Experimental drugs stolen from hospital

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A safe filled with $1 million in drugs, some so experimental that officials say they "don't know what the drugs will do," has been stolen from the University of Michigan Hospital.

Authorities say they believe thieves used a block and tackle to lift the halfton safe onto a dolly, then rolled it to an elevator and a waiting truck outside the hospital.

The drugs, described by Police Chief Walter Krasny as "a walking drugstore," with a street value of $1 million, included cocaine, morphine and a number of experimental drugs. Hospital spokesmen said the experimental drugs are particularly dangerous because they would be unfamiliar to most doctors - who would then be at a loss in treating someone who had taken the drugs. Krasny said death or paralysis could result if anyone used the experimental drugs without close supervision of a doctor.

Police said they suspect the thieves had inside information about the location of the safe and the drugs. The 1,000-pound safe containing the drugs was housed on the sixth floor of the 10-story hospital building, police said.

Krasny said the 3-foot-high safe was stolen between Saturday and Tuesday. Police said the safe was apparently taken by elevator to a second floor loading dock and transferred to a truck in the heavilypatrolled hospital area.

Ann Arbor Police Executive Maj. Walter Hawkins said it would have taken at least three men to move the safe. There were 52 vials of research drugs in the safe, according to hospital officials who said the drugs were in brown or clear plastic pill bottles labeled with three or four numbers prefixed by UM.

In addition to the experimental drugs, the safe contained 58 packages of codeine, morphine, Methadone, cocaine, Phenobarbitol and amphetamines in pill bottles or plastic bags, Krasny said.

The theft was disclosed by police late Wednesday.

A university spokesman joined Krasny in asking for maximum publicity about the theft and the possible deadly effects of the experimental drugs.

'We don't know what the drugs will do," the university spokesman, who was not identified, said. "These experimental drugs definitely are not the type to be used by an amateur."

Milwaukee system runs quietly ACETA program that works

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Operating within a federal jobs and training system plagued by thievery, patronage and waste, Milwaukee has fashioned a CETA program that works. Quietly. Without fanfare. In this work-conscious industrial center. the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act programs create thousands of jobs, teach new skills and help the unemployed find work, and perform needed community services.

There is innovation

Weather modification boosts rainfall No doubt about it "In five of the last seven years > rains normally fall in that period. In recent years the wettest months have been in late summer, "resulting in the federal program seeks.

One example, Harnischfeger Corp., a manufacturer of heavy mining equipment, runs the largest on-the-job training program in the city. A panel of foundry managers set up another skill-training program: 11 persons, all considered hardcore unemployed, recently "graduated" as molder core makers and all had jobs waiting for them.

And, significantly, all this is done with little of the financial and political chicanery that torments the program nationally Labor Department officials point to Milwaukee County as one of the most effective CETA operations in the nation. Bob Jones, head of Labor's community employment programs, says, "Milwaukee is one of our best."

After seven years of research and operation, a Colorado River Municipal Water District scientist has concluded that weather modification efforts result in a 15 to 20 percent increase in rainfall.

cotton production for the cloud-seeded counties has surpassed cotton production for both upwind and downwind counties (adjacent to the target area)," said Girdzus. "Historically, this Lad never before in May-June, but the most intense increase surface vegetation, a

While this has not necessarily been reflected in a greater runoff into two CRMWD reserviors - Lakes J.B. Thomas and E.V. Spence - there is evidence that it has contributed to substantially larger increases in crop yields than for areas outside the weather program's target area.

Still another conclusion to be drawn from the annual report of John Girdzus, meteorologist for CRMWD, is that even with cloud seeding there is no unbroken pattern of weather, just as from 1961-70 when cotton yields varied from 290 to 500 lbs. per acre. This year was neither a good year for farming, nor for cloud seeding. In fact, it provided the second fewest seeding opportunities of any of the years since 1971, Girdzus reported.

There was an insufficient amount of upper level moisture, he observed, and the air mass was generally too stable to generate summer thunderstorm conditions. Probable cause of this was the retarded northward movement of the Subtropical High during the summer months, which counteracted on the Bermuda High, forcing it up somewhat and thus producing dry, southwesterly winds into the area rather than the usual southeasterly flow from the Gulf.

