Food Administrator Meets With Merchants

C. N. BASSETT EXPLAINS FOOD REGULATIONS — TAKES OPPORTUNITY TO COMMEND COOPERATION OF PEOPLE

Hon. C. N. Bassett, District Food Administrator of this district, and one of the wealthiest men of El Paso, was in Pecos Tuesday of this week, and on Tuesday night at nine o'clock, met with our merchants and business men to talk over the situation. Nearly every interested business firm was represented at the meeting held on the lawn at the Orient Hotel and listened attentively, first to the splendid talk of local Food Administrator, T. Y. Casey, in which he told what we were doing and had done toward the conservation of food. Ordinarily Pecos merchants sold from two to three carloads of food per month, but the last car of flour, until the Leader Cash Store received another this week, was shipped to Pecos last February. This shows what the patriotic citizens of Reeves county are and have been doing toward conservation along that line.

Mr. Gasey said we had also done as well with sugar and meats, and that while we have a few here who are slackers and are and have been putting one by the food Administration, they are being noted and will get what they deserve at the right time. In a very glowing manner, explaining some of the splendid work done by Mr. Bassett in El Paso as well as over the district, the latter was introduced by Mr. Casey and made a splendid talk to his very attentive audience.

Mr. Bassett told his hearers what we had and are doing—and all voluntarily—toward the conserving of foodstuffs, which is equivalent to putting our money and our energy into the winning of the war. "Three things are absolutely necessary," he said, "toward the winning of this war—man power, ships and food." He told how the people of the United States had saved 80,000 pounds of sugar by curtailing its use to absolute necessities. He also told us of the saving of other necessities in the winning of the war and paid the highest tribute to the people of West Texas for their loyalty and cooperation with the Federal Food Administration.

Mr. Bassett, a West Texan himself, knows the West Texas people and while it is doubtful if any man could pay them higher tribute for their loyalty, there were none present who believed he overdid the matter. He admitted that he had had some trouble in El Paso in holding down the foreigners to the voluntary rationing, but said that practically all of our American population had been faithful to the trust imposed in them, and that those who did not comply with the request of the Government were evidently ashamed of the fact and were not boasting that they had "put one over on the Food Administration."

Many questions were preponed Mr. Bassett by our local merchants and they were put right as just what their duty is and their attitude should be.

It was a good meeting and The Enterprise predicts will result in good.

OFFICERS OF STANDARD OPERATING CO. HERE

F. D. Philips, director and general sales manager, Peter F. Kehoe, vice-president, and Robt. B. Swart, secretary and treasurer of the Standard Operating Company of Texas, and whose residences are in Detroit, Mich., are here this week in the interest of their company. They are all splendid gentlemen and promise great things for Pecos in the near future in the development of their sulphur interests.

Mrs. A. E. Wilcox and little grandson, Joe Roy Smith, returned Saturday from a visit of a week to friends at Big Spring. They were accompanied home by Miss Mildred Parks, who was their guest for a few days, returning to her home the middle of the week.

Move Made for Successful Harvest of Crops

FARM LABOR MEN ADOPT PLAN FOR FINAL DRIVE FOR HELP TO HARVEST BIG CROPS OF FOOD AND COTTON

Farm help specialists from the southern states in the Department of Agriculture's harvest labor conference held in Birmingham, Alabama, adopted the following as an outline of the campaign to be waged until all the South's big cotton and food crops have been gathered:

Cooperation between farmers and city people to be brought about by coordination of all agencies furnishing points of contact, with crop and other agricultural programs to be worked out as the combined result of community effort.

Intelligent direction and conservation of labor to eliminate waste and maintain the highest efficiency.

Rearrangement, so far as possible, of the system of farm management, so as to keep labor employed profitably the whole year.

Provisions for better living conditions on farms to make workers more efficient and better satisfied.

Cooperation in exchange of labor and implements between farmers.

Recognition that the work of the farm labor specialists is primarily an extension effort and should be organically and intimately connected with the agricultural extension work in each state, so that other branches of the extension service may be brought into closer cooperation with farm labor work.

The farm specialists also adopted a resolution urging the importance of stabilizing farm labor by providing better houses and more privileges for tenants and laborers, and calling for consideration of definite plans to eliminate losses caused by shifting the workers.

The specialists have returned to their states to resume their work of helping southern farmers meet the conditions caused by the transfer of tens of thousands of men from the farms to the army and war industries. It is expected that their efforts will be centered, this year at least, on mobilizing able bodied city men to help out, at usual wages, at periods of greatest need for farm help.

Prof. I. G. Christie, who taught in the Alabama Agricultural School at Auburn, and who was an assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture, represents the Department in farm labor matters, and emphasized, in a talk to the specialists, the importance of increasing efficiency in the use of man power. Speaking of the thousands of "one mule farms" in the South, he said that present conditions demand that all men capable of managing operations of farms should direct larger forces of men, mules and machinery.

"Emergency help secured through boys, women and men of the cities is of great value, but this labor will not serve in the larger management of the land. Canada, from its comparatively small population, has sent 500,000 of its best men to the war, and two or three have been from the farms. Despite this Canada in 1917 produced 5 per cent more foodstuffs than in any previous year. What has been done in Canada can be done, and must be done in the United States."

The specialists sent to the Secretary of Agriculture, David F. Houston, a telegram telling of the increased plantings of food crops in the South and the probability of its safe harvest.

NOW MAKING BONDS FOR THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

Bonds for the Fourth Liberty Loan are now being turned out by the thousands daily by the Treasury's Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The bonds are similar in design to those of the Third Loan and space has been left on each bond for insertion of the exact terms of the bonds.

It is believed that a sufficient number of the bonds will be ready to make possible delivery of all bonds of the fourth loan as they are purchased.

Word From Zach L. Cobb to Voters

MY STATEMENTS OF RIVALRY ARE SLANDEROUS—HIS PATRIOTISM VOUCHERED FOR BY MEMBERS OF CABINET

The following telegram, was sent me Monday morning with requests that its contents be placed before its readers:

The supporters of Senator Hudson, unable to defend his record, have slandered me. We have exposed the falsity of their statements that believed in social equality between negroes and whites; that I was a tankard, and other such falsehoods. The desperation of their defeat have falsely charged that I did buy Liberty Bonds or Thrift stamps, or given to the Red Cross.

These falsehoods are exposed in documentary proof which I have filed to the poll tax holders. Although I have been a member of the Wilson administration for over four years, and although Senator Hudson has been opposed to the President and the policies of his administration, I have been careful not to touch the National Administration in the Congressional race. However, when Senator Hudson and his supporters have resorted to slander and have questioned my patriotism I have issued statements from Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, and from Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, and a member of the Federal Reserve Board and Government Railroad Administration. I did Government work for them in addition to my duties as collector of customs. Secretary Lansing telegraphs:

"You have during my incumbency as the Secretary of State served Government with remarkable ability and ability. To question your patriotism is an outrage and I am surprised that any American would have the temerity to do so."

Comptroller Williams telegraphs: "I am amazed that any one should question for a moment your patriotism and loyalty. You served the Government faithfully and ably during difficult times, and left the service of your own volition to seek, as I understand it, a position where you felt that your ability and experience would enable you to perform still better service. I congratulate you on the excellent record which you made and which no amount of unjust criticism can take from you." This shows the feeling of the Administration at Washington for me and indicates how slanders of me should stand in Washington.

War Relics From Front Received Here

SHERIFF HARRISON IS PROUD POSSESSOR OF HUN HELMET AND OTHER SOUVENIRS OF FRENCH BATTLEFIELD

Sheriff Tom Harrison this week received from his son, Lieut. Ray Harrison who is now on the firing line in France a package containing a German helmet, as gas mask, trench knife and some sort of small pocket or bag.

These souvenirs are now on exhibition at the store of E. L. Collings & Son, where they are attracting considerable attention. The helmet is probably of brass and will weigh several pounds, and shows one hole on top and two on the side where American or French bullets penetrated and these signs leave little doubt in the minds of those viewing this headgear where the German who wore it is now located—and few will ever believe the climate is a very desirable one.

The trench knife is of crude make, without the usual back spring, but has a hand just below the end of the rivet which holds the blade and it is turned with the fingers to a position where it does not come together to open or shut the blade and then is turned to a solid portion of the hand to hold the blade open. The blade is made from a file, rough, and of crude finish, while the handle is presumably of aluminum taken from a wrecked airplane.

The gas-mask and bag are saturated with some sort of bad smelling oil and is pulled up over the chin, with large glasses for the eyes similar to the large auto glasses.

The family of Tom Harrison is justly proud of these souvenirs and will more than likely hand them down for generations to come.

GEORGE W. KREUTZ PASSES AWAY IN EL PASO MONDAY

George W. Kreutz, who had been in a sanitarium for several weeks in El Paso, passed away Monday night, his wife, who had gone up Sunday to be with him, and a sister who had recently come down from Wisconsin, were at his bedside when the end came.

He was a victim of tuberculosis. The body was carried to the old home at Darlington, Wisconsin, for burial, accompanied by the family.

Mr. Kreutz was a co-partner of E. A. Toliver of the Pecos Bargain House, having resided in Pecos about a year. He was a good, honest, upright man, a christian gentleman, being a member of the Methodist church.

The Enterprise joins the many friends in deepest sympathy for the bereaved.

MAYOR STARLEY URGES SUPPORT OF DICK DUDLEY

I hope very much the people will vote for Mr. Dudley for State Senator. In state affairs he has stood for clean politics and the best interests of the people on every moral issue and has worked faithfully for constructive legislation.

Mr. Dudley as a representative was always at his post, answered practically every roll call and consistently gave his time and talents to the discharge of his duties and worked for all war measures, moral issues and a clean ballot.

Although representative from El Paso district he gave a large part of his time to passing irrigation bills that were of special interest to this section and spent his own money in telegrams and for other expenses in connection with the work.

This statement is made by me without solicitation, at my own expense, for I know he has been a faithful worker for our best interests, and if elected he will continue to be of great service to this section of the State as well as representing us properly in State affairs.

MISS COLLINS SUSTAINS SERIOUS INJURY AT RANCH

The latter part of last week, Miss Sadie, daughter of E. L. Collings, was seriously injured by a horse crowding her on a snag of a tree. Twenty-two stitches were necessary to close the wound which was inflicted on the calf of one of her limbs.

It appears she was out horseback riding with one of her nieces at the Means ranch out from Magdalena, N. M., where the women folk of the Collings family have been visiting for the past three or four weeks, and when the two passed between two trees the horses shied, the heavier one forcing the one on which Miss Collings was riding against a tree just in time to force the snag into her limb.

It is a serious and painful wound, but the young lady is reported doing nicely and the many friends of the family in Pecos hope no serious or permanent injury will result.

