

Krueger, Tower: Conducting different campaigns

AUSTIN — John Tower, 17-year veteran of the U.S. Senate, reclines easily in the rear seat of his leased twin-engine MU-2. He pulls a gold cigarette case from his pocket, using the highly polished inside as a mirror when he smooths his hair.

U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger, Tower's challenger for the Senate seat, curls his long body on the seat of a chartered Cessna 310, trying to catch a few minutes' sleep before his next stop.

Krueger doesn't get much sleep these days. There are early morning breakfast meetings and late evening fund-raising receptions. His suit needs a press, and there are bags under his eyes.

Scott Carpenter

campaign pace is relaxed and comfortable.

In Waco, Tower suggests that a group of major contributors go to the local campaign office to call other businessmen on his behalf.

In Houston, Krueger pleads with blacks at a senior citizen's recreation center to vote on election day.

Tower talks of Krueger pro-labor votes as threats to the economic health of the state.

Krueger talks of Tower anti-civil rights votes as threats to the freedom of every Texan.

Tower's staff is confident he will be re-elected, but some are concerned enough that he might lose to be thinking about new jobs.

Krueger's staff is excited at the prospect of victory. He'll win if they don't blow it, they say.

Outwardly, Tower appears relaxed about the race. But a strategic move shows he is worried.

After attacking Krueger for the New Braunfels congressman's attendance record in the U.S. House, Tower chose to campaign in Texas rather than to attend the closing days of the Senate session. He missed votes on the compromise energy law package, tax relief and other bills. This neutralized attendance as an issue.

Both candidates will break from the tradition of spending the last few days of the campaign in Texas' major cities.

There are two reasons: —They believe that radio, television and newspaper reporters traveling with them will carry their messages to the big cities regardless of where the campaign trail leads.

—They plan to spend a large part of their time in South Texas with its heavy Mexican-American population.

Mexican-Americans are the key to both candidates' plans. Krueger's chances depend on traditionally Democratic Mexican-Americans, blacks and labor members voting in large numbers.

Tower thinks his message of business opportunities for Mexican-Americans will hold Krueger under the 75 to 80 per cent that Democratic candidates normally get from Mexican-American voting boxes.

Tower always has done well in big cities. Krueger hopes to spoil that with labor and black support. He also has cut into Tower's oil and gas industry support by taking the lead in the U.S. House against regulation of natural gas prices.

And Krueger is attempting to cut into Tower's support from the medical community by joining Tower in opposing regulation of hospital charges.

There is a real difference in the campaign styles of the two candidates.

Tower normally is escorted to a speaking platform where he makes a brief statement and then fields questions.

Krueger likes to wind his way through the crowd, shaking hands and chatting

SENATE RACE CONTESTANTS — It's man on man — not issue vs — issue in the U.S. Senate Race. That was the one, and almost solitary agreement of Sen. John before a speech designed to show that he has taken the time to be schooled in special areas of interest of the group.

He then takes a few questions but prefers the one-on-one contact of moving throughout the crowd.

In Waco, Tower made a grand entrance at a "non-political" Columbus Day celebration at a predominantly Mexican-American Catholic Church. He arrived early but spent the time at a small reception in the chancellery before his entrance.

Then it was off to a small fund-raising reception at an exclusive country club, after a stop at a motel to clean up and call his office.

In Corpus Christi, Krueger was driven to a small headquarters in the Mexican-American section where a dozen volunteers were painting yard signs. Then it was to the County Democratic Party office next to the Krueger office.

Krueger stopped to say thank you. The stops made him an hour late for a fund-raising reception, attended by big-money contributors, volunteers and political leaders.

Tower will outspend Krueger two-to-one in the race. Tower estimates he'll spend $4.2 to $4.8 million, depending on contributions received. Krueger says he'll make up the difference through volunteer labor.

Tower says he can't get volunteers and has to pay those who work phone banks and assemble mass mailings. Krueger says he has plenty of volunteers.

This year, Tower has the scare of his political life. Many polls show Krueger in the lead.

At least part of Tower's confidence comes from his last race. In 1972 he AUSTIN — Both John Tower and Bob Krueger are former university professors, received degrees from Southern Methodist University, did post graduate work in England, were born in September in Texas and are candidates for the U.S. Senate.

Tower is married to the former Lilla Burt Cummings of Washington, D.C., and has a stepson George Bigar, who attends SMU. He has three daughters by his first marriage, which ended in divorce; Penny, Marian and Jeanne, who live in Dallas.

Krueger is a 43-year-old bachelor.

He returned to Texas to run the family car dealership and run for the U.S. House from New Braunfels after serving as dean of the college of arts and sciences at Duke University.

The four-year House veteran received his doctorate from Oxford.

Tower, 53, has a master's degree from SMU. He taught government at Midwestern State University at Wichita Falls before his first election to the Senate in 1961.

During World War II, Tower was a chief petty officer in the Navy.

Former astronaut Irwin booked for TSTA confab

Most local teachers and administrators will be attending the District XVIII Convention of the Texas State Teachers Association to be held in the newly completed Midland College Chaparral Center.

Main speaker for the event will be Colonel (ret.) James B. Irwin, former astronaut for NASA.

"My visit to the moon prepared me for an even greater mission in life," stated the Apollo 15 astronaut. Colonel Irwin is the founder of the High Flight Foundation, an organization he established in 1972 to share his faith and serve his fellow man.

A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, he was commissioned in the Air Force as a test pilot. In 1966, he was selected as an astronaut by NASA. He served as a lunar module pilot on the Apollo 15 mission in 1971. This, the fourth manned lunar landing, was distinguished by the first usage of the lunar over vehicle and the exploration of Hadley Rille and the Apennine Mountains.

Colonel Irwin wrote his autobiography, "To Rule the Night." His career as a speaker, lecturer and good-will ambassador has taken him to more than forty foreign countries.

Because Jim Irwin believes that the well-rounded, productive life involves preparation in three areas, development of body, mind and spirit, this concept is incorporated into all of his presentations.

In the afternoon, teachers and administrators will separate into section meetings relating to their own particular fields — English teachers, math teachers, administrators, counselors, first grade teachers, and so forth.

The evening before the district convention, the House of Delegates will meet, with 11 local teachers in addition to Lynn Hise, immediate past district president and Janice Rosson, district membership chairperson attending from the Big Spring Education Association.

Members of the Howard County Education

JIM IRWIN

Association, which represent Howard College and Coahoma, Forsan and Elbow schools will also attend the Friday convention.

Voting delegates from the Howard County Association will be Cliff Ferguson, chapter president, Dale Ferguson, Mary Nell Hise, and Zimmalew Boeker.

Students at the Big Spring and Coahoma schools will have the day off Nov. 10 while their teachers are attending the convention, but Forsan and Elbow public school students will have substitute teachers, since those schools have teacher inservice days — which amount to holidays for the students — set at a later date.

BILL CLEMENTS ON AGRICULTURE

As Governor, Bill Clements is determined to plow back some of the profits to the farmers and ranchers who have worked so hard to earn them.

