SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE — This was the scene that awaited visitors to the second annual Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival when they entered the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum on the Howard College campus Saturday. The floor of the coliseum was fairly well filled with a variety of art and hand-crafted works. Some of the best known artists in the Southwest set up displays here. The festival, free to the public, continues through today.

Ships collide, 11 perish

REEDVILLE, Va. (AP) — Navy scuba divers probed the depths of Chesapeake Bay on Saturday in search of 11 men feared dead in the hull of a Coast Guard cutter that sank after colliding with an Argentine coal freighter.

Officials held out hope the missing crewmen reached airpockets left when the cutter Cuyahoga capsized "like a paper cup" while on a training mission Friday night off Smith Point.

But the first divers on the scene said there were "no signs of life," said a Coast Guard spokesman, Cmdr. Jack Goldthorpe. "The conditions are very, very bad," he said.

Eighteen crewmen were pulled from the water after the 125-foot cutter collided with the 521-foot Argentine collier and sank in about 57 feet of water about four miles from here, near the Maryland-Virginia border.

None of the 37 crewmen aboard the Santa Cruz was injured, said Ben Wilson, a Baltimore shipping agent. The collier had left Baltimore with a load of coal en route to Brazil, authorities said.

Asked if the missing crewmen could have survived, Petty Officer Day Boswell, a Coast Guard spokeswoman, said, "Yes, that's why we're conducting this search. Some of them could have gotten in life rafts and life jackets and gotten to shore."

She said Saturday the vessel apparently overturned "like a paper cup," possibly leaving some air in the vessel. "Maybe there are some airlocks. That's why we're going whole-hog... this morning."

Chief Petty Officer C. L. Kern said the cause of the collision was not known. He said the weather was clear, the seas calm and visibility unlimited at the time of the crash.

The Coast Guard cutter, which was commissioned in 1927, was located lying on its left side on the hard-sand bottom 3.7 miles northeast of Smith Point at about 9 a.m., some 12 hours after the collision.

But Lt. John Kercher, the captain of a Coast Guard vessel which surveyed the collision site late Saturday morning, said the first divers on the scene reported the ship was hit amidship and there were apparently no airpockets.

Kercher said one survivor told him that the Cuyahoga sank within three minutes of the collision not giving anyone much time to launch lifeboats.

All the missing men were Coast Guard personnel, authorities said. Lt. J.G. Thomas Philpott, a Coast Guard spokesman, said there were originally 16 officer candidates or trainees and 13 crewmen who were permanently based on the ship.

The identifications of all the crewmen were being withheld, authorities said.

Airborne raiders kill 1,500

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Airborne Rhodesian raiders blasted 12 black nationalist guerrilla camps and killed an estimated 1,500 guerrillas deep inside Zambia last week, the military announced Saturday. The reported death toll made it the bloodiest cross-border operation by the Rhodesians in the six-year-old guerrilla war.

Rhodesian forces also struck bases in Mozambique, the military said, but casualties there were not announced. It said that during the raids into Zambia the Rhodesians clashed briefly with Zambian troops.

The communique said the raiders reported 500 guerrillas killed during the strikes Thursday on three major insurgent bases and nine satellite camps in Zambia, but that Zambian estimates put the toll at more than 1,500.

Previously the highest reported death toll was in a raid last November against insurgent camps in Mozambique, when the Rhodesian military reported killing 1,200 persons.

The military said all Rhodesian troops and warplanes had been pulled out of both countries.

STENHOLM SUPPORTERS — Local backers attended a fund-raising dinner at Howard College Saturday night to hear four men speak. They are, left to right, Jim Baum, Democrat candidate for Congress in the 17th District; Omar Burleson, outgoing veteran Congressman of 34 years and State Sen. Ray Farabee.

who was master of ceremonies; Charles Stenholm, Voters in 17th district 'down-to-earth'

Stenholm urges spending cut

By MARJ CARPENTER
"If there was just some way to make 217 members of Congress realize that the Congress should think the way the people in this district think, it would help the entire nation," Charles Stenholm, Democratic nominee for the 17th Congressional District, told a room filled with supporters at Howard College Saturday night.

The candidate was stressing the fact that people in the 17th District are more conservative and down-to-earth and are concerned with less governmental interference in their lives.

The $25-a-plate dinner featured not only the congressional candidate from Stamford but also the outgoing congressman of the District, Omar Burleson of Anson.

Burleson spoke in behalf of Stenholm as did State Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls and Jim Baum of Big Spring, who ran third in the Democratic primary last spring.

Stenholm pointed out that he would "serve this sprawling district to the best of my ability, if elected." He said that he had been around the world four times in miles on his station wagon while campaigning.

He stressed that "By now most of you know what I stand for. I am strong for the agriculture and oil and gas industries and see a lot of similarities in the two. They are both for free enterprise and less big government."

Stenholm added, "By now you know how I stand on the issues. I have been campaigning hard for 14 months. A lot of people wonder how you can tell whether a candidate will stand by his promises. You have to have faith. Sometimes that faith is broken, but most of the time, it is kept. And that is how America has come this far in its 202 years."

He once again stressed that there are only 13 farmers in Congress "and that is one reason the farmer does not have a very strong position there." He has expressed interest in, if elected, serving on the agriculture committee and has discussed it with some members of that committee.

He thanked Congressman Burleson for his years of service and also for his faith in Stenholm's candidacy. Stenholm thanked Sen. Farabee and State Representatives Mike Ezzell and Elmer Martin, who were in the audience and Jim Baum.

Stenholm said again that "talking about cutting taxes without cutting spending is not sound economics. We must cut government spending and then cut taxes." He stressed that he would be for a constitutional amendment for a balance of the federal budget.

"We all want less government in our lives," he told an enthusiastic crowd who broke his speech with applause on numerous occasions.

He thanked his supporters and said, "Over 6,000 individuals in the district have contributed the $250,000 that has been necessary to finance this campaign and we appreciate this from the bottom of our hearts. It's wonderful to have that many individuals backing us in this race."

At a press conference prior to the dinner, he said, "There will be one more important poll — on Nov. 7 on the day of the election." He also said that he would be very much in favor of shortening the time between the Texas primary and general election from May to September to save expense and time for everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. James Barr, Frog Koger, Clyde McMahon, Sr., K. H. McGibbon and Virginia Black were thanked for their work on the banquet along with many others.

The Rev. Jim Taylor, Coahoma Methodist Church, gave the opening invocation and the Rev. Bill Smythe, First Christian Church, gave the benediction. Mrs. Marilyn Newsom led in singing "God Bless America."

Jane Ray, state committeewoman, led the Pledge of Allegiance. Other officials introduced included Hal Boyd, Howard County Democratic chairman, County Judge Bill Tune and Jack Buchanan, county commissioner.

Other platform guests included Mrs. Burleson, Mrs. Stenholm and Mrs. Baum. The Baums had earlier today ridden into the John Tarleton homecoming parade in Stephenville. Stenholm attended junior college there.

The candidate and his backers expressed optimism concerning the election, but Stenholm added, "We are still campaigning and going straight to the people. We have met many of them during these 14 months and want to meet as many as possible so that we can know how the people all over the district feel about issues."

Stenholm will be back in Big Spring on Oct. 30 during one of his four final bus tours of the district.

Probation official linked to shooting

By JAMES WERRELL and ROBERT BURTON

Joe M. Garcia, 34, 4204 Parkway, was in surgery at the Veteran's Administration Hospital early this morning five hours after he was shot in the stomach.

Arrested in connection with the shooting was Rojello H. Monje, 21, 1005 E. 13th. Monje is a clerk at the Howard County Probation office.

Garcia apparently walked into the hospital shortly after 8 p.m. Saturday. He was put in intensive care.

Police heard shot fired near the 200 block of North Scurry and found Garcia staggering near his car at the scene. Officers immediately pursued a fleeing car but lost sight of it on the north side of the city.

As investigators have pieced the incident together, two cars pulled adjacent to each other on North Scurry. The occupants of both cars exchanged insults, and Garcia got out of his car and approached the other.

As he did so, according to reports, three shots were fired, one of which hit Garcia in the stomach. The car from which the shots were fired fled north with police in pursuit.

Garcia was taken by friends to the V.A. Hospital when he underwent surgery Saturday night.

A warrant for Monje was issued by Justice of the Peace Lulu Adams after officers spoke with witnesses at the scene.

According to Howard County Probation officer Guy Talbot, Monje has been employed by the probation office since February.

"He is not employed in a supervisory capacity," said Talbot. "He is a pre-sentence investigator. This was apparently an incident involving prior county probationers."

"When I heard about the matter, I contacted Roy at his parent's home. This was between 10:30 p.m. and 11 p.m. He had not heard that there was a warrant out for his arrest, and he agreed to surrender himself to authorities."

Action/reaction: Pension plans

Q. I've heard a lot about pension plans offered in big-time sports. Are they really that good?

A. Baseball is supposed to have the best plan going, mainly because its program has been in existence longer. In baseball, a player needs only four years in the big leagues to become eligible for retirement pay. The NFL pension pay is good and getting better. Take George Blanda, a fellow who played into his 40s, as an example. He's now 51 and could start drawing $939.60 a month immediately. If he waits until he is 55, his monthly check would reach $1,305. If he holds off until he's 65, his monthly payments would total an astonishing $3,419.

NEW CHRISTY MINSTRELS LAUGH IT UP
Will perform Nov. 3 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum

Minstrels, Jana-Lou will share spotlight

The New Christy Minstrels, a major phenomenon in the history of the entertainment industry, will be appearing with Foster Brooks in the Gala Evening benefiting the Endowment Fund of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center on Friday, Nov. 3 at 7 p.m. in the new Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at Howard College in Big Spring.

Since their beginning in 1961, The New Christy Minstrels have surpassed virtually every major milestone of professional achievement — and more important — continue to entertain audiences throughout the world as one of the most exciting and versatile acts in all of show business.

Everyone understands good music and entertaining fun — even presidents and queens. Presidents Kennedy, Johnson, and Nixon each invited The New Christy Minstrels to perform at the White House on several occasions and it was in May, 1968, that The Minstrels were honored with a command performance for the Queen of England. One of the most memorable visits to the White House was welcoming our returned prisoners of war back from Vietnam. Having made two trips to Vietnam during the war, The Minstrels were asked to appear on the program to welcome the boys home.

Over the years, The New

Christy Minstrels have appeared with such personalities as Bob Hope, Danny Thomas, Vikki Carr, The Fifth Dimension, Alan King, Connie Francis, Jimmy Durante, Joey Bishop, Jose Feliciano, Dinah Shore, Julie Andrews, Foster Brooks, Buddy Hackett, and Phyllis Diller to name but a few.

Jana-Lou, a vivacious blonde "show stopper" with the winning combination of beauty, talent, musical variety and song, will round out the evening heading Foster Brooks. Background music will be provided by the Gary Lee Orchestra of Dallas.

Tickets for the Gala, which are being sold at $10 a ticket are available at The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, Swartz, Blum's Jewelers, Gray's Jewelers, Citizens Federal Credit Union, Newsom's Foods and the administration office at Howard College. Tickets can also be obtained by calling 263-1062. All checks are tax deductible and should be made payable to: Endowment Fund, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Tickets will also be available today at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center's booth on the south concourse of the coliseum during the Arts and Crafts Festival.

Whole lot at stake

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — When the 215 employees of Alcan Aluminum Corp.'s cable plant here worked 12 months last year without an accident, the company's president broiled steaks as a token of his appreciation.

Then he bet them they couldn't do it again.

Roy Gentles, the president, was back in his apron Friday, having flown in from company headquarters in Cleveland to cook up some more. And this time he threw in some strawberry shortcake.

The two years of no accidents embraces 666,377 work hours, said Paul Rill, local plant manager.

HOW MUCH WATER SHOULD YOU DRINK?

All living cells of the body function in a fluid environment. This fluid is steadily lost through the gastrointestinal and urinary tracts. More is lost by perspiration and through the lungs. It must be replaced because the skin cannot absorb moisture from the air no matter how humid the day.

The body usually functions best if two quarts of liquids are taken in each day. One quart is considered the minimum. So estimate how much you get each day in coffee, etc., and drink additional water to help keep you healthier.

Colorado City Railroad Arts, Crafts Roundup booked

Artists and craftsmen from throughout West Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico are expected to set up booths and displays of their handiwork for the 6th annual Colorado City Railroad Arts and Crafts Roundup Saturday, Oct. 28 and Sunday, Oct. 29.

The Railroad Arts and Crafts Roundup, so named in recognition of Colorado City's status as a railroad for West Texas in the 1880's, will be held in and around the Mitchell County Fair Grounds, West Highway 80.

Many of the artists and craftsmen attending have donated items which will be given away in drawings through the day. Everyone attending is asked to register in order to be eligible for the drawings.

Artists and craftsmen will have items for sale at the roundup. All of the items will be hand made and created by the artists and craftsmen themselves. In addition, there will be demonstrations of spinning, weaving, jewelry making, and other crafts.

Some of the items to be on display include all media of art work (oil, water colors, pencil, charcoal), macramé, handpainted china, woodcraft, pottery, tole painting, weaving, leather goods, frames, jewelry, and much, much more.

In conjunction with the Roundup, the restored Colorado City Opera House will present a melodrama entitled "Lady Audley's Walk," scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Tickets will be available at the Opera House.

On Saturday, live music will be provided by local fiddlers and pickers. The Do-Si-Do Square Dance Club will be entertaining from 2-4 p.m. on Saturday.

To provide entertainment on Sunday at 1:30 p.m. and 3:00 p.m., the LaQuota Indian Dancers will be coming from Odessa.

A team steer roping event will be held at 2 p.m. on the 28th; and the Mitchell County Gun Club has scheduled a Turkey Shoot for that weekend.

The Railroad Arts and Crafts Roundup is sponsored annually by the Cultural Committee of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce.

Opted for Piet, not Pik

South Africa's new prime minister, Pieter Botha, apparently has neither the inclination nor the desire to lead his nation out of its worsening problems.

On the contrary, he seems fully as defiant of the claims of racial and political justice as former Prime Minister John Vorster was. They likely were educated in the same political school.

One of the defiant courses upon which Vorster set South Africa has to do with Namibia, formerly identified as South West Africa.

THIS TERRITORY, under South African control, management and economic domination since the end of World War I, should long ago have been allowed to steer its own course, perhaps with the help of the United Nations.

Early last month, Vorster put an end to negotiations for that sort of arrangement, after which he said he was calling it a career.

The shock of this setback to the cause of peaceful change was sharply felt in Great Britain, France, Germany, Canada and, of course, in this country, which had been working to get South Africa out and the United Nations into Namibia.

With matters at such a stage, the British foreign secretary, Dr. David

Owen, noted recently that the initiative might well pass to the proponents of force.

Most observers agree that the likelihood of an escalating war has actually increased with the choice of Pieter Botha as prime minister. He is on record for stepping up the number of South African troops in Namibia, despite U.N. demands for them to leave.

NOW THAT he is head of the government, nothing appears to stand in the way of his carrying out a belligerent and inflexible 'strong man' policy that heads for confrontation.

The white South Africa public, which is another phrase for the ruling public, seemed to recognize this danger at the very moment when Pieter Botha, newly elected, stepped forth to speak to the crowd of 2,000 outside the Parliament building in Cape Town.

There were shouts of "We ant Pik," meaning the other Botha in South Africa politics, Roelof (Pik) Botha, foreign minister, a young, rising, less hard-line less right-wing politician.

The chant came too late, however. The National Party, setting its clock backward in this race against time, had opted not for Pik but for Piet.

"Just for fun, I'll pick the New York Yankees to win the World Series, and Los Angeles second."

This astounding prediction was published in the Big Spring Herald on Sunday, Sept. 17. Who wrote it? I did, that's who!

AND NOW FOR MY SECOND really big "scoop" of the year. The Durant Lions defeated the 10th ranked Ardmore Tigers, coached by ex-Big Spring Steer head football coach Bob Burris, in a tremendous 35-8 victory in Durant. And now I can go home again. It's been 20 years since the Lions roared over the Tigers.

Not popular

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Washington sees more than its share of special pleaders. They range in effectiveness from the hard-nosed, experienced professionals who lobby for big business and labor to the hot-eyed zealots who are obsessed with a particular cause and work for it with a single-minded fervor that frequently turns off the very politicians and bureaucrats they're trying to influence.

One such man-with-a-mission is an obscure physician named Robert Cotti Vixon. His dream is the prevention of cancer by means of a National Cancer Day, when "mini-detection centers" would give every American an annual check for signs of the killer disease.

ON THE FACE of it, Vixon's aim is not an unworthy one. There is mounting evidence that at least some of the millions the government is spending on the search for a cancer cure might more effectively be used for additional programs of cancer prevention.

But Vixon so far has failed to convince the people who count, and his methods have turned many of them off. Like a cartoon missionary Vixon invariably winds up in the soup when he tries to convert the skeptical Establishment chiefs.

Every single one of Vixon's requests for government funding of his proposal has been turned down. And, in the process, the never-say-die physician has managed to incur the wrath of federal and state officials, the American Cancer Society and the American Medical Association.

Cancer prevention, however, is a safe and popular cause among politicians. Despite his questionable track record, Vixon succeeded in signing up 130 congressmen for a resolution that would declare Sept. 8 National Cancer Day. He also has picked up support from scores of municipalities around the country.

But resolutions don't mean money, and the people who control federal funds are dead set against Vixon.

According to files of the Health, Education and Welfare Department, Vixon's goal of cancer prevention, though unquestionably laudable, is "unlikely to be realized by the methods outlined...would interfere with ongoing programs in local areas, or (is) already being supported by the National Cancer Institute or state and local officials."

Furthermore, federal regulators found, Vixon's organization "lacked the guidance of skilled professionals." This may be one reason the doctor's repeated applications for government funds have been turned down. By our count, he has applied unsuccessfully for a share of the taxpayers' largesse on nine separate occasions.

One application, for $4.3 million to set up a neighborhood detection center, was returned without review because Vixon failed to provide sufficient information.

ANOTHER REQUEST, for $9.6 million to research the "Socio-Medico Scientific Area of Cancer," was spiked after an on-site inspection by federal regulators. They concluded that Vixon's umbrella corporation, the United Cancer Institute, was not qualified because it "had never been audited and had no appreciable assets in capital, land or physical plant."

With each setback, Vixon seems to have been inspired to ever more determined efforts. He got in the habit of telephoning HEW officials almost daily with urgent pleas for his project.

"Whenever the secretary would say Dr. Vixon was on the phone, I'd cringe," recalls one federal official.

Eventually, from desperation or confusion, Nixon began to misrepresent the views of various officials toward his National Cancer Day proposal. In a letter to Assistant Secretary for Health James Dickson, the doctor claimed that Dickson's special assistant, Lowell Harmison, had "blessed" the project.

Harmison was outraged. "I take strong exception to your statement that I have 'blessed the movement,'" he wrote Vixon. "Neither I, nor anyone in this office has provided such an endorsement."

