Mideast peace talks shaken by Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Israel-Egyptian peace drive was shaken today when Israel announced it is strengthening existing Jewish settlements in the West Bank in apparent pique at the United States, and Egypt said it may recall its Washington peace negotiators for consultations.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance issued a statement in Washington saying the Carter administration was "deeply disturbed" by the Israeli move, which he called a "very serious" matter.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan acknowledged that the settlements decision may "make it more difficult" to reach final agreement with Egypt on a peace treaty.

Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil told reporters in Cairo a recall of the Egyptian negotiators would be "purely routine." But it would rule out the scheduled resumption of the peace talks Friday in Washington.

In another development today, Syria and Iraq signed a "charter for joint national action" to oppose the Camp David peace framework agreed to by Egypt and Israel. The alliance is particularly significant because it ends a long bitter feud between the rival factions of the Baath Socialist Party that rule the two Arab neighbors.

Israeli government officials said the decision to expand Jewish settlements in the West Bank of the Jordan River was made in angry reaction to statements made privately by Undersecretary of State Harold Saunders over the future of the Palestinian-populated zone.

In a closed meeting with West Bank Palestinian leaders last week, Saunders reportedly hinted that Israel might evacuate its West Bank enclaves at the end of the five-year transition period envisioned by the Camp David agreements. He also reportedly reaffirmed the U.S. position that Arab East Jerusalem, annexed by Israel after the 1967 war, is considered by Washington to be occupied territory.

"If you want to give the plan a name, you could call it the Saunders project," one Israeli official quipped about the settlements expansion.

The decision to build more apartments and send more Jewish families to settlements in the West Bank was made at a lengthy Israeli Cabinet meeting on the proposed treaty with Egypt but wasn't revealed until the end of late night political meetings.

What Minister Menachem Begin's Cabinet decided Wednesday to accept in principle the draft peace treaty but sent Dayan and Defense Minister Ezer Weizman back to Washington today with instructions to seek amendments in the text.

Khalil did not explain why the Egyptian team might be called home for further discussions, telling reporters simply, "I am in consultation with the president (Anwar Sadat) about the possibility of asking them to come to Cairo for consultations."

But he said the possible recall was "not in reaction" to Israel's West Bank decision.

Anti-inflation policy picking up support

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is picking up important support for his anti-inflation program from Federal Reserve Chairman G. William Miller and business and labor groups.

Miller, in a speech Wednesday night, called Carter's new program "a balanced, concerted and sustained program to fight inflation."

Miller's support was important to White House inflation fighters, who must avoid any collision course with the independent Federal Reserve's interest rate policies.

If labor and business will support Carter's program, Miller said, "it gives us running room to eradicate inflation."

Some business groups have pledged cooperation with the program, although many of them had opposed the idea of wage-price guidelines. Most of them like Carter's promises to cut government spending.

General Motors Corp. praised Carter for "his recognition that government must take the lead to slow inflation." It also applauded his rejection of mandatory wage-price controls.

And Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons said he would back the plan if "adjustments" were made in the wage standard and if the program helped moderate price rises.

"If this program establishes some credibility on the price side and adjustments are made on the wage standard, I am sure that the 2 million Teamster members and their families will do their share to assist in resolving this difficult problem," said Fitzsimmons.

He said the wage adjustments might involve health care, pensions and other fringe benefits.

Initial response to Carter's plan in world money markets was not good. The dollar fell to new lows in West Germany, The Netherlands, Austria, Belgium, Denmark and Norway and also was sharply down against the yen in Japan.

Announcing his plan Tuesday, Carter set guidelines limiting wage and benefit increases to 7 percent next year for all workers except those making less than $4 an hour. The plan aims at limiting price increases to 5 1/2 percent across the economy, excluding food.

The program is voluntary, but the government could withhold contracts or use other sanctions against companies that do not follow its terms.

Brief ceremonies climax hours of work

Big Spring gets Webb land

The ceremonies for transferring the Webb AFB property were brief, but they had taken months of preparation, endless telephone calls, numerous reports, and several trips to complete the details.

Ann Doughty, General Services Administration regional administrator in Fort Worth, officially signed the document turning the 2,011 acres of Webb AFB property over to the city of Big Spring.

Mayor Wade Choate, in turn, signed for the city. The transaction does not include the housing area.

Ms. Doughty said "This property will be used for an airport and its support."

The property was conveyed at the Dora Roberts Community Center just at the opening of a national conference of the Owners and Operators of Former Federal Installations. It was notarized by Tom Ferguson, city finance director and Jerry Spence, court reporter.

The support for the airport includes renting out the other facilities to help with cost and care of the entire industrial park.

The base already has rented out facilities to close to 40 companies and offices. They are in hopes of having a minimum security federal prison in the center of the base by July.

Gary Mote and Jim Webster from the Federal Bureau of Prisons are among the persons attending the conference here and indicated that the facility might be in Big Spring by early July.

The industrial and steering committees are also working toward other prospects. Some of the successes of the local group were envied by other communities with closed facilities.

More than one representative from other towns across the country admitted that the Big Spring group had moved quicker and more forcibly toward recovery than some areas.

The meeting continues this afternoon and includes a barbecue at the Gary Turner Ranch tonight.

On Friday morning, the delegates will be seeking a name for the organization which has now held three national conferences. They may also charter and elect officers and set a meeting site for next year.

'My opponent has slurred my wife and my daughters'

Tower discusses handshake incident

By MARJ CARPENTER

"I have been asked many times why I refused to shake hands with my opponent at the recent Houston Press Club affair," Sen. John Tower said here Wednesday on a campaign swing through Big Spring.

"People who have seen the pictures in papers, which did not also run an accompanying story reporting it, have been shocked," the senator continued.

He said, "I have been brought up in Texas, not back East somewhere, and to me, like my father and grandfather before me — a handshake is a symbol of friendship and respect.

I was not brought up to believe that a handshake is a meaningless and hypocritical act done for public display. There are those who treat it like that, but I am not one of them."

Tower then added strongly, "My opponent has slurred my wife and my daughters. He has masked himself in idealism, but behind that runs a campaign that is not inhibited by principle or truth. I think under the circumstances that I should not have dignified him by shaking his hand and I think anyone else would have done the same thing under the circumstances."

He also answered the statement made by his opponent as he campaigned through Big Spring on Monday. "I realize, more than Bob Krueger does, that Webb is closed. I fought this base closure hard, and those who fought with me, know it. I also have worked toward helping obtain funds for it since it has closed.

"This base and many others were victims of the ATC required drastically cut. I did the best I could. By the time it was closed, we had gotten into the present administration who was bent on cutting defense spending. Congress had been wanting to cut back defense spending even earlier and were certainly willing to go along. I do not always have the winning vote. I vote for a lot of things Texans believe in that do not win in Congress," the senator added.

He lashed out at his opponent for being in favor of a national health plan and said, "He is for closing rural and small town hospitals."

The senator came down angrily on a statement made by his opponent accusing Tower of voting for a 29 percent pay increase for himself. Sen.

TOWER HANDSHAKE — Sen. John Tower is shown shaking hands with Dr. P.W. Malone of Big Spring when he arrived at the local airport Wednesday. He said during a press conference that the reason he refused to shake hands with his opponent recently is that he considers a handshake a sign of friendship or respect.

Tower said, "I voted against this three separate times."

He again stressed, "And I'm usually there to vote — not off campaigning somewhere." He added, "The only year I missed many votes was the year I was traveling to Vietnam when on the Armed Services committee and that was an important duty."

Tower also hit hard at the big "Union vote" behind his opponent. "I have not said he is against the Right-to-Work Law. I have said that it will be difficult for him to be strongly against it while being backed by the unions. And he was for the Labor Reform Act," Tower added.

The senator was the second GOP candidate in two days to lash out at union backers. Mrs. Jim Baker also accused Mark White, Democratic attorney general candidate, of being union backed when she was here on Tuesday.

When asked what he thought about Gregory Peck being brought into the campaign, Tower smiled, "I think Gregory Peck is a great actor. I also think my opponent is a skilled actor, although not nearly as good as Gregory Peck."

Tower also said, "I certainly admit to one thing my opponent is saying. I did and would vote against two Senators to represent Washington, D.C. That's not a state. It has no industry except government. The bureaucracy has too much power now and does not need two Senators to cancel out the votes of two senators out here in the Southwest voting for such things as gas deregulation. If that is insensitive — as my opponent claims — then I am insensitive."

The Republican senator stopped here briefly after flying from San Antonio to Uvalde to Del Rio, to Big Spring and back to San Angelo.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Flip the switch

Q. I'm having some trouble with my car. The foot feed tends to hang on occasions. What should I do to counteract that?

A. You should get it to a garage. If it happens before you get it there, remember to turn off the ignition switch. Do not, however, remove the key from the ignition. Once you do that with many modern cars, the steering gear locks on you. Cars with power steering and power brakes will be more difficult to guide and stop with the engine off.

Aerialist escapes injury

BOSTON (AP) — A 16-year-old Colombian aerialist escaped serious injury when a circus worker managed to break his fall from a high wire 25 feet above the ground. A crowd of 8,600 people witnessed the accident.

Jan Poso, a member of the Carrillo Brothers high wire team, was reported in fair condition Wednesday night at Massachusetts General Hospital after he plunged to the floor of the Boston Garden during a performance of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

New symbol for Girl Scouts

DENVER (AP) — Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. has modernized its 64-year-old symbol by incorporating the outline of three young women's faces in the traditional emblem's background.

The new emblem keeps the Girl Scout trefoil — a three-leaf clover outline — but replaces its solid background with the faces.

Officials of the 2.5 million member organization said the emblem was adopted as part of a national campaign to acquaint the public with modern scouting. The organization concluded its 41st national convention in Denver on Wednesday.

Disease outbreak traced

ATLANTA (AP) — An outbreak of Legionnaires' disease here last July has been traced to an air conditioning unit at an Atlanta country club where eight golfers were stricken by the disease, health officials said.

All eight victims survived and there is no longer any danger of contamination, William Elsea, director of the Fulton County Health Department, said Wednesday. He declined to name the club because its members had not yet been notified.

Police beat No charge pressed

A local man is lucky that Earl Archer, 609 Highland, decided not to press theft charges against him, 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Archer's wallet, which contained $20 and several credit cards, was missing from his locker at the Big Spring YMCA where he had left it. He then talked to Mike McCracken, Y director, using a master key, and they opened the locker of a man they suspected of stealing the wallet.