Bill Clements hasn't always worn a shirt and tie to work. For many years, he earned his living working from daylight to dark, generating a lot of sweat and a little profit.

As a farmer himself, Bill Clements knows firsthand the problems of rising costs, declining markets and regulations that limit the effective marketing of farm and ranch products.

The inflation cost squeeze threatens to drive many hard-working farmers and ranchers out of business.

Bill Clements knows that as Governor he cannot stop the waste of federal money. But, as Governor, he can do something about how the State of Texas taxes farmers and ranchers and spends their money.

Maximize exportation, minimize regulation for more agricultural profits.

Increased farm production expense caused by government-induced inflation and over-regulation is seriously depressing farm income.

Bill Clements believes the best long-range solution for these problems is a vigorous exportation policy. Not more government regulation and restriction. Long-lasting improvements in agricultural net profits can be achieved only through prices received in the marketplace, not dictated by the government.

We must expand our competitive position in world markets, and avoid undue governmental interferences with market-oriented agriculture. Unlike the liberal economists in government, farmers know that they cannot borrow themselves into prosperity. Bill Clements knows this, too. That's why he believes farmers will fare better under a market system than under any type of government-managed system.

The importance of a beef import quota. Bill Clements favors a change in the beef import quotas which would decrease foreign imports when domestic supplies are plentiful and increase these imports only when domestic supplies are scarce.

He also believes that all imported beef should be labeled as such and required to meet all USDA standards.

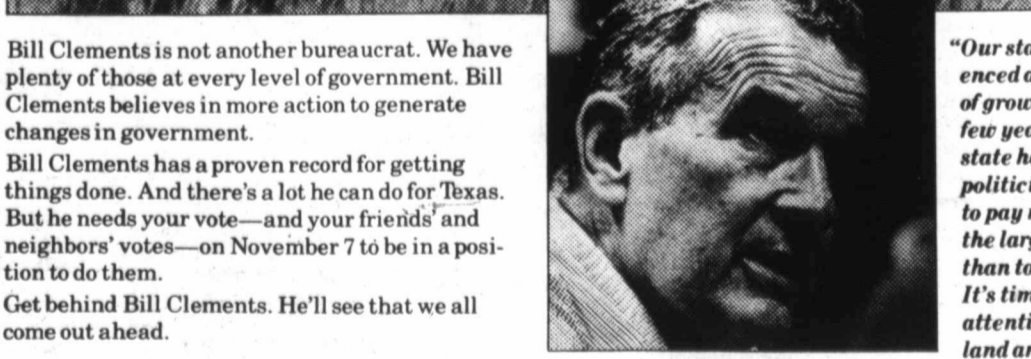

A fairer tax program for agriculture. One of the greatest problems for farmers and ranchers has been the increased burden of taxation.

Bill Clements intends to alleviate this burden. He has already made precise public stands to do so.

Bill Clements testified before the special session of the legislature advocating the increase of the inheritance tax exemption, and the proposed constitutional amendment which would allow agricultural land to be taxed at productive value rather than market value.

Bill Clements also fought for an increase in the Homestead Exemption and for repeal of the state ad valorem taxes.

Elect a doer, not a talker. Bill Clements is a pragmatic conservative who will be agriculture's advocate in government, both in Austin and in Washington. He will be the farmer's and rancher's best salesman to help with marketing problems, both at home and abroad.

Bill Clements is not another bureaucrat. We have plenty of those at every level of government. Bill Clements believes in more action to generate changes in government.

Bill Clements has a proven record for getting things done. And there's a lot he can do for Texas. But he needs your vote—and your friends' and neighbors' votes—on November 7 to be in a position to do them.

Get behind Bill Clements. He'll see that we all come out ahead.

"Our state has experienced an enviable record of growth over the past few years. But, as our state has grown, the politicians have tended to pay more attention to the large urban areas than to the rural areas. It's time we turned our attention back to the land and the people who have made our state great."

BILL CLEMENTS A GREAT GOVERNOR FOR TEXAS.

Mu Zeta raises 'bread' with bread

By EILEEN MCGUIRE
Family News Editor

One attraction at the recent Arts and Crafts Fair was so tasty that a Herald reader requested the recipe.

The item was Indian Bread, prepared and served at the fair as an annual fund-raising project for the Ways and Means Committee of Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

The idea resulted from chapter vice president Donna Carey's visit to an Indian Reservation at Taos, N.M. There she observed Mescalero Indians cooking the delicacy in iron pots filled with boiling grease. The bread was sold to tourists in order to raise funds for the reservation.

When Mrs. Carey relayed what she had seen to other members of the chapter, it was decided that such a project might also be beneficial to them.

The Indian Bread was initially tested on the crowd who attended the 1977 Arts and Crafts Fair. The response was so favorable, that the organization adopted the project as an annual fund-raising event. In fact, Mu Zeta has already reserved the concession stand for next year's art fair.

The Indian Bread project is only one way in which the chapter has made 1978 a special year for them. They have just completed the fall rush season during which they surpassed their expectations by welcoming seven new pledges into the chapter. Those pledges are now discovering the significance of belonging to such an organization.

Founded 26 years ago in Big Spring, Mu Zeta is a very active chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, an international organization. The main goal of the chapter is to serve and it fulfills that goal through a variety of activities including a sing-along for nursing home patients slated this month and a Christmas party in December for the Adolescent Unit of the Big Spring State Hospital.

A benefit of belonging to the organization is the resulting friendships between members and couples. The group includes husbands in a monthly social and also recruits them for various projects, including the October Indian Bread project.

The couples will celebrate Thanksgiving together on Nov. 18 and there will also be a Christmas party in December.

Membership is by invitation only, but according to Maria Faulkner, president, "We are always interested in meeting potential members."

Another rush season is planned for the spring. Following are some of the member's favorite homemade bread recipes, including the popular Indian Bread.

Though the chapter used a mix, available at Furr's Supermarket, for the Arts and Crafts Fair, preparing the bread from scratch results in a thicker yield. Other than that, there is little difference between the two. Both ways are delicious, testify members of Mu Zeta.

Normally, the bread is served sprinkled with powdered sugar and covered with honey, though it is also recommended by Mu Zeta served sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon without honey.

One member suggests serving it spread with jelly for breakfast.

FOUR LITTLE INDIANS from Mu Zeta satisfy appetites with Indian Bread at the recent Arts and Crafts Fair. The cooks are, from left, Marcia Earl, Treasurer Debbie Wegman, Vee Miller and Connie Edgemon. The bread was such a crowd-pleaser that one sampler requested that the Herald obtain the recipe. Mu Zeta says a booth has been reserved for next year's Arts and Crafts Fair when the popular pasta will be served once again.

HERE'S HOW — Donna Carey shows Maria Faulkner how Indian Bread is prepared similar to the way Mescalero Indians do it in New Mexico. Mrs. Carey brought the idea back from a vacation to a New Mexico reservation and the idea was readily adopted by the Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi as an annual fund-raising project. The bread has gained popularity among Big Springers who sample it during the last two annual Arts and Crafts Fairs.