Another HEW official, in a letter outlining numerous deficiencies in a grant application, stressed that "planning, organization and implementation" of National Cancer Day were Vixon's responsibilities, not HEW's. Vixon turned his intended brushoff into a supposed victory and intimated that HEW had assigned him to be in charge of the project.

Consumers beware

WASHINGTON —The Washington Gas Light Co. just announced that it was seeking permission to impose new charges ranging from $7.80 to $14 a month on customers who cut their gas consumption significantly by substituting for its electricity or some other form of energy.

Companies around the country that supply electricity have warned people that if they conserve too much electricity their rates will also have to go up; and during California's drought last year the water companies raised rates on customers because they were not using enough water.

What is jawning on people in this country is that conservation may not guarantee anyone cheaper utility bills.

The Antrobus family was sitting around the living room during a freeze in 1989. They had all their clothes on but were still frozen. Mr. Antrobus had thrown most of the dining room furniture into the fireplace when there was a ring at the door. It was the man from the gas company:

"MR. ANTROBUS, I see you're heating your house by furniture instead of gas. We'll have to add an additional $50 to your bill."

"But we can't afford to heat with gas ever since they took the controls off. We have to conserve every cubic inch we can."

"That is not our problem, Mr. Antrobus. We're willing to provide you with gas at a price. If you don't buy it, it costs us money. We're not in the energy business for our health."

Mr. Antrobus threw a table into the fireplace.

"But we need gas for cooking, not for heating our home. We can't afford both."

"Then you'll have to pay for it. We don't like consumers who just want to cook with gas, but prefer to heat by burning their tables in the fireplace. I'm sure an extra $50 surcharge is not out of line."

"I guess not," said Mr. Antrobus wearily. "Would you give me a hand with this dresser? The top is formica and won't burn."

The gas man left by the front door. A few minutes later the man from the electricity company came in the back one.

"Why is everyone reading by candles?" he wanted to know.

"We're trying to save on electricity," Mrs. Antrobus said. "This is supposed to be the worst winter in years, and we need what little electricity we can afford for the television set."

"OUR REPORTS indicate you've only used a third of the amount of electricity you used three years ago."

"Yes, sir. We've been very careful. We never put on a light unless we have to."

"We'll have to charge you an extra $100 a month."

"Is that a surcharge?"

"No, that's a fine. Anyone who uses less than half the amount of electricity he used in a previous year is subject to a $100 fine and six months in prison. In your case the fine will be sufficient warning. But watch yourselves because we're keeping files on you."

He exited.

"This conservation is really costing us," Mrs. Antrobus said.

"It's still cheaper to burn the furniture than to pay the gas bills," Mr. Antrobus told her.

There was a knock on the door. It was a man from the Washington Furniture Energy Co. He said, "I regret to inform you that we will have to raise the price of furniture you are burning by $18 a chair."

"But why? We're using everything we can burn."

"So is everybody else. At this rate, all the furniture in the country will be used up by 1985 and we will be unable to supply our customers."

"Okay, back in the water, lady! We've magnanimously extended the time for your marathon swim!"

Asthma medicine can lose effectiveness

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 10-year-old has asthma quite bad. He has been taking ephedrine to help his breathing. This has been prescribed for some time now and it has helped. His asthma recently has seemed to get worse. We were wondering if there are other drugs besides the ephedrine that might help him over his bad periods. —Mr. and Mrs. J.D.

An interesting item in the Journal of the American Medical Association (July 7) discussed a report indicating that ephedrine might lose its effectiveness after long-term use. The case involved a 12-year-old boy. This is an outside possibility you might want to investigate with your doctor. There are other medicines equally effective in asthma control, and they might be tried. No general conclusions can be drawn from the report cited, but in questionable cases, the possibility is worth looking into.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am almost 30 and I haven't had my period yet. Will I be able to have children? Also, there is vaginal odor, no matter what douches I use. Can you suggest something? —J.F.

Failure to menstruate by age 20 falls into a category called "primary amenorrhea," and it warrants a thorough physical examination. The problem is usually gland-related — pituitary, thyroid or ovaries. Obesity can be a factor, and in that context, so can crash dieting, especially at a young age.

In any event, the ability to bear children depends on whether or not you are ovulating, a fact that would be determined in the examination. Treatment would be based on the results of that test. Other important factors must be determined — whether, for example, you have had growth of genital hair and whether there has been expected breast development.

You need to see a gland specialist (endocrinologist). He can give you a good idea about your potential fertility based on the defect found. Vaginal odor can result from a number of things. Often, it represents some infection process. Rather than try to cover that subject in the space available here I suggest you study my booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment," which you can order by sending 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald. Hygienic douches are seldom really effective.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I recently heard that bubble bath can do damage to the urinary tract. I heard it can cause allergic reactions, vaginitis and bladder infections, eventually even damage to the kidneys. Is this true? —M.E.K.

You're right about the irritation, which can be considered a form of vaginitis. The bubble bath itself will not cause infection. That requires the presence of an infecting organism, such as a fungus, bacteria or virus. The changes in the irritated vaginal membranes can make them more susceptible to such infections. For this reason, bubble baths are to be avoided, especially in young children, who are, unfortunately, the chief users. Such reactions are always individual matters. Some children may not react at all to the substances in the bath material.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have an inner ear disturbance that causes dizziness. I am taking dizziness medicine. I also have a pressure ranging from 130-80 to 200-90. Can an ear condition account for blood pressure rises? I am 71 years old. —C.S.

Quite the opposite. Blood pressure rises may cause ear symptoms and dizziness. If you are not being treated to control the high blood pressure you are not getting at a possible root of the dizziness problem.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: I have been asked many times why I refused to shake hands with my opponent at the recent Houston Press Club affair. These questions have come from people, by and large, who have seen the pictures in newspapers which did not also run an accompanying story reporting on the affair.

For months, my opponent has continued a campaign of unabated distortion and deception. I think he has engaged in scurrilous campaign activities which Texans do not admire. He is a man who has no loyalties and no convictions. As many others have observed, including newspaper writers, he seems to be a man who is fired only by personal ambition, and will do or say anything to try and achieve that ambition. I think the type of campaign he is conducting is an indication of that. It is unfortunate that he has brought the campaign down to this level.

I was brought up to believe that a handshake was, and is, a symbol of friendship and respect. I was brought up to believe that a handshake is a meaningless and hypocritical act done for public display. There are those who treat it as such, but I am not one of them.

My opponent has slurred my wife and my daughters. He has masked himself in idealism, but behind that runs a campaign that is not inhibited by principle or truth. I think under the circumstances that I should not have dignified him by shaking his hand after what he has been engaged in. I think anyone else would have done the same under the same circumstances.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I asked Christ to come into my heart over two years ago but it doesn't seem like anything has happened. I have always been a good person, but it seems to me that something should be different. Is that true? —Mrs. M.O.

DEAR M.O.: Yes, Jesus Christ should make a difference in your life. At the same time, people — like plants or animals — grow at different rates spiritually. For some people, coming to Christ results in an immediate and dramatic change. For others, the change is more gradual, or may not be too evident until later.

Only you know whether or not you were sincere when you invited Christ into your life. It may be that you did not really understand what you were doing, or were not sincere. Or it may be that you simply did not take the necessary steps in order to allow your faith to grow. The important thing is to reaffirm that commitment, and begin to grow from this point onward.

Many people do not grow because they fail to use the means God has given them. If a child did not gain weight, we would first ask if he had been eating properly. The same thing is true spiritually. God has given us a spiritual diet whereby we may be strengthened. Is the Bible a daily companion for you? Are you looking to God in prayer each day with thanksgiving as well as petition? Are you actively seeking out Christian fellowship? Without these, spiritual growth cannot be expected, but with them God will begin to develop you into the person He wants you to be as His disciple.

SHOWING OFF THE TROPHY — Ruth Oliver, Brownie Troop 156; Brandi Nelson and Debbie Nelson, Troop 200, show off the Girl Scout trophy received at Camp Booth Oaks on Family weekend in Sweetwater.

Girl Scout Council has outing near Sweetwater

The West Texas Girl Scout Council held a family weekend at Camp Booth Oaks south of Sweetwater Oct. 13-15.

A total of 54 persons attended representing Snyder, Sweetwater, Haskell, Abilene, and Big Spring. Family Weekend is a yearly event that takes place in the fall.

Each year a homemade trophy that represents the camp and the weekend is given to the town or city that has the largest number in attendance. This year Big Spring brought home the trophy with 18 persons representing seven families.

The families were treated royally by the West Texas Girl Scout Council professional staff. The staff cooked and served the meals, cleaned up the kitchen, and provided the activities. Some of the activities were volleyball, archery, hiking, stargazing, a campfire, and crafts.

Family Weekend enables families to get away from it all and be together. There is very little work to be done since the staff does the cooking and cleaning. Cabins are available for sleeping unless the families prefer tents.

Adults attending from Big Spring included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walling and Brett, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Oliver and Rob, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hernandez and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nelson and Brandi.

Brownie Scouts from Troop 156 were Shannon Phillips, Krist Connell, Stacey Walling, Melinda Hernandez, Ruth Oliver and Angela Saracen with Debbie Nelson going from Troop 200.

Mutt mascot appropriate?

DARTMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — A dog may be a man's best friend, but university rules don't allow for Brandy, a mutt that became a cause at Southeastern Massachusetts University.

The dog wandered onto campus five years ago. And he had the backing of 1,000 students and President Donald E. Walker in drive to make him the school mascot, and exempt him from a rule barring dogs from campus.

But Walter Smith, the school's attorney, told trustees the university and board members could be liable for damages "if that dog at some point in time sees fit to take a chunk out of somebody."

A motion before the trustees Thursday to name Brandy the official mascot was withdrawn, and Walker was told to handle the matter administratively.

"That means they're going to do nothing," a university official said privately.

"He's just been wandering around here the last five years. He should have some stature," said Walker. "He's amiably surly. He's usually amiable unless tampered with."

"He's of indeterminate ancestry and would be an appropriate mascot for this university."

Davis trial is delayed until Oct. 30

HOUSTON (AP) — The judge in the Cullen Davis case today granted the defense another one week delay, setting Oct. 30 as the date the Fort Worth millionaire goes on trial on charges he solicited the murder of a judge.

State District Judge Wallace Moore gave no reasons for the second delay, saying only that he was granting a defense motion for a continuance.

Moore said Thursday Richard "Racehorse" Haynes wanted the delay to give defense experts more time to inspect recordings being used as evidence against Davis.

Under the circumstances, the judge added, he probably would have to grant the delay.

Davis is accused of soliciting the capital murder of the judge presiding in his divorce case. The trial was moved from Fort Worth to Houston because prosecutors felt an impartial jury could not be selected there.

'The supe' gets scoop Ridin' fence

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — You can make people clean up after their dogs, but that doesn't mean you can make a dog poop on cue.

That's what San Francisco Supervisor Harvey Milk found out Friday, when he tried to show how dog owners could clean up after their pets as required by a new city ordinance that goes into effect today.

The dog brought along to a city park to provide Milk's proposed ordinance with a crowd of onlookers and wouldn't perform.

So Milk, who sponsored the clean-up ordinance, proceeded to scoop up plastic poop with a cardboard "Poochee Bag" — then stepped back into a pile of the real stuff.

"See what I mean," he laughed as he scraped his shoe. "All the parks are like this. You can't put a blanket down on Sunday afternoon, it's so bad."

San Francisco is now in the same bag, so to speak, as New York, where dog owners have had to clean up after their dogs since Aug. 1.

Lots of Estes memories with Marj Carpenter

JOHN AND BILLIE — Dr. John Estes and Billie Sol are shown in 1963 in El Paso when Estes was being tried in federal court for his first cases. This week, he pleaded guilty to new charges, partly to protect his brother, along with his wife, daughter, son-in-law and friend. This photo was made during a lunch recess in the middle of his federal trial.

The announcement in many Texas newspapers Thursday morning that Billie Sol Estes had pleaded guilty in a Fort Worth federal court to mail fraud, wire fraud and conspiracy to evade income taxes brought back lots of memories.

He made the plea to accept a written agreement that they would not prosecute his wife, Patsy; his daughter Pam and her husband Walter Tedford, his brother Dr. John Estes and a friend Ms. Sue Goolsby.

One area paper listed in a special "box" an Estes Chronology of his past 27 years with 13 special dates. Maybe 13 is an unlucky number.

But as I read through that chronology, which began back in 1951, I thought, "They make it sound so simple when the lives it has touched and the people it has affected have been very heartbreaking and complicated."

The first date listed was 1951 when it said Sol moved to Pecos, reportedly with little more than a briefcase, and was a millionaire within five years. How I remember Billie Sol and that bulging briefcase that looked kind of like my desk does now with papers sticking out of it in every corner.

He carried the briefcase everywhere and wore a hat like Hoss Cartwrights, only with a small brim. But it had no crease. He was somewhat of a joke in many corners at that time, and the young man who drove for him kept trying to drive off and leave that hat somewhere and Sol kept making him go back and get it.

But as Estes headquartered out in a Verhalen Store, he soon "owned this and owned that" and was well on his way to "being no joke." The list recalled that in 1963, the "young tycoon was named one of the ten Outstanding Young Men in the United States by Jaycees."

This turned out to be embarrassing later to the Pecos Jaycees who did not nominate him as a club. One of their members, Bill Scott, who later went to the pen himself for giving away worthless land for closing costs at the Dallas State Fair, sent in the beautifully worded nomination about Billie Sol.

It told of the little farm boy from Clyde who started out with a ewe lamb in the 4-H Club and went on to fame and fortune. My late husband caused a rather funny scene in a Pecos bank in connection with that award.

At that time, Sol used to come in the back door of the bank right at closing time and do his business. Only bank tellers can know how frustrating this can be. On one occasion, he marched up to Ruth Ligon's cage and asked her to make out a cashier's check for $8,000. She made it out.

He had just been named outstanding and he was busy visiting with everybody. While talking, he absent-mindedly tore the check into little pieces and dropped it on the floor. He turned back to Ruth, "Where is my check?"

She stammered, "You just tore it up, sir." He looked down at the pieces of the check on the floor and said, "Write me another."

She answered, "I'll have to have the number off of that one." At that point, Sol got down on his knees and began to put the check back together.

My husband was then an assistant vice president and was helping out that day in the next cage. He leaned out, and said very audibly, "I call that pretty damned outstanding."

He was later reprimanded for it by his superiors for insulting a top customer.

But as it turns out, it was very prophetic. The next date listed was March 1962 when it said, "Estes arrested by statement. The lengthy investigation was by about four persons on the Pecos Independent. The FBI didn't come into it until after the paper wrote their first article on Feb. 12, 1962 and investigated all the way to March 29 when the arrest was made.

But that's all been told before. And today, I just keep thinking about that torn up check. Sol's life is kind of like that.

He absent-mindedly tore his life all to pieces and he's just never been able to get it all back together. Humpty Dumpty fashion, it has continued to be "pretty damned outstanding" if you list it as one of the world's biggest messes.

And my memory has jumped back this week with leaps and bounds. The Associated Press in 1963 called me "a walking filing cabinet on Estes."

And when you have that many memories tucked back in your brain, you really have many tumbling thoughts when a story breaks like the one this week — again on Estes — out by a very old fence.

BARN BUILDERS ... high school trades class

Building trades class repairs old structure

By MARJ CARPENTER

It wasn't a barn raising. But it wasn't a barn razing either. As a matter of fact, it was a barn repairing. And the boys who were doing it were from the high school building trades class.

They also built an outhouse, which may be the first outhouse ever constructed by a building trades class in the history of the program in the entire state.

Usually the classes work on very modern homes and build them from the ground up. But the theory of the local instructor, Paul Hood, is that it doesn't do them any harm to also learn how to repair old ones.

And this project was to help out the tourism council in the city of Big Spring.

Because the barn they repaired and the outhouse they built were behind the Potton House at 2nd and Gregg Streets.

Potton House is a historical tourist attraction and is well marked by historic medallions and is also in the National Register of historical sites.

The youths involved were trying to help out their town and they tried to keep the barn rustic and the outhouse in keeping with the age of the home on display.

Last year, the building trades class helped out the tourism council by building the sturdy observation tower at the Big Spring. And this year they helped at the Potton House.

Mrs. Polly Mays, mayor pro-tem, expressed the gratitude of both the Potton House committee and the Tourism council for their

Cover on coliseum floor originated in Finland

By MARJ CARPENTER
One of the biggest cover-ups in West Texas arrived here Thursday.

As a matter of fact, this cover-up was specially custom made. The floor covering for the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum was custom made in Canada and is the first they have done for a coliseum in the United States.

However, they have covered up entire football fields and many other gymnasium floors from Canada to South America.

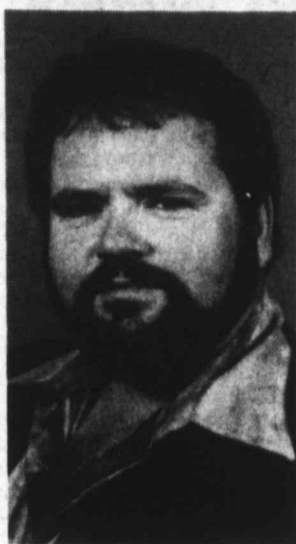

"And it is all done with a material that comes from Finland. The material is a tough fiber called Neoprene and it is fire resistant and resists nearly everything else," Jim Curry said here Thursday. Curry, a worker with the Tarp Shop in Ontario, Canada, delivered the special floor covering.

The sections are 11 feet, four inches wide and 90 feet long and weigh 300 pounds. They are rolled out, taped down and suddenly the gymnasium floor is covered with a gold-colored substance that can be used for dances, banquets, concerts and other events.

He is the son of Mrs. Ruby Putman of Colorado City and resides in Westbrook with his wife Winnie and three daughters Lisa, Sherry, and Tami.

As a matter of fact, it arrived in time to be applied prior to the Arts and Crafts Festival.

The Tarp Shop is the name of the company, but this is no tarp. The company has covered up such football stadiums as the one at Georgia Tech, the one at Boulder, Colo. and at Eugene Oregon.

The material is a Dupont synthetic, but it actually is manufactured in Finland.

Their first big cover-up was at Montreal and it has become big business to this Canadian company. Curry was going from Big Spring to Baton Rouge, La. That community is also interested in custom floor covering from a coliseum there.

Build a better mouse trap and people will come to your door. But for the Tarp Shop, it became more than build a better tarp.

They went from the old tarps that used to be rolled out on the baseball infields to custom made floor coverings.

Carl McMillan, coliseum director, said his staff can handle the big rolls with two men and two dollies. "And the coverings just suddenly changes the entire room," he stated here Thursday.

So the big cover-up has arrived in Big Spring and will be used for the first time at the Arts and Crafts Festival.

Visitors are urged to "look where you are walking. You will be walking on the first custom made cover-up for a coliseum made by this Canadian firm," Curry related.

