VOLUME XXVI.

NUMBER SIXTY-EIGHT.

PECOS, TEXAS, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1913.

$1.00 PER YEAR.

WATER SYSTEM BONDS CARRY

Though Light, Was Practically Unanimous for the Issue.

A light vote was cast last Saturday at the water bond election there being only 110 votes cast: 107 for and 3 against the issue of the bonds. The people of Pecos believe in the old adage, "United we stand, divided we fall." It will soon be the case of Pecos that "she has sewer water works system."

Ladies Decide to Have the Church Floored

The Ladies' Missionary Society (of the M. E. Church), held their monthly tea with Mrs. Jesse Ward.

A number of the members of the society were present and a pleasant afternoon was spent in conversation and dainty finger-work.

Sullivan & Couch Gin Enlarged

Messrs. Sullivan & Couch, our enterprising, hustling ginners, have greatly improved their gin in Pecos. They have built an addition to their building 20x22x32 feet, added 70 saw Munger gin stand, a double box, self-packing press and conveyers. With the equipment they now have they are in position to handle any amount of cotton that will be brought in to them in a strictly up-to-date manner.

Shipping Some Alfalfa

The Pecos Valley Southern Railway train took out 15 cars to the Wash Valley Monday morning to be loaded with the famous "Pecos alfalfa" from the Valley.

Building a New Barn

J. S. Sisk, one of Pecos' farmers, is building a good barn on his ranch at Sargent. It is 22x40 feet and will be finished in a few weeks.

New Office for Judges

A new office is arranged at Reeves County Courthouse for the Federal, District and County Judges.

THIRD ANNUAL REEVES COUNTY FAIR CLOSED LAST WEEK FRIDAY--A SUCCESS

We Give Below a List of the Premiums Awarded in the Different Departments--The Result of the Race Card We Could Not Get for this Issue

The Reeves County Fair opened its gates on the morning of the 16th and one of the largest crowds of people that has ever attended the Fair during the first day, was on the grounds, and each day since, has been a grand success in every way. Many special features could be given if we only had the time and space to do so.

The Agricultural Hall, under the management of Mrs. J. W. Moore and her assistants, had one of the greatest exhibits of fancy-work ever gotten together in the West, the cooking especially having been commented upon by all the ladies present.

The Ladies' Missionary Society (of the M. E. Church), held their monthly tea with Mrs. Jesse Ward.

A number of the members of the society were present and a pleasant afternoon was spent in conversation and dainty finger-work.

A new office is arranged at Reeves County Courthouse for the Federal, District and County Judges.

all the affairs of the Reeves County Fair Association, and we hope that we shall make the sufferance of those interested, in order to give the directors and officers a little time to get this matter arranged.

SAMPLES OF DRY FARMING

Reeves County Soil is as Rich as Any Found in Any Country in the World

W. R. Jackson, of Mont Clair, sent to The Times office, this week a sample of his dry farming which clearly demonstrates the fact that good farm products can be grown in this country if a man will go at it. The sample of maize that he sent down cannot be beaten anywhere, and it was grown on first year's land. The Indian white corn is large, well developed and is well filled out, and would do credit to any part of Texas. The sample looks like it could go about 40 bushels to the acre.

This country is fast forging to the front. All we need is a good farmer who are willing to push out and make their bread by the sweat of their faces.

The Commercial Club Meeting is Postponed

The annual meeting of the Pecos Commercial Club will not be held the night of October 3rd, but will be called the latter part of the month or the first of November. Notice will be given all those interested, at a later date.
R. M. HARKEY, Sec'y.

Solomon Pace

Last week our town was shocked when the news was given out that "Sol Pace" was familiarly known, was dead. Though sixty-eight years of age when he was last seen by his Pecos friends, he was in fine health. The illness that caused his death was of short duration. On Friday, September 12, he suffered a stroke of apoplexy and died the following Monday. Mr. Pace was born in Georgia. He came to Pecos in 1883, and remained here until February of last year when he moved with his family to Ft. Worth. His remains were brought here for burial. Short services were conducted at the grave by Homer L. Magee, and all that was needed of our friend was committed to the dust in Fairview Cemetery, Tuesday afternoon, September 16.
Another of the old Confederate veterans has passed away. One by one they have gone "til the men in the ranks are few." His old comrades and friends will miss him, but soon they, too, will pass through the gates of death.

These friends, he leaves a wife, daughter, Mrs. Will R. Glasscock, and granddaughters, Miss Margaret Glasscock. Life to them will be a constant remembrance of their father's life and his death.

New People in Pecos

Mr. B. C. Hatch and children arrived in Pecos Tuesday from El Paso, New Mexico, and his wife has a band who has been here for some days.

This worthy family are now located in the Billie Giblin residence on Third Street in the Western portion of the city which was recently vacated by Judge Wilson and family. The Times most heartily joins in giving these new people a welcome among us and trust that they may never have cause to regret having cast their lot with the Pecosites.
NOTE--On account of our Linotype blocking, we could not get up the Agriculture Department premium list as awarded.

WHEN YOUR LIVER GOES WRONG

Nearly Everybody Needs a Liver Stimulant at One Time or Another

Nearly everybody now and then is annoyed with a sluggish liver or by constipation or by biliousness. It is for this reason that Dodson's Liver Tone is such a good medicine to keep always in the house.

There Was A Reason

Someone remarked that many an innocent act hid an ulterior motive, whereat Senator William P. Jackson of Maryland smiled.

Recently according to the Senator, a sturdy citizen was sitting on the front porch with a friend. Within the parlor the piano was going at full speed.

"Say, Jim," said the caller, as he bent over in order to make himself heard, "is that your daughter playing that piano?"

"Yes," replied the sturdy citizen, with a covert smile, "Some music, ain't it?"

"It certainly is," admitted the caller, "Does she always play as strenuously as that?"

"Oh, no," replied the parent. "You see she has got a young man in the parlor, and she's bounding out that music so as to drown the sound of her mother washing the dishes."

