RIG WRECK — Prentis Harris, 35, of Cross Plains, was critically injured Tuesday afternoon when the truck in which he was riding turned over sideways on SH87. Ambulance attendants, State Trooper Glenn Redmon and Alicia Gamboa, a passer-by trained in first aid, are shown in lower photo, helping the injured man. He suffered severe leg lacerations and fractures. The rig, shown in top photo, is owned by Twin Drilling Company of Rising Star.

Trucker driver seriously injured

By MARJ CARPENTER
Prentis Harris, 35, of Cross Plains, was critically injured Tuesday afternoon when a truck pulling a rig went out of control and overturned just south of the Forsan cutoff.

Roland Atwood was driving the truck pulling the Twin Drilling Rig from Rising Star when it overturned. Harris was riding in the cab.

A third man, Wesley Leon Kanady was riding outside on the back of the rig but was thrown clear.

Harris is in the intensive care unit at Malone-Hogan Hospital suffering from multiple fractures and contusions but no internal injuries. The most severe laceration was on his upper right leg, which was badly severed.

The rig had been obtained in an auction at Sand Springs according to one report and was being returned to Rising Star. Kanady, 22, who was riding on the back of the rig, reported that a station wagon crowded them off the highway and kept going.

A company member was driving a car in front of the rig as they went south on the highway.

One passer-by, Alicia Gamboa, stopped and helped with first aid and until the arrival of the ambulance when Harris was transported to Malone-Hogan.

Glenn Redmon, of the Texas Department of Public Safety, was investigating trooper at the accident.

Fees record posted by county clerk

County Clerk Margaret Ray announced today that the county clerk's office had collected a record amount of fees during the past fiscal year.

Total funds collected reached $86,160.43 but that total does not include court fees. The previous record was set in the 76-77 fiscal year when the clerk's office collected $60,983.62.

Two significant reasons for the jump in funds, according to Mrs. Ray, were the increase in legal documents filed and the state-mandated increase in recording fees. An additional 1,113 documents were filed during the past year. In recording fees alone, the sums collected jumped from $24,611.35 to $45,140.25.

Assistance was obtained from a yard in Sand Springs, in addition to a wrecker service to clear the highway.

A volunteer county fire truck also sprayed the highway where diesel spilled out of the rig truck.

Sheriff's deputies assisted in directing traffic around the accident Tuesday afternoon close to 2:30 p.m.

PAYS HOMAGE — Eduardo Cardinal Pironio from Argentina pays last homage to late Pope John Paul I, lying in state inside St. Peter's Basilica today, few hours before the funeral ceremony.

Pope John Paul's funeral marks nine days of mourning

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church bid farewell today to Pope John Paul I, the "smiling pontiff" who reigned only 34 days.

In the sadness and joy of ancient liturgy, the cardinals jointly celebrated the funeral Mass on the broad marble steps of St. Peter's Basilica, just as they celebrated the requiem for Paul VI on Aug. 12, and with John Paul, concelebrated his inaugural Mass on Sept. 3.

The funeral marked the beginning of nine days of official mourning. On the 10th day, cardinals will be sequestered in secrecy in the Sistine Chapel to elect John Paul's successor.

Tens of thousands jammed the vast cobblestone square for the funeral, and the Mass was televised to millions more on a worldwide hookup.

The body of Pope John Paul, who died of a heart attack Thursday at the age of 65, lay in a plain cypress coffin, his head facing the world's largest basilica and feet toward the crowd in the square.

Nearly 5,000 heavily armed policemen and soldiers were deployed to protect the official delegations.

The funeral Mass preceded the burial in the grotto of the basilica, an elaborate underground network of chapels and the resting place for 146 other popes, including what are believed to be the remains of St. Peter, the first pope.

Despite heavy rains since Saturday, about 750,000 mourners had trekked through St. Peter's Square to view Pope John Paul's body as it lay in state in the basilica.

Cardinal Carlo Confalonieri, 85, dean of the College of Cardinals, presided over the Mass.

"Father eternal shepherd," he said, "hear the prayers of your people for your servant Pope John Paul I, who governed your church with love."

A seminary read from the Book of Apocalypses of St. John the Apostle before the homily by Cardinal Confalonieri.

In what is called the final commendation, Confalonieri shook incense over the body while the Sistine Chapel choir chanted, "I believe that my redeemer lives and that I will rise again from the earth at the last day."

Then, before the body was carried to the grotto, all sang: "May the angels lead you into paradise..."

The public viewing continued until shortly before the funeral.

Big Spring construction 'booming'

Big Spring construction costs for 1978 jumped to $6,387,974.25 with a very healthy September.

A total of 42 building permits were issued for the month, bringing construction costs to $411,070. During September of 1977, only 35 permits were issued, with costs totalling $92,160.

The total for the year-to-date more than doubles the $2,669,268.50 figure for 1977.

Three new commercial projects were issued permits in September. An office building for the A. E. Computer Corporation will be built at 1001 E. FM 700, at a cost of $50,000.

Self storage buildings will be constructed at 1100 E. 3rd, costing $46,500, and Morris Fraley will build an air conditioner service center at 1314 E. 3rd, costing $15,000.

Six new residences in the city raised total construction costs by $199,920. Homes included: Spring Country Builders, 800 Scott, $52,000; Pat Martinez, 2605 Central, $40,000; Raymond Leonard, 3801 Calvin, $32,920; Monroe Godwin, 2306, 2308 and 2400 S. Monticello, $75,000.

Two policemen lose appeal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today upheld the 1977 firing of two Pasadena policemen for an alleged plot to plant a gun as phony evidence against a misdemeanor theft suspect.

The court found no reversible error in the decision of the 14th Court of Civil Appeals in Houston to uphold the firings. The high court adopted the appellate court opinion as its own.

Thomas W. Barron and John M. Ballard were indefinitely suspended March 24, 1977, by Pasadena Police chief Leroy Moutser after fellow officers became suspicious of the men's account.

Barron chased a car after seeing it leave a convenience store parking lot at high speed. The fleeing car stopped and Barron walked up to it. He testified the driver then tried to run over him and that she had a "dark object" in her hand.

ERA closer to ratification

WASHINGTON (AP) — An extension of time for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment moved a step closer to passage today as the Senate rejected a proposal to permit states that have ratified the ERA to use the additional time to reverse their positions.

The vote to reject the rescission amendment, sponsored by Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, was 54 to 44.

A final vote on the extension is scheduled for Friday. It would allow state legislatures an additional 39 months, past the present deadline of next March 22, to decide whether to ratify the ERA.

Senators on both sides of the issue predicted the extension will pass.

Garn argued that it was unfair to give ERA backers more time to lobby for ratification without giving opponents equal time.

Regardless of the outcome of the vote on his amendment, Garn said, "it is quite clear to me that the opponents have the votes to pass the extension."

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., leading the battle for the extension, argued that the right of states to withdraw their approval of constitutional amendments has not been recognized in the past.

Bayh also warned that adding the controversial amendment to the extension would probably doom it, because it would require reconciling of differences in House and Senate versions by a time-consuming joint conference committee with less than two weeks before Congress is supposed to adjourn on Oct. 14.

Bayh predicted after defeat of the Garn amendment that the extension would be approved by a healthy margin.

Before the vote on the amendment, the Senate rejected a substitute offered by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., which would have declared the Senate neutral as to whether states that have ratified could reverse their action.

Garn said Stevenson's proposal "would defeat the purpose of my amendment." Bayh said it would jeopardize the extension because it would not be acceptable to sponsors in the House, where the extension was approved Aug. 15. resident Carter lobbied against the Garn amendment Tuesday, warning that it could kill the extension.

At the White House, presidential assistant Sarah Weddington, who said she spoke for Carter, told reporters that any amendments by the Senate would make it very difficult to pass an extension this year.

She said Carter, his wife Rosalynn and Vice President Walter Mondale were telephoning senators urging them to vote against the Garn amendment.

On Tuesday, the Senate rejected by a 64-26 vote an amendment by Sen. William L. Scott, R-Va., that would have allowed states to rescind ratification and would have recognized the actions of four states that have already done so.

Garn's amendment would apply only in the future and would not validate the rescission votes already taken by the legislatures of Idaho, Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia. However, the rescission in Kentucky was vetoed. The Justice Department has said it is up to Congress to determine the validity of rescissions.

A spokesman for Garn said he had expected defeat of the Scott amendment and was "not dismayed" by the vote on it.

The ERA, promoting discrimination on the basis of sex, has been ratified by 35 state legislatures including the four that have rescinded their action. It must be ratified by 38 states by next March 22, unless the deadline is extended, if it is to become part of the Constitution.

In another vote Tuesday, the Senate agreed 58-33 that a simple majority, instead of two-thirds, would be sufficient for passage of the extension.

Focalpoint

Action / reaction: Deceit not practiced

Q. Word is out that the City of Big Spring has been deceived concerning the (federal) prison to be placed here. It is true the prison will not be for white collar criminals but hard core drug abusers? I have been told this will never be printed because The Herald has been part of the cover-up.

A. Deceit has not been practiced, either by the federal government or the City of Big Spring. The Bureau of Prisons classify this as a minimum security correctional facility, which means there will be no guards. Traffickers in drugs will likely be included in the colony but certainly no hard-core criminals. Persons "earn" their right to be sent to such a facility and thereafter are judged on their behavior. In other words, if they violate rules, they are removed to prisons with a more disciplined regimen. People guilty of all kinds of "white collar" crimes, including income tax evasion, will be sent here, if convicted in federal courts. The Herald has as much at stake as any individual or firm in the success of this facility. A member of the Herald staff is an ex-officio member of the Big Spring Steering Committee, which means he functions without voting privileges. The Steering Committee passes on recommendations about such matters to the city council, which then votes on an issue.