He said it took him two weeks to get here with the cover. They went to Detroit and from there by express to Dallas and on to Big Spring.

"You have a busy place here," Curry added. "When I arrived, the motels were all full. You evidently have a lot of things going on around here."

Kissing mark is his goal

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Phillip Friedrich estimates that he has kissed 495 women this month and hasn't been slapped even once.

Friedrich, who is retired and in his 70s, is out to set a record for kissing the most women in a single month.

To verify his claim for the Guinness Book of Records, he carries a clipboard as he visits shopping malls, stores and other businesses.

Legg was the 1977 recipient of the M. Dale Ensign Community College Leadership Award given each year in recognition of the outstanding community college trustee in the United States and Canada. His election to the ACCT board of directors was without opposition, and he will serve a three-year term.

Currently, Legg is Texas state chairman of ACCT, and membership of Texas colleges in the organization has grown from ten to thirty-five under his direction. He chaired a convention session on energy conservation Wednesday, and has spoken at several regional and national conventions of ACCT and various Texas education conferences.

"We are extremely pleased and feel very fortunate to have the benefit of Reagan Legg's demonstrated leadership ability at the national level," said Frank Hancock, ACCT president, in making the announcement of his election.

A Midland attorney since 1948, Legg has been prominent in Midland civic, professional and church activities. He has served as president of the Midland County Bar Association, the board of governors of Midland Community Theatre, the United Fund, the Midland Chapter of the University of Texas Extension Association, and presently serves as chairman of the advisory committee of Leadership Midland. county attorney of Midland County, and was elected to the board of regents of the Permian Junior College System. Legg is a member of the board of trustees, Midland College Foundation, and also has served as a director of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, and is at present chairman of the education committee of that organization.

Regionally, Legg is a member of the board of directors of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, and was formerly area chairman for the Texas Heart Association, and West Texas chairman for the Texas Muscular Dystrophy Association. He was a member for six years of the board of directors of the Permian Basin Multiple Sclerosis Society. In 1968, he was elected "Boss of the Year" by the Midland Legal Secretaries Association.

A member of St. Luke's United Methodist Church, Legg was chosen as chairman of that church's Official Board, as chairman of its board of trustees, and taught an adult Sunday School class in the church for more than twenty years. He was three times elected district lay leader for the Big Spring District of the United Methodist Church, and as president of Methodist Men for the church's Northwest Texas Conference. He is a member of the Lay Advisory Council, Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University.

New industry will employ about 25

Members of the Big Spring Steering Committee and the Howard County Industrial Foundation met with representatives of a newly formed industry in the Terminal Building at the Big Spring Airport Friday.

Russell Rutledge and Johnny Freeman, both natives of Big Spring, have organized a firm identified as Fiberflex Products, which will manufacture oil field equipment, notably sucker- rods and shingles.

Fiberflex will share a building in the Big Spring Industrial Park with Bill Rite, which is moving its operations here from Coahoma. Initially, the plant will employ about 25 people.

Rutledge and Freeman revealed that the concern had ordered $300,000 worth of equipment for the local plant. The contract recommended by the Steering Committee will, of course, have to be approved by the Big Spring City Council. That likely will be a formality when the council convenes Tuesday morning.

Rutledge and Freeman will be paying $1,200 a month for occupying the remaining portion of Building 615 and have indicated the firm will likely expand, in time. The area to be embraced initially by Fiberflex is approximately 25,000 square feet.

In time, Fiberflex will need the use of a railroad spur which will be built onto the site.

SBK Construction requested that it be granted permission to rent Bldg. 12 for the period covering the concrete work on the new hangar. Bldg. 12 has 2,473 square feet. Rental terms will be worked out at a future meeting.

This does include those pensioners who have not in previous years received a card. This will include veterans over 72 years of age and children receiving pension in their own behalf. It is imperative according to J.D. Henderson, State Service Officer, that Veterans Administration beneficiaries receiving a non service pension immediately contact the Social Security Administration and/or any agency from which they are receiving retirement benefits.

According to the State Service Officer, it is imperative the right amounts be reported in order that the beneficiary can receive the correct amount of pension. It is also imperative the beneficiary have with them when they bring the annual income questionnaire card to the State Service Officer, the total amount of medical expenses which have been paid during the year 1978, and which have not been reimbursed. These expenses include doctor, hospital, dental, drugs, hospitalization premiums, glasses and cost of nursing home care. Completion of the annual income questionnaire card will be mandatory by the recipients or benefits will be terminated effective Jan. 1, 1979.

For further information please contact J.D. Henderson, Big Spring V.A. Hospital, 263-7361 ext. 338.

Couple hit with injury to child rap

BROWNWOOD—A Brownwood couple, Michael Lynn Spence, 22, and his wife, Cathy Anne, 20, were confined to the Brown County jail here Friday after they had been charged with "injury to a child."

Being treated in Brownwood Community Hospital are twins Kay and Jerry Spence. Both are listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit.

Spence is being held in lieu of $50,000 bond, his wife in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Welfare Department workers took the children to the hospital. The beatings may have taken place four days earlier.

The Spences have two other children. They are now in foster homes.

Teenager kills self in cell

HEREFORD—Christopher Kinsch, 17-year-old Parsons, Kan., native, hanged himself in a jail cell here Wednesday.

Kinsch, who fled his home town to escape a court appearance, left behind a note to his father which said "I just wanted to be free."

Young Kinsch was buried Friday in Parsons.

Business and finance at library

By REBECCA TAYLOR
Reference Librarian

The business and financial interests of Howard County are well served by the public library. Just as there are numerous items for the consumer, so there are several varied forms of information for salesmen, businessmen, and stockholders.

There are too many of the regular check-out type books to mention here, but they range from learning-to-type to accounting and sales. All types of background data are available on the state of the economy in general, business law, (i.e., "Law of Buying and Selling", by White), and general economics.

One of the major services is the Moody's surveys. Compilations covering "Industrials, Transportation, Public Utilities and Banking & Finance," give information on companies, their subsidiaries and financial status. Separate volumes cover "Bond Surveys and Dividend Records.

These volumes are each updated twice weekly.

Also available are the three volume "Standard and Poor's Register", which is updated annually, and the "Standard and Poor's Industry Surveys", issued quarterly. "Thomas Register", nicknamed "Tom Cat", "Moody's Handbook" and "Texas Manufacturers" add their presence to the business section.

Among standard periodicals, probably the best is the "Wall Street Journal." The library receives this newspaper daily with stock market and other business data and articles.

Two major magazines are "Business Week", published weekly, and "Forbes," biweekly. The Library also receives the "Kiplinger Washington Letter", a small but well known newsletter.

Among the other national magazines we receive are, "Sales Marketing and Management", "Salesman's Opportunity" and "Specialty Salesman".

In addition to the works listed on world and U.S. economy, there are also items on Texas. The "Texas Manufacturers, already listed, "Texas Business", published monthly, and "Texas Business Review", published monthly by the Bureau of Business Research and the University of Texas at Austin.

Lonzo and Oscar get quick laugh

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Lonzo & Oscar figure they've got five seconds to do their job — or they fail.

The comedy team has been performing on the Grand Ole Opry for the past 11 years and is getting extra exposure this fall with several appearances on the "Hee Haw" television show. Rollin Sullivan, or Oscar, is celebrating his 30th anniversary as a comedian and mandolin player on the Opry.

As comedians, they agree you've got to act fast.

"Our motto is you've got to make the guy laugh for the first time in five seconds," Sullivan said in an interview.

"Then the second laugh comes easy. This sounds kind of crude, but you shouldn't give 'em time to think. You need quick, catchy stuff."

Sullivan, 59, is a member of the original Lonzo & Oscar act that dates back to World War II. Dave Hooten, 43, is the third Lonzo.

A typical Lonzo & Oscar joke: "When Oscar dies, he'll have a new brain. The one he has has never been used."

Sullivan calls it "country humor."

"It's not corny — it's funnier than corny," he said. "It has more punch."

"We've built our comedy on tearing down songs. If someone has a sweet song, we change the words to make it funny."

"Expression means a lot to me. And we try to make comedy close to life. When we go into a town for a show, we pick up things from the people we meet and the things that happen to us. We try to figure out what people will relate to," Sullivan said.

"I usually try to peek out at the audience before the show and see what kind of audience there is. If it looks like a sophisticated audience, we do certain things. If it's not, we don't."

"A comedian's job is twice as hard as a singer's."

A joke never gets old, Sullivan said. "Mel Tillis told a joke the other night that I was telling 30 years ago," he said.

Both Sullivan and Hooten lament the lack of humorous records played on radio.

"You can't get the DJs to play anything over four times because no one wants to hear the same material over and over," Sullivan said. "Comedy is the least-paid profession in the music business."

Chelsea Hotel tells long tale of life

NEW YORK (AP) — After Thomas Wolfe found you can't go home again, he spent his last years at the Chelsea Hotel. Mark Twain stayed there, as did Bob Dylan and Dylan Thomas. Arthur Miller stops by. Brendan Behan used to and before him Eugene O'Neill.

The Chelsea story includes O. Henry and James T. Farrell, Sarah Bernhardt slept there, and the ambience suited rock idols from the Jefferson Starship and Grateful Dead bands.

Most recently the story includes punk rocker Sid Vicious who police say stabbed his girlfriend to death in their room. Hotel manager Stanley Bard said the homicide was an unwanted first and added that Vicious will not be welcome back: "Let's say it wouldn't be good for him or for us."

While there are obvious limits, eccentric behavior is generally cheerfully tolerated. Painters and poets, pensioners and sea captains — even the fat lady from Barnum & Bailey who filled the elevator by her self — all have found a haven behind the thick red brick walls on West 23rd Street.

It is 96 years old, this landmark of the literati, and in its dotage has become an internationally famous grand dame. One French writer compared its charms favorably to the Left Bank hotels in Paris.

"You meet people all over the world on this international bohemian circuit, and they'll say 'See you at the Chelsea,'" Jakob Lind, the German writer, once said. "It's as if we have kind of a date here."

Bard has been involved in the management for 23 years, brought into the life by his father who headed a corporation that bought the hotel in 1940 for a rumored $50,000. He sees the cookie-cutter quality of modern hotel rooms as insuring a long life for the Chelsea.

"A creative person is not attracted by that sterility," he said. "This is a fascinating, beautiful old building and most people love it. Our rooms are very large, they have good light and it's very, very quiet — it's built like a fortress."

The Chelsea was built in 1882 as one of the city's first cooperative apartment houses. Delicate iron balconies grace the 12 stories looming over 23rd Street, which was then the center of the city's theatrical life.

Now the Chelsea is overshadowed by taller buildings. One off-off Broadway house, the Squat Theater, is the sole reminder of the street's thespian tradition. Used office furniture is now a mainstay of its commerce.

The Chelsea sits in the middle of its block. On the columns beside the entrance are bronze plaques, one proclaiming the building a national landmark and the others honoring Wolfe and Thomas and Behan. Theirs are the reigning spirits.

"Once there was an article that they found Thomas Wolfe's shoes here," manager Bard recalled. "A foundation wrote and said they wanted them for a Wolfe museum. Who knows if it's Wolfe's shoes."

Aspiring young poets still come and ask to stay in room 205 where Dylan Thomas lived when he was here for lecture tours. It was to the Chelsea that Thomas returned one night and announced, "I've had 18 straight whiskies. I think that's the record."

A few days later, physicians at St. Vincent's Hospital attributed his death to "acute alcoholic insult to the brain."

Brendan Behan was welcomed by Bard after less understanding hostilities suggested he move. His occasional roaring singing in the lobby was taken in stride.

Broadway composer George Kleinsinger once recalled Behan working on a book by dictating into a tape recorder equipped with a foot treadle so he could stop the machine when he lost his train of thought.

'Summer starts stunning NBC series

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — NBC inaugurates its "NBC Theater" with a stunning story about an encounter between a teen-age Jewish girl searching for friendship and an escaped German prisoner of war.

"Summer of My German Soldier", which airs Monday, is an auspicious start for this new series.

Kristy McNichol stars as Patty Bergen, whose rejection by her father leads her to hide the escaped soldier, Bruce Davison. She finds in him a friendship and understanding that she did not have at home.

The story is set in World War II in a small Southern town, where the Bergens' tenuous existence as the only Jewish family is put in jeopardy by Patty's exposure.

The film is marked by strong performances throughout: Miss McNichol as the troubled girl, Davison as a soldier whose gentleness runs counter to the Nazi stereotype, Michael Constantine as the stern and unforgiving father, Esther Rolle as the black maid who stands by Patty, and Barbara Barrie as Patty's weak-willed mother.

"I've played a lot of Jewish roles, but this is the first unsympathetic Jew I've ever played," Constantine said. "I'm mean to her and she's such a charming child. I've already warned my own kids — everybody is going to hate my guts when they see this, so just remember I was only acting."

Constantine offered an incongruous sight as he talked about the role. At that moment, he was in clown makeup and costume for a two-hour episode of "Quincy."

"Summer of My German Soldier" is the best thing I've done since "Room 222." I really wanted to do this. I read for the part.

Texas Constitutional amendments proposed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — After voting Nov. 7 on the much-publicized governor's and U.S. Senator's races, Texas voters will find nine proposed constitutional changes they have heard little about.

These are nine more patches the Texas Legislature recommends for our much-patched 1876 state constitution.

First on the ballot is one labeled the "Tax Relief Amendment." Actually this is a package of six major issues that represent most of the output of the recent special legislative session.

Most of the proposals to give tax relief to homeowners, the elderly and farmers will require additional work by the 1979 Legislature to put them into effect.

The other eight proposed constitutional amendments are left over from 15 approved by the 1977 Legislature. Seven others were voted on in November 1977, with two of them failing.

Many believe the so-called "Tax Relief Amendment" will carry easily, if for no other reason than its name. It probably will carry most of the others with it.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe and both major gubernatorial candidates, Democrat John Hill and Republican Bill Clements, support the tax relief package. A statewide organization called Texans for Tax Relief began an information program the first of October.

Leading opposition to the omnibus tax relief measure is the Texas AFL-CIO, which says it would give relief to taxpayers who don't need it, particularly corporate farms and "timber barons."

Provisions of the tax relief amendment include:

—Removes intangibles, such as bank deposits and stocks, from the mandatory tax base, but permits the legislature to pass new laws to tax intangibles if necessary in the future. It also removes the $250 property tax exemption limit on household goods and personal effects and enlarges the exemption to cover more personal property, including automobiles.

—Grants a mandatory $5,000 exemption on the market value of residential homesteads for school taxes. It also authorizes the legislature to grant an additional homestead exemption up to $10,000 for those 65 years and older and for disabled citizens.

—Directs that taxation of farm and ranch lands be based on productivity rather than market value. It would allow legislators to make the same provision in the future for timber lands.

School districts would be protected against loss of taxes from the increased homestead exemptions and change in land taxation by setting aside $450 million to be allocated to schools by the next legislature.

—A limit tying the state budget to the state's rate of economic growth. However, the restriction could be broken by a majority vote of both houses of the legislature.

—A ban on statewide appraisal of real property for ad valorem taxes. It also says that any enforcement of uniform tax appraisal standards must originate in the county where a tax is imposed.

—Addition of a "Truth in Taxation" section to the constitution that says taxes may not be increased more than 3 percent annually without advance notice and full public hearings by the governmental body involved.

The other eight amendments on the ballot, listed as Propositions 1 through 8, would:

—1. Encourage state purchase of products made by the handicapped by removing competitive bid requirements.

—2. Let the legislature pass a law allowing cities and other political subdivisions to issue revenue bonds for construction of facilities to attract industry. The facilities would be sold or leased to private concerns to repay the bonds.

—3. Give cities the power to issue tax increment bonds for redeveloping blighted areas. Bonds would be repaid through taxing the increased value of property due to the redevelopment.

—4. Allow property tax exemption for solar and windpowered energy devices.

—5. Expand the authority of justice of the peace courts to handle civil cases from $200 to $500. The legislature would be allowed to raise the limit to $1,000.

—6. Let the legislature increase the size of the present 14 three-judge state courts of civil appeals. The increased size would be up to the legislature. The change also would allow a civil appeals court to sit in

'Amarillo Slim' hit with gambling charges

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Thomas Austin Preston Jr., known as "Amarillo Slim," and Bryan "Sailor" Roberts, both "world champion" poker players, were indicted with three other West Texas men on federal gambling conspiracy charges Thursday.

The 13-count grand jury indictment outlines a gambling operation run out of an El Paso apartment that took in $458,990 in wagers in October of 1977. Preston is charged with personally accepting $14,970 in wagers on which he owes $292 in taxes, according to the indictment.

Also charged in the indictment were James Salome Jr., 41, an El Paso real estate broker; his brother, Norman Salome, 39, vice-president of an El Paso bootmaking company; and Joseph Hoggan, a 36-year-old El Paso man. Preston, the Salomes and Hoggan also were charged with violating federal wagering tax statutes, according to the indictment.

Preston, an Amarillo resident who lists his occupation as professional gambler, was arrested Thursday afternoon in El Paso by FBI agents. Roberts sections.

—7. Abolish the State Building Commission and the State Building Fund. Powers and duties of the commission already have been transferred to the Board of Control by the legislature.

—8. Allow water districts to provide fire-fighting services to residents and to issue bonds on approval of two-thirds of the voters to finance the fire-fighting.

'Grandma' admits sale of marijuana

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Eighty-one-year-old "Grandma" has pleaded guilty to marijuana-related charges for the second time in two months.

Sally McCord Santangelo, known by her friends as "Grandma," pleaded guilty Thursday before State District Judge Ted Butler to selling marijuana on two different occasions to an undercover narcotics agent.

The sales were made April 21 and May 6 at the elderly woman's apartment, according to stipulated evidence.

She had pleaded guilty before Butler on Aug. 21 to possession of 21 baggies of marijuana found at her apartment in a May 16 police raid.

Mrs. Santangelo has applied for probation and conditional discharge in all three cases.

UT rallies by Arkansas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Senior quarterback Randy McEachern winged three touchdown passes, including two scoring shots, to Olympian Johnny "Lam" Jones Saturday, lifting the eighth-ranked Texas Longhorns to a 28-21 upset Southwest Conference victory over the third-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks.

McEachern flipped a four-yard scoring pass to the swift Lam Jones with 6:15 to play, and Texas safety Johnnie Johnson short-circuited Arkansas' comeback attempt to give the Longhorns the victory.

Johnson intercepted a pass with 4:16 to play and then batted away a desperation fourth-down pass in the Longhorn end zone with 2:05 to go to preserve the victory before 78,000 fans in Memorial Stadium and a regional television audience.

Texas is now 5-1 for the year, and 3-0 in SWC play. The preseason SWC favorite Razorbacks are 4-1 and 1-1.

Texas sprung a third-string surprise on the Razorbacks in freshman tight end Lawrence Sampleton, who caught a 36-yard touchdown pass and shagged a 33-yarder to set up Texas' final touchdown.

