

Plane crash near Portland kills 10

SHE SURVIVED — Rescue workers help an unidentified plane crashed Thursday night near Portland International Airport, killing at least 10 persons.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Passengers on a United Airlines DC-8 were warned to "hunker over" and brace for a crash before the jetliner slashed through trees and flattened two unoccupied homes. At least 10 of the 185 persons aboard died, authorities said.

More bodies may still be found in the wreckage of Flight 173 from New York and Denver which carried 177 passengers and a crew of eight, a fire district spokesman said after the Thursday night crash.

A spokesman for the Multnomah County sheriff's office said it had accounted for 171 persons — 10 dead, 45 injured and 116 uninjured. The fate of the 14 others was not known, but Deputy Bart Whalen said some passengers may have left the crash scene without notifying authorities.

"Mayday mayday. The engines are flaming out. We're going down. We're not going to make the airport," the pilot said in his last transmission to the tower. The conversation was recorded by a ham radio operator.

The airliner bounced and skidded through a vacant lot, into a house and across a busy street, crushing a second house as it came to rest in a clump of fir trees three miles from the Portland International Airport runway.

Forty-five people were taken to hospitals and five were reported in critical condition, the Multnomah County sheriff's office said.

The dead included three children and seven adults, authorities said. A United official said two crew members were among the victims: second officer Forrest Mendenhall, 41, of Parker, Colo., who had been with the airline since 1967, and senior flight attendant Joan Wheeler, 36, of Englewood, Colo., with United since 1964.

Dave Ostwald, news bureau manager for United in Chicago, identified the dead, in addition to the crewmembers, as:

Gabor Andor, a cook for United who lived in the Portland area; Andor's wife, Rosina; and the couple's two daughters, Gabriella, 2, and Rosina, 1; Mrs. Jasna Peponik; Anna Peponik, infant; Raymond C. Waetjen; and Gwen Griffith. The ages and hometowns of several of the victims were not immediately available.

"It was a miracle," said Richard Harrison, returning to Portland from Tulsa, Okla. "I didn't know people lived through plane crashes."

Steven Heltzel, a passenger, said those aboard were alerted by the pilot that the plane had a problem with its landing gear. He said flight attendants began instructing them on emergency landings, and the pilot said he hoped to touch down normally.

"Next think I knew, 'boom boom' ... I didn't know if we were dead or alive after the crash," Heltzel said.

"They really briefed us well, otherwise I wouldn't have known what to do," said Amy Conner, 17, of Holden Village, Wash., who sprained an ankle. "They told us what might happen. They braced us for the worst."

The pilot, Malburn McBroom, 52, of Loveland, Colo., was hospitalized in good condition at Gresham Community Hospital, an airline official said. McBroom started flying for United in 1951, he said.

Dennis Feldman, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration in Washington, said the pilot radioed the emergency to the control tower and crashed at 6:17 PST.

The plane did not burn, but was surrounded with spilled fuel. The wings and front of the plane — to the fourth or fifth row of the passenger section — were sheared off.

A fire official said it was "a miracle we didn't have a fire. It was just incredible with all the power lines down and the fuel leak."

Austin officials find link to hepatitis outbreak

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Local health authorities say the hepatitis outbreak that caused 54 cases in the Austin area may have started with a family of food handlers in Fayetteville, Ark., where 67 cases have been confirmed.

"The link (between Austin and Fayetteville) does appear to be real," Dr. Stephen Hadler of the Center for Disease Control in Phoenix, told the Austin American-Statesman. He took part in the Fayetteville investigation.

The American-Statesman said the food handlers believed to be involved were employed at a health food restaurant in Fayetteville, then after a managerial dispute moved to Austin in November. Investigators suspect one of the handlers had a case of symptomless hepatitis and spread the disease in Arkansas between Oct. 27 and Nov. 6.

"The person was a cook there and was sick about the right time," Hadler said. "We suspect the hepatitis in Fayetteville and Austin came about because of this family of food handlers." He said the family moved to Austin "in the middle of one cook's illness."

Hadler said up to 65 cases of the liver infection may be confirmed in Austin before the outbreak is controlled.

So far, two persons have been hospitalized.

Applications from 16 are received for C-City post

COLORADO CITY — Two applicants for the city manager's job were interviewed by the city council here Thursday night.

The council is seeking a replacement for James Campbell, who resigned to take a similar position in Corsicana. Brenda Tarter is acting city manager here.

Mrs. Tarter said that 16 applications had been received for the position and four had committed themselves for personal interviews.

Two other candidates will meet the council members in a special meeting called January 5.

Charles E. Walker, now acting city manager of Palo Alto, Cal., is one of those who will consult council members about the job. Walker has been with the City of Palo Alto since 1972 and has served Middleton, Ohio, as budget officer for 18 months.

Walker is a native of San Antonio, Tex., and is a graduate of Texas Tech University.

Mike Keuhler, currently city manager of Gladewater, Tex., has also expressed interest in the position.

A graduate of North Texas State University in Denton, Keuhler is 28 years of age. At one time, he was an administrative intern in Hurst, Tex.

Candidates scheduled to be here Jan. 5 are Glen D. Brown, now assistant to the city manager in Abilene since July 5, 1975; and Steve Sundry, currently assistant city manager in Littlefield, Tex.

Brown graduated from Tarleton State University in Stephenville, Tex. Sundry graduated from Texas Tech.

After each of the candidates has been interviewed, the new city manager will be named. No second interviews are planned.

Action/reaction: Broke even

Q. How much money was made off of the demolition of the old T-hangar at the Big Spring Industrial Park?

A. The city has collected approximately $3,000 on that project which has allowed it to break about even, said City Manager Harry Nagel. The city, however, hopes to collect more from the demolition contractor which would show a slight profit.

Hearing recesses without decision

Estes unsure of arrangement

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Paroled swindler Billie Sol Estes' future remains clouded by the uncertain status of his plea bargain arrangement with federal prosecutors.

A hearing called Thursday to clarify portions of the conditional plea bargain was recessed without decision, although prosecutors and defense lawyers met for more than three hours.

U.S. District Judge Eldon Mahon, who ordered the hearing to clear up "ambiguities" in the agreement, will reconvene the hearing Jan. 19.

That agreement hinges on approval by the U.S. Parole Board, which so far has failed to act on the measure.

Estes signed the agreement Oct. 18, pleading guilty to one count of conspiracy to conceal assets from the Internal Revenue Service and to mail fraud in connection with a scheme to finance non-existent oil field steam cleaners.

Mahon could sentence Estes to as much as five years in prison and assess a $10,000 fine. Should the U.S. Parole Board decide not to go along with the agreement, Estes can withdraw his guilty plea. But if he does, prosecutors said they will seek federal indictments.

A lengthy document known as an information also was filed as a part of the agreement. The information spells out the findings of a 2-year federal investigation into the former promoter's activities while on parole.

Included in that document are allegations that Estes' brother, Dr. John Estes, an Abilene dentist, was involved in the purported scheme. During Thursday's negotiations, Estes' attorney, G. Brockett Irwin, conferred privately with the Estes brothers.

As a part of the October plea agreement, federal prosecutors would not seek additional indictments against Estes, his family or friends.

The plea bargain depended on a U.S. Parole Board's agreement not to revoke Estes' parole retroactively. U.S. Attorney Ken Mighell said he has not heard from the parole commission and that the Oct. 18 agreement "still stands."

Mahon has said he cannot go along with the plea bargain until the parole board takes some action.

"We were discussing the ambiguities with the judge," Mighell said of the lengthy conference. "I cannot discuss the discussions."

Estes is prohibited from engaging in self-employment or promotional activities. Technically, a guilty plea is a parole violation and usually results in automatic revocation of parole. But the October bargain was unusual in that it built in an assurance that Estes would serve no longer than 15 months ... subject to approval by the Parole Board and Mahon.

Next year looks promising, too

Permits above $10 million

City inspectors accepted an application shortly before noon today which put construction for the year well over a record-breaking $10 million mark.

Representatives of Mikus Construction Company of Arlington signed a permit for three projects at the College Park Shopping Center totaling $1.7 million. Groundwork has already begun on new TG&Y and Revco Drug Stores and an addition to the existing Safeway Store at the center, said Mark Campbell, city building inspector.

"This will put us way, way into record breaking figures for the year," he said.

With the additional $1.7 million, construction in the city will total $10,313,522.75. The closest Big Spring has come to that figure in its history was in 1974, the year the new Malone Hogan Medical Complex was built.

when the total came to $8.3 million. Construction in 1977 came to approximately $6.2 million, and to just under $5 million in 1976.

The new TG&Y Sotre will span 60,000 square-feet, while the Safeway Store will grow by nearly 34,000 square-feet. The Revco Drug Company will occupy a building next to Safeway's.

Campbell added that two fast food chains hope also to locate at the shopping center. One is a Mexican food chain, the other a large hamburger chain.

"This may be a pretty tough record to break next year," said Campbell. "But proposed construction out at the K-Mart site should really boost the new total," he added.

Texas needs federal-style civil rights law, Hill says

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas needs a federal-style civil rights law that provides long prison terms for policemen and sheriffs' officers who cause the deaths of prisoners, Attorney General John Hill said.

Hill told a news conference Thursday he reached that conclusion after his staff investigated the deaths of 10 Mexican nationals or Mexican-Americans in Texas jails or at the hands of law enforcement officers.

The attorney general said the Legislature should pass a law providing up to life in prison for law enforcement officers who commit civil rights violations that result in the death of prisoners.

He said Texas does have an "official oppression" statute but it provides only a $2,000 fine and a year in jail, even when death results.

"Under federal law, if death results, the sentence can be up to life. Under our statutes, in order to approach that kind of punishment, you have to conduct the trial under the murder statutes. And under the murder statutes, the jury must find beyond a reasonable doubt that death was intended, while under federal law it must find that violation of civil rights was intended and death resulted," Hill said.

Hill also recommended better education of law enforcement officers, including "sensitivity training," to help them handle prisoners more effectively.

The attorney general, who leaves office Jan. 1, also released the report of a "blue ribbon committee" on education that he set up after winning the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in May.

The committee, headed by former Assistant Attorney General John Odam, recommended teacher pay raises of 7 percent in 1979-80 and 8 percent in 1980-81, the same as the Texas State Teachers Association has proposed.

Cost of the raises would be $800 million over the next two years, the committee said, but state education officials estimate such an increase would cost more like $1 billion.

Hill said he believed the raises could be financed without new taxes by trimming "fat" from the state budget and by applying any increases in Comptroller Bob Bullock's revenue estimate to them.

Hill said after Jan. 1 he will be a partner in the Dallas-based law firm of Hughes, Luce, Hennessy, Castle and Smith, which will change its name to Hughes and Hill.

The attorney general said he would open an Austin branch of the firm and specialize in courtroom work. He became a millionaire by representing plaintiffs in personal injury cases in Houston but said he would not limit himself to that kind of practice in his new association.

In fact, Hill said, he might even take some criminal cases.

