

Peace talks remain in deadlock today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mideast peace talks remained deadlocked over the Palestinian issue today despite a concerted U.S. effort to keep a partially completed treaty between Egypt and Israel from unraveling.

President Carter's personal intervention with President Anwar Sadat and Prime Minister Menachem Begin and a compromise American proposal on the Palestinians Sunday failed to bring a quick end to the impasse.

And there were indications other provisions of the historic agreement that had seemed nailed down were becoming embroiled in the controversy that was focused principally on whether the treaty should be tied to future negotiations over the Palestinians.

This raised the possibility that the agreement could unravel further if compromises were not struck soon on the Palestinians and on details of Israel's transfer of Sinai oil fields to Egyptian control.

But Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, after a late Sunday session with Begin at Kennedy Airport in New York, refused to abandon hope of completing the accord, which only a week ago appeared within grasp.

"I believe that peace can be achieved between the parties," he said. "I believe that they both sincerely want peace, that people of both their nations want peace.

"That being the case," Vance said, "I believe that peace can be achieved."

A tired Begin, standing at Vance's side in an airport lounge crammed with reporters and television cameras, spoke almost inaudibly. He said that "problems" remained but that Israel still hopes for a settlement.

On the Palestinian issue, Begin reiterated Israel's commitment to negotiate with Egypt on the disposition of the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza district — but apart from the current treaty negotiations.

Plane crashes in Lubbock; two young pilots killed

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Two young pilots from Irving, Texas, were killed early today when their twin-engine plane crashed in heavy fog just short of the runway at Lubbock International airport.

Authorities said the Cessna was attempting an instrument landing when it crashed about 2:30 a.m.

The wreckage was found about 6 a.m., with both bodies still in the plane.

The aircraft was carrying mailbags of cancelled checks from the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas.

Justice of the Peace Wayne Lecroy identified the victims as John Morris Lambert, 23, and David Forest Dunkle, 21.

ART PROJECT "WRAPPED UP" — Pedestrians in New York Sunday view the gauze sculpture created by artist Francis Hines and a group of volunteers on an abandoned tenement in New York's Lower East Side over the weekend. The sculpture, consisting of 1,500 yards of gauze wrapped around the fire escape on the front of the building and through the windows, was an attempt to spur the community to improvement of the area, and to "bandage one of the city's many wounds."

Taxi permits will be studied by city councilmen Tuesday

Two taxi permit requests will be considered at the City Council meeting Tuesday. C.R. Crim Engineering will be considered to be named to engineer improvements to the wastewater treatment plant which are required by the Water Quality Board.

The meeting is at 9 a.m. in the city council room of City Hall. Other items on the agenda include a consideration of claim for damages by Modesta's Inc.

The two men making application for taxi service are Milton Lozano and Billy G. Lee. There will also be a consideration of first reading of an ordinance increasing the taxi rates.

The city will consider the awarding of a bid for sanitation containers and also will consider awarding a bid on a lot in the Monticello Addition.

New police cars and the awarding of a bid are also on the agenda. A second and final reading of an ordinance changing rates for pro rata water, and — or, sewer extensions will also be heard.

An emergency reading of a resolution authorizing the mayor to execute a maintenance agreement with the Texas Highway Department for traffic signals in the city of Big Spring, will be heard.

Minutes to be heard for possible acceptance include those of the Structural Standards Board, the Traffic Commission, the Tourist Development Council and the Big Spring Airport and Industrial Park Steering Committee for meetings held recently.

The council will also consider approval of a payback to the Capitol Improvements fund.

THE LONGEST WAIT — Little Miss Big Spring candidates don't know about "The Longest Yard" but they know about the longest wait. And as the little girl, third from the right, can testify, sometimes your fancy dress scratches a little bit. The cutie, second from right seems to be saying, "Aw come on" and the Little Miss hopeful, fourth from the right, may be thinking, "I wonder what the other kids are playing."

Local woman returns from Iran

'It's good to be home'

By MARJ CARPENTER

It is so good to be home but I won't be really happy until we are again with Mark," Mrs. Wheeler said here today after arriving in Big Spring from the Tehran area Saturday night.

She is visiting in the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Hughes and brought her young son, Jeremy, who is visiting both his sets of grandparents, including Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wheeler.

Mrs. Wheeler brought Missie and Mike Hall of Lubbock along with her and delivered them to their grandparents.

"Little Jeremy is only four and doesn't know what's happening but the Hall children are 11 and 13 and they were quite concerned with leaving their parents behind," Mrs.

Wheeler stated.

She added, "Mrs. Hall stayed to try to help sell some of their things, so they would not lose everything they have."

The local woman added, "I talked to Mark on the telephone last night back in Ahwas, where we lived, and he said almost all of the women and children are going. The men are still waiting to see what OSKO, the Oil Service Company of Iran plans to do. It's scary over there because they change their minds every day about something."

She added, "I think sometimes you would have news before we had any over there because of the newspaper strikes. Sometimes we would hear things three days late."

"We kind of lived by word of mouth," she continued. "When we would think there was going to be a fuel shortage, we'd all hurry to the pumps and line up — that sort of thing. It's really good to be back in Big Spring. All of us with children really began to be concerned," she concluded.

"I don't understand all of the implications of the unrest. I just know it's difficult to live in the middle of it," she added.

County Jail deficiencies pointed out

Howard County Commissioners were told that the County Jail will not need major renovations to meet State standards.

Bob LaTourneau, with the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, toured the jail with the Commissioners, pointing out deficiencies, but said the jail met most standards. Placement of doors at different locations, lowering of a bench in one cell, an open mike audible communications system between the jailer and prisoners, a smoke and fume clearing system and changes in electrical wiring will comprise the largest part of the work to be done.

The Commissioners awarded a bid on vehicles for the sheriff's department to Pollard Chevrolet. One vehicle will be traded in and two purchased at a total of $11,395 after trade value.

Bids were opened on office supplies and equipment, but no decision was made in the morning session pending further study of the bids.

A written request for a recount in the Nov. 7 election may delay the vote canvass planned for this afternoon. John Hill and Bob Krueger have begun asking for recounts in all counties using electronic voting systems, which would include Howard County. The request has not been officially filed before the Commission, but is expected this afternoon.

In strikebound Tehran

Oil production increases

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Production at Iran's strikebound oil fields inched upward today as a handful of workers joined foreign experts and military technicians in working the wells of the world's second largest oil exporting nation.

The official Iranian news agency said most of Iran's 37,000 oil workers defied a military government order to end their two-week-old strike, but the few who did return helped boost production to 2.7 million barrels a day.

Oil workers struck Oct. 31 for higher pay and in support of a swelling wave of opposition to Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's regime by conservative Moslem religious leaders demanding reversal of the ruler's westernization program and leftists demanding democratic reforms to replace his authoritarian rule.

The Pars news agency said 20 persons were killed in weekend demonstrations against the shah's government.

The state oil company said 600,000 barrels would go for domestic consumption and the other 2.1 million would be pumped into tankers already waiting at the Persian Gulf terminal in southern Iran.

While the oil strike continued, workers in Tehran failed to heed a call for a one-day general strike to demonstrate opposition to the shah. The government apparently discouraged would-be strikers by putting large numbers of troops on the streets.

However, in one instance police had to escort 200 American communications technicians away from a crowd of angry Iranians at the telecommunications center in Tehran. The Americans work for Bell Laboratories, which has a $16 billion contract to upgrade Iran's communications systems. There was no immediate word of what prompted the confrontation.

Despite threats of dismissal and arrest, only a handful of oil workers complied with an order from the National Iranian Oil Co., the government monopoly, to return to work by 7 a.m. Sunday.

Iranian oil officials believed more strikers would go back to work in a day or two. But some foreign personnel were doubtful.

The shah authorized a 22.5-percent pay increase last week, but the workers demanded release of all political prisoners, an end to martial law and the expulsion of foreigners from the oil industry.

About 2,000 foreign employees and 400 Iranian army and naval technicians were at work in the industry, preventing a total shutdown.

Iran is the world's second largest exporters of crude oil and a major supplier of Western Europe, South Africa and Israel. Its customers have turned to reserves stockpiled in expectation of a price increase at the end of the year.

The new military government of Gen. Gholam-Reza Azhari, named by the shah last week after bloody rioting against his rule, was strengthened by the failure of exiled Moslem leader Ayatollah Khomeini's call for a one-day general strike in Tehran to support his campaign for the overthrow of the shah.

Most shops and businesses were open, and government agencies and public utilities operated normally.

Action/reaction: Info passing illegal

Q: Is it illegal to put a police radio monitor in my car?
A. A monitor, no...a transmitter, yes. If you take this monitor along with you on a trip, be warned that it is illegal to have either transmitter or monitor in some states. You might also be interested to know that, even in Texas, passing on information received over a police radio monitor is a violation of the Federal Communications Act of 1934.

Texas Farm Bureau plans talent, queen contests

DALLAS — Texas Farm Bureau will involve several groups of outstanding young people from Texas farms and ranches in three special activities during the 45th annual convention in Dallas Nov. 26-29.

Young people's activities will include a Discussion Meet, a Talent Find contest, and the finals of the 1978 Farm Bureau Queen contest. These events will be in the Dallas Convention Center Theater. Other convention activities will be in the Dallas Hilton Hotel.

The Discussion Meet, a contest involving problem-solving abilities, will take place on Sunday night, Nov. 26, between four young people. Winners of their respective county Discussion

Meets, the contestants are John Paul Barre, Yoakum; Lisa Crain, Lometa; Bruce Lee Dugger, Robstown; and Dean Nelson, Katy. Bob Gruener, Canyon, chairman of the TFB Young Farmers and Ranchers Advisory Committee, will be moderator.

The winner will receive an expense paid trip to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual convention in Miami Beach, Florida, in January, 1979, to compete in the AFBF Discussion Meet, as well as to the AFBF Young Farmer and Rancher Leadership Conference in Denver, Colorado, in February.

The Talent Find finals, also scheduled for Sunday evening, will feature young entertainers who have won their respective county and district Talent Find contests. Millard Shivers, Dallas, rural activities director for Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Texas, will be master of ceremonies.

Participants will be Terry Peterson, Happy; Leslie Mayo, Petrolia; Jan Brashears, Greenville; Sandy Hudson, Canton; Terri Kvapil, San Angelo; Lauri Pruser, Winters; and Pam Holle, Ballinger; Rusty McHargue, Andy Gomez and Valerie Gartman, Gatesville; Nancy Williams, Liberty; Tammie Sue Joines, Wharton; and Richrd Oncken, Gonzales.

The finals of the 1978 Texas Farm Bureau Queen contest will be Monday evening, Nov. 27. Ten young beauties have progressed through county and district competitions to become finalists in the state pageant. Layton Black, Goldthwaite rancher, will be master of ceremonies.

The Talent Find winner and 1978 State Queen will receive an expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg, Virginia, in April, 1979.

Police beat Jailhouse rock and sock

Prisoners were fleeing from officers to escape going to jail, fighting officers on the way into the jail and fighting each other inside the jail after being imprisoned over the weekend in Big Spring.

"The natives are restless," a policeman quipped this morning. It began around 1 a.m. Sunday when Jose Diaz was arrested for driving while intoxicated, assault and resisting arrest. A man with him was taken in for public intoxication.

Then at 1:41 a.m., Domingo Galaviz was arrested at 308 NE 10th for public intoxication, disorderly conduct and assault.

Two more assault charges were slapped on Alfred Rios and Andrus Escanuela at 2 a.m. when they were arrested at 1600 W. 3rd.

By 3:10 a.m., the assault charges were being filed for a fight inside the jail cell. Jerald Taylor and Robert Kerns both filed complaints that they were attacked by a group of Mexican-American prisoners inside the jail tank. The two prisoners both filed formal complaints at 3:10 a.m. and 3:20 a.m. Sunday.

Earlier Saturday at 5:50 p.m., Officer Gilbert Barraza arrested Alvin Franks for stolen auto, burglary and then was assaulted by the prisoner as he attempted to take him in the station. An aggravated assault charge was added.

In other action over the weekend, Frank Puga reported to police that persons have been breaking the windows at a home he owns at 2008 W. 2nd. There was $52 worth of damage reported.

A minor accident occurred at 5th and Abrams at 9:25 p.m. Saturday involving vehicles driven by Olevia Kimble, 1405 Mesa and Arthur Madewell, 308 Young. Theodore Diaz, 1501 Wood, told police a person he knew came up on his porch and stabbed him in the right hand.

On Sunday morning, William Jack Watson was arrested at 11th and Johnson for attempting to flee and elude a police officer. Ramon Holguin, 13th and Owens, reported somebody took his 1977 Dodge Van which is bright orange with license HB9365. It was taken between 3 and 7 a.m. Sunday and valued at $7,000.

Other minor accidents included one at 9 p.m.

Midland woman, five children are missing

MIDLAND — Area law enforcement agencies were still looking today for a Midland woman who disappeared from North Midland Saturday afternoon with a carload of children.

Betty Sue Briscoe, a 35-year-old white female, was last seen Saturday afternoon driving a brown 1967 station wagon.

With her are her two children, Sharon, 6, and Paul 9 and three neighborhood children, Terry Black, 4; Jeffery Green, 9; and Matthew Jones, 12.

The woman was supposed to have been taking the children to an afternoon showing of a movie in North Midland but was never seen at the theater.

Police were called in two hours after the movie was to have ended when the woman at 1010 W. 4th when a vehicle driven by Mary Miller, 1106 E. 15th, collided with a parked car. At 1409 Oriole at 9:30 p.m., a vehicle struck a parked car and left the scene.

Gerald Dean Ayers was arrested at 9:24 p.m. for fleeing and eluding a police officer. He also was charged with unlawfully carrying a weapon since he had a loaded pistol under the car seat, according to the police report.

At 1:22 a.m. today, the police got a call that someone was stealing Coors beer from the freight cars in the railroad yard. The suspect and the beer were gone upon arrival.

According to Midland police, no evidence exists that any crime has been committed, but the woman did not have permission of the neighbors to leave with the children.

There were some thoughts that Mrs. Briscoe might be attempting to reach Raleigh, N.C.; where she has a sister living. However, Midland police this morning said they have no leads on the missing people.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the Midland at 683-4281.

