House-to-house search continues in Palo Pinto County

One of three jail escapees seized

MINERAL WELLS, Texas (AP) — Mineral Wells police said they caught one of three jail escapees from Palo Pinto County Saturday as law officers and volunteers on horseback continued their search for the other two.

A police dispatcher said Karol McAtee, 24, of Mineral Wells was caught, but was unable to provide details. "They're (police) all out there now," the dispatcher said. He said no calls for ambulances or other emergency vehicles were made in connection with the arrest.

McAtee escaped Thursday, along with Michael Bender, 23, of Mineral Wells, and Dan Taggart, 18, of Dallas.

A relief jailer was stabbed and a woman dispatcher clubbed during the escape.

"Instead of standing back and waiting for them to make a move, we're trying to force them out into the open by thrashing the bushes and making a house-to-house search," said Palo Pinto County Sheriff Ray

Patterson before the McAtee arrest.

Patterson said 50 to 75 men were involved in the manhunt, including a posse of about 20 men on horseback, mostly volunteers. Law officers from surrounding areas and troopers from the Department of Public Safety also joined in the search.

Authorities were using four helicopters and an airplane to cross an area around a ranch eight miles east of Palo Pinto where the trio was spotted in a large barn Friday.

But it was dark, and the jailbreakers were able to flee into a wooded area where they apparently spent the night.

The outlaws were armed only with knives when they broke out of jail, but the sheriff said they must be considered armed and dangerous because "guns would be obtainable in the area where they are at. There are quite a few residences in the area, and most would have firearms inside."

Authorities believe Taggart was the mastermind of the escape. He was serving a 30-day sentence on a misdemeanor marijuana conviction.

Bender was accused of burglary, and McAtee was being held on charges of armed robbery. But now the three face charges of attempted capital murder because of the attacks on the two persons when they escaped.

Jailer Jon Hutson was stabbed three times in the back and chest and listed in stable condition in a Palo Pinto hospital. Dispatcher Melinda McCoy, who suffered a concussion as well as knife cuts, was in satisfactory condition.

PRISON ESCAPEES — Mineral Wells police said Saturday they have caught Karol McAtee, right, of Mineral Wells, Tex., one of three prisoners who escaped from the Palo Pinto County Jail Thursday. Authorities are still searching an area east of Palo Pinto, Tex. for the other two fugitives, Dan Taggart, left, of Dallas and Michael Bender of Mineral Wells, Tex.

48 buildings leased in industrial park

No fewer than 48 buildings have been leased in the Big Spring Industrial Park, formerly Webb AFB, since the military facility closed here earlier this year.

The structures have been leased by 32 business firms and individuals. Negotiations are progressing for several other structures at the 2,300-acre facility.

Included among the list of tenants are two fixed based operators, R.E. (Red) McClure, representing Trans-Regional Airlines; and O.D. Landrum, Big Spring Aero Repair.

Among non-Big Spring based firms which have rented space in the Industrial Park are Lubbock Manufacturing Co., Lubbock; Osete Publications, Midland; Midas International, Chicago, Ill.; Brooks Construction, Shawnee, Okla.; Halliburton Service, Snyder; and Built-Rite Pallet Co., Coahoma.

Several local and area firms have initiated inquiries about either moving or expanding their operations to the park.

Harry Spannaus, retired Air Force colonel, is manager of the industrial park.

100,000 cheering Egyptians welcome President Sadat home

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — More than 100,000 cheering Egyptians welcomed President Anwar Sadat home Saturday while in Damascus, other Arab leaders put the final touches on a "rejectionist" plan to undermine the Camp David accords.

Syrian President Hafez Assad, addressing the closing session of the Damascus conference, said it had been "very fruitful" in countering the agreements at Camp David, which he called "the summit of surrender."

Conference sources said the hard-line states decided to establish a $1 billion fund for the overthrow of Sadat and derailment of the Camp David pact.

Egypt might go it alone and negotiate an agreement over the West Bank without Jordanian participation in peace talks.

Also, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, who is trying to seal the Camp David accords to the Arabs, played tourist for a day in Saudi Arabia after being forced to put off for 24 hours a meeting in Damascus with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

Syria is the final stop on the secretary's Mideast mission. He has already talked with the Saudis and Jordan's Hussein, making a bid for support for the accords but receiving no commitments.

At a news conference in Amman Saturday, Hussein repeated his country's objections to the new agreements saying they do not provide for total Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands or for the right of Palestinians to establish their own state in those lands. He said he would join the peace process only if the accords were modified.

In Egypt, Sadat was swamped by thousands of well-wishers at an airport reception attended by the entire Egyptian Cabinet and all 360 members of Parliament.

After pickup flips baffle officers

Two young men keep on truckin'

By MARJ CARPENTER

Two young men apparently stole an oilfield trailer filled with pipe, then stole a pickup, wrecked both and then caught a ride to steal another pickup Friday night.

Law officials were trying to sort out the confusion Saturday and were hoping to make an arrest by today.

Around 10 p.m. Friday, a pickup apparently stolen from Guthrie Oil pulling a trailer load of pipe belonging to Bob Wash went out of control and flipped over on its side while headed west on the road into Forsan which connects with Highway 87.

The first person to come along was Mrs. Elva Biffer, who had left the Forsan football game to return to Big Spring because it had started to rain.

The two youths appealed to her for help and asked her to take them to their other pickup. Mrs. Biffer was trying to be a good samaritan since one of the pair was sick at his stomach and they both seemed to be shaken up.

She loaded them up and by their directions drove them to one of Will Guthrie's oil leases. She said later she had no reason to suspect anything since they had a key to the gate.

They got in another pickup and she asked them to follow her back so that she wouldn't take the wrong turn on an oilfield road. They followed her back to the scene.

By that time, Bobby Wash and his wife had left the ballgame and stopped to see if anyone was hurt in the accident. They recognized Bob Wash's oilfield trailer which had been stolen two weeks before and sent somebody back to the football game to get Bud Summers, Forsan deputy sheriff.

At that point, the two young men who had returned to the scene got in their second pickup, which turned out later to also be Guthrie's pickup, and quickly departed the scene.

Mrs. Biffer told Summers she had taken the two young men to get another vehicle and turned to point to them, saying "There they are over there," only to discover they had disappeared.

And so had the second pickup. Wash's looked through the window of the wrecked pickup and, seeing Will Guthrie's checkbook, sent for him. He arrived at the scene identified the pickup and said keys to the lease would have been on the same key ring.

The possibilities were many. It was surmised by law men at the scene that possibly the youths had the stolen trailer hidden out, had stolen the first pickup to pull the trailer away and when they wrecked it, decided to steal the second pickup, return to the scene and attempt to hook up the trailer again.

But the duo had not figured on it being a Forsan-Robert Lee football night. By the time they got back to the scene, quite a few people had gathered, including the Washes, the deputy, a reporter who had heard the message for the deputy in the press box, a photographer, and several more football fans.

Mrs. Biffer was standing at the scene shaking her head, saying, "I thought I was helping them. They seemed so shook up that I felt sorry for them."

She added, "When I first picked them up, I thought I was to take them on into Forsan and didn't know they wanted to go plumb down in the boonocks. When I think back on it, it's kind of scary. I told them who I was and they told me two first names. I don't suppose now that the names were even real."

ONE DOWN, ONE TO GO — This pickup was apparently stolen from Guthrie Oil, hooked to a trailer stolen from Bobby Wash and wrecked near Forsan Friday night. The duo in the wreck apparently stole another pickup and left the scene.

Eight crew members perish when patrol plane explodes

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP) — Brunswick Naval Air Station officials Saturday released the names of the eight crew members who died when their patrol plane exploded and crashed in a Maine forest.

Navy and federal aviation investigators continued examining the wreckage, strewn over a two-mile area, in an attempt to determine the cause of Friday's crash, the third involving Brunswick-based Orion P-3s in less than a year.

Last April, seven crewmen aboard a P-3 were died in a crash off the Azores.

Keys to Howard County victory unfurled

"This year's State Democratic Convention reminds me of one of my family get-togethers. Nobody saying anything important, no one listening and everybody else disagreeing." I wrote the above two paragraphs describing the state Democratic conclave held in Houston June 19, 1976. The words pretty adequately describe the Texas Democratic Party Convention held in Fort Worth Sept. 15-16 — except for the "miracle" election of Jane Ray, Big Spring, as state Demo committeewoman of the 30th Senatorial District. She is the first Howard County resident elected to the State Democratic Executive Committee. How did this happen? Delegates of Howard County worked hard and remained united, despite numerous attempts to wedge splits. National Democratic Delegate Delano Shaw mapped strategy. He wheeled and dealt with farmers, businessmen and teachers in the "swing counties." His brother, Larry Shaw of Knott, and Clay Reid, Coahoma, wood farmers. Clovis Phinney and Charles Gressett "pressed the flesh" of fellow labor leaders. County chairman Evan Evans proved he knows how to lead. But the real key was Jane Ray. She rushed from district caucuses to committee seeking support. Incumbent Calvin Gambill, chiropractor of Seymour, re-elected State Committeewoman by a wide margin, summed up Mrs. Ray's victory in three words: "She showed enthusiasm!" Atty. Gen. John Hill, the Democratic nominee for governor, calls his party's new group of leaders "a very strong, working committee, people I can work with very well." Liberal leader Billie Carr of Houston calls it a liberal victory, since liberal strength increased. Conservative leader John Brunson of Houston calls it a moral victory for his side, since conservative representation held steady. In a sense, all three are right. An independent count of philosophies indicates the 62-member State Democratic Executive Committee will contain 32 liberals, 15 moderates and 15 conservatives. So, at any given time, the SDEC may fall to the right or to the left. Under current state and national party rules, there are not very many issues that come up in a categorically liberal or conservative context. So it becomes important to Hill that a clear-cut majority of the SDEC members elected at last week's State Democratic Convention is pro-Hill — and many of the members played active roles in the Hill campaign. Also, a sizable number of SDEC members probably will side with Hill on any issue he thinks important. That may prove critical, too, since the new state Democratic chairman, Billy Goldberg of Houston, has not been active in party affairs since the SDEC members became independent of their leaders. The outgoing SDEC, in fact, slapped Goldberg's wrists on his first attempt to change things, and did so because he hadn't done his homework by stroking them in order to sell them on his idea. Following by senatorial districts, are the new members of the SDEC: District 1 — Ed Miller of Bowie County and Leita Davis of Cass County, moderates. District 2 — Robert Mansker, Hunt, and Barbara Montgomery, Rockwall, liberals. District 3 — J. David Cox, Nacogoches, liberal, and Nell Wofford, Henderson, conservative. District 4 — Walter Manchac, Jefferson, moderate, and Sue Pate, Orange, liberal. District 5 — Milton Tate, Washington, conservative, and Dorothy Gunn, Madison, moderate. District 6 — Frank Thompson and Clintine Cashion, Harris, moderates. District 7 — Bob Hauge and Florence Jackson, Harris, liberals. District 8 — Richard Slo and Sue Cox, Dallas, liberals. District 9 — Joseph Devany, conservative, and Earlene Rosengartner, liberal, both Dallas. District 10 — Don Gladden and Ann Fitter, Tarrant, liberals. District 11 — Anthony Hall, moderate, and Emilie Elliott, liberal, both Harris. District 12 — Harold Hammett, conservative, and Lois Ham, moderate, both Tarrant. District 13 — Ed Cogburn and Mary Lou Stahl, Harris, liberals. District 14 — Ronald Luna and Joyce Sampson, Travis, liberals. District 15 — Al Leal, liberal, and Mary Parker, conservative, both Harris. District 16 — Don Maison and Frances Dirks, Dallas, liberals. District 17 — O.D. Kenemore, Brazoria, and June Middlebrook, Harris, liberals. District 18 — William Courtney, conservative, Bell, and Carrin Patman, Jackson, moderate. District 19 — Franklin Garcia and Louise Caddell, Bexar, liberals. District 20 — Antonio Dominguez, Nueces, liberal, and Josephine Miller, San Patricio, conservative. District 21 — Bill Sinkin, Bexar, and Judith Zaffirini, Webb, liberals. District 22 — Arthur (Rusty) Raines, Johnson, and Wanda Britton, Cooke, conservatives. District 24 — Gene Evans, McLennan, conservative, and Nancy Perkins, Taylor, moderate. District 30 — Calvin Gambill, Baylor, and Jane Ray, Howard, conservatives.

New Mexico rancher ropes National Golden Spur award

By MARJ CARPENTER
LUBBOCK — More than 1,000 persons attended the Friday National Golden Spur award and prairie party in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

The first National Golden Spur Award, a gilded OK working spur encased in Steuben Glass designed with a reflection of trail dust, was presented to Albert K. Mitchell, Albert, N.M., rancher. He was chosen by peers representing all major facets of the livestock and ranching industry.

The prairie party included 19th century pageantry and music and was one of a trio of events held in conjunction with the award.

Mrs. J.R. (Barbara Clayton) Anderson from Borden County represented the Muleshoe Ranch in which her grandfather, R.M. Clayton was in partnership with W.D. Johnson of Kansas City. At one time, they owned 254 sections, the same number as there are counties in Texas, of land in Borden and Garza County.

They bought it in 1913, with the original part, the Muleshoe, running that brand ever since. J.R. Anderson, in partnership with Barbara's sister Mrs. W.C. (Jere) Hubbard bought the ranch in 1957 and have been operating it since that time. Barbara is the third generation to live on the ranch. Rich is also a third generation rancher and his grandfather, Dick Lee was partners with Clarence (John) Scharborough during the first quarter of the century. He has ranching interests in Texas and New Mexico.

Mrs. Anderson wore a peacock blue wool dress designed in 1880 and donated by Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Taylor of Lubbock. It was lined with gold taffeta. Her bonnet was black and trimmed in peacock feathers and her shoes were high top belonging to Edna Clark Miller family of Borden County. The brooch and wedding band belonged to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. W.K. Dickinson who came to Lubbock from Cameron, Texas, in 1903. They owned the first cotton gin in the county as well as having ranching interests.

The Livestock and Money Symposium was held Friday at the Texas Tech museum with Charles Hall, executive vice president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association as moderator.

President Barbara Keating of Consumer Alert, Stamford, Conn. was luncheon speaker. Ranch Day was held Saturday at the Ranching Heritage Center of the Museum of Texas Tech University. Activities were going on in all buildings at the center until 11:30 a.m. A chuckwagon lunch was followed by entertainment and a brief annual business meeting of the association, including election of officers.

Wray Finney, seventh generation cattleman and past president of the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association, spoke at Ranch Day. Special numbers from the Ft. Griffin Fair and entertainment guests.

Highlight of the weekend, however, was the prairie party, celebrating the National Golden Spur Award.

The National Golden Spur is to be presented annually to an individual for outstanding contributions to the livestock and ranching industries, with special emphasis on humanistic contributions.

The event saw all "home grown" talent. Modeling fashions from the historic collection of The Museum of Texas Tech University were representatives of early ranching families, including: Mrs. William H. Green, Matthews, Reynolds and Blanton ranches; William Henry Green IV, Green ranches; Teddy Cantine, Mallet Ranch; Miss Abbie Kellogg, Kellogg Cowden ranches; Mr. and Mrs. Steven Kleberg, Chris Kleberg and Mrs. Kip Espy, King ranches of Cass Edwards II, T-Bar Ranch; Mrs. John R. Anderson, Muleshoe Ranch; Mrs. John E. Minority rule upheld

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals says the government can require that minority businesses receive 10 percent of all local public works grants. Minority ownership is defined as at least 50 percent black, Hispanic, Oriental, Indian, Eskimo or Aleutian.

Works Employment Act of 1977. "The amendment makes no sense unless it is construed as a set-aside to benefit minority subcontractors... to remedy past discrimination," the court said.

Water quality management planning hearings booked

Water quality management planning for the Colorado River Basin is set for two public hearings by the Texas Department of Water Resources, Oct. 4 in San Angelo City Hall, and Oct. 5 in Room 618 of the Stephen F. Austin Office Building in Austin. Both hearings will begin at 1:30 p.m.

To be considered at both hearings in the second phase, or Volume II, of the basin plan which presents recommended plans for water quality management and the legal, financial and institutional requirements for the plan.

Public hearings to consider Volume I of the plan were held on Jan. 31 in Abilene and Feb. 2 in Austin. Volume I, or the primary phase of the planning process, considers existing wastewater treatment facilities in the basin, existing water quality, land use patterns and probable future land use patterns, existing population and projections of population and economic growth.

The study area for the Colorado River Basin includes all of the basin in all or parts of 43 counties, the Colorado-Lavaca Coastal Basin and Tres Palacios Creek and Bay.

Water quality management plans are developed for river basins throughout the state in accordance with requirements of Section 208 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Amendments of 1972 and the State of Texas Continuing Planning Process.

PILGRIM, I GREET THEE — This is the title of this oil painting of a monk done for the Masonic Lodge Hall and given to them by Joe Lemon, shown at the left. Lemon, a farmer for many years in the Ackerly area, has been studying art and has become a painter of some renown, working out of Taos, N.M. He was back visiting friends in Big Spring this week, and made the presentation to the lodge through Lee Porter.

Technologies can't long be retained

Nothing would unite the people on this space station like an invasion from outer space. Unless and until that happens, the Cold War between the United States and the Soviet Union is going to experience varying degrees in temperatures, the Hatfields won't be speaking to the McCoy's and the people on Snob Hill won't be acknowledging the presence of the ordinary working stiff with so much as a nod.

It's been proposed that Texas drills bits, valued at $144 million, and other sophisticated oil well drilling gear be sold to the Russians, yet a number of influential Americans are getting very much worked up over the proposal.

THEIR OBJECTIVES have centered around the idea that it is a form of insanity to give Moscow any engineering — economic capability it now lacks.

Perhaps there is much to be said for withholding from the Russians a means for drilling oil wells through solid rock, a technique they need to attain deep deposits of petroleum they think are down there.

If the issue of the United States relations with the Soviet Union is to be considered on the basis of "anything you can't do, we'll keep you from doing," then it follows that America should not export to Moscow equipment and know-how that would advance Soviet petroleum technology.

Just as obvious, however, is the fact that the world economy can't be run in such a manner. There is no way possible to keep new technologies forever out of the hands of those desiring them. Nor does it gain a real advantage to deny the Muscovites an increase in their oil supply by stopping a development of their exploratory capability if they turn to other willing suppliers to gain the same end.

President Carter may seem like a traitor to some by rejecting advice to torpedo the oil drill deal. Sen. Jackson, Zbigniew Brzezinski and, according to reports, his defense and energy advisors wanted him to revoke any export permit granted to Dresser Industries of Dallas.

FAVORING THE transaction were

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and Secretary of Commerce Juanita Kreps. Carter indicated he saw no reason for revoking the permit.

The decision may have played a part in the ultimate release of the International Harvester man, Francis Jay Crawford.

It's possible the decision was founded on a desire to treat the Russians even-handedly with the Chinese in scientific areas. It hasn't been too long ago that we opened our sample cases to the Chinese in Peking.

It simply would not make sense to get too far out of balance in sharing some of our prized technologies between these two rivals — and they are rivals in every sense of the word.

A wife and mother of several children left a will saying she didn't want "her last resting place" carved on her tombstone.

"Tell the truth," she directed. "Make it my first resting place."

Houston Astro expert, James "Red" Thomas, who celebrated his birthday Wednesday by working on the Herald press, notes that scientists say that in 50 years, man will be able to live 800 years.

A CANADIAN performer, who used a boa constrictor in his act, miscalculated and the snake strangled him in full view of his audience, according to a news story. The club manager noticed the performer's face had turned blue and he leaped on the stage, cut off the snake's head and called police but it was too late.

That's one act that's going to be hard to top.