Their suspicions were correct, and the wallet was recovered from the locker. According to police reports, the man admitted to stealing a Y employee's master key, and using it to open Archer's locker to get at the wallet.

No one, however, wanted to press charges, and the thief was free to go.

A man recognized and known to officials of the Bogart's Club, Big Spring Industrial Park, kicked out the club's front door, 1:40 a.m. today. The man reportedly kicked the plate glass door twice, causing $100 worth of damage, and then fled in a car.

Two tail light lenses were stolen from a 1977 Volkswagen belonging to Frank Broyhes, 2609 Wasson, sometime Tuesday night. Loss was estimated at $58.20.

Three mishaps were reported Wednesday.

Coahoma residents walk when butane truck flips

Several Coahoma residents "took it on themselves to walk to the end of the street" Wednesday as 1,400 gallons of liquid butane lay bottled in an overturned truck near the front of their houses.

Coahoma Police Chief Benny Fishback, along with Howard County deputies, and the Big Spring, Sand Springs, and Coahoma fire departments, were called to the scene four blocks east of First St. on Texas at 5 p.m.

The truck, which belonged to Reed Brothers, was righted by 6:50 p.m. with the help of two local wreckers.

Paul Martinez, who was being driven home by Herd when the accident occurred, was slightly injured as a battery thrown loose inside the cab grazed his head.

There was no damage to any property other than the truck.

Arthritis drive to be in November

Mrs. W.A. Riley has announced that the Big Spring Arthritis drive will take place November 14. Callers Edna Hopper and Ann Holcomb are already obtaining block walkers.

Bands play for Carter

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Dozens of high school bands lined the streets today as a huge crowd swelled by school children welcomed President Carter to campaign for Democrats, including Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker's election opponent.

Light rain dampened streets and sidewalks but not the enthusiasm of the crowd of tens of thousands, and the rain ceased just before the president began addressing a rally in the downtown Legislative Plaza.

'Room full of history' Five retired teachers honored at Homecoming

By MARJ CARPENTER

The room suddenly filled with Howard County history when the five honorees of this year's Big Spring High School Homecoming walked into the room.

There was Agnes Currie, who is from a pioneer family in this part of the state and who has lived her entire life in Howard County. Her father was a banker and rancher.

She graduated from the Class of 1925 when there were 32 seniors at Big Spring High. Amazingly, 11 of them still live here. Now we're talking about a class of 53 years ago — and that is amazing in itself — that 11 of them are still right here in town. Five of them all go to the same church at First Presbyterian. Those include Agnes Currie, Louise Horton, Pauline Sullivan, Grace Currie, and Mary Stipp.

In that class there were 30 girls and two boys.

One of the boys, Larson Lloyd, still lives here. The other, Monroe Johnson, has died, but his widow, Clara, still resides here.

Agnes, who taught sixth grade, eighth grade and ninth grade English from 1929 until she retired in 1972 is one of the best at keeping up with former pupils that anyone has ever seen.

She not only knows who her former pupils were and where they live, but she also keeps up with their children and grandchildren. And on many occasions, she taught their children.

"Here comes one of my pupils now," Agnes said of Erma Wooten Steward, who is also one of the retired teachers being honored at Homecoming. Erma is the youngest of the group, having graduated from high school here in 1938 when there were around 150 seniors.

She came to Big Spring when she was one year old, having been born in Clyde. She is the only one of the five honorees who was not born in Howard County.

But she can't ever remember living anywhere else. Her first teaching was out at the rural school of Richland where she taught the eighth and ninth grade and then was principal.

"The year I was principal, the school burned down, but I didn't burn it," she quipped. It was then she came to town and taught journalism at the high school until 1975 when she chose early retirement.

That year she was named by the outstanding high school journalism teacher in the state of Texas. Erma has also served, along with her husband Frenchie as state president for Texas Square Dancers.

Erma went to elementary school at Fairview and finished at Big Spring High. Her father was a farmer.

Lillian Shick Dawson finished school here in 1927. She was born in Big Spring where her father was postmaster. He also carved the interesting totem poles in the park and at the Heritage Museum. And their home is one of the ones included on the tourism placemats. Her mother is one of the earliest ex-students at Homecoming activities each year.

Mrs. Dawson said their graduating class had around 50. She taught sixth grade English here two years and then taught English in high school, taking early retirement in 1949.

During her teaching years, she sponsored the pep squad for three years as an extracurricular activity. That group has a reunion at each Homecoming and has remained close.

Mrs. Dawson says, "I can remember those pep squad trips and the trips to Carlsbad Caverns with the second year students in English and the many other things we used to do — over and above the call of teaching."

In those days, there were no extra bonuses for working with extra-curricular activities. All teachers were expected to do it.

Glenn Guthrie graduated the same year as Mrs. Dawson in the Class of 1927. He went to elementary school near Coahoma where the Guthrie family were pioneers. His father was a farmer.

He finished high school in Big Spring and later taught high school mathematics from 1949 to 1971.

He said that "running across former students and feeling as though I had a small part in their many successes, has been important to me."

Rita Debenport Weeg was the daughter of an attorney who at one time was a county judge. She, too, was born in Howard County.

She graduated from the class of 1939 and returned in 1934 to teach Latin at the high school, until she retired in 1975.

She was known as a particularly fine Latin teacher, one of the best in the state.

She, along with Agnes and Lillian, remember starting out in school at the Central Ward School which stood where the library now stands. They went to high school in the building that is now Ramey Junior High.

Mrs. Weeg said, "I am so proud of some of my former pupils. Some of them have gone into professions where Latin has become very important to them."

All five teachers share a pride in Big Spring, a firm conviction that Big Spring has good students and real concern for how their students turn out in life.

The decision by the exes to honor these former teachers as representative of the many fine teachers that have come to Big Spring and has been viewed by many former students as a particularly good decision.

Guinness Book of Records grows

LONDON (AP) — Crossing the Atlantic in a balloon, climbing the stairs of the Empire State Building, and blowing 270 smoke rings from one puff of a cigarette set new marks in the 1979 edition of the Guinness Book of Records, published in London today.

American balloonists Ben Abruzzo, Max Anderson and Larry Newman made the first successful crossing of the Atlantic in a balloon last August, leaving Presque Isle, Maine, and landing at Evreux, France, in 137 hours and 6 minutes.

Gary Muhroke of New York City was embarrassed by the record he set climbing the 1,575 stairs of the Empire State Building in 12 minutes, 32 seconds. At the time he was drawing a 12,000-dollar-a-year disability pension from the New York Fire Department, according to an entry in the new edition.

The highest recorded number of smoke rings blown from a single puff of a cigarette is now 270, accomplished by Jan Forman, of Copenhagen, Denmark, on June 6, 1978.

Other new records in the 25th annual edition of Guinness include:

—The world's tallest cactus, a 78-foot armless variety discovered at Cave Creek, Ariz., last April.

Fiddler to perform with Foster Brooks

Jana-Lou, a vivacious blonde with the winning combination of beauty, talent, musical variety and song, will be appearing with Foster Brooks and The New Christy Minstrels in the Gala Evening benefitting the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center on Friday, Nov. 3, at 7:00 p.m. in the new Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at Howard College.

A native Californian, Jana-Lou became interested in the violin while in the fourth grade. She played violin during her high school and college days, and later took up singing. For several years she appeared with her husband, Bill Chaudet, on television and at various night clubs, leading hotels and major fairs throughout the United States.

During their 1973 fair season, the country bug again bit Jana when she saw and met such stars as Mac Davis, Jody Miller and others who were appearing at the same fairs. When she saw Doug Kershaw and his fiddle, Jana's violin came back to life. Returning to California, she took fiddle lessons with Harold Hensley.

Shortly thereafter, Bill started developing an act for Jana and featured her fiddle in his act. Realizing her potential, Bill became her manager and together they developed the act and personality known as Jana-Lou. It wasn't long before she became a featured performer in Country Western Clubs and at Amusement Parks, State and County Fairs. In both 1975 and 1976, Jana was nominated "Best Fiddler of the Year" by the Academy of Country Music.

Because of her class and style, Jana has been accepted with elite and sophisticated audiences with her appearances at leading hotels and major convention centers throughout the nation. With the addition of popular and classic violin melodies in her country routine, Jana is "The One and Only" of her kind.

With her ever expanding talents, ability and constantly increasing audience appeal, Jana-Lou, ever more popular as an entertainer, is a much sought-after personality and featured attraction. With audiences shouting for "more" and standing ovations becoming almost certain with every performance, Jana's busy schedule is filled with return engagements.

The New Christy Minstrels, who deliver exciting performances with the basic belief that people appreciate good entertainment, will round out the evening heading Foster Brooks who portrays a slightly tipsy, ever so polite, sophisticated gentleman who tries not to show it. Background music will be provided by the Gary Lee Orchestra of Dallas.

Tickets for the gala, which are being sold at $10 a ticket, are available at The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Swartz, Blum's Jewelers, Citizens Federal Credit Union, the administration office at Howard College, Gray Jewelers, Newsom's Food Center, and the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. Tickets can also be obtained by calling 263-1062 or 267-9657.

All checks for the gala are tax deductible and should be made payable to: Endowment Fund, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Cowper Clinic and Hospital joins attack on rising health care costs

Cowper Clinic and Hospital of Big Spring has announced adoption of a resolution joining the state and national attack on rising health care costs.

Truett Thomas, administrator of Cowper Clinic and Hospital, in making the announcement said, "we have been working diligently for a long time to hold down the cost of hospital care. This resolution indicates our strong desire to reassess our current operating and capital budgets to determine which expenditures can be reduced without sacrificing the quality of care."

The hospital industry's program to control costs is known as the Texas Voluntary Effort. This is a part of a national effort which commits hospitals to reduce the national rate of cost increase by two per cent for two years.

Egypt must look to other revenue

When it was reopened several years ago, the Suez Canal was hailed as an economic boom for Egypt, a country that remains on the economic shorts in an Arabian alignment that has known little but good times in recent years.

Now comes word that the waterway has little chance of ever regaining its former significance.

They say that as an oil route to western Europe it will be unable to handle the projected 100,000-ton-plus tankers expected to go into service in the 1980s.

