WELCOME TO BIG SPRING — Mrs. Carol Hutchinson, shown at the right, is welcoming Reinaldo Cordova of Manati, Puerto Rico to the three-day conference in Big Spring for communities which have lost military installations. Cordova had a terrible time getting from the Midland Airport to his motel here.

'No way to get there from here,' Puerto Rican informed

Reinaldo Cordova is the sub-administrator for the big industrial complex at the former Ramey AFB in Manati, Puerto Rico.

He is one of many officials coming to Big Spring for the conference in former military installations and he had a terrible time trying to get here.

There were no problems in the flight from Puerto Rico to Midland. "Then I landed at that hideous construction mess over there," he stated.

"I made my way through the shambles and ask how to get to Big Spring. They said there was no way to get there from here, and they didn't seem to care," Cordova added.

He finally found somebody who suggested he take a cab to Midland, which he did. He then went to the Greyhound Bus station and waited there for a bus to Big Spring.

He arrived in Big Spring late and as of Tuesday morning, there was no taxi service in Big Spring.

He called the Holiday Inn where he had a reservation and asked them to provide transportation to the motel. A girl alone on the desk had some problems, but did find a way to pick him up.

"I was going to call the police next," Cordova stated. The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce today obtained drivers and cars to help with getting delegates around town to their meetings. They also will use the Forsan Chartered school bus.

The cars have been provided by the Big Spring Automobile Dealers

Association. City Manager Harry Nagel issued a plea yesterday that somebody will consider running a taxi service here, even if it begins with a couple of private automobiles. Anyone interested should contact City Hall.

Rain measures 1.71 inches

Official rainfall total since Sunday at the U.S. Experiment Station in Big Spring was 1.71 inches, with reports across the area fairly uniform, varying only .3 to .4 of an inch.

The rains, which fell slowly and had time to saturate the ground, will provide a boost in underground moisture levels that cotton farmers will need for spring planting, and ranchers will need to get a good stand of spring grass.

16 townhouses may be built in Village At The Spring

A total of 16 townhouses may be constructed at the new subdivision Village At The Spring, according to Jerry Worthy, owner.

"We have 42 acres to work with, and we have a good idea how the lots and roads will be shaped up," he said.

Worthy, who is also owner of Worthy Construction Company, hopes that 10 of the 42 acres will be used as

Carter to slash federal budget

Cooperation with inflation policy could mean benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says American workers who cooperate with his new anti-inflation program may qualify for limited federal cost-of-living insurance and businesses will be rewarded with eligibility for government contracts.

Carter used a carrot-and-stick approach in calling on business and labor Tuesday night to support new guidelines of 7 percent for wages and an overall 5.75 percent for prices next year.

He also said the federal budget deficit will be slashed to $30 billion or below in 1980 and that only one of every two federal job openings will be filled.

All Americans must be prepared to make some sacrifices in the fight against inflation, the president said.

"We must face a time of national austerity," he said. "Hard choices are necessary if we want to avoid consequences that are even worse."

White House inflation adviser Robert S. Strauss said Carter would announce later today who he wants to head the new anti-inflation program. The president is known to have offered the job to Alfred E. Kahn, 61, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

If successful, the wage and price guidelines would reduce inflation to between 6 percent and 6.5 percent in 1979, down from 8 percent this year, Carter's advisers said.

"This is a standard for everyone to follow. Everyone," Carter said in a 20-minute television address from the White House.

Referring to the 7 percent wage guideline, Carter said, "From tonight on, every contract signed and every pay raise granted should meet this standard," which includes fringe benefits.

Workers with hourly wages below $4, about 26 percent of the full-time labor force, will be exempt from the guidelines.

To make the plan appealing to workers, Carter said he will ask Congress in January to approve a so-called real wage insurance program providing — if inflation surpasses 7 percent in 1979 — tax rebates to those whose wage increases are limited to 7 percent.

Workers whose wage hikes exceed the guideline would not qualify for the rebate, which would be paid at year's end by the Internal Revenue Service.

Those who agree to the guideline would get a rebate compensating them for the degree to which inflation exceeds 7 percent. For example, if inflation was 8 percent, the wage earner would be entitled to a rebate equal to 1 percent of his or her salary.

Reaction to the speech was mixed. "Voluntary controls don't work," former President Gerald R. Ford said. "Once you start down that road, you wind up with government wage and price controls."

"It may be good politics temporarily," he said, "but it's bad economics.... I condemn the president for starting us down that path."

—Ford Motor Co. pledged "to cooperate promptly and... to assist the administration in its fight against inflation."

"We are encouraged by the president's stated determination to hold the line on government spending," said Ford spokesman Fred G. Secret.

Wife campaigns in Big Spring

Attorney general candidate favors fixed-length sentences

By MARJ CARPENTER

"Jim Baker, Republican candidate for attorney general believes that we must crack down on criminal sentencing to deter crime in Texas," Mrs. Baker, campaigning for her husband, said in Big Spring Tuesday.

"Baker is emphasizing fixed-length sentencing which would be fair sentencing for all. He is distressed at the present system where one man will get a probation sentence for murder and another go up 20 years for a lesser crime," the candidate's wife added.

"Although his opponent is claiming that he (Baker) is trying to take the place of the jury, this is not true. The sentencing would be flexible and take in such things as first offense, whether or not the crime was committed with a gun and others. But he does believe that we must cease to molly-coddle criminals if we want to halt crime," she continued. She also came down heavy on a statement made here this week by Mark White, the Democrat candidate. "White was claiming to be economical when actually he is a big spender," Mrs. Baker stated firmly.

"White claimed he turned back $4 million from his Secretary of State budget, but failed to say that that money was forced to be turned back because it was budgeted to run the state's primaries. Actually he was reprimanded by the legislature for over-budgeting. That's certainly not efficiency in government," she continued.

"My husband was the first candidate to advocate fighting the federal pricing control and allocation authority over intrastate oil and gas. When the other party saw how popular that stand was, they jumped over at the last minute and claimed it as their own," Mrs. Baker continued.

The vivacious Mrs. Baker, who has eight children, drove to Big Spring from Lubbock for a coffee Tuesday after the airport was reported fogged in for landing of the plane.

She said that her first husband and Baker's first wife are deceased, so, "We have his, hers and our children with all eight in our household — kind of like the Brady kids."

Among the large group who attended the coffee held at the home of Mrs. Don Newsom were Mr. and Mrs. E.O. Burkett, whose daughter works on the Baker staff.

Mrs. Baker urged the group "to work for what you think is right. Let's elect Jim Baker and try to halt the heavy crime in Texas, take a strong stand against dope-related crimes and see if we can help back up the hard-working Texas lawmen."

Action/reaction: Weeds responsibility

Q. Who is responsible for keeping corners free of bushes, trees and etc., so you can see to cross an intersection in your car? Sometimes, you can't even see stop signs through the weeds.

A. In the city, it is the responsibility of the municipality to see that weeds and brush are cleared away from signs and intersections. Outside the city, it becomes the responsibility of the county or the state to offer such protection, depending on which one built the road. If situations where a bad problem exists, the appropriate authorities should be called.

Democratic National Chairman claims:

Tower's campaign crumbling

Democratic National Chairman John C. White of Texas claims the news photographs of the Tower-Krueger handshaking incident indicate that Tower's campaign has "crumbled."

The photographs of Krueger offering his hand and Tower turning away were displayed prominently in both the Washington Post and Washington Star and many Texas newspapers.

White contends the photos are damaging to Tower.

Tower insists his well-publicized refusal to shake hands with Krueger has had a positive impact on his campaign.

Krueger campaigned in Big Spring Monday. Tower campaigns here today.

LEON JAWORSKI, former prosecutor during the Nazi war trials, Watergate and Koreagate, Tuesday endorsed Democrat John Hill for governor, saying Hill is dedicated to "excellence and integrity" in public service.

Jaworski ended six years of self-imposed political silence to "come out of the woodwork" because Hill, a friend of 30 years, was subjected to attacks on his "moral character."

The nationally prominent attorney and banker admitted he "might not have come out and said anything" if The Dallas Morning News had not published "perhaps a distorted story" on Oct. 1.

He said he decided to make public his support for Hill after he became "a bit concerned" over campaign tactics by Hill's opponent, Republican Bill Clements.

Jaworski has stayed out of electoral politics since he became the special federal investigator and prosecutor of Watergate-related offenses.

Now, however, Jaworski said he felt compelled to go public with his support because Hill is "a man of uncompromising integrity, exceptional leadership abilities and the courage it takes to make tough official decisions in public office."

Hill continued to sound much the same theme Tuesday, appealing to

supporters to "speak to the best instincts of our people" and saying, "Let's don't burden the state with some inexperienced individual."

Earlier, he told a group of judges and lawyers that "if we go to war with Oklahoma, I'll be glad to put (Clements) in charge."

But he explained later that comment was merely "a way of reminding people of the difference in our experiences."

Clements' only political background was supporting Richard Nixon in 1968 and 1972, then serving as general manager of the defense department for four years. Hill has been secretary of state for two years and attorney general for nearly six years.

House Minority Leader John Rhodes Tuesday scored the energy bill passed by Congress, saying "it is not a national energy policy; it does nothing to encourage production of a smidgeon of new energy."

The measure however, "does put the heavy hand of 'mle sam into regulation of intrastate gas," Rhodes said in remarks prepared for delivery at a luncheon for 17th District Congressional Candidate Bill Fisher in Abilene.

"In the 17th District, where you produce 10 percent of all the oil and gas in Texas, you know you need Bill Fisher in Congress, because he knows how our free enterprise energy industry works," Rhodes said.

The House Republican Leader sharply criticized the way the legislation was handled, saying "after doodling and dawdling for 20 months on an energy bill, Congress crunched through a very bad bill in the dying day."

Senate seat prepared for a discussion at the Houston Press Club. But Tower ignored the Democrat's hand (right), bringing a surprised look to Krueger's face.

Rhodes also warned that most working Americans will pay higher taxes next year, despite the tax "cut" approved by Congress, because of the new Social Security increases and the impact of inflation, which he blamed largely on Federal "overspending."

"Inflation has become our most serious, and immediate, economic challenge," Rhodes said, and Congress has responded by racking up $51 billion in deficits for this fiscal year.

"The only way to change the direction of the Congress is to change the leadership," Rhodes said. "That means changing the membership, and that means electing Bill Fisher."

Rhodes hailed Fisher as an "outstanding candidate for Congress," saying his background "qualifies him uniquely to do a real job. As answered, starting with: "Who was John F. Kennedy?"

Henry Kissinger is reported eyeing a U.S. Senate seat in New York. It would be interesting to have Kissinger in the Senate — but does he understand the principle that if there's a 99-1 vote the 99 wins?

Okie Gov. David Boren has given candidates his own formula for winning elections: Get yourself an old broom and a new wife.

Are all nominees for Congress as conservative as Bill Fisher and Charles Stenholm? If so, hard times are coming in Washington for salesmen of heart-shaped water-beds.