Cosden employees inducted at dinner

The annual 25 Year Club dinner was held by Cosden Friday night with 27 veteran employees inducted into the organization at the traditional dinner dance.

The event was held in the Big Spring Country Club. The membership roster, which originated in March 195, now carries 347 names — a good record of employee longevity.

Cosden president, Ken

Perry and vice president, Rene Brown, Ron Medley and Calvin Daniels presented to the honored 27 men diamond studded jewelry emblazoned with the Cosden crest.

Retiring president, C. E. Milam, president. The invocation was given by Don McKinney.

The club moved Raymond Andrews up to the presidency for 1979 and re-elected Marguerite Cooper and Garrett Patton as secretary and treasurer. Clovis Phinney was elected vice president.

Following the visiting hour, approximately 300 members and spouses attended the dinner and dance. Music was provided by Hoyle Nix and the West Texas Cowboys.

Solar heater developed

CHICAGO (AP) — A solar heater that operates like venetian window blinds has been developed by an engineer and her students at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

The sun's energy is stored in treated salt in the slats of the blind, which reflect heat and light, then warms a room at night. Dr. Lois Graham, professor of mechanical engineering, and James Stice, a recent IIT graduate, developed the heater with the help of seven students. Ms. Graham said the blind is not ready for commercial production and would serve to augment rather than supplant other heating systems.

French veterans on tour

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — A group of more than 350 French war veterans and their spouses spent Veterans Day in Newport as part of a 10-day tour of the United States and Canada.

The tour is sponsored by the Confederation Europeenne Des Anciens Combattants. The group chose Newport to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the World War I Armistice because of the important role the French played in Rhode Island during the Revolutionary War. Ceremonies took place at the base of a statue of General Jean-Baptiste de Rochambeau, the French count who landed in Newport in 1780 to aid the colonists in their rebellion against Britain.

Headless skeleton search

MARIANNA, Fla. (AP) — What ended up as a case of mistaken identity started out as an investigation of a headless skeleton found by two hunters in a wooded area.

At first, authorities in this small northwestern Florida town contacted the Jackson County Sheriff's Department and began looking for clues in a grisly killing. Dr. Ralph Monaco, chief medical examiner for the area, inspected the headless remains and tentatively concluded they were those of a white male, about 5-foot-8, with red hair. However, a sheriff department's spokesman announced later that the skeleton belonged to a bear that had died of an overdose of a tranquilizer. As for the head, authorities say it is being mounted as a trophy. Case closed.

Big Spring Baptists schedule meetings

How to share faith with other religious groups, and now to relate to other denominational groups will be studied Wednesday in a series of meetings by the Big Spring Baptist Association.

Three top figures in the Southern Baptist Convention's interfaith department will be here as speakers and consultant. They are George J. Sheridan, who directs the work in northeast United States, Dr. Carroll B. Hastings, assistant director of the department of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board; and A. Jase Jones, who directs interfaith witness in seven Southern states.

Ron Killough will coordinate a trio of daytime sessions at the First Baptist Church, where luncheon also will be served for participating association members. The first session is at 9 a.m., the second including luncheon at 11 a.m., and the last from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Simultaneous sessions will be held at 7 p.m. at Hillcrest Baptist, Rev. Phil McClendon coordinating, dealing with occults, First Mexican Baptist, Johnny Castro, coordinator, dealing with witness primarily among Hispanics; and East Fourth Baptist Church, Rev. David King, coordinator, general interfaith relationships.

WINTRY WALK — A sightseer braves gusty winds and temperatures in the 30s that formed ice clusters Sunday on the beach at Rooster Rock State Park on the Oregon side of the Columbia River Gorge about 20 miles east of Portland.

Powell--man who 'doesn't want hope'

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — David Lee Powell has been described as a man who "doesn't want hope" — a man trying to starve himself to death before the state can take his life for killing an Austin police officer.

Texas prison officials are force-feeding him through a tube in an effort to keep him alive until he can be executed by lethal injection for the machine-gun slaying of Ralph Ablanedo in May 1978.

No execution date has been set for the 27-year-old former University of Texas honor student whose case is under automatic appeal, and doctors feared long-term force-feeding might cause complications that could kill him.

By transferring Powell Saturday from Death Row to a state hospital for the criminally insane, prison officials made sure he would have the best possible care under the circumstances.

They continued to battle several philosophical dilemmas, however, as they searched for ways to deal with this "unique situation."

"We're faced with a man who categorically refuses to eat and wants very much to die," said Ron Taylor, spokesman for the Texas Department of Corrections.

"We've taken the assumed responsibility that we're to keep this man in good physical condition until we get an execution order," he said. "On the opposite end, a body of literature and law exists concerning a man's right to refuse treatment."

During a hearing Saturday before District Judge James F. Warren, a prison doctor expressed his practical and ethical concerns.

"If Mr. Powell is not fed involuntarily, there is the possibility he will starve himself to death," said Dr. Ralph Gray, TDC clinical director. "But continued force-feeding could result in complications that could lead to his death."

"I wonder if force-feeding is proper. I wonder whether a person has the right to die," Gray said.

The clinical director said the tube-feeding had caused a "serious tenderness" in Powell's esophagus and he was afraid continuation of the feedings might cause the esophagus to rupture.

"He's not bad now, but I searched in my mind and I decided I needed some kind of legal decision," he said.

The doctor got the decision he was looking for when Warren ordered Powell transferred to Rusk State Hospital. He was moved to the maximum security East Texas facility Saturday evening.

The chief of mental health services for the TDC, Dr. Terence Feir, said during testimony at the hearing that a change in scenery for Powell might make him end his hunger strike, which began Sept. 27, the day he was convicted.

"He might go back to eating in regular fashion," he said.

"At present, he's without hope," Feir said. "David Lee Powell wants to die, but he wants to die by being killed."

"By forcing us to tube-feed him, he involves us in his dying process," the doctor said. "If the tube-feeding fails, by not keeping him alive, in his mind, we have assisted in his death."

MIDLAND — Vernon A. Vasbinder of Odessa became president-elect of District XVIII of the Texas State Teachers Association during a convention held here Friday.

He will succeed Printus O. Burkhart, Midland.

Other district officers who will take over in June include Norine Bradford, Midland, secretary; Morris Greenwood, Odessa, treasurer; and Mickey Waters, Greenwood, president elect.

Teachers voted to hold the 1979 district meeting in Odessa next November.

Those attending heard a talk made by Col. James B. Irwin, former Apollo 15 astronaut.

Col. Irwin now heads High Flight Foundation, headquartered at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Teachers from 17 counties attended the convention.

said defense lawyer, Mike Gibson.

That's why it is so important for the jury to keep an open mind until ... the whole of David McCrory, Priscilla Davis, Pat Burleson and others is brought to light by the defense."

Davis, who spent three million dollars successfully defending himself on murder charges last year, contends he was framed by his estranged wife, Priscilla and others.

The defense says it will show that McCrory and Burleson, a karate expert for whom he once worked, assisted the bossy blonde in the purported conspiracy.

Priscilla, 37, was wounded and her daughter and lover slain in a bloody 1976 shooting spree at the $6 million hilltop Davis mansion in Fort Worth.

accuser. He is expected to testify by mid-week.

"I think the photos realistically have to show that meetings occurred between Davis and McCrory," the prosecutor said. "They don't show money being passed."

"They show nothing more than a meeting, but that's important. While it may not seem terribly significant now, it would be corroborative of testimony from other law enforcement people and David McCrory."

The photograph along with videotape and tape recordings compose the heart of the states case against Davis, who heads a Texas based, million dollar business complex scattered around the world.

"The photographs of two people meeting and the audio of two people meeting are not indicative of any criminal activity per se."

The U.S. Postal Service has already started its "Mail Early For Christmas" campaign with the issuance of suggested mailing dates to insure that packages arrive in plenty of time for Christmas.

Most "Space Available Mail" bound for locations outside the Continental U.S. should either already have been mailed, or should be sent as soon as possible.

Surface parcels to Alaska and Hawaii should be sent by Dec. 1 in order to arrive on time, while first-class and priority mail to the two states should be sent by Dec. 16.

Additional specific information is available by contacting the Big Spring Post Office.

"Christmas is the busiest time for us," said Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty, "and the public can help us and themselves by remembering to mail early."

Temperatures over the Panhandle and South Plains rose during the night instead of dropping, as they usually do during the nighttime hours. Afternoon readings were in the 40s yesterday, but climbed into the middle 50s overnight.

HOUSTON (AP) — An FBI photographer goes back on the stand to face defense cross-examination today in the murder-for-hire trial of Fort Worth oil heir Cullen Davis.

Davis, 45, is accused of masterminding an unsuccessful scheme to kill the judge presiding over his multimillion dollar divorce case.

The second week of testimony was to resume with defense questioning of George Ridgley, the FBI photographer who snapped the picture last August of two encounters between Davis and informant David McCrory.

McCrory, 40, once a friend of Davis, is now his chief

Weather Thunderstorms are expected later today

By The Associated Press

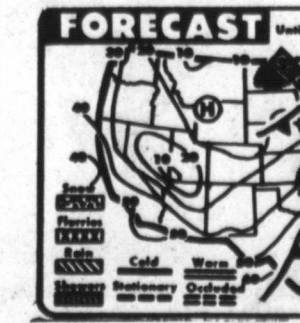

Thunderstorms are expected later today for several areas in Texas, but the only precipitation reported early was a light drizzle that accompanied fog in northwestern, southern and eastern portions of the state.

Cooler air will be moving into the state from the west late today, the National Weather Service said.

Skies were expected to be partly cloudy to cloudy statewide, along with warm temperatures, today. A few showers and thunderstorms were forecast for South Texas, while a few showers are expected late today over extreme western sections.

Temperatures over the Panhandle and South Plains rose during the night instead of dropping, as they usually do during the nighttime hours. Afternoon readings were in the 40s yesterday, but climbed into the middle 50s overnight.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is expected in the forecast period, Monday until Tuesday morning, from eastern Oklahoma to the Midwest and for North Dakota and Minnesota. Mild weather is forecast for the Gulf coast and East but cool to cold weather is expected for the rest of the country.

Kennedy: Juvenile courts have failed

Sen. Edward Kennedy, that champion of many lost causes, raised a few eyebrows around the country recently when he took an unusually tough stand on juvenile crime.

Speaking before members of the International Association of Chiefs of Police in New York, Kennedy said:

"There has been a notorious lack of rehabilitation. The violent juvenile is often left with a slap on the wrist."

THE SENATOR reasoned that the juvenile courts have not been doing the jobs they were intended to do. Kennedy added that young men and women convicted of involvement in violent crimes should draw serious punishment.

The gravity of the crime, added he, should be the determining factor in deciding which court would try a given case. "We cannot justify treating a 17-year-old rapist or murderer differently from his adult counterpart," the legislator from Massachusetts said.

Kennedy's appraisal of the situation likely has hardened in recent years. Certainly it is not in keeping with Kennedy's liberal voting record. The senator, like a lot of other people, apparently feels a genuine sense of alarm about the mushrooming juvenile crime.

The problem has long been grave in the inner cities, and some smaller communities have been downright smug in pointing to the problem. In recent years, however, crime has come to the suburbs and, for that matter, into the boon docks, where it never before had surfaced with any consistency.

YOUNG TOUGHS have cynically taken advantage of their status as juveniles, hiding behind the peculiar wording of the law, knowing they could get away with token punishment for the most serious crimes.

There was also in Kennedy's surprising speech an admission — albeit a tacit one — that liberals are taking note and reacting to the swing toward the right in American politics. While Teddy can't compare to some of the arch conservatives of the party, he is apparently determined not to allow the suddenly resurgent conservatives steal a march on him.

Kennedy didn't get where he is today by turning a deaf ear to a cause. He knows a solid cause when he sees one. The public wants tough talk and is getting it.

There is, of course, the danger that society might go too far in pursuit of a solution. Granted a sterner code of discipline is needed in dealing with this kind of cases but none of us should lose sight of the fact that many of the offenders are salvageable. To surrender all attempts to reach and influence them would be a serious blunder.

Confusion at polls

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The congressional elections remind us that we have not emerged from what the late Professor Willmoore Kendall once called the "circle-squaring" inclinations of the U.S. voters. Seldom have voters spoken less ambiguously than in recent times on what it is they want most (control of inflation). Seldom have the voters isolated the villains with greater unanimity (44 per cent say it is the fault of Congress). And seldom have they proceeded to do anything less drastic by way of replacing the villains (all over the country, it was the incumbents' day). And all of this notwithstanding that it is almost impossible to read an issue of a newspaper, let alone a magazine, that fails to try to inform us of what are the causes of inflation. One concludes that the message has not got through.