EVEN FOR smaller tankers, observers close to the scene say, it will be more economical to sail around the southern tip of Africa than use the canal.

For instance, a 60,000-ton tanker sailing from the Persian Gulf to Rotterdam through the Suez would incur almost double the expenses involved by taking the longer route.

A much coveted multi-million dollar contract to clear a dozen wrecks from the approaches to Port Said to the north and Suez in the south has been awarded to two Hamburg salvage firms.

The biggest wreck to be removed is a 25,000-ton oil tanker near the Suez oil terminal. A Japanese war ship sunk during World War I is also among the wrecks.

Egypt is spending billions on the reconstruction of the Suez Canal, all part of a master plan which visualizes ten million tons of general cargo passing through the canal by the year 2,000. That compares with the three million tons projected two years hence.

NOT EVEN the most optimistic of the Egyptians reason the income from the Suez Canal would bail out their country but the willingness of Anwar Sadat and his government to reopen the waterway helped the nation's image throughout the world.

If Egypt is to solve its financial woes, it must look to other methods to balance the budget.

For that reason, the peace pact with Israel is vitally important to Egypt, perhaps more so than to Israel and certainly more important than to any other Arab nation. Once peace is insured, Sadat and his fellow countrymen can get on to other things that concern the life blood and continued existence of one of the world's oldest and most respected nations.

Ominous thing

Around the rim

Bob Burton

I voted absentee the other day, but it really wasn't much of a choice. You ought to vote on election day, they teach us as children. That is the difference, the all-important difference between the political freedoms of America and the repression of, say, Communist countries.

I believe that. But I remember hearing that they held elections in communist-controlled countries, too. The only difference, I heard, was that there was only one candidate on the ballot. There really wasn't any choice. Here you could vote for the one man, or not vote at all.

IN 27 OF THE 36 races on the ballot you vote Nov. 7, there isn't any choice, either. The much-vaunted two-party system existed only as a token on my ballot. It won't exist as much more on yours.

Think about it. You're probably a Democrat. Your friends are, too. And you'd probably deny that the Democratic machine runs this country. You might even point to the primaries, saying they proved there was a choice.

Maybe you're a Republican. To be fair, I must admit I am (usually) classed that way. You might point out the fruitlessness of running against a Democrat. So few Republicans can successfully hold office in this county, you say. Besides, most Democrats here are more conservative than Republicans, so what's the difference?

The only point I'd like to make is: if the parties are all so similar, the candidates all identical, the issues trumped up or non-existent, then our political freedom is rather meaningless.

If, on the other hand, there is a real difference in different candidates, and if different platforms can change policies and budgets, then voting becomes rather important.

IN FACT, it becomes important enough that voting party lines under the guise of "party solidarity" amounts to firing a round into the Declaration of Independence. The party officials who urge down-the-line obedience much after the manner of football drill instructors are not really concerned with the ideals at the foundation of this country. They are concerned with power; with gaining and isolating it. Not really what I was taught in grade school.

I think that political parties are essential to our system of government. But I hope that the voters will understand the importance of being independent, and I hope they'll realize that the importance of the general election is beyond that of the primary. Their responsibility does not end in June.

In the end, it isn't the Republicans' fault that 27 Democrats are running unopposed — it's the Democrats' fault. They, understandably, don't think that's so bad. The Republicans think it's awful.

I think it's ominous.

Divided organization

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — It is sad to see a once-renowned organization falling apart at the seams. But that's what is happening to the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

When it was founded 36 years ago, CORE earned a reputation for high idealism and courageous if rambunctious leadership. It played a decisive role in the civil rights demonstrations which cracked the wall of segregation beyond repair. CORE's record was a proud one.

But now, the organization is being torn asunder by partisan bickering and charges of financial improprieties against a backdrop of violence.

AT THE CENTER of the controversy is Roy Innis, a Virgin Islands native who took over as head of CORE in 1968. He dedicated himself to improving the condition of black communities across the nation, and raised millions of dollars to further this worthy goal.

But present and former CORE staff members have told us that money and power — and perhaps a short-lived friendship with Ugandan President Idi Amin — have turned Innis into a despot who considers CORE his personal property. In an inept parody of Louis XIV's famous comment, "I am the state," Innis once blurted out at a staff meeting that he was the "King of France" and CORE was his kingdom.

Law enforcement authorities have now moved into the fray. The FBI and local police are looking into allegations that Innis ordered the shooting or beating of former colleagues who displeased him in one way or another. New York State authorities are also probing charges that Innis diverted CORE funds for his personal use.

In conversations with us, Innis vehemently denied all charges and heaped scorn on his accusers.

Meanwhile, we reported allegations that Innis ordered the execution of dissident CORE members, the non-fatal shooting of a former staff aide, and beatings of CORE members. In the context of a bitter feud between Innis, CORE founder James Farmer, and others in the organization, it is possible that some of these charges are either exaggerated or imaginary.

But we have obtained strong corroboration of the charge that Innis ordered the shooting of an x-CORE member in Washington, D.C., back in 1974. The evidence includes a signed confession by the man who claimed to have pulled the trigger and testimony by another man who claimed to have witnessed the shooting.

Similar corroboration was obtained by our associates Gary Cohn and Tony Capaccio of the charge that Innis personally ordered the beating of Ray Cunningham, a former CORE fundraiser, who was set upon by three CORE employees wielding rubber mallets in Los Angeles in November 1976. The three were convicted of the assault earlier this year; only one is appealing.

Cunningham's sin was to leave CORE to work for a rival fund-raising organization on the West Coast. CORE officials accused him of contacting his old CORE donors on behalf of his new employer.

ALTHOUGH HE denied ordering Cunningham beaten up, Innis confirmed part of the story. He admitted that he had met with Cunningham. "I told him that we didn't train him to go and work for a bandit," Innis told us. "We trained him to become a salesman so he could go on the outside and find a sensible job."

Marvin Peay, one of the three men convicted in the Cunningham beating, was Innis' personal bodyguard, security chief and special assistant for seven years. After his sentencing last summer, Peay told the Los Angeles County District Attorney that Innis had ordered the beating. He told the same story to the FBI's Washington field office, and later repeated it to our associate Gary Cohn.

Peay was described by James Farmer as a "completely reliable" witness. And evidence suppressed at the trial of Peay and the two other CORE members, Terry Shumake and William "Tank" Hill, adds circumstantial support to the contention that Innis ordered the beating.

Peay and Hill were picked up by sheriff's deputies outside Cunningham's apartment the night before the beating. The deputies found stocking masks and rubber mallets in their car, which police sources said was leased by CORE. And according to law enforcement sources, Peay and Hill told them they had come to town to "inflict a beating on a brother who screwed up."

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My brother and sister and I are all teenagers, and we all are Christians. However, our parents are not. They say we are going through a phase that will wear off eventually, they hope. What can we do to help them find Christ? — L.E.

DEAR L.E.: I suspect some parents are especially wary today because they have read about young people who have been trapped by fringe religious sects and have even renounced their family.

You must do everything you can to show them that your commitment to Jesus Christ is real, not just a phase. Rather than argue or debate the matter with them — which is always tempting — it is far better to live as consistent a Christian life as possible before them. They will only be turned off if they think you are acting as if you are superior to them. They also will be unimpressed if they see you talking a great deal about Christ, but fail to see you living for Him in the small details of your life. You may want to think about little things that have been a source of irritation between you and your parents. Then work on that. When they begin to see that Christ has made a difference to you, they will be more open to your verbal witness. Learn to express your thanks for them also.

God has used many young people to bring their parents to Christ. Don't be impatient, but on the other hand pray for them steadily. It may be that you know some adult friend of theirs who is a Christian, and you may feel free to share your concern with that person. Remember that God "is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Ephesians 3:20) — even changing the hearts of your parents.

Keeping the peace

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — My wife and I were watching the Evening News when Walter announced that President Carter had given the go-ahead to the Defense Department to start making the components for a neutron bomb. Walter said that while the components would be manufactured, they would not be assembled at the present time.

MY WIFE, whose only weakness is she doesn't keep up on sophisticated nuclear weaponry, turned to me and said:

"What's a neutron weapon?"

"It is designed to kill people without destroying property. We call it an enhanced radiation weapon," I told her.

"Who's we?"

"Those of us in the military-industrial complex."

"Are you in the military-industrial complex?" she wanted to know.

"No, but some of my best friends are. It's one helluva piece of hardware. With the right warhead you can zap a battalion of Soviet tanks 80 miles away," I said.

"Why do we need it?" she wanted to know.

"That's the most stupid question I ever heard. We need every type of nuclear weapon we can get. We've got hydrogen bombs and atomic warheads, and Nike and Polaris missiles. But they're too powerful to use in the field. The neutron weapon fills the gap and lowers the kill threshold to just the right level to fight a civilized war."

"Do the Russians have it?" she asked.

"THEY CERTAINLY do not. All they have is monster weapons that can destroy entire cities. They're in a lot of trouble."

"I guess I should know this," she said, "but if the Soviets don't have a neutron weapon and we do, how do we prevent them from using their monster weapons after we use our small ones on them?"

"Because if they use their monster ones they know we'll use ours, and then we'll destroy each other," I said patiently.

"But if we use the neutron weapon against their armies in the field, won't we be destroying them? They're certainly not going to stand by and see all their men and tanks destroyed without retaliating with everything they've got."

"I'm sorry but I'm not at liberty to answer that at this time," I replied.

"Can I ask you another question? If we have developed a smaller weapon that just kills people and doesn't destroy property, what is to prevent the Soviets from doing the same thing?"

"They don't have the know-how to make a neutron bomb or they would have before now."

"That's what you said about the atomic bomb after World War II."

"CAN YOU keep a secret?" I asked her.

"You know I can."

"Carter really doesn't care if we have a neutron bomb or not. But he wants a SALT treaty very badly. Even if the Soviets agree to one, he'll have a hard time getting the Senate to approve it. So by announcing he was going ahead with the neutron bomb, he'll win over the senators who are against SALT."

"Then," she said, "Carter's not going ahead with the neutron weapon to impress the Soviets, but to placate the U.S. Senate?"

"NOW YOU'RE catching on," I said.

"I think I'll watch The Gong Show."

"How can you watch The Gong Show at a time like this?" I asked.

"Because it makes a lot more sense than building a neutron bomb."