Wildcat scheduled

A wildcat is scheduled in Mitchell County this week. MGF Oil Corp., Midland, will drill the No. 1 Blessingame, a 7,800-foot wildcat, five miles northwest of Colorado City.

It is 4½ miles north-northwest of the depleted one-well Trulock (Strawn) field, 2½ miles northwest of a 7,600-foot failure and 2¼ miles east-southeast of a 7,669-foot failure.

Location is 660 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the west lines of 11-26-T&P.

Misapplied funds trial under way

SWEETWATER — Gladys Gerst, executive director of Sweetwater's People for Progress Inc., went on trial here this week on charges that she misapplied funds belonging to the Sweetwater Independent School District.

A witness, Laverne Williams of Roscoe, testified that Mrs. Gerst attempted to falsify payroll records.

Mrs. Williams said she had been fired Oct. 2, 1976, because she refused to testify before a disciplinary meeting of the Community Action Center Board.

Smokers are targets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cigarette smokers exposed to asbestos are 90 times more likely to get lung cancer than persons who neither smoke nor are exposed to asbestos, a cancer specialist says.

Dr. Donald Austin, an official with the California Department of Health Services, told a U.S. House subcommittee Tuesday: "The tragedy of asbestos is that once it is in the body, it is there forever and it is known to interact with other carcinogens to multiply their individual effects."

Mining discord hindering

BOSTON (AP) — Eliot Richardson, U.S. ambassador to the Law of the Sea Conference, says a disagreement over mining the seas for minerals may ruin the chances of working out an international treaty to control the use of the oceans.

The former attorney general blamed the deadlock on the nationalistic interests of small, newly independent nations. Richardson, who spoke Tuesday to the World Affairs Council of Boston, said 90 percent of the issues covered by the proposed Law of the Sea Treaty have been settled. But he said he has doubts about whether the rest can be resolved.

Bankruptcy ended

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The nation's largest bankruptcy ended with establishment of The Penn Central Corp. — and Penn Central began running on its own again, minus the giant railroad that caused its financial woes.

The railroad is now run by Conrail and Amtrak, and the value of that disputed property is one of the chief assets of the new firm. The new corporation controls an oil pipeline and refinery, amusement parks, resort hotels and thousands of acres of real estate. The last hurdle to reorganization of the $4 billion firm, which was under court supervision for 8½ years, was wiped out Monday when the U.S. Supreme Court declined to hear an appeal by minority stockholders.

Hoelscher, Roy Clinton, Richard Hoelscher and Frank Hoelscher planning to handle a complete line of A-C parts and providing service from their Stanton location.

The Hoelschers are preparing homemade barbecue to serve at the grand opening, and will show films on the manufacture, testing and use of A-C equipment. Several A-C representatives will be on hand, and full size cutaways of the engine, transmission and differential of an A-C agricultural tractor will be on display.

The opening will last from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. with barbecue served from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Located one-half mile west of Hwy 137 on the south access road of IS-20 in Stanton, the owners hope to make A-C farm equipment as popular in the area as it was some 10 years ago before all area dealers retired.

"We will handle the complete line of agricultural, industrial and lawn and garden equipment made by A-C," said Richard Hoelscher. "And, Roy Clinton, who is vice president of the corporation and service manager, has had years of experience as a diesel mechanic in the

Gala headliner says: 'Life begins at 60!'

"Life begins at 60!" That's what Foster Brooks believes now that he's achieved tremendous success as the Lovable Lush — that dignified gentleman who's had one drink too many but tries very hard not to show it. Brooks, who will headline the Gala Evening benefiting the Endowment Fund of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center on Friday, Nov. 3, at 7 p.m. in the new Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at Howard College in Big Spring, has gone from bit-part actor and comic to headliner in Las Vegas' Hughes Hotels and many other supper clubs around the country in just five years.

His earnings have gone from a $50 engagement to over $1 million a year. How does he handle this amazing success that has come to him so late in life? For most people, life is fairly well established at 60. The peak earning years have come and gone and most people look ahead to golden retirement on fixed incomes and Social Security. But what about Foster? At 59, he was "discovered"! He was invited to do a few minutes of stand-up comedy at a golf tournament in North Carolina, when Perry Como laughed his way through Foster's lush act and promptly signed him on to share the bill at his next Las Vegas engagement. As Foster recalls, "I had finally made it to the big time, and in one of the largest supper clubs in the world. I went around pinching myself." The offers kept coming in and so did the money. Foster worked very hard for many years and then was rewarded with overwhelming success. There were several things Foster had always wanted — and now finally he could afford them.

One thing Foster is especially proud of is his charity golf tournament in Louisville, Kentucky. Since he was "discovered" at a golf tournament, it is only fitting that he should have one named after him. And now, with his new-found celebrity friends to help bring out the fans, he hopes his Foster Brooks Tournament will raise some much-needed money for a children's hospital which will specialize in the treatment of cerebral palsy.

Foster Brooks has found success when most men have all but given up. Has it changed him much? He works very hard and is able now to live more comfortably, but not flamboyantly. He's still very much the family man, having been married for 25 years. He's grateful for his good fortune and gives thanks to all those who have made him a success. It's easy to understand Foster's contentment when he says, "I've never been happier in my life."

The New Christy Minstrels, a major phenomenon in the history of the entertainment industry, will also appear with Foster Brooks during the Gala. And Jana-Lou, a vivacious blonde "show stopper" with the winning combination of beauty, talent, musical variety and song, will round out the evening. Background music will be provided by the Gary Lee Orchestra of Dallas.

Tickets for the Gala, which are being sold at $10.00 a ticket, are available at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Swartz, Blum's Jewelers, Citizens Federal Credit Union, the administration office at Howard College, Gray Jewelers, Newsom's Food Center, and the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. Tickets can also be obtained by calling 273-1062. All checks are tax deductible and should be made payable to: Endowment Fund, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Drivers, take look at tags

According to Tax Assessor-Collector Zirah Bednar, about 1,000 Howard County drivers are going to be smacked in the pocket-book Nov. 1.

"There are only four days left for these people to renew their October tags," said Mrs. Bednar. "After Tuesday, they will have to pay a penalty when they come in to renew."

Mrs. Bednar said that just over 1,000 tags had been renewed to date, but she estimated there were another 1,000 to 1,500 vehicles still in Howard County bearing plates that expire Oct. 31.

In addition to the penalty paid to the Tax Assessor-Collector's office, the motorists also run the risk of being ticketed by local police or sheriff's deputies.

Soviet children find fossils

MOSCOW (AP) — A group of children from the Volga River village of Milorodovka found the fossil of a giant dinosaur embedded in a block of limestone in a brickworks quarry, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

The children found a block of stone that had the clear imprint of a large-toothed animal that the news agency called "some remarkable beast." The children reported their findings to the University of Saratov, which found that the block contained the entire skeleton of an ichthyosaur.

American College of Surgeons honors two Big Spring residents

SAN FRANCISCO — A group of 1,940 surgeons from around the world became Fellows of the American College of Surgeons, the world's largest organization of surgeons, in formal convocation ceremonies held at the Civic Auditorium.

Two from Big Spring were honored. They are Dr. Carroll Truett Moore and Dr. Narasimha S. Rao, with the Malone-Hogan Clinic here. Fellows of the College have earned the right to use the designation "F.A.C.S." (Fellow, American College of Surgeons) after their name, indicating that they have fulfilled comprehensive requirements of acceptable medical education and advanced training in general surgery or one of the other 10 surgical specialties recognized by the College, and have given evidence of ethical practice and good character, through an evaluation by their peers at a regional level. The Initiates included 1,820 surgeons from the United States and Canada and 120 surgeons from other countries.

A TAXPAYER'S BILL OF RIGHTS IS PAST DUE

Bill Clements believes we still have a chance to preserve our future by establishing constitutional protection against excessive taxation and runaway government spending.

Bill Clements believes the people of Texas should have the power necessary to ratify or reject tax policies made by legislators.

To establish this power (of the people), Bill Clements will introduce an amendment to the Texas Constitution that would give the people of Texas this right.

Bill Clements' "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights" would:

- Give Texans the right of initiative and referendum, a phrase that means we, the people, have a right to vote on the taxes to be levied on us.
- Place a ban on corporate or personal income tax in Texas.
- Require a two-thirds record vote of both houses of the legislature to pass a tax bill.
- Allow local taxpayers to call an election to ratify or reject a tax increase created by a local governmental unit.

Bill Clements believes in Texas and the people of Texas.

Bill Clements thinks that elected officials must work for the people and represent them properly.

As governor of Texas, Bill Clements will work for and with the people of Texas.

It's about time someone recalled that our form of government was conceived to be a servant of the people and provide the means to insure that principle endures.

BILL CLEMENTS, A GREAT GOVERNOR FOR TEXAS.

Texas has two men in front row center

Texans invariably have had an abundance of political clout in Washington. California is the more populous state but has never been able to influence the decision making in the nation's capital like the Texans.

There are several factors which contribute to the influence the Texans yield. For one thing, men elected to national office from Texas are prone to remain in office longer than those from California, and seniority still means a lot in Congress.

For another, California is more of a two-party state than is Texas and is far less likely to enter into a conspiracy for bloc voting than is the Texas group.

THE REPUBLICANS are going to be very disappointed this year if they don't make significant gains in both the upper and lower houses of Congress.

Further on down the road, the GOPs see a golden opportunity to recapture the White House, biggest plum of them all. Mr. Carter, the incumbent, simply isn't selling his programs in many key areas of the nation.

Among the people regarded as White House material by the Republicans are two Texans, George Bush and John Connally. Oddly enough, both reside in Houston.

Both have been criss-crossing the nation this fall, helping party candidates while gauging our interest in their own possible candidacies in 1980.

Bush and Connally are both following a time-tested form of early, unannounced presidential candidacies. In 1974, a little-known Georgia governor by the name of Jimmy Carter followed the same routine.

Both Bush, who has strong ties in West Texas, and Connally have raised some money through political action committees to finance their travel.

BOTH HAVE been in more than 30 states in recent months. Both speak on behalf of GOP candidates for Congress and governorships, charging them nothing and occasionally making even small financial contributions to their campaigns.

While they are doing it, Bush and Connally meet party members, make press contacts and add to lists of persons who say they would help in a presidential campaign.

In short, they are seen and they get some ideas of where their potential strength lies. If they do become candidates now, their travel now could be invaluable in establishing political bases, just as Carter found his early travel to be.

Texas' strength in the legislature could wane a bit because so many freshman members will be serving but could more than balance out in the administrative branches if either Bush or Connally are able to catch lightning in a bottle.

Biggest surprise

Around the rim

Eileen McGuire

When I heard that a woman, Susan B. Anthony, was going to be pictured on the new silver dollar, I thought "Wow, that's really something!" And when I learned that the new Pope is the first in 450 years who isn't Italian, I thought "Gee whiz, 1978 is full of surprises!"

But the event that amazed me the most was one thought up by NBC — the rescue of seven castaways who'd waited 15 years to get off Gilligan's Island.

capable of floating, why did it take 15 years to come up with the idea of a hutboat?

