

EDWARD OF ENGLAND NO MORE

KING PASSED AWAY NEAR MID-NIGHT ON LAST FRIDAY.

Prince of Wales, Who Succeeds His Father, Will Be Known as George V.—King's Funeral on May 20.

London, May 7 (Saturday).—King Edward VII died at 11:45 o'clock last night in the presence of his family. He had been ill less than a week, and only within forty-eight hours of his death had his illness seemed serious.

The Prince of Wales succeeded to the throne immediately, according to the laws of the kingdom, without official ceremony. His first official act was to send to the lord mayor the announcement of his father's death, in pursuance of custom. The telegram read:

"I am deeply grieved to inform you that my beloved father, the king, passed away peacefully at 11:45 to-night. GEORGE."

The physicians soon afterward issued their official bulletin, which was as follows:

"May 6, 11:50 p. m.—His majesty, the king breathed his last at 11:45 to-night, in the presence of her majesty, Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, Princess Royal, the Duchess of Fife, Princess Victoria and Princess Louise, the Duchess of Argyll."

The cause of death was given as bronchitis.

Besides the members of the family in England, the Duke of Fife and the Archbishop of Canterbury were in the chamber where the king died. The king's brother, the Duke of Connaught, with his family, is at Suez, hastening home from Africa. The king's daughter, Queen Maud, of Norway, will start for England tomorrow.

"Gentlemen, his majesty is dead."

It was nearly half an hour after the king breathed his last when Lord Knollys came into the office and said to the waiting reporters:

"Gentlemen, his majesty is dead."

King George Proclaimed.

London, May 7.—King George V. was proclaimed this afternoon.

The proclamation was approved by privy council at 4 o'clock. The council met in the throne room of St. James Palace, under the presidency of the Earl of Crew.

The king, who had driven over from Marlborough House, waited in a room adjoining the council chamber while the lengthy formalities leading up to the actual proclamation were proceeding.

Thus, in his forty-fifth year, the second son born to King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra becomes ruler of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominion beyond the seas, defender of the faith, and Emperor of India.

The New King.

George Frederick Ernest Albert, Prince of Wales, who now becomes King of England, is the second son of King Edward and Queen Alexandra and was born at Marlborough House on June 3, 1865, seventeen months after the birth of his elder brother, the late Duke of Clarence. He and his brother entered the navy together as cadets, and he spent two years on the Britannia. Then he started on a three-year voyage around the world, sailing on the Bacchante.

In 1892, when his brother died, he became heir apparent and took his seat in the House of Lords as Duke of York. In May, 1893, his engagement was announced to Princess Victoria Mary, of Teck, and they were married on July 6, 1893. Six children were born to them: Edward Albert, Albert Frederick, Victoria Alexandra, Henry William, George Edward and John Charles.

The Prince became Duke of Cornwall when his father took the throne.

The Prince is less democratic than was his father and does not have such an ardent love for sports. It has been predicted, therefore, that after his accession to the throne the court gaily, which was always a feature during Edward's reign, will be less marked.

Life Sketch of King Edward.

1841—Nov. 9, born at Buckingham Palace.

1860—Visit to the United States and Canada.

1863—March 10, marriage to Princess Alexandra, of Denmark, at Windsor.

1864—Prince Albert Victor, Duke of Clarence, heir to the crown, born; died Jan. 14, 1892.

Wales, and now King, born. 1871—Dangerously ill with typhoid fever.

1872—February 27, national thanksgiving for his recovery.

1875—Visit to India.

1896—Won the Derby with Persimmon.

1901—Jan. 22, succeeded to the British throne.

1902—June 24, operated upon for perityphilitis and thought to be dying; his coronation postponed.

1902—Aug. 9, crowned King of England and Emperor of India.

1910—Died at Buckingham Palace, May 6.

Funeral on May 20.

London, May 8.—The tomb of Edward VII. will be beneath the Albert memorial chapel at Windsor, where the body of his eldest son, the Duke of Clarence, has a sepulcher. The obsequies probably will be held on May 20. Before the funeral it has practically been decided the body of the King will lie in state in Westminster Hall, under the House of Parliament, which was last the scene of a similar ceremony when for two days and nights a constant stream of citizens filed past the coffin of the great commoner, Gladstone.

Before being taken to Westminster, the body will lie in state in the throne room at Buckingham Palace. King Edward's coffin will be fashioned of oak grown in the royal forest at Windsor. It will first be lowered to the vault beneath the chapel floor of St. James chapel, Windsor Castle. Afterward, when the permanent tomb has been prepared, it will be removed to Albert Chapel.