I'm older than a lot of students. This gave rise to a new theory and I went home to tell my mother, who is recovering from a broken left leg, about my great discovery.

If the time-honored custom of recording birthdates and celebrating birthdates hadn't been started, one could go through life figuring out what he wanted to be when he grew up, instead of worrying about what to do after retirement. This would lead to a less stressful and longer life.

My mother's reaction was something less than flattering. She asked:

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — When a street criminal commits a crime he usually says, "I didn't do it." Whether true or not, it's a simple declarative sentence which everyone understands.

But when a large company is charged with violating the law, its spokesman resorts to gobbledygook in hopes that the publicity concerning the crime will blow over.

Here are some of the favorite lines that big business uses followed by what the spokesman really means.

"We have no comment on the charges until we can study them." What the person is really saying: "Maybe by next week, the reporter won't call back."

"SINCE THE case is now a legal matter, we don't think we should say anything about it at this time," which translates into: "If we can keep it in the courts for five years, everyone will forget what the payoff scandal was all about."

"I believe when the facts are in, the public will realize we are the victims of a politically motivated, zealous prosecutor who is trying to make a name for himself." Translation: "We told the sales people if they got into price-fixing we didn't want to know about it. But the dummies put everything down on paper."

"There is no truth to the government's charges that our product is unsafe. Under normal conditions it is accident-proof. But we can't guarantee it when the consumer doesn't follow the instructions." Translation: "Oh boy, it looks like we're in for another recall."

"ALL OF the chief officers of this corporation were unaware of the alleged bribes that were paid to foreign agents. Our people know that if any employee of this firm becomes involved in this kind of activity, he will be summarily dismissed." Translation: "We'll have to sacrifice the guy, but if he keeps his mouth shut we'll make sure he gets his full pension. If he talks to save his own neck, he won't get a dime."

"The president has resigned because he wants to spend more time with his family and the chairman of the board is leaving as he believes a younger man should be given the opportunity to run the company." Translation: "At least when they're indicted they won't be officers of the corporation."

"We have decided to plead 'No Contest' to avoid an expensive legal battle which we are certain we would win." Translation: "Our lawyers have advised us we don't have a chance in hell in winning the case."

"While our main concern is, and always has been, safety, we must state that if we make the changes demanded of us it will cost the consumer $150 more for each unit." Translation: "If our engineers are correct we should make $100 profit on each deal."

"There is no scientific proof that any of the animals which died within a three-mile radius of our chemical plant were affected by poisonous substances which we are alleged to have produced." Translation: "We've been dumping waste in those fields for 20 years. You would think the farmers would have enough sense to keep their dumb animals away from them."

"Cars don't kill people. People kill people." Translation: "So we put the gas tank in the wrong place, and now everyone wants to make a federal case of it."

"As chief executive of this firm I am shocked and appalled that the grand jury would come to this conclusion. The charges are so ridiculous that they are unworthy of comment." Translation: "Get me Edward Bennett Williams on the phone immediately."

New Technique avoids 'phantom' limb pain

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

"Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please discuss phantom pain? My brother had to have a leg removed after an accident and still has much pain. Is this inevitable? He takes pain-killing drugs every few hours, and has to take a healthy drink of brandy before going to bed so as to get to sleep. Otherwise, he is doing fine walking on his artificial leg. How can he get rid of the pain?" — W.M.

Phantom pain, once it begins, is difficult to control.

Strangely enough, phantom pain (pain felt as though originating in the amputated limb), does not occur under age six. In adults, it may be severe enough to require strong pain killers. It can be due to something as easily correctable as a poorly-fitted prosthesis (artificial limb). Commonly it is caused by a neuroma (nerve tumor) at the end of a severed nerve. A nerve end may become imbedded in scar tissue to cause it, or there may not be sufficient muscle padding in the stump. A tumor may form at the end of the severed bone. In other cases, pain may be partly psychological, related to the loss of the limb.

If any of these causes can be pinpointed the problem can be corrected.

Much phantom pain has been prevented in recent years by use of new techniques immediately after surgery. IPOP (immediate post-surgical prosthesis) is one. The stump is covered with a rigid (plaster of paris) dressing and a temporary artificial limb attached. The patient is encouraged to use the device about 24 hours after surgery, increasing the weight bearing on a day to day basis. In one study, not a single case of phantom pain was reported using the IPOP technique.

This is, of course, of no help to your brother at this stage. Rather he should return to the surgeon and attempt to uncover one of the causes mentioned above. He should also inquire about the use of alcohol. It is not to be used with certain pain-killing drugs.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would it be harmful to eat only broiled chicken and a few lettuce leaves three days in a row to lose weight, and would it be OK to use this diet once a month until you lose your desired pounds? — J.C.B.

There's no harm in the broiled chicken-lettuce program, but it's questionable whether using it for three days a month will produce much loss. To be effective you have to be on a lowered calorie intake continuously, not sporadically. This is one of the "lost secrets" of reducing I mention in my booklet on the subject. Broiled chicken and lettuce might be a palatable lunch or dinner, but it leaves much to be desired as breakfast fare, for example. For a more sensible program see the booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing." Send your address and I'll mail a copy. Readers may obtain it by sending 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: During a routine examination my doctor discovered warty growths in my vagina. He said they were venereal warts and also said they are transmitted only through intercourse with an infected person. My husband has no evidence of this. We are both happily married for 25 years, are not promiscuous, and have complete sexual fulfillment.

Though the warts were removed after one treatment, the question remains as to how I may have contracted the virus. — Mrs. G. W.

Such warts are usually transmitted sexually. They are due to a virus. One might speculate that you were susceptible to the virus and your husband was not. One point in your letter leads me to question the diagnosis of venereal warts and suspect, rather, some other form of vaginal growth. I say this because treatment of venereal warts is complicated, lengthy, and quite painful. You mention you required only one treatment.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am convinced I am a born loser. I can't seem to hold a job, and my family situation is a mess. Is there any hope for me? — O. S.

DEAR O.S.: I'm sorry you have this image of yourself. The more defeated you feel the more you will tend to give up trying — and the more you will keep on failing. Right now you are so convinced you are unimportant and insignificant that you cannot fully understand the most important fact you need to know. That is the fact that God loves you.

God did not make a mistake when He created you. You are not here by chance — God allowed you to be born. Why? Because He has a purpose for you. You may think you are a nobody, but in God's eyes you are somebody. How do I know this? I know it because the Bible tells us that Jesus Christ came and died on the Cross for sinners. "This is a faithful saying, and Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you tell me about the medication I take for migraine headaches? Mine usually start about 4 a.m. Nothing checks it but a Cafegot tablet. One tablet usually does the trick for me, but one morning recently I had to take two. How serious can this be? — C.S.B.

Migraine headaches vary in intensity. I doubt that your need for two tablets means a worsening of your situation. Cafegot is a brand mixture of ergotamine and caffeine. It helps constrict cranial blood vessels. The usual adult dose is two tablets at the first sign of an attack. Your physician will tell you whether your tablet strength allows this. Some people require the two, plus one every half hour afterwards (up to six maximum) to control a severe attack. The least needed the better, so if a single tablet controls discomfort normally, continue with that.

Confidential to "Concerned" — Various substances can accumulate in a depressed navel cavity. The likelihood is that the blackness is due to fungus or yeast invasion. Have your doctor check this to determine the cause of the problem.

Vaginitis can strike any woman at anytime in her life. You can find out about the causes — and the cures — for this troublesome complaint in Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment." To get your copy, write to him in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners" (I Timothy 1:15). God loves you that much — enough to allow His Son to die on the cross for your sins.

I urge you to give your life to Jesus Christ. He accepts you just as you are, as you come to Him in repentance and faith. He wants to remake you. He wants to change your attitude — toward God, toward others and toward yourself. He wants to help you in the daily struggle you face.

That does not mean all your problems go away instantaneously. But now God is with you. God's people want to help you, as you begin to get active in a church where Christ is preached. God cannot lie, and He has said in the Bible, His Word, "therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (II Corinthians 17).

Fertilizer war

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — England had its War of the Roses. Pennsylvania had its Whiskey Rebellion. Now a War of Fertilizers is raging in America's farm belt.

The giant petrochemical industry is waging a fierce campaign against a promising new fertilizing method that threatens to encroach on its billion-dollar market. For the most part, the rival process involves the use of soil-enriching microbiological compounds in tandem with sound farming techniques such as crop rotation.

The new fertilizers are used as just part of a whole new approach, which encourages farmers to adopt sound ecological methods. Petrochemical fertilizers, on the other hand, consume vast quantities of natural gas and pollute rivers and streams with nitrates and phosphates.

MICROBIOLOGICAL products have helped hundreds of farmers kick the petrochemical habit, and the huge fertilizer manufacturers are beginning to get nervous.

In an effort to curtail use of the new products, petrochemical industry lobbyists are huddling with state officials who regulate fertilizer products. They are seeking a proposed "model law" which, in effect, would sharply restrict the sale of the rival products.

Two years ago, a special committee of state officials was organized to study the model law. The industry's lobbying group, which goes by the name Fertilizer Institute, has appointed representatives to act as "liaisons" with the panel. A representative of the Swift Chemical Company is also in contact with the panel.

At a convention of food control officials in Williamsburg, Va. last August, the committee met behind closed doors to discuss the model law. We have obtained a tape recording of their discussion. It indicates a startling bias among state regulators in favor of petrochemical fertilizers.

One state official denounced microbiological products as "crap, junk and snake oils." Another scornfully labeled them as "waste materials that can't be dumped... so they distribute it evenly and make miracles out of them."

Some committee members resisted a modification of the model law, which might displease the petrochemical industry. As one delegate interjected: "Industry will oppose that, and if we're going to cooperate, I think it's bad to go for something that they're going to oppose." No dissenting views were voiced.

There is no question that microbiological products need better regulation. Some are manufactured by reputable firms which have conducted extensive research. But other brands, unfortunately, are being peddled by flim-flam men seeking to cash in on the growing popularity of non-chemical fertilizers.

NEVERTHELESS, there is a danger that new regulations will be so narrowly enforced that promising new products will be kept off the market. The first state to enact the model law was Oklahoma, where state house politics are strongly influenced by Phillip Petroleum Company. Oklahoma's enforcement of the regulation, consequently, is so tough that the new fertilizers can't crack the market.

Generally, state officials want testing to be conducted by the state land grant universities, which in turn receive sizable research subsidies from the petrochemical industry.

The Federal Trade Commission, meanwhile, recently investigated the claims of one of the popular new fertilizers called Agrispon. The FTC found nothing wrong with the product.

Footnote: A spokesman for the American Association of Plant Food Control officials claimed the model law is nothing more than a consumer protection bill that would insure the effectiveness of soil enrichment products.

PIPELINE POLITICS: Gas industry lobbyists are trying to scuttle a congressional effort to protect the public from dangerous pipeline accidents. We already have reported how many of the worst pipeline fires and explosions are caused by liquefied petroleum gas. In fact, the highly volatile fuel causes two-thirds of all deaths in pipeline mishaps.

The House already has passed tighter safety standards for pipeline operators. But a private memo prepared for Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., warns of "an aggressive, behind-the-scenes effort to pressure senators to emasculate the House version of the bill."

One firm spearheading the opposition is the Mid-American Pipeline Co. (MAPCO). This isn't surprising, the memo explains. Since 1968, the company has been responsible for "nearly one-fourth of all accidents reported by the industry, even though it carries only slightly more than one per cent of the total product volume..."

"The cases reviewed by staff investigators paint a frightening picture of MAPCO's operations." The company, it adds, has "an unenviable industry record."

At least one congressman, Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., found himself the target of a barrage of postcards opposing the safety bill.

Howard County Agricultural producers are invited to attend an Agricultural Information Day to be held Friday, at the Big Spring Experiment Station. The program will begin at 3 p.m. and continue until 7:30 p.m.

Activities and events planned include brief tour of the station. Things to be seen include work done on the station and cotton variety test.

There will be cotton despiration materials available, rates for this year's crop, and cost. The Howard County Cotton Producers Association will pass out results and reports.

Hamburger cookout will be sponsored by the Howard Soil and Water Conservation District. The tour will also include a dryland cotton breeding work and dryland grain type millets.

The following people will be on the program and will be available for consultation throughout the afternoon. They include: Tim Hall, Howard County ASCS Executive director; Ken Dawson, district conservationist, Howard Soil & Water Conservation District; Ken Lindsey, area agronomist, Texas Agriculture Extension Service, Fort Stockton; Charles Neeb, area entomologist, Texas Agriculture Extension Service, Fort Stockton; James Lee, county entomologist, Texas Agriculture Extension Service, Big Spring; Bruce Roark, plant pathologist, U.S.D.A., Lubbock; Jerry Quisenberry, plant geneticist, U.S.D.A., Lubbock; and James Phillips, U.S.D.A., Lubbock.

This program is being held this year in lieu of the annual Howard County Farm Tour and is being sponsored by the Howard County Rural Development Committee and the Howard County Crops Subcommittee, according to Bruce Griffith.

Use of coal slash seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Coal Association predicted Saturday that coal production and use will be lower this year than last.

In a revised forecast issued at the industry group's headquarters here, the NCA said domestic and export use of coal will be 667 million tons, or about 1 percent less than the 1977 level of 673 tons. Coal production was forecast at 650 million tons, or 5.6 percent below last year's 688.6 million tons.

D.W. Buchanan, chairman of the economics committee, said the report takes into account losses due to the United Mine Workers strike during the first three months of the year and the strike against the Norfolk & Western Railway, which began in mid-July.

Local artist winner at Lubbock art show

The Lubbock chapter of the Texas Fine Arts Association recently held its annual citation show, juried by Chris Gikas, chairman of the art department at Eastern New Mexico University.

Virginia Whitten, local artist and art teacher at the Hobby Center, had two of her watercolors selected by Gikas. The first, an abstract entitled "Tsa-La-Gi", was a winner of the Texas Fine Arts Association Region 20 circuit and will be exhibited in various cities beginning with South Plains College in Levelland and continuing the tour through January.

Economic vitality

WASHINGTON (AP) — Continued economic vitality in the nation's cities could hinge to a great extent on their support for the arts, according to a policy paper released Saturday by the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Gikas picked another watercolor by Mrs. Whitten, entitled "Forrest Impressions" as a winner of the Lubbock Fine Arts Circuit and will tour the city of Lubbock for the next two months.

Mrs. Whitten also has a third painting presently on tour of the city of Lubbock which was chosen last July as a winner in the Lubbock Art Association's Merit Invitational Membership Show judged by Paul Hanna of the Texas Tech University art department. This painting has been hanging at the downtown Hemphill-Wells store and is presently at St. Mary's Hospital.

The group said in an accompanying statement.

"All too often, in times of budgetary constraints, appropriations for the arts seem an unnecessary frill," the statement said. "We believe that money for the arts, rather than representing an unnecessary, easily cut expenditure, represents instead an investment..."

Bergland plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland plans a three-day visit to Illinois this week to promote administration farm policy and do some politicking along the way.

Bergland's office said the trip, scheduled for Sept. 25-27, will begin in Chicago. The secretary's itinerary there includes a meeting with the Board of Education to talk about government nutrition and school lunch programs.

U.S. ARMY FORCES COMMAND BAND IN ACTION
Free concert at City Auditorium

Command Band concert scheduled here Monday

Recognized as one of the finest military bands in the United States, the United States Army Forces Command Band will appear in concert at 7:30 p.m. on Monday in the City Auditorium.

The free concert, which is being co-sponsored by the Big Spring Herald and the Cultural Affairs Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, will be the first of two concerts to be held during the week. The United States Army Forces Command Band was organized in 1845 in Texas as the 4th Infantry Regiment Band. Its heritage, which includes 26 campaign streamers and two awards of the French Croix de Guerre, spans the Mexican War, Civil War, the War with Spain, the Philippine Insurrection, and both World Wars.

known as the 214th Army Band, a unique unit. It is the only Army Band which has received a combat distinction from a President of the United States, President Zachary Taylor.

The band was authorized to wear red piping on the uniform in commemoration of distinguished service in the battle of Monterrey, Mexico, during which they turned a captured artillery battery against the enemy. This distinction is the second oldest United States Army Battle Honor. Three Presidents — Jackson, Taylor, and Grant — have been directly connected with the Band. Martin H. Campbell, the Band Sergeant in World War I, won the second highest award ever received by an Army musician when he was presented with the Distinguished Service Cross.

Other honors make the Forces Command Band, also Redesignated the 214th Army in January, 1944, the Follow that cab, you hear!

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Freddie Hamby, Charles "Seagull" Dailey and Herbert Sedinger hope to complete the world's longest paid taxi ride by Sunday.

Cab drivers Hamby, 34, and Dailey, 54, and Sedinger, a 52-year-old mechanic, are from Lanett, Ala. Sedinger is the paying passenger, mechanic and official observer for the trip, while Hamby drives the car.

Their six-cylinder 1974 Plymouth had traveled 6,150 miles from Lanett when the trio stopped here Friday on their way to the Sioux Falls, S.D., area in pursuit of the Guinness Book of World Records mark for the longest paid taxi trip.

The group must drive approximately 600 more miles to break the previous record of 6,752 miles set by Mrs. Ann Drache and Mrs. Nesta Sgro in 1976. Their taxi took them through 15 states at a cost of $2,500. The latest attempt will cost $3,800, the three said.

CUSHIONS FOR SALE — Prospective buyer Bill Estes looks over one of the Steer football cushions being sold as a freshman class project at Big Spring High School. The pretty salesgirl is Donise Adams, class president. The cushions, appropriately decorated, sell for $3 each or two for $5.50. Sherian Nuby is sponsor of the class.

The Forces Command Band serves Headquarters, United States Army Forces Command, which is charged with the readiness of regular and reserve units from its home at Fort McPherson, Georgia. The Forces Command Band is the musical ambassador of the American Combat Soldier.

Individuals wishing to attend either of these free concerts should write or come by the Big Spring Herald or the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce for tickets.

Weather Flash flood watches issued

Cool, damp weather greeted most Texans on the first day of autumn Saturday. Heavy rains in South Texas prompted the National Weather Service to post flash flood watches in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and the Coastal Bend area.

The weather service said rains of more than an inch were common throughout the Lower Valley. Mercedes received 3.42 inches during the 24-hour period ending Saturday morning. Other Valley towns got nearly 2 inches.

Forecasters said the Guadalupe River will spill into low-lying lands from below Victoria downstream to Green Lake for the next few days.

The area in the flood watch included the Coastal Bend area

(Corpus Christi area), the Valley, and Padre Island and the adjacent Intraoceanic Waterway south of Aransas Bay. The watch was in effect through Saturday night.

Other rain showers sprinkled parts of West and Southwest Texas Saturday. It was cloudy everywhere except for the state's northeastern corner, and fog settled over large portions of the Gulf Coast and South Texas.

Morning temperatures were in the 60s and 70s generally. Readings dipped into the 50s in the Panhandle and West Texas before dawn.

The outlook for the remainder of the weekend was for partly cloudy skies with the chance of thundershowers throughout the state and possibly more heavy rains in South Texas.

Rhino herds formerly roamed the Great Plains of America

ANTELOPE COUNTY, Neb. (AP) — Long ago a great catastrophe befell certain inhabitants of this planet.

The Great Plains of America were a tropical savannah in those days, where camels and zebras roamed, along with beavers as large as bears and herds of rhinoceros. Yes, herds.

Because of what Michael Voorhies has found buried in the Nebraska earth, we now know that the rhinoceros, thought always to have been the belligerent loner it is today, was once a herd animal, and we know a great deal more as well.

"It is an important find — a unique find," Voorhies said. "There is much yet to be learned."

Laurie Snell wins Dean

Box Scholarship

Laurie Snell, Howard College sophomore, has been awarded the Dean Box Scholarship for the fall 1978 semester. The late Dr. Dean Box was an instructor in and head of the business department.

