BUSINESS GOOD SAYS FRAME

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT TRAFFIC RAPIDLY INCREASING.

Despite Fact That Fort Stockton is Cutting in on Local Trade.

Despite the fact that Fort Stockton has recently been cutting into the freight traffic that formerly came through this city...

Mr. Frame believes that there is no better barometer of a community's growth than the amount of railroad traffic that is carried on and for that reason he predicts a steady and healthful growth of Pecos.

From now until the very hot weather prevails in the southwest it is expected that the passenger traffic will grow to enormous proportions...

According to Mr. Frame there is not a town of its size on the line of the Texas and Pacific that can show the business of the local freight and passenger office.

SHIPMENTS OF CATTLE Surpassing Anything That Has Happened in Many a Long Day.

Six thousand head of cattle! Sounds rather good, doesn't it? Read the following, and if you have any doubts as to the commercial status of the Toyah Valley and the Davis mountain country, you are a peach.

Here are the shipments for the past ten days: Kountz to Blocker, 400 head; Irving to Slaughter 2000 head; McCutcheon and Kingston to Avery, 1700 head; Casey to Mudd and Woodworth, 1500 head; Bradley and Fonvills to Mudd and Woodworth, 400 head. Total, 6000 head.

Do you realize how much money it took to handle all of these deals? Here you are—$168,000. Toyahvale for the past ten days was first cousin to North Fort Worth, and this is not all. There are several thousand more to be shipped out in the next thirty days.

The beauty of all these transactions is that all of the buyers were more than satisfied with the grade of cattle received, and all of the gentlemen who have sold, still have a nest egg of the same kind to do business with next year.—Toyah Valley Herald.

We are told that 500 station agents of the Soo line "have received packages of flower seed with instructions to plant them and get on the sunny side of life." What about that window box or flowerbed in the front yard? Get on the sunny side of life and help along the city beautiful and cheerful.—Star-Telegram.

There is nothing of a like cost that will add more to the comfort and pleasures of life than a few flowers no matter how common or lowly the flower may be. Flowers add a refinement to the home or park that nothing else can approach. Let every one who possibly can have a few of nature's beautifiers.

Government Expert in Charge.

Chas. Morton, government cement expert, employed at the Elephant Butte dam in New Mexico, is in the city overseeing the work of relaying street crossings laid some time ago in this city which did not come to contract in that the work disintegrated and crumbled.

The cement people were not satisfied and agreed to replace the work without cost to the city and have employed Hugh Roberson to do the work under the supervision of Mr. Morton. Mr. Morton will also try to discover the cause of the failure of the former work to make good, that they may know in the future how to overcome the difficulty.

Syracuse Houses Shaken.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 28.—Earthquake shocks were felt in several villages in northern New York at 7:30 o'clock this evening, causing considerable alarm. At Canton, St. Lawrence county, houses were jarred and dishes rattled on the shelves, but no serious damage was done.

CONGRESSIONAL BOOM FOR HUDSPETH STARTS.

Friends of State Senator in West Texas Would Have Him Succeeded to Smith's Seat.

San Angelo, Texas, April 26.—A general West Texas boom was launched at El Paso Friday evening by friends of State Senator Claude B. Hudspeth of El Paso to step into Congressman W. R. Smith's shoes as representative of the sixteenth congressional district. This movement was launched by the San Angelo trade excursionists to Alpine to aid there in celebrating the opening of the Orient railway into that city.

Montreal, April 28.—Earthquake shocks were experienced here shortly after 7:30 o'clock this evening, but no damage is reported from any section, though the inmates of a hospital in the west and end of the city, where the movement was the most pronounced, were considerably excited.

RANGE CATTLE IN FINE SHAPE

MEATY BEEVES ARE IN BETTER CONDITION THAN IN YEARS SAYS KOUNTZ.

Cattleman Believes Good Prices Will Continue Indefinitely—Cattle So Fat that They Laugh Like Taffy.

"Cattle on the range are so happy and fat that they actually appear to laugh with the good nature of a fat man." The above was the rather characteristic statement of H. K. Kountz, of Balmorhea, one of the best known cattlemen in this section of Texas and who is here on the petit jury panel of the district court Monday morning.

Whether Mr. Kountz has prayed none but himself knows, but certain it is that he has great faith in the future of the cattle industry in Texas. He is of the opinion that the prices of beef on the hoof will not decline for many years to come and that as a result a condition of prosperity never before experienced in this section of the country will ensue.

"In the southern part of Reeves county and the northern part of Jeff Davis county there is nothing but good cheer. There is not a downcast man in the whole region, unless there are some who are worried as to how to care for the money they are making," declared Mr. Kountz.

