MARVEL TO OFFICER

ENGLISH ADMIRAL VISITS KANSAS CITY STOCK YARDS.

Ingenuity and Rapidity of Buyers and Cleanliness of Surroundings Surprise to Officer.

"I visited the greatest cattle market in the world today—your Kansas City stock yards," said Admiral Charles Eeresford, of the British navy, at the Hotel Baltimore recently, "and I want to say that its reputation has been justly earned. Several thousand head of my cattle have been sold through the Kansas City yards, and I have been well satisfied with the returns.

"The market is the greatest in the world in more ways than one. My agents sold a bunch of 1,000 head of cattle off my Mexico ranch here last week, and when I received an invitation Saturday to visit the yards and watch the unloading and sale of cattle I eagerly accepted the invitation.

"I was told that there was a great deal of dirt about the yards, but I was agreeably surprised. In fact, I could not for the world see how the employes there managed to keep things so clean and neat.

"The system of handling cattle as they are unloaded from the cars, penned, sold, weighed and started for the killing benches, is simply marvelous. I noticed particularly the convenience with which everything is arranged. Every gate and every pen seems to be a time saver.

"At first glance the handling of the cattle from the cars to the packers or to the reloading pens seems to be in the nature of a broken line. It is hard to believe that no confusion results in the handling of these immense numbers of cattle daily.

Work of the Buyers.

"The work probably of the buyers was most interesting to me. I watched several of them closely as they would examine a load of steers and stepping around among them poke them in the ribs and in the loins with their heavy canes, then emerge from the pens and make the owner an offer for the lot.

"These buyers, I understand, are so well trained in their work that they can tell in an instant from the general appearance of the cattle just what they are worth and can estimate the loss to the packer or butcher in killing them. In England the work of these men would be considered as positively marvelous. Of course over there we have no such markets as you have here. The heaves there are heavier than the ordinary run here.

"I did not visit the packing house here as I visited the big ones in Chicago, but I understand that they are all practically alike. There is a vast difference, however, in the appearance of the yards, and the facility with which the cattle are handled here has many advantages over the Chicago yards.

Competition Explained.

England and Europe get the most of the better grades of beef killed here, I understand," continued the admiral. "The reason for this is that the cattle raised over there are fatter and heavier and grade higher than the average American beef. To compete with the English raised beef, the American packer has to send over the best meat that he can secure. There is a big demand for the American meat, and the American packer is supplying it nicely."

Admiral Eeresford, with his attorney, departed last evening for New York city. He has to be in England by October 21. He expressed great regret that he could not remain over to see the P. O. P. festivities, but declared that he was highly pleased with his visit to Kansas City and that he expected to make his next stay here much longer.—Kansas City Journal.

DEATH OF MRS. CASEY.

After a lingering illness of several weeks Mrs. George Casey died at the family residence in Plainview, Texas, at twelve thirty last Sunday night, in the sixty-ninth year of her age.

The family moved here nearly four years ago, and since then have been prominent in religious, social and educational circles, one of the daughters, Miss Effie Casey, having had charge of the primary department in the West Side school for more than two years.

Mrs. Casey had been a sufferer for a number of years, but bore her sufferings with remarkable fortitude and Christian resignation.

The funeral services were held at the house Monday morning at 11:45 by Rev. R. L. Gillion, pastor of the Baptist church. The rites were simple and beautiful, consisting of the reading of the 14th chapter of St. John, the favorite scripture of the deceased; prayer by the minister, and singing of "Asleep in Jesus" and "Rest for the Weary," by a male quartet. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which Mrs. Casey was held as a friend and neighbor.

The remains were taken to Clinton, Mo., to be placed by those of the husband of her youth, with whom she lived forty-seven years. A long line of sorrowing friends formed the procession to the depot, and bade goodbye to the following relatives, who accompanied the mother on her last journey to her old home: Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hughes, Miss Effie Casey, Mrs. Annie Casey Wood, Mrs. O. Dana Brooks, of San Angelo, and the two little grand children, Elaine Wood and Robert Prince Casey.

T. T. Jeffus, of Plainview, was here Monday looking after his property interests. He informed the Hesperian man that he would likely move here in the near future.—Floyd County Hesperian.

The Elite Cafe, formerly run by Gatz & Eblin, has been sold out to L. Rushing. Messrs. Gatz and Eblin will return to Albuquerque, New Mexico.

REVIVAL AT ESTACADO CLOSES.

Twenty Conversions and Ten Accessions to the Presbyterian Church.

Rev. P. C. Irwin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, returned Monday night from Estacado, where he had been for the past ten days holding a meeting, with the assistance of Rev. Leonard Gill, Rev. Gill doing the preaching. There were about twenty professions during the meeting, and ten accessions to the Presbyterian church. The meeting closed Sunday with an all-day service, which was largely attended. Dinner was served on the ground by the good people of the community. Bro. Gill won a strong hold upon the hearts of the people of the town by his most excellent preaching and affable manners; and by his work has contributed much to the advancement of the Lord's work among all denominations in that neighborhood.—Crosby County News.

NEW CLUB ORGANIZED.

The Highland Club having disbanded last spring, and feeling the need of some social organization, some of the leading ladies of West Plainview met on Thursday of last week with Mrs. W. B. Joiner for the purpose of organizing another forty-two club for that part of the city.

Mrs. Joiner having resigned her place as member and president of the old club, Mrs. E. H. Humphreys was unanimously elected to that office, and the following ladies voted in as members: Mesdames Carl Donohoo, L. P. Martin, R. W. Simmons, L. T. Mayhugh, R. C. Joiner, J. M. Malone, J. F. Garrison, O. H. Judkins, E. P. Norwood, E. B. Hughes, J. L. Vaughn, H. C. Randolph, J. W. Grant, J. O. Wyckoff, J. P. Crawford and L. C. Wayland, and Misses Effie Casey, Clara Tandy and Rosa Fowle as substitutes.

The club entertainments this winter will be limited to four table meetings; only club members will be present. The old name has been retained.

BROOM CORN A PAYING CROP.

