THE SUN'S OUT — First graders at College Heights were glad to see the sun this morning after nine days of rainfall and cloudy weather, which is highly unusual in West Texas. The school children were glad to get back on the playground.

Democrat Charles Wilson says

Texans hold key to House passage of compromise bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texans hold the key for House passage of the natural gas compromise bill, says Lufkin Democrat Charles Wilson, who suggests that a little political arm twisting may be in order.

House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill Jr. and House majority leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth should "be calling in all the people that should vote for the bill, and make it clear that folks who voted for the bill would be treated a little differently than folks who didn't."

"The speaker's prestige is totally on the line. The president's is totally on the line. And the majority leader is going to be awfully embarrassed if he doesn't get any Texas votes," added Wilson.

The Carter administration-backed compromise, which calls for deregulation of most natural gas by 1985 and gradual price increases in the interim, passed the Senate on Wednesday — as expected — by a 57-42 vote.

"Right now it does not look by any means that it will pass the House," warned Wilson late Wednesday afternoon. "The Republicans are maintaining a pretty solid front...the Northeast liberals are holding pretty firm and we're not getting any significant breakthrough with producing-state Democrats."

An unusual coalition of liberals, who feel the compromise is too much a price for consumers to pay, and conservatives, who feel it doesn't deregulate prices quick enough, hope to defeat the measure when the House votes in mid-October.

Wilson, a member of the House-Senate conference committee that hammered out the compromise, was named earlier this week to a 37-member task force by O'Neill and instructed to drum up support for the compromise.

"My job (on the task force) is to work with the producing-state Democrats," said Wilson. "That includes Colorado and Utah where I'm having some luck. Where I'm having no luck at all is Oklahoma and Louisiana."

Wilson admitted that right now only "six or seven" Texans will line up with the president and the House leadership.

"In the last analysis, when the speaker, majority leader and the president put the full-court press on them, I think we'll get half of the Texas Democrats, maybe more," continued Wilson. "I'll be very disappointed if we don't get 11 or 12."

"But if we don't have more than six or seven, which is what we've got now, then the bill will not pass."

Opponents to the bill can oppose the bill on "ideological grounds, saying it's not deregulation and on practical political grounds, which is really where the opposition comes from, because they don't want Carter to get the credit for resolving the issue," added Wilson.

The House leadership plans to whip the natural gas pricing compromise with three less controversial energy measures and stage one vote on the entire package.

"A lot of congressmen don't want to go before the voters in November without having passed an energy bill," said Wilson who noted that the "ones we're having the problems with are the real idealogues and that argument doesn't carry a lot of weight with them sometimes."

Wilson said he hoped that five "leaning" Texans — whom he refused to name — would be invited to meet with the secretary of the Treasury and the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board to "talk about the international implications of the bill."

Wilson said he believed the oft-repeated White House arguments on behalf of a comprehensive energy bill. Passage of such a measure would improve the dollar abroad and disprove "the general perception in Western Europe and Japan that the U.S. does not have the capacity to come to terms with a divisive regional issue," he said.

Should the measure pass, Texas consumers are "going to have an emotional reward because for the first time in ten years, they're going to be paying the same as everybody else...they'll know the yankees are paying the same that they do which has been a bone of contention for some time."

The intrastate gas market in Texas has supported higher prices, thus producers balked at selling to interstate customers. The compromise would extend federal regulation to the intrastate markets, which will increase prices in most states.

The main Texas opposition to the bill arises from "the emotional opposition to any intrusion in the intrastate market by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission," said Wilson.

Opponents of the bill contend that the increased regulation will drive some small producers out of the business while continuing to raise gas prices as producers pass the cost of additional lawyers and accountants along to consumers.

Gas leak forms cloud near Coahoma

A 15-foot ball of butane or propane gas hung briefly over the northeast section of the county this morning, but by 9:19 a.m. it had dissipated.

First reported by school bus driver Ernest Richter, the cloud was spewing from a gauging station two miles south of Vincent and five miles northeast of Coahoma.

The pipeline belonged to Skelly, and Richter told sheriff's deputies he had contacted their Oklahoma City office to report the leak.

Bobby Schooler, 2611 Carol, was dispatched to the scene by Skelly, and arrived just before Deputy Milton Kirby at 9 a.m. Schooler shut down the station without incident, and the gas cloud, visible because of condensed moisture, dissipated.

The threat of an explosion which would probably have rocked a good part of the county was gone by 9:19 a.m.

Negligence claimed in damage suit filed by boy's parents

A suit has been filed in 118th District Court against John R. Damron, Sand Springs, in connection with the motorcycle accident death of William E. Cass last June 27. The suit was brought by Cass's mother, Mary Ann Jordy, and stepfather.

The accident, which occurred on property allegedly owned by Damron, involved a steel cable strung across a dirt road on the property. There was a caution sign hung on the cable.

Cass, 13, was riding a new 75cc motorcycle on the property north of Midway Rd. The bike apparently struck the cable, throwing and killing the youth.

The suit asks $53,230 in actual damages and future damages in addition.

The suit, filed Tuesday by Richard Milstead, alleged negligence in placing the cable.

Injunctions halt some picketing

Rail strike not hurting Big Spring

The office of the division superintendent for the Missouri Pacific Railroad here reported today that the national rail strike has not affected the Big Spring area at all.

Missouri Pacific is one of five systems in the United States which is not involved in the strike, according to the local spokesman.

A Missouri Pacific yard official in Dallas commented that railroad pickets have gone up, then down, then up again in some parts of Texas this week. "Rumors are a nickel a pound as to what will happen" in an on-again, off-again strike in sympathy for striking railroad clerks, he added.

The local spokesman also said that there has been no by-pass or extra traffic yet due to the washout on the Southern Pacific line at Presidio due to heavy rains.

The Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks resumed picketing at three Dallas-Fort Worth area railroads Wednesday, only hours after the union called off a strike that has crippled the carrier's freight service.

Some union sources speculated the picketing in support of striking Norfolk and Western Railway workers might spread to the Missouri Pacific and Frisco lines, which also serve the Dallas area. Frisco workers struck at 5 a.m. Tuesday, but returned to their jobs within half an hour.

The union, involved in a drawn-out strike against Norfolk and Western in Virginia, asked for help and got it from across the nation as other unions on 43 railroads honored the union's picket lines.

The railroads immediately sought assistance from the courts and were granted an injunction to stop the strike Wednesday.

The strike had crippled most freight operations in Texas and shut down two Amtrak passenger trains.

Late Wednesday, some pickets were still reported in Houston as some were being resumed in the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolplex. Railroad spokesmen said the continued and resumed picketing was likely caused by the logistical problems of serving the court order to union leaders.

Some Amtrak passenger rail service through Dallas, Houston and Laredo remained at a standstill, though service was running between New Orleans and Los Angeles via Houston.

Picket lines were called off at the Missouri-Kansas-Texas, Santa Fe and Cotton Belt railroads about 10 a.m. Wednesday, but resumed about 2 p.m. on orders from the regional union division.

The railroads had received temporary restraining orders from U.S. district courts, but union officials claimed those injunctions are contrary to a decision by Supreme Court Justice Warren Burger.

Some train crews reported to work while pickets were down Wednesday worked 12-hour shifts as allowed by union contract. But as clerks resumed picketing, supervisory personnel resumed operating freight trains.

Loren Simmons, a spokesman for Santa Fe in Dallas, said the railroad had used supervisory personnel to make up about 80 crews Wednesday while pickets were up. He said those crews operated about one-third as many trains as usual.

The Dallas-based Missouri-Kansas-Texas (Katy), the Cotton belt and the Burlington Northern were affected in Texas. The Fort Worth & Denver, Southern Pacific and Missouri Pacific were unaffected.

The Katy obtained a federal court injunction in Kansas City Tuesday but spokesman Jerry Sheridan said it was Wednesday before it was obeyed. The railroad ran at about 30 percent capacity with supervisory personnel, he said.

Frisco line workers were on the job Tuesday but put up pickets Wednesday at Fort Worth, Sherman and Irving. They came down quickly when railroad officials produced a court order.

Tuesday's Amtrak train to Chicago was shut down because it is serviced by Santa Fe, but the New Orleans-Los Angeles route, serviced by Southern Pacific, continued operations.

Amtrak spokesmen said about 15 passengers on the canceled Chicago run were placed on buses.

Industry sources in Houston reported minimal effects from the rail strike, but officials at export grain elevators said a strike of several days' duration could significantly affect operations.

W.W. Martin, traffic manager for General Portland Cement, said cement was shipped by the Missouri Pacific Wednesday from the Dallas plant, but about 30 percent of production was bottled up in Fort Worth, served by the Santa Fe.

Spokesman for two large grocery wholesalers said they do not foresee major problems in using truck transportation if the strike continues.

Focalpoint

Action / reaction: 'Special police'

Q. I've noticed cars bearing the insignia "special police, Big Spring, Texas" racing around town. What kind of police are these and who approved this deal?

A. These are special security police for the Big Spring Industrial Park. They were hired specifically for that purpose by the city, and their authority begins and ends at the park borders.

Police beat Two arsonists 'wanted'

Two men are suspected of dousing a city-owned vacant home with gasoline, and putting a match to it, 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Two units from the Big Spring Fire Department fought two hours to douse the blaze in an empty house on the corner of Nolan and Northeast Seventh. The home was completely gutted by fire, according to a fire department spokesman.

Detective Tony Lujan will investigate the case, and is expected to bring in the two suspects shortly.

Someone towed off a 1970 Cadillac belonging to Aubrey Weaver, 601 Washington, while the car sat on the lot of the Fourth and Gregg Fire Station for repairs. According to reports, someone in a wrecker towed the $900 auto from the lot sometime Monday night.

At another service station, the Shamrock at FM 700 and Birdwell, someone turned on the pumps and loaded up with 116 gallons of regular and 32 gallons of unleaded gasoline. Loss was estimated at $97.50.

Burglars broke into the Auto Super Market, 905 W. 4th, sometime Tuesday night. It is unknown what, if anything, was stolen.

Three mishaps were reported Wednesday.

A parked vehicle belonging to Helen Brown, 202 Circle, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at 200 S. Main, 2:52 p.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to Gail W. Sutphen, 1414 11th, was struck by a vehicle driven by Tena T. Parker, 4201 Dixon, at 300 E. 9th, 5:03 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Donna Walker, 3902 Hamilton, and Vicky Stanley, 1515 Tucson, collided in the parking lot of the Big Spring State Hospital, 5:11 p.m.

'M.A.S.H.' under fire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The "M.A.S.H." cast often comes under "fire" in the hit television series about the Korean War, but a real fire sent them scurrying from the set.

Alan Alda, Mike Farrell, Henry Morgan, Loretta Swit, David Ogden Stiers and Jamie Farr were working on an episode of the CBS series Wednesday when an electrical short apparently sparked a blaze in a wall of the set.

A spokesman for 20th Century-Fox said the fire was put out quickly and little damage was done. One member of the film crew suffered smoke inhalation but was not hospitalized.

Crew members smelled smoke and alerted the cast, studio spokesman Chuck Panama said, and the actors rushed to safety grabbing props and costumes.

Farr, who plays the phony transvestite Cpl. Clinger, said the real hero was an extra, Roy Goldman.

"He saved all my dresses," Farr said.

Midland hikes

MIDLAND — Midland residents will be paying 69 per cent higher rates for garbage collection in the future.

The city council passed such an ordinance here Tuesday.

Monthly fees for residential customers will go from $2.75 to $4 while commercial rates will increase 15 per cent. Apartment rates will be elevated $1 monthly per unit.

Driver's ed course okayed

An approved driver's education course for 15-17 year olds is being offered at Howard College. Enrollment will be on a first come, first served basis.

When students successfully complete the Howard College course they are eligible to apply to the Department of Public Safety for a driver's license test.

The Howard College officials have completed the steps to certify the college to offer an approved Driver's Education class. The course consists of two phases: class construction and laboratory experience.

Course content of 32 hours of classroom instruction, six hours of behind the wheel training, and six hours of observation conforms to the state-approved curriculum. There will only be one class offered this fall.

No more than 35 students will be accepted for membership in this class. Classroom instruction will be held on week nights while the driving portion will run concurrently after school and on weekends.

Enrollment is limited. Call 267-6311, ext. 66 for further information.

Fed rules, inflation blamed for hikes in utility rates

Federal over-regulation and inflation fueled by government spending are responsible for increases in utility rates, Texas Electric Service Company Bill Marquardt said at the 1978 annual dinner honoring members of the firm's Quarter Century Club held at the Big Spring Country Club Wednesday evening.

TESCO employees gaining membership in the club were B.A. Brunson, B.F. Rainey, E.D. Wallace, C.R. Shanks, T.L. Young and A.W. Henry.

Each of the select group was presented with a watch by Marquardt. Entertainment was provided by The Shoppe. J.D. Reddings served as master of ceremonies while C.L. Merritt offered the invocation.

Marquardt, told employees, "Without those two things we wouldn't need this rate increase and wouldn't have needed the last one either."

In his address, Marquardt referred to Big Brown, the company's lignite plant near Fairfield, to illustrate what he termed "runaway inflation."

"We finished building it (the plant) in 1971, just seven years ago. If we started building that very same plant today, it'd cost four times as much by the time we finished it...Now that's ridiculous."

