Entered as second class matter October 22, 1915, at the postoffice at Pecos, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

JUST PRAISE Lawbreakers may get by the sheriffs of all counties this side of California and all counties east of Ward and west of Reeves in Texas, but they find it very difficult to get through these counties without being nabbed.

It will be remembered that a year or so back Deputy Sheriff Bob Middleton proved his mettle when he followed a desperado on the north side of the T. & P. tracks and beginning at the station in a gun battle when the bullets were whizzing from the desperado's gun as well as from Bob's and he never slowed up until his man was captured.

Only last week when Sheriff Kiser and his two deputies undertook to stop the big Packard which did not stop in Pecos, Bob lost another opportunity to show his bravery when he forego that pleasure and jumped from the car in order to phone Sheriff Wade at Barstow so that he might make an effort to stop the car.

Too much praise cannot be given either of the officers above referred to in their quick and fearless action in this instance. They are each and every one of them made of the right sort of material for peace officers and none of them are of the over-bearing, hardboiled, bad-men sort so often found in those given the authority of the law to "tote" a gun.

"SPLITTING" When the ENTERPRISE editor was called in conference relative to the advertising of the three Trade Days, he was told that the approximately $300 which would be collected for the purchase of tickets and advertising "would be split between the two offices."

ly was the tickets given to the other office, but two sets of circulars, besides the advertising in the other paper, part of which is said to have been gratis. The ENTERPRISE has so far gotten $55 for advertising and job work or circulars for these occasions, and was told "There will be no more advertising—the money is getting short."

This much that those who were asked to put up the money for this work may know the facts, and knowing them, may judge for themselves whether or not the ENTERPRISE has had a square deal. Doubtless some who contributed to this cause believed when they were signing for it that it would be justly distributed and were and are friends of the ENTERPRISE and will wonder what interest, if any, the chamber of commerce and its president has in the other print shop.

Just such work as this will kill any organization as dead as a door nail inasmuch as many when called upon in the future for contributions will hesitate until they are assured their money will be handled in a manner satisfactory to the donors and not for the purpose of assisting some "pet" institution or friend.

Whatever boosting the ENTERPRISE has done for Pecos and its citizenship has been gladly and freely given without any expectation or hope of other than the proper appreciation from those benefitted thereby.

A TREAT TO READ THE ENTERPRISE

Frank S. Palmer, who is now in Effingham, Ill., studying photography, enclosing money order for a year's subscription to the ENTERPRISE states in part: "The ENTERPRISE is always welcomed by me. It is always a treat to read the news from home."

"Illinois is a wonderful state. They raise so much corn here I don't think that anyone here should want for corn. But believe me it rains so often here that West Texas would look awfully good to me now."

While the ENTERPRISE did not advertise the fact that it was and is opposed to the community Christmas tree, it is glad that the various churches, in a way, turned it down. The churches—all of them—are usually crowded on these occasions and to bring all the people in town and many from the country together on some vacant lot looks to the writer as if it might be quite confusing.

The ENTERPRISE heartily approves the improvement to be made in the free tourist park in all but one instance. The idea of going to the expense of putting in all this very desirable improvement which would be a credit to the town or any organization which put it over and immediately convert it into an immense and unsightly signboard, almost in the heart of the business district appears absurd to the writer.

TRUTH AND OBITUARIES

Many more or less humorous speculations of what would happen if everybody told the truth have included classic examples of what would be said in newspaper obituaries of universal characters. No man can have edited a newspaper, especially in one of the smaller communities where it is possible for a man to know his neighbors intimately, without having at least one occasion to regret that it is not possible when a man dies to write an obituary that would do exact justice to his life.

Somebody, however, has actually done what so many have been tempted to do. Through devious columns of the press has come an obituary notice originally published, with name and address of the deceased, in the Bethnal Green News, in England.

"The deceased, indeed, was a most strange man. Although bringing the children into the world, he had a strong antipathy to them being in his house, while their mother naturally championed their remaining, which caused much unhappiness."

That is frank enough, but perhaps it erred less on the side of truth and justice than the average obituary notice.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

COTTON MANUFACTURING

Rufus Wright of Sweetwater and a committee of West Texans when in New York City recently on other business called on the officials of Converse & Company, who are among the largest dealers in the sale of cotton goods in the world.