The biggest change that has come to the island in the past 15 years was the easing of censorship on television programs.

Ginger, who always hinted of contained passion, is now free to go a step further than hint. In a scene where she was trying to get some information from Gilligan about the impending tidal wave that would sweep them all out to sea, she and Gilligan exchanged a couple of passionate kisses.

I had never thought of Gilligan in the role of a lover before.

IF I HAD just gotten off of an island where I had been stranded for even one year, I think the first thing I'd want to do is get some new clothes. But Gilligan and his pals were not so vain — they traveled from Hawaii to a ticker tape parade in New York wearing the same old costumes they obviously had become attached to during their 15-year absence.

And Maryanne's beau, Arnold I think his name was, was still waiting at the altar for her.

The rescue which would have meant so much to me about ten years ago, didn't evoke much emotion in me at this late date. I was, however, amazed that I could once be so gullible as to be hooked on a show about seven clowns who couldn't find their way out of a paper bag, let alone a grass hut.

The most unbelievable part but best of the two-part rescue series was the ending. The seven reunited for a Christmas celebration aboard the Minnow II, and ended up shipwrecked once again on Gilligan's Island.

My kids were satisfied with the ending and I was relieved that the castaways, who were having trouble cutting it in civilization anyways are back somewhere in the Pacific where they belong and off of Saturday night television programming.

Staring us down

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — You don't have to be a chess player to appreciate the implications of the Korchnoi-Karpov world championship match which was just played in the Philippines. Karpov won six games to five. The Free World was rooting for Korchnoi because he had defected from the Soviet Union, and had nothing good to say about the Communist system.

The Kremlin was determined their boy would win. They sent a large entourage with him, including the usual secret police escorts, chess masters and a psychologist named Vladimir Zoukhar, whose role was to sit in the fourth row of the auditorium and do nothing but stare at Korchnoi while he played.

KORCHNOI COMPLAINED bitterly about this gambit and, after losing several games, he got the judges to move the psychologist to the back of the room. Then he went on to win and tie the score at 5-5. But in the final game, the psychologist was back in his fourth row putting the evil eye on Korchnoi, and the Soviet defector blew the final match.

Whether Zoukhar used ESP or hypnotism or just plain psychology is anybody's guess. But he apparently succeeded in upsetting our guy.

If this was just a chess match Americans wouldn't have to give it a second thought.

But with the 1980 Olympics coming up in Moscow we have to start wondering if this was just a pilot project of the Soviets and whether there is a grand design underway to hex all our Olympic stars out of their gold medals.

IT IS POSSIBLE that at this very moment the Soviets are training thousands of "spectators" to sit in the fourth row of the Olympic stands at every event to stare at our athletes. They could be learning to send out bad vibes to all those wearing the Stars and Stripes on their uniforms.

If the system works, our valiant men and women could be so distracted by this staring that they could trip over themselves in the track and field events, sink to the bottom of the Olympic swimming pool or fall on their faces during the acrobatic competitions.

The Zoukhar ploy must be taken seriously and the American Olympic Committee has to start now to come up with countermeasures to Soviet staring.

One of the obvious answers would be to insist that the American competitors wear blinders, the kind that they put on horses so they won't see the stands. This might cause some discomfort, but if our people start wearing them now they would be used to them by 1980.

ANOTHER IDEA might be to put an "anti-staring clause" into the SALT talks, and warn the Russians that if they so much as look at our athletes when they're competing, we'll bring in our own starers who will put the whammy on their stars.

A third suggestion is that we train everyone competing for our side how to stare back until the other side blinks.

No one likes to bring the CIA into the Olympic picture, but if the Soviets are using psychological warfare to win chess matches, heaven knows how far they'll go to bury us when it comes to winning the games in 1980.

We have to bring the people at Langley in on this one.

I'M NOT BEING hysterical or overstating the danger of a giant Zoukhar conspiracy. It may have been just a coincidence, but when I applied at the Soviet Embassy for my Olympic tickets the other day, I was informed by the sports attache that every seat in the fourth row at every event had already been sold. It was rather strange since the box office at Lenin Stadium doesn't open until June of 1979.

Mose polyps can nag for lifetime

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son is a senior in college. During his last year of high school he was advised by a doctor to have polyps removed from his nose. Another doctor advised us to use antihistamines because it was an allergy problem. We did this for years but nothing changed.

Do you think we should take the first doctor's advice and have the surgery to remove the polyps? My son has always talked as though someone were pinching his nose, and he doesn't breathe well. In today's business world it is important for a young man to put his best foot forward to get a good job. We would appreciate your thoughts on this. Another thing, he still has his tonsils, and no one has told us they should be removed. He has never had a cold. — Mrs. G.P.

Nasal polyps are grape-like clusters that appear on the mucous to drain properly. An allergy which creates a chronic swelling of membranes can, by obstructing the air passages, lead to polyp growth. This was the second doctor's thinking when he suggested the conservative approach. Antihistamines may help shrink the membranes and assist breathing.

Since this has not helped, and since your son does have considerable trouble with his voice and breathing, it is probably time to have the polyps removed. They will not go away, and may grow worse. The surgery is not extensive, and can sometimes be done in the doctor's office. Polyps are seldom malignant, but this cannot be ruled out without a biopsy. It should ease your mind about that. I doubt that his tonsils are a source of this problem.

Nasal polyps are miserable affairs and can literally handicap a young man. Many who have them removed in later life wish they had done so earlier and saved themselves the troubles in earlier life.

A further word: the possibility of a deviated septum (a bend in the partition between the two nostrils) should be investigated. This can occur from a slight childhood injury or have been present at birth. This frequently contributes to nasal polyps because of the obstruction it causes. The polyp surgery may have to be repeated. Polyps tend to grow back unless the allergy or whatever causes them is treated successfully.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Since 14 I have had blood clot in my period. Is that normal? — J.D.

Although menstrual blood ordinarily does not clot, it is not unusual to have a few clots in the flow. You should not worry about it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A year ago I had my tubes tied. Now I want to exercise to flatten my abdomen. I lie on the floor and raise my legs. Will this exercise or any, for that matter, yank the ligation loose? — Anon.

Scar tissue is tougher than original tissue so there is no danger of "pulling anything loose." The exercise should be great for your tummy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 71, and my legs swell with water. The doctor gave me water pills. Everything else is OK. Should I cut down on my water intake while on the water pills? What about my diet? — C.B.

In normal circumstances there is no need to reduce water intake when using the diuretics (water pills). The effect of the pills is to increase kidney activity, and that is sufficient to remove normal liquid intake. The only diet restriction would involve sodium (salt).

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why, in the Garden of Eden, did God not want Adam and Eve to eat the fruit of the tree of knowledge? It seems like they would need to know the difference between good and evil. — R.F.

DEAR R.F.: There is a sense in which they already knew the difference between good and evil — not in their experience, but because God had already warned them about the consequences of evil. "But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die" (Genesis 2:17). In other words, all they had to do was trust God's Word.

The tree was placed there to give them a choice. If there had been no opportunity to disobey God, Adam and Eve would have been mere puppets — they could do nothing but obey God. But God did not want puppets — He created us so we could respond freely to His love. The tree showed that the human race was truly free, created in the image of God.

When the temptation of Satan came, it focused on one issue — doubt of God's Word. "Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?...Ye shall not surely die" (Genesis 3:1, 4). In other words, Satan called God a liar.

Since that time, the human race has been in bondage to sin. What was true of the Psalmist is true of every one of us: "Behold, I was shapen in iniquity, and in sin did my mother conceive me" (Psalms 51:5). But the good news of the Gospel is that Jesus Christ came to reverse the effects of Adam's rebellion against God. "For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive" (1 Corinthians 15:21-22). By faith in Him we can have eternal life, and can know the joy of forgiveness. Today we continue to doubt God's Word concerning His Son — but "there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

FBI checking

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The FBI and police agencies on both coasts are investigating accusations that Roy Innis, the controversial director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), ordered the shooting of a former colleague and the beating of another.

Innis vehemently denies the allegations. We have a signed confession, however, from the trigger man who says he committed the non-fatal shooting on direct orders from Innis. His story has been corroborated by a man who claims to have been an eyewitness to the incident, which took place in Washington, D.C. in February, 1974.

CORE sources told our associates Gary Cohn and Tony Capaccio that Innis has personally ordered the execution of other dissident officials of the organization, as well as the beating of dozens of CORE members.

It should be noted that Innis, who took over the leadership of CORE in 1968, is embroiled in a bitter feud with CORE founder James Farmer and others who have been trying to oust Innis. In this context, it is possible that some allegations of killings and beatings ordered by Innis are exaggerated or even concocted out of whole cloth.

We will confine our story, therefore, only to those charges which the FBI and local police agencies consider serious enough to warrant their attention.

But certainly, the shooting of former CORE employee Jimmy Howard was not imaginary.

According to police records and statements of those involved, Howard was walking from his car to his office in Washington, D.C., on the morning of Feb. 27, 1974, when he was approached by Malcolm Drummond, a member of Innis' security team.

Drummond allegedly went up to Howard and said: "Stop! Freeze, mother — Freeze!" Drummond then fired several shots from a .25 caliber automatic. One bullet hit Howard in the shoulder.

Drummond insists that he never intended to kill Howard, and his choice of a .25 caliber pistol — not exactly a hit man's weapon — tends to bear this out. According to one account, Howard had incurred Innis' wrath by aligning himself with Waverly Yates, a former top official of CORE whom Howard had been assigned to keep an eye on.

When Cohn first contacted Drummond, he was reluctant to answer questions. But Cohn tracked down the alleged hit man in Los Angeles, and he eventually agreed to give us a signed statement.

He said: "Roy Innis personally ordered me to shoot Howard. Innis said, 'Drummond, I need this S.O.B. hit, I'm depending on you.' I shot Jimmy Howard on direct orders from Innis."

Farmer told us that Drummond had also admitted the Howard shooting to him. "But Drummond won't say anything unless he's given immunity," Farmer said. He added that Drummond's reliability might be questioned because he is "weak," as evidenced by a switch of allegiance from Innis to his rivals.

Another key witness in the affair is Marvin Peay, who was Innis' security chief and special assistant from 1969 to 1976. Described by Farmer as "completely reliable," Peay told us that he was actually on the scene when Drummond shot Howard.

Peay said he was surprised when Drummond pulled a gun because Peay had been instructed by Innis only to rough up Howard. Peay said he later learned that Drummond had been given private orders by Innis to shoot Howard.

Peay also told us that on three separate occasions, Innis had ordered him to shoot Waverly Yates. But Peay insisted that he had made no attempt to do so, and never intended to.

Peay has told his story secretly to the FBI. He informed us he is willing to repeat his testimony to the Washington, D.C., police.

The Drummond and Peay accounts of the shooting have been supported with the hearsay evidence of other former CORE associates.

In a stormy telephone interview, Innis denied any involvement in the Howard shooting and excoriated his accusers.

"Who the hell was Jimmy Howard that he's so important that I would need to shoot him?" Innis demanded. Of Drummond, Innis said: "If you guys want to believe a pathological liar, a sick man, (then) go ahead, embarrass yourself."