This cost increase has been caused by inflation and "excessive bureaucratic regulations" and these have added unnecessary increases to customers' bills.

"Like, for example, those scrubbers we have to put on. We don't even need them, because lignite doesn't have much sulfur in it in the first place."

Marquardt pointed out that over-regulation of that sort doesn't help customers get better electricity or healthier air. "What it does is keep a bunch of paper-shufflers in Washington employed and force our customer's bills higher."

He then added he would feel "a whole lot better" if the country received the same kind of care that TESCO employees give their customers.

Marquardt praised employees for the excellent job they are doing in a time when it is not easy to work for a utility. He expressed sympathy for the fact that employees must contend with conflicting complaints on matters over which they have no control.

"One group complains because we're burning coal — which is dirtier than gas. Another group turns around and complains because we're burning gas — which is more scarce than coal. And then there are those using scare tactics as we try to build the nuclear plant!"

He added that in addition to helping customers learn how to control their electric bills, employees are helping them understand why rates are going up.

"There's a real simple reason," Marquardt concluded. "As you well know, we are trying to build new plants that will use cheaper and more plentiful lignite and nuclear fuels. That's so we can continue to provide good service and keep people's bills as low as possible."

Israel prepares for Egyptians

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli government began preparations today for peace negotiations with Egypt, its largest Arab foe, after the Israeli Parliament voted by an overwhelming margin to ratify the Camp David accords and withdraw all Jewish settlers from the Sinai peninsula if Egypt makes peace.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin said negotiations could start as early as next week on the peace treaty which he and President Anwar Sadat pledged at Camp David to complete within three months.

Egypt's acting foreign minister, Butros B. Ghali, said in Cairo that Israeli and Egyptian delegations would meet either in Ismailia, on the Suez Canal, or in El Arish, the Sinai capital.

An advance Israeli party was going to Cairo today to re-establish the direct links Egyptian President Anwar Sadat severed in July.

The 120 members of the Knesset, Israel's one-house parliament, put peace with Egypt in exchange for the Sinai settlements to a vote early today following more than 17 hours of emotional debate. The vote of 84-19 with 17 abstentions showed wide acceptance for the two frameworks for peace drafted at Camp David and the peaceful settlement resolution demanded as a condition for further negotiations by Sadat.

Kentucky's fastest is blind

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Larry Crowe is blind but he is on the tandem bicycling team that holds the Kentucky tandem time-trial record.

Crowe, a 27-year-old systems analyst, is the stoker. His pilot is Bob Zeman, an attorney. They completed the 25-mile national time-trial course near Carrollton in 61 minutes two years ago, a state record for tandems.

According to experts, tandem riding around the country is on the rise and the blind are heavily involved because of the opportunity it gives them to stretch their muscle and feel the countryside.

Congress concentrating on minor energy programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional backers pressed for quick action on minor parts of President Carter's energy program today after breaking through the major barrier of natural gas pricing.

Wednesday's 57-42 passage of the natural gas compromise, which calls for deregulation of gas price in 1985, was hailed by Carter as a sign "that we in this government, particularly Congress, can courageously deal with an issue, and one that tests our national will and ability."

Carter originally proposed allowing gas prices to rise through continued regulation instead of decontrol but later endorsed the compromise as the best middle ground that could be achieved. And it was achieved only after months of pushing.

The bill would lift price controls from most natural gas in 1985 and permit the regulated price to double between now and then.

Sponsors say it will cost consumers who heat with Trans Regional hit with suit

Trans Regional Airlines is being sued for $60,000 by Forsan Oil Company in a case involving a stolen airplane.

The suit, filed on behalf of Forsan Oil by Don W. Griffin, alleges the defendant was instructed, in the process of caring for the plaintiff's airplane, to leave the fuel tank empty.

The plane was stolen from the Howard County airport Feb. 22, and, according to the suit, Trans Regional "failed to use ordinary care" to prevent the theft.

In addition, the suit alleges "false, misleading, and deceptive practices" on the part of Trans Regional under the Consumer Protection Act.

It isn't your car, lady!!!!

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Leonard Canning was driving home from a shopping center when she smelled something burning.

She saw a man washing windows, pulled up, jumped out and shouted, "Sir, my car is burning! Can you help me?"

The man took one look. "It isn't your car, lady," he shouted back. "It's yours."

Sure enough, the wooden frame that supported a shoe cast she wore for a fracture in her foot, was smoldering. Apparently, someone's hot cigarette ash had landed on the cast while Mrs. Canning was at the shopping center.

The man doused the fire with window-washing liquid.

natural gas an average of $20 to $25 more a year by 1985 than they would have otherwise paid. But liberal opponents contend homeowners will be hit with increases of $100 to $200 a year because of the measure.

The bill now goes to the House, and although a pitched battle is expected, there, supporters appear to have an edge.

Meanwhile, backers of Carter's five-part energy plan hope to push through as much of it as possible before the scheduled mid-October congressional adjournment — even including some of the plan's long-neglected tax proposals.

The five parts deal with natural gas pricing, industrial coal conversion, energy conservation, electric rate setting and energy taxes.

House-Senate energy negotiators slated today's meeting to wrap up loose ends on the relatively minor energy-conservation and electric-rate sections, sending those bills to the floor of each chamber for final action.

The coal conversion bill, aimed at forcing gas and oil-burning utilities and industries to switch to coal, has already passed the Senate and is awaiting final House action.

In addition, conferees on the fifth part — energy taxes — plan to meet Friday to approve proposed tax credits for home insulation. They may also agree to watered-down versions of taxes on cars with poor fuel economy and on inefficient industrial use of oil and natural gas.

Howard College offering ground school course

A ground school course for private pilots is being offered at Howard College.

Classes will meet on Monday beginning Oct. 2, and will meet for 10 weeks for a total of 20 hours. Class will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the science building room 102.

Homer Rickabaugh, certified flight instructor, will teach the course. Rickabaugh has 30 years of flying experience.

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, students will be eligible to take the (FAA) Federal Aviation Administration ground school test. Concurrently with this course, all students are encouraged to start taking flying lessons. Individual arrangements will have to be made for the flying lessons, since they are not a part of the ground school course.

Cost for the course is $45, which includes all supplies. Anyone interested in enrolling in the course is encouraged to preregister. Registration is in the adult and continuing education office located in the administration building. For more information call 267-6311 extension 66.

Rio Grande reaching flooding stages

The Rio Grande, swollen by recent heavy rainfall and by releases of water from Mexican reservoirs, was expected to crest at Presidio well above flood stage, but perhaps just slightly below the tops of levees.

The flooding was triggered by a combination of heavy rains and releases of water from Mexican reservoirs. The Rio Grande was expected to crest at Presidio late today, forecasters said.

Recent heavy rains in Southwest Texas combined with large releases of water from Mexican reservoirs to send both the Rio Grande and Rio Concho near flood stage. International Boundary and Water Commission employees worked throughout the night placing sandbags along the levees near Presidio where the Rio Grande crest was expected to reach 28 feet. Flood stage at the international bridge is 14.5 feet, but levees provide protection up to 29 feet.

There was good news, however, as the flood water headed downstream. Forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies and no additional rainfall in Southwest Texas.

Conflicting finds result from inquiry

What changes should be made in the income tax forms we must all challenge in the spring, granted we can't get together and vote them out altogether?

A survey, made recently by the Roper Organization, surprisingly showed that many people said the forms were "not very difficult" or "not difficult at all."

PERHAPS IT is to be assumed that those who favored the income tax reports in their present form have figured out ways to have money returned to them by the government.

The General Accounting Office had earlier reported that both the long and short forms are "written at a reading level beyond that of many taxpayers."

One government spokesman, conceding that a group of taxpayers wants no changes made in the present forms, says much could be done to improve them.

That, no doubt, is true. For one thing, some of the stilted language could be replaced with simpler, more understandable instructions.

The IRS people constitute part of a government that seems to take pride in making its documents as unreadable as possible. Not many were meant to be digested by the ordinary man.

Many of us get the shakes anyway, when we sit down to try and make out the tax forms — fearful we will commit that monumental blunder and bring the Feds running.

ROPER WENT to one source, the customers of H & R Block, to collect its information, interviewing 2,007 people. Of that group, 41 per cent said the forms were not very difficult to fill out, while 34 per cent replied they were not difficult at all.

A group of experts, on the other hand, reported to the government that the forms could and should be easier — among them a law professor, some educators and a textbook publisher.

It must have occurred to you how government on the one hand says the forms should be simplified, the public, in effect, suggests "why bother?"

It's likely the government experts felt compelled to propose changes, just for the sake of change, thereby showing they had earned their money.

The Roper people, let it be noted, were surveyed in May. It's possible a large percentage of those people who said the forms were relatively easy were the very ones the IRS had to notify that more work was needed because of blunders committed.

Twice a target

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Anthony John Spilotro, the reputed Mafia lord of Las Vegas, is regarded as one of the coldest, cruelest mobsters in America. These are qualities that have gained him wide influence in the underworld.

As evidence of Spilotro's prominence, he is the focus of two federal investigations. The Internal Revenue Service is trying to nail him on a tax rap and a federal strike force has made him the No. 1 target of an intensive probe of organized crime in Nevada.

THE STRIKE FORCE is attempting to prove a link between Spilotro and Allen Glick, the owner of the Argent Corporation, which operates the Stardust and Fremont casinos in Las Vegas. A secret FBI affidavit, filed in federal court, alleges that Glick is a front for Spilotro, who was dispatched to Las Vegas by the Chicago crime syndicate seven years ago.

The diminutive Spilotro is known in the underworld as "Tony the Ant" because of his physical dimensions. He stands 5-foot-5 in his stocking feet and weighs in at 155 pounds. But what he lacks in size, he makes up in fearsomeness. He has ice-blue eyes, which can chill the blood of an adversary.

Las Vegas is an open city, which means all the Mafia families have hidden interests in its gambling industry — including the Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and New York mobs. But of all the mobsters in town, the major domo is Tony the Ant.

He allegedly controls the Chicago syndicate's undercover assets in Nevada. Federal investigators claim he also oversees Nevada's drug, loans shark, prostitution and other syndicate sidelines.

Spilotro is the model of discretion in his business affairs. He shuns telephones that are listed in his name. He is short on paperwork. Most of the time, he can be found innocently playing gin rummy at a local country club.

But the classier hoods seem to gravitate around him. The dialogue is usually terse, furtive, in low voices. They even appear to discern hidden meanings from the way Spilotro nods his head or shifts his cold eyes.

Spilotro's advancement in organized crime, as he clawed his way to the top, is recorded on police blotters. The first entry is dated Jan. 11, 1955. He was arrested for stealing a shirt from a men's store in River Forest, Ill. For this first recorded offense, he paid a $10 fine.

For the next five years, Spilotro was picked up by police several times on suspicion of burglary. Then curiously, he turned up as an officer of the court. He was appointed an Illinois criminal court bondsman in February, 1960, at the same time that he was whispered to be a syndicate loan collector.

There is even a report from Belgium that he may have had a brief career as an international jewel thief. He was once firmly invited to leave Antwerp after "showing undue interest in a certain jewelry store there."

But federal investigative records allege that murder was to become Spilotro's specialty. As a button man for the late Chicago Mafia boss Felix "Milwaukee Phil" Alderisio, Tony the Ant learned the violent arts. His name surfaced once as a suspect in a shooting and six times in murder cases over the years.

ONLY ONCE did he stand trial for murder. He was acquitted after a strange trial that ended in an FBI investigation of the trial judge. But this is another story that deserves a full telling in a future column.

Footnote: Most Mafia figures remain grimly silent when we call for comment.

Beware infant potassium supplements

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Should I give my baby potassium supplements? I have been told it is vital for them to grow properly, yet my doctor will not let me give any to my child. What is your opinion? — Mrs. O.Y.

You should not give your baby any mineral supplements unless the need has been established. Tests will show a deficiency. In fact, the government has issued a warning about this practice. There have been some unfortunate incidents. I have warned against it in this column over the years, but the warning deserves repetition. An excess of such minerals can be as dangerous as a deficiency. Be suspicious of any simplistic idea such as the need for this or that obscure substance in order to survive. Potassium is needed in minute amounts. There is enough in foods for normal babies.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am terrified. When is surgery needed for hemorrhoids? Why is more conservative treatment not always possible? What causes the pain? My pain is almost unbearable, and I have bleeding. My doctor wants me to have surgery. I have confidence in him, but I'm worried that so much can go wrong. Please, can you help me? — Agitated.

Surgery is needed when hemorrhoids become an intolerable nuisance. You seem to have reached that point if you have pain, frequent bleeding, rectal discharge and external extrusion. Pain is due usually to clotting in the hemorrhoids (veins). They are aggravated by inflammation of surrounding tissue.

I have said that hemorrhoid surgery is not akin to a strawberry social, but it is really not a serious procedure, and seldom disabling. You have confidence in your doctor; that's a good start. Ask him to explain what he will do in surgery. He will put your mind at ease on the matter. The best part about hemorrhoid surgery is the relief most experience after the smoke clears. If you still have specific questions see my booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," which answers most questions I've received on the subject over the years. For a copy, send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My wife, age 53, has had rheumatoid arthritis the past six years. She complains of constant dryness in her mouth. I was wondering if the medicine she is taking for her arthritis (prednisone) or a virus is causing the condition. — K.P.