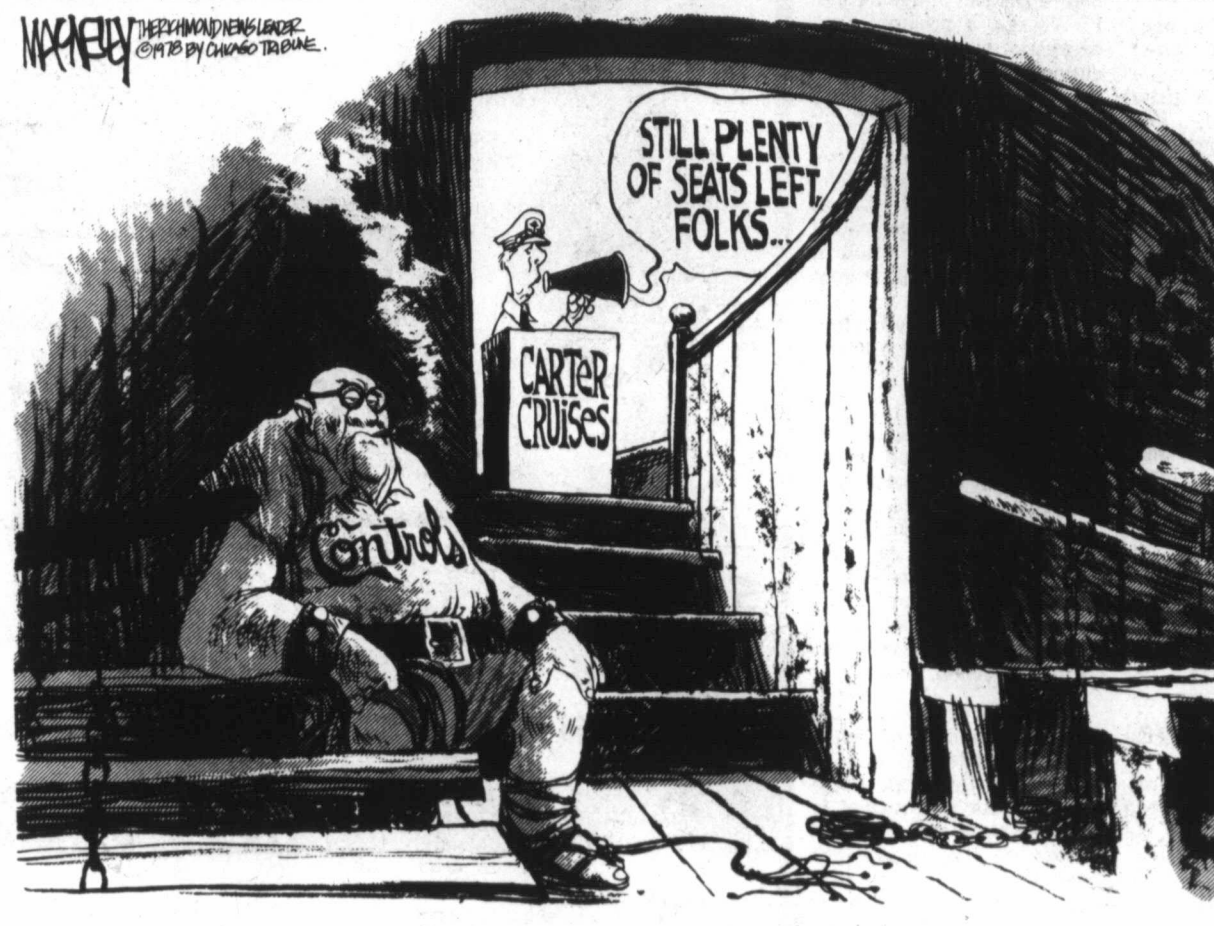

THE NOTION that Congress is responsible for inflation is a half truth. No public money can be spent except as authorized by the House Representatives. In a hypothetical situation in which, let us say, no money of any sort was spent in the federal sector, then a great flood of dollars would be released to pursue goods not now being produced. The economy would adjust accordingly.

But to draw back from the reductio ad absurdum: Suppose that we had a House of representatives that would refuse to authorize a penny's more being spent than was coming in from tax revenues. The government would not then need to borrow to make up the deficit. Its failure to invade the capital pool would release money for investment, increase the "capitalization per job, increase productivity, thus attacking inflation at its level.

But as is regularly pointed out, there cannot be inflation except as the supply of dollars increase, and this happens to be the responsibility of the Federal Reserve Board which, by law, is not supposed to be the instrument either of Congress, or of the Executive. The means by which the Federal Reserve Board copes with the annual deficit directly affects inflation. If it borrows from the private pool, then it is theoretically doing nothing in any way different from what you and I do when we borrow to buy a house: money that would otherwise be spent in one place, is spent somewhere else. If on the other hand the Fed increases the supply of money (they call it monetizing the debt), they are, via their instrumentality, the Federal Reserve banks, literally manufacturing credit. Since there is no offsetting rise in the production of goods, the imbalance we know as inflation results.

Interestingly enough, the polls on Tuesday reveal that for strange, though theoretically defensible reasons, the voters tend not to put the blame for inflation on President Carter. As we have seen, there are technical grounds for absolving him of direct blame. But in the real world, a) it is he who proposes a budget, which is regularly unbalanced; b) it is he who threatens to veto tax reform of the kind that would conduce to an increase in productivity; c) it is he who appoints the members of the Federal Reserve Board; and d) it is he, in his public utterances, who edifies, or confuses.

IN HIS recent inflation message, Mr. Carter illustrated that he has learned very little of the painstaking work done by such organizations as the American Enterprise Association, The Hoover Institute, The Chicago Economics Department, the Law and Economics Center of the University of Miami. He came forward with a Jawboning approach to inflation presupposing that American business and American labor can, like Zen Buddhists, meditate their way to reason in the economic world.

Tips on handling croup in child

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain croup. My 20-month-old son has had it four times. Are certain youngsters more apt to get it? What is the best prevention and best treatment? My pediatrician says it "just has to run its course." It scares us very much. Sometimes he can hardly breathe. Do antibiotics help? — Mrs. Y.

Certain youngsters are more prone to have croup. It usually comes with a cold that causes inflammation of the larynx and upper part of the windpipe. The onset is sudden and for some reason almost always during the night. In mild cases there is no fever. A barking cough and a high pitched sound when breathing in are the chief symptoms. An attack usually runs its course in three to four days.

Mild croups can be treated at home. Antibiotics are usually of no help because the cause, as noted earlier, is usually a cold virus at home. Antibiotics are usually of no help because the cause, as noted earlier, is usually a cold virus which, as your doctor said, must "run its course."

"Cold steam" is most effective for relief. But if you don't happen to have such a vaporizer, hot steam will do. Run a hot shower in the bathroom and close the door. Croup usually improves in the daytime, but it is best to reap the steaming during the day. A mild expectorant can also be used during the day. Rest is essential. In attacks, syrup of ipecac is sometimes given to induce vomiting. The vomiting may relieve spasm in the larynx. Not all doctors prefer this, but you might discuss it with the pediatrician before the next attack occurs.

This mild form of croup is also called "spasmodic croup." Another, much more serious form is accompanied by high fever and may get progressively worse. It has a long, long name — "laryngotracheobronchitis." It requires hospitalization.

Croup most often affects youngsters between the ages of six months and three years. They tend to outgrow it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: First, I want to say that I'm not doubting my doctor's word. He has diagnosed stones in my prostate gland. I had complete tests. However, I find no written information that stones can exist in the prostate. Neither have I been able to find anyone else with this diagnosis. Also, I'm on an acid-free diet, and would like to know if there is anything I can drink besides milk and water. Are there fruit juices on the market I can buy? — R. C. L.

Rest assured that prostate stones can occur. They can be felt by the physician and seen with X-rays. Any secreting gland (one that produces materials) can develop "concretions," hardened material. Prostate stones rarely cause symptoms, except occasional red blood cells in the urine. They rarely require treatment.

I doubt the acid-free diet is going to help. I see no objection to occasional use of fruit juice or other beverage. Most food ends up as an alkaline residue. Diet has no role in the cause or the cure of prostate stones.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My problem is very important to me and my boyfriend. We were discussing the subject of hickies. We both heard that they can lead to cancer. If this is true I'll have to break a bad habit and pray that we are not in danger. Please clear up this dilemma. — V. C.

I got stung once on this subject years ago. I heard later from young "hickey addicts" for months afterward. I made a booboo, and called hickies pimples (an old definition). Well, I learned later they are not pimples at all, but red marks made by the pressure of one partner's lips on the other's anatomy. It was a betrayal of my age, I guess.

As to your question, I agree that the practice of hickey-making is a bad one, but I would not predict any cancer resulting.

FOR MRS. T. K. — An afterthought: you might have your tot's hearing checked. A slowness in speech or any speech difficulty may result from subtle hearing loss. And I might add, mild deafness can also be a factor in an inability to learn. My omission of this important bit of information in a recent column was called to my attention by a speech therapist.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Pesky Prostate." For a copy write to him in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Now, diplomas are defective

Unusual items pronounced defective — diplomas — are being recalled by the University of North Carolina. The lettering on some of the 1975 documents are peeling off.

Graduates of the school in 1975 are being asked to write Raymond Strong, head of the school's records and registration office, if they need a free duplicate sheepskin.

The company which engraved the diplomas hesitated to take the blame. Officials said a defective ink was the cause, ink that was produced after chemical experiments that followed the 1974 oil shortage.

Strong warns that the letters might stick to glass while the diploma is being removed, even though they might look all right.

Each request for a substitute is being carefully checked by school officials. The thought never occurred to us and, I'm sure, to you that someone might obtain a diploma he didn't earn.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why do you think the Second Coming of Christ is important? I don't know much about it, and it seems a bit strange to me. — J. N.

DEAR J. N.: The Bible consistently says that some day Jesus Christ will come again. Just before His crucifixion, for example, Jesus told His disciples: "For as the lightning comes from the east and flashes to the west, so will be the coming of the Son of Man... They will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of the sky, with power and great glory" (Matthew 24:27, 30, New International Version). Just after Jesus went up into heaven after His resurrection, angels spoke to His disciples, "This same Jesus, who has been taken from you into heaven, will come back in the same way you have seen him go into heaven" (Acts 1:11, NIV).

Why is this important? It tells us God is not finished with this world. Some day Jesus will return, and when He does He will rule completely. And all the sin and misery we know will be finished, and His kingdom will be triumphant. No wonder the Bible calls it "that blessed hope" (Titus 2:13).

Also, the knowledge that Jesus Christ is returning some day should be a real incentive for us to live godly lives. Jesus said, "Watch therefore: for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come... Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh" (Matthew 24:42, 44). You ought to live holy and godly lives as you look forward to the day of God and speed its coming" (2 Peter 3:11-12, NIV).

Rare talent

Around the rim

Carla Walker

If only we all had Erma Bombeck's penchant for laughing at herself, we'd all get along better and take ourselves a little less seriously.

Of all the syndicated columnists and humorists, I think I admire her most. Mrs. Bombeck's usual angles — the frustrated housewife or the housewife-career conflict — show real imagination.

AFTER ALL, it can't be easy to get people to laugh about dirty dishes, screaming kids, overly friendly dogs, crabby bosses, and irate husbands, but not only does she manage that, she uses experiences that are fairly common.

And, every so often, she takes off on a different tangent, a recent article, she deviated from her mother-housewife role to relate a "dream" where the "adults of the world become children and the children ran the world."

Mrs. Bombeck managed to peer through the eyes of the pint-sized crew and see a few of the frustrations they must feel.

"I took naps when I wasn't sleepy, ate when I wasn't hungry, had sweaters put on me when I wasn't cold and got thrown into swimming pools when I didn't want to swim," relates

Mrs. Bombeck of her "dream."

"I was tossed into the air when I had an upset stomach, forced to go to the bathroom whether I had to go or not, and ordered to stop crying when I had a perfectly good reason for doing it..." the columnist continued. "I was seen a lot and not heard, given reasons of 'Because I said so, that's why' and told with regularity, 'You should have gone before you left home.'"

I KNOW nothing of the woman personally. The only information I have about her is what can be read in biographical entries in the books she has written, and what can be read between the lines of her columns.

And, if that is any basis upon which to judge character, I'd have to assume that she is someone who is able to handle whatever life throws at her by looking for the humor in trying situations. That in itself is a talent.

Through her talent for writing, she has helped some of the rest of us see the same humor.

As with the Biblical version of the servant with the talents, Erma Bombeck has used those two talents wisely, and multiplied them for the benefit and enjoyment of others.

Like to dislike

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter and Menachem Begin can put on a show of smiling solidarity when the occasion demands. But behind the pleasantries, the American and Israeli chief executives have grown to distrust and dislike one another.

Ironically, they make the same complaints against each other. The president has grumped to intimates that Begin will seem to agree to a concession but will back off after encountering political opposition at home.

The Israeli prime minister, in turn, has grumbled privately that Carter will talk as if he favors a position which he may later renounce. He has a habit of emphasizing what his listeners want to hear. But when the chips are down, Carter may repudiate what he earlier seemed to accept, Begin has complained.

THE MUTUAL disenchantment has grown out of a relationship that started out to be positively cozy. The Israelis were elated over their first contacts with Carter.

The new president invited Begin's predecessor, then-Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, upstairs into the family quarters of the White House. For two hours, they talked in private.

Carter expressed deep personal feelings for Israel. Our sources described his attitude toward Israel as "almost religious." The president swore to Rabin that the United States would preserve Israel. He would see to it, Carter said, that "Israel continues to exist for a thousand years."

Later, Begin also came away from his first White House visit glowing. He returned to Israel to report happily that he had developed a warm personal relationship with Carter. Begin assured subordinates that the president was a staunch friend of Israel.

But the relationship began to sour as their private understandings, one after another, developed into misunderstandings. Each leader blamed the other for going back on his word.

Begin told associates in confidence that Carter would put on a show of blue-eyed sincerity until he got an agreement but that Carter's commitments had a way of evaporating afterward. The Israeli leader spoke bitterly of Carter's disputed West Bank settlements. According to Begin's version, an understanding had been reached at Camp David to soft-pedal the West Bank controversy during the delicate Israeli-Egyptian peace negotiations.

Yet Carter dispatched Assistant State Secretary Harold Saunders to Jordan and Saudi Arabia with the message that the United States still felt Israeli occupation of East Jerusalem and the West Bank was illegal.

Saunders' mission infuriated the Israelis who reacted angrily by expanding their West Bank settlements. They fear the U.S. policy would bring the Soviet-backed Palestinian Liberation Organization to power in the occupied areas and, thereby, would increase Kremlin influence in the Middle East.

Discussing this danger behind closed doors, Begin told associates firmly: "(Egypt's President) Sadat doesn't want it! (Jordan's King) Hussein doesn't want it! And Israel won't tolerate it!"

Begin confided sadly that he had lost his faith in Carter. The Israeli leader recalled a statement that has been attributed to former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger: "It's a mistake to think you can compel a big power to do something because of a pact. If we want to help you, we'll do it. If not, no agreement can force our hand."

SECRET WEAPONS: The James Bond industry is every bit as fantastic as the movie script writers have portrayed it.

Real-life James Bonds can tune in on almost any number with devices from a catalog that includes: wiretaps which can pick up not only phone conversations but everything said in your home; electronic or radiowave bugs smaller than a match book; two-way, peepaboo mirrors; "sniperscopes" capable of scanning a house perfectly from 100 yards in total darkness.

The cloak-and-dagger boys also carry a variety of fancy weapons. But alert Customs Department inspectors have detected and confiscated some of these hidden devices.