She was some thirty miles from the headquarters ranch when the accident occurred, but only about eight or ten miles from a kind of camp headquarters where she was taken. From there it was necessary to ride several miles to reach a phone and then the doctor had to travel some seventy miles in order to reach his patient.

TRANSFER OF SCHOLASTICS

Parents and guardians who desire to transfer school children from one county school to another in Reeves county should so advise me, in writing, prior to August 1st, 1918. Give the full name of the child or children to be transferred, the district in which enumerated and the district to which transfer is sought.

JAS. F. ROSS,
County Superintendent.

Portions of Reeves County Get Rains

COUNTRY TO THE SOUTH AND NORTHWEST OF TOYAH ARE VISITED BY SUBSTANTIAL RAINS THIS WEEK

W. D. Cowan reports fine rains this week over that portion of his ranch west and north of the headquarters to the Texas and Pacific railroad. Mr. Cowan has one of the finest ranches in West Texas and his many friends will be glad to know that he is to have plenty of grass.

The heavy rains west caused Nine Mile Draw, south of Toyah, to get on one of the worst rampages in several years. It is said that it was a veritable torrent Tuesday of this week.

Reports are to the effect that the splendid ranch of Albert Tinnin, northwest of Toyah, was this week drenched with the best rains for five years. This will be good news to the many friends all over this section of the State of this splendid young stockman.

E. B. Kiser, candidate for sheriff, was at Balmorhea the forepart of the week seeing the voters and on Tuesday undertook to go from there to Toyah. He got stuck in the mud from the heavy rains but finally got out and made it to Nine Mile on the Toyah road. There he plunged in the water which almost covered his car which he abandoned in the draw. As luck would have it he struck a friendly man in a car who took him back to Balmorhea, and from there he came in on the P. V. S. Ry. Wednesday afternoon he secured another car and driver and went back to Nine Mile to see if he could find a trace of his car left stuck in the mud and water there.

HOLD YOUR LIBERTY BONDS

To successfully finance the war it is necessary that owners of Liberty Bonds hold their bonds if possible. Where for any good reason it is necessary for them to turn their bonds into cash they should seek the advice of their bankers.

Liberty bonds are very desirable investments and crafty individuals are using various means to secure them from owners not familiar with stock values and like matters. One method is to offer to exchange for Liberty bonds stock bonds of doubtful organizations represented as returning a much higher income than the Liberty bonds.

There are various other methods in use and likely to be used, some of the gold-brick variety and others less crude and probably within the limits of the law. All offers for Liberty bonds except for money and at market value should be scrutinized carefully. The bonds are the safest of investments and have non-taxable valuable features.

To hold your bonds if possible is patriotic. To consult your bankers before selling them is wise.

Letters from the Front to the Folks at Home

CHEERFULNESS MIXED WITH A DETERMINATION THAT THE JOB ON HAND WILL BE WELL DONE MARKS ALL

The Enterprise has picked several letters, written from the front to the folks at home, from the current issue of The Literary Digest, which it feels sure will make interesting reading for all.

Here is the first, from a Greek, erstwhile waiter in a small restaurant in Freeport, Ill., whose knowledge of English is limited, but the spirit makes up for any deficiency in that line:

"I rich France O. K. Sure France is some butiful place also the people here are very nice to us.

You don't know how much glad I am to be here with American uniform. We get enough to eat, enough to sleep and also we have good times here and we all work together to give the hell to the enemys. Nothing more to say. Please tell my recards to all.

"I hope this few lines rich you in good health as they live me. I will be glad to hear from you. Please tell my recards to Mr. Angelos."

The next is from Rev. James Honlihan, one of the seven priests from the Scranton (Pa) diocese serving as chaplains in the army in Europe. In a letter to his bishop he says:

"We are up at last. The big guns boom almost continuously. Airplanes fighting one another are seen day in and day out. The aircraft guns' throwing of shrapnel about the air is a thrilling sight, and war, with its proper perspective, is ours at last.

"The hard and tough things are not bad when you meet them, and war, so far, has left us unafraid and smiling. Just now a big shell went whizzing by and an officer drew our attention to the impact of the explosion.

"But the mud and the incessant rain make us weary, and the horrible rats, as big as half-grown cats,

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Army Medical Department has developed a mobile X-ray outfit to be carried on the standard Army ambulance to the front line trench for the benefit of wounded soldiers. It is desired by Army surgeons to lose no time in ascertaining the extent and conditions of wounds. The outfit is made up of the Delco gas-electric set, the high tension transformer and the special type of Coolidge tube.

Keep Well Thedford's Black-Draught Mrs. W. F. Pickle, of Rising Fawn, Ga., writes: "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a family medicine. My mother-in-law could not take calomel as it seemed too strong for her, so she used Black-Draught as a mild laxative and liver regulator... We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. 25c a package. E-75 get at our nerves occasionally. I hate mud and rats. I wish both were eliminated and then war would be less trying. When I go to bed I sleep under a canvas sleeping bag, and, while I feel the rats on the canvas, I am sure that they can do me no harm. One of our men paid $5 for a big cat. The cat was either afraid of the rats or friendly to them. Mr. Cat failed to make good and was promptly put to death.

"It would be hard for you to realize the many things happening here. But we are in the midst of these, and do not mind for we have the Hun guessing, and we will beat him."

This from an officer, Lieut. Robt. Horine, with Michigan troops at the front, who after preliminaries, says:

"Everywhere good Americans are chasing out the skulking pups and whipping them into line. It tickles us and makes us tingle with pride to think of our 'backing' by the folks at home. An American who would not fight now is much out of place over here.

"Everybody is happy and feeling fit. Today we sent one hundred men to a nearby city to participate in a Memorial Day service. Two generals, one French and one American, gave addresses; our band led the parade playing 'Onward, Christian Soldiers!' and a splendid church service in the cathedral, centuries old, followed. It was a strange sight to see the soldiers of four nations, each with his own peculiar helmet and gas-mask, march in the door and then up the aisle in column of fours, then divide to the right and left, while the arches of the cathedral fairly shook with the strains of our 125th band. After the services the Tommies and poilus and Americans and Italians swapped cigarettes in the streets; that is, the Americans swapped cigarettes for smiles usually. Our boys feel that they are in duty bound to supply the Allied armies entirely with smokes and candy, and feel a like regard for all the civilians.

"No unusual sight to see a husky in olive drab hoeing in a garden; another amusing some three-months old baby while the mother rests. They even sweep the houses and wash the dishes in spare time. Most of them would disdain any thought except to pass the time away, but deep down in their hearts they are thinking: 'what if this woman were my sister, my wife, or my mother?'"

"Once let an army have those kind of thoughts and they will give a good account of themselves anywhere, at any time. Our men are sleeping in carefully camouflaged barracks on little wooden beds made of springy slats, and we have a real bath house here.

"I have my hands full with censoring my mail since Mothers' day. I gave my platoon a heart-to-heart talk that morning and as a result I've been flooded. I told them every good soldier wrote his mother at least once a week, and they have come steady ever since. I also told them that a letter with anything but sunshine, going to mother, meant three days of 'kitchen police'. Witness the magic dispersion of gloom."

Here is one from Lieut. Arnold of Owosso, Mich., who gives his version of the sinking of the President Lincoln, during which the U-boat commander took prisoner but one officer, in hope of getting information. The commander, Lieut. Arnold's description would lead one to believe, happily remembered he once was human, as attested by aid given a sick soldier.

"I have gone through one of those experiences which you wouldn't want repeated for anything. It has impressed upon me a great number of times the great value of training and discipline.

"I had just completed sick call and stepped out on the deck. I was looking out over the water, and saw a number of bubbles coming to the surface and in the fraction of a second saw a torpedo coming toward us. If I live to be a thousand years old I will never forget that green streak with a red tail. I kept my eyes on this one, and also saw another deeper in the water. I waited for the shock and when it came was not as bad as I had anticipated. I got my gun from the sick-bay office and ran for the sick-bay. I had charge of that part and got the patients out in short order. This is where the training came in, and without it we could never have accomplished it. After we got the patients in the boat or on the rafts I put on an extra rubber suit and went on a raft. The boat was pretty well gone by that time so I had only to sit down on the deck and slide off into the raft.

"We had been on the raft about an hour when we sighted a ship on the horizon and thinking that it was a destroyer coming to our rescue, we all cheered. It soon became evident, however, that it was Fritz in his submarine and the cheering ceased. All this time 95 per cent of the men were seasick. Fritz came in right among us and I was in 10 feet of him several times. He had his guns trained on us and a number of his crew were on the deck. We all thought that he would fire, and I felt that, if it were not for my dearest ones at home, he could shoot and be damned. I was pretty sick when I felt that way. He turned out to be a white man, however, and took one boy aboard the submarine and gave him some whiskey and coffee and let him go. He did capture one officer and keep him, but was very considerate of us. After a couple of hours he left us and did not return until late in the afternoon and stayed only for a short time.

"We floated around on the rafts, all of which were tied together, and to the life-boats, until about midnight, when we saw lights and rockets on the horizon. Then the cheers went up, for we were pretty sure that it was help, and we were ready for help. They proved to be two destroyers and they picked us up. I got aboard 'all in' at 3:30 a. m. and was carried to the cabin and put in a bunk. I was terribly seasick still, but felt a thousand times better than when on the raft. They were wonderful to me on that boat, and they brought us to a French port. I have not recovered my nerve yet, and it is six days since it happened. I guess I am a poor sailor, but I am game and will stick as long as they let me."

WSS IT SHOULD MAKE A MILLION FOR HIM Cincinnati Man Discovers Drug That Loosens Corns So They Lift Out

Good news spreads rapidly and the druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezone, the recent discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

A quarter of an ounce costs very little at any drug store which handles drugs, but this is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callous.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn or toughened callos and instantly the soreness is relieved and soon the corn or callous is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.

A FEW HINTS TO HELP THE FALL GARDENERS THIS YEAR

Every section of Texas should try to grow fall gardens this year, for vegetables as a food will surely be greatly needed. If you have never had a fall garden start this year. If every man will put as much "pep" into his hoe in the garden as the marines did at the Marne, we will not suffer for food materials as did the Austrians.

Fall gardens depend upon the season and whether or not irrigation can be had. If the land has been prepared for the fall crop of vegetables and has obtained a good season by August 15th many vegetables can be grown before frost.

Many gardens will have tomatoes, peppers and egg-plants still growing in them at this time. To obtain plants of tomatoes, peppers and egg-plants, also cabbage, cauliflower, celery, lettuce and onions, the seed should be planted between July 15th and August 1st in frames of boxes which are covered to shade the plants from the hot sun, and located where they can be watered. These plants will then be ready to transplant to the fields within four or six weeks. The plants should be transplanted in the field in the late evening and watered. If possible place a shingle, a pot, a paper, or some other object on the south-west side of the plant to shade it from the hot sun.