I doubt a virus or the medicine are causes. The dryness is a feature of the Sjogren's disease, which I discussed in a recent column. It can affect women her age and is often found with arthritis. There is usually an accompanying dryness of the eyes. There is no cure for this, but she could try a mouthwash consisting of 1 per cent methylcellulose, which gives some relief.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes a hormone imbalance? — J.F.

A hormonal imbalance occurs when there is either overproduction or underproduction in a hormone gland. Causes include: enlargement of the gland; tumor or atrophy (shrinking) of the gland.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Your Arthritis," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

All in paint

WASHINGTON — It is not generally known, but one of the things the General Services Administration (GSA) does is train foreign bureaucrats in how to administer the housekeeping chores of their own governments. Now that the multimillion-dollar scandal is breaking in the agency, I keep wondering what some of these foreign government workers learned.

I take you to a GSA office where Amu Tiki has been assigned to study the latest methods used in servicing the U.S. government.

"NOW MR. TIKI, when you take charge of running the housekeeping of your government you will have to lease buildings, see that they are kept up through paint and repairs, purchase and dispense millions of dollars' worth of office equipment, run hundreds of supply stores, handle government transportation, and provide all the services that will keep the bureaucracy running smoothly and efficiently."

"It sounds like a lot of work."
"But it pays well."
"It does?"
"Yes, if you learn it right. Now let me give you an example. You walked through the halls of this building before you came here. Right? What did you notice?"

"They needed paint."
"Of course they did. Now your job would be to paint those walls. How many coats of paint would you say they needed?"
"At least three."
"Good. Now what you would do is give out a contract to paint the halls three times, but the contractor would only paint them once."

"WHAT ABOUT the other two coats of paint?"
"They would go into the pockets of you and your contractor."
"I don't want paint in my pockets."
"Not paint, Mr. Tiki, the cost of the other two coats of paint."
"I see. One coat for the walls, one coat for the contractor and one coat for me."

"You learn fast. Now let's talk about furniture. You don't happen to have a brother-in-law in the office furniture business, do you?"

"No, he grows rice in his paddy."
"Well, put him in the furniture business fast."
"But where would I get the money?"
"From your coat of paint, dummy."
"Hee hee. I forgot about that."
"Now, once he's in the furniture business you will contract him for all your desks and chairs."
"My brother-in-law doesn't know how to make furniture."
"All the better. When it falls apart you'll have to order more."
"Why should I make my brother-in-law rich?"
"Because you'll be a silent partner in the furniture company."
"Hee hee. I'm going to like this job."

"ALL RIGHT, TIKI. The next thing you have to do is open office-supply stores in your government buildings. If your government is like ours, nobody knows how much paper it uses. You order twice the amount of paper that you think you'll need. Then you sell what isn't used to the private sector."

"Wait, suppose somebody finds out?"
"Then you give him some money from your furniture company to keep his mouth shut."
"This is getting complicated. Can I take notes?"
"NO NOTES! Never take any notes. If you want to be in your government's GSA you have to keep everything in your head."
"Please forgive me for wanting to take notes."
"Okay, that's enough for today. We'll talk about leasing space from private landlords tomorrow. Are there any questions?"

"If my President wants his palace painted, do I only use one coat?"
"No, dammit. Presidential palaces always get three coats of paint. The one thing you have to learn in this business is not to be greedy."

Uncommonly awful

Around the rim

James Werrell

What I want to know is what's so common about the common cold? I think it's uncommonly awful!

And I've got one right now (don't get too close to this page, I'd hate to pass it on) so I ought to know.

My theory about the origin of colds is that they hit when you are down-and-out and your immune system is low. I think mine started incubating Sunday a week ago while the Bengals were losing their second game, dirty dishes sat waiting in the sink, the cats finally succeeded in toppling the Wandering Jew from the top of the bookcase, and it started drizzling outside. All at once.

THOSE LITTLE cold viruses coursing through your body wait for just such a time to strike. A voice in your subconscious is saying, "Make the world go away. All I want is a few minutes of unfeeling peace and quiet."

Wham! The cold virus sets in, and in an archaic answer to the desires of your subconscious all the senses are wiped out for a week or two. Forget smelling, tasting, seeing straight, talking or hearing.

It's just nature's way of putting a brown bag over your head. But nature has failed to adjust to the pace of modern man. Even though the Bengals lost a third game, my mood was getting sunshiney, and I was ready to get on with it.

But colds are obstinate. As with boring guests, all you can do is sit back, drink a lot, and wait for them to go away.

Or you can resort to extraordinary measures. I decided to test the infamous Vitamin C cure: its proponents claiming that it will wipe out cancer; its opponents claiming that it results only in expensive urine. With a cold, anything's worth a try. I would risk flushing a couple of bucks worth of Ascorbic Acid.

INTO MY SYSTEM went megadoses of Vitamin C, 10 to 15 tablets at a shot, 10,000 to 15,000 units a day. My stomach felt like what scientists say existed before the world was created: a mass of swirling gases, with intermittent explosions, fusion, and then more explosions.

And through all this my nose continued to run, my ears continued to ring, and my whole head continued to act as an echo chamber. It was time to turn to modern medicine.

Everyone who has ever had a cold has probably resorted to them in a last ditch effort to stay sane: the thousands of multicolored pills, sprays, lozenges, potions, inhalers and capsules. All they do is sublimate the symptoms, and doctors say that they might even cause that mass of gunk in your head to move down to your chest.

But even that feeling a pill gives you, of being held together with chewing gum and baling wire, is preferable to that of an unobstructed cold.

So to all of those who are trying to survive the horrors of an uncommonly bad common cold, I toast you (with a plastic shot-glass full of this green & rupy stuff that is supposed to dry me up and put me to sleep for about 12 hours).

Stop! You're covered!

By MARY CRAWFORD

Librarian, Howard College
That's what I said, Podnuh! Turn around slowly and face the circulation counter. Now reach! For your I.D. card or your membership card to the college library.

Don't have one, huh? If you're a student at Howard College, you have an I.D. card. If you are a resident of Howard County you should have a membership card to the Howard County Library. If you're a resident of the Howard College area, north, south, east or west, you should have a membership card to the Anthony Hunt Library on Howard College Campus.

Oh, you didn't know you could get a membership card to the college library? Did you ever ask anybody?

YOU KNOW all those cards most people carry around — driver's license, credit cards, bank books, private membership cards, how'd ja get those? Did you ask somebody about getting one of those? Bet you did, fella!

Oh — you don't have the kind of schedule that permits time to visit our libraries? Uh huh! Like one out of seven days! That's what I said — between the two libraries we're open seven days! Do you work seven days a week? Most people don't. Do you work every night? Most people don't.

Tell you what — write these schedules down somewhere. Out at the college the library is open Monday through Thursday from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Friday 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Sunday 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. and you are invited, urged, cajoled or nagged — however you want to term it — to become a member of the Anthony Hunt Library.

The Howard County Library has hours of 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Again, you are invited, urged, etc., etc. to become a member of the County Library.

Ever get curious about some subject and want to know more? Want to learn how to build or make something? Does your boss ever ask you to come up with figures or answers that stump you? Ever have to do a research paper?

That's where we come into the picture, pal. Just walk in off the street and ask us for help on your questions — we like it. Librarians are just people — they carry around in their heads a lot of things about books and sources, like some people carry around in their heads ranching and farming data or merchandising or medicine, etc. And everybody likes to ply this trade — so don't ever hesitate to ask for help in a library.

YOU WON'T always get instant answers — some things take a little time to research. So allow yourself that little time — 15 minutes isn't always sufficient time to get answers.

Let's take a few for instances. Say, there's something going on nationally — The Reader's Guide, which indexes eighty-four magazines will give you magazine names, dates and page numbers where that subject has been written about. From our 225 current magazines, 1200 units of microfilm, bound magazines and thousands of single back issues, we can usually help you update your info about any subject area.

And we have science and technology indexes, education indexes, literature, play, essay, book review, poetry and on and on. What is an index? Well, suh, an index is a book that tells you where you can find information, mostly in magazines — on just most any subject.

Ever have a line or phrase from a poem buzz through your head — or think you need a particular poem and can't find it? There's an index called Granger's Index to Poetry and if you know even the first line or a word from the poem or the author or even what the poem is about you can find it. Now ain't that somepin'?

Or you might want to read a review on a book — consider that too — Book Review Digest can get you to magazines that give those reviews.

And a whole lot more! Maybe you think you just don't like libraries! Where else can you get the information to keep up to date but in a resource center?

Where will you find so many of the latest novels, books, magazines? Do you take the Wall Street Journal (a lot of you do) or the New York Times or Facts on File or the Congressional Record or Standard and Poor's?

So get with the times, fella. Be a library member. Go in those places and just look around — learn where things are — browse. We've got you dead to rights — Monday through Sunday. Might as well give up! And come on in!

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have tried and tried to read my Bible, but it just doesn't make much sense. I have given it up. Why do you say it is important to read it? — Mrs. L.B.

DEAR MRS. L.B.: It is important to read the Bible for one reason — it is God's Word, and we need it. In it God tells us about His love for us and how we can become His children through faith in His Son, Jesus Christ. He tells us where we have come from, why we are on the earth and where we are going.

Let me make some suggestions. You will find it helpful to use a good modern version of the Bible. Unlike most books, it is perhaps best not to start at the beginning of the Bible in Genesis. Instead, start with one of the Gospels, which tells us about Jesus Christ. I sometimes tell people that we should start with the center, and the center of the Bible is Jesus Christ.

Start with the Gospel of John. Don't try to read too much each day, and don't concentrate on the things you can't understand fully; concentrate on the things you can understand.

As you read the Gospel of John, ask yourself some questions: Who is Jesus Christ? What do I learn of Him? Is there anything that I should believe or do? You may want to make a list of such things.

Your real problem may be that you have never been born again. The Bible warns us: "The man without the Spirit does not accept the things that come from the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him, and he cannot understand them, because they are spiritually discerned" (1 Corinthians 2:14, New International Version). If this is your case, I urge you to give your life to Christ. Then you may find the Bible a new and thrilling book because now you know the Author personally.

Well digger claims supernatural power

NELIGH, Neb. (AP) — Merritt DeCamp, a well digger, has an edge on others in that business but he doesn't generally talk about it. He is a water witch.

He doesn't talk about it, he says, because too many charlatans have swindled their way through American folklore claiming supernatural powers. Merritt DeCamp, known above all as a man of strictest integrity, wants no part of that heritage.

"I don't know why the stick bends," he said. "I don't know why it works for some and not others. I don't know what it tells about what is under the ground. All I know is that it is consistent."

A water witch, as country people are aware, is a person who can grip a forked willow switch in upturned fists and discover, by watching the tip bend downward, where to dig for water.

In Merritt DeCamp's work-hardened fists, the dipping of the willow is unmistakable, and a bit eerie.

"The best I can deduce — and I'm not claiming this is accurate — is that the stick dips when it is above a gravel formation. Gravel is a water-bearing formation."

He discovered this by walking along a steep riverbank. When the stick dipped, he marked the spot. Then he retraced his path along the riverbed. Sure enough, at every spot he had marked above, he found an outcropping of gravel below.

Merritt DeCamp has never advertised his unusual talent, or boasted about it. Quite the contrary. But it is well known hereabouts, and when a neighbor has asked his help, he has obliged.

"I have never charged a dime," he said, "and I have refused money people try to give me. It would be wrong to take it."

His results have been unerring, and not just locally. On Guadalcanal, he witched a well for the Seabees that far outproduced the Army's two scientifically located wells.

"A friend of mine, Frank McGee, told me he saw somebody get a well that way, by witching. Frank showed me how to cut the stick. We decided to try it and it worked, for me. It didn't work for him."

"I began experimenting. I tried it wearing rubber boots. I tried it under power lines, over concrete. I tried it riding in a car. I tried it with the stick taped to my hands to make sure I wasn't causing it to dip subconsciously."

"I tried it blindfolded. I had people lead me around to see if it dipped in the same places. It did. I still have no answers, except that the laws of physics are violated consistently. The stick dips in some places and not in others."

Fired civilian doctor accuses army of medical negligence

FORT LEE, Va. (AP) — Who was inefficient, the doctor or the Army?

Dr. Ellis Zuckerman, fired as an Army civilian employee on charges of inefficiency, accuses the military of slipshod physical exams that have ruined the health of some servicemen and may have killed others.

The Army, while admitting isolated physicals have not been thorough, says Dr. Ellis Zuckerman has been on a vendetta since he was fired.

Zuckerman has appealed his firing and says it was "inefficiency" — his taking time with physicals — that led him to find what he sees as medical negligence. "They say these are isolated cases, but I picked them right out of my waiting room," Zuckerman said.

The 49-year-old physician said recruiters deliberately falsify physical information to get people into the service; that subsequent physicals are so slipshod many deceptions go undiscovered; and that when they are found, the military often refuses to concede mistakes.