Those who raised broom corn this year are happy—those who didn't are—well, that's a different story. A few days ago J. I. Mathis, a representative of the Western Warehouse Co., of Wichita, Kansas, made a trip through this section. He bought some eleven tons of broom corn from parties living some seven miles south of town, and J. W. Bradley sold him a couple of ton. The price Mr. Mathis offered and paid was $100 per ton. Those who raised this crop this year will go after it again—and there are going to be others who will sell broom corn next year!—Texico Trumpet.

EXTEND SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

Plainview will extend her sewerage system. The vote for the bond issue, as submitted to the citizens of the town last Saturday, resulted in an overwhelming majority in favor of the extension. There were only three opposing votes against eighty-eight for it. It speaks well for Plainview to know that her citizens are ever ready for improvement. The extension of the sewerage will enhance the value of property that before was outside of the limit.

MARRIED.

Ben B. Tarwater and Miss Mabel Matlock, both of Running Water, were married Monday afternoon by Rev. J. H. Abney, pastor of the Presbyterian church, at his residence on Restriction street.

A number of representative young people from Running Water, both married and single, came down with the bridal couple.

After the ceremony was over the entire party adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Espey, in East Plainview, where an elegant supper was served Mr. and Mrs. Tarwater and the attendant party.

Both of the contracting parties are prominently connected. The bride is the daughter of J. B. Matlock, one of the foremost citizens of Running Water, and the groom is the son of H. R. Tarwater, one of the leading alfalfa farmers of that vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Tarwater are popular young society people in their neighborhood and have hosts of friends who wish them happiness.

The bridal party returned to Running Water on Tuesday morning.

OLD PRESSMAN.

A. H. Clinton, of Denver, Colo., was in Plainview on Monday looking after his land interests in Hale county. He was also on his way to Clovis, New Mexico, where he owns city property. Mr. Clinton was the first printing pressman in north Texas, and, after years of experience in newspaper work, he is enjoying the fruits of his labors.

His wife will join him at Amarillo, from Denver, where they have been located for the past fifteen years.

EXHIBITS FOR FAIR

HALE COUNTY SECURES A BOOTH IN THE HALL.

Messrs. Hanby and Brown Have Charge and Are Going After the Blue Ribbons for Keeps.

Dr. J. H. Hanby and J. O. Brown left Thursday for Dallas in charge of the Hale county exhibit for the State Fair, which opens in Dallas tomorrow.

In an interview with a Herald reporter, Dr. Hanby said that Hale county had secured a booth in Agricultural Hall, and that everything that grows in Hale county will be displayed in the best manner possible. Dr. Hanby also said that they were going after blue ribbons—all blue ribbons—and nothing but blue ribbons. History repeats itself; so judging by the record of Hale county last year blue will be the prevailing color among the Hale county prizes in Dallas.

The exhibits sent to Dallas will be practically the same that were on display at the county fair last week. Those who have seen them know what they are and feel assured that they will attract attention to this part of the state. They will be the best advertisement that Hale county can have. The exhibit will be in good hands. Both of the gentlemen in charge are enthusiastic over this one, particular spot of Texas. Mr. Brown is an old resident and has had years of experience as a farmer in the shallow water belt, while Dr. Hanby has been an enthusiastic worker for Plainview and Hale county ever since his arrival here, nearly three years ago.

They extend a cordial invitation to all Hale county citizens who visit the fair to make the Hale county booth their headquarters. The exhibit is theirs, the product of their home soil, and one of which they can feel justly proud. Let them rally around their corner at the Dallas Fair, and talk Hale county, holler for Hale county and work for Hale county.

Col. Robert Lemond, Mrs. W. M. Claxton and Mrs. Bull came over from Hale Center last Saturday to take the train for El Paso, to attend the meeting of the Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, which convenes in that city this week.

KNOT FROM HANGMAN'S ROPE.

One of the grewsome ornaments of the editorial sanctum at The Herald office is a trophy brought from the dark and bloody ground of Kentucky in the shape of a knot cut from a hangman's rope, used in the execution of a noted murderer.

It is a perquisite of the office, having been the property of a former editor, the present incumbent having fallen heir to it among the articles of office bric-a-brac. Occasionally it excites some rather hair-raising and blood-curdling thoughts, but more often it inspires a feeling of thankfulness that we live in a land of peace, and that executions are unknown in this broad and sunny part of the South.

We live among a God-fearing, law-abiding people. Very few crimes ever mar the peaceful serenity of our lives, therefore a bit of hangman's rope is rather a curiosity. It hangs over the desk—a piece of twisted, knotted hemp. But it was instrumental in launching a soul into eternity, and though it has traveled to peaceful Texas, it is a grewsome reminder of one of the many terrible tragedies enacted among the mountains of old Kentucky.

SHOOTING WITHIN CITY LIMITS.

Two boys were arrested on Wednesday for shooting near the depot, inside the corporate limits. They were only shooting at a bottle with a target, and plead ignorance of the law regarding shooting within city limits.

There is a fine for such an act, and also for shooting across a public road or within a hundred yards of any public building, whether in country or town. The attention of the public should be brought to the above fact, and parents should caution their boys against the danger of shooting in such places or in town.

Let Bell Brothers do your work. They do it well.

GERMAN LUTHERAN PREACHING.

The Rev. O. A. H. Hoemann, a German Lutheran minister, will be installed as pastor of that denomination in the neighborhood of the Ratjen school house, twelve miles northeast of Plainview, Sunday Oct. 17, 1909.

Rev. W. J. Plischke, of Amarillo, will preach the installation sermon in German. Rev. O. A. H. Hoemann will also preach in English, should there be any English-speaking persons present. Both of these preachers have been sent out by the German Evangelical Lutheran Synod, of Missouri, Ohio and other states, to do missionary work here in Texas. Mr. Hoemann will take charge of Rev. Lohman's work in this vicinity.

Services will begin at 2 o'clock p. m. All Germans in Plainview and surrounding country are requested to be present. The public in general cordially invited.

The Ratjen school house will be used as a chapel.

NEW COUNTY ATTORNEY.

County Attorney E. Graham has resigned the office of county attorney and formed a partnership with L. W. Dalton.

Mr. Graham has held the office for more than three years, and during that time he has proved that he had the welfare of Plainview at heart and that he was not afraid to prosecute the offenders against law and order, regardless of public opinion. Mr. Graham has also held the offices of city attorney and attorney for the Santa Fe.