Difficult breathing can be cartilage problem

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What exactly is "costal chondritis"? I am a female, 23, and in general good health except for this condition, which was actually diagnosed. I have sharp chest pains. I have them with no warning. It prevents deep breathing and restricts activity. Why can't I get rid of this? I am told to use aspirin and rest. Is this common at my age? I want to understand the condition and what I can do. After five years of this I am becoming discouraged. — D.L.D.

We should define a couple of terms first. Chondritis is inflammation of any cartilage ("chondra" is the Greek term for cartilage). Costal refers to the ribs. Cartilage is a special fibrous tissue present about joints and bones. The closest you can get to feeling what cartilage is like is to pinch the tip of your ear.

The cartilage in the costal (rib) area has no blood supply and is nourished by the lymph system. This makes it prone to infection, especially from the staph or strep germ. It is not uncommon and can occur at any age. A chest injury or chest surgery may set the stage for costal chondritis. A condition called Tietze's syndrome can be mistaken for costal chondritis. Tietze's is a swelling of the rib cartilage from unknown cause. It can produce the painful symptoms you describe. Often a local injection of prednisone is necessary. That you had the pains for so long leads me to suspect the Tietze's syndrome. In any event, you need further chest studies to find out just what is going on. A bone specialist (orthopedist) would be the doctor to see.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My grandmother has advanced rheumatic arthritis. She is 63 and has nodules on her arms, from the wrists to the elbows. They are unsightly and painful. What causes the nodules? What can be done to prevent more from appearing? — L.L.

These are hallmarks of advanced rheumatoid arthritis, called "arthritic nodules" or "subcutaneous nodules." The tiny lumps and bumps under the skin are collections of so-called "collagen" material. This is a sort of glue that holds the body together. While collagen is found throughout the body, in arthritis the collagen nodules are usually located on the arms from the elbows down. We don't know why this happens. In most instances the lumps, which are gritty to the touch, are painless and represent more of a cosmetic problem than anything else. Pain occurs when the lumps are in positions of pressures (as at the elbow or wrists).

There is little, really, to be done about them recurring, but steroids, such as prednisone, can be tried. Your other questions about rheumatoid arthritis were answered in a recent column. To avoid repetition here, you may want to refer to my printed material on the general subject of arthritis. For a copy, send 50 cents to cover costs of printing and handling to me care of the Big Spring Herald. Please enclose a stamped-self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please tell me what causes a spastic colon. I have severe headaches and a pain in my stomach. I have had X-rays and upper and lower G.I. tests. Nothing shows up but spastic colon. Can you help me? — Mrs. F.P.

There may be things you can do to help yourself.

Spastic colon results from oversensitivity of the bowel muscles to some irritation, either emotional or allergic (as certain foods). Spasm can occur in any body muscles. Spasm of the colon is a common cause of lower abdominal pain, gas and bloating. It is most frequently found in tense people.

Tension headaches (as you report) often accompany it. Stool samples might show mucous content, an indication that the bowel is not doing its digestive work smoothly because of the spasms.

If food allergy is not involved (and that is always possible) about all one can do is alter his or her lifestyle to eliminate causes of emotional stress. A bland diet may help reduce the colon's work load. Sometimes sedatives are in order.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After a woman has had a C-section delivery, is it impossible to have a child by natural childbirth? — Mrs. W.C.

Not necessarily true. Depends on the reason for the initial cesarean.

For a better understanding of colitis and other intestinal ailments, their causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Please allow me this means of extending my appreciation to the teachers who will be inducted into the Big Spring High Hall of Fame during this year's homecoming. A 1958 graduate who received all of her education in the Big Spring schools, I would like to pay special tribute to the four inductees who were my teachers.

As a junior high English teacher, Agnes Currie possessed an uncommon interest in the dreams and aspirations of her students. It was she who insisted I could become anything I wanted to be and who, through the years, encouraged my progress with notes of love and praise.

Beginning Glenn Guthrie's high school algebra class was a frightening experience. Here was a man whose reputation as a strict taskmaster was in sharp contrast to a ready smile and wit. As his student, though, I learned a lesson never written in the text: No problem is correctly solved if only chance determines that the final answer is the correct combination of numbers and/or words. More important is the problem-solving process itself, an understanding of fundamentals which can be applied with logic to solve other problems as well.

Proud of my English skills, I looked forward to impressing Reta Weeg with my first written assignment. When it was graded and returned, her scarlet-pencilled comments almost obliterated my writing. The loss of pride was the first lesson she taught, and, by the end of my junior year, other lessons were indelibly imprinted on my mind: Doing a "good" job is not enough if within the individual there is the capacity to succeed with a "best" effort.

Erma Stewart, teacher and friend, grabbed me as a senior and encouraged me to develop my secret journalistic ambitions. In common with the other three, she instilled a pride in a job best done and eased with her encouragement the pain which came when an effort yielded results less than perfect. A decade later, as a working journalist, I often recalled her advice.

Although this year, more than any other, I would like to be present for homecoming to pay tribute to these dearest teachers, it is impossible. During the Saturday reception in their honor, I will be at the University of Texas at Arlington taking my final comprehensive exam toward completing requirements for my Ph.D. I hope they will accept these words of love and thankfulness from a former student who can never erase the imprint of their influence.

Dear Editor:

I think the reason the voters fail to vote is because the special interest groups and lobbyists control our government, from our local government to the top.

President Carter proved that when he went to them to get his energy bill passed and he did.

Until this is changed and our representatives do their job for the voters, we are wasting our time and effort by voting.

Farm

Acreage allotment not contrary

WASHINGTON (AP) — An acreage set-aside program to curb next year's output of corn and other feed grains is not at odds with President Carter's anti-inflation campaign, says Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

The set-aside plan has been in the works for weeks and was to have been announced by now. Bergland said in an interview Wednesday that it could come momentarily, as soon as the White House gives the go-ahead.

Bergland said the anti-inflation guidelines announced by Carter can benefit farmers by cooling field meetings to be held in six U.S. cities.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department advisory committee which is looking at procedures for reporting exports of farm commodities plans to hold field meetings this fall in six cities.

Officials said Wednesday the meetings will be held in: Chicago, Nov. 28; Kansas City, Nov. 29; Portland, Ore., Nov. 30; Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 5; Dallas, Dec. 6; and New York, Dec. 13.

The committee held its initial meeting here this week and plans to convene here again Nov. 8 to continue its review of the present export-reporting requirements and explore possible ways to improve the system.

After unexpected large grain sales to the Soviet Union in 1972, the reporting system developed to require private exporting companies to report to USDA any large sales of grain and other commodities so that officials could keep track of the overseas flow of U.S. farm products.

At present, sales of 100,000 metric tons or more of specified commodities, including wheat and corn, must be reported within 24 hours.

Some farm advocates in Congress want the program tightened to include reporting of purchases by overseas affiliates of U.S. companies and other measures to keep better and speedier account of exports.

off the expenses they have in producing the nation's food supply.

"Farmers buy more than any other business group in the United States, and the inflating farm costs are one of the most devastating problems they have to reckon with," he said.

Bergland said Carter has "recognized that crop yields are going to be influenced by good and bad weather, and that weather will bring about changes in value that the government can do nothing about."

At a briefing later Wednesday for farm groups and reporters, Dawson Ahalt, a department economist assigned to work on the anti-inflation program, said stepped-up monitoring will be the heart of the effort as it applies to food prices.

"The price standard will be applied to the margins," he said. "It will have no inflationary effect."

Bergland said studies have shown that until corn prices rise above $2.40 a bushel or so, "there is no significant impact" on the U.S. livestock industry. Corn prices are far below that level now.

Bergland said, "We're going to concentrate on things that we can do something about" in the agricultural sector as part of Carter's anti-inflation program.

For example, Bergland said, another close look will be taken at sodium nitrite — the meat preservative that has been linked with cancer and currently is under review by USDA and the Food and Drug Administration to see if it might need to be banned at some point in the future.

Nitrite is particularly a sensitive question in the pork industry since it is used extensively in the preparation of bacon and ham.

Football is infiltrated by 5 girls

It seems that at least four more little girls play in the Pee-Wee league football in Big Spring.

Kathryn Suzanne Burrow is right halfback for the Vikings, Lisa Salazar plays for the Bobcats; Vicky Dobbs plays defensive end for the Mustangs and Rita Fleckenstein is also reported to play on one of the teams.

There may be more, but the tackle featured in a column this week was the only little girl in sight when the Pee-Wee teams were announced at the Steer Football game.

But it seems the sport is being infiltrated by young females all over town.

Nursing home to sponsor carnival

A Harvest Carnival will be held in the Parkview Nursing Home Monday, Oct. 30 from 6 to 9 p.m. The town is urged to participate along with the senior citizens.

This event is an important one to the patients at the nursing home as the money raised will go for items for the patients through their service council.

There will be 39 prizes, three of which are money that will be awarded during the carnival. There will be booths and games.

Any clubs or individuals who would like to help with the event are urged to contact the nursing home or to come between 6 and 9 p.m. Monday.

Pope John Paul II, French president confer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II and President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing of France discussed a wide range of "burning world issues" today, including ways and means to bring about "peace in a unified Lebanon."

The French president, who was received for 45 minutes in the pontiff's first working audience for a chief of state, said he had discussed the wide range of subjects with the pontiff, including prospects for peace in war-torn Lebanon.

During a brief visit after the audience to the Basilica of St. John the Lateran, where French chiefs of state have been honorary canons since King Henry IV, Giscard d'Estaing said he agreed with the pope that "there is a great renewal of spirituality in the world at the moment.

"I was deeply moved by the beaming personality of John Paul II," Giscard d'Estaing added. "We also discussed and agreed on the universality of the faith and that each person is free to accede to the spirituality of his own faith."

The pontiff's predecessor — John Paul I — reportedly had planned to make a trip to Lebanon to underscore his personal commitment to the settlement of the internal strife.

The Sacred College of Cardinals, which ran the affairs of the church during the interregnum between John Paul I's death Sept. 28 and John Paul II's election Oct. 16, twice appealed for peace in Lebanon. The church recently received a plea from Lebanese Christians seeking the church's help in putting an end to the internal strife.

In his first papal speech on Oct. 17, John Paul II indicated that he would pay prompt attention to the Lebanese question. He spoke of the "grave" problem in "the beloved land of Lebanon and its people who earnestly desire peace and liberty."