Queen Alexandra and King George conferred with various officers of the state and household concerning the funeral arrangements today, after holding service in the royal chapel at Buckingham Palace, which the late King always attended in residence there.

Date May Be Changed.

The date for the burial was tentatively fixed for May 20, although it may be May 18, the date on which Theodore Roosevelt is scheduled to deliver the Romanes lecture at Oxford University.

The members of the royal family, it is believed, would prefer there should be no lying in state, but it was represented to them that the wishes of the people were so strongly for this that they were willing to waive their personal inclinations.

ODD FELLOWS AND REBEKAHS

HERE IN NUMBERS TO ATTEND SEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION.

Delegates from 31 Lodges Represented at Meeting of Panhandle Association—Two Day's Session.

Plainview is in the hands of the three-linkers, in attendance upon the seventh annual convention of the Panhandle Association.

The delegates began arriving on Wednesday, and Thursday's trains added several hundred to the number.

Thirty-one lodges are represented by delegates from the counties of Northwest Texas, and many visitors are here to enjoy the two days' session.

The Rebekahs, with their beribboned delegates and drill teams, are here in numbers, and their presence and participation constitutes a pleasant feature of the program.

Grand Master A. T. Goodrich, of Houston, came in on Thursday, and Mrs. Mary C. Bennett, president of the Rebekah Assembly, is also in attendance.

On Thursday morning an open session was held in the Schick Theatre, and the house was crowded with delegates, visitors, members of the local lodge and the invited public.

Before the opening exercises, the local lodge of Rebekahs gave a drill that elicited much praise and comment on the prettiness of the executed movements and the preparation for the presentation.

At 9 o'clock Rev. Ferguson opened the session with prayer.

Mayor DeLay delivered the address of welcome in his usual happy style, and Hon. F. P. Greever and B. F. Jackson, of Miami, responded in like manner. Mrs. Mary C. Bennett responded for the Rebekahs.

Judge A. N. Henson, of Canyon, delivered an able address on the objects of the association.

The exercises were interspersed with several songs, and the Plainview orchestra gave a number of pleasing selections.

Upon request, the members of the local lodge of Rebekahs gave another drill at the close of the morning exercises.

The afternoon brought many additional delegates and visitors, and the regular session was held in the Baptist church, the program consisting of contests for medals in the delivery of the Past Grand's, Conductor's and Warden's charges.

Thursday night's session will be devoted to the Rebekahs' contest for a prize banner.

Friday's session will be devoted to the published program, and the evening's program will conclude the meeting.

At 4 o'clock Friday afternoon a general parade will be formed, consisting of a unique exhibit, exemplifying Odd Fellowship, floats, music and all the attending members of the order, including Rebekahs.

The parade, a banquet and at the Masonic building, on the southeast corner of the public square.

Plainview is pleased to entertain the members of this great order, and members of the local lodge are vying with each other in seeing that every delegate and visitor is made to feel that we are glad they are here.

Merchants and business establishments have exhibited decorations in honor of the occasion, and everywhere the white, blue and red show in welcome to the city's guests. Many homes have been opened for the entertainment of the delegates, and the social side, as well as the sessions of the order, is being enjoyed.

NEW MANAGER.

H. L. Converse, of Texoma, Okla., has succeeded B. H. Towery as local manager of the Western Union. The new manager is an old timer at the key, and knows the business from the door key to the better jar. In addition to being a fine operator, he is a most pleasant gentleman to meet.

DALTON CHOSEN ENGINEER.

E. L. Dalton, the civil and sanitary engineer who planned the Plainview water and sewer systems, was selected by the Amarillo city council last week to plan extensions, costing several thousand dollars, to the system at that place.

JUDGE POINDEXTER WINS VOTES

POINDEXTER AND PLAINVIEW.

Judge Poindexter had sufficient opportunity to become rather well acquainted with Plainview and surrounding territory on his recent speech-making trip to this section of the country. He came over from Floydada the day he spoke here, and, on the following morning, he was taken in charge by Sheriff London, Mayor DeLay and Rob't Tudor, whose guest he was while here, and they showed him the city's improvements, the surrounding farming country, and wound up an extended drive at the Campbell demonstration farm, north of the city. Judge Poindexter expressed astonishment at the rapid development of this country, and one of the party afterwards informed The Herald that the Judge had fallen into the Western spirit and would make a pretty good immigration agent for this section of the country. He went to Tullia, where he spoke on Monday, came back on his way to Lubbock, and again passed through this city going to Hereford. Plainview and Judge Poindexter got very well acquainted, and it was a case of mutual admiration.

PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED.

Lancaster & DeLay, the well-known firm doing a realty and investment business, has been dissolved by mutual consent, on account of Judge Lancaster's acceptance of the presidency of the new Third National Bank, soon to be opened. Jas. R. DeLay announces that he will continue in the business and expects to form new connections in a short time, and also expects a large volume of business to be done in the realty line in this section during the present year. Miss Belle Lyons, who has been with the firm, in the capacity of stenographer, for some time, has retired from active employment and will shortly move to California with her parents, where the family will reside in the future.

MARRIED.

On last Sunday afternoon Jack Mitchell, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mitchell, and Miss Winona McRae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McRae, were married at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. C. N. N. Ferguson officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell are exceedingly popular with their hosts of friends, who wish for them all of the joys and none of the sorrows that are common to life. The groom is in the employ of the Model Grocery Company, and has won the good will of all by his courtesy and prompt attention to business, while the bride is admired by all who have the pleasure of being with her.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

Reuben M. Ellerd will speak in the interest of his race for District Attorney as follows:

At Tullia, Saturday evening, May 21. (This will be a thirty minutes' speech, following debate between Martin and Tracy.)

At Kress, 8 o'clock Saturday night, May 21st.

At Happy, Friday at 2 o'clock p. m., May 27th.

Ellerd proposes a division of time with his opponent.

Meetings open to all candidates.

All are invited, ladies especially.

COME!

HEARD POINDEXTER.

Judge Tomlinson, of Tullia, candidate for representative from this district, was a visitor in the city on Saturday and heard Judge Poindexter's speech at night. A number of other Tullia citizens were present at the speaking, and, from the amount of applause some of them rendered, they were evidently strong in the Poindexter faith.

Dr. R. C. Andrews, of Floydada, was in the city on Saturday night, having accompanied Judge Poindexter to his appointment here.

JOHN ALLEN RECOVERING.

Friends of John Allen, who has been confined to his room for several days with a severe attack of measles, will be pleased to learn that he is much better and hopes to be out in a short time.

The Commercial Club on Tuesday night, at the Baptist church.

HIS SPEECH IN PLAINVIEW WAS MOST HEARTILY RECEIVED.

Warm Reception Greeted the Popular Candidate and a Large Crowd Hears His Address—Scores Opponents.

If Judge Poindexter's friends in Plainview were not gratified with the reception that this city gave their distinguished candidate they are a hard crowd to please.

If Judge Poindexter did not feel very much encouraged with the warmth of the greeting his friends gave him and the manner in which his speech was received by a large crowd, he is a great deal harder to please.

After speaking in Floydada during the afternoon, the distinguished candidate was brought to this city in an auto, and at 7:30 supper was served at a local cafe, with covers for eighteen, and it was a most enjoyable spread of viands, pleasant acquaintances and cheerful conversations. It was a fitting refreshment for a tired and speech-worn candidate and traveler, and, without set speeches, toasts or any formality, the hour was passed pleasantly and the edibles received due attention.

The Herald representative was late in arriving and did not secure all the names of those present, but among others were Mr. and Mrs. E. Dowden, Hons. T. D. Webb, R. M. Ellerd, Mayor Jas. R. DeLay, Dr. J. H. Wayland, W. A. Parker, Guy Jacobs, J. A. Graham, W. P. Dowden and Col. J. M. Shropshire.

At the conclusion of the banquet, the Judge was conveyed by the reception committee to the First National Bank, where an informal reception was held in the large lobby, and for an hour he was kept busy meeting friends and forming acquaintances. A number of the business men of the city called to pay their respects to the distinguished candidate, and, notwithstanding it was their busy night, the business element was well represented at the speaking.

Speaks in the Baptist Church.

Those who are looking after Judge Poindexter's political interests here were disappointed in being unable to secure the opera house for the speaking, as that building was engaged for the night by a theatrical attraction that had been heavily advertised, but the large Baptist church was secured, and, notwithstanding other entertainments in the city on this night, the crowd in attendance at the speaking was all that the building would accommodate.

About one hundred ladies were present and were attentive listeners throughout the entire address.

Introduced by Mayor.

Mayor DeLay, in introducing the speaker, made a clear, forceful talk, explanatory of present political conditions, and commending Judge Poindexter as the logical candidate, whom the people interested in the material as well as the moral welfare of the state should support.

The choir stand was occupied by a number of representative citizens. Those known to The Herald reporter were Hon. T. D. Webb, Drs. J. H. Wayland and Cannon, Rev. I. E. Gates, J. B. Maxey, L. G. Wilson and Col. J. M. Shropshire.