The scholarship is awarded to business students who have completed at least one semester at the college. Applicants are screened by a committee composed of business instructors.

Miss Snell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clois Snell of Sand Springs, is a 1977 graduate of Coahoma High School. She was named Outstanding Secretarial Science Student last year and was listed on the Dean's list.

She was the recipient of the National Secretaries Association scholarship during her freshman year. A business education major, she plans to attend Angelo State University after graduating from Howard College.

Miss Snell's activities include serving as president of the Future Secretaries Association, historian of the Office Education Association, and member of the Baptist Student Union.

Help on way for Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentina will receive $18 million in credit from United States and European banks to finance projects for Ferrocarriles Argentinos, the state-owned railroad.

Railroad officials said the money would be used to buy 42 U.S.-made automatic railroad barriers and to build an alkaline battery manufacturing plant.

We have that ancient catastrophe to thank for his find.

It happened 10 million years ago. A volcano erupted, probably in what is now Yellowstone Park. It blasted into the sky a huge cloud of volcanic ash, actually minute glass crystals.

The thermals over the Plains caught the volcanic cloud and dumped it, suddenly, upon this section of Nebraska.

"This was a small lake, watering hole," Voorhies said, kicking at powder-white earth where his digging has exposed a mass of bones. "This is where animals gathered especially in times of stress."

And there they stand at the watering hole, their complete skeletons preserved in the suddenly smothering volcanic ash.

They face the same direction. The bull rhinoceros is in front. Cows with calves follow. Inside the skeleton of one cow is the skeleton of an unborn calf.

Other animals were at the watering hole: horses, camels, turtles.

"We have found no new kinds of animals here,"

Voorhies said. "What we have found are complete skeletons rather than a bone here and a bone there such as we previously relied on."

"This gives us new details of anatomy that will help us learn the family tree. It gives us information about relationships, clues to habits, so many things unknown before."

"There is some debate, for instance, about when the ancestor of the horse lost its toes. We now have a complete skeleton of a horse with vestigial toes. That's useful information," he said.

Voorhies, who is 36, with sandy hair and skin bronzed from weeks of digging shirtless in the summer sun, grew up in this neighborhood. As a boy, he explored its creeks and washes, digging up fossils.

It remained his practice to return on vacations from his teaching post at the University of Georgia and re-explore the area.

"One rainy day I was walking up this moraine and saw a bone exposed. I dug. It turned out to be the skull of a baby rhino. I dug some more, and found a foot. I dug more and found enough to know I had a real find on my hands. Then I covered it all up."

That was eight years ago. He spent the next six years raising money, recruiting helpers from among his students. Two years ago he began digging in earnest, using scientifically prescribed methods. So far he has uncovered about 36 skeletons.

Domino champions revealed

Howard County Domino Champions for 1978-79 were Roy Bennett and Grover Wiley, with Bruce Parker and Dick Niehols taking second in the County Championship Domino Tournament held in conjunction with the Howard County Fair.

Third place went to A.A. Cooper and Martin Fryar, and fourth to Keith Hull and Leslie McNeese.

Twelve teams started Thursday evening at 6 p.m. with each team playing the other 11. Play continued Friday at 6 p.m. again with each team playing a game against each of the other 11 teams. Of the 22 games, the four teams with the best records were chosen to go to the finals.

Arts, crafts festival booked at HC Coliseum

The second annual Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival, which will be held in the newly completed Howard College Coliseum Oct. 21 and 22, is quickly becoming one of the largest unlimited art shows in the area. Entries in the 1978 Festival already exceed those of the first festival, and include some of the best known names in the Southwest.

These nationally recognized artists will be presenting the area's best in original oil paintings, watercolors, metal sculpture, ceramics and woodwork during the big two-day arts and crafts show.

The Festival Committee, created under the direction of the Cultural Affairs Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, was formed in August 1977. The first show was held two months later during the third weekend in October and quickly received the overwhelming support of area residents, as well as area artists.

As a result of the shows quick acceptance by artists and buyers alike, the second annual Festival will be held in the spacious Howard College Coliseum. The coliseum has over 90,000 square feet of floor space and the beautifully conceived and colorful structure will accommodate 4,000 people in comfortable contoured seats, each with an unobstructed view of the main floor.

Mei Prather, co-chairman of the Festival, said "we already have over 100 entries for this year's festival. The entries include such well-known names as George Boutwell, Austin; Don Kent, Round Rock; Paul Kime, San Antonio; Walter Dick,

Farm equipment salesman retires

C.H. Hyden has been selling John Deere farm equipment since 1945 and will retire Oct. 1.

He went to work for Clyde Denton right after World War II. The company was purchased by John Taylor and became Taylor Implement in July 1949.

Hyden is service manager. His father was a farmer out in the Luther area and Hyden plans to farm when he retires. He said when he got back from serving as a paratrooper during the war, he was wanting to do something else.

He made five landings as a paratrooper, two of which were behind enemy lines over the Rhine and in Belgium.

During his years with the implement company, he said tractors have changed even more than he has. They now cost around $30,000 which used to would buy six farm houses.

They used to be open tractors and now have cabs, air conditioning, tape decks and the whole works he laughed.

He said there are three times as many farmers purchasing tractors as used

Tough gag rule overturned by U.S. Circuit Court

SEATTLE (AP) — The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has overturned the order of a visiting federal judge from Texas which barred reporters from talking to jurors after the July conviction of two members of a radical underground group accused of several bombings.

The opinion, based on an appeal by The Seattle Times, struck down an order issued by U.S. District Judge Leo Brewster in the bank robbery-conspiracy trial of John Sherman and Therese Ann Coupez.

The appeals court said neither of Brewster's reasons was sufficient for such a ban. If the judge desired, he could have excused the panel from future service, the opinion said. No "clear and present danger" of harassment existed, and other remedies could have been used if harassment occurred, the appeals court said.

The appeals court concluded that Brewster's order, as issued, was "too broad." But the court avoided giving special privileges to the news media. The court said: "Nothing in this opinion should be construed as requiring jurors to speak to the media or anyone else. A juror may speak or remain silent as he desires." A footnote added that the decision should not be construed as limiting the power of district courts to protect jurors from harassment.

"It's not a media decision," said P. Cameron DeVore, a lawyer for The Times. DeVore, however, said he was pleased with the results. Sherman and Ms. Coupez were members of a small, underground radical group which has admitted numerous political bombings and bank robberies in the Pacific Northwest. On Friday, Sherman was convicted of another bank robbery and possessing a sawed-off shotgun. The 9th Circuit released its oral ruling in July and its written opinion this week.

FORSAN QUEEN — Belinda Bradley, escorted by Joe Kinder was crowned homecoming queen at the half Friday night. The senior nominee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theron Bradley and was also queen her freshman year. The other candidates were Michelle Soles, escorted by Weldon Nichols; Monica Dyess, escorted by D.F. Stanley and Joni Poyner, escorted by Brad Robinson. They were crowned by Vance Stevens, president of the student body and his twin sister, Valerie Stevens, last year's queen.

Anti-trust suit filed

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department has filed an anti-trust suit charging five electrical cable manufacturers with conspiring to fix prices.

General Cable Corp. of Greenwich, Conn.; Okonite Co. of Ramsey, N.J.; and Anaconda Co. of Denver. They were charged with agreeing, combining or conspiring to "fix, maintain and enhance prices, special charges, discounts, transportation charges and terms of sale of impregnated paper cable."

The suit, filed Friday in U.S. District here, named as defendants: Phelps Dodge Corp.; its subsidiary, Phelps Dodge Industries, Inc.;

Innocent plea in tax case

BALTIMORE (AP) — The chairman of Fairchild Industries, Inc., has pleaded innocent to charges he and his company violated federal income tax laws by maintaining an alleged corporate slush fund.

Edward G. Uhl, 60, and Fairchild were accused Sept. 8 of overstating the firm's capital assets and deductions for depreciation of cars used by its executives. Two counts against Uhl charged him with aiding and assisting in the preparation of the false tax returns. Two other counts charged the corporation with filing the false returns. U.S. Magistrate Paul Rosenberg released Uhl Friday on his own recognizance. No trial date was set.

Missing witness

Mystery woman is identified

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A woman found injured on a city street unable to remember her name or her past was identified by police Saturday as a witness in an Oklahoma robbery.

Amorillo Police Lt. Derrell Garner said Miss Wright was supposed to have testified Wednesday in the Tulsa robbery trial.

Police identified the woman as Linda Sue Wright, 35, of Tulsa, Okla., who was supposed to be in court last week as a witness against a man accused of robbing her.

"We're sure about the identification. Everything matches — she even remembers the (Tulsa) detective's phone number," Garner said. "And her mother called and recognized her voice."

Detective Hoyt Hugg said identification was positive, but he said the woman did not recognize her real name when she was told. Hugg said relatives were en route from Oklahoma to this Texas Panhandle city. They talked to on the phone, but she did not remember them.

Garner said police also found the woman's car a few blocks from where the woman was found Tuesday. Since she was found, she has been hospitalized in the intensive care ward at Northwest Hospital, where Dr. Louis A. Finney, a neurologist, said he believed the cause of her problem was "emotional or relational trauma in her personal life."

"The identification is positive, but she still doesn't know that who she is. She believes us, though."

Hugg said, "She has relatives in Oklahoma, and they are on their way to pick her up. She's in good condition, but things are still coming back slowly."

Miss Wright was found Tuesday night on a traffic island in a busy intersection. She had a bump on the head, had lost her purse, and could not remember her name or where she came from. She did recall a few sports scores, such as the Los Angeles Rams victory over the Dallas Cowboys last Sunday, and that she had once attended parochial schools.

"I imagine she will be released to her family, but she will still need medical care for a while."

Cotton is opening rapidly

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — After some rains in central and coastal sections last week, hot, dry weather prevailed once again, much to the pleasure of cotton producers who wanted to continue harvest operations. This week got off to a good start in the Panhandle and South Plains where good rains fell.

Although the rain was not general throughout the state, it did break drought conditions that had existed in a number of areas in Texas. Rains of varying amounts, from 10 to more than 20 inches in some sections, allowed the runoff that filled stock tanks and provided good moisture for fall grazing and additional hay cuttings.

Drought loans are available

DALLAS — Farmers and ranchers hard hit by drought in Texas have until Oct. 11 to file a loan application with the U.S. Small Business Administration for 1977 losses. Drought conditions have been widespread in the state. Among counties listed by the SBA as eligible for long-term, low-interest loans which include uncovered production costs on 1977 crops at 3 per cent for the first $250,000 and 6% per cent thereafter are Glasscock and Dawson.

Texas farmers receive million from govt.

AUSTIN — Recent federal figures show that Texas farmers and ranchers received nearly $158 million in government payments during the 1977 season, due in large part to damage payments for drought losses, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today. "But despite weather, prices, and herd reduction problems, Texas' agricultural producers managed to maintain their position as number three in the nation in total crop and livestock cash receipts," Brown added.

Roy Cooper wins most money at Pendleton

DENVER, Colo. — The 12th largest rodeo of the year came to a close Sunday, and Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association members raked up some of the major winnings of the fall run. Pendleton, Ore., which celebrates the end of harvest for area farmers, was cause for the cowboys to celebrate too; winners shared more than $46,573 in prize money. Toting off the biggest share of the loot was Roy Cooper. The Durant, Okla., roper continues to dominate calf roping earnings like no cowboy has before. The 22-year-old crossed the $58,000 mark over the weekend with a $3,725 haul in his specialty. Cooper already had smashed his own regular-season earnings mark of $45,713 set last year, and wiped out his single-year record (including National Finals Rodeo money) of $51,446.

Cooper's all-around winnings surged to $60,948, which moves him into another elite circle. He becomes the fourth man in history to earn $60,000 in one season. Byron Walker, who has left other steer wrestlers eating his dust (nearest challenger Tom Ferguson is $7,417 back) claimed all-around honors at the Pendleton Round-Up. Walker, 20, cashed in during that event for $1,509. Then the Amarillo, Tex., cowboy surprised everyone by placing in the final go-round and cinching 3rd in the calf lot of dry areas throughout the state, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Parts of Central and East Texas still need moisture as does most of the western half of the state.

Reports from district extension agents showed the following conditions: PANHANDLE: Good rains early in the week should boost wheat planting. Some of the dryland crop has been dusted in. The corn harvest is starting and sorghum is maturing rapidly. Cotton is beginning to open. Grazing continues below average due to the dry summer. Movement of calves at local auctions is heavy due to fall weaning.

SOUTH PLAINS: Much of the area received good rains early this week which should increase wheat planting and improve fall grazing. Cotton continues to open, with some first bales being harvested. Corn and sorghum harvesting has started in some counties along with harvesting of early sunflowers.

ROLLING PLAINS: Wheat and oat planting is active, with some early plantings emerging. Sorghum harvesting is active and is nearing completion in a few counties. Cotton continues to open, with some early harvesting. Fall grazing ranges from excellent to poor.

NORTH CENTRAL: Good rains over parts of the area last week will boost fall grazing and provide for additional hay cuttings. The rains slowed the cotton harvest, with the crop producing fair to poor yields. The soybean outlook is poor. A poor pecan harvest is in prospect due to the dry summer. Cattle marketing continues heavy, with some supplemental feeding. NORTHEAST: Moisture conditions range from short to adequate. Additional hay will be cut following rains last week. Some wheat and oats are being planted for winter pastures. Soybean prospects are poor, with some fields being cut for hay. Recent rains helped the sweet potato crop. Cattle marketing remains active.

FAR WEST: Cotton is opening rapidly, with some harvesting to start soon. Pinto beans are being harvested in Glasscock County, and a few fall cantaloupes are being harvested in Presidio County. The pecan crop continues to look good. Ranges are in varied shape. Some late lambs are being marketed along with calves and culled cows.

WEST CENTRAL: Small grain planting continues, especially where recent rains fell. The cotton crop continues to make fair progress. Irrigated sorghum is being harvested, with fair yields. Hay making continues. Recent rains have improved grazing conditions, but more moisture is needed. Livestock marketing continues on an active scale, with prices good.

CENTRAL: Moisture is still short in a number of counties. Corn and sorghum harvesting is complete and the cotton harvest is well along, with yields below normal. Peanut prospects continue good due to recent rains although disease problems have increased. Small grain planting is active. Some additional hay will be made due to the recent moisture.

SOUTH: Moisture is adequate over most of the area. Fall vegetables are making good progress and citrus is sizing well. Peas are setting pods. Honeydew melons are being harvested in Starr County. Recent rains should boost ranges and oat plantings. Preparations are under way for the sugar cane harvest which will begin next month.

SOUTH CENTRAL: The cotton harvest was delayed by recent rains; about 20 percent of the crop is still out. The rains will boost additional hay cuttings and will also help late peanuts and soybeans as well as small grains. Planting of oats for winter pastures is at the halfway point. Yuchi clover is emerging.

SOUTHWEST: Parts of the area received good rains the past week which should improve fall grazing and boost small grain plantings. Additional hay cuttings will also be made. Harvesting of sorghum, corn and cotton is about complete. Kid mohair brought a record price of $7.90 per pound at Sonora last week.

COASTAL BEND: Most of the region has surplus moisture following rains up to 22 inches last week. The rains have delayed cotton stalk destruction and peanut harvesting. Some pecans were knocked off trees by heavy rains. Wheat and oat planting will get into full swing as fields dry. Grazing conditions should improve due to the recent moisture.

EAST: Last week's rains should boost wheat and oat plantings and improve fall grazing. There should also be additional hay cuttings. Armyworms continue to cause some damage to pastures. The late peanut crop looks good. Livestock are in fair to good shape, with marketing still active and prices strong.

SOUTHEAST AND UPPER GULF COAST: Recent rains will boost fall grazing, small grains, and late peanuts and soybeans. Armyworm damage is increasing in some pastures. Mosquitoes are a problem in cattle herds due to the heavy rains. The rains also damaged some fall vegetable crops.

Meeting set for Tuesday

LAMESA — The annual fall meeting of the Lamesa Cotton Growers, Inc. will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Forrest Park Community Center.

Jerry Harris, president, will give the welcome and present awards. Eddie Brown, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will discuss low yields and disaster payments.

Nell Luck, disaster branch manager of the Small Business Administration will then discuss SBA disaster loans and regular farm loans.

Felix Clemens, supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration will talk about FHA regular and disaster loans and John Barnes, assistant state director of the FHA, will talk about the emergency farm bill.

All four will then serve on a question and answer panel. Door prizes will be presented prior to adjournment.

$350,000 appeals bond recommended

MIDLAND — Federal magistrate J. M. Preston of Pecos has recommended a $350,000 appeals bond be set for Sam Chaney, 30, who was jailed following conviction on charges of conspiracy and receiving and concealing a stolen airplane.

Chaney, a Midland bus driver, holds farming and ranching interests in Glasscock County.

Federal Judge John H. Wood Jr., sentenced Chaney to two five-year sentences, the terms to run concurrently.

Chaney was convicted Aug. 15 of flying a single-engine aircraft federal investigators contend was used in smuggling marijuana to this country from Mexico.

The plane allegedly was landed Dec. 7 on a ranch Chaney had leased in Glasscock County.

ARLO GUTHRIE

'Everybody here being ripped off'

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Arlo Guthrie sings to his audiences but a former concert promoter is suing him for talking to one audience.

Clayton Fuller contends Guthrie ruined his reputation as a promoter by telling a 1976 Burlington concert audience that "everybody here is being ripped off."

Both Fuller and Guthrie testified Thursday in U.S. District Court in Burlington in a slander suit Fuller filed against Guthrie.

Fuller said that because the turnout for the concert was lower than he expected, he did not have Guthrie's $2,500 fee in cash.

He said he gave Guthrie $950 cash during the intermission, but that Guthrie refused a personal check for the rest.

He said Guthrie returned to the stage, told spectators "everybody here is being ripped off," and advised them never to patronize another concert promoted by Fuller. Guthrie then walked out.

Guthrie testified that he recalled saying that the audience was being ripped off "because they had paid to see a show they were not going to see."

Ridin' fence

He leans into a song

with Marj Carpenter

Bobby Bare sang Thursday night in Big Spring and although the crowd was not what the Four County Young Farmers had hoped for, Bare put on a good show.

He had sung the night before in Austin before a five-year crowd at "Austin City Limits" and wore a T-Shirt from that location.

The rain had moved the show in from the rodeo arena to the city auditorium and cut the crowd. But Bare presented a show as though there were wall-to-wall people.

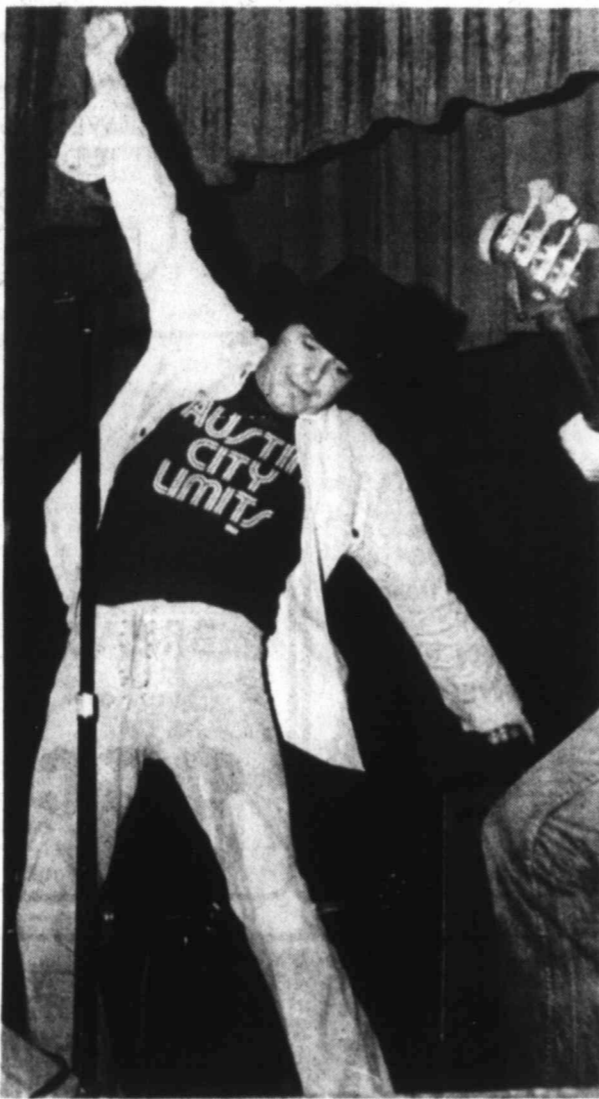

He lives in Nashville and spends most of the week recording, making appearances only on weekends a lot of time.