Tuesday for memorial services for the famous ventriloquist. At least 400 mourners attended the funeral for Edgar Bergen.

Defendant given more time

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Theodore Robert Bundy, who admitted being overconfident when he said he was ready to defend himself, has been given two more months to prepare for his trial on charges of killing two college sorority sisters. Circuit Judge John Rudd postponed trial Tuesday until Dec. 4. Bundy, 31, a former law student, is charged with the Jan. 15 bludgeoning deaths of Lisa Levy, 20, and Margaret Bowman, 21, as they slept at Florida State University's Chi Omega house. He also is accused of savagely attacking three other female students.

NY school has benefactor

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A mysterious benefactor, working through a Richmond lawyer, says he will give $10,000 to New York City's public schools — the same amount the man gave Cleveland last week. Attorney Thomas D.H. Barnett said he will present a check on behalf of the anonymous donor to Dr. Frank Macchiarola, chancellor of the New York City Board of Education. Barnett said the gifts are being made in the name of the "Richardson family." He says that's as far as he can go in identifying the benefactor, who is said to have a special concern for the problems of urban schools.

Joint venture prosperous

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — About 100 tons of fish has been caught off the Northwest coast in the week since American and Soviet fishermen linked up in a joint venture. The U.S.-U.S.S.R. Marine Resources Co. Inc. is owned half by the Soviet government and half by Bellingham Cold Storage Co. The venture was licensed to operate within the American 200-mile limit on an experimental basis. It was approved after Congress adopted legislation allowing the catches of U.S. fishermen to be processed aboard foreign factory ships if no American processor can handle the fish. The catches count against American allocations of hake.

Arts, Crafts Festival Committee to meet

The first of three weekly meetings of the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival Committee will be held at 4 p.m., Thursday, in the Chamber of Commerce Conference room. The meetings are being called in order to work out any last minute details prior to the Arts and Crafts Festival on Oct. 21 and 22, and to provide the committee with a weekly report of the festival's progress. According to Mel Prather, co-chairman of the festival, there are only a few booths left to be leased in the Howard College Coliseum, the site of this year's festival. "We've been getting a lot of calls from artists from Big Spring and other cities asking that we reserve booth spaces for them. However, we cannot officially accept their reservations until we receive payment for the booth and a completed entry form. To do otherwise would be unfair to the more than 100 artists who have already completed all entry requirements," Prather said. "Since we have received so many calls asking us to reserve booths, it's hard to say exactly how many entries we will have for this year's festival. Last year, numerous artists presented their checks and entry forms at the door. If artists wait until the festival this year, there is a chance that all available booth spaces will have already been leased," he continued. "We do plan to utilize the concourse at the coliseum," Prather said, "but that will only hold a limited number of booths due to the width of the concourse. As far as booths on the main arena floor, we can only get 102 booths in that area and most of those have already been sold. The only reason we still have any booths left on the main floor is because of the requests we've received from artists asking that they be placed on the concourse." "So far, over 60 per cent of the entries for the festival are from cities other than Big Spring. This is good from the tourism standpoint and we expect the trend to continue over the next couple of weeks prior to the festival," he said. "At the same time, we also have an excellent representation from Big Spring. Some of the community's top artists and craftsmen have entered this festival, and more have indicated a desire to reserve booths for the two-day show," Prather said. "We plan to discuss these items at our meetings," he said "and other events that we have planned around the festival."

Residents of Howard County wishing to register in person may go to the County Tax Assessor-Collector's office in the courthouse from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Friday.

An individual may register for himself, his spouse, his parents and his children. To register, a person needs to furnish his Social Security number and date and place of birth.

For the record

In Monday's Action-Reaction, a page one feature of The Herald, the questions were posed: "Will Webb AFB have a manned control tower? If so, who will man it, FAA or private controllers?"

In addressing itself to the questions, The Herald replied "The answer is yes and it will be a federally operated control tower."

It should have been added that the control tower will not be in operation unless Lockheed Aircraft Service Co., or another major airline industry becomes a part of the business community with the Big Spring Industrial Park and the air traffic dictates need of the service. Employed already at the industrial park is a man who would man the tower but who is now concerned with other duties, according to Harry Spannaus, IP manager.

Butterflies mixed up?

A swarm of mixed-up monarch butterflies were landing all over the trees north of town this morning. Researchers from the West Texas area reported last year that when they tagged butterflies, it was shown that they always migrate to the same Valley in Mexico each fall for the winter months.

But for some reason, part of the delegation stopped off in Howard County today. The Robert Wegners on Gail Road and the H.B. Hatch family near Fairview both report butterflies all over the trees and are on a lot of other trees in between.

Birds will not eat the beautiful butterflies because they have a bitter taste, according to scientists.

Burglary loss on Gay Hill

Citizens are also reminded to donate old eye glasses or frames to any Lions Club members for use in work with those needing glasses.

Republican Sen. John Tower's re-election bid against Democratic Rep. Bob Krueger. Fisher said he had been "examining the voting records of the two candidates" and concluded that he had "no option but to cast my vote for Tower."

Retired 21st District Rep. O. Clark Fisher is backing Fisher, a Democrat, served as the 21st District representative for 32 years. He retired in 1974 and was succeeded by Krueger.

However, Fisher did not endorse Krueger during the 1974 Democratic primary, choosing instead to support Democrat Nelson Wolff.

Wolff, who lost the primary battle to Krueger, is the 1978 Democratic nominee for the 21st District and once again has Fisher's endorsement.

*** Walter Cronkite will be anchoring a program of a different sort this month.

Cronkite will be master of ceremonies for a gridiron show put on by the Austin Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi. The Oct. 13 event will roast Texas officials through songs and skits, with proceeds going to the Stuart Long Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Long, longtime Capitol newsman, died two years ago. He and Cronkite were friends.

Cronkite had one stipulation about the show. He said he would do anything but sing or dance.

Club members will clean each and every window of the auto of those desiring the service. They will be at the Sonic from 10:30 in the morning to midnight. The Sonic will be giving the clubs a per cent of the income brought in on Saturday for their services.

The YMCA clubs urge the public to come out Saturday and have lunch, supper or even a snack, and support the Y clubs, and get a window wipe.

Stanton man pleads guilty

Gilbert Sanchez, Stanton, pleaded guilty Tuesday to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He was sentenced to five years probation. The incident occurred August 23, 1977.

Local police spent a "relatively slow Monday" the engine and transmission of a 1968 Pontiac belonging to Bill Logsdon, Coahoma, were stolen while he car was parked at a Third Street garage, sometime between Saturday and Monday morning. Loss was estimated at $225. Officers recovered a whole stolen car when they stopped a woman for a routine speeding offense, 2:30 a.m. today.

Sgt. Jerry Edwards and Officer Robert Carouth stopped a 23-year-old woman for speeding on IS 20. They radioed the license plate number and make of the car to the department's computer, and released the woman.

But when the computer reported that the car and woman were wanted in Crockett, the two officers pulled her over again, and arrested her. Houston County Sheriff's Deputies are expected to pick her up today.

An AM-FM radio was stolen from the display case at the Record Shop, 211 Main, 5 p.m. Tuesday. Owners believe they recognized the thief who made off with the $24.95 radio.

Four mishaps were reported Tuesday. A parked vehicle belonging to Gary L. Cole, 1100 Blackman, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at 300 W. 2nd, 4:55 p.m. Vehicles driven by Timothy Tate, Tarzan, and Billy Spangler, Kermit, collided at Second and Gregg, 5:41 p.m. A vehicle belonging to Phillip Palmer, 1416 Stadium, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in front of the Palmer residence, 5:43 p.m. Vehicles driven by Barbara Wisk, 707 Ayford, and Toni Mundell, Almagordo, I.M., collided at Fifth and Gregg, 6:34 p.m.

Barbara L. Smith, Ph.D., director of Los Angeles County Employee Assistance Program, Los Angeles, Calif., will be the consultant for this day-long seminar. This seminar will be of interest to those working in the field of alcoholism and to those of the general public, who are interested in learning more about this problem. Registration will begin at 8 a.m., and the general session at 9 a.m. A registration fee of $1 will be charged with an additional charge of $1 for those wishing to receive Continuing Education Units from Howard College. Persons wishing to receive credit for attendance will be expected to remain the entire day. The theme for the day will be "Surviving Burnout in the Substance Abuse Field: a Workshop For Counselors".

City begins campaign to get rid of illegal signs

The city will begin a campaign to get rid of illegal signs, announced Mark Campbell with the code enforcement office. "We will concentrate in the residential areas on signs that are of a commercial nature," said Campbell. "We will also be stripping unauthorized signs from public property." Campbell explained that illegal signs range from those advertising free puppies to garage sales. "The city allows garage sale signs to remain up for 72 hours before the sale. What we are after is the signs that are up continuously week after week. Signs offering services such as babysitting or key-making are also illegal in a residential area," said Campbell. Sign posters can be fined up to $200 for such an offense, according to Campbell. The fine also covers the common offense of tacking signs to telephone poles, he added. "I have a citation book in my car that I'm just trying to use," concluded Campbell.

Clements camp means well, but--

The best thing that could happen to this state would be a political system wherein no one party dominates the makeup of the legislative bodies and the line of succession to the executive branches was not necessarily pre-ordained each election year.

The Republicans have made inroads into the Democratic Party's province, true, but not enough. Their campaign to sell the populace on the fact that they are not a party of privileged princelings, utterly without interest in the lot of the common man, may not have fallen into benign neglect but it has not been packaged as well as it could have been.

THE GOPs have worked diligently to take their message to the people, that they alone have the recipe to cure us of our fiscal irresponsibility. All too often they have oversold their theme.

A case in point appears to be Bill Clements, who is offering for the governor's chair. Mr. Clements has applied the spurs so often to his campaign horse, the poor animal is not only bleeding at the flanks but gives signs of giving up the ghost.