More lawsuits filed; fifth student dies

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Five more lawsuits have been filed in the Dec. 8 collision of a truck with a McCaulley High School bus, including one by the mother of a 16-year-old girl who died Thursday.

The action brings to 11 the number of suits brought against truck driver William Dixon, 21, and his employer and owner of the truck, Cardinal Surveys Co. of Odessa. Nixon was critically injured but recently was released from Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene.

John Maner, a Lubbock, Texas, attorney, made no stipulation of a dollar amount to be sought for damages, but said the figure would be "substantial."

One of the suits was in behalf of Norma Wilkerson Sanders, whose daughter Katherine Louise Wilkerson, 16, died Thursday evening in Hendrick Medical Center. The girl had been unconscious since the accident, in which a 14-year-old sister, Rita, was killed instantly and a brother was injured critically.

The other suits Maner filed Thursday were on behalf of parents of six other McCaulley High School students who were either injured or killed in the accident on U.S. 180 near Roby, Texas.

Of the six previous lawsuits, five were filed by Odessa attorney Bert Smith and one by Sweetwater attorney Temple Dickson.

Smith is seeking $3.56 million for the school superintendent and six injured students. Dickson is seeking unspecified damages for the family of two other students, one of whom was killed and the other injured.

The collision occurred at the highway's intersection with a farm road as the bus took the school's boys' and girls' basketball players to a tournament.

But retiring postman loves dogs

He's been bitten 8 times

By EILEEN McGUIRE
After 26 years of service to the Big Spring Post Office, Willard Hendrick hung up his mailbag Thursday.

Hendrick, whose Civil Service record includes another three years with the Navy during World War II, says he has no specific plans for his retirement and will "take it as it comes."

His career as a letter carrier began during the Christmas mail rush season in 1952 when he decided to help out for "awhile." That temporary job led to about 14 years of delivering mail on the north side and, more recently, delivering on his route on Runnels and Johnson.

Despite receiving a broken leg and resulting difficulties while vacationing in Arkansas in 1965, Hendrick continued his career by working as a postal clerk during his year-and-a-half experience. His retirement Thursday was on the advice of his physician.

"I have enjoyed my work," Hendrick said, "and would recommend letter carrying to anyone who likes to work with the public."

Hendrick said that what he'll miss most about his job is the people — mail patrons and fellow employees.

"My most memorable experience as a mailman," he recalled, "was delivering a letter to some elderly ladies who hadn't heard from their family in several months. Making them happy made me happy."

Hendrick also revealed that despite receiving at least six to eight dog bites during the years, two of which required rabies shots, he loves dogs.

"It's the little ones you have to watch out for," he mused.

Hendrick and his wife Frances reside at 501 Dallas. Mrs. Hendrick is the Public Relations Director for First Federal Savings where she has worked for the past 22 years. They are members of the Hillcrest Baptist Church and celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary July 26.

Hendrick's favorite spare time activities include working around his home and yard.

According to Postmaster Frank Hardesty, Hendrick will be honored with a retirement party in January.

LAST TIME — Willard Hendrick, a 26-year U.S. Post Office employee, punches the time clock for the very last time before hanging up his mailbag on Thursday. Shown here with his wife, Frances, Hendrick has worked under three different Postmasters at the local Post Office. He observed that the Civil Service had been good to him and joked that "They never did spell my name right on my timecard."

Top experts called for public hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House assassinations committee is calling its top experts back for a final public hearing on new evidence that John F. Kennedy was assassinated in a crossfire by conspiring gunmen.

Committee members, some of them skeptical, called in acoustics experts today to explain why they are 95 percent certain that three shots were fired at Kennedy from behind and a fourth was fired from the grassy knoll to his front.

The committee also called back its top ballistics, medical and trajectory experts to find whether their exhaustive tests can support or discredit the evidence of at least two gunmen.

"I'm always suspicious of these new fangled sciences," Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C. has said of the new evidence. "The question of its credibility is certainly crucial."

The acoustics experts say they are convinced that a recording of a motorcycle policeman's radio transmission demonstrates a fourth shot. They make their assertion because the waves produced by the recorded sound come very close — 95 percent identical — to matching the waves of an actual test shot fired in Dallas last August, committee sources say.

Further, the acoustics experts say calculation of the sequence of sound waves bouncing off surrounding buildings shows the alleged shot came from the grassy knoll and landed within 10 feet of Kennedy's limousine, according to the sources.

At earlier hearings, the medical, ballistics and other experts said nearly all their tests supported the Warren Commission's conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald fired the only shots that killed Kennedy and wounded then-Texas Gov. John Connally, riding in JFK's limousine.

But little of the scientific evidence disclosed earlier would contradict the possibility of a second gunman firing from the grassy knoll and missing Kennedy's limousine entirely.

One exception was a finding that only four of the 178 witnesses to Kennedy's assassination in Dealey Plaza Nov. 22, 1963, thought they heard shots from different locations.

Temperatures below freezing in Panhandle

By the Associated Press
A mass of cold air shoved its way into Texas today, dropping temperatures below freezing in the Panhandle.

High temperatures were expected to be in the 30s throughout much of West Texas. Drizzle and rain fell in parts of South Texas and East Texas Thursday night and early today, and visibility was less than a mile in some places this morning.

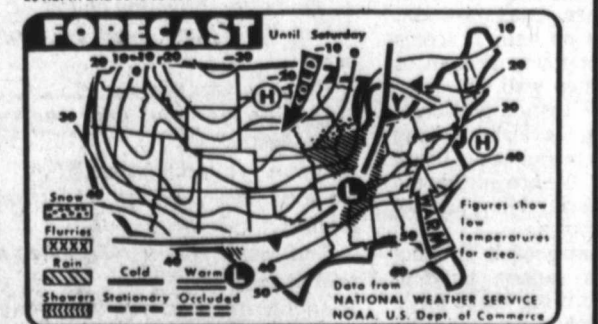

Temperatures at 4 a.m. ranged from the middle 20s in the Panhandle to the middle 60s along the Coast, although most temperatures were in the 50s.

The National Weather Service said mostly cloudy skies would prevail today over the state, with scattered rain and drizzle continuing in the east and south.

Hill releases report

Deaths need more study

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General John Hill says two of the 10 deaths of Mexican-Americans or Mexican nationals that his staff has investigated require still more study.

Hill released a report Thursday on his staff investigations of deaths that occurred while the 10 men were in custody or involved in confrontations with law enforcement officers.

It disclosed findings or actions in these cases:

—Larry Ortega Lozano, who died in the Ector County jail in Odessa on Jan. 22, 1978. Hill referred the case to the U.S. Justice Department, but no federal decision on prosecution has been reached.

—Juan Esteban Galaviz, shot by a Big Spring police officer on Dec. 8, 1977. The local grand jury no-billed the policeman, who subsequently resigned, and Hill said no further investigation is contemplated.

—Jesus Martinez Gallegos, shot by a policeman in Waco on Aug. 22. A grand jury no-billed the policeman, but Hill requested an investigation by the justice department. He said he had been advised the justice department expected to present the matter to a federal grand jury in Austin.

—Paul Villanueva Martinez, who was shot to death by policemen in Perryton on Aug. 1. Hill's investigators said facts of the case supported a grand jury finding that the shooting was justifiable.

—Richard Morales, allegedly shot to death by Castroville police chief Frank Hayes in 1975. Hill recommended federal prosecution and a federal court sentenced Hayes to life imprisonment. The conviction is being appealed.

—Tim Rosales, shot to death near Hale Center on June 25 during a scuffle with a reserve deputy sheriff. Investigators for Hill agreed with a grand jury finding that the shooting was justifiable.

—Tiburcio Griego-Santome, shot to death by a former Martin County deputy sheriff near Garden City on Nov. 6, 1977. A grand jury no-billed the former deputy, and Hill said the facts were such that no federal prosecution was indicated.

—Joe Campos Torres Jr., who drowned in Buffalo Bayou in Houston on May 5 or 6, 1977, while in custody of Houston officers. Hill had recommended federal prosecution of three policemen, who received one-year sentences on one count and probation on two others.

—Daniel G. Vasquez, shot to death by an El Paso County deputy sheriff on Jan. 22. The deputy was no-billed, and Hill said facts developed so far do not warrant federal prosecution. Hill said, however, the investigation should continue because statements have not been taken from "the numerous eyewitnesses to the shooting incident."

—Juan Veloz Zuniga, who died May 18, 1977, from an apparent blow to the head while in the Hudspeth County jail at Sierra Blanca. The local grand jury returned no indictment. Hill said he sent information gathered by his investigators to the justice department without recommendation because several witnesses were out of state and could more readily be reached by federal authorities.

The report said the Lozano inquest was "one-sided" and included "questionable assumptions which were possibly made by the Harris County medical examiner."

It said the attorney general should be allowed to participate in inquests or grand jury investigations when civil rights are involved.

Is 65 MPH speed limit more realistic?

What indiscretion against the law of the land is committed with more cold contempt than any other? That's easy — no contest.

Though man is constantly reminded that respecting this regulation would be better for the country as a whole and for his own well being, he continues to flaunt the rules, mainly because everyone else seems to be going it. We're referring, of course, to his unwillingness to stay within the 55-mile an hour speed limit.

THAT IS CONSIDERABLE effort on the part of law enforcement agencies to see that he sticks fairly close to the suggested limit in smaller populated areas but on the freeways around the great cities the patrolman's attempts to regulate the speed of the motorists becomes all but impossible, mainly because most every car hurries along at breakneck speeds. It is as if the drivers were racing in fear of their lives. That could well be the case, since to slow down in such a situation could be a fatal mistake.

You limit your highway speed to 55 miles an hour on almost any thoroughfare in this day and age and it seems almost every vehicle on the road, including the 20-year-old clunker, passes you.

There's no doubt but that slower speeds serve to save fuel. It's sad in a way that most people have no interest in improved gasoline mileage, that they had rather get where they're going in a hurry than travel an extra 20 miles or so on their tanks of gasoline.

Most know that the countdown is now on with our fuel supply, that sooner or later we're going to deplete our supplies. The prospect doesn't have the impact on most of us, however. All of us are prone to tell ourselves that we'll do without if everyone else had to get along without an essential commodity, too.

Many people are convinced the so-called fuel shortages were manipulated in 1973. It is known that the situation has improved considerably since that time.

THERE'S NO doubt but the rank and file has utter contempt for the 55 MPH statute. For that reason, he's going to lend no support in the effort to have it enforced. Indeed, he conspires with his fellow man to beat the law in every manner possible, mostly through the use of communications systems like the CB radio.

Perhaps its high time Congress considered the speed limit anew and battle this past fall, the TCU paper ran an article that asked, in essence, why would anyone go to windblown Lubbock way up in the Panhandle? Who could be so crazy as to venture into the sticks for an education out on the plains?

20,000 reasons

Around the rim

Carol Hart

When Texas Tech met Texas Christian University in a football battle the past fall, the TCU paper ran an article that asked, in essence, why would anyone go to windblown Lubbock way up in the Panhandle? Who could be so crazy as to venture into the sticks for an education out on the plains?