Consequently there were only 28 cloud seeding flights covering 48.3 hours, plus 24 observation flights of 43 hours. Only 1972 with 17 flights furnished fewer opportunities for seeding since the program was begun in 1971. Ths District practice is to seed only those growing cumulus clouds with minus 8-10 degrees centigrade with silver iodide crystals, which form the nuclei for ice crystals that attact moisture and grow until they fall out of the cloud. The point of this is to speed up natural processes to enhance the chance or volume of rain.

occurred." Only in three years from 1971-70 had the target-area counties exceeded the production increase in other counities

In 1977, the last year of Girdzus' analysis, the seeded counties (Howard, Borden, Scurry and Mit-cell) showed yields 111 percent higher than for the average during the 30 preceeding years 1941-70. Con-tiguous counties downwind from the seeding, which apparently benefit, substantially from the operation, showed a 55 percent margin of increase. Those upwind from the target area, and which appear to benefit to some slight degree, had only a 29 percent margin of increase. When droughty 1978 yield figures are available, these figures will change, but it will be interesting to see if the general pattern changes.

During the seeded years, the regional study area had a seasonal average of 32 percent more acre feet of rainfall during the seeding years than in the unseeded seasonal average, Girdzus estimated.

The hydrological formula is that five percent of rainfall will be available for runoff, but this was not necessarily so. Girdzus cited the oddity of a seeming change in the pattern of summertime moisture.

Historically, more acre feet of rain comes in May and June than in any other part of the summer, but during the seeding years there has been a 33 percent decline in this volume. Meanwhile, August and September have shown a 230 percent increase in rainfall. Girdzus pointed out that not only are soil and land surface characteristics more suited for runoff

Concrete work completed on new hangar at park

The concrete work on the new hangar at the Big Spring Industrial Park has been completed, and con-struction of the steel hull should begin shortly.

Consulting Engineer Roy Crim reported that the hangar's foundation and concrete aprons were completed Tuesday, and that a third of the steel materials for its hull have been delivered to the site. Further work is scheduled to continue on Jan. 3.

"We will have about $1,100,000 tied up in the hangar once the hull is erected. This will not include the mechanical or electrical portions of the building," said Crim.

retardant to surface flow, Girdzus concluded The 1978 program had some significant changes. One was the addition of a second plane for seeding from the top of clouds in contrast to the previous pattern of feeding the crystals into the updraft at the base of clouds. While the district's first plane continued to seed from the base, it was equipped with instruments to gauage cloud temperature, relative humidity, rate of climb and barometric pressure, also to measure cloud droplet spectra and concentration. So, most of its flights were for cloud physicis research. Another improvement was the use of more sophisticated radar equipment which formerly was used at the Webb AFB, where the 1978 operations were conducted

Calendar: Council meeting

TODAY Coahoma City Council convenes at 7:30 p.m., in City Hall.

Department officials, threatened with broad cuts in the $9-billion CETA budget, say that programs like Milwaukee's prove that federal manpower efforts can be worth the taxpayers' money.

Milwaukee avoids widespread CETA abuse for two reasons: tight financial controls and anti-patronage traditions that fly in the face of the time-worn maxim of big-city democracy: "Jobs are the mother's milk of politics.'

On the Department of Labor's recommendation, The Associated Press examined the Milwaukee program to see what the county is doing right, to test Jones' opinion that, "When CETA works, it is terrific."

CETA is a relatively new program (established in 1973), and its capacities were strained to the hilt by the big build-up in public jobs during the past four years. "If the system is allowed to mature, Milwaukee will be the rule, not the exception," says Jones.

Milwaukee's control of CETA money has ben so tight that two local scandals, including one that resulted in a fraud conviction last month, were unovered during the county's routine annual audits.

Also, patronage - using government jobs to reward political allies is not much of a factor in Milwaukee, which lacks the rich patronage tradition of, say, Chicago.

IMCOA BEGINS OPERATIONS HERE - Big Spring's newest industry, IMCOA (Insulation Material Corporation of America) began production of insulation material at its plant in the Howard County Industrial Park this morning. W. E. (Walt) Sommerman (partly hidden from the camera), president of the Fort Worth based firm, looks on as Al Searl (in hat), technical director, and Tom Stevenson, plant foreman, check the equipment. Employment to 15 persons will eventually be offered by the compnay.

Insulation material now being produced by firm

Insulation Material Corporation of America (IMCOA) began production here this morning. The corporation manufactures pipe insulation from polyethylene.

The Fort Worth-based company signed a contract Oct. 11 to use the south hangar of the Howard County Industrial Park, located at the old Howard County Airport.

Al Searl, technical director for IMCOA, said Wednesday that the plant can make 12 million feet of insulation a year. The plant will operate 6,000 hours a year. Searl said he expects to begin use of another machine in three months.

One Fort Worth distributor said he could sell $2 million of the insulation the first year. Searl thinks the firm can sell all the insulation it can manufacture.