The tomatoes should be pruned to a single stem and staked. Irish potatoes should be started to sprouting in wet straw or sand about ten days before they are to be planted in the field. Use small whole potatoes about the size of a hen's egg or one-half of larger potatoes.

Write for circular No. 182, for details, to Extension Department, College Station, Texas.

The weather is generally so hot and dry during the latter part of the month of September, that it is advisable to plant the vegetable seed in the field about the middle or latter part of this month. If the land has a good season or can be irrigated, the middle or latter part of August is the best time to plant.

The following vegetables can be planted in the field at the above time: Carrots, Swiss chard, spinach, salsify, parsnips, beets, endive, radishes, rutabaga, mustard, Kohl-rabi, okra, onion sets, onion plants, English peas, bush beans, dry beans, such as Pinto and tepary, field peas, such as Black-eye and lady pea, kale, collards and rape. Squash and cucumber will produce a few fruits if planted in the field in September. It would be better to start these in paper or other receptacles under a covered frame in August and then transplant to field. For further details writ for Bulletin For further details write for Bulletin Service, A. & M. College, College Station, Texas.

The Enterprise agrees with one of its contemporaries which says that "Germany is going to have the last word in the war, and that word will be 'Kamerad.'"

The "Clown" Prince is giving orders to his men facing the American forces on the Marne to hold the line. The Enterprise wagers that his royal nibs uses the long distance telephone.

U-boats are again at work on the Atlantic coast. The proprietors of the seaside resorts are advertising the feature to induce vacationists to stop with them. Sure, the subs were sent over here to strike terror into our hearts, but we refuse to bite. In all of Germany's delving into the sciences, and with all accredited knowledge in research, she overlooked one important thing—the psychology of the American make-up.

The news from the front continues to listen good to Americans here at home. The wire service of The Enterprise each afternoon seems to be appreciated by our people, and you have the editor's assurance that this service will continue while big things are doing over there. It is his hope that he soon will be able to spread the good news that the Huns are on their knees, and that autocracy is banished from the earth.

It's just about over but the shouting. Tomorrow will reap the whirlwind of hot air that has been circulating for lo, these many weeks. The only thing left then will be to sit tight and see how bad some of the people were fooled. The Enterprise trusts that all offices will be filled with men capable of discharging the duties incumbent upon them, and that all get squarely behind the president in his war policies, that the war may be prosecuted to successful victory for the Allied armies.

Quentin Roosevelt, killed in an air battle, was buried by the Germans with full military honors. This is the statement of a German paper, which, after paying great deference to his bravery, alluded to him as "inexperienced." This can be said of most of our boys over there, but the grim determination that marked young Roosevelt's action in attacking two experienced airmen, finds its counterpart in every one of our boys at the front. It makes up for much they may lack and bodes no good for Hunnish hordes, and another division or two from this side will spell the downfall of Prussianism.

The election is nearly over and The Enterprise is not sorry, for the trials of a newspaper are many in times like this. Many have not been able to make a good guess where the paper stood in the various races. That's neutrality. Many were curious, and, possibly, still are. As stated last week, the editor believes that a radical stand by a paper in any small town, results only in harm to the best interests of the paper. Anyone can, however, find out how the editor as an individual stands, and he believes his vote will be cast in the interest of good government as the next citizen's will be. All candidates have been treated courteously by The Enterprise, and its columns available to all on the same terms. There is not much excuse for any citizen being not fully informed on the issues that are involved in the different races, for you will readily agree that more literature has been circulated during the past few weeks than in any campaign Texas ever saw. It was useless for The Enterprise to add or detract from what had been and is still being said. To be honest with you, this editor is as much in the dark as the majority of his readers, and like you will have to be guided in some instances, by private opinion formed by a perusal of the self-same literature you've been fed.

A. H. Bugg was over from Toyah yesterday attending to business matters.

The Germans are just like our heavyweight prize fighters. They have an alibi to fit every changing condition.

"Black Americans" painting No Mans Land red, backed by the famous "Blue Devils" of France. No wonder the Huns are complaining of too much "color."

The Allies have been celebrating the holidays of the Americans recently, and Americans have reciprocated nobly. When the war is over all the holidays will be merged, and well then have so few workdays that no one need turn hoboe to dodge the labor issue.

German prisoners are responsible for the story that the statement by the War Department, placing the number of Americans in France at one million is false. They say we have ten million. The rumor, it is safe to say, won't help their morale very much.

Dudley Has His Opponent on the Run. McFarland Unable to Explain His Record

ELEVENTH HOUR EFFORT OF DICK DUDLEY'S OPPONENT FOR STATE SENATE IS BUT WEAK ATTEMPT TO EXPLAIN AWAY A FATAL RECORD AT AUSTIN--WAS ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED TOO OFTEN

It has long been a political truism that "a kicked dog always howls." M. M. McFarland, candidate for the State Senate from the 25th district against Dick Dudley of El Paso, has come out with an eleventh hour denial in a paid advertisement of charges made by Dudley in his comparison of records, hoping he would be able to get by without the facts as shown by the House Journal of the last session of the Legislature bobbing up to confront him.

He claims Dudley misrepresented him in his printed compilation of records while both were members of the last Legislature.

Cant Deny His Record

The misrepresentation lies closer at home for McFarland has deliberately misrepresented his position on some of the most important measures before the legislature and has undertaken the impossible task of denying his record which has been following him around the district like a yellow dog.

The facts from which the comparison of records were compiled were taken from the House Journal and any one who wishes to look up this records may find facts there exactly as Mr. Dudley has presented them. To stage an eleventh hour blanket denial of his record is McFarland's own admission that he stands defeated on his record.

Voted Against Prohibition

In spite of his denials he does not deny he VOTED AGAINST PROHIBITION, for which Mr. Dudley voted and worked.

Neither does he deny he was ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED when the bill to teach patriotism in the public schools and to have the American flag fly from the public schools was voted on.

He does not deny he was ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED when the bill to give relief to West Texas cattlemen, ranchers and farmers was up for final passage. Dudley was there working for his friends in West Texas as usual.

He does not deny he was ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED when the vote was taken on the bill to permit trust companies to invest their surplus funds in Liberty Bonds.

He does not deny he was ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED when the bill requiring Majority Nominations was passed.

He does not deny he was ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED when the bill saying that none but American citizens could vote in the primaries, thereby purifying Texas politics.

Petty Pass Graft

He does not deny he helped to vote illegally $75.00 in stamps, $12.00 for newspapers and $20.00 for telephone and telegraph service for each member of the legislature, INCLUDING HIMSELF. Neither does he deny that he did not take every cent of this $107.00 in petty graft, nor that Dudley did not touch a cent of this graft and voted against the bill when it was passed.

Does he deny he voted for the bill to give each member of the legis-

D. W. BOZEMAN IS ENROLLING AGENT FOR U. S. SHIPPING

D. W. Bozeman, a local druggist, recently nominated as an enrolling agent for the U. S. Shipping Board, to recruit young men from 21 to 30 for the Merchant Marine, has received the following official notice of his appointment:

U. S. Shipping Board, Washington, D. C. Mr. D. W. Bozeman.

Dear Sir: I take pleasure in advising you that you have been appointed special enrolling agent of the recruiting service for the Sea Training Bureau of the United States Shipping Board at a salary of $1 per annum. I desire to take this opportunity to express to you, on behalf of the Board, our appreciation of your patriotic spirit in which you have offered your valued services in this work.

Very truly yours, LESTER SISLER, Secretary.

—WSS— Let your idle books help our soldiers—You can do your bit lature--INCLUDING HIMSELF--free passes over the railroads of Texas? NO.

Dudley Voted Against This Bribery

He claims he voted for the appropriation to maintain the Carlsbad Institute. When that section of the appropriation bill containing the Carlsbad Institute appropriation was being bitterly fought on April 25th, the House Journal shows he was again ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED.

Again Absent and Not Paired

He also claims he was present and voted for the bill to establish an experimental station for sheep and goat raisers in Sutton county. Again the House Journal shows that, on May 2nd, when this section passed the House, he was once more ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED.

McFarland says in his paid advertisement that he voted for the Zone Bill. When the bill was finally passed on May 2nd, Mr. McFarland was in Jourdanon, Texas, and discussed this bill with ex-representative (Railroad) Smith, at Jourdanon and that same night at San Antonio, expressed his regret to J. F. Sutton of Alpine, Texas, that he was absent when the bill was passed.

False Claims

McFarland claims he voted for the illiteracy bill, for the irrigation bills and the bill to improve the health and working condition of women. The facts, as shown by the House Journal on March 18th, when these bills were finally passed are that he WAS ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED. That he was hiding behind the fact that there was no roll calls on these bills avails him nothing as the Journal shows he was ABSENT FROM THE LEGISLATURE AND EXCUSED on that date, and could not have voted for any of these important measures.

Once more McFarland was ABSENT AND NOT PAIRED when the bill to protect the soldiers and sailors from the bootleggers was finally passed.

McFarland's puny charges that Mr. Dudley failed to pay his taxes are silly and unfounded, like all other charges, this is the product of McFarland's fertile imagination.

Loyal to President

That Dudley is loyal to the President is proved by the fact that he contributed to Wilson's campaign fund, voted for him and worked to pass all measures asked for by the President. The only point upon which Mr. Dudley disagreed with the President was in his position that a rancher in the Big Bend district of Texas was as much entitled to protection as a business man in New York.

It is amusing to see Mr. McFarland dodging his record, as shown by the House Journal and playing prohibitionist. He is trying to camouflage a bad record in the last legislature behind a smoke screen of misrepresentations, but the facts show through too plainly to be hidden. (Political Advertisement)

BURIED HERE SATURDAY

The body of Joe Miller, who died of typhoid fever Wednesday of last week at Walters, Oklahoma, where the family was spending the summer, arrived in Pecos Saturday morning and was conveyed to the home of his brother, R. E. Miller, where funeral services were held at four o'clock that afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. F. Lloyd of the Presbyterian church. Interment was made at Fairview Cemetery amid bereaved relatives and sorrowing friends.

Mr. Miller was a good man, a devout member of the Presbyterian church, being an officer in the church and was held in highest esteem by all.

He is survived by his wife, who is ill at Walters with typhoid fever and could not accompany the body; a lovely little daughter, Louise, one sister, Mrs. Maggie Rose, of Pecos, and three brothers, R. E. Miller of Pecos, Jim Miller of Bradford, Texas, and Rev. A. E. Miller of Walters, Okla.

The family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends in this sad hour.

Z. L. COBB CLOSES CAMPAIGN FOR CONGRESS IN PECOS

At the city fountain last night, under the most ideal conditions for open air speaking, a good sized crowd listened to the closing arguments of the Hon. Z. L. Cobb on his candidacy for the office of U. S. Senator.