That article came to me courtesy of Walt Finley, who cut it out and saved it. In defense, TCU, let me tell you that a lot of neat people found their way to Texas Tech. There are over 20,000 crazy Texas Techsians in Lubbock, and there are over 20,000 reasons why they are there.

A YEAR AGO I might have easily been persuaded to trade it all in, but now I wouldn't, because the people I've met at Tech are pretty valuable to me. The wide variety of people one meets at a university never ceases to amaze me.

My professors, on those rare occasions when we get away from the books and talk about their backgrounds, are a story in themselves. I have professors who have lived and worked in France, Greece and the Philippines. One of my journalism professors studied at Harvard, and a geology prof has an iceberg named for him somewhere up north. Another prof worked for the Associated Press.

I'll readily admit that I don't parlez-vous francais very well. When I realized the old grades warranted a red alert, my French teacher put me in touch with a graduate student, George Martinez, who speaks 10 languages fluently and is still learning others. He said that it takes him about a month to become familiar with a language. George was born in Spain and lived in Paris, Buenos Aires, and in various points in the United States. His abilities with language are really remarkable.

My friend from Big Spring, Judy Tereletsky, and I have also gotten to know a lot of interesting people through the dorms on campus and through Women's Service Organization, a social-service group at Tech. Through these, I have gotten to know a girl who is Canadian, two girls from the Panama Canal Zone and a girl who grew up in Australia. One of my closest friends in WSO spent time in Germany as a child because her father was a physician in the Army. A fellow student in French calls Honolulu, Hawaii home, because her father's career as a pilot lead her there.

Another friend who hails from El Paso is of Mexican-American and Hungarian descent. He, in addition to being a serious student, really likes to dance, and has worked on it so that now he looks better than John Travolta on a dance floor. (Sorry, John.) A friend, who now calls El Paso home, spent most of his childhood in Mexico, and at one time served as a waiter in resort hotels there. A law student we know is handy with Japanese foods because his mother, who is Japanese, taught him several recipes.

IN MY OFFICE at school, I got to know a guy who was raising a six-year-old son alone, which was quite a task, considering he was finishing his education and maintaining a job. One of the women in the office is German and now lives in Lubbock with her husband and children. Two other assistants in my office recently came to the states from Vietnam.

Although I have gotten to know people from a lot of different backgrounds, towns near Lubbock are still responsible for a large part of the Tech population. My roommate, Roberta Gaston, calls Earth, Texas home. Together we have learned that we can indeed live on cold chili and Coca-Cola alone.

And I've met some really nice people from Lamesa, Albany, Abilene, Welch, Garden City, Stanton, and Coahoma.

And there are a lot of Big Springers at Tech. Sometimes we wonder why we chose the university, but most times we're glad we did. Even though I'm only 100 miles away, it's always nice to run into someone from home.

U.S. vs Israel

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Intensifying conflict of personality and national interests between President Carter and Prime Minister Menahem Begin probably will not bar agreement on the Israeli-Egyptian treaty, but it forebodes graver problems between the U.S. and Israel in the near future.

Evidence supporting that conclusion is piling up, the latest being a formal statement issued recently by the Israeli embassy here under non-resigned Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz. The statement quotes an eminent American juridical authority and former undersecretary of state that Israel has "the full right" to place new Jewish settlements anywhere it wants on the West Bank.

That opinion by Eugene Rostow, now a Yale law professor, over the English news service of Israel Radio, is a direct attack on Jimmy Carter's basic West Bank policy: Israeli settlements are both illegal and obstacles to peace. The fact that former Ambassador Dinitz authorized the release of the lengthy Rostow broadcast (beamed to Israel) under the embassy's imprimatur is viewed at high levels as an affront to Carter and an effort to create an anti-Carter Backlash within his own party.

PROGRESS ON THE Israeli-Egyptian treaty has gone so far that as of now a final document will probably be agreed to in the near future. Such agreement was clearly presaged by Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan's brilliant, highly significant speech to the Israeli parliament Dec. 19 trying to calm fears over the future — a speech totally ignored by the U.S. press.

But the fury of Jimmy Carter at the Israeli government, expressed on Dec. 13 in terms so antagonistic that hard-bitten State Department officials blushed, is likely to escalate, not recede, in the next stages of negotiations.

Those who pit the U.S. directly against Israel on the torrid question of self-rule for the West Bank and Gaza. Judging from the language of unprecedented harshness between the president and Israel over the temporary Israeli-Egyptian breakdown, the president and Israel are headed for a far bloodier collision on the autonomy question.

The heart of the problem is this contradiction: Israel's near-total dependence on the U.S., its only true ally with any prestige or influence in the whole world; and Israel's necessity to conduct a foreign policy of its own that often does not and cannot represent American interests.

Infusing this basic contradiction is Carter's suspicion that Prime Minister Begin has repeatedly taken advantage of him, and Begin's suspicion that Carter plays fast and loose with Israel in mid-December, blaming Begin for the failure to meet the original Dec. 17 treaty-signing deadline. In Begin's mind, Carter was making Israel scapegoat.

That explains but does not excuse the inflammatory language overwhelmingly voted by the Israeli parliament on Dec. 19 directly accusing Carter of being "onesided" and "unjust" and, in effect, personally blocking the road to peace. That incident of Carter precisely revealed the anger all across Israel from Carter's earlier decision to blame Israel publicly for the negotiations' breakdown.

HANGING SUCH epithets as "onesided" and "unjust" on Carter for allegedly playing favorites in the bloody battle for peace shows how deep that anger is.

With its traditional soft-on-Israel sentiments, Congress might vote every nickel Israel is demanding despite Carter and Byrd, but that is a risk Israel may not want to take.

Surgery not usual Parkinson's cure

By Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Doctor: My husband has Parkinson's disease. He is 65 years old. He now takes L-dopa, and it controls the tremors to a certain extent. We have heard of surgery for Parkinson's. Can you tell us about it? There are many Parkinson's patients hoping for a cure for this terrible condition. — Mrs. C.M.T.

Brain surgery has been done to relieve Parkinson's symptoms, but it is not common. It involves cryosurgery (freezing) of a tiny segment of the mid-brain (thalamus), where the tremor originates. This is effective when only one side of the body is affected by the tremor, the rigidity and the slowness of movement characteristic of Parkinson's. But Parkinson's usually affects both sides, so such surgery is seldom appropriate. With one-sided symptoms surgery has provided longer term results, but it is most effective when performed at an earlier age (about 50). When attempted on older persons with two-sided symptoms, surgery has had generally poor results.

Unfortunately, there is no cure in sight for this gradually progressive disease, although medicines, as levodopa (L-dopa) are effective in control. It is doubtful that surgery is the answer in your husband's case, but you should discuss it with his physician, since the issue has been raised in your minds. He probably will have to continue with his present drug treatment and he should not place too great a hope on surgery.

There are a great many Parkinson's patients (between one and two million). One reason for the increase is, paradoxically, the effectiveness of control drugs, which permits longer lifespans to victims. Also people are living longer, and Parkinson's is a disease of older persons.

Dear Doctor: I would like to ask what nuclear sclerosis is. One of my good friends was told by her doctor that she has this. That was two years ago. The doctors did nothing for her, but she was told to come back in a year. She has good eyesight with her bifocals. She is in her 80s. We would appreciate your comment. — Mrs. H.B.S.

The doctor probably referred to changes in the center of the lens — a cataract. Such changes occur very slowly, which accounts for the long intervals between checkups. So long as she has good vision with her glasses there is no need for treatment. The sclerosis refers to lessened blood circulation, in this instance, to the nuclear (center) section of the lens. By 80, most of us can expect some degree of that. It doesn't mean she will necessarily become blind.

Dear Doctor: My eight-year-old daughter has to go to the bathroom once during the night. She does not wake up. I am the one who has to bring her. She always has been like this. Otherwise, she wets. She has been checked and everything showed negative. She is the youngest of four. The others have no problem. I was told she would outgrow it, and it was suggested she take tranquilizers. I am opposed to that. — Mrs. L.B.

So am I — opposed, that is, to the tranquilizers for this.

This is not your usual BW problem. It would be interesting to know just when you awaken her for the nocturnal trip to the bathroom. If it is in the early a.m. I might suggest you try gradually lengthening the time before awakening her. Try a half hour or an hour later for a few weeks.

Whipping boys

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — It is fashionable to blame greedy Arab oil sheiks for our inflation problems. When the oil sheikdoms announced their 14.5 percent price increase recently, Jimmy Carter's energy chief, James Schlesinger, puffed thoughtfully on his pipe and sorrowfully predicted that Americans would soon notice the effects at the gas pump.

The Arabs, in some cases, are a convenient alibi for the Administration. They can be used as whipping boys to protect the real culprits — domestic oil producers and retailers whose greed is matched only by their contempt for the law.

WE FIRST REPORTED on the so-called "daisy chain" scandal two years ago. This multi million-dollar rip-off by American oil companies has been called by one Energy Department official the largest criminal conspiracy in U.S. history.

Essentially, what the petroleum moguls did was evade the government's price controls on oil by falsely representing "old" oil at $5 per barrel, as "new" oil, which sold for $12 per barrel. Turning the bureaucrats' confusing maze of regulations to their advantage, these unscrupulous operators passed the oil back and forth on paper, pumping up the price at each step of the phony transaction.

The oil never actually changed hands in this "daisy chain" swindle, but American consumers were taken for a ride that cost them billions of dollars.

Energy officials have known about the scandal for over three years, and have volumes of evidence to document it. Incredibly, though, not a single criminal case was referred to the Justice Department for prosecution until early this year.

Instead, energy czar Schlesinger has chosen to pooch-pooch the charges against the grand dukes of America's royal oil family, and has ridiculed congressional protests at his department's failure to act against them.

Meanwhile, a confidential report by his own inspector general bluntly concludes that the Energy Department's enforcement of the oil pricing regulations has been both "inadequate" and "incomplete."

AS ONE OFFICIAL familiar with the investigation told our associate Jack Mitchell, DOE's enforcement division is a bureaucratic "Bermuda Triangle," where "things go in but somehow never come out." Soon it will be too late to do anything: the statute of limitations is running out, and the perpetrators of the gigantic rip-off will go scot free if action is not taken soon.

Yet the department's auditors are quietly cutting back on the man hours devoted to digging into the biggest oil scandal since the Teapot Dome. Unreleased figures from the General Accounting Office reveal that the agency plans to reduce by one-half the number of auditors assigned to investigate the fraud.

Having gotten away with it once, the big oil companies are likely licking their chops at the prospect of yet another round of price gouging — which of course will be blamed on the Arabs.

Footnote: The Energy Department's assistant administrator for enforcement naturally disagrees with the findings of the inspector general. He insists that the oil investigation was given the "highest priority" during part of 1978, and calls the allegations of law enforcement "totally misleading" and "invalid."