While officials of this company are of the opinion that Texas offers wonderful potentialities for textile industrial development they nevertheless will not recommend at this time the putting in of mills in Texas because of the excessively high price of textile machinery.

LARGE PRINTING PLANT FOR RICHARDSON

Sam P. Harben of the Richardson Echo and secretary of the Texas Press to publish the Texas Christian Advocate, has secured the contract to operate for the next ten years.

The Echo editor this week closed a deal with Rev. Geo. S. Slover, business manager of the Texas Christian Advocate, for the publishing of that paper for a period of ten years. The contract will start with the first issue of January, 1924, and will begin with 5,000 copies, with a sliding scale to 35,000 copies which it is hoped will be reached by the first of March.

ters, mailing equipment, etc., amounting to around $20,000 will be bought and installed just as soon as the new building is completed.

The ENTERPRISE wishes to congratulate Bro. Harben and Richardson on this deal. It will not only mean much to the publishers but will add greatly to the town of Richardson.

SOCIAL EVENTS

J. Q. ADAMS A BENEDICT
John Quincy Adams is one of Toyah's best and most respected citizens whose generous deeds and happy temperament are known all over Reeves county and some sections of adjoining counties. He has often helped to make Toyah's barbecued meats famous throughout this section and knows just how to proportion the sauce and the correct color of brown to make the mouth water when watching it cook.

With all this to his credit he is now a "has been" and his many friends over West Texas rejoice to learn that he is, for he had been running "bachelor's hall" until many of them concluded he had waited entirely too long. But, nay, not so. He was over Sunday night in attendance upon the Armistice celebration and accompanying him was a beautiful lady—beside whom John looked more commonplace than heretofore—and barely taking time to shake hands with the ENTERPRISE editor, he presented "my wife." The happy event took place something like a month ago and all this time the writer has been kept in the dark.

J. Q. upon entering the county clerk's office called for a hunting license which was promptly issued, while John was mustering up the courage to ask for another kind of license. When the hunting license was delivered he remarked: "I guess you might also issue me a marriage license," and this request was complied with and thus armed with these credentials the subject of this article hied himself back to Toyah where he presented, presumably, both licenses, to the proper party, who proceeded to join the twain in one. The bride, Miss Dora Noble, is the niece of "Uncle" Jim Hamilton with whom she has made her home for some time.

The ENTERPRISE joins the many friends of this happy couple in wishing them bon voyage on their matrimonial barque.

SHRINERS ENGAGED

IN A NOBLE WORK
Mrs. J. G. Love returned Wednesday from Dallas where she went the early part of the week. Mrs. Love's mission was a purely charitable one for she was met, by previous arrangement, at Sweetwater, by a little deformed child who lives with its parents at Snyder. Her mission was to deliver this little child to the Shriner Hospital at Dallas where they are to correct the deformity. This service by the Shriners comes on this occasion as a free gift—they taking in the first twenty-five free of all charge, so the ENTERPRISE is informed.

The principal object in the erection of this hospital by the Shriners, it is understood, is to furnish a means of cure for the crippled, maimed and deformed children and as time goes on it is hoped that all of this class will have an opportunity to be cured since those too poor to pay for this service will be treated free when funds are available by the Shriners for that purpose.

It is a noble undertaking by an organization of men whose charity ableness outweighs selfishness and a greed for gold. If such men as these do not get their reward in this and the next world, then the writer will miss his guess, and that reward will be the opposite to that dished out to selfish hypocrites whose only thought is to store up wealth regardless how or from whom it is obtained.

FORTY-TWO CLUB

Mrs. J. W. Brooks and Mrs. L. W. Anderson entertained the Forty-two Club Saturday at the home of Mrs. Brooks at a most delightful party. There were four tables of the fascinating game. The score cards were prettily painted in autumn decorations. Refreshments of sandwiches, olives, coffee and lemon pie were served to the following: Mrs. Wylie Cole, Mrs. Frank Cavett, Mrs. G. B. Finley, Mrs. H. N. Lusk, Mrs. Tom McClure, Mrs. Gid Rowden, Mrs. Albert Sisk, Mrs. S. C. Vaughan, Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Mesdames A. E. and Roy Wilcox and Mesdames Will and Sid Cowan.