Charles E. Clements, the retiring member of the firm of Dalton & Clements, has been appointed to the office of county attorney by the commissioners' court to fill Mr. Graham's unexpired term. The choice is a wise one. Mr. Clements is a young man of marked ability. He graduated from the Plainview High School several years ago; from here he went to the State University at Austin, where he also graduated with distinction, and afterwards accepted a position in that institution. After returning to Plainview a few months ago, he formed a partnership with L. W. Dalton, one of the leading lawyers of Plainview.

As county attorney we predict for Mr. Clements a successful career, and know that, like his predecessor, he will never be afraid to do his duty.

NEW FIRM.

The new law firm composed of E. Graham and L. W. Dalton will have their office in the Stephens building, which is being built on the northeast corner of Pacific and Main streets. The new firm will be known as Graham & Dalton.

G. S. Fairris has sweet potatoes, celery and other reasonable vegetables at his up-to-date grocery.

Electricity Brings Speech to Tongue-tied Man.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—Tongue-tied since he was 9 years old, Joseph Upham, who is now 30, has recovered full possession of speech, 600 volts of electricity having passed through his body and doing the trick. A nervous shock had caused the defect in his enunciation; a physical shock brought back normal speech. It was heroic treatment, for when Upham stepped upon the end of a broken feed wire he was sent hurtling away as though dynamite had exploded beneath his feet. He was walking at Second and South streets at the time, and did not notice the innocent-looking string of metal.

When he stepped on it pedestrians were dazzled by the flash. They hurried to the prostrate man, who was unconscious and apparently in a serious condition. Upham was taken to the Pennsylvania hospital and physicians worked over him an hour before he opened his eyes. "What's happened?" was his first question. Before he could receive an answer, a puzzled expression came on his face. He repeated the question and then tried a longer sentence. While the doctors listened in surprise, he repeated half a dozen disconnected words, sticking out his tongue and moving it around after each utterance. Then he laughed, and a little after he explained that the defect in his speech which he had suffered for twenty-one years had been cured by the shock that almost killed him.

JAIL DELIVERY FRUSTRATED.

Last week Sheriff Cochran's vigilance prevented what would have been a complete escape of all prisoners in the Childress county jail.

Some time ago the sheriff and his department received a private tip that saws would be smuggled to some of the prisoners, and, as a result, they were on the lookout. One night last week Sheriff Cochran heard a noise that sounded like a saw at work. On going to the jail all evidences were completely hidden and every man looked as innocent as a lamb. Next morning a complete search of all prisoners and the various apartments of the jail was made. This was rewarded by the capture of five saws, made for sawing steel, and the discovery that one of the cell bars had been partially sawed in two.

The sheriff then decided that frames for using the saws must be in the jail somewhere, but this was stoutly denied by the prisoners. However, a more thorough search was made and finally a rope was discovered leading down into a large hollow pipe in the jail. This was drawn up, and attached to it were found the saw frames.

One of the prisoners glibly owned up to bringing the saws in, saying he had them concealed in his clothing when he was incarcerated. This the sheriff says cannot be true, and he thinks there is no doubt that friends or relatives of some of the prisoners slipped the articles into the jail.

Heretofore the sheriff's department has been rather free to admit visiting relatives and friends of the prisoners, but such is no longer the case, and no person will be allowed to see them except in extreme cases. Sheriff Cochran believes that the captured saws came out of the Denver railroad shops, as they show to have passed through a fire.

The rule allowing no one to see the prisoners may seem severe to some, but a sheriff's first duty is to keep his prisoners safe. Since it seems clear that visitors to the jail either delivered the saws or arranged the plan to have it done, we think the sheriff justified in taking this precaution.—Childress Post.

DIGGING FOR HIDDEN GOLD.

Mrs. Henry Leslie reports that a number of parties have been digging great holes in the pasture of her father, J. A. Reed, which is situated near town, for a supposed hidden treasure of gold. The report in some way became circulated that gold had been hidden in that neighborhood a good many years before and that is the cause of all this searching. Mrs. Leslie has taken steps to have the digging stopped and will prosecute all parties found trespassing on the land.

There is nothing that will excite people more than the report of gold.—Childress Post.

SANITARY CODE.

Dr. L. C. Wayland has returned from Austin, where he was in attendance at the First Annual Conference of Health Officers, as required by the new Board of Health law.

He reports a large attendance and an increased interest among health officers in matters governing the sanitary conditions in both the city and country.

The State Board of Health is authorized by law to promulgate a Sanitary Code for Texas in two parts. On the approval of the governor and proper publication, the mandatory portion of the code will have the force of law, and will govern matters of vast importance to the public good. In the management of quarantine and disinfection with respect to all contagious, infectious diseases and exposures, and the reporting by physicians and health officers of the presence in any locality of all contagious and infectious diseases, and many other subjects of vital importance.

In the Advisory Supplement to the Sanitary Code, the Board is powerless, except as city councils, school boards and county commissioners see fit to officially adopt.

The Advisory Supplement received the unanimous support of the city and county health officers, and was adopted with but few alterations.

The code is in keeping with all public advancement, and will be discussed in the near future by city and county officials and citizens, to the end that it may be adopted as a safeguard to the betterment of local conditions and the public health. If adopted, the Sanitary Code will not only redound to the public good but will demonstrate the unselfish and humanitarian aims of the medical profession.

Obedience to Platforms.