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Some enterprising Mexicans operate a thriving business selling fraudulent documents to their fellow citizens who wish to enter the United States. The hucksters have become so brazen, say intelligence reports, that they are openly plying their trade in public parks. Many Mexicans, says one confidential document, "have been observed in (the) park awaiting their turn to negotiate with (the) vendors."

—According to intelligence reports, several U.S. motorcycle gangs are trying to move in on their Canadian counterparts. The Hells Angels and the Outlaws, says one report, are making a concerted effort to take over Canadian motorcycle gangs.

—In a related story, Canadian police agencies have informed their U.S. colleagues that Canadian criminals are fleeing into this country at an increasing rate. The crooks cross at small, isolated ports of entry.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have a friend who says all men are really little gods and that, if they are good enough, they will become gods when they die. What do you think of this idea? — A.C.

DEAR A.C.: The Bible gives a quite different picture of us. It says, to be sure, that we were created in the image of God. But it also tells us we have rebelled against God, and something tragic has happened to us. The image of God within us has become blemished and broken. For example, instead of loving selflessly (as God does) we are very self-centered. We no longer love God or others as we should.

In fact, the idea your friend suggests is very similar to the falsehood Satan told Eve when he tempted her to turn her back on God. "And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods" (Genesis 3:4-5). But Adam and Eve did not become "as gods" — instead death and misery came upon the human race. The Bible tells us we share in that sin.

In order for us to go to heaven and know its rewards, something has to happen to us. The Bible tells us we have to undergo spiritual rebirth — that we must be born again. Nicodemus was a very learned and devout theologian, but Jesus told him, "Ye must be born again" (John 3:7). The Bible also tells us, "Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God" (1 Corinthians 15:50).

The wonderful thing is that we can be born again spiritually, by faith in Jesus Christ. He gave His life that we might live. "For Christ died for your sins once for all, the righteous for the unrighteous, to bring you to God" (1 Peter 3:18, New International Version).

Big Spring Herald

Mailbag

Dear Editor: I think it is time the people of this community realized how poorly our local policemen were being paid. I think it is a disgrace that it had to be plastered on the front page of the Herald before anyone ever stopped to think about it. These are the men we depend on everyday for protection, not only of ourselves but of our families.

Everyone always gripes because they think all the policemen ever do is set up radar and hand out tickets. If they ever listened to a scanner for just one day, I think it would change their opinion. The Police Beat in the daily paper is only a brief report of all the calls they make. Rarely does a day go by that they do not have to go out and calm down some idiot with a gun.

For that small salary, I doubt there are many of you who would try to reason with someone with a gun whose already had too much to drink. The calls to settle family disturbances are usually numerous every day. Have you ever noticed the number of articles about policemen killed settling family disturbances? These men risk their lives everyday they go out on the job. When they are off duty they are not a whole lot safer, because the ones they arrest are always a threat when they get out on bail. It seems that if the smaller towns around us treat their policemen well, the least we could do is give them a portion of what they deserve. Somewhere along the way, our city's money is not being proportioned right. We are putting too much value in material things and not enough on people's lives.

I do not see what good it is doing spending all this money building buildings trying to bring these large companies here, when no corporate president is going to bring his industry to a town with no policemen. No, I would think they would take it where the policemen are — the small towns. Let's put first things first and pay these men what they deserve before we designate our money elsewhere. Big Spring is always talking about growing — we aren't even up with towns half our size.

Dear Editor: When I was in a speech class in high school, a friend recited a poem which I liked so much I asked her to write it down for me. She did, in a creaky handwriting on newsprint, which I still cherish.

I remember the poem each New Year's and like it so much I wanted to pass it on to you, in case you have never read it:

A NEW LEAF
He came to my desk with quivering lips

The lesson was done.
"Have you a new leaf for me, dear teacher?"
I have spoiled this one.
I took his leaf, all soiled and blotted,

And gave him a new one, all unspotted,
Then into his tired heart I smiled,
"Do better, now, my child."
I went to the Master with quivering heart

The year was done.
"Have you a new year for me, dear Master?"
I have spoiled this one.
He took my year, all soiled and blotted,

And gave me a new one, all unspotted,
Then into my tired heart He smiled
"Do better now, my child."

I'm sorry I don't know the author.

Services stopped in two New Mexico towns

Senator wants halt of TI operations

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici wants a halt of all operations of Texas International Airlines until a review is made of the airline's termination of service to the New Mexico cities of Carlsbad and Hobbs.

Domenici, R-N.M., said Thursday the airline pulled its service to the two cities this week without prior notice to the public.

The senator said in a telegram to the Civil Aeronautics Board he believes the airline is "in violation of the letter in spirit" of a CAB order allowing the airline to drop service to Clovis, Carlsbad and Hobbs when a substitute carrier was found.

He repeated the charge in a wire to Texas International president Frank Lorenzo of Houston.

Domenici said he asked for an immediate review of the situation "and asked for a suspension of its (TIA's) charter until a show cause hearing can be held." The suspension would shut down the airline's entire system.

Patrick Murphy of the CAB said he has been "burning up the wires" checking out complaints against TIA but said he sees "no reason for formal action" at this time. The CAB could require the airline to resume its air service to the cities.

"We're very unhappy about the way this matter was handled, but we hope the problem will clear up in a day or two," Murphy said.

Domenici was critical of TIA's decision to shift service during the holiday season.

The airline claims a substitute was found in Crown Aviation and that TIA was given permission by CAB to stop service Tuesday to Clovis. TIA officials said service was continued through Wednesday to allow all passengers to be notified. Domenici said the cutting off of service to Clovis left 25 passengers with confirmed reservations stranded at the airport Wednesday, and 23 more stranded Thursday.

He said the only notice of termination of service to Carlsbad was a radio message — from a TIA pilot taking off — that it would be the airline's last flight into or out of the city.

Murphy said TIA claims no passengers were stranded and that cars were provided to carry them to Albuquerque to catch connecting flights.

Domenici said Crown operates only four flights a day, on nine-passenger planes, and cannot handle the number of passengers who have been flying Texas International.

In his wire to Lorenzo, Domenici said, "I plan to bring this action on your part to the attention of the Senate Commerce Committee at the earliest moment."

The CAB said it will review the new service by Crown Feb. 1.

CAB granted Texas International permission to pull its service out of the three communities if one of three commuter airlines — Air Midwest, Zia or Crown — could furnish service.

This week TIA turned Clovis service over to Crown. The last Carlsbad flight to Albuquerque by TIA was to have been today, with Crown assuming that service as well.

A TIA official said Thursday that service to Hobbs would continue until a substitute carrier was found. The airline is still serving Roswell, but expects to discontinue service there.

A TIA official said the airline will apply with the CAB to suspend the Roswell service within the next 48 hours.

TIA said the cities were dropped for money reasons. "It was definitely uneconomical for us to continue the routes," a spokesperson said.

Maid of Cotton picked tonight

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The cotton industry's 1979 goodwill representative will be selected tonight from at least 17 of 18 finalists from the nation's cotton-producing states.

The 18th finalist, Ann Katherine Wildy, 22, of Osceola, Ark., was ill Thursday and a spokesman said it wasn't known if she would be well enough to take part in tonight's final judging at the Holiday Inn Riverview.

The finalists, representing 10 cotton states, are selected on appearance, poise, personality and the ability to represent the industry on a worldwide tour that will include a meeting with President Carter.

A panel of nine judges will select the winner tonight.

The finalists include three Texans: Janie Nell Laws,

Deborah Lynn Pigg and Elizabeth Lynn White. Arkansas candidates are Ellen English, 22, of North Little Rock and Miss Wildy.

The finalists include four Tennesseans: Carroll Fournry Cobb, 21, Memphis; Katherine Grace Crisler, 22, Memphis; Katherine Claire Ketchum, 19, Germantown, and Lisa Carol Carter, 20, Johnson City.

Mississippi is represented by Elizabeth Ann Ederer, 20, of Ocean Springs and Suzanne Brandon Snipes, 20, of Greenville.

Finalists from other states are Beverly Lynn Carraway of Alabama; Candis Lee Whitecraft of Arizona; Lynn Miller of Georgia; Shelly Ann Whitehead of Kentucky; Virginia Gay Dean and Mary Jo Elder, both of Missouri; and Lisa Anne Jarrett of South Carolina.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, DEC. 30, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning is no time to plan your efforts for you only gain advancement and progress by some sudden condition arising about which you had nothing to do. Accept the benefits that arise and use them to your advantage.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Show bigwigs that you admire them and you gain the support you need at this time. You understand better how to handle your work efficiently in the days ahead.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You get good ideas for the new year that will help you to advance and should jot them down on paper lest you forget them. Confer with experts, also.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle money collections and payment of bills early so that you can rest easier when the new year comes in. Try to be of greater help to loved ones. Coordinate your efforts more intelligently.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Know what partners expect of you and try to please them more, be conscientious and work efficiently. Handle an outside affair also, and avoid trouble.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Stop procrastinating and get right to all those duties ahead of you. Take treatments that will give you more strength. Show loyalty to the one you love.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan early for the recreations you want to enjoy in the near future. Place your mate ahead of others and try to accede to wishes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Handle fundamental matters well and get rid of anxieties. Listen to what kin suggest so that all is improved at home. Take no risks in driving or with your health.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study into agreements, statements, etc., and know just where you stand. Find the right way to impress an important contact. Take time for socializing and meet interesting persons.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show you are wise in money matters and plan to add to present assets appreciably. Use good honest methods and do well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can advance where personal aims are concerned so get busy on them early in the day. Contact good friends who can be of help to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you go on being practical and bring in the new year on the right track. Finish tasks that clutter up your life and be happier. Show you are a clever person.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Analyze personal aims as the old year ends and start make new resolutions to improve right now. Stick to trusted friends in afternoon.

Tween 12 and 20 Bad grades lost him his 'wheels'

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 13 and into motorcycling and basketball. Last week when I got my report card, my grades were the worst ever. When my mother saw my grades she said I had to sell my cycle and stop playing basketball.

I told my mother that I would do better next report and I mean it, not like the last time I said it.

Do you think she should give me one last chance?—D.L.E., Vancouver, Wash. D.L.E.: Apparently you have cried "wolf" once too often. If it was up to me I would restrict your use of the cycle 100 percent until your grades improve.

Since I was a high school varsity head basketball coach, I would not restrict your basketball participation!

But since it's not up to me, I say three cheers for mom.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 18, and all my friends and my parents think small. Not me! I have this great dream that I will someday become a movie star. I know I can do it.

Every Saturday I drive three hours to a modeling school.

My family thinks that I have big dreams and that I should come down-to-earth. I'm going to make it and I'm going to give it everything I've got.

Please give me your thoughts. — Renee, Rock Island, Ill.

Renee: I firmly believe that if you want something badly enough, you will attain it. Stick with it! It happened to me!

Dr. Wallace: Please help me! I'm in love with a super guy. We had planned to get married after we had graduated from high school. But as fate would dictate, I'm pregnant. I don't want this to force a marriage and I'm aware of my mistake, but I don't know what to do.