It would be almost impossible to even approximate the size of the gathering on account of the many autos that fringed the circle of benches, but The Enterprise is certain that all in Pecos even remotely interested in this vital race, both for and against the respective candidates, were on hand, and Mr. Cobb was listened to attentively to the close of his speech which lasted a little over two hours. No interruptions of any kind were noted, and as not the least breath of wind was blowing, the candidate's every word reached those assembled.

Mr. Cobb's opening remarks were directed at the record of his opponent, Mr. Hudspeth, while the latter served as senator in the Texas legislature, and The Enterprise thinks it fair to say in this regard that the remarks were along the same line that Mr. Cobb pursued when he first addressed the people here.

The latter part of his discourse, according to his own statement, was directed to correcting alleged slanders of the opposition against him as a gentleman, a Christian and as an American. Much of the time during the closing minutes were spent in showing, by proof of a documentary nature that he had done his full duty as an American along all lines.

Tonight (Friday) Judge Harper of El Paso will talk to the Pecos people in behalf of the candidacy of Senator Hudspeth.

SOLDIERS IN FIELD AND CAMP GET MANY BOOKS

The War Service Committee of the American Library Association reports that 435,000 books were shipped to American soldiers in France up to July 1. The books went in tonnage space granted at the request of Gen. Pershing on the decks of the transports where they were used by the men on the voyage and repacked for use in France; in naval vessels for naval bases abroad; and in Red Cross tonnage for the hospitals in France and England.

A total of more than 2,500,000 books have been supplied by the Association to the camps and stations in the United States and overseas. Approximately 500,000 of the books were purchased and the others came as gifts from the American people through the public libraries of the country. Nearly 40 library buildings have been erected and 600 camps in America alone have received collections of books.

Two hundred librarians, including leaders in their profession in this country, are giving their time to the Library War Service. Most of these are serving as camp librarians, assistants and organizers in the field; others are in dispatch offices for the shipment of books to France.

THE RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION AND THE FARMERS

The United States Railroad Administration has established a department to be known as the agricultural section, whose particular duty will be to look after the relations between the railroads and the Department of Agriculture. It purposes to give all possible assistance to the agricultural development of the country. The Extension work of the Department of Agriculture and the stimulation of agriculture, especially in relation to transportation, will be assisted as much as possible by the new section.

RANGE IN GUADALOUPE MTS. POORER THAN IN YEARS

V. Byers, one of the owners of the D Ranch in the Guadalupe Mountains, was a business visitor in Pecos Wednesday. He has just shipped about 400 head of cattle to pasture south of Odessa where the grass is good. He says they had fine rains in that country Tuesday. He also stated that his range in the Guadalupe Mountains is poorer than it has been in years.

Mr. Byers was on his way back home, and says that they have a fairly good fruit crop this year, yet the frost killed a good portion of it. His grape and apple crops are both fine and the peaches are fairly good.

ARMY MAKES A RECORD PURCHASE OF MEATS

The largest single order for bacon and canned meats in the history of the world—99,560,000 pounds of bacon and 134,000,000 pounds of canned meats—has just been placed by the Quartermaster Department of the U. S. A., for the American Army overseas.

Louis F. Swift, in commenting on this today said that the order will take the bacon from approximately 1,900,000 hogs and if other work was dropped to produce it would be the equivalent to the total bacon production of the five largest Chicago packers for nearly five weeks, however, six months will elapse before delivery is to be completed.

Mr. Swift said: "On the current prices on the day, last week, when the purchase was made, the packers would pay the live stock producers about $80,000,000 for the necessary hogs and over $50,000,000 for about 900,000 cattle required."

"The cattle cost us twice more and the hogs two and one-half times as much as in the pre-war period."

"The whole order will be made up before the first of the year, despite the fact that, even before the purchase, one-fourth of the packers' facilities have been devoted to filling military demands."

"In order to get out the canned goods the packers will find it necessary to employ night and day shifts of canners. Notwithstanding the fact that the products are being pushed forward thus hurriedly not a single complaint has been received on meats delivered to the armies that are abroad."

"The five packers are now killing about 360,000 hogs weekly to keep abreast of martial and domestic needs."

THRIFT BY PATCHING THE GARMENTS OF SOLDIERS

Methods of thrift now enforced in the Army Quartermaster General's Office, including the repair of clothing and shoes where possible, have cut down the issue of new clothing and shoes from 30 to 40 per cent in some instances.

The plants where the mending is done are run in connection with forts and camps by the Quartermaster of the camp or fort. When a soldier rips or tears a garment he turns it in to his supply officer. When the soles of his shoes wear out or the heels run down, the shoes go to the same officer. The garments and the shoes are taken to the repair shops managed by the conservation and reclamation officer. When repaired and put in order they are returned to the original owner if possible, and if the original owner cannot be located they serve some other soldier.

Hundreds of women are being employed by the War Department in the work of repairing the garments of soldiers and in the laundries at camps and cantonments.

Preference in this employment is given to wives, sisters and mothers of men in the service. By paying $1 a month a soldier is entitled to a weekly bundle of laundry in which the number of articles is not limited. The women mend and repair all garments before they are laundered.

TO RESTRICT THE AMERICAN TOURISTS TO CANADA

American tourist travel in Canada during the summer will be subject to as few inconveniences because of war regulations as may be possible with the enforcement of these regulations.

Senator G. D. Robertson, chairman of the Canada Registration Board, officially denounces as without foundation reports circulated in Canada and in the United States to the effect that visitors to Canada from the United States will be compelled to "register at a post office before being able to secure hotel accommodations or transportation, that women visiting Canada will be detained, and that Americans traveling in Canada will require passports."

He says that neither in the law, in the regulations for Canadian registration, nor in any instruction issued or contemplated, is there anything to indicate desire or intention to impose restrictions upon Americans or allied or neutral aliens, traveling in, or leaving Canada.

The registration act applies only to people permanently resident in Canada and does not affect any one living in the United States. No registration at a post office is necessary for Americans, and no passports are required.

On entering Canada visitors give assurance that their usual place of residence is not Canada and are supplied with identification cards by the Canadian immigration officials, which enables them to travel freely where they wish without interference.

McFARLAND DESIRES TO CORRECT ERROR IN DATES

In reference to the date of the resolutions being published in the El Paso Herald my copy should have read January 18th, 1916. It appeared in the paper January 16, 1918. ## Status of Religion at Camp Travis

CHRISTIAN INFLUENCES NOW CONSIDERED INDISPENSABLE TO MEN—WANTS OF ALL CREEDS ARE FILLED

The army has just decided that even from a coldly material point of view, that the religious influences now placed about the soldiers of the new democracy are indispensable. Recognition that religion for the soldier has a solid basis as well as one in sentiment has come as the result of the splendid work of the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus with the drafted men as they come into Camp Travis, many of them away from home for the first time.

The first few weeks of these men after they enter the army is spent in quarantine while incipient contagions are "spotted" and isolated. During this term of confinement to their company areas the visits of the "Y" and the K. of C. man with his song books or boxing gloves, and plain man-to-man talks are literally Godsenders. Men who are despondent and homesick cheer up, and men who otherwise might have developed into sullen and slack soldiers find a new stiffening for their spines and a new keenness for the work to which they have been called. Some call that "grit" and some call it "pep," some call it "morale". The name is unimportant but without the thing itself you cannot get a good soldier.

Religious surroundings are not left in the hands of the Y. M. C. A. and K. of C. exclusively. Of course the buildings of these organizations are visited by speakers of almost every faith represented in camp. The churches of the city also are carrying on their more strictly denominational work in buildings on the edge of the camp. The Baptists have been particularly successful in this work, owing to the fortunate location of the specially erected chapel on the west of Camp Travis adjoining as it does both the cantonment and Fort Sam Houston. At this chapel the soldiers carry on the services almost of themselves, the pastor being himself an ex-soldier. As many as seventy-five men from a single company have been known to walk a half mile after their day's work in order to be at a service.

The Army Post Chapel serves also as a religious center, it being not uncommon on Sundays for the Catholics to hold high mass there in the morning, the Episcopalians who have Holy Communion later on, and the Methodist minister to give an old time camp meeting sermon in the same building at night. Various denominations about the Army Post have put forth special efforts to aid the drafted men at Camp Travis in every way and to make them feel at home in their church services.

Downtown churches also accommodate the soldier in every way, on week days as well as on Sundays. By way of illustration: St. Mark's (Episcopalian) church even goes so far as to give a three-course dinner every Sunday for men in uniform at their morning service. This is to enable the soldier boys of Camp Travis to make the four mile trip to the service and care for the wants of the inner man spiritually without neglecting him physically. But for this arrangements many would be unable to attend.

The colored men are not forgotten although in many cases it would seem as if they could take care of themselves in such matters, for few companies among them that has not one or two colored preachers in its enlisted personnel, and on Sundays they have free rein to exhort their brethren in uniform after their own faith and manner. Indeed, the shouts and rhythmic crooning of the old-fashioned evangelist can be heard for blocks, broken into now and then by such singing as only colored people can do. They have their own "Y" building with a man of their own race to look after them, besides visiting speakers who come to address them.

Religion has found its place in the army. It takes the sight of thousands of uniformed men stepping to the inspiring strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers" in brigade and regimental review to realize the full appeal of it. And yet there is no compulsion. For the army goes or the theory that for the man who does not hunger and thirst after righteousness there should be no forced feeding. But for the man who is so minded there is every opportunity to worship after the fashion that fits his own conscience.

Zack Lamar Cobb to His Friends

I am informed that Senator Hudspeth's law partner, Judge Harper, of El Paso, will speak against me in Pecos Friday night. He spoke against me at Midland Thursday night, after I had spoken in that city the night before. It is typical of the Hudspeth people to speak after me. Senator Hudspeth has carefully avoided speaking with me. He has refused to meet me in joint debate, either to defend his own record or to back up his slanders of me.

The district has been flooded with slanders by the Hudspeth campaign managers. They have falsely said that I was a Republican, that I was a drunkard and a gambler, and have made other charges equally false. They have repeated slanders of me regarding my action toward the good women of the city of El Paso who were interested in the collection of funds for the Belgian orphans, notwithstanding the fact that the pastor of the church, under the auspices of which that fund was raised, has denied the charges.

The Hudspeth people have continued to say that I did not subscribe to the Red Cross fund or buy Liberty Bonds when they knew they were repeating falsehoods in those particulars and after they had been furnished with documentary proof that their statements were false.

The more they slander me the larger our majority will be. I am running a clean race. We are right and Senator Hudspeth is wrong. We will win a great victory because we are right.

While the victory will be for the principles we stand for rather than for me, personally, nevertheless, I appreciate the help of everyone the same as if it were meant for me personally.

Fresh Beef Travels on a Rapid Schedule

Fresh beef for domestic markets goes from stockyards to retail stores within a period of about two weeks. Although chilled, this meat is not frozen; hence it cannot be stored for a rise in price.