Arkansas, which hasn't won in Austin since 1966, started the game like the Razorbacks were going to chase Texas out of the stadium.

Ben Covins dashed eight yards for a touchdown and the Razorbacks led 7-0 with the game barely four minutes old.

However, Texas countered with a long touchdown drive of its own, and Johnny "Lam" Jones scored on a one-yard run to tie matters 7-all at the end of the first quarter.

Then came a stunning reversal for the Razorbacks as McEachern threw two touchdown passes in the final 59 seconds of the first half.

The 6-foot-6 Sampleton caught a third-down pass over the middle and used his sprinter's speed to outrace the Razorbacks on a 36-yard scoring play.

Only 36 seconds later, McEachern whipped a five-yard scoring pass to Lam Jones.

Arkansas quarterback Ron Calcagni scored on a one-yard run, and Bobby Duckworth shagged a 27-yard scoring pass from Calcagni as Arkansas regained the lead 21-20 in the third period.

The loss snapped an 11-game Arkansas victory streak and was the Razorbacks' seventh consecutive loss to the Longhorns.

After Sampleton caught his touchdown pass — his first reception of the year — late in the second quarter, Arkansas' Dale White blocked the extra point.

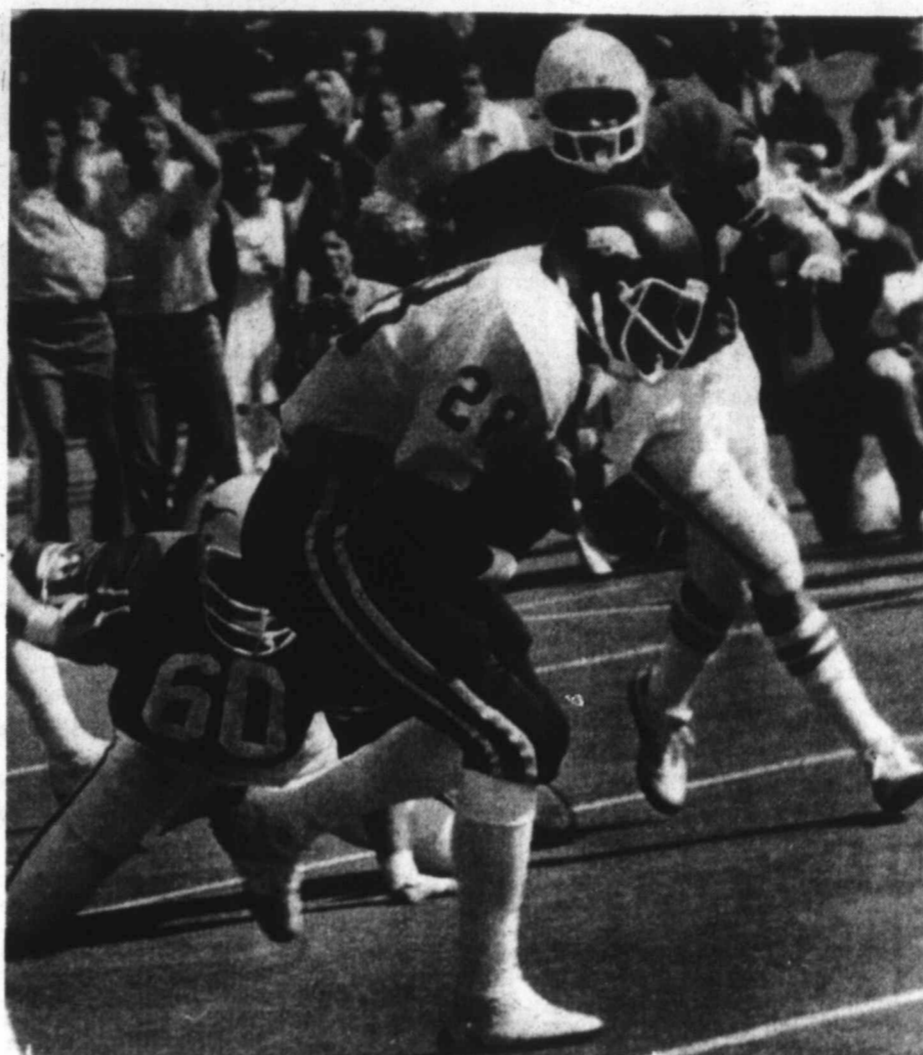

But on Arkansas' next possession, Johnson intercepted a Calcagni pass and returned it 13 yards to the Arkansas 22. McEachern lobbed an 11-yard pass to Lam Jones who was running free and clear behind cornerback O.C. Jackson.

Jackson, who had three touchdown passes scored in his area, was a replacement for Vaughn Lusby who suffered a broken cheekbone.

The towering Sampleton grabbed a 33-yard McEachern pass on a critical third down and seven situation to the Arkansas 11-yard line late in the game.

Again on third down McEachern sent Lam Jones racing away from the Razorbacks' secondary for the clinching touchdown.

Arkansas started the third quarter by scoring on its first two possessions. Calcagni threw a 25-yard pass to Duckworth, playing his first game since early September, and scored himself on a one-yard fourth down run.

ARKANSAS SCORES — Arkansas running back Ben Covins (28) scores from the eight yard line in the first period of their game with Texas at Austin Saturday. Failing to stop the score is Texas linebacker Robin Sendlein (60).

Raiders survive Rice rally

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Tech fullback James Hadnot scored three touchdowns and teammate Alan Swann returned an interception 82 yards for another score as the Red Raiders held off a furious fourth-quarter rally by Rice to take a 42-28 Southwest Conference football victory Saturday night.

Trailing 35-6 in the fourth quarter, Rice rallied for three touchdowns over a five-minute span behind the quarterbacking of Robert Hoffman, who had played only as an extra point holder this season and running back Wilson Meeks.

Meeks scored on a one-yard run with 10:56 remaining in the game. Earl Cooper ran two yards for another touchdown at 9:19. With 5:33 showing Earl Cooper threw 10 yards to David Houser to complete Rice's scoring surge.

Texas Tech, winning its first SWC game in three starts, took a 14-0 lead in the first quarter on a two-yard run by freshman Bill Weatherall and a one-yard run by freshman quarterback Ron Reeves.

But it took Hadnot's third touchdown, a one-yard plunge with 44 seconds to finally thwart the Rice comeback attempt.

Rice, which broke a 14-game losing streak last week against Texas Christian, struck back with a four-yard run by Calvin Fance in the second quarter before Hadnot added his two touchdowns. Hadnot, who rushed for a school record 268 yards last week against New Mexico, first snagged a one-yard pass from Reeves to give the Raiders a 21-6 halftime lead and in the third quarter he ran two yards for another touchdown.

Swann then stepped in front of a pass by Rice quarterback Mark Snyder and zig zagged 82 yards for a touchdown, aided by a clearing block at the Rice 15 by safety Larry Flowers.

Snyder, who started the game for injured starting quarterback Randy Hertel, was replaced early in the fourth quarter by Hoffman, a sophomore squadman from San Marcos.

With Meeks, a freshman from Fort Worth, turning in key runs of 15 and 10 yards, Rice moved to the Tech one for Meeks' touchdown run. Cooper then hit Houser for a two-point conversion. Rice's on-sides kickoff was recovered by Ricky Thomas at the Tech 34 and the Owls added another touchdown on 9:19 on Cooper's two-yard run.

Hoffman took the Owls to their final touchdown by passing 18 yards to tight end Robert Hubble for a key gain.

Bears stun Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Believe it or not, the best thing that happened Saturday to Baylor coach Grant Teaff was losing his No. 1 tailback, Frank Pollard. It gave him an excuse to put in freshman Walter Abercrombie.

Abercrombie, playing in his first college game, raced for a school record 207 yards in 19 carries and ignited a misfiring Baylor offense in the second half as the winless Bears stunned 12th-ranked Texas A&M 24-6 in a Southwest Conference game.

It was the second consecutive SWC loss for the Aggies, who were clubbed 3-0 last week by Houston.

Abercrombie, an all-star last year at Waco's University High School, had not seen action this year because Teaff wanted to redshirt him. But when Pollard left the game with a high bruise in the second quarter, Teaff was forced to use the 18-year-old freshman.

"The big key was our freshman running back, Abercrombie," said Teaff. "He just came up with a big play time after time. I held him out of the first five games, wanting to redshirt him. He is the finest running back I have ever recruited, but with the injuries and Pollard getting hurt today, we had to change our plans and go with him."

"I'm just glad coach Teaff gave me a chance to play," said Abercrombie. "I felt that I could do it all along, and today was just the day. I dream about having a game like this all the time."

Abercrombie carried the ball nine times in a 15-play, 80-yard Baylor scoring drive to open the second half. He kept the drive alive when he ran nine yards on a key fourth down play.

Steve Howell capped the march with a one-yard touchdown dive, to give Baylor a 14-6 lead.

Abercrombie's 32-yard gallop early in the final period set up a Baylor field goal and his 64-yard run late in the game set up Baylor's final touchdown.

Texas A&M's ace running back Curtis Dickey, the SWC's leading rusher with 619 yards, did not start the game because of injuries and played only briefly before reinjuring a knee. He was held to 39 yards on seven carries.

"I think they (Baylor) just felt a win and went after it real good," said Aggie coach Emory Bellard. "We moved the ball pretty well, but when we got into scoring position, we let the wheels fly off the machine instead of taking it on in. Dickey being out hurt us as it will any time you don't have your best player."

Nebraska beats Buffs

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Fifth-ranked Nebraska battered Colorado's Big Eight-leading defense for 49 straight points, including two touchdowns by running back Rick Berns, to crush the Buffaloes 52-14 Saturday in college football.

The Cornhuskers rallied from a 14-3 first-quarter deficit to pull even at halftime, then surged into the lead on Berns' 10-yard scoring run early in the third quarter. Later in the period, Billy Todd kicked his third field goal of the game and quarterback Tom Sorely lofted a 42-yard TD pass to tight end Junior Miller for a 31-14 advantage.

A pair of Colorado turnovers set up Nebraska touchdowns in the final quarter. Tim Wirth got the first on a 43-yard sideline scamper and I.M. Hipp, held in check most of the afternoon, got the other on a 1-yard plunge.

Sophomore Craig Johnson capped the scoring with a 33-yard run in the final minutes.

Horned Frogs surprised Green Wave

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Steve Bayuk and Jimmy Allen led an opportunistic Texas Christian University offense to a 13-7 victory over Tulane in an intercollegiate college football game Saturday night.

TCU scored two first quarter field goals after Tulane turnovers, added a second quarter touchdown on a pass from Bayuk to Allen and held off Tulane the rest of the way.

Tulane ran only three offensive plays in the first nine minutes of the game. Running back Marvin Christian fumbled Tulane's third play from scrimmage.

After a short punt near the end of the first quarter, TCU drove 41 yards for its touchdown.

Tulane scored midway through the second period on a 4-yard pass from quarterback Roch Hontas to Terry Harris.

Bayuk hit 11 of 14 pass attempts for 84 yards. Allen carried 23 times and gained 80 yards for Texas Christian.

With just over a minute left in the game, Tulane appeared to have scored on a pass from Hontas to Darrel Griffin, but the play was called back when an ineligible receiver was detected for Tulane.

After the penalty, Tulane was unable to gain any yardage on two passes.

TCU recovered at the Tulane 36 and Greg Porter kicked a 35-yard field goal 10 plays later.

Tulane then fumbled the ensuing kickoff. TCU recovered and six plays later Porter kicked a 36 yard field goal.

After a short punt near the end of the first quarter, TCU drove 41 yards for its touchdown.

Tulane scored midway through the second period on a 4-yard pass from quarterback Roch Hontas to Terry Harris.

Rams Steelers still perfect

By the Associated Press

As Miami careened along in 1972, en route to a perfect regular season plus two playoff victories and a Super Bowl VIII romp over Minnesota, Coach Don Shula said — more times than he'd care to remember — that he wasn't thinking of a perfect season, only the Dolphins' next game.

Welcome to the pressure cooker, Ray Malavasi.

"I don't think about being 8-0. All I'm thinking about is beating the New Orleans Saints," says Los Angeles' rookie head coach, whose Rams go into Sunday's home game as two-touchdown favorites.

Only one other team, Pittsburgh, has a shot at perfection this year. The Steelers are on display Monday night against the visiting Houston Oilers.

Sunday's other National Football League games are Green Bay at Minnesota, Chicago at Tampa Bay, Miami at New England, Oakland at Seattle, Cincinnati at Buffalo, St. Louis at the New York Jets, Washington at the New York Giants, Philadelphia at Dallas, San Diego at Detroit, Cleveland at Kansas City, Atlanta at San Francisco and Denver at Baltimore.

The Rams have won their last dozen regular-season games at home, where a Nov. 12 Steeler-Ram showdown is shaping up, especially with Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw leading the league in passing.

Houston beats Celts

HOUSTON (AP) — Rudy Tomjanovich pumped in a game high 30 points and Calvin Murphy added 27 more to power the Houston Rockets to a 118-101 National Basketball Association victory over the Boston Celtics Saturday night.

Tomjanovich and Murphy helped fuel a 14-point Rocket spurt early in the third quarter which gave them a 72-60 lead. Houston led the rest of the way while picking up its fourth victory in five starts this season. Boston is now 1-4.

The Celtics used a 15-point scoring effort from Nate Archibald in the second quarter to take a 51-46 lead late in the period. The Rockets, however, came back to tie the score at halftime, 56-56, and led by as many as 24 points early in the final quarter.

Billy Knight led Boston with 21 points. Archibald added 20 for the Celtics.

Irish pass Air Force

ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Quarterback Joe Montana passed for two touchdowns and ran for two more Saturday to lead Notre Dame to a 38-15 college football victory over the Air Force Academy.

Montana threw third-quarter scoring passes of 56 yards to split end Cris Haines and 9 yards to tight end Dennis Grindinger to cap the victory for the 20th-ranked Irish.

Montana ran for his two scores in the second period.

Alexander leads LSU romp

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mike Conway kicked four field goals and Charles Alexander turned a swing pass from David Woodley into a 44-yard scoring romp as Louisiana State blanked punchless and mistake-ridden Kentucky 21-0 in Southeastern Conference football Saturday night.

LSU, 5-1 overall and 2-1 in the SEC, got all the help it needed when Kentucky coughed up three fumbles and had four passes intercepted.

LSU, not without problems of its own in the early going, moved ahead to stay in the first period when a low center snap rolled through the legs of Kentucky punter Kevin Kelly. The ball rolled into the end zone, where Kelly grabbed it and was in turn taken down by LSU's John Adams.

That error set the tone for the game, a less than classic match that featured 11 turnovers, including three in a 13-second span in the first quarter.

LSU began to assert itself in the second period, although the stingy Kentucky defense managed to keep the Tigers out of the end zone until Alexander settled the issue in the third period.

Woodley had employed the swing pass to Alexander throughout the evening in trying to free the big running back from a Kentucky defense that was rigged to stop LSU's ground game.

Alexander took the ball near the right sideline, avoided Kentucky safety Richie Boyd, and managed to stay inbounds to complete the scumry play.

Although Alexander led the way, it was Woodley who did the most damage. He passed for 154 yards and two touchdowns Saturday as seventh-ranked Southern California crushed Oregon State 38-7 in a Pacific-10 Conference game.

White, held to 59 yards in the Trojans' upset loss to Arizona State last week, carried 22 times and scored on runs of 41 and 13 yards.

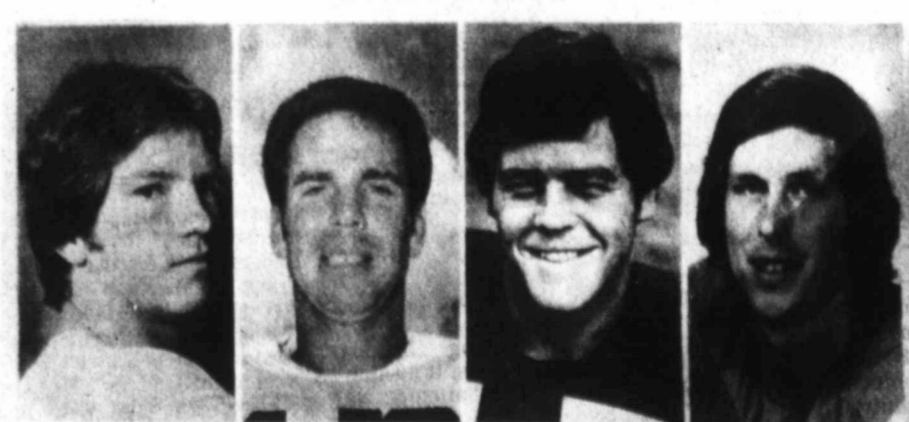

Quarterback Paul McDonald, who also had a disappointing outing the previous game, hit 10 of 16 passes for 138 yards and three scoring passes of 5 yards to Kevin Williams and 9 yards to James Hunter.

Permian outclasses Steers

By NATHAN POSS
The state's sixth ranked team, the Odessa Permian Panthers, played nearly flawless football Friday night in completely outclassing the visiting Big Spring Steers.

The final score was 48-0, but even a more indicative number was the first down statistics. Permian led in this category by a margin of 30-2.

Earlier in the day, Panther boss John Wilkins had stated that he wasn't sure his crew would be thinking past the Steers to next week's foe, Abilene Cooper. It was also the Permian homecoming, and Wilkins couldn't gauge how the festivities would affect Mojo.

But he had no reason to fear, as the Steers received the opening kickoff and failed to move. The Panthers took advantage of a short Ricky Cluck punt to set up shop on the Bovine 40.

It took Mojo just four plays to put their initial points on the board, with quarterback Vic Vines racing around right end from the 14 to score. Robert Oroscio booted the PAT.

Mojo forced Big Spring to punt after three plays on their next possession, taking over on their own 34. Vines cut back across the grain on second down for a pickup of 24, then seven plays later tailback Gregg Lambert scored his first of four touchdowns on a one-yard plunge. Oroscio's kick was true.

Permian drove to the Big Spring six on their next possession, but the Steer defense held for one of their few bright spots of the night.

On their next possession, the Panthers drove 49 yards to paydirt in four plays. The big play in the drive was a 43-yard burst by Lambert to the Steer one foot line. Lambert then dove over the double stripes two plays later. Oroscio added the PAT.