If my parents find out I'm pregnant, they will kill me. What should I do? Hurry! — Worried, Lodi, Calif.

Worried: The best person on Earth for help at this time is your mother. She is going to find out something sooner or later, so it's better sooner.

Many important decisions must be made. There is more than just you involved. Your unborn child has a large voice in things!

Dear Abby

Earrings Pierce Hubby's Alibi

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married three years. (No kids.) We lived together for two years before we made it legal, so we're not exactly strangers, right?

I thought we had a pretty solid marriage. My only complaint was that our sex life seemed to be going downhill. (He was always too tired.)

My mother, who lives 400 miles away, phoned to say that my father had suddenly become very ill, so I went to be with her for a week. On returning home I found a pair of earrings for pierced ears on the nightstand beside our bed!

I showed them to my husband and demanded an explanation. He swore he had never seen them before, and said he had no idea how they got there. What should I do?

MY SIGN IS LEO

DEAR LEO: Don't hassle your husband about it. Just keep your eyes open for a woman with two extra holes in her head.

DEAR ABBY: Someone asked how to cure bad breath. Everyone knows that regularly brushing the teeth, flossing and gargling with mouthwash are standard procedures, but I wonder how many have heard of brushing the TONGUE?

Dental microbiologists have known for years that bad breath can be caused by bacteria which accumulate on the tongue. Therefore, unless the tongue is cleaned regularly, the usual oral hygiene procedures are virtually useless.

In many cultures it is standard procedure to brush the tongue as well as the teeth. During my college days I had a Chinese roommate who gently scraped his tongue every morning with a special tool that looked like a cheese slicer!

T.C.B.: PH.D. IN MOUNT VERNON, OHIO (CONSULTANT IN MICROBIOLOGY)

DEAR T. C. B.: Thanks to you and the many others who wrote to tell me about the tongue-brushing technique. One generous reader even sent me a silver tongue-scraper.

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote to say that her husband, a much-admired, successful merchant, pockets part of his income daily so he won't have to pay income tax on it. She asked if it was a serious offense, and what would happen to him if he were caught.

You rightfully told her that it was indeed a serious offense, and he could be fined or jailed or both. But you didn't go far enough. You should have told her that if she signs a joint federal income tax return with her husband, she is equally guilty of fraud, and therefore is subject to the same penalty.

W.H.S., CPA.: NAPLES, FLA.

DEAR W.H.S.: Thanks. Leave it to a CPA to catch the omission.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (25 cents), self-addressed envelope.

Keep records updated

Record medical history

If you lived in one place and had the same doctor all of your life, there wouldn't be much reason for you to keep your own health records. But, people move around more these days. Or they may change doctors or see specialists for different health problems. In a modern, mobile society, your health records may trouble keeping up with you. So, the only person who can keep your complete year-by-year medical history is you.

To help you do this, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare passes along these tips:

Because heredity can play an important role in some diseases, you should record any serious illnesses in your family background. Be sure to include those of parents, brothers, and sisters on sides of the family. List all history of such diseases as cancer, diabetes, epilepsy, and heart conditions. If any of these relatives are deceased, record the cause and age of their death. Give your doctor this information when discussing your own medical history.

Keep track of your blood pressure too — it's a good idea to have it checked every 6 to 12 months. By keeping a record, you'll be aware of any significant changes.

Note injuries as well.

Sweaters go short length

NEW YORK, N.Y. — What's the latest word on sweaters? "Shorty," says December's Seventeen Magazine. Yes, shorty sweaters, an outgrowth of those '30s bed jackets, will be mixed, matched, and layered all around town this year.

You'll be seeing shorty, multi-textured vests piled over pretty cardigans, and lacy-knit pullovers under bed-jacket sweaters. Boucle sweaters and matching vests will be made in shorty versions, too, as will mohair blends worn over shorty boucle boleros and camisoles.

From cardigans to vests one thing is certain, sweaters are going to be short and sweet!

Injuries from accidents may result in disabling conditions, or years later, they can be the long forgotten cause of illness. So, carefully record this information.

Start your family's immunization program early in life — usually when a child is two to three months old. Keeping immunization records up-to-date can go a long way towards rearing a healthy family.

For a listing of booklets on other health issues and on a wide variety of consumer subjects write for a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Just send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Troops try to rout 10,000 protesters

Death threats made to Iranian oil workers

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Troops fired in the air today to rout 10,000 protesters trying to remove a coffin from Tehran's main cemetery for a demonstration against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, and death threats were reported made to every oil worker and official in the fields.

The renewed violence postponed efforts to form a civilian government, informed sources said.

Soldiers also broke up demonstrations by 500 protesters staging a sit-in on the tracks near the Tehran railway station, and dispersed gangs of rioters armed with clubs and stones from the bazaar area.

Demonstrations also broke out at a major downtown square, and other protesters set street fires in different parts of Tehran following a night of widespread curfew violations, gunfire and power blackouts.

There were no immediate reports of casualties after the 9 p.m. curfew, but the state radio said the shortage of fuel was threatening bakery operations and that bread might soon become scarce.

The Ministry of Power announced that two electric generating stations near Tehran had been closed and that power blackouts were likely to increase.

The ministry said all power to factories had been shut off and that remaining supplies would be allocated by a priority system with hospitals, mosques and homes at the top of the list.

Oil production was reported at the zero level, and sources said the situation in the fields worsened dramatically after the assassination Saturday of American oil executive Paul Grimm in Ahwaz.

After Grimm's death, every worker and official in the fields received a written death threat if they continued to work, one source said. The report could not be independently confirmed.

Palace sources said former Interior Minister Gholam-Hossein Sadiqi told the shah that until the army can quell the violence he was suspending his efforts to form a civilian government to replace the martial law regime.

However, the sources said the shah will not meet opposition demands that he abdicate and has decided to accept a reduced role as constitutional monarch once a civilian administration can be established.

Five persons were killed in Tehran Thursday when troops opened fire to disperse several hundred demonstrators burning cars and buses near the U.S. Embassy, opposition sources said.

They said two more were killed in Ahwaz when troops fired on protesters, and two others died in Shiraz when soldiers shot at rioters who firebombed the Iranian-American Cultural Center. The state radio reported continuing clashes in Isfahan and Tabriz, and said protesters looted food stores in Brojerd and Rezayeh.

Sources in Washington said the idea of a task force would be to underscore President Carter's warning against any "external forces" intervening in Iran. They did not define "external forces," but it was an obvious reference to the Soviet Union.

The sources, who asked to remain anonymous, stressed that no decision has been made, that no orders have been issued, and that no U.S. aircraft carrier is currently stationed in the Indian Ocean area.

Carter administration tries again

Economic control on hospital bill?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, hoping to slow the skyrocketing inflation in the nation's $60.5 billion hospital bill, will try again to impose economic controls over the industry, but only if voluntary compliance fails.

HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. urged the nation's 6,000 community hospitals Thursday to make a voluntary effort to keep their expenses from rising more than 9.7 percent in 1979.

But he said the administration will return to Capitol Hill with a proposal for mandatory controls on hospital revenues starting Jan. 1, 1980, if the voluntary effort fails.

"Only when hospitals face the prospect of mandatory standby controls" will they check inflation, he declared.

A Carter administration bill to impose mandatory cost controls on hospital fees, one of the president's top priorities, was watered down and eventually died in the last Congress.

This new approach would clamp a lid on hospitals' total revenues if they failed to curb the inflation in their expenses.

Califano left open the question of whether controls would be triggered automatically by a 9.7 percent rise in expenses, or if that figure would only "be part of a more detailed screening and cost control mechanism."

He said the 9.7 percent goal would be adjusted if Carter's general anti-inflation program fails and hospitals are faced with spiraling wages and prices beyond their control.

The HEW chief also called for a voluntary $3 billion national limit on capital expenditures by hospitals for projects and equipment costing more than $150,000 per purchase.

Califano made his proposals at a time when hospital costs continue to rise faster than prices in other areas, but not as fast as they have in the last couple of years.

The inflation rate for hospital care was 15.6 percent in 1977, but fell to 12.8 percent this year. The hospital industry and the American Medical Association claim their year-old "Voluntary Effort" was responsible for the drop. Their two-year goal was a 4 percent drop in the rate of increase to 11.6 percent for 1979.

Unmarked police car stolen in Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Brownsville police officials have made a few changes as a result of the recent theft of a 1975 car in this border city.

For one thing, the keys to the car — a specially equipped unmarked police unit — will no longer be hung on a wall at headquarters here.

The unmarked car was located across the border in Matamoros late Wednesday. The vehicle had apparently been stolen from the Brownsville police parking lot about 24 hours earlier, officials said.

someone to come into the police station and steal a set of keys and an automobile," said Capt. Douglas Ward.

At least one officer saw the car after it was driven from the parking lot — but that officer said he barely gave the car a second look because he assumed it was being driven by a detective on assignment.

Police had also noticed the car missing from the parking lot early Wednesday. But officers assumed it had been taken in for repairs.

When Matamoros police found the car, the unit's siren and spotlights had been removed.

STORE CLOSED, OWNER FLEES — People stand by Dede Nikollaj's grocery and delicatessen in the New York section of the Bronx. Nikollaj, who escaped Communist Albania and became an American citizen last year is on the run again. Police say he shot a 19-year-old youth after a snowball smacked into the wall of his store Nov. 29.

Grand jury says Bullock's office impedes justice

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock's office tried to impede a grand jury investigation by refusing to release some information and destroying other records, the Travis County Grand Jury says.

"Due to the paucity of information recorded by the personnel involved, this grand jury can neither substantiate nor repudiate the serious allegations made," the jury said in its report Thursday.

The Travis County District Attorney's special crimes division will continue investigating the office and will present evidence to a new grand jury next week.

"The possibility of indictments remain," the jury's report said.

Allegations probed were use of state airplanes for political purposes and private business being conducted by state employees for high level officials, the report said.

The jury said it investigated complaints against Comptroller Bob Bullock and his chief deputy, Ralph Wayne.

The investigation began after two employees of Bullock, tax information director Bill Collier and his assistant, George Kuempel, resigned and publicly told Bullock he was ignoring potential scandals in his department.

Bullock was out of town on a Duval County hunting trip Thursday and Wayne was in Utah. However, both released a statement through their office.

"While we certainly do not agree with all the findings and recommendations of the grand jury, we recognize its responsibility to investigate allegations made against this department and our staff," the statement said.

The grand jury said it assumed wrongly in thinking the comptroller's records would be well kept.

It was frustrating to discover that Bullock's records are maintained "in such a way as to hamper any investigative conclusion as to its compliance or non-compliance with the law."

During its investigation, the grand jury said the comptroller's office:

- Refused to make available audit information or gave it reluctantly.
- Destroyed airplane flight logs and substituted flight sheets with scanty and almost worthless information.
- Refused to require administrators to document travel vouchers.
- Justified trips in general terms, such as "to meet with taxpayers."
- Allowed Bullock's personal attorneys to screen all persons and records sought by the grand jury.
- Was less than responsive in locating records, some of which remain unlocated.

