KING WELL NO. 1 SPUDED IN THIS WEEK ON SEC. 40

The articles of agreement and declaration of trust of the Trans-Pecos Oil Company were filed with the county clerk this week. They have a large acreage in Ward county and will drill above Barstow, across the river.

The Sunshine company is shut down for a few days waiting for machinery parts or repairs, but are reported as making splendid headway and going through splendid formation, which encourages the owners.

This week the King Well No. 1 was spudded in on water tract No. 4, section 40, in block 4, H. & G. N. railway survey. It is the purpose of this company to go to the oil sand struck in the Laura well and develop that. They will go 1000 feet if necessary and the work will be pushed to completion.

Through a transfer of stock in the Rustler Hills Oil & Gas Company, having its offices at Fort Worth, to New York parties represented by A. H. Springer of that city, arrangements have been made for drilling a deep well in the Toyah Basin oil field in block 55, in Culberson county. This is the fifth deep well contracted for in the Trans-Pecos section.

There are now producing wells in the Toyah Basin, and twenty-six more either drilling or located. Besides the deep well the Rustler Hills company has made locations for two shallow wells. The capital stock of the company has been increased to $100,000. Frank Leffler is president and Milton Everett secretary and treasurer with office in Fort Worth.

TEXAS OIL LAWS RELATING TO RESERVED MINERALS

The Enterprise on Wednesday of this week began the delivery of the first edition of "Texas Oil Laws Relating to Public Land and Reserved Minerals," by Clay Cooke and W. W. Hubbard. It is a neat book of sixty-four pages, not including cover, in pamphlet form, and chock full of all the information to which its name implies, and the publishers inform the Enterprise it is selling like hot cakes. It is being sold for one dollar and is worth the money to any one having oil interests.

J. C. MOORE TAKEN TO ABILENE ON FORGERY CHARGE

J. C. Moore, who was convicted of forgery at the recent term of the district court and given a sentence in the penitentiary, was this week taken to Abilene to be tried on a similar charge. John Bond, an official of that city came after him.

$3,950 SUBSCRIBED AT FIRST MEETING

ALL OTHER IMPROVEMENTS SHOULD TAKE SIDETRACK FOR THIS

Open Air Meeting To Be Called at Early Date At Which Balance Necessary To Extend System Will Be Subscribed—Move Is Most Important Ever Presented

Pecos is going to be a real city in the near future. Whether you believe it or not it is a fact. But the most important thing to bring this about at this time is to extend our waterworks system to cover the entire town. There is only one way to do this and that is for the property-owners to put up the money to do it. The kick has been made that the residence portion received no benefits—the system was only for the rich. Now is your opportunity to make it a fair, square deal to every citizen of the town. The proposition is to extend the system to every portion of the corporation. This can only be done with money, but by investing in this proposition, if the editor understands the proposition, you will get six per cent on your money and at the same time get the full benefit of the investment. The matter will be fully explained to every citizen of the town and if he can be made to see the point and is not a flathead the Enterprise cannot see why any enterprising real estate, home owner in the town would refuse to help. Be associated with the live, wide-awake bunch and help build a town. Help make it the best town in the United States in which to live whether it ever grows in population or not. But without an adequate water supply this latter is an impossibility. Every self-respecting, progressive citizen wants the best he can afford and when we have the very best of everything the people will come.

For some weeks the citizens of our town have been discussing the problem of waterworks for Pecos, or rather the extension of the present system to every portion of the corporation. To this end at a recent meeting of the chamber of commerce the matter was thoroughly discussed, a committee appointed to confer with the city council and some way planned by which this could be done.

Credit is due ex-Mayor J. E. Starley for studying out a plan by which the citizens of the town could make this extension. Judge Starley put in considerable time and spent some of his hard-earned coin to get the plan before our people. The plan was recently published in the Enterprise. The proposition as the Enterprise understands it is for the citizens of the town to put up about $40,000—half of this to be paid in cash—so as to incorporate. The company is to be incorporated in the above sum. This incorporated in the above sum. This company is to take over the present water system, valued at $15,000, and that with $5,000 will enable the company to incorporate under the laws of Texas at once.

A committee from the chamber of commerce and the city council was appointed to go into the matter in detail with full power to act in the matter. This committee is composed of A. D. Linton, A. G. Taggart and J. J. Sims. They have worked faithfully on the matter and made their report at a regular meeting of the chamber of commerce Tuesday night.

This brought the matter to a point of action and a mass meeting was called for the Baptist church last night. While it was well advertised by circulars, placards and personal invitations the crowd gathered was only a small per cent of what it should have been on account of the importance of the subject to be dealt with. However, the real "bone and sinew"—the progressive builders of our city—were there to do their full duty, as is usual on every occasion.

A musical program preceded the talks and real business of the meeting, which was presided over by Mayor Ben Palmer, who made a short talk, and stating that it is his purpose, with the help of our people, to make of Pecos a clean city—a wholesome, desirable city in which to live. Judge Palmer introduced as the first speaker Judge J. E. Starley, who made a splendid talk.

Judge Starley laid stress upon the importance of community co-operation and stated that with the full cooperation of our citizenship the matter of extending our waterworks system to every nook of the incorporation would be an easy matter. It is not only a patriotic duty, but a strict business proposition which every loyal citizen should see to his own personal benefit to help to his utmost to push to a successful conclusion. Without an adequate water supply the city would not be healthful and could not grow—with it there is no reason why our homes should not be parked and the city of Pecos made the most beautiful and cleanest city in the State. Judge Starley made many good points in his talk and every utterance was a clincher to his urgent demand that Pecos extend her water system and that it be done by the people putting up the money and forming a corporation, as it can be done no other way at the present time.

Judge Ross was the last speaker, and after setting out the plans more fully and making a strong appeal, called for subscriptions and practically every property-owner present subscribed. There were many ladies present, but by reading the names below you can nearly estimate the personnel of the male population present and the enthusiasm displayed by the amounts subscribed, which are as follows:

Ben Palmer	$100
A. D. Linton	100
T. Y. Casey	300
E. L. Collings	150
W. W. Camp	100
John Hibdon	100
Sam Prewit	200
H. L. Magee	100
W. D. Cowan	300
Walter Browning	200
Howard Collier	200
Dr. Jim Camp	200
L. J. Sims	100
Albert Sisk	100
W. W. Runnels	100
Leader Cash Store	200
Sid Kyle	200
J. A. Drane	100
Chas. Manahan	100
T. J. Sisk	100
A. G. Taggart	200
Jim Prewit	100
Mrs. E. G. Weyer	100
Jas. F. Ross	300
Ralph Williams	100
Dr. O. J. Bryan	100
Total	$3,950

The committee was instructed to keep busy and get all that could be raised. It was also decided that an open air mass meeting be called, at which the remainder of the money be raised.

That the money will be raised and the water mains extended to every portion of the corporate limits is assured, for the men behind the proposition are the kind who have never learned the word fail, but here is where the acid test is to be applied. Here is where the wheat is to be separated from the chaff. The man who will take the time to investigate the proposition will not hesitate to invest. That is what it means—an investment where you draw six per cent interest on your money and get the full benefit of it while you have it invested. Are you a booster or a knocker? Are you a live wire or a dead fish? Get in the game and do your full duty.

CLAY COOKE WIRES GOOD NEWS TO STOCKHOLDERS OF GOLDEN ROD COMPANY

The following telegram from Clay Cooke, president of the Golden Rod Oil Company will be good news to the stockholders in Pecos and elsewhere: Wichita Falls, Tex., May 2, 1919. W. W. ### C. A. M. PITTS SUFFERS STROKE OF PARALYSIS

C. A. M. Pitts was found in his home Thursday afternoon unconscious from a stroke of paralysis. Dr. Camp was called in and he was removed to the sanitarium. He was unconscious for several days, but at the time of this writing (Thursday afternoon) is reported as improving and it is very probable he will recover.

Relatives in Greenville were wired for and arrived as early as possible. Owing to the fact that the sanitarium was and is full, he was removed to his home and a nurse from El Paso secured.

Mr. Pitts is an old citizen of the town and a man who is highly respected from the fact that he attends to his own business and is a good man. He has one of the prettiest and most handsomely furnished homes in Pecos and is considered one of our wealthy citizens.

The many friends of Mr. Pitts will be glad to learn that he is improving and hope for his early recovery.

FLYERS TO VISIT PECOS AT AN EARLY DATE

A letter undated of May 29th was received by President J. A. Drane of the Chamber of Commerce from L. W. McIntosh, Lieut-Colonel, J. M. A. S. (A) Commanding, reads in part:

"The Trans-Continental Flying Circus, for the purpose of interesting young men in the possibilities of the air service, plans to visit your city. This flight will consist of six Liberty motored De Haviland fighting planes, containing twelve men."

On June 2nd Secretary Norwood of the Chamber of Commerce received the following letter from Jean F. de Villar, manager of the Southwestern Aerial Line and Aviation School of El Paso:

"My plane is delayed on account that it was shipped by freight, and that has caused the delay, as I wanted to be in your city the last part of May. But I will get things on its way not later than the 15th of this month. I will stop for a few days in your town."

A postscript to this letter adds: "Just got aerial license from the war department for the aerial route." From the above it looks as if Pecos is to be on the aerial map as well as on the Bankhead National Highway line, and our people will have an opportunity to see planes to their heart's content in a very short while.

HONORS LIEUT. RAY HARRISON

Mrs. Sid Kyle, one of the most hospitable ladies of Pecos, and who never fails in giving honor and extending courtesies where due, opened her home Tuesday afternoon of last week at a lawn party to a goodly number of friends in honor of Lieutenant Ray Harrison recently returned from France.

Lieutenant Harrison is a son of Mrs. Tom Harrison, a Pecos boy and one of whom we all are justly proud. He volunteered his services at the beginning of the war and remained in it to the end, doing his duty on the front line and acquitting himself with honors.