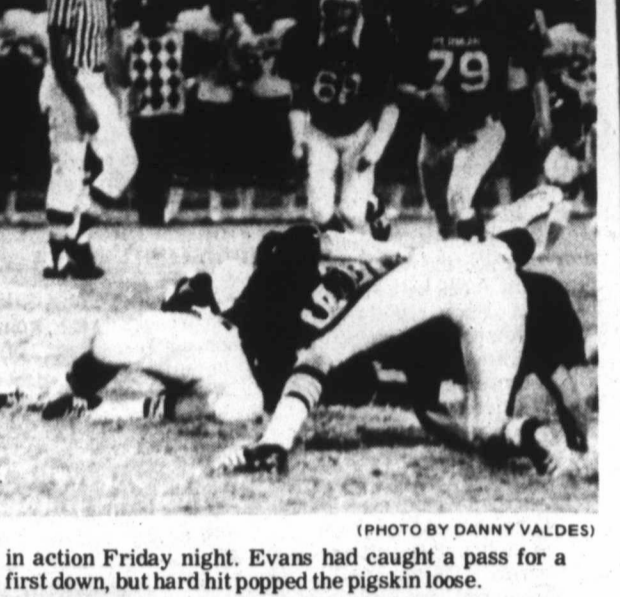

Big Spring finally made their first first down of the night midway through the second stanza on a spectacular catch by Joe Willie Jones. Jones outtaught two Panther defenders for the catch, which covered 39 yards and put the Steers in Permian territory at the 36. But four plays later fumblestruck Billy Ray Johnson hit Mike Evans on a quick slant for an apparent first down, but a jarring tackle popped the ball loose. Panther cornerback John Muery caught the loose pigskin on the fly and returned it to the Bovine 45.

Vines wasted no time converting the turnover, connecting with Gary Smith on first down to the Steer 18. Three plays later, Lambert scored on a four-yard run. Oroscio again converted.

After the Steers were again forced to punt, a Panther return man returned the punt 77 yards for an apparent score. But a clipping penalty nullified the touchdown and forced Permian to start from their own 12.

It made no difference, however, as Vines directed Mojo for their fifth score of the half. He completed four passes on the drive for 86 yards through a non-existent Steer secondary. The score came as time expired, with Vines connecting on a 24-yard pass to a wide open Ricky Reynolds in the end zone. Oroscio again converted.

Permian started the second half from their own

District 5-A AAA

Lee nudges Cooper

ABILENE — Midland Lee surged from behind to edge Abilene Cooper, 28-25, in a District 5-A AAA thriller here Friday night.

Jeff McCowan led the Lee attack, gaining 153 yards in 33 carries. The win was the sixth straight for Lee. Within the district, Lee is 3-0.

McCowan ran two yards for one touchdown in the opening period and scored on a two-yard plunge again in the fourth.

McCowan now has gained 856 yards rushing the ball during the season. He has scored 14 touchdowns.

Lee scored two touchdowns in the first round and added single six-pointers in each of the last two quarters.

The Rebels gained 258 yards rushing the ball and added 36 passing. Cooper piled up 212 yards on the ground and 139 through the air.

Cooper pulled to within three points of Lee with 2:33 left when Joel Harris scored and Tracy Thomas added two points on a conversion try.

Cooper then tried an oside kick but the ball didn't go ten yards and Lee took over, maintaining possession until the end of the contest.

Abilene 27, Midland 8

MIDLAND — Abilene High contained Midland High very well in posting a 27-8 District 5-A AAA win here Friday night.

The Eagles, now 2-1 in league standings and 4-2 overall, scored twice in the first period and added two more in the third. Midland dropped to 1-2 in conference and is 2-4 on the year.

Reggie Fields scored on a four-yard run in the opening round for Abilene and David Perry kicked the PAT. Fields burst into the end zone later in the quarter after a run of five yards and Perry again converted.

Midland got on the board in the third when Bill Applin scored on a pass, the play covering 44 yards. Michael Feldt sought out the same receiver with a pass for the extra points.

Undaunted, Abilene scored two more before the end of the third round. Vince Ford managed one on a 44-yard pass from Loyal Profit and Profit himself tallied the other on a ten-yard run. Perry kicked the PAT after Profit's TD.

OHS outscores Central

SAN ANGELO — Odessa High had to go all out to edge San Angelo Central in a District 5-A AAA barn-burner here Friday night. Final score was 37-34.

Odessa High is now 4-2 overall and stands 1-2 in district. San Angelo has won two of six seasonal starts and stands 0-3 in district.

Daniel Stevens scored three touchdowns for Odessa, two of them in the fourth period. They came on runs of one, one and five yards.

Tod Fields threw scoring strikes to Jack Fannon, Doug Larson and Genaro Carrasco to keep San Angelo in the game.

Odessa made only 48 yards rushing but added 133 passing. San Angelo picked up 118 yards on the ground and 189 through the air.

STRICKLAND STOPPED...Forsan quarterback Ernie Strickland is stopped in Friday night action by an unidentified Shallowater defender. Keith Kohan (67) and Stacy Hohenberger (38) move in to help out.

WINTERS — The Coahoma Bulldogs remained unbeaten Friday night in a most convincing fashion. The Bulldogs amassed 425 yards total offense in routing the Winters Blizzards by a score of 44-0. It was a disappointing Homecoming for the Blizzards.

The Bulldogs scored in every quarter. Ronald Sunday opened the Big Red assault when he sprinted 65 yards to paydirt in the opening stanza. Gary Paige kicked the PAT.

Sunday then passed to Jerry Koefer for 29 yards and a score in the same period.

Quarterback Gary Gee added another scoring pass in the first period when he connected with tight end Randy Phillips on a 16-yard completion.

CCity wolves cruise by Wylie

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Wolves put on another impressive performance in a 27-0 victory over Wylie in District 6-AA action.

The Wolves took advantage of a Bulldog fumble on their own eight for their first score. Ruben Garcia plunged over from the three for the touchdown, and Jay Feaster added the PAT.

The Wolves scored again in the initial stanza when Ricky Sanchez returned a punt 30 yards for a score. Feaster added the PAT.

Colorado City scored in the second period when sophomore fullback Doug Johnson burst through the middle from the five. The extra point attempt failed.

The game was a defensive struggle until the final period, when the Wolves drove 85 yards in 15 plays for the final score of the night. The scoring play was a 28-yard pass from Gene Carter to Sanchez. Gary Hulme kicked the PAT.

Hulme was the leading rusher in the game with 144 yards on 27 carries.

Shallowater drowns Forsan

By MARJ CARPENTER
The only bright spot in the shellacking the Forsan Buffaloes took from the Shallowater Mustangs was one lone touchdown, their first in 13 quarters of play.

At least Forsan snapped their streak of failing to score, since they had not made a touchdown since the Robert Lee game three games back. But it was little solace as they went down in a 35-6 defeat.

Forsan's lone score came in the third period when Rusty Henderson went over from the six for the score with 2:52 left in the quarter. At that point, the score was 21-6.

Henderson, along with Randy Cregar, Kevin Lowe, Dayton Robertson, Davey Tarbert, and D.F. Stanley all

Klondike wins

KLONDIKE — The Klondike Cougars ran at will in a 44-0 victory over the Dawson Dragons. The Cougars are now 5-2 on the year, while Dawson fell to 1-6.

Klondike quarterback David Cox started the scoring bonanza when he ran in from the three. James Martin kicked the PAT.

Early in the second quarter, Cox completed a 32-yard touchdown pass to halfback Tommy Hays. Martin again booted the PAT.

On the last play of the first half, Cox kicked a 29-yard field goal.

Hays jacked the score to 23-0 midway in the third stanza. Martin converted the PAT. Martin also kicked a 34-yard field goal in the same quarter.

Martin added his third field goal of the night in the final period. It was from 22 yards out. Halfback Clay Holcombe scored soon afterwards on a two-yard plunge.

Klondike scored again with six seconds remaining in the tilt when Inez Casillas raced in from the eight. Martin capped a perfect kicking night with the successful PAT.

NEW HOME — The New Home Leopards used two touchdowns by Isaih Roberson and one each from Tracy Smith and Duane Webster to propel them to a 27-0 win over the Sands Mustangs in a District 3-B West football game.

The Leopards used a Roberson run to take a 7-0 halftime lead, then exploded for three more scores in the second half for the final margin of victory.

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Wolves put on another impressive performance in a 27-0 victory over Wylie in District 6-AA action.

The Wolves took advantage of a Bulldog fumble on their own eight for their first score. Ruben Garcia plunged over from the three for the touchdown, and Jay Feaster added the PAT.

The Wolves scored again in the initial stanza when Ricky Sanchez returned a punt 30 yards for a score. Feaster added the PAT.

Colorado City scored in the second period when sophomore fullback Doug Johnson burst through the middle from the five. The extra point attempt failed.

Crenshaw upset in Texas Open

MARBLE FALLS, Texas (AP) — Jeff Mitchell of Lubbock recorded eight birdies on the first 16 holes to make up seven shots on Ben Crenshaw Friday, then won the $35,000 Texas State Open with a fourfoot par putt on the first sudden-death hole.

Mitchell could have put Crenshaw away in regulation, but double-bogeyed the 18th hole on the par-72 Horseshoe Bay layout.

Crenshaw was the victim of an unplayable lie on the first overtime hole and lay five when Mitchell dropped his winning par putt.

Mitchell's final round of 66 put him at 274 for the tournament after regulation play. Crenshaw closed with a 74 for his 274.

Lindy Miller of Fort Worth used a record-tying 30 on the front nine en route to a 65 to share third place with Don January at 277.

Orville Moody closed with 69 for a 279 to take fifth place.

Grady rips Three-way

THREE-WAY — Grady's Wildcats set a school record by defeating Three-Way, 36-7, in a six-man football game here Friday night.

The school has been fielding a football team five years and no club has ever won more than four times in a single season. The Cats go to Wellman for a District 3-B start next Friday. Wellman is 4-2. Grady has lost only to Herring this season.

The Grady team scored 14 points in the opening period. Alex Perez passed to Eli Silva for the first TD, the play covering 54 yards. Try for point was no good.

Ronald Chee raced 24 yards for the second six-pointer. Larry Key added two points on a conversion try.

In the second, Reuben Gutierrez ran 14 yards for another Grady score. Later in the period, Leland Kay recovered a fumble in the Three Way end zone for the Wildcats' next tally. Larry Key booted the two extra points.

In the third, Grady got on the scoreboard again on a Three-Way run by Chee. Larry Key booted the two PATs.

On defense, Alfonso Cortez, Mitchell Mitchell and Leland Key were impressive for Grady. Cortez got 14 tackles and had three quarterback sacks. Mitchell made 12 tackles, Leland Key ten.

Grady made 14 first downs, gained 244 yards in 41 rushes and completed three of five passes for 54 yards. The Wildcats penetrated the Three-Way goal on eight occasions.

Gutierrez gained 61 yards in eight carries for Grady. Chee 155 yards in 21 lunges and Mitchell 40 yards in nine attempts.

Sterling City "Boots" Bearkats

By CARLA WALKER

Garden City fell victim to turnovers and Sterling City halfback Boots Demere as the Bearkats lost 27-6 to the Sterling City Eagles.

The Eagles piled up some 223 yards total offense, of which 188 came on the ground, most as a result of the running abilities of Demere.

The Bearkats were held scoreless for three quarters while the Eagles capitalized on Garden City mistakes to rack up all 27 of their points. The Bearkats lost seven turnovers — two fumbles and five interceptions — only two — one fumble and one interception — which hurt the Eagles.

Late in the third quarter, the Bearkats threatened when they recovered a fumble on the Sterling City 23 yard line. With the aid of a five-yard offside penalty against the Eagles, Bradley Calverly and Scotty Hillger advanced the ball to the four-yard line where, on fourth down, pass interference play against the Eagles gave the Bearkats a first and goal at the three yard line. Calverly advanced the ball to the one-half yard line, but with 46 seconds left in the quarter, the Bearkats offense fumbled a handoff and Sterling City recovered at the three yard line.

Garden City finally got on the scoreboard when they regained possession of the football on a pass interception by Kevin Hirt, defensive back and quarterback. Hirt intercepted a pass from Sterling quarterback Dusty Demere on the 29 yard line of Sterling City and ran the ball down to the 14 yard line. Bradley Calverly earned 11 yards on two carries to keep the drive going and Hirt squeezed by Eagle tacklers around the right end to put Garden City's only score on the board. The two-point conversion attempt failed and neither team could get on the scoreboard again.

Former TCU griddier begins treatment in Russia

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Former Texas Christian University football player Kent Waldrep arrived here late Friday night full of hope that Soviet doctors can help him move his limbs again.

The husky American has been confined to a wheelchair since 1974, when a spinal cord injury during a football game paralyzed him from the neck down. He has been accepted for treatment at this city's famed Polonovsky Neurological Institute, which focuses on paraplegics.

"All I can say is that I am here, and I'm hopeful," the 24-year-old Grand Prairie, Texas, native said when he arrived at his hotel. His mother and father are accompanying him on the month-long trip.

Waldrep said the full-day journey to Leningrad was "surprisingly comfortable. Everyone went out of their way to help me."

He will visit the institute on Saturday, and probably begin treatment as early as Monday after a thorough examination by Russian doctors. "I want to get going right away," he said.

What attracted Waldrep to the institute is a radical new treatment it has developed for paraplegics using enzyme injections — a procedure not yet approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Waldrep explained.

The enzymes are injected into the spinal canal to dissolve the scar tissue that blocks the nerves from regenerating.

The treatment is still in the experimental stages, but a recent American patient, Robert Hurt of Florida, was able to gain some movement, including moving his arms and holding up his head.

He also managed to walk slowly across a room with the aid of a walker, the U.S. consulate in Leningrad said. Hurt made two visits to the clinic, one in 1976 and the most recent in September.

American doctors, however, remain doubtful about the results being achieved at the institute, and say the improvements that appear right after treatment can't be guaranteed to last.

First size limits imposed on fisherman

AUSTIN — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission has adopted the first bag, possession and minimum size limits ever imposed on the taking of spotted seatrout by sport fishermen in Texas.

In a public hearing Wednesday, Oct. 11, the commission authorized a daily bag limit of 20, possession limit of 40 and a 12-inch minimum size for spotted seatrout (speckled trout) in all regulatory counties for anyone other than the holder of a commercial fishing license.

Commercial fishermen are not restricted to the bag and possession limits, but already were subject to a 12-inch minimum length limit.

The new sport fishing regulation is to go into effect Dec. 1, 1978.

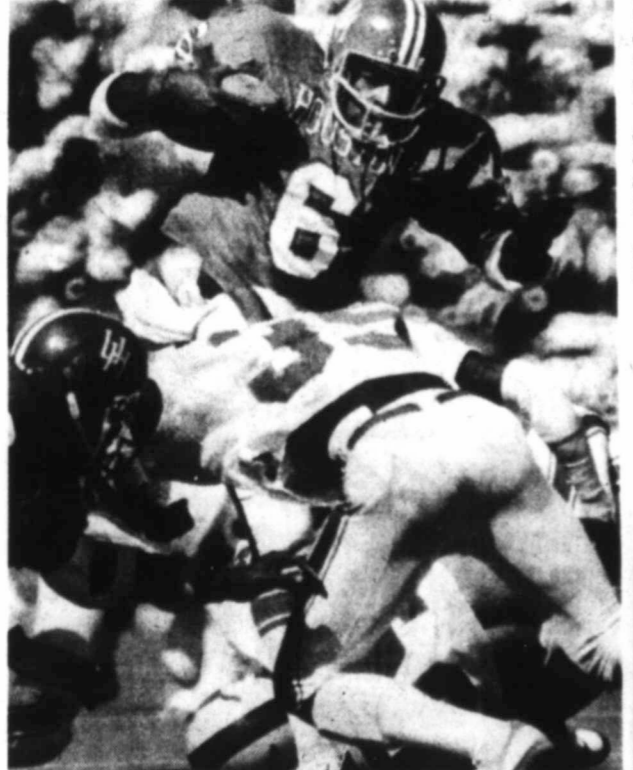

In approving the staff recommendation, commissioners received assurance that the new regulation would be included for review in public regulatory hearings to be held statewide in March.

In the meantime, biological surveys will be made to determine the effects of the limits on the resource.

Commissioner Perry R. Bass of Fort Worth made the motion to adopt the 20-per day and 40 in possession limits, and he accepted an amendment suggested by Commissioner John M. Green of Beaumont to include the 12-inch size provision.

The commission also adopted a clarification of the wording of the locations of the waters of Espiritu Santo Bay closed to netting.

New York City Marathon today in Central Park

NEW YORK (AP) — There will be many obstacles facing the more than 11,000 runners in Sunday's New York City Marathon.

There will be the huge field — double the size of last year.

There will be a split start — the first in marathon history — with experienced runners starting in one section and women and first-time runners in another section, then merging after 2½ miles.

There will be the weather — an expected temperature in the 70s, hot for a distance race of 26 miles, 385 yards.

There will be the huge crowds lining the course through each of the city's five boroughs and at the finish line in Central Park — necessitating a great deal of extra security.

There will be the problem of processing and computing the finishers — hundreds will be panting across the finish line within minutes of each other.

There will be the physical difficulties — many runners will be forced to drop out because of exhaustion, injury or illness, and require medical treatment.

And there will be the potholes?

Yes, the runners will have to contend with numerous potholes dotting the pavements of New York — potholes still not filled in from last year's disastrous winter or potholes that were filled in but since have opened again.

"Oh yes, there have been a lot of potholes," noted Chris Stewart, the Britisher who has finished third in each of the past two New York City Marathons. "They can make the course a little dangerous. I wouldn't like to trip over one, or fall into one."

Plains ties Stanton

STANTON — The Plains Cowboys drove 76 yards for a fourth quarter touchdown to tie the Stanton Buffaloes in an exciting District 5-A contest.

The first half was dominated by both defenses, as Stanton finally managed to take the lead with 39 seconds remaining in the second quarter on a 35-yard field goal by Alonzo Padron.

Plains tied the score at three apiece on their first march of the second half. Jimmy Curtis' 20-yard field goal.

The Buffaloes took the lead with 2:08 remaining in the third stanza on quarterback Tommy Morrow's one-yard sneak. Padron added the PAT.

Plains then moved to within one point with 3:37 remaining in the tilt when Curtis caught a 28-yard scoring strike from quarterback Wayne Davis. David Huerta kicked the PAT, as Plains seemed satisfied to go for the tie.

Bama bombs Vols

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tight end Tim Travis took wide pitches in for two touchdowns Saturday to lead fourth-ranked Alabama over fumble-troubled Tennessee 30-17 in a Southeastern Conference football game.

Alabama's Crimson Tide used a pair of Volunteer fumbles and an interception to score three touchdowns and give Coach Bear Bryant his eighth straight victory over Tennessee. The Tide now is 3-0 in conference and 5-1 overall.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Michigan quarterback Rick Leach scored on runs of 6 and 6 yards, fired a 65-yard touchdown pass to Ralph Clayton, and directed two other scoring drives, leading the ninth-ranked Wolverines to a 42-0 Big Ten college football victory over Wisconsin Saturday.

Leach rushed 12 times for 82 yards and tailback Harlan Huckley added 98 yards rushing, including 17 for a touchdown, for Michigan, 5-1 overall and 2-1 in the Big Ten. The largest crowd in Wisconsin history, 80,024, saw the Wolverines score on three of their first four possessions as they built a 21-0 halftime lead.

The Badgers, 4-1-1 overall and 2-1-1 in the conference, didn't cross midfield until 8:35 remained in the third quarter. They didn't show the wide-open passing attack they had promised until the fourth quarter, when they trailed 35-0.