"Peay was an animal from the gutter that I rescued and tried to restructure...I must have been foolish enough to believe I could change man's nature. I know better now."

James Farmer, said Innis, "is a coward and a liar and a hypocrite, and you can quote me on that."

Footnote: In a future column, we will detail the allegations that Innis ordered the beating of a former West Coast CORE employee.

'Gun lobby' works to maintain clout

The so-called 'gun lobby,' with one major victory behind it during the most recent session of Congress, is not about to rest on its laurels.

Three pro-gun groups, led by the muscular National Rifle Association, had raised more than $1.1 million by the end of June for use in political campaigns this year, making them the best-financed single-issue lobby involved in the election process.

Although two of the groups, the Committee for the Right to Keep and Bear Arms and the Gun Owners of America Campaign Committee, had spent much of the money they collected on fund-raising and overhead, the NRA Victory Fund still had over half a million dollars available for distribution to candidates.

Rep. Donald Fraser of Minnesota, a gun control advocate, can blame his defeat at the hands of Bob Short in September on the role the NRA took in the senatorial election.

Speedy trial law could affect 4,000 cases in Orange County

ORANGE, Texas (AP) — As many as 4,000 pending misdemeanor cases in Orange County could be affected by an appeals court decision which says the speedy trial law applies to cases pending July 1.

The written opinion of a three-judge panel of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reached the desk of Orange County Attorney Bill Wright Monday, and he says requests for dismissal of 15 pending misdemeanor cases have already been filed based on the ruling.

The ruling confirmed reports last week that the Speedy Trial Act applies to all cases pending in the judicial system, not just those occurring after July 1, when the act took effect.

County Judge Pat Clark said Tuesday that 15 dismissal requests had been filed by one attorney alone since the ruling.

Clark said he is holding the requests pending an expected rehearing of the case that produced the significant legal interpretation. The rehearing would be based on an expected appeal for review by the full nine-judge panel of the appeals court.

Mike Shuff, first assistant county attorney, interprets the ruling as one that "carries the weight of law. It is a ruling squarely on the issue of whether speedy trials apply to cases pending on July 1."

"What it says is that in the absence of express intent to the contrary, the new law applies to pending and future actions," Shuff said.

Time limits under the speedy trial act for the state to announce "ready for trial" are set at 120 days for felony cases and up to 90 days for misdemeanors, depending on the severity of the misdemeanor offense.

The 90-day limits on Class A misdemeanors ended at the end of September. The 120-day limit on felony cases expires Oct. 28.

Jet lost sight of small plane, LA Times reports

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The crew of a Pacific Southwest Airlines 727 jetliner apparently lost sight of a small Cessna just before colliding with it in the worst air crash in U.S. history, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

Today's edition of the Times carried an interview with unnamed officials who said they had listened to a confidential cockpit tape recording of the crew's last words before the two planes collided and crashed, killing 144 persons the morning of Sept. 25.

The cockpit tape shows confusion about the small plane's whereabouts, according to the quoted officials.

"Do you see him?" asked one crew member.

"He was right over there a minute ago."

"He's probably behind us."

The tape is in the possession of the National Transportation Safety Board, which is investigating the collision and has not yet released its findings.

A previously released Federal Aviation Administration transcript of radio talk between the San Diego control tower and the crew shows the pilot reporting "traffic (Cessna) in sight" 1 minute and 34 seconds before the collision. But that tape did not pick up all that was said in the cockpit.

"OK, we had him there a minute ago," the PSA pilot told Lindbergh Field tower, without admitting that he had apparently lost sight of the Cessna 172. "Think he's passing off to our right."

Clark said he is not convinced the status of misdemeanor cases is in jeopardy, though, and said a full court review might clarify the ruling.

"Questions remain. Does the state have to make a formal announcement of 'ready' at a docket call or can it simply say, 'Hey, I was ready to go to trial all along,'" Clark said.

He also questioned whether the announcement had to come after July 1, saying that at some time in the history of the pending case, there was probably a docket call and an announcement.

Weather Cooler temperatures expected by Thursday

By The Associated Press

A new cold front blustered into the Texas Panhandle today, kicking up gusty winds and promising lower temperatures for most of the state by Thursday.

The front blew into the northwest corner of the state before dawn, stirring up winds gusting to 25 miles an hour.

"It ought to plunge pretty rapidly southward into the state," said chief meteorologist Herbert Roseman of the National Weather Service office in Fort Worth, "especially out in West Texas."

Roseman said the Pacific front will lower temperatures as it rolls across the state today and Thursday, but no drastic changes such as those associated with arctic fronts are expected.

Tonight's lows in the Panhandle are forecast to dip into the mid 30s.

Pioneering in East Texas a way of life

Couples' career plans take back seat

TRAWICK, Texas (AP) — The honeycomb-shaped log cabin is growing slowly, as a young couple prepares to face their third harsh winter among the primeval pines of East Texas. Jim and Anna Lemon had planned careers as a doctor and an opera singer, but now they are pioneers.

(AP WIREPHOTO)
PIONEERS — Jim and Anna Lemon sit in the doorway of the cabin they are building among the primeval pines of East Texas. Both passed up the promise of successful careers to live in the deep woods. The couple face the third winter at the building site with a long way to go before the cabin is complete.

They live with two German shepherds and a cat in a canvas teepee on 8½ acres off a dusty red-dirt road that leads to oil company production leases.

The Lemons tend several gardens and raise chickens, pigs and rabbits to eat. Meals are cooked over an open fire.

"I can even bake pies," Anna said proudly, as she barbecued chicken and rabbit on a blackened grill. "Domestic rabbits are all white meat," she said, although admitting not many people could raise and then kill rabbits.

"It's hard to get attached to a chicken, but a bunny is furry, and warm and soft."

After supper, by the gently hissing glare of a gasoline lantern, they plan details of the hexagonal log cabin that is to be their new home.

For a while, at least, it probably will not have running water, electricity or a phone. "It would cost at least $1,500 for any utility to be brought out this far," Anna said with a sigh.

"I would give anything for a hot bath," she added, "although Jim would prefer the electricity."

The Lemons moved to the woods two years ago, to escape encroaching civilization.

"They made my garden into a parking lot, and zoned my front yard for townhouses," said Jim, who used to live in a stone house between Fort Worth and Dallas. "And somebody stole my compost pile," he added indignantly.

Their new lifestyle is different from what they had been used to. Both are from Fort Worth and from affluent families; the children of physicians.

Jim, 31, studied at one time to become a doctor, and Anna, 27, trained her voice for the opera stage. But Jim ended up with a master's degree in clinical psychology and Anna spent seven years, working and studying, to get a bachelor's in social work.

Now they are both caseworkers in the girls' home at the Summit Oaks residential treatment center in Laneville. They commute half an hour over deeply rutted roads and two wooden bridges, taking home a cargo of ice and water from the center.

They paid $500 an acre for the land, with a six-year note. Then they borrowed an additional $600 to finance materials for the cabin.

The logs come from their woods, cut down with a chainsaw, but stripped of bark and dragged by hand. Windows, doors and other hardware were scavenged from a two-county area.

"Whenever we pass a construction site, we stop to see if they have anything to spare, Jim said. "If Anna is with me, I send her over to ask," he added, smiling through his beard at his wiry, red-haired wife.

A lot of what the young couple has comes from others.

"I came out here to increase my self-sufficiency," Jim said, "but find myself depending more on other people. We have friends come out to help build the cabin, and a local man helps me slaughter the pigs. He pays half the feed and gets one of the pigs."

Many of the visitors admire the primitive existence, although the Lemons know things can get rough.

"Everything is harder here. We wash the dishes once a week, because it's a two-hour production to heat enough water," Anna said. "Last winter, I asked myself: 'This isn't fun — what am I doing here,' but then it was spring, and it was all right again."

"Apparently, living like this is a common fantasy," Jim said. "But it wasn't my wilderness living. The cabin, though, is being built one step at a time, with every detail hashed out.

Living in the woods has been almost a religious experience for the Lemons. "When we first moved out here, we set up a Sunday routine," Anna said. "We would walk, ride our bikes and then maybe climb a tree to talk about what God means to us."

"It doesn't take long to see there's a higher power at work — a universal pattern to things," she said.

Much of the couple's life is controlled by the weather. A lack of rain this fall has taken its toll among their tomatoes, and last winter they were snowed in.

"The tree branches were bent across the road, loaded with snow and ice," Anna said. "We had to use the chainsaw to cut them free."

When it does rain, the roads turn to mud. "If you can see ruts going straight through the water, stay in them and keep going," Anna advised.

The Lemons learn a lot of things by experience, or from a handful of books on

White Rhodesians happy despite lack of peace

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — White Rhodesians are triumphantly toasting the troops who smashed several black nationalist guerrilla camps in neighboring Mozambique and Zambia, even as reports reach them that the assaults have dashed immediate hopes for peace talks.

Blacks, meanwhile, fear that the raids will provoke guerrilla reprisals, escalate the war and further dim chances for an early end to the six-year conflict.

"It was fantastic and way overdue," a white doctor who would not be identified said. "If these terrorists want to come in and murder Rhodesian civilians they must expect us to hit them before they hit us."

But Kenneth Mbufano, a watchman and supporter of Joshua Nkomo's

Zimbabwe African Peoples' Union whose camps in Zambia were the target of the most devastating assaults, said: "Violence will bring more violence. I want it all to end so we can all live in peace."

Nkomo and Robert Mugabe, head of the Mozambique-based Zimbabwe African National Union, have stated since the raids that the only conference they are now prepared to attend will be designed to transfer power from the Salisbury government directly to them and their guerrillas.

The cross-border raids, which ended over the weekend, smashed some 13 guerrilla camps in Mozambique and Zambia. Rhodesian accounts say more than 1,500 of the 25,000 guerrillas under arms outside the country were slain and vast quantities of Soviet-made arms and supplies destroyed. There are about 8,000 guerrillas inside Rhodesia.

The attacks, mainly against Nkomo's camps in Zambia to the north of Rhodesia, were ordered as Prime Minister Ian Smith and three moderate blacks in the transition government were in the United States seeking support for a constitutional settlement they reached seven months ago.

It was while they were in the United States that Smith and his colleagues — Bishop Abel Muzorewa, the Rev. Ndabingi Sithole and Sen. Jeremiah Chirau — agreed to take part in a U.S. and British-backed peace conference with the guerrilla leaders who boycotted their earlier accord.

That agreement spelled the end to almost a century of white domination in this country of 6.7 million blacks and 290,000 whites and promised majority rule by the end of the year.

But Nkomo and Mugabe, co-leaders in a fragile and ideologically and ethnically opposed political alliance called the Patriotic Front, stepped up the war which is now costing some 30 lives and more than half of the Rhodesian budget daily.

A Rhodesian official, who would not be named, defended the timing of the latest government raids by pointing to the recent upsurge of terrorism — particularly the slaying of 10 survivors of a civilian air crash last month and earlier massacres of missionaries and their families.