However, this week, he was out at Austin, which is fast becoming a second country music center of the nation, and he came out to Big Spring on the fair circuit.

On the stage, he was full of energy and sort of leaned into a song when he sang, putting paths in the song written for his now 12-year-old son some six years ago.

That song about "Daddy, what if the sun quits shining?" and "Daddy what if the wind quit blowing?" has been one of his biggest hits; and he sings it with a special sincerity.

He also comes through with real humor in the Mermaid song, saying his Dad always told him, "Don't mess with a mermaid if you don't know how to swim."

BOBBY BARE exuberant singer

Back stage after the performance, Bare was friendly, but appeared tired. And he would have a right to be after singing in Austin, coming to town and putting on a full show to a small crowd.

But he took time to talk to everyone and admitted that he stayed on the road as little as possible "doing more and more recording in Nashville."

His original home was up in the corner of Kentucky, near Ohio. He has been in the country western singing business for "around 16 years."

"You have to like this business to stay in it, but it really has its days," Bare declared.

The Bobby Bare group doesn't try to get by on flashy costumes. They just walk on and play music and sing. But there's something about Bare — compared to some of the other singing stars — that has a ring of sincerity that comes through.

He sings a repertoire that includes what are often

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale University seems to have taken on the role of the cookie monster for some of its students.

The University has removed graham crackers from student dining halls to save $25,000 a year, according to Howard Parish, director of university dining halls.

But the removal has sparked as many complaints among Yale's 5,150 undergraduates as tuition increases and faculty cutbacks during the last two years.

Members of Yale's volleyball and basketball teams, for example, have circulated a petition to return the crackers that augmented the standard menu at every meal.

Killing noise with noise

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — University of Wisconsin engineering professor John Bollinger, a noise pollution expert, claimed he was assigned the noisiest faculty office on campus.

"It was difficult to converse or talk on the phone — not to mention the headache I went home with every night," Bollinger said of his office overlooking a busy intersection near various construction projects.

He assigned the problem to the seniors and graduate students in his noise control seminar, who came up with a unique noise-killing device. Panels of composition board with 4-inch holes were attached to the walls, with fiberglass packed loosely between the walls and board.

"While the holes take in sound waves, they can also propagate them," he noted. "We thought it would make an interesting speaker."

Aggies bomb BC; Reeves rallies Red Raiders

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Speedster Curtis Dickey raced for three touchdowns as Texas A & M exploded for 28 points in the second period Saturday night en route to a 37-2 football victory over outclassed Boston College.

Dickey, the NCAA indoor sprint champion, scored on runs of 13, 29, and 1 yards, personally igniting the Aggies after Boston College had taken a 2-0 lead on a first period safety.

A 205-pound junior, Dickey carried 18 times for 138 yards, all but 11 in the first half.

After Boston College edged in front late in the first period when end Jack Kemp blocked David Appleby's punt from the end zone, the Aggies capitalized on a fumble recovery by Carl Grulich at the Texas 35.

Dickey then started the Aggies on a payoff drive which he capped by a 13-yard run on the opening play of the second period. In the 65-yard march, Dickey carried six times for 57 yards.

After another fumble recovery at the Boston College 29, Dickey burst through his left side and raced for another touchdown, with the second quarter just over three minutes old.

The Aggies took advantage of a BC punt for another touchdown. Dickey climaxing a 43-yard drive by spinning through the middle from 1 yard out.

The Aggies charged 60 yards in eight plays for a fourth touchdown just before the half, David Brothers plunging the final yard.

Aggie quarterback Mike Mosley sprinted 55 yards on an option for a third-period touchdown before Tony Franklin booted a 29-yard field goal.

JUST IN TIME — Steve Smith (2), quarterback for Baylor University, releases a pass just in time, as Jim Kovach of the University of Kentucky applies the pressure. The Wildcats came from behind to defeat the visiting Baylor Bears 26-21.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Freshman quarterback Ron Reeves rifled two touchdown passes and scored twice himself Saturday night to propel Texas Tech to a 41-26 intersectional victory over favored Arizona.

Reeves, a Lubbock product, winged twin 10-yard scoring tosses to Godfrey Turner and Brian Nelson as the Red Raiders struck back from a 16-7 deficit in the first half.

Reeves hit a school record eight consecutive passes during one stretch in guiding the Southwest Conference club to its first triumph in two outings. The loss was the first for the PAC-10 Wildcats after two victories.

A roaring South Plains audience of 41,712 watched the Raiders spot Arizona a quick touchdown by Larry Heater and then commit a series of costly but not fatal miscues.

HAULED DOWN — Michigan's Harlan Huckley, TD, is hauled down by Tony Belden, FB (36) and Dave Waymer, HB (34) of Notre Dame in the first quarter of action between Notre Dame and Michigan.

Palmer notches 20th

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Palmer stopped the Detroit Tigers on four hits while hurling the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-1 second-game victory Saturday night and became the third pitcher in the 78-year history of the American League to record eight 20-victory seasons.

The Tigers won the opener of the doubleheader 4-3 on a two-run ninth-inning pinch single by John Wockenfluss.

Palmer, who has lost 12, notched his sixth consecutive triumph as he became the league's first eight-time 20-game winner since Lefty Grove in 1935.

The Tigers' only run off the 32-year-old right-hander came on Steve Kemp's seventh-inning homer. The Orioles scored a first-inning run on Eddie Murray's sacrifice fly, added three runs in the second to chase Steve Baker, 1-4, and Doug DeCinces belted his 25th homer in the third.

In the opener, Detroit took a 2-1 lead in the eighth. But the Orioles went ahead 3-2 in the bottom of the inning, scoring on a sacrifice fly and a double.

John Hiller, recorded his second victory in two nights and now is 9-4. Don Stanhouse, 6-8, was the loser.

Kentucky claws past Bears, 26-21

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mike Deaton threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Greg Nord and then ran for a two-point conversion as Kentucky came from behind in the fourth quarter to defeat Baylor 26-21 in a college game Saturday.

Linebacker Lester Boyd sealed the victory with 48 seconds remaining by knocking down a Steve Smith pass at the goal line.

Baylor was in striking distance when Andrew Melontree deflected Kevin Kelly's punt giving the Bears the ball at the Kentucky 39.

Kentucky improved its record to 1-0-1 while Baylor fell to 0-2.

Baylor broke on top in the first quarter when Smith hit Ronnie Lee with a 33-yard scoring pass.

Kentucky tied the score in the second quarter when Randy Brooks' 3-yard run capped a 50-yard scoring drive. Brooks sneaked 1 yard on fourth down in third quarter to put Kentucky up 14-7. The drive was set up by

Michigan tops Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Rich Leach hurled three second-half touchdown passes, two to Doug Marsh, and a 40-yard clincher to Ralph Clayton Saturday to lead fifth-ranked Michigan to a 28-14 victory over No. 14 Notre Dame.

It was the second loss in a row for the Irish and the first time that's happened in 15 years.

Trailing 14-7 at the half, the Wolverines turned a recovered fumble and two pass interceptions into touchdowns against the Irish.

The Irish struck for a quick lead when Russell Davis fumbled on the first play from scrimmage and three plays later, Joe Montana hit Dennis Grindinger with a three-yard touchdown pass.

Leach bolted four yards for a touchdown in the second quarter, to pull Michigan into a tie, but Notre Dame came back with a 75-yard drive to regain the lead on Vagas Ferguson's four-yard touchdown run.

The Irish took the second-half kickoff and marched to the Wolverine 26 before Ferguson fumbled and Curtis Greer recovered.

Leach directed a 71-yard drive in 15 plays before hitting Marsh with a five-yard touchdown pass.

After an interception, on the opening play of the fourth quarter, Leach connected with Marsh for 17 yards and a touchdown. Gregg Willner missed the conversion attempt and Michigan led 20-14.

Mike Harden then intercepted another pass and two plays later, Leach unleased with his bomb to Clayton to put the game out of reach.

Penn State rally corrals Mustangs

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — A pair of third period touchdowns on a 16-yard pass by quarterback Chuck Fusina and a three-yard run by fullback Matt Suhey rallied third-ranked Penn State to a 26-21 college football victory Saturday over Southern Methodist and its aerial show.

Penn State, unbeaten in four games, trailed the 17-point underdog Mustangs from the Southwest Conference 21-12 with 12 minutes left in the third quarter.

State then drove 69 yards on nine plays with Fusina throwing 16 yards to Scott Fitzkee and Matt Bahr converting the extra point to reduce the SMU lead to 21-19.

After SMU was forced to punt, Penn State rolled 73 yards on 12 plays for the winning touchdown. Fusina completed passes of 7, 13 and 12 yards that moved the ball for a first down to the SMU 30. Freshman Joel Coles ran for 12. Booker Moore raced 15, and Suhey then cracked three yards into the end zone. Bahr converted to make it 26-21.

SMU sophomore quarterback Mike Ford's pinpoint passing keyed two second-quarter touchdowns that sent the Mustangs off at halftime with a 14-12 lead.

All of Penn State's first half points came on field goals by Bahr — 25, 26, 41 and 30 yards. The Penn State kicker now has 13 three-pointers in 15 attempts this season.

SMU trailed 6-0 in the second quarter when Ford finally unlimbered his arm in a seven-play, 72-yard touchdown drive to take a 7-6 lead. Darold Turner scored it on the one, but the score was set up by 17 and 49 yard pass completions by Ford. Eddie Garcia kicked the point.

After Penn State regained the lead on Bahr's third field goal, Ford completed three passes totaling 64 yards, the last for a 12-yard touchdown to Emanuel Tolbert, and Garcia converted to give SMU a 14-9 lead. In the third quarter, defensive back David Hill intercepted a Fusina pass and returned it 40 yards for the touchdown that sent the Mustangs to a 21-12 lead.

It was the first loss for SMU after two victories.

UH outscores Utah, 42-25

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston linebacker David Hodge returned an interception 21 yards for a touchdown and Emmett King ran 74 yards for another score as the Cougars overcame three first-half fumbles to defeat Utah, 42-25, Saturday night.

King, who rushed over 100 yards in the first quarter alone, unreel his long TD run in the first period and the Cougars edged to a 14-10 halftime lead over the underdog Utes.

Hodge, who returned to the Cougars this year after quitting football a year ago, picked off a pass by Randy Gomez with 12:39 left in the game to cushion Houston's lead.

Both teams now are 1-1 for the season.

Houston quarterback Danny Davis hit Eric Herring with a 28-yard touchdown pass with 10 seconds to play in the first half, while Utah scored on Gomez' 16-yard pass to Frank Henry and a 27-yard field goal by Jeff Hucko. Davis ran three yards for another touchdown late in the fourth quarter, and substitute quarterback Delrick Brown ran 9 yards on the final play of the game.

Houston drove 78 yards in its first drive of the third quarter with Randy Love punching in a 5-yard touchdown pass with 1:10 advantage.

Gomez whipped the Utes back in contention with five seconds left in the third quarter, hitting Jim Teahan with a 50-yard touchdown play.

Moments later, however, Gomez threw into the waiting arms of Hodge to start the Utah downfall. But Gomez threw his third touchdown pass of the game late in the fourth quarter. He hit Steve Folsom on a 25-yard play with 2:42 remaining, then hit Frank Henry for a two-point conversion.

Houston, which lost four of six fumbles in a 17-3 loss last week to Memphis State, had three drives stymied by fumbles in the first half against Utah. Davis fumbled once to stop a drive at Utah's 29, Willis Adams' fumble led to Hucko's field goal, and freshman Terald Clark coughed up the ball at the Houston 37.

Texas charged back to score two touchdowns and take a 14-3 lead at intermission.

Arkansas topples Oklahoma State

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Premier Arkansas halfbacks Ben Covins and Jerry Eckwood, bottled up for much of the first half, finally broke loose in a lightning quick Razorback drive in the third period that stood up for a 19-7 football victory Saturday over Oklahoma State.

The second-ranked Razorbacks led only 3-0 at halftime against an Oklahoma State team rated as much as a four-touchdown underdog.

But Arkansas launched the third quarter on an 80-yard drive that took only one minute and 21 seconds. Eckwood bolted for 51 yards and two plays later Covins raced into the end zone from the 25 with a pitchout from quarterback Ron Calcagni.

ish Orndree's conversion kick made it 10-0 and the Southwest Conference power appeared in control of the game.

But the Cowboys of the Big Eight stormed back on an 80-yard pass play from senior quarterback Scott Burk to freshman receiver Ron Ingram from Dallas that cut the deficit to 10-7 and put the outcome in doubt for a time.

An illegal substitution penalty against Oklahoma State kept an Arkansas drive alive and resulted in a 14-yard field goal by Orndree to make it 13-3. He hit on a 25-yarder in the second period.

The victory was preserved when Jimmy Walker recovered a fumble by Worley Taylor on the Oklahoma State seven. One play later Calcagni bulled in from the one for the final score.

HIGH STEPPER — USC's Charles White (12) steps high over would-be Alabama tacklers Marty Lyons (93) and Rickey Gilliland (92) for a long gain in the first quarter of Saturday's game in Birmingham.

Snyder sneaks by Steers, 20-14

By NATHAN POSS

Snyder quarterback Clay Johnson sneaked in from the one-yard line with 3:41 remaining in the game to give the Tigers an exciting 20-14 victory over the winless Big Spring Steers. The plunge climaxed an 80-yard, 14-play drive that drowned the Steers after they had appeared to turn the tide in their favor.

Snyder received the opening kickoff and were quickly forced to punt. The punt travelled only 19 yards, setting the Bovines up at their own 39.

Eddie Puga and Ricky Cluck each carried twice, with Puga's 14-yard run giving the Steers a first down on the Snyder 41. One play later, Puga swept around right end and outran everyone to the scoring stripes, capping a five play 61-yard drive. The Steers couldn't get the extra point attempt off, with holder Kevin McLaughlin finally falling with the help of a few Tigers back on the 18.

Scoring in the game was retroactive. Snyder exhibited this when they took the ensuing kickoff and marched 63 yards to tie the score. The Tigers were apparently stopped on one occasion, but a short, wobbly punt inadvertently bounced off a Big Spring man, with Perry Robertson alertly pouncing on the valuable pigskin on the Steer 25. On the third play following the punt, Johnson broke a tackle and skirted 16 yards to paydirt. The point after attempt was wide, leaving the score at 6-6.

The rest of the first quarter and most of the second stanza was a defensive struggle, with Steer Ricky Cluck getting off a couple of beautiful punts to keep the Tigers pinned in their own end of the field.

Cluck's punting finally resulted in good field position for the Big Spring offense at the Snyder 41. However, the Steers were stopped, and on fourth down on the Tiger 37, Myers dropped back and punted. Snyder return man Richard Crayton fielded the low punt, raced to his left and broke past the Steer coverage. Crayton had a wall of blockers in front of him at this point, but the last Steer between him and the double stripes, Myers, escaped the interference to make a superb tackle at the 43.

Snyder proceeded to make two first downs and move as far as the Big Spring 24, but Steer linebacker David Altom intercepted a Johnson aerial and returned it to the 42.

The Steers wasted no time trying to capitalize on the Tiger turnover. On the first play, Myers lofted a bomb to Joe Willie Jones, Jones outfooted the Snyder defender, giving the Bovines a first down at the 15. The Steers advanced to the eight, but a 25-yard field goal attempt by Billy Ray Johnson was wide to the left.

Following three punts to open the third quarter, Snyder began a drive from their own 32. Johnson hit 210-pound tight end Scott Crenwelge on third down to give the Tigers a first at the 44. This set the stage for Crayton. The 155-pound junior, who was doubtful before the game due to rib injury, broke through the left side of the line, and rambled 56 yards for the touchdown. He escaped two would-be Steer tackles on the way.

The Steers, expecting the Tigers to go for two, were both surprised and out of position when the quick Johnson loped around left end untouched for the two-point conversion. This made the score 14-6.

Big Spring then launched their most impressive drive of the year. Taking the kickoff, on their 28, they proceeded to run six consecutive plays overland to the Tiger 28. Big play thus far in the drive was a 22-yard sweep by Puga in which he was injured. The Steers then went to the pass for three plays, gaining only five yards. But on fourth down, Mike Evans struggled for six yards on a wingback reverse to keep the drive alive. It took the Steers seven more plays to cover the remaining 14 yards, with Myers sneaking in from the one. Eddie Puga, with excellent leading blocks by Cluck, Johnson, and Byron Harris, plunged into the end zone on the conversion to tie the score at 14 with 10:08 remaining in the final stanza. The drive, which consumed six and a half minutes on the clock, was an 18-play, 72-yarder.

Billy Ray Johnson then boomed the kickoff out of the end zone, forcing the Tigers to start from their own twenty. The Tigers proceeded to convert two consecutive third down plays, plus an eleven-yard run by Crayton to move into Bovine territory at the 47. On third and seven, Johnson connected with split end Mitch Mackey on a post pattern for a thirty-six yard gain to the Big Spring 10. Johnson took matters into his own hands after this. He carried on four consecutive plays against a stingy goal line defense, finally crawling in for the lucrative six points with 3:41 remaining. It appeared that Johnson was stopped short on the fourth down attempt, but the belated official ruled that the ball had penetrated the double stripe. The PAT attempt was wide, but the damage had been done.

The Steers could not move the ball on the following series and were forced to punt. Snyder ran out the clock on the final series, as the Steers had already used their allotted three time outs.

Coach Ron Logback had praise for the offensive line. "They are getting better every week. If they continue to progress, they could be one of the best around." The linemen he was referring to in the Friday night contest included centers Jake Valenzuela and Steve Tipton, guards Doug Archer and Johnny Hardeman, and tackles Matt Harris, Johnny Dominguez and Barry Rosson.

Logback also questioned the call on the final Snyder touchdown. "We grabbed him (Johnson) by the neck, and it appeared that he fell a good foot short. I had questioned using our goal line defense, but it did a good job."

The Steers will have an open date this week, with district action beginning the next week when Abilene comes to town. Logback said that this week will be used for conditioning, as the Steer defense looked tired in the final Snyder touchdown drive.

EDDIE PUGA, Steer tailback Eddie Puga is stopped after a short gain by Snyder's Tom Luera in the Steers 20-14 loss Friday night.

Stanton takes homecoming win

By MARIE HOMEYER

STANTON — Defense was the name of the game Friday night as the Stanton Buffaloes won their homecoming game against the McCamee Badgers 8-0.

The only touchdown of the game came in the closing minutes of the third quarter. The Buffaloes started the scoring drive on their own 43 following a McCamee punt.

Sophomore tailback Alonso Padron started things off with a 20-yard run to the Badger 30-yard line. Then a roughing the passer penalty against the Badgers put the Buffaloes on the 15. Three plays later the Buffaloes were on the one-yard line.

