proposition 13 now."

During the campaign, Dukakis appeared assured and headed for victory against his novice opponent.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURS., SEPT. 21, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Some new ideas can be helpful to you so be openminded to them. However, avoid conditions, personalities and situations from the past since they can limit you in making progress that is important to your advancement. Think situations out logically.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Concentrate on those creative ideas you have and make headway, avoiding less important work. A loved one is helpful in gaining a cherished desire.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Forget time-wasting recreation and concentrate on how to expand at this time and be more successful. New projects are fine but old ones are not good to pursue right now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A letter you receive is an opportunity to advance in your career. Kin may not understand and could buck you, but ignore it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get into the financial side of dealings with adviser and come to a good understanding. Be willing to work and gain personal goals more readily.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Talk matters over with a progressive friend and plan the future more wisely, but keep quiet about money matters. Get into amusements you like at the end of the day.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Follow through on a new interest that could bring you more acclaim with the public in general. Handling a credit affair wisely is important.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get busy with a good friend and study into a new project that can be mutually helpful. Stop worrying about something you can do nothing about.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Avoid a friend who wants to waste your time. Be with loved ones more. A good day to handle a responsibility that has been difficult to do before this.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Change your attitude toward an associate and your affairs together work out better. Steer clear of an irate higher-up. Focus your attention on business affairs and you accomplish much.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find a better way to do your work so that you become more efficient and enjoy more profits. Avoid anything of a bizarre nature.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take time to be with a clever individual at recreational pursuits and learn about modern system of doing things. Be more-careful about payments and collections.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Steer clear of an irate partner and busy yourself making needed home improvements. Do some entertaining at home.

Committee assessing FBI performance in assassination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Assassinations Committee is assessing whether the FBI did all it should have done in the investigation of the murder of President John F. Kennedy.

Witnesses were scheduled to testify today about the FBI investigation and the agency's cooperation with other agencies and the Warren Commission.

The committee shifted into that general area Tuesday with testimony from two retired Secret Service officials who said their agents performed well although they failed to save Kennedy from the assassin's bullets in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

Wrapping up public testimony on long-standing rumors of Cuban involvement, the committee referred to a stream of murky allegations but did little to clarify them or establish how reliable they might be.

There was nothing murky about Cuban President Fidel Castro's denial of involvement in the assassination or prior knowledge of it.

Contending that it would have been "tremendous insanity" for Cubans to plot the assassination of a U.S. president, Castro accused the Central Intelligence Agency of circulating such reports.

Castro made his statements during a four-hour interview with committee members and investigators last April. The committee released a transcript Tuesday.

Describing his personal reaction to the news of Kennedy's death, Castro said, "I was very badly depressed. I was very sad about it."

Cosmonauts set endurance record

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts set a space endurance record today after more than 96 days aloft and with no indication how much longer their flight will last.

At 9:17 a.m. Moscow time — 2:17 a.m. EDT — flight commander Vladimir Kovalenok, 36, and flight engineer Alexander Ivanchenkov, 37, surpassed the previous record of 96 days, 10 hours.

The old mark was set Feb. 11 by two other Soviet cosmonauts, Georgy Grechko and Yuri Romanenko, aboard the same orbiting Salyut 6 space lab. The two missions have been very similar, consisting of scientific experiments and maintenance chores.

The new record puts even further behind the American space program, which has not launched a manned flight since the Apollo-Soyuz mission of 1975.

Grechko and Romanenko broke a long-standing U.S.-held endurance record of 84 days, one hour, 16 minutes set four years ago by Skylab 4 astronauts Gerald Carr, Edward Gibson and William Pogue.

The Soviet press has issued periodic reports on the progress of the flight of Kovalenok and Ivanchenkov, saying they are carrying out the pre-arranged program and are reported feeling well.

The Soyuz 29 flight broke another record last month by logging enough time for the Soviet Union to surpass an American record of 937.6 total man-days in space by U.S. astronauts.

Kovalenok is a native of the small village of Beloye in the Minsk region. He enlisted as a cosmonaut in the Soviet military division in 1967 and made his first space flight in October 1977 as commander of the unsuccessful Soyuz 25 space mission.

Ivanchenkov is a Moscow native who began training for flight in 1970. He was a standby flight engineer for several Soyuz missions as well as the joint Apollo-Soyuz flight.

The two cosmonauts have

Suggested retail price of new Monzas sliced

DEARBORN, Mich. — In a move to improve its small car leadership, Chevrolet has announced it is reducing the manufacturer's suggested retail price of its 1979 subcompact Monzas as much as $112 or three per cent below comparably equipped 1978 models.

This brings the manufacturer's suggested retail price of the lowest price Monza coupe to $3,617.

The new Monzas, which went on sale Sept. 15, are being offered in four models for 1979: a standard coupe, two hatchback coupes and a station wagon.

Additional equipment valued at $294 on the 2+2 hatchback coupe and $261 on the 2+2 sport hatchback is being made standard, and their prices will be as much as $109, or 2.8 per cent below comparably equipped 1978 models.

The wagon will have standard equipment valued at $334 added and the price will be $58 or 1.5 per cent below the comparably equipped 1978 model.

Robert D. Lund, General Motors vice president and Chevrolet general manager, told newsmen previewing the Monza, "there is no question about our ability to compete at every level of value and price with the imports. The great success we have had with the 1978 Chevette is one example, and now the application of that same value-per-dollar success formula will be applied to the 1979 Monza."

Lund said last fall Chevette became the biggest value in subcompact cars and today, it is the fastest selling small car in America. Model year deliveries are up 84 per cent from 1977 and subcompact penetration has jumped from 6.2 per cent in 1977 to 10.2 per cent in 1978.

Chevrolet began its value and price approach for the Monza last fall when it added white sidewall tires, wheel covers and bumper rub strips as standard equipment, which had the effect of reducing certain Monza models up to $172.

"As a result, 1978 Monza sales are up 70 per cent," Lund said, "and for 1979, we will expand the list of standard equipment people want in a small car by including an AM radio, tinted glass, body side moldings, sport steering wheel, front and rear bumper guards (wagons only), and for Monza hatchbacks and wagons, a standard floor console."

Lund predicted Chevrolet's small car sales would maintain leadership for the 1979 model year and would approach 540,000 — 200,000 Monzas and 340,000 Chevettes.

Lund said dealer announcement of the 1979 Monza price and value story will take place in Chevrolet's 6,000 dealerships September 15th and run for nine days. It will be part of the largest national selling event in Chevrolet history.

"Our commercial observance of this period ending Sept. 23 will be known as 'National Chevy Week,'" he said. "Our objective is to sell more cars and trucks during this period than any other manufacturer in history."

"This will be an appropriate climax to the 1978 model year when Chevrolet will have sold more passenger cars and trucks than ever before — a new combined record of 3,724,000 Chevettes. The new record will be up eight per cent over 1977 and five per cent ahead of the previous model year record set in 1973. The 1978 model year includes 2,385,000 cars and 1,339,000 trucks.