"Have you heard your wife lecture?"

"I should say so," replied Mr. Meekton. "I want to say that I have heard Henrietta do a whole lot of lecturing that the public never get a chance to listen to." The Washington Star.

"How did Calkins get the right to stick that 'Hon' in front of his name? He never was in Congress, was he?"

"No, but he once impersonated a member of Congress over the telephone." Buffalo Express.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE APPROVED

Many Texas Girls are Compelled to Go North and East to Finish Their Education.

That no city was ever burdened with too many educational institutions, that the institutions of higher learning are regarded as among the chief assets of any city, and that the real city spirit is for an increased number of institutions of higher learning was very forcibly illustrated Monday when a Record representative sought interviews from some of the leading business men of the city regarding the proposed Woman's college, taking the place of the Polytechnic college, which closes its career with the present year as a co-educational institution.

The idea of a great Woman's college especially adapted and arranged for women, a Woman's college with a standard curriculum and conferring the regular collegiate degrees and having special departments of piano, voice, violin, art, and expression that will have no superiors in the South; a Woman's college with the department of industrial features arranged after the most approved plans and methods, this kind of a woman's college has met with popular approval and high favor among the business men of Fort Worth.

Men of every calling and vocation; ministers, lawyers, judges, merchants, bankers and doctors, almost enthusiastically endorsed and welcomed the idea of a great Woman's college. Without exception, they are great believers in the splendid institutions of learning already in the city, and they are as hearty in favor of the proposed Woman's college.

Former mayor, W. D. Harris was the first man approached and in his characteristic style said:

"No one can estimate the great benefits of a great Woman's college for Fort Worth and surrounding country. I desire to express my high appreciation of Dr. H. A. Bryan, he is one of the leading thinkers, preachers and advocates in Texas." Judge Ivey Duncanson of the court of civil appeals said:

"I like the idea of a Woman's college. Many of our young women go North only for lack of a great Woman's College in the State. With our splendid institutions already in operation, and the addition of a great Woman's college, the city of Fort Worth will stand on the map."

Ben O. Smith, president of the Farmers' and Merchants National Bank, said:

"Yes, I am in favor of the proposed Woman's college. According to the plans mapped out the advantage and benefits are numerous and it will be a great thing for the city."

George C. Clifford, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and general manager of the Northern Texas Traction Co., said:

"It will be a great thing for Fort Worth, especially when we consider that the entire Methodist Church in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico is behind the movement. I like the idea and am heartily in favor of it."

Leon Gross, president of Washier Bros., said:

"We regard our present institutions of higher learning as among our chief assets. With the addition of the Woman's college many of the choice young women of the Southwest will come to our city and the benefits thus derived will be numerous. From the commercial, social and intellectual standpoint I am glad that another institution is to be projected."

W. G. Nowly, president of the American National Bank, said:

"Great advantages in every way. Strikes me as being more relying and elevating than any other character of an institution. I am heartily in favor of the Woman's college." Mayor R. E. Milan said:

"I'm glad to know of the proposed Woman's college. We have a number of great co-educational schools both in the city and in the State, but no really great Woman's college. From the standpoint of commercial advantages, a Woman's college is ahead of all institutions. Every man in the city should be proud of such a proposition and lend all possible encouragement."

New York, September 21.—Quarterly of mathematical possibilities now stand between the Athletics and the pennant in their respective leagues. Today will see Connie Mack's team past the point that will give the pennant, even if they lose all the remaining games. It is not many days and Mack's squad will be in a like fix, with no possible chance of losing. The completion last week of the Cleveland rout and the failure of the Phillies to do better than even in a week when they close up on their rivals, if the pennant race in the two leagues is about over. The Giants may be expected in a week to play their hardest game at the earliest possible moment. Likewise the Athletics are expected to make an early effort to be clear. The quicker the two teams complete this process the more time left to groom the teams, particularly the boxmen. The world's series to be staged at the Polo Grounds and at Shibe park early next month. Among the rest of the clubs remains many a pretty fight. Position some of which may be decided until the season's close. In particular the Cleveland-Washington battle for first place in the American circuit is exciting keen interest. The Philadelphia Nationals even though they have failed to maintain a steady enough pace to bring them up to the flag-winning point, nevertheless have made a fine run of the season, and are not threatened with the loss of second place. Pittsburg seems settled in the second place, something of a drop in last year's second berth, but Boston and Brooklyn are having a tussle to decide who shall be leader in the second division. The Dodgers had the call at the end of the last playing week by a point margin. The Boston bers have not been holding up and as a consequence they did make any advance. Hess is only one who has been going. Cincinnati has been going 500 clip lately and has a good chance to vet and the second division. St. Louis seems to be hopelessly moored to the cellar station. St. Paul, however, will be given a chance to redeem himself in 1914.

past two weeks. The Senators, in our opinion, now has the best-looking pitching staff in either of the leagues. Johnson has added four victories to his long string during the past two weeks, while Groom has been pitching good ball, and Love, a recruit, has been showing some class in the few try-outs he has had.

Johnson, by the way is amassing a notable total of victories his marker for last Saturday making his record for the year thirty-four victories against seven defeats—the string of victories already equaling Joe Wood's great total in 1912.

Among the other American league clubs Chicago and Boston are only about three games apart, and fourth place looks like a toss-up between them with the odds in favor of the Red Sox. The past Sox, chiefly through the work of Collins and Bedient in the box, with Speaker going at a great clip at the bat. Tris' batting performances are being closely watched, the last unofficial averages showing him only 7 points behind Joe Jackson and 12 back of Cobb.

That Chance will not be found in the last notch is now a settled fact, as the performances of his men during the past month put them in seventh place, where it is likely they will finish. The St. Louis Browns have fallen into the last place and their case seems to be hopeless.

Upon Matty and Chief Bender depends the outcome of the world's series, says a newspaper. If the luck that has dogged Matty in the other series shows up this year he won't cut much ice.