Steer JV's, 30-12 Permian punts by Odessa Permian used a poor punting game by the Big Spring JV's to take a 30-12 victory Saturday afternoon.

In the first period, the Big Spring punter was tackled by the Panthers in good field position. Permian converted the Bovine mistake to take a 7-0 lead.

Late in the same stanza, Permian blocked David Coffey's punt deep in the baby Bovines end of the field. Permian again capitalized to up the count to 14-0.

Late in the second quarter, quarterback Coffey's pass was blocked by a Panther lineman. The pass fell into the hands of another Permian lineman, with the Steers tackling him on the Big Spring 25.

Permian converted this error into another touchdown with only one second remaining on the clock. The PAT was good.

The Shortorns came storming back after the half. Jimmy Marquez started the rally by connecting with Neil Humphrey on a 40-yard scoring play to bring the score to 21-6.

The Big Spring defense held Permian on their next possession, with the Short-horn offense taking over on the Panther 35. Ben Watson, Mike Terry, Tommy Madison and David Bar-dofski then ground out most of the yardage out of the straight T formation to the goal line. Quarterback Marquez took the honors on a short plunge. The PAT failed.

Permian scored a safety in the fourth quarter on yet another blocked punt. They also added another touchdown to ice the game in the waning moments.

JV coach Ben Neel indicated that this was the best effort of the year by his crew. They resume action next Thursday at Midland Lee.

Top ranked Sooners ease by Cyclones

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Billy Sims devastated Iowa State with a career high 281 yards rushing as top ranked Oklahoma buried the Cyclones 34-6 in Big Eight football Saturday.

Sims, who went into the game as the nation's fifth leading rusher, had breakaway runs of 64 and 52 yards to set up a pair of second quarter field goals for the Sooners, and scored a third period touchdown on a 20-yard sprint.

Running out of the Oklahoma wishbone, Sims had 178 yards on just 12 carries in the first half and had eight more attempts for 53 yards before Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer put in a reserve backfield in the third quarter.

Quarterback Thomas Lott ran for two first half touchdowns and fullback Kenny King added one on a 15-yard run. Lott and King each sat out last week's game with injuries, and both left in the third quarter when they aggravated those bruises.

Uwe von Schamann kicked field goals of 26 and 26 yards and kept his NCAA extra point record alive by booting four conversions to make it 103 straight.

ball's longest winning streak through 15 games.

Fusina, the No. 1 passer in Penn State football history, completed 15 of 27 for 293 yards in Penn State's seventh victory of the season. It was the sixth loss against one triumph for Syracuse.

The wide-open game included a 50-yard field goal by Penn State's Matt Bahr, the nation's leading college kicker with 15 of 17 this season. Syracuse's — Dave Jacobs kicked three — 29, 25 and 33 yards — boosting his total to 46 and vaulting him into fifth place on the NCAA's all-time career field goal kicking list.

Penn State scored less than three minutes into the game on a 21-yard pass from Fusina to Fitzkee, and never trailed against the out-manned Orange.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Quarterback Chuck Fusina threw four touchdown passes, two to split end Scott Fitzkee, as second-ranked Penn State beat Syracuse 45-15 Saturday to extend major college football's longest winning streak through 15 games.

CCity decisions Coahoma JV's

COAHOMA — Coahoma's Junior Varsity lost, 20-13, here Thursday to Colorado City but the Coahoma Freshmen triumphed, 12-6, over the same school.

The Coahoma JV's are winless in five starts. The Coahoma freshmen have prevailed in three of four.

In the freshman, Coahoma's Greg Harrington returned an intercepted pass 25 yards for a first quarter score. The try for point failed.

In the second, Colorado City drove 20 yards to paydirt following an interception to tie the count. Coahoma took the ensuing kickoff and drove for what proved to be the winning run. Arnaldo Abrego ran the last 43 yards for the tally.

C-City, Coahoma JHS split

COLORADO CITY — Football teams representing seventh and eighth grades at Colorado City and Coahoma halved a double header here Thursday.

The Cee City seventh grade won a 6-0 decision, driving 55 yards for the lone touchdown in the second period. The defeat left Coahoma with a 1-4 record.

Coahoma's eighth graders romped a 28-0 victory and are still all winning after five starts.

In that one, Coahoma's Bruce Walker passed to Manuel Martinez for Coahoma's first score in the opening period, the play covering 52 yards. The touchdown came on Coahoma's first possession. Walker then passed to Martinez for two extra points.

Tommy Shirley, Abrego (with gains totaling 123 yards), Tracy Van Ness and Bubba Dykes looked to advantage for Coahoma while Shane Mayhall, Jeff Thompson, Denny Islas and David Roberts excelled for the Bullpups.

In the JV game, Coahoma scored first in the second period when Joe Bernal ran five yards. Jay Hall kicked the PAT.

Cee City came back to tally in the first but failed to negotiate the PAT. Coahoma led at the half, 7-6.

Cee City scored again in the third and ran the ball for two extra points.

The Wolves iced the contest in the fourth with another TD, missing on the extra point.

Ambrose Uranga raced ten yards for Coahoma's final tally late in the game. The try for point failed.

Coahoma then recovered an onside kick but couldn't take advantage of the break.

Los Angeles — The whole thing about the Reggie Jax play is that he pulled off an illegal play so subtly, he got away with it. He conned the hell out of the umpires, and it makes me wonder if he could have got away with it against the old umpires.

I remember one play, when Jackie Robinson and Gil Hodges tried something very similar — and didn't pull it off. Almost every little detail comes back to me now. I guess it was 30 years ago or so. I wouldn't begin to know how to look it up.

The Dodgers, who then wore a "B" for Brooklyn on their caps, were playing the Cubs. Jackie Robinson got himself tied up in one of those patented rundowns between third and home and was driving the infielders nuts by darting back and forth. Finally, as often happened in those days, two runners wound up standing on third, Jackie, who was chased back to the bag by the catcher, and Gil Hodges, who had advanced from second.

The catcher tagged Robinson, Hodges and the umpire, figuring one of them had to be out. Then, in the split second that the catcher dropped his guard and walked away, both Robinson and Hodges broke for home.

It was unusual, even for a reporter covering the Daffy Dodgers, to see two men, tandem style, running for home. Hodges, oddly enough, matched Robinson's speed, stride for stride, in the sprint. I guess Jackie must have been a little tired from darting back and forth in the rundown.

Anyway, Phil Cavaretta, the first baseman, had rushed over to cover the plate. The catcher, alerted to the fact there still was work to be done, fired the ball home. Robinson slid to the outside of the plate, Hodges slid to the inside, simultaneously, and it was the damndest thing you ever did see. Cavaretta slapped a tag on one, then the other, bing-bing, just like that.

The umpire at home, I think it was Jocko Conlan, pointed down at Hodges and said you're out, and pointed at Robby, and said, you're out, both of you!

And when the Brooklyn Dodgers screamed bloody murder, Jocko said: "Hodges, you were out when you were tagged while standing on third base, because Robinson was entitled to the base. And you, Robinson, you are out because of interference by Hodges. Once Hodges was retired, he had no right to be running the bases with you. He should have removed himself from the baseline."

And that is the principle involved in the Reggie Jax case. Jax was on first base when Lou Piniella hit a lower line to the left of shortstop Bill Russell. Russell lunged for it, about shin high. The ball hit in his glove and popped out within easy reach. Russell picked it up, stepped on second for the force on Jackson, and fired toward first in attempting the DP.

Jackson, indecisive about which direction to take, due to the line-drive quality of the hit, wound up standing still, about six feet off first base, with Russell's leg coming directly at him. Behind Jax was the first baseman, Steve Garvey, waiting the throw — screened out, like a hockey goalie, by Jackson's body loitering in the baseline.

At this point, Jackson is Gil Hodges in the play of 30 years before. He has been retired, and it is up to him to remove himself from the baseline so as not to obstruct the continuing play.

Jackson not only stands there, in the way, he throws a sudden hip, a subtle rhumba motion, to the right, making certain to deflect the throw. This enables the man headed for third, Munson, to race home, and Piniella, the batter, to reach second instead of his being doubled-up. Now, the damage done, Jax removes himself from the field.

Bill Russell, the shortstop, gets an error for his throw. The error belonged to the umpires, particularly to Frank Pulli, who made the call. He admits he had a poor angle on Jackson's involvement. He says he does not believe Jax intentionally interfered with the throw. That reminds me of Leon Spinks' trainer, Sam Solomon, looking at a TV replay of himself offering a little libation to his fighter in the corner, and saying, "Bottle? What bottle?"

Jackson clearly interfered with the throw. Rule 7.09 (f) states: "It is interference when any runner who has just been put out hinders or impedes any following play being made on a runner.

Such runner shall be declared out for the interference of his teammate." That was Hodges, 30 years earlier; that was Jackson right now.

Following Rule 7.09 is a footnote reading: "If the runner continues to advance after he has been put out, he shall not by that act alone be considered as confusing, hindering or impeding the fielders." With footnotes like that, is it any wonder umpires get confused?

Perhaps, if the umpires has been permitted to look at the replay on Bowie Kuhn's Little TV monitor, conveniently located in the first row, a better decision could have been made. The consultation of replays in aiding decisions might be better suited for baseball than football, because of their relative infrequency in baseball.

Regardless, nothing will change the Reggie Jax play, which changed the 1978 World Series. As Lee Lacy, Dodger DH, says: "Mr. Extraordinary did it again. Mr. Extraordinary pulled off another extraordinary play."

Rose trims list to five

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose a New York Yankee? A Los Angeles Dodger? The thought is no longer unthinkable.

Those are two of the eight teams to which Cincinnati's three-time batting champion said he would give "serious consideration" if they select him Nov. 3 in baseball's free agent re-entry draft.

In addition to the eight clubs he named in a statement

Friday, Rose said he "would be happy to have further talks" with the Cincinnati Reds. The Reds have said they have made their final offer.

In trimming the list, Rose said, "There are only certain teams on which my full worth would be realized." He said he wanted to go to a contending team and an offensive-minded team.

In addition to the Yankees and Dodgers, Rose named the Philadelphia Phillies, San Diego Padres, Boston Red Sox, California Angels, Kansas City Royals and the Texas Rangers.

Rose, who hit safely in 44 consecutive games this season for a National League record, listed the clubs in alphabetical order.

Rose, who has spent 16 years at Cincinnati, has said it would take "a miracle" for him to return to the Reds. Both sides have rejected salary proposals in their latest dispute.

The text of his statement read: "I have been asked many times what teams I would consider joining now that I have become a free agent. Of course, those would depend on who obtains the right to negotiate with me in the draft on Nov. 3.

SPOTS A FRIEND — Cincinnati Reds third baseman Pete Rose points and breaks into laughter as he spots a friend in the audience during a television show appearance in Cincinnati Thursday. Rose commented on his entry into the free agent draft saying he didn't want to leave the Reds or Cincinnati.

VALUABLE SMILE — New York Yankees shortstop Bucky Dent, the World Series Most Valuable Player, flashes a smile during an interview by David Hartman on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" show Thursday in New York.

This is from my credit union. It's called a Share Draft Account... It's a great leap beyond ordinary checking!

First, I don't pay for it... it actually pays me! No more monthly service charges, no on-going transaction fees. They don't even require a minimum monthly balance. But — I do earn dividends, just like I get on my regular credit union shares.

There's also a direct deposit feature which lets me send my paycheck straight to the credit union... and automatic carbonless copies of every draft. I write... regular monthly statements that detail all my share draft activity.

Share Draft Accounts are easy to open. You sign some papers, tell them how you want your drafts printed... that's it. From then on, you're handling all your financial business the credit union way — every single day!

Southwest Airlines to add Amarillo flights

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Beaumont-Port Arthur and Amarillo will be added to Southwest Airlines' flight schedules within six months, following action Thursday by the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

The commission gave the intrastate carrier permission to add the cities to its nine-city service area. Flights must begin from the added cities within six months.

The Amarillo routes were opposed by Braniff International, which also serves that city. The Beaumont-Port Arthur routes were uncontested.

The airline plans nonstop flights between Amarillo-Dallas and Beaumont-Dallas. Direct flights would be offered between Amarillo-Austin and Amarillo-Houston.

HERE PUP — A mother harp seal returns to body of her pup after it was killed and skinned during seal hunt off Newfoundland in 1976. On Monday, the British government yielded to protests of ecology activists and called off a plan to slaughter gray seals in the Orkney Islands by hiring six Norwegian marksmen. And licensed local hunters who were to have been allowed to kill 4,000 seal pups, will be restricted to 2,000 as in the past.

Britain backing down on seal hunt

LONDON (AP) — The British government backed down — but insisted it was right. Ecology activists celebrated — but acknowledged their war is far from won. And 2,000 baby seals will live — at least until they are older and less winsome.

That was the status after a week-long dispute over a plan to "cull" — or slaughter — gray seals in the Orkney Islands off the North Coast of Scotland because they allegedly eat too much from dwindling fish stocks.

Because of "widespread public concern" — the prime minister's office alone received 16,800 protest letters — the government announced Monday it was calling off six Norwegian marksmen who had been hired for $40,000 to kill 900 adult seals.

Licensed local hunters, who were to have killed 4,000 seal pups, will be restricted to 2,000 as in the past, said the announcement from the Scottish Office.

"We achieved what we set out to achieve. They're going to review the whole subject of the seal population," said Ken Weiland, 28, a spokesman for the Greenpeace organization.

Greenpeace stationed two dozen volunteers in tents on rocky islands pledged to stand between the seals and the hired guns, who were brought in, said the Scottish Office, "because they are experts in killing the adult seals, which requires a heavier weapon than the pups."

The confrontation never came off, although the Greenpeace trawler Rainbow Warrior shadowed the Norwegians' ship Kvitingen. Relations between the vessels warmed after Rainbow Warrior relayed a government message, which couldn't otherwise get through to the hunters.

But a change of heart? No, said Weiland. "Governments don't change their nature overnight. It was pressure — pressure from us and pressure from the people. Still it's going to make the government more aware and make them be absolutely sure of their facts and figures before they embark on a course that's going to outrage a lot of people."

However, Scottish Secretary Bruce Millan repeated he is sure of his facts, and that three different advisory groups concerned with seals and other wildlife endorsed the six-year plan aimed at halving Britain's gray seal population.

From a low of 500 in 1914, the grays in Britain have multiplied to an estimated 60,000 — two-thirds of their species in the world, Millan said, adding: "There is no doubt that they are consuming a considerable quantity of fish, which has been put at a value of some 12 million pounds ($24 million) per annum."

"I am also concerned that the future of the species is not endangered," he declared. He said Greenpeace and other opponents of the cull have brought forward no evidence that the grays' existence would be threatened by the cull.

He called for anyone with facts to submit them for study and publication before next year's seal season.

But he warned that in the end the decision is his, and that sparing seals now might just mean more to cull in the future.

Greenpeace, also known for daring mid-ocean harassment of whaling fleets, had objected to the lack of published evidence from the Scottish office. Weiland said supporters did "an immense amount of research in a very short time," combing libraries and talking with wildlife experts, and then decided to intervene.

Woman fatally injured as 30 people watch Driverless car kills owner

SEMINOLE, Fla. (AP) — As more than 30 people watched unable to help, a driverless car began circling backwards and ran over its owner, fatally injuring her, police said.

Fire Lt. James McConnell said Amy Selle, 67, had gotten out of the 1977 Ford Thunderbird Thursday with the motor on when she saw the car starting to move backward. He said she apparently tried to get back in and managed to grab the steering wheel, but the open door knocked her down.

McConnell said the car probably hit her twice as it backed in a 50-foot circle for about 25 minutes at speeds between 15 mph and 20 mph.

The federal government has warned that transmissions on some Ford cars tend to slip from park to reverse. But officials said they had not determined whether that had happened with Mrs. Selle's car, or whether she had mistakenly left the car in reverse.

Firemen arriving on the scene found the semiconscious woman sprawled in a city intersection with the car circling backward, just missing her on each pass. They dragged her to safety, but she died on the scene. After she was moved away, a fireman was able to jump into the car and bring it to a halt.

McConnell said the 30 or 40 people who were watching the circling car and injured woman when firemen arrived were mostly elderly and could not help because the car was moving too fast.

McConnell said Mrs. Selle apparently thought she had shifted her car's automatic transmission to park but had accidentally put it in reverse when she got out to pick up a friend, leaving the motor running.

Administration, when told of the accident, said "that's the typical report" of a car that slipped from park to reverse.

The safety administration recently warned owners of some 1971-78 Ford cars that their automatic transmissions may have a tendency to slip from park to reverse. The administration said it has received reports of 23 deaths, 259 injuries and 777 accidents allegedly caused by this.

After checking the car's identification number, Ford Motor Company spokesman said the car apparently had the type of transmission the government agency has warned about.

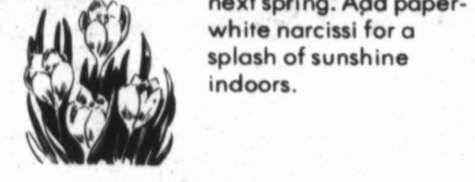

Tyre said that during his investigation, he placed the car in park several times to see if it would slip into reverse, but it did not. He said he believed the woman thought that she had shifted to park but actually had left the car in reverse.

Chor said that in the reports received by the administration, the transmissions slipped for no apparent reason. And he said engineers testing faulty cars sometimes could not make the slippage repeat.

The Japanese art of flower arrangement'

Ikebana Sugetsu brought to West Texas

By DUSTY RICHARD

"Don't be timid" in flower arranging was the message that Hazel Russell, Houston, brought to a group of women gardeners at the Dora Roberts Community Center Thursday.

The women met for a luncheon at noon and a program by Mrs. Russell at one o'clock. The luncheon and program were sponsored by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs, of which Mrs. J.I. Balch is president.

Mrs. Russell is an international flower show judge and an international exhibitor in the art of Japanese flower arranging. She lived in the Far East and did extensive studies in Ikebana Sogetsu in Okinawa, Ryukyu Islands, Japan.

She attended the Second World Convention of Ikebana International in Tokyo, Japan, staying on in Japan for studies at the Sogetsu Kaikan.

She returned to Tokyo in 1976 to attend the Third World Convention of Ikebana International and again stayed on for studies at the Sogetsu Kaikan, and at this time received her Master's Degree from Headmaster Sofu Teshigahara, of the Sogetsu Academy of Flower Arranging.

Teshigahara is a world-famous sculptor and Ikebana master, and his school is one of the top three schools of Ikebana in Japan.

Mrs. Russell established her own studio, House of the Grass Moon, in Houston in 1976, where she teaches regular weekly classes in Sogetsu. She is in demand, both as a teacher and for her highly successful program-demonstrations in the art of Sogetsu as well as Occidental or western styles of flower arranging.

"I have always been interested in flowers and their arrangement, and I have fallen flat on my face sometimes with my arrangements, but I pick myself up and start over again," she said.

