The Reeves County Commissioners' Court met in regular session on Monday June 12th, with all members of that body present. Court was called to order by Sheriff Harrison and opened with the County Judge Ben Randals in the chair.

The court proceeded to canvas the votes cast at the election held in Precinct No. 4, on May 13th, for the purpose of determining whether or not sheep, goats and hogs should run at large. They found that 11 votes had been cast and that all were cast against allowing these animals to run at large. The result of the election was proved.

The county treasurer, Mrs. Mildred Middleton presented her report for the month of May as to the condition of the Road District No. 1 fund, which was approved.

Upon motion, duly seconded and carried, the court ordered hat the account of Floyd Good rich et al, for road work performed in Loving County, when approved by the engineer, J. D. Meriwether, and turned into the clerk, the latter is to issue warrant on the Loving county Road and Bridge fund for such amount as is turned in by the

GAMES CRANS

If ever there was a man with a con tinual "grouch" it was "Spud" Murphy. He was always finding fault with something and if anything pleased him, instead of being satisfied, he would compare it with somethe boys said.

I first made his acquaintance on board a United States transport in Frisco, where we "rookies" were waiting to be taken to the Philippines. He was known as the piggest "growler" in the outfit. We finally reached Manila and were sent out on the ine. "Spud," as the boys called Murphy, myself and six more boys went to B company. We hadn't been there two days before "Spud" had a quarrel with a sergeant and as a result $10 was docked from his pay to buy new flags for the United States. This taught 'Spud" to be careful, but it didn't stop

He said the funniest things when he was mad. He never could see any funny side to them until the fellows would be splitting their sides laughing. Even then someone would have City, Tex. to show him a diagram of the joke. It was he who dubbed the captain "Buller" and the "top" Jimmy Wrinkles, and what he didn't do to old Casey, the quartermaster, would be hard to discover. He made a song about old Casey and sung it to the tune

"Tim Toolin." It was things like this that made "Spud" liked by his officers, for he had the knack of saying things when he was mad that put the rest of the company in good humor. One time I remember was on the Peking hike. It was that awful day going into Matow. The fellows were nearly "all 'in;" it wasn't a case of strength then -it was nerve only that held a fellow in the ranks. All the fellows were showing the strain and were snapping and barking at one another. It just seemed as if something must give way, when "Spud" was seen to forge ahead. He cried out, mad as a wolf:"If this thing is going to be a six-day Madison square affair I'm going in to win! .Then as one man the company let out a yell and when the news traveled along the line it had the effect of brightening up the whole outfit. "Mad-'ison square" was a standing joke for a long time after that.

Well, finally it came around that "Spud" and I had but a short time to serve. Many was the roasting "Spud" gave me. He was sure that I would re-enlist. He would start at me this way: "Well, it's just two months now, Jock, and then back to Cod's, country with me; but I suppose it doesh't matter to you, for you're going to 'take on' again and be a regue Sackwell. Dallas. lar old army stiff like Wrinkles or Casey." Then I'd give him an argument about the advantages of a fellow staying in the army and in a few min-·utes we would be yelling at each other until it looked as if we were going to fly at each other's throats.

The final day was at hand for "Spud." I had still a week to do. After "Spud" turned in his arms and accouterments everybody waited for guard mount, after which "Spud" would report at headquarters and receive his "buzzard." We all got as near headquarters as we dared, and as ours was a one-company post and our old captain was still in command we looked for a rare treat when "Spud" and old "Buller" should have it out together. Guard mount was finished and then "Spud" went over to headquarters with the gait of a peacock and all the company out to have a look at him. Well, he was in there about ten minutes and there was no Mountains.

Then the door opened and "Spud" walked out, growling away for dear life. Seeing the "top" and old Casey standing at the orderly room door he headed straight for them, with all the company trailing after.

When he got in front of the "top" he shook his discharge papers in the "top's" face and shouted: "Is this the ton. way to treat a man after he has been in every hike for three years.'

"Why, what's the matter, Murphy? I thought the captain was going to give you an excellent character. What more do you want?'

"That's all right, too, top," says Murphy, "but old 'Buller doesn't want me in his blank company."

"How do you know?" chips in old "Why he told me so," yelled Murphy. "I tried to re-enlist and he told

How He Escaped.

The lawyer was examining him concerning his qualifications as a juror. "Have you ever served on a jury?"

"No. sir," answered the man. "I've been drawn a good many times, but I was always too smart to get caught on a jury."

"What's that, sir?" interrupted the judge, sternly. "Do you boast of your smartness in escaping jury duty?" "No, your honor," said the man. "Not

To the Women Folks:---

If you have not already seen this advertisement in Vogue read it h

No single factor, perhaps, has done more to inspire American men in the better standards of dress than the gracious influence of the Women.

Can you wonder that such Kirschaum styles as the one illustrated here should appeal to the discriminating feminine eye-with its unerring sense of what is right in dress?

We regard as a unique tribute the indirect-yet no the less important -- part Women have exerted in increasing the proportion of better dressed men.