Time was called by Stanton with one second remaining in the third quarter. When play resumed, senior tailback Todd Smith took the ball across the goal line for the touchdown.

Stanton faked an extra point attempt and quarterback Tommy Morrow went over for the two-point conversion.

The only time McCamee came close to scoring was at the end of the first quarter. Billy Ray Terry recovered a Stanton fumble on the Buffaloes 10-yard line. But the Stanton defense held the Badgers on four downs and took over possession on the 10.

McCamee punted six times during the night and fumbled once. The Stanton Buffaloes punted four times and fumbled four times.

Robert Lee ruins forsan homecoming

By MARJ CARPENTER

FORSAN — The Homecoming game in Forsan Friday night proved once and forever that the classification of a team's school has nothing to do with victory when Robert Lee beat Forsan 22-6.

The Forsan Buffaloes have gone up to Class A this year and have been told often enough that they cannot possibly have a winning year. It appears that they have begun to believe it.

The Robert E. Lee Steers, on the other hand, had just gone down to Class B. They have been told that since they are now down in a smaller bracket, they might win state.

So the brand new Class B Steers handily defeated the brand new Class A Buffaloes without any trouble at all. The Buffaloes played a lot better game against Robert Lee when they were Class B and the Steers were Class A.

Forsan never really threatened in the contest, even though it was both Homecoming and their home opener. Randy Cregar got loose for an 82-yard run for a touchdown in the second quarter. But it was the only really good gain he got during the entire ballgame.

Rusty Henderson gained most of the rest of the Buffalo yardage in chunks of three and four and eight and eleven yards at a time. But, he too had a frustrating evening and was constantly halted by Clay Allen and Terry Ross.

On defense, Henderson and Kevin Lowe had a good evening; but everybody was missing the wide end around runs by flashy Brett Clark, junior back for Robert Lee.

Nobody was having too good luck in the air with their 11 passes with Joe Kinder attempting most of them. His first pass was picked off by Robert Lee on the second play of the game.

Kerry Gartman was hurling the ball for Robert Lee and only completed five of 14 and had two intercepted by Lowe and Weldon Nichols.

However, his first long pass to Edwin Wilson put Robert Lee on the scoreboard early and looked like something out of a college game. It was a 58-yard bomb.

Brett Clark then passed to Terry Ross for two and the Steers were out front. With 5:31 left before the half, Gartman hit Clark for a 15-yard score. That time Wes Sawyer kicked the point after.

The final Steer score was not quite as flashy. Wilson simply went in from the 20 in the third quarter after a drive that only took five plays from their own 42. Sawyer again kicked the extra point.

The Buffaloes have a week to rest and get ready to meet Plains in their first game in a new district. If they quit worrying about the ratings of the schools, they might get together a more determined ballgame.

Robert Lee just cleared up the matter of school's classifications as they will probably pound their way toward a district championship and a lot of expectations to do well in the playoffs.

The score remained at 20-0 until midway in the third stanza when Mitchell bolted over from the five. Kirkwood again kicked the conversion to bring the score to 28-0.

Grady erupted in the final quarter for twenty points. Ronald Chee started it off with a 28-yard scoring run.

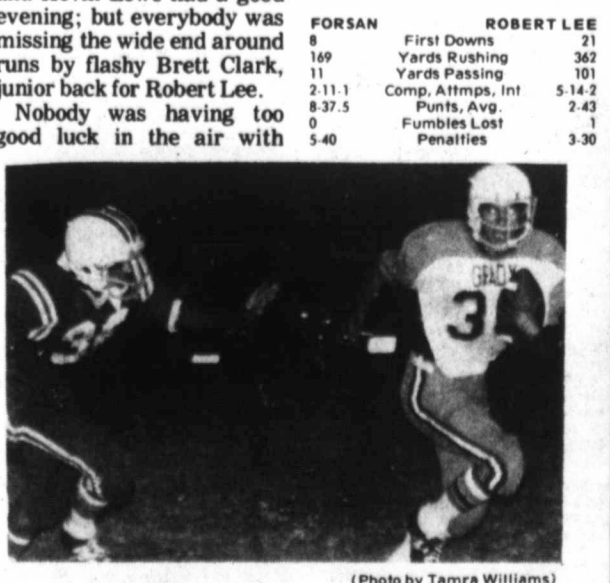

Chee ran for his second touchdown of the night later in the period from 29 yards out. Kirkwood added the PAT.

The final Grady score came on a two-yard burst. The PAT failed and the final score read 48-0.

Coach Richard Gibson singled out the defensive performances of Alex Perez with 13 tackles, Alfonso Cortez, Gutierrez and Leland Key. He also singled out Chee and Mitchell for their running. Chee had 195 yards and Mitchell added 159.

District 5-AAAA Roundup

ABILENE — Highly-rated Temple handed Abilene High one of its worst defeats ever here Friday night, scoring in every quarter to win, 49-0.

The Eagles had entered the game with a 20-0 won-lost record but proved no match for the Wildcats.

Senior fullback Carl Robinson scored three touchdowns and Elvis Walker two for the visitors.

The Wildcats started slowly enough, counting only once in the opening round, but by half time was in command, 21-0.

Abilene displayed reasonably good fire power in the middle of the field but couldn't move from close in against Temple's rugged defense.

HALTOM CITY — Haltom, using an outdated Friday wing attack, upset Abilene Cooper, 21-15, here Friday night.

Cooper outgained the Buffaloes on the ground, 249-140, and had a slight edge in the air but Haltom proved to be the better opportunists.

The Bisons did all their damage in the first half and Cooper, with a chance to go ahead, moved to Haltom's 17 with 3:37 remaining. An interception at the goal stopped that drive.

Running back Tim Sanders led Haltom's first half surge, scoring two touchdowns. One of those came after an 86-yard run in the second period.

Terry Orr was a powerhouse runner for Cooper, gaining 116 yards in 16 thrusts, but couldn't break the big play.

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo Central broke into the win column for the first time this season here Friday night, beating Austin Anderson, 26-7.

Central shut down Anderson's passing game, allowing the Trojans only three completions for gains totaling 42 yards.

QB Tod Fields passed to end Jack Fannon for 28 yards and Angelo's first score in the final minute of the opening period.

Fields scored on a keeper for the Bobcats in Round Two, traveling eight yards.

San Angelo scored again before the period was out on a pass play from Fields to Doug Larson, the play covering one yard.

The Bobcats managed their final TD late in the third when Fields hit Jack Fannon with a pass from 18 yards away.

MIDLAND — Lubbock Monterey handed Midland High its second straight defeat here Friday night, 17-14.

Penalties and penalties proved to be very costly for the Bulldogs. Monterey shut down Midland in the second half, limiting the Bulldogs to only one first down.

Midland drove 60 and 30 yards for two touchdowns in the first half. Wet turf handicapped the play of both teams.

Midland scored first on a 15-yard run by Billy Aspin, a junior tailback in the opening round. With three minutes left in the round, Midland lost the ball on a fumble on its own ten and Monterey QB Todd Hunt tied the count with a keeper play around right end.

With 3:22 left in the second period, Midland moved ahead again when reserve QB Tommy Somers scored on a sneak from two yards out. Somers later was taken to the hospital with a neck injury.

Midland missed a 24-yard field goal try in the second. Monterey made 175 yards rushing the ball and added 40 passing. Midland was limited to 96 yards on the ground and 32 through the air.

PLAINVIEW — Underdog Midland Lee edged Plainview, 16-14, here Friday night.

Jeff McCowan scored for Lee in the opening period on a 17-yard run, after which Bill McPherson booted the PAT.

In the second, Gary Butler passed 46 yards to Elmer Montgomery for another Lee tally. The try for point failed.

Plainview scored two touchdowns in the third round, Royce Coleman and Michael Black going across.

With 4:40 left in the third, McPherson kicked a 22-yard field goal that provided the cushion for the Rebels.

HOBBS, N.M. — Odessa High had no trouble with Hobbs here Friday night, winning, 20-0.

Hobbs was able to make only three first downs and 84 yards total offense against the Broncos.

The first half was scoreless. Gary Lewis put Odessa ahead in the third when he scored on a 43-yard pass from QB Billy Raumbaugh.

Linebacker Mario Alvarado recovered a Hobbs fumble in the end zone for Odessa's second score later in the third.

With less than two minutes to play, Pat Mendoza ran 27 yards for the Red Hoses' final tally.

The win was the third straight for Odessa.

STOPPED EVERY TIME — Rusty Henderson, who had the most successful ball carries of the evening and who also had a large number of tackles along with Kevin Low, still could not get very far before he was halted by Clay Allen and Terry Ross, the defensive standouts for Robert Lee.

Borden County defeated

GAIL — O'Donnell manhandled the Borden County Coyotes, 45-7, here Friday night.

Halfback Don Forces ran two and three yards for two O'Donnell touchdowns in the opening period and later caught a 62-yard pass for another.

Forbes took up where he left off in the fourth period of a 14-yard jaunt. QB Mike Read, who filled the "home-run" ball to Forbes, also passed to Tony Acosta for 42 yards and another O'Donnell tally.

O'Donnell scored 24 of its points in the fourth period. Kevin McCarthy managed one of the visitors' tallies on a three-yard run.

Craig Peterson scored for Gail in the final period on a five-yard jaunt.

Raiders-Patriots highlight NFL

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It is not among the longest rivalries in the National Football League — but it is one of the bitterest. And the nation will get yet another chance to see it when Sunday Night Football makes its debut.

The Oakland Raiders, accused by some of being a less-than-dainty team, hosts the New England Patriots in a game that figures to be played at fever pitch from opening kickoff to final gun.

A couple of years ago, the Raiders beat the Patriots in the American Conference championship 24-21 game on a controversial call, a roughing-the-passer penalty that allowed Oakland to maintain possession and score the winning touchdown.

New England tight end Russ Francis also received a broken nose in the game, and no penalty was called against the Raiders.

In this year's exhibition season, when the Patriots won 21-7, Francis was injured again. And New England's star wide receiver, Darryl Stingley, was paralyzed when he and Oakland defensive back Jack Tatum collided.

Sunday's afternoon games are Los Angeles at Houston, Cleveland at Pittsburgh, the New York Jets at Washington, St. Louis at Dallas, San Francisco at the New York Giants, Baltimore at Buffalo, New Orleans at Cincinnati, Miami at Philadelphia, Denver at Kansas City, Detroit at Seattle, Atlanta at Tampa Bay and Green Bay at San Diego. On Monday night it's Minnesota at Chicago.

The Raider-Patriot game will be a matchup of opposites at quarterback. Grizzled Ken Stabler of Oakland is a dropback passer with a pinpoint delivery while Steve Grogan, the younger signal-caller for New England, who likes to roll out and run with the ball but has a history of interception problems.

Two of the game's best tight ends, Francis and Oakland's Dave Casper, also will be showcased.

The Raiders, who started off with a loss to Denver, then managed to eke out a victory against San Diego on Stabler's controversial "fumble" to Casper on the game's final play, hit their stride last Sunday by steamrolling Green Bay.

The Pats, opening-game losers to Washington and winners over St. Louis, were stung last Monday night when the Baltimore Colts, scoreless in their first two games, rallied to win in the rain on halfback Joe Washington's touchdown pass, touchdown catch and, finally, touchdown run of 90 yards with a kickoff in the closing minutes.

Los Angeles, Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Washington remain the league's only unbeaten teams going into the fourth weekend of action while St. Louis, San Francisco, Buffalo and Cincinnati are still winless.

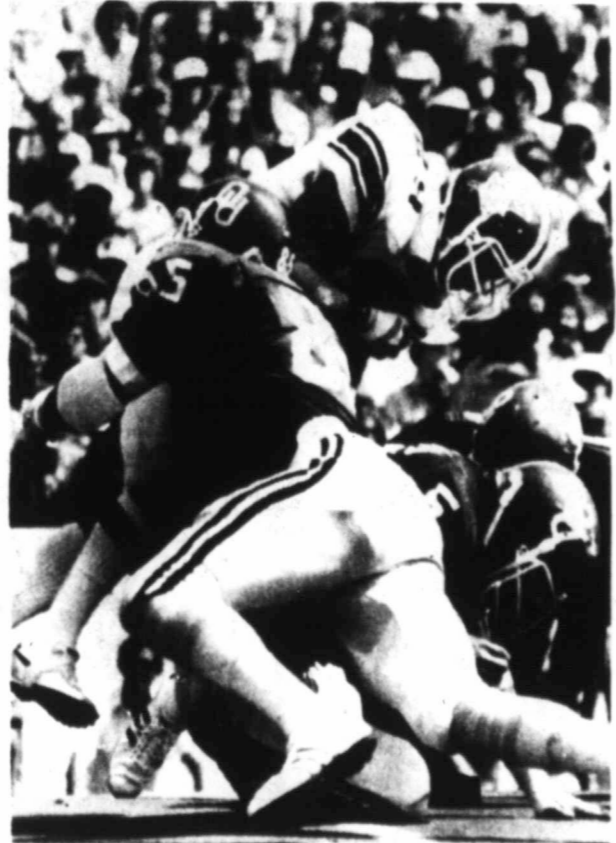

The Rams will be trying to shut down Houston's Heisman Trophy-winning runner, Earl Campbell, the way they handled Dallas' Tony Dorsett. Supremacy in the AFC Central Division is up for grabs in Pittsburgh, where Cleveland hasn't won since 1969.

ASU bombs Sam Houston

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Running back Jerry Aldridge rushed for 201 yards and a pair of touchdowns Saturday to lead Angelo State to a 42-13 victory over Sam Houston State.

Both teams are members of the Lone Star Conference, but Saturday's contest did not count in the league standings.

Aldridge scored on runs of one and 81 yards in giving ASU its third victory in as many starts.

HIT HARD — Rice tailback James Broeren (29) is upended by Sooner linebacker Daryl Hunt as he heads for the line. Rice found it tough going all afternoon in its 66-7 loss to Oklahoma.

Toros lose heartbreaker

The Big Spring Freshmen lost a heartbreaking 8-6 contest to Snyder Thursday night. The game was played in Snyder.

Bobby Earl Williams, the leading rusher in the battle with 84 yards, scored the Freshmen touchdown in the first quarter on a 45-yard gallop. The extra point try was stopped.

Big Spring controlled the next two quarters, but were unable to show any productivity on the scoreboard. The fish had 221 yards total offense, to only 70 for the opposition. Rainy weather and a slushy field forced both sides to play conservative football.

Snyder scored their lone touchdown with 35 seconds to play. The Toro defense made an error in technique in the line, and the Snyder runner found enough daylight to score from 25 yards out. The young Tigers then made the all important try for two.

Coach Jerry Martin had praise for his defense, which played a very good game, except for the run on the Snyder touchdown. He singled out Kerry Wiggins, Mike Burrow, Richard Evans, Williams, Bill Pollard and Tony Molina for their defensive play. Marty Rice, playing his first game at fullback, drew the coach's notice for his blocking on offense.

The freshmen record now stands at 1-1-1. They return to action on October 5th in Pecos.

Goliad dumps CCity

The Black team of coaches Hise and Tipping defeated Colorado City 7th grade team 12 to 0 Thursday night. Goliad scored twice in the 4th quarter behind the leadership and running of Marty Rodriguez and Scott Richardson.

The blocking of Mike McKinley, Pete Crabtree, and Jon Tinnerstet were equally impressive.

Th Mavericks had 150 yards rushing on the quarterback sneak. The first score came with 5:04 to go in the game when Richardson sneaked over from 2 yards away to put Goliad out in front 6 to 0. The try for 2 points failed.

With 43 seconds left on the clock, Richardson scored again from 25 yards out. Most of the action during the game took place on C-City's end of the field. Goliad controlled the ball and made good defensive plays to stop Colorado City from making any threats. Outstanding on defense were Rodriguez, Richardson, Crabtree, Mike Brown, and Doug Pennington.

The next game for Goliad will be Saturday morning, September 30th, as both the Black and White teams will travel to Monahans to play games at 9:30 and 11:00.

Cowboys await Card invasion

DALLAS (AP) — Where have the Cardiac Cardinals gone? For that matter where is the Dallas Doomsday defense?

Both have been nearly extinct species in the early, early National Football League campaign.

St. Louis' high-flying offense which produced so many last-second victories under Don Coryell has been sputtering like the opposition has 12 men on the field under new Coach Bud Wilkinson.

And the Dallas defense, which was so dominating in the NFL playoffs last year has played like there were 10 men on the field in yielding 24 and 27 points to the New York Giants and the Los Angeles Rams, respectively.

"We are a disappointed football team," said Wilkinson, the 61-year-old former Oklahoma coach who brings his winless Cardinals into Texas Stadium for a National Conference Eastern Division matchup with the suddenly less than awesome Cowboys.

"Sure, the schedule is tough, but the schedule is a fact of life," said Wilkinson. "Yes, we've had some injury problems. But you can't just look at those two factors and say that's why we haven't won."

"He always comes alive against us...he's done it every year," said Cowboy special scout Eral Allen.

Dallas is 2-1 but battered and bruised after a 27-14 loss to the Los Angeles Rams in which the defense collapsed.

"I'm still not worried," said Landry. "We can look awful bad but we also can look awful good."

LSU nips Wake Forest

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Tailback Charlie Alexander rambled for touchdowns of 11 and 32 yards Saturday night as 10th ranked Louisiana State struggled to a 13-11 victory over Wake Forest.

LSU, 2-0 and a three-touchdown favorite, sputtered on offense all night and capitalized on only one of six turnovers by Wake Forest. The Deacons fell to 1-2 with the loss.

Alexander capped a 50-yard LSU drive midway in the second quarter, racing 11 yards up the middle for a touchdown. He added his second score late in the third quarter when he raced around left end and down the sideline for 32 yards.

Wake Forest scored on the final play of the first half after recovering an LSU fumble on the 13-yard line. Steve Schonert booted a 30-yard field goal as the clock ran out.

The Deacons pulled within two points with 4:37 to play, when Mark Lancaster blocked an LSU punt and Donnie Jackson ran six yards for a touchdown. Wake Forest then added a two-point conversion.

LSU picked up one first down in the next series, but was forced to punt the ball away. The Deacons couldn't manage a first down and turned the ball back at their own nine-yard line with 24 seconds to play. LSU ran the clock out.

Alexander finished with 116 yards for 32 carries to lead the sluggish LSU offense. LSU held a 335 to 317 edge in total yardage.

Phils sweep Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Bowa collected five hits, drove in three runs and scored the goahead run as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the New York Mets 6-3 and swept a doubleheader Saturday.

Philadelphia won the first game 1-0 on Larry Christenson's three-hitter. The sweep, combined with Pittsburgh's 3-2 loss at Montreal, enabled the Phillies to stretch their lead in the National League East to three games.

Bowa tripled home two runs in the Phillies' three-run second inning against New York starter Roy Lee Jackson. Bowa doubled with two out in the fourth and scored on an RBI single by Garry Maddox, breaking a 3-3 tie off loser Dwight Bernard, 1-3.

Dick Ruthven, 15-11, went the distance for the Phillies, allowing four hits in pitching his 11th complete game.

Maddox doubled home Bowa in the sixth inning run for the only run of the opening game.

Christenson, 12-14, won for the first time since Sept. 2 by pitching his third shutout and ninth complete game of the season. He struck out five and walked two.

Yearling fems now 4-0

The Rannels Yearlings girls' volleyball team recorded their fourth consecutive triumph without a loss Thursday night with a 15-8, 11-15, 15-11 victory over Snyder.

Rhondi Rutledge led the Yearlings with 14 points, followed by Amy Ragan with 11. Coach Jane Upton also singled out the play of Melody Choate and Teresa Alexander.