Fellow citizens, before I dismiss you I want to tax your patience a little farther while I say a few words in response to what Mr. Bryan has said about the obedience of public officials to platforms. Nothing that he said at Dallas or at El Paso challenges any vote which I have ever cast in either house of congress. Mr. Bryan has acknowledged more than once that I was not amenable to his criticism against platform violations for the reason that I was not elected to the senate on the Denver platform. I could have made this answer in my Dallas speech, but I did not choose to do so. We have heard so much in recent years about the sanctity of platform pledges and so many politicians are striving to impress the people with the idea that the platform of a convention is in all respects the same as a direct expression of the people, and there has been such a persistent effort to withdraw legislative functions from the bodies to which they constitutionally belong and transfer them to political conventions, that I thought it time for some man to recall to the public mind the origin and office of conventions and to point out the limitations which the very nature of a convention imposes on its jurisdiction. Having done that at Dallas, I need not repeat it here, and, relieved from that necessity, I can meet the precise and concrete proposition which Mr. Bryan presents. He says no candidate for office has a right to accept an election on a platform and then repudiate it. He can have no debate with me on that proposition, because he does not believe in it more thoroughly than I do, and no man who has ever borne a part in the politics of Texas has lived up to that doctrine more steadfastly than I have. In 1891 I refused to take a nomination in my old congressional district on a platform which indorsed what I considered "the straddle" of the state convention on the silver question, and in 1898 I again refused to accept the nomination for congress on a platform which indorsed our state platform on the expansion question. I had made the fight against expansion at the state convention, where I was defeated by a majority of more than two to one. It seemed at that time as if the people were drunk on the blood of conquest and fatally bent on territorial expansion. But amid all that clamor I stood unmoved. My friends begged me to take a nomination without any platform at all, but I refused to do so, and I answered that I would no more deceive my constituents by my silence than I would with a false assurance. I agree with Mr. Bryan that it is incumbent upon every honest man to make no concealment from the people when he is a candidate for office and to redeem every pledge, after he has been elected, that he made or permitted to be made for him in order to secure his election; and he agrees with me that representatives and senators must keep peace with their own judgment and conscience and that they must do so even if it becomes necessary to defy the platform of a convention.

Platform Details.

Mr. Bryan and myself, however, differ very widely as to the wisdom and the safety of incorporating the details of legislation in the platform of the political convention. It will seldom happen that even the smallest fraction of the delegates to the convention will be prepared to arrange the details of any law, even if all the delegates were qualified for such a work. The time allowed for the making and adoption of the platform would preclude the possibility of doing it in the proper manner. I would not be necessary for the convention to prescribe unimportant details, because Democratic senators and representatives will never permit a division over matters of that kind, and the minority would yield to the majority almost without debate on the points which it did not deem important; and even if Democrats divided on important matters, the division could do no special harm. But in cases where the details are important the danger of an attempt to arrange them in convention is very great, because, unless wise men, with full and accurate information, write these details in the platform they will be in many cases inconsistent with the general principles ac-

According to which it pledges our party to construct that very law. The Denver platform thoroughly illustrates this folly and this danger, because after it had declared for a tariff for revenue it then proceeded to command the repeal of several duties of low rate and of revenue-producing quality.

Nothing could be more absurd than to have Democrats at each other's throats over the question of whether a Democratic senator should vote for a 9 per cent duty on lumber or a 15 per cent duty on hides. Democrats may honestly differ about tariff rates so long as their differences keep within the line of a tariff for revenue only. One wise and honest Democrat may think a given revenue-duty should be 15 per cent and another equally wise and honest Democrat may think it ought to be 10 per cent, and a third Democrat, as wise and as honest as the other two, might think there ought to be no duty at all on that particular article. Those who labor the most for our defeat could not do us a greater injury than has been done by Mr. Bryan in exaggerating our differences and charging the Democratic party with a failure to do its duty.

I must not forget, while I am on the subject of platforms, to call your attention to the manner in which Mr. Bryan has seen fit to denounce the Texas platform of 1896. At Dallas he described it as an indictment against him, which he declared with some show of humor, that he had come to answer; but at El Paso that humor had disappeared, and in its place had come a bitterness. At Dallas he made an argument against our platform, but at El Paso he hurled invectives at it. Let me again read you what he said:

"What was the objection? Why, it subjected our agricultural and pastoral classes to competition with the world. Where did they get that language, 'subject our people to the competition of the world?' That is from Rhode Island."

Since I prepared my Dallas speech I have learned more about the authorship and the adoption of the platform which Mr. Bryan thus stigmatizes as borrowed from Rhode Island. I said at Dallas that Hon. John H. Reagan had drawn, as I understood it, the plank which Mr. Bryan so savagely condemns, and my new information does not require me to change that statement; but if it was written by Reagan, it was expressly approved by Culberson and Hogg. Hon. Frank Andrews, of Houston, who had been associated with Culberson in the attorney general's office, carried that platform just as it was finally adopted, and just as Mr. Bryan now denounces it, from Governor Culberson's office to the platform committee's room and laid it before that committee with a statement that it had been examined by Judge Reagan, by Governor Culberson and by ex-Governor Hogg, and that each of them had given it his cordial approval. Therefore, if this language was borrowed from Rhode Island, then Hogg and Culberson and Reagan were the guilty parties. Senator Culberson is here to answer for himself the accusation that he borrowed or approved, an expression on the tariff question from Rhode Island, and I need not defend the memory of Hogg and Reagan against that aspersion. They had their enemies, while they lived, but the rancor of party strife and personal hate stand silenced at their graves. The men who opposed them most while they were among us will not believe the charge that either of them took their tariff doctrine from the protectionists of Rhode Island. Mr. Bryan must be desperately in need of an argument when he is willing to impeach the honor of the living and insult the memory of the dead by charging that they borrowed a Democratic platform from the protectionists of New England.

Cottolene Is a Vegetable Product

Many people believe with Moses, the great law-giver, that the source of lard is unclean. The source of Cottolene is absolutely clean and wholesome, and the product is as healthful as olive oil.

Cottolene comes from the cotton fields of the Sunny South; it is a product of Nature, refined by our exclusive process. The ancestry of lard is not so clean or inviting. Lard never has been, never can be, anything more or less than unwholesome hog fat.

Cottolene makes food that any stomach can digest, while lard is the cause of nine-tenths of all indigestion.

Cottolene is the best frying and shortening medium made to-day. Wherever exhibited in competition with any and all other cooking fats, it has always been granted Highest Awards.

"No person shall make, issue, circulate or pay out any note, check, memorandum or token or other obligation for a less sum than One Dollar, intended to circulate as money or to be received or used in lieu of lawful money of the United States, and every person so offending shall be fined not less than $500, or imprisonment not more than six months, or both."

Which means that after New Year's the people of this country can not draw checks for less than one dollar. Why not?

TO RESIST THE DROUTH.