MISS BOZEMAN HONORED

Miss Virginia, the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bozeman, was the house guest the latter part of last week of Miss Virginia Maulding at their delightful country home near Barstow. Miss Maulding was hostess at a party Friday evening at her home in honor of her guest, Miss Bozeman. A most delightful time is reported in playing games of various kinds at the conclusion of which delicious refreshments consisting of cream puffs, sandwiches and cake were served to a large number of guests.

MERRY WIVES' CLUB ENTERTAINED

One of the most delightful social affairs of the season was the dinner and forty-two party given Tuesday evening by the Merry Wives' Club to the members of the Twentieth Century Club at the beautiful and spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Collier, artistically decorated in chrysanthemums and autumn leaves for the occasion. Especially attractive was the dining room table, which was centered with a massive collection of chrysanthemums and autumn and fern leaves, and was presided over by Mrs. E. L. Collings and Mrs. Gid Rowden, whose membership dates from the organization of the club. It was a turkey dinner with all its accompaniments prepared to a queen's taste and served in exactly the correct style by the charming Misses Mary Stine, Margaret Howard and Dorothy Sisk. Games of "42" were played after dinner.

The exchange of courtesies by these clubs is an established custom and is always looked forward to with much pleasure. Those of the entertaining club present were Mesdames W. W. Rummels, Albert Sisk, Gid Rowden, E. L. Collings, H. N. Lusk, J. W. Moore, H. T. Collier, William Garlick, Sid Cowan, B. R. Stine, J. B. Howard, L. W. Anderson, Elmer Johnson, Will Cowan, and Mrs. T. Y. Casey of Dallas, a charter and much beloved member of the club. Those of the Twentieth Century Club present were Mesdames J. B. Heard, H. C. Roberson, J. W. Parker, A. E. Wilcox, S. C. Vaughan, Tom Harrison, M. S. Hudson, Ralph Williams, A. G. Taggart, W. R. Glasscock and John Hibdon.

CLUB MEETS
The pupils of Mrs. Lucy Mitchell's music class that some time ago organized themselves into a club which they designated as "Always Be Natural Club," met Tuesday evening at the home of their instructor, Mrs. Mitchell, in a program in the study of Handel. The musical selections given by the pupils and a number of musical games played concluded the splendid evening.

MRS. PRICKETT ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE

Mrs. H. B. Prickett was hostess to the members of the bridge club and other friends Thursday afternoon at her pretty home in the west part of town. It was a very delightful party and with an unusually large attendance. There were seven tables of bridge players and one of "42." The refreshment plate was very attractive and very delicious. The club members present were Mesdames Walter Browning, Ira J. Ball, Mabel Beauchamp, J. A. Drane, Birge Holt, J. B. Howard, Chas. Manahan, Marion Snow Hudson, J. W. Moore, W. W. Dean, G. C. Parker, H. C. Roberson, Ralph Williams, Chas. Young, David Tudor and H. B. Prickett. The invited guests to enjoy this hospitality were Mesdames J. W. Parker, Harry Anderson, John Baker, Ed Doty, Samuel Posey, L. W. Anderson, Buck Howard, Tom Anderson, H. C. Ferris, Ethel Reynolds, Monroe Kerr, Will Hudson, Tom McClure, Ralph Sparks and T. Y. Casey of Dallas; Miss Hazel Sparks and Miss Irene Prewitt. The Misses Jane Dean and Frances Hurt were Mrs. Prickett's assistants in serving and entertaining.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Jewell Hollebeck surprised her little sister, Norabel, by giving her a birthday party Saturday afternoon. Norabel had gone to see some little playmates that afternoon. Her mother told her to come home at four o'clock. She returned home at that time and brought these two little girls with her. Upon her arrival home they were immediately invited into the dining room, and there they found twenty little girls who showered Norabel with their gifts. She was so surprised and happy that she did not know what to do. They played games and had a most delightful time. At six o'clock they had a "weenie roast" and with the weenies was served salad, slaw, pickles, frijoles, sandwiches and cake. Their teacher, Miss Lulu Womack, enjoyed the fun with them.