"It's a joy to try some arrangement that has never been done before. It doesn't matter if your arrangement wins a blue ribbon; maybe the judges will copy it in one of their own arrangements."

The art of Ikebana is centuries old, Mrs. Russell said. The Japanese study is to learn patience.

Mrs. Russell had several arrangements ready for the group to view while they ate; she added to one arrangement and styled two for the ladies' benefits.

Some of the flowers used included yellow spider mums, zinnias, bird of paradise, antheriums, roses and yellow daisies, and her containers ranged from old sake jar to a Japanese basket with a bamboo container.

The mechanics, which are materials used inside a vase, jar, bottle or other container to hold the flowers and greenery straight, were wire, needlepoint, sand and wax.

Most of her arrangements used a woody material, such as driftwood, roots, wisteria vines and bamboo, and all had some sort of greenery, like dried palm, variegated ginger leaves, jade fern, pine branches and philodendrum leaves.

While explaining her arrangements, Mrs. Russell gave tips to the audience. She told the women always to cut stems under water so that water instead of air is drawn up into the stem. This keeps the flower or greenery fresh longer.

To keep water fresh in which a flower is placed, vinegar, charcoal or mouthwash should be added to it.

Line material should be gathered very early or late in the day, washed in the bathrub and allowed to soak up water for a while.

Wisteria vine, she said, is easier to peel if allowed to soak in hot water for 30 minutes.

Turn an arrangement partly around, Mrs. Russell said, instead of placing it flatly against a wall, to give it more dimension.

If a flower stem is cut too short or needs to be longer than it is, it can be pushed into a crysanthemum stem to lengthen it.

Although most Occidental flower arrangers think that the rules in Oriental arranging stifle creativity, Mrs. Russell said that on the contrary, they are designed to enhance creativity.

An arrangement in the Ikebana style may have crossing lines, such as leaves or branches overlapping, as contrasted to the Occidental style in which crossing lines may not be used, she said.

The three main lines in Ikebana are shin, soe and hikae, which mean heaven, man and earth. Heaven is the longest and most prominent line.

Don't be timid, Mrs. Russell reiterated, when choosing flowers for an arrangement. Some people are afraid to use the costlier exotic flowers such as bird of paradise and antherium, she said, but since just a few can carry off an arrangement and they can last longer than common flowers, the arrangement is more dramatic and costs less than if a large bunch of daisies, for example, were used.

One added advantage of Ikebana, said Mrs. Russell, is that since it is a timeless art, an arrangement of this style goes equally well in a Danish Modern, Early American or French Provincial home.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS,
OCTOBER 22, 1978

TO LEARN PATIENCE — Hazel Russell, a master at the art of Ikebana Sugetsu, Oriental flower arranging, said that this ancient art is studied in Japan to learn patience. She was in Big Spring Thursday demonstrating her talents to a group of women gardeners assembled at the Dora Roberts Community Center. The affair was sponsored by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs.

SINCE IKEBANA IS AN ART FORM, Mrs. Russell says that many various materials may be used to achieve the effect one wishes in an arrangement. From left, arrangements include zinnias shaded red to orange and an old root; feathers, jade fern and banana blossom; and yellow spider mums, pampas grass and coral. Notice how the eye is drawn up and around by the first arrangement and straight up by the last.

QUAN YEN — is the name of the subtly-colored antique Japanese temple statue which dominates this Ikebana arrangement. In Occidental arrangements, figurines must always be subordinate to the flowers, and Mrs. Russell said she thought this was a pleasing change from the rule. She said that the smaller container in front, holding a bird of paradise, is connected to the larger arrangement by the line of the King Protea leaf. Dried palms and roots are also used here.

State certification denied in Texas

Nurse as midwife challenged by physicians

By EILEEN MCGUIRE

During her 15-year career as a registered nurse, Lettie Lee, president of District 24 of Texas Nurses Association, has observed a lot of changes in her profession.

Some of the most recent changes have sparked enough controversy to warrant a T.N.A. "Crisis in Texas Nursing" conference in Austin on Oct. 14. The conference, attended by a multitude of registered nurses throughout the state, preceded by one day Texas Nurses Week, Oct. 15-21.

According to Mrs. Lee, Chairman of the T.N.A. Council of Practice, as technology and health care have advanced, so has the training for nurses, but advanced positions for nurses in the health field have not.

"The biggest change in nursing has been the expanded role of the nurse," she said. "The newer nurses are receiving an increased amount of training. They're graduating with higher degrees in nursing than in the past and they are specializing in various fields of health care, such as intensive care and coronary."

"The increased training is part of the natural evolution of nursing due in part to today's increased technology. As equipment and procedures have been improved, nursing students have been required to learn about the new developments in addition to the basic training nurses in the past have received."

"Today's nurses are capable of providing more services than ever before, yet there are no specialized or advanced positions in the health care field for them to fill."

A case in point is that of the registered nurse as midwife. In the September issue of "Texas Nursing," an official publication of T.N.A., T.N.A. president Deanna Sebestyen, R.N., outlines a problem now existing in Texas between physicians and midwives.

On one side of the problem are the Texas physicians, who "claim that midwives are practicing medicine without a license." On the other side are lay-midwives who are not required to have had any formal training. Caught in the middle are nurse-midwives who are trained for midwifery, but have failed at their attempts to receive state certification to function separate from physicians in the delivery of infants.

"A large number of ethnic cultures have traditionally utilized midwives in the delivery of their children," Mrs. Lee explained. "A law on Texas books implies that this is okay if the lay midwife follows certain procedures.

"She is required to register in the area where she practices, to register the baby's birth within 24 hours, to apply silver nitrate in the infant's eyes and to administer the PKU test to the infant as is required by state law."

"Those are the only conditions a lay midwife has to meet. The requirements have nothing to do with training or contact with a physician."

"A certified nurse-midwife, on the other hand, is not only a registered nurse, but she receives additional training to qualify for state certification as a midwife. But she can't get that certification in Texas because the Board of Medical Examiners allege that midwifery is illegal practice of medicine."

"The American College of Nurse-Midwifery certification is optional" for midwives, according to the "Texas Nursing" article, so "lay midwives operate without any law governing the care they deliver."

TNA attempted to assure that competent care would be given by nurse-midwives through a revision of the Nursing Practice Act in 1977. The revision, which would have provided for certification of RN-midwives, failed. The certification, according to Ms. Sebestyen, would have provided the public with "protection against poor quality midwifery."

"The greatest need for the mid-wife is among lower-income families though many women of higher income brackets are also choosing to have their babies at home due to a change in attitude about birth."

Mrs. Lee estimates that the cost of having a child with the aid of a midwife is about one third of that of bearing a child in a hospital with a physician attending. The services received include pre-natal care, delivery, and post-natal care.

According to "Texas Nursing," nurse-midwives are already practicing in Puerto Rico and 20 states.

Texas is not included in the list.

"A court decision years ago stated that the delivery of babies is not a practice of medicine since the practice of medicine is defined as the diagnosis and treatment of illness or disease," Mrs. Lee stated. "Having a baby is not an illness or disease — it's being recognized as a normal process."

"What the real problem is, is whether a nurse-midwife should be permitted to administer anesthesia or perform an episiotomy, even though these functions have been approved for midwives by the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecologists."

NURSING PRACTICE CHALLENGED — Nurses' abilities are expanding, says Lettie Lee, R.N., but their place in the health care field isn't. As chairman of the Texas Nurses Association Council of Practice, Mrs. Lee is concerned about some of the limitations that have been placed on nursing professionals. Her own career covers 15 years, during which time she's served in the capacities of instructor, private duty nursing service, staff nursing and inservice education. Here she is shown advising a student at Howard College where she is director of the Associate Degree Nursing Program.

The Board of Medical Examiners, according to Mrs. Lee, has submitted a request for the Attorney General's opinion which is forthcoming and the midwifery issue is part of another nursing practice bill which will go before the next state legislature.

If the certification is adopted this time around, it will mean that Texas women will be assured of a safe option to the delivery room.

"Because of her training, a nurse-midwife is better able to determine complications," Mrs. Lee said.

"If complications are suspected or if the woman has a history of problems with prior pregnancies, she would then be referred to a physician."

The midwife is becoming more and more accepted. Mid-wives are now payable under Blue Cross and some other insurance companies. In fact, a number of bills have already been processed and more are being processed.

"Some hospitals have accepted midwives as part of the staff and have concept which gives the nurses a larger decision-making role in health care than they've ever had before.

Guidelines for the Advanced Nurse Practitioner, adopted at the September meeting of the Board of Nurses Examiners, define her as:

"... a professional nurse, currently licensed in the State of Texas, who, by virtue of knowledge and skills obtained through an advanced educational program accredited by the Board of Nurse Examiners is prepared to provide primarily health care to individuals, families and — or groups of clients in a variety of settings including homes, institutions, offices, industry, schools, other community agencies, and private practice.

These capabilities allow the nurse to function in a collegial relationship with physicians and other health professionals in the delivery of primary health care needs services.

The practitioner makes independent decisions about nursing needs of families and clients; inter-dependent decisions with physicians in carrying out health regimens from families and clients, and assumes dependent responsibilities in carrying out medical orders and treatments. The Advanced Nurse Practitioner is directly accountable and responsible to the consumer."

The primary health care which the practitioners are allowed to deliver include "prevention of disease, promotion and maintenance of health, assessment of needs, referral of clients to other services, and long-term management of chronic illness."

"What this means to Texas," Mrs. Lee explained, "is that an Advanced Nurse Practitioner can provide more services to the consumer to complement other members of the health team. She's particularly valuable in providing health care services in areas that are underserved."

"In some areas, there is a low availability of physicians. She can help fill that need."

Though the role of nursing has now been expanded to allow nurses to practice in settings other than the hospital, Medicare, Medicaid and insurance companies have not yet adopted to the changes, Mrs. Lee said.

The general procedure is for the physician or hospital to be reimbursed by the insurance company for the public nurse's services and then pay her out of those funds.

Along with the expanded roles in nursing, the increased number of male nurses also seems to be a mark of the times. Mrs. Lee explained that the male nurse is not really a new phenomenon, however. In fact, there was once a time when the female nurse was the novelty.

"Male nurses have been around for years and years," she said. "During the middle ages, there were only male nurses. There was an entire nursing order called the Knights Templar who administered to the English and French soldiers of the crusades."

"Then women became the traditional image of the nurse, but male nurses have been recurring from time to time."

"There has been a revival of the male nurses recently. In 1962, nine per cent of the nurses were male. By 1972, the percentage of male nurses had risen to 1.4 per cent. Now it's guessed to be about 2.3 per cent."

Mrs. Lee, who is the director of the Associated Degree Program of Nursing at Howard College, has seen the increase of male nurses in her own classes. She said that three men graduated from the program last spring and out of 48 students, there are seven men in the program this year.

Nursing is an ever-changing profession. While advancements continue to be made in medicine and technology, we can expect to see nurses functioning in new and wider capacities. The practice of medicine in general is changing, according to Mrs. Lee, so it shouldn't be too surprising that along with it, changes in the fields of health care professionals should also change.

"The emphasis on nursing has changed from the nurse as teacher to education, practice and preventative nursing rather than treating illness."

"The current trend in health care is maintaining health and preventing illness rather than focus entirely on treating it."

Nurses have always played an important role in the world of medicine. In the traditional Florence Nightingale manner, she's still very much a part of the hospital bedside scene. But now, she's becoming even more valuable as she moves out into other areas of the community.

Nurses are, according to the TNA president, the largest group of health providers in the country.

Window decor choice is individual

Most of us search for a home with "lots of windows." Yet when we finally obtain that window-abundant abode, we're often puzzled about how to treat or decorate these areas.

Fashion trends are so permissive today that the choice of window decor is simply an individual one — or a matter of personal preference. Here are some tips from a local decorating expert to help you get started.

"Windows are designed to let in natural light, give ventilation and render a view," says Marianne Gilbert, decorating consultant at the Sherwin-Williams Decorating Center at 1608 Gregg Street. "Decide which of these aspects you want to emphasize, and then choose your window treatment accordingly," Ms. Gilbert advises.

For example, window treatments can enhance beautiful views or conceal bad ones. They can lend privacy in the bedroom or bath, or in rooms with tall, bay windows. They can enhance our circulation from outdoors, or form an insulating barrier against heat in the summer and cold in the winter.

Included in the vast array of window treatments available at Sherwin-Williams are curtains, draperies (some with matching bedspreads), woven woods, decorative shades, sheers, narrow slat blinds, shutters and louvered draperies.

For a "formal" room, Ms. Gilbert suggests a tall, vertical window treatment of tightly woven, satin-like drapery fabrics.

A "casual" room, on the other hand, can be complemented with loosely woven and nubby materials like woven wood shades.

With the chrome and glass of "contemporary" decor, Ms. Gilbert suggests using level or blinds, and "electric" window decor mixes elements of all styles, such as using a traditional drapery with a contemporary shade.

Whichever style you choose, Ms. Gilbert says that

Moth balls poison kids

The Texas Medical Association (TMA) has issued a warning to parents taking winter bedding and clothing out of storage. TMA said moth balls placed in the materials contain a dangerous poison and are particularly harmful to children under age 6.

Those children's bodies absorb the poison, naphthalene, more quickly than at other ages. However, the chemical is dangerous to people of any age if they swallow it or inhale the vapors.

Symptoms of naphthalene poisoning include possible nausea, vomiting and drowsiness. Or if a person is allergic to moth balls, handling them can trigger a skin reaction.

If poisoning does occur and the victim is not having convulsions, try to make the person vomit by giving syrup of ipecac, or a teaspoon of dry mustard in warm water or putting a finger or blunt object at the back of the throat.

Whether or not the person vomits, get him or her to a doctor quickly since kidney problems can occur. In any poisoning case, try to take the poison container and poison to the doctor if doing so will not slow you down.

In order to avoid any possible problems, empty moth balls into a child-proof container when taking articles out of storage and inspect all materials to make sure no moth ball pieces are left.

These precautions are necessary, not just because of moth balls' poisonous potential, but because moth balls can look a lot like candy or marbles and so have special attractive effects on children.

FOOD FACTS & FALLACIES
By Judy Kloss

In this decade of junk food and quick-stop restaurants, we are fast becoming a nation of obese individuals. It is alarming that overweight statistics have now risen to over 50%. We are constantly bombarded through the media with enticements to our taste buds which are disastrous to our digestive systems. Where has all the "good" food gone.

You will find that any grocery store will supply you with a fully balanced diet as well as the multitudinous variety of junk. Diet Center recommends that you use only the outside aisles when shopping. There you will find the dairy section, the meat section and the fresh fruit and vegetable section. You need shop the inside aisles only for soaps and sundries.

These Nutritional Tips Brought To You By—Diet Center.

a rectangular shaped window — whether vertical or horizontal — is the most desirable. Squares, on the other hand, are not psychologically pleasing and can make a person feel boxed-in.

"If your window shape is unappealing, you can alter its appearance by extending draperies or woven woods beyond the window's actual boundaries," suggests the decorating consultant.

Color is another important consideration. You should coordinate your window treatment with other elements in the room such as furnishings, floor covering and wallcoverings, but careful color selection is essential for a polished look.

"The color you choose can influence the amount of sunlight coming into the room and it can also determine whether your window treatment will play a lead or supporting role in the room decor," Ms. Gilbert points out.

A final tip? Measure carefully. Put your window hardware in place first, and then use a steel tape or yardstick to determine exact dimensions for window treatments. A cloth sewing tape is not recommended, because it can stretch out of shape.

Ms. Gilbert has scheduled a free clinic on draperies and window treatments for Nov. 6 at 7 p.m.; Steve Ellerd, a consultant for Carol Fabrics, will conduct this free clinic.

Karen Renee Tibbs weds Jeffery Connolly Wilson

Karen Renee Tibbs and Jeffery Connolly Wilson were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony that took place at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Trinity Baptist Church. The Rev. Claude Cravens, pastor of the church, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Tibbs, 2615 Central Dr., and Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Wilson, Gail Route.

The pair exchanged vows before an altar adorned with arched candelabrum flanked by seven-branch candelabrum decorated with peach roses, yellow carnations and baby's breath. Pews were marked with bows, carnations and baby's breath, and white hurricane lamps and memory candles completed the setting.

Garry Tibbs, brother of the bride, at the piano, accompanied Cassandra Green of Big Spring, vocalist, in musical selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding dress of ivory satin with a yoke of Venice lace. The fitted bodice fell into a full skirt with double peplums and a cathedral train. Tiny self-covered buttons accented the back and long sleeves, and a fingertip-length three-tier veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece covered with Venice lace. Matching lace flower appliques were scattered on the lower tier.

For something old, the bride carried her great-grandmother's handkerchief and something new was pearl earrings. Something borrowed was a pearl necklace, and a blue garter was something blue. Pennies bearing the birthdates of the bride and groom were placed in her shoes.

She carried a cascade of Woburn Abby roses, yellow carnations and baby breath with ivory ribbon streamers

Flower girl was Belinda Davis, Big Spring, niece of the bride. She carried a miniature white basket filled with peach and yellow rose petals. Jessica Wilson, Ft. Hood, niece of the groom, carried a heart-shaped ring pillow of ivory satin. Both girls wore identical floor-length dresses of deep peach dotted nylon with lace and ribbon trim.

A reception in the fellowship hall of the church followed the ceremony, and Garry Tibbs provided music. The bride's table was draped with ivory lace over peach polyester cloth, and crystal appointments were used. Two tall ivory tapers in crystal holders were placed on the table, and the cake, made by the bride's mother, was a three-tier confection decorated with peach and yellow roses, white doves and hearts, and topped with miniature bride and groom figurines before a heart.

The groom's table was covered with cream cloth overlaid with natural lace. Silver appointments were used. Two yellow tapers were placed on the table. The chocolate Hershey cake, which was topped with peach and yellow roses tied with yellow ribbon, was made by Anna Lee Young, grandmother of the bride, and Pauline Williams.

Servers were Mrs. Mike Wilson, sister-in-law of the groom, Mrs. Steve Wolf, Penny Huckabee and Chris Lutrelle.

Ms. Lutrelle presided at the guest register, a table covered with a white hand-crocheted cloth underlaid with a peach polyester cloth. A peach quill pen and a white basket containing wedding scrolls from the bride and groom were placed on the table.

Peach and yellow roses filled with rice were distributed to guests.

MRS. JEFFERY CONNOLLY WILSON

Members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold Walker, Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Stockwell, Mrs. Williams, Mariella Wise, and Paige Grisham.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Young and family, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Cox, Paul and James, Old Glory; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Cox and family, Old Glory; and Sgt. and Mrs. Mike Wilson, Jessica and Jerry, Fort Hood.

Also, the Rev. and Mrs. Ray Cunningham, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Harris and family; Snyder; Robbie Nail, Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Decker, Brownfield; and Laverne Lang, Brownfield.