Once they expropriated a leather wallet which contained a derringer capable of firing .22 magnum or long rifle slugs. Another time, they discovered a folded knife in a toothpaste tube. Here are a few other weapons that they have seized:

—An imitation coin that concealed a two-bladed, stainless steel knife.

—A money clip that looked perfectly innocent. But under the folded bills was a sharp blade that could easily kill.

—A 12 gauge shotgun concealed in a car door. When the door was opened, the barrel pointed directly at anyone approaching the car. The shotgun could be fired by a trip wire attached to the dashboard.

—A motorcycle handlebar loaded with shotgun shells. The handlebar acted as a gun barrel; the shells could be fired by pushing a button.

—A firearm disguised as an ordinary smoking pipe. The bullet could be loaded in a hole on the front of the pipe bowl and could be fired simply by biting down on the stem.

Local winners crowned

'Worlds Miss' appears at pageant

By EILEEN McGUIRE
Family News Editor

The international search for the young lady who best epitomizes the ideals, hopes and dreams of today's youth as "World's Our Little Miss" begins with local pageants such as that held Saturday evening at the Howard College Auditorium.

Competing for the title of "Our Little Miss Big Spring" were 25 local girls. The girls competed within their own age groups in modeling, talent and interviews for a chance to compete in a statewide pageant in Arlington in July.

It was a difficult decision for the judges, but when the final votes were tallied, three girls emerged to claim their titles.

Big Spring's "La Petite" is Misti Cauble, "Little Miss" is Ginger Brooks, and selected as "Teenage Ideal Miss" was Felicia Ford.

Each of the three winners was presented with a bouquet and trophy and will have her way paid to the "Our Little Miss Texas Pageant" in July.

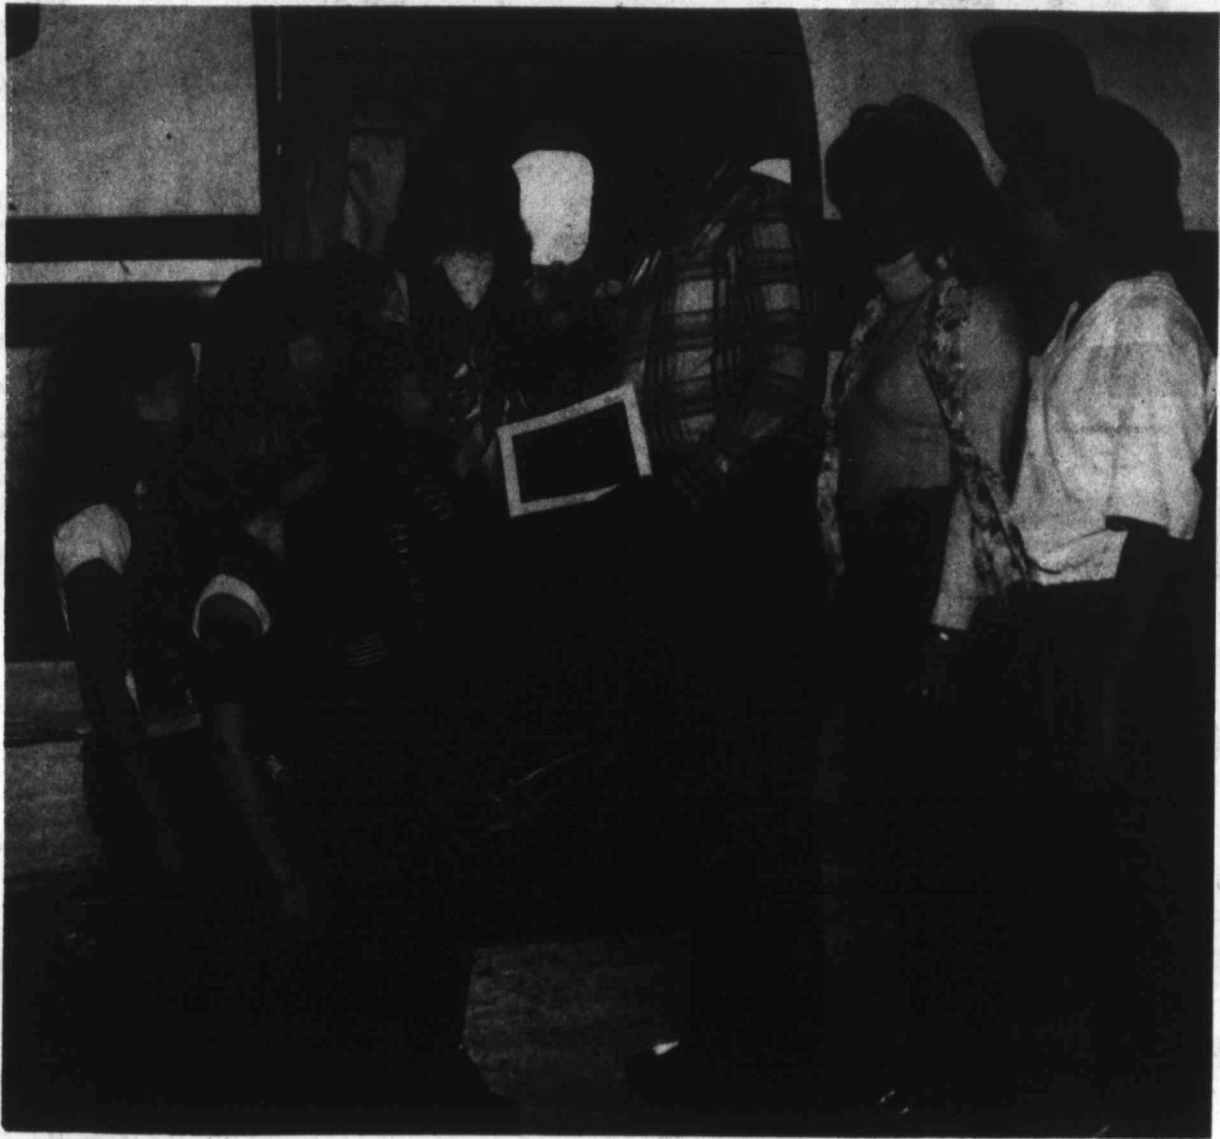

Serving as Master of Ceremonies was Mike Faulkner. Pageant Director was Sherri Faulkner of Faulkner Talent World.

Special pageant guests were Tina Michelle Payne, 1978-79 "World's Our Little Miss"; Gina Hofbauer, current "Texas Ideal Miss"; and J.J. Dowd, Cooke County's "La Petite." The three girls entertained the Big Spring audience with talent selections.

Serving as an inspiration to girls who enter Our Little Miss Pageants everywhere, 9-year-old Miss Payne has won over 100 awards in various fields of competitions such as baton twirling, modeling, dancing and singing. She has collected over 200 crowns and trophies from pageants she has entered and won.

She was greeted by Mayor Wade Choate upon her arrival at the Big Spring Airport by private jet on Friday. Several Our Little Miss Big Spring contestants looked on as the mayor presented Miss Payne with a key to the city and a certificate naming her an Honorary Citizen of Big Spring.

A bouquet of yellow roses was also presented to Miss Payne who was officially declared the "Yellow Rose of SPECIAL TREAT for contestants of Saturday's "Our Little Miss Big Spring" Pageant was meeting Tina Payne, the 9-year-old reigning "Worlds Our Little Miss". Miss Payne was greeted by some of the contestants upon her arrival at the Big Spring Airport Friday. She's shown here being presented with a country and western stars like Willie Nelson and Charlie Pride," she said.

Another event which impressed her was meeting Johnny Rodriguez. Miss Payne has been chosen as the child crusader for the March, 1979 Johnny Rodriguez Cerebral Palsy Telethon. The telethon will include such stars as the Statler Brothers, Charlie Pride, Tom T. Hall, Waylon Jennings, Willie Nelson, Crystal Gayle and a host of others.

Miss Payne recalled that the first pageant she entered was the "Highlands Jamboree" at the age of 3. Her "Worlds Our Little Miss" title was captured in Miami, Fla. where she competed against 112 other contestants.

She is one of the youngest competitors to acquire the titles of "Junior World Model" and "Junior World Performer" in New York City. Some other achievements include "America Sweetheart", "America Modeling Festival", "Model of the Year 1977-78", "Worlds Most Photogenic Child 1978", and "Petite World Model and Performer."

Recently Miss Payne flew to Galax, Va. where she was invited to attend a reception for Kylee Barker, "Miss America 1979." She had attended the Miss America Pageant where she was photographed with Phyllis George, Lee Meriwether and many of the Miss America contestants.

Miss Payne has appeared on "To Tell The Truth." With each pageant she has won and each guest appearance she has made, the door to national fame has widened for Miss Payne who is anticipating a move to New York City in January where she will begin commercial work. She has also been offered a small part in a movie and will soon be auditioning for a casting director of a daytime series.

Other upcoming events include trips to Miami for photographic shooting for nationwide catalogues, a trip to Washington D.C. to meet President Carter, and numerous personal appearances at Our Little Miss Pageants.

The glamour and excitement which accompany the "Worlds Our Little Miss" title, however, go hand in hand with hard work. Miss Payne, a fourth-grader, has more homework than most children.

"My teacher is really understanding," she said. "She lets me miss school when I need to and then make up the assignments."

Miss Payne's contribution to the Big Spring pageant was a solo rendition of "It's Not Easy". Her vocal ability is a talent that helped earn her the World title when she presented a solo of "High Hopes" in the talent competition. She is also working on some monologues for future competitions.

Miss Payne remained in Big Spring until Sunday. At this moment, she's back in her hometown of Highlands, catching up on her schoolwork after witnessing the launching of three local girls on the path to "World's Our Little Miss".

Dear Abby

No Lap, Dog!

DEAR ABBY: My name is Sandy (short for San Diego) and I became acquainted with your column while being paper-trained.

I can't read or write because I'm only 3, and besides, I'm a mongrel dog. Someone bought me from the Humane Society for $12.72. (That's the donation, plus the state sales tax.)

When you said, "I don't care WHERE I'm entertained, as long as a dog doesn't come and sit on my lap," I was shocked! I love people and want to help my family entertain guests, so I jump into their laps, look into their eyes and wag my tail. Almost everyone likes me.

My friend, Rover, said we should run you out of the Canine Corps, but I stuck up for you and said you are a nice lady who does much good for many people.

Can't you find a spot in your heart for me, too? I love you.
HURT IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR HURT: I love you, too. And please be assured that I do have a spot in my heart for you. But not on my lap. Especially when I'm all dressed up in a beige lace dress and your paws are all sticky from a freshly tarred driveway.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently received an invitation to the wedding of my cousin, who lives 500 miles from us.

There was no indication on the invitation that our children were not included. (Usually, when they don't want children they put "NO CHILDREN" on the invitation.)

Well, I went out and spent a small fortune outfitting my kids for the wedding—and then found out they weren't wanted!

Perhaps I should mention that they are not babies, and are pretty well-behaved.

Don't you think the invitation should have indicated "No children"?

HURT IN VA.

DEAR HURT: Not necessarily. The invitation was addressed to you and your husband. Had they wanted your children, their names would have appeared on the invitation along with yours.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old, and my scout troop recently made a visit to a nursing home to cheer up the old folks there. We made some colorful paper flowers beforehand, and we sang some songs to entertain the old people.

Abby, you wouldn't believe how hungry those old folks were for company. The first lady I handed a flower to, gave it back to me, saying she didn't have any money to buy it. Then I told her it was free, and her face lit up and she took such a long time trying to decide which color to take. I got the feeling that she was trying to detain me just to have somebody to talk to for a while longer.

I can't tell you how much our visit was appreciated. When we drove off, we could see the folks looking through the windows and holding on to their paper flowers.

Please put something in your column to get people to visit their local nursing homes, whether they have somebody there or not. They are all somebody's grandmothers and grandfathers and they are human, too.
GIRL SCOUT

DEAR SCOUT: Bless you for writing. And those of you out there who are interested in visiting nursing homes to cheer up the residents should telephone first and make arrangements with the staff.

DEAR READERS: I mourn with millions the loss of the late and beloved Pope John Paul I. His humility was inspirational, as is evidenced by these words he wrote seven years ago:

"Some bishops resemble eagles who glide majestically at high levels. Others are nightingales who sing the praises of the Lord in a marvelous way. Others are poor wrens on the lowest bough of the ecclesiastical tree who only chirp, seeking to offer some small thought regarding the great themes. I belong to the final category."

Westbrook club adds

new member

Wayne Newton was welcomed into the Westbrook Golden Age Club as a new member Tuesday night when the club met in regular session.

During the business meeting, committees were appointed by the president, Mrs. A. G. Anderson, to serve for the Christmas dinner social.

Ladies will bring ladies' gifts and men will bring men's gifts to be numbered and exchanged at the social.

Minutes were read and the treasurer's report was presented by Mrs. Elmo Daniels in the absence of the secretary and treasurer. Balances of $98.38 in the treasury and $23.85 in the "kitty" were reported.

Mrs. Hollie Jackson was in charge of the refreshments, which consisted of sandwiches, pie, punch, tea and coffee.

Memorials were recognized from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hardcastle and Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Jackson in memory of Mrs. Burton Hines.

One visitor, Mrs. M. E. Tindol of Canadian, who is a guest in the Elmo Daniel home, was greeted.

The next meeting will take place Dec. 5.

Handicraft club meets

The Newcomers' Handicraft Club met Nov. 1 in the home of Mildred Beckom.

Shirley Shroyer gave a slide presentation on the Vounteer Services of Big Spring State Hospital.

The next meeting will take place at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the home of Claire Jonas, 514 Edwards Circle.

The group will work on Christmas wreaths made from pine cones at this meeting.

Own age is too young

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Dear Dr. Wallace: Right now I feel bluntness is the best policy, so here goes.

Almost every day of my life I am told how incredibly beautiful I am, and how mature I am. In restaurants, I am always served wine, etc., and when a person guesses my age, they always say 28, 21 or older.

Yes, it is very flattering, but that's not my point. This is: I am 18 and a junior in high school.

I am very much in love with a fantastic guy I'll call Keith. Keith is 28, and our relationship is as beautiful as our lovemaking. Keith is not a louse as you say, and I think you're being very unfair to say anything of that sort about a special person in someone's life.