The B team Dogies lost to Snyder by the score of 15-13, 11-15, 0-15. Jackie Ray and Tammy Martin led the Dogies with seven and six points, respectively. Carmen Gonzales was outstanding in defeat. The Dogies now have a record of 2-3.

Both of the teams return to action this week when they play host to Colorado City Thursday.

ADDING A KICK TO HIS CALL — Home Plate umpire Ken Kaiser, kicks his leg out as he calls Kansas City Royals' Willie Wilson out at home after being tagged by Milwaukee Brewers' catcher Charlie Moore in the eighth inning of Thursday's game at Royals Stadium. Wilson tried to score on a hit by Royals Hal McRae. The Royals beat the Brewers 8-4.

Sooners squeeze Rice

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Quarterbacks Thomas Lott and J.C. Watts, each scoring twice, riddled a sharp wishbone offense down the throats of the Rice Owls Saturday as the third-ranked Oklahoma Sooners picked up an easy 66-7 football win.

Lott's near-flawless play helped the Sooners to an overwhelming 52-0 halftime lead as the Sooners scored every time they had the ball while he directing traffic. It was Oklahoma's third win.

Lott was replaced in the middle of the second quarter after rushing for 102 yards and hitting two of five passes for 32 more yards.

Rice never managed to put together much of a challenge as a series of first-half fumbles recovered by Oklahoma blunted any effort to keep the contest close.

The Sooners' first score came with only four minutes and five seconds gone as Billy Sims went in from 11 yards out.

Oklahoma, which substituted freely after intermission, also scored on a beautiful pitchout from Lott to Jimmy Rogers when Lott was hemmed in after romping 30 yards to the Rice 13. Rogers took it the rest of the way in.

Other Sooner scores came on a one-and 25-yard run by Lott; a 49-yard field goal by Uwe von Schamann; eight- and 12-yarders by Watts; a 12-yard run by Freddie Nixon; a second-half one-yard plunge by Barry Joyner and a three-yard run by Randy Jones.

Rice, which dropped to 0-3, kept from being whitewashed in the final quarter when quarterback Mark Snyder hit David Houser with a one-yard scoring pass.

'Dogs edge Crane

CRANE — Coahoma turned more than a few heads in the football community here Friday night when it knocked off Crane, 10-9, on a rain-drenched field. The win was the third straight for the Bulldogs.

A 32-yard field goal by Coahoma's Gary Paige in the first period actually proved to be the difference in the game.

Ronald Sundry of Coahoma picked off a Crane pass in the opening period after the Golden Cranes had moved to within 17 yards of the Coahoma goal. The Coahoma defense, in the end, was simply too tough for the Crane team.

The two teams went to the dressing room at half time tied, 3-3 after Crane's Rocky Rives booted a 23-yard field goal.

Crane received the kickoff to open the third period and marched from its own 34 deep into Coahoma territory, only to see its scoring chances wither after two penalties.

Crane capitalized on a break later in the round when it recovered the ball following a Crane punt. Fullback Karl Gibbs carried the ball in from 13 yards away. Rives tried to kick the extra point but failed and Crane's lead remained at 9-3.

Coahoma scored with 7:27 left in the game when QB Gary Gee passed to tight end Randy Phillips, the play covering eight yards.

When Paige converted on a kicking try, Coahoma had the margin it needed to hold off the Cranes.

The loss was the first after two wins for Crane. Crane had a notable edge in the statistics but Coahoma displayed a lot of muscle on defense and took advantage of its few scoring opportunities.

YOUNG IDEAS

By DICK YOUNG

Later this week, Bob Arum will fly to Chicago to meet with Herbert Muhammad. Bob Arum, head of Top Rank, has made a lot of money promoting Ali fights. Herbert Muhammad, manager of Ali, has made a lot of money making Ali fights.

It is interesting, therefore, that the purpose of this meeting is to decide how to get Ali not to fight again; repeat, NOT to fight again.

"Herbert and I agree. We think he should quit on top, as he is now."

It wouldn't be too hard to get some network to wave $5 million or so under the nose of Muhammad Ali for a fight with Larry Holmes. The sales pitch is a natural: Ali once more is the WBA champion, Holmes, courtesy of Ken Norton, is the WBC champion. It is the biggie. It is Armageddon, compact size.

Arum thinks he could put that one on. Everybody else in the fight game is under the impression that the dispute between Arum and his promotional rival, Don King, would present an insurmountable barrier because Don King owns, or at least controls, Larry Holmes.

"Not so," Bob Arum now claims. "Holmes says he is not bound to King. Holmes says he will fight for anyone to get a match with Ali."

Richie Giachetti is the manager of record for Larry Holmes. Richie Giachetti was moved into that spot a long time ago by Don King. Richie Giachetti now concurs with Holmes in the declaration of independence. "We want Ali," he says. "We can fight for the promoter with the best offer."

Why, then, would Arum not pursue the possibility? Why not try to talk Ali into a Larry Holmes fight, one more last fight, instead of talking him out of it?

And why would Herbert Muhammad, his close friend and fellow Muslim, not want one more shot at that 33 percent of a pot of gold?

One reason is this: Neither Arum nor Herbert believes Ali can fight anymore. In this, they are undoubtedly right. Against Leon Spinks, Ali gave a magnificent demonstration of how a twilight professional can box the ears of a young amateur. It is extremely doubtful that Ali could pull it off against anyone else, not Holmes, nor Norton, not even Ernie Shavers, or an in-shape Jimmy Young.

A second reason is this: Bob Arum can proceed without Ali. If he can induce Ali to announce his retirement, Arum can move ahead with an elimination tournament that would produce a man to fill the vacated WBA throne. There would be, instead of one big fight, a series of big fights, all nicely packaged for TV, all ballyhooed just the way TV loves it.

"A HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE elimination contest" — the words heavyweight title spoken very loudly, and printed in large type on the TV pages; the words elimination contest printed in small type, and whispered.

And where does Herbert Muhammad figure?

It is believed that Herbert has a piece of Top Rank, Arum's promotional company. After all, not for nothing did Herbert walk away from Don King, taking with him the heavyweight champion of the world.

Muhammad Ali has said he wishes to sit on his recaptured title for six or eight months, to exploit it in business ventures for as long as he can, before being ordered by the WBA to defend or get off the throne.

However, if it could be pointed out to Ali that his retirement could touch off a profitable elimination tournament to find his successor, and that he could have a piece of the action, then Ali's retirement could very well be hastened.

Ali then would have a piece of Herbert Muhammad, and isn't that a wonderful irony to contemplate?

Catfish biting at Lake Spence

All of a sudden, striped bass had to take a lesser position on the stringers of fishermen at Lake E.V. Spence during the past week.

Channel catfish were biting like mad. Three parties averaged 40 each, and several others reported catches. White bass also were biting as were black bass. And one drum showed up in the report.

From various concession points, there were a few of the results:

Triangle Grocery — Eddie Isbell, Sterling City, three striped bass to 9 lbs.; Les Burkett, Lamesa, two strippers to 3 lbs.; Poppy Bankhead, Robert Lee, 20 channel catfish to 1½ lbs.; Hillside Grocery — Pat Murphy and Lloyd Murphy, Lamesa, 53 channel cat to 2 lbs., five crappie to 2 lbs., three black bass to 1½ lbs. and three blue catfish to 3 lbs.; Y.J. and Dair Sherrill, Robert Lee, seven black bass to 2 lbs.

Wildcat Fish A Rama — B.J. Littlejohn and Chris Stone, San Angelo, 40 channel cat to 3½ lbs., and a 4¼-lb. striper.

Edith Country Corner — Bill Reynolds and party of Midland, 30 white bass to 2½ lbs., Dale Lipsey, Kermit, three black bass to 2 lbs., two channel cat to 1½ lbs., and a 2½-lb. drum.

Paint Creek Marina — Jim Kiker, Snyder, two black bass; Roy Rowe, Lubbock, 40 white bass; Roger McCray, Lubbock, 15 channel cat; W.W. Kincaid, Odessa, 23-lb. yellow catfish; Milburn Keener, Jame Blockwell, Steve Butler and a striper; Robert Hamil, Odessa, 16 channel cat to 3½ lbs.

ENJOYS SOLITUDE — James Horton, who resides at 422 Hillside, enjoys solitude and being outdoors. He frequently goes to Moss Creek Lake seeking those two things, sometimes fishing all afternoon, sometimes all day long. "The fishing is passable, but it wouldn't really matter if it wasn't," says Horton. "I just like it out here." Bass fishing is reported to be going good at the lake as the yellow Willow Flies are beginning to hatch and draw the feeding bass to the top of the water.

PP&K nearing

Registration is continuing for the 1978 Punt, Pass & Kick Competition in the showroom of Bob Brock Ford. In making the announcement, Bob Brock, president of the dealership, said: "We're looking forward to a big local PP&K competition in Big Spring. We hope all the youngsters, 8 through 13 years of age, in this area will come in to register and take part."

Bob Brock pointed out that PP&K — throughout its six levels of competition — is free of any charge, and that youngsters need only have a parent or guardian accompany them to the showroom to register.

"Our competition here will have 1st, 2nd and 3rd place trophies for contestants in each of the six age groups, or 18 trophies in all," said Bob Brock. "Increasing each entrant's chances of winning is the fact that youngsters compete only against others in their own age group," said the Ford Dealer.

PP&K registration will close at Bob Brock Ford on September 29 at 5 p.m. Competition will be Saturday morning, September 30.

Garden City Bon fire scheduled

By NIKKI TIDWELL
The atmosphere in Garden City this week should be especially exciting because it's Homecoming Week! Everyone will be looking forward to the bonfire on Thursday night, the Senior supper at 5:00 p.m. Friday, and mostly the football game on Friday night with Miles. Homecoming is always a special week because there is always so much going on and usually many old friends make it to this special game. At the game our Homecoming Queen and Mr. Bearkat will be named.

The candidates this year are Tina Bednar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Bednar, Sandra Schwartz and Denise Schwartz, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schwartz. Competing for Mr. Bearkat are Mark Halfmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Halfmann, Kevin Hirt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hirt, and Brad Calverley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Calverley.

The Senior Supper which will be in the cafeteria will consist of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, green beans, salad, and chocolate pudding for dessert. After the game the student council is sponsoring a dance, and there will also be a party for the Garden City High exes in the library.

If you bought a mum you can pick it up at 4:00 in the cafeteria on Friday. To boost the spirit for the big game the pep squad will act as "Bearkat Mamas" this week. Each one has her own Bearkat son to take care of during the week. She will bring him goodies and keep his spirit up!

The Bearkat volleyball teams were victorious last week and they have a busy schedule this week. On Mondays they will play Big Spring here, and on Tuesday they will play Watervalley for a district game there. On Saturday they will travel to Watervalley again for a tournament.

The health class and the career education class will travel to Big Spring State Hospital on Wednesday for a field trip, and there will be a Beta Club meeting. The Student Council will meet on Tuesday.

New reading system in language classes

By MELINDA CORWIN and BRONWYN ALLEN
Already the students at Goliad have been given many tests. Achievement tests were given last week in all sixth and seventh grade language arts classes.

A new reading system, U-SAIL, is being used in the sixth grade language arts classes of Miss Settle, Mrs. Stephens, and Mr. Irwin. The goal of the Utah System Approach to Individualized Learning is for students to enjoy reading and to progress at their own level. Many new and interesting materials and ideas are being used. Students are now reading books of their own choice. Record keeping or retrievals are an important part of the program. Students learn to be responsible for their retrievals and the daily procedures. Conferences with students and parents are held to discuss and determine progress and problems.

Some of the history classes are learning about the peace treaty between Egypt and Israel. Students were asked to watch the television news special on Prime Minister Begin and President Sadat and to take notes on it.

Belinda Bradley crowned Homecoming Queen

By LUCY THIXTON

Even though the rain did prevent the annual Homecoming bonfire, it did not dampen spirits at the football game. The Buffs fell to fourth-ranked Robert Lee with a score of 22-6. By the time half-time rolled around everyone was crazy with suspense as to who would be crowned the 1978-79 Homecoming Queen.

Belinda Bradley was bestowed with the prestigious honor for the second time. She had been crowned Homecoming Queen her freshman year. Belinda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theron Rudder, was escorted by Joe Kinder and represented by the Senior Class.

Those in Queen Belinda's court included Michelle Soles, Monica Dyess, and Joni Poynor. Michelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Soles. She represented the Junior Class and was escorted by Weldon Nichols. Monica, escorted by D. F. Stanley, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Rudd and is a Sophomore. Joni, representing the Freshmen class, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Poynor. Brad Robertson was her escort.

As soon as the game was over, J. J. Mac gave everyone a chance to shake their booty as he provided entertainment for the Homecoming Dance.

Last week Forsan fared well in football for Junior High on up. The Junior Buffs beat Garden City and the JV's won over Sterling City. The high school Buffs shut out Garden City 31-0.

The Senior Class has begun selling cheese and sausage. These can be purchased individually or in gift packs. Contact any senior for further information.

Due to the weather, the Senior Class pictures was not made Friday as was scheduled. Another date will be set.

Career Day preparations are now underway. It will be held in March at Garden City High School. All high school students need to go by Mrs. Neefe's office and read the bulletins. Then decide on which five topics they would most like to hear about. One day next week, students will be given the opportunity to fill out forms on the subjects they have chosen. So don't forget to read the bulletins!

The Industrial Arts Club met last Saturday at 1:00 p.m. to elect officers. They are as follows: president, John Summers; vice president, Kim Long; treasurer, Mike Eggleston; secretary, Scott Neel; sergeant-at-arms, J. C. Moore, reporter, Greg Ward; student council representative, Ellen Williams. They met again Tuesday for initiation of new members. Mark Reeh will be the I.A. Club advisor.

Rusty Henderson was chosen for the "Above the Call" award last week. Rusty rushed 25 times for 139 yards, had two pass receptions for 25 yards and scored three touchdowns against arch-rival Garden City. He also did a great job on defense, being involved in 17 tackles. Congratulations, Rusty!

Librarian also a victim

Censorship threat looms large

By JOHN DEATS
County Librarian

It might seem ironic to some that this country, founded on concepts like freedom of thought and expression, has a very real problem of censorship. Not by the government, but by self-appointed guardians of what is decent, fair, and correct for their fellow citizens to see, hear, and believe. Since 1966, reported cases of censorship attempts in the libraries of schools, colleges, and the public sector have more than tripled. This does not include the large number which go unreported.

Surprisingly, Washington, D.C. leads all of the states in reported cases, per capita, while Hawaii has the fewest. Pockets with a high incidence occur in the Northeast and Northwestern areas, while the so-called "Sun Belt" reports a low number, per capita, with Texas ranking 30th of all states.

Very close to home is the classic problem in Plainview, which is thoroughly covered in the August issue of "Texas Monthly" magazine.

For our purposes, however, I wish to summarize another recent censorship attempt in which District Court Judge Joseph Tauro made some highly significant statements in his decision. His jurisdiction is in Chelsea, Massachusetts, where the local school board had insisted that the school librarian withdraw one book, "Male and Female Under 18," due to an "objectionable" poem. The poem described the kind of verbal sexual abuse which young women are sometimes subjected to in our cities. The board objected both to the language and to the theme of the work, written from the point of view of a fifteen-year-old. Tauro ruled in favor of the librarian and the local Right to Read Defense Committee, concluding that the board had overstepped its authority by "infringing on the right to read and be exposed to controversial thoughts."

At this point, it should be added that the delicate area of sexual relations is not alone, but that politics, religion, language, violence, morality, and many other controversial issues have provoked possibly countless attempts, no doubt well-meaning, toward censorship. The concerned citizen who objects to one piece of material, whether a book, record, or film, would do well to consider the full implications if all other persons and special interest groups could, at random, cause the withdrawal of the objectionable idea or viewpoint in the public interest. Whose public? Whose interest?

Judge Tauro stated the crux of the problem of censorship in precise terms: "If this work may be removed by a committee hostile to its language and theme, then the precedent is set for removal of another work... The most effective antidote to the poison of mindless orthodoxy is ready access to a broad sweep of ideas and philosophies. There is no danger in such exposure. The danger is in mind control."

Their basic premise was that the market for soul music was too limited. From that premise, they drew out their strategy. Phase I of The Commodore Plan for Success — avoid being labeled "just another black R&B group."

"In our earlier days, being stereotyped as a black group was a major concern with us," says trumpeter William King. "From jump street (the beginning, in Tuskegee parlance), we wanted not to be categorized as just playing black music."

The Commodores wanted soul AND pop markets. They came into this world stocked with their own supply of soul. The pop they had to go out and acquire — Phase II of The Commodore Plan for Success.

Han Solo remembers

"Graffiti"

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Harrison Ford's acting career was zilch at the time, so he eagerly accepted the role in a space movie.

"I knew we would all have to work real hard to make it work," he recalls. "I knew nothing about science fiction, so I was not in a judgmental position to say, 'You can't do that.' I had some misgivings about a film that relied heavily on special effects and walking fur creatures, but I recognized mine was a great part and the whole project was well intentioned."

The part was Han Solo, the movie "Star Wars," and Harrison Ford's career suddenly ascended from zilch to special heights. Ford has since appeared in three films: "Force 10 from Navarone," a sequel to the 1961 hit "The Guns of Navarone," the new version starring the late Robert Shaw, Ford, Barbara Bach and Franco Nero. It will be released this fall.

"Hanover Street," a World War II romantic triangle with an American pilot (Ford), a British intelligence officer (Christopher Plummer) and an English beauty (Leslie Anne Down).

"Apocalypse Now" as an intellectual colonel in Francis Coppola's long-shooting film about the Vietnam war.

Ford also played a secondary role in "Heroes," starring Henry Winkler.

Having thus diversified his roles, he will be returning to the high-flying Han next February, when "Star Wars II" will begin.

"The new film will not be a rehash," he said, "but a solid adventure with a lot of production values. We'll be able to develop the characters more. It's hard to keep the human element in mind in the middle of flash and hardware."

"Users" billed as loveable trash

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Users" is another one of those trashy movies about Hollywood. Which is to say it's great fun.

It's knee-deep in swill. The characters are scheming and decadent, deliciously and memorably so with performances etched in acid. They don't have skeletons in their closets — they have whole graveyards.

It would join a long list of rotten movies about movies were it not done with such high style and with restraint over the seamy bits.

Some characters are so outrageous, yet so on target, that the film teeters on a knife edge between melodrama and black comedy.

"We deliberately set out to make it trashy," admits executive producer Douglas Cramer. Cramer is also the former husband of Joyce Haber, author of the book from which the film was adapted.

"I think we've given it a new dimension. Take '79 Park Avenue. That was another trashy movie that was fun to watch, but it didn't have that extra dimension."

Waylon takes a softer line

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Is brash, swaggering, macho Waylon Jennings getting mellow?

There are signs that Jennings has softened his anti-Nashville establishment stance. And he's become slightly more accessible to the media, relaxing a tacks-tough barrier that has guarded his privacy.

In the past month, Jennings made two rare public appearances in Nashville. On Sept. 9, he and close friend Johnny Cash gave a surprise performance on the Grand Ole Opry. Jennings, best known for progressive country hits like "Luckenbach, Texas," "Good Hearted Woman" and "Mamas, Don't Let Your Babies Grow Up To Be Cowboys," had not appeared on the Opry for about 10 years.

He had shunned the Opry because he was not permitted to use a full set of drums — an Opry regulation that was dropped a few years ago.

In late August, he taped a concert at the Grand Ole Opry House, but not on the regular Opry show.

Besides disagreements with the revered Grand Ole Opry, Jennings also has shunned the Country Music Association awards show the past few years because he objects to musicians competing against each other.

And he was the subject of considerable publicity a year ago when he was arrested on a cocaine charge, though the charge was dropped.