For many years the whole country has been sympathizing with Texas cattle raisers because of their hardships, caused by the fact that their stock each year died for want of water and grass. In direct contrast to this situation is the astonishing fact that many calves and even some yearlings are actually dying because they have so much to eat on the ranges that they become over-fat and develop what is known among stockmen as "black leg." Such a situation as this has not existed as far back as many of the present generation of stockmen can remember.

The prosperous condition of the cattlemen and farmers of Reeves county will result, Mr. Kountz believes, in an influx of "newcomers" to till the soil and raise cattle. The fame of the county is reaching not only the remotest parts of Texas, but is extending throughout Oklahoma and Kansas, he says, and this cannot fail to draw settlers.

"Pecos has the best location for a city of any place between Fort Worth and El Paso," Mr. Kountz added, "and with the settlement of the surrounding country this city will grow by leaps and bounds. There is everything in favor of Reeves county and Pecos and the county and city are certain of a brilliant and enviable future."

By the Balmorhea stockman are shared in by all cattlemen here in attendance on the petit jury.

Texas Women In Evidence

(Fort Worth Record.)

Texas is not an equal suffrage state, but the power behind the voter is the hand and the voice of woman.

Cardinal Gibbons has asked the question, "Why should a woman vote when she already controls the voters of the land?"

Dismissing this query, the writer again remarks, "Texas women are in evidence everywhere." A Texas woman Mrs. Hortense Ward, remained under the big dome at the state capitol eighty days to assist in putting-over the martial rights bill.

There is a campaign on just now in the city of Waco to place women on the school board of that city. As 80 per cent of the teachers are women, why shouldn't women serve as school trustees?

A few years ago two Dallas women were elected to membership on the school board of that city. They served one term and then, lacking in chivalry, the men voters failed to re-elect them.

Mrs. E. P. Turner served one term as a member of the Dallas board. She gave splendid service, and most of the people applauded her work. One term, however, was sufficient for Mrs. Turner. She declined a renomination.

Now Mrs. Hal Driscoll Sevier, the young and dashing leader of the militant Daughters of the Alamo, threatens to go on the stump and make speeches against Governor Colquitt should he become a candidate for the United States senate.

As the Alamo is the property of the state, the governor contended that it should be under the supervision of the superintendent of buildings and parks owned by the state.

His action met with disfavor and the Alamo daughters and their kinfolk rushed a bill through the lower house of the Thirty-third legislature giving the Daughters of the Republic control of the sacred pile. The bill was sent to the senate, where it was put to death by the grave and reverend gentlemen who constitute the upper house symposium of statecraft and solemnity.

Mrs. Sevier, the proud and golden-voiced daughter of an unconquerable race, feels that she has a mission. The feeling is feminine. Every woman has a mission.

Now Mayor Milam has appointed women on the park advisory board: Meses, Robert Harrison and Marshall Spoonstons and Miss Margaret McLain. A woman's advisory board is all right. He has named bankers to look after the finances of the board and the women to look after the decorative work and the proper keeping of the parks and playgrounds.

The city beautiful as well as all civic ideals appeal to the women. Why not give them a voice as well as a hand in shaping matters and things which belong to civic life?

In the educational and religious life they are controlling forces. They are successful and they leave their impress everywhere. Then why not in the municipal life of a city? On with the work. Parks and playgrounds are the lungs of a community. The more we have the better for the people. The more beautiful and attractive to the eye, the more popular and pleasing to home folk and visitors.

About the People You Know.

Herbert Carter of El Paso passed through the city Monday en route to Roswell, his former home, being a witness in the district court.

W. W. Gatewood and wife, accompanied by his son Boyd Gatewood and family, and R. L. Graves and family, passed through the city Saturday en route from El Paso to Roswell, N. M., where they will make their future home.

Miss Lanora Williams of New Hope spent last week in the city, the guest of Mrs. I. T. Kestler.

I. T. Kestler returned Monday from Paris, Texas, where he attended the annual meeting of the supreme lodge of the Modern Praetorians. Mr. Kestler went as a delegate from Reeves county, and is very enthusiastic in his praise of the people of that city in the treatment of the visiting delegates.

Joe Jayne of Fort Stockton, who was a candidate for the legislature in the last primary, passed through the city Monday on his way home. He informed us that he was at Austin as assistant calendar clerk and that he would be a candidate again next year. In other words, "his hat is still in the ring."

Ben S. Long and M. S. Middlebrook of Ballinger came in yesterday afternoon by auto. They are looking over the country, prospecting. Mr. Long owns a tract of land in the Barstow country and is here looking after it.