I have found, like many other girls, that guys my age are not at the same level. They seem immature; that's why so many of us "mature" girls prefer "older" guys.

A close friend of mine is in the same situation as I am. She is 18 and has been in love with a 24-year-old for 10 months. Their relationship is just as beautiful as Keith's and mine. We have true love for one another, and to me, that stands most important.

Keith and I never talk about our age difference even if it is only 4 years. To us, it doesn't matter.

But Dr. Wallace, I do think it is unfair for you to put down these kinds of relationships. You're entitled to your own opinion, but so am I. For some of us it does work, believe me. I'm one of the lucky ones, and for all you lucky ones out there like me, I say, "Long Live Older Men!" — Shaunna, La Habra, Calif.

Shaunna: I'm very happy that you're happy. Since you've been blunt, so will I. Many unmarried girls who have had "beautiful lovemaking relationships" end up confused, pregnant and terribly alone; regardless of the age of the "lover."

Dr. Wallace: I just read your column about younger girls dating older guys.

Well, I'm 18 and have dated both older guys and guys my own age. Older guys seem to know it all while guys my age seem to be trying to prove something. Because of this I date guys younger than I. They are more fun and besides they are still learning.

Presently I am engaged to a guy who is a year and a half younger than I. We plan to marry after he finishes three more years of high school.

We are happy most of the time except when I get uptight about the restrictions his parents place on him. I get tired of sitting at home every night because his parents don't feel he should go out. When we date, his parents or brother and sister go along. I want him to have the same freedom that I have, but I don't know how to go about getting it for him.

I do have a lot of male friends that I do enjoy being around. What do you suggest? — Pam, Klamath Falls, Ore.

Pam: Break off the engagement with your boyfriend but continue to see him. Start dating some of the male friends whose company you enjoy.

Wait until your boyfriend has "freedom" before you think of getting engaged again.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TwEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Over volunteer army

Controversy continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the Pentagon calls it a success, defense officials concede there are some serious problems with America's volunteer Army. And some critics question whether the force can respond adequately in quality and numbers in time of war.

But as America's experiment without the draft nears its seventh year, Pentagon leaders are increasingly irritated with criticisms from those who, they say, do not give the volunteer concept a chance.

In addition to critics on Capitol Hill, however, the attack is from within the Army. The greatest concerns are over the shrinking Army reserve, claims of a decline in quality of recruits, and the prospect of more problems to come as the number of military-age males drops.

"They're always talking about a quick war," says one infantry colonel who asked to remain anonymous. "Well, it'd better be a quick war and we'd better win it because we won't have anything left."

Gen. Bernard Rogers, Army chief of staff, has complained of a "drastic shortage" in the reserves. But he and other defense planners insist the active force is adequate and today's soldier is as good or better than the draftee.

"Basically the active duty volunteer force has been a success... I think it's a good system. I think it does work," Assistant Defense Secretary John White said in an interview.

Army Secretary Clifford Alexander in a recent speech characterized the Army's critics as "armchair quarterbacks" who unfairly have declared "open season" on the American soldier.

When the volunteer concept was introduced in the Nixon years, the Pentagon's generals, especially those in the Army, were highly skeptical and preferred retaining the draft.

And controversy has been with the volunteer Army since the end of the draft in 1972. But now some critics, including congressmen, are suggesting a possible return

VIEWS ON ALL-VOLUNTEER ARMY — Assistant Defense Secretary, John White, right, and Rep. Robin Beard, R-Tenn., left, have differing views on the all-volunteer Army, now in its seventh year.

Although acknowledging critical shortages in some specialties such as doctors, the Army has kept near its authorized strength. However, that authorization level has steadily been reduced by Congress.

While the numbers have gone down, the costs have gone up with the volunteer force costing an average of $3 billion a year more than its draft-era counterpart. The Pentagon argues that 80 percent of added costs are from pay increases that would have been given anyway and that a return to the draft would save only $500 million a year.

The volunteer concept was planned to work with a strong reserve backup. But the National Guard and Army Reserve are more than 130,000 men short of the desired strength of 660,000. A backup pool is in worse shape with 154,000 men, far short of the desired 820,000.

"It would take 30 weeks from mobilization to draft, train and deploy replacements," the Army estimates. Acknowledging the problem, the Army has begun a $25 million reserve enlistment bonus program and for the first time has turned to full time reserve recruiters.

to the draft — which White claims "isn't politically feasible" except in a national emergency.

"My first solution to the problem is for the military... to acknowledge that there is a problem. They're not being candid," said Rep. Robin Beard, R-Tenn., a staunch critic of the volunteer force.

Beard, a former Marine and a member of the House Armed Services Committee, commissioned a report that concludes that the quality of today's soldier is poor, his training inferior and that the Army "as an effective fighting force is in serious trouble." It said 60 days after mobilization the Army would be short a half million men.

Pentagon officials contend the critics are exaggerating the Army's defects and do not offer realistic alternatives. "One of the things you have to do is ask the question, 'Relative to what?' What is the alternative that is the solution to the problem," says White.

From a 1.5 million-member force during the Vietnam War in 1968, the Army dropped to 811,000 in 1972 and to about 772,000 today.

"Satisfaction Always"

Our Pledge to You Means Replacement or Refund with No Runaround

In 1899, our founder, Sebastian Kresge, opened a five-and-dime store with a pledge of "Satisfaction Always". In 1962, we opened our first Kmart discount store with that same promise of satisfaction. Because of this pledge, millions of satisfied customers have inspired the growth of over 1,300 Kmarts in the U.S., Canada, Puerto Rico and Australia. Our satisfaction credo means a lot — to us, and to you. It carries our integrity and assurance... if you're not satisfied with any purchase, we'll replace it or refund your money — promptly, cheerfully, with no runaround! This policy covers every item in every Kmart store — including name-brand and private-label products. Thousands of items, in more than 50 departments in every store, mean you always can shop with confidence and enjoy big savings at Kmart!

NEW HOLLYWOOD SIGN — Amid laserbeams and searchlights, the unveiling of the Hollywood sign near the top of Mt. Lee overlooking Hollywood took place Saturday night after its dedication to celebrate its completion. The old landmark it replaces was built in 1923, but deteriorated and began to fall apart recently. The 50 by 400 foot sign was replaced by donations from the public and cost $27,000 per letter.

Owners complain about car repairs

Not getting money's worth

By The Associated Press

Americans spend nearly $50 billion a year to repair and maintain their cars and many of them complain that they aren't getting their money's worth.

Just over 30 percent of all the complaints received by the federal Office of Consumer Affairs in the first eight months of 1978 related to automobiles. Many of the complaints concerned high prices for new cars, but many also dealt with the frustrations and problems of getting old ones fixed.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has estimated that up to $20 billion is wasted annually on poor, needless or fraudulent repairs.

Industry officials argue that fraud is involved in only a small percentage of cases, but they concede that, rightly or wrongly, consumers are concerned about the quality of auto repairs.

In most areas, auto mechanics need not be licensed to practice. Repair shops do not have to register or meet any type of government standard. Certification and testing programs generally are voluntary rather than mandatory. How can you avoid problems?

Start by reading the owner's manual that comes with your car, advises Donald A. Randall, a spokesman for the Automotive Service Councils, Inc., a trade association representing about 5,000 of the nation's 240,000 auto repair shops. Randall said that the growth of self-service gasoline operations have made preventive maintenance more important than ever.

Don't wait until you need a mechanic to find a repair shop. "Make the selection before you break down and are captive of the nearest garage," Randall said.

Among the things to keep in mind when comparing garages are the facility's reputation, convenience and appearance. Does the place look reasonably clean? Are there parts lying all over the floor? Does the shop have power tools and a lift to raise the car off the floor? Ask if the shop gives written estimates. In some states, estimates are required by law; in others they are voluntary. Mandatory or voluntary, the estimate will help you avoid what Randall explained is known in the business as the "sundown surprise" — the big and unexpected bill you're handed when you go to pick up your car.

Check to see if the repair shop is a member of the Automotive Service Council which sets standards for its members and runs an informal complaint-handling service. Look for the emblem of the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence. The institute, set up six years ago by the U.S. auto manufacturers and dealers, runs a voluntary testing and certification program.

Note: Be careful about refusing payment if you are not satisfied. Most states have what is known as a "mechanic's lien law." If you refuse to pay your bill, even if it is outrageous, the shop can keep your car.

Education successfully attacking diabetes

A Texas team is stressing education for diabetics, their friends and families in order to help diabetics survive. The team's techniques also help hold down health care costs.

Writing in the November issue of Texas Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's (TMA) monthly journal, the team outlined a study they did of two groups of diabetics for five years. The group educated by the team had to go to the hospital fewer times and saved approximately $41,000 in hospital costs, plus office visits and other fees. After adequate education, one patient's total costs dropped more than 75 per cent.

This program obviously helped diabetics but also benefited the public. Unused hospital facilities were available for other patients and taxpayers saved whatever costs Medicaid and other programs would have paid.

The team, headquartered at the pediatrics department of The University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, stressed teaching diabetics physical facts, coping skills and proper attitudes.

The American Diabetes Association has said friends and families of diabetics also need to know about the disease. In fact, with more than one million undiagnosed diabetics in the U.S., knowledge is necessary for everyone's health because an estimated one in five will get diabetes eventually.

Diabetes mainly strikes people in the following categories: those who are overweight, those related to diabetics, those who are over 40, and women.

The most common symptoms include excessive thirst, frequent urination, constant hunger, weight loss, itching, blurred and slow healing of cuts. However, some diabetics, especially those who are older, have few symptoms because of the slow progress of the disease. Luckily a physician can give several simple tests to help detect diabetes.

Once diabetes is diagnosed, it often can be controlled by a combination of diet and exercise. But sometimes oral drugs or insulin injections are necessary. Patients can be taught to use these techniques to manage their disease and live full, active lives. But diabetics also need support from family and friends. TMA said people should understand and support some diabetics' needs to eat proper foods at regular times, take injections, test urine and practice other management techniques.

Being able to recognize an insulin reaction also is important. The diabetic usually can tell when the body's blood sugar drops too low and the person then can eat something with a high sugar content.

Pastorini possessed!

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Veteran quarterback Dan Pastorini was like a man possessed. Even with his Houston Oilers trailing the New England Patriots 23-0, he refused to be denied.

"The man is unreal," Houston wide receiver Ken Burrough said in praising Pastorini Sunday after the Oilers rallied for a dramatic 26-23 victory which snapped New England's seven-game winning streak in the National Football League.

"All through the second half on every play in the huddle he kept saying, 'Believe in me, believe in me. We're gonna score, we're gonna win,'" Burrough, a nine-year pro, said. "Even on the sidelines he kept yelling to the defense, 'Just get me the ball. We'll do it. It was infectious. He was superb.'"

The Patriots built their big lead by scoring the first five times they had the ball, getting three field goals from David Posey and touchdown runs from Horace Ivory and Steve Grogan.

A rout appeared probable until late in the first half when Stanley Morgan fumbled a punt and Ted Thompson recovered for Houston at the New England 32. Pastorini promptly hit Burrough for 20 yards and two plays later Rob Carpenter sprinted up the middle for a touchdown.

Although Posey missed a field goal attempt as the half ended, the Patriots appeared in control. Then, in the second half, after New England moved to a first down at the Houston 13, Posey missed another field goal try. That turned around everything.

Accepting Pastorini's challenge, the Houston defense denied New England's mighty offense a first down the rest of the way. And Pastorini took charge of the offense, with a couple of breaks along the way.

A New England penalty for an illegal block on a Houston punt kept the Oilers alive for a touchdown drive, with Pastorini setting up Carpenter for a short plunge.

New England, leading 23-14, elected to gamble late in the third period and Willie Alexander intercepted for Houston at his 24. Pastorini reacted by directing the Oilers to another touchdown, helped by an 18-yard shovel pass gainer to Carpenter on a fake field goal attempt. Earl Campbell banged for a touchdown — and the score was 23-20.

On fourth down and two for a first down at the Houston 41 with 6:42 to play, New England gambled and lost. Steve Grogan's pass was broken up and the Oilers took over.

Pastorini & Co. moved methodically downfield. Then, with 2:29 left, Pastorini hit Rich Caster in the end zone with a 10-yard scoring pass — and the Oilers were dumped into a tie with Miami for the American Conference East lead.

"You get a gut feeling sometimes and I had it today," Pastorini said of his confidence. "It was not that way my first few years here. We used to wonder how we were going to lose. Now we're not overconfident, but we have a bunch of confidence."

Asked what he did at halftime in the dressing room, Houston Coach Bum Phillips said "I just begged a little. I also cried a little, too."

"We got all the breaks in the first half and didn't get any in the second half," said Grogan. "They controlled the ball. Houston is a great defensive team and when you get the ball only five times in a half, it's difficult to sustain anything."

Said New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks on the vain fourth down attempt while ahead late in the game: "I guess it was questionable strategy on my part."

Title clinched

Angelo State University, ranked No. 1 in the NAIA, clinched the Lone Star Conference football title with a 44-11 win over Sam Houston State and put the league in strong contention for a seventh straight NAIA football championship.

Nine years after joining the Lone Star Conference football race, the Rams are undisputed champions under Coach Jim Hess.

With Jerry Aldridge banging his way for 106 yards — his 13th consecutive 100-yard-plus game — and quarterback Mark Embry threading the needle with his passing, the Rams blitzed for points in the second quarter and led by 37-11 at intermission before a home crowd of 11,000.

Embry hit on 13 of 25 passes for 251 yards and threw touchdowns of 60 yards to Johnnie Jackson and 40 to Alvin Garrett.

"Winning this conference title is a big thrill for the entire program at Angelo State," said Hess. "All the coaches who have been here since we began our senior college program in 1964 have contributed. Now we'd like to win another national crown for the conference."

The Rams, 10-0-0 and 6-0-0 in league play, picked off five Sam Houston State passes and recovered three fumbles. A stingy Ram secondary held Clay Lowry, the NAIA's top receiver, to two catches for 24 yards.

Aldridge has now rushed for 1,339 yards in 10 games and is 29 yards off the school's season rushing total with a game at East Texas State remaining this Saturday afternoon.

