WARM IN, COOL OUT — Drops of condensation on the window don't seem to bother Smokey, as he gazes out the window of his owners' home at 2611 24th. It's anybody's guess whether he's glad to be inside out of the weather on this cool Big Spring morning, or if he's wishing to be outside. Perhaps his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lowstetter, can figure it out.

Hise praises dedication of system's teachers

By JAMES WERRELL

Ex-Big Spring High School students from classes dating back to 1918 gathered in force Saturday for the sixth annual Hall of Fame Induction Ceremonies.

Seven retired teachers were honored at the ceremonies whose theme was "A Teacher Is Forever."

"There are few people in Big Spring whose lives have not been touched in some way by the teachers at this gathering," said Lynn Hise, superintendent. "We have inducted former athletes and All-State Band members into the hall of fame, but no one has influenced the lives of Big Spring students more than its teachers. And I would like to point out that we still have dedicated, highly-motivated teachers in our schools, just like those being honored here today," he added.

Teachers honored were the late Clara Pool, Agnes Currie, Lillian Shick Dawson, Glenn T. Guthrie, Reta Debenport Weeg, Erma Wooten Steward and Mrs. Gene Harrington.

In addition to induction into the hall of fame, each honoree received a certificate of appreciation from the city. The certificates read in part: "In deep gratitude, respect and devotion, the citizens of Big Spring lovingly recognize and pay tribute to one who has truly proven that a teacher is forever."

In Friday night Gala

Something for everyone

The Gala Evening benefitting the endowment fund of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, will feature something for everyone. Beginning at 7 p.m. next Friday, in the new Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at Howard College, the Gala will feature comedian Foster Brooks, The New Christy Minstrels, Jana-Lou, and the Gary Lee Orchestra of Dallas.

Foster Brooks, whose appearance as "the lovable lush," has carved a niche for him in the annals of comedy, will headline the Gala Evening. His portrayal of the man who had one too many, but who is trying to conceal it, is perhaps the most unusual and immediate successful comedy act to appear on stage in a long, long time.

Foster Brooks is one of those "overnight successes" who, for some 46 years, worked in various radio and television stations in the East, mostly in his hometown of Louisville, Ky. Mainly a staff announcer, who occasionally sang a song or two, Foster harbored desire toward becoming a dramatic character actor ever since he was 21. As a dramatic actor, he guest starred on "Bonanza" and "Gunsmoke."

"The 'lush' was something that just came into my head", claims Foster. "I hadn't given it a thought, but as I was approaching the microphone for my first performance as a standup comedian, still unsure of what I was going to do, I suddenly remembered my father and the way that he made us laugh. He would act like a man who had one too many, but was trying to behave as if he hadn't touched a drop."

Since that time, Foster Brooks has become a leading attraction at hotels and dinner clubs across the country. His night club act brought him the "Best Supporting Act" award in Las Vegas in 1974, and he is the highest paid opening act ever to appear in that city. And even though he has been offered the headline spot, he is perfectly satisfied to co-star with dancing and singing stars.

The New Christy Minstrels, another feature of the Gala, are a major phenomenon in the history of the entertainment industry. Since their beginning in 1961, The New Christy Minstrels have surpassed virtually every major milestone of professional achievement and continue to entertain audiences throughout the world as one of the most exciting and versatile acts in all of show business.

During the course of their performances, The New Christy Minstrels have done it all. Their single recording of "Green, Green" sold over three million records and was a harbinger of three Columbia gold albums to follow: "Ramblin'", "Today", and "The New Christy Minstrels' Greatest Hits."

Jana-Lou, who was nominated "Best Fiddler of the Year" by the Academy of Country Music in both 1975 and 1976, will also be on hand at the Gala Evening in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum to entertain the audience. Because of her class and style, Jana has been accepted with elite and sophisticated audiences with her appearances at leading hotels and major convention centers throughout the nation. With the addition of popular and classic violin melodies in her country routine, Jana-Lou is "The One and Only" of her kind.

With her ever expanding talents, ability and constantly increasing audience appeal, Jana-Lou, ever more popular as an entertainer, is a much sought-after personality and featured attraction. With audiences shouting for "more" and standing ovations becoming almost certain with every performance, Jana-Lou's

Carter persuades Sadat to keep negotiators on WASHINGTON (AP) — The trouble-plagued Mideast peace talks got a boost Saturday as President Carter said he persuaded Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to keep that country's negotiators on the job.

Carter claimed at a political rally in Buffalo that he had reversed a decision by Sadat to recall the negotiating team, indicating the peace treaty talks between Egypt and Israel could be put back on course.

The Egyptian negotiators, it was learned, had tentatively scheduled flights back to Cairo over the weekend amid reports that they had been ordered home by Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil.

However, Carter, departing from a prepared address at Buffalo International Airport, said: "I contacted President Sadat last night and said 'leave your negotiators in Washington.'

"He sent me word this morning, 'I'll do what my friend, Jimmy Carter, asked me. They're going to stay and negotiate.'"

Campaigning later Saturday in Hartford, Conn., however, Carter told a small group of reporters that he had not spoken to Sadat directly by telephone. "We sent him a message," the president told the reporters who accompanied him to a fund-raising affair.

Carter said Sadat sent a return message, saying "as long as I wanted Egyptian negotiators here, he would leave them in Washington."

As Air Force One traveled from Buffalo to Hartford, deputy press secretary Rex Granum told reporters Carter's announcement about Sadat had come as a surprise even to him.

Meanwhile, a source close to the peace talks told reporters at the State Department that the Egyptian delegation had not been informed of any decision by Sadat to recall his negotiators.

The source, insisting on anonymity, said the Egyptians informed Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance during a meeting late Friday that no decision had yet been taken on whether they would go home.

According to this account, Carter, seeing television reports that Prime Minister Khalil had ordered the delegation back to Cairo, telephoned Vance during the secretary's meeting with the Egyptians. That meeting dealt primarily with proposed changes in the text of a peace treaty. The president then called Sadat.

While it seemed clear that, in any event, the negotiators would have returned within a few days, their recall even for "consultations" would have cast a shadow over the negotiations.

Besides differences over treaty provisions, a decision by the Israeli Cabinet to "thicken" Jewish settlements on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in Gaza has complicated efforts to conclude the historic agreement between Israel and Egypt — the framework of which was laid at the Camp David summit.

Carter vows action on health bill

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — President Carter, concluding a series of weekend campaign appearances for Democratic candidates, vowed Saturday to spur congressional action next year on the nation's steadily rising health bill.

Saturday's trip to New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maine was the last in a series of one-day campaign trips — most of them on Saturdays — on behalf of Democratic candidates. Carter has planned a two-day, cross-country venture next week, winding up a 17-day stretch in which he will have visited 13 states.

Before arriving here at midday to campaign for Gov. Ella T. Grasso, Carter told a rally in Buffalo that hospital costs have been going up twice as fast as the inflation rate, which has hovered at or near an annual rate of 10 percent through much of 1978.

"One of the things I want to make sure Congress does next year is pass a new hospital cost containment bill," the president said in an address at Buffalo International Airport on behalf of New York Gov. Hugh Carey and other state Democrats.

The administration's hospital cost bill fell by the wayside as Congress concentrated on the energy program and the tax bill during the waning days of its recently-concluded session.

As was the case Thursday when Carter campaigned in Tennessee, the president used a portion of his Buffalo speech to put in a plug for the newly announced anti-inflation program. It was in that vein that Carter lamented the failure of Congress to act on the hospital cost problem.

In the New York contest, Carey has spent much of his campaign defending his two vetoes of legislation that would have restored the death penalty in New York. Carey also has stressed his successful efforts to roll back taxes imposed under Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Political observers say Carey and his Republican opponent, former state Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea, are running neck-and-neck. Carter flew here to deliver two speeches on behalf of Mrs. Grasso, who is leading her Republican opponent, Rep. Ronald A. Sarasin, by a 50-41 margin, according to a Hartford Courant poll released Oct. 15.

Haunted house helps a heap

The ghosts and ghouls at the March of Dimes Haunted House have been working nights to get the old place in shape, reports Barry Stephens and Randy Huey, co-chairmen of the event, and it's finally ready.

The Haunted House officially opened its creaking doors at sundown Friday. It will run through Tuesday (Halloween.)

Located at 15th and Gregg Street, the house has several rooms of surprises to make your scalp tingle and bring involuntary screams from your throat.

In addition to Stephens and Huey, the Student Councils of Big Spring and Coahoma High Schools and various other volunteers are responsible for decorating and staffing the various rooms.

In addition to providing fun, thrills and excitement for all the March of Dimes Haunted House is also a very important fund raising event. Proceeds (a $1 donation) will benefit prevention of birth defects through support of March of Dimes research, medical services and educational programs.

For more information, one can contact the Cap Rock Chapter of the March of Dimes at 263-3401.

TIME'S TALL TALE — John Russell, a professional clown and stilt-walker with the Ringling Bros. Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Rainfall

Q. I know East Texas is famous for its heavy rainfalls but what state, on the average, has the heaviest average rainfall?
A. It's not far from East Texas — Louisiana. But the average fall in the Pelican State pales in comparison to Mt. Waialeale, Hawaii, where the average annual rainfall amounts to 460 inches. For one year records, how about Cherrapunji, India, where in 1861 1,042 inches fell? That's averaging 2.85 inches every day of the year.

RECEIVING AWARD — Mayor Wade Choate is accepting a plaque for the City of Big Spring from William Sheehan, representing the resident of the United States and the Department of Defense. The plaque was one of seven presented in the nation to cities and other groups who have worked toward recovery where former military installations have been closed.

Big Spring presented plaque for comeback

By MARJ CARPENTER
Big Spring and six other cities were honored by the President of the United States and the Department of Defense with special presentations for excellent work in working toward economic recovery after losing military installations.

The presentations were made at the National Association of Installation Developers held here this week.

The presentations were made by William Sheehan of the Pentagon who presented plaques to Mayor Wade Choate of Big Spring, commenting, "I join the President and the Department of Defense in complimenting the city of Big Spring for their selection of leadership and work toward recovery."

Other cities honored included Gary Richert of Topeka, Kan.; Al Hamm of Burns Flat, Okla.; Tony De Lorenzo, Gilderland, N.Y.; Mike Shamlin of Salina, Kan.; David Nowlen of Mobile, Ala.; and Charles Sanders of Greenville, S.C.

Harry Clark, senior vice president of area development of First National Bank in Midland was the luncheon speaker pointing out the importance of research, the personality of a city, financing and prospecting.

He said there are only 1500 new businesses a year in America with 15,000 industrial groups seeking each one.

"That gives you ten to one odds," he said, "And if your industrial team has gotten more than one, you have done great."

He added, "Sometimes, a frog will sit in a hole until a snake gets in there. Sometimes communities will sit around until a disaster falls such as a base closure." Moderators of the panels Friday morning included Sheehan, John Perkins, III,

WTCC opposes U.S. controls

Threatened implementation of Wage and Price Controls by the White House met strong opposition from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce during the regional chamber's mid-year meeting held recently in El Paso.

Joe Kloesel, chairman of the WTCC National Affairs Committee and president of Drilco Division of Smith International of Midland, stated that it was the opinion of the WTCC that use of Wage and Price Controls currently under consideration by President Carter was not the key to the nation's inflation problem and in fact would contribute to future increases.

Kloesel reiterated the position of the WTCC calling for a reduction in Federal spending, a turn-around in the growth of big government and reform of non-productive and costly bureaucratic regulations as being the starting points in efforts to bring inflation under control.

In other action, the WTCC announced that an educational effort through the State Affairs Committee, in cooperation with the Texas State Chamber of Commerce, was in progress to provide WTCC members with information on the Constitutional Amendments to go before Texas voters, November 7.

Dallas DA seeking adult certification for criminal

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas district attorney's office says it will seek to have Elizabeth Annette Campbell certified as an adult to stand trial for the kidnapping of Shanita Michelle Perkins in April 1977.

In a hearing Friday before U.S. Magistrate Bailey Rankin, Assistant U.S. Attorney Dan Guthrie said federal kidnapping charges against Mrs. Campbell were dropped because she was a juvenile at the time of the alleged kidnapping 18 months ago.

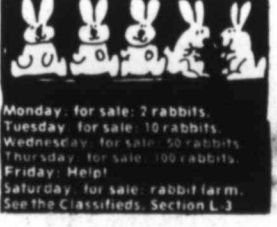

Mrs. Campbell was arrested by FBI agents in Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 10, and 3-year-old Shanita was found safe in Denver, in the home of a couple who were in the process of adopting her.

Denver child welfare officials said Mrs. Campbell left Shanita in her custody in September 1977.

Mrs. Campbell is accused of kidnapping the child while she was babysitting her in April 1977 in Dallas. The child was reunited with her mother, Kim Perkins, two weeks ago.

Mrs. Campbell was indicted by a Dallas County grand jury last March. At that time authorities believed she had been the minimum legal age for adult prosecution — 17 — at the time of the kidnapping.

Mrs. Campbell's mother testified that her daughter was only 16 in April 1977. The district attorney's office said it will ask Juvenile Court Judge Pat McClung to allow Mrs. Campbell to be tried as an adult.

Why must there always be speeches?

A noted man of letters was once moved to remark that it seems the business of this country is really after-dinner speaking. He likely is right.

Americans have more banquets than the English monarchs of the Fourteenth Century. That, in itself, is not a bad idea but, for some reason, service club officials have been thoroughly schooled on the idea that someone should get up and say something at every public gathering.

It doesn't matter if the individual tapped for the honor has nothing of consequence to say, or that the point he is trying to put across is stated most ineffectually. The person or the group commissioned to steer him to the dais reasons it has done its work, having carried out a mission worthy enough to be included in the club scrapbook (which eventually will be forwarded to some national committee for appraisal).

Some clubs offer their speakers emoluments, and invariably they get what they pay for. The truly good ones demand to see the remainder of the program. If they have to share the spotlight with a moppet reciting "My Daddy Is a Worker in the Vineyards of the Lord" their price automatically goes up.

The good speakers are very rare, however. Invariably, some poor jasper gets the call and charges the speaker's platform on 30 minutes notice. Usually, he either promotes the idea of maintaining a good insurance program or reads from notes he has taken of a sermon he has heard six months before.

A lot of clubs lure their speakers by offering them some kind of plaque or certificate. That kind of sales pitch invariably works, especially if the recipient is being honored for having attended club meetings for 52 consecutive years or has helped other donors within the Royal Order of Beavers with as many as three garage sales a year.

It doesn't matter that some of the awards being passed out are second hand and were purchased in a downtown hock shop at a fraction of the original cost.

The best kind of group to speak to invariably is made up of convention-goers. In many cases, they are feeling no pain, having removed themselves to the scene of the bacchanalia for reasons other than a cleansing of the spirit. For that reason, everything the speaker says, more likely than not, will strike them as funny.

A word to the wise might be in order. Analyze your audience before agreeing to take your seat on the VIP platform. If they're in a mood to heckle, you'll be better off fighting with your wife.

The most hostile kind of environment a speaker can enter is one where a gaggle of individuals meeting for a common purpose enjoy their "in" humor — something to which the speaker is not privy. Avoid that kind as if it were cursed with the bubonic plague.

The most refreshing kind of banquet is where the longest speech of the day is "our speaker is a no show today. Eat your meal and don't take any of the silverware when you leave."

Playing God

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The saying that one can't play God doesn't hold true for television networks. They are playing God every week, at least it seems like that when you read about the fight for television ratings. In the B.S. (Before Silverman) days, the networks used to move shows around if they weren't working. But as the competition got tougher and the stakes higher, they began to move around nights.

Now that we're into mid-season, all the networks are starting to move their nights around to see if they can come up with better Nielsen numbers.

THIS IS WHAT is going on. There is a large boardroom. At one end are charts of all the shows on each network schedule and the nights they appear on the air. They're hung on hooks so they can be moved around. Zellerbach, the network's Vice-President-In-Charge-Of-Darkness, says, "All right, let's face it. Monday didn't work. Let's move Monday night to Thursday."

Trembling, the program director, says, "Wait. Thursday is starting to look strong. If we put Monday night in there we could lose our momentum."

Pitdown, the Vice President for Sales, says, "Where would YOU put Monday night?"

"Friday," Trembling says. "I wanted to put Monday night on Friday from the start, but you guys fought me and said Monday night should be slotted on Monday."

"That was at the beginning of the season," Zellerbach says. "We had to give it a try on the night we had it originally scheduled for."

RINGADING, the network's affiliate man, says, "Suppose the stations go along with you putting Monday night on Friday. Where do you intend to put Friday?"

"On Monday?" Trembling says. "It won't work," Zellerbach says. "We're not doing any better on Friday than we are on Monday. If we're going to move Monday further down the week we have to move up something stronger in its place."

"What's wrong with Wednesday?" Pitdown wants to know.

"Not Wednesday!" Trembling shouts. "Wednesday is our strongest night. If we put it on Monday we could lose not only Wednesday but Tuesday as well."

Ringading says, "I'm not so sure. If we could start off the week with Wednesday, we could pick up points for Tuesday as well as Monday, if it was slotted in Wednesday's place."

Zellerbach says, "We can give it a try. If it doesn't work, we can always put Wednesday back beginning the first of the year."

"Does anyone want to talk about Saturday?"

"Do we have to?" Pitdown says. "Well, we can't leave it where it is," Trembling says. "I think Saturday should be on Thursday."

ZELLERBACH SAYS, "Do you think our Thursday night audience can wait until Saturday to see it?"

"Yes," says Trembling, "because if we move Saturday to Thursday the other two networks will be forced to counter-program us with their Saturday shows. Once they panic, we'll move Thursday back to its original place and sweet the evening."

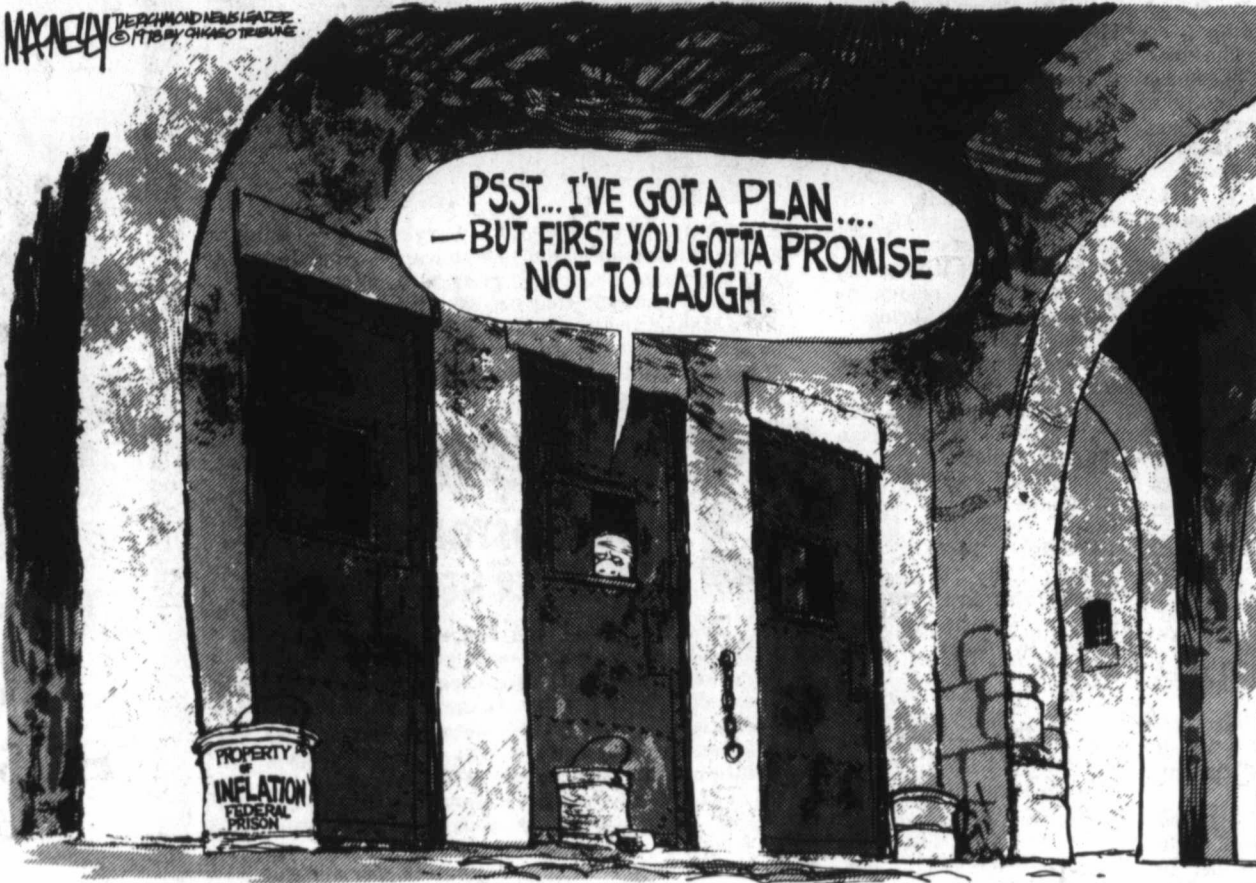

"Okay. That should take care of the week."

"Trembling says, 'You forgot Sunday night.'"

"I must be getting groggy. What are we going to do about Sunday?" Zellerbach says.

Pitdown replies, "Why can't we leave Sunday where it is?"

Ringading replies, "Because we'll confuse the audiences. We can't move the entire week around and leave Sunday alone."

Low blood pressure can cause fatigue

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a connection between my low blood pressure and the fact that I have low energy? My reading is 105-70. My tests show I should be in perfect health. I have never had a serious illness, but I tire easily and seem to operate at about a quarter speed. I get B-12 shots once a month and this helps some. I am 63. — Mrs. E. M.

That's not a low reading. In fact, it is quite nice. You must look elsewhere to explain your ease of fatigue. Low blood pressure (below 90 for the first figure) can cause such fatigue, however.

B-12 shots would help you, if you have pernicious anemia, which you don't mention. Otherwise, I would call their effects psychological.

You don't mention which tests you've had. There are many causes of fatigue. A common one at your age is faulty nutrition. Are you getting three or four meals a day with adequate protein? Low thyroid and low adrenal activity can cause chronic fatigue. A mild depression or a continuing emotional problem can make a person tired.

If you are eating well, sleeping adequately and have no treatable physical defect, you might try some physical exercise. Something as mild as walking or bicycling is sufficient.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the chance of pregnancy when the male uses a rubber during intercourse? I am a serious 16-year-old girl who would like to know the facts about contraceptives, but I'm too modest to ask any adult for this information. I read your column every day. P.S. don't print my name. I might get in trouble. — F.O.