Some of the Republican standard bearers, one of them John Tower, have made moves to disassociate themselves with Mr. Clements, complaining that he has become too abrasive. Others have indicated they would very much like to go their own way and be judged by what they alone offer.

Clements' "Truth Squad," which is not exactly an innovative idea, boldly announced it would follow the Democratic hopeful, John Hill, around to refute the misstatements Hill and his co-workers were guilty of.

Among the first official acts of the truth squad was the rectification of some bobbles committed by the Clements camp.

IT SEEMS CLEMENTS had issued a statement about the recently-completed Democratic state convention. He claimed that a plank had been voted into a party platform calling for collective bargaining for public employees.

In addition, a Clements convert, wooed to his support from the camp of defeated Democratic Gov. Dolph Briscoe, noised it about that John Hill had appointed the new chairman of the State Democratic Committee.

Both claims were in error. The call for collective bargaining rights was contained in a resolution, not in the platform, and the new head of the SDEC was elected by the convention, not named by Hill.

Truth squads are not going to win the election for Clements mainly because Hill is a wily veteran who rarely blunders.

Clements remains behind in the polls, mainly because a great number of Democrats find little appealing in the platform he offers and will again vote their instincts.

Is it religion?

Around the rim

Dusty Richard

Going to church was so much easier when I was a kid, before I found out that it is often just for looks; that for some people, it is more of a special occasion or a fashion show than it is a form of worship; that some people take more pride in the building in which they worship than in the worship itself.

When I was a child, I often went out to Caddo Baptist Church, just outside of Stockdale, with my mother and other relatives. My grandfather was the pastor, and although he took pride in his church, he was not ashamed that it had outhouses rather than indoor plumbing, a total of about 10 or 12 pews and not a stained-glass window in the place.

He cared more about the people who came to worship — mostly farmers and their families, since it was way out in the country — than the outward accoutrements of their faith.

WHILE HE stood up at the modest pulpit — more like a speaker's dais than an altar — his flock sat quietly listening to him, to the hum of the big ceiling fan, since there was no air conditioning, and to the swish of the paper fans, imprinted with the name of the local funeral home, that the ladies in the congregation waved before their faces.

Often, I would grow restless, and start crying (I was only one or two) and because we didn't have a nice nursery for the children, only the older kids who would take us out to go to the bathroom or play in the dirt, if my mom couldn't quiet me, he'd say, "Evelyn, give her here," and I'd crawl or walk unsteadily up to the front of the church, where he'd hold me in one arm and accent his sermon's major points with waves and flourishes of the other.

After the service was over, we'd all gather at the picnic table and on the grass outside the little church, and the women would set out with pride their preserves and baked beans, fried chicken and potato salad, pickles and German chocolate cake, and we'd enjoy a feast worthy of the Lord, filling our stomachs the way my grandfather had filled our hearts.

If someone was going to be baptized, we'd get in our cars and pickup trucks and drive down to the Caddo River — if it hadn't rained recently and washed out the roads — and whoever was to be baptized would put on some old clothes, and while the kids swam around and jumped out of trees into the river, my grandfather would baptize the person "in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost," just like Jesus was baptized in the River Jordan.

Once, I decided to join a city church when I was in my teens, and was going to be baptized. The preacher showed me a long white robe I was to wear for the ceremony, and then the big metal vat behind the pulpit where the event was to take place in front of the whole congregation. He never understood why, after I had seen the artificiality of the whole thing, I changed my mind and said no, thanks.

IN LATER childhood years, after my grandfather's death, we'd make a point of going to Caddo at least once while we were in San Antonio. (We lived out of town mostly.) I never really took to Brother Gene, the new pastor, because I felt like it was my grandfather's church, not his. But it was fun to go and visit all my country aunts and uncles and cousins, and it made my grandmother so happy for us to take her.

I'd sit beside her, and she always managed to have a scrap of paper and pencil stub for me to play with when the sermon got too boring for me. My favorite part of the service was the singing. My grandmother would find the page in her hymnal for me, and we'd sing along together — "Just As I Am," "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," and of course, her favorite, the song that Brother Gene sang at her funeral — "Amazing Grace." I'll never forget the sound of her clear sweet voice and my young thin voice, blending in with the voices of all the people so dear to me. Her wrinkled fingers would move along the line of lyrics, keeping place in the song, even though it was unnecessary; I had practically learned to read in Momo's old hymnals, and we both knew the words by heart.

Maybe, someday, I'll start going to church again. That's no promise, so no one hold his breath. But no matter what church I go to, even if it does have that pure simplicity of my grandfather's church, it will never replace Caddo Baptist in my heart and memories.

Somoza

William F. Buckley, Jr.

What to do about Nicaragua?

Last spring, in New York City, General Somoza came to me for breakfast, together with an American aide, and 17 bodyguards. These, by the way, were Americans, provided by the Secret Service. Two more, I counted, than when the Vice President of the United States was there, but then vice presidents of the United States get shot at less often than members of the Somoza family, besides which, on the whole Nicaraguan assassins have proved to be better marksmen than U.S. would-be assassins. Our government, although clearly it has had enough of Somoza, was not going to take a chance that he would end his life in the United States, to which he had come to attend the graduation ceremonies of members of his family, having himself graduated from West Point.

THE GENERAL asked me to travel to Nicaragua to look around, and I said I would, intending to do so in December — which will almost certainly prove too late. Too late, that is, to appear under the general's auspices, as the probability is either that he will be gone, or that visiting him in December would be like visiting Rao Dai in Dienbienphu.

At any rate, although I had planned to postpone until after the trip commentary on the general's assertions, I feel bound to make them now. They are pretty much what one would expect. He denied any absence in civil liberties, except for the liberty to oppose him politically. He drew attention to his having himself ordered the formulation of a constitution that would permanently put him out of power in 1981. And he reminded me that if in 1981 democracy finally came to Nicaragua, that would make for exactly five democracies south of the border (Mexico, if you want to call a democracy a political party that sees to it that it never loses an election; Costa Rica, Colombia, and Venezuela). The general was saying, in effect, that a democratic polity does not appear to germinate easily in hispanic soil, a proposition that is hard to argue, I told him I am myself more interested in personal than political liberty. ("The end of political liberty is personal liberty" — Burke). He assured me I would be pleasantly surprised on visiting Nicaragua.

No doubt the general is unpleasantly surprised by the unanimity of the sentiment against him. This is by the way not entirely surprising. Tocqueville's law on the subject is as widely known as it is forgotten: namely that when you alleviate social conditions, you tend not to assuage, but to accelerate the appetite for more. If a country is going to be free in 1981, why not in 1978?

Not a bad question. And, of course, the whole of the question is one of timing. The general's position is that if he yields, the left will take over. The moderates' position is that every day he postpones yielding, enhances the probability that the left will take over.

NOW HERE are two considerations of special importance in Latin America. The first is the doctrine of non-intervention. It is sacred, and the violation of it — as distinct from the violation of the rights of Cubans — was what got Castro into trouble with the Organization of American States. One does not interfere in the affairs of another country. Well, Venezuela is engaged in doing exactly that right now, it would appear; and Costa Rica is cooperating. The arms are going not to the Chamber of Commerce with which to resist Somoza, but to the left-guerrillas. What one might call the Castro wing of Nicaragua resistance.

"So? Carter says I agreed to THIS at Camp David. Sadat says I agreed to THAT..."

"So? What do I say? Well, I say that we don't exactly see eye-to-eye on the matter."

Lots of 'rocking' moms get words in

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Shame on you for your old-fashioned advice that your mother should "rock away" when her baby cries! That's fine if she wants to raise a dependent weakling. I enjoy your column otherwise, although I think you should stay out of the field of child psychology. — Non-Rocker.

If the advice sounds old-fashioned, there must be a great number of "old-fashioned" young moms among my readers. Here are just two representative responses on the positive side of the rocking controversy:

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A bouquet to you for your advice to the young mother who was concerned about rocking her baby: After reading much (too much) advice from experts, and hearing constant comments from well-meaning friends, I was really frustrated because I even wanted to rock my baby to sleep, also because he liked to be rocked. Everyone said I would "ruin" him.

I disregarded the advice and rocked and cuddled him when I wanted to and he wanted me to. Now, at 14 months, he's perfectly happy to be put to bed and play until he falls asleep. For the months he wanted to be held, I'm glad. It was fun and some of my nicest memories are there. I only wish he still wanted to be rocked.

You are only the second source I've ever read who said to go ahead and rock if we want, and the first to add that the baby will outgrow it before "we will." That's the truest statement I ever read. You deserve the title "expert extraordinaire." You made my day. — Mrs. L.W.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Thank you for supporting the mother who rocks her son. The expressions, "let him cry it out" and "you're spoiling him," upset me. Why would anyone want to add to the discomfort and frustration a child is already feeling by denying him simple human contact? The fear of parents seems to be of spoiling the baby. They need to read articles by doctors like yourself who support their parenting instincts. — P.V.

While we are letting readers have their say, we might as well give Mrs. J.H. equal time to respond to an unrelated item I wrote suggesting that part of menopausal symptoms some women have might be psychological:

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have read, quoted and enjoyed your column for as many years as it has appeared in our newspaper. However, as of today, I am through with you: Only a male chauvinist doctor would refer to any menopausal symptoms as "psychological." That's really a cheap shot, from a man who will never know what menopause is all about because he doesn't experience it. — J.H.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You wrote that tiredness is caused by an inactive thyroid gland. I had been feeling very dragged out for months, so I suggested to my doctor that I had thyroid trouble. He said no, that I was a bit anemic, but that was all. Can you elaborate on your statement? — B.P.