Abilene Christian captured sole possession of second place by downing Southwest Texas State, 10-7, on a John Mayes 22-yard pass to Charles Tindel on the first play of the fourth quarter.

Streaking Stephen F. Austin State whipped East Texas State, 23-0, and Texas A&I rebounded to dump Howard Payne University, 36-17.

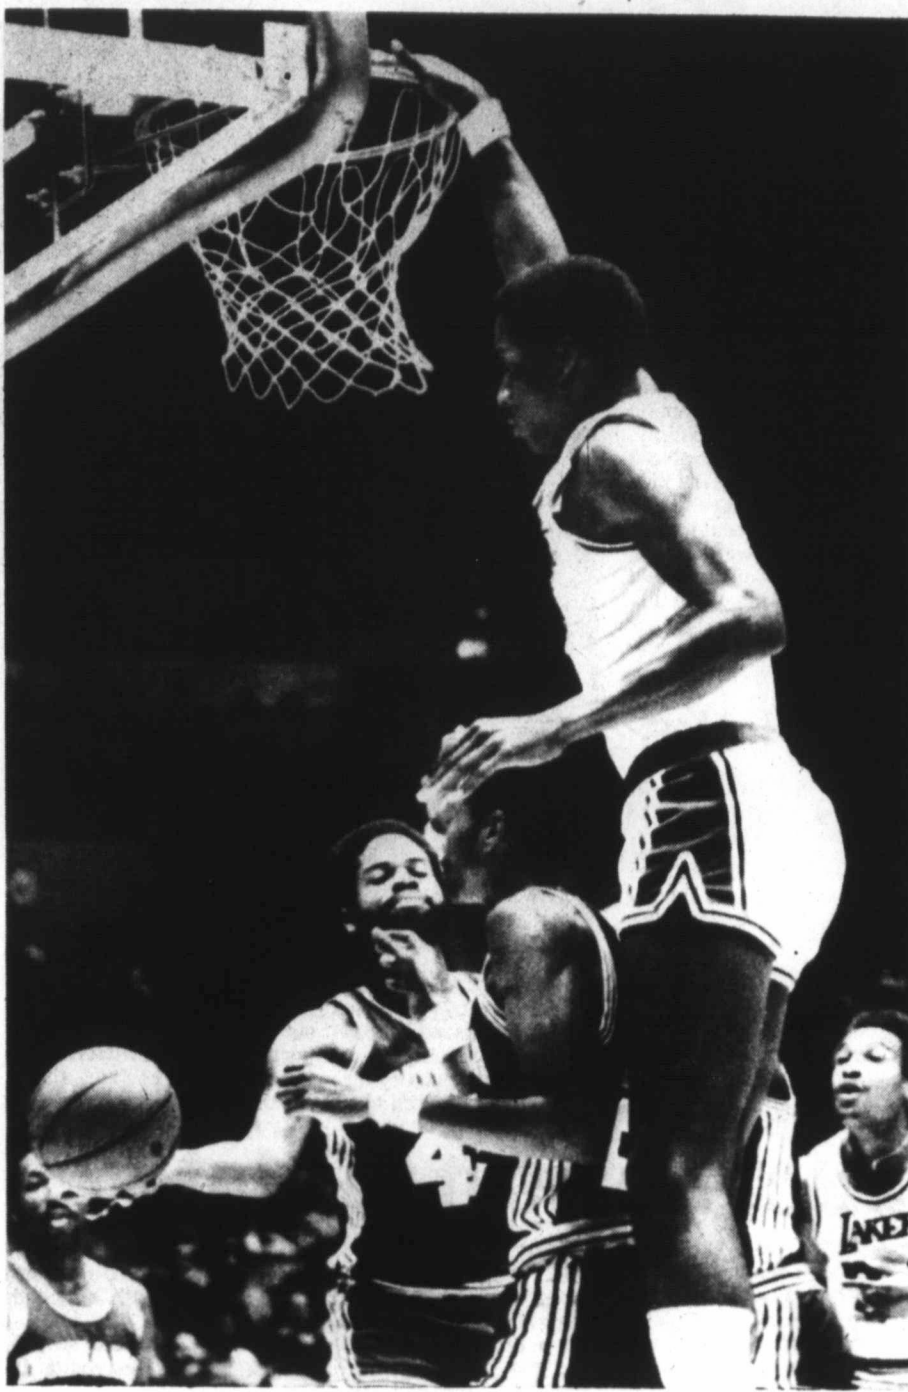

Bengals have nothing to lose

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals rookie standout Ross Browner offers a word of warning for the playoff-minded Oakland Raiders.

"There's nothing at stake for us but our pride," Browner said as the Bengals, 1-9, take aim at denting Oakland's longtime Monday night football mastery.

Browner, the Bengals' No. 1 draft pick, sees the game as a chance for a new beginning.

Don't kick sand in Houston's face!

By The Associated Press

The Houston Cougars are off this week, and do they ever deserve it. For the second time in three years, they have ventured into the lair of the perennial Southwest Conference bully boy but refused to assume the pose of a 90-pound weakling.

In fact, Houston acted more like a Jolly Red Giant with a bad headache as the Cougars handled the Texas Longhorns 10-7 Saturday. There were over 83,000 witnesses—largest football crowd in the history of the Southwest.

Now all Houston has to do after a week's vacation is whip EITHER Rice or Texas Tech for at least an SWC tie and the right to the host role in the Cotton Bowl.

Houston quarterback Danny Davis, the catalyst to the wondrous Cougar Veer offense, says he wants both games and then perhaps some national honors.

"Everybody is saying we only have to win one of two," said Davis. "Well, I want to win both of them."

Davis has dreams of a possible national title for the Cougars who lost their opener to Memphis State then won eight straight.

"Who's to say (unbeaten) Penn State won't play us in the Cotton Bowl?" said Davis. "It's possible we can

Pokes set rushing record

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The top-ranked passing team in the National Football Conference set a single game club rushing record Sunday, which should give you an idea what the Dallas Cowboys did to the Green Bay Packers.

The difference between the defending Super Bowl champion Cowboys and the playoff hopeful Packers was 395 yards. The Cowboys amassed 537 yards — 313 by rushing — to Green Bay's 142 and totaled 32 first downs to the Packers' nine as Dallas romped 42-14 in what the National Football League's competition committee can only hope was not a playoff match preview.

"It was just a day at the office. It was very simple. It was execution. Our people up front just put their hats on their people," said Tony Dorsett, who led the Cowboys with 149 yards and two touchdowns on 23 carries.

Robert Newhouse added 101 yards and two touchdowns in 18 carries and Roger Staubach passed for 200 yards, including touchdown strikes of 8 and 18 yards to Billy Joe DuPree as the Cowboys, 7-4, who had lost their previous two games, stayed one game behind first place Washington in the NFC East.

The Packers, 7-4, fell into a first place tie in the NFC Central with Minnesota with their third defeat in four games. They also saw their supply of able-bodied quarterbacks reduced to one. David Whitehurst tore a muscle above his left pelvic bone and left late in the third quarter, having completed three of 16 passes for 31 yards.

Whitehurst's replacement, rookie Dennis Sproul, injured a knee early in the fourth quarter and was scheduled for surgery. Third stringer Bobby Douglass completed his first pass of the season, an 18 yarder to Steve Odom for the game's final touchdown with 7:12 to play.

Whitehurst said he expected to be able to play at Denver next week — hopefully better, he said, than he played Sunday.

"We just stunk it up out there," Whitehurst said. "I did my share of messing up, although I'm not going to say it was my fault we lost. We're 7-4, but we sure didn't play like 7-4. Last year we were 4-10 and we didn't get beat anywhere near this bad."

The 42 points were the most scored on the Packers in a game since the New York Giants won 42-40 in the 1971 opener. Most principals agreed that the Packers were victims of poor schedule timing because the Cowboys feel they cannot afford another defeat.

"You look at films of their other games and they really hadn't played that well," Packers defensive end Mike Butler said. "They knew they had to come together, and they really did. Championship caliber teams do that. They get their backs to the wall and they come together. That's what we have to do."

"It was the best we've played all year, but we've got to keep playing like this or we won't make the playoffs," Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said. "Our whole team worked good all week and all of them played well."

Scramble on for title

By The Associated Press

Arkansas State will be scrambling for a share of the Southland Conference championship when it closes out the season Saturday against Lamar.

Louisiana Tech used a convincing 24-10 victory over Arkansas Tech last weekend to assure at least a share of the title. And as a bonus Tech earned the host spot in the third annual Independence Bowl at Shreveport, La., Dec. 16.

Louisiana Tech improved its conference record to 4-1 and has a nonconference foe, Northeast Louisiana, as a regular season final opponent. Arkansas State dropped to 3-1 in the conference.

Halfback George Yates sprinted for three touchdowns and Keith Thibodeaux pumped out 194 yards in the air as Tech scored all its points in the first half.

Yates scored on short stabs of one and three yards, flitted 66 yards for a third touchdown, and caught a 42-yard pass that he carried to the Indian four to set up the first Tech tally.

McNeese State edged Lamar 24-23 and the loss sent the Cardinals into the conference cellar. The Cowboys built a 15-point advantage, then had to hold on as Larry Haynes guided Lamar to two last-quarter touchdowns only to misfire on a two-point conversion attempt. Chad Millet directed the major McNeese assault, tossing a 15-yard payoff to Richard Ellender and running eight yards for what proved to be the winner.

John Roveto kicked a 24-yard field goal — his fourth of the night — with six seconds to play as Southwestern Louisiana gunned down Northwestern Louisiana in a non-conference game, 19-17. Roveto had successful kicks of 49, 37 and 52 before applying the clincher.

Coaches pick Longhorns

DALLAS (AP) — There was some hedging, but all except for one Southwest Conference basketball coach picked Texas to win the 1979 league crown Sunday. The one standout, of course, was Longhorns Coach Abe Lemons.

"You have to pick Texas," said Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton, whose regular season SWC champion Razorbacks finished third in the NCAA tournament. "They have four of their starters back from a very good team."

Texas Christian Coach Tim Somerville said that "the league will be very competitive from top to bottom, but you can't overlook Texas."

Houston Coach Guy Lewis said, "Texas should be favored — but only slightly ahead of Texas A&M and Arkansas. The league is more balanced and more competitive than it has been in history."

"I think I'll pick Texas, Texas A&M and Arkansas to tie. They are all very good."

Southern Methodist Coach Sonny Allen cast a ballot for the Longhorns saying, "Texas has to be the favorite, but just about every team has its possibilities."

Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf said, "I have to go with Texas and Arkansas. But there are so many good teams in the league now."

Rice Coach Mike Schuler said, "I think in the next two or three years this league will be as any in the country. I have to pick Texas, but A&M will be very good, and Arkansas will be good."

Lemons naturally would not pick his own team. "I have to pick Texas A&M because they have a bunch of overpowering guys," he said. "The Aggies from top to bottom ought to be in there because they have a lot of overall strength. But Arkansas has a very good team."

The Longhorns, who won the National Invitational Tournament in New York City by surprising North Carolina State of the Atlantic Coast Conference, won all 15 of their home games last year and have four starters returning from that team.

Lemons said, "I think the eventual winner could lose at least four games. Arkansas was the best team in the league last year, and they lost three games."

Most coaches said they were in favor of a three-man officiating crew which will be used at all SWC games this fall. The SWC also decided to put the jump ball back into the start of the contest. The coaches felt that taking away the jump ball took some of the excitement out of the games.

The SWC coaches were in Dallas for their annual basketball press day. The teams start nonconference play next week but do not open league action until January.

The Raiders have been installed as seven-point favorites in the 9 p.m. EST National Football League contest.

Oakland holds a 7-3 edge in the rivalry, winning five of the last six meetings, including a 31-28 playoff triumph in 1975.

The Bengals, who manhandled Houston two weeks ago for their only victory of the year, are coming off an embarrassing 23-12 loss to San Diego. Cincinnati was flirting with its third shutout loss in four games before managing to score twice in the last two minutes.

Both clubs have had their troubles at quarterback, with Ken Stabler and Ken Anderson suffering sub-par seasons.

Each is an interception away from tying their worst NFL marks. Stabler has 23, a league high, and Anderson has 13 in six games since returning from a broken hand.

The result has been an uncustomary low ranking — Stabler is listed 10th in the AFC and Anderson 13th.

Oakland's ground game, keyed by Mark van Eeghen, faces a Cincinnati defense which ranks last in the AFC in defending the rush.

Van Eeghen was ranked fourth among AFC rushers last week with 703 yards and rookie Art Whittington has 408.

Cincinnati, disappointed in two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin, has gone to rookie running back David Turner. He will be paired for the first time with fullback Pete Johnson, Cincinnati's leading rusher.

Nebraska moves into driver's seat

By The Associated Press
Whoa! Wait a minute before making those travel arrangements for Penn State to spend New Year's in Miami. You're probably safe to book Nebraska for a trip to Florida, but a funny thing happened to that anticipated national championship Orange Bowl showdown between No. 1-ranked Oklahoma and runner-up Penn State.

Nebraska and Georgia are the flies in the ointment. Fourth-ranked Nebraska moved into the driver's seat to become the Big Eight's Orange Bowl representative by knocking off previously unbeaten Oklahoma 17-14. That left Penn State, a 19-10 winner over North Carolina State, the nation's only unbeaten team and a likely successor to Oklahoma at the top of the next Associated Press ratings.

Meanwhile, No. 11 Georgia nipped Florida 24-22 and needs only to beat Auburn next Saturday to represent the Southeastern Conference in the Sugar Bowl regardless of what third-ranked Alabama does. What Alabama did Saturday was dispose of 10th-ranked Louisiana State 31-10. Assuming that Penn State will be No. 1, Alabama No. 2 and Nebraska No. 3 — and you can rarely rely on assumptions where opinions are concerned — the following question would arise:

1. If Georgia goes to the Sugar Bowl, would No. 1 Penn State opt for third-ranked Nebraska in the Orange Bowl or runner-up Alabama in some place like the Gator or Fita Bowl, where the money would be less but setting up a rare 1-2 national championship post-season shootout? Some friendly television network just might be willing to raise the ante a few hundred thou.