I've added some new initials for your letter, just for you. The condom (or rubber, as you call it) is a very effective method of birth control, but there's a big if attached. The "if" is technique. For example, a major mistake made by many is in the withdrawal. The condom can slip off and remain in the female along with the sperm. It should be held firmly by hand. A second mistake is not allowing sufficient slack at the end. The condom has an advantage beyond contraception — disease prevention for both the male and the female.

Since your contraception information does seem limited, rather than attempt to cover the waterfront here, I'll refer you to my booklet, "The Twelve Methods of Birth Control." For a copy, send a quarter and stamped self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Big Spring Herald. I might suggest in passing that you'd be better off applying a bit of your seriousness and modesty to your sexual activity. That could be an answer to all of your birth control questions.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In a routine physical I was told that my chest X-ray showed early indications of congestive heart failure. No treatment was recommended and I was told to come back in a year for another X-ray. I am 67 and about 25 pounds overweight. Aside from losing weight is there anything I can do to keep this condition from progressing? I appear to be healthy. — Mrs. R. F. B.

Apparently the X-rays were not too impressive or you would have been told to return in less than a year. Much depends on what is heard by the physician when he listens to the heart and lungs. Congestion is usually noted in the lower lung area. Other early symptoms of congestive heart include shortness of breath, fatigue, intolerance to cold and wheezing. Since the X-rays have raised the specter of congestive heart failure, you would do well to have a follow-up examination to pinpoint any problems. Meanwhile, you can lose the extra 25 pounds and keep an eye on your blood pressure. You should have new X-rays within three months. Congestive heart failure can be a gradual thing until it reaches a certain point. Then it becomes a life-threatening situation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A lady wrote you about her jaw, which "crunched and slipped." You said it might be arthritis of the jaw or misalignment of the teeth. I went to a dentist, showed him the article, and told him my trouble, which was the same. He took some measurements, then put my old teeth in new plastic. I have these new dentures and my jaw does not "jump" as before. Thanks so much for the hint. — Mrs. A. S.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of The Big Spring Herald, for a copy of this booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Doctor set up

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — For 32 years, Dr. Robert Sinderbrand has been the town physician for the small New Jersey community of Egg Harbor City, population 4,500. For nominal fees, he has served as a school doctor for two townships and has treated migrant workers in the area.

On one occasion, the townspeople recall admiringly, Doc Sinderbrand stands accused by New Jersey authorities of being a drug pusher.

HIS PROSECUTION began with a computer error, and was consummated by a devious undercover setup by state narcotics agents. The computer erroneously showed he made heavy purchases of drugs over a short period. Thus brought under suspicion, Doc Sinderbrand was subjected to the guileful approaches of undercover gumshoes posing as long-haul truckers from Florida in need of pills that would keep them awake at the wheel.

Because of a serious heart condition, attested to by cardiologists, Sinderbrand has agreed to cop a plea and avoid the strain of proceedings before the state medical board. He admitted one charge of "indiscriminately prescribing" dextroamphetamine pills. The board has postponed a formal decision on his case until Nov. 8.

The best deal Sinderbrand could strike in plea bargaining with the state medical board was a six-month suspension of his license and a $12,660 fine — plus $900 for the costs of the trap the state investigators had sprung on him. There was never any evidence that the doctor sold drugs "indiscriminately" to anyone other than the undercover agents.

The "take" from Doc Sinderbrand's drug-pushing operation was his standard $10 fee for each of some 10 visits, and a gift case of grapefruit which the state insisted on classifying as payment for services rendered.

What outrages his Egg Harbor City neighbors even more is the fact that Doc Sinderbrand still has pending against him state criminal charges that could send him to jail for five years. At the very least, it could ruin him professionally for the rest of his life.

State authorities refused on ethical grounds to discuss the Sinderbrand case, but there is the account of his ordeal, which the doctor and his attorney, Harold Schuman, gave us:

A FEW years ago, Doc Sinderbrand took advantage of a bargain price to order a year's supply of dextroamphetamine pills. The board was enough to alert the state drug sleuths.

Apparently never occurred to the investigators to question the computer.

A mother wrote Ann Landers about her son who was looking for employment. A prospective employer told the young man he'd have to cut his hair and shave off his beard if he wanted a job, whereupon the young man told him to take his job and shove it.

THE MOTHER wanted to know if her son was right or wrong and Ann answered that telling a prospective employer to take his job and shove it indicates that the son has a negative personality.

I don't know about that, Ann. He sounds pretty positive to me.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have seen you on television asking people to give themselves to Christ. What exactly does this mean? A. C.

DEAR A. C.: Let's imagine you were a citizen of a nation ruled by a very evil king. All you could look forward to would be suffering and oppression. Now suppose I told you about another nation, also ruled by a king. But this king was very good and his subjects lived in peace and happiness. What would have to happen before you could become a citizen of that good kingdom?

You would have to believe that it was true. You would have to renounce your old citizenship and reject the rule of the evil king. Then you would have to become a citizen of the good kingdom by a definite act and accept the good king as king over your life.

That is what happens when we come to Christ. The Bible says we are born as citizens of a cruel and evil "king"

— Satan. We are sinners, and ultimately that sin will separate us eternally from God. But there is another kingdom — the kingdom of God! Jesus Christ came to take away our sins, and restore us to a right relationship with God. "For he has rescued us from the dominion of darkness and brought us into the kingdom of the Son he loves, in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins" (Colossians 1:13-14, New International Version).

What does it mean to accept Christ? It means to believe the truth about Him which the Bible presents: that He is the Son of God who died on the cross to take away your sins by faith in Him. It means to renounce our sins and our old manner of living. And it means to accept a new King — the Lord Jesus Christ.

Dear Editor: Lies, lies, lies. The "Tax Relief Amendment" as it will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot is a pack of lies. It will state, "Providing for tax relief for residential homesteads, elderly persons, disabled persons, and agricultural land; for personal property exemptions; for truth in taxation procedures, including citizen involvement; for redefinition of the tax base; for limitation on state spending; and for restrictions on property tax administration." A pack of lies.

If it were possible to prosecute our state legislature for fraud and deception I would file charges tomorrow. But several years ago they passed a bill making it legal for the legislature to deceive the public when voting on constitutional amendments. Now they are deceiving the voters on this very important tax relief measure.

Contrary to what the ballot will say, this revision to our state constitution will not give the people tax relief or limitation on government spending. If you read the bill itself, HJR No. 1, and find out what it really says, you will vote "AGAINST" the tax relief amendment.

Dear Editor: We are new to Big Spring and I will truthfully add pleased with the whole town.

I like the whole town, life style and attitude on the whole. But, I am a 1961 graduate of Midland High School and, will confess, a little bit partial, as anyone should be to their alma mater. When I attended the fantastic football game between the Steers and the Bulldogs I cheered for both teams. Having a freshman student and being a resident of Big Spring, I felt this was right.

Just to the right of me sat a very experienced ex-quarterback for the Steers and, believe me, these 'dummies' who played have nothing on him. He probably never dropped a ball, caused a penalty or made a wrong move "back when we played" for BSHS.

loudmouth behind me. She was probably head consultant for the Steers 35 years ago. If people would say 'good playing' when these boys made a foul move instead of calling them names and bad mouthing them, the boys might play better ball.

As long as they play like the stadium professionals think they should, it's fine but where goes the spirit?

If people would say BS is my team, right or wrong, instead of if they make a touchdown they might find they have a lot better team than they realize.

To the Steers: Go ahead, you can do anything you want, if you fight and don't listen to the armchair quarterbacks who sit in the stands and ridicule you. As for me, I am going to be back Homecoming and am going to hope the Steers do a good job or at least their best and that's all we can ask of anyone. We are behind the Steers all the way.

Halloween tips for child safety

WASHINGTON (AP)—Be sure the trick-or-treaters can see and be seen, the Consumer Product Safety Commission said Saturday in a pre-Halloween reminder for America's moms and dads.

Young children, the federal safety agency advises, should be wary of cars, holes and steps as well as witches, goblins and ghosts.

The agency says costumes should be light in color or bright enough to be seen by motorists. And as an added safety precaution, it advises using reflective tape on the costumes, so they will glow in cars' headlights.

The same goes for trick-or-treat bags for taking home the bounty. They should be light in color, and they can be decorated with reflective tape.

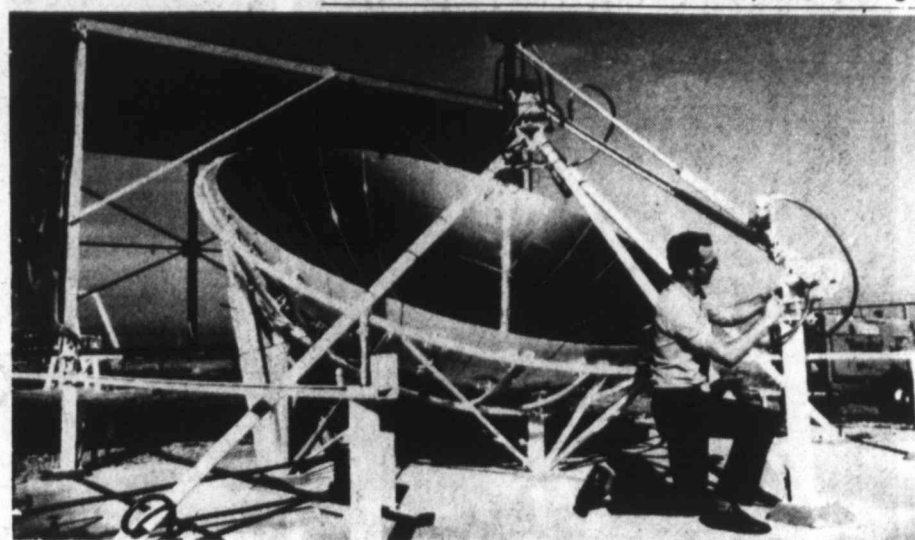

The agency also passed on these Halloween tips:

- Costumes should be short enough to avoid tripping, and not so full or billowy as to cause stumbling or brushing against lighted candles.
- All of the Halloween paraphernalia — costumes, masks, beards or wigs — should be flame retardant and have labels saying as much.
- Painting the child's face with mama's cosmetics is better than a loose-fitting mask which could slip and obstruct the child's vision, possibly causing a fall or preventing the child from seeing an on-coming vehicle.
- If masks are used, they should have large, unobstructed eye holes and a good fit. Hats should be tight-fitting, too, so they won't slip down over children's eyes.
- Children should carry flashlights, the better to see by and to be seen.
- Jack-O-Lanterns should be lighted with flashlights, not candles. All possibilities for flame ignitions should be eliminated.
- The safety commission offers the standard advice that all small children should be accompanied by parents or responsible adults when making their rounds.

Friendly neighbors expecting to give out the treats should have their outside lights on. Parents should tell their children not to go to homes that are not well lighted.

Meanwhile, the National Confectioners Association says police departments in 125 cities responded to a poll it conducted on Halloween safety. Some 90 percent of the departments reported that they were experiencing far fewer incidents of tainted Halloween treats or no incidents at all in the past year or two, the association said.

The 11-foot diameter prototype, properly called a Fixed Mirror Distributed Focus (FDMDF) system, was designed by E-Systems Energy Technology Center, Garland, as the forerunner of a 65-foot diameter FDMDF now under construction in the West Texas city of Crosbyton. The next proposed phase calls for construction of a "solar gridiron" (10 systems) of 200-foot diameter FDMDF units capable of generating 5,000 kilowatts of electrical power for the farm community of 2,500. Stenholm eyeing final sweep across district

By MARJ CARPENTER

Charles Stenholm began his campaign for Congressman in the 17th District in the summer of 1977 when he arrived in Big Spring in a bus caravan.

At that time, his hometown backers, including such people as the superintendent of schools, the publisher of the Stamford newspaper, many local businessmen and farmers and other backers traveled with him in that bus.

The local Stamford people showed their confidence in him in the initial primary and the runoff when he had 96 percent of his hometown voting for him in the race.

Since that time, Stenholm has traveled across the sprawling 33 county district, attending numerous local events, meeting thousands of people and delivering his campaign message.

publicly endorsed the Democrat candidate for the post.

Omar Burleson, outgoing Congressman in the district, also has endorsed Stenholm, and spoke in his behalf at a dinner here two weeks ago.

At that time, Ray Farabee, state senator from Wichita Falls also endorsed the Stamford man for Congress.

His final stop in Big Spring, after attending numerous functions here during his year of campaigning, will probably be Monday morning.

Stenholm is ending his campaign with the same plea with which he began it, "Give me a two-year contract in Washington to represent you and if at the end of that period if you are not satisfied, you can cancel it at the polls."

Three states 'selling' themselves

Tax breaks, cut-rate loans specially trained workers, new roads — all are in the bags of pitchmen trying to "sell" California, Pennsylvania, New York and other states to increasingly receptive Japanese automakers.

More than 30 states are aggressively wooing the Japanese. The object: "New jobs — that's the only thing we're concerned with," said John Mathews of the Missouri Division of Commerce.

An Associated Press survey found state after state in which officials have talked to Japanese automakers about a new factory. But while they acknowledge the discussions, the officials kept secret the details of their offers and the responses from the Japanese.

And the automakers, themselves secretive as to their plans, concede that they're looking more and more favorably on setting up large assembly plants in the United States.

Toyota already builds truck beds in Long Beach, Calif. Honda is building a $25 million motorcycle assembly plant in Marysville, Ohio, and eventually may manufacture autos there. All the Japanese firms say they are watching Volkswagen's new U.S. plant in New Stanton, Pa.

Yasuhiko Suzuki, vice president of Nissan U.S.A., which makes Datsuns, said his firm has received information, solicited and unsolicited, from more than 30 states.

A spokesman for Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A. Inc. said Toyota officials in the United States received bids from at least 12 states, and many more apparently went directly to Japanese company headquarters. Both firms reportedly have hired consultants to scout promising U.S. sites.

The Japanese view U.S. plants as possible solutions to two serious problems: The declining value of the U.S.

dollar against the Japanese yen and the threat of anti-import regulations cutting into their important U.S. sales.

The dollar is worth about half as many yen now as it was seven years ago.

MIA's wife gets delay for suit

DALLAS (AP) — A Weatherford woman whose husband is missing in action in Southeast Asia has gained a 60-day delay in a hearing on his status after filing suit to challenge the federal government's method of declaring MIAs dead.

Paula Hartness, wife of an Air Force officer lost in Laos in 1968, had been scheduled to meet Monday in Washington with Defense Department officials who were seeking to review her husband's "missing" status. The government agreed to a 60-day delay after she filed suit in federal court here Friday, claiming the reclassification procedure denies missing men and their families due process under the 5th Amendment.

Mrs. Hartness, Texas coordinator for the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, has urged the government to press harder to determine the status of all who were missing in action.

She claims in her suit that the government procedure to reclassify her husband's status from "missing" to "killed" requires her to prove he is still alive to avoid an official determination of death. The suit also said Mrs. Hartness has been denied access to information about her husband, Lt. Col. Gregg Hartness, that she would need to provide such proof. Hartness also is named as a plaintiff in the suit.

A declaration of death by the government also would mean the loss to Mrs. Hartness of her husband's full pay and benefits, which she has been receiving since he was listed as missing, other court documents said.

EVERY HOME CAN NOW HAVE HOT WATER HEAT WITHOUT PLUMBING AT LOW COST

More than 1,000,000 installations attest to the fact that Intertherm electric hot water heat without plumbing provides more comfort than you ever dreamed possible. And at an annual operating cost comparable to gas and oil.

No more cold drafts. No more cold floors. Even heat in every room. No "on" again, "off" again heat. And air so fresh it feels like summertime all year round.

The secret is in the water in the baseboard heaters, which changes temperature according to outside weather conditions. Guarantees comfort and economy at the same time.

Don't wait. Phone or write in for all the details today. And earn for yourself how hot water heat without plumbing can be the answer to providing the greatest comfort for your family.

Democrat majority expected

Not surprisingly, Texas Democrats are expected to sweep a majority of the 22 contested Congressional races on the Nov. 7 general ballot.

Races in the 5th and 22nd Districts, where incumbents face strong challenge, and in the 19th and 21st Districts, where the incumbents did not run, may provide the most excitement for political observers.

The two incumbents home free this election with no opponents are Republican Jim Collins in Dallas' 3rd District and Democrat Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio's 20th District.

Democrat Nelson Wolff, a 37-year-old former state legislator, and Republican Tom Loeffler, a former Gerald Ford aide from Kerrville, have been battling for the 21st District seat in Central Texas vacated when Bob Krueger opted to run

Dr. Arno A. Penzias and Dr. Robert W. Wilson of Bell Laboratories have been named co-winners of the 1978 Nobel Prize in physics jointly with Professor Piotr Kapitsa, of the Academy of Sciences, Moscow.

Penzias is director of the Radio Research Laboratory and Wilson is head of the Radio Physics Department. There is the second prize awarded in two successive years to Bell Labs scientists.

In its announcements, the Royal Swedish Academy said the prize will be awarded in two equal parts. Kapitsa was honored for his basic inventions and discovery in the area of low-temperature physics.

Penzias and Wilson will share their award for discoveries of the cosmic microwave background radiation. They are the sixth and seventh Bell Labs scientists to receive the Nobel Prize in physics. In 1937, Dr. Clinton C. Davison won the award for discovery of the wave nature of matter, which contributed to the development of basic concepts of modern physics.

The Nobel Prize for the transistor, which revolutionized electronics technology, was awarded in 1956 to Drs. John Bardeen, Walter Brattain, and William Shockley. Last year, Dr. Phillip W. Anderson, consulting director in physics research, was awarded the Nobel Prize for his theoretical studies of magnetism and disordered systems.

Penzias, a native of Munich, Germany, joined Bell Labs in 1961 and is responsible for microwave and millimeter-wave transmission and reception studies, and radio astronomy research. He is a graduate of City College of New York, and received the Ph.D. in physics from Columbia University.

Wilson, a native of Houston, Texas, joined Bell Labs in 1963. He is currently specializing in research in radio astronomy and semiconductor devices and components used in microwave and millimeter-wave radio transmission studies. He received a B.A. "with honors in physics" from Rice University, and a Ph.D. from the California Institute of Technology.

In 1964, Penzias and Wilson were using the most sensitive radio astronomy antenna available to conduct research in radio astronomy and satellite communication. The equipment was built in the 1960s at Bell Labs and was originally used for the radio communications for the satellites Echo and Telstar.

TES customers start

paying higher rates

New electric rates reflecting the recently approved $37.9 million system-wide increase in revenues became effective Friday for customers of Texas Electric Service Company.

Texas Electric submitted the rates after the three-member Public Utility Commission granted a rate increase earlier this month. The rates, which represent an 8.4 per cent average increase in electric bills, were approved by the PUC Thursday.

Local manager Jack Redding said the new rates were put into effect for all customers at the same time.

"For example, with the rates going into effect Friday, October 27, if a customer's meter is read on November 2, he will be charged on the old rates for 24 days and then charges under the new rates for six days of the billing period," Redding explained.

"This method assures that all customers are being treated fairly under the new rates."

All residential customers will see an increase in their electric rates with larger increases in the summer than in the winter.

Under the new rates, a customer using 750 kilowatt-hours in the summer will see his bill increase from about $30 to about $33, while his winter bill run about $24 for the same usage.

"The reason for the difference is that it costs more to make electricity in the summer than in the winter because of the high summer demand by our customers," Redding said.

Total electric customers will see an even larger difference in their winter and summer bills because while the summer rate was increased, the charge per kilowatt-hour during the winter months remained the same.

"But on the average, total electric customers will see about the same increase as other residential customers," he said.

In addition, the customer charges were reduced under the new rates from a flat $7 charge to a $6 minimum bill which includes 25 kilowatt-hours.

Former state senator Kent Hance, a 35-year-old Democrat from Lubbock, and Republican George W. Bush, Midland, have put together well-heeled campaigns seeking the 19th District seat left open by the retirement of 44-year veteran George Mahon.

Bob Gammage, the incumbent Democrat from Houston in the 22nd District, will face 42-year-old Ron Paul for the third time. Paul, a physician from Lake Jackson, won a special election to fill the unexpired term of Rep. Bob Casey in 1976 and seven months later, Gammage beat Paul in the general election by just over 230 votes. The victory was unsuccessfully challenged in court and the House of Representatives.

And Democrat Jim Mattox, seeking his second term from the 5th District, is being challenged by conservative Republican Tom Pauken. Both are from Dallas. James Michael White, a 26-year-old Dallas machinist running on the Socialist Workers Party ticket, will pull few votes from Mattox, a liberal attorney, and Pauken, who has received funds through the Republican National Committee.

Ronald Reagan and John Connally have made appearances in behalf of Pauken, who claims Mattox is "too liberal" and has too much banking support. Mattox has campaigned primarily on his record as a "people's advocate" and counters that Pauken was once an aide to President Richard Nixon.

Wolff, who lives in the San Antonio suburb of Leon Springs, barely lost in the primary runoff against Krueger in 1974 for the seat in the 21st District. A lawyer-businessman, he was elected state representative in 1970 and became state senator in 1972 unseating State Sen. Joe Bernal. He claims much of his strength lies in the San Antonio area, where half the voting population of this massive district lives.

Loeffler, a rancher-attorney and former University of Texas football player, was an aide to Sen. Tower from 1972-74 and was special assistant for legislative affairs to President Gerald Ford in 1975. He later became a lobbyist for Tenneco Inc., a Houston-based oil and gas firm.

Although Democrats usually are favored in this district, which encompasses 28 counties and parts of four more, Loeffler has strong support among ranchers and oil men, who may vote Republican to reflect their dissatisfaction with the Carter administration.

Lubbock voters may cast the determining ballots in the 19th District of West Texas. Hance, a former state senator from Lubbock, has garnered much support from the rural areas, and may have the advantage of being the home-town candidate. Mahon, also of Lubbock, is the only person ever to have held that seat since his election in 1935.

But Bush, propelled by a nationally prominent financial backers who have contributed more than $200,000, may be able to attract a large chunk of votes through an intense media campaign.

The retirement of four other veteran legislators and the primary defeats of two others will assure at least six new faces in the delegation.

Say Highland partisans

Lake poses economic threat

Highland Lakes partisans had their inning during the past week to protest the Stacy reservoir and predicted that the proposed lake on the Colorado River would pose a grave economic threat. Mayor Carol McClelland even said it threatened Austin's destiny.

Attorneys for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, which is seeking the 554,000-acre foot lake to supply 113,000 acre feet of water a year for West Texas cities and industries, contended on cross examination that when Stacy is built, there still will be plenty of water to satisfy all downstream rights to the year 2030. The hearings dragged through their 29th day Thursday with no end in sight; actually the Texas Water Rights Commission set several dates in December in event the belabored hearing continues that long.