A steer is dressed usually within twenty-four hours after purchase by the packer. The beef is held in a cooler at the packing house, at a temperature a little above freezing, for about three days.

It is then loaded into a refrigerator car where a similar temperature is maintained, and is in transit to market on an average of about six days.

Upon arrival at the branch distributing house, it is unloaded into a "cooler", and placed on sale.

Swift & Company requires all beef to be sold during the week of arrival, and the average of sales is within five days.

Any delay along the above journey means deterioration in the meat and loss to the packer.

Swift & Company, U.S.A.

“What Phonograph Shall I Buy?”

How many times, when the subject of purchasing a phonograph or talking machine has come up, have you asked yourself that question?

Edison has made it so that you do not even have to answer the question for yourself because the Edison tone test answers it for you.

If you knew that any one sound-reproducing invention had a distinct advantage over all others, undoubtedly you would purchase that one.

The Edison Tone Test has proved that

The NEW EDISON

“The Phonograph with a Soul”

is distinctive from all other sound-reproducing inventions, because it is the only one that Re-creates the singer's voice so faithfully that the human ear cannot distinguish the rendition of the artist from that of the New Edison.

Perhaps you will take that statement “with a grain of salt.” If so, we will gladly welcome an opportunity to convince you.

THE KAISER'S TALK TO HELL

The kaiser called the devil up
On the telephone one day;
The girl at central listened to
All they had to say.
“Hello!” she heard the kaiser's voice,
“Is old man Satan home?
Just tell him this is kaiser Bill
That wants him on the ‘phone.”
The devil said, “Hello, Bill!”
And Bill said, “How are you?
I'm running here a hell on earth,
So tell me what to do.”
“What can I do?” the devil said.
“My dear old kaiser Bill;
If there's a thing I can do
To help you I sure will.”
The kaiser said, “Now listen,
And I will try to tell
The way that I am running
On earth a modern hell.
I've saved for this for many years,
And I've started out to kill;
That it will be a modern job,
You leave it to kaiser bill.
My army went through Belgium—
Shooting women and children down.
We tore up all of her country
And blew up every town.
My Zeps dropped bombs on cities
Killing both old and young;
And those the Zeppelins didn't get
Were taken out and hung.
I started out for Paris,
With the aid of poisonous gas,
The Belgians, damn 'em, stopped us
And would not let us pass.
My submarines are devils—
Why, you should see them fight;
They go sneaking through the seas
And sink a ship at night.
I was running things to suit me
Till a year or so ago;
When a man named Woodrow Wilson
Wrote me to go more slow.
He said to me ‘Dear William,
We don't want to make you sore,
So be sure to tell your U-boats
To sink our ships no more.’
I didn't listen to him
And he's coming after me
With a million, Yankee soldiers
From their homes across the sea.
Now that's why I called you, Satan,
For I want advice from you.
I knew that you would tell me
The thing I ought to do.”
“My dear old kaiser William,
There's not much for me to tell;
For the Yanks will make it hotter
Than I can for you in hell.
I have been a mean old devil,
But not half as mean as you;
And the minute I get you here
I will give my job to you.
I'll be ready for your coming.
And I'll keep the fires all bright;
And I'll have your room all ready
When the Yanks begin to fight.
For the boys in khaki will get you.
I have nothing more to tell;
Hang up the 'phone and get your hat
And meet me here in hell.”
—Private Houchins, of Giles County, in Gate City (Va.) Gazette.

LOANS OF U. S. TO OUR ALLIES

The United States has now loaned to our allies $6,091,590,000. The advances average about $400,000,000 a month.

These loans to our allies are analogous to lending weapons to our friends who are aiding you in the defense of your own home. The money is being used to defeat our enemy, to maintain armies fighting side by side with our soldiers, and fleets patrolling the same oceans with our own sailors.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts Like Dynamite on a Sluggish Liver and You Lose a Day's Work

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. ### INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY

The war is to be won not by one man or one thousand men or one million men, or one individual people. It is to be won by the individual efforts of the people of many nations.

Every American citizen has an individual duty to perform, an individual share of responsibility. The more powerful and effective the American forces are the shorter will be the war and the shorter the war the fewer lives will be lost, the greater the number of American soldiers who will return home victorious.

Every American who economizes in consumption of materials, who increases production, who saves and does something to help win the war.

Mrs. J. A. Stephens, 509 Gregg St., Big Spring, Tex., says: “I suffered from an ache through the small of my back and my kidneys acted irregularly. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Ward Drug Co. and I haven't had any kidney trouble since.”

Principle of Selective-Draft Sustained

DEFERRED CLASSIFICATION OF DEPARTMENT EMPLOYEES IS DEFENDED BY SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE

In the following summarized argument, Secretary of Labor, Houston states that the principle of the selective draft has been faithfully sustained.

1. The law is a selective service law.
2. It places upon the local and district boards the responsibility of determining whether a man shall be deferred or placed in Class 1.
3. It specifically authorizes the President to exclude or discharge from the draft custom house clerks, persons employed by the Government in the transmission of mail, artificers and workmen employed in the armories, arsenals and navy yards of the United States, and such other persons employed in the service of the United States as he may designate.
4. The selective draft service regulations authorizes the heads of departments to recommend the deferred classification of employees “who are necessary to the adequate and effective operation of the service in which they are engaged and who could not be replaced without substantial material loss and detriment to the adequate and effective operation of the service.”
5. The heads of departments can only make recommendations to the draft boards. Their recommendations are not conclusive. It is up to the draft board to determine whether the employees should be deferred or be placed in Class 1.
6. It was necessary for the department, under the Food-production act, to increase its forces at the very moment it was losing large numbers of its trained men.
7. The department has lost 6,048 regular employees since the United States has entered the war, as follows: (a) 5,090 men; (b) 958 women.
8. One thousand five hundred and thirty-seven employees have entered the military service.
9. Four thousand five hundred and seven employees, including 958 women, have left the service to engage in other occupations.
10. The Forest Service, for instance, has lost 729 men and 89 women; the Bureau of Animal Industry 32 men and 55 women; the Bureau of Markets 293 men and 47 women; the States Relations Service, 87 men and 550 women; and other branches of the department such as the Bureau of Chemistry, and the Weather Bureau have been heavily drawn upon.

11. It was essential that the National Forest activities, the meat-inspection service, the technical work of the Bureau of Chemistry, the farm demonstration work, the activities of the Bureau of Markets, and all other important branches of the department should be maintained at the highest efficiency and expanded in many directions.

12. All these services required the services of men peculiarly qualified—some of them very special technical qualifications.

13. The larger number of deferred classifications was recommended in the following services: (a) cooperative agricultural extension work; (b) forestry; (c) meat inspection and animal disease control work; (d) markets. It was impossible not to carry on these activities.

14. Under the selective-service regulations the Secretary could have left matters to representatives in the field. He refused to do this, however, and passed on each case personally.

15. In the farm demonstration work, recommendations were made in the first place by State officers, then examined by the States Relation Service, and finally submitted to the Secretary.

16. The personal interests of the employees were not considered and the employees were not consulted in any case. Deferred classification was recommended only in cases where employees were clearly necessary to the adequate and effective operation of the service in which they were engaged.

17. Individuals doing purely routine clerical work were not involved. Deferred classification was not requested for them.

18. A large number of employees for whom deferred classification was recommended were entitled under the regulations to be deferred, and have been deferred for other reasons such as dependency, physical disability, and the like.

Germany's War on the Red Cross

CRIMES OF HUN AGAINST HOSPITAL SHIP WILL BE REMEMBERED AND REPAID LONG AFTER WAR HAS CEASED

Readers of The Enterprise will no doubt remember reading of the plan of the United States to send the hospital ship "Comfort" to Europe without protection, simply notifying Germany, and trusting that the spark of humanity is not entirely extinguished in the Teuton soul. Commenting on this The Literary Digest has the following to say:

The tempting of fate in the rumored proposal to send the American hospital ship Comfort to Europe with no means of defense takes on a dubious aspect after the experience of the Llandovery Castle. Germany's writhing methods of defense for the act would serve her equally well for another. It would be just as convenient to say that the Comfort had struck a mine, or that some other ship that looked like the Comfort was torpedoed because American aviators were on board disguised as Red Cross workers. Thus the German justifications are pigeon-holed, and if the case is sufficiently in need of bolstering up one of them may be used, or the whole collection of lying accusations come tumbling out together. When hospitals are bombed on land, there is one less horror awaiting the victim, but the death by drowning has fallen upon the unhappy victims of nine other hospital ships besides the Llandovery Castle, as a cable dispatch to the Courier des Etas-Unis (New York) from Paris shows:

"Excelsior gives a list of the hospital ships torpedoed by the Germans since the beginning of hostilities. On March 31, 1916, the French hospital ship Portugal, placed at the disposal of the Russian Government, was sunk by a torpedo-boat or submarine mine; there were a great number of wounded on the ship. On November 21, 1916, the hospital ship Britannic was sunk by a torpedo boat in the Strait of Zea in the Aegean Sea; 50 were lost. On March 20, 1917, the English vessel Asturias was sunk; 11 of those on board were missing and 17 were wounded among the sick on the vessel, while 20 men of the crew were killed, 22 wounded and 9 missing, altogether 79 victims. On March 30, 1917, the English vessel Cloucestor Castle was torpedoed by night in the English Channel; no loss of life. On April 15, 1917, the French steampacket Ernest-Simon, of the Messageries Maritimes, was sunk in the Mediterranean by a submarine; the crew was saved, except a hospital attendant.

On May 26, 1917, the English boat Dover Castle, torpedoed for the second time in the Mediterranean, was sunk; 6 were drowned. On March 10, 1918, the Guilford Castle was torpedoed in the British Channel and greatly damaged; it nevertheless was able to reach the nearest port and landed the sick and wounded. On May 17, 1918, a large Russian hospital boat with 3000 persons aboard, a great number of them being women and children, was sunk by a submarine. Only a few hundred of them were saved. On June 6, 1918, the Hollandish hospital vessel Koningin-Regentes was sunk in the North Sea, with a few victims. On June 27, 1918, the Llandovery Castle was sunk on its return voyage from Canada to the southwest, 116 miles off Fastnet; 234 were missing."

To show the feeling aroused from these inhuman acts the British Seamen's Union gets a five-year extension of its boycott against German ships and commerce. The boycott had been fixed at 68 months. The New York Evening Post thinks other organization throughout the Entente countries are sure to follow British example, and says: "By popular act rather than deliberate Government resolution the wall of isolation being built around Germany by German atrocity will gradually become unsurmountable. Even many who have continuously deprecated a commercial war after the war are finding themselves borne down by Teutonic brutality and stupidity. It is difficult to save a madman from the consequences of his own madness. If Germany continues to act the part of a mad dog then the rest of the world must use whatever weapons are at hand in self-protection. The war after the war may not, eventually, be of official origin. But it will, for that very reason, because born of deep and of lasting popular indignation, be the more effective and terrible."