He also noted that the United States, anxious to organize a new all-party conference, expressed doubts about the current effectiveness of the white-run but largely black Rhodesian security forces.

"The fact that we were able to strike both at Mozambique and at Zambia with virtual impunity surprised the Americans that we did still have military superiority," he said.

"We reckon this has strengthened our hands for any negotiations that might now evolve."

White Rhodesian soldiers, off duty and drinking in Salisbury pubs, were jubilant over the apparent success of the raids.

"We've shown that we won't sit back and twiddle our thumbs while they step up things," one young trooper told a group of foreigners. "And we'll show them that we can do it again." White Rhodesian morale was boosted enormously by radio and television excerpts of exchanges between the pilots of warplanes that invaded Zambia and an air traffic controller at the airport in the Zambian capital of Lusaka.

The Rhodesian flight commander, whose code name was "Green Leader," effectively controlled Zambian air traffic during the half-hour strikes against the guerrilla bases, ordering all Zambian and civil aircraft away from the areas.

Rhodesians jubilantly heard how at one stage "Green Leader" gave permission for a Kenya Airways Flight to land at Lusaka, evidence of the inability of the Zambians to hit back during the strikes.

Turkey supply short

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers will see only "light" supplies of turkey in supermarkets next month as they turn to planning Thanksgiving dinners, says the Agriculture Department.

As used by USDA marketing experts, "light supply" of a food item means "less than adequate, not enough for normal needs."

Consequently, as department economists have been saying for months, turkey prices will be up this fall, perhaps by 10 to 15 percent from a year ago and maybe more for certain kinds of birds.

The light supply of turkey for November was described in a new "food marketing alert" sent each month to large-volume food buyers such as schools, hospitals and other institutions.

As far as officials could determine Tuesday, it was the first time in at least a decade that the November supply of turkeys was forecast to be on the light side.

In other years since 1974, when the report was begun, turkey was on the "plentiful" list for November or was described as "adequate," according to Dale May of the department's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Shirley Wagener of the department's Office of Governmental and Public Affairs said that prior to 1974, at least since 1969, turkey was featured on USDA's "plentiful foods" list, the forerunner of the current report.

It's not that turkey producers aren't stepping up production — because they are this year. But consumer demand has been heavy for all sorts of poultry due to high prices for red meat.

Meanwhile, the food marketing alert for November showed also that beef will be in adequate supply, meaning that there will be "enough to meet needs" of consumers next month. Beef, after being "plentiful" for almost three years, dropped to the adequate rating earlier this year.

Corn inventory to have eight percent increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new analysis by the Agriculture Department shows that there will be about 8 percent more corn in the nation's inventory carried over a year from now than experts predicted just two weeks ago.

Officials said Tuesday that the corn supply next Oct. 1 may be about 1.47 billion bushels, the most since the carryover was 1.54 billion on that date in 1964.

But nearly one-third of the corn carried over next Oct. 1 is expected to be locked off the market under the government's three-year grain storage program, officials said.

A new "supply and demand" report for corn and wheat showed that the corn carryover for Oct. 1, 1979, is expected to be about 107 million bushels more than USDA projected on Oct. 12. The corn carried over this Oct. 1 was about 1.06 billion bushels, up from 884 million bushels a year ago.

The revision followed a quarterly grain inventory report that showed there was more old-crop corn in the country than USDA had been estimating. Also, the supply and-demand analysis showed there will be slightly less corn used domestically in 1978-79 than had been perceived earlier.

Thus, the amount of corn left over when the 1979 harvest will be ready a year from now will be larger than had been indicated.

Administration officials are expected to announce soon an acreage set-aside program aimed at curbing corn and other feed grain production in 1979.

Although the corn carryover next year will be up from what USDA had forecast earlier, there will be slightly less wheat when the new marketing year begins next June 1, the new report showed.

By then, it said, the wheat inventory will be less than 1.04 billion bushels, down from almost 1.06 billion bushels projected earlier this month. The wheat carryover last June 1 was almost 1.18 billion bushels.

Brisk exports and somewhat larger domestic use than had been expected accounted for the projected decline in wheat stocks by next spring from what had been thought two weeks ago.

Vatican policy-makers worry about Pope's visit to Egypt

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Vatican policy-makers may be considering whether a trip to Egypt by Pope John Paul II would antagonize Syria, Iraq, Libya and other Arab states opposed to President Anwar Sadat's peace drive and hurt Christian communities there, observers say.

They said a trip by the pope to Mount Sinai on the desert peninsula has been returned by Israel to Egypt might be resented by the hard-liners as a Vatican stamp of approval on the Camp David accords.

Egyptian officials said Tuesday that Sadat has invited the pope to visit Egypt and pray on Mount Sinai after an Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty is signed. Deputy Prime Minister Fikry Makram Ebeid, who relayed Sadat's invitation during an audience with the pope at the Vatican Monday, said John Paul II has accepted it.

But Vatican spokesmen insisted they "had no information" on the subject, a reply which in Vatican style might mean it was too early for the pope to make any decision.

Meanwhile, John Paul faced another busy day today, keeping up the brisk pace that the youngest pontiff of the century has set for himself and the Vatican.

In the morning the 58-year-old pope holds his first public audience, and the Vatican said the number of pilgrims was so large the pontiff decided to hold two sessions.

One will be in St. Peter's Basilica for several thousand German-speaking people and other non-Italian groups and a second one later for Italians and others in the modernistic Hall of Audiences.

In the afternoon, the pope drives to Castel

Gandolfo, the papal summer palace south of Rome, to pray in the bedroom where Paul VI died Aug. 6. He will also meet local residents.

It will be the first of what might be a long list of trips outside Rome by the Polish pope who liked to travel far and often before his election Oct. 16 following the death of John Paul I.

He hopes to visit Poland next year.

The pope has met several heads of states in the past few days, including King Juan Carlos of Spain and Poland's President Henryk Jablonski, who came here for the papal inauguration, and Italy's President Sandro Pertini, who made a courtesy visit Tuesday.

John Paul also has met individually with cardinals and bishops from countries troubled by human rights problems, another sign of the priority he gives to religious freedom and other human rights.

LIFESAVING STREET — Homes stand untouched on the far side of the street as at least four homes are shown totally destroyed by fire on the near side of the street in the Malibu section of Los Angeles Tuesday. Officials now say that arson caused the most devastating of the blazes that ravaged 40,000 acres and destroyed 140 homes.

Arsonist starts worst of California's fires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An arsonist — using a paper matchbook and a burning cigarette — deliberately started the worst of 11 brush fires that burned 38,000 acres and swallowed up 186 homes in hills and canyons surrounding Los Angeles, authorities say.

"The evidence indicates the fire was intentionally set," said Los Angeles County sheriff's Deputy Wylie Burrow. "The investigation is continuing. It was definitely arson."

The arson blaze, which began in the rustic western suburb of Agoura, ravaged 161 expensive homes and 25,000 acres on its 10-mile trek across the Santa Monica Mountains to the sea at Malibu.

The fire damaged or destroyed houses belonging to actors Jack Lemmon, Nick Nolte and Clint Walker, actresses Ali MacGraw and Katharine Ross, singer Neil Young and comedian Buddy Hackett.

Homes belonging to former Gov. Ronald Reagan, actors Steve McQueen and Peter Strauss, CBS sports commentator Jayne Kennedy and Los Angeles Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom barely escaped.

County Fire Department Inspector Bill Hughey said the fire was 80 percent contained early today.

Another county fire official indicated other fires that also sent hundreds fleeing from their homes might also have been arsons.

"These types of fires bring all sorts of kooks out of the woodwork," said the official, who declined to be quoted by name.

Investigators were looking into the cause of the Mandeville Canyon area blaze, the other major fire in the area, which consumed at least 25 homes and 6,000 acres of brush above West Los Angeles before it was brought under control Tuesday afternoon.

A third fire, still burning after blackening 1,400 acres above Sierra Madre in the San Gabriel Mountains about 20 miles northeast of downtown Los Angeles, also raised the possibility of arson.

Area of explosion like a battlefield

BROOKSIDE VILLAGE, Texas (AP) — The explosion of a natural gas pipeline into a giant blowtorch seared flesh, killed five persons and turned a trailer park into a battle scene — wrecked homes, blackened fields, and the weeping, screaming injured.

"When we got here it looked like something from a war," said Frank Noe, a volunteer firefighter. "We found the first body in the field and it was still burning. We put it out."

"I went through World War II, but I never saw anything like this."

The unexplained explosion of the 30-inch pipeline ripped through the mobile home park as its residents slept: at 3 a.m. Tuesday. At least 50 residents and rescue workers were injured, and one woman was still missing a day later. About half the 23 mobile homes at the Royal Mobile Home Park were destroyed.

At least one official feared the death toll would climb. "Some people may have been completely incinerated from the heat and we may not find them at all," said Fire Chief Bill Wilcox of nearby Friendswood.

Jule Bertothe, the first police officer to reach the scene, said he was met by the screams of panicked residents. "People rushed my car," the Pearland police officer said. "A lot of them were screaming, many were in shock."

The injured, he said, had "flesh dripping from their bodies like water."

All around, the rural mobile home park was a twisted mass of metal and charred ruins, steel frames and trailer home siding and burned-out cars, their paint boiled away by the furnace-like heat.

A 30-foot crater smoldered after the gas fire burned itself out some three hours after it began.

One resident described the blast. "I thought it was a tornado," said Kathie Mahaffey, who had been asleep in her trailer with her two infant daughters. "Everything started falling off the walls and I knew it was time to get out."

Others felt the same fear, but died. The five victims were found face down in an open field — apparently fleeing for their lives.

The Brazoria County sheriff's office identified the dead as Thelma Sue Hardcastle Jones, 39; Wilbur Hanegan, 61; Sandra Worthy, 28; Fred Worthy, 36; and Peggy Sue Worthy, 4.

A fourth member of the Worthy family, 14-year-old James, was hospitalized in serious condition at the Shriners Burns Institute in Galveston.

Officers identified the missing woman as Ivey Beasley, about 60. Police said her frame house, near the trailer park, was razed by the blast.

Brookside Village is on the southeast outskirts of Houston in an area covered by a patchwork of oil, gas and chemical pipelines that supply a 200-mile industrial area extending from Freeport to the south and to Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange on the east.

Dollar takes another drop

LONDON (AP) — The dollar took another drubbing on foreign currency exchanges today in an emphatic thumbs-down reaction to President Carter's latest anti-inflation package. But a Common Market official predicted the American economy would improve in the long run.

"All measures to stabilize the economy have a positive effect, and this program will have a mid-term and long-term internal benefit for the U.S. economy," said an economist at the Common Market's executive commission in Brussels, Belgium who asked not to be identified.

In Tokyo, the dollar plunged more than two yen to end the day at a postwar record low of 180.20 yen. Gold rose in sympathy with the new weakness in the dollar, trading over $230 an ounce in Europe.

The pound jumped to $2.0246 in early trading in London.

"The feeling is that while President Carter said a lot, what he said did not mean very much," one London dealer said.