He said Wednesday that the company had hoped to start production earlier but that adjustments in the die had to be made.

A skeleton crew of three men is now working at the plant. Employment will increase to 15 after production is started IMCOA President Walt Sommerman is in Big Spring to oversee the opening of the new company. He also serves as chief executive for five other plants and factories valued at $500 million.

Granville Hahn, special administrative assistant for Cosden, is responsible for the initial negotiations with the compnay officials. He works with the market development program at Cosden. The refinery will eventually supply polystyrene for IMCOA.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's trade deficit but sail surged past the record $26.5 billion gap set last year, the Commerce Department said today. The 30-month deficit has been a major cause of

In November, American bought $1.95 billion more than they sold to other countries, a small improvement from the $2.13 billion deficit in October.

Gas Company. Cardwell will continue to be manager of the Permian District, with headquarters here.

Cardwell's appointment is a part of the operational changes announced last September when Atlantic Richfield said it was reorganizing into eight operating companies. ARCO Oil and Gas Company's activities will be in exploration and production of oil and gas.

"The restructuring of the operating units of Atlantic Richfield Company will mean greater authority and responsibility to individual operating units, such as the Permian District," Wilson said.

Cardwell has been manager of the Permian District here since July, 1976, following a five-year assignment as manager of Atlantic Richfield's Rocky Mountain District in Denver. He was graduated from year-old Midland girl Auburn University with a BS Tuesday night, according to degree in mechanical engineering and joined Atlantic Richfield in 1976 at Dallas. He is a native of Troy, Ala.

Employe theft costly to us all

The incidence of theft by employe has become a major problem in the past ten years. A number of things have contributed to a worsening situation.

For one thing, the lack of prosecution in cases where the help is caught with its hand in the till can encouraged the piracy. For another, some people feel they are underpaid by their employers and set about to steal in moves to balance the books. For still another, inflation has inspired many to resort to this type of profit-sharing, although it merely adds to the cost of living for us all.

Santa was good to the little McGuires this year, but he didn't have the foresight to take their old mon's sanity into consideration. After a day of two choo choo trains, one race car and a record player with only one record, I was more than ready to return to the soothing sounds of typewriters and telephones on Tuesday

Christmas proved to be an educational experience for mother and sons this year in the never-ending saga of "Who is Santa Claus and where'd he get all this stuff?"

THIS YEAR, UNLIKE some frustrating Christmases past, I was equipped with a showbox full of C and D batteries in anticipation of the mechanical treasures that the old guy would place under the tree.

As I frantically raced around town gathering the scarce batteries on Saturday, I explained to my eldest that they were on sale. Being six, he bought that.

The week before Christmas, I had had to come up with another ex-planation for my five-year-old. Since we don't have a chimney he wanted to know how Santa would get into our house. I explained about the magical key that Santa has that fits all door locks

The explanation satisfied him until he shared it with a friend down the street, who promptly informed him that his mother was nuts. I explained to Lee that not all people know about the key.

A quick answer was again called for on Christmas morning when two of the toys left by Santa didn't work. I reassured my child that I would take them to a store Tuesday and exchange them for some that did work.

"But shouldn't they go back to the North Pole?" quizzed my truth-seeker. "Why would a store take them if you didn't buy them there?" I explained to him that Santa has a contract with one of our local businesses so that if any of his toys are defective, the store will replace them. "But who pays for all of this?" he asked, always mindful of the dollars and cents that his mother so often lectures on.

If I granted an award for the question of the year, that would've taken first place.

I thought about the possibility of billing Santa which would then have called for a long-winded explanation of where Santa gets the money. The thought of assigning Santa to a 9 to 5 job didn't appeal to me and I have no earthly idea of what sort of jobs are available at the North Pole.

ON THE OTHER hand, Billy is to smart to believe that a store would underwrite Santa's expenses for nothing in return. So, off the top of my head, I replied "The Chamber of Commerce

I don't know where that answer sprang from, but someone had to get the credit and it had to be someone who Billy wasn't familiar with.

"Who's the Chamber of Commerce?" he asked.

I told him that they were kind of like dadds to Big Spring.

I think my answer took us both by surprise. He asked no more questions but his mind was definitely working at top speed.

Amont the possibilities I picture for the future is the Chamber of Commerce receiving crayon-printed letter on Big Chief Tablet paper requesting an allowance increase, a new puppy, and a bedroom of his own.

Christmas at our house was definitely educational. I learned all of the words to the theme song of "Pinnochio," Billy received a rather pleasant introduction to the Chamb r of Commerce, and Santa lives on.