Constitutional Amendments

SPECIAL TAX FOR MAINTENANCE OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND FURNISHING FREE TEXT BOOKS

House Joint Resolution No. 27 Proposing an amendment to Art. 7 of the Constitution of the State of Texas by changing Sec. 3, providing for a thirty-five cent tax levy for the maintenance of the public schools of Texas, and providing free text books in public schools of the State of Texas, and making an appropriation therefor.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution be so changed as to read as follows (creating a new Section 3):

Sec. 3. One-fourth of the revenues derived from the State occupation taxes and a poll tax of one ($1.00) dollar on every male inhabitant of this State, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools; and, in addition thereto, there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem State tax of such an amount not to exceed thirty-five cents on the one hundred ($100.00) dollar valuation, as, with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public schools of this State for a period of not less than six months in each year, and it shall be the duty of the State Board of Education to set aside a sufficient amount out of the said tax to provide free text books for the use of children attending the public free schools of this State; provided, however, that should the limit of taxation herein named be insufficient, the deficit may be met by appropriations from the general funds of the State, and the Legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general or special law without the local notice required in other cases of special legislation; and all such school district, whether created by general or special law, may embrace parts of two or more counties. And the Legislature shall be authorized to pass laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in all said districts, and for the management and control of the public school or schools of such district, whether such districts are composed of territory wholly within a county or in parts of two or more counties. And the Legislature may authorize an additional ad valorem tax to be levied and collected within all school districts heretofore formed or hereafter formed, for the further maintenance of public free schools, and the erection and equipment of school buildings therein; provided, that a majority of the qualified property tax-paying voters of the district, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote such tax, not to exceed in any one year fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of the property subject to taxation in such district, but the limitation upon the amount of school district tax herein authorized shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns constituting separate and independent school districts.

Section 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1918, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "For the amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for the levy of a special school tax for the maintenance of the public schools of the State and to provide free text books in the public schools of the State of Texas," and all those opposed shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Against the amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for the levy of a special school tax for the maintenance of the public schools of the State and to provide free text books in the public schools of the State of Texas."

Section 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have same published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of the State.

Section 4. That the sum of two thousand ($2,000.00) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State of Texas, not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expense of such publication and election.

(Note—H. J. R. No. 27 passed the House of Representatives by a two-thirds vote, yeas 108, nays 22; and passed the Senate by a two-thirds vote, yeas 23, nays 4.)

TAKING OF TESTIMONY IN CRIMINAL CASES

House Joint Resolution No. 2. To amend Section 10, Article 1, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, providing for certain rights of accused persons in criminal prosecutions, and the manner in which the case may be prosecuted, and providing for the procuring of the testimony of the witnesses for both defense and prosecution.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section (10) of Article (1) of the Constitution of the State of Texas be so amended that the same will read and hereafter be as follows:

He shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself and shall have the right of being heard by himself or counsel, or both, shall be confronted by the witnesses against him and shall have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, except that when the witness resides out of the State and the offense charged is a violation of any of the anti-trust laws of this State, the defendant and the State shall have the right to produce and have the evidence admitted by deposition, under such rules and laws as the Legislature may hereafter provide; and no person shall be held to answer for criminal offense, unless on an indictment of a grand jury, except in cases in which the punishment is by fine or imprisonment, otherwise than in the penitentiary, in cases of impeachment and in cases arising in the army or navy, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger.

Section 2. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for the submission of this amendment to the qualified voters of this State at the next general election for State and county officers.

Section 3. The qualified electors for members of the Legislature shall vote upon said amendment at the said general election and at which election all persons favoring said amendment shall have written or printed on the ballot the following: "For amendment to Section 10, Article 1, of the Constitution, providing for prosecution of criminal cases by information, or indictment, and taking of testimony of witnesses by deposition, under certain circumstances," and those opposed to such amendment shall have written or printed on the ballot as follows: "Against the amendment to Section 10, Article 1 of the Constitution."

Section 4. The sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds of the Treasury of the State not otherwise appropriated to pay the expense of publishing, proclamation and election.

John Camp left Tuesday morning for Sierra Blanca in search of grass for his cattle. Camp says his cattle are now in very good shape and are dropping many calves but his grass is getting short and he does not care to hold them on short grass until they get too poor to move.

Vernon L. Sullivan was in town last week and this from his home in El Paso. He was also at Grandfalls looking after the interests of his people there, and went with the crowd last week to the Red Bluff Reservoir site to confer there with the State Board of Water Engineers.

Hon. Hugh H. Tucker and family, who came in last week, the latter for a visit with the family of Mr. A. Tinnally, while Mr. Tucker is looking after the interests of the Sunshine Oil Corporation, are still here. They are an interesting family, and since Mr. Tucker's work calls him away from home so much, they are enjoying this kind of family reunion and visit with the Tinnally family very much, and the entire family will always have a kindly feeling for the Tinnallys and Pecos, and the good fortune which brought them here.

5 ARMY OFFICERS' TRAINING SCHOOLS ARE OPENED

The War Department has established five central officers' training camps at which civilians and enlisted men will be trained for commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps. Infantry training camps are located at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.; Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.; and Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark.; field artillery at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky.; and machine gun at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga. These training schools will be run continuously, a new class being admitted monthly. The course of training will be four months at the infantry and machine gun schools, and at the field artillery school three months. The schools are open to qualified enlisted men in all branches of the service except Coast Artillery, Signal Corps and labor units. The number of civilians admitted will be limited.

To be eligible for admission the candidates must be between 20 years 8 months and 40 years; citizens of the United States and not born in any of the countries with which the United States is at war or allies of such countries. Enlisted men must have all the moral, educational and physical qualifications required of an officer. Civilians must be graduates of a high school or have pursued an equivalent course of instruction, and have the required physical qualifications.

In addition to the above qualifications candidates for the field artillery must possess a thorough understanding and working knowledge of arithmetic, algebra to include quadratic equations, and plane geometry. The trained civil, mechanical, electrical, mining, and architectural engineer is desired. Civilian applications will be certified by the Army officer on duty as professor of military science and tactics at the educational institution nearest the residence of applicant.

While the labor required for the raising of sheep is continuous, it is not heavy, and if properly supervised and made interesting by financial return can well be performed by boys incapable of doing other kinds of farm work. This fact should be given consideration in many sections of the country where farm labor is becoming scarce.

ARMY VOCATIONAL SCHOOL OPENED FOR FIGHTERS

Returning blinded soldiers, sailors and marines are being received now for vocational instruction and rehabilitation at Hospital Training School at General Hospital No. 7, the former home of Mrs. T. Harrison Garrett, at Baltimore, Md. The hospital is outfitted to accommodate 250 men and has large recreation fields and an extensive acreage in gardens.

Col. James Bordley, of the Surgeon General's office in charge of the re-education of the blind, has announced the appointment of O. H. Burritt, of the Pennsylvania Institute for the Instruction of the blind, as the educational director of this Army hospital, with Miss Jenny A. Turner, formerly designer for the Massachusetts Commission for the blind, as a reconstruction aide. Miss Turner has been working with the returned wounded soldiers at the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington.

The blinded soldiers from overseas will be discharged from the hospital after they have been taught a practical self-supporting trade, have been put in good physical condition, and taught to read standard printing in raised type. The men will be sent to their own home communities and placed in the trades for which they have been trained. Red Cross workers will watch after their welfare. Cooperating with the Army Medical Department, the Red Cross Institute for the Blind is now making a national survey of industries open to blind soldiers. Instructions will be made to conform with preparations for these industries. The Federal Board for Vocational Education is arranging a plan for the economic and social supervision of all wounded and maimed soldiers.

STATEWIDE CONFERENCE AT SAN ANTONIO RESULTS IN SENDING MESSAGE TO SECRETARY OF LABOR AT WASHINGTON.

Government is Asked to Raise Immigration Ban on Mexican Labor; Mexican Editors Entertained.

Food Administrator Peden has returned from San Antonio, where he was present at a conference on the labor situation, the result of which was a message to William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, urging that for a period of 90 days the immigration laws as to Mexican labor be immediately suspended...

The conference brought out the fact that a small group of Texans in Southern Texas alone required 40,000 Mexican laborers in addition to those they already have, and that the need is manifold over the entire State.

As an interesting climax to the request that the present restrictions on Mexican labor be removed, Mr. Peden had an opportunity to address the Mexican editors who were recently received in Washington by President Wilson.

Housewife's Preserves Can Not Be Accepted for Army or Navy.

Although the American housewife is urged to can every ounce of fruit or vegetables possible as a patriotic food conservation measure, her product must be reserved for civilian use. Home canned and preserved goods can not be purchased or accepted as gifts for the army or navy, the Missouri division of the food administration has announced.

Patriotic persons all over the country have been offering to organize workers in their vicinity to supply American soldiers and sailors with food prepared at home. While this spirit is appreciated and considered praiseworthy, the food administration believes it can be turned into channels that will do exactly as much for our armed forces and the allies as though it had provided them with millions of cans or jars of home-preserved food. No government department is permitted to accept any article without paying for it. But even if home-canned goods could legally be bought, their purchase would be impossible, the food administration has pointed out, because of the difficulty acceptance of small lots would entail in the way of inspection. Supplies of this kind must be obtained in reasonably large units and must be uniform both as to ingredients and containers. With shipping space precious this uniformity is doubly important that the greatest possible quantity may be packed in a given space. Every additional million of jars filled by housewives for home use, however, release an equal quantity of commercially canned goods for export.

"MOTHER FRIES IT IN A PAN."

Remember the little rhyme about the fish in the brook? Catching fish is real work. Eating it instead of meat is patriotism. The United States Food Administration submits these menus to give you some ideas.

(By John H. Regan, Director of Education. "We return thanks to THEE, ALMIGHTY GOD, for precious gifts which Thou art about to bestow upon us.")

It is a simple prayer, and still on the lips of millions who forced themselves from normal dreams and normal goals; those who do not ascend as freely today in an abundantly blessed life as was the case before the soul became distracted with automatic things. Certainly wherever pride has been laid low, sorrow has replaced ease and luxury, the utterance does sometimes well at the lips at the breaking of bread, the drinking of the cup of milk, a contentment in a bit of meat—man's dependence upon something more himself. I can well believe that the Belgians hold for America something akin to Divine Worship; that the French, in throwing flowers upon our boys, think them with the same sense of a something religious that they place flowers before the altars of their cathedrals; and when our men marched through London Town—there was surely the feeling that there walked with each of them an invisible presence, which was the cumulation of the prayers of the Irish widows and orphans. In the backwash of things as most of us are—only remotely in touch with the wretched misery and suffering across the seas, it seems to me (and so it should seem to everyone) that all these requests and admonitions to save and conserve are unnecessary. The mere knowledge that a French peasant and his household lower their head in thanksgiving for what we have sent them through "going without" seems to me the greatest conceivable compensation for the paltry business of "going without." We seem an arduous time getting the viewpoint, nor do I see why a multiplicity of maiming, matoring and killing are required to intensify the fact that frugality during these times is a magnificent privilege, rather than bovine acceptance of an obligation.