Public officials, property owners and others from Lake Buchanan to Austin had their say in non-evidentiary statements filed Tuesday. State Sen. Lloyd Doggett, Austin, led a battery of solons from Travis County and foresaw "great personal and economic loss if Stacy is approved. It would severely reduce our capacity to generate low-cost electricity" (Three per cent of power generation by the Lower Colorado River Authority, chief Stacy opponent), is generated by release of water from the Highland Lakes. Rep. Wayne Hill ventured Stacy might threaten Austin's drinking water.

IRS to extend its deadline

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Omar Burleson advises that the Internal Revenue Service has extended its deadline for receiving comments on the tax-exempt status of certain private schools. The IRS proposal would set forth new guidelines for determining whether these schools have racially discriminatory policies.

Comments will now be accepted until Oct. 31, 1978, and may be sent to the Internal Revenue Service, 1111 Constitution Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20224, Attention E: EO.

A hearing at IRS headquarters has been scheduled for December 5. Persons who wish to speak at the hearing should submit written comments by Oct. 31 and also send an outline of their oral comments and the time they wish to devote to each subject to the IRS by Nov. 20, 1978.

Among others making similar statements were Leslie F. Andrews, president of Lake Buchanan Chamber of Commerce, Walter Reed, representing National Resorts Community, a big real estate development, and Charlie Robertson of the Highland Lakes Tourist Association Co. Commissioner Bob Honts narrowed it to "no benefit to Travis County."

First two witnesses for the LCRA, Dr. Krishna Murthy of the Texas Department of Water Resources planning section, and Andy Wells, a former member of the section, also were heard, albeit with constant objections from attorneys. Dr. Murthy described how certain parts of the LP-60 long range planning report arrived at a conclusion that there was only about 3,120 acres of unappropriated water remaining in the Colorado basin. He told Frank Booth, CRMWD attorney, that he reached this answer on the basis of taking all permits, certified filings and claims at 100 per cent face value, adding "we have not finalized this report. We have to wait until all the rights are adjudicated."

Wells was questioned about the estimate that Stacy would reduce the yield of Lake Buchanan by 14.9 per cent. He testified, in effect, that he simply had relied on data in the Murthy and other reports, had not personally checked figures against real conditions. Had he put other figures in the computer, he likely would have come up with another answer, he conceded.

Larry Smith, counsel for LCRA, moved unsuccessfully to have CRMWD's application thrown out because he said the applicant had not shown there was anywhere near enough unappropriated water to support Stacy. Smith wanted the TWC to include every permit ever granted on the river, claim or certified filing and then pass on their validity, something the TWC and its predecessors have been unable to do for years.

Smith pleaded that the Wagstaff Act, which grants highest priority in water use to municipalities, applies only to "cities and towns," whereas CRMWD is a "district." Booth argued that this was a frivolous narrowing of intent. Previous testimony of Robert S. Gooch, hydrologist for the CRMWD, had shown plenty of water for the project, with some 244,000 acre feet of water left after all down-stream beneficial uses were met.

"We have shown very clearly that there is ample water," Booth declared. "To play like there is no water when there is sheer nonsense." LCRA, he added, releases far more water for hydroelectric power generation than the impact of Stacy on the Highland Lakes system, and that "we may have here a question of (a minor amount of LCRA) hydroelectric power or drinking water for West Texas."

Bill West, operations manager for LCRA, will be on the stand Wednesday when hearings resume in Austin. He will be followed by Steve Dennis, representing the engineering firm of Lockwood, Andrews and Newman, LCRA's consultant.

Woman afraid Indian would scalp her Learning life as it is lived on 'frontier'

By CARLA WALKER

"I was just sure that Gleas would come home and find Joanne and me scalped," laughed English native Mrs. Walter (Jean) Gleason about one of her earliest experiences in the U.S.

"I had been in the states only a short time, and the only things I knew about Indians came from John Wayne movies and my mum writing 'Watch out for the Indians.' We were living in an apartment over a tavern and shared a bath with the couple next door.

"They were American Indians, and we'd only been living there three days when my husband, Gleas, began a night shift at their air base there in Wichita, Kansas. I was so scared I'd hardly go to the bathroom without Gleason outside the door.

"That night, the Indian got roaring drunk and began some kind of war chant. The walls between the apartments were very thin and I could hear him thrashing around and carrying on on the other side," Mrs. Gleason related.

"I moved a chest of drawers across the door, picked up my nine-month-old daughter, and sat up on the bed all night, terrified that I wasn't going to live through the night after the Indian attack," she laughed. "I later met the neighbors and found them to be very nice, but until Gleas came home, I was horrified.

"I still pull some dumb stunts and there are still some things about America that surprise me after 25 years here," she said. "Then, I wasn't surprised — I was plain terrified."

Mrs. Gleason — then Jean McCaig grew up in Widnes, England, near Liverpool, and remembers well the bombing of the area during World War II. "I was very young during the war — about 10 during the raids on England — and we more or less developed a fatalistic attitude. We stopped going to the bomb shelters after a while, and would sit outside and watch the tracer bullets and fighters in the night sky. If your number came up, you'd be gone anyway, so why cower. I might be scared if it happened now, but then it was exciting.

"I never hated the Germans. We had prisoners of war in our town and they got to walk around town on Saturdays. I took German in school just so I could talk to them. They were nice — like our boys — and didn't want to be away from home any more than an Englishman did," said Mrs. Gleason.

"It was taboo to associate with the American soldiers — Yanks as we called them," she laughed. "I remember the first good whipping I got was for standing with the other kids on the railroad embankment yelling 'You got any gum, chum to the Yanks in hopes they'd throw us candy or gum. The first American candy I ever saw was Lifesavers that those Yanks threw to us."

"When I met Gleas — no one called him Walter — I was engaged to a British sailor who'd been away for a long time," recalls Mrs.

Gleason. "A friend of mine said she was going out with a Yank and he had a friend so why didn't we double.

"I said 'No, no, we'll be in all kinds of trouble,' but she talked me into going; if my mom had found out about it then, I would have been in trouble," she laughed. "I couldn't stand Gleas — he was rude, what I thought of as a 'typical Yank,' and I'd have never gone out with him again except that he bugged me to death until I went just to shut him up."

Mr. Gleason didn't meet her parents for six months or more.

"We'd seen the show at both movie houses in town and it was raining out, and Gleas said 'It's time you took me to meet your parents.' I didn't want to but he insisted, and when my mum met us at the door her very words were 'Oh Bloody hell, No.' I think Gleas kind of wished he hadn't been so insistent," she laughed.

The couple married — with the blessings of her parents — and they came to the U.S., arriving in New York late in November, 1953. They went by train to St. Louis, where they were met by Mr. Gleason's family.

"His family descended on us, and they were so excited to see their darling Gleason and his little girl, Joanne, that they left me sitting on the bench at the train station," Mrs. Gleason recalls. "I was ready to go back to England, but they remembered me and came back.

"We ate Thanksgiving dinner that day with his family, and I remember that I'd never seen so much food in my life. England was still on food rations after the war, and I thought I was in the land of milk and honey for sure.

"Then, I began looking for the bathroom. I thought I had come from the old land to the modern U.S., but there was no bathroom there. I finally asked Gleason and he showed me the first outdoor john I'd ever seen — a two-holer at that," she laughed. "I was shocked."

The Gleasons moved to Kansas, where he was stationed, and Mrs. Gleason learned an important lesson about the Kansas sun.

"In England, it very seldom gets to 70 degrees and I didn't know about the sun. I left Joanne in the sun for a few hours while we were near a river, and she ended up in the hospital with second degree burns. For three months I could hardly stand to take her outside again, I just didn't know any better. You've heard what they say about mad dogs and Englishmen and the midday sun — I suppose it's true.

"Right then, I wasn't sure if I liked the states or not," said Mrs. Gleason. "I wasn't used to the temperature, and I hated the bugs — in England, we didn't have bugs and our only snake is the rarely seen asp. But, in Kansas, there were grasshoppers on the screen doors in a huge black mass and it was so buggy and shakey — I still don't like Kansas. I hated to go out during the three grasshopper months.

"I almost got arrested in Kansas for child abuse. In England, we used a harness for walking children. I used the harness with a swivel hook on the back and a long rope to the clothesline. That way, my second born, Susie could run and play in the back yard freely without any danger of hurting herself; couldn't get in the street, and I didn't have to stand over her every second.

A policeman and a woman from the welfare office came and they said 'we heard you keep your child tied like an animal in the backyard.' I showed them and the policeman congratulated me but the welfare woman left mad," Mrs. Gleason laughed.

"After Kansas, we went to France, then back to the states to Lubbock. I took the girls and went to England for a year while Gleas was stationed in Greenland, then we moved to Clovis, N.M. From 1967 to 1972, we went back to England, then came back to the states — to Big Spring. We left, and for a while Gleason was stationed in Thailand and in Florida, but after he retired, we came back to Big Spring. I love it here; I honestly feel that the friendliest people in the world are here in Big Spring," said Mrs. Gleason.

"The U.S. held a lot of surprises for me. The only Yanks I'd known were the GIs in England and they were wild. I thought this was a God-Forsaken place, but was pleasantly surprised to see how much religion means to Americans. I had envisioned a land without any churches.

It took me a long time to get used to the seasoning on food here — in England, very little seasoning is used. I still have an English appetite, but my youngest daughter, Sandy, is the only one who has English taste. I like things like tomato soup over chips (French fries), Sheppard's pie (corn beef casserole with mashed potatoes and cheese), lots of beef with boiled or fried potatoes, leafy green vegetables, and desserts like custard over fruit pies, cream cakes and pastries.

"I still have to have my hot tea first thing in the morning, then I can drink coffee all day," laughed Mrs. Gleason. "And, it took me years to trust you crazy drivers enough to even enjoy riding much less drive at all. "I'd ride in the front seat of the car with Gleas and see those lights coming at me on the wrong side of the road and Gleas was on the right side when I felt he should be on the left. It was scary — I only started driving again about four years ago."

The Gleasons live in Big Spring and have three children, Joanne Pell and Sandy Marshall, both of Big Spring and Susan Hiler, who lives in the Panama Canal Zone. They have one grandson, Shane Pell. Mrs. Gleason works at the guidance office of Howard College, and says she took her U.S. citizenship "only after years of thought."

"I didn't want to take my citizenship until I felt I could be as loyal an American as I was an Englishwoman," she said. "It was a big step and I couldn't take it lightly or hypocritically.

"I took my citizenship at El Paso in 1966 with 93 others — mostly Mexican natives. I still love England — it's my native country and I love it deeply. I don't think anyone can totally denounce their homeland, and I did cross my fingers in the part of the oath," Mrs. Gleason confessed.

"Don't misunderstand me — I love America and I am very proud to be an American. My country is American and my 'allegiance' is here, but the homeland of my parents and of my childhood is England. I will always love them, both countries, and cannot feel that it is disloyalty to either."

'Makes you sicker to get well'

Mexican doctor forced to close pharmacy

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Mexican man who practices a form of healing he says "makes you sicker to get you well" has closed his store here in the face of questions from state agencies.

Since June, Dr. Ismael Garza has been advertising that the assorted remedies sold at his Dr. Hahnemann's homeopathic pharmacy can successfully treat such problems as asthma, obesity, hemorrhoids, wanting to cry and other assorted maladies.

Dr. Hahnemann was the man who founded the practice of homeopathy in 1796. The formal definition says it is the "medical practice holding that disease is cured by remedies which produce on a healthy person effects similar to the symptoms of the complaint of the person."

"Through the years doctors have been against it because it is an unknown," Garza told the Brownsville Herald a few days before he hung a "temporarily closed for inventory" sign on his store.

Garza said he consults with patients before suggesting a treatment. The treatments come in $5-per-bottle pills his wife dispenses at the downtown store.

One woman who complained of a head cold and sore throat was sold three types of pills. The labels identified the pills as mer-curius benoid, nat mur and spongia.

A state board of pharmacy official said nat mur is apparently salt and the mercurius benoid was "some kind of mercury — but 'benoid'? We never heard of it."

And spongia is apparently "roasted sponge," according to Fred Brinkley, director of the State Pharmacy Board.

"We are aware of the situation down there and so is the state medical board — that's all I can tell you now," Brinkley said.

Garza's store — billed as a pharmacy — apparently violates state law in that Garza is not a licensed pharmacist.

He also is not a doctor, according to the list of physicians maintained by the State Board of Medical Examiners in Austin.

Certificates on the wall of the store identify Garza as a doctor and he is listed in the phone book as "Garza, Ismael M.D."

"We've never heard of him," a medical examiners board spokesman said. "He has no Texas license, no temporary license and no permit to operate (as a physician) in the state."

Garza pleads ignorance. "I do not believe I am doing anything illegal but the laws here may be different from what I think," he said through an interpreter.

Garza said he is a 1964 graduate of a Mexico City School of Homeopathy. The director of a Matamoros, Mexico, health center said the school is a recognized school of homeopathic medicine. But Dr. Jorge Burguete Rovira said graduates of the school cannot perform surgery or prescribe drugs without a special permit.

Garza denied telling the phone company he is a medical doctor.

"I told them I am a doctor but I did not tell them to put M.D. After my name," he said.

Garza has a chain of seven homeopathic pharmacies in Mexico. Since opening the "pharmacy" here he has attracted a loyal local following.

Teresa Maza said her young son has suffered from chronic bronchitis that medical doctors seemed unable to control.

The child began feeling better after Garza put him on a homeopathic regimen.

"Now, we have no more problems," the satisfied customer said.

But Friday, one day after

Garza was quoted as saying "whatever happens, I will not close down," the door was locked on the store.

John Sartore, chief investigator for the board of medical examiners, said Garza is apparently violating state law by taking "indirect payment" for medical services.

"It sure does sound like the practice of medicine to me as well as the illegal practice of pharmacy," Sartore said. "I don't know just when but we'll be coming down to have a look.

— who was unavailable for comment after closing the store — somewhat confused.

"Why me?" He said. "It's a shame that a country so powerful that calls itself a democracy should have laws

UNLICENSED PHARMACY CLOSED — The Dr. Hahnemann Homeopathic Pharmacy here closed its doors Friday, the day after a Brownsville Herald story pointed out that it does not have a state license to dispense drugs or use the name "pharmacy." The firm's owner, Ismael Garza, left, also has been using the designation "M.D." but does not have a license to practice medicine in Texas. Latin phrase above the firm's counter, right, means "likes are cured by likes." Garza has several of the "homeopathic" pharmacies in Mexico.

Unrest of many precedes firing of superintendent

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Months of political turmoil, secret school board meetings and teacher unrest preceded the firing of San Augustine school Superintendent Glyn Williamson last May, a retired principal has testified.

Often near tears, Harlow Johnson told a Texas Education Agency hearing officer that she and other educators had battled the local board over pupil promotions, sick leave and other matters.

Williamson's dismissal "did more to lower the morale of the teaching force than anything we have had happen in a long time," she said.

The three schools in the district lost 25 teachers the past year, Mrs. Johnson said Friday, the fifth day of what has been described as the longest hearing ever held by the TEA on an appeal by a dismissed educator.

Williamson, now living in Nacogdoches and managing several imported goods stores, seeks reinstatement and back pay. State Education Commissioner Marlin Brockette will decide the case, based on the report of hearing examiner Jay Brim. Brockette's decision can be appealed by either Williamson or the San Augustine board to the State Board of Education.

Williamson was fired shortly after board president Dr. N.T. Bennett was re-elected and Willie Earl Tindall, wife of Sheriff Nathan Tindall, was elected in a heated political campaign.

Larry Daves of Tyler, Williamson's lawyer, said 85 percent of the teachers and administrators in the district opposed Bennett.

"There was no question about whose side the administration was on," Daves said.

After Williamson was fired, Mrs. Tindall was appointed superintendent.

Mrs. Johnson testified Bennett was plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging the revaluation of property in the school district when elect to the board in 1975. She said the revaluation was necessary to provide sufficient revenue to make the payments on a $2 million bond issue.

One charge levied by the board in firing Williamson was failure to furnish correct budget figures to the board and mismanagement of funds.

Daves asserted during the hearing that Bennett had 3,000 acres assessed at an "artificially low value" and was trying to "shift responsibility" for a 1976-77 budget deficit to Williamson.

Mrs. Johnson said teachers were in turmoil in the summer and fall of 1977 because a budget deficit that could have closed the schoolhouse doors in August and by a new board policy of docking absent teachers a full day's pay if they had used up all their sick leave.

Williamson was accused by the board of not following the sick leave policy.

Bennett's letter dismissing Williamson said he applied the sick leave policy in such a way that he would "appear as the hero and the board as the bad guys."

Lynn Montes of Lufkin, an accountant, testified that his review of district records showed that amounts deducted from absent teachers' salaries was "at variance with the amounts prescribed to be deducted by board policy."

Mrs. Johnson said the board held most of its meetings on an "emergency" basis and often in executive session last fall when teachers were protesting the sick leave policy.

She said Bennett once ordered a Beaumont Enterprise reporter to leave the hallway outside the board room after accusing him of eavesdropping on an executive session.

St. Lawrence has model weevil control program

By JAMES LEE COUNTY EXTENSION
ENTOMOLOGIST

Probably the oldest producer-run boll weevil diapause control program in the nation is currently in its 10th season. The St. Lawrence Boll Weevil control program is a joint effort of the St. Lawrence Cotton Producers Association, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Department of Agriculture, and the statewide Texas Pest Management Association.

The success of the St. Lawrence program is very apparent. In the late 60s, the boll weevil was a serious pest of cotton in the area.

Now, producers are growing cotton on over 90,000 acres with little concern about the boll weevil. The diapause control program has reduced the boll weevil to a late-season noneconomic pest. This was the primary objective of the program.

Other benefits have resulted. Less insecticide is being added to the environment because producers do not need to control the weevil during the season. Also, since insecticides are not applied for boll weevil control during the growing season, bollworms are usually kept under control by beneficial insects, spiders, and other natural enemies. This further reduces the need for insecticide and reduces growing expenses.

The next boll weevil control program begins when one ends. The county extension entomologist conducts overwintered boll weevil trash surveys during the winter and early spring.

Boll weevil traps are placed across the four-county area that make up the St. Lawrence Association. These traps help to evaluate the previous diapause program and indicate areas where weevils might be overwintering. From June through November, survey scouts hired by the association and trained by the county extension entomologist make field inspections for boll weevil activity. Results of the scout survey are mapped and serve as the basis for the next diapause program.

The area to be treated in a diapause control program must meet certain criteria. Only infested cotton fields near known boll weevil overwintering areas plus a buffer zone and fields with high boll weevil numbers are treated. Using these criteria limits the acreage to be treated because not all infested areas are treated.

This type of program has been effective, reduced both the cost to the producer and the Texas Department of Agriculture and limited the amount of insecticide introduced into the environment.

The 1978 control program is the smallest in several years. Slightly over 4,000 acres were treated on the first application and around 5,000 acres on the second application. A similar amount of acres is expected to be treated the third time. Most of the acreage lies on the eastern side of St. Lawrence in Glasscock County with a few fields being treated in Reagan County.

Needpoint articles, properly done, will last for centuries. The craft is often used for upholstery, pillows, and purses, as well as for belts, guitar straps, glasses cases, and other small accessories.

Students may preregister or obtain additional information by contacting the Continuing Education office at 267-6311 ext. 66 or by coming to the office located in the Administration Building.

Special courses will be offered at college

A course in Creative Christmas Gifts will be offered at Howard College beginning Nov. 6. The course will be held on Monday nights from 7:30-9:30 for six weeks. The class will be held in the Art Building.

The class is designed to give a student the opportunity to learn how to make candles, weave pillows, print Christmas cards, macrame, and create pottery. (The goal of the class is to give every student a chance to create their own Christmas gifts.) The cost of the course is $20 which includes the art materials fee.

Linda Fox, a local artist, is the instructor for the course. She participated in the Arts & Crafts Fair held recently in Big Spring. Interested students must pre-register in the Adult & Continuing Education office located in the Administration Building. For further information, call 267-6311 ext. 66.

A class in beginning needlepoint will be taught through the continuing education department of Howard College by Susan King starting Nov. 7 at 7 p.m. in room A-4 of the Administration Building.

The class will meet for six weeks on Tuesday evenings from 7-9 p.m., and the class will end on Dec. 12. Tuition is $15, which includes supplies for the first small project.

Former Bell official now sells real estate

Scandal had positive effect

BLANCO, Texas (AP) — His colorful real estate signs dot the serene, picturesque Hill Country, usually making little impression on passing tourists.

Occasionally, however, someone will recall the name — Jim Ashley. And then maybe they'll make the connection to the three bitter years of lurid, mud-slinging court battles between Ashley and his former employer, the powerful Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

"I would say in the early stages, probably 50 percent of my customers knew about my affiliation with Bell. Now, about 25 percent remember it," said Ashley, 49, who was a $55,000-a-year San Antonio executive before he was fired by Bell in 1974 after an internal investigation.

"It had a very positive effect on my business, especially at first," he added. "A lot of people were sympathetic and would come in and try to help me along."

Ashley and the widow of his friend — T.O. Gravit, the former $80,000-a-year head of Bell's Texas operations — filed a massive $29 million slander suit against Bell in late 1974, charging that the internal investigation led to Ashley's wrongful firing and Gravit's suicide.

Both sides were soiled by the explicit charges and countercharges in open court as the battle was climaxed a year ago in a vicious six-week trial.

Attorneys for Ashley and Mrs. Oleta Gravit Dixon alleged that Southwestern Bell, the largest component of the nationwide Bell System, kept secret political slush funds, was dishonest in rate practices, wiretapped employees and hounded Ashley and Gravit for opposing the alleged practices.

Gravit had first aired the allegations in a suicide note, writing, "Watergate is a gnat compared to the Bell System."

Bell attorneys, meanwhile, questioned the former executives' outside financial dealings and sexual conduct with female subordinates, parading a line of female employees who testified they had sex with Ashley and Gravit in order to earn promotions.

The jury agreed that the former executives had been slandered and ruled that Bell should pay Ashley and the remarried Mrs. Gravit $1.5 million each. In a 1976 trial, Ashley and his wife, Bonnie, had also earlier won a $1 million judgement against Bell for invasion of privacy from alleged Bell wiretapping.

It's against this backdrop, rapidly fading now with time, that Ashley and his wife are quietly selling Hill Country real estate from their small office near the gurgling Blanco River in this blissful town of about 1,000.

Ashley's present office, cozy with antiques and paintings of rural scenes, is a far cry from the huge, plush office he once rated in Bell's imposing downtown headquarters in San Antonio, 50 miles away.

And, no, the Ashley family is not living high off its jury awards. The Texas Supreme Court recently upheld an appeals court ruling that overturned the $1 million judgement. Bell is appealing the $3 million award and it will be years, if ever, before Ashley sees a penny of that.