Introduction of any Jones bill ought to sound warning buzzers at the White House. The Carter team ignored his tax reduction bill in 1978 to the president's later dismay, when it was passed intact by the House. Actually, the Social Security tax suspension is only one of several administrationopposed "anti-inflation" proposals being drafted by Jones (lower minimum wage for youth, suspension of revenue sharing to the states, a spartan welfare reform). But it is the one with widest support.

Moreover, scores of congressmen will return to Washington carrying variations of the Nunn bill in their briefcases. The proposal by Sen. Sam Nunn of Georgia, to cut federal income tax rates annually if there is an annual reduction in spending, had majority support in both houses but died in the session-end maneuvering. Its attempted resurrection in the face of White House hostility is assured.

Finally, behind all this lies the specter of recession. Should unemployment push up toward 7 percent in 1979, as widely forecast, there will be a major congressional push for a quick tax cut to stimulate the economy. It is one certainty of life on Capitol Hill.

YET, WITH the conspicuous exception of Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, the consensus within the Carter administration is that Congress will react to recession with the discredited old medicine of public works spending. "The tax revolt is just as dead as Kemp-roth," one administration policymaker told

You are correct in your belief that generally the less medicine taken the better, but that is for the physician to decide, not you. Your hit-and-miss dosage is not helping him decide just what the best dose is for you over the long run. Withdrawal from these drugs must be done gradually. In effect, you are periodically cutting your body off from the drug's beneficial effects and not doing your heart problem, whatever it is, any good. My suggestion is to take the drug as prescribed - both in dosage and timing - which is what your doctor has the right to expect from you. Not even a doctor prescribes for himself

Cimetidine (the non-trade name) is one of a new class of drugs recently approved for use in the U.S. Its success in treatment of ulcer has been well-documented. Studies in England indicate healing rates of between 75 and 85 percent, higher than for previously previously used anti-ulcer medication. It acts by checking the flow of excess gastric juices, the cause of ulcers. No serious side effects have been reported to date. The remaining doubt about the drug concerns longterm effectiveness. As with any new drug, only time will decide that question. Its chief effect

Peanuts are not a specific treatment for low blood sugar. But if your problem was low blood sugar the peanuts (or any high-protein snack food) might have contributed to keeping the level even and perhaps have helped. Protein is converted into blood glucose (sugar) at a more even and gradual pace than is carbohydrate, thus eliminating sudden rises and dips that might account for a low blood sugar headache.

Some people assume that being a Christian automatically will make them immune to emotional or physical problems. But God has not promised that, even though He may certainly work to bring healing to us at times. Emotionally there may be problems that are like emotional broken arms - things that need to be set right.

ments of State and Health, Education and Welfare originally projected their budget needs months ago, the stream of refugees was flowing out of Southeast Asia at the rate of 8,500 a month. The officials expected that 36,500 would be allowed into the United States in 1979 and another 40,500 in 1980. But the refugee stream has swollen to flood proportions. In October alone, more than 12,000 men, women and children sought refuge in neighboring Asian countries. This is expected to increase to more than 20,000 once the November statistics are compiled. Attorney General Griffin Bell has already received approval from congressional leaders and the president to authorize the admission of an additional 17,500 refugees next year. The trouble is, there is not enough money to deal with the increase.

The United Nations initially estimated that $45 million would be needed to feed, clothe, transport and provide medical care for Southeast Asian refugees next year. The United States promised to provide half the amount

But because of the unexpected surge of refugees, at least $30 million more will now be needed for the U.S. fund, with half of that coming from American taxpayers.

According to an internal White House memo, "both State and the CIA agree that declines in the flow out of Indochina are unlikely for the foreseeable future." Officials at the State and Justice Departments and the National Security Council are working on policy and legislative proposals that will authorize the admission to this country of "large numbers of Indochinese beyond those the Attorney General is about to authorize.'

The memo goes on to say that "the President does not object to the special entry of more Indochinese and is relying on the Attorney General and the Secretary of State to develop a forthcoming policy."

White House sources told our associate Howard Rosenberg that there are now two options available to budget planners: They can either limit the funds to the inadequate amount already provided by the U.N. estimates, or they can request that more money be put in a contingency fund to handle the increased flow of refugee

Violation of Sherman Antitrust Act Braniff Airways fined $100,000

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) - Braniff Airways has ended a long battle with the Justice Department, pleading no contest to charges it conspired to squeeze Southwest Airlines out of business by using unfair tactics when the smaller airline was trying to get started in the early 1970s. Braniff, accused of conspiring with Texas International Airlines against Southwest in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act, was fined the maximum $100,000 by U.S. District Judge Edwin F. Hunter.