Sterling is now trading at its highest levels against the dollar since March 1976, although it is not faring as well against the stronger European currencies such as the German mark, Swiss franc and Dutch guilder.

Aggie boss Bellard resigns

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas A&M Coach Emory Bellard, stung by two straight losses and campus signs proclaiming "Make Emory A Memory" has resigned despite a seven-year record as the winningest football coach in the Southwest Conference.

Tom Wilson, a master of the I-formation when he played in the same backfield with Donnie Anderson at Texas Tech in the mid-1960s, was named interim head coach. Assistant athletic director Marvin Tate assumed Bellard's athletic directorship, also on an interim basis.

Bellard, criticized by vocal Aggie fans for sticking with his wishbone formation despite the presence of fleet Curtis Dickey, handed his resignation to Tate, who read it to a shocked Aggie team prior to Tuesday's practice.

"I've certainly got some beliefs and I'll certainly express them," said Wilson, finalist last year for the head coaching job at Texas Tech before Rex Dockery got the job. "But we line up against Rice Saturday, and it's hard to change in three days."

Bellard, who posted a 44-27 record including losses the past two weeks to Houston and Baylor, declined to say why he resigned, but indicated he may get out of the coaching profession.

TEXAS A&M COACH RESIGNS — Emory Bellard, former Texas Aggie's head football coach, resigned Tuesday. His team has lost their last two Southwest Conference games and failed to score a touchdown in either.

"I have no plans at the present," Bellard said. "And I have no plans to remain in athletics, but I've always been able to earn a living."

Starting safety Carl Grulich said, "I'm as shocked as the rest of the players. It's difficult at this time to understand if he quit on his own or if it was because of the pressure."

Tight end Russell Mikeska said Bellard's action really surprised him because the happiest he'd seen Bellard recently was at Monday's workout.

"We kind of came together on the field and were hollering and jumping around and he looked almost jubilant as he said, 'Damn. I love that spirit.'"

"The thing that hurt me so bad was I've been with Coach Bellard five years and he's been so good to me. When they told us, I felt like all of a sudden part of my life had been torn away."

Mikeska said he was so angered by signs on campus criticizing Bellard that he and a teammate went out looking for the signs to tear them down. Mikeska said the signs were gone, however.

Bellard, who fathered the wishbone formation as an assistant coach to Darrell Royal at the University of Texas, posted a 3-8 record in 1972, his first season at A&M. The Aggies were 5-6 the next year before reeling off consecutive winning seasons of 8-3, 10-2, 10-2 and 8-4.

A&M started this season with a 4-0 record and ranked sixth in the nation until two weeks ago when the Aggies were shut out by Houston, 33-0.

Last week then-winless Baylor scored a 24-6 upset over the Aggies as the A&M offense, ranked third nationally in total offense prior to the Houston game, failed for the second week to score a touchdown.

Aggie starting quarterback Mike Mosley said he would remain at A&M.

"I love Coach Wilson," Mosley said. "If they had considered anyone else, I would have had second thoughts."

Landry preaches teamwork

DALLAS (AP)—Before he announced Tony Dorsett was back in his good graces, Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry delivered a brief sermon Tuesday. The topic of the lecture: Professional football, the TEAM sport.

"If you have competed in football at all you know it is a unique sport," said Landry. "It is a great TEAM game. In fact, it may be the only TEAM game. You win because you work together as a TEAM. And that's the reason for my actions last Sunday. You have to do what is best for the TEAM as a whole."

The message was loud and clear for members of the defending World Champion team: Not even million dollar running backs with 1,000-yard credentials are immune from the same discipline the rest of the team must live by.

Landry then said Dorsett would be elevated from his second-string status and start Thursday night in a nationally televised National Football League game against the Minnesota Vikings.

Landry said "the matter is resolved. Based on the result of talks I had with him this morning I believe strongly he had no intention of hurting the team."

Dorsett missed a brief practice Saturday when his alarm clock failed. Then the sophomore star from Pittsburgh compounded the problem by failing to call the team.

Landry put the 1977 NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year on the bench and started veteran Preston Pearson at halfback. Dorsett played only in a spot role.

"Maybe it was my fault for not spelling out to our younger players the importance of this type of action (calling in if you miss a meeting)," said Landry. "This closes the matter."

Landry said he disciplined Dorsett "not because he missed a workout. We do have to happen to players from time to time. The important thing is that he did not call in and relieve the minds of the team...he didn't reach us...that was the reason he lost his starting opportunity."

Asked if Dorsett apologized, Landry said "I won't talk about that. I'm satisfied."

Pate, Bean head Pensacola Open

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Only four of the top 10 money winners on the pro golf tour are entered in the $125,000 Pensacola Open that winds up the PGA season this year, but two of them are Floridians Jerry Pate and Andy Bean.

That combination may be enough to keep the galleries from focusing more than one eye on the college and pro football scene — even with the Florida Gators at Georgia Tech on regional television Saturday.

Bean, third leading money winner of the year with $264,090, could bounce up to second if he finishes high here.

passing up this tournament, has won $267,459. Tom Watson's leading $362,429 is out of Bean's reach with the winner here getting $25,000.

Along with Bean, fifth-place money winner Hubert Green, No. 8 Bill Kratzert and 10thplace Pate are in the field.

A three-time winner this year, Bean has the kind of game to handle the 7,133-yard, par-72 Perdido Bay Country Club course. If he's not the longest hitter on the tour, he's the longest accurate hitter. And he's familiar with the flat Florida terrain from experience around his hometown of Lakeland and his college days at the University of Florida.

WOW — Cheesy Herald photographer Danny Valdes superimposed two negatives that were taken during the Dallas-Philadelphia game Sunday to come up with a very unique picture.

Despite a meager record of 2-4-1, area teams had many performances that were "Above the Call."

The Coahoma Bulldogs ran wild in their 44-0 romp over the Winters Blizzards, and there was one person that came off the bench and gave the Big Red Machine that extra inspiration. Bulldog left halfback Fermin Gonzales came off the bench early in the game, and according to Coahoma coach Roy Winters, "really seemed to get everyone fired up." Fermin, a 125-pound senior, was the Bulldogs second leading around gainer in the contest.

The Big Spring Steers suffered a very embarrassing defeat at the hands of the Permian Panthers, but one performer that plays winning football no matter what the circumstances is Mike Evans. Mike plays both wingback and free safety for the Steers, and showed even more versatility when he moved to cornerback to help try and stop the Panther attack. Mike is not big and fast, but is a very smart and aware player.

The Grady Wildcats won their fifth game in six tries against Three Way, and one of the main reasons for their 34-7 win was the play of defensive end Alfonso Cortez. Alfonso also plays on all the specialty teams for coach Richard Gibson. In the Three Way game, he had 14 unassisted tackles, three quarterback sacks, and also recovered one fumble.

Garden City coach Jesse Smelley has had a problem with the consistency of his Bearkats play, but one player that was outstanding throughout the loss to Sterling City was fullback Brad Caverly. The 160-pound senior carried the ball 15 times for 50 yards, with many of these yards being on some tough second effort.

The Sands Mustangs

played good football for one half, but injuries and lack of depth finally spelled defeat for coach Dickie Lepard's crew. Two players that played good games both ways in entirety were Van Gaskins and Jesse Ybarra. Gaskins is a 155-pound senior, and Ybarra is a 125-pound junior.

Quarterback Tommy Morrow gets the award for Stanton for the first time this year. The senior's leadership was instrumental in the Buffalo nearly pulling past Plains in a 10-10 tie. He completed six of fifteen passes for 98 yards, and also added 37 yards rushing.

Government withholds funds

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — The federal government is withholding payment of $400,000 on an insurance contract for construction for the 1980 Winter Olympics because of a possible conflict of interest by the insurance salesmen, it was reported today.

Ottawa News Service reported that Olympic organizers awarded a $800,000 no-bid contract to a hastily formed insurance company, whose two principals are employees of a company owned by their uncle, Jack Wilkins, a powerful member of the Olympic Organizing Committee.

Half of the contract has been paid off, but the other $400,000 is being withheld by the Economic Development Administration pending the outcome of an investigation into alleged spending practices of the organizing committee.

Fans cheer Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips says Oilers fans appreciate good football and he does too.

"But I don't know if I'd go out to the airport at 4 a.m. to show it," Phillips said, reshaping the Oilers' 24-17 victory over Pittsburgh.

Phillips referred to a chanting throng of about 400 fans who met the Oiler plane early Tuesday at Houston Intercontinental Airport following their nationally televised performance against the previously unbeaten Steelers.

Monday night football fans also apparently appreciated the Oilers performance. It was Houston's first victory in four appearances in the Monday night game and marked Pittsburgh's first loss in five appearances.

The game also was important to the Oilers from a building standpoint.

Lemon named Manager of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Lemon, who turned the New York Yankees season from tragedy to triumph with a dramatic midcourse correction, is The Associated Press' American League Manager of the Year for 1978.

Lemon, who joined the floundering Yankees in midseason and led them to a World Series victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, edged Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger 149 to 142 in balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

No other manager was close in the race. Whitey Herzog of the Western champion Kansas City Royals finished a distant third with 24 points. Don Zimmer of the Boston Red Sox was fourth with 18, followed by Baltimore's Earl Weaver (7), Jim Fregosi of the California Angels (6), Ralph Houk of the Detroit Tigers (4) and Gene Mauch of the Minnesota Twins (1).

The 57-year-old Lemon started the year with the Chicago White Sox but was fired just in time to be available for the strife-

WINNING MANAGER — Bob Lemon, manager of the New York Yankees, who brought his team to a World Championship this year, has been named Associated Press American League Manager of the Year.

Spurs crunch Celtics

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — The Boston Celtics' noble experiment was a mere fire into his sagging failure — at least the first time.

forward Tuesday night against San Antonio. The switch did not have the desired effect, as the Spurs crushed the Celtics 132-109.

"We're not getting the defense we needed up front," said Sanders, who saw his team's record fall to 1-5 and last place in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division. "I thought by moving Dave to forward and putting Dennis Awtry at center, we could provide some more muscle up front, but it didn't work."

The Spurs threw no new wrinkles into their game plan. They did what has been their trademark since entering the NBA — run and shoot.

NBA Roundup

Chicago Bulls Coach Larry Costello shook some people up when he placed veteran guard Norm Van Lier on waivers just before the start of the season.

"Well, you ain't seen nothing yet."

"I am really beside myself," Costello said after watching his team bow to the Kansas City Kings 123-117 Tuesday night to drop to 1-5 this National Basketball Association season. "The minute they started applying pressure, these guys decided they might as well go home and it was all over."

Costello praised the play of Mark Landsberger, Wilbur Holland and John Mengelt. And center Artis Gilmore led the Bulls with 30 points and played another solid game.

"But I've made up my mind there are going to be some changes and lots of them, and there may be some surprised people," said Costello.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the San Diego Clippers edged the Los Angeles Lakers 124-123, the Portland Trail Blazers trimmed the Washington Bullets 104-102, the San Antonio Spurs clobbered the Boston Celtics 132-109, the New York Knicks beat the Atlanta Hawks 113-109, the Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the New Orleans Jazz 123-104, the New Jersey Nets slipped past the Indiana Pacers 97-95 and the Phoenix Suns beat the Milwaukee Bucks 124-116.