In figures just come to light, we see that Higginbotham and Hainlip, of the Denison team of the T.O. league are tied for premier honors, with a percentage of .769 each.

It is no longer who will win the pennant but who do you pick to win the world's championship?

The experts, as usual, are comparing the Giants and the Athletics but it will be safer not to take their advice when placing your bets.

Though the Athletics are reported to notice that they are heavy favorites in many localities.

Fandom are wondering just what part Morkle and Snodgrass are going to play in the coming series.

In the American Magazine David Grayson writes a new "Adventure in Contentment," in which he makes the following comments: "I like all kinds of signs. The autocratic warnings of the road, the musts and the most nots of traffic. I observe in passing; and I often stand long at the crossings and look up at the finger posts and consider my limitless wealth as a traveler. Be this road I may, at my own pleasure, reach the great city; by that—who knows?—the fair wonders of Cathay. And I respond always to this appeal which the devoted pilgrim paints on the rocks at the roadside: 'Repent ye, for the kingdom of God is at hand,' and, though I am certain that the kingdom of God is already here, I stop always and repent—just a little—knowing that there is always room for it. At the entrance of the little towns, also, or in the squares of the villages, I stop often to read the signs of taxes assessed, or of political meetings; I see the evidences of homes broken up in the notices of auction sales and of families bereaved in the dry and formal publication of the probate court. I pause, too, before the signs of amusements flaming red and yellow on the barns (Boys, the circus is coming to town!), and I pause also, but no longer, to read the silent signs carved in stone in the little cemeteries as I pass. Symbols, you say? Why, they're the very stuff of life. If you cannot see life here in the wide road, you will never see it at all."

Some Home Made Remedies for Colds

The following recipe is recommended after years of use: One pound each of figs and loaf sugar, one tablespoon each of flaxseed and boneset. Boil the figs, flaxseed and boneset in a quart of water until the figs are white. After straining add the sugar, boiling to a thick syrup.

A substitute for camphorated oil may be made of a piece of flannel saturated with spirits of camphor, laid on the chest and covered with a dry flannel. It imparts a pleasant sensation of warmth without fear of blistering, besides being cleaner than oil.

When a cold is felt in the throat or chest a North Carolina subscriber melts together one tablespoon each of turpentine, camphor gum and lard. After rubbing the chest with this a hot flannel cloth is then placed over it.

Rub Eucalyptus oil on the throat chest and back just before retiring. Cover the same parts with hot flannel. Keep well protected and out of drafts after the application.

For a chronic bronchial cough here is a recipe said to be especially helpful: One ounce each of horse-hound and yellow dock, over which is poured a quart and a half of boiling water. Simmer for three hours adding water as it boils away. Strain, adding a pound and a half small tablespoonful may be taken several times a day.—Smyth.

C. McBride, No. 1221, on the Civil Docket of said Court, and will be heard on the 17th day of November, 1913, and show cause why judgment shall not be rendered condemning said land and ordering sale and foreclosure thereof for said taxes and costs of suit.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Pecos, Texas, this 8th day of September, A. D. 1913.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Reeves County, greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon the heirs of W. H. Berglan, deceased, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for eight successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Reeves County, to be holden at the courthouse thereof, in the town of Pecos, on the third Monday in November, A. D. 1913, the same being the 17th day of November, A. D. 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 4th day of September, A. D. 1913, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 1218, wherein J. N. Newell is plaintiff, and Bert Barnard, et al., including the unknown heirs of W. H. Berglan, deceased, are defendants, and said petition alleging:

That W. H. Berglan died in March, 1912, survived by Jodie Berglan, his widow, and other heirs unknown to plaintiff, and plaintiff has been unable to ascertain their names. On September 29, 1911, W. R. Newell sold and transferred to Leonard Vanderhoofven two sections of land described as follows: Sections Nos. 30 and 34, in block No. 50, T-p. 7, T. & P. Ry. Co. surveys, in Reeves County, Texas, and as part of the consideration therefor retained a vendor's lien to secure the payment of two notes of $225.00 each, dated September 29, 1911, payable January 21, 1913, and 1914, respectively, bearing interest at the rate of six and one half per cent per annum, payable annually, providing that a failure to pay either note or interest thereon matured all said notes at election of holder, and providing for 10 per cent interest on all past due interest, and providing for 10 per cent attorney's fees. W. R. Newell thereafter sold said notes to plaintiff before maturity for a valuable consideration. Defendants failed and refused to pay said notes, and plaintiff has declared both of them due and placed them in the hands of Buck & Starley, attorneys, for collection. Said lands are public school lands on which there is in interest due the State of Texas on November 1st, of each year. Defendants failed and refused to pay such interest for the years 1911 and 1912, and plaintiff was forced to pay same, amounting in the aggregate to $131.04, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from February 17, 1913, the date of such payment, and which the plaintiff alleges to be a lien on said land.

Plaintiff alleges that Bert Barnard, John J. Samuel, Leonard Vanderhoofven, C. B. Harbert, and his wife, Lou Harbert, and W. H. Berglan each in succession bought interests in said land and secured deeds of conveyance thereto holding subsequent to the said conveyance from W. R. Newell to said Leonard Vanderhoofven, and that each of them had notice of said debt from Newell to Vanderhoofven and of the vendor's lien retained to secure the payment of the vendor's lien notes above described. Plaintiff alleges that the heirs of W. H. Berglan, now deceased, are unknown to him, and that the property hereinabove described was granted or accrued to the said heirs, as such, of said W. H. Berglan, deceased, and that the plaintiff has a claim against them relative to said property, as above set out, and he brings action against them, their heirs or legal representatives as the heirs of W. H. Berglan, deceased, and in accordance with Art. 1875 Rev. C. Stat. of the State of Texas, makes and files oath that the names of such heirs are unknown to plaintiff, and asks that the clerk issue a citation for such heirs as provided by law.