It was the same fine levied against Texas International last June. Texas Inter-national had also originally pleaded innocent in the case but changed its plea to no contest June 14.

Braniff officials insisted the Dallas-based firm was innocent, and until Wed-nesday had said it would prefer to go to trial.

But the airline said it changed its plea to "nolo contendre" — a plea in which the defendant does not admit to the charges but subjects itself to the judgment of conviction because it decided a trial would be too expensive.

The case was moved from San Antonio to Lake Charles

FAA plans to tighten air controls

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Federal Aviation Administration plan to tighten traffic controls around the nation's airports faces strong opposition from a powerful private pilots' group. John L. Baker, president of the 220,000-member Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, contended after the FAA announcement Wednesday that the new policies would restrict private pilots' freedom of access to many airports. He said his organization will call on the more than threequarters of a million ts and their families and their business associates to form a massive attack on the FAA's programs.

Baker said AOPA will take its case to Congress and the public, but did not elaborate. There were other indications, however, that the opposition might take the form of an organized "flyin" in which hundreds of planes would be flown to Washington.

It is expected that the private pilots will state their case during public hearings on the FAA plan to upgrade 44 airports to terminal controls areas, the agency's highest safety rating. In announcing the plan, FAA administrator Langhorne Bond said he did not feel it would result in a dislocation of the private general aviation sector. But he said some small user groups, such as non-licensed student pilots, might be affected at some airports during certain periods.

"Business and private aircraft with the right equipment will be perfectly eligible to go into the major airports," Bond said. He added that "this program will provide greater safety for all concerned."

The FAA action was spurred by the Sept. 25 aerial collision over San Diego between a jet airliner and a small Cessna flown by a pilot making a practice landing approach. The crash, worst U.S. aviation disaster in history, killed 144 persons.

The FAA plan will improve safety at 124 U.S. airports serving 97 percent of the scheduled airline travelers. Bond said it will provide increased protection against in-flight collisions and estimated it would reduce by 80 percent the number of near collisions involving aircraft operating above 10,000 feet.

The program calls for increasing radar services at airports, establishing terminal control areas at 44 and putting most of the busiest air routes above 10,000 feet under direct air traffic control. An additional 330 air traffic controllers will be hired.

Consumer can slow rise in meat prices

WASHINGTON (AP) Hamburger meat will cost $1.70 or $1.80 a pound next year, but consumers could slow the price increase by switching to pork and chicken, a meat industry leader

If ground beef prices do rise 40 to 50 cents a pound as predicted, hamburger will cost about as much in 1979 as round steak did last winter, said Richard E. Lyng, president of the American Meat Institute.

Steak prices also will go up, he said, but not as drastically as hamburger - especially on a percentage basis.

Lyng said Wednesday retail hamburger prices rose about 40 cents a pound in 1978 and now average around $1.30 a pound. According to Agriculture Department statistics, the average retail price of bone-inround steak last February was $1.77 a pound.

It is doubtful hamburger prices will rise above the $1.70-$1.80 a pound range next year, Lyng said, because many consumers may switch to alternatives such as pork and poultry, which are in good supply, rather than pay more and more for hamburger. "I'm always uncertain as to when the consumer will decide that 'this is far enough,"' Lyng said. "We simply can't predict it with any degree of precision, and neither can USDA." One department official, who asked not to be identified, called Lyng's estimate "a very pessimistic forecast" in light of consumers' expected switching to pork and chicken.

Ground beef prices in October, the most recent month calculated by USDA, averaged $1.18 a pound compared to 81 cents a pound one year earlier, the department said.

Feedlot operators who produce "fed" beef that makes the choicest steaks and roasts found in supermarkets have stepped up their operations. But those increases are not enough to offset the decline in the supply of the leaner beef for hamburger.

Proposals for school finance about the same

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -After 14 months of study, a legislator-citizen commission on school finance has recommended only that lawmakers consider four options based on the present way of doing things.

The Legislative Commission on Public School Finance, created in 1977 and given a $200,000 budget, signed its report to the 66th Legislature on Wednesday. Rep. Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, the chairman, said he felt the commission had done its duty.

full market value or an 'index value'' representing a mix of productive value on agricultural land and market value on non-rural property. Rate would be 9 cents per $100 of full value or 10.25 cents on index value.

-Exclude intangibles Apply a "meaningful" agricultural production value to rural land. And here's the one innovation include a factor for county personal income to recognize the fact that an area can be land rich but dollar poor.