The speaker was not in very good voice at the beginning of his speech, and appeared somewhat travel-tired. He was in fine spirits, however, and, after explaining the effect of traveling over so much territory and making so many speeches, he launched into a eulogy of the greatness of Texas, and, especially, of the development of Northwest Texas, the spirit of whose people he greatly admired and whose progressiveness could not but lead to prosperity.

"My recent travels over Texas, my comings and goings from North Texas to the Gulf, from the Sabine to the Rio Grande, have widened my views as to the future of this greatest of all states, and my travels over this section have enlarged my vision as to the prospects for your rapid development."

The Judge paid several pointed compliments to this section, and said that he believed in encouraging capital, whether organized or not, to come in and assist in the development of the state. He decried inflammatory speeches against outside monied interests, and made a plea for more cordial relations between all classes and interests, including people living in the city and those in the country.

The first part of the address was devoted to a strong advocacy of more

For nervous, tired women, we recommend Cardui. Cardui is a woman's medicine. It acts specifically on the female organs and has a tonic, building effect on the whole system. It contains no harmful ingredients, being a pure vegetable extract. If you suffer from some form of female trouble, get Cardui at once and give it a fair trial.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. W. W. Gardner, of Paducah, Ky., tried Cardui and writes: "I think Cardui is just grand. I have been using it for eleven years. I am 48 years old and feel like a different woman, since I have been taking it. I used to suffer from bearing down pains, nervousness and sleeplessness, but now the pains are all gone and I sleep good. I highly recommend Cardui for young and old." Try it.

SATURDAY MARKET.

The Methodist ladies will have a variety of good things on sale at the Monarch Grocery on Saturday, May 7th, from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. Come to the Monarch.

RACE MATCHED.

A race has been matched between a Petrel car and a Lambert, which will be pulled off at the fair grounds in Tulla as soon as the tracks are completed, which will be in a short time. Names of drivers have not been given out yet. Watch The Tulla Standard for date. It will be an interesting event. Several other races will be pulled off at the same time.—Tulla Standard.

Amateur automobile racing is destined to be a great sport, and the South Plains country is in every way better adapted for the same than any other section of the country. It will not be in the very far future until every town of any size on the South Plains will have an auto track, and Tulla is progressive enough to take the lead. The climate, roads and immense stretches of level country makes this the ideal auto home, and, in proportion to the number of inhabitants, there are more cars owned in the two dozen counties in Northwest Texas than any other similar territory in this country. Tulla citizens will do well to take an interest in their fair grounds and auto track, for they are drawing cards. Plainview expects to try and surpass all her neighboring towns in this respect this fall, but just at present we take off our hats to Tulla.

SATURDAY MARKET.

The "Saturday Market" held last Saturday at the Monarch Grocery by the ladies of the Home Mission Society proved remunerative and successful. Nearly $24 was cleared from the bread, cakes and other home-made edibles furnished by the ladies. Tomorrow the Cemetery Association will have charge of the market.

FACTS ABOUT HALLEY'S COMET.

It is traveling through space with a velocity of forty miles a second. Its head is over 200,000 miles in diameter, and its tail, which is at its greatest length, is approximately 30,000,000 miles long.

It achieved its maximum brilliancy at perihelion, but, owing to its proximity to the sun, it did not make so fine a display in the heavens as it will later.

It will be brightest, so far as the earth is concerned, on May 20, when it may be seen in the western heavens just after sunset.

From a scientific standpoint, the appearance on May 18 will be the most interesting. In the evening of that day the earth will be whisked through the comet's tail, the earth's atmosphere warding off the deadly cyanogen gas. At that time the head will be nearest the earth, a trifle of 14,000,000 miles away. Attendant phenomena will be best observed from the islands of the Pacific ocean. The nucleus of the comet consists of a loose conglomeration of matter, like rocks, with large interstices. The density and mass of the comet's tail, in proportion to its size, is extremely small, almost too minute to be measured. The comet starts without a tail, accumulating one gradually as it approaches the sun.

The tail is not continuous, scientists believe, but it formed anew each second. The tail is curved, its curvature depending upon the relative velocity of the matter leaving the head of the comet on its course.

Conflicting theories have been advanced to explain why the tail points away from the sun, in apparent contradiction of the law of gravitation. It is assumed that some electrical force in the sun repels the tail. The best time to observe the comet in the morning sky will be from May 10 to May 16, when it will rise in the east, tail first, about an hour before sunrise.