Immigration information to be given

Persons interested in assisting eligible aliens obtain immigration benefits will receive basic "how-to-do-it" instructions from the staff of the Immigration and Naturalization Service at an all-day workshop scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Tuesday,

November 14, at St. Joseph Catholic Church 907 South Dixie, Odessa, 79763. The program will be sponsored by St. Joseph Catholic Church and Catholic Charities, Diocese of San Angelo in cooperation with the INS. The effort is part of the INS National Outreach Program in which the Service works closely with nonprofit immigration counseling groups to train community volunteers to help aliens, without charge, in immigration matters. Representatives of social service, government, church, community and other organizations from the Midland-Odessa area have been invited to participate in the workshop. Mr. L. A. Velarde, United States Catholic Conference, El Paso, will be the principal instructor at the workshop.

He will be assisted by personnel from the INS District office in El Paso. Mr. Velarde's presentation will cover a general explanation of immigration laws and procedures, how these laws are applied, and step-by-step instructions on how to properly fill out the most commonly used immigration forms. Since April, 1977, when the INS launched the National Outreach Program the Service has conducted 60 training sessions across the country, teaching approximately 2,300 volunteers how to aid aliens in immigration matters.

Outlook for ranges changes for better

Recent fall rains, that were certainly welcomed by ranchers and stock farmers, have changed the winter outlook on grazing on rangeland. In a very short time, this county was changed to look like spring.

If warm weather continues, rangeland should make enough forage to cut down another major feed bill for cattle raisers this winter, according to Chesley Wilson of the Soil Conservation Service.

Cattle raisers can take advantage of the late fall growth, by resting a pasture or pastures until after frost and thereby build up a grass reserve for winter, Wilson added.

Many stockmen have seeded small grains on their fields to supplement their grasses this winter and cut their feed bills down also.

Fertilizer applications on small grains can boost forage production 30 to 50 per cent depending on the amount of rainfall or moisture that we received the rest of this year. Fertilizer will enable a plant to more efficiently use of the water it receives and produce more growth than unfertilized plants.

People are grazing sorghums that did not produce grain, should be very careful of the frost period, when cyanide or prussic occurs. A killing frost causes the plant to become poisonous. Cattle should be removed before frost. If cattle are not removed, it is usually too late to remove them after frost occurs, because the poisoning will have already done its damage to the livestock, Wilson continued.

Recent clippings have shown that in some areas, grasses have almost made it back to normal production in pounds per acre. With this late growth that we have had, the grass will not mature out as well as it does in a normal year, because frost will hit in while it is still green and contains a high per cent of water.

Normally grass loses about 40 to 50 per cent of the water before frost. This makes better winter forage if it has lost the high water content before frost.

For act committed during war

Former Vietnamese general may be ejected

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten years ago South Vietnamese Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan drew his snub-nosed revolver and executed a Viet Cong soldier in a picture that shocked the world. Today, Loan — a restaurant manager in Virginia — may be ejected from the United States because of his act.

Leaders of the Vietnamese exile community in the United States are labeling the government's attempt to remove Loan's American residency, and eventually deport him, as unfair and ridiculous.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service, arguing that the then-Vietnamese national police chief should have been tried in Vietnam for a possible war crime for the killing on a Saigon street during the 1968 Tet offensive, has advised Loan that his residency permit will be rescinded on grounds of "moral turpitude."

"He should not have been given a green card (permanent residency certificate) in the first place," spokesman Vern Jerbis told The Associated Press.

"Loan's case was amongst those that qualified under a law passed by Congress authorizing special handling for Indochina refugees, similar to that given previously to Cubans and Hungarians. Loan just slipped through our bureaucracy," Jerbis said.

The 48-year-old Loan, who lost his leg when seriously wounded in May 1968, has avoided reporters for years and declined to comment on the immigration service's move. But his former colleagues in combat have rallied to his defense.

"All the Vietnamese exiles are furious about this," declared former South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, who now runs a liquor store in Los Angeles. "We recognize Loan as one of the most staunch anti-communists that our country produced. Everything he did was for his country, and there were war crimes on both sides."

The Saigon government spokesman at the time, Nguyen Ngoc Linh, who runs several restaurants in Houston, said: "This is unfair to a man who spent his whole life in this war."

The American military commander during Loan's time, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, told the AP that the street execution "was an imprudent act, but an act performed under stress. This matter has legal implications that I can't pass judgment on. But there was great stress in Saigon at that time and great anger at the acts of the communist terrorists."

The immigration service declined to elaborate on its case against Loan, stating that a hearing date is yet to be set. But the main facts of the incident have never been disputed.

As recalled by Associated Press photographer Eddie Adams, whose picture of the incident won the Pulitzer Prize: "I was with several newsmen covering a battle on Feb. 1, 1968, near the An Quang pagoda in the Cholon section of Saigon."

"The Viet Cong were shooting it out with the police, and civilians were caught in the crossfire. After the army and police stormed the pagoda, we were walking to our car when we saw a man in civilian clothes being led out of a doorway and down the street by marines. I started to make pictures along the way, and when we got to the corner, Gen. Loan suddenly appeared, walked over to the prisoner, drew his pistol, and shot him in the head. Then he turned to us and said quietly, 'They have killed many Americans and many of my people.'"

The dramatic sequence was also captured on television film by NBC News. Vietnamese police later said that the victim was a Viet Cong lieutenant who had been seen shooting and killing a policeman from the second floor of the building where he was captured. They said he had a revolver in his possession.

Loan's Washington lawyer, Robert Ackerman, said he will argue that the Vietnamese general was acting within his rights when he gunned down the suspect in the street.

"Vietnam was under martial law at the time, civilian rule had broken down, the law of the military commander prevailed," said Ackerman, a former U.S. Marine. "Loan will argue that he was directly ordered to summarily execute any civilian found with a gun. Warnings of this punishment were broadcast over Saigon radio."

He argued that the incident did not require a trial under Vietnamese law "because it was a combat death, not a murder."

Ky said he will back Ackerman. "During the Tet offensive, guerrillas were all over the city, at the U.S. Embassy, at the presidential palace," Ky said. "We made it clear to all at the time that armed civilians would be executed. If it is thought necessary to persecute Loan, why not also persecute his superiors? I was one of his superiors."

The Vietnamese government made no attempt to discipline the police chief, and there was no inquiry. "It was just part of the bloody continuing war," Ky said, adding that "I was mad that the picture was taken at the time. It was bad publicity for us."

JOHN W. LEININGER

Dowell expands services with appointment

In naming John W. Leininger district manager in Midland, Dowell has announced an expansion of its services in west Texas and southeast New Mexico to include industrial cleaning.

Leininger is transferring from Anaheim, Calif., where he has been safety and training supervisor for the West Coast Region of Dowell, a division of Dow Chemical U.S.A.

"Many of Dowell's facilities already service industrial plants as well as oil and gas field operations, and Leininger has extensive experience in cleaning work for refineries and utility companies," said Wilson Smith, manager of Dowell's West Texas Region.

"By the end of the year, we will be fully equipped in Midland for cleaning equipment such as boilers, surface condensers and air preheaters, superheaters and reheaters."