On this occasion he made an exhibition of pictures and souvenirs of the devastated war zones of Europe, accompanied with descriptions and explanations, to the delight and education of all present.

Refreshments of ices and salads were served.

CANTALOUPE RAISERS TO MEET HERE SATURDAY

The Pecos Cantaloupe Association will meet Saturday afternoon at the Experimental Farm, and desire a full attendance.

SEVERAL HURT WHEN AUTO TURNS TURTLE

While driving a party to the Laura well last Saturday evening, the steering gear of the car driven by Steve Ward broke, and the car took a header from the embankment and turned over. In the car with Steve was his son, Steve, Jr., and a couple of men from Arizona. The entire party received a good shaking up and one of the strangers was bruised considerably about the face. Steve, Jr. navigated around the streets for several days with a decided list to starboard, but Steve, pere, was about the worst knocked out of all, and it took several days before he finally decided his "inards" were not disarranged. The Enterprise is glad 'twas no worse and congratulates these folk on their escape from serious injury.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR THE RANGER-HUDSON COMPANY

That the Ranger-Hudson Oil Company are making good headway with good prospects for a big gusher, is evidenced by the following message: Eastland, Texas, June 4, 1919. T. Y. Casey, Pecos, Texas.

Things look awful good. Drilling started, down 150 feet; drilling night and day. Weather cleared up and will make good time from now on. Be sure get letter out to stockholders. Will expect Anderson here Friday. FINLEY HOLMES.

COLD DAY IN JUNE

A realization of the old saying, "a cold day in June," was exemplified in this section Monday, when the population awoke and found a stiff norther blowing from the vicinity of Amarillo. The thermometer registered a fall of about 43 degrees and top-coats and sweaters were dug from their moth-ball wrappings and were real comfortable, too. The cause of the cold spell remains unexplained, unless the blame be laid on the weather man dealing us a few from a cold deck.

MARRIED

The editor and wife have received an announcement from H. T. Mitchell of the marriage, on Monday, June 2, 1919, of his daughter, Miss Vera Montana, to Mr. Carl O. Moeck, at their home in El Paso.

Miss Vera was a resident with her parents of Toyah for a number of years, where she was universally loved. She is a splendid young woman as was her mother, with many of the christian virtues.

The editor does not know anything about Mr. Moeck, but feels sure he is of sterling worth. They will be at home at St. Joseph, Mo., after June 6th. The Enterprise joins their many Reeves county friends in wishing them a long and happy life.

BIRTHS THIS WEEK

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Oram Green on Monday of this week, a daughter. The mother and daughter are doing fine and Oram is still able to be on duty at the O. J. Green grocery.

LEAVES FOR CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE THIS WEEK

I will study piano at the Chicago Musical College this summer. As in my teaching, so in my studying, will my entire time, thought and plans be given to the piano. My one aim is to be a proficient and conscientious teacher of the piano. I will return about the middle of August to get everything in readiness for the beginning of school in September. I will be glad to talk with anyone desiring to study the piano.

I thank my pupils, patrons and the public for their kindnes. (Advt.) MILDRED McCARVER.

CRITICISM OF THE Y. M. C. A UNJUST

New York, June 5.—The first report made in connection with the official army investigation of war work organizations in France, ordered by Secretary of War Baker, has just been received here at the headquarters of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. The report covers the activities of the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare Board and other organizations in the area near Gendrecourt, and is based on hundreds of sworn statements which are submitted as part of the report. The three volumes of the report take up 503 pages.

Army officers who made the inspection under the direction of Major L. B. Raow, 88th division inspector, investigated the question of canteen charges, canteen management, personnel, adequacy of supplies for free distribution, workers and canteen supplies at the front, educational and recreational facilities, the service for the transmission of soldiers' funds, and the attitude and performance of duties of individual welfare workers.

That the Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army, the Jewish Welfare Board, and Red Cross avoided harsh criticism by not assuming responsibility for canteen work and hence were able to work when and where they pleased and thus maintain at all times a reputation for work well done, is the statement made by the report to account in part for the criticism directed against the Y. M. C. A. as compared with other war work agencies. On account of this fact, and because these other organizations gave away much for free distribution, which the "Y" from necessity could not do, says the report, an unjust and unfair comparison was made to the discredit of the Y. It is pointed out that if the Y had adopted a policy of general free distribution, possibly more than ten times the amount of funds collected in the United States would have been required to support such a project.

Speaking of the Y workers themselves, the report makes this statement:

"The great majority of the Y personnel were generous, sympathetic, hard-working and self-sacrificing. It is evident that much fearless, untiring work was done among the front line troops. It is to be regretted that this splendid service was overshadowed in part by criticism for which the personnel in general are in no way responsible."

The section giving the findings as to the canteen service is as follows:

"The greatest source of criticism was the taking over of the general canteen work. By this, the Y assumed a responsibility of gigantic proportions. Every organization of the A. E. F. then expected of the Y service which it would be difficult to maintain in the most excellently functioning department of the army. Transportation was inadequate. Military necessity did not permit the transportation necessary for supplies; and fighting men in the front lines did not receive supplies which had been advertised and in a manner promised, and which they expected would be delivered.

"No such service was expected of other welfare organizations, such as the Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare Board, and Red Cross; and these organizations have avoided this general source of harsh criticism by not assuming this canteen work. The possibility of a general free distribution was eliminated, as it would have required possibly ten times the amount of funds collected in the United States to have supported such a project. Since the Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army, the Jewish Welfare Board, and the Red Cross, have not assumed in any way responsibility for canteen work, these organizations could operate when and where they pleased and maintain at all times a reputation for work well done. With this, and the fact that these organizations gave much for free distribution, which the Y from necessity could not do, an unfair and unjust comparison was made.

"There can be no doubt that the Y has done a great work in the A. E. F. and that time will eliminate much of the fault-finding which at one time was prevalent."

WAR MOTHERS OF MARYLAND THREATEN TO BURN ALL GERMAN-MADE TOYS

The war mothers of Maryland have set a precedent which should be followed to the letter by every true American. A special to the New York Times from Baltimore reads as follows:

The war mothers of Maryland set their faces against permitting the German-made toys, which arrived here on the Dutch steamer Sloterdijk, from getting into American homes. The question of banning "made in Germany" toys was discussed at a meeting of members of the War Mothers of America yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the executive board.

"We'll burn them first," said one of the women in indignation. "It's the most presumptuous thing I ever heard of to send a cargo of toys to our children made by Germans side by side with the transports conveying our boys maimed and crippled by the same hands which made the toys."

Mrs. T. Parkinscott, president, said: "We are bound to refuse forever to buy or use any 'made in Germany' goods because of the known inhuman treatment of American prisoners and because of German brutality to women and little children."

OBSERVE WORLD'S LIBERATION ON MEMORIAL DAY

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson has cabled the following Memorial Day message to the American people:

"My Fellow Countrymen: Memorial Day wears this year an added significance and I wish, if only by a message, to take part with you in its observance and in expressing the sentiments which it inevitably suggests. In observing the day we commemorate not only the reunion of our country, but also now the liberation of the world from one of the most serious dangers to which free government and the free life of men were ever exposed. We have buried the now immortal men who died in this great war of liberation with a new sense of consecration. Our thoughts and purposes now are consecrated to the maintenance of the ship of liberty and of right. It was for this that our men conscientiously offered their lives. They came to the field of battle with the high spirit and pure heart of crusaders. We must never forget the duty that their sacrifice has laid upon us of fulfilling their hopes and their purpose to the utmost. This, it seems to me, is the impressive lesson and the inspiring mandate of the day. (Signed) WOODROW WILSON."

TWO BOY SLAYERS GET 99 YEARS IN MART, TEXAS, CASE

Ninety-nine years at hard labor was the sentence that the judge pronounced on Jewell Hale and Eugene Spencer, the two boys tried at Waco the first of this week on the charge of murdering Max Rubin, a storekeeper in Mart, Texas, last month. The trial was concluded Tuesday after the evidence was in. The counsel for the defense admitted that the boys committed the crime, and threw them on the mercy of the jury.

The boys were apprehended at El Paso by Detective-Sergeant Claude Smith and Detective P. H. McMahon, who were witnesses at the trial. They carried important evidence in the case, taking with them a watch identified as that of the murdered man, which the boys had pawned at a local pawn shop.

Smith and McMahon returned from Waco yesterday and declared that the boys had confessed and the main effort of their attorney was to keep the death penalty from being given to the boys. From the testimony presented by the various witnesses it was shown that the boys had taken an automobile belonging to Hale's father and drove up to the store of the old man at Mart. While Spencer was buying some candy, Hale struck the shopkeeper in the head with a hammer. The old man ran to a back room. Hale followed and struck him several times with the hammer, crushing his skull. Seven holes were made in his head.

The boys then took Rubin's watch, a few knives, and packed the old man's trunk into the car. They drove into the country, searched the trunk, removed $49, and tried to destroy the evidence in a fire. They then drove away in the car, and were finally apprehended by the El Paso police and returned to Waco, where the trial was held.

Mention was made in the Enterprise about three weeks ago of the arrest of these boys, who confessed their crime before County Clerk S. C. Vaughan.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

Prepared for The Enterprise by the St. Louis Union Bank.

Practically all export business is still being subordinated to the work of shipping food to the starving countries of Europe, and the amount of food that has been sent across from Atlantic ports since January 1 makes a stupendous total.

An idea of the quantities of food going to Europe may be gained from the recently published statement that twelve transatlantic liners, carrying altogether 72,253 tons of food, left the port of Portland, Maine, between April 25 and May 9. Most of these ships went to Italy, although two were destined for England. When a comparatively small port such as Portland does a business of this volume, it is plain that tremendous shipments are being speeded across.

The statement issued recently by the United States Food Administration to the effect that food shipments would not be necessary after June 30 gave great encouragement to the shipping trades. With the release of the large fleet controlled by the shipping board and now under charter to the Food Commission, tonnage requirements will become much easier and rates are certain to ease off.