A West Texas land owner advertised in his home paper a few days ago that he would rent only to men who would agree to "flat-break" the land. That fact might be classed as one of the "encouraging signs of the times." It encourages the hope, at all events, that we may see some compensation out of weather adversity. For "flat-breaking" is a method of saving whatever moisture there may be in the soil. Crops planted in soil that has been "flat-broken" will hold out against a drouth much longer than will crops put in in the usual way. Of course no method of tillage would be proof against such weather as Texas has had for the last eight or ten months; but "flat-breaking," according to experience, as well as to theory, would keep in the ground much of the moisture which otherwise the sun draws out and wastes, and thus sustain plants through an ordinary dry spell.

The way the soil is ordinarily broken in Texas now is almost precisely the way our fathers and grandfathers were in the habit of breaking it. Science has learned and proved a vast deal since, but very little that science has learned and proved gets any recognition from the average Texas farmer except the ridicule of the skeptic. If the drouth Texas has had shall impel the farmers to practice a more modern method of cultivation, it will have had considerable compensation, and, indeed, in that event, it is not inconceivable that a few years hence there may be men to pronounce the drouth one of those blessings that come in disguise.—Dallas News.

Best for Biscuits.
A prominent teacher in one of the Domestic Science schools in Mississippi writes that she is using Cottolene in her lessons with excellent results. She says: "For biscuits Cottolene is all that could be desired. The biscuits are light and flaky, with none of that disagreeable odor often found in foods shortened with lard. Cottolene is also an excellent medium for frying croquettes and doughnuts. It gives them a clean, crisp, brown crust."
Other noted experts, such as Mrs. Rorer and Marion Harland, have given similar testimony to the merits of Cottolene. It is a cooking fat made from the finest vegetable oils; it gives better results than lard, and it is much more wholesome and economical as well.

HOW ABOUT US?

In England about 2,500 persons own half the land. Here's a list of eight of the biggest owners:

- Duke of Sutherland, 1,358,600 acres;
- Duke of Devonshire, 186,000 acres;
- Duke of Westminster, 30,600 acres;
- Duke of Richmond, 286,500 acres;
- Duke of Portland, 183,000 acres;
- Duke of Montrose, 115,000 acres;
- Duke of Manchester, 70,000 acres;
- Marquis of Bute, 117,000 acres.

Eight persons owning over 2,300,000 acres of land through the divine right of birth. Is it any wonder that tens of thousands are now at the starvation point in London; that England is losing her prestige as a maritime power, and gaining pre-eminence as a consumer of intoxicants, and that even her women are fighting with the idea that they can improve conditions?

What would become of our own country if 2,500 out of our 80,000,000 population secure ownership of half our land? Why, millions and millions of us would become mere peons, wouldn't we? The mass of us would finally become hired gardeners to the Thaws of eight or more rich families, wouldn't we?

But wait a moment! Aren't we headed straight toward that condition in spite of our ballot and hatred of tile and domination?

Is a Duke of Sutherland, with his 1,358,600 acres, more to be dreaded than a King Harriman, who, through railroad control, lorded it over the produce of 20,000,000 acres or more? Can a Duke of Winchester, with 600 acres in the very heart of London, be a worse calamity than "captains of industry" like Morgan, Rockefeller, Vanderbilt and Frick, who control the finances, fuel and light of our 80,000,000?

More acres are valueless. Land is valuable only when held in connection with things that make it productive and its products remunerative through shipment. A secretary of our government who permits corporations or other thieves to steal a hundred acres covering sources of irrigation or power helps to steal not one hundred acres, but thousands and thousands of acres, for those sources are the real value of those thousands.

Forsooth, if we think of it in this light, don't less than 2,500 persons already possess (control) over half our land?

The people of England think they see solution of their trouble in taxation of the "unearned increment;" that is, in taxation of the increased value of the ducal and other lands not due to any exertion of the landlord. It will reach but a little way. It is but taxation of what God and other people than the landlords have done.

"The demand of the masses is for division!"

If your land is made more valuable by the enterprise and labor of others, pay!

If you are born to riches, pay!
If your purse has grown dangerously fat and powerful through enjoyment of special and uncommon privilege, pay!—Dallas Dispatch.

WE ARE GOING SOME.

The marvelous speed attained by automobiles in a run over twenty-one miles of hitherto untrodden road on Long Island almost staggers credulity. It is not surprising that motor cars should speed over a specially prepared track with the velocity of an arrow sped from a bow, but an average speed in excess of seventy miles an hour over an open road is something that Horatio never dreamed of in all his philosophy.

There were numerous horseless vehicles engaged in the Long Island speed contest over the country road, and hardly any of them made less than a mile-a-minute average, enough to take away the breath of one not accustomed to such speed. While these terrestrial races were in progress Wilbur Wright and Glenn Curtiss were sailing in the air at a speed approximately fifty miles an hour, the former circling the Statue of Liberty in New York with the ease of a falcon, and alighting without difficulty when and where he pleased. Only a few days ago a steamer of the Cunard line landed at the New York wharf in only a few hours more than four days after leaving Queenstown, having broken her own record for about the twentieth time since she was first placed in commission.

We are living in a fast age, when time appears to be the chief desideratum. Five miles an hour was considered good time over the ordinary roads for even the best class of vehicles for any considerable distance, but now the autoist thinks nothing of a run of a hundred miles or more between breakfast and dinner. When the steamship Persia crossed the ocean in a little more than nine days that was a record-breaker, and when the City of Paris, as late as 1889, negotiated the distance over the same course in less than six days that established a new record. Now the Lusitania and the Mauretania do it easily in about four and a half days.

It is hardly more than a year ago that the heavier-than-air biplanes and monoplanes began their conquest of the air, but already the aviators are demonstrating the ease with which they can fly at almost any height and in a circle as well as straight away and at almost any speed they may choose to go. Verily transportation methods have made great progress in the past few years, and who knows what further progress may be made in the years to come.—San Antonio Express.

PLEASED WITH THE COUNTRY.

J. N. Overhalsen and family passed through here Wednesday on their way to Fort Stockton, Texas, from Cimmaron county, Oklahoma. He is traveling through in a wagon, and states that Plainview is the most thriving town, and located in the best farming country, that he has seen. He is so much pleased that he may return and locate in Hale county.

ARRIVES FROM PLAINVIEW.