Last year, Giscard d'Estaing proposed sending French troops to Lebanon to act as a peacekeeping force in much the same way U.S. Marines intervened in the Moslem-Christian fighting in the 1950s.

French officials said at that time that they were willing to accept this responsibility in view of the long-standing ties between France and Lebanon, which go back not only to French colonial rule but to the Crusades.

The plan was welcomed by Lebanese Christian leader Pierre Gemayel and others but was vehemently opposed by the Moslem community and died quietly.

Some 37,000 persons died in the 1975-76 Lebanese civil war between the Christians and an alliance of Moslems and Palestinians. The Syrians ended the fighting 23 months ago, saved the Christians from defeat and prevented establishment of a radical regime on Syria's doorstep.

But the Israeli-backed Christian militias refused Syrian orders to disarm in February because the Moslems and Palestinians weren't told to give up their guns, and the Syrians began cracking down on Christian enclaves.

Eight months of clashes followed, culminating in a furious, 10-day bout in Beirut that left some 1,300 dead. The Beirut fighting tapered off after a cease-fire Oct. 7, but sporadic gunfire and shelling continue on a daily basis.

Vietnam sending troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vietnam has sent 10,000 to 15,000 reinforcements to its army facing Cambodia amid expectations of intensified fighting within the next few weeks, U.S. intelligence sources say.

These sources, who declined to be named, estimated that Vietnam now has about 100,000 fighting men in position to push deeper into Cambodia if Hanoi decides on such a move. The reinforcements are said to have arrived in southern Vietnam from the north within the last month.

The Vietnamese are reportedly in effective control of an irregular strip of territory on the Cambodian side of the border. However, most of their units are deployed in five Vietnamese provinces within striking distance of Cambodia, the sources said.

Fighting between the two one-time Communist allies — it began after their Indochinese victories of 1975 — has slowed during the rainy season, but U.S. intelligence sources say the Vietnamese have been conducting battalion-sized sweeps while Cambodian troops have staged small hit-and-run attacks into Vietnam.

In one recent action, the Cambodians were reported to have made an unsuccessful effort to recapture the town of Snuol, which the Vietnamese captured earlier this year.

Indian Seminar Saturday

An Indian seminar, sponsored by the Lone Star chapter, Tatanka Lodge Order of the Arrow, of the Buffalo Trail Scout Council, will be held in Big Spring Saturday starting at 9 a.m.

The event is to be held in the classrooms at Howard College behind the administration building. There will be signs for out of town visitors that are expected from many West Texas towns.

The sessions will last until 5 p.m. and will include instruction on costuming, beadwork, dancing, drumming, singing, Indian crafts and culture.

A Pow Wow starts at 8 p.m. The registration fee is $1.50 and includes insurance and pot luck stew. The public is welcome to attend.

Pep rally kicks off activities

A downtown pep rally at 4:15 p.m. today kicks off the Homecoming activities for Big Spring High School.

The public is invited to meet the Steers at the courthouse eastside entrance.

The Homecoming parade will be at 4:30 p.m. Friday and the crowning of the queen is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the pre-game activities in Memorial Stadium.

Hall of Fame inductions will be at 2 p.m. Saturday along with a reception for all exes.

Other classes and groups are holding luncheons, coffees, dances and other activities.

Survey of working moms reveals most are happy

Most women feel guilty about working and hate their jobs, right? Nonsense! Or so say the findings of the first national attitude survey conducted exclusively among wage-earning mothers.

Results from this national survey, "The Wage-Earning Mother: a national profile," sponsored by Kentucky Fried Chicken in cooperation with Ladies' Home Journal, were announced recently at a briefing in New York City. How do women feel about working? Ninety-seven per cent of the respondents indicated they liked their job; 88 per cent were proud of being a working mother; and 84 per cent felt they were more stimulating people because they worked. Women interviewed comprised a sample representing 6,750,000 households nationally.

In a presentation of survey highlights, A.C. Nielsen Company representative John C. Stermer, who supervised the study, cited findings that disproved commonly-held beliefs that the "plight" of the wage-earning mother. One popular notion has it that working mothers feel guilty about their children. But 86 per cent of those queried indicated they felt working was good for their children, who frequently asked Mom about her job.

An unexpected benefit of working mentioned by 61 per cent of the women was the fact they were more tolerant of both husband and children. The entire family appears to be reaping benefits when Mom goes to work.

A majority of respondents (55 per cent) felt they did more things as a family since they began working, and 83 per cent mentioned that, if at all possible, they tried to eat dinner together. A significant 92 per cent of the wage-earning mothers participating in the survey said their husbands now shared in child-rearing responsibilities.

Most working mothers (84 per cent) said their husbands were interested in their work. This finding was most prevalent in households where the mother held a professional or sales-managerial position and viewed her employment as a career. Financial decisions also are made in tandem by husband and wife.

Although the husbands and children of respondents pitched in to help maintain the household, 85 per cent of the women still felt traditional chores, such as grocery shopping, cooking, cleaning, bill paying and chauffeuring the children, were primarily their responsibility. When the time crunch was on, women said they would let the housework slide and tend to their personal relationships and social activities first.

Why do women work? Forty per cent of the respondents indicated the primary reason for employment was the fact their family needed the money. Twenty per cent worked because their wages permitted them to purchase extra luxuries. But another group (19 per cent) cited personal fulfillment as the motivator, a significant reason which has surfaced only recently.

College-educated women with professional or sales-managerial occupations were most likely to pursue a career for personal fulfillment. They viewed employment as a career, not "just a job," and indicated the intent to work until retirement age.

Stermer noted in closing that "turn about has become fair play. It used to be the working mother who justified her position to family and friends. It appears that now, and in the future, it will be the non-working mother who feels compelled to do so."

Woman's Intuition Bears No Fruition

DEAR ABBY: I suspect that my husband has been cheating on me for a long time, but I haven't been able to pin anything on him. I even hired a private detective to follow him, but he couldn't come up with a thing. It's just a feeling I have. My husband goes out a lot and tells me he is going to such and such a place, but he's never where he says he'll be, and that makes me suspicious.

I finally went to a lawyer, and he told me to grow up—that every man cheats on his wife at some time in his life. Is this true? I always believed my father was a faithful husband to my mother, and I've got brothers who I am sure wouldn't go out on their wives.

My lawyer says I should quit trying to catch my husband, and accept the fact that all men cheat. Do they?
CHICAGO TRIB READER

DEAR READER: No! There are plenty of married men who never cheat, and your husband could be one of them. The only thing you can be fairly sure of is that your lawyer cheats on his wife.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from CANT TELL HIM, the girl who couldn't tell her fiance that he had bad breath.

I, too, suffer from chronic bad breath, and it's ruining my life. I'm a young, attractive, single girl and a very clean person. My dental hygiene is excellent. I brush twice a day, and floss, too.

Commercial mouthwashes are worthless. Please, Abby, can you ask some of your doctor friends if I could have a medical problem? Perhaps it's a vitamin deficiency.

Please answer in your column because I'm sure there are many others who suffer from this terrible affliction.
DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: Bad breath could be a symptom of so many physical ailments that it would take a full column to list them.

It could be poor nutrition, a vitamin deficiency, or emotional stress. But don't assume anything. Start with your physician. It's even possible that the affliction is only imaginary, in which case psychotherapy is the answer. Get help now and put an end to this needless suffering.

DEAR ABBY: Someone signed CLUTTERED MAILBOX IN L.A. wrote to complain because he had been finding a lot of leaflets, advertisements, political propaganda, etc., in his mailbox.

You said there was a law against using a mailbox for anything except mail for which postage had been paid to the U. S. Postal Service.

Well, I own my own mailbox—the U. S. Postal Service does not! And if I want to store chopped liver in it I would like to see anybody stop me!

Woman's place in world depends on where she is

A woman's place in the world depends on where she is.

In Africa, according to "The World Book Encyclopedia," most women still live in tribal villages and devote their lives to child rearing and household work.

However, in Kenya, about 40 per cent of the high school pupils are women, and some African women occupy important government positions, such as supreme court judge in Ghana and chief minister in the Congo.

Although almost half the women in Sweden work, they make up only about 11 per cent of their country's lawyers, 19 per cent of the physicians, and 15 per cent of the school teachers.

In Great Britain, only about six per cent of the top positions are held by women.

In South America, most women accept traditional roles of housekeeping and rearing families. But most Latin-American nations recognize the principle of equal pay for equal work, and most have women's bureaus connected with their departments of labor.

In Russia, women and men receive equal pay for equal work. About 75 per cent of the nation's physicians, almost half its judges, a third of its engineers and lawyers, 70 per cent of the teachers, and 60 per cent of the parliament are women, but few are on the Central Committee of the Communist Party.

In China, women make up more than half the textile industry labor force and from 30 to 40 per cent of the farm and commune workers. Although two women have served on the Communist Party's 21-member Politburo, none sits on the Politburo's 5-member standing committee, which rules China.

In Japan, women make up about a third of the nation's work force, but more than 60 per cent of this group work in family-owned businesses. Women earn an average of less than half as much pay as men.

In India, women have equal legal rights. Political parties encourage women to run for political office. Over 10 million women have professional or technical jobs, but most of them come from the top levels of Indian society. About 19 per cent of all Indian women can read and write, compared with 40 per cent of the men.

But, ladies, stay out of Liechtenstein. In 1971, its male voters defeated a proposal to give women the vote. It is the only European nation that does not have women suffrage.

Smallpox countdown begins today

MERKA, Somalia (AP) — A one-year countdown starts today to see if smallpox, one of the five killer diseases to ravage the world since the dawn of history, is licked for good.

If by Oct. 26, 1979, no new cases are reported in six nations in East Africa and the Middle East, the World Health Organization will declare the disease wiped from the face of the earth.

The only remaining chance of infection would be from virus stocks stored in laboratories.

As recently as 1966, smallpox accounted for between 500,000 and 1,000,000 deaths a year worldwide.

Ali Maow Maalin, who has the dubious distinction of being the last man known to catch smallpox naturally, lives in this small town on the edge of the Indian Ocean.

Maalin, a 23-year-old hospital cook, was infected Oct. 26, 1977 during a three-minute ride in a jeep that was carrying two children with smallpox. If there are no new cases in Somalia, Ethiopia, Kenya, Djibouti and North and South Yemen by the second anniversary of Ali's infection, medical experts say they will consider the disease beaten.