Zuckerman's charges come amid general questioning of recruiting and training practices in the all-volunteer military. His charges were first leveled in a letter several months ago, and he now says publicity over the letter has led other doctors to tell him of similar cases. Among the allegations he lists:

—A recruit died of complications started by an ear infection. His recruitment physical did not show he had a perforated eardrum.

—A recruit died after being discharged when he complained of headaches and dizziness.

—A recruit passed his physical although he had been hurt in an auto accident and one of his legs was noticeably shorter than the other.

Zuckerman was fired this year from his $36,000 job at Kenner Army Hospital at Fort Lee for failing to do enough daily physical exams. He said the quota was 25 and "they would have preferred 50 to 75."

He said he was fired because he would not do less-than-thorough exams and was uncovering mistakes. Military officials deny this.

"I don't think anyone would say to you the Army is not concerned with medical care," says Brig. Gen. Robert Solomon, chief public affairs officer for the Army. Solomon was the one who said Zuckerman, not the Army, had been inefficient.

Asked about falsified records, Solomon said, "There are cases where that has happened. We know of them and we have investigated them." But, he said, the number is small compared to those recruited.

Solomon said he would investigate claims by Zuckerman that at least two soldiers died because of Army refusal to heed medical evidence.

Zuckerman said Warren Kenneth Wolf of Parkersburg, Iowa, had a perforated eardrum in high school that required a skin graft over the drum. Zuckerman said Wolf's doctor wrote the military saying Wolf was unfit for duty and that if the grafted skin layer were perforated it could lead to middle ear infection and serious complications.

Wolf's doctor said the ear could be damaged by loud noise, such as a gunshot, or by exposure to a humid climate. Wolf was drafted, sent to Vietnam in the rainy season in 1971, and developed meningitis-encephalitis, according to his foster mother, Marjorie Wilson.

Wolf later died at an Army hospital, Zuckerman said, and all signs indicate his disease was related to an ear infection.

Zuckerman said a recruit who complained during basic training at Ft. Jackson, S.C., of headaches, vomiting and faintness was discharged as a troublemaker. The youth returned to his Portsmouth, Va., home, had a seizure and died of a brain tumor within days of his discharge.

Zuckerman, a 1954 Medical College of Virginia graduate, was in the Army and in private practice before taking the civilian Army job in 1973. The Army had accused him of unsatisfactory work before, but he won a Civil Service appeal.

Zuckerman, saying his information came from first-hand knowledge, records or parents and servicemen, also made these allegations:

—Steven Ray Mashin of Miami Beach, his legs smashed in an auto accident, virtually deaf in one ear and with one leg noticeably shorter than the other, passed his physical and was in basic training when a doctor at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas saw the problems this summer when Mashin went for treatment of a cold. A military board found him fit for duty and may let him complete basic training.

—A retired colonel who made 491 parachute jumps was found to have a chronic back problem that would have disqualified him from jumping. His condition has so deteriorated that an operation may not help.

—An enlistee who had used drugs was diagnosed as schizoid and unlikely to adjust to the Army. Zuckerman recommended a review board determine whether he should be discharged, but Kenner's commanding officer said his own review found no evidence of instability.

Hint of veto from Carter administration

Billion-dollar bill gets committee approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $23 billion bill that would cut income taxes for 68 million couples or individuals is on its way to the Senate with the endorsement of the Finance Committee and the hint of a veto from the Carter administration.

The administration's disenchantment stems from sizeable cuts in capital gains taxes, which would largely benefit those in the higher income brackets.

The bill, which compares with a $16.3 billion version approved by the House last month, cleared the Finance Committee on a 15-2 vote Wednesday night. Senate debate will begin early next week.

The Senate bill would give larger tax cuts to virtually all classes of taxpayers, including corporations, than the House bill.

Differences between the House version and the final Senate bill would have to be worked out by a conference committee.

The Finance Committee bill would result in a $48 income tax cut next year for a typical single person earning $12,500, compared to a $38 cut in the House bill.

A typical family of four at the $12,500 level would get a $125 cut from the Senate bill and $105 from the House; the $20,000 family, $196 from the Senate and $146 from the House; the $25,000 family, $290 from the Senate and $232 from the House.

All of the examples are based on taxpayers who claim personal deductions of 23 percent.

Taxpayers who itemize deductions would find the widely used deduction for state and local gasoline taxes repealed under both versions in the interest of energy conservation.

Sponsors say the Senate bill would offset for most employees the higher Social Security taxes that will go into effect Jan. 1.

Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., who with other Republicans has pressed for larger tax cuts, assailed the bill as "a banquet for the affluent and the poor but ... leftovers to middle-income Americans."

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., who also voted against the measure, said the bill's deep cuts in capital-gains taxes were too much for him. The reductions would benefit about five million people, with most of the money going to those with incomes above $50,000 a year.

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal had cautioned earlier in the day that the capital-gains cut "would be very, very difficult for him (President Carter) to accept." But he stopped short of saying flatly that he would recommend a veto.

Congressional aides say the individual cuts in the committee bill would benefit 68 million couples or individuals while raising taxes for about 1.2 million, most of them single persons or couples with no children.

The bill would cut individual taxes mainly by widening the tax brackets, thus allowing more income to be taxed at lower rates. It also would replace the current $35-per-person credit and the $750-per-person exemption with a $1,000 exemption per person.

The bracket-widening process would increase the current standard deduction from $2,200 to $2,300 for single persons and from $3,200 to $3,400 for couples. Unmarried heads of household, who generally are widows or divorced women with children, would get a $3,000 standard deduction.

Working families with incomes under $11,000 would qualify for the expanded earned-income credit in the bill. The maximum tax credit for qualifying families, some of which could receive money at tax time rather than having to pay, would be increased from the current $400 to $600.

The committee bill would allow different treatment of capital gains realized from the sale of a person's principal home. But this provision would not be as generous to most as the $100,000 once-a-lifetime exclusion voted by the House. Under the Finance Committee plan, the profit from the first $50,000 of sales price would be tax-free. When the selling price is above $50,000, the tax-free portion would be determined by dividing $50,000 by the sales price and multiplying by the profit.

Capital gains, the profits from sales of assets owned for a year or longer, include stocks and real estate.

Committee prepares pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Assassinations Committee has prepared a bit of pressure in case crime-syndicate boss Santo Trafficante balks at questions about the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Trafficante was to testify today, but committee members thought he might claim protection of the Fifth Amendment, keeping silent on grounds that his testimony might incriminate him.

The committee prepared to meet such a move with a grant of immunity from prosecution, which makes a witness liable to a charge of contempt of Congress if he still refuses to testify.

Trafficante was not granted immunity when he refused to answer questions before the committee during an early stage of its investigation in 1977.

Trafficante, identified by the committee and by law enforcement authorities as a longtime leader of the Mafia's Florida operations, said his "physical condition" prevented his appearing Wednesday afternoon, according to the committee chairman, Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio. Sources said Trafficante apparently has heart trouble.

In the finale of a month of hearings on Kennedy's death in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, the committee hoped to establish whether Trafficante had ties to Jack Ruby, the Dallas nightclub operator who shot and killed Lee Harvey Oswald in the Dallas police station. The Warren Commission concluded Oswald killed Kennedy and neither he nor Ruby was part of a conspiracy.

The committee also planned to ask Trafficante if he played a role in a CIA plot to assassinate Cuban leader Fidel Castro and whether that had anything to do with Kennedy's murder.

Evidence Wednesday identified Trafficante as the man who controlled the Mafia's lucrative gambling interests in Havana until 1959, when Castro came to power, closed down the casinos and deported Trafficante and other Americans involved in their operation.

Evidence Wednesday identified Trafficante as the man who controlled the Mafia's lucrative gambling interests in Havana until 1959, when Castro came to power, closed down the casinos and deported Trafficante and other Americans involved in their operation.

The committee prepared to meet such a move with a grant of immunity from prosecution, which makes a witness liable to a charge of contempt of Congress if he still refuses to testify.

Trafficante was not granted immunity when he refused to answer questions before the committee during an early stage of its investigation in 1977.

Trafficante, identified by the committee and by law enforcement authorities as a longtime leader of the Mafia's Florida operations, said his "physical condition" prevented his appearing Wednesday afternoon, according to the committee chairman, Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio. Sources said Trafficante apparently has heart trouble.

In the finale of a month of hearings on Kennedy's death in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, the committee hoped to establish whether Trafficante had ties to Jack Ruby, the Dallas nightclub operator who shot and killed Lee Harvey Oswald in the Dallas police station. The Warren Commission concluded Oswald killed Kennedy and neither he nor Ruby was part of a conspiracy.

The committee also planned to ask Trafficante if he played a role in a CIA plot to assassinate Cuban leader Fidel Castro and whether that had anything to do with Kennedy's murder.

Local courts busy in August

District and county courts continued to be active through August as the deadlines for speedy trial law dismissals drew closer.

In county court, 100 criminal cases were disposed of during August, lowering the number of cases pending in September from 589 to 541, including the 52 cases filed during the month.

In the dispositions, there were five guilty pleas to driving while intoxicated, 12 dismissals, two failure to appear convictions, and five cases remanded to city or j.p. court. Marijuana dispositions included no guilty pleas, three cases dismissed, and two failure to appear convictions. Other criminal dispositions included three guilty pleas, 11 reduced charges, 11 cases remanded to lower courts, and two failure to appear convictions.

In civil action, nine cases were filed and one disposition handled, bringing the total pending cases to 222 for September. The disposition was a default or agreed judgment.

In district court, the case load gained on the 118th District.

Criminal dispositions numbered 16, to compare with 42 cases filed either through grand jury indictment or by information. Nine of the dispositions were guilty pleas, with five of the pleas coming to burglary charges. Two charges were dismissed, a burglary and a rape, with the defendant being convicted in another case in both instances. Five charges were reduced to misdemeanors and pled in county court.

In civil action, 90 cases were filed and 35 dispositions handled, increasing the pending number of cases to 1,446. Of the dispositions, 23 were divorce cases.

Death penalty ordered 12 times in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Four times within a week, 12 times in the past nine months, juries in the state's largest city have ordered the death penalty in murder cases.

Among those sentenced to die were two teen-agers, a woman, three men in their early 20s. The crimes ranged from the robbery-slaying of a jewelry store owner to the shooting death of the operator of an ice cream parlor to the rape and fatal beating of a young girl. In all of 1977, only six death sentences were handed down in Houston and surrounding Harris County.

"Perhaps we have had recently those types of crimes that jurors feel should be punished by death," District Attorney Carol Vance said. "But I also feel jurors are fed up with violent crimes. A few years ago about 80 percent of the prospective jurors favored the death penalty. Today at least 90 percent believe in execution."

In Texas courts, the jury has the final say in the punishment of those convicted in capital murder cases. The 12 jurors are asked to decide if the defendant could pose a danger to society if ever released from prison. If the answer is yes, then the judge has no alternative but to sentence the person to death.

One woman and 94 men now await death in the state prison system. The last execution in Texas was in 1964.

Dick DeGuerin, a noted defense attorney, lays much of the increase to the concept of a defendant's potential danger to society.

"There are no guidelines as to the evidence that can be used in support of the state's theory that a person is likely to be a continuing threat to society," he said.

"But here we come to those psychiatrists willing to prostitute themselves on the stand and say a defendant will be a continuing threat. A psychiatrist doesn't have any more insight into an individual than any other person."

Mike Ramsey, another prominent criminal defense attorney, said it was possible the increase in death penalties might be due to a coincidence of crimes that left little doubt as to punishment.

"The possibility is there, however, that a conservative reaction is taking place," he added. "It may reflect the mood of the community, anger toward violent crime, a move in favor of stronger law enforcement."

State District Judge Joe Kegans said he had not talked to any jurors but he believes the increase is from a backlash against criminals.

"People are fed up with the large number of violent crimes such as the person who goes in and robs a store and then kills the clerk or a witness. People are just fed up," he said.

Ben Chambers is a 48-year-old data processor who recently served on a jury that decided William Prince Davis, 21, should die for the killing of Richard Lang, 60, the manager of an ice cream company.

Powell is convicted

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — David Lee Powell, portrayed by his lawyers and psychiatrist as a "model boy" with a genius IQ who degenerated into a "speed" pusher, has been convicted of the AK-47 slaying of Patrolman Ralph Ablanedo.

The seven-woman, five-man jury who convicted Powell of capital murder Wednesday returns today to hear evidence on whether his punishment should be life imprisonment or death.

If jurors find the slaying was unprovoked and deliberate and that Powell, wagner to society, the death penalty would be automatic.

Powell, 27, took the guilty verdict with no sign of emotion, but his mother sobbed loudly after State District Judge Tom Blackwell read it and while his clerk polled the jury.

Jurors rejected psychiatric testimony that Powell was a paranoid schizophrenic, beset by delusions, who imagined himself in a "Vietnam-style fire fight" when he shot Ablanedo.

"The battle is not over. ... If I have to sell my house and everything I own, we are going to defend David down every possible avenue," said Powell's aunt, Frida Milone of Dallas.

Ablanedo, 26, stopped Powell's car about 12:40 a.m. on May 18 for a routine traffic violation. He received word on his radio that Powell might be wanted for petty theft. He apparently was about to arrest Powell when a burst of automatic rifle fire shattered the rear window of Powell's red Mustang and tore through Ablanedo's "bullet-proof" vest.