Legislators will receive computer printouts showing the impact of each option on their districts.

The commission said if the 1979 Legislature does not change the present school finance law, "the local school districts' share of the Foundation School Program would increase 59 percent statewide by the 1980-81 school year.

That would mean higher local property taxes.

Existing law includes intangibles in calculating local fund assignments next year, and the School Tax Assessment Practices Board has determined the value of intangibles in each district.

Massey said the commission failed to produce more dramatic results because of the un-predictability of legislative action on intangibles and agricultural property values.

"Those considerations would keep this body or any other body from taking a collective stance on where we ought to go," Massey said.

German from Venezuela likes Big Spring

Roast goose highlight on Christmas Day

By ROBBI CROW

While most of the families in Big Spring sat down to a turkey and dressing dinner Christmas Day, the Ronnie Palmer family sat down to a roast goose dinner.

Roast goose has been a tradition which was originated Mrs. by Margarita Palmer's family in Germany. Unlike a turkey, the goose is long and slender, and extremely wild in taste. The bird, consisting of all dark meat, is very juicy and flavorful.

There is not nearly as much meat on a goose as there is a turkey, therefore, instead of slicing it, it is cut right through the bones with poultry shears. The accompaniments to the goose are the same as with a turkey.

Mrs. Palmer claims to be a German from Venezuela. She was born in Germany and both her parents are fullblooded Germans, however she was brought up in Venezuela

She grew up on the coast in a town called Puerto la Caruz (Port of the Cross) in the tropics of Venezuela. Her parents sent her to the states in 1961 to learn English. One of her brothers lived in New Jersey, so she went to school there.

Other schools attended by Mrs. Palmer include San Marcos Baptist Academy and Radford School for Girls in El Paso. She returned to Venezuela every summer for vacation.

Reminiscing of her life in Venezuela, Miss Palmer stated that it was absolutely beautiful. Caracas, the capital, is totally modern and international. "Anything anywhere in the world can be found in Caracas," said Mrs. Palmer

A traditional custom celebrated there is Carnaval. This occurs in February before Holy Week. Equivalent to the Madrigras. Carnaval is celebrated with costumes and floats. It was once a custom to go around throwing water on everyone, whether they be family, friends, or strangers, during this celebration, but due to a shortage of water in Caracas, this has been outlawed.

Although she misses friends often Venezuela. send Mrs. Palmer some of the food eaten by the Venezuelans such as black beans, which look something like pinto beans, but are black and taste entirely different; platain something like a banana and arepas, Venezuelan bread. Margarita and Ronnie Palmer met in San Angelo where Mr. Palmer was born and reared. The couple has been married 14 years and have a daughter, Marga, is almost 12 and attends Goliad. They moved here 9 years ago. Mr. Palmer is a used car salesman at Bob Brock Ford.

Mrs. Palmer, who works part-time for Stripling and Mancill Insurance Agency is a volunteer at Malone-Hogan Hospital. She speaks German, Spanish and English. Her hobbies include reading, needlepoint and swimming. She expressed the attachment she has grown to apple feel toward Big Spring and Texas in the time she has onion resided here "I really like Big Spring,

Our Teens: pen pal program has been S0 successful, it has created a beautiful "monster."

First I needed more boys Then I advertised. Then I needed more girls. I advertised, then I needed more boys

The last call for pen pals brought in over 4,000 requests This meant that since May, over 22,000 teens have written for pen pals

At this very moment I have a literal mountain of pen pal requests from all over the United States and Canada. It's reached the point that it is physically impossible to service all the requests and each day more are arriving.

To assist me, I have hired three teen-age girls to see that teens who have written to me get a pen pal.

Since many teens have asked for more than one pen pal - this is what I have proposed. If you are between the ages of 12 and 20 and would like to have a list of pen pals (your name will be included) please send $1 (to be given to the teen assistants as salary) to me in care of this newspaper.

Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed, large envelope. Just tell me the sex and age of the pen pals you desire. And where you want them to come from - West, South, Midwest, East or Canada

Immediately upon receipt of your letter, you will receive a list of over 100 names of teens who desire a pen pal. Your name will be ncluded. Naturally, you can write to as many on the list as you want.

TV'S Soap-Spielers Put Her in a Lather

DEAR ABBY: Please publish this so the people who want to sell a product will know how one housewife feels about some of the stupid TV commercials. I get so irritated with some of them I actually turn the volume down so I can't hear them.