Since joining Dow at Seal Beach, Calif., in 1966, Leininger has worked as a field engineer, sales engineer, area manager and product manager. He is a mechanical engineering graduate of California State College.

Good news of dollars recovery dented by continued inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dollar continued to rebound strongly on world markets today in response to President Carter's crash program to stem its rapid loss of value overseas. But the administration's satisfaction was tempered by disappointing news in the fight against inflation.

Wholesale prices — a harbinger of future retail costs — leaped by 0.9 percent in October for the second consecutive month, the Commerce Department reported. The advance was led by a 1.7 percent jump in wholesale food prices, equaling the rise in September.

With inflation running at an annual rate of nearly 10 percent, the administration had been counting on price gains to ease by the end of 1978. But the October increase, if averaged out over an entire year, would be about 11 percent. Wholesale prices last month were 8.6 percent higher than the same month in 1977.

In Tokyo, meanwhile, the dollar soared by more than 4 percent over the Japanese yen. The dollar had closed at 178.80 yen Wednesday, soared to 188 at the opening of the foreign exchange market, then slipped to close at 186.025 on the first day of trading there since Carter's announcement.

The president's dollar rescue plan includes higher interest rates, the borrowing of $30 billion in foreign currencies and an increase in U.S. gold sales.

The Federal Reserve Board's interest rate for loans it makes to member banks was boosted by a nearly unprecedented one percentage point, to a record 9.5 percent, meaning that higher interest rates are in store throughout the economy.

The actions ultimately could make it harder to buy a house. Savings institutions will find it harder to attract deposits because other investments will pay more interest. That means less money available for mortgages and higher rates for those that are available. The government moves also should make it easier to travel overseas because, as the value of the dollar increases, your money buys more in foreign countries.

In Europe, continuing sharp gains that began Wednesday soon after Carter's announcement, the dollar rose dramatically against every major European currency, and gold bullion prices fell as demand for dollars rose.

In London, rates fluctuated rapidly, but the mid-morning level was about $1.9860 to the pound, compared to Wednesday's close of $2.01. London gold prices, which closed at $225 an ounce Wednesday, opened today at $219.50, but were back up to $222.875 by mid-morning.

Early dollar rates today on other European markets showed similar gains.

The Agriculture Department reported Tuesday that prices farmers get for their products rose 1 percent in October — an annual rate of 12 percent. And economists at Georgia State University predicted overall wholesale figures for October would at least equal the September rise of 0.9 percent.

Wholesale prices of more than 10 percent.

The October wholesale figures were determined mostly before Carter announced his anti-inflation program last week. Moreover, administration officials have said it is likely to be six months to a year before the anti-inflation moves begin having any noticeable effect on government statistics.

In New York, the initial stock market response to Carter's program to shore up the failing dollar was to surge forward in heavy trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average jumped a record 35.34 points Wednesday, closing at 827.78.

Drug abuse topic of Knott 4-H

Drug abuse was the topic of the Knott 4-H Club program given recently by Ed Kissinger of the Big Spring Police Department.

Kissinger explained what drugs are, and how they are abused. He explained the proper use of drugs, as prescribed by a physician for health or protection against disease.

Drug abuse occurs, Kissinger told the group, whenever a person takes drugs in an attempt to influence his mind or body to escape reality. He told of the three basic classifications of drugs: stimulants and depressants and hallucinogens and showed samples of each. Kissinger told of the harmful effects of using cocaine, marijuana, LSD and other drugs.

David Hall, 4-H club president, announced that a workday would be held to clean up the grounds at the Knott Community Center. Invocation was given by Lesli Guitler. John Guitler led in the Pledge of Allegiance and Cole Hunt led the 4-H Pledge.

Project reports were given by members who attended the State Fair in Dallas. They were Tammy Peugh, Lyle Grantham, Cole Hunt, D'Ann Hall and David Hall.

Linda Fuchs, Assistant County Extension Agent was introduced. She reminded members of the forthcoming food show. Mrs. Ed Kissinger was also a special guest.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bob Hunt and Mrs. Repps Guitler. Other adult leaders attending were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Robinson.

SURFACING WITH THE FOLKS — Corky, a female killer whale, swims with her baby which weighs 285 pounds and is 7 feet long, right, as Orky, the father of the baby whale, also surfaces, left, in Los Angeles Marineland Wednesday. Corky is believed to be the only killer whale in the world to produce offspring while in captivity. The sex of the baby has not been determined and no name has yet been chosen.

Convention delegates decide

Baptists should have annual funding surveys

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Baptist institutions should make annual surveys to assure themselves they are not becoming dependent on federal money, messengers representing two million Texas Baptists have decided.

The 93rd annual session of the Baptist General Convention in Texas ends today after acting on resolutions — possibly including one condemning oral sex between husband and wife.

After presenting his resolution on "heterosexual-perversion" to the convention's resolutions committee, the Rev. Glynn Little of Langwood Baptist Church in Houston said he plans to bring it to the floor if the committee tries to bury it.

Little's resolution includes 15 scripture citations that he contends instruct Christian couples to avoid oral sex.

It says "heterosexual-perversion within marriage is another of the animalistic influences in an age of sexual permissiveness."

Little began his crusade after learning that religious author Charles Shedd would speak at a Baptist family life conference in March. He says he heard a marriage enrichment tape some years back in which Shedd asserted it was okay for married couples to engage in oral sex.

His resolution would put the session on record against participation of any one in Texas Baptist activities who "teaches, practices and/or encourages any type of sexual techniques or heterosexual-perversion (oral sex), homosexuality or lesbianism."

Meanwhile, the messengers adopted the report of a special Church-State Study Committee without question or opposition.

This put the convention on record as urging trustees of Baptist colleges, universities, children's homes and hospitals to perform annual reviews of government money they receive.

"We cannot challenge excessive government interference if the institutions cannot survive financially without government support. This must be avoided," the report said.

The Rev. Lester B. Collins Jr., pastor of Tallwood Baptist Church in Houston and chairman of the study committee, said Baptist institutions are "under fierce pressure from our government (even) in areas where money is not involved."

"The free exercise clause of our constitution is being abrogated by our government in insisting that our institutions do things that are contrary to our convictions," he said.

Collins said a U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare "white paper" suggested classification of homosexuals and alcoholics as "handicapped." The paper was not adopted as federal policy, however.

Collins said such a policy would force church institutions to hire homosexuals and alcoholics since federal law prohibits discrimination against the handicapped.

TAUGHT MORE THAN JUST MATH — Herta Freitag rides her tricycle near her apartment in Roanoke, Va., recently. As a young girl in Austria, Hanna wanted to be a good teacher of mathematics and so she did, and more. Ask any of the hundreds of students who sat in her classes at Hollins College in Virginia, who learned of courage and perseverance as well as math.

Childhood dream comes true for college teacher

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — When she was 12 years old, Herta Taussig, an outgoing, precocious girl, made an entry in her diary:

"I want to be a teacher of mathematics. I don't know whether I will be good enough."

Six years later she amended her dream: "I don't want just to be a teacher of mathematics. I want to be a good teacher of mathematics."