Clippers 124, Lakers 123

"This is a good way to start off a rivalry," said Clippers owner Irv Levin, whose club went ahead on Randy Smith's 20-foot jumper with 47 seconds to play and got what proved to be the winning point on Kevin Kunnert's free throw 13 seconds later.

The Lakers had a chance to tie the game, but Kareem Abdul-Jabbar could make only one of three foul shots with 22 seconds to play.

Blazers 104, Bullets 102

Portland handed Washington its first loss of the young season. Rookie Mychal Thompson scored 29 points and Tom Owens added 24. But it was Bob Gross, playing his first game since suffering a broken ankle last March, who made a crucial steal to set up Lionel Hollins' two free throws with 10 seconds to play that clinched the victory.

Knicks 113, Hawks 109

New York put on two 10-0 bursts in the second half to beat Atlanta behind 23 points by Ray Williams and 20 points, 10 rebounds and six blocked shots by Marvin Webster. The Knicks almost blew it at the end as Atlanta twice closed within two, but each time Williams responded by sinking a pair of free throws for New York.

Cavaliers 122, Jazz 104

Campy Russell scored 28 points, including two baskets at the start of the third quarter that ignited an 11-point spurt, as Cleveland raised its record to 4-0. It was the Cavs' 10th consecutive regular-season victory over two seasons, extending their club record.

Nets 97, Pacers 95

John Williamson, who spent the first half of last season with Indiana, scored 27 points as the Nets snapped a four-game losing streak. The Pacers' Ricky Sobers stole an inbound pass in the closing seconds but was unable to get a shot off before time ran out.

Suns 124, Bucks 116

Paul Westphal scored five of his 25 points in the final 46 seconds as Phoenix beat Milwaukee. In the battle of second-year forwards, Phoenix's Walter Davis scored 38 points and Milwaukee's Marques Johnson had 37.

Dolphins capture Pee Wee title

The King is dead. Long live the King. And so it does following the last weekend of regular play in the Pee Wee football league.

The Optimist Club Dolphins, coached by Buster Gartman and Bob Smith, rolled over the Packers, 30-0, Saturday putting the finishing touches on a perfect 4-0 season. The Dolphins' splendid defense permitted only two touchdowns in going undefeated.

Once more the high powered Dolphin offense was lead by their all-star quarterback, Tommy Gartman, along with all-star running back Kyle Robbins. The Tomco Packers (2-2) wrap up the '78 campaign in their place behind the Cosden Cowboys (2-1-1). In last weekend's other finale the Elks Lodge Vikings salvaged their first victory in four outings by defeating the Bulldogs of Jerry Robinson, 16-6. A 50-yard punt return by Mark Walker coupled with a 15-yard pass interception returned for a touchdown by Kevin Watson spelled the difference.

Sims shares player of Week

BACKS OF THE WEEK — Billy Sims, halfback, Oklahoma, and Steve Dils, quarterback, Stanford. Sims carried 20 times for a career-high 231 yards, including a 20-yard scoring run, in Oklahoma's 34-6 victory over Iowa State. He broke away for runs of 64 and 52 yards to set up a pair of second-period field goals. Dils completed 32 of 51 passes without an interception for a Pacific-10 Conference record 430 yards and five touchdowns in Stanford's 43-27 triumph over Washington State. He also set a league mark with 438 yards in total offense.

LINEMAN OF THE WEEK — Ken Fantetti, linebacker, Wyoming, made 22 tackles in the Cowboys' 34-21 must-win victory over Utah that kept them alive in the Western Athletic Conference race. Two of the tackles were for losses and Fantetti also forced a fumble to stop a Utah drive and led a defense that held the WAC's top rushing team to 50 yards on the ground.

Smyer forfeits remaining games

SMYER — A rash of player injuries has forced Smyer to forfeit the remainder of its football games this season.

Smyer recently won its first game of the season by beating Whiteface, 34-0. It also scored its first touchdown of the season in that game.

Coach Johnny Tubb said the squad was down to 12 players when he decided to call it quits.

POPULARITY INCREASES — Texas safety Johnnie Johnson chats with Donna Sheffield, left of San Antonio and Hollie Denny, of Ottawa, Canada as he signs an autograph prior to a Longhorn practice session. Johnson has been named The Associated Press' Southwest Conference defensive player-of-the-week for the Arkansas game.

FIFTY YEARS AFTER their graduation from Big Spring High School, these five members of the class of 1928 reunited recently to plan a Golden Reunion for fellow classmates. The planning session was interrupted from time to time by rediscovered photographs and messages in school yearbooks that took them back to a time when the entire senior class consisted of only 45 students. Shown here, from left, are Eva Walker Nall, Reba Leach Rogan, Katharine Bettie Lamb, Lola Lawley Painter, Lucile True Boykie, and, seated on the floor, Kathryn Phillips Thomas. According to Mrs. Thomas, she hadn't seen two members of this group in the entire fifty years since graduating. She hopes to get reacquainted with even more old high school chums at the reunion on Saturday.

Class of 1928 will have first reunion Saturday

"It's funny how you can live in the same town for years with someone you graduated from high school with without ever running into them again," observed Mrs. Turret Thomas, formerly Kathryn Phillips of the Big Spring High School class of 1928, at a recent get-together with some of her old classmates.

The group did a little reminiscing and a lot of planning for their upcoming class reunion, the first in the fifty years since graduation day.

The scholars will reunite for a noon luncheon Oct. 28 at the Tumbleweed Room at Howard College. Master of Ceremonies will be Joe Pickle, a 1928 graduate who went on to become editor of the Big Spring Herald for nearly 40 years.

The luncheon will be preceded with the annual coffee for 1910-1929 classes at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Acuff, 706 Highland Dr., from 10 a.m. to noon.

Following the luncheon will be 2 p.m. ceremonies at the high school cafeteria inducting five retired Big Spring teachers into the Big Spring High School Hall of Fame. All five are graduates of the high school and include Agnes Currie, class of 1925; Glenn Guthrie, 1927; Lillian Shick Dawson, 1927; Reta Devenport Weeg, 1930; and Erma Wooten Steward, class of 1938 and once named "Outstanding Journalism Teacher in Texas."

According to Mrs. Thomas, there were 45 students in the class of 1928. She's hoping to see at least 25 of them at the Golden

'Right' Is Wrong

DEAR ABBY: Your advice that mothers should give their daughters sex education is ludicrous! If a daughter confides to her mother that she is shoplifting to support a drug habit, would you then advise the mother to instruct her daughter on how to shoplift without getting caught?

If not, may I say that sex without marriage is just as morally wrong as shoplifting and drug use.

"RIGHT AGAIN IN FLORIDA"

DEAR RIGHT: Wrong! The crime of shoplifting cannot be equated with the "crime" of premarital sex.

I hear from enough teenagers to know that once they have gone all the way with someone they think they love, they will continue to have sex every chance they get. (The sex drive is one of the most powerful of all natural urges. Second only to the need for food!)

It is the responsibility of every parent to teach their children ALL the facts in order to protect them from VD and accidental pregnancies.

Uninformed kids who are sexually active (and face it, millions are!) not only ruin their own lives, but they place a heavy burden financially and socially on society with problems of VD and unwanted children.

DEAR ABBY: I am 10 years old and want to become a famous actress. I think I would be very good at it because ever since I was a little girl I have been very good at "pretending" and that is what acting is, isn't it? Do I have to finish high school to be an actress?

FUTURE ACTRESS

DEAR ACTRESS: Finish high school. And college, too, if you can. Being good at "pretending" might help a lot because there may be times when you have to "pretend" that you are eating.

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote to say that several years ago she falsified her birth date on her driver's license because she didn't want her husband to know how old she was, and now that she's eligible for Social Security she's afraid to apply for fear they will revoke her driver's license, fine her, or put her in jail!

She asked what the penalty would be if she confessed, and you said all she had to do was send a copy of her birth certificate to the department of motor vehicles, and all would be forgiven and forgotten.

It's not quite that simple. In most states (and certainly in Missouri) it is a misdemeanor to falsify one's driver's license. Minors have been known to do this in order to pass for legal age to buy alcoholic beverages.

Perhaps the lady who falsified her driver's license by deducting a few years committed no serious offense, but minors who falsify their drivers' licenses should be made aware that this is a very serious offense which should not be taken lightly.

ST. LOUIS READER

DEAR READER: Thanks for making an important point which I overlooked.

Tween 12 and 20 — Should brother tell on sister?

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Kenny R. of Springfield, Ohio, has a family dilemma and Pete Rosen, 17, of Santa Rosa, California, and Erika Jay, 18, of Elyria, Ohio, will assist me in guiding Kenny in the right direction.

Doctor Wallace: My family owns a small grocery store and my older sister and I help out after school. She is a senior and I am a freshman. Last week I saw my sister making a sale but she did not ring it up in the cash register. Instead, after the customer left, she put the money in her purse.

I haven't said a word to anyone, but now it is starting to bother me. Should I tell my parents what happened? — Kenny, Springfield, Ohio

Kenny: No, don't say anything to your parents. Tell your sister what you observed, and encourage her to be honest and repay the money she stole. Then forget it.

But if you ever observe the same thing happening again, inform your parents immediately. — Dr. Wallace

Hi Kenny: I wouldn't say anything to your parents, but I would talk to your sister and inform her you saw her "lift" the money. And make her promise she will never do it again. If she should ever have the "itch" again, lower the boom on her by telling your parents. — Pete

Garage sale will aid family center

Regardless of financial status, the doors of the Howard County Family Service Center are open to all individuals and families who need help in handling the problems that often accompany day to day living.

In order to remain open, however, the center depends on contributions for a large portion of its funding. Some of the support this year will come from a giant garage sale being engineered by Friends of Howard County Family Service Center.

The Friends invite all residents of Howard County to be a friend for a day by donating unwanted household items to the sale. The event is totally non-profit. All proceeds will be given to the Family Service Center to help cover the cost of operations.

The sale will be held from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Nov. 4 at the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas, 400 Washington. Anyone wishing to donate garage sale items or baked goods, which will also be featured at the sale, may turn them in to Mrs. Thomas on the afternoon of Nov. 3. If you have large items, or appliances arrangements for turning them in early can be made by calling Mrs. Thomas, 267-6272.

The goal of the center, according to W.C. Earnst, director, "is to service the community, not to make money." In order to make help accessible to all members of the community, counseling services are rendered on a sliding fee scale, according to the financial ability of the individual or family.

The center provides both short-term and long-term counseling for any individual in the county who is dealing with a crisis or problem in any area of living. There are a number of ways that an individual in the community can help with the center. She or he can become a member of Friends who meet the third Thursday of each month at 9:30 a.m. at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center conference room, or be a friend by contributing to the upcoming fund-raising event.

Plans to host districts made

The World War I Barricks and Auxiliary No. 1474 met for a business meeting and luncheon at 10 a.m. Oct. 14 at the Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center.