Plaintiff prays for judgment for his debt upon said notes, interest and attorney's fees, and also for the sum of $131.04, with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from February 17, 1913; for foreclosure of his vendor's lien and his lien securing said last named sum and for order of sale, and for decree barring all claims of all said defendants including the heirs of W. H. Berglan, deceased, and for general and equitable relief, for costs of suit.

Herein fail not but have before said court at its aforesaid next regular term this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed same.

Given under my hand and the Seal of said court at office in Pecos Texas this 4th day of September A. D. 1913.

(Seal) WILLIE DE WOODS, Clerk District Court, Reeves County, Texas.

A SPLENDID MOVE

We notice that the pastor of the Methodist church at Stephenville has inaugurated a "Men's Campaign" in order to increase the attendance of men at the Sunday School and Church services.

It is a splendid movement, one which should be adopted in every church in every community. There are also other too many men who are not attending Divine services.

Kirksey-Thomason

Word has been received here of the marriage of S. F. Kirksey, Sr., and Mrs. Rosa Ward Thomason, of Pecos, Texas, the early part of the week.

Mrs. Kirksey is well known in this city, where she has often visited. A woman of exceptionally brilliant intellectual attainments, highly cultured and gifted in many ways, she numbers her friends by the hundreds throughout the State.

Any comment as to Mr. Kirksey's prominence as a former citizen of Waco would seem almost superfluous. He was for many years one of the leading business men in this community, being a leader in all enterprises calculated to advance Waco's prestige and progress.

The Merchant's Message

To successfully advertise, the merchant must create an impression that is favorable and lasting. To secure a permanent impression the merchant's ad should occupy the same position in the local paper every issue.

Federal Game Laws

Austin, Texas.—In answer to the many inquiries, Chief Deputy Game Fish and Oysters Commissioner, J. D. Cox, has written the following letter:

The Congress of the United States has passed a protective game law last March. It provides for rules and regulations to be made by the Department of Agriculture. These rules and regulations have been made and are effective on and after October 1, 1913.

By these regulations geese, ducks, swan, rails, cranes, curlew, plover sandpipers, snipe, willet, woodcock, yellow-legs, pigeons and doves are classed as migratory game birds, and the closed seasons against the killing of them are as follows:

Geese, ducks and brant, January 16 to October 1 of each year; rails, December 1 to September 1, next following; woodcock, January 1 to November 1; shore birds, including black-breasted and golden plover, jack-snipe, wilson snipe, greater and lesser yellow legs, December 16 to September 1, next following.

These regulations for killing of geese and ducks are not effective any time during the year 1913.

It is unlawful to kill any kind of migratory birds after sunset and before sunrise all the time.

There is a closed season until September 1, 1913, against killing the following migratory game birds: Band tailed pigeons, little brown sand and whooping cranes, swan, curlew and all shore birds except the black-breasted and golden plover, wilson and jack snipes, woodcock and the greater and lesser yellow legs.

Under the Federal laws, it is unlawful to kill migratory insectivorous birds, and by this law the following are designated as such birds: Bobolink, catbirds, flycatchers, grasshoppers, humming birds, kinglets, martins, meadow larks, night hawks or ball bats, nut hatches, orioles, robins, shrikes, swallows, titmice, thrushes, vireos, warblers, weewings, whippoorwills, woodpeckers, and wrens.

The Federal game laws do not in any way relate to game animals, and therefore laws and regulations for killing them in Texas are wholly under State laws.

While doves and wild pigeons of all kinds are included in the Federal law's list of migratory game birds there is no specific closed or open season designated for them, except the band-tailed-pigeon and the regulation for killing doves and pigeons will be those of the State law.

Under the State law the open season for killing quail and doves begins November 1, and closes on January 31. There is no closed season on the whitewing and big blue mexican pigeons, under the State law, and no closed season for them under the Federal regulations as yet.

The Way of a Woman

Foolishly he asked her for a kiss, naturally she said "no," bravely he took it anyway, angrily she put him away; scornfully she told him what she thought of such action, and meekly he stood for the same old bluff.

"I am surprised and mad at you," she said, and she looked every bit of it. "I didn't think a gentleman would do such a thing; and now if you are going to stay here this evening, I don't want you to even touch me, but let us sit here and talk like sensible people."

Thoroughly cowed, he agreed. Seeing that she had carried her little bluff too far, and he was taking her seriously, she made use of a bright idea.

"Will you promise to be good now?" she asked.

"Yes." "Well let's shake on it," solemnly they shook hands.

"Now," she said, with a cunning and meaning little twinkle in her eye, "you have touched me already and have broken your promise. So being as you have gone that far you might go ahead and break the rest of the agreement."

Curious—Roy Bookor in Judge.

"Out of a job, are you, Flaxy?" "Yes, they got my scalp finally." "How long had you held that office?"

"About thirty years and its pretty tough at my age to have to take up some new occupation to make a living."

"Haven't you got enough to live on?" "I should say not." (Looking at him in disgust.) "Flaxy you make me tired! You are not fit to hold a public office!" —Chicago Tribune.

People Will Talk

Yes, people will talk, The saying is true, They will talk about me, And they will talk about you.

If we go to an opera Some people will say We ought to go to church, And learn how to pray.

If we go to church And offer up prayers, They say we are hypocrites, And putting on airs.

If we are rich They call us a thief, Scoff at our sorrows, And laugh at our griefs.

If we are poor They say we shirk, We are always lazy, And never would work.

They talk of our loved ones, They talk of our foes, They talk of our follies, They talk of our woes.

They talk of our futures, They talk of our past, And if we are happy, They say it can't last.

They talk of our smiles, They talk of our tears, They talk of our joys, They talk of our fears.

They talk if we are single, They talk if we wed, They'll talk of us living, And they'll talk of us dead.

Tho we live like angels, In circum-psect walk, Our efforts are useless, For people will talk.

—J. R. Jenkins.

An Electric Ball Game

My wife was a "fan," I said I would "meter" and we'd motor to th game. She was "transformed" into smiles and adjusting her "switch," and my "line" of thought was right "in step" with hers.