I wrote that an underactive thyroid gland could cause fatigue, not that fatigue was a sure sign of thyroid trouble. There's a difference. Thinning of hair and dry skin are other symptoms of thyroid disturbance, but that doesn't mean every bald man has inactive thyroid. There are many symptoms that go hand in hand. The only way to tell for sure if the thyroid is involved is through tests of gland function. A mild anemia can be present with low thyroid activity.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can a reddish and somewhat swollen face be an indication of some internal problem? My doctor wants me to come in for liver scans. — J.P.

It can, if the person is a heavy drinker. It can be a sign of liver problems (cirrhosis). The signs would appear more pronounced after a drinking bout. Facial redness may also indicate a skin problem.

To R.A. — Can't think of a worse activity for a person with back problems than snowmobiling. Find some other winter activity.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

The attached is "a copy of a letter written by me while a patient at Big Spring V.A. last fall.

You are fortunate to have such a facility in your community — I wish to share my feelings with all of you in the community. I would be happy if you could show thru your paper if you think it worthwhile.

My letter to President Carter: "I am at present a patient in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Big Spring, Texas. I wish to advise that the professional treatment I have received has been in my estimation as good or better as could be received anywhere in a general hospital. The doctors, nurses, and supporting personnel have been courteous, compassionate and competent. Other patients that I have known here say the same.

It has come to my attention that the present Administration has considered cutting 5,000 Veteran Hospital beds. This should never be done. As we grow older our medical needs will probably increase and a cut in beds available at this time certainly would seem inappropriate. I have also heard (whether true, I do not know) that some consideration has been given toward merging the V.A. Hospitals into a national health care system.

"Please be advised that most of us who fought together prefer to be hospitalized together, and if the Lord shall will, die together." Contrary to public opinion, many of us as Veterans of Foreign Wars do not feel that our government owes us anything. We owe everything that we have to our government, the greatest institution of government that the Lord has ever ordained.

"Most of us would once again be willing to pick up our rifles in defense of freedom. We are, however, grateful for the benefits that the government has been good enough to give us." Reeves E. Knowlton 1207 West Lea Carlsbad, N.M. 88220

Dear Editor: I think it is time to let the people of Big Spring know that the Steers are not losers.

The Steers are a very proud team, we're not proud of losing the last three games, but we're proud because we want to improve and we are! As each week goes by we're getting better and better because we're eliminating the costly mistakes that have taken place. We cannot change what has happened so far, but we can look back on those three games and know in our hearts that we did not give up in any of those games.

If we thought we were losers Big Spring would not have a football team this year because nobody wants to be a loser. Yet when the season started we had 41 football players and we still have 41 players.

To me that means there's something there, we all know it, we're reaching for it, and soon we will get it!

The Steers are not going to let the past stop us from winning the next 7 games. People think other teams play us just to put another notch in their win column, well that works both ways!

Some people call themselves fans, but yet they do not believe in us. There's a difference between a fan and a spectator. A spectator sees the disabilities and a fan sees the possibilities. A spectator sees only what he wants to see. A fan sees what we are capable of doing.

Friday night we host Abilene here. There will be 41 Big Spring Steers on that football field playing as hard as we can. The Steers are going to send Abilene on a long and silent trip back to Abilene with its first district loss!

Byron Harris A proud Big Spring Steer football player.

White House key

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The key to the Robert Vesco mystery, despite an intensive effort to remove it elsewhere, still lies in the White House.

Some intriguing questions have been raised by the reluctant explanations that the Securities and Exchange Commission has now forced out of the White House.

By a White House spokesman's account, presidential aide Richard Harden was informed on Feb. 8, 1977, that the international swindler Robert Vesco had offered "a large sum of money" to gain entree to the White House.

Harden waited a week and then reported the bribe offer to President Carter, according to the spokesman. Yet it made such a small impression on the president that he doesn't remember the incident.

EVEN MORE incredible, neither Carter nor Harden notified the Justice Department of this possible conspiracy to defraud the government and to obstruct justice.

Instead, the president scribbled a note to Attorney General Griffin Bell asking him to see the middle man, Spencer Lee IV, who had told Harden about the Vesco offer. The note, written on Feb. 15, 1977, urged Bell: "Please see Spencer Lee of Albany when he requests an appointment." It was initialed "J.C."

According to the White House version, Harden had persuaded Lee to drop out of the plot to fix Vesco's federal problems. Thus Lee gave up a cool million dollars, which he claims he could have collected by putting Vesco in touch with White House honcho Hamilton Jordan.

But Lee never bothered to return $10,000 that he had already accepted for intervening in Vesco's behalf. Authenticated telephone records also show that after Lee's Feb. 8, 1977, repudiation he continued to remain in contact not only with Vesco but with the other influence peddlers.

The White House, meanwhile, not only neglected to advise the proper authorities of the Vesco plot but bestowed upon Lee a presidential appointment to the Judicial Nominating Committee. Thus the man who had confessed a flirtation with an international swindler was commissioned by the White House three months later to help select federal judges.

We had hesitated until now to mention another witness to the crucial events of Feb. 8, 1977. He is R. L. Herring who instigated the $10 million plot to help Vesco buy exoneration. Herring is a bitter, tense young man with a record as a shady operator.

We regarded his word as worthless, corroborated, unless it could be corroborated. But the last place we expected to get corroboration, even in part, was from the White House itself.

We interviewed Herring in his jail cell, where he was awaiting trial on fraud charges. At our request, he spent the next few days writing down his recollections of the Vesco venture. He delivered this to us in the form of a sworn affidavit.

We also asked Herring to submit to intensive cross-examination. For 14 hours, a crack Washington private detective, Richard Bast, grilled Herring under oath on tape. Bast's instructions were to try to break down Herring's story.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am a Christian and in love with a man who is not a Christian. I know the Scripture seems to indicate we should not get married, but can you give any reasons for this? — W.V.

DEAR W.V.: I think you have already given one reason yourself — God has made it clear in His Word that it would not be His will. The Bible says, "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers." (II Corinthians 6:14), and I believe that is a clear command to someone in your situation who is about to make a choice concerning marriage. It is a serious thing to go deliberately against the will of God.

But why does God set forth this as His ideal? For one thing, marriage in God's plan should unify two individuals. There should be a oneness of purpose and will between them. "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh" (Genesis 2:24). But this is not possible completely if you are not together in your spiritual lives. For you as a Christian, life is centered on God: for him, that is not so.

Clubs, organizations to be listed in tabloid

Family News has begun work on the 1978 Clubs and Organizations tabloid to be included with the Oct. 26 edition of the Big Spring Herald. Questionnaires to be filled out by presidents have been mailed to 180 organizations on whom we had an address. If you have not received your questionnaire, please check with last year's president and other members of the club as our information is not current. If your organization was overlooked, questionnaires are available at the Herald. The completed forms must be returned to the Herald no later than Oct. 10. Presidents will have their pictures taken for the tabloid from 1 to 5 p.m. Oct. 9 and 10. Included with the mailed questionnaires and also available at the Herald are letters for club reporters containing information to help them in reporting club news. The purpose of the Clubs and Organizations tabloid is to provide the public with information on who does what for Big Spring. It is a valuable reference source for individuals, organizations and businesses. We appreciate your cooperation in making it complete.

Miss Tibbs feted with linen shower

Karen Tibbs, bride-elect of Jeff Wilson, was honored with a linen and kitchen shower Sept. 25 in the Playhouse Nursery School. Hostesses were Mariella Wise and Beth Young, and special guests included Mrs. Weldon Tibbs, the bride's mother; Mrs. Jim Wilson, the groom's mother; Anna Lee Young, the bride's grandmother; and Mrs. Jim Wilson of Nacogdoches, the groom's aunt. The honoree and special guests received corsages. Fifteen guests attended the shower, at which cake and punch were served from a table draped with a white lace cloth. Crystal appointments were used. The bride's selections are registered at Thornton's. Miss Tibbs and Wilson will be married Oct. 20 in Trinity Baptist Church.

Killer weds, gets paroled

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Stan Wilson, a convicted killer who got a wife and a son while in a prison barring conjugal visits, achieved another goal when he was granted parole. Wilson, 32, has been a prison leader, has not had any recent disciplinary problems and has been working outside the prison under minimal security for some time now, the state Parole Board noted in granting him freedom Thursday. Earlier in Wilson's nearly 11 years in prison, he had a string of disciplinary violations, including a 1974 violation of "visiting room etiquette" when he slipped into a bathroom with his new wife and consummated their marriage. He met his wife, Rose, while taking a college course at the prison. She was working with the instructor on a book about black culture. They were married in a rare prison wedding in 1973. Wilson said he experienced "a tremendous sense of relief" when granted parole, and was "looking forward to just being able to walk with my wife and kid, maybe kick a rock...nothing extravagant. I've developed an appreciation for the simple things." Wilson was jailed for the slaying of a fellow pimp in a Las Vegas supper club during a fight over a prostitute. He said the incident capped a rough early life that included the shooting deaths of his parents, a stint in a juvenile home, and an incident in which he was shot in both legs during another fight over a prostitute.

Dear Abby

Won't Spend Time With Grieving Dad

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman who was never very close to my parents after my marriage. I was comfortable with the way things were, and so were they. My mother died recently, and I would feel very hypocritical were I to suddenly smother my father with a lot of attention. I sat with him and the rest of the family every day and evening for the duration of the official mourning period (one week), and now that it's over I have resumed my life as before. My father is not helpless. He has always been very independent and he knows my phone number if he wants me. My problem is my sister. She is making me feel very guilty because she is constantly with Dad. I don't feel that I have to compete with my sister by putting in equal time with Dad. Please help me with some answers.