Commodores started with different ideas

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Commodores, perhaps the world's best and most successful rhythm and blues band, was born as a group when its six principals were students at Alabama's Tuskegee Institute in the late '60s. It is significant that only one of the six majored in music.

Three of them were business majors — and it shows. The Commodores planned their career like a marketing team plans a product campaign.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You now have a considerable amount of energy and many good ideas that will help you to make long-range plans. There are some ideas that come to you later, but don't depend upon your judgment then.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Listen to sermons that inspire and raise your level of consciousness. Showing more affection for loved ones can bring excellent response. Avoid one who would get you down in some way.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Know what your desires are and how best to attain them. Be systematic. Think out how to add to present abundance.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are thinking clearly now and can plan the future more intelligently. Know what it is you want to accomplish.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan time to be with trusted advisers and gain fine suggestions from them. Meditation can also be of great help to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact good friends early and plan to be together for a delightful and constructive time. Be courteous with everyone instead of criticizing and all good.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take care of outside affairs early and then meet with a good adviser and follow suggestions. Accept some invitation that will lead to good for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact the wisest individuals of your acquaintance and get advice you need from them. Follow intuition, also. Good day to plan that trip you have in mind for a little later on.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Listen to suggestions of an associate and plan to cooperate for best results. Your judgment is not too good now, so rely on those you trust.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you do what you have agreed with partners, you gain their respect now. Get into community work that will add prestige, or be helpful to you and others. Don't give way to anger.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Showing appreciation to others for favors done you is wise way to spend part of this day. Plan new week's activities wisely.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get into the amusements that will give you a spiritual lift and make you feel happier during day. Later get together with older allies and work on creative ideas.

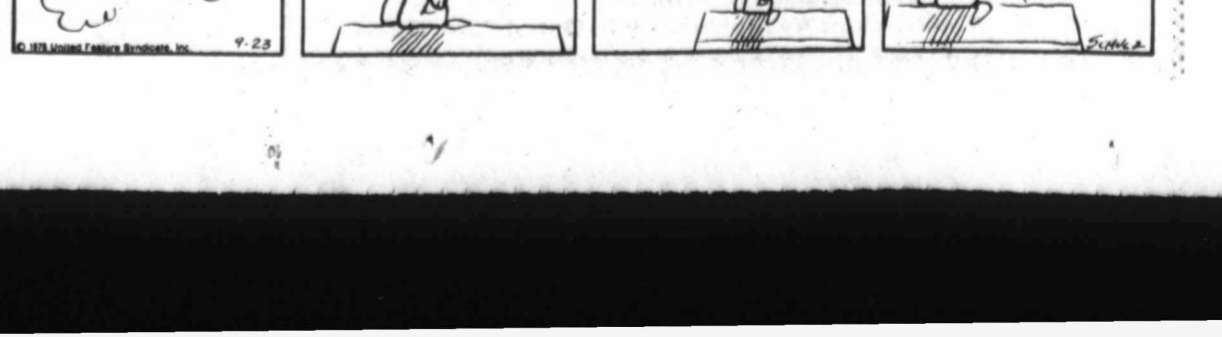

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will understand the practical side of life and will want to feel secure, have a home, a job, or a business, and should have an education that is practical for best results. Teach early not to feel sorry for self, but to meet each problem that comes along bravely.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Owners have responsibility to community

Mutt mess is really a people problem

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the final article in a series of three dealing with Big Spring's canine problem. In this portion of what their responsibilities are to their pets and to the community. How to handle a problem with other people's pets is also summarized.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS,
SEPTEMBER 24, 1978

The heart of man is reflected in the eyes of a dog.

Big Spring has a problem. The problem is dogs — damaging property, littering alleys with trash can contents, interfering with traffic, killing livestock, and posing a threat to the people who live here.

In addition, dogs carry and transmit diseases harmful to other animals and to man, making the problem a health hazard.

The dogs are not at fault, however. Few of them start out their lives as strays. The dogs causing the turmoil in Big Spring are or were at one time, people's pets. When turned loose, they do as their nature bids.

The general feeling among the city employees who are called on to take care of the problems caused by dogs is that the real problem is not the dogs, but people — people causing problems for other people by neglecting their pets.

The result is a situation too large for the city's Code Enforcement to cope with. And the responsibility for resolving that situation goes right back to those who are causing it — dog owners.

Becoming the owner of a dog does not end with picking out a puppy and deciding on a dog food. With the adoption of a dog comes responsibility for protecting both the dog and the community from potential dangers.

According to law, the pet must be contained within the owner's property unless it is on a leash. Thus, the owner assumes the cost and responsibility of enclosing the yard with fencing suitable for the breed he has selected or constructing a "dog run". The other alternative is to train the animal to be a house pet.

The law also states that the dog must be immunized against rabies and licensed by the city. The same applies to cats, raccoons, foxes, and other pets that are susceptible to rabies. The rabies vaccination could save the dog's life and the license tag may serve the same purpose, according to Bill Brown, assistant city manager.

"A lot of people don't realize the value of the license," he said. "If the dog is hurt, the owner can be traced through the veterinarian with the aid of the vaccination tag. And if that tag is lost, the owner can be found through the license tag."

"If the dog is picked up and placed in the animal shelter, the license tag gives him a longer stay of execution over untagged animals."

"A city ordinance states that the animal shelter will attempt to locate the dog's owner through the license and that a dog wearing tags will be held for 72 hours for his owner to claim him, and then another 72 hours before he's destroyed. Untagged animals aren't given the extra days."

"A dog who has been licensed receives special treatment."

One local veterinarian suggests that dogs and cats be immunized against distemper when they reach three months of age and against rabies at four months of age. Though the city ordinance calls for the rabies vaccination to be given by the time the dog is three months old, Brown said that the city goes along with the veterinarian's suggestion.

Both immunizations are vital to protect the health of the animal and the people who come into contact with him. At either of the veterinarian clinics in Big Spring, a dog or cat can be immunized against both diseases for under $20.

After the initial vaccinations, a distemper booster and an additional rabies vaccination is required annually to keep the animal protected.

FOR HER OWN PROTECTION and for the protection of her friends — both four-legged and two-legged, Georgina the cat submits to her annual rabies vaccination. The vaccination is required by law for dogs, cats, and other animals kept as pets who could transmit rabies. Assisted by Sandy Squibb, left, and Cindy Eve, the veterinarian administering this vaccination advises that dogs and cats be immunized against distemper as well.

This will cost less than $15 a year.

A city license, appropriately designed in the shape of a fire hydrant, can be obtained at the veterinarian clinics for $1 at the time of the rabies vaccination or it can be purchased at City Hall upon showing proof of the vaccination. The tag is also required for cats.

Many people feel that neutering a cat or dog will help prevent the animal from wanting to wander. According to one veterinarian, it may or may not.

"It probably works better on cats than dogs," he said. "When a male cat roams, he's usually looking for a mate, but it's different with a dog. Once a dog gets a taste of running, he likes it and will probably continue after the operation."

"In the case of a female dog, however, it will prevent other dogs from straying into the yard because of a female in heat."

It is encouraged by Code Enfor-ment that any owner of a female cat or dog who does not desire offspring have the animal spayed. The cost is around $40 for a dog and $30 for a cat, more if there are complications. To castrate a male dog or cat, the operation can normally be done for under $20.

In addition to securing the animal within the confines of the owner's property and vaccinating it against distemper and rabies, there are other steps the owner can take to eliminate problems that often accompany owning a dog.

Don Bailey, American Kennel Club member and local dog trainer, suggests some basic obedience training for all dogs, regardless of their breed.

"There's no way to train a dog to stay in a yard," he said, "but you can train him to obey you which can eliminate problems when he does get out. All dogs, pure breeds, and mixed, should be taught to sit and heel (walk beside you) on a lead (leash) or off."

"Your dog should also be trained to come to you when he's called for his own protection and yours. And he should be taught to be a bit reserved around other people and do not jump up on them."

"With proper training, he will automatically learn the meaning of 'no' which can be applied to many things."

Bailey suggests that basic training be done through an obedience training class.

"We don't train dogs in class; we train people to train their dogs."

After the initial training, he says that it can be elaborated on with the use of a book written by a well-known trainer.

Classes, taught by Bailey, will be starting up Tuesday evening in the county fair barn. Sponsored by the Big Spring Kennel Club, a non-profit organization, a dog may be enrolled for a nominal fee of $25. In many cities, the same lessons would cost from $250 to $500.

"Our fee is low on purpose," Bailey said. "We want to encourage kids to bring their dogs. It doesn't matter what kind of a dog it is. Mutts are as trainable as purebreds."

The class will meet each Tuesday evening for 10 weeks. In order to make the training effective, Bailey said that the participants cannot afford to miss classes and that they must be serious about what they are doing as the process calls for lots of patience and a time investment of at least one hour a day.

"Dogs are like children," he said. "Their attention span is limited to about 15 minutes in the beginning. We suggest that the owner train for an hour a day, perhaps breaking it up into four 15 minute sessions. The owner must be patient with the dog and be ready to praise him."

Since some breeds mature earlier than others, a particular dog may or may not be ready for the class which is about to begin. If the breed of the dog is unknown, Bailey suggests that the owner try training at six months and see what happens.

For more information about the class, dog owners may call Don Bailey, 267-7908, or Bruce Wright, 267-8276. The classes will be repeated around March.

Bailey also had something to say on the type of restraint used to keep a dog in the yard.

"Keeping a dog chained up is cruel. You take the chance that he'll get caught and choke to death."

He advised that if the dog is to be kept in a yard, a wood slat or chainlink fence would probably work best in most cases. If the dog is an unspayed female, he said that the owner will want to make sure that the fence is adequate to not only keep his dog in, but others out.

"Dog owners have a responsibility to their animals and to the community," he said. "That's why the Big Spring Kennel Club sponsors dog training classes. They make better citizens out of the dog and that makes the owner a better citizen."

Unfortunately, not all dog owners will heed Bailey's advice nor will they obey the city ordinances regarding their pets. Dogs will continue to be a problem in Big Spring. Responsibility for the dog owner's lack of responsibility falls on the community and the city's Code Enforcement. By working together, the problem may not be eliminated, but it can be reduced.

If you are having problems in your neighborhood with uncontained dogs, the Code Enforcement needs specifics in order to capture the animals. When a complaint is called in, they need a specific address where the dog can be picked up and if possible, a description of the animal. If you know the owner's name, Code Enforcement will not reveal who made the complaint.

Big Spring need not go to the dogs. There are ways to minimize the problem, but only if all three sides — dog owners, citizens, and city — pull together.

DOGS NEED TRAINING — Don Bailey, shown here with his Shetland sheepdogs Trixie, left, and Rowdy, says that all dogs should be trained in basic obedience. Training a dog to obey his master eliminates problems that go along with owning a dog and it can also save the animal's life. Bailey will be teaching classes in basic obedience beginning Tuesday. The classes are for mutts and pure breeds alike.

To be an annual event

'Sew It With Cotton' a big success

By DUSTY RICHARD

The "Sew It with Cotton Contest" was a great success, according to Sherry Hodnett, a member of the American Agricultural Movement, which sponsored the event during the Howard County Fair.

"Forty-three garments were entered," said Mrs. Hodnett, "in five divisions including Adult Professional, Adult Non-Professional, Older Youth, Youth, and Novelty Fashions and Accessories."

Because the purpose of the contest was to promote cotton, garments entered had to be made with fabric containing at least 50 percent cotton. The contest was open to all residents of Howard County.

There was a limit of one ensemble for each person for each category, and no beach or sleep wear was allowed except in novelty fashions and accessories divisions. All entries had to be modeled, except in the novelty division.

Garments were judged Sept. 12 by Ima Jean Trimmel and Glenda Thomas, both of Andrews. The judges took into consideration the construction as it effected the overall appearance, compatibility of fabric and design, quality of work, creativity, overall appearance, becomingness, fit, poise and representativeness of current fashion trends.

The style show took place at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the show barn at the Howard County Fairgrounds. Placings were announced at this time. Winner of the first place $50 award and the third place $20 award in the adult professional division was Barbara Justiss. A $30 prize went to Carolyn Rogers, who came in second.

In the adult non-professional division, Judy Murphy came in first and received a $50 prize, while Arlene Stephenson received $30 for her second-place entry. Rene Beall took third and $20.

Leslie Guilar was the $50 first-place winner in the older youth division; Robin Ethridge, with her second-place entry, took the $30 prize and winner of the $20 third-place award was Paula Allen.

Winner of the first-place $50 award in the youth division was Dawn Underwood. Tonya Hollis won $30 and second place, and third place along with $20 went to Kristi Myrick.

In the novelty fashions and accessories division, Sherry Newton came in first; Rae Nell Bert, second; Darlene Reid, third and Velma Reid, fourth. Winners in this division received merchandise from local shops.

Contributing money for winners in the first four divisions were Caudills, Wendell Shive, Taylor Implements, Bill Wilson, Smith and Coleman, Phillips Machine Shop, Dunlaps, Big Spring New Car Dealers Association and La Contesa.

Also, Jays Farm Store, Big Spring Farm and Ranch, Gibbs and Weeks Butch Hodnett, Keaton McCarey and Thomas Marvin.

Donators of merchandise for winners in the novelty division were Barber Glass and Mirror, Creative Arts, Firestone, T.G. and Y. and Final Touch.

Ms. Hodnett expressed appreciation to local fabric stores who refunded the price of the fabric in winning garments to winners who bought their fabric at their stores. Those stores

"The ladies at the American Agricultural Office also want to thank all the people who made the show a success, especially Kenneth Williams who helped with the sound system at the style show and Virginia Allen, who narrated it."

"Any entrant who wants to pick up her pattern may do so from 1-3 p.m. Thursday at the American Agriculture Office, 704 E. 4th," reminded Mrs. Hodnett.

Winners of Saturday night's drawing for a purse monogrammed by Dorothy Bass of Lubbock will be notified as soon as possible, she added.

"The show was such a success that we are planning to make it an annual event during the fair and welcome any comments or suggestions that might make it even better next year," said Mrs. Hodnett.

Surprise farewell fetes Vigus family

A surprise farewell party was given for Mrs. Frank Vigus and her four daughters, Denise, Lisa, Amy and Teresa, Wednesday night at the Pioneer Gas Co. Flame Room. They will leave Oct. 5 for Spain to live on the island of Mallorca. Frank Vigus has been working for three months in Algeria for Parker Drilling Company. The room was decorated in a Spanish theme with a large pinata full of money as a gift for Mrs. Vigus. Balloons containing money were present for the girls. Thirty-five guests and friends attended. Out-of-town guests included Eula Gowen, 98-year-old great-grandmother of Mrs. Vigus, Mrs. Vigus' aunt, Johnnie Lynch, Snyder, and Mary Cunningham of the St. Lawrence community, another of her aunts. Hostesses were Mrs. Sam Lewis, Mrs. Grady Beck, Mrs. Luther Bonner, Mrs. Charles Leek and Mrs. Russell Loftis, all of Big Spring. Cake and punch were served. Mrs. Vigus, the former Terry Land, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Land. She grew up in Big Spring and will be missed by many people. The hostesses expressed their thanks to Pioneer Gas for the use of the Flame Room and to guests for attending in the rain.

Afternoon rite unites Rose Hoelscher, Pelzel

Rose Marie Hoelscher and Patrick Louis Pelzel were united in marriage at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in St. Lawrence Catholic Church with the Rev. Binversie officiating. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hoelscher, St. Lawrence, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Pelzel, Miles.

MRS. PATRICK LOUIS PELZEL

The couple entered under an archway adorned with greenery, and spoke their vows before an altar decorated on each side with floral arrangements of assorted flowers and candlebrams with white candles. Wanda Lange of Rowena played musical selections at the organ, and Mrs. James Mathiesien of Rowena was vocalist. The bride wore a lace and chiffon gown with a cathedral train edged in reembroided Alencon lace. It was accented with a sunburst pleated chiffon panel down the front, and the bodice was trimmed in pearls. The bishop sleeves were capped with lace, and the fingertip-length veil, trimmed with Alencon lace, fell from a pearl and lace headpiece. She carried two dozen yellow rosebuds arranged in the shape of a cross, with a dozen open white roses around it. Matron of honor was Mrs. James Ripple, Wall, sister of the bride, and maid of honor was Ruth Pelzel, Miles, sister of the groom. Mrs. Charles Braden, St. Lawrence, sister of the groom; Trudy Hoelscher, St. Lawrence, sister of the bride; Mrs. Rick Halfmann, Lake Thomas, sister of the bride; Mrs. Charles Gully, St. Lawrence; and Donna Plagens, St. Lawrence, served as bridesmaids. Richard Pelzel, Miles, brother of the groom, was best man, and groomsmen were Dennis Hoelscher, St. Lawrence, brother of the bride; Charles Braden, St. Lawrence; Curtis Pelzel, Miles, brother of the groom; Monroe Diersch Jr., Wall; Charles Gully, St. Lawrence; and Steven Hoelscher, San Angelo.

Shower honors Ms. McWhorter

Hostesses in addition to Mrs. Weeks included Mrs. Jimmy Anderson, Mrs. H.B. Perry, Mrs. Glen Welch, Mrs. Berl Shaw and Mrs. Bobby Hogue. Also, Mrs. Holbert Fuller, Mrs. James Petty, Mrs. Harry Middleton, Mrs. O.B. Kerby, Mrs. Duke Pierce, Mrs. Roy Tidwell and Mrs. Carlos Humphrey. The hostesses presented Ms. McWhorter with a toaster oven at the affair which 175 attended. Corsages were presented to the honoree, Mrs. J.C. McWhorter, Big Spring, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Jack Lankford, Grand Prairie, mother of the groom. Special guests were Mrs. J.B. Collins, Abilene, grandmother of the bride, and Betty Collins, Abilene, aunt of the bride. Decorations were carried out in the bride's chosen colors of earth tones. A floral arrangement of yellow, orange and bronze flowers tied with bronze ribbon in a cut-glass vase centered the table. Cake, nuts, coffee and punch were served from crystal and silver appointments. Ms. McWhorter, the daughter of Mrs. J.C. McWhorter and the late J.C. McWhorter, and Lankford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lankford of Grand Prairie, will be married Oct. 14 in the 14th and Main Church of Christ, Big Spring.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Avoid clash, marry twice
 By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I have been raised in a kosher Hebrew home and I love my faith dearly. My fiancé is Catholic (which troubles my parents deeply) and we plan to marry in four months. A serious family problem arises because my fiancé says that we must be married in a Catholic church by a Catholic priest for the marriage to be recognized by his church. My parents will have no part of this and insist that we be married in a Jewish synagogue by a rabbi. Daddy says that since he is paying for the wedding, he should make the choice. In fact, he said that if I did not get married in a synagogue by a rabbi, he and mother would not attend. I'm confused and need help please. — Raechel, Elizabethtown, Ky. Raechel: You have told me what your fiancé wants and what your parents want, but have said nothing about your feelings. Why not do this? I have talked to both a priest and a rabbi and both sanctioned and liked the idea. On your wedding day, get married twice. Once by a priest in the Catholic church and once by a rabbi in a Jewish synagogue. I know it will be an inconvenience for the wedding party and guests, but it's better than the alternative. Besides, how many brides can say they were married twice in the same day? Deciding which ceremony will come first is a much less serious problem you will have to solve.

Dr. Wallace: I was honored and thrilled to be selected a cheerleader at my high school. At our first meeting, I was told that I would need two outfits (one for football season, and other for basketball season), a cheerleader necklace, and a promise to attend a summer cheer camp. The total cost for all this is over $300. My family cannot afford this kind of money, but I really want to be a cheerleader. Any suggestions? — Annette, El Centro Annette: Over $300 to become a cheerleader is a bit much. Fortunately, the expenses can be spread out during the year. Many girls have their mothers make their uniforms. Don't forget you will be wearing your uniform to school and it becomes an important part of your school wardrobe. Some schools allow cheerleaders to have fund-raising events to help defray the cost. Other girls get help from booster clubs or the PTA. I wonder if your principal is aware of this expense. A word to him or her might limit costs in the future. Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Find your nutrition I.Q.