ORCHESTRA CHORDS AND DIS-CHORDS

"If music be the food of love, play on."—SHAKESPEARE.

"Reading a good book or hearing good music is the next best thing to praying." That's what Arthur Brisbane, famous writer, says in the "This Week" column of the ENTERPRISE of this issue. Pecos is blessed with fine churches and able pastors; it has an excellent library, filled with good books; and it has the beginning of a wonderful symphony orchestra to propagate good music. Pecos has these three institutions, representing the best foundation for good citizenship and mental and moral cleanliness that can be conceived of—the church, good books and good music. Every citizen of Pecos should back these three institutions to the best of his, or her, ability. It is civic duty to do so.

As an example of how Mexican musicians regard jazz and other cheap, popular stuff, as played in cafes and questionable resorts, a circumstance happened in Juarez this week. Mexican musicians, of Juarez, who are worth while belong to a union known as the Mutual Philomonic Society. They refused to play jazz music and thus prostitute their art for a wage pittance. The cafe owners wanted to discharge them, but there is a Mexican law compelling the owners to hire fifty percent of their musicians from the citizens of Mexico. The cafe owners were obdurate and the musicians were unyielding. The controversy was referred to the mayor who modulated the discord into a beautiful passage of harmony. The main points of objection as presented to the mayor by the cafe owners were that Mexican music casts a celestial atmosphere over their patrons and an impervious gloom over the bartenders. It did not stimulate cash receipts for cocktails and other liquid refreshments. Their music was too smooth. They wanted something lumpy, something with a syncopated crash to it. This angle of the controversy brought scorn and indignation to the treasurer of the society, Juan Romero, who replied: "Jazz? Bah! Anyone can make such noises. Mexican musicians, who are known the world over as skilled artists, can play jazz music if they can play intricate overtures." The idea of not being able to play jazz brought a smile to his face. Cafe owners' charges didn't injure his pride nor rile his temperament at all. The controversy was settled by the agreement that the Mexican musicians would play for the people who love good music in the afternoons and the night owls would be entertained by the nigger and white element of jazzers at night.

The above mixup partially exemplifies that a facetious writer said in the week before last's Saturday Evening Post in reference to this low class of music. The writer said: "There's something intoxicating about the saxophone, and I believe young people need more watching around where there is saxophone music than they do around an open bar." And again in the same periodical last week the same writer in an article on "The Lost Art of Modesty" says: "Just think of mixing up a nice sensible girl with anything like saxophone music."

Barstow is exceedingly proud of its violincello quartette, composed of Mrs. Clyde Black, Mrs. E. L. Harp, Miss Grace Sweatt and Mr. Putnam Barstow. The quartette is playing good chamber music and will no doubt have a number on the program at the next public recital.

It is predicted that Putnam Barstow, one of the cello players of the Barstow orchestra, is destined to be rated as one of the foremost amateur cellists of West Texas. He is making good progress in sight reading, realizes the extensive possibilities of his chosen instrument and applies considerable of his spare time to practice. This condition shows a genuine desire to accomplish results. When it becomes a task for a person to study music, then is the time to stop it and take up something else which would appeal more to his or her interest.

The Pecos orchestra's fifth rehearsal was held Monday night. Only a few were present, the majority of the members preferring the tent show. The few that were there, however, did good work on time, marches in the Lake book, and two compositions from the Conservatory collection.

The Pecos orchestra has enrolled two new members: Miss Florence Colwell, cornet; and Mrs. Clinton Ezell, violin.

Little Billie Rodgers, of Barstow, is another young enthusiast who will soon have his scales memorized and is making good progress in time.

Stiles Allen and Mary Townley are two anxious violin players who will soon be a welcome addition to the Barstow orchestra.

Paul Carr and Miss Mary Eleanor Black are running the scales rapidly. The improvement in their time is noticeable at every lesson.