FARMERS URGED TO RAISE WHEAT

May Retain Twelve Pounds a Month for Each Person in Family.

There are two distinct classes of wheat producers in Texas—those in the northern part of the State, who have been in the habit of raising wheat for commercial purposes, and those in scattered sections of the State who, beginning last year, planted sufficient wheat to feed themselves and those dependent upon them. This latter class, the Food Administration announces, should first arrange for sufficient wheat out of their crops to feed their families for the coming year on a basis of 12 pounds per month per person, also enough for seeding purposes. If they have more wheat than covers that of providing for their families and seeding, the farmers should sell their surplus to their neighbors for seeding purposes exclusively, thereby putting more farmers in a position to produce their own bread for the coming year. "It is the policy of the Food Administration," states Administrator Peden, "to have all farmers, wherever possible, plant sufficient wheat for their own consumption and those dependent upon them. If there is any other impression it should be corrected at once. "The public may rest assured that the United States Food Administration will do everything it possibly can for the farmer producing wheat for home consumption, and the only reason they were restricted in the use of wheat last year was that the crop was so short that it was absolutely necessary to get every grain of wheat to the mills in order that this government could take care of the obligations in the army, navy and allied countries. "Because of the fact that there would be a considerable waste and spoilage if the quantity retained on farms were ground at once, the Food Administration requires that out of the 1918 wheat crop only sufficient wheat of the 12-pound per person per month allotment be ground to last until October 1. When that period has passed additional grinding is in order. "Both the commercial wheat producer and the small producer for family use and seeding operate on the same plan so far as the 12 pounds per person a month goes. The exception is only in that the small producer may distribute his surplus among his neighbors for seed."

MERCHANTS IN CORN BELT HAVE FIFTY-FIFTY RULE

In all the corn-producing States both the farmer and the merchant serving the farmer a quandary as to how the buying wheat flour and substitutes might be made to work a hardship upon the merchant who, because he has been buying from the wheat grower, have to carry substituted last difficulty, and the merchant who bring a sign of relief. Mr. Leechant in the corn belt congratulated the farmer with the purchase flour raised by him to learn without substitute for the merchant a step. We notice that the meal was the election grown corn, then a portion of Oklahoma to sell flour in Oklahoma. EAT PEACHES, IT WILL SAVE SUGAR, SAYS PEDEN.

It requires approximately 15,000,000 pounds of sugar a month to feed the 5,000,000 people of Texas, based on the ration of three pounds per person per month. The three pounds ration is based on sufficient to maintain strength and health. In the Elberta peach crop of East Texas, now being shipped to market, there is approximately 5,775,000 pounds of saccharine, or sugar not matured. If the people of Texas were to consume this one fruit crop alone they would save over a third of a month's ration.

In 1916 the Texas peach crop amounted to 2,860,000 bushels; in 1917, to 2,352,000 bushels; while the crop for 1918 is estimated at 3,000,000 bushels. The crop is bringing an average of $2 a bushel, or enriching the treasury of Texas by $6,000,000. The price is better this year than in either 1916 or 1917. The peach crop in 1916 represented a value of $2,860,000 and for 1917 $3,998,400.

It is also interesting to know that the tomato season in Texas for 1916 showed shipment of 721,000 crates and 1917 of 1,152,000 crates. The 1918 crop is a little short of 1917. The value of the tomato crop for 1916 was $567,700, and for 1917, $1,036,000, so it can be reasonably estimated that the 1918 tomato crop will bring in at least $1,000,000. In the matter of icing and securing quick transportation of the peach and the tomato crop the Federal Food Administration has given the growers every assistance within its power, and the results are that the distribution has been up to the expectation of the shipper in all things.

One thing in favor of the primary election is the fact that the defeated candidates have plenty of time to hunt a new job before relinquishing the reins.

The work or fight regulation of the Provost-General does not affect Pecos. Our young men of draft age are either all gone into the service, or have been turned down by the re-creating officer.

"Yanks kill Huns with clubs." Headline in daily paper. The Enterprise noticed that Mr. Hoover had sailed for Europe, and the above is conclusive that he is at the front lecturing the boys to save powder and lead.

When the next harvest of Iron Crosses arrives we trust that baby-killer Bill will not forget the "gallant and intrepid" airmen who recently bombed the Red Cross building and killed 54 young girls engaged in making bandages and repairing linen for the wounded. Such deeds should have signal recognition.

Turkey has the most unenviable place among the nations. No matter which side wins she is in for it. Her recent break with Germany seems to indicate that Germany's hope of even a favorable peace treaty is gone, so Turkey is getting out from under, and the move seems to indicate that she will throw herself on the mercy of the Allies.

Don't overlook the coal situation. As The Enterprise understands the situation, each community will be allowed a certain amount for next winter's needs, based upon the consumption of the past winter. All happenings of recent date go to prove the falsity of the superman myth in Germany's case. In days now gone the statement that Germans were, as a race, superior, was accepted without investigation. Fact of matter was that the nations were getting along so well as a whole that they didn't care whether it was true or false. But now that Germany is in the limelight and has proven herself baseless, investigation into her standing as a nation of supermen lay bare facts that prove just the opposite. In the fields of science she stands as a convicted thief, robbing other nations of the fruits of their labor and enlarging their ideas. No great achievement of any kind can she claim as the direct fruit of her vaunted superior intellectuality. The people, as a whole, during the war, have acted the part that is in truth theirs—serfs to an autocratic military power. Any story, no matter how much the real facts contradict it, are accepted. When the German press stated that America had but a few hundred men on the battle front, and couldn't possibly get any more over, the people believed it and were correspondingly happy. A few days later the same paper stated that in a battle just fought hundreds of thousands of Americans were slain, they gulped it down and celebrated accordingly. Supermen? Bah! The national pastime of beer-guzzling has for ages muddled their brains and forbids them having an original thought not dictated by their royal masters.

COBB THANKS SUPPORTERS AND WILL NOT CONTEST

I am deeply grateful to those who supported me for congress, and wish well for those who opposed me. The race was very close.

Apparently I had a majority outside of El Paso County. I carried my home precinct two to one, and carried a net majority in the distinctively white English-speaking precincts.

The negro vote of El Paso, being fully informed that I opposed their participation in democratic primaries, opposed me en masse. There were irregularities in the voting of illiterate Mexicans against me. I was run over by the El Paso machine.

I am not going to contest the election. My friends have made a gallant fight for me, and it is my duty to be game in defeat. Having failed of election to congress I have asked Washington to give me war work.

ZACH LAMAR COBB.

A WORD OF THANKS FOR SUPPORT IN PRIMARIES

To the Voters of Reeves County: I want to thank you most sincerely for the cordial and hearty support you gave me in the recent primary. The sting of defeat is entirely taken away when I remember that those who know me best believed in me and gave me a substantial majority over my opponent.

I want to congratulate the people of Reeves County that in the fact of returning a majority for me they have dealt a most powerful blow against despotism and ring rule in Reeves County politics, and have gently reminded these self-constituted rulers that the people and not they are supreme in Reeves County.

Hoping to live long enough to render you some service and also hoping to live well enough before you and your children to be worthy of your further confidence, I am, most cordially,

Yours for service, BEN RANDALS.

But the Community House does more than merely serve the physical needs of the soldiers. Its chief purpose is to bring the soldiers in social contact with the good people of the city, and it is succeeding in bringing the men into a "home" atmosphere as nothing else has done. The best women of the city are invited to the dances that are held each night, except Sundays, on the openair pavilion. No man in uniform needs an introduction, and each man selects whom he pleases. The place is conducted on the principle that the soldiers are gentlemen, and no man who visits there can doubt that they are such. Many's a gentleman's club cannot show as high a standard of behavior. The soldiers meet the best women of the city, they become acquainted, they have friends here, and as a result they are as careful of their reputations as they are in their home towns. Every soldier will testify that the Community House is doing more good in this particular way than any other agency that touches the soldiers.

As many as 50,000 soldiers a week have made use of the Community House. It is under the direction of the War Camp Community Service, a semi-official organization, and it will leave in the hearts of every soldier who has the good fortune to be camped near this city a warm place for the good people who have really showed their appreciation of him, and who have understood that after all he is just the average American boy away from home and needs a good deal of mothering.

Mrs. E. R. Cox and son, Thelma, were in Pecos Monday from Saragosa for a short while en route to Dallas, where Thelma will be put under the care of a specialist, and the radio treatment will be given him. If this does not benefit him they will go on to New Orleans. It is hoped by their many friends that he may return fully recovered.

PROF. YOE AT BOWIE—WANTS THE ENTERPRISE

A recent letter from Thos. J. Yoe, formerly superintendent of the Pecos schools, to The Enterprise editor, reads as follows:

"I am at last somewhat settled, at least as much so as any one connected with the army can say they are settled, as Camp Educational Secretary, and as I am still interested in the Pecos people I would be glad that you send The Enterprise to my address here for the balance of the time it is due me.

"I want to take this opportunity to thank you for the many courtesies shown me while in Pecos. This is not a belated expression since I told you as much while there, but sometimes things seem stronger when in type. Give our kindest regards to all the force; remember me to John, Jr."

A WORD FROM BEN PALMER

I am thankful for the overwhelming majority I received in my home county. I am also truly grateful to all those who voted for me in other parts of the district. I assure them that I appreciate it. I had the great misfortune of being detained at home at a critical time of the campaign on account of sickness. I did the very best I could under the circumstances. No man, situated as I was, could have done more than I did. I ran a clean race and conducted my campaign on a high and honorable plane. I stand for clean politics at all times and under all circumstances.

In normal times I can make more money than the office of district attorney pays. Of course, it is hard to do this while the drouth is on. But last year, as hard as times were, I made a good deal more than the maximum salary of district attorney. I suppose the cause of the light vote I received in the east end of the district was lack of acquaintance. Wherever I found a man or a woman anywhere in the district who had known me for a long time I received their loyal support. This is something to be proud of, and I am proud of it.

I never lived among better people than my home people, and I expect to stay here, and I expect to succeed.

"SAVE THE WASTE AND WIN THE WAR."

What Are You Doing? On... ne-dise

If a list were made of all those in Europe who field of battle, and another of those who have died of began, the latter list would be the longer, according to the Federal Food Administration for Texas.