Warehouses in New York and other cities along the Atlantic seaboard are crammed with goods that have been stored for months pending a drop in ocean freight rates that will permit their being sent forward. At the same time the gradual adjustment of the labor troubles that tied up the port during the early spring months has made it possible to reduce the port congestion at New York and it is not nearly so bad as it was thirty days ago.

"The kangaroo," observed the prince of American humorists, the late Artemus Ward, in one of his lectures, "is a most amosin 'little cuss'." Ranchman Thomas C. Barnsley, of Grandfalls, Texas, who owns a ten-thousand-acre ranch in Crane county close to the Ward county line, will soon have the opportunity of learning whether or not A. Ward was right in his estimation of the character of this antipodean marsupial.

Mr. Barnsley is going to relinquish the feeding and fattening of "best critters" for market, and substitute a breeding herd of these gigantic cousins of our common American "possum, beloved of the average darkey, and a most delicious dish, by the way, when baked with sweet potatoes, served hot, with the sort of corn-bread our old black mammys used to make, and washed down with beakers of rich, creamy buttermilk.

Mr. Barnsley will have the honor of being the pioneer American kangaroo stockman, and the authorities of the United States department of agriculture, with whom he has conferred at great length, have promised to assist him in securing his breeding herd of the gigantic leapers, and aid him in bringing the "amosin" cusses" to this country.

"As soon as I can advantageously dispose of my herd of cattle," said Mr. Barnsley to the writer very recently, "I shall immediately enter into negotiations with agents in Australia to gather me a breeding herd of five hundred of the Macropus giganteus or Giant Kangaroo. I believe the venture will prove to be a profitable one—infinite more so than raising beef cattle in this section of Texas, where two years of drouth, such as we have just passed through, will wipe out the accumulations of ten water years.

"While making a tour of the world several years ago, I became much interested in the kangaroo raising proposition, and since locating permanently on my ranch here and after the disastrous experiences of the late long drouth, I have made an exhaustive study of the proposition from all of its angles. From the officials of the United States department of agriculture I have derived the greatest possible aid and the most hearty encouragement, and I feel sure that I can make the breeding and fattening of kangaroos for market a most profitable business than raising beef cattle.

"Our sandhill country," says Crane county is admirably adapted to the easy and profitable feeding of the animals. Climatic conditions are not entirely dissimilar to those existing in their natural habit, and drouth would not materially affect their fattening capacities, for they will nibble, which their teeth are particularly fitted for, like the jack rabbit and the wood rat. They will fatten on this without grass feed, and they will find the mesquite beans and leaves and the beargrass, of which we have an abundant and inexhaustible supply, very similar to two of their principal articles of food on their native feeding-grounds.

"The original stocking of this ranch will not represent as heavy an outlay as the stocking of a cattle ranch of the same size, and the female kangaroo is four times as prolific as the cow. They breed regularly, bringing forth four young each year, and although the babies are less than an inch in length at birth, and come into the world blind, naked and perfectly helpless, they grow rapidly and are quickly brought to a point where they can fend for themselves in the warm, cozy, milk-producing sack or pouch, with which the mother kangaroo is provided and in which she nurses them and shields them from danger.

"As soon as they leave their cozy nest the baby kangaroos mature very rapidly, and they are as free from disease as any animal that lives. An adult kangaroo of the giant variety will weigh 250 pounds. You can raise and fatten four of them on the same amount of pasture that would be necessary to graze and fatten one steer, and the carcasses of two kangaroos will fetch as much on the market as we receive for one average beef.

"Their hides or pelts, pound for pound, will realize double the price of a cowhide. The leather made from them is in demand in this country far, far in excess of the supply, and that there will be an instant sale for the products of my ranch is evidenced by the fact that I have recently received several letters from prominent packers inquiring when I shall be able to ship my first carload of kangaroos to market.

my proposed venture as something quaint and nonsensical, but as said before, I have thoroughly studied the matter from every angle, and as Mark Twain's "Colonel Mulberry Sellers" puts it in "The Gilded Age": "There's millions in it."

Kangaroo meat, as the writer can attest, from having made many a meal off it in Australia and Tasmania, is one of the most delicious of flesh foods, with a piquant flavor and a richness and juiciness only rivaled by a former West Texas "buffalo hump," wrapped in the hide and baked in a covered pit over a bed of hot coals.—George Wolsey Symonds, in Farm and Ranch.

Note.—In these days of new ideas and new ventures we hear of fur farms, whale dairies and kangaroo ranches all of which are interesting. That there are many new and interesting divisions in agriculture no one can deny. Certainly every man can find some divisions that suit his fancy. But are there not excellent opportunities for live men to raise livestock—cattle, sheep, hogs, goats, and even poultry and rabbits?—Ed.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYMENT SERVICE DOING GOOD WORK

Incomplete returns on placements by the United States Employment Service through its 494 offices for the week show that 65,263 secured employment or 63.4 per cent placed of those applying for jobs. During the week 103,947 registered with the service seeking aid in securing employment, 94,009 were referred and 65,263 reported back as having actually been placed.

Of those placed 13,051 were females and 52,202 were males.

Of the male placements 10,792 were discharged soldiers, sailors and marines.

During the same period employers placed requisitions with the United States Employment Service for 110,446 workers.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a general strengthening tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 50c per bottle.

IN THE SOUTHWEST

Ten new Y. M. C. A. buildings have been built in the Southwest in the past ten years, four Mexican branches opened, nine Indian associations organized, four student organizations provided with association quarters and numerous other items of interest are contained in the report just issued by W. H. Day, executive secretary of the Interstate Committee of the Y. M. C. A. with headquarters in the Caples building, El Paso.

The employed staff of the Y. M. C. A. has increased from fifteen men to over fifty at the present time, while the membership has trebled and the extension program recently inaugurated by all the local organizations gives a constituency of over 200,000 people that are being served by the Y. M. C. A.'s of Arizona, New Mexico and Western Texas.

In the following cities the usual type of city work is being conducted: El Paso, Tucson and Phoenix. Industrial associations are operating buildings at Bisbee, Hayden, Clifton, Miami, and Metcalf; railroad associations at Albuquerque, Las Vegas and Douglas are catering to large numbers of men who make their headquarters in these towns. Over fifty Pullman conductors occupied dormitory rooms in the Y at Albuquerque in twenty-four hours.

The work that has shown the most progress in recent years is the extension program, work in communities that have no organization of the association. The types of this work vary. In a number of places the interstate committee has been called on to assist in the organization of Boy Scout work, Hi Y clubs, Red Triangle Leagues and special service for returning soldiers, sailors and marines.

Enlarged Program Planned.

In referring to the overseas criticism, Mr. Day said, "We are really profiting by the criticism. So much of it has proven to be wholly unfounded when it has been investigated and people have found upon their inquiry into the work done by the Red Triangle Leagues overseas that it was well done and worthy of their highest commendation."

"This has brought to our committee numerous calls for service in the home communities and as rapidly as we are able we are giving the assistance desired."

Among the work planned by the interstate committee of the Y. M. C. A. for the immediate future are: three additional city Y. M. C. A. buildings, eleven industrial buildings, nine railroad association centers, five student organizations, forty-seven Indian organizations, ten additional Mexican branches, twelve non-equipment associations and six rural district organizations.

CONTRACT LET FOR MARKING THE BANKHEAD HIGHWAY

The Bankhead National Highway Association, at its third annual convention in Mineral Wells, Texas, April 18 and 19, after considering a large number of signs and offers of sign-making companies, closed a contract with the National Highway Marking Association to mark the Bankhead National Highway from Washington to the Pacific Coast, a distance of over 3500 miles.

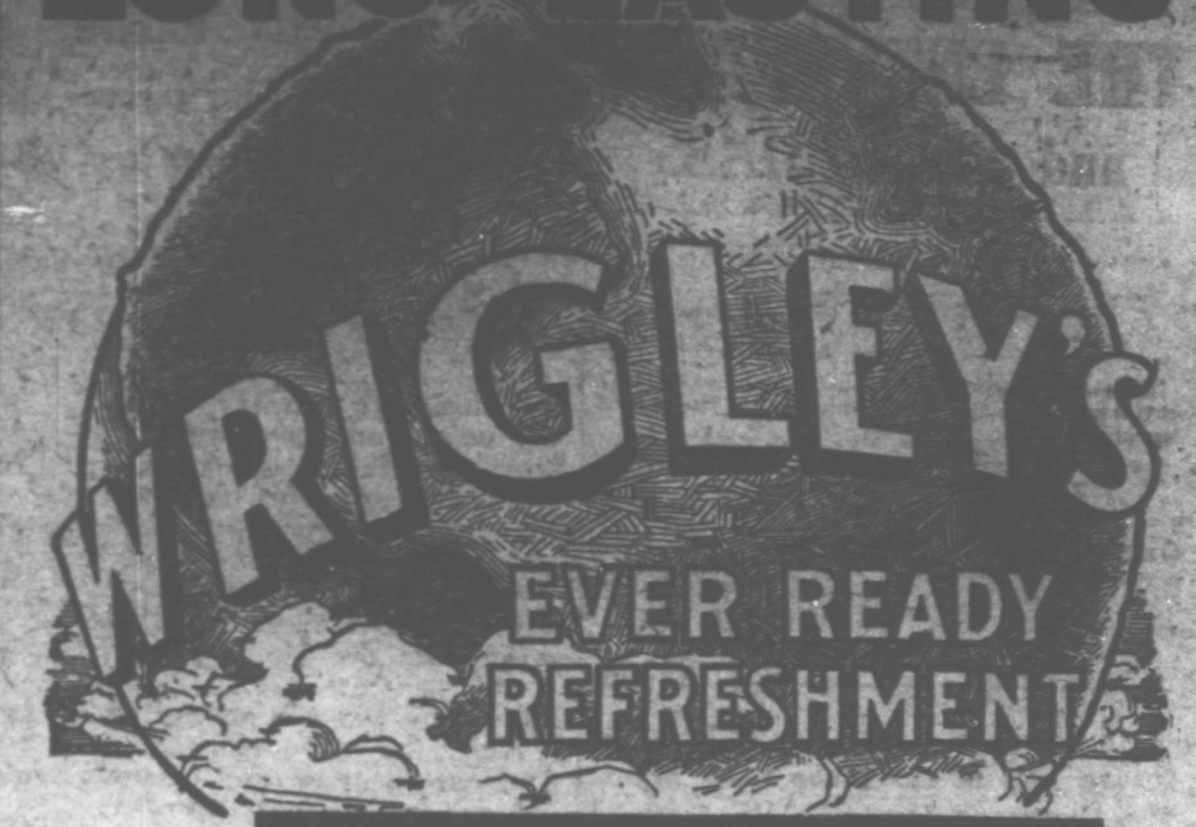

The signals and signs are made of reinforced concrete with colored concrete emblems. The word "Bankhead" appears on each signal in colored concrete. All signs and signals are to be mounted on concrete posts. The Bankhead National Highway will be the first great transcontinental highway to be marked from the capitol at Washington to its destination.