An in-depth study of the comptroller's office and his political power should be undertaken, the grand jury recommended to the governor, lieutenant governor and Texas Legislature.

Guidelines are needed on use of state airplanes and public officials' conduct of private business, the report continued.

Death of youth turns Bronx around Fear, division finally bared

NEW YORK (AP) — Dede Nikollaj, who escaped Communist Albania and last year became an American citizen, is on the run again.

His small Bronx grocery store is closed. Anthony Rossetti, 19, is dead of gunshot wounds inflicted, police say, by the grocer after a snowball smacked into the wall of Nikollaj's store on Nov. 29.

The snowball had been thrown not by Rossetti but by a friend at another boy. But its impact was apparently more than Nikollaj could bear after months of harassment by neighborhood youths.

In an alley opposite the grocery, five .25-caliber bullets struck Rossetti as he urinated against a wall.

And Nikollaj's subsequent arrest pushed him one step further. Two weeks ago, he vanished while free on $15,000 bail. Even his lawyer thinks he jumped bail rather than face the consequences of the death.

"His life is now as destroyed as that of the youth," defense attorney Murray Richman says. And something more died too.

The neighborhood is close-knit. The ethnic groups living beside each other — Italians, Albanians, Jews, others — had been tolerant. Now neighbors cluster on street corners, questioning, debating the events of that night.

For them, it was the night when fear and division, long simmering beneath a surface of friendship and calm, were finally bared.

Nikollaj, 24, entered this country seven years ago. Last year he bought the grocery on East 205th Street in the quiet, predominantly Italian, Bedford Park section. He settled nearby with his wife, Julie, 22, and sons Chris, 6, Joseph, 4, and Paul, 2.

But after the shooting, Nikollaj went into hiding because of threats on his life. Police guarded the closed grocery 24 hours a day.

Some made light of the threats. "Nobody's going to blow up that store. There's an Italian family living upstairs," said one youth. But even he, like many in the neighborhood, would not identify himself. "We don't want to get killed," he said.

"The neighborhood's kind of split," one man said, "between those who feel the grocer was justified, those who feel he was not justified and those who don't give a damn. There are people who feel he was harassed to the point where he just lost control. But he had a temper. He comes from a different culture than ours."

Stunned residents repeatedly cite a "violent" Albanian nature they saw in Nikollaj. Defense attorney Richman calls it "a crime committed in the heat of passion."

"A man who has no criminal background, a working stiff who works 24 hours a day, does not suddenly commit a violent act unless there's something substantial to precipitate it," Richman said.

That something, said Richman, was a chain of abuse — broken windows, "business disruption, threats, verbal abuse" — which youths inflicted on "Danny" Nikollaj since he bought the store.

A witness said "Tony"

Rossetti was across the street from the store when the snowball hit. But neighbors said tension between Rossetti and the grocer had been building for some time.

"Danny threatened to kill this kid Tony more than once," and Rossetti once challenged him to fight "one-on-one," said one youth.

"He couldn't take him. He used to push the kids around, but he couldn't push Tony around," a friend of Rossetti said of Nikollaj.

One youth said the muscular Rossetti — he did construction work — "was great, a great guy, great with the girls — a good-looking Italian kid. He wore a black leather jacket and liked 1950s music ... Tony was tough, but he didn't look for trouble."

Next to the grocery is a game room with pool table and pinball machines that Nikollaj opened and then closed when tensions between him and the youths began to mount.

NBA Roundup

By the Associated Press

Walter Davis is one member of the Phoenix Suns who shines when the game is on the line.

"Walter Davis is unique and unusual," said Phoenix Coach John MacLeod of his smooth second-year forward. "He shoots under pressure as well as anyone I have ever seen, especially late in the game. He's consistent, a dandy — there's none better."

Davis, the National Basketball Association's Rookie of the Year last season, scored a season-high 42 points against Portland Tuesday night and saved his best for last. He sent the game into overtime with a short jumper with 14 seconds left, then scored four points in the last 56 seconds of the five-minute extra period to help the Suns snap the Blazers' five-game winning streak with a 129-127 victory.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the New York Knicks beat the Washington Bullets 109-99, the Cleveland Cavaliers edged the San Diego Clippers 116-114, the San Antonio Spurs defeated the Milwaukee Bucks 112-103 and the Chicago Bulls trimmed the Denver Nuggets 111-107.

Knicks 109, Bullets 99
Toby Knight scored 23 points and Mike Glenn, making his second start of the year, added a season-high 21 as New York beat Washington. The Knicks built a 19-point lead in the third quarter, saw the Bullets pull within six at 91-85 but put the game away with a 15-4 burst midway through the final period.

The Knicks have won both their games since Coach Red Holzman juggled his starting lineup, opening the game with second-year men Glenn and Glen Gondreick on the court and scoring leader Bob McAdoo and erratic guard Ray Williams on the bench.

"I'd start my wife if I thought it would help us win," said Holzman.

Cavs 116, Clippers 114
Campy Russell scored 25 points for Cleveland, including two free throws with 2:02 left that put the Cavs ahead to stay. Bingo Smith's basket with 20 seconds remaining clinched the victory, which snapped San Diego's four-game winning streak and spoiled a 36-point effort by Clippers guard Lloyd Free.

Spurs 112, Bucks 103
George Gervin scored 36 points and Larry Kenon added 25 as San Antonio beat Milwaukee for the third time this year, pulling away in the final five minutes. Milwaukee led 99-98 with 4:46 remaining before six straight points by Kenon put the Spurs in command.

Bulls 111, Nuggets 107
Artis Gilmore scored 31 points and Chicago rallied to beat foul-plagued Denver, which lost center Dan Issel and forward George McGinnis in the final period because of fouls. Wilbur Holland scored on a jumper to put the Bulls ahead 104-103 seconds after McGinnis fouled out, then Holland sank two free throws and the Bulls were never caught.

NFL playoffs resume

The Dallas Cowboys officially begin the defense of their National Football League championship Saturday, trying to become the first three-time Super Bowl winner.

Standing in their way at the moment are the Atlanta Falcons, the National Football Conference wildcard team being written off by a lot of people (Dallas Coach Tom Landry is not among them) but a team used to adversity. Beating the NFC East champions would be just another in a long line of miracles for the Falcons.

Also Saturday, two of the American Football Conference's division champs collide, with the Denver Broncos playing the Steelers in Pittsburgh.

Sunday, the NFC Central champs, the Minnesota Vikings, visit the West champions, the Los Angeles Rams, and the AFC wild-card Houston Oilers play the Patriots in New England. Atlanta Coach Leeman Bennett figured the Falcons would have to shut down running back Wilbert Montgomery and wide receiver Harold Carmichael to beat Philadelphia last Sunday. They did.

"This week all we have are Dorsett and Staubach and Pearson and Hill and Newhouse and Dupree and ... well, this time we have 11 problems we will have to stop," said Bennett.

Roger Staubach was the No. 1 passer in the league and Tony Dorsett was No. 2 in NFC rushing.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

THEY'LL MEET IN DALLAS — When the Dallas Cowboys and the Atlanta Falcons meet in Dallas Dec. 30 in a National Football League playoff game, these quarterbacks are likely to see much action. That's Roger Staubach, left, of the world champion Cowboys and Steve Bartkowski, right, of the Falcons.

"They have the experience at the key positions, tremendous speed, excellent depth. They are a great team," Bennett said, "but I still feel we're supposed to win."

The oddsmakers say Dallas is supposed to win with ease, establishing the Cowboys as 14-point favorites. Landry isn't buying those numbers.

Fearless Harris is ready

DALLAS (AP) — Cliff Harris has worked himself into his normal football mood — seminasty.

"I hated last week," said the Dallas Cowboy free safety between workouts at the practice facility of the defending World Champions on Forest Avenue.

"I'd rather play," said Harris, looking at a late Christmas card.

The forced one-week layoff for the National Conference Eastern Division champions came because the wild card teams were battling it out in an extension of the National Football League playoffs.

While the Atlanta Falcons were whipping up another miracle with a last-minute victory over Philadelphia, the Cowboys were having a nice, quiet Christmas interrupted only by Coach Tom Landry's call for a brief workout.

No football player in the NFL has more of a zest for live combat than Harris, the former free agent from Ouachita Baptist.

The way Cliff Harris hits you on a football field is a nightmare," O.J. Simpson once declared.

A "nightmare" for Harris is a nice crisp December Sunday when there's no game.

"We really had it going and I just wished we could have played," said Harris between bites of turkey and dressing.

Atlanta comes to town to fill the weekend void for Harris and his restless Cowboy teammates Saturday afternoon in the semifinals of the National Conference playoffs.

"I can't wait," said Harris. "We respect Atlanta even though they've never been in the playoffs because you can't count out anybody who gets this far."

Harris continued (Quarterback Steve) Bartkowski can do some damage with time to throw. We have to keep the pressure on him."

Harris, who made the All-Pro honor roll in Dallas' Super Bowl season last year, said he rated his 1978 performance "Good."

Clemson's attack scares Buckeyes

Not long after 58 college seniors show their stuff for the pro scouts at Montgomery, Ala., Coach Dan Ford of Clemson did his utmost to impress another football VIP — Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State — in the Gator Bowl.

"This is the biggest game of my life as a head coach," said the 30-year-old Ford, who also faces his first game as head coach when he sends his Tigers into the Gator Bowl against Hayes' Buckeyes tonight.

"We are playing a super team with a great tradition," said Ford, who took the team over early this month after Charley Pell left to take the head coaching job at Florida. "My only advantage may be that I've been reading Coach Woody Hayes' book and know more about him than he knows about me."

Photographer at Dallas-Atlanta

Big Spring Herald photographer Danny Valdes will be going to the Dallas-Atlanta playoff game to snap pictures tomorrow afternoon. Pictures from the game will probably be shown on Monday, New Year's Day.

When asked why he wanted to be a photographer for this particular game, Valdes, rolling his eyes back, replied: "I think it's going to be an exciting game." Who knows what game Danny's talking about, but he should get some good action shots.

Hayes, completing his 28th year at the Buckeyes' helm, knows the seventh-ranked Tigers won the Atlantic Coast Conference crown with a 10-1 record. Ohio State, by comparison, was 7-3-1 and ranked 20th in the nation.

"Clemson is much more diversified than any passing team we faced," he said. "I respect them."

And Ford, of course, respects Hayes and Ohio State.

That won't happen until 9 p.m. EST, some seven hours after Blue met Gray at Montgomery in an all-star contest that may decide the futures of many pro hopefuls.

"If I get drafted or if I get a shot at pro ball could depend on what I do here," said wide receiver Jeffrey Morgan of Alabama State, aware that the scouts will congregate at Montgomery to watch the contest. "I'm not trying to go out there and give 110 percent because the scouts are here — I do that anyway."