Will B. Thorpe of Balmorhea is in the city this week on legal business. Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Williams of Balmorhea were visitors in the city last week.

Jim Mayfield the prosperous Toyah Valley farmer, is in the city on business.

Miss Constance McCarver, who has been teaching at Toyah, is at home for the vacation.

Preston Lane of Barstow was a Pecos visitor Sunday.

T. H. Beauchamp returned Sunday from a business trip to Van Horn.

Clifton Hefner has returned to Dallas after a short visit with home folk. Zack Miles has returned from a business trip to El Paso.

The grand jury has adjourned until May 8th.

R. H. King of Balmorhea, publisher of the Toyah Valley Herald, is in the city on business.

Will J. Rhea and Verdie Pruett, who have been serving on the busy grand jury the past week, returned to Balmorhea Sunday via auto.

Mrs. L. H. Bullard of Saragosa was in the city Monday en route to Aroya. Rev. W. D. Cox of Hockabee, Okla., who has been holding revival services at Saragosa, has returned home.

NOTES OF DISTRICT COURT

GARGILL CASE CONTINUED UNTIL WEDNESDAY.

Two Divorce Cases Filed—Special Venue for Murder Cases in May.

Telegrams alleging that W. C. Cargill of Toyah, defendant in the celebrated breach of promise case, in which Ella Frazer of the same village, is plaintiff, was called to Tulsa, Okla., because of the serious illness of his wife, were the means of causing an adjournment of the district court a few hours after it met Monday morning for the purpose of beginning the spring term. It was not until after Judge S. J. Isaacks had finished outlining the duties of jurors selected from among their number, that the absence of Cargill was made public through the reading of the telegrams.

Before court assembled Wednesday it will be determined whether the case shall be continued or the trial proceed.

It is doubtful if a jury panel assembled in the Reeves county court house ever paid more rapt attention to the remarks of a presiding judge than did the panel addressed by Judge Isaacks Monday morning. Briefly he told them to pay the strictest attention to the evidence in each case and to the arguments of the lawyers of both the defense and the prosecution. He declared that he had heard jurors remark that they never regarded the arguments of attorneys. "But," said Judge Isaacks, "this is wrong. One of the all-important things for a juror to do is to intently listen to every word that is spoken in the summing up of a case."

"While you are a juror you are an officer of the court," the judge continued, "and as such you should realize your responsibilities to the fullest extent. The evidence and the charge of the court, and not your personal opinions, must be taken into consideration above all else."

While the telegrams telling of Cargill's trip to Oklahoma were read in the morning, a brief meeting of the court was held in the afternoon, when the decision to adjourn until Wednesday was reached.

Two Divorce Cases Filed.

Addie Bolton has filed suit in the district court for a divorce from her husband, K. Bolton, and W. W. Chandler Jr. asks to be freed from the bonds that bind him to Janie Chandler. The husband asks the custody of their child. All parties are said to reside in this county.

Murder Trials to Be Heard.

Two murder cases of absorbing interest to people of this county will be tried at the present term of the district court. They are those of the State against W. J. Hiles, charged with the murder of T. F. Tucker north of this city, last December, and the State against Jim Wright, alleged to have killed C. C. Steed in Pecos last October.

In each of the above cases a special venire of ninety-six men will be drawn. The trial of Hiles is set for May 19 and that of Wright for May 22.

It is stated that each of the men involved is prepared to put up a bitter fight for his freedom and on account of their wide acquaintance, it is believed that the hearings will draw crowds equal to any that have ever attended a criminal case in Reeves county.

Cupid Put to Flight.

The little blind goddess lost a decision last week on account of nerve failure of a would-be Lochinvar.

Accompanied by his bride-to-be, he mounted his steed (P. V. S.) and came out of the West, fully intending to return a happy benedict. An elaborate pre-nuptial banquet, tendered them by one of Pecos' leading business men, was partaken of heartily. They then wended their way toward "Cupid's Bower" annex to the county clerk's office. As the wedding party neared the Casa la Corta, the young man's knees began to quiver and to quake, and on the threshold his yellow streak was seen in all its mammoth proportions, and he refused to go further. Whether it was the thought of the high cost of living, or the dire vengeance of the laggard lover that deterred the near-bridegroom is not known, but in spite of the encouragement and pleading of the wedding party, the imitation Lochinvar would go no further, and the wedding has been indefinitely postponed.

After delivering about two thousand head of cattle to Slaughter of Pueblo, Mr. Joe Irving bought one hundred and fifty head of cattle from Mrs. J. L. Moore and one hundred and two head from Julius Eisenwine.—Toyah Valley Herald.

FINNEY DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

EVANGELIST PREACHING AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH ATTRACTING APPRECIATIVE ATTENTION HERE.