Mr. F. W. Hockaday, president of the National Highway Marking Association of Washington, has been in Birmingham during the past week, conferring with ex-Congressman T. S. Plowman, president of the Bankhead National Highway Association, and J. A. Rountree, director general of the United States Good Roads Association and secretary of the Bankhead National Highway Association. After these conferences, the details were arranged and it was agreed that Mr. Hockaday will start at once to erect the signs. The first will be erected in Birmingham, Ala., where an inauguration of the work will be held, at which time the national officers and directors from various States, of the Bankhead Association will be in attendance. Also the State Highway Commissioners of Alabama and other Southern States, county officials from each county in Alabama through which the Bankhead National Highway traverses, city officials, good roads boosters and those interested in the Bankhead National Highway will be present and take part in the ceremonies.

It is expected to make the occasion one of nation-wide interest. Moving pictures of the ceremonies of erecting the first sign will be made. This picture will be shown all over the United States. Senator Bankhead has promised that if it is possible for him to return from his duties in Washington, he will be present.

Mr. Hockaday will visit the various cities, counties and states through which the highway traverses and interest the State, county and city officials and good roads boosters in marking this highway. The executive officers of the association hope to have the road marked within the next six months.

A resolution endorsing the plan of the Ex-Students' Association to raise a million dollar loan fund as a memorial to the killed and wounded soldiers who were formerly students in the university of Texas was adopted by the board of regents of that institution at a meeting held in Galveston on Saturday, May 31. The board also extended an invitation to all former students to attend the victory reunion to be held at the university on June 6 and 7 in honor of the men and women of that institution who were in war service.

EL PASO-SARAGOSA OIL COMPANY TO BEGIN OPERATIONS IN REEVES COUNTY SOON

The El Paso-Saragosa Oil Company, capitalization $200,000, is a new company organized in El Paso to exploit 10,000 acres in Reeves county, Texas, between Saragosa and Pecos City. The officers are: I. S. Adams, president; E. T. Bates, vice-president, and G. R. Smith, secretary and treasurer, all of El Paso. The trustees are: Donald McKenzie, the company's geologist; Dee Davis, C. S. Davis, Lee Loren, L. J. Grossblatt and John J. Bush. All are of El Paso except Mr. Bush, who is a resident of Saragosa, and W. A. Hudson, the company's attorney, is from Pecos.

The holdings have been examined by Donald McKenzie, the company's geologist, who has made an encouraging report.

The company has planned to set aside 3,200 acres and for each 25 shares of stock bought at one dollar per share or par value, it will give a lease on one acre of this body of land so set apart. The company's development will be on the remaining 6,800 acres.

FRANK M. SMITH SENDS NOTE OF APPRECIATION

I cannot allow the Victory Liberty Loan campaign to be counted as a thing of the past without expressing my personal obligation and the sincere thanks of the treasury department to the salesmen and saleswomen of the Eleventh Federal Reserve District.

Without their help all of our organization and publicity would have been without any value. The good people to whom I refer are not registered on any roll of honor in this office, and consequently it is only through the press that I can thank them.

I trust that you will give the necessary space to the printing of this sincere expression of thanks.

INTERPRETING THE OMENS.

In his youth Mark Twain edited a weekly journal in a small Western town.

A subscriber wrote to him one day to remark that he had discovered a spider concealed in the folds of a recently delivered paper.

The writer wanted to know whether such an occurrence was a sign of good or bad luck.

The young editor replied in the next issue as follows:

"Constant Reader: The appearance of a spider in a copy of last week's paper was a sign of neither good nor bad luck; that intelligent insect was merely studying our columns in order to ascertain whether any store in the neighborhood had failed to advertise in our paper, in order that he might make for that establishment and there weave a web across the doorway, where he might dwell in undisturbed peace."—The Youth's Companion.

No town in Texas has a brighter future just at this time than Pecos. The Bankhead Highway alone would make it a prosperous city and keep it growing so long as automobiles are in use and people travel. This would make a gradual, steady and healthful growth and a gradual increase in property values. But we have not only the highway to depend upon, but the most healthful climate in the United States, as fine irrigated farming district as one could desire, a soil which will produce abundantly anything planted, a people second to none on the face of the earth, an aerial route—the first in the country—and last but the most important an oil field in the course of development which will in a few short months astound the universe. Come to Pecos, get in ahead of the boom, buy a home, get rich and ever after live happy and contented.

There are few people but can look back and see where they had allowed the investment of a few dollars which would have made them independent pass by and are yet as poor as a church mouse. Now is the time to get a small holding in the Pecos oil field, which will make you rich. There are many home people who are not taking advantage of the opportunity. Don't cripple your business or ride your friends in order to get the earth but get a hold on something before it is too late. If not oil land, buy a home. It is impossible to go wrong or lose on this last proposition.

Those two big stiffs, Willard and Dempsey, are taking up lots of newspaper space these days. The fight at Toledo is going to be a fizzle if ever there was one, and suckers will be numerous as an aftermath. That it is purely a commercialized affair and not an exhibition of the manly art, is proven by the fact that the Ohio laws prohibits matches over twelve rounds. Each round lasts three minutes, making just a half-hour and six minutes. Willard gets $100,000, and Dempsey $27,000. No wonder the labor unions are storming the citadels of capital and bolsheviks are running wild.

Miss Jeanette Rankin drew lots of sympathy from the press generally when at the United States' entrance into the world war she voted against such action. Her latest stunt in being among the number who voted the Allies terms to Germany as "too harsh," leads many to think that it was not a woman's aversion to bloodshed that caused her to vote against a declaration of war in the beginning.

Its sure tough! The whole shebang goes dry July 1st, and to cinch things at the border Villa is beginning to cut up again until the thirsty ones are afraid to cross over and do the camel act.

The importance of extending the present waterworks system to include every nook inside the corporate limits of Pecos City is obvious to every citizen worthy of the name. To The Enterprise's way of thinking it is the most vital issue, from a civic standpoint, ever placed before the people. Right here, too, is a good place for the editor to express his faith in the people by saying that he hasn't the least doubt but that the measure will be acted upon in such a way that the end of the present summer will see the finishing touches being put on the work—a system installed, and the people enjoying the one thing that they should have been enjoying ere this. The water problem in the city, especially during the heavy irrigation season, is a serious one, and there is not the least assurance that several years hence the town's water supply will fade away entirely and leave us in a condition that will make the July 1st prohibition law look like a deluge. With an adequate water supply there is no limit to possibilities in the way of civic improvements to say nothing of the general health and happiness of the people. By all means, let us have it. The idea that it is for the few is a ludicrous one, and its circulation just proves that the knocker is still one of the town's liabilities. When talking to strangers just tell them about the waterworks system, for it is assured—taxes and death haven't got a thing on it for a sure thing.

I cannot write in jolly rhyme
To see my life, you see,
The thought which flows from yonder brain
So smoothly down to me,
Is like a smiling day in June,
And bubbles like a brook
That wanders down a shady vale,
Past many a sylvan nook.

My ideas are country bred—
I was a country boy,
And know the ways of country life
Its sunshine and its joy,
And that is why my thoughts are smooth,
And run to Nature so—
I love to hear the mocking birds,
And see the roses grow!

I love to view the spreading fields
And hear the lowing kine,
And eat the ripe and luscious fruit
From loaded tree and vine;
And live the healthful pleasant life
Of people on the farm—
Safe from the city's dust and heat,
And all its sinful harm.

The smoother runs the rhymster's life
The smoother runs his rhymes;
He who would write in flowing verse
Must shun the troublous times;
Must seek the quiet countryside
And live remote from care—
And reading Nature's lovely face,
Get inspiration there!

PUBLISHERS LAST

The advertising rates of the Enterprise have been the same for the last seven years. During the last year the cost of material, supplies and labor have advanced by leaps and bounds. We have had to pay more for paper and all material that goes into making a newspaper. We have had to advance wages in order that our men might be able to meet the advance in the cost of living. Other papers have been forced to raise their rates to meet this extra cost, so the Enterprise is forced to do the same. A paper can no longer hope to take advertising at 15c per inch and hope to break even.—Polk County Enterprise.

When the butchers, the bakers and the other trouble makers get ready to advance prices they go ahead and advance them, without asking anybody's leave or license. When the doctor makes out his bill, or the lawyer names his fee, or the banker chooses his rate or interest, or the plumber sets his price, nothing is said about it except in a half-jocular manner. But when the newspaper publisher decides that if he is to stay in business he must advance his charges, he does so with explanations and apologies and tears. He, alone, of all the moderns, dreads the outbursts of his customers. If the merchant simply says that his goods cost him more, therefore he must charge his customers more, they know it is true. They grumble, maybe, but they can find no fault with the logic of the case. But when the publisher advertises that the cost of much of his printing material has advanced a hundred to five hundred per cent, that his print paper has advanced fifty to one hundred and fifty per cent, that his employees are necessarily drawing increased pay, he hardly expects anybody to believe him. Many publishers in Texas have tried to make it through on the old scale of prices. They are wearing out their type and machinery and will not be able to buy more. But there are some others who have been courageous enough to protect their business like all other good business men do. And they are not losing any friends by it.—State Press in Dallas News.