"I am fully confident that in one year's time we will be able to confirm that the disease has disappeared," says Dr. Isao Arita, head of the WHO smallpox eradication campaign.

"Smallpox is carried by the breath so anybody close to a victim can catch it," said Dr. Zdenek Jezek, who organized the campaign against the disease in Somalia.

WHO doesn't count the infection of two people in Birmingham, England, in August, apparently from virus stored in a laboratory. Jezek, who was in charge of the program that eliminated smallpox in India, Bangladesh and Pakistan, says he is confident the Somali hospital cook will be the last person to catch the disease naturally.

Hundreds attend funeral

HENDERSONVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music's biggest stars remembered Mother Maybelle Carter with her music as they sang and strummed their farewells.

It was the funeral of country music's first lady, and some 500 people swelled the First Baptist Church, its walls lined with hundreds of floral arrangements.

Dressed in his familiar black, Johnny Cash led his wife, June Carter Cash, in a black gown and veil, and other family members into the church Wednesday as his mother-in-law's rose-covered casket was rolled down the aisle.

His voice cracking, Cash said, "I knew her as a friend, worker and fishin' buddy. In the 18 years I knew her, I never heard an unkind word spoken against her and I never heard her speak an unkind word, even to me, and there were times she could have. She showed me only love. I owe her my very life."

Mrs. Carter, a Country Music Hall of Fame member and part of the Original Carter Family, died Monday at age 69 of Parkinson's disease.

Strumming his guitar and singing "Keep on the Sunny Side," a Mother Maybelle classic, Tom T. Hall asked the congregation to sing and clap.

Chet Atkins played "Wildwood Flower," best known of Mrs. Carter's instrumentals, and the Oak Ridge Boys sang "That's Just Like Jesus."

Dollar nosedives in Europe

LONDON (AP) — The dollar nosedived on foreign exchange markets today, reflecting continuing foreign dismay over President Carter's anti-inflation program. The U.S. currency hit a postwar low of 179.575 yen in Tokyo, dropping below the 180 mark for the first time.

Gold, the traditional hedge in inflationary times, was fixed at $233.30 an ounce in London, compared to $230.125 Wednesday. In Zurich, it opened at $233.625 an ounce, compared to $230.625 Wednesday.

Early dollar rates in Europe:

Frankfurt—1.7645 West German marks, compared to 1.7845 Wednesday.

Paris—4.08625 French francs, compared to 4.13 Wednesday.

Zurich—1.5070 Swiss francs, compared to 1.51475 Wednesday.

Milan—798.25 Italian lire, compared to 803.15 Wednesday.

Amsterdam—1.9250 Dutch guilders, compared to $1.9430 Wednesday.

In London, it took $2.0537 to buy a British pound, compared with $2.02725 Wednesday. It was the first time since November 1975 that the pound jumped over $2.05.

Hangin' Out

by Nathan Poss

All right, all of you frustrated football coaches, watch those uncontrolled feet before they get you into trouble. What do I mean? Just ask Hobbs Eagle Coach Jim Cromartie.

Cromartie has found himself in a very embarrassing situation. It seems that he became somewhat perturbed at a second team tight end a couple of weeks ago when the player jumped the snap count in a practice session. Cromartie proceeded to walk up from the backside and give the young man a swift kick in the you know where. Which is not really an uncommon move among coaches, when you really think about it.

The problem is that the tight end came home and showed his father the bruises on his posterior. The father went to the school board, who then put Cromartie on probation for his actions. This doesn't mean that Cromartie can't coach anymore, it just means to cool his emotions. Hobbs is in the midst of a 5-1 season and it would be ridiculous to get rid of the guy for such an action.

Unfortunately for Coach Cromartie, word spread around the Hobbs area, and even as far as garnering a lengthy article in the Lubbock Avalanche Journal. I mean, I guess it makes interesting reading and discussion, but it's really an everyday occurrence that makes the man look like some type of animal.

Anybody that has ever played has probably seen a coach become infuriated with one of his performers and do something similar. I personally have seen numerous coaches sneak up on a lineman and get his attention in such a manner. Of course there are other methods that have been known to straighten up a player.

Big Al Conover, one of my former coaches at Rice, became very hostile when a player jumped offside or was loafing on the ground. He wouldn't sneak up from the back, but would meet the person from the front side. He would usually either just punch the guy in the face through his head-gear or jump on top of the guy and wrestle him on the ground until he was assured the player was motivated enough to understand what and how it was that was supposed to be done.

So I guess I have to take sides with Cromartie. I wouldn't agree with him if it were at a Little League level or some other non-paying job that is strictly recreational. But when a coach is being paid to produce, and put under pressure by the community, alumni, fans, etc., it's just one of the facts of life.

SPIRIT OF THE MONTH AWARD. Talk about dedication to the cause of improving the body. And I guess the ego. A couple of weeks ago I overheard a most interesting conversation which eventually led into an inspiring ending. I don't know if coaches should put it on the bulletin board to show the athlete the proper way to work out on his or her own, but it's not a bad way to get in shape.

The story started about 1:30 a.m. at one of the local socializing clubs. Former Big Spring Steer star half-miler Miles Ponderosa and I were sitting at a table feeling good. A couple of females were also at the table. One of the girls, not knowing Miles running ability, began boasting of her past track feats at one of the smaller high schools in the area. I mean, I could care less if she was Babe Didrickson at the time, I didn't come to the place to argue over who could run the fastest. Miles, however, still thinks he is an athlete and would not let the blond lady think she was the superior runner. After a heated discussion, hilarious to the rest of the table, the two decided to have a race to prove who was the swifter. In order to spice up the interest, a bet was thrown in as added motivation.

The two left the club moments later, and ventured to Blankenship Field. The race, which finally began at 2:30 a.m., was a 100-yard dash in which the female was given a ten-yard head start. It was dark, and the low-life Ponderosa snuck up within a couple of yards as the race began. He caught her quickly, then ran in stride with the pleasure loving leggy blonde to the 80-yard mark. At this point he easily sprinted last to win the race.

Although he wouldn't clarify the nature of payment Miles did state that she displayed good sportsmanship in her obligation. I must say it's a weird way to stay in shape and become acquainted with members of the opposite sex, but I love the spirit.

Doomsday sees action again tonight when they host Minnesota.

Cowboys host Vikings tonight

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas Coach Tom Landry and Minnesota Coach Bud Grant don't mind Thursday night "Monday night" National Football League games. It (the travel) is not a major handicap. Landry said, "It's an honor to be asked. They don't ask you to play in games like this unless you have a good football team. I think we can recover our tiredness from Sunday but maybe our bruises won't heal as fast. I think we probably have a little advantage — I don't know how much — because they have to travel."

Then he laughed "knowing Bud they probably won't be here until the last minute anyway." Playing on the artificial turf of Texas Stadium was a bigger worry to Grant. "Well, it's a distinct disadvantage to play on your (the Cowboys') field coming off grass," said Grant. "It's a handicap we find it difficult to adjust to. There is so much more traction. It's a faster, finer, more precision type of game. A Tony Dorsett type field."

Landry countered saying, "All I know is that we've been on grass twice and lost." The Cowboys were seven-point favorites for the nationally televised 7:30 p.m. CDT kickoff with a sellout crowd of 65,000 expected in the stands. Dallas (6-2) had a chance to move a half-game ahead of Washington in the

Houston edges NY Knicks

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Tom Nissalke doesn't sound like a man whose club is off to its best start in its 12-year history. "We've only played a couple of good games so far," Nissalke said as the Rockets moved into first place in the National Basketball Association's Central Division with a 106-101 victory over the New York Knicks Wednesday night. "We've had some good moments offensively, but defensively we're not where I want us to be."

21 points respectively as Houston snapped an 80-80 tie early in the fourth quarter and roared to its fifth victory against a single loss this season. Marvin Webster's dunk shot with 9:21 left in the fourth quarter pulled the Knicks into the tie, but Houston reeled off 18 of the game's next 23 points to ice the triumph. Spencer Haywood led all scorers with 24 points. Webster added 21 and blocked six shots as New York had its threeway win streak snapped. "I don't think we played particularly well," said Rudy Tomjanovich and Calvin Murphy scored 23 and who scored 14 points. "You can't be upset when you win, but I know we can play better than this. I'm disappointed that we didn't play better than we did."

Steers host Lee

By NATHAN POSS
The undefeated and state ranked Midland Lee Rebels invade Memorial Stadium tomorrow night to meet the Big Spring Steers. It will be Homecoming for the local fans.

The Rebels are a ground oriented team with an outstanding back in 210-pound Jeff McCowan. McCowan has rushed for 390 yards in three district games and has scored seven times. The big fullback is averaging over five yards per carry, with most of his yardage being tough chunks up the middle. Tailback Ricky Johnson complements McCowan nicely, as he has rushed for over 250 yards in district, good enough to rank eighth. Quarterback is in the hands of Gary Butler. A 180-pound senior, Butler is an adequate runner and a good passer, even though the Rebels don't like to rely on the airways. Butler has completed 61 per cent in district competition.

Herb Pierce and Elmer Montgomery have shown to be adequate receivers. Two of Montgomery's three receptions in district play have been for touchdowns. Tight end John White is utilized more as a blocker than a pass receiver. The Big Spring defense was the victim of a polished Permian offense and many mental errors on their own part in the 48-0 loss to the Panthers last week. Middle linebacker Ricky Cluck went down early with an injury, but he should be healthy for tomorrow night's contest.

The Steer pass defense, which had been somewhat stingy in the first five games, yielded over 200 yards against Permian. Much of the yardage was due to the Big Spring cornerbacks inability to stop the short passing game, but there also were harmful passes that were completed due to mental failure to adjust to the proper man or zone. The Lee defense can't compare to the outstanding defense of Mojo last week, but it still has played good enough to come into the game ranked as the loop's third best crew. Middle linebacker Mike McCrea is the Rebels best defender, and is considered one of the top defensive players in the district. He is a hard hitter who also reads the ball well. Strong safety Jody Sessom is considered the best defensive back on the team, and also doubles as a punter with a 32-yard average. Other defenders worth mention include linemen Rodney Taylor and Doug Crawford, and linebackers Brian Briscoe and Clay Calhoun. Big Spring head coach Ron Logback was both embarrassed and disturbed in his team's performance last week. One area with much needed improvement was the offense. He and the other Steer coaches were very disappointed in the execution of Steer blocking assignments versus Mojo. After working all week on who the proper man to block was, the blockers would do something just the opposite in unexplainable fashion. This must be corrected if the Bovines hope to move the ball with any success. Quarterback Billy Ray Johnson has exhibited the ability to pass the ball to his bevy of receivers. However, he and his backup, Ricky Myers, must have more time to find the open receivers than last week. Another detrimental factor in last week's game was the early departures of Cluck and tailback Eddie Puga. Puga received a shot to the head by the aggressive defense.