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR GUILTY: Guilt is a judgment we feel against ourselves. No one can make you feel guilty. If you feel guilty, you probably earned it. It's just as well that you don't feel compelled to spend time with your grieving father in order to compete with your sister because he'd surely sense your insecurity, and your presence would offer him little comfort.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from an Oklahoma reader who suggested sprinkling mothballs on the lawn to keep dogs away. The writer must not have had small children, because that is a very dangerous practice. My small son ate half a mothball at my mother-in-law's home and we had to rush him to the hospital to have his stomach pumped! Although mothballs have a very unpleasant odor, they LOOK like candy, and most children will eat anything that looks like it might taste good. Abby, please tell your readers that children can die if they ingest mothballs. There must be a better way to keep dogs off one's lawn.

ALICE IN SAN BRUNO

DEAR ALICE: Thank you and all the others who wrote to urge me to retract that suggestion.

DEAR ABBY: I married a divorced Catholic in Mexico back in 1959. He said his church would not let him marry again, and this was the only way he could make our marriage legal.

In Mexico we found an office where a man was selling marriage applications for $25. We bought one and filled it out and signed it. The man who sold it to us also signed it, and that was that.

We split up after one year. What I want to know is this: Is that marriage still legal? Was it ever filed anywhere in the United States? Or are we married only in Mexico?

I haven't seen this man in 18 years and now want to marry a guy in a legitimate way. If I marry him without mentioning the Mexican marriage am I committing bigamy? I can't find any information about this in the library, and my wedding date is drawing near. Sign me.

"WAS DUMB AT 23"

DEAR WAS DUMB: Some Mexican marriages (and divorces) are valid and some are not. Play it safe and consult a lawyer. He (or she) will tell you—rapidamente!

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Doctor Wallace: I am liked very much by all my teachers and because of this, my fellow classmates and friends are mad at me. I talked this over with my mother who is also a teacher and she says my friends are just jealous of me.

The problem is I don't see why. It could be because I'm on the honor roll, very pretty, a little obnoxious, and a little loud and outspoken. I am also straight and very self-disciplined.

Post oak used for no frills barbecue

LOCKHART, Texas (AP) — Oldtimers around here say they don't notice the smell of burning post oak that fills the air. Maybe that's because the folks at Kreuz Market have burned post oak in their barbecue pits longer than most oldtimers have been around.

"There was already a market here when Old Man Charlie Kreuz (pronounced Kry-tz) came here in 1900," said Edgar "Smitty" Schmidt, the market's owner.

A large, friendly man in a white butcher's apron, Schmidt towers above the meat counter in the market. Almost as many people stop in to chat as stop in to eat.

Schmidt said he worked for Kreuz 13 years, then bought him out in 1948. He still owns the market, but has turned over management to J. D. Fullilove, his son-in-law.

Schmidt opened the door connecting the meat market with the pit room. A blast of heat as he stepped through the door.

No frills barbecue beef and beef sausage are wrapped in brown butcher paper and served up by the pound at the far end of the pit room. Customers have their choice of crackers or bread. True Kreuz aficionados always take crackers.

Jalapeno peppers, pickles, onion, beer and soft drinks are sold separately. Potato salad, coleslaw and barbecue sauce are nowhere to be found. The mention of them elicits a haughty sniff from Schmidt.

"There's no secret to our barbecue except one," he said. "We use good meat." Schmidt said he uses only salt and pepper to season the choice meat.

"The secret's not what you put on the meat, but what you leave off — that and the wood," he said.

The market goes through an average of 6,000 pounds of beef a week and 120 cords of post oak a year.

Bare wooden tables and benches line one dingy wall of the dining area. Customers slice off chunks of meat with large butcher knives chained to the tables. Bottles of hot pepper sauce and small paper trays filled with salt, black pepper and cayenne are scattered along the tables.

Prisoners claim poor medical care as abuse

HOUSTON (AP) — Solitary confinement and poor medical care were some of the abuses heaped on state prison inmates in retaliation for their legal activities and complaints, prisoners testified.

One of the plaintiffs in a lawsuit against the Texas Department of Corrections, 35-year-old David Ruiz, testified Tuesday he had to remove a cast from his foot and hobble about in pain in order to do work given him.

Ruiz, who is serving a 25-year prison sentence for robbery, said he slashed his wrists and other parts of his body at least 15 times during his 10 years behind bars.

He said he once was placed in solitary for "self mutilation" and while in the cell ripped out the stitches holding the wound together.

Another inmate, O. D. Johnson, said he had headaches caused by an old eye operation, and was given drugs that left him "numb" and "like a zombie."

"I couldn't write or nothing," he said. "I just wanted to lie down."

Eight inmates have filed class action suits against the prison system challenging the way Texas prisoners are treated and seeking major changes in the penal system.

They say the system violates their civil rights through cruel and unusual punishment. The attorney general's office has said a ruling in favor of the inmates could force the state to spend between $500 million and $1.5 billion to bring the system into compliance with the court order.

Lawrence Pope, a convicted bank robber, earlier said he had been sent to Schmidt led the way down well-worn stairs to the basement. Boxes of crackers were stacked nearly to the ceiling against one wall. An ammonia compressor used to cool the "old" meat cooler between 1929 and 1977 stood to one side. The smokehouse, its walls blackened, now serves as a storeroom.

"We've saved lots of our equipment and it'll be on display in the new dining room," Schmidt said.

solitary and "lost the good time I had accumulated" because of his legal activities for himself and other prisoners.

Pope, serving a 50-year prison sentence, said he had filed at least a dozen lawsuits in state and federal courts since 1970 and had prepared at least 50 grievances against prison authorities during the first nine months of this year.

Ruiz told U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice he was sprayed with a can of Mace while he was in his prison cell because he resisted giving a letter to prison authorities.

He testified he had been sent to solitary numerous times, often because he had legal documents in his possession and once because he allowed another inmate to use his typewriter.

Marathon swimmer may try ocean jaunt again

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Defeated twice in her attempt to swim across a mighty river in the ocean, Stella Taylor says she may try once more to outwit the Gulf Stream — by reversing directions.

"I hate to lose," the gutsy 46-year-old British-born marathon swimmer murmured through parched lips Tuesday after abandoning her Bahamas-to-Florida swim 28 miles short of victory.

She swam a remarkable 51 hours and covered, by one ship captain's estimate, at least 160 miles before reluctantly quitting at 1:40 p.m. EDT — two days and three hours after leaving Orange Cay, Bahamas.

Sharks, swelling, venomous jellyfish, scorching sun and bone-wearying fatigue had hindered Miss Taylor but not stopped her. In the end, her swim succumbed for a second time to the Gulf Stream, an ocean current greater than a thousand Mississippi Rivers.

In this swim and her attempt in August, she could never break out of the current and into safe waters near shore, although her first swim brought her to within 12 miles of Florida.

"She bounced against it like a rubber barrier," crewman Joe Edwards said of the strong northward flow.

But as she ate scrambled eggs Tuesday night and wondered what went wrong, Miss Taylor was already dreaming of another try, this time heading the other way.

"I think I'm going to do the Keys to the Bahamas," she told The Associated Press by telephone from a friend's home where she was resting after turning down a doctor's advice to go to a hospital. She said she couldn't afford a hospital stay, since she spends most of time training and has no job.

Miss Taylor was still stroking Tuesday when trainer Bob Dunkle paddled alongside her on a surfboard to persuade her the effort was hopeless. "I could have gone some more," she said later.

But when she arrived at a Fort Lauderdale pier after being ferried in, she appeared drained from the ordeal. She could scarcely speak. Her face was painfully sunburned. The 51-hour salt water soaking left her lips and hands puffed.

She estimated she had suffered 200 jellyfish stings.

Nearly a dozen sharks were sighted while she plowed through the sea.

Yankees slug Royals, 7-1

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The sacrificial lamb that had the Kansas City Royals licking their chops turned into a snarling lion.

When the slaughter was over, the New York Yankees had won 7-1 the opening game of the American League playoffs Tuesday night.

Pressed into service because ace left-hander Ron Guidry was needed the day before in Boston, rookie Jim Beattie, the Yankees' No. 4 starter, responded with a gummy two-hit performance for 5-3 innings.

Young Ken Clay pitched hitless relief the rest of the way while the Yankees pounded four Kansas City hurlers for 16, capped by a towering three-run home run by the remarkable Reggie Jackson, who has reached base 11 straight times in post-season competition.

"I really didn't feel any pressure tonight," said Beattie, who was 6-9 in the regular season and facing Kansas City's top pitcher, 21-game winner Dennis Leonard.

"I wasn't tricky or anything, I just tried to get ahead. I just wanted to pitch seven innings and give our bullpen a chance to rest."

Beattie was never challenged until the sixth, when George Brett doubled and walks to Amos Otis and Pete LaCock loaded the bases.

Yankee Manager Bob Lemon then summoned Clay to protect his team's 4-0 lead and he retired Hal McRae on a sacrifice fly and Al Cowens on a ground ball.

The Yankees, who once trailed Boston in the Eastern Division by 14 games and may be en route to one of baseball's all-time comebacks, not only defeated the Royals in the first of this best-of-five series. They embarrassed the hosts who figured that with Guidry available for only one game they would win at least one and possibly both contests scheduled for Kansas City.

The Royals were shaky from the first inning — dropping balls, making poor throws and swinging at bad pitches.

The clincher came in the eighth. Mickey Rivers and Lou Piniella singled off Steve Mingori, who relieved Leonard in the fifth, and Royals Manager Whitey Herzog called upon Al "The Mad Hungarian" Hrabosky to deal with Jackson, who already had singled and doubled. Hrabosky, obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals this year to provide the Royals with the left-handed bullpen heat they had needed so desperately while losing the '76 and '77 playoffs to the Yankees, threw two pitches.

Jackson, the hero of last year's World Series, launched a huge home run over the right field fence.

"Some guys hit 300 all year," said Jackson, assuming a modest pose. "I'm one of those fellows that do it for a couple of months. I wasn't psyched by Al. That's his thing and this time I won. Next time out he could be the one that comes out on top."