"Beyond the Devil's Reach" His Subject Sunday, Cause of Much Favorable Comment Among Auditors.

Crowds have filled the Baptist church of Pecos at every one of the sermons of Evangelist L. E. Finney since his opening remarks Sunday, when the subject was "Beyond the Devil's Reach." Eloquent to a striking degree, with a charming personality and magnetism of the highest type, the Rev. Mr. Finney has succeeded in drawing to his meetings not only members of the Baptist church, but scores from other denominations who have been won by his remarkably clear and simple, yet powerful exposition of the Gospel. And what, to the evangelist and church members generally has been the most satisfactory feature of the meetings, is the fact that large numbers of non-church goers have listened to the sermons with apparently as much interest as those already within the church.

Here are some of the remarks of Evangelist Finney in his opening sermon:

"There is a medley of opinions among men on the subject of regeneration. Armetians holding that we are saved by believing and performing certain duties, and that we are kept saved by our good works; some of them holding that there is a second work of Grace in which we are separated from the tendency to sin, and then all different shades of these beliefs, including salvation by works, apostasy, baptismal regeneration, sinlessness and salvation of the children of believing parents per se. Calvinists, so-called, hold that the new birth is of the Holy Spirit without ritualism or works, and that once born of the Spirit, the soul is as certain of final salvation as though already in Heaven. They hold that consecration is the yielding of the believer to the discovery and performance of the will of God, and that sanctification is God putting His approval upon His child and setting him apart for His service.

"The purpose of this discourse will be to set forth the doctrines of eternal salvation, sinlessness of the believer, and the relation of the saved soul to the body of the believer, as taught in God's Word."

The Rev. Mr. Finney then delved deeply into his subject, frequently quoting from the scriptures, showing himself a pastmaster as a Biblical student and interpreter. He declared: "Our bodies are not changed in regeneration, but they will be in resurrection." He continued:

"I grant you, yea, I urge upon you with all my heart, that no Christian can be really happy unless consecrated to God. God will not allow one of His children to be happy out of duty."

"I close with another scripture—I suppose that you have noticed that I have given you much more of God's Word than I have of my own—for the 'entrance of the word giveth light.' I close with this expression from 2 Cor. 7:1: 'Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.'"

The subject tonight will be "In His Service."

Fort Riley, Kan., April 28.—Acting upon orders received today from Washington, D. C., C battery, field artillery, is preparing to leave for Fort Bliss, Texas. One hundred and seventy-five men will go. The battery will leave as soon as it can entrain.

Lieutenant Collins, acting commandant at Fort Riley, said he did not know the reason for ordering the artillery to the south.

Cable reports tell of a military aeroplane flying 500 miles across the Sahara desert. Of course, distinguished war lords are thrilled and interested. But let's see. Texas can boast of a 500 mile furrow thrown across its plains country by the man behind the plow. And that 500-mile flight of the turning plow is now flanked by stacks of forage, little red barns and some silos. Take your choice of the two enterprises—but let Texas grow.—Star-Telegram.

And it is hardly necessary to add that Texas is growing, in fact, growing so fast that it is almost impossible for one part of the state to keep up with the developments in other sections—but let Texas grow.

Cuban cantaloupes are selling on the St. Louis market at $1.25 each. Wherefore the Republic admonishes: "Let us turn our minds to the contemplation of canned peaches." Why live out of a tin can when a liberal portion of a wholesome product, fresh with the morning dew, is to be had for a dime.—Star-Telegram.

And then it will only be a short time before the famous Pecos Valley Challenge Cantaloupe will be on the market, and if the Cuban is worth $1.25 the Challenge is worth $5. Let the Cubans go and later on try one of the Challenge and then the high price of living will not affect you for it is food fit for the gods.

The peach crop of Barstow is reported in good condition and no damage to amount to anything by reason of the recent frosts and cold snaps as was formerly reported.—Journal.

We are glad to hear that our neighbors across the river are so fortunate and hope there will be a bountiful crop harvested.

We received an invitation from the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico Press and Commercial Clubs association this week to be present at their organization to be held in Pecos May 5, 6 and 7, 1913. It is our intention to accept, but if we should fail to be there, it will be because we are very, very sick, or because the train auditor turns down our transportation check. We at least stamp our approval on the move, and believe it will be of great benefit to all West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.—Stanton Reporter.

Roswell is agitating the paving of Main street, the main business street of that progressive city of the Upper Valley. This will be one of the best of the many good movements of the city, as the very feel of the paving under one's feet gives them a feeling of progressiveness and energy that nothing else will. While Roswell has shown much progress during the past, there are some things in which it has stood still, and the paving of the business section is one of these. Of course it costs money to pave, but paving saves money. It goes away with the mud, in rainy weather, and the dust during the dry. By all means pave Main street.