"I'm making a good living at this and enjoying it," said Ashley, at ease in cowboy boots and a shirt open at the neck. "It's been a real transition from corporate life to real estate, but it's been an enjoyable one."

"The thing I like is that your rewards and penalties are tied directly to what you do or don't do. And I'm enjoying the simpler approach to life out here. Living in Blanco, Texas, is a little like joining the cast of 'The Waltons,'" he said.

Individuals and companies with gripes against Bell still regularly come to Blanco to seek out Ashley and enlist his aid. He grudgingly gives depositions and helps out whenever he can. "I'm not looking forward to a career of being a Bell fighter," he said. "I'd like to be a real estate guy."

His only other contact with Bell is paying his phone bill each month.

Ashley had no real estate background before he was suspended by Bell on Oct. 9, 1974 and fired Oct. 31, 1974. His lawsuit was filed the next month.

"I wasn't prepared financially to leave Bell," said Ashley, who had two children in college and two others in public schools at the time. "It wasn't a planned departure."

Little Richard: 'Another born-again-has-been-star'

DALLAS (AP) — It happens to him all the time now. Folks are introduced to Little Richard, they start to shake hands and miss a beat. "Who?" they ask of the tall man in a rust-colored suit. "Naw."

"Hi," he says, shifting his Bible and extending his hand. "God bless you."

It throws them. Where, they ask, is the glistening, nappy pompadour, the eyeliner, the silver cape that became the trademark of the 1950s pianopounding rock 'n roll screacher?

Gone for three years now, he assures his audience, for even now Little Richard commands an audience. Gone since he discovered Christ and went on the road to "spread His beautiful word."

"Oh, brother," you are saying now. "Another born-again-has-been-star," you are thinking.

And he won't try to prove otherwise. But he's given up trying to prove anything any more, he says.

"God has done good for me," he says. "I meet preachers every day and I don't know what they think of me and I don't care. I just put my hand and say 'God Bless you brother.'"

People are skeptical, even here in Dallas, which is referred to by detractors and promoters alike as the "buckle on the Bible belt," where Richard is preaching to a "prophecy panorama" this weekend.

They remember Richard's "conversion" more than 20 years ago when after a harrowing flight over Australia, he "made a deal with God." The story became more notorious when he tossed a fistful of rings off a ferry to prove his sincerity to a band member.

"I took my eyes off Jesus," he explains of the earlier, temporary conversion. "I was really young then. It wasn't the message, it was me. God has really done something for me. This is the truth."

The story of Richard's midlife turnabout (he's 45) is not unlike others you've heard. With no big hits since the late 1950s, he spent the 1960s and early 1970s on the road pumping out his old hits, "Tootie Fruittie," "Long Tall Sally," "Lucille," "Jenny Jenny" and "Good Golly Miss Molly."

"I was using dope, marijuana, angel dust, cocaine and heroin with pills and drinking," he said. "All I wanted to do was have orgies, get high and sing all my old hits."

Then within the span of a year, three friends and one of his younger brothers died suddenly. "It was a sign that He is no respecter of persons," Richard said, and he turned to God.

He chuckled the garish, feminine wardrobe, the eye makeup, the jewelry, even his famous pompadour, which he says wasn't even his to begin with.

"I didn't grow it, I just went to the store and bought it," he hooted, his pencil-thin moustache disappearing behind the split of his mouth.

He lapses into the old jargon occasionally, relating how he "plays, or preaches" all across the country, but he won't sing rock 'n roll. And you won't find him slinging his leg over the piano as he shucks and jives across the stage, either.

Sue Reedquist: The unsung hero of Cracker Jack prizes

CHICAGO (AP) — Remember the little tin cricket you used to get in the Cracker Jack box? Pinch it and it said click click. Somebody always had one in school, or in church.

Well, it wouldn't make it as a Cracker Jack prize today. Neither would the locomotive or the sheriff's badge.

"The government, you know," Sue Reedquist sighed. "The Food and Drug Administration is pretty strict about sharp edges and parts that might break off."

If you've ever wondered who picks the prizes for the Cracker Jack box it is she, Sue Reedquist, the unsung heroine of those who open 400 million Cracker Jack boxes a year. She, too, is pretty strict about what tiny treasure goes inside.

She is a pleasant woman, a former art teacher in elementary school. She knows kids. After seven years of selecting about 1,000 prizes a year, she also knows toys. At the Cracker Jack company, they call her the prize lady.

"The toys have to be simple," she said, sorting through a pile of possibilities offered by manufacturers for her inspection.

"They have to appeal to kids from 3 to 12, mainly from 5 to 12, and he must know what it is, know what to do with it, right away."

"We don't promise anything elaborate. Just a little something that, when you open the box, says 'surprise.'"

That little something, though is to Cracker Jack what Old Faithful is to Yellowstone. It's the first thing you look for and it's sure to be there.

"We have three checks, three electric eyes, to make sure a prize gets in every box. Come see."

At the Cracker Jack factory, they mix the edibles in one part of the building, using the same recipe a German immigrant named Rueckheim used when he started the company in 1893, and mix the prizes in another.

Sue Reedquist selects no fewer than 400 different prizes for each day's production. Each one goes into the box by hand.

"Look what happens when she doesn't put one in," Sue Reedquist said. The prize-inspector, looking pained, held one back.

When the faulted box passed the first electric eye the machine did not simply reject it but dashed it into a waste bin, peanuts, popcorn and all, as a kid 3 to 12 might do if his box held no prize.

Oklahoma Democrats are favored

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma Democrats, unified for a change, are favored in the major races on the Nov. 7 general election ballot, but the Republicans feel they have a good chance to score some upsets.

Gov. David Boren and Lt. Gov. George Nigh head the Democratic ticket and recent newspaper polls have indicated both have commanding leads over their Republican opponents.

Boren is seeking to replace ailing Republican Sen. Dewey Bartlett and Nigh is trying to succeed Boren as governor.

Republicans Bob Kamm, who is striving to beat Boren, and Ron Shotts, who is challenging Nigh, concede they are behind, but both say they are gaining ground.

The major problem confronting the Republicans, Oklahoma's minority party, is that the Democrats all seem to be getting along with each other. Past GOP victories almost always were abetted by deep splits in the Democratic Party.

Issues have been scarce in both races this year. All the candidates talk mainly in general terms and all are for tax cuts, economy in government and less government red tape.

The major difference in philosophy between Boren and Kamm is that Boren, at 37, envisions a long career in the U.S. Senate, while Kamm, at 59, favors imposing a two-term limit on senators.

This is the first political Seminary Day scheduled

ABILENE — Representatives from all six of the seminaries operated by the Southern Baptist Convention will be at Hardin-Simmons University, Thursday for the annual Seminary Day.

The six will be featured at the 9:30 a.m. chapel program in Behrens Auditorium and will be available for conferences with individual students from 10:30 a.m.-noon and from 1 p.m.-3:30 p.m. on the second floor of Moody Student Center.

Seminary Day was originated by Hardin-Simmons years ago and has since been adopted by Baylor, Howard Payne, Houston Baptist and Wayland so that the week prior to the opening of the Baptist General Convention of Texas is regularly set aside for getting the seminary spokesmen together with seminary-bound students at Baptist schools.

The six will be at Houston Baptist on Monday, Baylor on Tuesday, Howard Payne on Wednesday and Wayland on Friday.

Rev. Rodger Murchison, assistant to the provost at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky. will be the primary chapel speaker.

Other representatives include: Stanton H. Nash, vice president for development at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Mill Valley, Calif.

Council plans meeting soon

The Mexican American Service Council has scheduled a meeting for Nov. 2, 7:30 p.m., at the Northside Community Center, formerly the Kate-Morrison School located at 600 NW 6th. Everybody interested is invited to come.

M-H employee home again

Belva Harrington, ART, director of the Medical Record Department of Malone-Hogan Hospital Inc., has just returned from Las Vegas, Nev. where she attended the American Medical Record Association's annual convention. The Association was also celebrating its 50th anniversary.

Ms. Harrington was serving as voting delegate for the Texas Medical Record Association at the national convention.

On the state level, she holds the position of Regional Director for the West Texas area, and is on the program committee for the Texas annual meeting held in conjunction with the Texas Hospital Association, which will be held in Dallas in 1979.

The week of Oct. 8-14 was recognized as Texas Medical Records week.

race for Kamm, former president of Oklahoma State University. He was pressed into service when Bartlett reluctantly retired from politics to devote full time to trying to win his fight against lung cancer.

Boren, a former Rhodes Scholar and son of a former congressman, Lyle Boren, has been in politics most of his adult life. He served four terms in the Oklahoma House of Representatives before winning a landslide victory in the governor's race four years ago.

Nigh, 51, serving his fourth term as lieutenant governor, is making his second race for governor. He ran fourth in the Democratic primary in 1962. After waiting 16 years to try again, he was an easy winner in this year's Democratic showdown.

This is the second statewide race for Shotts, 32, a former legislator who was a star running back for the University of Oklahoma football team in the mid 1960s. He lost by a narrow margin when he ran for the Oklahoma Corporation Commission two years ago.

The only congressional race without an incumbent is in the 2nd District where Mike Synar, 27, a Muskogee realtor, defeated incumbent Rep. Ted Risenhoover of Tahlequah in the Democratic primary.

Gary Richardson, 37, a Muskogee attorney, is trying to defeat Synar and become the first Republican congressman in the north-eastern Oklahoma district in the last 50 years.

One incumbent, Rep. Wes Watkins, D-Ada, is unopposed for re-election.

The other four incumbents — Democrats Tom Steed of Shawnee, James R. Jones of Tulsa and Glenn English of Cordell and Republican Mickey Edwards of Oklahoma City — are favored to win re-election, but Steed and Jones are expected to have close races.

'Lady Audley's Secret' getting rave reviews

COLORADO CITY — Final three performances of "Lady Audley's Secret" will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Colorado City Playhouse. Curtain time is 8 o'clock each evening.

The play, also known as "Death In Lime Tree Walk," is a melodrama and is directed by Porter Richardson. It opened this past weekend to rave reviews by those in attendance.

A melodrama offers the audience a chance to get involved by cheering the heroes and booing and hissing the villains. The three-act play is based in the mid-1800s and involves people of English ancestry.

Price of tickets is $3 per person and reservations may be made by phoning 1-915-728-3491. Box office is open 1-5 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and from 1-8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

The main plot of "Lady Audley's Secret" is Lady Audley's efforts to keep her past from being known to her rich, old husband, thus

British outbreak of wacky humor

The A-P-Fs are back

LONDON (AP) — The Ashbrooke-Pembleton-French is glad to be back, wayward son Julian is in some sort of difficulty again, and daughter Amanda is still having problems with her love life. Mr. A-P-F remains quiet.

It all sounds like some television soap opera, but in fact it's just another outbreak of that wacky humor that spreads like an epidemic through the upper-crust British from time to time.

The current epidemic started last April in the personal columns of the August London Times — where else? Sandwiched between cryptic lovers' messages, attorneys seeking lost heirs, and people wanting to sell their houses was this deadpan announcement:

"The Ashbrooke-Pembleton-Frenchs would like to apologize to everyone for their absence from the Badminton horse trials this month."

Then, two weeks later, came the plea: "Mrs. Ashbrooke-Pembleton-French would like to ask the young man who attended their party on Friday immediately to return the Land Rover and kindly remove the Lamborghinis from the croquet lawn."

Quick as a flash, the elite British caught on. Back came another message: "Ashbrooke-Pembleton-French — kindly remove your Land Rover from our duckpond and return our Lamborghinis," and the hunt was in full cry.

From then on until mid-July, the Ashbrooke-Pembleton-Frenchs pelted eager Times readers with news about the family. They gave parties at Bembury, their mythical West Country home. They dined at top London restaurants, Amanda threw a party to celebrate Princess Caroline's wedding (but "failed to avoid an invasion of helicopters") and no facet of their social life was left unchronicled.

So much so that someone calling himself Percy Shudworth was moved to complain: "We who have to work for a living resent the sort of life your announcements portray." A-P-F fans sprang to their favorite family's defense.

"Percy Shudworth you unspeakable cad take back all you said about A-P-F or it's pistols at dawn," said one announcement signed "the League of Ashbrooke Loyalists."

Then came silence. Until to the joy of everyone, last week under the heading "How nice to be back in England," Mrs. A-P-F announced cryptically: "It seems such a long time since we used these columns for our messages, but of course our friends know the reason. Sadness can touch everyone's life."

No lack of turkeys for Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, caught in a flap of its own making about the possibility of a turkey shortage next month, is trying to calm ruffled consumers by proclaiming there will be enough birds to go around on Thanksgiving.

Earlier this week, it appeared from a routine USDA "food marketing alert" for November that some families might have to forego a Thanksgiving turkey this year. But Friday there was a new appraisal.

"Although the supply of turkeys is lighter this year, marketing specialists say there will be enough of the traditional birds to meet consumer needs for Thanksgiving," the department said.

However, officials noted consumers will pay more for turkey than they did last Thanksgiving.

The department said earlier there would be only "light" supplies of turkey next month. By USDA definition, light means a food item is "less than adequate, not enough for normal needs."

Spokesman Al Sylvester didn't turn a feather when asked about the apparent contradictory statements. "I can talk turkey on a Friday afternoon, sure," Sylvester said. "We've been talking turkey quite a bit this week."

He said the "light" turkey report was a borderline case, just a few turkeys shy of "adequate." And the supply probably will be enough, especially since higher prices may convince many consumers to drop tradition in favor of another main dish such as chicken.

There has been an overall increase in turkey production this year, but Americans have been eating more of them than usual during the year because of the higher prices of many other meats.

The department said earlier there would be only "light" supplies of turkey next month. By USDA definition, light means a food item is "less than adequate, Honesty is an issue in the race for Attorney General.

If someone won't tell you the truth before they're elected, how can you expect them to tell the truth after they're elected?

The Republican candidate for attorney general has run television ads which say that Mark White doesn't want to change our criminal laws. The truth is that Mark White has called for very specific changes to make our criminal laws tougher. He called for those changes early in the Democratic primary.

The Republican candidate for attorney general's television ads suggest that Mark White is against the right to work law. The truth is that Mark White is for the right to work law. He always was. He always will be.

Keeping government honest is one of the most important duties of our attorney general. But let's face it. If someone won't tell us the truth as a candidate for attorney general, how can we expect him to protect the truth as attorney general?

The Republican candidate for attorney general has run a campaign aimed at getting him elected without regard to the facts. Mark White has run a campaign aimed at keeping government honest and earning the trust of people.

White House agrees with her, former legislator says

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Former state legislator Sarah Weddington says White House work agrees with her, but eventually she plans to return to Texas.

"It's really a lot of fun to work at the White House," President Carter's special assistant said in remarks taped for broadcast Sunday. "When I drive up to those White House gates, and the doors swing open and the guard salutes and I drive in in my Gremlin, that is just such fun."

The former Austin legislator commented on the radio program State Capitol Dateline.

Her work has not been restricted to women's issues since taking over after Midge Costanza's firing, she said.

"It is clearly understood that my role will not be limited to women's issues, and already I've been involved some on the Humphrey-Hawkins measure that passed Congress last week and I've been in staff meetings on the inflation package," she said.

Ms. Weddington said she answers directly to the president, but that her duties have ranged from organizing receptions for senators' wives to working with the U.S. Justice Department on legal questions.

Frustrations have been few so far.

"There are some only in the sense that there are so many things I want to do," the White House aide said. "There are all those opportunities to make a difference both in issues and people."

President Carter has grown in office, especially in learning to deal with Congress, she said.

Ms. Weddington voted absentee during her recent trip home. The U.S. Senate race in Texas between Republican incumbent John Tower and Democrat Bob Krueger has attracted a lot of attention in Washington.

"I think it's going to be close and it's been tight," she said, "particularly after the recent incident with the handshake, but Krueger's going to pull it out."

Tower recently refused to shake hands with Krueger at the Houston Press Club, and two Washington papers ran photos of the incident on the front page.

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's rugged defense forced ninth-ranked Arkansas to settle for three first-half field goals and Emmett King punched in a 14-yard go-ahead touchdown in the third quarter to rally the 11th-ranked Cougars to a 20-9 Southwest Conference victory Saturday night. Houston's victory, coupled with Texas' 22-3 victory over Southern Methodist, kept the Cougars and Longhorns tied for the SWC lead with 4-0 records.

Arkansas, losing for the second straight week, dropped to a 1-2 SWC record.

Arkansas would have had the game under control at halftime had it not been for the Cougar defense, which stopped Arkansas drives at the Houston 3, 25 and 10 yard lines, forcing field goals of 27, 42 and 27 yards by Ismael Ordonez.

The Cougars, now 6-1 for the season, pulled to a 9-7 halftime deficit on a one-yard run by Randy Love and took the lead for good with 2:03 left in the third quarter on King's 14-yard run.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Olympian Johnny "Lam" Jones blazed a school record 100 yards for a touchdown on a kickoff return and seventh-ranked Texas' clawing defense shackled Mike Ford and company Saturday, carrying the Longhorns to a 22-3 Southwest Conference victory over Southern Methodist.

Linebacker Bruce Schnitz was the Longhorns' top defensive hero, making a key stop in a second-period Longhorn goal-line stand at their one and recovering a fumble that blunted another Mustang sortie.

Texas, now 6-1 overall and 4-0 in the SWC, sacked Ford, the nation's No. 1 total offensive leader, seven times with a fierce pass rush.

A&M trounces Rice

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Quarterback Mike Moseley threw a 52-yard scoring pass to Gerald Carter on Texas A&M's first offensive play Saturday as A&M broke a touchdown drought and defeated Rice, 38-21.

The Southwest Conference victory was an impressive debut for former assistant Tom Wilson, who signed a 3½-year contract after Emory Bellard unexpectedly resigned Tuesday.

Sub quarterback David Beal guided A&M 74 yards for a fourth touchdown, with David Brothers charging over on fourth and three with only 40 seconds left in the half.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Freshman sensation Walter Abercrombie scored two touchdowns and ran for 167 yards Saturday as the Baylor Bears overcame their mistakes and defeated Texas Christian 28-21.

The Horned Frogs recovered five fumbles and intercepted three Steve Smith passes as they fought from behind three times before succumbing on Abercrombie's two-yard plunge in the fourth quarter.

Abercrombie, who rushed for 207 yards last week in his rookie debut, burst over from 23 yards late in the first quarter for Baylor's first touchdown.

Smith hit Bo Taylor with a five-yard pass and Frank Pollard ran four yards for the Bears' other touchdown.

Emory named Aggie

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Newly-resigned Texas A&M head football coach Emory Bellard may have thought he had few friends among the Aggie alumni, but they have voted him a lifetime honorary membership.

The resolution said Bellard "has rendered conspicuous service to Texas A&M by virtue of his outstanding achievement as head football coach and athletic director and...by his leadership and conduct of his duties serves as an example to us all."

The A&M Association of Former Students, saying it spoke for 80,000 Aggies, passed a resolution at its fall meeting Saturday saying it was "saddened and deeply regrets" Bellard's resignation.

When Bellard stepped down Tuesday, saying he was going to be fired at the end of the season because of alumni pressure following two consecutive conference losses, he said, "I just want to be a good Aggie."

No one wants Steelers this week

Houston's win hurt KC

By the Associated Press

If Marv Levy, coach of the Kansas City Chiefs, had his way, Pittsburgh never would have lost to Houston last Monday night.

That's because few teams stay perfect for a full season and Levy felt the law of averages would have been working in his corner if the Steelers still had not lost.

Minnesota started the NFL's ninth weekend of action, defeating Dallas 21-10.

Kansas City runners with 583 yards in 107 carries.

Until being kayoed by the Oilers, the Steelers had won seven consecutive National Football League games and with his Chiefs on deck Sunday, Levy would have off target. The winless Bengals, 0-8, are seven-point underdogs to Houston, 5-3, in Sunday's National Football League meeting.

According to the biorhythm theory, a person's good or bad days are directly related to the "ups" and "downs" of his physical, intellectual and emotional cycles.

Having suffered their letdown at the hands of Houston, the Steelers are expected to bounce back against the Chiefs. Elsewhere Sunday, most home teams are favored, with Baltimore at Miami, Buffalo at Cleveland, Denver at Seattle, Houston at Cincinnati, the New York Jets at New England, San Diego at Oakland, Detroit at Chicago, the New York Giants at New Orleans, St. Louis at Philadelphia, San Francisco at Washington and Tampa Bay at Green Bay.

Hawks open season Thursday

Howard College has scheduled a double header for the Hawks and Hawk Queens for the first basketball games in the new Garrett Coliseum.

Thursday will be the opening date with the Hawk Queens facing Ranger Junior College at 6:00 p.m. and the Hawks playing Lubbock Christian College at 8:00 p.m.

The Queens return three lettermen from their 1978 Conference Championship team including Jan Phillips, a 5'8 All Conference and All Region V pick from Abernathy. Forsan's Beverly Strickland and Bronte's Sherry Coalson are also seasoned veterans.

A regular season pass cost ten dollars for adults and five dollars for students. This pass will admit a person to both Hawk and Hawk Queens games. A person with one of these passes can sit anywhere in Sections C, D, or E.

Eight freshmen join the Queens to try to improve on last year's gaudy 27-6 record.

Hawk Club members have an option to buy reserved season tickets in Sections CC, DD, or EE. These seats are the padded, opera style type with carpeted aisles. The seats have an unobstructed view of the basketball court and are eight feet from the out-of-bounds line. A prospective Hawk Club member can join by seeing Coach Wilder and selecting their seats.

The Hawks return starters 6'3 Robby Randolph and 6'5 Allen Bonds from their 20-13 team. Also returning are lettermen 6'7 R.Q. Tolliver and 5'9 Elroy Green. Several talented freshmen are being counted on to

Angry but impotent, Steers played hard

Steers bow to tough Rebs

The Midland Lee Rebels took advantage of a Big Spring gambling defense and the play of Elmer Montgomery to ease to a 33-0 victory Friday night.

The Steers came out emotionally charged to control the first quarter. Big Spring dominated the ball and the Rebels in the first stanza, running 13 plays to the Rebels 3.

The Rebels bent, but did not break however, as the Steers drove to the Lee 28 late in the first quarter. A fourth down pass from quarterback Billy Ray Johnson bounced off a Bovine receiver into the hands of Lee safety Elmer Montgomery. Montgomery broke to his right, used two "I happen to be here" blocks, and sprinted 88 yards to give the Rebels a 6-0 lead. Bill McPherson kicked the PAT.

The Steers could not move on their next possession. Ricky Chuck punted 46 yards to the Rebel 34.

The Rebels surprised the blitzing Steers on a third down play with Butler connecting with Montgomery on a short pass for a 1st down. The Steers (Las Vegas) defender missed the open field tackler, and the talented Montgomery raced 52 yards to the Bovine 3. Three plays later McCowan scored his first of two touchdowns of the night. A bad snap resulted in the Rebels not converting the extra point. At this point in the game, irony was present. Big Spring had outplayed the highly ranked Rebels on all corners of the field except two costly and untimely mistakes.