At the park the crowd didn't "phase" us. "Alternating" momentarily as where to sit down, we then quickly made a "direct circuit" around half the grandstand and toward the "wire" screen back of the plate.

The "batteries" are announced, and the game was on.

The hitting was "right" until the last of the ninth and the score was a blank, when the first man up "poles" a hit to legit.

There was an under "current" of excitement when the second man went to bat. But he "grounded" out to first.

The third man got his "lambs" on the ball and "ares" over second, while the first man up completes the "circuit" "electrifying" the the crowd, which "charged" upon the field, giving unrestrained vent to its suddenly released "energy."

Non-Feaze-Able

I am ceasing to criticize—I use the word in its present degenerate sense of fault-finding—because my complaints have not been productive of one iota of good. Moreover, they have always been ungraciously received either by the person whom my sympathy I was depending upon.

Those whose good I have sought have not listened to me.

"Minnie," I said to my maid whose stupid looks had become a trial to be endured no longer in silence, "do you know that you go about with your mouth open?"

"Yes'm," answered Minnie stolidly, "I opened it."

I have been rudely treated when my motive was purely unselfish.

"Madame," said I to a stranger in a city shop, "your belt is unfastened."

"That," answered the lady, "is the way I wish it to be." —Atlantic.

The Man Who Wants To Be A Farmer

It is strange, but true nevertheless, that the greatest advancement in the line of scientific farming is being made not by the man who is a farmer by gift and inheritance, but by the man who wants to be a farmer—one who gets his knowledge first and then proceeds to apply it.

There is a great movement on hand for better farming methods, but the initiative is coming from the cities and town and from the centers of knowledge is a mighty good thing, but when it is not backed by scientific information it is of little worth. It is better than theoretical knowledge without practical experience.

The best farmer in the world is the one who having the practical experience adds the scientific knowledge that tells him why he does things. He is then master of the situation. The next best farmer is the man who wants to be a farmer and begins with the foundation of scientific knowledge—then adds experience.

Natural Gas Output Increases

The quantity of natural gas produced from wells in Texas in 1912 was 1,170,313,000 cubic feet, valued at $1,195,977, according to R. H. Hill, of the United States Geological survey. This is an increase over the production in 1911 of 1,060,000,000 cubic feet in volume and $290,122 in value.

The total number of gas wells in Texas at the close of 1912 was 87, of which 24 were drilled in 1912. The number of dry holes drilled was 23, and the number of gas wells abandoned 6.

Fruit Deserts for the Summer Days

We are not tired of fresh fruits, but the cool weather makes us welcome them in various forms. Markets are flooded with apples, that seem to beg us to serve them, and baked in dumplings and served with rich dip they do their part to furnish a dinner.

Make the dough as you would for biscuits and roll out in half inch sheets. Cut in squares and in the center of each place a tart juicy apple, core and pared and seasoned with a bit of butter and a sprinkling of nutmeg, sugar and cinnamon.

ROLEY-POLEY—Mix dough as above and roll out in half inch sheet, spread this with butter, then cover thickly with jam or fresh sliced star peaches. Roll up as though it was a jelly-roll and fit it into a floured bag. Bake snugly but not so close there is no room to swell.

PEACH CAKE—Make peaches using the recipe given in this column for "six adjustable cake," but in three layers as usual, but lower, cutting into the oven, put slices of rich peaches in the butter. They will sink towards the bottom of the pan during the cooking, if they do not it does not matter. When the layers are baked put the cake together with a cream filling and cover with whipped cream. Eat as soon as cool.

Virginia peaches have helped to make the old State famous, baked and eaten hot, with fresh biscuits and honey, they still do her proud. Cut off the tops so you can slip out the stones, and in the cavity put a mixture of butter, sugar, and spice, some nutmeg and all that is nice. Return the tops and fasten in place with tooth-picks. Bake thirty minutes in a shallow pan with a little water in it. Take up the peaches and make a syrup of the liquor in the baking pan. Pour this over the

D. 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 19th day of July, A. D. 1913 in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 1196; wherein Charles J. Canda; Simeon J. Drake and Alphonse Klob are plaintiffs; and J. F. Battle; L. E. Battle; J. T. H. Lipscomb, W. L. Smallwood, Otho S. Houston, H. A. Stegall, J. D. Bingham, Lucy Bingham, S. C. Findley, M. S. Findlay, J. W. Webb, Kate Webb, C. S. Bell, Johnnie Bell, J. C. C. Martin, J. L. Flanigan, L. C. Ridgeway, J. E. Greathouse, J. M. Osborn, and Geo. F. Osborn, are Defendants, and said petition alleging that plaintiffs are the owners and holders of six vendor's lien notes; all dated Nov. 8, 1906; for the sum of $19200 each, and due Nov. 8, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, and 1914, respectively all drawing interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from date; all payable to the order of Charles J. Canda, Simeon J. Drake, and Sigmund Neustadt; but it is alleged that the plaintiffs are now the joint owners of all of said notes; all said notes retaining a vendor's lien against Sec 31, Tsp. 7, Blk. 50, Cert. 4666, situated in Reeves County, Texas; same containing 640 acres; said suit being to foreclose said lien against said land. Petition alleges that said notes provide for attorney's fee of 10 per cent upon the amount of said notes, and that plaintiffs have promised to pay said amount for attorney's services in suing upon same. Petition alleges that all of said notes provide that a failure to pay any one of same hen due, shall mature all of same at the election of the holder, and ask for judgment upon the amount of all of same, together with 10 per cent attorney's fee. It being alleged in said petition that all of the above named defendants are claiming some interest in and to the above said land, or a part of same, but that their claims are subordinate to the lien of plaintiffs.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given Under My Hand and the Seal of said Court, at Pecos, Texas, this 24th day of September, A. D. 1913.

Another Good Rain

A heavy rainstorm, accompanied by severe thunder and lightning visited this section Wednesday night.

Lightning struck H. A. Wren's house, tearing a hole in the roof, but doing little damage to the building. None of the family was hurt.