Powell was arrested about six hours later, hiding under a bush on the nearby campus of Travis High School.

The AK-47, a 7.62mm weapon that operates like a machine gun when set on full automatic, is a standard weapon of Iron Curtain armies. Sources said Powell bought it on the black market in Killeen, near Fort Hood.

Wedding shower honors Mrs. Kenneth Froman

Mrs. Kenneth Froman, formerly Layne Stallings, was the honoree of a wedding shower held Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Clarence Peters, 802 Highland.

Additional hostesses were Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Mrs. John R. Coffee, Mrs. Ralph Caton, Mrs. Jack Cathey Sr., Mrs. Jack Cathey Jr., Mrs. John Fort, Mrs. Spencer Wolfe and Mrs. S.P. Brooks.

Corsages of silk flowers in the bride's wedding colors of apricot and white were presented to the bride and to the mothers of the couple, Mrs. Louis Stallings and

Mrs. Kenneth Froman Sr.

The hostesses also presented the new Mrs. Froman with a casserole pan from her cookware selection.

Hors d'oeuvres, mints and nuts were served with apricot punch from a table centered with a spider fern plant in a silver compote. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

The event was attended by about 45 well-wishers.

Following their recent marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Froman are making their home in the Tubb Addition of Big Spring.

Clubhouse

Clean house for Friends

Friends of Howard County Family Services Center hosted a salad luncheon as their fall membership drive event at noon, Sept. 15.

Presiding over the business portion of the meeting was Susan Lewis, president. Other officers are Charlene Birdwell, vice president, and Leslie Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

Results of the Tour of Homes, sponsored by Friends last spring, were revealed and it was announced that proceeds would be presented to the Family Services Center.

The group discussed plans for more fund-raising events and it was decided that Friends will conduct a garage sale Nov. 4 and 5.

All proceeds will go to the Family Services Center which depends mainly on contributions to help individuals and families in the community. An announcement will be made at a later date where items may be donated.

Friends will meet again at 9:30 a.m., Oct. 19, at the Conference Room of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Anyone interested in finding out more about the organization is welcome to attend.

Women told their rights

At the recent meeting of the American Association of University Women members were enlightened by an interesting program on "Women's Rights" presented by Glynna Mouton, Big Spring attorney.

Mrs. Mouton expressed women's rights in relation to Texas community property laws, ownership of properties, divorce, child support, the value of a will, and women's rights in obtaining credit.

The American Association of University Women is a national association with the purpose of uniting college and university graduates to foster high standards of education and intellectual growth, to serve society and to further the advancement of women.

Newly elected officers of the Big Spring chapter of AAUW are Mable Beene, president; Frances Wheat, first vice president and program chairman; Leta Wiley, second vice president and membership chairman; Sandra Killough, third vice president and publicity chairman; Martha Fierro, recording secretary; Linda Settle, corresponding secretary and Linda Mason, treasurer.

The 1978-79 theme of AAUW is "Women as Agents of Change". During the year, meeting programs will include such topics as fashion changes, foreign foods, city government, stocks and investments, nutrition and diet trends, and women in literature.

The Big Spring chapter meets the third Monday of each month. Special "day" or "night" studies are also conducted by group members. Anyone interested in becoming a member of AAUW is invited to contact one of the officers for more information.

Library adds 'Texas Women'

The Modern Woman's Forum assembled for its first meeting of the year on Sept. 22 at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. B.M. Keese.

The meeting was in the form of a coffee in celebration of the club's 50th anniversary. The Golden Anniversary theme was reflected in the coffee service and napkins. A gold flower arrangement and gold horn adorned the serving table.

The Club Collect was repeated in unison and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by the president, Mrs. Bert Affleck.

She gave the president's greeting and outlined some of the items that the club has been asked to deal with this year, such as the American economic system and inflation as the nation's number one problem. She announced that the group will study the federation's role in enterprise and economy.

The club will also assist children with learning difficulties under the SHARE program. They will also include the Veteran's Volunteer Service in this year's projects.

Work will be continued with the Hands Up program, M.D. Anderson's Hospital, public affairs, family living, conservation, energy, and international affairs and policies.

The club's theme for the new year is "Coordination in Diversity."

Yearbooks were presented by Mrs. Woody Smith. She also read the Membership Pledge.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker, federation counselor, reported that the newly installed TFWC president Mrs. H.B. Bratton had announced an extension to the present library housed in the headquarters at Austin. The new addition will be known as "Texas Women" and will consist of books written by or about women of Texas.

Several members are planning to attend the Western District Fall Board Meeting which takes place Oct. 13-14 at Anderson. Mrs. Cass Hill attended the TFWC board meeting in Austin Sept. 25-27.

A program on "Arts for Handicapped Children" was presented by Mrs. W.E. Singleton. She said that about six million Americans are mentally retarded and 85 percent of them are children. As children, she said, they can be taught to function effectively, but only if the teaching is begun early.

In addition to retardation, about 88 percent suffer from additional handicaps, such as poor hearing, eye sight and speech. Mrs. Singleton pointed out that Public Law 94-142 requires an individualized educational plan for these youngsters and since it is a federal plan, the states are required to comply.

Big Spring Schools, she said, are already working on this and are in the process of changing and improvising the courses offered the handicapped.

A mentally retarded youngster, for example, would not be guided to algebra, but would be encouraged to take courses that would enhance his or her economic usefulness and place in community life.

Mrs. Singleton displayed samples of work done in Dorothy Humphries art class. When interviewed by Mrs. Singleton, the Big Spring teacher said that her main objective is to train the children to be able to handle a job by the time their education is completed.

Elra Phillips was welcomed by the Forum as a new member.

The next meeting will be Oct. 12 at the home of Mrs. T.G. Adams, 507 Johnson.

Alpha Kappa plans party

Alpha Kappa Omicron met Sept. 26 at the home of Cynthia Zertuche.

After the Opening Ritual, Carole Lowstetter and Donna Newell received their Ritual of Jewels.

Jan Sims gave the members a surprise test of the by-laws and rules and regulations of the chapter to go along with her program on "Learning to Learn".

Paula Gilmore was selected Chapter Sweetheart and will be presented at the Valentine Ball on Feb. 10.

A rush party will be held Oct. 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

Plans were made for several functions in October including a salad supper for City Council on Oct. 5 at 7:00 p.m.; a model meeting for rushes on Oct. 10; the Arts and Crafts Fair booth which will be manned by chapter members on the weekend of Oct. 21; and a couples progressive dinner to be held Oct. 21.

Ross Stukel was welcomed as a visitor. Carole Lowstetter won the hostess gift. The Closing Ritual was recited and afterwards, refreshments were served.

The next regular meeting will be Oct. 10 at the home of Ceil Bedell.

Lodge slates social night

Noble Grand June Wiggins presided at the 7:30 p.m. Sept. 26 meeting of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284. The meeting was held at the I.O.O.F. Hall with 16 members and 10 past noble grands in attendance.

Members reported 16 visits to the sick.

The group's fifth Saturday Night Social is slated for Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. All members are invited to attend the potluck supper and cake auction.

Chances were taken for the weekly gift and the winner was Jewel Thompson. Mrs. Thompson also received a certificate of perfection in unwritten work by Lodge Deputy Marion Savell.

Birthday Night for everyone celebrating October birthdays will be Oct. 3.

Counseling Solved Her Serious Problem

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman who had been married 15 years, had two kids and problems with her sex life (no kisses, and sex once every three months for 10 minutes) could have been written by me.

I did what you advised her to do. Got counseling. It was especially embarrassing for me because my husband is a psychologist who does family counseling.

I went to a mental health clinic and the doctor there was considerate and understanding. He ordered complete physical checkups for the whole family. We were then referred to an endocrinologist who examined us further and discovered that both my husband and I had low blood sugar—or hypoglycemia. Worse yet, our child was found to have diabetes!

The doctor told us to go home and throw everything out of the house that had sugar in it. We learned a lot about nutrition, and now we are doing well on whole grains, fresh fruits and vegetables, plenty of protein and very little fat. We feel better, have more energy and couldn't be happier.

ABBY FAN

DEAR FAN: The search for solutions to life's problems should always start with a physical examination. Unfortunately, most people take better care of their automobiles than their bodies.

Let this serve as a reminder to call your physician for a thorough check-up. Teeth, too! And when did you last have your eyes and hearing checked?

DEAR ABBY: I need your advice. My husband and I have had some pretty heated arguments about drop-in company. I do not like to have people drop in on me. I feel that a call ahead of time is not asking too much. My husband feels that I should be all smiles and play the gracious hostess no matter who drops in—or when.

I work full-time and must do my laundry and housecleaning on weekends. When I'm in the middle of my work, hot and sweaty and looking a mess, if friends drop in uninvited, I'm not about to put on a phony smile and pretend I am thrilled to have company. I'm steamed! And I guess it's obvious.

I wouldn't dream of dropping in on my friends, and I think they owe me the same courtesy.

What do you think?

HATES DROP-INS

DEAR HATES: I'm with you.

DEAR ABBY: I am an adult woman living alone. For the last two weeks I've been frightened by obscene phone calls. They're always at night.

At first, when I answered the phone, no one would speak, but I could hear this heavy breathing—then an awful outpouring of filthy language would begin. I hang up as soon as I know it's this party, but he keeps calling back. Lately I've been taking my phone off the hook until morning, but I dislike doing that because I could be missing some important calls.

What is the best way to handle obscene phone calls, Abby?

JOLIET, ILL.

DEAR JOLIET: If the caller says nothing, hang up! If the caller uses foul language—don't listen, cut him off. If the calls persist, notify the police department and the telephone company. And it wouldn't hurt to keep a police whistle by the phone. The next time he calls, use it to blast him into the next county!

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters For All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Medical ID cards save lives

By JANET ROGERS
County Extension Agent

A medical identification card could save a life.

In emergencies, a medical "ID" card can speak for the patients who cannot tell doctors about special needs or problems.

People who need a medical "ID" card are those with certain diseases or drug allergies and those who take medicine regularly—along with those who have any other problems that might affect medical treatment.

To prepare a medical "ID" card, make clear, direct notes about needs or problems.

Among diseases that require notes on a medical "ID" card are diabetes, asthma, epilepsy and heart or kidney disease.

For example, if a person is diabetic, that note is necessary, because of the possible need for insulin in case of injury. Also, an insulin reaction can be mistaken for drunkenness and result in improper medical attention.

Any severe allergies need a note, especially those caused by certain drugs.

For example, penicillin and sedatives often are used in emergency situations. If a victim is allergic to these drugs, the treatment might cause more problems than the original emergency.

Also, write down known allergies to various insect stings, such as bees. These require immediate action and include the date of the last tetanus immunization—and whether or not the person is allergic to tetanus anti-toxin.

Notes about medicines taken regularly are important for two reasons.

First, lack of this medicine may cause serious problems, such as for persons who

Pre-schoolers are notorious for their abbreviated attention spans and subsequent "what'll we do now's"? Give a creative twist to their activities with a non-cooking "cooking" easy project that's entertaining, easy for everyone involved and educational to boot.

With a little assistance youngsters can "cook" their own snacks, a proud effort on their part that can awaken an interest in foods. It also

'Hottest' new cookbook features chili recipes

"Chili-Lovers' Cook Book," the "hottest" recipe book of the year, has just been issued by Golden West Publishers.

This unique three-in-one cook book presents three sections of recipes: chili without beans, chili with beans, and dishes made with green chile peppers and chile products.

Many of the recipes were prizewinners in recent chili cook-offs. Chili chefs in Arizona, California, Colorado, Illinois, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, Ohio, Texas and Washington have provided the bulk of the recipes.

United States Senators and Congressmen who share their personal recipes include Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Sen. Pete V. Domenici of New Mexico, Sen. Harrison Schmitt of New Mexico, Sen. John Tower of Texas, Rep. Eldon Rudd of Arizona, Rep. Bob Wilson of California, Rep. Lindy (Mrs. Hale) Boggs of Louisiana, Rep. J.J. Pickle and Rep. Kika de la Garza of Texas.

Some of the more esoteric recipes are Bowl of Fire, Buzzard's Breath Chili, Butcher's Best Chili, Bite-the-Bullet Chili, Hog-Heaven Chili, Fiesta Chili, Prospector's Chili, Mucker's Chili, Rio Grande Chili, and Truck Stop Chili.

In the "Recipes with Chiles" section, are such novelties as Carne Enchilada, Chile Cheese Puffs, Chili Paste, Drunken Beans, Green Chile Grits, Hot Pepper Jelly, Jalapeno Cornbread, Peppy Pecan Balls, and Red Chile Apple Pie.

With its plastic binding (permitting the pages to lie flat), easy-to-read type (ingredients are printed in boldface, capital letters), glossy, easy-to-clean cover, and background information, the "Chili-Lovers' Cook Book" is a practical recipe book as well offers a chance to learn some basic nutrition when the recipes contain healthful foods.

Our pre-schoolers' recipes and snack ideas are brimming with nourishment. They're made with fresh Florida citrus, nature's finest source of vitamin C, as well as other essential nutrients.

Citrus Surprise Pops are simple treats made with grapefruit and orange juices frozen in paper or plastic cups. When partially frozen insert the "surprise," a banana chunk, and the popsicle stick. That's a job small hands can manage with ease.