Melba Thurston, daughter of Mr. R. B. Thurston of Barstow, has completed her lessons in scales and is now commencing to master time. Her tones are remarkably good. She will soon be in a class with the five youngest players—Edgar Ingerson, Tootsie Seay, Beverly Vaughan, Helen Butrum and Josephine Grisham. These five young players are considered the wonders of the big orchestra.

Miss Virginia Maulding, a beginner on the violin, is making remarkable progress. She has already mastered seven of the ten scales and her recitations from her instruction book reflect diligent application and practice.

Miss Florence Colwell, of Pecos, joined the class last Monday. Miss Colwell brings to the orchestra a fine C. G. Conn trumpet which will be a valuable acquisition.

Chief Meredith, clarinetist-saxophonist with Heffer's Comedians, showing in Pecos this week, has said that he intends going to El Paso and joining the army, in order to play in the army band. He said to the writer: "I am tired of playing jazz and want to get away from it. When you play one foxtrot, you play all; they're all alike."

Minnesotan to Court of St. James

The naming of former Senator Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota by President Coolidge to replace George Harvey as American Ambassador to England, has stirred the progressives in Republican ranks. They say it is a "lame duck" appointment and is leading to foreign entanglements. Above is a most recent picture of Mr. Kellogg and wife.

This remarkable photograph shows four of the seven U. ANNUAL ROLL CALL

SEVENTH RED CROSS ROLL CALL POSTER

This typifies the American Red Cross bringing hope to suffering mankind.

SOUTHWESTERN DIVISION ORIGINATES SYSTEM

Red Cross in Seven States Has Traveling Nutrition Teachers.

The Southwestern Division, American Red Cross, has originated a new form of nutrition instruction which is being copied by other divisions throughout the United States.

This plan is that of the itinerant nutrition worker. Three years ago two such workers were put into the field by the division.

Home visits play a large part in the reaching of mothers and children. The itinerant worker remains in a chapter from two to six months in order to reach the entire community with this instruction.

In the states of the Southwestern Division the itinerant workers serve eleven chapters in Arkansas, three in Kansas, twelve in Missouri, six in Oklahoma and twenty-two in Texas.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS APPROPRIATE FUND FOR RED CROSS WORK

The County Commissioners of McPherson County, Kansas, have appropriated $1,600 for Red Cross work in the county during the year.

In the expenditure of this money the Executive Secretary of the chapter will act as Poor Commissioner, Truant Officer and Probation Officer for the county.

The Lyon County Chapter at Emporia, Kansas, has organized a County Health Unit with a full-time health officer and nurse.

RED CROSS ENABLES MOTHERS TO ATTEND TEXAS STATE FAIR

The "Greatest Mother" Cares for Babies While Their Mothers See the Sights.

Women who never before had found it possible to attend the state fair were present at the West Texas Fair at Abilene, Texas, this year, according to reports received from that city at the division headquarters.

"I never would have thought of coming to the fair," said one mother in expressing her appreciation of the care given her baby at the Red Cross tent during one day, "if I had not known that the Red Cross would be here to help me take care of my baby."

Babies of all sizes and ages were cared for in this day nursery and during the hour of the races there were 65 babies under the charge of the Red Cross nurse and volunteer helpers while their mothers cheered on the running horses, sharing the pleasure of their husbands in this "sport of kings."

Miss Mary Kennedy, Red Cross Advisory Nurse for Texas, for the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross, was present and in charge of the tent.

NUTRITION CLASSES BENEFIT CHILDREN

Improvement in Health and Discipline and Reduction in Underweight Result in Schools.

Twelve hundred and sixty children in the vicinity of Chickasha, Oklahoma, developed sturdy little bodies and healthy alert minds because of the nutrition classes conducted under the auspices of the Grady County Chapter of the Red Cross last year.

Hot lunches of properly balanced diet were put into 17 schools. The children were taught what to eat and how to eat, that is, how much and how many times a day, and were encouraged to eat fruit and vegetables, to drink milk, and to eliminate coffee and tea from their diet.

The percentage of underweight was greatly reduced and the parents were so much pleased with the improvement that they are demanding a continuance of the program for another year.

OUR PRAYER THAT WE MAY NEVER FORGET

OLDEST HIGHWAY ON CONTINENT IN N. MEX.