2. And what if Georgia loses to Auburn? Will Penn State choose the Orange Bowl — assuming Nebraska beats Missouri next Saturday — or the Sugar Bowl? If it's the latter, remember that Alabama still face Auburn on Dec. 2 and a Bama loss could put Georgia right back in New Orleans. And Penn State, of course, still has to play No. 20 Pitt on Nov. 24.

That's six days after the bowl bids can go out, and from past experience it is more than safe to say that most of them will indeed go out. In fact, it is probably safe to say that some already have gone out, but don't let the NCAA find out about it. "Had Oklahoma remained No. 1, I'm sure Penn State would have wanted to go to the Orange Bowl," says Robert J. Fabacher, president of the Sugar Bowl. "It makes the Orange Bowl picture a little different now, so I suppose it changes the picture for us, too.

"It does make things a little more exciting. We'll be out again next week. As you know, 6 o'clock Saturday evening is the golden hour."

And what about the Cotton Bowl, where eighth-ranked Houston likely will be the host team following a 10-7 triumph over No. 6 Texas? The Cougars figure to move up a notch or two and Penn State and the Cotton Bowl people get along awfully well. Besides, you haven't forgotten Joe Paterno's displeasure a year ago when the Orange Bowl snubbed Penn. State in favor of Arkansas as the visiting team, have you?

"There are so many factors, a lot of things to consider," the Penn State coach says. "It would take an hour to consider all the factors. It's a lot for the squad to consider. We want to get it out of the way before the Pitt game."

Just what are the factors, Joe?

"Which team is No. 2. We'd like to play the best football team, who the public thinks is best. Hopefully, Penn State can play the No. 2 team and in a bowl the kids want to go to. We haven't had a chance to talk about it yet.

"Remember, we got here (10-0) because of them and not because of me. We'll talk things over in the next day or two and see what the sentiment is."

Nuggets sign Hicks

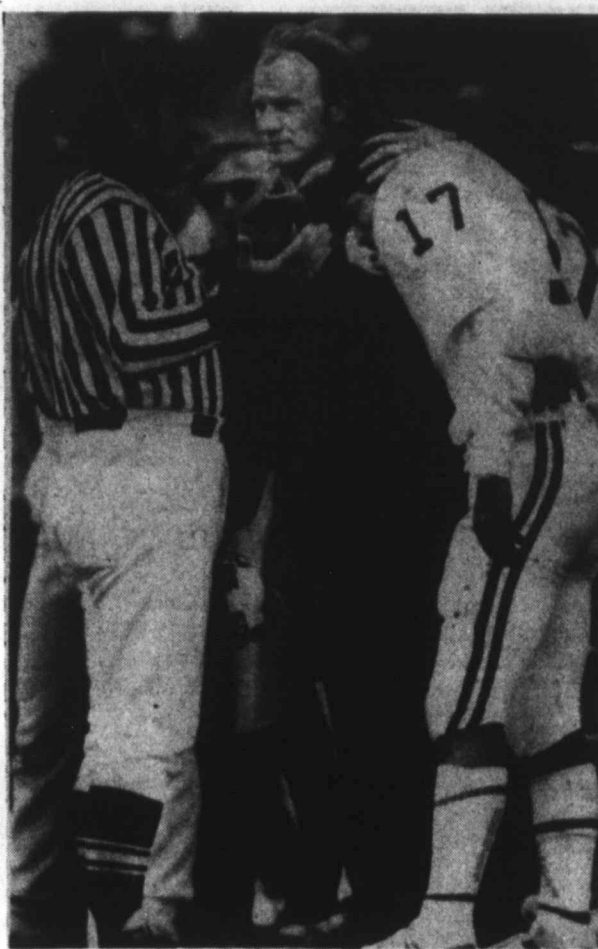

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Nuggets have said they plan to sign free agent forward Phil Hicks today in hopes he can give some help since veterans Bo Ellis and Tom Boswell have been sidelined with injuries.

The National Basketball Association club waived Hicks Oct. 6 after he took part in the Nuggets' summer and training camps. He played in five preseason games for Denver and averaged 3.6 points and 1.4 rebounds.

Meanwhile, Ellis was expected to return to Denver today from Los Angeles, where he underwent surgery to his right knee Friday. It is not known how long he will be sidelined.

Boswell sprained his right ankle in Saturday's loss to Kansas City.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT — Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer consoles cornerback Basil Banks (17) after Banks was thrown out of the game in the final minutes. An official explains the action to Switzer, and the 15-year penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct, that enabled Nebraska to run out the clock.

Things can't get worse, can they?

By The Associated Press
Just when it looks like things can't get any worse for the Boston Celtics, things get worse.

The Celtics looked bad in losing to the New York Knicks 111-98 Saturday night, but at least that was on the road. Sunday night they returned to the Boston Garden and bowed to the Detroit Pistons 128-123 for their sixth loss in a row and 10th in the last 11 games.

"This was obviously our worst game of the year," said Celtics Coach Tom Sanders. "We had 17 turnovers in the first half and then followed that up with crucial mistakes down the stretch. It's simply a matter of concentration. We showed a total lack of poise."

Boston's 2-12 record is the second worst in the history of the franchise.

In other NBA games Sunday night, the Los Angeles Lakers routed the Indiana Pacers 134-106, the Phoenix Suns beat the New Orleans Jazz 128-122 and the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 96-91.

Rookie John Long scored 24 points to lead Detroit, which without its captain and center, Bob Lanier, who injured his left knee in Philadelphia Saturday night.

Lakers 134, Pacers 106
Los Angeles won its ninth in a row, racing into an 80-50 halftime lead and coasting home behind 22 points and 13 rebounds by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Seven players scored in double figures for the Lakers, who are now 8-0 on their home court.

The Lakers made 19 of their first 24 field goal tries and finished with a 556 shooting percentage, while outrebounding Indiana 72-51.

Suns 128, Jazz 122
Alvan Adams, who had been on the injured list because of a sprained ankle, returned to action and scored 33 points to lead Phoenix over New Orleans.

Texans Ohio bound

By The Associated Press

Tarleton State's football team, champions of the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association for the second straight year, heard Sunday it will be traveling to Ohio for a first-round NAIA playoff game.

Tarleton's opponent next Saturday in the Texans' first playoff ever will be Findlay, Ohio for a first-round NAIA playoff game.

Tarleton, from Stephenville, Texas, is No. 6 in Division II.

The Texans ended their regular season Saturday with an 8-0-1 record and 7-0-1 conference mark by whipping McMurry College, 29-6. The record is Tarleton's best since 1925.

McMurry claimed second place as its conference record dropped to 6-3. The Abilene team wound with a 7-3 overall mark.

The Tarleton-Findlay match, one of four first-round games, has a 1:30 p.m. kickoff at Findlay, a northwest Ohio town of 48,000 south of Toledo.

In the TIAA's other final season game, Sul Ross surprised Austin College with a 14-7 victory at Alpine. Sul Ross finished 2-7 overall and 2-6 in the conference, while AC ended at 3-6-1 and 2-5-1.

Trinity traveled to Mexico where it blasted the University of Guadalajara 27-10 to wind up with a 4-4-2 and 2-4-2 season mark.

Cowboys copacetic, but is it too late?

By The Associated Press
The Dallas Cowboys have returned to Super Bowl form — but whether they've done it in time to return to the Super Bowl is another matter.

"It was the best we've played all year, but we've got to keep playing like this or we won't make the playoffs," Coach Tom Landry said Sunday after Tony Dorsett, Robert Newhouse, Roger Staubach and Billy Joe DuPree teamed up to mangle the Green Bay Packers 42-14.

Dorsett, in the doghouse in recent weeks, rushed for 149 yards and two touchdowns (covering 9 and 33 yards), Newhouse ran for 101 yards and two more touchdowns (14 and 3 yards) and Staubach passed to DuPree for another two scores (8 and 18 yards).

In the rest of the National Football League, it was Los Angeles 10, Pittsburgh 7; Houston 26, New England 23; San Diego 29, Kansas City 23; Buffalo 24, Minnesota 17; Chicago 14; Atlanta 20, New Orleans 17; Baltimore 17, Seattle 14; Philadelphia 17, New York Jets 9; Detroit 34, Tampa Bay 9; St. Louis 16, San Francisco 10; Denver 19, Cleveland 7, and Washington 16, New York Giants 13 in overtime.

Chargers 29, Chiefs 23
San Diego's Dan Fouts looked at the clock — the wrong one, as it turned out — then calmly pitched a 14-yard TD pass to John Jefferson as time ran out in overtime to beat the Chiefs.

Dolphins 25, Bills 24
Delvin Williams of Miami rushed for 144 yards, including TD jaunts of 25 and 26 yards, en route to surpassing the 1,000-yard mark and remaining the league's leading ground-gainer. The victory was the Dolphins' 18th in a row over Buffalo.

Vikings 17, Bears 14
Chuck Foreman scored twice on 1-yard dives — giving him 73 TDs for his career to tie Bill Brown's Viking record — and Fred McNeill blocked Bob Thomas' 39-yard field goal attempt in the fourth quarter to hand the Bears their eighth straight loss.

Falcons 20, Saints 17
Atlanta's Steve Barkowski launched a "prayer" pass — and his prayers were answered when Wallace Francis tipped the ball to teammate Alfred Jackson, who ran the final 10 yards to complete a 57-yard TD pass play with 10 seconds left.

Colts 17, Seahawks 14
Bert Jones heaved a 12-yard TD pass to Glenn Doughty in the first period and Ron Lee scored on a 14-yard run in the final period in the Colts' victory.

Eagles 17, Jets 9
Harold Carmichael caught TD passes of 18 and 6 yards from Ron Jaworski and blocked the point-after on New York's only TD to lead the Eagles past the Jets.

College Station, Texas (AP) — Houston's A.J. Foyt nipped Terry Ryan for his second United States Auto Club national championship Sunday with a victory in the Texan 250 at Texas World Speedway and plans to spend the winter "answering complaints at the dealership."

Ryan, who finished third behind Foyt and Bobby Allison, Hueytown, Ala., in Sunday's 250-mile USAC stock car finale, finished No. 2 in the point standings and plans to spend the winter trying harder.

"I'm just tired of racing," Foyt said after winning his fifth USAC stock car race of the year. "We started out lousy and we ran all over. So I'm going to concentrate on Indianapolis next year and I'm certainly not going to have this kind of schedule."

Foyt coached his coyote red Camaro into a comfortable seven-second lead midway through the race but then had to overcome a series of mechanical problems before regaining the lead for good on the 166th lap.

When Foyt suddenly slowed down on the 91st lap, Allison, who had won two other USAC stock car events, surged into the lead and held it until Foyt finally solved his problems and edged back into the lead.

THE FORBIDDEN FIELD — Lt. General Andrew J. Goodpaster, Superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., and his guest, Thomas Hilliard of New Bedford, Mass., look over the playing field at Michie Stadium prior to Saturday's game with Boston College. Hilliard was chased from the field 44 years ago because of his color, when he was playing for New York University. General Goodpaster hopes that the belated courtesy will help erase some of the bad memories.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOV. 14, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's full moon brings you good opportunities to get into the various practical matters you need to work out in your relationship with others. Make fixed commitments where it will help you to gain long-range, important objectives.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Check monetary problems first and then reach right decisions with higher-ups. Be more willing to discuss financial matters with mate, kin. Get good, valuable advice, assistance.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make an extra effort to improve your appearance and thus impress a loved one. You need more backing from others so be sure to ask for it. Avoid one who could give you the wrong information.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Carry through with work arrangements you have made with fellow workers and advisers. Spend as much time as you can with a loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Gain the devotion of friends by being more concerned with their problems, interests. Avoid one who gets on your nerves.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Become more involved in community matters and gain added prestige. Be alert to today's happenings and know better how to proceed.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A fine day to put new ideas to work and get excellent results. Get the cooperation of partners. Study agreements, contracts for accuracy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Concentrate on practical affairs and make your position in life more enviable. Pay bills, collect money due you and plan for greater abundance in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Put yourself in a position you most desire and get the right associates to help you in your plans. Improve your social life which has been lacking lately.

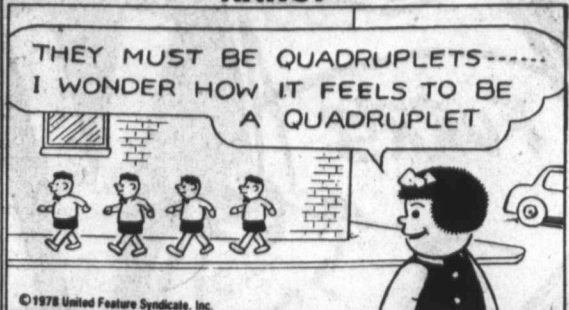

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find the best methods through which to accomplish more in the future and co-workers will cooperate more. Improve health and be more dynamic. Avoid chatterboxes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Ideal day for the kind of entertainment you like, so plan them early. Stop wasting time on the wrong people while hurting the innocent and the good.