The game should be a high spirited affair. Lee head man Gil Bartosh is in his first year at the helm after many successful tenures elsewhere. He led Permian to the state championship in 1972, and would like nothing better than to win district in his first year at Lee. The Steers, on the other hand, will be playing before a Homecoming crowd, and would like nothing better than to recapture some of the pride they lost in their last few outings.

NBA Roundup

By the Associated Press

Dick Vitale finally injected his vibrant personality into a National Basketball Association game — and was handed his first ejection.

Vitale, in his first season in the league, suffered physically and mentally as his Detroit Pistons lost their first five games of the season. He was on the bench for the first two games and in the hospital — because of a stomach disorder — for the last three.

He returned to the bench Wednesday night when the Pistons handed the Cleveland Cavaliers their first loss of the season, 110-105, but didn't last through three quarters.

With two minutes remaining in the third period, Vitale, who has promised to "revitalize" the slumbering Pistons, went wild after incurring his second technical foul of the game, resulting in automatic ejection. The technical was assessed when Vitale protested a personal foul against the Pistons' M.L. Carr.

The excitable Pistons' coach chased referee Tommy Nunez around the floor, threw down his jacket and threatened to fight the official. The feisty Vitale had to be restrained by police and team aides before being removed from the playing area.

"I coached my personality tonight," the angry Vitale said afterward. "This is the first time I have coached my personality since I have been in the league. I see too many players being protected and I'm going to fight when I think I'm right. Around the league, they're going to know who Dick Vitale is.

"I didn't lose my head. I'm just a fighter...to coach in this league, you've got to be crazy."

In some saner NBA games, the unbeaten Seattle Super-Sonics trounced the Washington Bullets 121-92, the Philadelphia 76ers nipped the Atlanta Hawks 118-117, the Denver Nuggets defeated the Phoenix Suns 108-104, the Houston Rockets downed the New York Knicks 106-101, the San Diego Clippers topped the Milwaukee Bucks 125-116, the New Jersey Nets edged the Golden State Warriors 121-118 and the Kansas City Kings beat the New Orleans Jazz 114-109.

Bob Lanier's 26 points paced the Pistons, who rallied from a 17-59 deficit in the third quarter by outscoring Cleveland 17-1 for a 76-72 lead. Rookie John Long scored 11 of his 19 points during the burst.

Campy Russell and Austin Carr each scored 20 points for the Cavs.

Sonics 121, Bullets 92
Seattle, 6-0, the only unbeaten team in the league, crushed defending NBA champion Washington in a matchup of last season's playoff finalists. Gus Williams' 24 points and Lonnie Shelton's 23 led the Sonics.

76ers 118, Hawks 117
Henry Bibby hit a field goal with 31 seconds remaining while he was falling toward the floor, giving the 76ers, 4-1, their victory over Atlanta. Philadelphia's Doug Collins led all scorers with 31 points.

Nuggets 108, Suns 104
Denver, 5-1, playing without high-scoring David Thompson, sidelined with the flu, got a big game from George McGinnis in rallying from a 16-point, third-quarter deficit and beating Phoenix. McGinnis scored 33 points and grabbed 24 rebounds, the most ever by a Denver player in an NBA game. Paul Westphal was high for the Suns with 29 points.

Kings 114, Jazz 109
Kansas City hit 11 of its first 13 shots and went on to build a 15-point lead with eight minutes remaining in the game, but then had to hang on for the victory after missing 14 of its last 16 shots. Scott Wedman led the Kings with 22 points, while Truck Robinson scored 37 for New Orleans and Pete Maravich had 31.

Clippers 125, Bucks 118
Lloyd Free's 38 points — his third consecutive game with 35 points or more — paced San Diego's freewheeling offense. Meanwhile, the Clippers' defense held Milwaukee's Marques Johnson, the NBA's leading scorer with a 33-point average, to 18.

Nets 121, Warriors 118
Bernard King's 27 points and Wilson Washington's 26 points and 18 rebounds — both career highs — carried New Jersey past Golden State. The Nets converted 43 of 59 fouls to only 22 of 27 for the Warriors. Phil Smith topped Golden State with 29 points.

IGNITING THE GREEN WAVE — Seattle's Gus Williams drives between Wes Unsed and Tom Henderson (14) of the Washington Bullets in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night. Teammate Fred Brown says it's Williams who usually starts Seattle's fast breaks, which Brown calls "The Green Wave." Seattle won 121-92.

V-ballers spike Midland

The Big Spring Steer volleyball team continued their winning ways Tuesday night when they defeated Midland High by scores of 15-10, 14-9.

Penny Ray led a balanced attack with nine points, followed by Brenda Bell with six and Sherry Bryd with five. Coach Carole Bartasek praised the net play of Kathy Birdwell, Debbie Wiggins, and Mitzi Balios. "They were awesome at the net. We had 90 per cent efficiency on our spikes," Bartasek also praised the good backcourt play of Karen Kimble.

The junior varsity rallied after losing the first game of their match 5-13 to win 15-2.

Seattle Slew retiring

NEW YORK (AP) — Seattle Slew, the 1977 Triple Crown champion and Horse of the Year, will make the final start of his racing career Nov. 11 in the Stuyvesant Handicap at Aqueduct.

That announcement Wednesday was surprising because Slew had an opportunity to run in the more prestigious Washington, D.C. International Nov. 4 at Laurel, but his owners decided to bypass the 1 1/2-mile race on grass, a surface on which the 4-year-old colt never has run.

"New York's been good to us and we'd rather go out in New York and retire him here," coowner Mickey Taylor said.

Taylor said that after the 1 1/2-mile Stuyvesant, to be run on the main surface, Slew would go to stud Dec. 1 at Spendthrift Farms in Kentucky.

"It would be nice to run him another year as good as he is right now, but an agreement was made in the spring to retire him as a 5-year-old and that's what we're going to do," said Taylor.

Slew will become a 5-year-old Jan. 1, the official birthday of every race horse.

Seattle Slew won six of seven starts last year, including the Triple Crown, and has won four of six races this season. His 1978 losses were by a neck to Dr. Patches in the Paterson Handicap at the Meadowlands and by a nose to Exceller in the Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park.

He was sidelined early in the season by injuries, but impressive victories in the Woodward and the Marlboro have made him a strong contender for Horse of the Year.

In recognition of Slew's appearance in the Stuyvesant, the New York Racing Association announced that the purse for the race would be raised from $50,000-added to $100,000-added.

5-3. Good serving highlighted the JV win, as Marianne Paradez served for 11 points. Denise Holmes chipped in with eight and Jackie Roach added seven.

Both the varsity and junior varsity, undefeated in second half play, travel to Odessa tonight to go to battle with the Permian Panthers. Games will begin at 6:00 and 7:00.

Broncs sign Bob Moore

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Broncos have announced the signing of tight end Bob Moore, a seven-year veteran of the National Football League who played five seasons with Oakland and two with Tampa Bay.

Moore, 6-foot-3 and 225 pounds, was traded to Chicago in the offseason and was later released by the Bears.

A Stanford graduate, Moore replaces the injured Ron Egloff on the Denver roster.

Denver Coach Red Miller also said Wednesday that backup quarterbacks Craig Penrose and Norris Weese both were throwing the ball at practice. Penrose should be ready to play Sunday at Seattle and Weese is continuing to recover from a dislocated kneecap, Miller said.

But Craig Morton will start at quarterback against the Seahawks, Miller said.

Emory heard it coming

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — As far as former Texas A&M football Coach Emory Bellard is concerned, his resignation came just before regents were to ask him to quit.

"Tuesday morning after I arrived at the office, I was given some information from a very reliable source that the intentions of the president of the university and the Board of Regents were to ask me to relinquish my coaching duties at the end of the season, regardless of the outcome of the remaining games, and remain at Texas A&M as athletic director," Bellard said.

A later conversation with school President Dr. Jarvis Miller convinced him the information was correct, Bellard said.

Offensive coordinator Tom Wilson took over the coaching duties. His name had been prominent as a successor to Steve Sloan at Texas Tech, but the job went to Rex Dockery instead.

Bellard said he's through with athletics, but isn't sure what he will do in the future. In 6 1/2 seasons, his Aggie teams won 75 percent of their games.

The resignation came after the team lost consecutive games to Houston and Baylor.

"I feel no animosity toward Texas A&M," Bellard said. "I truly love this university and most of all the people of Texas A&M. They have been great to me."

I hope that I can be remembered as a good Aggie."

Most accusing fingers in the matter were pointed at an alumni group in Houston but one Aggie supporter from Dallas went on record for Bellard. "It must have come as a hell of a shock to everybody," Tom Dwyer said. "I know Emory Bellard did a hell of a job. I hate to see him persecuted in any way."

Aggie placekicker Tony Franklin denounced some recent student moves calling for Bellard's replacement. "A lot of students were really being crass," Franklin said. "Chicken sleep is the only way to describe it."

Meanwhile, Wilson put the Aggies through their paces in preparation for Saturday's game against Rice.

Wilson said halfback Curtis Dickey would not play against the Owls because of an injury, and named Adger Armstrong to the position.

"I know I have to work hard and come out fighting," Wilson said of his new assignment.

"It will be different, to say the least, because I've always been in the press box since I started coaching," he said.

Hawks open season next Thursday

Four sophomores headline the 1978-1979 edition of Howard College basketball, which will be unveiled November 2 in the lavish Garrett Coliseum. The home opener against Lubbock Christian College Junior Varsity will be the first of four straight games at Garrett Coliseum.

Robby Randolph, a 6'3 gunner from Memphis, Tenn., is the leading scorer returning from last season. Randolph averaged in the double figures while hitting 52 per cent from the field and 80 per cent from the free throw line.