FAR AWAY — Reggie Jackson swings and watches the ball go over the right field fence for a three-run homer in the eighth inning Tuesday in Kansas City. He helped New York to a 7-1 victory in the American League championship opener.

Arkansas, which had to come from behind in the second half to defeat Tulsa 21-13, slipped from second to fourth with three first-place votes and 1,062 points. The Razorbacks had been runner-up in every previous poll this season.

The other two first-place ballots went to Penn State, which clobbered Texas Christian 58-0 and received 1,049 points. Texas received 917 points for a 24-7 triumph over Texas Tech.

Texas A&M went from eighth to seventh with 853 points following a 58-0 rout of Memphis State. The Aggies traded places with Alabama, which needed a second-half rally to beat Vanderbilt 51-28.

Pittsburgh remained in ninth place by defeating North Carolina 20-16.

Florida State, the only member of last week's Top Ten to lose Saturday, fell from 10th to 18th by dropping a 27-21 decision to Houston. The Seminoles were replaced in the 10th position by Nebraska, which jumped from 12th following a 69-17 mauling of Indiana.

The Second Ten consists of Louisiana State, Maryland, Colorado, Ohio State, Iowa State, UCLA, Stanford, Florida State, Auburn and North Carolina State.

Last week, it was LSU, Nebraska, Ohio State, Missouri, Maryland, Colorado, Iowa State, UCLA, Georgia and Stanford.

Auburn and North Carolina State appeared in the Top Twenty for the first time this season. Auburn whipped Tennessee 29-10 while N.C. State trounced Wake Forest 34-10. They replaced Missouri, which lost to Oklahoma, and Georgia, which was beaten by South Carolina 27-10.

Sooners still No. 1 USC replaces Hogs

Oklahoma held onto first place in The Associated Press college football poll today, while Southern California moved into the second spot and Arkansas dropped from second to fourth.

Michigan also climbed ahead of Arkansas into third place, while Penn State and Texas stayed in the fifth and sixth positions and Texas A&M replaced Alabama in seventh.

Oklahoma, 4-0 following a 45-23 victory over Missouri, received 38 of 63 first-place votes and 1,226 of a possible 1,260 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Southern Cal, third last week, moved up to second with a 30-9 triumph over Michigan State. The Trojans received 14 first-place votes and 1,166 points.

Michigan rose from fourth to third with six first-place votes and 1,093 points.

OU stresses kicking game

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The No. 1 ranked Oklahoma Sooners put special emphasis on the punting and kicking games Tuesday afternoon in preparation for their annual clash with Texas on Saturday.

"The kicking game will be very important in the determining the outcome of the game," Head Coach Barry Switzer said.

Switzer was pleased with the overall performance of the Sooners during Tuesday's workout. "We had a good practice. Both the offense and the defense looked good," Switzer said.

The Sooners also spent time working on conditioning, doing a lot of running at the end of practice. "We anticipate it to be hot on the Cotton Bowl turf," Switzer said.

Oklahoma took a couple of hard knocks in their victory over Missouri last week but nobody should miss the game against Texas because of injury.

Noseguard Reggie Kinlaw returned to practice after missing Monday's workout, due to a sore knee.

Halfback Jimmy Rogers is still not at full strength but should be by Thursday.

Rogers is suffering from a bruised leg.

Phils confident entering playoffs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies were talking tall going into tonight's National League playoff opener, while the Los Angeles Dodgers were relatively reserved.

"I just feel we're ready for an offensive explosion," said Mike Schmidt, among several Phils who haven't been their dynamite selves at bat this season. "But I don't think it matters what we do offensively because I think our pitching is going to stop them."

"We'll win it in three," Phillie Manager Danny Ozark said casually in the dugout as he awaited the best-of-five set that starts with two games here and finishes in Los Angeles. "I think our pitching is as good as Los Angeles'. Our defense is better."

"We're about 20 points below the team batting average we had last year. But I really expect the guys in so-called prolonged slumps to be a hell of a lot better hitters than they were all year."

The Dodgers worked out later Thursday, and this is how they reacted to the Phillies' confidence.

"They're supposed to feel confident. They're giving their honest opinions about how they feel," said second baseman Dave Lopes. "All I know is that we'll find out in the next five days who is the best."

Manager Tom Lasorda, asked about Ozark's prediction of a sweep, gave the same answer again and again.

"That's what he said last year," said Lasorda, whose team ousted the Phils in four games in the 1977 playoffs.

"He is going to say what he believes," Lasorda added. "But opinions are like noses, everybody has one. We came here to win, and we feel like that's what we are going to do. But I'm not going to predict how many games it will take. I'm not that smart."

Philadelphia starting pitcher Larry Christenson took a deceptive 13-14 record into tonight's matchup with Dodger starter Burt Hooton, 19-10.

In Christenson's 14 losses, the Phillies scored at least of 21 runs.

"I won't talk about that except to say that it's made me a better pitcher," he said. "I feel I've pitched my best baseball this past year."

If you wanted to listen to all of the various reasons for the sagging fortunes of the Steer athletic teams in recent years, you could probably write a book.

All kinds of excuses could be heard. Some of the more typical are that the players party too much, that there are too many blacks, or too many white boys, etc. But these types of excuses are universal around the country, and I guess the world. Especially if the particular team that this type of fan follows is losing. If the team happens to be winning, this fan will offer such profound statements as "Yeah, well, you've got to have a lot of blacks to win", or "they win because they know how to party right", etc. Of course there are always the coaching critics. Coaches probably rank at the top for creating controversy while trying to restrain from it. While the preceding excuses are at times legitimate, they are usually coffee house and bar room bull.

Another excuse is that Big Spring is undermanned. If you look at the enrollment of other district schools, you would notice that Big Spring is at the bottom. But under the present structure, it's something that the school has to abide by. Sure, the other schools have more people to choose from, but everyone can only play eleven in football, five in basketball, and so on. The real problem is depth, which is in direct relation to school enrollment and does more drastically tend to have an effect on Big Spring than it does to Permian or Central.

There is another alibi that I have not heard, simply because most people in the community are very unaware of it. It's really not an alibi, just a problem. It pertains to certain facilities that Big Spring High School either does not have, or structures that are inadequate in their present usage. The more noticeable weaknesses are the weightlifting facilities, the tennis courts and lack of gym space.

The Booster Club announced earlier that it had planned to raise a somewhat colossal sum of 150,000 dollars in order to install an all-weather surface on the Memorial Stadium track, and to renovate some of the seats. Which is a very honorable and worthwhile goal. Since it (Memorial Stadium) is something that the public donor is more likely to see and use, it would also be easier to raise funds for.

It would cost 10,000 dollars at a maximum for an adequate edifice equipped with one weight machine and sufficient free weights, plus what is already in use. Presently, every high school athlete, male and female, has to use one machine, two bars and one bench. To compound the current dilemma, it has to be located in the junior varsity boy's football locker room. This creates all kinds of problems.

Why a weight room? Because strength is so very important, both physically and mentally, in almost any of the more popular sports. Strength through weights is probably more important in football than in other sports, but it is essential in so many sports as well. Strength through lifting is becoming very widespread in basketball, as many professional basketball players and other authorities of the hardwoods are realizing that quickness, flexibility and strength are better than quickness and flexibility. Weightlifting is also used as a safeguard from injuries. Injuries, if you remember, do have an effect on the problem of depth.

So which priority do you take care of first? Do you need an extra gym, a better weight facility, new tennis courts or new seats and an all-purpose track at the stadium? It comes back to the question of priorities. Which is the proper stepping stone?

Do you renovate the stadium seats and include an all-weather track in order to show the public that improvement is being made? Or do you take care of the athlete's working conditions first? Which is more important?

It seems that to beautify the stadium without helping the athlete is like buying an elegant restaurant and serving greasy hamburgers and cheap wine.

If the people of the community really want to help, they need to honestly consider every priority, its cost, and its place on the ladder to success.

In TCU's 14-10 victory over Oregon two weeks ago, freshman Steve Stamp threw two touchdown passes in the fourth quarter for the Frogs. Although Stamp is the backup quarterback, he didn't take a snap against the Ducks. He threw one pass from the tailback position and the other as the holder on a fake field goal... Freshman Ron Reeves performance against Arizona was the best by a Tech freshman in the Raiders' Southwest Conference history. He completed 11 of 14 for 159 yards and two scores... Coach Mike Hart of Colorado City has an opening in the Lone Wolf Basketball Tournament to be held on December 7, 8, and 9. A varsity boys and girls team is needed in both brackets, Class A or AA teams, preferably... Wade Cobb, former Steer, is on the Sul Ross Lobos roster as a quarterback... Another former Steer, James Coffee, has an injured knee and is temporarily out of action for the University of New Mexico. James' brother, Kenneth, is making his mark for Tyler Junior College. In a recent game against Wharton, the 175-pound freshman had one pass interception and two fumble recoveries in a 33-10 victory. Coffee had the highest grade defensively for the Apaches, who were ranked ninth nationally in this week's junior college rankings. Last Saturday, Kenneth blocked a Navarro punt and recovered it in the end zone for a touchdown in the Apache victory. Tyler will face fifth-ranked Kilgore this weekend.

CAMPBELL'S SUCCESSOR AT TEXAS — Johnny "Ham" Jones, Earl Campbell's successor at running back at Texas had an Earl Campbell-type game against Texas Tech last Saturday. Jones, a senior from Hamlin, gained 128 yards on 21 carries, including touchdown runs of 14 and 16 yards against Texas Tech and earned the honor of being named Associated Press Southwest Conference offensive player-of-the-week.

Akers praises Okie offense

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The world will be watching Saturday when Oklahoma, scoring at the rate of nearly a point a minute, meets Texas' quickstriking defenders, says Texas Coach Fred Akers.