So she became. Ask any of the hundreds who sat in Herta Taussig Freitag's classes at Hollins College over a span of 23 years and knew her not just as a good teacher but also as a good person, a good friend, and who learned from her as much about courage and perseverance as they did about differential equations.

For much of her life — she is 70 now — fate seemed to conspire against her modest goal. The question never was whether she was good enough to teach but whether the gods would allow it.

"My first teaching job in America was in upstate New York at a school for poor children from broken homes," Mrs. Freitag said. "Naturally I was apprehensive. Would the kids accept me?"

"They accepted me once they discovered that I had been kicked around, too."

When young Herta confided her life's ambition to her diary, she was enjoying, as she recalls, "an extraordinarily happy childhood" in her native Vienna, Austria, a city of intellectual zest and ferment in those days, alive with music and art and laughter.

Her father was a newspaper editor, his views on Hitler and Nazism well known. Thus, in 1938, just as Herta was embarking on a teaching career, the Taussigs had to flee Austria.

"Hitler took over on Friday, March 13. I will never forget father's toneless voice when he said to me, 'There is no Austria anymore.' By the following Wednesday he was dismissed."

Fleeing was not easy. By sheer luck the Taussigs found an American sponsor, a doctor of the same name, but the waiting list was long.

After nine months of hiding and worrying they managed to make it to England by agreeing to work as domestics. Herta "survived the Battle of Britain as a chambermaid, later a waitress."

Finally, her knowledge of English much improved after six years, her knowledge of wartime civics much improved after learning the rites of palm-greasing, she got passage to America on a freighter and applied for citizenship the day it docked.

"They were happy years after that I got my doctorate at Columbia University.

Hangin' Out

by Nathan Poss

Standing on the sidelines trying to shoot some pictures of the Rice A&M game last weekend, an old college friend came by and said "Hey, Scooter, what's happening?"

Turning, I was astonished to see Minnesota Vikings quarterback Tommy Kramer. Like myself, Tommy had a spare weekend and decided to check out his alma mater.

TK, as he was known by friends at Rice, came into the Rice programs in 1973 with this local sportswriter. He arrived as the hot shot prospect from San Antonio Lee, where he led his team to a state championship as a junior and set the career record for passing yardage by a Texas high school player. Four years later, after earning consensus All-America honors for his aerial wizardry, he was the first quarterback drafted in the first round in the history of the Minnesota Viking organization.

Vike boss Bud Grant explained to TK that he was being drafted for the purpose of being groomed to replace Sir Francis Tarkenton upon the elder statesman's retirement. But as Tommy says with an appreciative grin, "Fran gets the job done." Yes, the Dallas Cowboys said the same thing last week.

The Vikings, after playing the Cowboys on the previous Thursday night, had the weekend off, but that wouldn't have mattered to Kramer anyway. Two weeks before, he was thrown down by Jack Youngblood in a vicious display of tackling. He was knocked unconscious until halfway to the hospital, and it appeared that he might have suffered serious neck and back injuries.

I was not watching the game when it happened, but had a few phone calls from people telling me about it. Later that night I saw a rerun of the play, and it did make my stomach a little queasy. Especially since it was a friend.

We talked momentarily on the sideline, then Kramer ventured back to the stands to some lovely female. Don't let anyone lie to you, those NFL quarterbacks rarely ever have a difficult time finding adequate companionship.

Tommy, his old college roommate, a Rice coach and I ate lunch together Monday on the Rice campus. Although the rest of our conversation didn't concern football, the subject of violence on quarterbacks, especially Youngblood's heave, entered the discussion.

A person made the comment that it was a cheap shot and uncalled for, especially considering that the Rams held a 34-17 advantage in the late stages of the game.

Kramer was not bitter in his remark. In his cool, matter of fact style, Tommy said, "No, looking at the films it wasn't cheap. Nearly, maybe, but it was legal. It was nearly late, but I guess Youngblood just wanted me to know that I was in the game. It's just part of the game."

TK flew back to the land of the cold weather on Tuesday morning to run tests that he was hoping would release him to begin playing again. I overheard a local conversation last week where one pseudo-football expert commented that Kramer would be gunshy. I doubt it. Kramer had operations on both shoulders during his stint at Rice, with his throwing side receiving the knife before his senior year. All he came back to do was lead the nation in passing and total offense, not to mention consummate numerous other awards. Like any worthy professional, he will perform under pain and the threat of danger. Of course, the padded pocketbook will help.

One other comment of Kramer's worth mentioning to the local Cowboy fans. When someone mentioned that the Cowboys were on the decline, Kramer took exception. "We threw in some new wrinkles against Dallas and Fran used them very effectively. Harvey Martin is not full speed, and that really hurts Dallas a lot."

Hawk, Queens open season tonight

The Howard College Hawks and Hawk Queens open the 1978-79 season tonight when they host the Lubbock Christian JV's and Ranger Junior College, respectively.

The games will be played in the new, spacious Dorothy Garrett Coliseum on the campus of Howard College. This should provide quite a contrast from old Hawk Pavilion.

Coach Harold Wilder is anxious to see how his new troops perform under pressure. The lineup is dotted with freshmen, and Wilder is hoping some of them can take the place of the departed Russell Sublet and Joe Cooper. These two transferred to Tulsa University after finishing their eligibility here.

Wilder will start a lineup featuring guards Robby Randolph and Rocky Rawls, forwards Allen Bonds and Michael Wallace, and center R.Q. Tolliver.

The Hawks Queens of Coach Don Steens will be hard pressed to match last year's 27-6 record. Gone are such performers as Letha Strickland, Linda Batla and Tami Edwards.

Ranger, a veteran club, is led by high scoring Sara Morrow. They return eight lettermen with game experience.

The Queens game will begin at 6:00, with the Hawks slated for a 7:30 tipoff.

Lucas teaches old mates a lesson

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Rick Barry and Golden State's John Lucas met on the basketball court Wednesday night but it wasn't the way Barry had planned it.

"I had always wanted to play on the same team with him," Barry said after Lucas' Warriors had decked the Rockets 112-105 in a National Basketball Association game. "But unfortunately the Warriors decided to take him out there."

All eyes were on Barry and Lucas, the central figures in an off-season switch that was orchestrated by NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien. After the Rockets signed Barry, O'Brien ordered Lucas to the Warriors as partial compensation.

It was the first meeting between the two teams since the switch and Lucas demonstrated that the Warriors made a good decision. He scored 26 points and passed off 15 assists in a winning cause compared to 16 points and 12 assists for Barry in a losing effort.

"There was no extra pressure on me because we were playing the Rockets," said Lucas. "We just wanted to win one more on the road that's all. It's not like it was the final game of the season."

It was Golden State's fourth consecutive victory on the road following an overtime victory over San Antonio Tuesday night in which Lucas also starred.

"We're just a young team kind of playing scared," Lucas said. "We don't know yet how good we are or how good we can become."

49er O'Connell accentuates the positive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When Fred O'Connell talked about what he would do in his new job as the San Francisco 49ers' head coach, it called to mind the lyrics of an old popular song that went:

"You gotta accentuate the positive. Eliminate the negative. Latch on to the affirmative. And don't mess with Mr. In-between."