Allen Bonds, a 6'5 defensive specialist from El Paso, started last season and usually drew the opposition's best player. Bonds has improved his shooting and ball handling skills and can lead the fort break.

R.Q. Tolliver, the 6'7, 230 pound strong man from Munday can control the middle, rebound and hit the outlet. Tolliver leads by example and is a big asset to the Hawks.

Elroy Green, Big Spring's own 5'9 jet, has great quickness and will be utilized on pressing defenses.

Season tickets are on sale at the Coliseum and the College Business Office. Tickets are good for both Hawks and Hawk Queen games. The Hawk Queens are also in action Nov. 2, as they face Ranger Junior College.

Rangers trade Hargrove

DALLAS (AP) — Former Texas Ranger first baseman Mike Hargrove, dealt to the Padres in a five-player deal, said he was surprised and hurt, but looking forward to playing in San Diego.

"They probably did a good thing to trade me to the other league," Hargrove said. "If they hadn't, I'd come in with a crowbar, a stick of dynamite and a shotgun and would have eaten first base if I had to help beat Texas."

Rumors of a trade circulated for weeks, but the Rangers made it official Wednesday announcing Hargrove, infielder Kurt Bevacqua and catcher Bill Fahey will go to San Diego for outfielder Oscar Gamble, catcher Dave Roberts and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Two Dallas newspapers estimate at between $250,000 and $300,000.

"I knew it would come someday, but I'm surprised and hurt it happened this soon," said Hargrove, the American League Rookie of the Year in 1974. He finished 1978 with seven homers and a .251 average.

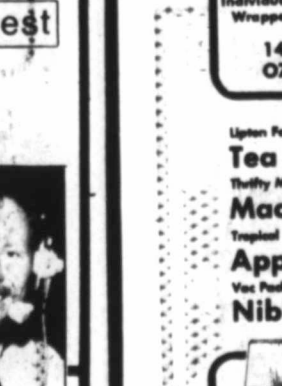

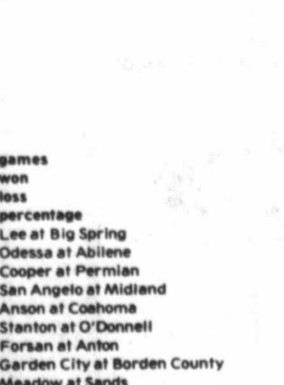

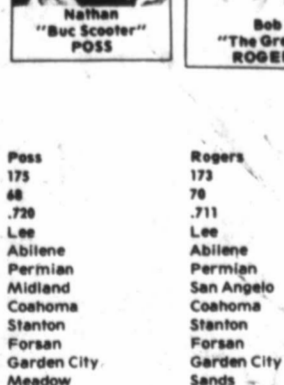

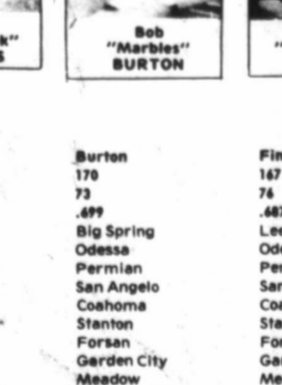

Hargrove got the official word Tuesday night during a dinner with Cozmet, reported the Dallas Times Herald.

Remington recalls guns

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — Remington Arms Co. today began recalling "under 200,000" guns because of a damage suit in which Remington agreed to pay $6.8 million to a Texas lawyer paralyzed from the waist down, a company spokesman said.

The company is recalling four different models of bolt-action guns so their trigger assemblies can be replaced, said Edmund S. McCawley, the Bridgeport-based company's manager of public relations.

McCawley said the guns being recalled are the following models made before February 1975: Mohawk 600 rifles, Remington 600 and 660 rifles and XP-100 pistols. He said he could not estimate how much the recall would cost Remington.

The plaintiff in the Texas case, John Coates, 42, of Austin, said a Remington Mohawk 600 rifle fired when the safety was pushed to the "off" position even though the trigger was not pulled.

McCawley said, "Our investigation indicated that this was unlikely but due to the fact that in some unusual circumstances it's possible to move the safety and the trigger in such a way that

Ridin' fence

Taxi, please

with Marj Carpenter

There's no use putting our heads in the sand and playing like it isn't so. We have a brand new problem.

Right in the middle of a very busy week, the local taxi service shut down.

And brother, we need taxis. The city administration was given absolutely no warning, and so they are working as quickly as possible trying to locate another taxi line.

I've always been an optimist and I think Big Spring is right on the verge of a big boom in many areas. And we'll get a taxi. I also think we will finally get an airline.

But in the meantime, folks, there's lots of things we don't have. And we have to keep working for them.

We don't have a transit system. Many say we're not big enough. But if we don't have a taxi, we sure could use a bus.

There's lots of other things we don't have — we got to laughing about it here in the office. You have to laugh to keep from crying.

We don't have a street car or a trolley or a bus or a ta. We do have two good buslines in and out of town but no way to get around town.

A good pogo stick might help. Anybody want that franchise?

We have a lot of boats around here, but you have to drive quite a few miles to any sizable water. We have a lot of private planes, but we really need a public carrier airplane.

We had the Goodyear Blimp fly over, but it didn't stop and we get to feeling like that about all transportation.

Dadgum it. We have a town here that has a lot of folks with a fantastically progressive attitude and a few grouches.

Building permits are up. Prospects are good for the future. And we need some way for folks without a car to get around the town.

There's an old song that we used to sing when we were kids called, "You Can't get to heaven on roller skates." Well you can't get around Big Spring on roller skates or even a skateboard. Although some folks try. Will somebody out there come up with a taxi, or even bring in a surrey with two good horses?

Slain man was 'essential' witness against fugitive

ATLANTA (AP) — Roger Dean Underhill, slain in a suburban ambush, was considered an "essential" witness against fugitive pornographer Michael Thevis, who four months ago was indicted for allegedly offering $10,000 to have Underhill killed.

Underhill, 50, and Atlanta grocer Isaac Galanti, 48, were killed about noon Wednesday by shots fired from the ambush, police said.

"We believe they (the assailants) were already there" when Underhill and Galanti arrived at a wooded lot north of the city, said Fulton County Police Capt. Louis Graham.

Both men were gunned down with "shoulder weapons," such as shotguns or rifles, said James Dunn, special agent in charge of the Atlanta FBI office.

Police believe "more than one" assailant was involved, said Graham, who added that no weapon had been recovered.

Galanti was dead when police arrived at the scene. Underhill was taken to Northside Hospital, where he died about six hours later.

Graham said the men were shot as Underhill was showing Galanti a vacant piece of property that he owned in an exclusive suburban neighborhood and that Galanti apparently wanted to buy.

Galanti, manager of Economy Super Market in Atlanta, was not believed to be connected with Thevis. "There is no evidence to support that," Graham said. "From what we have determined so far, the man was there on a legitimate business venture."

No arrests were made and authorities said they had no suspects.

Thevis, 46, head of a multimillion-dollar pornography business, escaped from a jail in New Albany, Ind., on April 28 and is still at large.

In June, he was named in a 14-count federal indictment, which included racketeering charges, and in a Fulton County indictment charging him with murder in the 1970 death of Kenneth "Jap" Hanna, a former business partner who had become a competitor.

Underhill, a former associate of Thevis, was considered a key witness in both cases against the convicted pornographer, and FBI agents had testified that Underhill's life was in danger because of his expected testimony.

At the time of the fire. Her whole house was leveled except for some concrete stairs.

Firemen said the intense heat was capable of incinerating a human being. A friend visited Miss Beasley Monday night and saw the woman lock her front gate and return to her home. Miss Beasley's dogs were found dead near the home.

Brookside Village Texas (AP) — Two major questions remain unanswered in the wake of a gas pipeline explosion that killed five persons — what caused the destructive blast and where is Miss Ivey Beasley?

Philip Hogue of the National Transportation Safety Board said Wednesday there was no evidence of maintenance or operating failure by the United Texas Transmitter Co., owners of the 30-inch pipe that erupted near the Royal Trailer Park Tuesday.

Hogue said the initial investigation showed no failure by the company or any corrosion in the pipe, which is 25 years old.

Hogue added that the board's investigation would take three months and it would be detailed and thorough. "We will look into much more than the immediate cause of the explosion," he said.

The bodies of five victims were found in the pre-dawn hours and 43 others were injured by the blast. All area residents affected by the blast have been accounted for except Miss Beasley, 65, whose small frame house was leveled in the mushroom explosion.

Tom LeClere, a Pearl and policeman, said "Ninety per cent of the opinions out here are that she was in the house

Commission of Neighborhoods necessary but not enviable

NEW YORK (AP) — The task of the National Commission on Neighborhoods, which submits an almost certain to be controversial report to President Carter in January, is necessary perhaps but certainly not enviable.

It must determine how the nation's largest political unit, the federal government, can deal directly with the smallest, a neighborhood, without in the process damaging relations with mayors and others.

It must seek ways in which a cumbersome federal bureaucracy can help inspire development of a neighborhood's resources, skills, vision and creativity, without intruding upon and destroying its spontaneity.

The delicacy of the latter task has been compared to pushing a tricycle with a bulldozer, and the former with stepping on the paw of a lion and then patting the enraged beast in an effort to make it smile.

Joseph Timilty, chairman, knew from the beginning that he faced a challenge, including molding a report from the views of 20 ethnically, racially, geographically and politically diverse members.

But the White House wanted action because of the suspicion that federal urban programs might be helping to build impressive municipal skylines and beautiful suburbs that merely hid the scars.

Inner city residents, for example, complained that federal funds went for downtown business development instead of community projects, and that other money, such as for roads, speeded the exodus to suburbs.

Timilty, an attorney, university instructor and

Massachusetts state senator, believes that "government is more help when it supports what the neighborhood wants to do rather than imposes programs on it."

And what the neighborhoods seem to want includes locally owned businesses, home ownership, strong local institutions and, as the commission has stated, "a place where the scale is human."

On inspection trips throughout the country, the committee — which includes community activists, mortgage lenders and four members of Congress — has found pockets of energy, imagination and vitality alive.

But members wrote in their interim report that "people in every city told us they are sick of centralized, alienating institutions that respond to human needs in remote, bureaucratic fashion."

They saw "neighborhoods turned over wholesale to a developer, with needless displacement of hundreds of families," and "miles of public housing where the design obliterates the possibility of community."