Of all the dumb commercials, detergents are the dumbest! They're all beginning to look and sound alike. So are the deodorant commercials showing all the different kinds right next to each other. When the commercial is over you don't even remember which one they're trying to sell. It's ridiculous and confusing!

Abby, whetever happened to those free samples we used to get in the mails? Now that's the way to sell a product! Instead of telling us how inferior the other brands are, why not give us a sample of the product they claim is superior, and let US be the judges?

I changed my brand of soap and toothpaste years ago because of a free sample. And until somebody can change my mind by giving me a free sample of something better, I'm not changing my brand. Care to comment?

DEAR SIOUX: I too prefer the free sample pitch, and agree that some TV commercials are literally a turn-off.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old married woman who recently applied for membership in our fire department. There are no women in the department; I was the first to apply. I received four blackballs among the 22 men who were at that meeting. That was enough to keep me out. I know I was blackballed because I am a woman.

They have a secret way of voting, so I have no way of knowing who voted against me.

Abby, is there anything I can do about this? I was told that a person who has been rejected can re-apply again in six months, but I have no assurance that I won't be blackballed once more. Any suggestions?

BLACKBALLED IN PA.

DEAR BLACKBALLED: You will have a difficult time proving that you were blackballed BECAUSE you are a woman - if indeed that is the reason. If you think you have been unfairly (and unlawfully) discriminated against, contact your ACLU and Fair Employment Practices Commission.

DEAR ABBY: My 8-year-old daughter has been sulking for a week because I refused to buy her a brassiere! Take my word for it, Abby, she has nothing to put in it, but she wants one anyway. She says all her friends at school wear them. I've seen her friends and I don't know why any of them would be wearing a brassiere.

Her sour puss around here lately is getting me down. Should I give in and buy her a brassiere just to improve her disposition?

HINSDALE MOM

DEAR MOM: No. Encourage her to be patient. Mothers who give in to their children to improve their dispositions are letting themselves in for an endless improvement program.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was married recently in an all-white church wedding, one of the most beautiful ever held in this town. It was a dream come true. To say she looked like an angel is not just a mother's pride. I can't described the joy that was in her father's heart and mine. When the newlyweds returned from their honeymoon.

insurance company and HURT AND DISAPPOINTED identification number.

DEAR HURT: The real test of love is to love our children when they need our love the most. It's easy to love them when they do everything right and make us proud of their accomplishments. But when they disappoint us (as children sometimes do) we can demonstrate our love by showing compassion, understanding, and forgiveness. Try it. You'll have fewer regrets.

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand just one more letter about chasity belts? Legend has it that a young knight was preparing to go off to the crusades. He kissed his lovely young wife and locked her into her chasity belt, as was the custom in those days.

Then the knight called on his best friend and said, "Here is the key to my wife's chastity belt. Keep it. And if I am not back in seven days you will know I'm dead, so please unlock my wife so she can marry again."

With that, the knight galloped off to do battle. He was gone only two hours when he was overtaken by his friend who came charging after him in a cloud of dust, shouting: "You gave me the wrong key!"

CHICAGO (AP) - Fingerprint experts are dusting empty picture frames that used to hold three paintings by Paul Cezanne, looking for clues in the theft of the masterpieces which The Art Institute of Chicago values at $3 million.

Embarrassment no reason for withholding document

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A government document cannot be withheld simply because it would embarrass an official, Attorney General John Hill held Wednesday.

Hill said the Dallas Independent School District must disclose all but two pages of a special audit conducted by Price Waterhouse & Co. of the district's purchasing practices and procedures.

The district's lawyers contended that the report questioned the propriety of certain officials' conduct and this might be embarrassing to them if the document were released.

Hill's open records opinion cited an Oregon appellate court decision that said, "Citizens are entitled to inspect public records to learn what their government is doing this means learning of government's possible shortcomings, not just government's successes.

Two pages making policy recommendations can be withheld because of an Open Records Act exception for inter-agency memoranda, Hill said.

The attorney general said in another opinion that a preliminary work program for an audit of the governor's Criminal Justice Division could be withheld. He said it fell within an exception for trade secrets.

"An accounting firm will specially adapt a program as it approaches each audit, and programs often reflect a substantial investment of time and money. We are advised that superior audit programs can give accounting firms significant competitive advantages," Hill said.

Hill said in a third opinion that county commissioners must reveal to county employees the names of persons who write letters complaining of the employees' actions.