It's fun for pre-schoolers to crush vanilla wafers for No-Bake Orange Balls, to separate citrus sections to make "smiles," or to create funny faces on slices of whole, fresh oranges. And it's nice for mother to know that her growing youngsters are eating foods that really count.

CITRUS SURPRISE POPS

2 cups Florida orange juice
2 cups Florida grapefruit juice

1 banana, cut in 12 slices
Combine orange and grapefruit juices in 1-quart measure. Fill 12 3-ounce paper or plastic cups half-way with juice and place in freezer. When partially frozen, place piece of banana in center and insert popsicle stick through banana slice. Carefully fill cups with remaining juice, allowing ¼-inch space at top. Return to freezer; freeze until firm. To serve, push up on bottom of cup until popsicle comes out.

YIELD: 12 popsicles.
Note: Fresh strawberries, pineapple chunks or pieces of melon may be used.

NO-BAKE ORANGE BALLS

1 package (7 ¼ ounces) vanilla wafers, finely crushed
¾ cup grated coconut

CITRUS SURPRISE POPS and Orange Funny Faces can delight little ones, especially when they've done the "cooking."

½ cup Florida frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed, undiluted

Confectioners' sugar
To crush wafers, place between two pieces of waxed paper and roll with a rolling pin. Combine wafer crumbs, coconut and orange juice concentrate in bowl, mix well. Shape into 1-inch balls. Place on jelly roll pan, chill several hours. Roll in confectioners' sugar before serving them.

YIELD: About 36 cookies.
FRESH FLORIDA SNACKING DELIGHTS FLORIDA ORANGE SMILES

Cut whole orange in half vertically (stem to stem); cut each half into thirds. Separate ends of sections, fruit from skin, for about ¼ inch, leaving the rest of the skin intact.

ORANGE FUNNY FACES
Slice whole orange (with skin) horizontally, into ¼-inch thick rounds. Decorate with raisins, miniature marshmallows, cherries, and pieces of fresh vegetables.

Monster Toast makes breakfast irresistible to school children

The elementary school years are a time of great activity and excitement for children. It's also the time when youngsters are most likely to dash out of the house without breakfast — unless, of course, that morning meal is too interesting to pass up.

How do you encourage children to eat a nutritious breakfast? Intrigue them with fascinating recipe ideas they can prepare themselves. That way, they'll get the nutrients scientists say are essential to top performance in the classroom "in the most delightful way," as Mary Poppins would say.

No youngster could resist an invitation to make Monster Toast. The beguiling ogres are shaped from slices of bread with cookie cutters, dunked in the sparkling flavor of Florida orange juice concentrate and baked golden and crispy in a low-temperature oven. Sprinkled with cinnamon, they make tasty eating and keep breakfast time relaxed and enjoyable.

Painter's Toast is an even quicker suggestion for children anxious to rush off to school. Browned in the toaster, the bread is "painted" with a mixture of orange juice concentrate and melted butter or margarine, spiked with sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. The proud young chef will gobble it up.

All children love sweet-tasting drinks. Give them the green light to use the blender and let them concoct the super-nutritious Sunshine Wake-Up Drink. This shake-like liquid breakfast can even be made with a rotary beater if you're not on hand to supervise their use of electrical equipment. (Good news for working moms who have to leave before the children do.) And since Sunshine Wake-Up Drink is made with vitamin C-rich Florida orange juice, a whole egg and just a touch of honey, you'll rest assured the youngsters are fortified for a productive morning in the classroom.

MONSTER TOAST

NO MORE NAGGING the children to get up in time to eat breakfast. They'll be in the kitchen before you making their own Monster Toast and Sunshine Wake-Up Drink.

1 loaf sliced bread
1 can (6 ounces) Florida frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed, undiluted
Cinnamon

With cookie cutters, cut monster shapes out of bread slices. Or, make a paper pattern and cut out monsters with kitchen scissors. Dip each cut-out into concentrated orange juice, place on a cookie sheet. Bake in a 250 Degrees F. oven until lightly toasted, about 20 minutes. Sprinkle with cinnamon, if desired.

PAINTER'S TOAST
1/4 cup Florida frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed, undiluted
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
12 slices toasted bread
Mix all ingredients together in small bowl except bread. With pastry brush, "paint" orange mixture onto toasted bread slices.

YIELD: 12 slices of toast.
SUNSHINE WAKE-UP DRINK
3 cups Florida orange juice
1 egg
2 tablespoons honey
Dash of nutmeg
Combine all ingredients in 5-cup blender container; process at high speed 30 seconds. Or, combine ingredients in medium bowl; beat with rotary beater until well blended.
YIELD: 4 servings.

Government finances expansion

Head Start needs more students

By EILEEN McGUIRE
Family News Editor

"We need more Head Start students," Dr. Steve Morgan, director of the Lakeview Head Start program told the Head Start Parent Advisory Committee (PAC) Tuesday night.

Despite the rain, a large number of parents turned out for the first PAC meeting of the year which took place in the Lakeview School gymnasium. Dr. Morgan complimented them on their interest and urged them to spread the word about Head Start throughout the community.

He explained that in the winter of 1977, the federal government which finances the Head Start program had allocated funds for expanding existing programs.

"What this means to Big Spring is that we now have the funding for 215 Head Start students instead of 200," Morgan said. "But we only have 176 students currently enrolled."

"Unless we get an additional 39 students, the extra funding will be sent back. We'd rather see it used to benefit Big Spring children."

Morgan added that if the 215 student goal is achieved, the school will also qualify to add another teacher to the staff.

Parents of children, ages 3 1/2 to 5, are urged to look into the program which gives pre-schoolers a head start on their education.

Morgan introduced to the parents Head Start teachers and aides as well as a new school nurse, Gloria Jordan. Ms. Jordan reported that 100 children have already undergone a dental examination, which is another way that Head Start benefits the pre-school child. The health program, she explained, provides children with both medical and dental examinations.

She announced that the children who were found to have dental problems will now have the problems corrected through Head Start's health program.

She added that volunteers are badly needed to help with the health program and suggested that volunteering would be an excellent opportunity for someone anticipating a career dealing with children to get some first-hand experience.

Frances Patters is the Volunteer Coordinator.

To boost PAC attendance, Morgan announced that beginning with the next meeting, there would be a room count and the room with the highest percentage of attending parents would be treated to ice cream the next day.

"I hope that all of the rooms tie with 100 percent attendance," he said.

An election of PAC officers was conducted. Elected were Jennie Clark, president; outgoing president Josephine Sarmiento, vice president; Christina Hilaro, secretary; and Carla Gates, treasurer.

A Headstart Policy Committee, composed of two parents from each room who had been nominated by the teachers, was introduced.

Goals for the year were outlined by Morgan. As part of Head Start's overall goal to meet the needs of the children, the school's completing its project of new playground equipment for the children. The Form Fitness equipment has been approved and ordered and Morgan hopes to have it installed after Christmas. The school also plans to enclose the play yard.

The second goal is to institute a successful fundraising project which will be discussed at the next meeting.

The tentative meeting agenda for the year is Oct. 9, Nov. 21, Dec. 19, Jan. 22, Feb. 13, March 15, April 10 and May 22. All parents of Head Start children are urged to attend throughout the year in order to have a voice in their children's education. Children may accompany their parents.

Following the meeting, parents were given the opportunity to meet their children's teachers.

Winners named for drawings

The American Agriculture Movement has announced winners of several drawings held in conjunction with its "Sew It With Cotton" Contest which took place during Howard County Fair Week.

A purse was won by Helen Euddy and a television donated by the movement was won by D.E. Coates. Chances for the drawings were sold by the "Sew It With Cotton" Committee.

A sheet cake raffled on Saturday night was bought by the Custom Ag Service. Both agricultural groups express appreciation to all who participated in the cake and coffee event Saturday evening.

Teen wants diet to lose weight

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I am a 15-year-old girl, about 5 feet tall and I don't even weigh 90 pounds!

I have a checkup every year and there's nothing wrong with me. It's just that I'm so thin. My arms and legs are so bony!

Could you please give me a diet to gain weight. Thanks.—Bones, York, Pa.

Bones: Simply stated, teens fall in three body types — slender, medium and large. Needless to say, you are in the slender type.

Really, there is little you can do to gain a lot of weight, no matter how much you eat. As you grow older, you will "fill out."

Dr. Wallace: I am an older guy who has been dating a 17-year-old girl. I would like to share with your readers a male point of view regarding this type of relationship.

I dated a girl 17 and things seemed fine for a while. I took her everywhere her heart desired and treated her like a queen.

She asked me to do a lot of favors for her and her family, and I usually did them. We talked about engagement and marriage and I got pretty serious.

Once I mentioned that, I got dumped. You see there are a lot of girls who split when things get tight, and guys can get hurt in this type of arrangement, too, regardless how old the guy is.

Thanks for allowing me to share my thoughts on this subject.—J.M., Colorado Springs, Colo.

J.M.: Thanks for letting us hear your side of this. This is just another reason why guys should date girls more close to their own age.

But let's face it, since the beginning of time girls have been dumping guys, regardless of the ages involved.

Dr. Wallace: My history teacher was a 33-year-old divorced man who has a daughter aged 13. Last May I graduated from high school and on graduation night this teacher gave me two hugs and asked me if I would keep in touch with him.

I promised him I would, but when my mother found out about this she was furious. Since he is a divorced man, my mother thinks he will invite me to his house for fun and games. I like this teacher and have no intention of ever doing anything like that.

Do you think I should keep in contact with this teacher? —Margaret, Palm Springs, Calif.

Margaret: I think that your mother is overly concerned. Being a high school graduate, you are capable of deciding if this teacher is really interested in your welfare or is just playing games.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper.

Farm It's Smokey Threat or Gray Bar Sun

The two judges weren't quite in agreement on whether Smokey Threat or Gray Bar Sun was the best gelding in the Howard County Fair Horse Show, but they did agree that the two should be first and second.

Cullen Robinson of Bryan was the youth horse show judge, while Tommy Everitt of Big Lake judged the open and adult divisions.

Christi Taylor is the owner of both geldings, and she watched as Robinson placed Smokey Threat as the grand champion youth gelding, and Gray Bar Sun as the reserve youth gelding. Then, in the open competition, Everitt placed Gray Bar Sun as the grand champion and Smokey Threat the reserve.

Grand champion youth mare was Miss Dixie Diamond, a registered mare

Co-op Gin stages annual business meet

The Co-op Gin of Big Spring held its annual membership dinner and business meeting Tuesday evening at the Brass Nail.

Jerrold Walker and R.E. Haney were elected to the board of directors, replacing Raymond Stallings and M.C. Denton, whose terms expired. Directors whose terms did not expire are Bob Wegner, Jr., Robert C. Nichols, Oliver Nichols, Jr., James Barr and James Fryar.

J.W. Borders, manager of the Rolling Plains Cooperative Compress reported to the gin on the status of the Compress and on the financial status of Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, the marketing organization for the member gins.

Bob Bickley with the West Texas Cooperative Oil Mill also reported to the gin the status of the mill, and Joe Hayes, of the Thomas and Love Auditing firm in Tahoka presented the financial audit.

Big Spring Co-op Gin Manager Billy Bryant also reported to the group. According to Bryant, the gin made a seed rebate of $6 per ton or $2.40 per bale to producers in July. In addition, the gin will be paying a $10 per bale cash dividend to the producer-stockholders.

Grand champion steer exhibited by Brooks

Reagan Brooks exhibited the grand champion steer in the Howard County Fair Steer Show Saturday.

Brooks, a member of the Howard County 4-H, won with a lightweight Exotic Cross steer.

Reserve champion was also an Exotic Cross, the top steer in the heavyweight division of that class. It was exhibited by Cole Hunt, also of the Howard County 4-H.

In the American and British Cross breeds, champion steer was exhibited by Walton Stone of the Martin County 4-H. Reserve champion of the breed was shown by Bobby Connor, Midland Lee FFA'er.

YHT Week recognition

Young Homemakers of Texas designated Sept. 17-23 as YHT Week in recognition of this week, the Four County Chapter presented each of the Ackerly and Knott Churches with a red carnation. The flower was chosen by YHT to signify their organization.

The FCYH also had a booth at the Howard County Fair. On display there was a pair of ceramic giraffes and a Chessie latch hook rug which were made by members of the YH chapter. Chances were sold and the drawing was made Saturday night. Mrs. O.B. Gaskins of Knott won the rug, and Mrs. Lola Myers of Ackerly won the giraffes.

Due to the busy schedule the chapter had during September, one meeting was canceled. The next meeting will be Oct. 19 at 8 p.m. at the Sands Home Economics Room. The program "How to keep good mental health" will be brought by Dr. Lee Butler, Ph.D.

GARAGE SALE PROPRIETOR — Ronnie Passmore, a local Seven-Eleven manager, came up with the idea of an ongoing garage sale to help the Muscular Dystrophy effort. The sale, which ran weekends for a month, netted $3,000. Passmore says he'll do it again next year.

Store exec, wife raise $3,000 to fight MD

A local Seven-Eleven manager and his wife took the plea of the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation seriously, and raised over $3,000 to aid the charity.

Ronnie and Linda Passmore, 3706 Dixon, organized and set up a garage sale which ran from August 5th to Sept. 4.