West Texas and Eastern New Mexico Press and Commercial Clubs. There has been a general response from the various newspapers and commercial clubs of the western part of the state for the meeting and organization of this association.

So far, there has been very few of the papers or clubs of New Mexico who have signified their intention of attending the meeting.

However, there has been a sufficient number responded to the called to assure a successful organization and we again extend the invitation to both the Commercial clubs and newspapers of this entire territory to meet with us on the 5th day of May and organize an association for our mutual benefit, for what benefits one in this section will benefit all.

Come and you will have no cause to regret it.

A. W. Wigley and his brother, R. L. Wigley, deserve the thanks of this entire community for being the first parties to apply for practical purposes the split log drag process. For four miles, these gentlemen, on their own hook, gave a practical demonstration of what can be accomplished as far as good roads are concerned by the split log. The road operated on is as fine a piece of work as the mind can conceive. The process and equipment are simple, inexpensive, and it only requires the intelligence and application as evidenced by Messrs. Wigley to solve the road proposition in this county. There is no reason why that the entire county as far as the roads are concerned should not be placed in the same condition.—Troy Valley Herald.

ORGANIZATION OF PRESS AND COMMERCIAL CLUB.

A new organization for the up-building of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico has been launched and will come into formal existence on May 5, 6 and 7 at Pecos.

The new organization has been christened the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico Press and Commercial Clubs association. Its main object will be the encouragement of immigration into the territory defined; to encourage this result special attention will be paid to securing of better homeseeker rates and the dissemination of accurate and complete information among northern and eastern communities regarding this section of the United States.

An interesting and practical program has been arranged for the meeting at Pecos when concrete plans will be made for the work of the organization and ways and means devised for carrying them through. Secretary Carrington of the Midland Commercial Club, is on the program which includes also Hon. Louis J. Wortham, editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Hon. Richard Burges of El Paso and others.—Midland Reporter.

Communication. Pecos, Tex., April 28, 1913. Editor—Record Times.

Replying to your editorial and the organization of a troop of Boy Scouts in Pecos, will say on February 15, 1911, I was commissioned as Scout Master for Pecos, and given authority to organize as many troops as I could.

Within thirty days I had three patrols with eight boys in each patrol, leaders were elected by each patrol, and corporals appointed, and we went earnestly to work; about twenty of the number were in attendance at the weekly meetings regularly, and in May we had our first hikes. I do not remember the date, but it was a few days before the close of school. A full write-up of the hike appeared in the paper at the time.

One of the regulations of the national organization requires that a troop or patrol must be connected with and under the authority of some religious institution or denomination. As I am a Methodist I naturally reported our organization to headquarters as being under the auspices of my church, and this raised a good deal of criticism and opposition. Other opposition arose when it was proposed to uniform the boys in the national uniform and some of the parents objected to paying $2.50 for a uniform, and others would not permit their boys to earn the money themselves, as it took time from their studies, etc.

Others objected on the ground that it was a military organization and that the boys would be subject to military duty.

I tried to overcome these objections both privately and by running a series of explanatory articles in the local paper, but it did not do much good. About this time the school term ended and two of the patrol leaders went to the country; others went away on vacations, others moved away from Pecos, and after a final hike down the river we disbanded for the summer, intending to reorganize in the fall. The conference sent us a pastor who was not much in sympathy with the work and I found it impossible to do much, but I have been interrogated almost every day since that time as to when we will organize again. About fifteen of the boys stood the tenderfoot examination and were studying for second class scouts when we disbanded.

In my endeavors to organize a local council I met with very little encouragement from the prominent men of the city, all claiming that they did not have time, etc. At my request the national office wrote personal letters to several, but without result.

I stand today ready to surrender my credentials to anyone who will take the position of Scoutmaster and will help in any way to organize this troop again, as I believe it is the best means so far discovered to reach and hold the boys just when they need attention the most. I trust you will agitate the matter until the people realize its importance. And the presence of Brother Finney who I understand is a scout commissioner and will give us good advice and assistance in the work. Respectfully, R. E. LEE KITE, Scoutmaster Troop No. 1.

A DISCUSSION OF THE TEXAS MINING LAW.

(Clyde M. Becker, Mining Engineer)

It has been for a long time an open secret among mining men that Texas is a very promising undeveloped field. Surface indications in some districts held out promise of valuable minerals and Texas has a few paying mines. There are a few good coal fields, mostly undeveloped. The oil prospects are sufficiently promising to sorely tempt the wild-cater. And there are large deposits of gypsum, sulphur, sodium and potassium-nitrate.