Top-ranked Oklahoma has not scored a touchdown against Texas since 1975, but the 1978 Sooners are averaging nearly 50 points a game in their 4-0 season.

No. 6 Texas has allowed only 10 points in winning three and losing none. They will play before a sellout crowd of 72,032 in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas and a regional television audience.

"This thing goes beyond Dallas, Norman (Okla.) and Austin," Akers told his weekly news conference Monday. "The game has worldwide appeal. It is a true classic."

To contain Oklahoma, the leading rushing team in college football, Texas must abide by the First Commandment of defensive football, Akers said. "The First Commandment," he said, "is take away the big play, the easy touchdown, the long gainer — and Oklahoma is a big-play team."

"We haven't faced anyone with close to the firepower Oklahoma has," Akers said.

"There is no question," he said, "that Oklahoma has outstanding personnel. It's not that they are just outstanding physically. They're pretty much a senior ball club. ... Add experience to that ability and that's why they're No. 1."

Texas had its best offensive showing of the year in defeating Texas Tech, 24-

7, at Lubbock on Saturday, and Longhorn coaches chose halfback Johnny "Ham" Jones as Texas' outstanding offensive player. Tackle Bill Akers was named the top defensive player.

Jones ran 21 times for 128 yards, including scoring runs of 14 and 16 yards. Akers was credited with 15 tackles, 12 unassisted.

Texas, coming off a punchless 17-3 victory over Wyoming, had 396 yards total offense against Tech, and Akers was asked how the Oklahoma defense compared to Tech.

"They're bigger and faster and more experienced," Akers said of Oklahoma.

The Oklahoma offense is guided by quarterback Thomas Lott, and Akers said, "I've never seen Lott when he didn't look awesome."

No matter what formation Oklahoma is in, he said, "When the ball is snapped, they do the same thing — here they come."

"This is going to be a great challenge for our young football team," Akers said.

Several Texas players are injured, including safety Johnnie Johnson, who tackled Lott at the Texas five-yard-line to preserve Texas' 13-6 victory last year. Johnson has a pulled hamstring muscle, and Akers said he could not predict whether Johnson would play.

Akers has a sprained toe and Steve McMichael, the other defensive tackle, also has a pulled hamstring. Jones has a bruised shoulder and safety Ricky Churman has a bruised hip.

"Whoever is there will fight," Akers promised.

Above the Call winners

Three area teams were in action on a sparse weekend for high school football, and two of these were victorious. All three schools had outstanding performances from numerous performers, but three stood "Above the Call."

Grady Wildcat coach Richard Gibson exalted the play of junior quarterback Ronald Chee. Chee played both offensively at the man under position and defensively for his middle linebacker position. Offensively, he rushed 11 times for 57 yards, and Gibson said "his execution of the veer offense was superb. He was the key." Defensively from his middle unassisted tackles and two quarterback sacks.

Garden City had numerous stars in their victory over Merton, but quarterback Kevin Hirt was singled out by Bearkat coach Jesse Smalley. "Ronald did a real fine job, both offensively and defensively." Hirt carried four times for 110 yards, with two of his jaunts resulting in touchdowns. He also had one unassisted and four assisted tackles from his defensive secondary position.

There were few bright spots in Sands 29-14 loss to Lorraine, but one that did shine was senior Van Gaskins. The halfback-linebacker played the entire game relentlessly in an unanswered attempt at victory.

Complacency worries Landry

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys need spark, miles and miles of spark.

"I just don't see any momentum at all," said Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry after an emotional 9-5 National Football League loss to the Washington Redskins Monday night.

"We don't have the spark you got to have," Landry, who only had two hours sleep before he viewed films of the loss, said Tuesday the major factor in his World Champions' disappointing 3-2 record is mental attitude.

"The whole game is mental," said Landry. "It's how you think and dedicate yourself to the job at hand. Everybody respects the Cowboys and that means they play harder and attack our weaknesses more. We are getting the best out of the opposition."

"That's not unusual. It happens to every successful athletic team. But we must recognize now we are not in a good position. We have a big mountain to climb and right now we are down in the valley."

Landry likened Dallas' position to that of world heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali.

"Everybody keeps telling you how good you are all the time and you start believing it," said Landry. "We were getting complacent. Even Ali got complacent and had to work to get his (boxing) title back."

"We now have a race without question in our (the National Conference Eastern) division," said Landry. "In our division now with Philadelphia and the New York Giants coming on every game you play is a tossup."

Landry said, "Washington is definitely in the driver's seat. Every game is a challenge for us."

Landry said Dallas could no longer afford to live off last year.

"Every team, every person tends to get by on the least you can, to achieve with minimum effort," he said. "Sometimes that's not enough."

Landry said the Cowboys were "playing good but not winning the big games. That's where you separate the winners from the losers."

Landry said it would be very difficult for the Cowboys to come off the emotional game with Washington and be ready for a visit from the New York Giants Sunday.

"It's a great challenge for us because the Giants can beat anybody," said Landry. "If our character is there it will start to show up."

Landry added "We're in for a long battle and if we don't get with it it's going to be a long winter."

Finley's suit denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley has been rebuffed by the nation's highest court in a suit he filed against baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn over Finley's aborted $2.5 million sale of three baseball stars.

The Supreme Court Monday decided not to hear a challenge to lower-court decisions supporting Kuhn's action blocking the 1976 sale of pitchers Vida Blue and Rolie Fingers and outfielder Joe Rudi.

Rutigliano won't fault referees

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns Coach Sam Rutigliano has taken up for his quarterback and refused to criticize officials in the Houston Oilers-Browns game Sunday.

Asked about quarterback Brian Sipe's recent inability to move the ball, Rutigliano said Monday, "He can't do it alone."

"Brian Sipe has to have everything going for him to be successful. He has to have the play-option pass, use all his receivers and have his running game working," the coach said after his team's 16-13 defeat at the hands of the Oilers.

Rutigliano said he intends to try running the ball more in this week's game against the New Orleans Saints to take the pressure off Sipe and play the kind of game in which Sipe does well.

From now on, he said, Calvin Hill and Larry Collins will work strictly at halfback and Cleo Miller and Mike Pruitt will be at fullback to obtain "some refinement in execution."

Commenting on the controversial play in the final seconds of Sunday's game which gave the Oilers a winning field goal, but brought jeers and bottles and cans sailing from stadium seats, Rutigliano said it was "a judgement call."

"Anytime you complain about officials you're a loser," he said.

BRACE YOURSELF — Pete Maravich buckles on his knee brace before a practice session with the New Orleans Jazz of the National Basketball Association. Maravich, leading scorer in the NBA two seasons ago, is coming back from a knee injury that sidelined him last January.

Iowa Central tops NJCAA

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Iowa Central moved into first place in the national junior college football rankings announced by the National Junior College Athletic Association, succeeding Mesa of Arizona.

Iowa Central defeated North Dakota State School of Science 37-0 and Mesa lost to the Brigham Young junior varsity 31-22 last week, dropping to seventh.

This week's top 15 rankings, in order: Iowa Central, Illinois Valley, Kilgore (Texas), New Mexico Military, Mississippi Gulf Coast, Chowan (N.C.), Mesa, Tyler (Texas), Minnesota-Crookston, Harford (Md.), Nassau (N.Y.), Coffeyville (Kan.), William Rainey Harper (Ill.), Ranger (Texas) and Inver Hills (Minn.).

Ledoux kayoes Wilder

WINNIPEG (AP) — Scott Ledoux of Minneapolis, who once fought to a draw with former champion Leon Spinks, scored a second-round knockout over Sylvester Wilder of Cleveland in a lopsided main-event boxing card Tuesday night.

Ledoux, who outweighed his opponent by more than 30 pounds, was in control throughout the scheduled 10-round match.

In another heavyweight bout, Leroy Caldwell of Milwaukee stopped Harold Carter of Cleveland in the eighth round.

On the same card, middleweight Clem Tucker of Minneapolis knocked out Terry Jesmer of Winnipeg in the fifth round.

Nets waive Laurel

PISCATAWAY, N.J. (AP) — Seldom-used second-year forward Rich Laurel has been placed on waivers, the New Jersey Nets have announced.

Laurel, released Tuesday, was signed by the Nets as a free agent after playing with three National Basketball Association clubs in his rookie year. Laurel, 6-foot-6½, was a 1977 first-round draft choice from Hofstra University by the Portland Trail Blazers. He later played with Atlanta and Milwaukee.

Laurel was used sparingly in two exhibition games by New Jersey, scoring eight points in 30 minutes of action.

Colt bought for $290,000

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A standard-bred record price of $290,000 was paid for a colt by Meadow Skipper in Tuesday's session of the Tattersall yearling sale here.

The yearling, out of Lady Emily, was purchased by Leon and Lorraine Machiz of Great Neck, N.Y. The price broke the record of $260,000 paid last year for the Meadow Skipper colt Escape Artist.

The five highest-priced standardbred yearlings of all time are sons of Meadow Skipper, who stands at Stoner Creek Stud.

Stoner Creek established a sale record for average price per animal in selling 32 yearlings for an average of $59,891.

Stanley Dancer, a Hall of Fame driver who paid a record $220,000 for a filly in Tuesday's session, paid $165,000 Tuesday for a half-sister to trotting Triple Crown winner Super Bowl.

'Skins won't let down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins, with an undefeated record and a victory over the Super Bowl-champion Dallas Cowboys, don't expect to crash-land when they meet the Detroit Lions in a National Football League game Sunday.

"There's no way we can overlook the Detroit Lions," said Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann Tuesday night. "We're going up there and playing them in their own stadium. We have to continue to do what we've done in the last five weeks."