Getting more specific, the 39-year-old former offensive coordinator under McCulley, said he wanted the team to be "more physical" and "make sure we all accept the responsibility to get inspirational" about the game.

Later, he said that in coordination with his offensive line and receiver coaches, he would call the plays for second-year quarterback Steve DeBerg starting Sunday at Atlanta, a game he described as a real challenge.

MINNESOTA VIKING quarterback Tommy Kramer (right) poses with former batterymate Doug Cunningham during the recent Rice-A&M game. Though missing two games with an injury, Cunningham caught 59 passes from Kramer two seasons ago. Kramer is in his second season as a pro, while Cunningham, presently injured, is a top pro prospect.

Dear Abby

Nobody Calls This Plumber; They Whistle

DEAR ABBY: Right out of high school I started working for my father. He's a plumber and owns his own company. I decided that because my brother and I would probably inherit our father's business one day, I should go to school and learn all I could about the business. I went to school nights and worked days for my father, and I just got my diploma. Now I'm familiar with blueprints and estimating and everything a competent plumber should know.

I happen to be a girl, and that's the problem. People seem to think that girls who perform this kind of work have to be fat and ugly. I'm far from ugly. (I placed sixth in the Miss Minnesota beauty contest.) Men on my jobs try to pick me up. When I walk into a warehouse, I get whistled at and looked over like a piece of raw meat. But worst of all, people keep asking me why I am doing a man's job. This is not a man's job. It belongs to anybody who can do it right. I take pride in my work, and just once I wish people would notice my work instead of my behind!

PLUMBING AWAY IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR PLUMBING: Don't complain. You're ahead of the game. A good plumber with a nice behind is hard to find.

DEAR DEAR ABBY: Problem: Our neighbors all have huge shade trees. The ones on the south don't shade their lot as much as they do ours.

Trying to raise a garden is difficult in all the shade. We love trees, but with the loads of leaves soon to come, do we ask the friends on three sides to trim the trees, remove them, or help us clean up our yard? Perhaps they will pay more attention to Dear Abby than to us. It may be possible that others have this same problem now that leaves are coming down.

One cartoon showed a guy with a pile of leaves in his yard with no trees of his own.

FIRST TIME WRITER

DEAR FIRST TIME: You can't love trees without loving their leaves. You can't have it both ways; so get out the rake, and count your blessings.

Let someone else do the work! Read the Who's Who

Center point makes plans

The Center Point Home Demonstration Club met in the Kentwood Center at 2 p.m. Oct. 24 to discuss business and plans for future programs.

Hostesses were Nannie Garrett and Mattie Wren, and roll call was answered with each member's favorite season. The fall season was voted most popular.

The program at the meeting was making blankets and stuffed animals to be taken to children at the West Side Day Care Center in the Industrial Park. A guided tour of the home was taken by members, who viewed the landscaping and the headquarters' furnishings.

Members plan to donate more items to the home at a later date.

There will be a salad luncheon at the Nov. 14 meeting with a program presented afterwards by chairperson Treba Griffith and Mrs. Wren. The title will be "Surprise."

A shower of gifts for Big Spring State Hospital will be brought by members to the Nov. 28 meeting, and handmade Christmas decorations will be on display.

The club will sponsor a sale of articles Dec. 2 in the Highland Mall with proceeds to go to patients at Big Spring State Hospital.

Club members are invited to attend the Home Demonstration Council Party which will be hosted by the Center Point club in November at the county extension agent's office.

New member Frances Martinez won the door prize, and refreshments of spiced punch, coconut squares and mixed nuts were served by the hostesses.

For the record

An error in the Clubs and Organizations tabloid published Oct. 26 depicted Sharon Rotan, president of Kentwood P.T.A. as the president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Auxiliary No. 3188 of Big Spring. The correct picture, that of Dessie McMichael, appeared under Kentwood P.T.A.

The Herald regrets any confusion that the switch may have caused. This is how the two organizations should have appeared:

Who gets cash for clothes?

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Would you please settle a slight family squabble? Next week my mother is having a garage sale in which she is selling good but unwanted family items. Some of the articles for sale are my clothes that I no longer wear.

All of my clothes for sale were paid for by my parents but now I have a part-time job after school and I pay for all my own clothes.

Mom says that all the money made from selling my clothes in the sale should go to her because she originally paid for them. I believe the money should be mine since they were my clothes. What do you say? — Lynne, Michigan City, Ind.

Lynne: Even though your parents paid for the clothes, they gave them to you, therefore the money is rightfully yours.

To avoid the squabble, why don't mother and you agree to split the sale money? — Dr. Wallace

Exports set record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm exports set another record in the last fiscal year and government experts say there is a good chance the string will continue in 1978-79.

The Agriculture Department announced Wednesday that the value of farm exports in the year ended Sept. 30 rose almost 14 percent to $27.3 billion from about $24 billion in 1976-77. Officials have not projected a dollar figure for exports this year but have indicated that a "modest" increase may occur.

They caution that much will depend on 1978-79 crop prospects in other areas of the world, including the Soviet Union. The Soviets, a big buyer of U.S. wheat and corn last year, have not indicated how much they may purchase in 1978-79. Meanwhile, USDA said it was the ninth straight year that the value of farm exports set a record. The surge began in 1969-70 when exports totaled $6.9 billion and climbed to $3.2 billion two years later.

The actual quantity of agricultural exports also set another record at 122.3 million metric tons, up almost 20 percent from 102.3 million metric tons in 1976-77, the previous high.

A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

The huge exports do not mean that the United States soon will run out of grain and other farm products. Officials estimate that by counting the larger shipments and domestic demand there will be around 80 million metric tons of grain left over next year, the most since 1964.

In 1972-73, fed by huge grain demand from the Soviet Union and other countries plus soaring commodity prices, the farm export value jumped to more than $14.9 billion. It rose further to $21.6 billion in 1973-74 and has continued to edge higher despite declines in some commodity prices.

The Carter administration has placed a high priority on exports as a way to help farmers. Congress, shortly before it adjourned, approved a trade expansion bill that enlarges credit programs so that foreign countries can buy more U.S. agricultural products.

One feature will allow China to buy U.S. farm products on short-term credit if it chooses. Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland left this week for Peking, where he will meet with Chinese officials on expanding farm trade between the two countries.

Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman, in charge of the department while Bergland is away, said the value of agricultural products imported from other countries last fiscal year totaled $13.9 billion, a gain of about $500 million from 1976-77.

Farm families pay more for phone, electricity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Annual surveys show that farm families continued to pay more this year for telephone service and electricity.

The Agriculture Department says that the average monthly farm telephone bill for local calls this year was $10.40 a month, up 8 percent from $9.62 in 1977.

For electricity, the average monthly bill this year was $53.20, up 11 percent from the 1977 average of $48.10 a month.

The surveys are made annually during the summer months and usually cover charges for June and July.

When long-distance calls, service charges and extension phones were included, the telephone bills averaged $24.38 this year, a 13 percent increase from $21.58 a year earlier.