Lee began to show their bonafide versatility, and exploit the Steer's gambling defense in their next drive. The ninth ranked team in the state drove 60 yards in 10 plays for their third touchdown of the night. Most of the ground yardage was overlaid by tailback Rickie Johnson. The big play in the drive was a pass to the omnipresent Montgomery, the play covering 35 yards to the Bovine nine. Johnson finalized the drive on an eight-yard jaunt. McPherson kicked the PAT.

The Steers took the ensuing kickoff and used a 29-yard run by Eddie Puga to set up shop on the Rebel 41. On the first down following the run, Rebel defensive end Doug Crawford made a fighting interception on his own 34.

The Rebels of Coach Gil Bartosh, complimenting both the inside bruises of McCowan and the outside sweeps of Johnson, drove 66 yards in 11 plays for their fourth score of the first half. Montgomery again contributed to the drive by catching a 13-yard pass for an important Rebel first down. Lee used a Steer missed tackle to complete a short pass into a 21-yard touchdown from Butler to Herb Pearce with less than a minute remaining in the first half to up the count to 26-0, McPherson added the PAT.

Despite their inspired effort, the Steers could not match justice on the scoring board. The second half was a quick, ground-oriented defensive struggle with an occasional turnover.

Lee scored the only touchdown of the last half when McCowan rambled over from the six. McPherson's kick was wide, leaving the score as it would end.

The remainder of the game was a succession of punts and turnovers. Steer defensive back Mike Domino intercepted two passes to try and make up for earlier scores to his secondary crew, but it was far from enough. One thing that was obvious in the downer contest was the fact that Big Spring played the entire game with an improvingly intense attitude.

5-4A Roundup

ODESSA — Odessa Permian continues its winning ways in District 5-AAAA football, beating Abilene Cooper, 31-13, here Friday night.

The undefeated Panthers capitalized on Cooper mistakes to steamroller the Cougars. Cooper fought a fairly even statistical war but couldn't overcome its blunders.

Greg Lambert bruised over from the one after Permian took the opening kickoff and pushed itself downfield.

The Panthers then pounced on a Cooper fumble at the enemy 16 and counted again when Vic Jones passed 16 yards to John Muery. By halftime, Permian was in command, 17-7.

Cooper moved to within four points of a tie, at 17-13, after taking the second half kickoff and driving in for a score. Terry Orr managed that one from the one at the end of a 58-yard surge.

After that, it was all Permian. John Muery counted again on a seven yards pass from Vines in the third, culminating an 88-yard drive.

With 3:01 left in the contest, Vines hit Lambert with a 39-yard scoring pass for Permian's final touchdown.

Robert Orsco booted a 27-yard field goal for the visitors late in the second period. Vines sought out David Loper for Permian's second touchdown in the first quarter.

The win was the seventh in a row for the Panthers. Each team made 199 yards rushing the ball but the Panthers enjoyed a superiority in the air, gaining 134 yards to 43 for the Cougars.

ABILENE — The Abilene Eagles spotted the Odessa High Broncos 14 points and then surged back to win, 24-20, before a Homecoming crowd here Friday night.

The Eagles' victory was its third in four league assignments. Permian and Lee are tied for the lead with 4-0 marks.

Abilene relied on its running game to finish in front. Tailback Reggie Fields scored three of Abilene's touchdowns. David Perry booted a 32-yard field goal for the winners.

The defeat left Odessa with a 1-3 conference record. Fields gained a total of 138 yards in 25 carries for the Eagles. Scott Caywood counted two touchdowns for Odessa on runs of eight and six yards while Daniel Stevens managed the other on a three-yard run.

MIDLAND — Midland High bombed San Angelo Central, 23-14, in a District 5-AAAA encounter here Friday night.

The Bobcats were their own worst enemies, committing blunders that set up Midland scores.

San Angelo is now 1-4 on the year while Midland boosted its record to 3-4. The Bobcats were guilty of six fumbles.

Billy Applin proved to be a workhorse in the Bulldog backfield. He carried 32 times for gains totaling 143 yards. He also scored two touchdowns.

Glenn Payne scored San Angelo's first touchdown from the nine with 3:32 left in the first half.

Midland took the lead in the third when reserve QB Mike Feldt sneaked in from the two and John Schwartz kicked the PAT.

...while Lucy dances on

NEW YORK (AP) — Lucy Castenada was excited and nervous in her Madison Square Garden debut, but she went the distance in round-card carrying a chorus number and a solo performance. The fight fans loved her. She had some moves the fighters didn't.

Lucy was one of 14 King's Queens who helped entertain a crowd of 16,136, paying $240,454, to watch Don King's debut as a co-promoter with the Garden.

The crowd had a ball for most of the almost five hours, which were soured when a New York Corrections officer, out for a night of entertainment, shot a knife-wielding fan, who was hospitalized in fair condition.

Forsan tops Anton, 35-0

ANTON — The Forsan Buffs took Randy Cregar to Anton Friday, and he came back owning the stadium and every inch of turf in it.

The Buffs rolled up 208 yards on the ground and only four yards passing, while Anton's totals of 146 and 37 are deceiving as most of the yardage came in the fourth quarter. The Buff defense completely nullified the Anton offense during the first half.

Cregar rolled up close to 180 yards rushing and scored four touchdowns in the first half to pace the Buffs to their first district win, 35-0.

But a lot of other people were surprised when Valdez, 134%, of the Dominican Republic boxed his way to a unanimous 10-round decision over Alfredo Escalera, 134, of Puerto Rico, the former World Boxing Council champion. Valdez immediately clammed for a title shot against Alexis Arguello, who took the title from Escalera last Jan. 28.

Cregar scored on an eight-yard plunge in the first quarter, then on runs of 70- and 55-yards in the second quarter along with a 30-yard interception for a touchdown.

The Forsan record stands at 2-5 overall and 1-3 in district. They will host the tough Seagraves Eagles next Friday.

The final Buff score was tallied by Charles Parker on a one-yard dive after a 34-yard scamper by Preston Daniels.

Kicker Weldon Nichols also had a good night for the Buffs, kicking every extra point and also barely missing a 45-yard field goal attempt.

Bulldogs chew up Anson

By MARIE HOMEYER
COAHOMA — Led by two touchdowns by Gary Gee and two by Ronald Sundy, the Coahoma Bulldogs won their homecoming game Friday night against the Anson Tigers 35-6.

Sundy, a 134-pound senior, scored on the first drive of the game with an eight-yard run around right end. The touchdown ended the 75-yard drive after 11 plays. The extra point attempt by Gary Paige was no good. That was the only scoring in the first quarter. Paige attempted two field goals, one from the 25-yard line and the other from 18. The first was wide to the left and the second was wide to the right.

With 11:21 left in the first half, Gee, 150-pound junior quarterback, scored on a 37-yard run that started as a quarterback sneak. The extra point was no good. Paige completed the scoring in the first half with a field goal from the 20-yard line as the buzzer ended the half.

A touchdown pass from Gee to Randy Phillips early in the third quarter was called back because of a Coahoma penalty. The Bulldogs were on the Anson 18 and were moved back to the 38. On a fourth down pass attempt, Anson intercepted.

But it was of no avail for the Tigers as they fumbled on their own four-yard line and Coahoma recovered. Two plays later senior Tim Childers scored from the two-yard line. The extra point was good.

Gee scored the final touchdown for the Bulldogs with 1:43 left in the third quarter. The drive started at their own one-yard line. On the third play Gee broke through the middle for a 97-yard run. The extra point was no good.

Anson quarterback Ken Williams scored the only touchdown for the Tigers. The drive started near midfield. Three plays later Williams completed a pass to Randy Thompson who fumbled the ball. Fullback Joe Godim picked up the fumble and advanced it to the one-yard line. Williams ran up the middle three plays later for the score with 4:30 remaining in the game.

The final minutes of the game were full of turnovers. Coahoma fumbled three times and Anson twice.

Stanton romps over O'Donnell

O'DONNELL — The Stanton Buffs kept their district record stellar with a 27-8 romp over O'Donnell.

Halfback Todd Smith scored twice and tallies were added by Kendall Blocker from the four and a Tommy Morrow to Paul Sparks 14-yarder.

O'Donnell did not score until the last quarter when quarterback Don Reed spotted Don Forbes on a 54-yard pass play.

SUNDY RAMBLE — Coahoma halfback Ronald Sundy is making his cut here as the Coahoma Bulldogs had an easy time with the Anson Tigers Friday night. Sundy and Gary Gee both had good nights for the Big Red offense. Coahoma and Cee City are the only undefeated district teams.

Bearkats claw Coyotes; Calverley scores two

GAIL — The lead changed hands throughout the contest, but Garden City Fullback Brad Calverley scored in the second quarter and again in the fourth to give the Garden City Bearkats a 14-10 win over the Borden County Coyotes.

Blane Dyess scored in the first quarter on a one-yard run and kicked the extra point to give Borden County an early lead which stood until Calverley's second period tally. In the third quarter, Dyess kicked a 25-yard field goal to regain the lead, but the Garden City squad bounced back late in the fourth.

The Bearkats compiled total yardage of 225, all of it on the ground after two attempted passes fell in-run and kicked the extra point. The Borden County team amassed 188 yards, 52 of it in the air after completing six of 15 passes.

Wilson hired as permanent Aggie

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Tom Wilson won't have to live under a cloud of "having to win 'em all" for the rest of this season in order to win the head coaching job at Texas A&M.

Wilson, named "interim coach" Wednesday after the stunning resignation of Emory Bellard as athletic director and head football coach, was officially announced Friday as Bellard's successor. His contract runs through 1981.

"We could have spent weeks, or even months" searching for the right man to become Texas A&M football coach, Miller said, and all the while have the school's overall program in a state of limbo.

"Once you have identified the person who is right for the job, the administrative process can be accomplished quickly, and that has been the case," the A&M president said.

Wilson, 34, is a former all-Southwest Conference quarterback at Texas Tech and still holds the school's career passing record. He completed 241 of 413 passes for 2,932 yards from 1963 to 1965, many of them to all-America teammate Donny Anderson.

Wilson had been offensive coordinator at Texas A&M since January 1975. Before that, he was quarterback coach at Texas Tech for nine years.

Jarvis Miller, president of Texas A&M, said Wilson gained the unanimous endorsement of the university's faculty-staff-student Athletic Council, with concurrence by the board of regents.

"Obviously we are delighted we had such a fine young man on our staff — someone with the potential to lead and build a dynamic program," Miller said.

"Coach Wilson has impressed us mightily, and we are convinced he is the man for the job."

Bellard's teams went 3-8 and 5-6 his first two seasons after he replaced Gene Stallings in 1972 at the Aggie helm. The Aggies were 8-3, 10-1, 9-2 and 8-3 the next four years and won the first four games this season.

Texas A&M then lost back-to-back to Houston and Baylor the past two weeks, falling out of the Top 10 nationally. Amid grumbling by Aggie alumni, Bellard announced his resignation, effective immediately. School officials denied Bellard was pressured to quit.

Marvin Tate, associate athletic director since 1967, was announced Wednesday as interim athletic director. Miller said Friday that Tate will continue in that capacity.

Wilson thanked college officials "for the confidence they have shown in me and for the opportunity they have given me."

UCLA looklike No. 1

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It looked like a long night for Arizona at halftime, but afterwards the Wildcats were wishing that it had, indeed, been a little longer.

Tenth-ranked UCLA looked like No. 1 in rolling to a 24-0 halftime advantage over its visitors before 41,077 at the Coliseum Friday night, and a rout appeared in the making. The Bruins rolled up 297 yards in total offense to the Wildcats' 114 in the first 30 minutes.

Arizona turned things around after the intermission, scoring a pair of touchdowns and holding UCLA scoreless while gaining 235 yards to the Bruins' 128. But it wasn't enough.

The end result was a 24-14 victory for the Bruins, enabling them to remain unbeaten in Pacific-10 Conference play. But the underdog Wildcats made an impression.

"Arizona impressed me," said UCLA Coach Terry Donahue. "They are a very physical team and their running backs and quarterback were outstanding. "In the first half, I think we played our most outstanding football of the season," added Donahue. "In the second half, however, we lost our edge emotionally."

It took the Bruins only 3:26 to take a lead they held the rest of the way. After receiving the opening kickoff, UCLA moved 74 yards in 10 plays. James Owens capped the drive with a 3-yard touchdown run.

UCLA, 5-0 in Pac-10 play and 7-1 overall, made it 14-0 early in the second quarter on a 44-yard dash by Freeman McNeil, climaxing a 91-yard, 10-play drive.

The Bruins added to their lead with a pair of scores late in the second quarter. Quarterback Rick Bashore tallied on an 8-yard run with 2:52 left before halftime shortly after Wildcat quarterback Jim Krohn fumbled and Jerry Robinson recovered deep in Arizona territory.

Peter Boermeester kicked a 46-yard field goal on the final play of the first half to complete the Bruins' scoring.

It was quiet until early in the fourth quarter when Arizona lost a fumble at the UCLA 8-yard line. But Krohn engineered a pair of touchdown drives after that, scoring himself on an 8-yard run and hitting Ron Beyer with a 21-yard scoring pass.

Wilson wins on solo score

KLONDIKE — A see-saw battle raged between the 20-yard lines here Friday night as the Wilson Mustangs battled the Klondike Cougars and came away with a 6-0 win.

The only score came in the second period, when Wilson halfback Calvin Wilke followed up runs of 17 and 22 yards with a three-yard scoring plunge.

Lonnie Ferguson had a good night rushing for the Cougs, and along with Wilke, gained over 100 yards rushing. But the sputtering Coug offense found the 20-yard line a barrier they couldn't cross.

Guidry feted, hates the madding crowd

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Guidry tugged at his tie, a new blue cravat decorated with pictures of wild animals — just the kind a guy should wear to a party where they're going to give him a new shotgun.

"Irritating," said baseball's best pitcher, loosening the knot at his throat. "I hate ties — can't wait to get the thing off. I won't wear it on the airplane."

The 28-year-old fireballer of the New York Yankees finds his new-found fame a bit disconcerting. He'd rather be out in the bush around his Lafayette, La., home, shooting wild birds.

"The only thing I like better than pitching is hunting," said the bony, 151-pound left-hander whose fastball is regarded as a lethal weapon. "I started hunting when I was 5, began playing baseball when I was 8, so hunting has a head start with me."

Guidry is a man's man. Lean and hungry looking with a trim mustache and a shock of black curly hair, he could play the part of a deputy marshal in a TV Western.

Currently he is one of the hottest commodities in sports. His 25-3 pitching record for the Yankees, followed by victories in the playoffs and World Series have made him a surefire bet for the American League Cy Young Award, to be announced Tuesday, and a target for every commercial venture imaginable.

Wednesday, he received a $10,000 check and a fancy trophy from Seagram's as the year's outstanding major league player. Thursday, it was the Remington Rifle Award, given for the outstanding throwing performance by a major leaguer.

"I duck as many of these things as I can," he acknowledged at the presentation ceremonies. "When they told me they were going to give me a shotgun, I couldn't get here fast enough.

"This is the nicest present I've got."

Someone mentioned that Guidry was going to have to stay in New York or fly back next week and receive the Cy Young Award.

"Everybody tells me that I've already won it," the pitcher said with his droll humor. "The voting's not 'til Tuesday. If I win I'll just tell the people, 'Why didn't you give it to me last week when I was in New York?'"

Jacob's Well dive fatal to Houstonian

AUSTIN — The hazards of cave diving were tragically demonstrated in a drowning incident investigated recently by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials and other agencies near Wimberly Sept. 23.

Advanced diver Calvin Turner Jr. of the department said he and 11 other divers made repeated dives into Jacob's Well before finally recovering the body of Stephen Walker of Houston — the fourth drowning of the spring-fed cave.

Turner said Walker had been diving with Richard Taylor on Sept. 2 at the cave. Both were experienced divers and both had dived in the cave before, Turner said.

Walker apparently entered a narrow passageway at a depth of approximately 100 feet — a chamber so narrow that air tanks must be removed and pushed ahead of the divers to reach the inner chamber.

Turner said Walker reportedly did not use a safety line upon entering the passageway, and his light and air both were near depletion. Walker found himself in trouble and banged on his tank for help, but Taylor was unable to extricate him and returned to the surface for help.

Beginning at 3 p.m. Sept. 2, a 24-hour series of dives was made by 12 divers in teams of three. They had to widen the passageway to Walker's body by hand, Turner said.

Cee City beats Stamford

STAMFORD — The proud Cee City Wolves met the resurgent Stamford Bulldogs to decide the 'Dogs district hopes Friday night, and the margin was as slim as you could expect.

Gary Hulme's first attempt at a field goal this season came at 4:56 in the first quarter. The kick was good, and all the offense-minded fans could have packed up and gone home because what remained was a salty defensive tussle.

Stamford's usually-potent offense could only muster 79 total yards for the game, but the Wolves 181 total yards didn't gain them much. The only score was set up by an interception rather than any grinding possession.

Guidry refuses to get exercised over the argument that pitchers sometimes aren't given a fair shake in the Most Valuable Player voting and he likely will be beaten out for MVP by Boston slugger Jim Rice.

"It's not for me to say," Guidry said. "All I know is that we faced each other in three games. He got two singles off me — and one they gave him."

Grady tramples Wellman

WELLMAN — The Grady Wildcats hauled out another scrapping victory over the Wellman Wildcats Friday night, with a 50-19 win.

Grady boosted their record to 6-1 with the District 3-B six-man game while Wellman fell to 4-3.

Strong performances from quarterback Ronald Cnee and fullback Ruben Gutierrez highlighted the Grady offense. Gutierrez scored three times.

Wellman's Ty Paris scored twice.

Runnels duels Pecos in 6-6 tie

The Runnels Red drove to the Pecos Crockett ten-yard line with two minutes remaining in the contest, but were unable to score, leaving the teams deadlocked in a 6-6 tie Thursday night.

Early in the final period, a very short Runnels punt set the Pecos crew up on the Yearling 14. It took them two plays to tie the score, with a 14-yard pass play being the touchdown. The Yearlings held on the all important try for two points.

Grady ran up a total of 342 yards offense, and ran away from Wellman in the second half. The score was just 20-13 for Grady after two periods, but a 30-point second half stifled the Wellman team.

The game was a defensive struggle throughout. The Yearlings scored their touchdown on the only sustained drive of the night by either squad. The march was an 11-play, 74 yarder, which was capped by Gerry Hamilton's seven-yard jaunt with 2:12 remaining in the second stanza. The PAT failed.

Runnels then made one last drive into Pecos territory, but fumbled the ball away.

GARDEN CITY — Garden City raced to a 24-0 lead, then held on for a 24-8 win over Borden County JHS Thursday.

No cats in Colorado

AUSTIN — The Colorado River's ability to produce channel catfish has declined in the past few years, and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's fisheries biologists intend to find out why.

The department is launching a comprehensive study of the river system, and to give the fish a shot in the arm biologists stocked 87,000 channel cats in three locations below Austin last week.

Ernie Lopez dashed in from the 15 for the last Bearkat tally. Crawford added his third conversion of the night following this score.

YOUNG IDEAS
By DICK YOUNG

NEWS ITEM: Danny Lopez Defends WBC Crown

This beauty came from Italy, via NBC, and I have never seen such a botched up mess on a major network. It was so bad, I understand NBC is quietly investigating the aroma.

First of all, Danny (Little Red) Lopez, the bantam champ, was in there against Felipe Clemente, a Filipino tiger so ferocious he is ranked No. 13 challenger. When Jose Sulaiman, president of the WBC, heard of the match, he said he was "terribly embarrassed," but that it was too late to do anything about it. Why?

The fight goes into the fourth. The action is good. Suddenly, Lopez is bleeding badly above the right eye. He has been butted. Clemente's weapon, his forehead, also is bleeding. The referee halts the action, and the ring physician does some examining and some patchwork.

This Friday night card could be a real bottle-thrasher, unless Madison Square Garden tightens security. Members of the N.Y. State Boxing Commission have held meetings with Garden officials to beef up the cop-power. A special boxing inspector, Jack Lotz, has been assigned to ring-side for the purpose of having fighters leave the ring as soon as the decision is announced. Post-fight demonstrations on the part of defeated fighters incite audience misconduct, according to the commission.

Does the Garden plan to conduct frisks at doorways to intercept fans with hidden whiskey and rum bottles? "No," says Marvin Kohn. "It would be a violation of civil rights."

Same old foolishness. The guys whose heads were split open by flying bottles at the last Garden fight card; what of their civil rights? The one that says they are entitled to life.

Stanton JV'S top O'Donnell

The Stanton JV's ran at will in a 42-0 win over the O'Donnell JV's Thursday night.

Stanton's Adolph Garza scored twice in the first quarter to start the rout. His first score was on a two-yard plunge. The PAT failed.

Garza drove over from the one minutes later. Craig Eiland then connected with Roscoe Taenes for the two-point conversion.

Gus Arguello then got into the scoring act in the second stanza on a 22-yard run. The PAT failed.

Eiland tossed a 46-yard bomb to Taenes in the third period to up the score to 26-0. The PAT failed.

Later in the same stanza, Rusty Allred raced in from the 25. Eiland passed to Greg Lewis for the two-point conversion.

Garza capped the touchdown romp for the night on a 30-yard run in the final quarter. Randall Koonce added the conversion on a run.

Eiland was very effective in the aerial department, completing seven of the passes for 117 yards. Garza had 74 yards rushing to lead both squads in theat department.

The milling about goes on for about three minutes, and the ring announcer is in center-ring, and still the NBC announcer doesn't realize the fight is over. Only when they are cutting the gloves off Lopez does Bud Collins get a clue.

Bud Collins is the foremost tennis expert talent, but when doing fights he kind of gets lost in the volleys. His assistant for this one, Sugar Ray Leonard, is a wonderful fighter who contributes nothing to a broadcast. He was Little Sir Echo to Bud Collins.

NEWS ITEM: Bucky Dent Gets MVP Car

I wondered why guys who missed out on this award didn't make a bigger noise about it. Now I know. You don't get the car. You get to use it for one year. Then, if you want to keep it, you must pay the difference, the amount you would pay for a one-year-old sports car. Big deal. It's one year's free rental.

I suppose that's better than zilch, although it does strike me that Sports Mag, the donor, gets promotional exploitation far beyond its contribution.

Nobody can get particularly upset over the selection of Dent. It was up for grabs. Could have been Dent, or Doyle, or Reggie Jax, or Munson, or Nettles. Dent's .417 BA and 7 ribbys are impressive. He also was charged with the only two errors the Yankees made in the World Series, although one should have been a team error, if there were such a thing. A low throw came in from the outfield, Dent, the relay man, was out on the center field grass. He stepped aside to let it go through to the backup men — except that there was no backup. The runner took an extra base.