The scouts will be at other bowl sites after the Blue-Gray and Gator clashes kick off the second big bowl weekend for college football. Unranked Stanford, 7-4 in its regular season, meets 11th-ranked Georgia, 9-1-1, in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Sunday night.

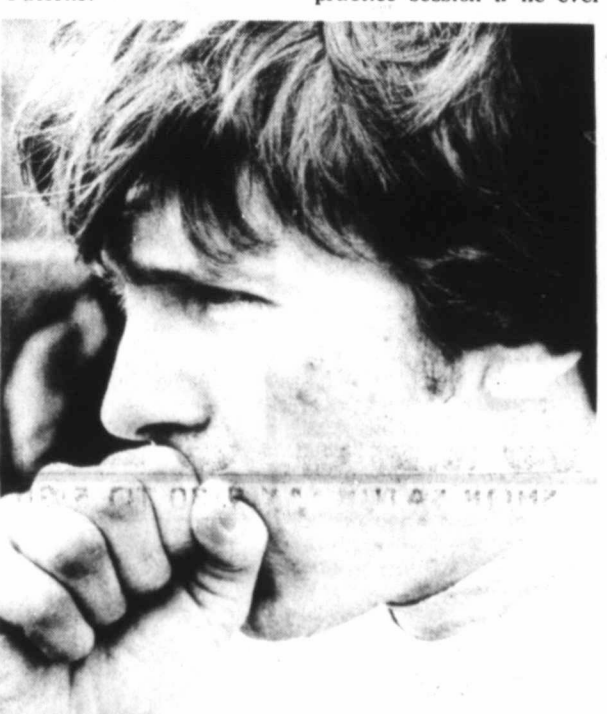

On Monday, the top-ranked, unbeaten Nittany Lions from Penn State, 11-0, meet No. 2 Alabama, 10-1, at New Orleans in the Sugar Bowl, which should decide the national championship.

Ninth-ranked Houston, 9-2, faces No. 10 Notre Dame, 8-3, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas at the same time.

Paterno doesn't underrate Fusina

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Not on your life. Penn State quarterback Chuck Fusina was runnerup for the Heisman Trophy as college football's best player and he won that honor from the Maxwell Club of Philadelphia.

You might figure that gave him some special consideration from Coach Joe Paterno.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

THOUGHTS ON ALABAMA — Penn State All-America quarterback Chuck Fusina has a pensive look during a cool workout session in New Orleans. Fusina will be calling the signals when the top-ranked Nittany Lions meet Alabama in the Sugar Bowl.

Fusina, who leads the No. 1-ranked Nittany Lions against No. 2 Alabama in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day for the probable national collegiate football championship, is just another one of the troops.

He made that clear when someone asked him before a practice session if he ever changed a play in the huddle after it was sent in by Paterno.

"I wouldn't change a play in the huddle," said Fusina, feigning a horrified look on his face.

"Hey, I like starting," said the All-America quarterback.

Fusina added that he had the right to audible at the line of scrimmage if the defense appeared to have diagnosed the play.

"But we call very few audibles," the quarterback said.

Fusina, who completed 137 of 242 passes for 1,859 yards and 11 touchdowns this season, is typical of the discipline that prevails on the 11-0 Penn State team.

The numerous honors coming Fusina's way do not appear to have gone to his head.

That's not easy when your coach rates you as important as the statue of the Nittany Lion, the emblem of the university in the Nittany Mountains of central Pennsylvania.

"Of all the great players we have had," says Paterno, "if I was going to start putting together a football team, Chuck would be the first player I would pick."

"We certainly wouldn't be where we are without him," Paterno added. "I don't think we've ever had anybody who has meant more to a football team than Chuck has to this one."

Bama wants national title

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Barry Krauss gave up a summer in Pompano Beach, Fla., hoping to spend a few winter days in New Orleans in search of college football's national championship.

Welcome to New Orleans, Barry.

Krauss, Alabama's 238-pound All-Southeastern Conference senior linebacker from Pompano, spent most of the summer in Tuscaloosa, Ala., and so did most of his teammates on the defensive unit, working out on their own.

"It was like a mutual agreement," Krauss said Thursday as his second-ranked team hit town to conclude its preparations for Monday's national championship Sugar Bowl showdown with No. 1-rated Penn State.

"I stayed there the whole summer. Eight of the 11 defensive starters were there almost the whole summer. All we did was go to summer school, eat and work out. We got so close to the national championship last year, so we talked about it and decided we needed to do something about it."

The Crimson Tide finished No. 2 in last year's Associated Press ratings and you'll never convince any true Alabamian that they shouldn't have been ahead of champion Notre Dame.

Steers host Abilene tonight

The Big Spring Steers and the Abilene Eagles kick off their respective quests for the District 5-AAAA district basketball championship tonight in Steer Gym at 8:00 in what appears to be a wild and wide open chase for the crown. The Eagles are the defending class AAAA State finalists.

Therefore, many coaches and sportswriters really felt that the yearly pre-season 5-AAAA poll is a poor indicator of how the final standings will look. Midland High, with an abundance of talent returning, is the pre-season choice to capture the crown, garnering 11 of 13 first place votes. Midland High, however, has been troubled with personal problems and has not been as powerful as they could.

Following Midland High, the rest of the pre-season voting was very close. In order of points accumulated in the voting, the rest of the loop was headed by Cooper, followed by Permian, Lee, Abilene, San Angelo, Big Spring and Odessa.

The Abilene Eagles will bring a pressing full court defense to town in their usual wide open style of basketball. The Eagles play a patterned offense this season after relying on now Texas Tech forward David Little's passing and scoring in last year's very successful campaign.

Morris a winner in life

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Texas Tech split end Michael Morris lost his struggle for life Wednesday, but his coach remembers him as a winner.

Morris suffered a cardiac arrest while undergoing thyroid surgery and was revived; however, he had another attack in the recovery room and lapsed into a coma Dec. 11.

Something like this is really hard to take. Michael meant a great deal to all of us," Texas Tech Coach Rex Dockery said. "He was the type of person you have to admire because of the things he did. From the first day he came to Texas Tech he was a winner."

"You never had to worry about Michael's grades or his effort — he made sure everything was 100 percent. It is an especially sad thing because Michael was just to the point that he was beginning to reap some rewards for all his hard work. His death is a tremendous blow to all of us," Dockery said.

Dickerson honored

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Eric Dickerson, who led Sealy to the Class 2A Texas high school football championship, was named today by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce as the state's outstanding player.

The 6-3, 210-pound senior, a 9.4 sprinter, scored four touchdowns and gained 296 yards in Sealy's 42-20 victory over Wylie last weekend in the title game. His yardage established a record for a state championship game in Texas, regardless of classification. Dickerson, 17th winner of the annual award, had 37 touchdowns for the season and 2,707 yards. For his four-year career, he had 83 touchdowns and 5,862 yards rushing.

This year will be his third straight as an all-stater. The past two Heisman Trophy winners — Billy Sims of Oklahoma and Earl Campbell of Texas — are past recipients of the Amarillo chamber's award.

Sims, Switzer deny statement

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma football coach Barry Switzer said today that Heisman Trophy winner Billy Sims has denied making statements about having a wild nightlife in Miami that were attributed to Sims by a Miami News reporter.

"I talked to Billy about that after I saw the article, and Billy says, 'Coach, I didn't say those things,'" Switzer said this morning, in a telephone interview from Miami with radio station WKY here.

"You can't trust these people (reporters)," Switzer said. "I ought to come to Miami and not let a player talk to the press down here."

The Amarillo Chamber of Commerce's selection is made by a committee headed by Putt Powell, Amarillo Globe-News sports writer, who confer with coaches and other writers throughout the state.

Lightning kills jockey

MIAMI (AP) — The rain was so heavy you couldn't see the backstretch from the grandstand when lightning struck and killed jockey Niconar Navarro at Calder Race Course.

Navarro, 25, had finished ninth in the second race Thursday on Noble Mischief. He was running to get out of the storm when he was struck. Two track valets were running alongside him, and escaped serious injury from the same strike.

"I felt terrible pain in my right arm and I almost fell down," said one of them, Jesus Barrera.

RELAXING LION — Penn State sophomore tailback Booker Moore of Flint, Mich., relaxes on some bags before practice at Tulane Stadium in New Orleans where the Nittany Lions are getting ready to meet Alabama in the Sugar Bowl. Moore's 4.2 average per carry is the highest on the squad and he has scored six touchdowns.

Ashe, Rosewall advance

MELBOURNE, Australia — Arthur Ashe defeated Bruce Kleeg 6-3, 6-3, 7-6, while Ken Rosewall of Australia defeated Chris Stansbury 6-2, 6-4, 6-3 in the first round of the $300,000 Australian Open tennis tournament.

Bruins rebound past California

The UCLA Bruins and All-American forward David Greenwood are paying the price of fame. The third-ranked Bruins made headlines by losing 75-72 to unrated Stanford Wednesday night, and Greenwood — averaging nearly 20 points per game entering that contest — managed just 11.

UCLA reversed the brief slide Thursday night, passing California 95-67. But Greenwood, peering out occasionally from a sea of Golden Bears defenders, slipped to 10 points this time.

"I will be glad to see even two people guarding me," said Greenwood. "I don't know when I'll see one (defender) again. The whole team seems to be guarding me."

But while Cal was guarding Greenwood Thursday night, guard Brad Holland broke loose for 20 points and Roy Hamilton added 16 — 10 of them in the Bruins' 59-point second half.

That started a new conference winning streak for the Bruins, who had won 17 consecutive divisional contests before falling to Stanford for their first Pacific-10 loss under Coach Gary Cunningham.

"We underestimated Stanford," said Cunningham after Thursday night's triumph. "A loss never helps you, but I think it helped us in this situation. We were just cruising along because we were rated so high and these teams weren't rated."

Farm

Number of farms decreases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Perhaps as many as 300,000 farms disappeared this year, but for the time being the government can't give a precise figure.
 The disappearance involves a new definition and the method the Agriculture Department uses to estimate the number of farms.
 In an annual report issued Thursday, department officials estimated there will be about 2.33 million farms in the United States at the beginning of 1979, down 1.7 percent from 2.37 million last Jan. 1.
 But those are farms with annual sales totaling at least $1,000. That is a new definition USDA is using and one that will be used when Commerce's Bureau of Census begins its farm census next week.
 For many years, both agencies have defined a farm as a unit of 10 or more acres that had annual sales of $50 or more. Under the old definition a unit of less than 10 acres qualified if it sold at least $250 worth of products a year.

The department discontinued the old definition in estimating the number of farms for this Jan. 1, so there is uncertainty about how many of the farms no longer being counted disappeared under the bookkeeper's quill and how many actually quit being farms because they changed the way they were run.
 However, the report included figures for both the old and new definitions of a farm for the past several years.
 Last Jan. 1, for example, there were more than 2.67 million farms shown under the old definition. If the new $1,000 definition had been in use at the time, the number would have been 2.37 million.
 Thus, those figures would indicate that somewhere around 302,000 farms faded from existence in 1977 because of the new definition.
 According to the Census Bureau, it will use the new $1,000 definition when it begins its farm census next week but will also tabulate all farms regardless of size.