The parents of the groom hosted a rehearsal dinner Thursday night.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed with Republic Supply Co., and the groom, also a 1978 graduate of Big Spring High School, is employed with Big State Contractors.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed location, the couple will make their home on Loop Road, Big Spring.

UNICEF cards benefit kids

Because 1979 will be the International Year of the Child, originally so designated by the UN General Assembly and since proclaimed by President Carter and the heads of state of 100 other countries, UNICEF Greeting Cards and Gifts take on added significance this fall. Their purchase and receipt serve advance notice that we'll all be "thinking children" in the months ahead.

Even more important, the United Nations Children's Fund, will convert the proceeds from the sale of these holiday items into improved nutrition, more adequate health services, increased educational opportunities and better child care services for the world's neediest children.

The 1979 Engagement Calendar provides a focus on the child in art, illustrating the many moods of children as seen by the artists of 40 countries over two millennia. Rembrandt, Monet, Fragonard, Goya, Cassatt, Ganesborough and ancient Greek and Egyptian sculptors are among the masters whose work is reproduced in full-color, full-page illustrations.

New and noteworthy in this fall's collection of UNICEF gifts are: "Paper Dolls of the Middle East," a book with costumes and accessories to color and cut out, portraying inhabitants of Egypt, Israel and 11 other Mediterranean countries; "Songs from Austria," sung by a Viennese children's choir, the second record in the "Sing, Children, Sing" series co-produced with Caedmon Records; and the timely "Family of Children," a handsome and stirring collection of black and white photos, published by Jerry Mason, who also produced the famous "Family of Man."

For further information and a UNICEF Catalog, contact your local UNICEF Card representatives or write Dept. GC, U.S. Committee for UNICEF, 331 East 38th Street, New York, N.Y. 10016.

Retirees invited to become active

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) urges all persons aged 60 and over to become active and at the same time benefit others.

The purpose of RSVP is to promote volunteer activities among retired persons so that they may have a more meaningful life. Communities and individuals within the community benefit from the services of RSVP volunteers also so that the program is in actual operation twofold.

Not only are these volunteers needed in hospitals and nursing homes, but other organizations benefit, such as Head Start, Boys Clubs, libraries, and civic organizations.

If you are willing to volunteer two or more hours of your time each week to brighten up someone's life, RSVP needs you.

For more information on how to become a volunteer, call 267-2589 or 267-2580. RSVP officers are located at Big Spring Industrial Park, Building 625. Joy Decker is director of the program while Jeanie Averitt serves as coordinator.

Recipe shower honors bride

The Friday night wedding of Karen Tibbs and Jeff Wilson was preceded with a Thursday night bridal shower at the home of Cassandra Green. Co-hostess was Melanie Walker.

Corsages of daisies in the bride's colors of yellow and gold were presented to the honoree, her mother Mrs. Weldon Tibbs, and her sister Mrs. Robert Davis.

The hostesses presented a recipe box to the honoree which was then filled with recipes brought by each guest. Guests also brought ingredients used in the recipes.

The recipe box, along with gold and yellow flower arrangements, was used as a centerpiece on the refreshment table. The table was draped with a gold cloth and crystal and silver appointments were featured. Cake and punch were served.

Shower guests consisted of the bride's wedding attendants and wedding party, who helped make rice bags for the wedding.

A Plea For God's Word

O ye blind generations of America! To the leaders of almost all denominations I now know thou art blinded to the Church that Christ built; but awake ye to the E.R.A. program. Now is the accepted time to open thy lips and speak. What ye teach in your Churches — that man is head of woman — if the E.R.A. is ratified, every Christian will transgress God's Word — either 1 Corinthians 11:3 or Titus 3:1.

This is why Christ built his Church — where all could be of one mind; that they might all fight a transgression together with one accord.

It is the responsibility of every God fearing creature to fight the E.R.A. There are thousands of Church people that voted for the E.R.A. not knowing it was a transgression of God's Word. It is our duty to tell them that it is; but do it quickly — we have only three years left to spread a copy of this letter to every newspaper in every town and in every state.

I pray you will open your ears. God needs a voice. We give to spread His Word. How much will you give to preserve it? Vote only for those that stand by the word of God. Let the Christian Dispensation speak. Help — I spread this news any way you can.

Sincerely His, W.R. Loper

Pretend pals help children

COLLEGE STATION — Imaginary playmates help children cope with reality they find too frightening to deal with, says Jenny Reinhardt, a family life education specialist.

An imaginary friend that is always available to listen, to talk with and to understand can provide reassurance, support and time to work through an upsetting situation, she explains.

Miss Reinhardt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Though researchers vary in their views, those who support the belief that imaginary playmates provide a tool for coping indicate that children with imaginary playmates are less aggressive, more cooperative, smile more, are bored less often, and have richer language.

They prepare for life's real problems by rehearsing with their imaginary playmates. For example, children who have mastered their fear of animals in their play can master their fear of real animals.

As long as children with imaginary friends are able to establish meaningful relationships with people and prefer people to their imaginary friends, there is no cause for concern, the specialist continues.

Dear Abby

Doc's Rx: Daily Sex— With Him!

DEAR ABBY: I went to a doctor who specializes in fast weight loss. He took a special interest in me and said it wouldn't do me any good to take off weight unless I kept it off, and in order to do that we would have to find out why I was overeating, and deal with that problem.

Well, he asked me a lot of questions about my personal life, and I told him the truth. Then he told me that I was using food to compensate for sex—which I've had practically none of. I am 24, unmarried and never had a steady boyfriend, but I have had three or four sex experiences which I thought would get me a boyfriend, but never did.

This doctor said he would be glad to make up for the deficiency of sex in my life if I would take his last appointment every day. He said flat out that this has nothing to do with romance, it was purely part of the treatment, but he wouldn't charge me for it.

I am not all that excited about sex, but I would like to lose about 50 pounds. What should I do?

FAT IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR FAT: Decline his offer and report him to the ethics committee of the county medical association. It appears that your doctor has a problem which he hopes to solve by using YOU.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 59-year-old man and was a pretty good welterweight boxer in my younger days.

The place where I work has about 70 employees—men and women—and when you retire, they give you a big dinner and a gift. Then you have to give a little farewell speech. I am only a common laborer and I'm not used to making speeches. Not only that, I'm afraid I might cry.

I considered getting drunk that night, but then I might really have a crying jag. Or maybe the best idea would be to just say I was sick and skip the whole thing. But at times I think I really would like to go through with the party and be honored.

I've got three years to prepare myself. What should I do?

ASHAMED IN TACOMA

DEAR ASHAMED: When your day comes, by all means, go! And don't worry about crying. If you shed a few sentimental tears—so what? Expressing honest emotions is nothing to be ashamed of. And as for the speech, bear in mind this simple formula: Be sincere. Be brief. And be seated.

DEAR ABBY: The public school my children attend has just built a swimming pool. The boys have certain hours to swim and so do the girls, and they are going to have regular swimming classes.

The boys have just been told that they are expected to swim in the raw! I don't know what the other boys thought of this, but my son didn't care for the idea as he isn't comfortable when he's nude with other boys. He didn't say anything to the coach because he didn't want to be ridiculed. I think whether the boys should swim with or without swim suits should have been decided by the parents since this is a public school paid for by our taxes. I would like your opinion. My son is an average 14-year-old lad. Thank you.

ONE LAD'S DAD

DEAR DAD: The parents should have been consulted. But your "average 14-year-old lad" had better overcome his shyness about nudity in the presence of other boys or he is apt to be uncomfortable much of his life.

Mildred Dugan weds Thornhill Saturday

Mildred Dugan, 1411 Princeton, and Vernon Thornhill, Fort Stockton, exchanged vows in a wedding ceremony at 6:30 Saturday evening in the First Pentecostal Church. The pastor of the church, M.J. Mullins, officiated.

A reception in the Big Spring Christian Academy Building at the Industrial Park followed the wedding. It was hosted by her three daughters, Mrs. Ike Wasson, Mrs. Paul Hodges and Mrs. Calvin Miller.

All of her eight children and 28 grandchildren were in attendance, along with some of his children and grandchildren.

After a three-week trip to California, the couple will make their home in Odessa.

ABANDONED BABY — or perhaps she was merely exploring the new world around her. Whatever the reason, this female German Shepherd puppy, about 6 weeks old, was found by the Big Spring Animal Shelter in a yard on the 500 block of Runnels. Does she belong to you? If so, you have a few days to claim her. Beginning Wednesday, she's up for adoption. If left at the shelter, her new life will be ended on Friday. Donna Parrish, Bumgarner wed in candlelight rite

The wedding vows of Donna Parrish to Richard Bumgarner were solemnized at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in First Baptist Church, Big Spring, with the Rev. Dr. Kenneth Patrick officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish, Coahoma, and parents of the groom are Judy Bumgarner, 2218 Lynn, and Jimmy Bumgarner, 1609 E. 17th.

The bridal aisle, enhanced with nosegay arrangements, led to an archway covered with wild smilax. Baskets of mixed pastel flowers, spiral and tree candelabras holding cathedral tapers and palms of jade foliage completed the setting.

Mrs. Warren Wise and Dr. Patrick sang musical selections accompanied by Larry Wheat at the piano and Mrs. W.W. Grimes at the organ.

The bride chose a satin gown fashioned by her grandmother, Mrs. Charlie Parrish of Coahoma. It featured an overlaid lace bodice with deep lace ruffle at the neck and sheer lace sleeves. The fitted waist flowed into a chapel-length ruffled train. A silk hat with an overlay of lace and net completed her ensemble.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids, white roses, roses, stephanotis and English ivy tied with white picot satin.

Mrs. Martin Casey, Midland, served as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Susie Miller, Crane; Rose Thomas, Big Spring; Lisa Bumgarner, Big Spring, sister of the groom; and Katy Brooks, Coahoma.

The brides' attendants carried a potpourri of flowers in all of the bride's colors, in white fireside baskets.

Best man was Craig Rhoton, Big Spring, and groomsmen were James Parrish, Coahoma, brother of the bride; Kevin Rhoton, Big Spring; Raymond Sewell, Snyder; and Marvin Casey, Midland.

Ushering were Trey Smith, Westbrook; Danny Dodson, Coahoma, and Billy Joe Darden, Coahoma, all cousins of the bride; and Joe Eastman, Big Spring.

Denise Walker, Coahoma, niece of the bride, and Kristi Thomas, Big Spring, were flower girls, and ring bearer was Kelly Thomas, Big Spring.

Candlelighters were Clint Bradbury, cousin of the groom, and Kellye Smith, cousin of the bride.

A reception in the fellowship hall of the church followed the wedding. Guests were registered by Mrs. Mark Foster, and Shelli Kuykendall distributed rice bags.

String smilax led from the punch bowl and cake to a centerpiece of multi-colored flowers in a silver candelabrum on the bride's table. Her cake was topped with fresh flowers.

Members of the house party were Chris Davis, Christi Hudgins, Cindy Bobo, Sharla Rollins, Sally Bunn, Connie Walker, sister of the bride, and Tammy Hendricks.

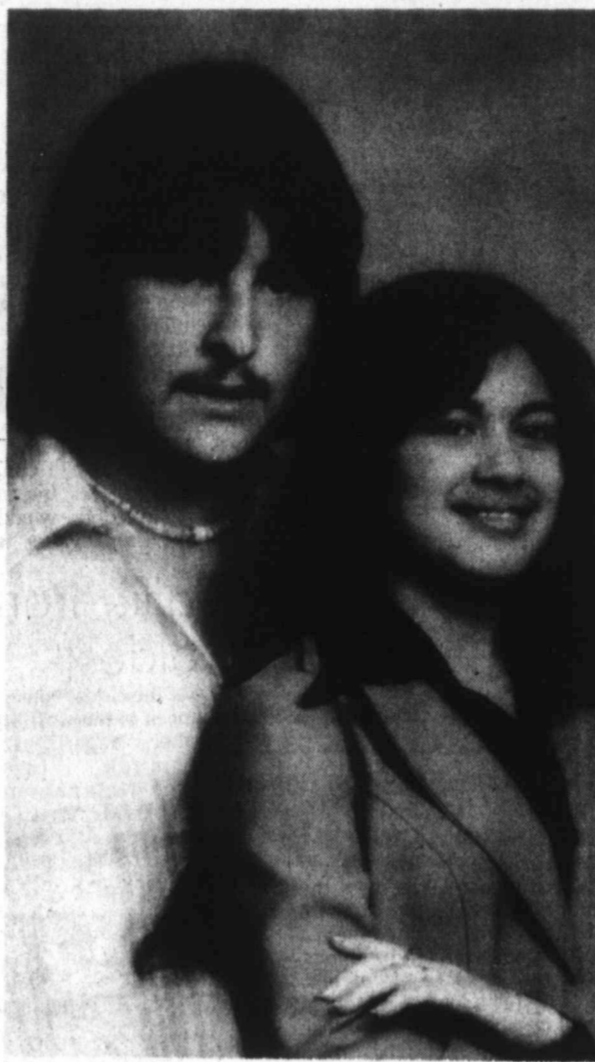

Also, Darla Harrington, Dana Dorn, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Ballow, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Murdock, Mr. and Mrs. John Preston, Jeannette Brooks, Mrs. Bobby Dodson, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Billy Jack Darden, aunt of the bride.

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, took place at Big Spring Country Club.

A bridal luncheon took place at 12:30 p.m. the day of the wedding. It was hosted by Mrs. Gary Bradbury and Mrs. R.B. Davidson. Attending were the mother of the bride, Bettye Parrish; the mother of the groom, Judy Bumgarner; the bride's sister, Connie Walker; and the bride's attendants.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and is employed at Security State Bank in Big Spring. The groom is a Big Spring High School graduate and is employed at Price Construction.

After a trip to Brownwood Lake, the couple will make their home in Big Spring.

NOVEMBER RITE — Mr. and Mrs. Benigno Gomez, Gail Route Box 2, announce the engagement and upcoming marriage of their daughter, Guadalupe Sapata Martinez, to Gilbert Arce Narbaiz Jr., Rt. 2 Box 36, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hubbard, Sterling City Route. The couple will be married Nov. 25 by Jimmy Harris, Justice of the Peace, in the Sheriff's Possee, Odessa.

The ladies took a 13-day trip to view the fall foliage in New England; visiting 18 states and driving 4,283 miles along with 40 other people on a chartered bus.

The women viewed miles of beautiful mountains and Niagara Falls; heard about Paul Revere's famous ride, and relieved patriotic debates held in Boston's Faneuil Hall.

Great events came alive for them as they visited "the hotbed of the American Revolution," and the women purchased maple candy, souvenirs and a few antiques.

The women said that they wouldn't have missed this trip for the world.

Cancer mortality rate has doubled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of women dying of lung cancer nearly doubled between 1973 and 1976, a new study shows, and the American Cancer Society says it's because women have taken up the smoking habits of men.

The fatality statistics, from a report prepared by the National Cancer Institute, show that while both the number of lung cancer cases and the death rate among women are still well below those for men, new cases among males are increasing at a much slower rate, and women are closing the gap.

"Women began to smoke much later than men, and now it's catching up with them," said Irving Rimer, a spokesman for the American Cancer Society in New York. He noted that for the first time teenage girls are smoking at the same rate as teenage boys, whereas the proportion of women who smoke traditionally has trailed that of men.

Fifteen percent of teenage girls and boys now smoke, he said, predicting that lung cancer death rates for the two sexes will be equal in about 30 years when today's teenagers reach the age at which lung cancer begins to take its toll.

The report, released Thursday, said that only 12 percent of all lung cancer victims live more than three years after their disease is diagnosed.

Increases were also noted for uterine cancer in women and prostate cancer in men. The death rates from those diseases, however, aren't nearly as high as the toll from lung cancer.

Mary Richardson, Bacot unite in home ceremony

Mary Margaret Richardson and Jerry Lee Bacot exchanged vows at 6 p.m. Oct. 14 in the home of the bride's parents, with Justice of the Peace Bob West officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Uribe, 1308 College Ave., Bobby Bacot, Summitt, Miss., and Iwana Stanton, Box 1815, Big Spring.

Neil Young's rendition of "After the Goldrush" was the couple's musical selection.

The bride chose a floor-length white and beige gown featuring an empire waist enhanced with a squared lace and ribbon bodice and long sleeves accented with lace.

She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, baby's breath and white streamers.

Bernice Darden, Big Spring, was maid of honor, and bridesmaid was Teresa Bacot.

Best man was Dale Orthofer and groomsmen were Steve Pherigo and Johnny Birdwell.

Ushering were Larry and Johnny Darden, Mac McMahan, R.E. Digby and Raymond Uribe.

Jenifer Richardson was flower girl, and ring bearer was Dale Orthofer.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY LEE BACOT

A reception in the home followed the ceremony. The table was centered with a two-tier cake adorned with bells and roses, and topped with miniature bride and groom figurines.

The bride attended Big Spring High School and is employed as a nurse's aide at Big Spring State Hospital. The groom attended Alamogordo High School and Southwest Mississippi Junior College.

The couple will make their home in Amarillo.

TwEEN 12 and 20 — Young mother warns teens

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: It has taken me a long time to get up the nerve to write this letter. I hope that you will use it in your column so that it might help another girl not wind up in the same situation that I did.

I am a 18-year-old girl. Last year I fell in love with a 22-year-old guy. We went out a lot against my mother's wishes. I thought I was mature enough to handle it. Boy, was I wrong. After awhile he proposed to me, saying that we could get married as soon as I graduated from high school. He even gave me a ring.

But a few days after our "engagement" he said that it was time to show him that I loved him by making love to him. After he threatened to leave me I finally gave in and, you guessed, I got pregnant. When I told him about my situation he took off. Suddenly his phone became disconnected and he was never home when I went to his house. I am lucky I talked to my mother about it and she figured it would be best for me to have the baby and to put it up for adoption. My doctor agreed.

After school had started, I found this guy is dating a different girl at school. I told her what he did to me, but she called me a liar and said that I was just jealous of her.

I guess she will have to learn the hard way. I am not leery of an older guy dating a younger girl but I am leery of older guys who go from one younger girl to another. — C.B., Seattle, Wash.

C.B.: Thanks for sharing and I agree with you totally.

Dr. Wallace: I just want to say "hi" in your column to Scotty in California, because I met him through it. I wrote in for a pen pal this past summer. I'm a very curious person, and I ended up with a real sweetheart! Scott's the greatest pen pal anyone would ever want. We are really great friends — and all as a result of your column — thank you, Dr. Wallace.

We're going to get together soon. I can't wait to meet him (we've sent each other pictures and all that stuff). I would just like to tell Scott how much I love his letters and his friendship. I want the whole world to know how I feel about Scott. — Martha Craner, Columbus, Ohio

Martha: Your letter made my day. I'm more than happy to share your feelings about Scott with the world!

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TwEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Save energy; let air dry

Save electricity by allowing dishes to air dry in the dishwasher. After the final rinse cycle, turn off the dishwasher, open the door and let dishes stand until they are drained and dry, recommends Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