For this reason when the Texas law makers recently set themselves the task of making a law which should govern every phase of the mineral development, their action was observed with more than usual interest by mining men, all over the country.

The law from the viewpoint of a mining man is a disappointment. It will prove the same to Texas, for it will fall short of its purpose, which I take to be the development of Texas mineral resources.

I base this statement upon the following facts: The law, is manifestly unfair in that all royalties demanded are gross. The state shows, absolutely no inclination to assist the developer, but in the case of oil, actually penalizes production by charging an acreage bonus after oil has been discovered. In the case of coal the law demands a minimum rate of $4 per acre, but puts no premium upon large production.

The law is unfair in that no title is ever granted to mineral lands, as in the case of homestead lands, but makes the miner a perpetual lease, a toiler never to be freed from the arbitrary conditions forced upon him in the beginning. The miner as well as the farmer desires to leave a heritage to his posterity.

This law excludes the large producer by limiting acreage or number of claims, then makes successful work impossible for the small developer by imposing hard conditions and demanding exorbitant royalties.

Take the bill as a whole, it looks as though Texas cared little for the developer of resource, so long as she gets his money. The miner must pay from the time he starts work until he quits, be that time long or short.

A surprising lack of knowledge of the hazard attendant upon the development of all natural resource is shown throughout the whole bill. The inexperience of the framers is evident from their description of the boundaries of a mining claim, which are described as being four vertical planes. One cannot help but wonder to whom a vein would belong when at the depth of a few hundred feet it had pitched or faulted beyond the confines of one of the vertical side planes. Of course veins may all cut straight down in Texas, but they do not do it in any other place on earth.

Such a bill can have but one result. Texas and Oklahoma investors will place their money elsewhere. Texas money is now developing mines all over the West. The Sea Bird Gold Mining company with which I am connected, is composed chiefly of Texas and Oklahoma men, who naturally look toward Southwest Texas as a field for future operation, but who will while the present condition lasts, continue to pour their thousands into the mountains of Colorado.

It is not as though Texas were the only field for operation, for every state in the West is doing everything in its power to interest outside capital. Mining men will go where they are wanted and where the law protects them. Oil men will not pay for the privilege of wildcating from fifty to two hundred miles from production, with the only hope that if they do develop oil they will be able to enrich the school fund of the state of Texas.

I note this bill is called an emergency bill. It occurs to me that the emergency is now greater than before.

The Pecos Drug Company will refund your money without question if you are not thoroughly satisfied.

Go to the Pecos Drug Company, whom you are acquainted with—and find out about the great number of people who are taking this remarkable remedy and feeling better, keener, healthier, and better able to enjoy life than they ever were when taking calomel.

Why? Because calomel is a poison—one that may stay in the system, and while seeming to benefit you temporarily, may do harm in the end. If you haven't felt these ill effects so far, it is because you are fortunate enough to have a strong constitution.

Don't take the risk any longer. Get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic (50¢) and note how easily and naturally it corrects all bilious conditions, how it clears away that sick headache and coated tongue, how it sets you right without ache or gripe. The most wonderful thing in the world for constipation.

All this without the slightest interference with your regular habits.

What is Happiness?

Happiness is the greatest paradox in nature. It can grow in any soil, live under any conditions. It defies environment. It comes from within. It is the revelation of the depths of the inner life as light and heat proclaim the sun from which they radiate. Happiness consists not of having, but of being; not of possessing, but of enjoying. It is the warm glow of a heart at peace within itself. A martyr at the stake may have happiness that a king on his throne might envy. Man is the creator of his own happiness. It is the aroma of a life lived in harmony with high ideals. For what a man has he may depend on others; what he is rests with him alone. What he obtains in life is but acquisition; what he attains is growth. Happiness is the soul's joy in possession of the intangible.—Wm. Geo. Jordan.

GOOD MAP ENGRAVERS SCARCE. United States Geological Survey Would Like to Get Some.

JUST "DOPE."

Of course it is a little too early in the season to be making predictions in regard to the final outcome of the race in any of the numerous leagues. But, even at this time, we can see that a whole lot of the dope that we have been absorbing while the teams were being whipped into shape, has gone off on a tangent.

The Giants have pre-empted first place, and, to judge by the stride of their twirlers, chances are all that they will finish there.

The New York Americans, even under the charge of the "Peerless Leader" Chance, have so far proven a farce. The fans of Gotham, who are the most loyal in the world, are in despair.

No team in the majors ever played under such a hoodoo as did the Athletics last year. They had a jinx that was a veritable demon for work, and it was on the job every day, at home and abroad.