They, with the help of Jim and Carol Thomas, Bill and Ann Land, and Larry and Debbie Steen, collected donations from across the county and resold them through the old Seven-Eleven store at Birdwell and 700, now owned by Murphy and Rochester.

"I felt we needed to do something," said Ronnie. "And this seemed like the best idea we had."

"The last weekend was our best. We cleared $1,200. But I want to thank all the people, not just the shoppers, but the ones who donated things as well."

The garage sale was open Saturdays and Sundays. It was successful enough that Passmore is encouraged to try it again next year.

"I thought it went real well," he added. "The kids with muscular dystrophy will think it went just fine, too."

Conquering desert, security drew Jews to Sinai Desert

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Dreams of conquering the desert and the desire to bolster Israel's security drew several thousand Jews to what they thought would be permanent homes in the Sinai Desert.

"I always wanted to be a pioneer," one American immigrant told a visitor in 1974 to Yamit, on the Mediterranean coast.

The 11-year-old adventure came to a bitter halt early today when Israel's parliament voted to dismantle the 18 Jewish settlements in the Sinai and return the peninsula to Egypt to make an even greater dream come true — a peace treaty with Israel's most powerful Arab foe.

The first Jewish settlers went to Sinai in the summer of 1967, shortly after Israel captured the peninsula in the Six-Day War. They were agricultural soldiers who guarded the land and started cultivation.

The first civilians went in 1970, pioneers to further government plans to make the northern Sinai an integral part of Israel. Most of the settlement effort was concentrated in a sandy strip called the Rafah Salient, Moshe Dayan's pet project when he was defense minister.

Dayan's planners envisioned Yamit as a thriving port with a population of

Few flunk basic science test

Texas med fight feared

AUSTIN — Fearing a fight between doctors and chiropractors, some Legislative Budget Board members want to reverse an early decision that would cut off funding of the Board of Examiners in the Basic Sciences.

The basic sciences board is a product of a fight between the two professions 30 years ago. Doctors wanted to get rid of naturopaths — who practiced in ways not taught in medical school — but also argued that chiropractors' training wasn't sufficient.

Chiropractors said they shouldn't be picked on — that everyone should be tested. Legislators set up a chiropractic board, plus the basic science board to give sort of a test for a test. Anyone wanting to take the state medical test or chiropractic test had to pass the basic science test or get a waiver.

Naturopaths succumbed quickly; but chiropractors adapted so well that some doctors became disillusioned with the basic science board. Most students get waivers by showing prior class work, and few who take the basic science test flunk it. Many doctors still fear, however, that chiropractic training quality in the basic sciences would drop if the board is abolished.

The LBB staff says the legislature could require basic sciences testing by the chiropractic and medical examination boards. Only Texas and South Dakota use two separate tests.

Staff members say a separate testing level makes little sense today. Most legislators probably agree, but they also would rather leave things be than to stir up the chiropractors or the doctors or both.

The Legislative Budget Board — made up of the lieutenant governor, House speaker, four senators and four representatives — is a powerful body because it sets the tone for state spending.

When the board met last week, several members complained that they got copies of staff recommendations at the start of the meeting that left insufficient time for study, they said.

The staff promised to mail the information several days before meetings from now on. Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan, who will be dean of the Senate next year, said the state could save postage on him. "I get too much to read now," he said.

House Speaker Billy Clayton got unexpected support recently for his attack on tenure for university professors.

The University of Texas at Austin has lost three black professors in three months. One departing educator criticized the school's minority hiring practices and tenure system.

He said tenure protects white professors who have been around for years and holds down the number of jobs available to minority teachers.

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association is campaigning for the "Texas Tax Relief Amendment" that will be on the Nov. 7 election ballot.

Critics say the amendment gives an unfair tax break to agricultural and timber land owners. Not so, say the sheep and goat raisers.

"The 'big break' given producers is that their land now will be taxed according to what it can produce, not what some developer might be willing to pay to turn it into a jungle of condominiums, tennis courts of high-priced shopping boutiques," the association's latest newsletter says.

Plane crashes near Laredo

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — Authorities have completed the grisly task of recovering and identifying the bodies of seven Dallas-Fort Worth area ironworkers killed when their small private plane crashed north of here Saturday on the way to a Mexican shopping expedition.

The pilot and owner of the plane was identified as Connie Bowman, 35, of Fort Worth, according to a Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman. The other victims were identified as Mike Bates, 28, of Dallas; James Hodges, 30, of Fort Worth; Richard Booth, 20, of Dallas; A.J. Stroup, 22, of Dallas; Dale Whittaker, 21, of Ennis; and David Barton, 37, of Euless.

A Webb County Sheriff's Department spokesman said the twin-engine Aero Commander crashed into

Jackson, Hunter lead Yankees; Red Sox hang tough

By the Associated Press

One game — it could have been the loss to Cleveland in April, Toronto in May, Oakland in June, Minnesota in July or Seattle in August. Reverse the outcome in any of those games, and the Boston Red Sox would be in much better shape today.

They have been one game behind the New York Yankees in the American League East since Saturday and each day that one game looms larger.

Boston beat Detroit 5-2 Wednesday night, while the Yankees were defeating Toronto 5-1, so the Red Sox are still running, albeit running in place.

"This is the tightest race I've been in," said Reggie Jackson, who played for three straight world championship teams at Oakland. "I don't like it."

Elsewhere in the AL, one day after Kansas City won its third straight West title, the Royals lost to Seattle 4-2;

Baltimore dunned Cleveland 3-1; Texas thumped Minnesota 10-5 and California beat Milwaukee 4-1.

Red Sox 5, Tigers 2

The Red Sox, helped by a three-run first inning keyed by Carlton Fisk's two-run triple, posted their fourth consecutive victory and eighth in the last 10 games. Scott, fighting a seasonlong slump, knocked in a pair of runs with a single and his 12th homer of the year. Luis Tiant, 12-8, allowed homers by Rusty Staub and Ron LeFlore before leaving after six innings because of a slight muscle pull behind his left knee.

Yankees 5, Blue Jays 1

Jackson and his old Oakland teammate Catfish Hunter helped reduce the Yankees' magic number to four in pursuit of their third straight division flag. Hunter, 12-5, won his ninth game in the last 10 decisions with a six-hitter. He gave up his usual homer, this one to Roy Howell, who committed a key error in the Yankees' three-run second inning.

Orioles 3, Indians 1

Dennis Martinez pitched in and out of trouble all game, giving up 10 hits and four walks. He stranded five runners in the first three innings but threw the right pitch at the right time to raise his record to 15-11.

Mariners 4, Royals 2

Ruppert Jones slashed a worrun triple, highlighting a three-run ninth inning that rallied Seattle over Kansas City and prevented Paul Splittorff from gaining his 20th victory.

MEDICAL MARVEL HUNTER — Jim "Catfish" Hunter follows through on a ninth inning pitch against the Toronto Blue Jays at Yankee Stadium Wednesday night. The Cat won 5-1 to bring his record to 12-5 including nine victories in his last 10 decisions. Hunter, who must take an insulin shot before the game and bathes his arm in ice afterward, seemed finished three months ago, but the team doctor worked on the arm and Hunter has made a miraculous recovery.

Falcon All-Pro Humphrey retires

ATLANTA (AP) — Shocked Atlanta Falcons players set about regrouping today after learning their three-time All-Pro teammate, defensive end Claude

(AP WIREPHOTO)

RETIRE — Defensive end Claude Humphrey's, a three-time National Football League All-Pro selection, shocked the Atlanta Falcons Wednesday by announcing his retirement. Humphrey, 34, said, in a hastily called news conference that he didn't feel he was playing up to his own personal standard.

Humphrey, is retiring from football.

The 34-year-old Humphrey, a 10-year veteran, announced his retirement Wednesday, saying, "The time has come."

The Falcons, 1-3, are already reeling from the losses through injuries for the season of wide receiver Alfred Jenkins and safety Ray Easterling.

"We've got to live with it," said five-year veteran Jeff Yeates, who will take Humphrey's place in the lineup. "It took me by complete surprise, but I've got to prepare the same as I do for all the games."

"I just hope it's what he wants," said defensive tackle Jim Bailey. "I just hope he can look back in two weeks and say he did it and he's glad. We'll certainly miss having him around. It's a shock I'm just starting to become aware of it."

"He's going out with style and class," said team owner Rankin Smith, adding that no other Falcon will wear Humphrey's No. 87. "He's hanging it up. Notice I didn't say quit, because Claude Humphrey has never been a quitter."

"It has nothing to do with the team," Humphrey said.

"It's me. I just couldn't get myself ready to play. It is just something that must come in every man's life, and I thought this was the time for me."

"I've always been a person who went on emotion and impulses," he said. "I hope I'm doing the right thing. I don't feel I've played up to my particular standard of play. I don't want to be the one that's doing bad and messing up."

Humphrey's standard was particularly high. Drafted No. 1 by the Falcons from Tennessee State in 1968, he was the National Football League defensive rookie of the year. He was All-Pro in 1971, 1972 and 1973 and played in the Pro Bowl five times. Out for the entire 1975 season with an ankle injury, he came back in 1976 to set a personal record of 18 quarterback sacks.

TEAM WORK — Detroit Tigers shortstop Alan Trammell plants his foot on second base to force Boston Red Sox's George Scott out in the sixth inning Wednesday at Fenway. Tigers second baseman Lou Whitaker tossed a grounder by Jack Brohamer to Trammell for the out to retire the sides. Sox won 5-2.

BSHS girls top Abilene

The BSHS girls' volleyball team opened district play with an impressive 15-3, 15-11 victory over the Abilene Eagles.

The Steers, led by Penny Ray, Debbie Wiggins and Sherry Byrd, easily decided the Eagles in the first set. The second set was much closer, with Abilene only one point behind at 12-11, but Big Spring reeled off the next three points to end the night.

Ray was high point girl with eight points, with Wiggins adding seven. The Steers are now 1-0 in district and 4-3 on the year. Abilene is now 0-1 and 3-6.

In junior varsity action, the Big Spring girls' scored an easy 15-4, 15-0 victory. Jackie Roach led the JVers with 11 points, followed by Polly Puerfoy with six.

Both squads return to action tonight in Midland. JV action is slated at 6:00, with varsity hitting the floor immediately after.

The Steer freshmen were also victorious in recent action. Both the A and B team defeated Garden City. A team score was 15-9, 15-4. B team score was 15-4, 15-9.

Phillies reduce magic number

By the Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates have won 22 games in a row at their home park, Three Rivers Stadium. If they don't stretch the streak to 26, they can forget about winning the National League East title — and the Philadelphia Phillies will be division champions for the third straight year.

The Phillies, leading the NL East by 3½ games, and the Pirates, in second place, begin a crucial four-game series at Pittsburgh Friday night with a double-header. They play single games Saturday and Sunday.

Philadelphia needs only one victory to capture the championship. However, if the Pirates sweep the series, they would be one-half game ahead of the Phillies and would have to play a makeup game against Cincinnati Monday.

A victory in that game would make the Pirates champions. A loss would deadlock them with Philadelphia and the two teams would meet in a one-game showdown.

Should Pittsburgh win all four games against Philadelphia over the weekend, they would equal the longest home winning streak in major league history — 26 games by the 1916 New York Giants.

In other NL games Wednesday, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3, the San Francisco Giants blanked the San Diego Padres 1-0 and the Houston Astros dunned the Atlanta Braves 4-0.

Phillies 5, Expos 4

Jerry Martin broke a 0-for-12 slump with four hits, drove in one run and scored another, helping the Phillies beat Montreal and reducing their magic number for clinching to two.

Angelo St. ranked No. 1

By the Associated Press
Angelo State University, 3-0, moved into the top spot in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' Division I as last week's leader, Abilene Christian, dropped to eighth position.
ACC suffered its first loss of the season Saturday at Cameron State of Oklahoma.
Meanwhile, Southwest Texas State tied Elon and the University of Wisconsin at Eau Claire, all 2-0, for 12th. East Texas State, 2-1, ranked 18th and Texas A&I, 1-2, was 20th.
In NAAIA's Division II, Tarleton State ranked fifth with 3-0 and McMurry College tied Chadron State, both 2-0-1, at eighth.
Kilgore Junior College claimed fifth place in the national junior college football rankings. Tyler Junior College was listed at ninth position and Ranger Junior College was 11th.

Dallas signs Smith

DALLAS (AP) — Former St. Louis Cardinal all-pro Jackie Smith, 11th on the National Football League's all-time receiving list, signed with the Dallas Cowboys to replace injured tight end Jay Saldi.
Saldi suffered a broken arm against the Cardinals Sunday and will likely be lost for the entire season.
The Cowboys will not have to compensate the Cardinals for Smith, who became a free agent prior to this season after playing for St. Louis for 15 years. Terms of the contract with the Cowboys were not disclosed.
Smith is expected to report to the Cowboys immediately and is expected to be ready to play in next Monday's crucial game against the Washington Redskins.