U. S. DEBT $25,921,151,270

The Nation's public debt has now reached a new high mark—$25,921,151,270, at the end of May. This is an increase of $1,096,640,750 during the month, resulting from new issues of certificates of indebtedness and payment on Victory Loan subscriptions.

Ordinary disbursements in May amounted to $907,492,920, only little less than the $1,068,203,020 in the same month of last year.

THE AVERAGE LIFE

The average life is forty-five years; it used to be 21 years in old days. Each year the average is growing higher. In India the average remains the lowest: 24 years.

In Portugal the postmen deliver letters in church to save walking. In many sections this scheme wouldn't work at all.

There is nothing in the speech of Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, or in the general attitude of the peace delegates, which betokens renunciation of the doctrines which led Germany to begin the war. Far from assuming the attitude of penitent offenders who have come to make confession and amend, the delegates adopt the pose of men who have come to negotiate settlement of a fair quarrel, growing out of a vicious system for which one party was as responsible as the other. The barbarities perpetrated by Germany are represented as a fair set-off to the German lives lost in consequence of the blockade, and complaint is made that the blockade was not lifted as soon as Germany asked for an armistice. The infamous deeds committed by the German army and navy by order of the Government and in defiance of treaties which Germany had signed are placed in the same category as the sufferings inflicted upon Germany by the blockade in conformity with those treaties.

This is the attitude of a people which is defeated, but unconverted. The only reason why Germany is not now ravaging its neighbors, wrecking towns and villages, killing civilians, carrying them off to forced labor, sinking shiploads of people, bombing hospitals, is that it can not, not that it would not if it could. Such deeds are prevented by the armies and navies by which Germany is encircled, not by a new purpose to live at peace and to respect human rights and human lives. The form of Government has changed, the men in control have changed somewhat, though some of the old sinister figures are still prominent, but the spirit of the Government is unchanged, and the mass of the people still tamely follow the old leaders.

Recognition of this situation has caused France to insist on the guaranties of security against further attacks which are included in the allies' terms, caused France to seek from the United States and Great Britain a pledge that they would instantly come to their aid in the event of another attack, and caused Marshal Foch to plead for further security than the treaty gives. The French know by experience what Hun invasion is; our soldiers have seen, but the vast majority of Americans have only read about it and seen pictures of it. None but the French can realize how the manhood and material resources of their country have been depleted. When they see the hereditary foe still more than 6,000,000 strong, still sullen, impenitent and arrogant, they have good reason to ask ample guaranties against another invasion, even at the cost of putting a few million Germans under French rule.

These are facts which should govern the foreign policy of the United States, especially with regard to the League of Nations. The war should have taught us that an attack by Germany on France is an attack on the United States; in fact, that any disturbance of the peace of Europe, especially by Germany, endangers us. The league offers both a preventative and a cure. Much is said of the imperfections of the covenant, but it is the product of the collective wisdom of the statesmen of the Allied nations. When we consider the diversity of their interests and ideals, it is a triumph that have brought them to combine their moral and physical forces to this extent. The league is the chief assurance that, however much Germany may desire and plot to ravage the world again, it shall never have the power, and, if the attempt should be made, it shall never succeed. France holds the gate, as ever, would receive the first blow. It is but right that the other two big nations, the United States and Great Britain, should hasten to the side of France as soon as the enemy breaks loose, not awaiting the other forces of the league.

These precautions should not be taken as evidence of despair that Germany will ever change. They only signify that nations do not change suddenly like converts, at a camp meeting. A nation trained to make war its chief industry, to dream of conquest, to scorn other nations and to subordinate all thoughts of humanity, honor, freedom, to military success, can only abandon such ideals by degrees. The change may be helped by the conduct of the league, in holding Germany to close observance of obligations, in enforcing restrictions of armament both on Germany and its own members in as scrupulously respecting the rights of Germany as of other nations, in giving Germany every reasonable opportunity to regain prosperity. Then we may hope that, when a new generation grows up, which did not know the Kaiser and which was not taught from childhood to worship world-power, Germany will turn from the ideals of vengeance and conquest to those of peace and democracy. The great task before the league is the gradual conversion of the German nation. If it should succeed there it would have ground for confidence in its ability to extinguish among all nations the desire to win greatness by war.—Portland Oregonian.

NEW LIGHT THROWN ON CARDS OF THANKS

That most country publishers hold in a sort of contempt the ubiquitous "cards of thanks," is well known to the writer from his own personal experience. He has, and believes many others will, come to view the matter from a more understanding angle after reading the following human-interest editorial from the pen of Thurman Miller, editor of the Wilmington (O.) News. It was printed under the title of "Neighbors and Friends."

"I have been in the newspaper business now just nine years. The past six of them have been very busy, yet very delightful, years to me as editor of this paper—the home paper for the people of Clinton county.

"I say this about myself merely to prepare the way for saying that during these years I have written hundreds of 'cards of thanks' for people who found, when they came to the office with an obituary, that the public expression of thanks to neighbors and friends was lacking; for people who had been ill a long time and recovered; for some who had met with a calamity, like the burning of the home or their barn, or some accident.

"I did this work for the good people always with what kindness was natural to me, but at that it was done with as much brevity as dispatch. I understood that the people were doing it in sincere gratitude, and I was willing to help along the best I could, busy as I always was.

"But until the past month I have never appreciated what a card of thanks means; I have never known what 'neighbors and friends' actually mean.

"You will understand that I have not failed to appreciate my neighbors and my friends—they have been the joy of my life, but actual dependence upon them and continued kindnesses from them, coming from scores and hundreds of people is a new experience for me, and one that has brought a new light upon life.

"For example, my next-door neighbor for five weeks has fired my furnace, carried out the ashes, kept my two noisy boys for days and nights at a stretch, extended the use of his telephone when mine had to be disconnected, and in addition given us the full output of his milk factory besides doing my stricken family a thousand and one kindnesses—and all I could do was lie there and say, 'thank you,' not being able to go on and explain that some day I was going to get even some way!

"And since I have been able to be up and around the house for a week I have begun to understand how it came that I didn't die like so many people did—I couldn't die! There was no logic in my dying—dying and leaving my family and Wilmington and all my friends and neighbors? Impossible! I have found during the past ten days what the poet meant when he said that 'it is only in the agony of parting that we look into the depths of love.'

"They tell me that I went down into the valley, where the shadows are long and dark, but the going and the return have brought new appreciations of many things—of life, of home, of friends and of everything.

"I now understand about the 'cards of thanks' as I never did before. I appreciate the sincere gratitude that prompts the good people to express publicly their thanks to their neighbors and friends, and let me say, if I were not in a position where I can commandeer a column at will, I perhaps would be sending the newspaper a card of thanks, just like everybody else does.

"I have come to the conclusion that I am in favor of widening the frame of the old motto that contains the words, 'God, Mother and Home,' so to make room for 'Neighbors and Friends.'

"When I get to heaven, which I will if my plans do not go amiss, I expect to select some oldest inhabitant like Abraham or Noah—somebody who has seen the place build up from a small institution—to show me about, and I have it in mind that when we turn into the most beautiful boulevard in heaven, where everything gives one the impression of being somewhat better and finer and more restful than any other separate part of the place, I shall ask my escort what this is, and I have a notion he'll say: 'That's the best part of heaven—that's reserved for neighbors and friends.'—Publishers' Auxiliary.

We brought them in and have just gotten through re-painting and overhauling them and they are just as good as ever.

Originally cost a little over $13.00 each at the factory, but we are offering them at $9.00 each while they last.

Have handles and may be operated by hand or are arranged for windmill. Better come and get yours for they will not last but a few days at the price quoted above.

Nobody ever got rich tomorrow. Begin saving today.
 Savings crank up the prosperity engine.
 All the wealth in the world is what has been saved by some one.
 Savings begin more when they are invested; War Savings Stamps are the finest investment in the world; Thrift Stamps are first aid to investments.
 Money saved is money earned. Buy War Savings Stamps. Sharing in the Government is good citizenship. You do that by investing in War Savings Stamps.
 Wise buying makes wages count more. Saving is the quickest road to opportunity. Spend wisely, save sanely, invest safely. Buy War Savings Stamps.

NINETEEN SAVINGS RESOLUTIONS FOR NINETEEN-NINETEEN

Here are the Nineteen Savings Resolutions for Nineteen-Nineteen. Every one of them good! Pledge to observe them throughout the year, and live up to your pledge. To have one must save. Save and Have! You are your biggest asset! Capitalize yourself! Take the life out of life and put it in Thrift!