R. C. Ware has arrived in the city from Plainview, and will remain over for the auto races tomorrow and Wednesday. Mr. Ware states that quite a number of Plainview people will be here to attend the events.—Daily Panhandle.

HOME MISSION NOTES.

The Week of Prayer services, which closed with the Sunday morning's sermon by the pastor, were of great pleasure and benefit to the women who attended. Very fine programs had been arranged from day to day, and were faithfully carried out.

In the little experience meeting with which the service closed on the last day, each woman expressed herself as being a little better informed and more enthusiastic Home Mission woman than ever before. The various schools supported by the Home Mission work were studied—their conditions and needs, and the work they were doing. Special attention was given Sue Bennett Memorial school, at London, Ky., to which the Week of Prayer offerings are given this year. The offering from this society lacked only a little of reaching $50, and this amount will be raised before the money is sent in. The attendance was good and several new members were gained. On Sunday Bro. Barcus gave us a good Home Mission sermon to close with. The entire series of services was a success.

On last Monday the regular business meeting was held. The reports of the various officers showed the work to be in good shape. Mrs. Williamson resigned as third vice president and a nominating committee was appointed to nominate some one to fill the place by next Monday. Another thousand postals of the new church were ordered. Mrs. Barcus was appointed to lead the devotional meeting next Monday.

From four to five o'clock was given to the Study Circle. The first chapter of the book, "The Challenge of the City," was taken up and discussed. It proved to be most interesting—was a very fine beginning of the work.

The leader is delighted with the interest shown, and hopes and believes that the Study Work will be one of the best things in the church work. GABIE BETTS-BURTON.

SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR.

"President Taft says that he cannot milk a cow. Do you suppose that is because of lack of training?"
"It may be, but from his portraits and the cows I have seen I think it is because of the convexity of the President and the cow."

Proves By The Pikes Peak Test

No where else in all the world is there such a test of the time keeping quality of a watch as on the famous Pikes Peak Cog Railway in Colorado, where the steep grades of the mountain necessitate the use of cog wheels to control the train, and vibration often so injures ordinary watches that an expert repairman must readjust them.
A conductor on the Pike's Peak road made a ninety-day test of the South Bend Watch last Summer.
No adjustment of the watch was made for the whole period, but at the end of the test, examination showed a variation of less than one-half second per day. Do you think the watch you carry could stand a test like this?
We will be pleased to show you our line of these guaranteed accurate watches and explain to you how a South Bend Watch adjusts itself to every temperature automatically.

State Experimental Farm Station at Spur

Recognizing the great possibilities and wonderful future of Spur Farm Lands, the State has decided to place an Experimental Farm Station at Spur. This will be a great benefit to the settlers in that region—showing them by actual demonstrations on the land what crops can be most profitably raised; best methods of cultivation, and assisting in all the problems of the farm. This decision was reached after a visit to the lands by Judge Ed. R. Kone, Commissioner of Agriculture, and Dr. H. H. Harrington, Director of Experimental Stations, who recognized their unusual farming value.

Wichita Valley Railroad (Burlington System.) will begin daily passenger service from Stamford, Jones Co., to terminal town, SPUR, Dickens Co., Texas, on November 1st, 1909

The New Railroad Will Penetrate the Heart of SPUR FARM LANDS

To the first comers (ready to develop), we are willing to sell one-half our holdings of 673 square miles on easy terms and reasonable prices. We reserve the other half for the big increase sure to come with development. We stand shoulder to shoulder with the homeseeker.

Cotton (no boll weevil), corn, alfalfa, all feed stuffs, grains, fruits, melons, vegetables. Great hog country—no cholera ever known. The hog farmer is king, and nowhere can hogs be matured so cheaply. Quick run to Fort Worth market. Delightful, healthful climate—altitude 2,000 to 2,500 feet.

The great extent and variety of land insure the homeseeker such range of selection that the man early on the ground can find exactly what he wants.

Water generally shallow; part covered with mesquite trees; part open.

The town of SPUR will be the terminus. It is in Dickens County; beautiful location, surrounded in all directions by miles upon miles of fertile farming country, and destined to be a city.

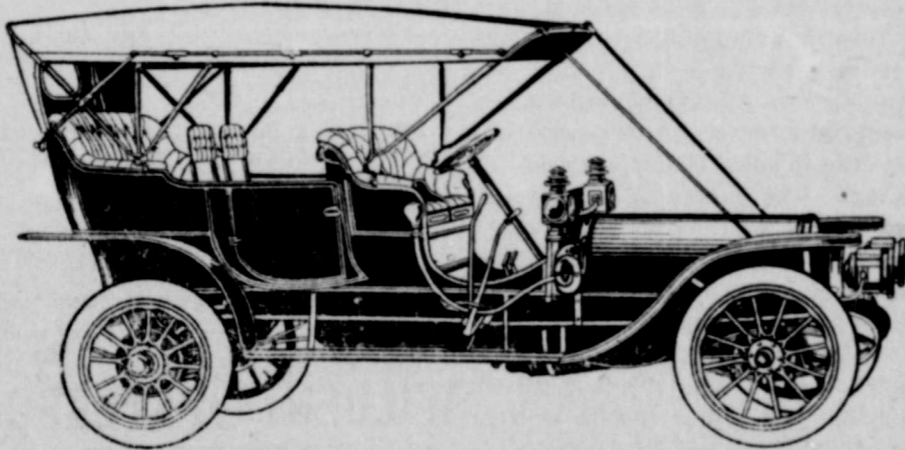

GIRARD is also a town in SPUR FARM LANDS, in Kent County, fourteen miles below SPUR, in center of fine farming district. It will be a good trading town. Lots go on sale in both towns Nov. 1st, 1909.

DR. COOK AND THE PANHANDLE.

It is worth mentioning that Dr. Cook proceeded north toward the pole for several hundred miles almost on the line of the 100th meridian, west longitude. This means that he made the last laps of his journey and reached the pole on a line due north of the eastern side of the Panhandle of Texas, the 100th meridian of longitude crossing the Texas & Pacific railroad between Abilene and Sweetwater.

When he stood at the pole he was 58 degrees of latitude north of us, or in a line measured on the earth's circumference he was about 4,000 miles due north of Abilene and Sweetwater.