The most ancient highway in North America is said to be the New Mexico section of the National Old Trails Road. According to Judge J. M. Lowe, president of the National Old Trails Road Association, this section of the great highway is the oldest road established on the North American continent.

Long years before the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock, Onate had marked out and established this road, which started at Santa Barbara, now Jimenez, Mexico, and ended in the vicinity of what is now Santa Fe, New Mexico.

SANITY IN ROAD FINANCING NEEDED

Representatives of the United States Bureau of Public Roads and Committees from the American Association of State Highway Officials, the Investment Bankers Association of America and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, have agreed on the basic principles of road finance.

(a) States in the initial stage of highway development should issue bonds to defer that portion of the annual charge for construction which would overburden either property or the road user.

(b) States where original construction programs are well under way, can in the main, finance normal new construction from current funds, utilizing bond issue funds to defer the cost of special projects.

(c) States where original construction is largely completed are concerned chiefly with maintenance and reconstruction, and should depend on current funds save in cases of emergency.

(d) The maintenance of interstate

One of the happiest events of the occasion was that of her arrival, unheralded, on the Tuesday afternoon train, and of which very few of the members of either of the clubs were aware until their arrival at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Collier, where the entertainment was given. It was with many regrets that our people gave Mrs. Casey up to make her home in Dallas and she always receives a most cordial welcome each and every time she returns. She will be here for several days, a guest of Mrs. Albert Sisk, that her many friends may recover from the most delightful surprise she gave them on this visit.

One of the largest congregations and most inspiring audiences to which I have ministered for some time assembled last Sunday morning. I thank you, my friends. Nothing, save the grace of God helps a preacher so much as a good audience. I appreciate your help.

There will be special music at both preaching hours. The first quarterly conference of this year will be held Sunday afternoon, the hour to be announced at the morning preaching. Cordially.—L. L. THE MARRIAGE CEREMONY
It is thought that Rev. L. N. D. Wells of the East Dallas church is the author of this unique and appropriate ceremony. (Preachers will please copy. It will fit many weddings of today.) It is taken from the Christian Courier and runs as follows:

We are assembled together on this un auspicious occasion to splice together and to pay our last tribute of respect to this unsightly widow and decrepit old bachelor. May the Lord have mercy on their souls. Marriage is no longer an honorable institution, as most married folks and the divorce courts will gladly testify. For most people who are married wish they weren't, and those who are not wish to be. Marriage is the end of all your troubles, but usually the front end. I am told that yours was love at first sight. But remember, "love is blind;" but your eyes will be opened after the honeymoon and you will see yourselves as others see you—and may the Lord preserve your eyes from total blindness.

Marriage is an ancient and honorable epidemic. Some few folks are immune from the disease, but the great majority of people are more susceptible to the contagion than to measles or smallpox. The remedy is vaccination, prescribed by those who have had the disease, but it doesn't always take. My advice to all is, don't enter the marriage state too hastily. Look before you leap. If there are any just reasons why these two persons may not be lawfully joined together, you will now speak, or forever after hold your peace. As I hear only groans and sighs, you will please join your right hands.

Will you, Ebenezer Brown, take this girl, Nannie Jones, to be your lawful and wedded wootsey-tootsey? Will you love and obey her? Will you make the beds, sweep the floors, wash the dishes, dust the furniture, do the marketing and mind the babies? Will you quit smoking cigarettes, going automobile with other women, stay in nights and be a devoted and faithful husband until you are divorced?

Will you, Nannie Jones, take this man, Ebenezer, to be your lawful and wedded husband? Will you keep him in subjection to his wife at home and see to it that he keeps the sacred vows he has just made under penalty of divorce suit? And, finally, will you lead him a merry chase through life's uneven journey until separated by the courts?

My friends, you have listened to the solemn pledges of this silly, love sick pair; now, therefore, by the authority vested in me as the Parson of Plymouth Penitentiary, I pronounce you man and wife. Go and sin no more, and may the Lord have mercy on their poor, foolish souls. Salut-your bride! Friends may now come forward and review the remains.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT
Snoogie: "I see by the newspapers that chorus girls in London are now wearing monocles."
Snappie: "Well, as the saying goes—that is better than nothing."