"I have been taught," says Dent, "that if the throw is low, and I may not be able to handle it, to let it go through. I did."

If we consider fielding important to baseball, then Graig Nettles should be loaned the car. Nettles had people mentioning him in the same breath with Brooks Robinson, and if that doesn't win a car, it should win immortality. Graig made more saves than the Ranger goalie. He is the reason the Yankees won Game 3. If they don't win Game 3, they are 0-and-3, and there is no way they come back from that.

Despite his .160 BA in the Series, I would have voted for Graig Nettles. He can borrow my car anytime he wishes for the next year. If he would be caught dead in it.

Neither broadcaster seemed to know the rules under which the fight was being waged. The European Boxing Federation employs the same butting rule used in California: If a fighter is unable to continue because of an inadvertent butt by his opponent, the man ahead on points at the time shall be declared the winner.

Danny Lopez was ahead on two cards, even on the third. Bud Collins kept telling the NBC audience that Clemente had been disqualified. Bud Collins also had told the NBC audience he thought Clemente had won the first three rounds. Had Clemente won the first three rounds, he would, under the rules, have been awarded Lopez' title.

After two more fights, bad ones, broadcaster Charley Jones came on the screen from New York to tell everybody that the satellite from Pesaro, Italy, had conked out, which was just as well. Then Jones broke the breathless news. "There will be," he said, "a rematch between Danny Lopez and Felipe Clemente." Why? So that the head of the WBC can be embarrassed again?

Snyder gets toenail win

SWEETWATER — The Sweetwater Mustangs were leading 7-6 with four minutes left in the game, but Snyder's Tigers came back roaring to retrieve a 25-7 victory.

With seven minutes left in the game, the Mustangs had the Tigers backed into their own five-yard line, but after an injury to a Sweetwater player, the Tigers took just four plays to score, and went up 12-7.

On the Mustang's next possession, rookie quarterback Larry Hillis fumbled the ball away on the 17, and Snyder scored on an eight-yard run by Richard Crayton.

The Tigers scored yet again with 13 seconds left in the contest on a 21-yard scramble by Karl Humble.

The Mustangs, who have been struggling all season, lost their chance to humble the Tigers and slipped to a 1-7 and 0-2 overall and district record. Their slim margin early in the game came in the first quarter on a Kirby Head six-yard gallop.

Although Snyder came right back to score, kicker Baron Land's try for the extra point bounced off an upright and sailed away, almost taking the game with it.

The Tigers are 6-2 and 2-0 overall and in district competition.

Nebrasks beats Oka.St., 22-14

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Billy Todd kicked three field goals and quarterback Tom Sorley ran for one touchdown and passed for another Saturday to lead fourth-ranked Nebraska to a 22-14 Big Eight conference football victory over the stubborn Cowboys from Oklahoma State.

It marked the sixteenth time in 17 years that NU's Cornhuskers defeated the Cowboys, but Oklahoma State was in the fray from start to finish. The Cowboys stayed within striking distance until Scott Burk overthrew a wide-open Mel Campbell with 1:11 left in the game.

The Cowboys scored first on Ed Smith's 13-yard run. That drive began at the OSU 20 after the Cowboys recovered Husker I.M. Hipp's fumble.

Another Hipp fumble forced the Huskers to settle for a 23-yard Todd field goal early in the second quarter. Minutes earlier, NU's Frank Lockett had returned a kick 83-yards for an apparent score but his effort was nullified when he stepped out of bounds.

FIRST PLACE WINNER — The Bible Club received first place in the homecoming float division in small float competition. The theme was to be based on some book. The Bible Club float was based on the Bible. Second place went to the FHA Club for the American History book, and the Goldiggers received third for their float on Alice in Wonderland.

Big Spring High Float winners named

By SCOTT CAMPBELL
During the Homecoming ceremonies at the game Friday night, Selena Jones was named Homecoming Queen. In the float competition, the seniors won first place with their edition of "Gone with the Wind," and sophomores came in a close second with their float, "Tom Sawyer"; freshmen and juniors came in third and fourth respectively with floats titled "The World of Walt Disney" and "Treasure Island" in that order.

In the small float competition, Bible Club won first place with FHA and Goldiggers finishing with third and fourth place honors.

The Art Club came in first place in the decorated car contest. Kazoo Band, Meistersingers, won second place, and VICA won third with their translation of "Grease."

In the non-school float competition, Runnels Jr. High School won top honors. The judges gave special recognition to the Brownies and Sacred Heart and Key Club.

Under the direction of Barry Stephens, the March of Dimes Board of Directors and several volunteers will hold their 'haunted house' Monday and Tuesday night.

Tuesday night the mighty Steer volleyball team will travel to Permian to challenge the MOJO volleyballers. The Steer football team will meet Cooper there Friday night.

Key Clubbers will sponsor a Halloween dance and party for the adolescent ward at the Big Spring State Hospital, Monday night at 7-9 p.m. David Manley-L.T. Governor, Jan Hoover — Key Club Sweetheart, and Scott Campbell — President will travel to Lamesa to give a leadership seminar; they are forming a new Key Club there in coordination with the Kiwanis Club.

Medical Explorer Post will meet Monday night in Room 219 at the Veterans Hospital at 7:30 p.m. The members will start to explore the different fields of surgery—trauma, neuro, plastic and other fields in that area. A guest speaker—surgeon will present the program along with a physicians assistant. All interested students are urged to come.

Clyde Thomas received degree

AUSTIN — The University of Texas College of Business Administration awarded Bachelor of Business Administration degrees to 369 students at the close of the 1978 Summer Session.

The list of graduated, announced by Dean George Kozmetsky, included Clyde Erwin Thomas, 400 Washington Blvd., Big Spring.

Linkletter to speak

LUBBOCK — Television and radio personality Art Linkletter will be featured at the Texas Tech University Century Club Dinner, Nov. 3, 6:30 p.m., in the University Center Ballroom.

Plans were announced by Larry Byrd of Dallas, Century Club chairperson. Members of the Century Club are contributors of more than $100 each to Texas Tech Loyalty Fund.

Linkletter was master of ceremonies for NBC-TV's "People Are Funny." The TV and his earlier radio show ranked in the top 10 for 11 years. He also hosted "House Party." He wrote bestsellers, "Kids Say the Darndest Things" and "Kids Sure Rite Funny."

The Century Club Dinner is a part of Homecoming weekend activities.

Appearing with Linkletter will be Larry and Sharon Rice, a singing duo from Lubbock. They have appeared throughout West Texas.

A graduate from The University of Texas at Arlington, Rice is sales manager with Procter and Gamble Distributing Co. He is a deacon at the First Baptist Church, Lubbock, where he teaches adult Sunday School. He has been music director for several churches.

The Rices have recorded two religious albums: "To Jesus With Love" and "Just For You."

Members of the Century Club can obtain tickets at $6 each by contacting Ex-Students Association, Box 4009, Texas Tech University, Lubbock 79408.

Forsan Jr. Buffs beat Greenwood

By LUCY THIXTON
It's been a rather slow week out at Forsan High. Not a whole lot has been happening, so this one's going to be short.

The Junior High Buffs traveled to Greenwood for a game Thursday night. It turned out to be a rather decisive win of 42-0. Congratulations! They now sport a 5-1 record. Next week the junior Buffs play Robert Lee on our home grounds. This will be the last game of the season so everyone come out and watch them "Stomp the Steers".

Unfortunately the high school team didn't fare quite as well. Shallowater resigned over the Buffs in a 35-6 upset. Once again senior Kevin Low was the only one to earn a star. It was his sixth star which means he is now a Black Mamba. Kevin had two fumble recoveries against Shallowater.

Deirda Fuller and William Gressett are this week's seniors. Deirda is an active member of the Forsan tennis team, having played since she was a freshman. Although she was laid up last year with a knee injury, she'll be back this season. Deirda is also a pep squad member.

William plays center for the Buffaloes. He earned his sixth star this season making him a member of the Black Mamba Club. William is also in the fall play this year.

Happy birthday to Mrs. Neefe and Mrs. Gaston.

Business workshop

HOBBS, N.M. — The second workshop in a series of 3 workshops, co-sponsored by the Small Business Administration and New Mexico Junior College is slated for Wednesday, November 8. The workshops conducted by a SBA Business Management Specialist, Al Brunner, are designed to help individuals that own and operate small businesses.

According to NMJC's Extended Services Coordinator, Veldon Law, the three workshops are centered around the general theme of "marketing," with this second workshop dealing with the specific topic of advertising techniques. Discussion areas for this workshop include development of an advertising budget, the types of advertising medium available and their effectiveness, qualities of a good ad, and how to get feedback from ads.

The workshop will be held in the Student Center Multi-Purpose Room on the NMJC campus from 7 to 10 p.m. The third and final workshop, Creative Salesmanship, will also be held in the Student Center Multi-Purpose Room Wednesday, December 6 from 7 to 10 p.m.

The workshops are free and open to owners and operators of small businesses throughout southeastern New Mexico and southwestern Texas. The workshop site is limited and pre-enrollment is required. For further information, contact the NMJC Office of Community Development.

Coahoma High Choir officers elected

By JOURNALISM CLASS

The new Coahoma choir met Thursday in the high school auditorium where their first sheets of music were handed out. During this time elections for officers were also made. Steven Sergent was elected president; Andrew Spell, vice president; Shana Anderson, secretary; and Mike Henry, reporter. Meetings are held every Thursday night at 7:30. There are about 35 members and everyone is encouraged to join the fun. If you are interested contact Martha Spell or one of the officers.

The Student Council met Wednesday October 25, during activity period in the homeroom. They made plans for the Homecoming dance and plans to decorate the junior high gym where the dance was held. The dance started at 10:00 and ended at 1:00. J. J. Mac provided the music for the dance.

Industrial Arts Club held a meeting on October 25, to discuss the purchase of club jackets. Dues are set at $3.50 and are to be paid by November 1. At a previous meeting on October 18, officers were elected. They are president, Clinton Smith; vice president, Gary Stovall; secretary, Lisa Furlong; treasurer, Julie Higgins; and reporter, Kaci Bunn.

Club sponsor is Mr. Couding.

The Journalism class sold spirit chain links this week. Cost for the links were 25 cents each. The class with the most links received 25 per cent of the profit. The chain will be broken during the pep rally, and the person whose name is on the broken link will win $10.00.

The Journalism class put out their first paper Friday, October 27. They sold the papers for 25 cents during the fifth period class.

Coahoma High School students bought spirit ribbons for two consecutive Fridays. The first Friday, the girls bought the ribbons and could not talk to any boys. If she talked, she had lot of fun. The judges for this event were Patsy Zant, LaVerne Gaskins, and Ruth Floyd.

The young homemakers had a Halloween party Thursday night for the FHA girls. The FHA girls took some of the young homemakers' pre-schoolers trick or treating. After it was over, the FHA girls couldn't decide whether it was a trick or treat.

The volleyball girls had their last game of the season last Tuesday when they lost to Union. They were to play a bi-district game against Highland in November, but decided to forfeit because they have a basketball game that same night.

We hope next week will not be a hectic, but there will still be several activities.

On Thursday there will be a Jr. High football game against Dawson at 5:00. Then on Friday on high school will play Dawson at 7:30. Good Luck to both teams!

Westbrook Students take tests

By SHARLA ROLLINS
Some of the Junior class students took PSAT tests Tuesday, Oct. 24. The high school girls' basketball team traveled to Lorraine on Tuesday to take their physicals.

Practice for the coronation has been held this week. Everyone set up their booths Friday morning. The harvest festival began at 5:30 Friday evening.

Brewster, Gloria Bustamante, Grace Chavez, Mark Corwin, Sheri Criswell, Matthew Dahl, Kristy Davis, Kim Garrison, Rosie Garcia, Lori Green, Belinda Hatler, Kevin Hagood, Levin Hamlin, John Hartzall, Kristi Kirkland, Michael Leuschner, Quang Mai, Nancy Martinez, Michael Matfield, Kim Matthews, Julie Miller, David Newsom, Jerry Peacock, Neasa Rhodes, Jamie Sotelo, Tonya Thompkins, Richard Thompson, Dawn Underwood, Mark Walker, Mary Weaver, Paul Wicker, Darla Witte, Marilyn Wolfe.

Mr. Laird's woodworking classes built shelves for the cafeteria to provide space for the books of students who come straight from class to lunch. These shelves are a great help, and students are appreciative of them.

The A volleyball team played Colorado City and won their matches with scores of 15-2 and 15-12. The B team played Monahans Saturday. Led by the cheerleaders, the student body showed a great deal of spirit at the pep rally Friday. The band and the choir also contributed to the festivities.

$1,158 were sold. The top salesman was Dana Hodnett. Runners-up were Lisa Pettitt, winning $30.00, and Leo Reyes, winning $20.00. A drawing for $20.00 was also held for those selling at least 10 subscriptions. The winner of this event was Lisa Pettitt. Other various prizes were also awarded.

This past week was recognized by the cheerleader as spirit week. Monday was the 50's day when everyone wore their Happy Days clothes, Tuesday was backwards day and everyone wore his clothes turned backwards. Wednesday was character day. This day revealed some quite vivid imaginations. Thursday was Twin Day. Friday was color day. Everyone was to be dressed in the mighty Bulldog colors of red and white.

For the boys Jim Bob Read and Mike Rover won with 27 ribbons each. The winner for the girls was Robbie Ritchey who had 43 ribbons. The winners were given prizes at the Pep Rally.

Friday, October 27, the 78-79 Homecoming festivities took place during the half-time activities of the Coahoma-Anson game. The Homecoming Queen, Band Sweetheart, Red Rager Beau, Football Sweetheart and Football Hero were crowned during this time.

The Homecoming nominees were Cindy Fryar, Penny Huckabee, Cristi Hudgins, Dianna Jones, and Cindy McMahan. Christi Hudgins received this honor.

Each year the Big Red Band chooses three young ladies as nominees for Band Sweetheart. They are Kerre Brown, Judy Cox, and Debbie Reid. The 78-79 Sweetheart is Kerre Brown.

The Football Sweetheart and Hero were also crowned. They are Denette Wright and Mike Ritchey.

The Red Rager Pep Squad chose Jim Bob Read as the 78-79 Red Rager Beau. He is the person who, in their opinion, has given the most support and shown the most interest in their activities.

Broadrick receives degree

AUSTIN — The University of Texas at Austin awarded 181 bachelor's degrees in the School of Communication at the close of the 1978 summer session.

Among those earning Bachelor of Science degrees in Speech was Ingrid Broadrick, 1510 Dayton Road, Big Spring.

Dirks receives part

PORTALES — Barbara Dirks, a Big Spring senior at Eastern New Mexico University, has been cast as the mother for the School of Music opera production of "Hansel and Gretel" took place Oct. 27 and 28 at 8:00 p.m. in University Theatre.

Written by the 19th century composer Engelbert Humperdinck, the opera has remained a popular hit since its opening and was the first complete opera ever broadcast from the Metropolitan Opera in 1931.

The Eastern production included 22 students in singing roles and is under the direction of Richard Cage, assistant professor in music.

A music therapy and elementary music education major with a minor in psychology, Miss Dirks is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's professional music fraternity, and the Music Therapy Club. She is also a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honor society.

A 1975 graduate of Big Spring High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Dirks, Jr. of 1735 Purdue.

Grady Top scorer named

By JOANNA GRAHAM
The Grady volleyball team finished their season by beating Garden City. Captain for Grady's team was Shirilla Sawyer. Sandra Schwartz was captain for Garden City's team. High point scores were Tammy Nelson, Grady, with a total of 16 points, and Denise Schwartz of Garden City with a total of 15 points.

The Senior class got the proofs back for their pictures on Monday. Everyone picked out their best to send back.

Monday, the 30, is the Halloween carnival. The seniors are having a concession. Serving starts at 5:00. The carnival starts at 6:30. All ghosts and goblins are invited to come.

Friday, the 27, the 'Cats travel to Wellman. Everyone is invited to come to the pep rally at 1:30.

Real Estate courses offered

SWEETWATER — Basic courses designed for would-be real estate salespersons will be offered at TSTI Sweetwater in November and December.

The classes scheduled are Course 101, Basic Fundamentals, Nov. 11, 12, 18 and 19; Course 201, Principles of Real Estate, Nov. 25 and 26 and Dec. 2 and 3; and Course 301, Practice of Real Estate, Dec. 9, 10, 16 and 17. Tuition for each course is $125. There is no charge for books. Class hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Registration and payment of fees must be made by the Wednesday preceding the Saturday on which a class begins. Fees will not be accepted on the first day of any class.

Inquiries should be directed to Special Projects, TSTI Sweetwater, (915) 235-8441, extension 40 or 41.

Garden City Class Meetings slated

By NIKKI TIDWELL
This week there are three class meetings. The Seniors and Juniors meet Monday and the Sophomores meet Wednesday. Thursday there will be an F.T.A. party and the Student Council will meet Tuesday. The football team will play Jayton at 7:30 there Friday. Friday was the last day to pay for your pictures. If you haven't returned or paid for your pictures you will not receive your report card.

Any Seniors wishing to take the ACT test at the next testing, remember you must register before November 10.

The Senior Class is really getting into politics. This week they are constructing a letter to Senator Tower and Rep. Krueger to ask about their campaigns.

The Jr. High won their last football game 24-8 Thursday against Borden Co. Afterward there was a party in the cafeteria. The 8th grade is selling T-shirts with Bearkats on them for $5.00.

The Student Council has obtained a juke box to be placed in the student area. Please take care of it so we can enjoy music throughout the year.

Also, a new track and a new field house are now being built, and they are scheduled for completion in January.

CHILDREN'S LIBRARIAN
Library — Noun — A room or building where a collection of books, etc. is kept for reading or reference. Ever wonder what the etc. is in this definition from the Webster's Dictionary? In the Children's Section of the Howard County Library it means fun and new experience for your children. It means checking out L.P. records, filmstrips with a filmstrip projector, Story Hour, Film Programs, and much more.

We have a large selection of records available for circulation for a one week period. You can add to your child's entertainment by helping him pick out his favorite rock group, fairy tale, or movie theme. Take home the theme from "Star Wars" and let his imagination run wild. The younger set will enjoy singing along with "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" or "Mary Poppins". The record selections are for all ages and include such categories as country-western, jazz, instructional lessons and religious music. There are also record players which can be used in the library for listening enjoyment while you browse through books.

Ever wonder how to get your child away from the T.V.? Try checking out our filmstrips and filmstrip projector. These will entertain your child for hours. Most of our filmstrips are correlated to books we have available, so your child has probably read them and would enjoy seeing them animated. Some of the titles available are "Stone Soup," "Little Toot" and "The Tale of Benjamin Bunny".

The library has two special days for youngsters. Every Friday from 10:00-11:00 we have a Story Hour for children for children ages 3-5 years old. Mrs. Susan Jordan has charge of this program and will usually tell a story or show a film to those attending. We have a special room for this purpose where the children can enjoy themselves without having to worry about disturbing others.

On Saturday from 1:30-2:30, Milton Perkins, our audio visual clerk, shows films to children of any age. It's just like the Saturday matinee we used to go to when we were young minus the candy and popcorn?

'Petticoat' survives by changing slots

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The return of ABC's "Operation Petticoat" may be the first instance in which a network canceled a show, then renewed the title.

For a time, it looked as though ABC would keep only the pink submarine from the previous series, which ran one year. But the new producers decided to retain three members of the first series' unwieldy cast of 18 regulars.

John Astin and Richard Gilliland, who commanded the wheezing submarine, the USS Sea Tiger, in the World War II situation comedy, and Yvonne Wilder, head of the Army nurses aboard, are gone.

Their places have been taken by Randolph Mantooth as the wheeler-dealer executive officer, Robert Hogan as the captain, and JoAnn Pflug as the head nurse.

The only holdovers from the original cast are Melinda Naud, who is now a Navy nurse and still klutzy, and Richard Brestoff as Yeoman Hunkle and Jim Varney as Seaman Broom. Among the newcomers is Warren Berlinger as the crusty old salt who runs the engine room.

TO DIRECT REMAKE OF MOVIE CLASSIC — Filmmaker Franco Zeffirelli (left) introduced the two stars of his upcoming remake of the King Vidor classic, "The Champ," at a Hollywood party Friday. The stars of the film, a sentimental tale of love between a little boy and his father, a down-and-out boxer, are Rickey Schroder (center) and Jon Voight.

Teddy likes ladies only

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teddy Pendergrass has this way with women. He can make ladies swoon and get rubbery-legged and whisper bold suggestions in his ear. He may be the only pop singer who can give "Ladies Only" concerts, fully confident the house will sell out. Teddy takes the stage and a thousand bothered ladies give forth a throaty hiss.

"Teeeddddy." Yes, Teddy Pendergrass has this way with women, and it's made him a wealthy and successful young man.

He's done two solo albums since leaving Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes in 1976 — the first, "Teddy Pendergrass," went platinum in nine months; his recent album, "Life is a Song Worth Singing," reached that lofty platinum status in eight weeks.

Of course, those who like to take pop music seriously insist there is something more substantial than sex appeal behind Teddy's success. They'll tell you Pendergrass has a throbbing primal urgency tempered by the spiritual strains of gospel, or something like that.

'Midnight Express' is censored?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From "The Big House" to "The Bridge on the River Kwai" to "Birdman of Alcatraz" to "The Longest Yard," prison movies have held fascination for audiences. The latest offering: "Midnight Express." The Columbia Pictures release is the true story of Billy Hayes, the Marquette University student who was arrested at the airport in Istanbul in 1970 with hashish in his possession. He endured four and a half years in a Turkish prison before making a desperate escape.

Hayes succeeded in returning to the United States and wrote of his experience in a book with William Hoffer, "Midnight Express." The saga has been made into a film by the Casablanca Record and FilmWorks company, headed by executive producer Peter Guber ("The Deep").

Alan Parker was an odd choice to direct the relentless, R-rated "Midnight Express." His only previous feature was "Bugsy Malone," in which preteens played all the roles of a gangster musical.

"I believe a director should do different things," the London-born director said during a visit to Hollywood. "Otherwise he can end up like French directors, who make the same film 10 different ways."

Parker certainly did change his act. Whereas "Bugsy" was rated a gentle G, "Midnight Express" was dealt a firm R because of its language, violence and sex. The film has encountered censorship not because of such elements, but because of the Turkish government's objections to the portrayal of its justice and prisons.

The 34-year-old Parker became involved with "Midnight Express" in January 1977. He had come to America to discuss directing "The Wiz," and decided against it because he didn't want to make another musical. Guber gave him the galley-props of the Hayes-Hoffman book.