The basic charges for local calls averaged lowest at $8.20 a month in Pennsylvania and $8.30 in Kansas, the department said in a monthly price report issued this week. The highest rate was $15 a month in Arizona.

Costs of electricity varied widely in the country, with the highest at $5.70 per kilowatt-hour in New Jersey and the lowest at $1.60 in Washington state.

Food prices show signs of rising

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices show signs of rising again as President Carter tries to convince unions his anti-inflation plan will eventually steady most prices.

The Labor Department was releasing its October wholesale price report today amid these signs that the inflation spiral is not easing. —The Agriculture Department reported Tuesday that prices farmers get for their products rose 1 percent in October, the second monthly increase in a row.

—Forecasters at Georgia State University who measure wholesale price trends said food prices are continuing to rise rapidly.

Those economists cited September's wholesale price rise of 0.9 percent — an annual rate of more than 10 percent — and said October's rate may have been at least that large.

Consumers usually notice changes in wholesale prices within a few months as those gains make their way to the retail level. In September, reflecting earlier wholesale price increases, retail prices rose an average 0.8 percent.

While the Teamsters and United Auto Workers unions have backed the president's plan of limiting inflation through voluntary wage-price guidelines, AFL-CIO President George Meany strongly opposes the program.

There is no guarantee, Meany said, that prices will moderate if wages are kept down. He called the president's approach "unfair and inequitable."

Yet Carter said Wednesday he believes "the working people" will support his approach in place of the mandatory wage and price controls Meany wants.

Vegetable retail prices going to rise this fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail prices of both processed and fresh market vegetables are going up this fall from levels of a year ago, says the Agriculture Department.

This year's raw tonnage of major vegetables for processing is down about 8 percent from 1977, including substantial cuts in the tomato acreage.

Also, according to the latest USDA analysis issued this week, carryover stocks of other canned vegetables were light this year. This points to a tighter supply in coming months.

However, supplies of frozen vegetables as of Oct. 1 were up 11 percent from a year earlier, including "a substantial share" of the 1978 pack, the report said.

"Total supplies of all processed vegetables will be adequate, but as a result of strong consumer demand and rising marketing costs, further moderate price rises are occurring," the report said.

Despite a 4 percent larger supply of fresh market vegetables this fall, demand and higher marketing costs will push retail prices up "moderately" from a year ago, it said.

Ector DA Green wants feds to put heat on Hill

Ector County District Attorney John Green used to spend a lot of time filing libel suits, passing out "illegal" identification cards to "pals," including a few "cons" and taking "free" trips to Las Vegas.

Recently, pugnacious John has been taking wild swings at Texas Attorney General John Hill. In his latest jab, he contends federal government officials ought to investigate Hill's role in the Larry Lozano death case.

Hill's campaign visit to Odessa Monday sparked an attempt by Green to issue a second subpoena for "false and misleading records" relating to Lozano's death in the Ector County jail Jan. 22.

Green maintains Hill is withholding information until after Tuesday's election.

When attempts to serve the subpoena on the attorney general fizzled, Green called a press conference to gig Hill, who recently recommended a federal investigation of alleged civil rights violations surrounding the inmate's death.

against Hill for the attorney general's refusal to comply with an earlier subpoena issued in July for the so-called Perez statement, which Green labels crucial in substantiating possible perjury charges against former Ector County jailer Gabriel Perez.

A 10-year veteran prosecutor and a professed Democrat, Green surprised a few political pros in August when he announced his endorsement of Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Clements.

Green now is a member of Clements' election steering committee.

Hill's campaign aides issued a statement saying there was no validity to Green's charges that Hill was in contempt on the July subpoena.

"The records requested by authorities) weren't going to indict 15 people."

During a campaign stop in Odessa last week, candidate Clements had told reporters that Hill had no business intervening in the Lozano case.

And away we fire with more 'hotshots.'

National Democratic Delegate Delano Shaw says he's having a tough time trying to understand why Sen. John Tower would be wined and dined by "fixer" Tong Sun Park and shake his hand, then refusing to shake the hand of Rep. Bob Krueger.

WHEN WORD GOT OUT that a Mississippi Congressman had attended a private dinner given by "fixer" Tong Sun Park, he explained he went there to give Park "a very stern lecture" about illegal efforts to influence U.S. policy.

The Congressman's political opponent says the people in Mississippi are too smart to accept a lame excuse like that whereupon the Congressman countered that his opponent is "mudslinging."

The rumor in Washington is that the Congressman is going to meet defeat in the Mississippi mud.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dyan says there's an impasse in the Middle East peace talks and Jimmy Carter says there isn't. They can't even agree on that.

Jack Nelson of the Los Angeles Times said President Carter's new popularity is very gratifying to him.

He's glad to see people waving at him with their fingers.

Double, double toil and trouble,

Carter burns if prices double

The barbs exchanged between Democrat Bob Krueger and Republican John Tower in the race for U.S. Senate are growing sharper as the candidates go into their final week of city-to-city campaigning.

In Wichita Falls Wednesday, Tower said the big difference between him and Krueger was "that my opponent does not understand the needs and desires of Texans."

In Abilene, Tower said, "Texans know that my opponent voted six times for the unions on the so-called labor reform bill that I helped kill in the Senate. In doing so, he tried to help George Meany and the other labor bosses make an end run around our state right-to-work law. Now that his vote is catching up with him, he's trying to sound like a champion of right-to-work—he's so worried about the consequences of his pro-union position that he's even taking out advertising to try and make us forget his votes on this issue."

Krueger said in Austin Wednesday that he opposes mandatory wage and price controls proposed by AFL-CIO President George Meany. "I don't want to see mandatory controls but I think we need to work with the president and see that voluntary controls work and work efficiently," he said.

Krueger also said he thinks the proposed 10-foot border fence proposed at El Paso to keep out illegal aliens would be "insulting and shameful...We should try to improve our relations with Mexico instead. Whatever we do must be nondiscriminatory."

Krueger announced that his endorsements from state legislators total 72 of 181.

MEETING THE CANDIDATE — Scottye Wyatt and Sheila Wyatt, Jay Sanders and Bertina DeLeon, left to right, take time out from work to talk to Charles Stenholm, candidate for Congress on the Democratic ticket. The four work in the composing room of the Big Spring Herald. Stenholm stopped in Big Spring Wednesday in the waning days of the campaign that has lasted over a year for the 17th Congressional district hopeful.

Jim Baker worried about opponents union leanings

By MARJ CARPENTER
Jim Baker, candidate for attorney general of Texas on the Republican ticket, attacked his opponent for his "leanings toward unions". He was in Big Spring Wednesday.

He cited an article in the Houston Chronicle which said, "Mark White was in his element when speaking to a convention of Communications Workers of America in San Antonio."

Baker said, "My opponent is backed by the unions. And the attorney general is the person who has to enforce our right to work laws. This combination worries me."

Baker also revealed that "a report by the state auditor in 1976 cited 111 separate points of complaint on Mark White's management of the office of secretary of state, and raises serious questions about his administrative fitness for office."

Baker stressed that the report shows White's record to be one of "poor management and general inefficiency."