- I will not quit, but will push my personal job in helping clean up the war.
- I will buy wisely, save sanely and invest securely, and will insist upon getting 100 cents value for every dollar spent.
- I will take the "if" out of Life and make it build up Thrift.
- I will have a personal share in my Country's victory finance.
- I will have enough saved to hold on to the slippery dollar.
- I will increase my savings, not tomorrow, or next day, but now!
- I will capitalize myself through saving, I am my own biggest asset.
- I will not sell my War Savings Stamps or other Government securities for a mess of pottage.
- I will join the "Get Ahead" movement, such as one of the Government's War Savings Societies.
- I will not let the "War-is-Over" idea make me ungrateful to those who have fought and bled for Liberty.
- I will be behind our end of the Peace Table with my heart, brains, labor, encouragement and money.
- I will employ all practical means of stopping the foolish drip from the pocket-book which undermines the foundation of Family Success, and save through War Savings Stamps, Thrift Stamps, and other Government Bonds.
- I will make Thrift a happy habit and a solid business which secures continuous profit from the spending of money wisely.
- I will remember that Thrift is one of the great lessons taught by the war.
- I will not set aside my newly-acquired habits of Thrift and Sacrifice, but will "carry on" with greater zeal and enthusiasm than ever before.
- I will keep a written account of what I buy study it weekly, and try to reduce my foolish spending, and increase my ability to buy wisely.
- I will look ahead and not allow my impulse to spend thoughtlessly, rob me of some big opportunity or advancement which may come in the future; I will save for a "Turn Around Fund" which will enable me to meet an unexpected need, or better, an unexpected opportunity.
- I will save—not through miserliness or to support future laziness—but to live well now and in the future.
- I will conserve my time, my energy, and my money that I may work without financial worry, with a clear head and fresh vision.
 Pledges made in 1918 to invest in United States Government War Savings Stamps, but which, for any reason, could not be met by December 31, 1918, may be fulfilled and the Government expects that they shall be fulfilled by the purchase of 1919 War Savings Stamps.
 A War Savings Pledge is a personal, binding obligation. Save and have!

FACTS ABOUT THE ARMY.
 It's what you buy at the end of the month that counts, not what you get in front of you.

POOL HALL TEST CASE SEPT. 1

Hearing of the legal proceedings testing the constitutionality of the Texas pool hall statute has been definitely set for September 1, and in all probability the court will sit in Dallas, it was announced by Judge Jas. C. Wilson, Saturday afternoon.
 Judge Wilson, Judge W. R. Smith of El Paso, and Judge Robert L. Batt of Austin, will hear the case.
 Under its provisions the law was due to go into effect on May 1, with the result that all billiard parlors in the State would have been closed, but a restraining order was issued on application of pool hall owners.

FARMERS OF REEVES AND OTHER COUNTIES ORGANIZE

Attention of farmers in this and adjoining counties is called to the mass meetings that will be held next week, at which meetings the farmers will be asked to line up for their own interests.
 Mr. Brown, of the Extension Department, will be the principal speaker at the meetings, and will outline the plan of organization.
 The meeting places and dates in Reeves county are as follows:
 Pecos, Thursday night, June 12, at eight o'clock.
 Saragosa, Friday night, June 13, at eight o'clock.
 Balmorhea, Saturday night, June 13, at eight o'clock.

5,000 VOLTS PASSES THROUGH HIS BODY, YET HE LIVES
 Yuma, Ariz., June 3.—H. W. Marple of Yuma, a sub-station employee of the Southern Sierras Powers Co., has abandoned employment of such nature. His decision was hurried by an experience on the top of a pole, where the main current of 15,000 volts apparently passed through his body, yet leaving him alive. When the current was switched off by a member of a crew that saw Marple suspended over a wire, the man failed to drop to the ground as expected but made his own way down the pole, aided by his climbing belt, and was found suffering only from burns of no special severity.

MUCH IMPROVED

Mrs. Caller—"I suppose you find your daughter very much improved by her two years at college?"
Proud Mother—"Oh, yes. Mary is a carnivorous reader now, and she frequently improvises music. But she ain't a bit stuck up, she's unanimous to everybody, and she never keeps a caller waiting for her to dress; she just runs in, nom de plume and you know that makes one feel so comfortable."—Judge.

Many people are failures because they do not rise above the things that discord and irritate them. Man is so constituted that he does his best work when happiest. He is constructed on the happiness plan. When he is most harmonious and most in tune he is most efficient.

Some people rather go ten miles out of their way than ask for directions. The man who thinks he knows it all or is afraid that people will think he doesn't know it all, is a pretty small proposition. Greatness, simplicity and teachableness, characterize men who are truly big.

AND GAS GEOLOGY

By ALFRED PETERSON

There are just two fundamental questions involved in the location and production of oil. The most important one is, What is oil; from what substance is it composed? It naturally follows that if we know what it is we can better determine where it is. The other question is, Where is the most likely place to find it? The correct answer to these questions mean everything to the producer of oil.

About these questions two systems of oil geology have developed. One is the old system with its earth folds or anticlinal or dome structures, in which the crude oil accumulates as it is carried into minute particles in and by circulating waters, or is forced through the stratified formation of the earth by hydrostatic pressure or capillary attraction. It is claimed by the old system that oil is a mineral substance chemically compounded from the various minerals of the earth, below the folded crust of the primary earth-formations, which at one time, it is claimed, was a superheated mass; that this mineral fluid by some mysterious means circulates in an endless chain of oil-producing veins or trends from an inexhaustible supply and an unknown source into these substructures of the sedimentary deposits. This is the old theory in a nutshell.

This explains why geologists of the old system must have structures for this migratory mineral substances to accumulate in before they will give a favorable report of the district they are geologizing; and this absence of structural formation is the reason some parts of Texas are considered unfavorable for oil. Yet these portions of the State are producing more oil per well than any other part of the State, and through this error much good territory has been condemned.

These are the answers and results of the old system to the questions propounded at the beginning of this article.

If the anticlinal theory of the old system is not correct, the sooner it is known the better for all concerned. I will let the producers, the men who have paid for geological reports and dry holes, render the verdict.

Oilology, the new system, answers the questions, first, by saying petroleum is not a mineral, migratory substance, but that it is a product of decomposed marine animals; and second, that anticlinal structures are not necessary for its accumulation, as it does not migrate nor accumulate. The deposits occur only in pools, which are most likely to be found in the natural living or gathering places of the various kinds of marine and animal life. These natural places are best located by their position with reference to the course of the ocean currents in which the deposits were made; consequently it follows, as claimed by oilology, that since oil is a product of the ocean, as also is the sand, shale and limestone beds of the sedimentary deposits in which oil is found, all calculations and prospecting for oil should be based upon sea levels. So, in considering the possibilities of oil in a new field, the most important things—to bear in mind are the elevation, the nature and depth of the sedimentary deposit, the direction of the flow of the waters that laid down the stratified formations, and the exposures or nearness to the surface of the primary earth formations. Now, compare all of these conditions with what is already known of the same conditions in proven producing fields and the location of oil deposits is not such a difficult matter. It is altogether a question of location and position, rather than anticlinal structures.

Oilology says the strata producing oil was at one time the floor of the ocean, where the oil-bearing deposits were buried by the action of the ocean waters, over which have since been deposited the various stratifications through which we must drill to recover the oil. This accounts for the presence of salt water in the lower part of the sands in all oil fields, as it is enclosed in tight formations, preventing its circulation with the flow of fresh waters.

For these reasons Texas, as well as other gulf States, will have great oil producing districts, regardless of whether or not there are structures, and the chances are extra good for bringing in wells equal to those found

You Do More Work.

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store, 60c per bottle.

of the... with reference to... through the State to the gulf, which laid down the several thousand feet of sedimentary deposits, as we know them from the Cambrian to the Cretaceous period, with their various shales and different shales, marls and clays. These currents gave a general dip of the deposits to the north-west of thirty to fifty feet to a mile. These dips appear as more or less shelves, but this incline plane of the dip does not extend a great distance before another begins. This is the general law of sedimentary deposits. The dip is always in the section opposite to the flow of the currents. These currents, by meeting or creating an obstruction to their course, divide the flow of the current and these divided currents throw up the sedimentary hills and structures as we find them today with the stratified dip of the formation, known as anticlinal or dome structures, and upon which the oil system locates their wells. Is it any wonder there are so many dry holes?

Where these obstructions occur sufficient to divert the current at right angles, cross-bedding of the prior deposits occur, and also supposed faults in the formation is made by cutting through the older deposits and dropping the cap rock out of place.

There are no conditions in the actual practice of locating oil deposits which cannot be better explained by the new system than by the old; besides, the time required and the expense is so much less and the amount of ground covered is so much greater. There are no expensive contour surveys nor maps to make, and the chances for dry holes are reduced to the minimum.

WAR SAVINGS SOCIETY DAY AT THE DALLAS STATE FAIR

Friday, October 10th will be War Savings Society day at the State Fair of Texas. On that date, Thrift will be the dominant theme at the exposition and fair officials are looking for a record breaking attendance. There are several thousand savings societies in the eleventh district and the members of each will be invited to help make this day one ever to be remembered.

An interesting morning program will be given at the coliseum and it is probable that, if the weather is good, a vast open-air meeting will be held in the afternoon. Booths will be provided at which all members of savings societies will register and prizes will be offered for the society having the largest representation and for the one from the greatest distance having members register.

SAVE AND HAVE.

Remember the story of the ant and grasshopper? The ant worked and saved. The end of each day found him with a little more added to what he had the day before. The grasshopper danced and sang and fiddled his time away. Winter came; the ant had plenty. The grasshopper had nothing; he had not saved. He went to the ant and asked for help. Said the ant: "While I worked, you fiddled your time away. You can dance now for all I care."

Are you an ant-person or a grasshopper-person? Some time are you going to have to ask for help and will some one tell you to dance or will you be independent?
If you save now, you'll have later on. Save and have! Put up something each day. Let the end of every week find more Thrift Stamps on your card. At the end of every month be able to show more War Savings Stamps pasted on your certificate.

LEMONS BEAUTIFY AND WHITEN THE SKIN.

Make This Beauty Lotion Very Cheaply For Your Face, Arms and Hands

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice thru a fine cloth so that no pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocery and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen red, rough hands.—Advt.

It is for use in these morning exercises that Mr. Stripling purchased the books.

COVERS

(By Jorge Bocobo, Member of the Philippine Mission, and Dean, College of Law, University of the Philippines)

Washington, June 5.—The longing of the Filipino people for independence is nourished by a very deep and earnest desire to develop their own individuality as a nation. When the Spaniards came, the Filipinos already had a culture of their own. Almost every Filipino could read and write. Although Spanish civilization has greatly influenced the Filipinos, and although the young generation is being educated in American ideas, yet Filipino culture remains at bottom indigenous. It is the unfolding of this soul of the Filipino race that justifies the long-standing fight of my people for freedom.