Coach Jack Pardee said: "We're riding high after the Dallas win but we've got to get ourselves rested physically and mentally and get back up again. We have to get fired up and I'm sure the players will."

Volleyballers rout Permian

The Big Spring Steers upped their district record to 2-1 last night in a 15-5, 15-2 rout of the Odessa Permian Panthers. Kathy Birdwell led the winners with 13 points and Brenda Beil had eight. Coach Carole Bartasek was extremely pleased with the performance of her group. "We played as one unit. We looked super outstanding spiking, especially Birdwell and Sherry Byrd. Beil also had a fine game setting up the volleyball."

The Steer JV's set the stage for the varsity by winning by identical scores of the varsity, 15-5, 15-2. Polly Puerifoy had 11 and Dee Earhardt contributed nine for the Shorthorns. The JV's were playing without the services of Jackie Roach. Both squads return to action tomorrow night when they travel to Midland to tangle with the Lee Rebels. In the recent Duncanville Tournament, Steer Kathy Birdwell made the All-Tournament team. This is quite an honor, as only 12 girls out of a possible 300 were picked.

Steer ducats sold at business office

Tickets for the Big Spring-Abilene game will be on sale in the business office by the high school until two o'clock Friday afternoon. They can be purchased today and tomorrow from eight until five. Reserved ducats are three dollars. They also will be available at the gate Friday night.

Frustrated Red Sox face long winter . . .

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox once again are baseball's most notable bridesmaids, with nothing to show for two seasons of American League pennant contention except 196 victories.

The latest campaign, which ended with Monday's AL East tiebreaker loss to the New York Yankees, capped yet another season of frustration for a team that is familiar with failure in September.

Perhaps no team in baseball has less to show for a long year of dramatic ups and downs than the Red Sox, whose 1978 season represented one of the great tumbles in the history of the sport.

Veteran slugger Carl Yastrzemski was left teary-eyed by the near miss, vowing to hang on until the Red Sox snare the brass ring.

"Someday," said the 39-year-old Yastrzemski, "we'll get the cigar. . . I'm going to play on a world champion."

But it will be another year, another long season spanning spring training to early fall, before the Red Sox captain gets his chance, if then.

Boston began the year with a supposedly awesome lineup and a pitching staff bolstered by expensive free agents and newcomers obtained in trades or promoted from the minors.

The team moved into first place in May and opened a 10-game lead in early July. On July 19, Boston had a comfortable lead over the Baltimore Orioles and the surprising Milwaukee Brewers. The Yankees were 14 games back, torn by internal strife.

The figuring was that the Red Sox could breeze even if they played 500 baseball, instead of 700.

Boston played 500, but the Yankees played 700. New York humiliated the Red Sox in four straight games at Fenway Park in September, beat them in Yankee Stadium and won the sudden-death showdown after a late Red Sox charge forced the tiebreaker.

Injuries to Yastrzemski, catcher Carlton Fisk, shortstop Rick Burleson, second baseman Jerry Remy, reliever Bill Campbell and right fielder Dwight Evans were blamed. The Boston bench, which looked so impressive in the spring, turned out to be weak in the clutch.

So did several Boston regulars who were healthy. Righthander Mike Torrez, a $2.6 million free agent and Yankee hero in the 1977 playoffs and World Series, was 1-6 down the stretch, and he lost the playoff game.

Jim Rice had a season for the record books, leading the major leagues in virtually every hitting category except average: 46 home runs, 139 RBI, 213 hits, 15 triples, 121 runs, a .315 batting mark. He appeared in all 163 games.

Reliever Bob Stanley, 15-2, and starter Dennis Eckersley, 20-8, exceeded expectations and Fisk, playing a remarkable 157 games, was a backbone of the club.

But it all was washed away on a cool, early October afternoon when New York's Rich Gossage retired Rice and Yastrzemski with the winning run on base in the bottom of the ninth inning.

They started fast and finished with a charge, but in between the Red Sox somehow found a way to lose. Some would use the word choke.

The Red Sox cleaned house after a near-miss in 1977.

By last summer, 22 players who had been part of the previous season had been cut, sold, traded or just plain purged.

Ridin' fence

One more time

with Marj Carpenter

I'm a newcomer to Big Spring although I've spent over a quarter century in West Texas. But I love this town.

And in the seven years I've been around here, I've heard lots of people tell these tales:

"Back when the oil companies were coming into West Texas, they came first to Big Spring because we were the most prosperous town at that time.

"But when they got ready to purchase property down near the square for their offices, there were some local people that would not sell to them.

"There were others who didn't want oil people in town. We like our town the way it is. Oil people are rough people. They have fights every night in Borger and Wink."

These are the things they say they said. You know how that is — it may or may not be true.

The oil offices — the production offices — you're right — they moved to Midland and it was the beginning of the boom years for Midland.

There's another tale that goes around town. "Once upon a time Texas Tech was hunting a location. Big Spring was one of the final four being considered.

"Some of the folks around town didn't want college kids. They cause all kinds of trouble. First thing you know it would be costing the taxpayers. We'd have to build all kinds of things," the old folks recall.

"So nobody came up with any good land offers and it went to Lubbock," they add firmly.

And that was the beginning of the boom years for Lubbock.

Then there was the time, that some folks thought some money should be spent to upgrade the airport and obtain a second airline.

"But we stopped that. We had letters to the editor and comments in a column and all kinds of things to stop that cost to the taxpayer," one old-timer recalls.

"After all, we already had an airline. Big Spring didn't need two."

That airline went to Terminal and then another and then another. And that was the beginning of the boom at Terminal Airport.

Now Big Spring has no airline at all.

But thankfully, there were always people in there plugging. They got Cosden. They got Webb. They got the VA hospital and years ago the Big Spring State Hospital. Thank goodness for those folks. Webb is gone.

In its place, a group has been working hard again. Even though they love the town the way it is, they know that anything that does not progress will probably eventually regress. What if the government shut down VA Hospitals? What if Cosden closed down? Neither of these are planned, but nobody can firmly predict the future.

So the group is working for Lockheed. They worked hours preparing a grant application to get a million dollars worth of help for a needed hangar.

Then comes the word — the petitions are out. "We'll stop that. We'll see about that. You can't do this to us."

But some folks say "This is too good a town to die on the vine" — out where I ride fence.

Conveyance of Webb property to City of Big Spring likely

The office of U.S. Sen. John Tower has informed The Herald that the Texas Republican has written a letter to Joel Soleman, administrator of General Services Administration, urging that the agency complete the conveyance of property at the former Webb AFB to the City of Big Spring as soon as practicable.

Stories have emanated from Washington that the conveyance will formally take place the latter part of this month, probably around the 26th.

Both parties campaigning

Political race warming up with new flood of activity

By the Associated Press

The rapidly warming Texas political season is gaining momentum with a new flood of announcements, charges and endorsements.

Top Democrats John Hill and Bob Krueger Tuesday announced they will join with other local and statewide candidates for an all-out highway and helicopter campaign tour of central and east Texas on Oct. 20-21.

Hill is a candidate for governor and Krueger is after Republican John Tower's seat in the U.S. Senate.

"This is definitely a departure from the traditional method of single candidate campaigning," Texas Democratic Party chairman Billy Goldberg said.

"The fast-paced tour is designed to allow Hill and Krueger maximum exposure in rural as well as urban areas. We don't have to hide behind prepaid and carefully packaged advertising. We're taking our campaign straight to the people."

Democrats weren't the only ones heard.

Tower told a crowd of supporters in San Antonio that Krueger "has a way of playing fast and loose with truth as far as the record is concerned... He says his absenteeism is unimportant, since he is in Congress to vote for more important measures. Some of us have different views of what is important," Tower said, pointing to what he said were a succession of missed veterans' program votes by Krueger.

Krueger's campaign officials took time Tuesday to answer an earlier charge by Tower that Krueger couldn't be sensitive to veterans' needs because he didn't serve in the Armed Forces. Aides said the Congressman didn't serve because he had asthma.

Tower's campaign manager Ken Towery, in a San Antonio speech last week, charged that "Krueger has the audacity to circulate material poking fun at John Tower for having been just an average enlisted man in the Navy." Towery charged that Krueger "hid out in academia, studying poetry, while his peers were being called to the colors."

FTC investigates bill collectors

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you've ever answered a ringing telephone at 2 a.m. only to hear a bill collector threaten: "pay up or we'll sue," the federal government wants to hear from you.

The Federal Trade Commission today launched an investigation into whether bill collectors are following a new law forbidding threats, impersonating police officers and harassing telephone calls.

The FTC, enforcing the law on the books since March 20, asked consumers to report collectors who have violated its long list of prohibitions.

The agency's Lewis Goldfarb said it has received more than a thousand complaints about bill collectors since the law took effect.

He said some of the complaints involve abusive calls and collectors who contacted employers, neighbors and friends — practices the law was designed to stop in the $5 billion-a-year collection industry.

The FTC is also looking into possible loopholes in the law, which applies only to "third party" collectors, those who collect money owed to someone else.

Congress did not include creditors trying to collect their own debts, thinking businesses would not subject their customers to the "hit-and-run" tactics of some collection agencies.

But the commission said it would examine the collection practices of department stores and other businesses exempted because they collect their own debts.

The FTC originally wanted "direct collectors" included in the bill, but they were exempted in a compromise that resulted in narrow House approval of the measure, regarded as one of the major consumer laws of the 95th Congress.

The FTC said it would investigate whether abusive tactics by "direct collectors" violate other laws forbidding unfair and deceptive trade practices.

Some of the forbidden practices, which carry FTC penalties of up to $10,000, are:

—Sending simulated telegrams implying imminent legal action although there is no such plan.

—Threats of violence, obscene language and repeated phone calls.

—Calls between 9 p.m. and 8 a.m.

—Calls at work if the employer doesn't allow the borrower to receive them.