The lightning set fire to the splintered shingles, that were jarred off, but they were gathered up and thrown out into the yard, which prevented the house from burning.

Two Fires Tuesday

Tuesday was "fire alarm day." About noon the fire alarm called the department to Max Krauskopf's home where the hay in his barn had caught fire. It was put out with buckets and very little damage was done.

About five o'clock the alarm was again sounded, and the department made a quick run to the home of J. F. Ross, whose barn was on fire. Very little damage was done.

What Other Women Have Found Out

If there is much sewing on hand and it seems impossible to find the time to do it with the multiplicity of home duties, here is a plan that worked well in one home: For two or more days a week pretend to be a visiting seamstress, obliged to turn out a certain amount of work in a given time. If your husband and children are in the habit of coming home for luncheon at noon let them take their luncheons with them on the sewing days, and before these days come prepare some food that will be appetizing. Arrange the house in good order as is possible, but do not do unnecessary work. Try to begin sewing at nine o'clock, and continue sewing until five o'clock; then stop for the day, and begin preparations for a good, hot dinner. This plan will only work out well by your guarding as much as possible against interruptions. Your friends must be asked not to call on you or to telephone, nor to visit you and your ordering or other shopping must be planned before hand.

When using glue place a small quantity in a cup or butter plate and stir it well until it turns a pale yellow and loses its stringiness. In this condition it may be used on any material without danger that threads of glue may spoil the fabric on which it is used. Use a paper clip or a spring clothes pin to hold the glued parts together while drying.

Washing a dustless mop causes it to lose part of the substance that causes it to polish the floor as well as removed the dust. When this comes about try this experiment after the mop has been thoroughly washed and dried: Mix one part of raw linseed oil and four parts of gasoline, and saturate the mop. Do this, of course, outdoors, as gasoline is inflammable. Hang the mop in the open air until the gasoline evaporates; then the mop will be ready for use once more.

It helps an invalid who can't be long on her feet to have casters put on a light ordinary chair, keeping them so well oiled that they will move readily; then, by using the feet as in walking, through really sitting in the chair, it is possible to move about the floor without the least trouble.

To keep plants fresh without watering them when the house must be closed the following plan is good:

en: The writer says that she has kept her plants in this way for three weeks. Take all the plants to the cellar or some other cool place and set them all in tubs with an ordinary brick under each flower-pot. Pour into the tubs just enough water to cover the bricks. It is best to remove the tubs by an east window if possible.

Raisins wrapped in paper often cause trouble, being so sticky that it is hard to remove all the paper from them; but if the package is dipped in warm water when taken from the box the raisins may be separated from the wrappings easily.

It is a small economy to save the gummed flaps of unsealed envelopes that come through the mail and lay them aside for various purposes. They will do for mending the torn leaves of books or for labeling fruit jars, and in many other ways will take the place of the mucilage bottle and paper.

Keep some of the sewing downstairs so that if one of the family offers to read aloud in the evening or some one comes in during the day and makes a long call you will find something ready to do while listening or talking. To make this plan work in the best way put with the bit of hand sewing you can do downstairs everything you will need to finish it; then you will not have to interrupt the reading or conversation to get something that has been forgotten.

To clean rag rugs or the so-called "wash" rugs, soak them in cold water; then lay them flat on a table and rub well with a cake of good soap. Pour a little warm water over them and scrub hard with a stiff brush. When they seem to be clean hang them on the clothesline and turn the hose on them until all the soap has been washed off. Let them hang on the line until dry.

When the fingers are weak, or are crippled with rheumatism a bicycle wrench may prove of much aid in turning steam on or off in a room or turning a key that works a trifle hard, or doing other things of this sort.

When the children are getting fitted for shoes have the salesman start with a size which he knows is too large and then work down to the right size. The usual way is to do the opposite, with the result that the shoes which the children declared were "all right" while in the store are found to be too small later. The reason is that when too small a size is tried on first a shoe that is only a little larger feels comfortable at the time by contrast though it really may not be the proper size.

SHERIFF'S SALE THE STATE OF TEXAS County of Reeves

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain order of sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Reeves County, Texas, on the 8th day of September, 1913, by Willie de Woods, Clerk of said court, for the sum of Twenty-five Thousand, Two Hundred and Forty-six and 22/100 Dollars and interest on said amount from Nov. 20, 1912, at 7 per cent per annum, and costs of suit, under a judgment in favor of P. Albert Cooney, in a certain cause in said Court, No. 781 and styled P. Albert Cooney vs. E. Leslie Cole, et al., and placed in my hands for service, I, Tom Harrison, as sheriff of Reeves County, Texas, did, on the 8th day of September, 1913, levy on certain real estate, situated in Reeves County, Texas, described as follows, to wit:

Sections numbered Twenty-one (21) Twenty-three (23), Twenty-five (25), Twenty-seven (27), Twenty-nine (29), Thirty-two (32), Thirty-three (33), Thirty-five (35), Thirty-nine (39), all of said sections of land being in Block No. Two (2), Houston & Great Northern Railway Company survey, and sections numbered Three (3), Five (5), and Seven (7), all of said sections of land being in Block No. Three (3), Houston & Great Northern Railway Company survey, and levied upon as the property of E. Leslie Cole, and John B. Dandridge and Spencer B. Pugh, and that on the first Tuesday in October, 1913, the same being the 7th day of said month, at the courthouse door of Reeves County, in the town of Pecos, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said order of sale I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said E. Leslie Cole, and John B. Dandridge, and Spencer B. Pugh.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in The Pecos Times, a newspaper published in Reeves County, Texas.

Witness my hand, this 8th day of September 1913.

TOM HARRISON, Sheriff, Reeves County, Texas

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.
"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others I gave it to," writes M. E. Gobhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. Keeping buttons of one size in the house for children's clothes and for the men's shirts, will do away with the effect of odd buttons on clothing. Make a practice of getting buttons of one size and pattern, so that when a button is pulled off or lost in the wash, there will always be one like it to sew on. Besides a little saving may be made by buying a large supply of buttons at one time.