Kenon leads Spurs win

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Larry Kenon tossed in 35 points to lead the San Antonio Spurs to a 123-107 National Basketball Association exhibition victory Wednesday night.
The Spurs led by a thin 55-52 margin at the half, but outscored the Suns in the first nine minutes of the third quarter, 22-9. By the start of the final quarter, San Antonio was ahead 99-78.
Fifteen of Kenon's points came during the Spurs' third-quarter scoring outburst.
San Antonio's preseason record rose to 3-0 with the win, while Phoenix dropped to 1-3.
George Gervin, Louie Dampier and Frankie Sanders contributed 14 points each for the Spurs.
Alvin Adams led Phoenix with 21 points. Bayard Forrest added 13 and Paul Westphal had 12.
Almost 8,000 fans turned out for the game at the University of Texas Super Drum.

Tennis results

ATLANTA — No. 2-seed Chris Evert advanced to the quarter-finals of the $100,000 Atlanta Women Tennis Classic with a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Sharon Walsh.
She will face unseeded Zenda Liess, who upset No. 7 Virginia Ruzici of Romania 6-4, 6-6, 7-6.
In other second-round matches, No. 5 seed Betty Stove of The Netherlands defeated Australian Lesley Hunt 6-3, 1-6, 6-0; fourth-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia beat Lea Antonopolis 2-6, 6-2, 6-2; Julie Anthony ousted Liana Kloss 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 and Carrie Meyer defeated Dana Gilbert 6-7, 6-0, 6-0.
SAN FRANCISCO — Australian Allan Stone upset Brian Gottfried and Kim Warwick surprised Arthur Ashe in the first round of the $175,000 men's open tennis tournament at the Cow Palace.

Judge creates controversy

NEW YORK — U.S. District Judge Constance Baker Motley has denied the New York Yankees and Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who asked that she temporarily suspend her earlier order admitting women reporters to Yankee Stadium locker rooms.
Attorney Jesse Climenko said the appeal was lodged because Kuhn regarded the admitting female reporters to locker rooms where men are undressing as "inimicable, by his standards, to the welfare of organized baseball."

FOOTBALL SEASON'S BACK: SO IS JOE — Star quarterback Joe Namath, who usually appears on television screens every year at this time, is back this fall in a different role. Instead of leading the New York Jets or L.A. Rams, he's appearing as Joe Casey, a high school history teacher and basketball coach in an NBC-TV comedy series "The Waverly Wonders." Here he is shown in a scene with Gwynne Gilford, who plays the school's principal.

Mizzou guns for No. 1 OU

By the Associated Press
The No. 1 ranking in college football is like being top gun in one of those old wild west movies. There's always some young punk around eager to bump you off.
Missouri is more than a young punk. This is the team that took on national champion Notre Dame in the opening game and won. Then it tackled top-ranked Alabama and led into the third period. Then it beat a good Mississippi team.
Now it goes gunning for No. 1 again, this time Oklahoma, drunk from heavy point-a-minute wins. Third time may be charm for the Big Mo.
The Southern Cal upset of Alabama featured last week's look into the crystal ball. Season's record 77-24, .762.
Missouri 33, Oklahoma 25: The Tigers are unawed by the Sooners' TD machine, which has ground out 153 points in three games.
Arkansas 30, Tulsa 7: The Razorbacks, eyeing the No. 1 spot, won't need Ismael Ordonez' talented toe to win this one.
Southern California 24, Michigan State 14 (Friday): Charlie White's legs should be sore but he'll still soar.
Notre Dame 28, Purdue 20: A vital game for the Fighting Irish, who will be hanging on by their fingernails to escape utter disaster.
Penn State 35, Texas Christian 13: The Nittany Lions uphold the pride of the effete East.
UCLA 20, Minnesota 14: Even should the Gophers plug up Rick Bashore's passing lanes, there's always Theotis Brown.
Pittsburgh 20, North Carolina 17: Pat's Willie Marsh has three interceptions this year. Do the Tar Heels want to try for four?
Texas 27, Texas Tech 3: How do you score if you can't see the goal line? The Longhorns lead the country in defense.
Alabama 25, Vanderbilt 7:

World Series of Golf Watson eyes sweep

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tom Watson is seeking an accomplishment unique in Tour history this week in the prestigious World Series of Golf, the last major event on the year's schedule.
Watson, the heir apparent to Jack Nicklaus' longtime role as golf's leading performer, last season swept three major honors — Player of the Year, leading money-winner and the Vardon Trophy for the low-stroke average on the tour.
Coming into the event that began today on the sprawling, 7,180-yard, par-70 South Course at the Firestone Country Club, Watson again led in all three categories. Should he win them all again, he'd be the first man ever to sweep all three in consecutive seasons.
"I'm not a specific, goal-oriented person," Watson said. "But I'd like to win the Vardon Trophy. That's important. That's the standard. Basically, over the years, we've played the same courses, so the stroke average means something."
And, as to the money-winning title, Watson grinned: "You win the Vardon Trophy, baby, and you're going to win some money."
And he's done that. He has collected $343,429 this season and very well could break Johnny Miller's 1974 single-season record of $353,021. A finish of fifth or better here would do it. The World Series of Golf purse is $300,000 with the game's biggest prize, $100,000, going to the winner.
His only challengers for money-winning honors are Andy Bean ($258,440 this year) and Nicklaus ($249,772). Either would have to win and have Watson play poorly to have any chance of catching him.
And Nicklaus appears the only challenger for Player-of-the-Year honors. Watson has won five times in this country, including his last two starts. No one else has won more than three American tournaments. Nicklaus has won three plus the British Open and would have to take this one to have a chance.
That's very possible. Nicklaus has an unmatched history of success on this course. He won the first World Series played under its present, expanded format. He won four of the old, four-man World Series. He won the American Golf Classic here and the PGA national championship. In all, he's taken more than one-half million dollars in winnings from events on this course alone.
Watson's greatest threat is in the Vardon standings. He holds a 70.17 average in 89 rounds. Lee Trevino is second at 70.20 in 95 rounds.

If Clements elected governor

Mexican-Americans will benefit eventually

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Mexican-Americans will eventually benefit if Republican Bill Clements is elected governor, says La Raza Unida gubernatorial candidate Mario Compean, who vows he'll get enough votes to swing November's election to Clements.

"I believe there is a strong chance (Democrat John) Hill will not be elected and Texas will have a Republican governor," Compean, 38, one of the founders of the Mexican-American political party, told reporters Wednesday.

"The election of a Republican means that from now on, the Democrats and no one else will be able to take the Mexican-American vote for granted," he added. "Because the Democratic Party has been in office too long, there hasn't been enough competition."

"It's not my goal to elect Mr. Clements, but if that happens, it's the next best thing to my being elected." Compean has a campaign war chest of only $30,000 and virtually no television exposure, but he vowed he would garner 10 percent of the vote. That's enough, he said, to decide a close race between Clements and Attorney General Hill, both of whom are mounting expensive campaigns.

Ramsey Muniz got about 6 percent of the vote in 1972 and more than 5 percent in 1974 during the height of the party's popularity. He is now serving a federal prison sentence after being convicted of smuggling marijuana.

Compean called upon Mexican-Americans and labor union members to reject Hill, calling Hill "the same old-type gringo Democrat." He charged, "John Hill is a hypocrite and he has misled the public." "Mr. Hill cannot change the fact that he is a false pretender who wants to be governor on the strength of a sell-out labor leadership and the chicanery of those opportunistic Mexican-American Democrats who see him as their passport to some state appointment," Compean said.

Compean said Hill has "lied" to Mexican-Americans by assuring them he is concerned about alleged police brutality, while refusing to support a new Civil Rights Act.

The attorney general, Compean said, has also told leaders he is sensitive to Mexican-American poor while refusing to support collective bargaining rights for Mexican-American farmworkers.

Compean said he had had no contact with the Clements campaign. Raza Unida, usually confined to South Texas, is picking up new strength in West Texas, especially in the Lubbock and Pecos areas, said Compean.

PUC suggests a lower rate than requested

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Lighting & Power Co. should be allowed to hike its rates, but only by $41 million a year instead of the $175 million annually it requested, the Public Utility Commission staff recommended Tuesday.

The staff recommendations filed late Tuesday in Austin said the utility shouldn't be allowed as high a rate of return as it wants.

The commission staff also said the firm shouldn't be allowed to include in its rate base as much of its construction work in progress as it wants.

These recommendations will be considered with all others filed in the case when the three-man hearing begins public hearings on the utility's rate increase request set to begin next Tuesday.

Retirement counseling available

Members of Teachers Retirement System who plan to retire in 1979 may schedule an individual meeting with a TRS retirement counselor at one of 22 locations across the state this year.

San Angelo area TRS members may schedule meetings with counselors to be held at La Quinta Inn, San Angelo, Oct. 26 and 27. Deadline for scheduling an appointment is Oct. 4.

Counselors will have a complete retirement estimate for each member at the meeting and will be able to discuss the retirement options available and application procedures.

The area counseling program, which began with nine locations in 1975, places individual retirement counseling close to every TRS member.

Jetliner crash kills ad exec

DALLAS (AP) — A former resident of suburban Carrollton, Texas, was among the 141 persons killed Monday when a Pacific Southwest Airlines jetliner crashed in San Diego.

Robert Hood Cheney III, 31, moved to Los Angeles about two years ago after leaving the Dallas advertising company he had founded, Hood Cheney and Associates.

Cheney was working as an advertising executive for Daily and Associates of Los Angeles. His father, Robert Hood Cheney Jr. of Carrollton, said his son was on the commuter flight Monday for a business trip.

Cheney was a 1969 graduate of Southern Methodist University and an organizer of the Texas Young Republicans.

Survivors include his parents; a sister, Mrs. Curtis Mathes of Dallas; and a grandmother, Mrs. R. Hood Cheney of Corsicana, Texas.

Neiman-Marcus offers different kind of vault

DALLAS (AP) - Neiman-Marcus, the Dallas department store for customers who have everything, is now offering a suggestion concerning what to do with it.

The big gift heralded in this year's Christmas catalogue is a pair of his-and-her underground storage vaults, but not the kind you'd expect to visit frequently. They are located deep within the heart of a 9,000-foot granite mountain in Utah's Wasatch Range in a 150-foot long cavern where the temperature and humidity remain constant.

Besides its natural protection, there is a system of surveillance, closed circuit and hair-triggered alarms - all powered by water-fall-generated electricity.

Operated by Omniwest Corp., the cavern is primarily a permanent storage site for the records of some of the country's leading corporations. However, Neiman-Marcus acquired three his-and-hers security units, each 700 cubic feet in size and subdivided into separate 350 cubic-foot areas.

"One may store here, with impunity and far from all uninvited eyes, the originals of oils you'd hate to lose, the real jewelry, a very rare vintage Bordeaux, a golden ingot or two, or the originals of the personal records without which we all would be lost - indeed, keep anything here that is not spontaneously combustible," the store's Christmas book says.

But you can't buy them. Instead, each of the three natural safety deposit boxes is available for a 50-year lease.

The price: $90,000 for the full term.

If that's not practical for you, a mere $600 will buy N-M's exclusive replica of the Monopoly Game - in chocolate - which "could be the greatest finale to a dinner party ever conceived."

"From board to dice, each and every part is made of delectable and completely edible candy: dark chocolate, milk chocolate, butter cream and butterscotch."

Ridin' fence

It's a nutty year

with Marj Carpenter

That's what Tom Stevenson says. If you like pecans, 13 in one cluster is lucky. He has two mature pecan trees in his yard out at the intersection of Hilltop Road and the Snyder Highway.

Stevenson and his neighbor, Jim Harper, said they had never seen pecans clustered like that out here in West Texas, and the pecans had also matured early. One of them was already trying to sprout, and Stevenson plans to use that particular nut to grow another pecan tree.

Harper has worked some with greenhouses and done work with pecan trees and he said the cluster was highly unusual.

Most of the tree had clusters of six, which are also more than usual in this part of the world.

"Maybe pecan trees like it to be hot and dry in the summer and wet in September," Stevenson laughed. He couldn't find any other reason for the cluster.

A lot of residents have pecan trees in their yards with some of them several decades old. Stevenson said that his trees were ten years old.

While on the subject of trees, I thought I would also mention that the annual Aspencade tours, and arts and crafts fair are planned for the Cloudercroft Octoberfest to be held at Cloudercroft, N.M. on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 7 and 8.

That small mountain village enjoys the beauty of the turning of the leaves each year and many visitors usually visit that weekend. On Oct. 7, the festivities open with a guided foliage tour by vintage cars, leaving the chamber building in the center of town on Highway 82 at 10 a.m., and 1 and 3 p.m.

The arts and crafts fair is in the downtown park and a dance is scheduled that evening at the Village firehall with music by Sunburst, admission only $2. While on the subject of trees, the elms around town continue to look sick. There is a book coming out that claims that elms all around the world are suddenly dying of the same disease and that all trees will be gone by the year 2020 unless we learn to control tree diseases.

That fact and bit of information is wrong, I hope. Thinking of a world without trees really is bleak. Even No Trees now has trees.

Think on that — no shade — no scenic beauty of trees — no longer — no pecans or walnuts or other nuts — no oranges or apples or grapefruit or bananas. Just the thought of no trees leaves you bleak. I hope some scientific expert comes up with the answer to that problem.

And in the meantime, it's a nutty year in Big Spring — where there are 13 pecans in a cluster — out on Hilltop Road where I have sometimes been seen ridin' fence.