Parker read the saga and was reluctant to undertake such an American project. Then his "Bugsy Malone" producer, David Puttman, was offered a post with Casablanca. "If you do the film, I'll take the job," suggested Puttman Deal.

Parker picked Brad Davis, who played Richard in TV's "Sybil," for the lead, then searched Yugoslavia, Cyprus, France and other countries for a prison that was colorful and not in use.

TOYOTA
A TOUGH CHOICE FOR 1978!
 One extra long. Both extra tough. Choose the standard bed or the extra large 7-foot bed. Either way you're in for one tough truck! Both are powered by a responsive 2.2 liter SOHC engine. So you can haul up to an 1100 pound payload, with ease. And, because they're Toyotas you know they're quality engineered and built tough... to last! Standard Bed or Long Bed... either way it's a tough choice. See them today.

Standard features you don't pay extra for:

- 2.2 liter SOHC engine
- 7-foot bed on Long Bed
- Power-assisted front disc brakes
- Fully transistorized ignition
- Mud flaps
- Electric fuel pump
- Power-assisted flo-thru ventilation
- Zinc-coated muffler
- Cargo tie-down hooks

Ridin' fence

with Marj Carpenter

But it still looks pretty good. And in 1971, it was the limousine for Spiro Agnew, vice president of the United States.
 The man on the street corner says that Connie Edwards bought the thing at a government auction and brought it home to Big Spring. We believe it, because this is a typical Connie Edwards thing to do.
 We already know he collects vintage aircraft and had just the airplanes they needed when they filmed the Battle of Britain after the war.
 The limo was parked on the runway at the airport during the three-day conference here of the towns and cities that have lost military installations.
 And a close scrutiny of the vehicle reveals that it has some of that bullet proof glass. The side windows are the kind where you can see out, but nobody can see in. The back window has a bullet proof screen.
 The limo has one of those roofs that slide back where you can stick your head out if you want to.
 The back includes a television set, tape deck and a likeable guy.
 That was before he learned to hate the press so I don't know how he acted toward them later.
 But in 1968, he was a likeable, gentlemanly fellow. And he didn't yet have a personally, I think it's pretty interesting that it has ended up here in Big Spring.

LAST WORD IN LIMOUSINES ... back in 1971

 I was not one of the reporters who failed to get along with Spiro Agnew. I interviewed him one time when he got as close as Terminal Airport back in 1968 and he was really a likeable guy.
 That was before he learned to hate the press so I don't know how he acted toward them later.
 But in 1968, he was a likeable, gentlemanly fellow. And he didn't yet have a limousine.

 But, as a group of backers of Sen. John Tower were waiting for him to fly into the local airport Wednesday, they became very interested in walking around and around the limousine on the runway.
 But Tower didn't ride in it. He simply came into the airport, gave a press conference, thanked everybody for coming and flew to San Angelo.
 At this point in political campaigns all of the candidates look a little bit tired. But they're still campaigning hard.

 Although we sometimes get too much politics as elections near, it is one of our great American freedoms to let the politicians have their say.
 And seeing that grey limousine somehow kind of livened up the whole scene for a minute — when I was out ridin' fence.
 New and renewal memberships for 1979 include Mrs. Hazel Lawrence, Mrs. and Mrs. Jack Irons, Mrs. C.W. Shouse of Dallas, Mrs. Florence Poffenbach Lucker of Fort Worth, Mrs. Ora Miles of Lubbock, Mrs. Lillian Dawson, Mrs. Hollie Shick, Mrs. Fern Hurn of Oklahoma and the 1948 Hyperion Club.

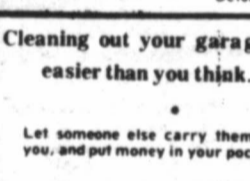

Eye enucleation course completed by BS pair

Tommy Whatley and Larry D. Sheppard of the Lions Eye Bank in Big Spring have successfully completed a course of instruction of eye enucleation.
 Whatley and Sheppard have been certified under House Bill 307 to enucleate eyes after death in patients who have either donated their eyes for transplants or those who have the next of kin who sign donor permission on the request of their physicians.
 Sheppard stated that their firm will be working closely with the Lions Eye Bank, Inc. of Texas and also with local physicians who receive permission for eye enucleation.

 Sheppard also stated that this is part of a continuing program of study so that they can keep abreast of the desires of the families that they serve.
 "I would also like to stress that eye enucleation has no bearing on the way the deceased will look as the family and loved ones will not be able to detect any change in appearance in the deceased," Sheppard said. "It has been said that by the deceased donating their eyes for others to see, that person really never dies."

 STANDARDS BOARD
 Owner or Owners, lessors, occupants and lienholders of record or the below named real properties, all located in the City of Big Spring, are hereby notified of a Public Hearing to consider demolition, order a reduction in occupancy load or vacation of structures and premises at each of these locations. Hearings will be held before the Structural Standards Board in and for the City of Big Spring, in the City Council Chamber of the Big Spring City Hall, Fourth and Nolan Streets, on Tuesday November 7, 1978, commencing at 9:00 o'clock a.m., local time. These are Public Hearings. The Administrator shall present evidence of the Substandard condition of these structures and as owner, lessor, occupant, lienholder, or any interested person may present evidence on relevant issues. After hearing evidence from each interested person present the Board will make its findings and issue appropriate orders in each case. These findings may result in determination that the structures are not substandard, that a variance should be granted in order to avoid imposition of an unreasonable hardship; that an exception may be granted to a provision or provisions of the chapter; that the structure is substandard and order repair or other suitable remedy within a specified period of time, and demolition of the structure if the repair or other suitable remedy is not timely effected; or that the structure be ordered demolished within a specified period of time.

Needs are ever-increasing

People make the rehabilitation center work

By EILEEN McGUIRE
Family News Editor

People who care keep the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center operating and growing, according to Larry Bristo, director.

The building that houses the center at 306 W. 3rd, the equipment inside, and in many cases the services themselves are available because people in the community see a need for them and do what they can to fill that need.

The center, which provides a variety of rehabilitation services to people in an area extending west to Stanton, south to Sterling City, east to Colorado City and North to Lamesa, was established 13 years ago in the building donated by the Dora Roberts Foundation, then headed by Horace Garrett.

An endowment fund for operating expenses was also established by the Foundation and the interest from the fund continues to partially support the center. The rest comes from agencies, such as the United Way, and out of the pockets of people who care about the needs of other people.

The function of the center, Bristo said, "is to provide outpatient physical restoration."

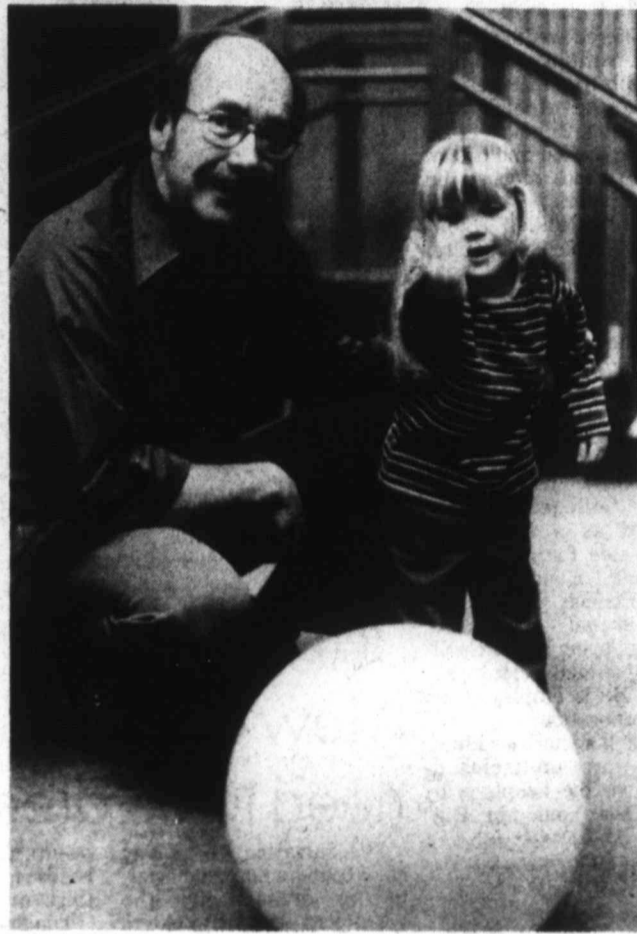

The center is equipped to provide therapy for physical disabilities, including those acquired through strokes, accidents, or after-effects of surgery. It aids patients with speech handicaps, such as post stroke aphasia, laryngectomy patients, and stuttering and speech delay. Hearing evaluations are also provided.

The center helps patients of all age groups on a sliding fee scale, according to the patient's ability to pay. In some cases, Bristo said, the fees are partially or totally "forgiven". The purpose of the center is to help people, not to make money.

The center is limited only by funds as to how much it can help the people who are in need of rehabilitative therapy.

CENTER GAVE HER LEGS — Christy Clifford, age 3, began walking for the first time about six months ago with the aid of therapy and leg braces. She has cerebral palsy which normally affects only one side of the body. In Christy's case, it affected both legs. After two years at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Christy is now able to run and do other things that children her age enjoy, such as playing ball with Larry Bristo, director of the center, above. In the right hand picture, she's shown with two of her good friends, Grady and Ann Cunningham, who are helping to sponsor a fund-raising show featuring renown talent on Nov. 3. Money raised from the tickets to the Gala Evening will go to an endowment fund so that Christy and others like her can continue to get the help they need from the center.

Dora Roberts endowment fund contributes $20,000, but that amounts to only 12 per cent of the total operating cost.

"In spite of that $20,000 cut in overall operating expenses, the proposed 1978-79 operational budget reflects deficit in excess of $15,000," Bristo said. "I have no idea where the money will come from — it has to come from people who care."

Bristo has some ideas of how the ever-increasing needs of the center can be met. Instead of sending flowers for a funeral, for example, why not donate the money as a memorial to the rehabilitation center?

Also, small regular contributions from each member of the community could add up to a substantial amount.

"There are roughly about 100,000 people in the area we serve," he said. "If only two per cent of them — 2,000 people — contributed on the amount of one 35 cent coke a day to the center, we'd have a gross income of $240,000 a year from those donations alone."

"That would be enough to allow for an addition of occupational therapy to the center, to provide for patient's transportation, to acquire some needed equipment and to make some repairs."

The center offers a number of services to the community. It also depends on the community for the services it offers.

PEOPLE WHO CARE are the vital element that keeps the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center available to others who aren't fully able to enjoy their lives due to physical disabilities. The center depends a great deal on contributions. Here Larry Bristo shows some of the existing equipment at the center to three sponsors of the upcoming Gala fund-raising event. Watching Bristo's demonstration of the therapeutic whirlpool bath are, from left, Andy Swartz, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Tubbs.

You can help through Gala

In an effort to help meet the expanding needs of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, a group of interested citizens have banded together to bring to the community a fund-raising event designed to entertain and, at the same time, keep the endowment fund on which the center depends growing.

Area residents are invited to be part of the Nov. 3 audience of television and night club comedian Foster Brooks, the exciting New Christy Minstrels, the versatile Jana Lou Chaudet and the Gary Lee Orchestra of Dallas. The performance begins at 7 p.m. at the new Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Residents who'd like to go an extra mile and become a patron of the rehabilitation center may do so by purchasing a $50 Patron Ticket to the Gala, available by calling 263-1062. The sponsors will be glad to deliver the tickets personally.

All patrons will be honored at a Gala Party following the performance. The ticket-contributions will be added to the endowment fund of the rehabilitation center on which so many depend.

Tickets for $10 each are also available for the Gala and may be purchased from Newsoms Grocery, the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Grays Jewelers, Swartz, Blums, Citizens Federal Credit Union and the Brass Nail, or by calling 263-1062 for delivery.

Join the sponsors and 300 to 400 Shriners who plan to be in the audience for an unforgettable evening of entertainment. And while you enjoy yourself, know that you are helping to make the lives of others more enjoyable also.

Sponsoring the double-benefit benefit are Mr. and Mrs. Rich Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Broughton Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Rene Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Brown, Doris Chalk Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Cunningham, Zo Dorland, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Duncan II, Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan, Patsy Edwards, Dorothy Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Green, Mr. and Mrs. A.K. Guthrie, Marie Hall, Maudine Kasch, Mr. and Mrs. Al Lain.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy McCann, Mr. and Mrs. Lorin McDowell III, Mr. and Mrs. Toots Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Medley, Gene Mikeska, Dr. and Mrs. C.T. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Morgan, Drs. Virgil and Nell Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Slate, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Swartz, Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Tubbs, Mr. and Mrs. R.H. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Worthy, and Mr. and Mrs. Winston Wrinkle.

YOU'RE INVITED to become a patron of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center through the purchase of a $50 Patron's Ticket to the Nov. 3 Gala Evening. If you didn't receive an invitation, you're invited to call 263-1062. Those working to make the Gala a success will be glad to deliver the ticket to you. Some of those who have devoted hours to the cause are shown above, addressing the many invitations that were recently mailed out. From the bottom left-hand corner, they are Mrs. Kent Morgan, Mrs. Al Lain, Mrs. Rene Brown, Mrs. Tommy McCann, Mrs. G. C. Broughton, Mrs. Odell Womack, and Mrs. C. G. Griffin Jr.

BACKING THE BIG EVENT — Notables like Foster Brooks, who's appeared in his role of a slightly tipsy southern gentleman on the Dean Martin and other variety shows, is offered to the public this week at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Sponsoring the Gala are over 30 Big Spring individuals including,

Morgan-Vaughn nuptials held in Austin Saturday

The University Baptist Church of Austin was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Joy Linnea Morgan and Dennis Ray Vaughn. Presiding at the 7:30 ceremony was the Rev. Carroll Smith, pastor of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Morgan Jr. of Austin. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis M. Vaughn Sr., 2602 Cheyenne, are the parents of the groom.

The altar scene was enhanced by two six-foot candelabrum arches containing 15 candles each. A dozen white satin roses, intertwined with greenery, adorned each arch.

Wedding music was provided by Bill Davis Jr., pianist.

The bride chose a sheer candlelight organza gown lined with satin and trimmed with Peau d'ange lace. It featured a sheer, ruffled off-the-shoulder tier trimmed with Peau d'ange lace and satin ribbon. The floor-length skirt fell from a natural waistline and was embellished at the hem with scalloped lace. A chapel-length train completed the gown.

Her elbow-length veil was held in place with a wreath of tiny off-white rosebuds from which streamers of candlelight satin flowed.

She carried a bouquet of two dozen white sweetheart roses with baby's breath. The bouquet was fashioned in a waterfall design and enhanced with cream-colored streamers.

For "something old," the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to the groom's mother. "Something new" was her dress. A Bible carried by the bride's mother at her wedding was "something borrowed." The bride's garter was "something blue."

Maid of honor was Teal Ann Triggs of Austin and bridesmaids were Cheryl Ann Chance, Austin, and Sheri Young, Big Spring. The three wore rust-cinnamon colored chiffon dresses and carried bouquet of yellow tea roses in waterfall designs.

Best man was Eddie Young of Big Spring. Serving as groomsmen were Joel Windham, Brownwood, and Larry Callihan, of Austin, brother-in-law of the bride.

Eric Schmidt of Austin and Tommy Joe Foster of Dallas, both cousins of the bride, served as ushers.

Flower girl was the bride's second cousin, Sara Schmidt of Austin.

The bride's mother chose a floor-length gown of blue sheer print over blue Qiana for her daughter's wedding. The mother of the groom wore a floor-length burgundy-mauve Qiana gown. Both wore Catalaya orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception welcomed the newlyweds at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's and groom's tables were draped with linen tablecloths hand-embroidered by the bride's grandmother. Crystal appointments were used.

The bridesmaids' bouquets were used as accents on the bride's table which featured a three-tiered wedding cake with separating columns. The simple trim featured off-white tea roses at the base of each tier. A gold cross decorated the top and brown and rust ribbons adorned the bottom two tiers.

Guests attended from Houston, Dallas, Mesquite, Manchaca, Richardson, Plano, Corpus Christi, Big Spring, Austin, San Antonio, and from Merville and Quimby, Iowa.

The bride is a graduate of Crockett High School, Austin, and attended the University of Texas at Austin and Austin Community College. She is employed as a secretary-teacher aide for Adult and Continuing Education at Howard College.

The groom graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard College. He is employed at Cabot Corporation.

Following a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will make their home in Big Spring.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Tom and Dorothy Rothman of Union City, Calif. announce the engagement of their daughter, Sheila Rothman, to Don Click, son of Lloyd and Ophelia Click, Knott Rt. The couple plan to be wed Dec. 1 at Broadway Church of Christ, Lubbock, by Darrel Rickard, minister of the church.

A few dolls still need to be dressed

The Salvation Army only has about six dozen dolls left to be dressed by the volunteers who would like to help Santa.

They have placed about six dozen with several girl scout groups, a couple of church groups, a school group, and several individuals who have dressed a couple of dolls each. Some have already been returned dressed in beautiful bright outfits and ready to be given away at Christmas time.

The Salvation Army would like to place the rest of the lonely dolls in some good hands this week in order to have the twelve dozen dolls all ready by Dec. 1.

Anyone interested can call Mrs. Brigadier Ball at 7-6141 or 7-8929 for information, or pick the dolls up at the office at 308 Aylford.

Mary Ann Davidson weds Merrick in home ritual

Johnny L. Merrick and Mary Ann Davidson, of Big Spring, exchanged vows Oct. 21 in the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Merrick. The Rev. Jim Mosely, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Ackerly, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Merrick celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary at this time in their home, which is located in the old townsite of Soash.

Margaret McGee, soloist, sang "If" and "The Two Are One," accompanied by Shelton Castle at the guitar.

A reception in the home followed the wedding, and Mrs. James Shaw assisted. Out-of-town guests included Julie Davidson, Abilene; Hazel Trent, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Dolloff and Dacia, Midland; Houston Woody, Stanton; and J.M. Trent, Brownwood.

Also, Lucille Brown, Santa Anna; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Culpepper, Kip and Kelly, Denver City; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Trent, Denver City; and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hambrick, Ackerly.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Merrick, Brian and Leann, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Merrick, Sayre, Okla.; Jo Haggerty and Julie Merrick, Dallas; and Susie Combs, Big Spring.

In addition, Mrs. Bill Turner, Melissa, Jan and

Kirk, Jack Merrick and Mike Davidson, all of Big Spring. After a trip to Dallas, the couple will reside in Big Spring.

Dear Abby

A $4,000 Question

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of six children, 6 through 18. We have told all our children that if they are interested in furthering their education after school, we will give them each $1,000 a year toward their education.

Our eldest son is a freshman in college. He works part-time and summers to help pay for his education, and he also takes advantage of our $1,000. (I have to brag a bit—he made a grade point of 4.0 his first semester.)

Our problem is our second child, a daughter. She will graduate from high school next June. Despite years of counseling, lots of love and our best efforts, she is a rebel. She's been in all kinds of trouble from shoplifting to drugs and alcohol. She says as soon as she turns 18, she's splitting and wants no part of college.

My husband thinks that when she leaves we should give her the $4,000 we would have given her for a college education so that in years to come she can't say, "You never gave me the same chance you gave the others."

I strongly disagree. We have already spent a lot of money on her that we didn't spend on the others. Besides, I think giving her money would do her more harm than good.

We would appreciate the opinion of an outsider.

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I agree with you. To give your rebellious daughter money before she's able to handle it might do her more harm than good. Your children are being offered $1,000 a year toward a college education—not to spend as they wish.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old boy with an 8-year-old brother, named David, who is a rat-fink.

David wore my Boy Scout hat and took my brand new bugle outside and blew it last Saturday while I was at the dentist's.

When I found out about it I gave him a little shove and he fell against the fence and got a little tiny cut on his head, and maybe two drops of blood came out.

He ran in the house screaming, and my mother grounded me for a whole week.

She didn't say one word to David about wearing my hat and blowing my bugle. Was this fair? How can I make my mother realize that every time something happens it is not always my fault because I am older and should know better? (HER words.) Thank you.

SHELDON

DEAR SHELDON: Tell your mother what you have told me (or show her this item) and ask for her comment. Meanwhile, as a Boy Scout you are pledged to be "kind, truthful and obedient." If you are, you'll win in the end, and the "fink" may follow your example and become a Boy Scout, too.

DEAR ABBY: While saying a good-night prayer with my 4-year-old grandchild, when we came to the part, "If I should die before I wake," she stopped abruptly, and with a very frightened expression on her little face, she asked, "Nana, do you think I WILL die before I wake?"

I tried to comfort her by saying I was sure she wouldn't. Then I set about to revise that prayer to give it a more positive and less frightening approach.

I enclose it for publication on the chance that some of your readers might want to use it.

"Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray You, Lord, my soul to keep. Please keep me safe 'til I wake To love and serve You, for Your sake."

Phyllis Shaffer, Turney exchange vows Friday

Phyllis Shaffer became the bride of Jeff Turney in a Friday evening ceremony at Trinity Baptist Church. The Rev. Claude Craven, pastor of the church, presided at the 7 o'clock wedding.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaffer, 2000 Alabama. Jerry Turney, 1405 E. 14th, and Vallene Turney, 1005 Wasson, are the parents of the groom.

The couple repeated their vows beneath a heart-shaped arch decorated with greenery and white doves. Altar decorations included two heart-shaped candelabras and sunbursts of white gladiolus and apricot roses. Seven-branched candelabras were flanked by baskets of gladiolus and apricot roses.

Wedding music was provided by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ray Andrews of Odessa. She was accompanied by Mrs. John Murphy of Odessa, aunt of the bride, at the piano. Mrs. Donald Richardson of Big Spring, cousin of the bride, played the organ.

The bride wore a formal gown of soft white chiffon featuring an empire bodice covered with imported Chantilly lace. A pearl design formed the Queen Anne neckline and cuffs of the sheer double bishop sleeves. The high rise circular skirt fell into a full-length chapel train. Lace edged the tiered finger-tip veil.

A ruby solitaire engagement ring belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Lewis McKee, was worn by the bride. She wore a blue garter and she wore pennies in her shoes bearing the birthdates of both her and the groom.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white silk flowers, touched with apricot and tied with a white satin streamer and bridal lace.

Matron of honor was Tammy Newsom of Abilene and the bridesmaid was Ann Crittenden, Big Spring. They wore dresses of brown Qiana knit, fitted at the waistline.

The off-the-shoulder necklines were embellished with four-trich ruffles of Brussels lace. The gowns were tied at the shoulders

Best man was Bradley Martin and groomsman was David Clark, both of Big Spring. Ushers were Bobby Mayo and Scott Robinson of Big Spring.

Flower girl was Melissa Smith, Big Spring. She wore a dress of brown Qiana knit embellished with a lace ruffle at the neckline.