It's toss-up to see who will be in the lead in the Texas league on the morrow. The boys are putting up the genuine article in baseball, as they generally do.

Like the Texas league, the T.-O. is giving the fans the worth of their money every time, and the chances are that no such luck as that which made them disband last year will happen.

Last Thursday the St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Braves battled twelve long innings, the wind-up favoring Boston, 1 to 0.

The New York Giants were horn-swoggled out of a game in a peculiar way the other day. It was an eleven-inning struggle in which two of the most promising youngsters of the majors opposed each other.

Cy Young, the Grand Old Man of baseball, just simply can't break away from the game. He has signed with the Federal League, which is a brand new organization which will open the season in May.

Nearly every little town that has fifty or more population is making preparations to maintain a ball team of some kind.

WOMEN AT WASHINGTON DEMANDING SUFFRAGE.

Mrs. Anna Howard Shaw Leads Party to Halls of Congress to Demand Law of Universal Ballot.

Washington, April 26.—Suffragists for the second time in a week stormed the capitol to argue why women should have the ballot and be admitted to suffrage on the same plane as men, through the adoption of a constitutional amendment.

Chief among those to plead for universal suffrage was Mrs. Anna Howard Shaw, and ably seconded by Miss Helen Varrick Boswell, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, wife of the former pure food advocate; Mrs. William Kent, wife of a representative from California, and several others.

Two senators, Shaforth of Colorado and Brady of Idaho and the wives of two members of the upper house of congress also were ready to advance arguments for the "cause."

Mrs. LaFollette argued that women were as vitally interested in tariff legislation as the men, and declared every important piece of legislation in the last twenty-five years had interested women.

Tariff and Women's Vote.

"If the tariff affects the price of what we eat and what we wear, if the trusts and combinations have anything to do with the high cost of living, women should understand about it," said Mrs. LaFollette.

"Women do the buying. Ninety per cent of $10,000,000,000 paid out annually in the United States for food, clothing and shelter is spent by women."

No Radical Changes.

Mrs. LaFollette said she was not one of those who believed that equal suffrage would bring about any immediate radical changes, and declares the real issue is whether it was in the interest of home and of society, which she maintained it was.

Mrs. Helen V. Boswell argued that a federal law would be the quickest and surest way to procure equal suffrage.

Mrs. Shaw's Argument.

Dr. Shaw made the concluding argument.

"We are not afraid of the ladies who are going up and down the land opposing suffrage," she said. "They are just enough in number so that by holding out their skirts they can make a screen for the men operating dens of vice and iniquity and prostitution to hide behind."

"Of course we all know that equal suffrage is coming; the only question is in what form?"

Farm Pests.

The meek and lowly jack rabbit and the pestiferous prairie dog are unassuming members of the animal kingdom in Texas, but they manage to cost the farmers and ranchmen of Western Texas thousands of dollars every year and the amount of growing most alarmingly.

The meek and lowly jack rabbit and the pestiferous prairie dog are unassuming members of the animal kingdom in Texas, but they manage to cost the farmers and ranchmen of Western Texas thousands of dollars every year and the amount of growing most alarmingly.

To Keep Off the Rabbits.

In the early spring, when garden plants are just coming up, rabbits frequently do much damage. Here is a certain method of killing them: Take a supply of sweet potatoes, turnips or some other vegetable that rabbits are fond of and bury them at intervals throughout the garden, leaving a small part exposed.

Uplift Slang.

Gee-whiz! Wouldn't that gether goat, hev? Why, that new course in education in Hamline university, St. Paul, you know. They're going to give the class in rhetoric a course in slang—teach 'em what "week," "gink," "zoop," and such words mean and how to sling slang with dexterity and dispatch.

Valuable Protein Foods.

Eat crackers and eggs, drink milk, and be strong and healthy.

This is not a diet for invalids nor for infants, although it would be good in either case. It is sufficient for athletes, for lumbermen, for farmers, for anyone who does hard work, involving the constant use of his muscles.

Muscle tissue is formed from the protein in foods. Crackers, milk and eggs are representative protein foods. To be sure, milk and eggs contain an appreciable amount of fat, and crackers furnish some starch, but the principal constituent of all of them is protein. And it is present in a form very quickly and easily digested.

Many foods contain protein. Meat, cereals, flour—especially whole-wheat flour—cheese, nuts, beans, peas and macaroni are some of the principal protein foods. But in the case of each the protein is contained in a form harder for the body to digest and use.

Half a pound of crackers, two eggs, and a quart of milk is a good day's ration, so far as its food value is concerned. As a steady diet for a lifetime, it might prove unsatisfactory, not because of insufficiency, but because of its monotony. The body craves variation in its food and is thought to perform its functions better if the food eaten is really enjoyed.