By JANET ROGERS
County Extension Agent

What's your nutrition I.Q.?
Here's a true-false test to help you discover how much you know about nutrition. Give yourself 10 points for each correct answer. Perfect score will total 160.

FOOD GROUPS

- (1) In general, basic foods needed for good health can be grouped into four groups.
- (2) Milk and milk group foods are needed daily for calcium only.
- (3) Meat group foods contribute protein needed for growth.
- (4) Fruits and vegetables are needed for vitamins A and C.
- (5) Breads and cereals furnish carbohydrates needed for energy.
- (6) No other foods should be eaten in the daily diet.

NUTRIENTS

- (7) Nutrition affects our weight, ability to withstand stress, intelligence and the ability of a woman to reproduce.
- (8) Calories are a measure of body energy.
- (9) All of our calories may be obtained from fats and carbohydrates.
- (10) Once bone is formed, calcium is no longer required.
- (11) Iron is part of the hemoglobin molecule — the chemical in blood cells that carries oxygen to all parts of the body.

RECOMMENDED DIETARY ALLOWANCES

- (12) The Recommended Dietary Allowances (RDA) is a list of major nutrients needed to meet the physiological needs of most people.
- (13) The RDA never changes.
- (14) The RDA for calcium for a woman 23 years of age or older is 800 milligrams daily.
- (15) The RDA for vitamin A is 400 International Units daily for a woman 23 years of age or older.
- (16) Scurvy is common in the United States.

ANSWERS

- (1) TRUE. Foods needed to furnish key nutrients are grouped into four groups. Research scientists found that foods to furnish nutrients needed daily fell naturally into four basic groups — milk, meat, fruit-vegetable and bread-cereal.
- (2) FALSE. Milk or dairy products are also needed for riboflavin. It is difficult to get the amount of this nutrient needed daily without foods from the milk and dairy products group. Milk also furnishes other nutrients such as protein that helps balance out nutrient needs.

(3) TRUE. Meat group foods do contribute the major source of protein of growth. Protein also helps repair broken-down body tissue — a process that is going on constantly. Meat group foods also contribute a major source of iron needed for blood.

(4) TRUE. Fruits and vegetables are major contributors of vitamin A and C. However, they also furnish fiber needed to help move food through the digestive tract and other vitamins and minerals needed in small amounts. Some vegetables such as potatoes supply carbohydrates needed for energy.

(5) TRUE. Breads and cereals do contribute a major source of carbohydrates. However, they also carry B-vitamins needed for nerves. They, too, supply fiber.

(6) FALSE. Other foods such as fats and sweets may be eaten in amounts that maintain normal weight.

(7) TRUE. Body size and weight is affected by the food eaten. A person who consistently eats a nutritionally sound diet can usually withstand disease, strenuous work and emotional problems better than someone who has eaten an inadequate diet.

In a child's early life, nutrition can affect intelligence to a high degree and in later life to a lesser degree.

There is a strong correlation between nutrition and a female's reproductive ability and capacity. In those parts of the world where the mother has a nutritionally deficient diet, the number of birth defects, stillborn births, miscarriages and problems during child delivery are very high.

(8) TRUE. A certain amount of energy is necessary for maintenance and growth of the body. The exact amount of calories needed for an individual varies with age and activity.

(9) FALSE. Calories are also obtained from protein and school. In fact, one gram of each of the following furnishes: fat-nine calories; carbohydrates — four calories; protein — four calories; and alcohol — seven calories.

(10) FALSE. Calcium is constantly being used and removed from the body. A common malady of older people, especially women, is osteoporosis — a thinning out of the bone partially due to lack of calcium in the diet.

(11) TRUE. Blood loss during menstruation or a poor diet can lead to a form of anemia.

(12) TRUE. The RDA is the intake level of a nutrient that should insure nutritional adequacy and good health for as large a population as possible, taking into account the effects of some stress and the biochemical differences of humans.

(13) FALSE. The Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Science-National Research Council examines all the scientific data on nutrition and estimates the RDAs for the human population every five years.

(14) TRUE. Milk furnishes 291 milligrams of calcium per cup. The day's need of 800 milligrams would be met with two cups of milk for an adult and from eating the other foods from the four basic groups of foods in amounts recommended.

For example, three slices of bread and one biscuit furnish 99 milligrams. Vegetables such as one-half cup carrots furnish 20 milligrams calcium, one-half cup mashed potatoes 25 grams, one-half cup tomato juice 22 milligrams, and one-half cup spinach 112 milligrams.

(15) TRUE. The vitamin A recommendation is increased to 5000 International Units for pregnant women and to 6000 IUs for the lactating woman.

Vitamin A is essential for maintaining the normal condition of mucous membranes and it functions in the visual process. One of the early symptoms of vitamin A deficiency is impaired dark adaptation — night blindness.

Meet the day's need for vitamin A by eating fruits and vegetables in amounts recommended including one source high in vitamin A. For example, the following foods furnish a total of 5,295 IUs vitamin A: one-half cup broccoli — 1,940 IU; one tomato — 1,110; one-half cup apricots — 2,245 IU; and one potato — trace.

(16) FALSE. At the present time, well-defined scurvy — a vitamin C deficiency disease — is not common in the United States. It occurs chiefly in infants fed diets deficient in ascorbic acid; and from alcoholism, famine and nutritional ignorance.

The functions of vitamin C are not completely known. However, it plays a role in the synthesis of collagen — connective tissue.

FDA finally defines 'low', 'reduced calorie'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is going to assist calorie-conscious consumers who have been frustrated by so-called diet foods that may not help them shed pounds.

The Food and Drug Administration, after 16 years of deliberation, has finally defined "low-calorie" and "reduced-calorie" foods. In a regulation published today, the FDA says it will require diet food producers to meet the definitions or leave their diet claims off the label.

Issuance of the final regulation, which won't take effect until next July 1, climaxes an effort begun in 1962 to set uniform labeling standards for foods that claim to have special dietary value.

The new rule defines a "low-calorie" food as one which contains no more than 40 calories per serving and is lower in calories than the same food normally found on supermarket shelves.

For instance, the agency said celery couldn't be labeled "low-calorie" celery because all celery is low in calories.

Nancy Glick, an FDA spokeswoman, conceded the regulation doesn't define serving size which could leave a loophole for some producers to reduce the serving size on the label rather than the calories. But some segments of the industry, including canners, have set national standards for serving size.

Foods labeled as "reduced-calorie" products must meet an even more specific standard. The FDA said a reduced-calorie food is one with at least one-third fewer calories than a similar product for which it might be substituted. And the label would have to offer the consumer an actual comparison.

Citing another example, the agency said the label of a reduced-calorie can of peaches might say: "Artificially sweetened peaches packed in water, 38 calories per 1/2 cup serving, 62 percent less than Brand X peaches in heavy syrup."

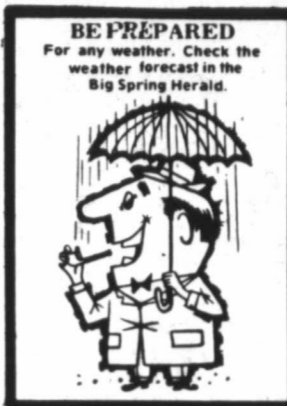

Both low calorie and reduced-calorie foods will be required to carry nutrition information on their labels, including their calorie content per serving and the amounts of protein, carbohydrates and fats.

Roger Coleman, a spokesman for the National Food Processors Association, said the industry's most immediate concern is that the deadline for compliance may create a hardship for canners, whose crop for the coming market year already is or soon will be harvested, processed,

Beauty queen pilot writes game cookbook

BAY CITY, Texas (AP)—One look at Judy Barbour and there are no questions why she won several beauty titles and was a professional model.

One talk with Judy Barbour and there are no questions why she salutatorian of her high school class at Wharton and an "A" student at the University of Houston.

But to see the 5-foot-4-inch, 110-pound beauty doesn't tip you to the fact that she has her commercial pilot's license, is a better-than-average shot with a rifle, a get-your-limit fisherman, and recently wrote a cookbook on how to prepare wild game such as elk, deer, dove, quail, duck, and such.

The book was written, Mrs. Barbour said in a recent interview, for those women whose husbands enjoy hunting and bring home game that ends up in the freezer and shakes there for a year or more.

"I was in the same boat for some time until I decided if my husband wanted to hunt, I had better learn how to cook wild game. I experimented and tried different things. I also learned that the real hunter and sportsman is a conservationist. What they kill, they kill to eat."

"Now I can honestly say my family prefers the wild game to other meats. It is not as fat, has a very small amount of cholesterol and is much better nutritionally," she said.

Judy's husband, Barry, is a Bay City farmer and rancher, a professional hunter, and a partner in a big game outfitters' firm at Jackson, Wyo.

The couple spends half of the year in Texas and six months in Wyoming.

While in Wyoming, Mrs. Barbour does some hunting, a lot of cooking and her share of flying.

Now that she has a commercial license, Mrs. Barbour often is the pilot of a twin-engine plane chartered by outdoorsmen for trips into the western wilds.

"Flying in the mountains of Wyoming is a thrill, especially for someone who was frightened when my husband suggested the first time I take the controls."

"Now I feel at home in the plane and I can say to Barry, 'Move over and let me fly,'" she said.

In her book, entitled "Elegant Elk-Delicious Deer", Mrs. Barbour has compiled all of her cooking experiments, lessons learned from the wives married to other hunters, a few touches of the good life.

For examples, she suggests this menu for the wives of hunters on the day the old boys pack up the guns and head for the hills:

A bottle of wine, avocado halves stuffed with caviar, fresh fruit salad in cantaloup, pheasant or grouse, rice, sourdough French bread and southern pecan pie.

Or for a send-off the hunting husbands try hot wine, elk shish-kebab, zucchini casserole armadine and sand tarts with sherbet.

Mrs. Barbour, who carefully dodges discussions of her age and refers to her two sons "as majors", was asked to describe the martial philosophy of a woman who is an expert cook, a hunter, a deepsea fisherman, a pilot, and so on and so on.

She replied:

"My philosophy is that home life is the most special thing, and that may not set too well with some of those who are outspoken for women's rights. I have my rights and I still want to be special to my family, and fish or fly or hunt or cook.

"Women should be glamorous for their children and their husbands. Their mates should be proud of the wives. When Barry first wanted me to go hunting, I could have said I won't do it. I went and I enjoy it. Now I have found a new way to express myself, in my cookbook.

"I can be Judy the wife, Judy the mother, Judy the daughter-in-law, Judy the volunteer worker, Judy the pilot, and not take away from Judy the person," she said.

Give sewing machine care for better performance

COLLEGE STATION — Proper sewing machine care results in better daily performance and increased machine life.

So, check the needle, clean the machine and keep it oiled, advises Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Correct needle, needle insertion and threading are essential to proper sewing machine operation.

Most sewing machine repair businesses report that inserting the needle backwards, or improperly is the reason for more service calls than any other single factor, the specialist points out.

If in doubt about machine threading and proper needle insertion, check the machine's operating manual.

Not forming a stitch, skipped stitches, needle breaks, needle thread breaks or thread loops are common signs that the needle is inserted or threaded incorrectly.

Before cleaning, unplug the machine, Ms. Culp advises.

The more often the machine is used, the more often it should be cleaned.

Areas needing frequent cleaning are the bobbin area, between the tension discs, thread guides, feed dog and inside the faceplate if it is moveable.

Uneven stitch length may mean lint is packed in the feed dog, she says.

A sluggish or noisy machine means that it needs cleaning and oiling, the specialist continues.

However, some machines no longer require oiling or lubricating, so check the machine manual for instructions and recommendations.

Always use oil specifically made for sewing machines only, she recommends.

Remove excess oil by sewing over scrap fabric until all discoloration is gone.

It's time to speak out about television ads

It's time for concerned parents to speak out about television advertisements aimed at children, a consumer information specialist urges.

The Federal Trade Commission has recently proposed a regulation which would:

(1) Ban TV advertising directed at children too young to understand its selling purpose,

(2) Ban TV advertising of sugared food products most likely to cause tooth decay that is directed to, or seen by, audiences that include a significant proportion of older children, and

(3) require nutrition or health disclosures that will balance TV advertising of other sugared foods directed to, or seen by, a significant proportion of older children.

FTC will receive comments until October 24, 1978. Send these comments to: The Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C. 20580.

A Chance To Make Dying Man Happy

DEAR ABBY: Our 24-year-old daughter, Debbie, has been living in New York for a year. (We live in California.) Debbie is a sensible, educated, single woman who has an excellent position. She's told us that she's romantically involved with John, a 33-year-old professional man. She says he is an outstanding person with fine qualities. They are not engaged, but he's the first man she's ever been serious about. Our only objection to this match is that John is not of our religion.

Debbie phoned to tell us that John's mother called her from Portland, Ore., and offered to pay her air fare there for the weekend to meet John's father, who is dying of cancer. They've never met Debbie, but have spoken to her on the phone often. John's mother said she felt that her husband would die happier knowing that his only son was going with a lovely girl.

Because my husband and I disapprove of our daughter's involvement with a man not of our faith, we told Debbie that we did not want her to go to Portland. Do you think we were wrong?

WONDERING IN WOODSIDE

DEAR WONDERING: Yes. A 24-year-old woman with your daughter's qualifications is capable of making her own decisions (including whom she should marry), and for you to put the kibosh on that trip for any reason was wrong. Whether or not Debbie and John marry, if she can make a dying man happy I think she should go. And I hope she does.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are finally being divorced after 12 years of a very stormy marriage and several separations.

My lawyer instructed me to move out of the house, so I did. The problem is that every time I go to the house to talk to my wife about some matter pertaining to the settlement, one thing leads to another and I end up sleeping there. (With her.)

It's ridiculous the way I go out and move the car so nobody will see it parked in front of the house all night. Aren't we legally married until the divorce decree is final? If so, aren't we entitled to sleep together if we feel like it?

Please don't tell me that if we still want to sleep together we should consider saving our marriage. She is impossible to live with, and she says the same about me, but I must admit sex with her is the best. Do you think we're crazy?

BEING HONEST

DEAR HONEST: No. I think you're wise to recognize that fact that sexual compatibility isn't everything. But if you want to know if you're entitled to marital privileges until your divorce is final, ask your lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: In a courtship between a woman 68 and a man 70, who should offer the first kiss?

Please don't think this is a joke. I am a widow and he is a widower, and we are getting very close to where I will need the answer.

If he should make the first move, should I respond willingly? Or am I the one who should let him know I am not adverse to a romantic relationship? (I'm not, but I don't want to push for it.)

Women used to sit back and let the men make all the overtures, but perhaps women's lib has changed all that. Or has it?

OLDSTERS

DEAR OLDSTERS: If you feel like kissing him, go ahead and kiss him. He'll probably meet you halfway, and beat you to the finish line.

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet: "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (25 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Make plans now for left-at-homes

COLLEGE STATION — Plan simple activities for the child left at home when back-to-school bells ring.

When school age children leave for school, a young child may be left at home, points out Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University Station.

The child left behind might get lonely, want parents to constantly play with him, or will become agitating and pesky because he is bored, she explains.

To help remedy this situation, make some

Layering is school style

COLLEGE STATION — Separates and layering are in vogue for school clothes, says a clothing specialist.

Mix and match separates for a versatile, easy-care wardrobe, Marlene Odle-Kemp suggests.

Skirts and pants team with sweaters, blouses and vests for girls.

Boys like jeans or corduroy pants with shirts and vests.

Ms. Odle-Kemp is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University Station.

Layering of separates provide the warm or cool comfort necessary for those fall-changing school day temperatures.

Lightweight absorbent fabrics — challis, gauze, chintz, gabardine and gingham checks — are favorites in cotton and cotton blends, the specialist continues.

Corduroy or lock-like corduroy give denim a run for popularity in boys pants, she adds.

Hawaiian trip follows Haverland-Walton rite

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wayne Walton are on a wedding trip to Dallas and Hawaii following their marriage at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Calvary Lutheran Church, San Angelo. The Rev. Mark Fetter, pastor of the church, officiated.

Parents of the bride, the former Charlotte D'Anne Haverland, are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haverland, San Angelo, and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Terry Walton, 1709 Morrison.

Each side of the altar was adorned with a spiral candelabrum holding white tapers. Arrangements of pale blue and white carnations, daisies and baby's breath decorated the altar.

Mrs. Billie Smithwick, at the organ, rendered musical selections, and Larry Cox was vocalist.

The bride chose a gown of organza over satin designed and made by her mother. The dress featured a V-yoke edged with an organza ruffle and lace embroidered with seed pearls. The full sleeves of organza were closed at the wrists with hand-beaded lace cuffs, and the full skirt, which was edged in organza ruffles, extended into a chapel-length train. The bride's fingertip-length veil was edged with lace and fell from a hand-beaded Juliet cap.

She carried a bouquet of blue and white silk flowers with satin streamers.

Lisa Haverland, San Angelo, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lillian Heise, San Angelo, and Nancy Walton, Amarillo.

Best man was David Long of Lubbock, and Kit Grice, Big Spring, and Tony Valenzuela, Odessa, were groomsmen. Ushers were Michael Haverland and Joel Fellows, both of San Angelo.

MRS. KENNETH WAYNE WALTON

A reception in the social hall of the church followed the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of blue and white carnations, daisies and baby's breath and her three-tier cake was trimmed with blue and white flowers.

The bride is a graduate of Central High School and is presently employed as a secretary for the Texas A&M

Research Center, San Angelo.

The groom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Angelo State University, and is currently employed as an accountant for General Telephone, San Angelo.

When the couple returns from their wedding trip, they will make their home at 2606 Palo Duro, Apt. 170, San Angelo.

Grocery bill rises $3.40 for four-person family

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average four-person family's grocery bill could rise by as much as $3.40 a week next year if farm prices are stable, but smaller meat and dairy supplies could boost the increase to $6.15 a week, the Agriculture Department's chief economist said today.

That hike would be on top of the $6.21 increase foreseen for 1978 for the typical family whose weekly grocery bill was $62.10 last year. By the end of 1979 then, that family would be spending between $71.71 and $74.46 a week.

Department economist Howard W. Hjort told a House subcommittee that steady farm prices would mean an increase of only 4 percent or 5 percent in retail food prices next year, but private forecasters are predicting a rise of 7 percent to 9 percent.

Food prices this year are expected to average 10 percent above 1977 averages. Most of that occurred in the first five months of the year, Hjort told the economic stabilization subcommittee of the House Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs Committee.

"For the balance of this year," he said, "they (food prices) are expected to hold about steady, barring unusual weather or other events."

The increase was caused mainly by smaller beef supplies, with ranchers attempting to compensate for four years of losses by trimming herds, by weather damage to fruits and vegetables and by a congressional boost in minimum sugar prices, Hjort said.

An increase in farm prices of about 15 percent this year accounts for more than half the 1978 boost, he said.

The costs and profits of food industry middlemen are rising by about 7 percent or 8 percent and account for about 40 percent of the increase, Hjort said.

Those marketing charges account for about two-thirds of what consumers pay for food and have been responsible for 80 percent of retail price hikes since 1973.

Hjort said prices for imported foods and beverages and for fish, expected to be 10 per cent higher than 1977, account for the rest of the bite on consumers' wallets.

In 1979, Hjort said, the major question is whether pork and poultry producers will take up the slack in the meat supply by expanding at the same time that beef producers are cutting back supplies.

Beef prices are certain to rise, he noted, and other meat and dairy prices will go up, too, without greater supplies.