The reception followed at the fellowship hall of the church. Mrs. Frank Long registered guests.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth and tiered net skirt, edged with lace. The centerpiece was an arrangement of apricot, brown and beige silk flowers. Wedding bells decorated the top of the three-tiered wedding cake which was served with punch. Crystal appointments were used.

Presiding at the bride's table were Valerie Richardson, Big Spring, and Judy Jones, Lubbock.

The groom's table was draped with a brown floor-length cloth overlaid with a beige lace cloth. Chocolate layer cake was served with coffee from a silver service. Candelabras completed the table, presided over by Mrs. Steve Adams and Mrs. Mike Kelly, both of Big Spring.

Other members of the houseparty were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Newsom, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Long, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Stallcup, and Mr. and Mrs. Clay Ingham.

The bride attended Big Spring High School and is employed by Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. Her new husband also attended Big Spring High School and is employed at Carter's Furniture. They will make their home in Big Spring.

Gag collection showing at UT

AUSTIN, Texas — When Mrs. Carol Spencer Howard, an Austin elementary school librarian, acquired a box of clippings, sketches and articles about and by Wanda Gag, she had no idea where the search to find all she could about the well-known lithographer, author and illustrator would take her.

The late Miss Gag wrote and illustrated 10 children's books, all of which are still in print, and an autobiography. She is especially known for her "Millions of Cats," which is celebrating its 50th birthday this year.

"The book is recognized as a landmark in children's books and ushered in a period when picture books in America were just coming to the forefront," says Mrs. Howard.

Marking the 50th anniversary, an exhibit provided by Mrs. Howard is being sponsored by The University of Texas Graduate School of Library Science through Oct. 31.

On exhibit is the Harold A. Larrabee Collection of Wanda Gag which contains illustrations, lithographs, preliminary sketches and examples of Miss Gag's other work, as well as letters and photographs of many of her close friends and relatives.

Mrs. Howard has traveled many miles in the past few years talking with Miss Gag's relatives and friends and spending many hours in libraries across the Eastern United States searching her life. Through this search into Wanda Gag's past, Mrs. Howard has found much about her talents.

Miss Gag was one of seven artistically talented children born to Anton Gag, a Bohemian immigrant artist who made his living painting church murals in southern Minnesota.

When she was 15 years old and her father lay dying, his last words to her were: "What Papa couldn't do Wanda will have to finish." That moment remained in her mind through her life.

Miss Gag loved to draw, and during her career her talent was widely acclaimed.

Thomas, Brockman unite in Friday evening rite

The First Baptist Church of Coahoma was the setting of the wedding of Lana Kay Thomas and Wayne Brockman at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening. The Rev. Monroe Teeters, pastor of the church, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brockman, all of Coahoma.

The pair exchanged vows under a brass archway with greenery and yellow roses. Daisy mums were placed on each side, as were heart-shaped candelabrum. An arched candelabrum and memory candle was placed in the background.

Vocalist Nancy Wood was accompanied by Velma Ruth Wood at the piano.

The bride selected a formal-length dress of white nylon chiffon over satin. It was styled with an empire waist trimmed with lace, a scooped neck accented with lace and seed pearls, and full sleeves of sheer organza cuffed with lace and seed pearls and finished with an organza ruffle. A lace and organza ruffle tapered into a long train.

She carried a cascade of yellow and white daisies, baby's breath and blue poppies accented with seed pearls and streamers of white satin and bridal lace.

Nancy Wood of Coahoma was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Lynn Brockman, Coahoma, sister of the groom; Carrie Rhodes, Coahoma; and Karen McCraney, Big Spring. Best man was Randy Scott, Abilene, cousin of the groom; and groomsmen were Danny Tucker, Greg King and Douglas Nixon, all of Coahoma.

Ushering were Danny and Earl Thomas, Coahoma, brothers of the bride, and candlelighters were Leslie Brockman, sister of the groom, and Shana Anderson, both of Coahoma.

Kim Sedgwick, Lubbock, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and train carrier was Stephanie Choate, Coahoma.

Ring bearer was Truman Keesee, Big Spring, cousin of the groom.

A reception in the fellowship hall of the church followed the ceremony. The bride's table was draped with a white cutwork cloth over yellow, and was centered with an arrangement of yellow poppies and dried flowers. The three-tier white cake was adorned with yellow and blue flowers and topped with white and silver miniature bride and groom figurines. A fountain punch bowl and nut and mint pedestal dishes were placed on the table.

The groom's table was covered with a white lace cloth over blue and held a German chocolate cake and three-candle silver candelabrum.

Evelyn Roberts, Odessa, Cindy Roberts, Big Spring, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. Ernest Garrett, Coahoma, served.

The bride and groom, along with their parents, formed a receiving line.

The bride is in her junior year at Coahoma High School and the groom attended Coahoma High School. He is presently employed by Riley Drilling Company of Coahoma.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio and Galveston, the couple will make their home in Coahoma.

WEDDING PLANNED — Mr. and Mrs. Blaz Bailon, 4103 Dixon, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosie, to Felix Garcia, son of Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Garcia, 3219 Auburn. A wedding at the home of the bride's parents is planned for Nov. 5. Justice of the Peace Bob West will officiate.

Western look stylish now

Hi Yi Yippee Yiaaay, fashion critics whooped this season when a New York designer unveiled his trend-setting Western Look collection. There were cowboy boots, fringed jackets, string ties and dude ranch flounces. But, my word, the prices on those fanciful creations! Even cowgirls got the blues.

The Western Look is big this year. It's whimsical and fun. But don't let designer prices rein you in. You can easily dress the part without mortgaging "the south 40."

"Focus on Western Look accessories," suggests Ann Winfield, Woolworth consumer representative. "With a little ingenuity, you can easily create your cowgirl look with inexpensive, extra touches from your local variety store."

A jaunty red bandana knotted at the throat sets the stage for 'Marlboro country' says Winfield. Buy a handful in assorted colors, she advises. "The printed cotton squares cost peanuts and have endless uses. Tuck one into a jacket pocket as a decoration or a hankie. Or wear two, banded like of-time croupier garters, over shirt sleeves on the upper arms.

"Studded leather 'dude ranch' belts are a perfect Western match with jeans or full skirts with vests and sweaters," says Winfield. "Annie Oakley couldn't have done better!"

Brown leather belts with flat-headed golden studs arranged in patterns cost $2.99 at Woolworth, as do the flashy "creme de la dude" belts which are adorned with golden studs and fake garnet insets.

Women's status not improved

Despite a century of agitation to extend women's rights and improve their status, progress had been relatively slow. Today in the United States and Canada, according to The World Book Encyclopedia, women represent 52 per cent of all college and university undergraduate students and about 40 per cent of the labor force, but men still dominate all fields except for service and clerical positions. But if you think women's status needs improvement now, consider what World Book has to say about the situation over the past several thousand years.

In ancient societies, most women married and began raising children soon after reaching puberty. They remained at home, received no formal education, and had little economic or social power. Thousands of years before the birth of Christ, women in India could own property and take part in public debates, but about 200 B.C., Hinduism developed laws that gave women an inferior status to men. Most Hindu parents arranged for their daughters to be married before reaching puberty and taught them always to obey their husbands.

Later, as Christianity spread through Europe, women lost much of the freedom they had had under Roman law, where they had been highly respected, managed household affairs, and moved freely through the city to attend public functions. In the Middle Ages, the Roman Catholic Church followed Old Testament law and early German tradition regarding male domination. A European nobleman of the Middle Ages could end his marriage if his wife did not bear at least one son. Even later, Protestant leaders also regarded women as being completely under the control of their fathers or husbands.

Early eye exam is important for kids

"You oughta have your eyes examined," is the sort of derogatory remark spectators yell to baseball umpires. Actually the proper age for anyone to have his or her eyes examined is not 26, 16 or even six. The first complete medical eye examination should be given no later than age three-and-a-half, says Chicago ophthalmologist Burton Krimmer, M.D.

Children with this problem see better with one eye than with the other. They tend to favor the good eye, allowing the lazy eye to weaken further through disuse. One common method of treatment is the use of an eye patch over the good eye, forcing the lazy eye to work and strengthen itself.

Most cases of amblyopia can be improved if treated before the age of four. From four to seven, the percentage of improvement declines.

Certain mannerisms of the child may serve to warn parents of amblyopia. These include covering the poor eye, habitually tilting the head or appearing to try to brush away the blurred image. In most cases a simple eye exam will detect the presence of amblyopia.

Every year thousands of children become permanently handicapped because eye problems are not recognized early and treated at once, reports the American Association of Ophthalmology.

One of the most common eye disorders among very young children, according to the association, is amblyopia. By the time a child reaches school age, if the problem has not been diagnosed and treatment begun, the disorder may be too far advanced for successful treatment.

Miss Fowler weds Bob Jones at home

Shirley Ann Fowler and Bob Jones were married at 2 p.m. Oct. 7 in the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Charles Oaks of Markham, Ill.

MRS. BOB JONES

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John Fowler, Peotone, Ill., and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jones, Ackerly.

A reception followed the ceremony.

The couple are now at home in Midland where they are co-owners of Ace Insulation of Midland.

Diversions ease stress

Diversion, new interests or more action are productive paths to alleviate pressure or stress, says Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

NOVEMBER NUPTIALS — Mr. and Mrs. George Des Cravens of Midland announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, De Ann, to Jody Powell Yates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Yates of Tazzan. First Baptist Church of Midland has been selected as the Nov. 25 wedding site. Officiating will be Dr. Daniel Vestal, pastor of the church.

Swartz presents fashion forecast

At a recent meeting of the American Association of University Women, members enjoyed a program entitled "Change Your Fashion Image", presented by Andy Swartz of Swartz ladies wear.

Members and guests learned that individuality is what keeps fashion alive and vital. Women should not feel intimidated by the "perfect figure" in trying to adopt "new looks" into their wardrobe, said Swartz.

With a little imagination, women can wear more modern styles than they often believe they can, he said.

Fashion trend for fall and seasons to come is a slimmer, more tailored silhouette. The multi-layered looks were very successful with teenagers, Swartz said, but career women have had trouble adapting them to their active, yet formal, lifestyles.

The "dress for success" woman wears trim uncluttered looks with the fashion flair of slim skirts and narrow-legged pants. The wide, flared or bell-bottom pant leg is passe, he said. Widths move from the elastic-ankle evening pant to a maximum of 20 inches, giving in only slightly wider look at the ankle than the knee.

Swartz said, in his fashion forecast for 1978-79, colors will include brown, rust, and grape, wine, dark green, teal, camel, burgundy, mauve and plum.

Fabrics that will be popular are ultrasuede, wool and wool blends, polyester blends, and textured and patterned fabrics.

Quality in garment construction is responsible for the biggest gaps between fashions of different price. To cope with the higher prices of new fashions, Swartz suggested that a woman diminish the size of her wardrobe, if necessary, but stay with the highest quality fashions her budget will allow.

For the multitude of upcoming parties and activities, take the evening dress from your closet that you "just cannot wear again," Swartz said, and have it shortened to the newest intermission-length, stopping just at the ankles. Then add a slinky new satin evening pant outfit with cigarette or straight-cut legs, and you have a show-stopper festive season wardrobe.

The big accessory for day wear for this fall and upcoming seasons is hats from tams to fedoras, Swartz said; they are back and here to stay.

After Swartz's presentation of some of the newest fashions, the group enjoyed visiting with guests and sampling refreshments will include brown, rust, and grape, wine, dark green, Rhonda Rothell.

Clubhouse Slide show presented

The Women's Forum met in the home of Mrs. T.H. McCann at 2 p.m. Oct. 20 with Mrs. D.D. Dyer and Mrs. Charles Sweeney as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Omar Jones, vice president and program chairman, introduced Mrs. Merrill Creighton, who showed slides of autumn scenes, popular tourist sights and historical places that she and her husband have visited.

The slides included scenes from New Mexico, Arizona, the Grand Canyon, Colorado, the Smokey Mountains in Tennessee, the Biltmore Estate and Gardens in North Carolina, Washington, D.C., Pennsylvania, New York City and many, many more.

Helen Stewart, president, conducted the business meeting, at which Mrs. Cecil McDonald, representative to the Big Spring Alliance of Clubs, reported on new rules and regulations of the alliance and told of the items that had been purchased for the clubhouse. The alliance now has 18 member-clubs.

Mrs. Clyde Thomas reported on an arts and crafts program taking place each Tuesday afternoon for boys and girls at the West Side Community Center. A well-baby clinic for mothers and blood pressure checks for senior citizens will soon begin.

Mrs. Jones gave an audit report and Mrs. W.N. Norred was appointed as reporter. A free-will donation will be given by members each month for games at the Mountain View Nursing Inn.

The next meeting will take place Nov. 17.

Joslin gives service program

An open meeting of the Coahoma Alpha Beta Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi took place Tuesday evening in the home of Debra Wilson.

Those attending besides the regular membership included Becky Scott, Pat Olsen, Thelma Baker and Laura Proctor.

Ms. Wilson presented an informal program on the history and degrees of Beta Sigma Phi, and said that friendship is the most important thing about the sorority. She emphasized that membership in the club is by invitation only.

Marion Washburn, president, told a little bit about each officer's duties.

The chapter sold candy Sunday at the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival.

Susan Joslin reported on the amount of money made. Ms. Joslin presented a program on service. She said that service is the natural urge to help. Kindness is a service that one person does for another human being.

She spoke of the six attributes of a member of Beta Sigma Phi: courage, vision, humility, loyalty, fellowship and most important, service.

The chapter had a party Oct. 21 in the home of Peggy Soldan. Members felt that it was the best party they'd had.

The next meeting will take place Nov. 7 in the home of Ms. Soldan, at which time a pledge ritual will be held.

Beauceants plan sale

The Social Order of the Beauceant met at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Masonic Hall with Mrs. M.A. Parsons presiding.

Plans were made for a garage sale to take place Nov. 9-11 in the Shrine Club Building. Members are to bring articles to the building Nov. 9 and help with the sale.

A Thanksgiving dinner will take place at 6 p.m. Nov. 13 for members and Sir Knights. In conjunction, the Big Spring Commandry will hold their patriotic program.

The regular meeting will take place at 7:30 that evening.

The group will help with gifts and refreshments at Big Spring State Hospital at Christmas time.

After the meeting, refreshments were served to members and Sir Knights by Mrs. Willard Sullivan and Mrs. James S. Owens.

The Alpha Kappa Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Tuesday with Doris Arcand presiding.

Carole Louissetter reported on the success of the booth at the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival. Ms. Arcand gave a program on "Finding Our Place." Members made lists of ten words each that described themselves and the kinds of persons they are, and then used pictures of themselves doing things that illustrated their points.

Several members received cookbooks they had ordered, and Paula Gilmore won the hostess gift.

Members received a roster of all the local Beta Sigma Phi members.

Plans were made for the annual Thanksgiving basket to be given to a local needy person or family.

The next regular meeting will take place Nov. 14 in the home of Verna Grimes.

Nobles wins high score

The Rook Club met Oct. 20 in the home of Mrs. S.V. Jordan, 703 Gpliad.

Two tables were in play, and Mrs. S.R. Nobles won high score and Mrs. Jordan won second highest.

Mrs. H.M. Rowe was a guest, and refreshments were served at the close of the games.

Mrs. Felton Smith will be hostess of the Nov. 17 meeting.

H.O. Lee wins football trip

Moss Elementary School held its Halloween Carnival the evening of Oct. 21.

A drawing for a grand prize, which was an all-expense paid trip for two to the Dallas Cowboy-Washington Redskins football game, was won by H.O. Lee of Big Spring.

The second prize of $50 was won by Terry Hanson of Big Spring.

P.T.A. plans convention

The Elbow P.T.A. met in regular session at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the school cafeteria with Helen Kendrick, president, in charge.

An invocation was given by Bill Creagar.

Final touches were put on the Halloween Carnival, which took place in the school gym Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Delegates to attend the P.T.A. State Convention in Waco Nov. 14-16 were elected. Helen and Marvin Kendrick will attend as delegates, and their alternates are Leah Stansel and Kenneth and Jean Williams.

The next regular meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 27 in the school cafeteria.

Girl Scouts induct four

Brownie Girl Scout Troop No. 156 held their investiture ceremony Monday night in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Angela Saracen, Holly Mott, Jessica Hamby and Stacey Walling were welcomed as new members.

Kristi Connell, Tammie Rutledge, Misty Turner, Ruth Oliver, Shannon Phillips, Jennifer Smoot and Melinda Hernandez are second-year scouts.

Troop leader, Mrs. R.M. Oliver, and her assistants, Mrs. Dean Turner, Mrs. Tom Rutledge and Mrs. Richard Walling, conducted the candlelighting and pinning ceremonies.

Jackie Hancock, district field representative, was a special visitor.

Cost of some items down, not inflated

Anyone checking today's prices may not believe that "whatever goes up must come down," but in the case of some items, it's true. Family Circle uncovered some of these rare finds and listed them in a special inflation fighter section in the September 27 issue.

Home Power Tools. A drill that sold for $11.50 in 1977 is now $7.99.

Coast-to-Coast Air Fare. New York to Los Angeles is now $242 on the Supersaver fare as compared to $326 in 1972.

Color TV Sets. The average retail today is $575. In 1954 it was $1,000.

Long-Distance Phone Calls. Special, late-night phone rates now make it cheaper to call coast-to-coast than in 1970.

Hand Calculators. The first basic model sold in 1972 for $149.95. A similar calculator can now be bought for $24.95.

Digital Watches. A new improved model will cost you about $50 as compared to $125 in the early 1970's.

Lozanos move to Japan Stork club after Oct. 8 wedding

PLANS MADE — Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Thames, Sterling City Rt., announce the engagement of their daughter, Kelly Thames, to Bob Priebe, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Priebe, 2314 Roberts. The couple will be married Nov. 25 at First United Methodist Church by the Rev. J. Weldon Butler, pastor of the church.

The Tollett All-Faith Chapel, Big Spring, was the setting of the Oct. 8 wedding of Jenny Lea Shewmake to Jose D. Lozano, Lemoore, Calif. The 2 p.m. ceremony was officiated by Dr. Lee Butler, chaplain.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Shewmake and Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Lozano, all of Lenorah. The couple spoke their vows before an altar decorated with two large fan-shaped candelabras with a small candelabra placed in the center.

She carried a bouquet of blue silk roses accented with pink daisies and white baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Dee Ann Williams, Lenorah, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Randy Rather, Lohn, sister of the bride, and Dora Lozano, Lenorah, sister of the groom.

Jimmy Mitchell, Lenorah, served as best man, and

MR. AND MRS. JOSE D. LOZANO

groomsmen were Alex Perez, Lenorah, and Daniel Lozano, San Diego, Calif., brother of the groom.

Ushering were Elisao Silva and Ruben Gutierrez, both of Lenorah.

Melissa Ramos, Midland, was flower girl, and ring bearer was Johnny Ray DeLeon, Lamesa, cousin of the groom.

A reception after the ceremony took place in an area adjacent to the chapel.

The bride is in her sophomore year at Grady High School, and the groom, who is a member of the United States Navy, is being trained as an airplane captain and will be stationed on the aircraft carrier "Midway," which is docked in Japan.

Scouts appear on television

Jackie Hancock, field executive of the West Texas Girl Scout Council, has announced that some of "Our Cabana" girls will be interviewed on the air by Sylvia Holmes of KTXS-TV, Sweetwater.

The interviews will take place at 9 a.m. Monday and participating will be JoAnna Finke and Dora Gamez of Senior Troop No. 34, Sweetwater; and Emily Davidson, Lori Sasin, Eileen Cooper and Kaye Lehmann of Senior Troop No. 293, Roscoe.

Other girls from Hamlin and Abilene were on Natalie Powers' show at noon Wednesday at KRBC in Abilene. The girls were accompanied by Donna Kainer, one of the adult advisors of the Mexican Tour, July 19-30, 1978.

TwEEN 12 and 20 — Punishment too severe

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and I have a big problem and need help fast. My 19-year-old boyfriend and two of his friends came over to my house to see me when my parents were not home.

My parents were really upset when they found out. My mom thought we were drinking, but we weren't. Actually nothing happened. We just talked.

Now, my parents have placed me on restriction until I'm 18, and they have forbidden me to see my boyfriend ever again. Did I really do something really wrong? — Brenda, Wierton, W.Va.

Brenda: No, you did not do anything really wrong. Being restricted for 3 years is a punishment your parents could never carry out. They are just upset by what "could have happened," and will feel better when you tell them you made a mistake (you did), and that you will not make it again (and don't).

Dr. Wallace: About four months ago I wrote to you and asked for a male pen pal. You sent me a guy's name who lives in Federal Way, Washington, and I just want to thank you. We have been writing to each other ever since and we really enjoy it.

I have learned an awful lot about his hobbies and about the State of Washington. I wanted a person different from my friends but yet someone who shared some of my hobbies and likes.

I am always eager to learn and share my experiences, and my pen pal is the perfect person. He understands me, and we get along great. I write to him faithfully once a week.

I just wanted you to know that this pen pal business is really great. I encourage anyone and everyone to get a pen pal or at least give it a try, because it is really fantastic. Thanks again for making it possible for me to meet my pen pal. When I say meet, I mean meet in the written word. — Connie Beaumont, Porterville, California

Connie: Thanks for taking time to share your experience with our teen readers. I sincerely appreciate your enthusiasm.

Dr. Wallace: I am 13 and want very much to play a musical instrument. My mother thinks this is great, but she said that I must pay for the lessons and the instrument myself.

This seems impossible for me because I am too young to get a regular job and the only thing I can do is baby-sit.

But you are well aware that baby sitters do not make much money. Do you think that my mother is fair by making me pay for everything? — M.K.T., Alliance, Ohio

M.K.T.: I believe it is your parents' responsibility to provide you with an instrument and to pay for the lessons, but I also feel that any money that you make baby-sitting should be applied to these expenses.

Ship, not sailors, worries Navy women

SAN DIEGO (AP) — They're a little apprehensive, but it's the ship, not the sailors, that worries two Navy women who will be among the first assigned to sea duty.

"We'll be going into a new environment — there's a lot to wonder about," said Ensign Lisa Mills of Media, Pa.

She and Ensign Macushla McCormick of Selah, Wash., are among female officers who will report for duty aboard five San Diego-based Navy ships starting next week.

The women say they don't feel uncomfortable about being outnumbered 500-to-1 by men. "I'm used to mixing with men on a daily basis," said Ms. McCormick. "It's how you deal with the situation that counts."

"It can be good for a woman's morale," said Ms. Mills, 24. "But you can't let it get in your way either. Yes, we are females, but we're also professionals."

"If the emphasis is on the fact that we're females, it's wrong," she said.

Ms. McCormick, 23, will report Wednesday to the submarine tender Dixon, while her colleague will board the destroyer tender Samuel Gompers on Nov. 20.