Indicative of the existence of Filipino national genius are the purely Filipino songs, legends and proverbs which have been handed down by word of mouth from generation to generation. I have picked the following Filipino proverbs at random from my collection of several hundred, which were obtained from actual conversation with Filipinos, mostly old men. I have translated them from the Philippine languages as closely as possible, thus preserving not only the sense but also the mode of expression. Lord Bacon said: "The genius, wit, and spirit of a nation are discovered in its proverbs." Knowledge of Filipino proverbs therefore gives an insight into the psychology of the Filipino race.

Bravery.—1, A hero is braver for his wounds; 2, It is too late to withdraw when you are already wounded; 3, This is what you wished for, my heart, so be brave.

Caution.—1, A fish is caught by the mouth; 2, Repentance never comes first; 3, Courage is of two sorts, one goes forward, the other retreats; 4, Haste creates delay; 5, There is a snake in every jungle.

Character.—1, Whichever way a tree leans, there it falls; 2, 'Tis easy to be born, 'tis hard to be a man; 3, He who is raised in ease is usually destitute.

Choice.—He who is hard to suit will choose the worst.

Compensation, Law of.—1, The mushroom always grows with a counterpart; 2, You laugh today, I laugh tomorrow.

Counsel.—1, He who despises counsel is on the way to misfortune; 2, Whoever believe everything said has no mind of his own.

Disdain.—You may dislike, but never despise.

Fault-finding.—The fault-finder has the biggest faults.

Fools.—1, A wise man's joke is believed by a fool; 2, Fools earn for the wise; 3, It is foolish to argue with a fool.

Foresight.—1, Strength yields to plan; 2, Working early is better than working hard.

Forgetfulness.—He who is happy is forgetful.

Friendship.—Let us fight, then be friends.

Good Deeds.—1, Good deeds are more precious than gold and silver; 2, Kindness is a great capital.

Gratitude.—Kindness is with kindness to be paid, not with gold and silver.

Home, Love of.—The pain of a finger is the suffering of the whole body.

Honor.—1, Even the poor love honor; 2, Break your head but not your word.

Hope.—1, It may be mere mud, but above it is a piece of heaven; 2, I should not grieve over my misfortune, for what muddy water did not become clear?

Hospitality.—Though my house is small, my heart is large.

Industry.—1, A sleeping shrimp is carried away by the current; 2, A lazy dog does not get even bones; 3, Work put off ends in nothing; 4, If you sleep, brother, the crocodile will eat you up; 5, He who is always preparing to do something never does anything.

Merit.—The quality of gold is known by rubbing it against stone.

Modesty.—1, He who is high suffers a great fall; 2, The fly that rests on the back of a carabao (water buffalo) thinks it is higher than the carabao; 3, Boastfulness drives away wisdom; 4, Do not brag before landing the fish.

Perseverance; Determination.—1, A thing is near, though far, if you want it; 2, If you want eggs, put up with the cackling of the hen; 3, If you are afraid of every dog bark, you will never reach your destination.

Pride, Sense of.—Do not be too near your superiors, lest they trample upon your dignity.

Righteousness.—He who deviates from a clear path may lose his way.

Rumor.—1, A whisper is louder than a shout; 2, The earth has ears, rumor has wings.

Shrewdness.—1, If you want to fool, pretend to be a fool.

Talkativeness.—While the pumpkin vine creeps along, the fruit is left behind.

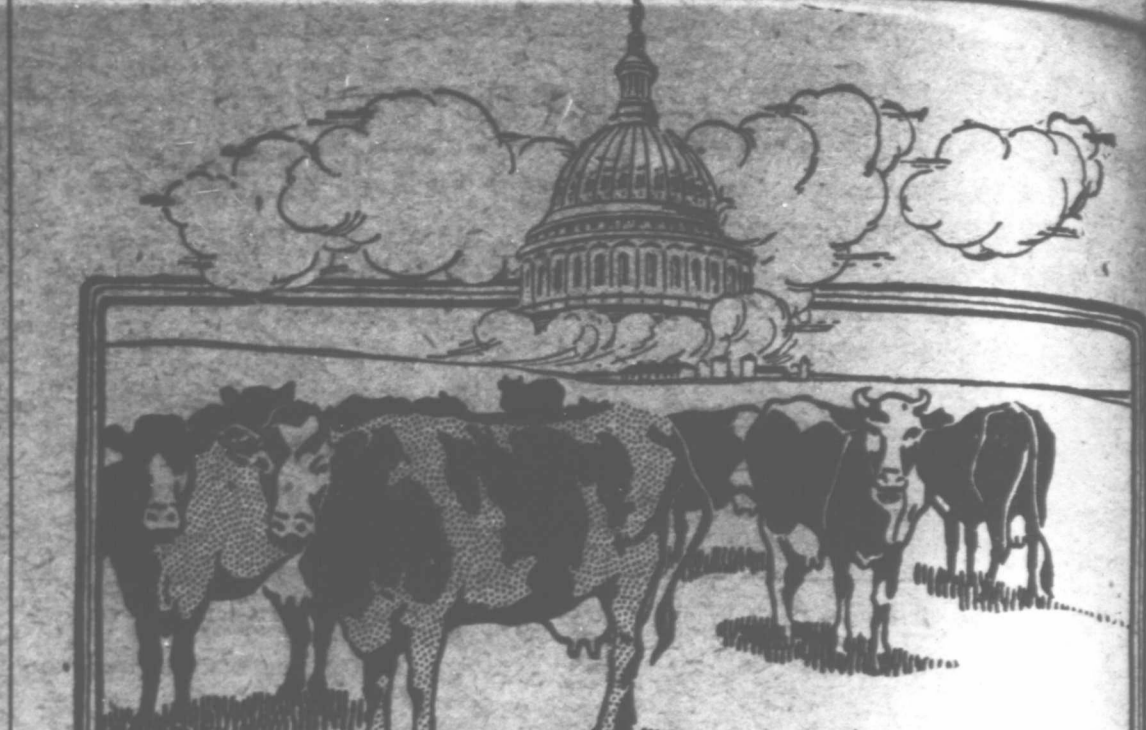

Temptation.—1, A piece of green wood will burn if placed near the fire long enough; 2, A wanderer will sooner or later slip; 3, A soft snare has a tight hold.

Thrift.—Easy earning means quick spending.

Truth.—A liar loves to take an oath.

Woman's Honor.—Wherever I fall, there I stand.

The Filipinos are not a hermit nation. They have taken from the West whatever they thought was good for them and suitable to their conditions. But above these outside influences they want their national genius to rise and reach higher levels of perfection. It is thus, and only thus, that they can fulfill whatever destiny Providence has set for them, and contribute their own culture to the general progress of mankind. A chance to do so is what they wish when they plead for independence.

Helping You With Your Live Stock

The Federal Reserve Banking System, established by the government, stands back of the stock raiser. Through our membership in it we can help our patrons carry live stock which they are raising or fattening for future sales.

Farmers' notes, with not over six months to run, given for raising or carrying live stock can be rediscouted by us with our Federal Reserve Bank, thereby increasing our ability to extend to our patrons such help as they may need.

NOTICE OF ROAD BOND ELECTION

The State of Texas, County of Reeves.

On this the 26th day of May, A. D. 1919, this court being in special session and all of the commissioners being present, came on to be heard and considered the petition of E. B. Daniel and fifty-three other persons, praying that bonds be issued by said Road District No. Two (2) of Reeves County, Texas, in the sum of Fifty Thousand ($50,000) Dollars, bearing five and one-half per cent (5½) rate of interest, maturing thirty (30) years from date thereof, for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating macadamized, gravelled or paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof;

And it appearing to the court that said petition is signed by more than fifty of the resident property tax-paying voters of said Road District No. Two (2) of Reeves County, Texas, and that the amount of bonds to be issued will not exceed one-fourth of the assessed valuation of the real property of such Road District No. Two (2), of said Reeves County, Texas;

It is therefore considered and ordered by the court that an election be held in said Road District No. Two (2) of said Reeves County, Texas, on the 28th day of June, A. D. 1919, which is not less than thirty days from the date of this order, to determine whether or not the bonds of said Road District No. Two (2) of Reeves County, Texas, shall be issued in the amount of Fifty Thousand ($50,000.00) Dollars, bearing five and one-half per cent (5½) rate of interest and maturing thirty years from date thereof; and whether or not a tax shall be levied upon the property of said Road District No. Two (2) of said Reeves County, Texas, subject to taxation for the purpose of paying the interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity.

Notice of said election shall be given by publication in a newspaper published in said county for four successive weeks before the date of said election, and in addition thereto there shall be posted notices of such election at three public places in said Road District No. Two (2) of said Reeves County, one of which shall be at the courthouse door, for three weeks prior to said election.

Said election shall be held at Toyah, Texas, and C. C. Cargill is hereby appointed manager of said election.

Said election shall be held under the provisions of the Road District Act passed at the First Called Session of the Thirty-first Legislature, and amendments thereto, and only qualified voters, who are property taxpayers of said Road District No. Two shall be allowed to vote, and all voters desiring to support the proposition to issue bonds shall have written or printed on their ballots the words "For the Issuance of Bonds and Levying of the Tax in Payment Thereof," and those opposed shall have written or printed on their ballots the words "Against the Issuance of Bonds and the Levying of the Tax in Payment Thereof."

The manner of holding said election shall be governed by the laws of the State governing general elections.

A copy of this order signed by the county judge of said county shall serve as a proper notice of said election and the county judge is directed to cause said notice to be published in a newspaper published in said Road District No. Two (2), if there be a newspaper published there and if not, then in any newspaper published in said county for four successive weeks next preceding said election, and cause to be posted notice thereof at three public places in said Road District No. Two (2), one of which shall be at the courthouse door, for three weeks prior to said election.