None of these three articles of food gives the body a large excess of waste matter to be thrown off; nor do they tax the organs of digestion with solids which are difficult to break up.—The Kansas Industrialist.

Odd Geographical Facts.

The following list of odd things about the earth that the average person does not know was compiled by Prof. Whitebeck of the University of Wisconsin:

Did you know— That Cuba would reach from New York to Chicago?

That Texas is larger than Germany and as large as 212 Rhode Islands?

That the entire continent of South America lies further east than Florida? The Venice, Italy, and Montreal, Canada, are in about the same latitude?

That the Pacific end of the Panama Canal is farther east than the Atlantic end?

That the mouth of the Amazon River is as near to Europe as it is to New York?

That, when measured in degrees of longitude, San Francisco is about in the middle of the United States, including Alaska?

That if an express train had started out from the earth for the planet Neptune at the birth of Christ, and had traveled 60 miles an hour day and night ever since, it would not yet be half way there?

That, if the southern end of Chile, South America, were placed at Florida that single country would extend northward entirely across the United States and Canada and half way across the Hudson Bay?—National Harrows Review.

Of a Social Nature

Miss Elizabeth Zimmer entertained about twenty couples of the younger social set on Friday night at Zimmer Hall with a dancing party. The decorations were very unique and beautiful, being a color scheme of gold and white. The programs were tied with white and gold ribbons and pencils, and had the monogram of the hostess engraved in gold letters. Delicious fruit punch was served throughout the evening from a bower of yellow and white Killarney roses. The punch bowl was charmingly presided over by Misses Fay Capps, Ethel Zimmer and Messrs. Shady Hall and Macey Haygood. From the west wall was suspended an electrically lighted moon which peeped through the branches of an evergreen bower. During the two moonlight dances the lights were extinguished, and the moon, furnishing the light, winked at the dancers, causing much amusement. A Mexican orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

At 9:30 o'clock the grand march was led by the hostess and Mr. Prentiss Martin, and they were assisted by Miss Frances Zimmer and Tommie Harrison, and Miss Lily Pearl Buchholz and Grover Parker.

The chaperons of the evening were Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Zimmer.

Mrs. H. H. Sevier, formerly Miss Clara Driscoll, who it will be remembered three years ago, saved the Alamo site from being sold and used as a business property, by purchasing it and presenting it to the state, with the provision that it should be improved by the Daughters of the Republic with the governor's approval, is now engaged in a heated controversy with that gentleman over the use of a part of it. The Daughters whom Mrs. Sevier represents wish to have a Spanish garden on the site, but the governor vigorously objects, hence the trouble. Mrs. Sevier states that the Daughters will use their influence against Governor Colquitt if he should run for a seat in the United States senate.

HOBAN ITEMS.

The little 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Greer developed lockjaw from a splinter in its foot, and all efforts of doctors failed to save the little fellow, who passed away last Wednesday. He was brought to Pecos for burial.

Prof. Welborn made a business trip to Fort Stockton Friday.

Quite a number of the people of this place went to New Hope last Sunday and attended divine services that were held at that place.

Mrs. H. T. Collier, who has been spending several days with friends at Pecos, returned home Monday.

What threatened to be a disastrous fire in the home of S. A. Shellenberger was averted by the prompt action of Mrs. Shellenberger and her daughter Alma. The fire started in one of the bed rooms, and before it could be got under control destroyed a goodly amount of bed clothing. The fire started among some mattresses which had been bought that day, and it is supposed that a match was in the wrappings, and in handling it was in some way touched off. With the assistance of some workmen nearby the fire was extinguished before serious damage was done.

Dallas, April 25.—A charge of murder was preferred with the county attorney here today against James Delsworth, a negro 10 years old.

The Delsworth boy threw a rock at Eddie McMullin, also 10 years old, striking him in the head. The McMullin boy died today, it is alleged, from the effects of the blow which caused concussion of the brain.

Four Rules of Life.

First: If possible, be well and have a good appetite. If these conditions are yours, the battle is already half won. Many soul and heart troubles arise really in the stomach, though it may seem strange to you.

Second: Be busy. Fill the hours so full of useful and interesting work that there shall be no time for dwelling on your trouble, that the day shall dawn full of expectations, the night fall full of repose.

Third: Forget yourself. You never will be happy if your thoughts constantly dwell upon yourself, your own imperfections, your short-comings, what people think of you and so on.

Fourth: Trust in God. Believe that God is, that He really knows what is best for you; believe this truly, and the bitterness is gone from life.—The Australian Farm Journal.