"The June 11, 1976 state auditor's report on White's performance, was a highly unusual 17-page report that details numerous areas of inadequate management. The points raised included repeated instances of careless purchasing practices, apparent falsifications of state record, disregard of or ex post facto compliance with State bid procedures, lack of internal controls, a questionable outgoing WATS line in White's personal office, payment of employees from programs for which they did not work, late budget submissions, and even omission of $60,000 in postage expenses from his financial report.

"In a recent reference to that 1976 report," Baker noted, "the state auditor said that underlying those points of complaint 'was a general problem of disorganization and lack of effective leadership' in the office. (Letter to Secretary of State Steven Oaks, September 6, 1978).

"I can't think of a worse indictment of my opponent's administrative record than this: an objective report coming from an official with oversight responsibilities. 'One point of complaint, out of the 111 tells much of the story:'

"An operating budget for the 1976 fiscal year, which was due September 1, 1975, had not yet been submitted to the Legislative Budget Board as of June 1, 1976. This situation perhaps epitomizes the ineffectiveness of planning which, has alluded to previously in other context, was found to be a characteristic and pervasive problem." (State Auditors Management Report on Secretary of State's Office, June 11, 1976; page 16).

"I'd be ashamed of that type of report if I were him," Baker said. "And I think it raises serious questions about my opponent's administrative fitness to run the office of Attorney General."

"Mark White's budget in that office had to withstand a six-fold increase over only 4 years," Baker said. "He nearly doubled his employees and he managed to budget himself a 50 per cent salary hike. That's certainly not efficient or economic government by anyone's standards."

"And yet my opponents, through strange kind of logic, argues that his record was efficient. The state auditor obviously thought otherwise."

Baker also said, "I think the office demands speak out and act on speak out and act on toughening our criminal justice system, on energy and on other problems — not just someone who waits until problems are presented to him. The attorney general must not be afraid to stick his neck out when there's a job to be done. This is my philosophy of the office."

"In terms of issues, the most important one in this race is fighting crime — one out of every five Texans is a victim of it."

Baker flew into Big Spring around noon and held a brief press conference at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce office in his swing across West Texas.

What is a gala?

with Marj Carpenter

"What in the world is a gala?" I heard a new resident of Big Spring say. Well, the local Gala was thought up by Jan Morgan four years back for the purpose of raising funds for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center which treats handicapped patients here.

The one tomorrow night is different from any of those held before. It will be at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and will include Foster Brooks, the New Christy Minstrels and Jana-Lou. This will be the first concert in the coliseum. Jan waited quite a while for that — first planning it for last fall.

Before that, the Gala was held for two successive years in the Big Spring Country Club and included sale of paintings, pottery and other art objects from some of the top artists in the southwest. It was quite successful. Afterwards, the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Fair was begun here and carried on the tradition of good artists coming to Big Spring.

The very first year, the event was held in the Dora Roberts Community Center. It included a showing of furs and diamonds, along with a special buffet.

The Gala has not been exactly the same any two years, except that it has been designed to help the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

It's been an annual social event in Big Spring ever since it began and has been backed by a lot of local people.

They have worked under the theory, from the start on this thing, that people might as well have a good time while raising funds for charity.

It kind of reminds me of an old rhyme my Grandmother used to chant:

"The great big hall was crowded full uv broadcloth an uv silk,
An' satins rich as cream that grows on ol' Brindles' milk;
Shined boots, biled shirts, stiff dickeys, an' stovepipe hats were there,
An' doods with tour-serloons so tight, they couldn't trip down the stair."
It is a social occasion and for fun, but it is also for a durned good cause. And the folks who give it work very hard on it every day for weeks.

They can tell some frustrating experiences in preparing for it each year and some funny things that have happened at the different galas.

This year they thought it was particularly appropriate to have it as the first seated event in the coliseum.

And once again, thanks to Jan Morgan and all her crew, it will be a really "gala" occasion. Come join them — out where I ride fence at this event every time it comes around.

'Tortilla Curtain' will be built

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "Tortilla Curtain" may lose some of its punch, but it's still going to be built.

Administration officials reiterated their position concerning 12 additional miles of fences along the 2,000-mile Mexican border Wednesday amid hints from Texas politicians that the controversial structures would not be built.

Hispanics groups angrily greeted last week's Immigration and Naturalization Service announcement that six-mile stretches of sturdy fences are planned for El Paso and San Ysidro, Calif.

Hispanics labelled the fences a "Tortilla Curtain" that reeked of "Berlin Wall" symbolism.

During a Monday speech in Brownsville, Rep. E. "Kika" de la Garza, D-Texas, said INS Deputy Commissioner Mario Noto had told him that a stop order had been issued concerning the fences until the concrete-based, barbed-wire topped barriers equipped with razor-sharp steel meshing could be re-evaluated.

Wednesday, the White House press office took the Garcia told a Laredo radio station earlier this week that during a recent Washington fund-raiser for Rep. Bob Krueger's senate campaign, President Carter had stated the additional fences would not be built.

"Carter said very emphatically that there would be no fence," Garcia said. "He and John White (chairman of the Democratic National Committee) told us that no new fence was going to be built. The president indicated they were only going to repair the existing fence at El Paso."

San Antonio attorney Ruben Montemayor affirmed Garcia's report on the president's statement. But he indicated the president might not have been fully informed on what was planned and that the fence may still be built.

John Russell, a Justice Department spokesman, said they are operating on the assumption the fence will be built.

"We have received no word to the contrary," he said.

request for confirmation of the president's statements but noted the fund raiser had been a private affair and that reporters covering the president had not been allowed in the room.

Noto said Wednesday that INS Commissioner Leonel Castillo had "more or less put a hold on the fence construction" but the delays were attributed "in light of the complaints over the type of fence."

Noto added that he could not speak for Castillo but "as I understand it, the delay involves redesign of the fence. We have no intent of abandoning the fence itself."

Castillo is currently touring refugee camps in Asia and could not be reached for comment.

Rick Hernandez, a White House aide specializing in hispanic affairs, noted Wednesday that the fences had been authorized before the days of the Carter Administration.

The $2 million allocated for the two six-mile fences in Texas and California will be built in urban areas, he stressed.

'Respiratory Disease Refresher Course' scheduled at Odessa

A "Respiratory Disease Refresher Course" will be conducted Nov. 6, 1978 at Odessa College in the Community Room of the Student Union Building, University Street, Odessa. The hours are 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The intensive one-day course, sponsored by the American Lung Association of Texas, Texas Thoracic Society and Texas Department of Health, covers a comprehensive group of topics to refresh the basic knowledge of health professionals who care for patients with respiratory disease in the patient's community.

Course credits approved are: 5 1/2 CEARP points by Texas Nurses Association and 5 1/2 LVNAT points by Licensed Vocational Nurses Association of Texas.

Pre-registration is a must because the number of participants is limited to 35. Registration requests should be sent to: RD Refresher Course, American Lung Association of Texas, 7701 North Lamar, Suite 104, Austin, TX 78752. Applicants will be notified of receipt of registration request and acceptance.