The use of the $1,000 definition has been debated for years in Congress, among federal agencies and by farm groups.
 Proponents of the new definition say it is more realistic and eliminates many previously defined "farms" that were nothing more than rural residences.
 The report said that under the $1,000 definition, the average size of U.S. farms at the start of 1979 will be 450 acres, up from 444 acres last Jan. 1.

Last Jan. 1, under the old definition, the average size of farms was 401 acres, up from 397 acres on Jan. 1, 1977. It did not show an average size for the start of 1979.
 The total amount of land in farms this Jan. 1 was shown at slightly less than 1.05 billion acres under the new definition, a decline of about four million acres from last Jan. 1.
 Under the old definition, about 1.07 billion acres were in farms last Jan. 1.

Wool, lamb producers continue financings
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Wool and lamb producers will continue financing marketing and promotion projects under a new agreement calling for deductions to be made from annual government "incentive" payments.
 The deductions, which have been made annually for almost a quarter of a century, will pay for projects carried out by the American Sheep Producers Council, Denver, Colo.
 A new four-year agreement was signed recently by the council and the Agriculture Department, which pays the subsidies to producers and oversees the financing of the projects.
 Wool producers voted last summer to continue the deductions and also to boost the rate from 1.5 cents a pound to 2.5 cents a pound for shorn wool, beginning with wool sold in 1978.
 The rate for "pulled" wool from lambs sent to slaughter also was raised from 7.5 cents to 12.5 cents for each 100 pounds of liveweight lambs.
 Government incentive payments from which the deductions will be made are expected to total around $31 million in 1978. Those payments are designed to make up the difference between market prices received by producers and a target price set by law.
 Last summer, USDA announced that a wool and lamb promotion budget for the council was approved at $2.44 million for 1978-79, about the same as last year.

Ft. Worth-based Coca Cola bottling companies sold
 FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A group of Coca-Cola bottling companies based in Fort Worth has been sold to a group of outside investors that includes the former board chairman of Exxon and Aluminum Co. of America, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported today in a copyrighted story.
 Sale price was estimated at more than $100 million.
 The sale involves a group of Coke bottling companies, primarily in Texas, that has been owned and managed by the same group of Fort Worth families since 1912.
 The companies are Coca Cola Bottling Co. of Fort Worth, which includes plants in Fort Worth, Austin, El Paso, Coleman, Cleburne, Weatherford and Graham, Texas; Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of San Bernardino, Calif.; and the Coca-Cola bottling companies of Waco, Sherman, Galveston and Corsicana, Texas, and Durant, Okla.

 The new investors are part of a company called Coke Enterprises, Inc., a private corporation organized by a New York investment firm, AEA Investors, Inc., specifically for the purpose of acquiring the Fort Worth group of plants.
 Directors of Coke Enterprises are John D. Harper of Pittsburgh, former chairman and chief executive officer of ALCOA; J. Kenneth Jamieson of Houston, former chairman and chief executive officer of Exxon; Carl B. Hess, president of AEA Investors; and Robert D. Stillman, vice president of AEA Investors.
 All of the companies are managed by Sam P. Woodson Jr., who succeeded his brother in 1959 as manager of the Fort Worth plant. Woodson has signed a five-year contract to remain as chief executive officer of the group, and Coke Enterprises directors said the current board of directors will remain unchanged.
 The "Woodson Group" of plants, as it is known to Coke bottlers, is said to be among the top seven bottlers in the country in terms of total size.
 While Woodson, his family, and some outsiders own stock in some of the facilities, they own none of the Fort Worth and Sag Bernardino companies. They are owned by the beneficiaries of Charles A. Lupton and Tom J. Brown, who bought the Coke bottling companies here in early 1912.

'Freeport' law may be unconstitutional
 AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas' "freeport" law, designed to provide a haven from property taxes for goods brought temporarily into the state, appears to be unconstitutional, Attorney General John Hill said Thursday.
 He issued his legal opinion to the county attorneys of El Paso and Nueces counties.
 The law says property consigned to a person or business from outside of Texas, for forwarding to still another state, cannot be taxed if held less than 90 days.
 It also exempts from taxation goods brought into the state for assembly, storage, manufacturing, processing or fabricating if they are held less than nine months.
 Hill said the Texas Constitution provides for taxation of "all property in the state," subject to certain constitutional exemptions.

Estimated ten million live in mobile homes
 An estimated ten million people are living in mobile homes across the United States, a 20 per cent increase from the eight million mobile home residents reported in 1976 by the Bureau of Census.
 The National Association of Relators reports the number of mobile home dwellers is growing at the rate of nearly a million a year. A median mobile home family has 2.2 persons.
 The 1976 annual housing survey by the Census Bureau showed there were 3,627,000 occupied mobile homes in the nation.
 Of these, 31 per cent were in urban areas and 61 per cent in rural regions. Forty-nine per cent were parks (groups of six or more homes), while 51 per cent were on individual sites.

Faces more cross-examination

Davis vows innocence

HOUSTON (AP) — Vowing innocence and bidding for his freedom on bond, millionaire Cullen Davis faced another round of cross-examination today in his murder conspiracy trial.

The Fort Worth industrialist denied Thursday any involvement in a bizarre murder-for-hire scheme. Meanwhile, his lawyers insisted he should be released on bail.

Trial judge Wallace Moore was expected to rule on the bond question today.

"Are you guilty of conspiring with David McCrory to solicit the murder of Judge Eidson or any other person?" defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes asked Davis.

"As God is my witness, I most certainly did not," the defendant replied.

Moments later, Haynes passed the witness to prosecutors, who contend Davis' explanation of his activities last August is "ludicrous" at best.

"It's got an Alice In Wonderland ring to it," grumbled chief prosecutor Tolly Wilson, who is conducting the state questioning of the defendant.

Davis, 45, ended a day and a half of friendly interrogation by Haynes; his mood and demeanor changed noticeably when passed to the state.

Wilson and his colleagues contend there are a number of "holes" in Davis' account of the summertime episode.

During Thursday afternoon's questioning, Davis stuck to his story he was duped and framed by McCrory—a one-time friend turned informant—and the defendant's estranged wife, Priscilla.

The state maintains that Davis instructed McCrory to hire a gunman last August to kill judge Joe Eidson and that he paid out $25,000 when he thought his order had been obeyed.

Prosecutors base their case on two tape-recorded conversations in which Davis and McCrory discussed mass murder and raising the money to finance the project.

Davis testified he was told in a telephone call 10 days before his arrest that he was the victim of an extortion plot by McCrory and to "play along."

He said the caller identified himself as FBI agent James Acree, one of several agents who testified during the early stages of the nine-week-old trial.

"After listening to his voice in court, it is not the same voice I talked to," Davis said Thursday.

He testified, however, the phone number the caller furnished him Aug. 10 matched the number of a Fort Worth karate studio owned by Pat Burleson.

The defense maintains that Burleson, 42, a reluctant defense witness here, was the third member of the conspiratorial triangle that framed Davis.

Asked if he was surprised by the phone number testimony, prosecutor Jack Strickland quipped: "We were taking bets on that last night. I was surprised that it wasn't Pat Burleson's home number."

Davis not only denied involvement in the alleged murder conspiracy but also testified he had no reason to kill Eidson.

"I had no reason to want him dead," the Fort Worth millionaire told the jury in his murder conspiracy trial.

"Did you believe Judge Eidson was dead?" asked lead defense lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes.

"Of course not," Davis, replied.

"Why did you say 'Good'?" What was the reason for saying that?" Haynes asked.

"I was just going along with the conversation," Davis answered.

Haynes' questions pinpointed a key segment of an Aug. 20 tape recording in which there was this exchange between Davis and FBI informant David McCrory:

McCrory: "I got Judge Eidson dead for you."
 Davis: "Good."
 McCrory: "I'll get the rest of them dead for you. You want a bunch of people dead."
 Davis: "All right."
 After playing the passage for the jury, Haynes posed this question:

"Did you have any reason to believe somebody was going to kill three people?"

"I didn't think anybody was going to be killed by anybody," Davis responded.

Davis traced most of his misfortune the past four years to his blonde wife and said he hired McCrory because he thought he could be helpful in the divorce case.

However, Davis contended McCrory conspired with Mrs. Davis to draw him into the murder conspiracy case.

"We weren't really talking about killing people," Davis said of his discussions with McCrory last summer that led to his Aug. 20 arrest.

Protests flare; U.S. tries again

TAIWAN, Taipei (AP) — Another anti-American protest flared today as a harassed U.S. delegation made a last-ditch effort to soften the impact of breaking relations with Taiwan.

Knots of flag-waving Taiwanese demonstrated in front of the Foreign Ministry when U.S. Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher and his delegation arrived.

They were there to resume their explanation of President Carter's decision to recognize Communist China and sever relations with Taiwan Jan. 1.

Christopher and his party met for 15 minutes with President Chiang Ching-kuo. U.S. spokesman Jack Cannon declined comment on the session, but said there would be another one before heading home.

The delegation also met for two hours with Foreign Ministry officials before the Christopher-Chiang session, but Cannon declined to give details on that conference too.

The U.S. delegation almost went home Thursday after 10,000 Taiwanese demonstrated against Carter's decision and a protesting taxi driver set himself afire and was hospitalized in critical condition.

Christopher and U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger suffered slight cuts Wednesday when the windshield of their limousine was shattered by 10,000 other protesters. But the talks resumed after Chiang personally assured the delegation of improved security.

Cannon said Foreign Minister Tsiang Yen-chi began Thursday's three-hour session expressing regret over the demonstrations.

But Cannon said Tsiang's tone quickly changed when he declared that the Carter administration did not have "any justifiable cause at all to unilaterally announce its intention to terminate the defense treaty which, as you know, is a treaty of alliance."

While diplomatic relations will end Jan. 1, Carter has said the defense treaty will remain in effect through 1979 and that America will continue to sell Taiwan "selected" defense arms.

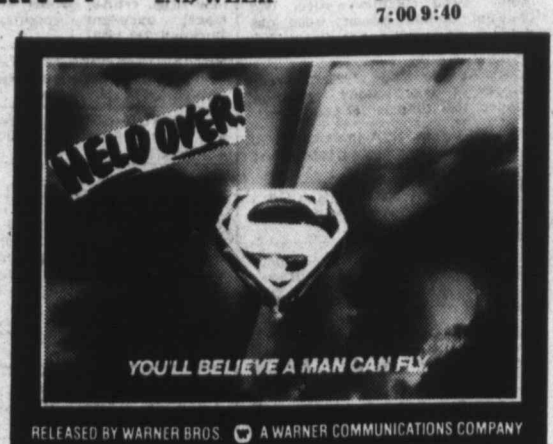

Tsiang said he did not understand how the defense treaty could remain in effect if diplomatic ties are broken.