Chas. P. Norecross went into a cigar store in a Pennsylvania town and asked for some good cigars. A brand that retailed three for a quarter was the best the cigar man could offer.

Norecross took three and lighted one. He stood puffing at it for a moment and the dealer asked:

"How do you like that cigar?"

"It's rotten!" said Norecross.

"Well," said the dealer, "I can't see that you've got any particular kick out of it. You've only got three of them and I've got a thousand!" Saturday Evening Post.

The family were gathered in the den of a happy little Eastern town. Father was reading the sporting page, mother was embroidering pink sunflowers and Willie was supposed to be getting his lessons, but Willie wasn't.

"Willie," suddenly exclaimed mama, looking up from her embroidery, "have you studied your geography lesson?"

"No, ma'am," was the frank rejoinder of Willie, "papa says that the map of the world is changing every day, and I thought I would wait until things got settled a bit." Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Silo as an Advertiser

Farmer Radford has given some splendid reasons why the farmers of Texas should build silos, and one of the most important is its influence upon diversification. Farming is a business and apostles of diversification should not lose sight of this fact. The cotton crop last season brought $27.19 per acre, corn, $16.40 per acre which was its nearest rival. Will a farmer cultivate land at $16.40 per acre when he can make $27.19? Will a laborer work for $1.00 per day when he can get $27.19?

Farmer Radford has suggested the silo and the feeding of live stock as a means of taking up the difference and bringing corn up to the productive value of cotton per acre.

Profit is the most powerful agency for diversification.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Henrietta D. Grained.

Stuffed Peppers—This is a delectable relish that few women ever make at home. As it is not difficult to prepare, will keep until the next pepper season and is very pleasing with any meat, it is worth while putting aside a jar full.

Cut the tops from bell or bull-nosed green or red peppers and remove every seed and the white fibrous lining. Put the tops, which must serve for caps for the peppers when they are stuffed, and the peppers that are empty into cold water and let stand over night.

Cut enough cabbage to fill the peppers. Use a chopping knife or a saw cutter for this, the cutter makes the nicest looking fillings, as the long strips of cabbage hold the peppers firm and do not fall out as soon as the caps are removed.

Cover the cut cabbage with salted water for two hours or longer. When ready drain the peppers and fill with the cabbage, tie the tops on firmly with twine or fasten them with smooth toothpicks. Heat enough mild vinegar to cover the peppers when they are packed in a crock, do not let the vinegar boil, but have it scalding. Put a tablespoon each of mustard and celery seed in a muslin bag and crush with a hammer, plus the bag of crushed seed in hot vinegar and pour all over the peppers.

Cover with a plate and weight the cover down with a stone so the peppers will be under the vinegar.

This relish may be used a week after making.

Green peppers may be canned for use later in the season.

Remove seeds and white lining and soak in salt water as directed above. In the morning cut the peppers into strips with the kitchen shears, and pack the strips into jars. Cover each jar full with boiling water, add one teaspoonful of salt, screw the tops on tightly and put them on a bath rack in the boiler and fill it with water of the same temperature as that in the jars. Keep the lid on the boiler while the water simmers around the jars for two hours. After boiling screw the lids on firmly, cool and set away.

Sweet, ripe, red peppers are canned in this manner: After seeding in rings or strips, place in a bowl and cover with boiling water. When the water cools, pour it off and repeat the operation. Do this several times or until the peppers feel tender to the touch and mild to the tongue.

Heat vinegar to the boiling point sweeten it slightly with light brown sugar and add a little salt. Pack the peppers into jars and cover with the vinegar. Seal and keep in a dark place until needed. These correspond to the canned Italian siments so popular with macaroni and rice or poultry in "Little Italy."

A half teaspoon of alum added to each jar of peppers will keep them firm and preserve their bright color.

Canning Tomatoes—How to can whole, ripe tomatoes so they will keep their lovely color and rich flavor is a mooted question among even efficient housekeepers. Frequently tomatoes that should have come from the jars as fresh and as sweet as the day they were canned misbehave shamefully and have a sharp acid taste or are flat, flavorless and dull colored.

This year select firm, smooth tomatoes not overly ripe, and not too large for you want them to slip in the jars whole.

Have water boiling and scald them as quickly as possible and at once remove from boiling water into cold water. The skins will now slip off easily. Fill a preserving bottle half full of boiling water, add salt so it just tastes, and put in one layer of tomatoes. Heat them through but do not boil them. Remove with a skimmer and slip them into a can and fill to the brim with hot salt water. Screw on the lid at once and turn the cans over in a shallow pan of hot water to heat the rubber ring and make the sealing air-tight.

Continue cooking the tomatoes and filling the jars in this way until you have canned all you need. It is not more difficult than the old way and it insures perfect success.

If large mouthed jars are used tomatoes canned by this method may be removed without breaking and used for tomato salad or for stuffed tomatoes next winter.

The very ripe tomatoes may be made into East India tomato sauce. Skin and seed these and put them through a vegetable press or a sieve and boil until the liquid in them evaporates and the whole quantity is reduced one-half. Mix together and add one half ounce of curry powder, three tablespoons powdered sugar, five cloves of garlic minced, three tablespoons of powdered ginger, six small silver skinned onions crushed or scraped, one cup of best strong vinegar, two tablespoon of every two parts of the cooked tomato, and a tablespoon of paprika to taste.

Let this simmer gently for thirty minutes, stir frequently, and cool before bottling. This recipe was brought from India by Rev. Thomas Allen in 1851 and has been copied by hundreds of families since then.

An unusual recipe for a mixture of vegetables that we can recommend is made with corn, lima beans, tomatoes, string beans, okra and a few onions. Use more corn than any other vegetable. Run all thru a food chopper to mix thoroughly. Add no water. Pack into jars, cook in a canner three hours and seal. Next winter this mixture will be found admirable for flavoring vegetable soup or for cream soup stock.