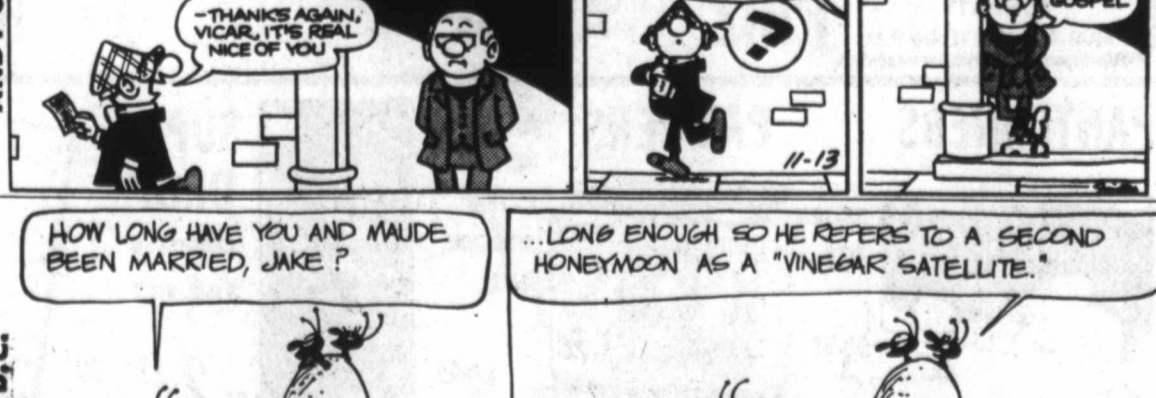

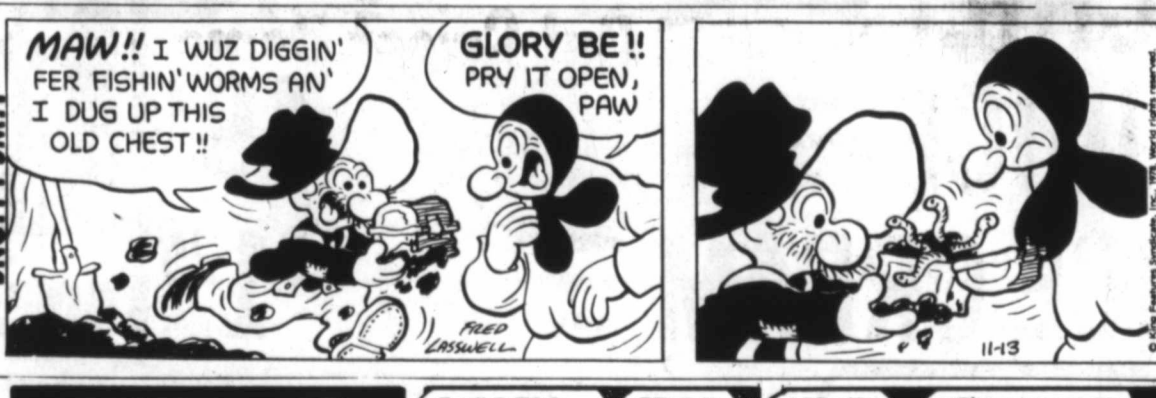

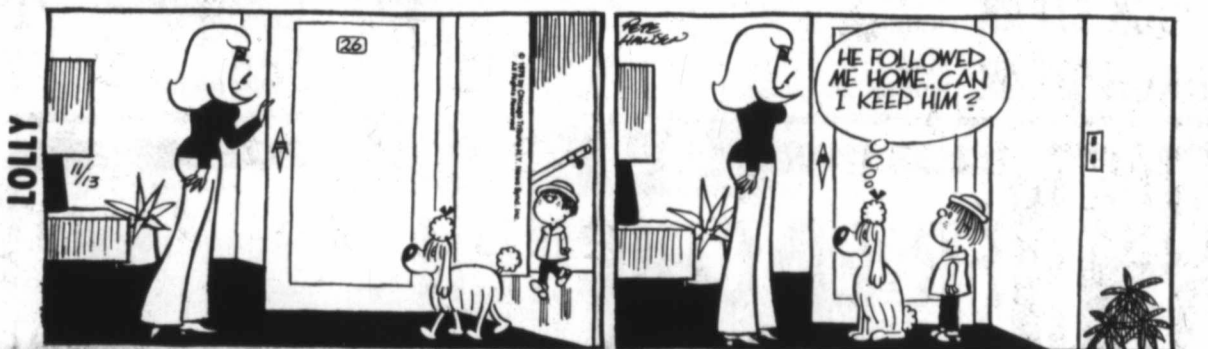

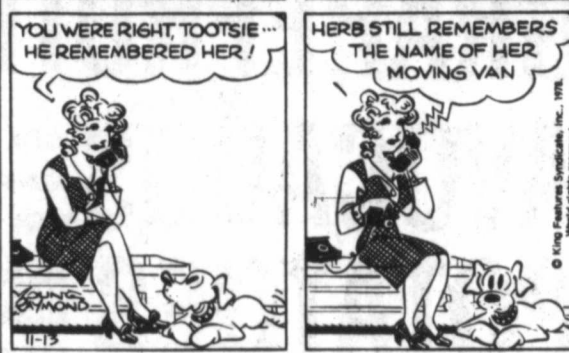

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) It may take some of your time, but get home affairs improved and more to your own liking. Later handle important civic affairs.

United Farm Workers laying new strategy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The United Farm Workers, a rallying point for liberals for more than a decade as it fought to unionize California's lush agricultural fields, is now quietly consolidating its victories as it lays a strategy for expanding to other states.

"We still feel we are a movement, not just a union," says UFW leader Cesar Chavez. "But we're reevaluating... changing our priorities. We can't live in the late '70s with concepts from the mid-'60s."

In 9½ months since ending a worldwide boycott of California lettuce, table grapes and wines, the union has grown to an estimated 100,000 members, computerized its headquarters, founded a school to train its staff and made major gains in establishing centralized health and pension plans—a breakthrough for migrants who seldom have the same employer for more than a few months.

"We are finishing our work in California," Chavez' chief aide, Marc Grossman, said in a telephone interview from the UFW's headquarters at a converted tuberculosis sanitarium in the Tehachapi Mountains 120 miles north of here in Kern County. "Then — maybe sooner than people think — we will be able to concentrate on other states where we are needed."

The union is currently active in Arizona, Florida, Texas and Washington State. But those efforts have been minor compared to the push in California, where the union three years ago was able to secure passage of the Agricultural Labor Relations Act. That act, which followed more than a decade of turmoil in the fields, for the first time brought rule of law and the ballot box into the struggle between agricultural unions and growers.

Since no other states have a law similar to the ALRA, Grossman said, "It will be a long and difficult struggle elsewhere. We realize we may have to repeat the California experience of strikes, boycotts and public education. But we will go, anyway."

For Chavez, one of the toughest problems the union faces is "an attempt by growers to revive a warmed-over bracero program" by using immigration law to bring in foreign workers to pick crops, thereby undercutting UFW organizing efforts.

Nonetheless, the union's leaders hope to repeat the success they've had in California, where the UFW has won more than 76 percent of its union representation elections — far higher than the 46 percent average for other unions in the nation.

This year, an estimated 100,000 persons are working under UFW contracts, Grossman says. Wages for UFW-covered farmhands have risen 124 percent since 1970 — from $1.65 an hour to $3.70 an hour.

"The percentage sounds nice, but the wages are hardly inflationary," he says.

The union's work is carried out by a fulltime staff of 90 persons, who still — as when the Chavez founded his farm workers union in 1962 — receive only $10 a week plus lodging and food for themselves and their families.

In particular, Chavez is proud of union's centralized health and pension plans, which for the first time give regular coverage to migrant farmhands regardless of how frequently they move between jobs. In the past, few migrants became vested in such plans because they did not stay with any employer long enough.

"There is no other plan like it in the country," Chavez said.

The union's next big test comes in December and January, when the UFW will have to renegotiate contracts covering 20,000 workers for 66 vegetable growers from California's Salinas Valley to Arizona.

"It's too early to tell what will happen... It's up to the growers," Chavez says.

At least one grower has tried to decertify the UFW as his workers' bargaining agent. But an official of the state's Agricultural Labor Relations Board said he expects few similar attempts will be made as the contracts come up for renegotiation.

The good old days

with Marj Carpenter

That's what they were — the days of our youth — the good old days.

Some times close scrutiny at the good old days can bring a few items to memory that really weren't all that good — such as going out in the cold to the outhouse on a winter morning.

Or should we not recall such gross things? I recall the Christmas Eve during those Depression days in 1932 when we heard a woman crying in the living room. She was saying, "Oh thank God. Thank you. Thank you."

I knew we didn't dare get up and creep around on Christmas Eve so I called out for "Mama." She came and told us that Christmas Eve tale that I've never forgotten.

"This afternoon when I was buying our Christmas groceries," Mother said, "I found a $20 bill in the store on the floor." A whole big two sacks full of groceries in those days cost around $5.

"I really needed that $20, but I thought somebody might need it worse," Mother said. "So I told the manager I had it and that if somebody came back hunting it to send them to the house."

"It was that woman's $20 bill and she has six children. It was all their money for Christmas gifts for the children which they were getting tonight," Mother added.

"What about Santa Claus?" I asked. "Santa Claus told me to tell them where the $20 was," Mother answered. "He did?" I questioned and added sleepily, "I didn't see him."

Mother answered, "He was there."

What got me off on youth was the fact that Dr. Houston Zinn's book has just come out. Well, his widow, Bea, has gotten her copy. They will be for sale in the near future.

I flipped through immediately hunting his poem on "Youth." Those of you who knew the party-loving Jack Zinn will love this poem which begins with the words: "Where did you go you sly evader?"

Once I had you in my grasp and the world was my oyster.

Little did I know how you would sneak away and never return my way."

Another portion of the poem says:

"You go skulking off to other climes
But how about my times.
You treated me
Rather shabbily.
During your reign I was in slavery."

But I'd say Jack Zinn was one person who knew how to retain his youth to the end.

I met another youthful couple the other night that are retaining their youth.

They are Walter and Ascuncion (Suncha) Christensen from Puerto Rico. Well, they met and married in Chicago and moved back to Suncha's home country of Puerto Rico because she was always cold in Chicago.

But now they have moved to Big Spring to be near their son and family, Phil Christensen, a psychologist with a PhD who is outpatient clinic director at the Big Spring State Hospital. His wife, Lorene and their daughter, Amara, are also interesting people.

And the whole bunch is lots of fun to talk to and it's good to know they're in Big Spring.

People do come here by choice and it's a good town — out where I ride fence.

Lawyers make second attempt to seat jury for murder trial

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Lawyers make a second start today trying to seat a jury for the capital murder trial of David Grijalva, accused of stabbing the manager of an Amarillo pizza restaurant and stuffing her head in a dough mixer.

Last spring the trial was ordered moved from Amarillo to the 213th state district court of Judge Tom Cave here.

State District Judge George Dowlen in December 1977 had denied a change of venue motion by Grijalva's attorneys. He postponed the trial, then agreed to move it after four days of jury selection last April resulted in only two members seated.

Grijalva's attorneys argued their client could not receive a fair trial in Amarillo.

The defendant, 26, of Gallup, N.M., is charged with the Jan. 11, 1977, slaying of 30-year-old Mary Janette Powers of Amarillo.

Yep, the election is over

I'm sure that most of us feel a bit of relief now. And whether your candidate won or lost, those who were elected are now our official leaders or officially represent us in Austin and in Washington.

Now is the time to rally behind those elected officials and work hard to promote the interests of our area, our state and the entire nation.

There is much to be done in the field of legislation. And, while many victories were realized during the 95th Congress, there are severe problems facing us now and in the near future.

Inflation is a real threat to our society and to the quality of life for all Americans. This appears to be the number one danger to our country and must be dealt with quickly and effectively.

Most economists agree that the greatest cause of inflation is attributed to BIG government spending more than it takes in and then printing money to make up the difference. When this happens, the dollar that you and I earn or have saved is reduced in value and consequently is able to buy less goods and services.

A simple solution to this type of inflation is to put a limit on government spending beyond their means and to increase productivity.

When there is a sufficiency of things that people desire, the price normally is reduced — When things are in short supply the price normally goes up. We can help keep prices down by increasing our production.

The balance of payments is exported goods compared with imported items is also of considerable importance.

We have imported far more foreign items than we have shipped our goods out of this country and this further tends to lessen the value of our dollars.

Agricultural producers have long known that if they were paid a reasonable price for their product in overseas markets the balance of payments would be considerably altered in favor of the United States. This is an area which is being worked on to achieve a more favorable exchange.

There are other examples of basic economic guidelines that apply, but in the interest of brevity — these are the main issues of a positive nature.

On the negative side, we know from sad experiences that mandatory controls have never worked in a free society and that they defeat the initiative of the American system. And that system has made the United States the envy of all nations in this world. Frankly, a major part of our current problems now are directly tied to government regulation and controls.

Let's acknowledge that government is there to serve the citizens of this country

By Bill Albright
Executive Vice President,
Big Spring Area Ch. of Commerce
Industrial Growth and Development and not to dominate and master them.

We can use less government, not more.

At the Chamber office we have the "Score Card" on the 95th Congress and we'll be happy to share the information with you. Come by and visit any time, 8:30 to 5, Monday thru Friday.

Yep, the election is over, and now we need to concentrate, communicate, conciliate and cooperate to produce programs that will whip inflation and continue our progress to a better quality of life for all our people.

And it will help a great deal if we remember to HUSTLE! HUSTLE! HUSTLE!

Volunteers to assist aged taxpayers needed

DALLAS — We need volunteers to assist low-income and elderly taxpayers who have difficulty completing basic Federal income tax forms. A. W. McCauley, District Director for Dallas District of IRS, said today.

The IRS sponsors the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program to help those who cannot afford private assistance and who are unable or unwilling to use Taxpayer Service offices staffed by IRS employees.

As participants in VITA, volunteers help low-income individuals and older Americans with relatively simple tax return status complete Federal income tax returns. They also advise taxpayers on basic tax matters such as the earned income credit, tax treatment of pension benefits and dependency requirements.

Retired persons and individuals who speak Spanish are especially needed to give special assistance to older and Spanish-speaking taxpayers. The IRS will provide training materials, instructors and publications to clubs and organizations willing to sponsor programs.

Interested individuals who speak Spanish are especially needed to give special assistance to older and Spanish-speaking taxpayers. The IRS will provide training materials, instructors and publications to clubs and organizations willing to sponsor programs.

Individuals or groups interested in participating should contact Frank Boyce or JoAnn Campbell by calling IRS or writing to: Internal Revenue Service, 1100 Commerce Street, Code 151B, Dallas, Texas 75242.

VITA offices are set up in locations convenient to low-income taxpayers and the elderly.

Postal Service deficit to be lower this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service says the deficit for the just-ended fiscal year will be "much lower" than the $688 million loss posted the previous year.

Postmaster General William F. Bolger told the Postal Service's governing board Friday that an audit, to be finished in about a month, will show the final figures for the budget year that ended Sept. 30 will be "nowhere near" the $1.3 billion deficit projected earlier.

If the 1977-78 deficit does fall below the $688 million recorded in 1976-77, it would be the third straight year the deficit has been trimmed. It was $1.2 billion in the 1975-76 fiscal year.

Bolger said there are two main reasons for the lower-than-expected deficit: more mail being sent, which increases revenue for the Postal Service, and this year's rate increase in which the price of mailing a first-class letter went from 13 cents to 15 cents.