Thus Texas gets another lick at the biggest news of the century.—El Paso Herald.

GIRL ACTS AS MAYOR OF CITY.

New York.—One young girl was pitted against twenty-five trained office hunters—and the girl won.

That is why Miss Mary Smith took care of the business of Elizabeth, N. J., while the mayor was acting as foreman of the new grand jury, two blocks from the city hall. Mayor Marvalog says she is the best secretary any mayor ever had.

When Dr. Marvalog began to look about for a secretary there were twenty-five volunteers for the $1,600 job. The mayor looked them over and shook his head.

"I want a secretary," he said, "who does not have to drink bromides in the morning to clear his head and will not turn the outer office into a smoking parlor for the boys hanging around for favors. I want a secretary who will work and not play politics."

Canterberry handles coal which burns up, all of it, without any clinkers at all, and but a small amount of ashes. You pay for a ton of coal and you have a ton of fire, not a lot of slakey refuse.

Jumbo Canterbury is known by everyone on the Plains and they all know that he sells the best coal that comes to Plainview. If you don't know learn by trying a load, and you will have no other.

To the People of Plainview And Surrounding Country

WE have bought the Plainview Mercantile Co. stock of merchandise and have cast our lot with you, and our intention is to stay here and help boost Plainview and this country, for we believe in it. Now, with reference to this stock of merchandise: Of course, we bought it at a reduction, and, after invoicing, we find we are badly overstocked in some lines, while in other lines we are short.

These lines we are overstocked on are going to be reduced in price sufficiently to make them move. In great many instances the former selling price will be cut one-half, other lines one-fourth, and so on, as the condition of the stock demands.

For instance we are badly overstocked on hats and we expect to sell the Star Hat at $2.50 as long as they last, the former price was $3.50. In some lines of clothing we expect to give quite a reduction.

We have some DRESS GOODS we are slaughtering, and in our MILLINERY DEPARTMENT we expect to almost all low the customer to make the price. In a few words, if you need anything in DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, BOOTS, SHOES, HATS, LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR SUITS, CLOAKS or MILLINERY you will make a mistake if you do not see us. While we are making these reductions, we expect to constantly add NEW GOODS to our stock. We have already received a BEAUTIFUL ASSORTMENT of DRESS GOODS, and are expecting in a few days a nice bill of BOYS' CLOTHING and a BIG SHIPMENT of the CELEBRATED HAMILTON-BROWN SHOES and JOHN B. STETSON HATS. In fact, there has not been a day since we began but what we have received something new.

We have not come here to fight, but have come here to make friends—don't expect to try to put anybody out of business—we don't want to! We hope and expect to do a straight-forward, legitimate business. We want and expect to get all the trade we can get in a legitimate way. Come and see us and introduce yourself; we want to meet you and make you our friend. The style of the firm will not be changed.

YOURS VERY TRULY,

THE OPENING NIGHT

PLAINVIEW'S BEAUTIFUL OPERA HOUSE DEDICATED.

The Cameron Opera Company Played to a Large Audience Monday Night. The Schick is Pride of Our City.

As previously billed, the Grace Cameron Opera Company appeared in our city and dedicated the new opera house, THE SCHICK, with a splendid play, entitled "Little Dollie Dimples," with Miss Grace Cameron as leading lady, and supported by a strong company. The chorus and specialty parts were entertaining, and a much larger audience would have been present but for the severe "norther" keeping many at home.

Mayor De Lay Made a short speech to the audience on behalf of the management and the architect. He said that every one connected with the erection of the building, and the management of the opera house, had spared neither expense nor trouble to make a playhouse for Plainview that would always be its pride, and he hoped the people would patronize it accordingly.

The Herald takes great pride in the new building, and can assure the public that manager Hunsaker has booked some of the best companies that travel the state.

MEETING STILL IN PROGRESS.

"If you don't want religion, don't go to the Baptist meeting," is the remark most frequently heard in Plainview this week.

This meeting has been going on for two weeks. There have been thirty odd conversions, most of them being men. Rev. R. L. Gillon, the ministers, and the members of the church who have been assisting him, have labored earnestly for the welfare of souls, and have great reason to believe that their labors have been rewarded. Deep interest is manifested by church members and outsiders, and everyone feels as if they had received a blessing by attending.

MEETING OF CIVIC LEAGUE.

The Civic League and Cemetery Association met at the usual place of meeting, in the Wayland building, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 14.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. B. Joiner. Mayor De Lay was present and stated that the surveying of the cemetery was nearly completed and that blue prints were being made of the work.

A committee, consisting of the presidents of the two organizations, Mrs. W. B. Joiner and Mrs. J. N. Donohoo, was appointed and immediately taken out to the cemetery to locate a place for a windmill.

As soon as the charter is obtained, lots will be sold, and the work of improving God's acre will be rapidly pushed.

The next meeting will be on the first Wednesday in November. The officers of the Cemetery Association earnestly request all members of the Civic League and all those interested in the improvement of the cemetery to be present at that meeting. Come one and all.

Remember the meeting, Nov. 3.

LET'S PRETEND.

Let's pretend a little while,
That the world is managed right,
That there's little which is vile,
That there's much to give delight.

Let us hopefully pretend
That the luck we have is fair;
Let us put a sudden end
To the murmurs of despair.

Let's pretend just for today
That our hearts are free from woe;
That the wind blows just the way
We would like to have it blow.

Let's pretend that what we do
Is the work we like the best;
Let's pretend the scene we view
Is of all the loveliest.

Let's pretend we're satisfied;
Let's pretend we're brave and strong;
Maybe after we have tried
We can do it right along.

OPERATION FOR APPENDICITIS IS CRIMINAL.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 12.—"An operation for appendicitis should be a criminal operation, and, as such, should be prohibited by law," declared Dr. Charles E. Page, one of the best known Boston physicians.

"I have been following the records of appendicitis operations ever since the craze for this form of surgery started," says Dr. Page, "and I confidently believe that the day is coming when the people will realize that the cutting of the appendix is a criminal operation.

"As for the widely proclaimed benefits and saving of life by operation to cut the appendix, it seems hardly necessary to cite the long list of deaths following the operation."