The total number of deaths in action up to the is approximately 4,250,000, while the total number from famine has been conservatively estimated at 4,750.

Can we grasp the tragedy in these figures? Over four and one-half million men and women, young, mothers and boys and girls, have been sacrificed to the War-God. They have died in anguish, unknown and unsung.

Perhaps the memory of their deaths would not forever fill us with horror if we could convince ourselves that those who died of starvation have not died in vain, that by their sacrifice they have pushed the Allies a little nearer victory. But the loss of these lives will have been appallingly useless UNLESS their deaths shall serve as a spur for us to redouble our efforts in food conservation and save the remaining millions in Europe who turn to us each day, pleading, "Give us this day our daily bread!"

What are you doing to prevent the further sacrifice of human lives by starvation? If you are not saving wheat flour and sugar, using substitutes, so that these vital necessities may be shipped to those suffering millions over there, you are shirking your patriotic duty and your responsibility, for other deaths by starvation will be heavy.

CONSUMPTION OF ICE TO BE REDUCED

FOOD ADMINISTRATION TELLS OF WAYS PRODUCT IS WASTED.

Re-icing of Ice Cream by Maker May Be Forbidden—Cracked Ice Should Not Be Used With Drinks.

There are many ice economies that the householder should practice in the conservation of ice, announces the Federal Food Administrator for Texas, and first of these is that refrigerators should be kept clean and doors kept tight and the driptrap kept in place. The door of the refrigerator should never be opened except when necessary, and then for the shortest possible space of time; no hot foods should be placed in the refrigerator.

Cracked ice should not be put in glasses to cool drinking water and other beverages. A bottle of water kept in the refrigerator or water drawn from the water cooler will furnish a sufficiently cool drink.

Crushed ice should not be used in serving fruits, salad, seafoods, radishes, celery, tomatoes and so forth. These articles will be found perfectly palatable when chilled to the temperature of the refrigerator.

The greatest waste in the use of ice, the Food Administration has discovered, is among those concerns using the greatest quantity of ice. They have naturally been able to buy at the lowest price and their employees (forgetful of ice value) have generally been most wasteful in their handling of this perishable article.

Saving Ice Urged. A reduction in the use of ice by ice cream manufacturers naturally follows from the diminished production brought about by the restrictions on the use of sugar. But a further very considerable saving of ice can be effected by certain economies, which the Food Administration insists upon.

It has been the observation of the Food Administration that ice cream manufacturers generally carry great quantities of crushed ice on their delivery wagons; they sometimes go so far as to mix salt with the ice, which increases the meltage several fold. This crushed ice and salt is used to repack the ice cream of their customers. The ice in the wagon is not protected, is carelessly handled in the distribution and is not conserved by the customer because it costs him nothing. It is sometimes found that the ice cream wagons on returning to the factory will make no attempt to put the returned ice in a protected place, but will allow it to melt in the wagon or be swept into the yard.

These reports are from the extreme cases, but the number of them the Food Administration receives from over Texas indicates that a large quantity of ice can be saved to a community by stopping the abuse of the ice cream trade.

It may be necessary to stop altogether the practice of the ice creamer re-icing, free of charge, his customer's cabinets or tubs. If the customer is obliged to buy the ice in solid form from the ice cream wagon or from the ice dealer and do his crushing and packing, he will be vastly more conservative in his use of ice for this purpose.

Too Many Retailers. In some neighborhoods there are too many people retailing ice cream at thus an undue amount of ice is required in proportion to the amount of ice cream sold.

It is also a suggestion of the Food Administrator that where a moderate amount of ice cream is sold only one or two flavors should be carried and a corresponding small cabinet be used. Restaurants, hotels and clubs should reduce their ice consumption by cutting down the variety of food that is served and thus reduce the number of refrigerators in service. Serving crushed ice on fruits, seafood, salads and so forth should certainly be stopped.

should be omitted from the drinking glasses.

Extraneous use of ice is also reported as occurring at many fish markets where the ice is likely to lay around unprotected. Strict care is insisted upon by the Food Administration in such establishments.

ARMY HAS OWN WAY OF BUYING CANNED GOODS; HOME CANNERS SHOULD NOT SEEK TRADE

The army and navy are at times embarrassed by offers of canned goods, vegetables and so forth by good-intentioned housewives and other citizens. In some instances such supplies are offered to the army for sale or to be distributed gratis to soldiers in the cantonments.

Administrator Peden is advised that neither the army nor navy has the privilege of accepting these gifts, nor are they in a position to purchase them in view of the fact that their purchases must be made according to specification and inspection. This explanation is made, not to discourage home-canning and preserving of foods, but to let the public understand that purchases made by the army and navy must be through the proper channels.

DAYMEN NO LONGER REQUIRED TO PAY 50c MINIMUM CHARGE.

Shippers of milk and cream throughout the country were relieved of the minimum charge of 50 cents on each shipment, established June 25 by the Railroad Administration when a general increase of 25 per cent in rates was into effect.

As was effected through the cooperation of the Food Administration with the Railroad Administration, which had received protests from daymen that the minimum, which had to be paid on shipments even so small as a single can of milk, would work a hardship, particularly in suburban territory near large cities.

The minimum will be done away with entirely as soon as the tariffs can be amended so far as milk and cream are concerned, but the general increase will stand.

ROCKE LICENSE OF WEST, TEXAS, DEALER

Effective July 10, the United States Food Administration announces that license of L. Potet, West, Texas, wholesaler, jobber and retailer of meat, oats and corn, has been revoked by the Food Administration. This action followed a hearing of the complaint charging that Mr. Potet had wrongfully refused to accept two cars of oats shipped to him by the Clement Grain Company of Waco.

The hearing was conducted by special examiner appointed by E. A. Peden, Federal Food Administrator for Texas, and the enforcement division announces that the revocation will continue in effect until further notice, and no application for re-issuance of license will be entertained by the Food Administration prior to September 9.

NEW LICENSE REQUIREMENTS FOR ALL GINNERS AND ALL COTTON SEED DEALERS.

All ginners, buyers, agents, dealers or other handlers of cotton seed not already licensed by the United States Food Administration who handle yearly between September 1 and August 31 more than 20 tons of cotton seed were made subject to license by the president's proclamation of May 14, 1918. The effect of this extension of the license regulations was to include practically all the cotton seed business.

STEWART BACK ON FARM IS ENERGETIC AND CAPABLE
W. W. Stewart of Balmorhago was the successful nominee representative of the 120th district in the recent primaries, has agitated down to hard work on his farm and other farms. Mr. Stewart is energetic and has shown himself a good politician as well as a good farmer and stock raiser, and since he is himself interested in both of the industries, and like all the boys of us, interested also in minerals mining, it is believed he will lend his best efforts, when he enters the capitol at Austin, to further the interests and truly represent his

Although The Enterprise editor did not support him in the late pri-will work for what he believes to be the best interests of the entire district.

BAPTIST LADIES AID

business matters were discussed and then came the social hour which was no small item in the afternoon's program, for the ladies of the various sewing units have, for many months been doing strenuous Red Cross work and a social afternoon occasionally is much enjoyed. The refreshments were ice-cold watermelon

PECOS MAN HONORED AT
I. O. O. F. ENCAMPMENT
R. R. Rodgers returned Wednesday from Corsicana where he had been for a week in attendance upon the 67th Annual Session of the Grand Encampment and Patriarchs
Militant of the I. O. O. F. of Texas.
In a write-up in the Corsicana
Semi-Weekly Light, in which an accurate account of the proceedings of the meeting is given, appears the following paragraph:

"The drill contest will take place tonight at the hall to which the public is invited. The decoration of chivalry will also be conferred and will also be open to the public. This is the highest degree of Odd Fellowship and is conferred upon Odd Fellows and Rebeckahs in recognition of services rendered. Those who will receive this honor tonight are: G.
W. Hawkins of Houston; R. R. Rodgers of Pecos; Mrs. Susie Turner of Fort Worth; Mrs. Ella Ready of Fort Worth; Mrs. Martha Melton of Fort Worth. This is a very interesting and impressive feature and one that the public as well as Odd Fellows and Rebeckahs enjoy."

This "decoration of chivalry", as referred to above, is one of about twenty badges of the kind conferred upon members of this order in Texas, and stands in Odd Fellowship as the last degree, or the same as the Thirty-third Degree in Masonry.
The Odd Fellows are sending two members of each State to the front in France to cooperate with the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A., and to look after the Odd Fellows and sons of Odd Fellows who are fighting our battles over there.

The expenses or salaries of these men will be paid by that order and will probably be about $2000 per year. Mr. Rodgers was tendered one of these appointments for Texas, but he declined for the reason that neither he or his wife have relatives in this country to see after the welfare of the latter in his absence, and there were other willing and anxious to go.

Mr. Rodgers says it is dry all the way from here to Corsicana with the exception of one or two counties and citizens of these counties claim that the crop will be cut half unless rains fall there in a very few days.

ACCURATE RECORD OF THOSE MAKING SUPREME SACRIFICE IS KEPT—GRAVES MARKED TO AVOID MISTAKES

What of those who give all a man can give over there? When the military funeral is over, and the volley of tribute fired over the soldier's grave, who cares? The answer is that the United States Government cares, and this is the story of what it does for the comfort of the sick, in honor of those who die, and for the consolation of the people at home.

Private Shellie J. Poole, once of Alabama and late of the 328th Infantry, was taken sick with measles, and soon developed into pneumonia.
Direct from a transport he was sent to an American Rest Camp Hospital in England. This particular hospital is a 250-hut organization, under canvas.

Poole's fever remained at about 101 degrees. As he grew worse two men were assigned to watch him constantly. This was done principally through fear that he might, in delirium, get out of bed and catch additional cold. The man fought well for his life, but repeated crises wore him down. The camp surgeon was with him when he died. He was the first patient to be lost in that hospital.

The body of Private Poole was taken to a local chapel and two days later he was buried in Kirksdale Cemetery with military honors. An identification tag was placed in the casket. A careful record was made of just where he was buried, and of the number of his grave. Moreover, a copy of the record was placed in a bottle and buried two feet above the casket so that it could be dug up and read if desired.

But the interest of the Government and of its auxiliary forces in Private Shellie J. Poole did not end there. It is the intention of the United States to carry its dead back to America after the war, and in the meantime there are things to be done for the living at home.

The Y. M. C. A. secretary having charge of the work in that camp hospital wrote to Private Poole's mother. He told her all the details of the death of her son—such details as are not put in the official reports —and she will know that Private Poole was not friendless at the end.
When grass has grown over the grave the Y. M. C. A. man will send Mrs. Poole a photograph of it. And all this will be repeated in the case of every soldier who dies in foreign service.

In the particular hospital where this story has been written the nurses are army nurses. The surgeons are army surgeons. But the men of the tenderest care. To do their duty who is careless or indifferent to his duties swift retribution is meted out.