Dick Young recently wrote a column on the Dallas Cowboy organization and what he referred to as the Tom Landry factor. Young wrote that: "Tom Landry is in full control of the football, and the football players. Heavens form one of the The players know that's how it is, or they don't play for great running tandems in Notre Dame football history He also wrote that the players know that Landry's job is much more secure than their own, and that they do not challenge him. For all practical purposes that's One challenger was a man named Rodrigo Barnes. Rodrigo was drafted by the Cowboys in 1973 after a successful but somewhat stormy career at Rice. A who promptly released him in mid-season. He was then picked up a week later by New England for the remainder of the year. The next year he played half a season with St. Louis, was released by them and picked up by Miami for the remainder of the year. He finally found a two-year home in Oakland in 76 and 77, before normal player that has had difficulties with a coach and say something about Landry like: "Ah, that bleep, he's a sorry SOB that can't coach and is a backend. Despite the fact that Landry did let Barnes go for getting into an argument with him, Rodrigo's sentiments were not against Landry.

In fact, Rodrigo spoke with nothing but respect for Landry. He related that his problem with Dallas arose when he questioned Landry's all-encompassing authority in the middle of the season, and then didn't try to make amends for his actions hastily.

Rodrigo, who excelled especially on the special teams and as a goal-line linebacker, was quickly released. He was in the process of being groomed for Lee Roy Jordan's job upon retirement, but his actions were not tolerated by Landry.

'I questioned the system and the system let me know that there were other people around that could do my job," Rodrigo said in somewhat of a daze, a couple of springtimes ago, "I can't let a man try to rule me. But Landry has such organization and knowledge in his system that I can't blame him for letting me go. He found somebody else.

Rodrigo went on to say that Landry was by far the best coach with the most complete and knowledgeable staff that he had played for thus far. This includes the likes of Don Shula, Chuck Fairbanks, John Madden and Don Coryell.

Listening to Rodrigo talk about Landry was similar to reading what I consider one of the all-time books, "North Dallas Forty". Except that Rodrigo left Dallas with a little healthier attitude than Pete Grant did in his book

One thing's for sure. Landry is a respected man on both sides of the fence for his football knowledge.

Doug Collins scored 25 points as Philadelphia overcame an early Indiana lead and moved within a half-game of idle Washington in the Atlantic Division.

The 76ers scored 12 unanswered points in the second quarter to build a 46-29 lead. Joe Bryant scored 12 points in the second quarter, and the 76ers built a 64-44 halftime lead.

Knicks 115, Nets 104

Bob McAdoo came off the bench and scored 26 of his 31 points in the second half, including 11 unanswered points for New York, as the Knicks offset a 41-point performance by New Jersey's Bernard King.

Celtics 112, Kings 103

Marvin Barnes scored 29 points and Jo Jo White had 25 to pace Boston past Kansas City in the first NBA game played in St. Louis in 12 years.

Barnes hit eight of his first nine shots and White scored 12 points as Boston took a 36-22 lead after the first quarter

Lakers 106, Warriors 104

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 27 points, including a 17-foot hook shot with 20 seconds left, to help Los Angeles break a four-game losing streak on the road. Sonics 122, Jazz 103

Seattle snapped a six-game losing streak behind Fred Brown's 27 points. The Sonics took their biggest lead, 118-95, on Lars Hansen's basket with 2:02 to go.

Bethea realizes dream

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini and defensive end Elvin Bethea, a pair of round of the National Football League playoffs, go against New England Sunday in an American Football

The Oilers are in the playoffs for the first time since 1969 and enjoying the adoration of capacity crowds and doting fans. Bethea never will forget those lean years.

"Teams would come into town knowing they would beat us, then go home and laugh about it," Bethea said. "We had no friends in the whole city. Hell, even my dog

But now the Oilers are returning the snickers. "We've proved we're a good football team," Bethea said. "We've beaten Pittsburgh in Pittsburgh, New England in New England and Miami twice. There are

State has $110 million to spend

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) The Legislative Budget Board's proposed $20.76 billion general appropriation bill for 1980-81 leaves $110 million for additional spending or tax relief, a staffer said Wednesday. Homer Scace, senior research analyst, said that's the amount remaining after deducting proposed expenditures of state funds from Comptroller Bob Bullock's latest revenue estimate. Bullock has estimated the surplus for fiscal 1979, plus growth revenue over the next two fiscal years, will exceed the current spending level by $2.8 billion.

The board's budget has been characterized as one that deals with inflation and population growth but provides virtually no new state programs. It includes 5.1 percent annual pay raises for state employees and school teachers and $450 million to reimburse school districts for revenue they will lose was because of the "Tax Relief Amendment" approved by the voters in November. Legislators traditionally have used the board's recommendation as their starting point in writing a general appropriation bill.