The boundaries of said Road District No. Two (2), of Reeves County, Texas, are described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at a point in the e. l. of Section 12, Block 72, Public School Land, where the Texas Pacific Railway track crosses a line; thence in a southerly direction following the west boundary line Commissioners Precinct No. 1, the southwest corner of Section 5, Block 55 and 56, Tsp. 8, T. & P. Ry. Co., to the southeast corner of Block C-11, Public School; thence south, following the east line of Blocks C-12 and C-13, Public School; thence west following the e. l. of Block C-13 to the county line between Reeves and Jeff Davis counties where the south line of Block C-13 crosses said county line thence following the said county line to San Martine Springs; thence in northerly direction following the county line between Jefferson and Reeves counties to a point in the county line where the north line of Section 4, Block 53, Public School crosses said county line; thence following the north line of Block 53, 56 and 57, Public School, to northeast corner of Block 57, thence south following the east line of Block 57 and 58 to the southeast corner of Block 57, Tsp. 8, T. & P. Ry. Co.; thence east following the south line of said block thence along the north line of Sections 22 and 21, Block C-17, Public School; thence south following the east line of Block 72, to a point in the east line of Section 12, Block 72, the place of beginning.

TIME TO ADVERTISE.

"Advertise your business. I owe all my success to printer's ink."

This was the language of P. T. Barnum, and that he was a conspicuous success is generally admitted.

Something of the same sort seems to have struck Washington. Roger W. Babson, director of Education Service, labor department, has just issued a statement urging a campaign of advertising, saying in part: "Prosperity ultimately depends upon the consumer. If there is not a market for goods they will not be produced. Only by advertising can buying power be stimulated, but advertising does stimulate buying power and brings a very direct return to the man who advertises."

It is sound advice, something that does not at all times come out of Washington. It is also timely.

Advertising is the chief auxiliary in trade. It is not the road to success, but success itself. Advertising is to the business man what machinery is to the mechanic.

How can a man know what you want unless you ask for it, or what you have to sell unless you advertise it?

"My advice to the merchant," says Mr. Babson, "is this: For your own interest and for the good of the country, increase the advertising appropriation you have made for this year. If it is $20,000, make it $25,000; if it is $10,000, make it $15,000."

"All must bear in mind that the prosperity of the country means the prosperity of the individual."

YOUNG MEN WANTED FOR UNCLE SAM'S ARMY

Young men wishing to see France, Honolulu, China, Philippine Islands, and Alaska can enlist and be sent to any of the foreign places. Enlistments are for three (3) years. These opportunities will not last long as the regiments in foreign countries will soon be filled up and

Savings Campaign Is Boon To Women

The average family in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico is not wealthy enough for the "lady of the house" to have all the little conveniences she wants. Through Thrift and War Savings Stamps, however, the Government has provided a way for the housewife to fit up her kitchen, paint the house, furnish her spare room or embellish the parlor.

Those women who were so wise as to begin saving systematically early in 1918 have nice little sums invested in War Savings Stamps, some of which cost as little as $4.12 apiece. They will buy a first class kitchen cabinet. In many instances, the housewife would not have saved anything to speak of, had it not been for the War Savings Stamps.

Some of the banner Savings Societies in the Eleventh District are in women's clubs or church societies. Women are quick to grasp the benefits from habits of Thrift. Numerous reports have been received at District Headquarters of the Savings Division at Dallas of women who have started in by putting quarters in Thrift Stamps and who have been enabled to buy desired articles to brighten up their homes. As soon as a War Savings Stamp is bought, it begins earning more money. War Savings Stamps are ready money. They are redeemable with accrued interest at the post-office on ten days' notice, but the longer they are held, the more money they make for their holders.

The First Thousand Is Hard To Get

When a man gets $1,000.00 saved up there are always opportunities for a good investment. It is hard to place much less than that. That is why wealthy men who are self-made advise young men to begin early and save the first thousand.

Until we went to war, it was hard to get started toward that $1,000.00 unless at least one dollar could be put away at a time. Small change was restless and acrobatic and kept jumping out of our pockets into somebody else's.

Now, however, there is an easy way to get that first thousand. The answer is Thrift Stamps. They cost only a quarter apiece and can be converted into War Savings Stamps. The Government of the United States backs these War Savings Stamps with a guarantee of 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly. Save and Succeed.

W.S.S.

Who Is Best Man To Do Your Work?

The best way to have anything is—do it yourself. The best way to get ahead in the world is—save regularly and invest wisely. Your children may be buying Thrift Stamps but the nickels and dimes and quarters they are able to save won't buy a home or a new automobile or a new cultivator. The money to do that will not be saved—unless you save it.

It's easy enough to save if you do it the W. S. S. way. Quarters planted in Thrift Stamps grow into War Savings Stamps and the interest makes them grow like rain does a summer weed. Save for that happy opportunity. If you're not in a War Savings Society—get in one. Be with the crowd. Save.

W.S.S.

Farmers Find Easy Method of Saving

Farmers who are making a habit of getting a few Thrift Stamps every time they market anything from their farms are finding that they are able to save regularly and that they do not miss the small amounts invested. The average farmer in this section of the country depends largely on his "money" crop, which he harvests once a year. Almost every one of them, however, grows something else which he markets at odd times.

An occasional load of hay may be taken into town and sold. The thrifty farmer also plants peas, beans, okra lettuce, beets or some of the other vegetables which thrive in the South west and for which there is a ready market. Butter and eggs form staple articles to be marketed between seasons. By buying just a few Thrift Stamps each time the farm-wagon makes a haul to town, the farmer or his wife is providing a fund which they will be able to turn to good account later on, for when these Thrift Stamps are exchanged for War Savings Stamps, they increase in value automatically, and may always be turned into cash on ten days' written notice to the postmaster, although the longer they are kept the more they earn.

What Doctor Pierce Has Done For Humanity!

BY DOCTOR CRIPPS.

It has always seemed to me that Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., should be placed near the top when a list of America's great benefactors is written. He studied and conquered human diseases to a degree that few realize. Whenever he found a remedy that overcame disease, he at once announced it in the newspapers and told where it could be bought at a small price. He did not follow the usual custom of keeping the ingredients secret, so that the rich only could afford to buy the medicine, but openly printed the name of each root and herb he used. And so to-day the names of Dr. Pierce and his medicines are widely known, and they stand for better health and better citizenship.

One of this great physician's most successful remedies is known as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are little, sugar-coated pills, composed of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap—things that Nature grows in the ground. These Pellets are safe because they move the bowels gently, leaving no bad after-effects, as so many pills do. Very often they make a person who takes them feel like a new man or woman, for they cleanse the intestines of hard, decayed and poisonous matter that accumulates when one is constipated. If you are constipated, by all means go to your druggist and get some of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They may prove to be the very thing you

3 Paint Pointers

Paint is DECORATIVE; it gives the finishing touch of beauty to the property.

Paint is PRESERVATIVE; the properly painted building is longer lived than one that is left to the ravages of wind, sun and rain.

Paint is RESTORATIVE; it is the one thing that can "bring back" the appearance of that run-down place.

Our paints are noted for these three characteristics, and the range of colors will meet every wish you might have for your particular purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardin Ross leave today for their ranch home—the V-Stamp ranch—accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Tatum Moore and children of Brogado, and little sister, Evelyn Somes, of Waco. They expect to remain there for several weeks, where they will fish, picnic, and have a jolly good time.

Evy Boles, wife and son, were in from the ranch Wednesday. Evy was exhibiting a crate of onions which he raised on his place. He had only a small patch and they were raised without irrigation, yet he figured an acre of such would have produced fifty thousand pounds. They were of medium size and fine looking.

R. P. Verhalen was in from Verhalen Farms, near Toyah Creek, on Thursday and states that he will begin next week cutting his second crop of alfalfa. Mr. Verhalen also states that his cotton crop is fine and putting on squares—in fact he saw the squares for the first time June 1. Mr. Verhalen is a splendid farmer and a successful one.

A. G. Van Horn, in town Tuesday from Toyah, made the Enterprise a pleasant visit. Gage stated to the Enterprise that he had just purchased a fine young Holstein cow, producing six gallons of milk and two pounds of butter. A. G. believes in having only the best of everything and he has now secured that very thing in the dairy line.

J. S. Johnson returned Tuesday from Odessa, where he went to attend the wedding of his sister, Miss Floy Johnson, who was married June 1 to Mr. J. M. Mabe. Miss Floy is a splendid young woman and is known to many of the Pecos people here, where she frequently visited her brother and family. Mr. Mabe is said to be a young business man of sterling worth. The Enterprise extends congratulations.

ANOTHER PECOS CASE It Proves That There is a Way Out for Many Suffering Pecos Folks. Just another report of a case in Pecos. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Pecos with Doan's Kidney Pills.

George G. Bero, says: "About three years ago my back was in bad shape. I had to do heavy lifting and such pains would catch me in the small of my back that I had to lay off work for a few days. My back was very sore and lame and when I bent over to pick up anything everything would get black. I would be so dizzy I would have to catch hold of the first thing I could reach to keep from falling. The kidney secretions passed freely and were highly colored. A friend of mine told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and I tried them. Doan's took the soreness out of my back and rid me of the dizzy spells; in fact they entirely cured me of kidney trouble."

Price 50c per bottle. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Bero had.—Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advt. (42)

PECOS GIRL GRADUATES FROM AUSTIN HIGH SCHOOL. The Enterprise family acknowledges the receipt of an invitation from Miss Alice Hankins, to be present at her graduation from the Senior Class of the Austin High School, Friday morning, June 6th, at ten o'clock. Miss Hankins was practically raised in Pecos and had been a pupil in the schools here until the past year when she moved with her mother to Austin to complete her high school course in the school there. She is a bright girl and her many friends in Pecos are all glad to know of her achievements. She will probably enter the State University next year.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK. Acts Like Dynamite on a Sluggish Liver and You Lose a Day's Work. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not silitate. Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone because it is perfectly harmless. Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.