INFORMAL AFFAIR.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Otto and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Burch entertained last Saturday evening at the home of the latter, in East Plainview.

Those who enjoyed the warm hospitality of the genial hosts were Mr. and Mrs. J. Buckheimer, Miss Mildred Buckheimer, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McWhorter, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Knight, Miss Bettie Knight and Miss Happel.

An elaborate course dinner was served during the evening.

PEACE HATH HER HEROES AS WELL AS WAR.

A few weeks ago, at an experiment station out in Nebraska, three healthy U. S. A. soldiers swallowed a million typhoid fever germs in order to test the efficiency of a new cure for the disease.

The experiment proved successful, and in the future, no doubt, the army will be free from the terrors of sickness that kills more men than bullets, and eventually the whole country will reap the benefit of their heroic self-sacrifice.

Just as much should they be honored for the deed as if they had walked into the teeth of the enemy's firing line; yea, more, for their heroism will be the means of saving life rather than of destroying it.

It has long been believed that an antitoxin could be concocted that, injected into the blood, would result in immunity from the dread disease. However, the experiment was dangerous, as an over-injection would result in death. All honor to the three strong-hearted privates that offered their lives for the country's sake.

The principle is the same as vaccination for small pox, and we may expect to hear much from it in a short while.—Live-Wire.

COOK COMING TO TEXAS.

Arctic Explorer Includes Fort Worth in Itinerary.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, discoverer of the north pole, will visit Fort Worth on his lecture trip, which will rival that now being made by President Taft. He said at Cincinnati a few days ago that his present tour will end Oct. 14, and that he will go then to New York for a rest of three days.

October 17 he will set out for Montreal, Canada, accompanied by his wife, his secretary, Walter Lonsdale, a business representative and one stenographer. He will spend ten days in Canada, going from there to Portland, Ore., and thence down the Pacific slope as far as Los Angeles. His trip from there will be to the Texas cities of Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Waco.—Fort Worth Record.

WITH $15,000 SALARY.

A Factory Manager Works as a Common Laborer.

New York.—The anomaly of the head of a great leather plant with a salary of $15,000 a year, working through compulsion as an ordinary day laborer and doing the work that is ordinarily rewarded with $15 a week was presented yesterday at the plant of Harrington & Co., in Elizabeth, N. J., in the case of John T. George. He was formerly the general manager of the concern.

Monday the Central Leather company acquired the Harrington works. George's resignation of his $15,000 position was demanded and promptly refused because he holds a salary contract good until next June. When he received his orders to report yesterday as a leather maker he smiled and made ready.

He left his home in the morning, jumped into his waiting touring car and drove to the works. Then he sent his automobile home to call for him at noon and donned a leather apron and went to work at a table with scores of other leather markers. George's time was kept by the time-keepers just like that of all the laborers to the right and left of him.

He was ordered by the superintendent just as if he had never sat at a desk in the front office.

And when noon came he doffed the leather apron and became the wealthy citizen again as he entered his automobile and drove to his home for luncheon. In the afternoon his labor was repeated.

He says he will report each day until the expiration of his contract.

PEARY AND COOK.

Whether Dr. Cook has proved his claims to the pole or not, he has demonstrated his fitness for the highest diplomatic post in the gift of the government. Few men who have ornamented our public life in the last hundred years have made such a consistent record for tactful, courteous, diplomatic, well-timed, restrained and convincing expression. Throughout this disgraceful controversy Dr. Cook has conserved unimpaired his dignity and manhood while Commander Peary, from the first moment of his arrival at the wireless station until the present day, has only succeeded with every utterance in increasing the disfavor with which his unfortunate over-breaks are received by the people of the world.—El Paso Herald.

It took a brave man to find the pole, to persevere against opposition such as has defeated all others who had combatted it, and Dr. Cook has proved his bravery since his return from the north no less than before. Only a brave man could have borne to reply to Peary harshly, but the dauntless doctor, fearless of the future as of the present, has been content to rest his claims upon the fairness of the people and to allow his disgruntled rival to get whatever comfort he might out of his unenviable position.—Dallas News.

BALD HEADS TURNED OUT.

Amarillo has had a lot of excitement the past week. Miss Cora Healey, a pretty lass of 20 summers of Freeport, Ill., met one Joe Sneek in Waco, Texas, last June. Joe made goo-goo eyes at the maiden, fell in love with her, gave her a diamond ring, and announced that he was to marry her. After a few months Joe sort of got tired of her and tried to shake her. But Cora wouldn't have it that way, so she hired an attorney, sued Joe for $15,000, and the case came up in the federal court in Amarillo. Of course Amarillo likes something sensational, and the court room was packed during the proceedings. It is said that all the bald heads in town turned out to hear the racy testimony. Judge Meek charged the jury and they returned a verdict of $4,000 for the girl. Such is life in Amarillo.—Randall County News.

LUBBOCK PICNIC.

The picnic at Lubbock last Friday and Saturday was a success in entertainment and attendance, but unfortunately a hard norther interfered with the comfort and pleasure of those who ventured out. A number of beeves were barbecued for the occasion, and everything else provided for the entertainment of the guests, by the people of our sister city.

POINDEXTER COMING.

A prominent citizen of Plainview has received a letter from William Poindexter, of Cleburne, generally known among his many friends as "Bill," stating that he will make an appointment to speak at Plainview at his earliest convenience.

Mr. Poindexter is a candidate for governor on the prohibition ticket, and has been prominent in the eyes of the public for a long time. He was district judge in his district or years and is known all over the state as a man of honesty and integrity.

It is gratifying to the people of Plainview to know that he will visit the town in the near future, and they can safely promise him a large and appreciative audience.

"What's the matter now, dear?" asked Mrs. Noah as she observed her husband snapping the deck and jerking out whiskers by the hand. "Matter enough!" roared Noah, purple. "The mice are overrunning the ship and both our cats refuse to interfere for fear of being accused of working their passage."

Texas Is on His Way Home, Much Improved in Health.

Washington.—Senator Culberson, after remaining in the East since the adjournment of Congress, is on his way to Texas, much improved in health. The Senator has spent much of his time since the adjournment of Congress at Asbury Park. He was detained in Washington, much longer than he expected to be by the impending appointments of census supervisors for Texas, in which he was interested.