Plans were furthered to host the West Texas Reunion of WWI veterans on Nov. 4. The reunion will consist of a dinner and routine business of the board members of District officers from Districts 13, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 21. About 150 guests are expected.

District officers of District 19 include Bernice Micallef, local president; Jennie Barber, District 19 president; C.D. Phillips, local commander; and Marion Irland, district commander.

The annual Nov. 11 Armistice Day observation will be at 2 p.m. at the entrance of the Veterans Administration Medical Center. The public is urged to attend the event which will feature a guest speaker as well as music by the Tom Castle Band.

The barracks and auxiliary voted to donate $50 to the bus fund of the Veterans Hospital to add to the convenience and pleasure of the patients.

The auxiliary is selling three-pound fruit cakes for $4.50 each to raise funds to benefit veterans. Members are also making lap pads, boot shoes and bibs for their workday project at the hospital.

Gladys Flynt was presented with a ruby-studded Eagle Pin from the national president of WWI for enrolling 15 daughters in the organization, the second highest enrollment achievement in the nation.

The refreshment Committee reported serving cake and coffee to about 80 patients at the Veterans Hospital.

Virginia Younger reported on her bus tour to the national convention of WWI in Cleveland. She presented slides of her trip depicting Niagara Falls and other points of interest.

Because of the Nov. 4 West Texas District Meeting, the regular meeting previously scheduled for Nov. 11 is cancelled.

The organization will have a Christmas dinner on Dec. 9 at noon. Celebrations will include a joint party for barracks and auxiliary members, an exchange of gifts, and a shower of items for the Veterans Hospital.

Americanism program given

The 1905 Hyperion Club met Oct. 19 at the home of Mrs. Rick Anderson. Co-hostess was Mrs. Jim Lewis.

Refreshments were served from a polished table featuring silver appointments. In keeping with the theme of the program, "Americanism," red and white carnations and American flags were centered on the table. Presiding at the short business meeting was Mrs. Chub McDonald. A report was given by Mrs. Hayes

Stripping on the Western District Board Meeting in Sanderson.

She announced that the 1905 Club's yearbook took second place in state competition.

The club voted to give a memorial gift to the public library.

Mrs. D.O. Gray introduced the program on "Americanism." Special music, "This Land Is Your Land," was presented by Pattie Parham and Margie Hill, accompanied by Charles Parham.

Mrs. W.T. Barber then entertained the group with a presentation based on research done by Dr. Myrtle Murdock, the wife of a U.S. Congressman. Mrs. Murdock's research was done to recognize an Italian refugee artist, Constantino Brumidi, the Michelangelo of the U.S. Capital.

Brumidi came to America in 1882 searching for freedom. Mrs. Barber said. He demonstrated his appreciation for his new country by painting extensively in the national capital.

The 15 historical frescoes in the eye of the dome were done by him at the age of 60.

In the presidents room, 20 portraits, also done by him, symbolize life, liberty and happiness.

Brumidi dedicated 25 years of his life to making the capital beautiful. Mrs. Barber stated. It was his way of thanking America for his liberty and freedom.

Attending the program and meeting were 21 members and two guests.

The next meeting will be "Federation Heritage Day" on Nov. 16 at the Big Spring Country Club. Bonnie Cearley, Western District President, will be the guest speaker.

Bulb planting topic at Garden Club

Mr. G's Garden Center was the Oct. 17 meeting place of the After Five Garden Club. Bill Crooker presented a program on bulbs.

The meeting was called to order by Vice President Fannie Clark. Yearbooks were distributed. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Shive who also reported that cookies were being donated to the Big Spring State Hospital.

In his program on "Bulbs in West Texas," Crooker suggested different depths to plant all sizes of bulbs. He said that a good rule of thumb is to plant them two to three times the depth of their height.

Crooker also gave some ideas on how to force bulbs for early flowering and color. He suggested that the bulbs be placed in a mixture of potting soil and sand, then placed in dark, cool spots for about six to ten weeks until the bulbs sprout one inch above the soil.

Deltas report on convention

The Texas Delta Delta Chapter of Phi Sigma Alpha met Oct. 29 at the home of Betty Warden, who served as hostess. Leona Ebersole, Marguerite Hyden and Lula Metcalf were guests.

Callie Jo Mason, president, called the meeting to order. A personal gift was collected by members which will be sent to Teresa Bauch, a former member, who is ill. She resides in San Antonio.

A combined report was given by Ms. Mason and Johnnie Winham on the Texas State Convention which was held in Ft. Worth Oct. 13-15.

William Ross, who is related to the original founder of Phi Sigma Alpha, the late Mr. Walter Ross, was present at the convention and was one of the guest speakers. Included in his speech was the statement "True friends are those who know all about us and still love us."

The next meeting will be Nov. 14 at the home of Laura Duke.

Clubs will tour plant

The Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club met at 7 p.m. Oct. 16 in the lobby of the Petroleum Building, 2nd and Scurry, with Mrs. Paul Sheedy, president, presiding.

Granville Hahn, Special Administrative Assistant for Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, was the speaker for the evening. In his topic of "Expandable Polystyrene and its Applications," he discussed the various expandable polystyrene products already on the market and elaborated on future items, some still in the planning stage while others are ready for the assembly line.

In order to further utilize the polystyrene plant at Big Spring, Cosden started manufacturing expandable polystyrene in December. Some of the end products from expandable polystyrene include cups, ice chests, custom molded and decorative home items and insulation.

The new Poly-X plant, located at the old Howard County Airport, is now manufacturing several types of insulation boards. The insulation boards for residential and commercial buildings can be used for both interior and exterior applications.

Insulation made from expanded polystyrene is not affected by water, ice, bacteria, odors, rot or mildew. In the experimental stage to establish energy savings, the insulation boards have been used in recently constructed homes in the Big Spring area and have already achieved 50 per cent savings in utility costs compared to comparable size homes.

Three types of foam boards have been designed for insulating walls with varying thicknesses used between the studs, on inside walls and exterior walls. Roofs were covered with plywood and foam insulation boards, then felt, finishing with either shake or com-

Tender, loving care

JEWEL HYER AT THE RIGHT receives certificate from Lettie Lee

Jewel Hyer exemplifies 50 years of Tender, Loving Care.
She was honored by her fellow nurses last Thursday night for 50 years as a Registered Nurse and presented a special certificate from the state nursing association.
The occasion was a dinner at La Posada. When commenting on the old days, she recalled one of the first times that she was serving as a surgical nurse.
She said they were taking a very frightened young man into serious surgery. When he got out of surgery, he later told her, "I kept remembering your face. You were the only one that smiled. Everybody looked so somber."
Jewel, whose husband Fred Hyer, brought in the first oilwell in Howard County, has also been an important person in Big Spring history.
She has served her fellow man well and she told the nurses last week that she was glad to find that nursing may yet return to tender, loving care.
"It seems that computerized nursing isn't working out as well as some thought and it may yet get back to the care of the individual bedside nurse," she stated.
During the dinner, a job description of bedside nursing in 1887 was distributed to the group. Esther Trantham and Fannie Clark may have passed them out. They were dinner chairmen.

But anyway, the job description said, "In addition to caring for your 50 patients, each bedside nurse will follow these regulations."
"1. Daily sweep floors of your ward. Dust the patient's furniture and window sills.
2. Maintain an even temperature in your ward by bringing in a scuttle of coal for the day's business.
3. Light is important to observe the patient's condition. Therefore, each day fill kerosene lamps, clean chimneys and trim wicks. Wash windows once a week.
4. The nurse's notes are important in aiding the physicians work. You may whittle nibs to your individual taste. Keep a pencil handy.
5. Each nurse on duty will report every day at 7 a.m. and leave at 8 p.m. except on the Sabbath on which day you will be off from 12 noon to 2 p.m.
6. Graduated nurses in good standing with the director of nurses will be given an evening off each week for courting purposes - two evenings a week if you go to church regularly.
7. Each nurse who smokes, uses liquors in any form, gets her hair done at a beauty shop, or frequents dance halls, will give the director good reason to suspect her worth, intentions and integrity.
8. Each nurse should lay aside from each day a goodly sum of her earnings from her benefits during her declining years, so she will not become a burden. For example, if you earn $30 a month, you should set aside $15.

9. The nurse who performs her labors, serves her patients and doctors faithfully and without fault for a period of five years, will be given an increase by the hospital and administrator of five cents a day, providing there are no hospital debts that are outstanding."
All I can say is - "Whew." And hail to thee early nurses. And thanks to you, Jewel Hyer for nursing so many folks around here back to health - out where I ride fence.

Irving police probe deaths of two men

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Police today investigated the shooting deaths of two young men whose bodies were found in a shopping center parking lot. Each victim had been shot in the head.
Officers would not identify the men, but a spokesman for the Irving Police Department said both were both foreigners who appeared to be in their early 20s. He would not release their names or say what country they were from, pending notification of their relatives.
The bodies were found Tuesday about 8 p.m. in the Irving Mall parking lot. One was in the front seat of a late model car, and the other body was in a sitting position just outside the car on the driver's side. Detectives said it appeared a small caliber weapon had been used to shoot the men as they sat in the car.
Police were summoned to the scene by a passerby who had spotted blood and notified authorities via CB radio.
The bodies were taken to the Dallas County medical examiners office.

Committee for senior citizens says Passage of amendment needed by the elderly

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Elderly Texans need passage of the "Tax Relief Amendment" Nov. 7 as protection against inflated home values and taxes, committee of senior citizens organizations said Tuesday.
"This will benefit people who are on such very limited incomes and who are not profiting one bit by inflation in the price of homes," said Ernest Cabe, retired Austin school administrator.
Cabe and other representatives of the ad hoc Steering Committee of Texas Retired Citizens Organizations announced support of the amendment at a capital news conference.
"We want it clearly understood that, even though we have an obvious interest in the benefits accruing to older citizens, we are convinced the Tax Relief Amendment is of benefit to all citizens in a fiscally responsible manner," he said.
The amendment would give homeowners a $5,000 exemption from school taxes and would authorize the Legislature to give the elderly and disabled up to an additional $10,000 exemption.
Cabe said the steering committee's member organizations represent between 600,000 and a million Texans, including members of the Texas Farm Bureau. The committee was formed after the Texas Legislature approved the amendment in special session this summer.
"We're without financial resources," Cabe said. "Our work is through organizations, by talking with groups, people, the telephone and talking to neighbors."

The Texas Senior Citizens Association board voted against the amendment Oct. 18, but their former lobbyist said the board vote was controlled by organized labor.
Lyle Hammer, 71, resigned from the association after the vote and said Tuesday the group's membership would have voted for the amendment.
Cabe said younger persons would benefit from the $5,000 exemption.
"They probably have parents and grandparents who have homesteads," he said. "There's the question of dependency, if humanitarian or paternal feelings aren't involved."
Senior citizens always have a good turnout on election day, said Cabe, who predicted a similar showing Nov. 7.
"We feel a high percentage of the vote will come from senior citizens," he said. "They're 13 to 14 percent of