This mixture also makes a splendid vegetable loaf. Mix an equal quantity of it with buttered crumb one egg, a little cream, and bake in a vegetable dish until brown.

Corn, okra and tomatoes may be mixed in equal proportions and canned in this same way, but the mixture is not so fine as the one above. —El Paso Times.

Pass on The Praise

"You're a great little wife and I don't know what I would do with out you." And as he spoke he put his arms around her and she forgot all the care in that moment. And forgetting all she sang as she washed the dishes, and sang on she made the beds and the song was heard next door, and a woman there just caught the refrain and sang also, and two houses are happier because he had told her that sweet old story of the love of a husband for a wife. As she sang the butcher boy who had called for the order heard it, and went out whistling on his journey, and the world heard the whistling, and one man hearing it thought here is a lad who loves his work, a lad happy and contented.

And because she sang her heart was unclouded, and as she swept around the back door, the cool air kissed her cheeks, and she thought of a poor old woman she knew and a little basket went over to that home with a quarter for a crate or two of wood.

So, because he kissed her and soothed her, the song came, and the influence went on and on.

Pass on the praise.
A word, and you may make a rift in a cloud, a smile, and you create a new resolve, a grasp of the hand and you may possess a soul from hell. —Pass on the praise. —Ex.

Develop the Child

By MRS. E. P. TURNER

The old idea that children were individual students of all things is fast disappearing and in its stead we find whole communities working for the development of the child.

In sections where this has been tried the boys and girls find a greater pleasure in both study and work and a higher standard of childhood is being established. The idea is based on the theory that the children are or should be interested in healthy sports and that by banding them together in large numbers a greater degree of efficiency can be developed. For instance, if one of the children shows signs of unusual development the balance of the boys and girls will strive to reach the same perfection and therefore the entire number will be benefited. A workshop where the boys can manufacture and build articles of furniture and a cooking school for the girls have been included in the work of collectively developing the little ones.

Young Lawyer (having passed his exams)—Well I am glad it's over. I've been working myself to death during the five years I have been getting my legal education.

Old Lawyer—"Well, cheer up my boy, it'll be a long time before you have any more work to do." —Boston Transcript.

Boys Are watched
When we see boys on the streets and in public places we often wonder if they know the business men are watching them. In every bank, store and office there will soon be a place for a boy to fill. Those who have the management of affairs of business will select one of the boys, they will not select him for his ability to swear, smoke cigarettes or tap a beer-keg. And the social swell who is daft about little social functions and is happy in the conceit that he is "just the article" the young ladies find indispensable on all occasions, is also given the glassy stare quite as often as the beer guzzler or the cigarette smoker. Business men may have few loose habits themselves, but they are looking for boys that are as near gentlemen in every sense of the word as they can find, and they are able to give the character of every boy in the city. They are not looking for rowdies. When a boy applies for one of those places and is refused they may not tell him the reason they do not want him but the boy may depend on it, that he has been rated according to his behavior. Boys cannot afford to adopt the habits or conversation of the loafers and rowdies if they ever want to be called to responsible positions.—EX.

.22 RIFLES

The Little Rifles—Big in Quality

YOU are going to buy a .22 calibre rifle, single shot or repeater—you'll find that many well known crack shots started with a Remington-UMC .22. Their advice now would be "By all means, get a Remington-UMC" because they know that there is a tendency in some quarters to look upon these models as only "a small boy's rifle" and to cheapen them so that they can be sold at a price.

You have just as much right to expect full shooting value in your .22 calibre arm as in your $75 big game rifle.

You want the Remington-UMC single shot or from $3 to $6, .22, .25, .30 or .32 calibre, made by the same people who made the famous Remington-UMC Autoloading Rifles.

OK, if you prefer the repeating rifle, the Remington-UMC .22 repeater with its easy take-down and special safety features, a .22 short, .22 long or .22 long rifle cartridges, at $10 and up, is your arm. Sold by live dealers of this community—the most popular small calibre rifles in America.

WHAT THE "BUSTS" ALL MEAN

The Tale of Hard Luck That Explains Why Your Name May be Mis-Spelled.

You may have heard of all kinds of printer's hard luck tales, but if the heart of this tale could find expression in some George Fitchian outpouring, you'd remember it to your last lucid moment. When you are trying to set perfectly good reading matter, and the letters won't fall, it would take a man with a fund of patience larger (indefinitely) to set patiently to work to correct a gally that was all mistakes. And that is the reason that the busts are here —The sleepy operator didn't have the sand to tackle it. If you are good at guessing you may read the news in this issue. Otherwise, you must remain in blissful ignorance.

Wind Plays Havoc

The heavy windstorm last Friday night tore off about half of the roof of the grandstand at the Fair grounds, taking it out of the center.

The tent in which the ladies served luncheon was blown down, and a large amount of plates, cups, saucers, etc. were broken. It also nearly wrecked some of the carnival tents. A large number of limbs, too, were blown from the shade trees around town.

Baptist Church

Come to Sunday School and preaching next Sunday if you have not been going. Just make a special effort and attend. Can and get part of the joy and blessing of the service. Strangers in Pecos are invited to worship with us. Most heartily yours. J. B. COLE.

Revival at the Baptist Church

A letter from Brother Truett states that he will be with us in our meeting. The services will begin October 5, and will continue for two weeks.

It is deeply desired by the church and pastor that all of our people cooperate with the meeting. Let no one have a left-out feeling. Come and be at home. The services are for you, and you are heartily requested to put yourself in closest touch with every service. Talk, sing, read, pray and receive in every possible way.

If you are non-Christian, be receiving in most especially for you. Come and get all the good you can and do all he good you can. Let prayer be made for the Master's greatest blessing upon our people.

Church of Christ

The members of the church are invited to a social gathering on the 11th of October. For the time of the party, see the notice in this issue. All of the proceeds will be for the benefit of the church. We have you to see. HOMER L. MAGEE.