After May 16 it draws toward the sun, and, after May 18, will be seen in the western evening sky, setting after the sun.

Halley's comet is a trifle when compared with the comet of 1811, which had a head of a million miles in diameter. It is not so large as the comet of 1882, which, with a head of 200,000 miles across, had a tail 100,000,000 miles long, with a spread at the end of 20,000,000 miles.

The course of the comet was first calculated by Edward Halley, an English astronomer and friend of Sir Isaac Newton, who was born in 1656. Halley observed it in 1682, identifying it with a similar visitant seen by Apollonius in 1531 and by Kepler in 1607. He predicted its reappearance about the end of 1758 or the beginning of 1759. It was observed on Christmas day, 1858, after Halley's death. Since then its regular appearance at intervals of three-quarters of a century have been traced back to 11 B. C. The earliest appearance known is 240 B. C. Its latest appearance was in 1835, and its next is scheduled for 1985. On its present visit it was first described on September 11, 1909.

WHITFIELD.

A fine rain visited this locality Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, which was a boon to the Plains.

Will Hefner, of Admire, Kansas, came down this week and took the household goods of Frank Whitmore back to Kansas. Mr. Whitmore got enough of the Plains in a few short weeks, although he didn't stay long enough to find out whether he would like it here or not.

Crops were never better than on the Plains now, and prospects are for a bumper yield of everything.

Henry King visited one lonely batchelor last Wednesday night and cheered him up, so the next Sunday he was seen in church with a young lady.

I. Cooper spent a couple of nights at J. A. Pullen's this week.

Revs. Gates and Smith were out in this fine country Sunday, the former having an engagement to preach at the Baptist church here at 3 o'clock that afternoon.

The young and old had a fine singing at Jas. Pullen's Sunday night. Jess Lovorn and brother, from Plainview, attended the preaching at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon.

H. L. King was in Plainview on business Tuesday. Mrs. King and Miss Irma were callers at the Lovorn home Monday evening.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Parks was found drowned Sunday. It seems as if the little one had wandered away from the house and fell into the tank, and, when found, life was extinct—the little one was cold and stiff in death. It was a sad blow to the parents. This community extends its sympathy. The funeral was held Monday afternoon.

JUST MISSED A FLOOD.

Plainview Escapes Rain on Account of Prophet's Delay.

That the farmers of this section just missed, by a hair's breadth, the injury to their crops by too much rain, they owe to a series of delays preventing the earlier arrival of the chief dispenser of wetness, Hon. J. C. Hunt, of Canyon; also, in a small measure, The Herald, ever awake to the farmers' interest, should be accorded a small mead of praise.

On Sunday morning when the editor arrived at his desk at the usual hour, some little bit after the morning sun had dimmed the brilliance of Mr. Halley's comet, he found a note in plain view, and written in the usual style and chirography of a lawyer. On consultation, The Herald force finally figured it out to read:

"Editor Herald: I came in from Floydada at 11 p. m. Did not arrive in time to have it rain for you last night, but, as I am going home on to-day's train, have ordered you one for to-night. Hope it will be satisfactory. J. C. H."

As it was some few minutes until train time, and The Herald man realized the necessity of prompt action to avert the calamity of another rain after the two days' gentle fall of last Monday and Tuesday, strenuous efforts were made to get into communication with the weather regulator and have him hold up the order for a week or so. The farmers owe us nothing for the favor. We merely did not want the continued wetness to sour the growing grain crop. Also, incidentally, we didn't care to see a weather prophet lose his reputation. The sign wasn't right.

HALE COUNTY HOGS.

Shipment from Knight Ranch Brings Top Market Price.

L. A. Knight shipped a car of hogs to the Fort Worth market last week, and they sold for $9.45, the top price of the day's market. The hogs were raised on his ranch, 18 miles northwest of this city, and were grazed on alfalfa and almost exclusively fed and prepared for market on this product, being topped off with kaffir and maize.

Hale county, alfalfa, hogs and high prices are fine combinations.

W. L. Harrington and Miss Florence went to Lubbock in their new car on Wednesday. W. L. says he could not run an auto if it were not for the assistance of Miss Florence.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Plainview Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here is proof in the statement of a nearby resident:

Mrs. W. D. M. Stevens, of Acme, five miles west of Quanah, says: "Kidney trouble in my case must have been hereditary, as I suffered from this disease as long as I can remember. My back ached a great deal, and often became very lame. The kidney secretions were also unnatural. About a year ago I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and, as they had proven of benefit in a case similar to mine, I procured a box. It has been a long time since I used this remedy, but I can say that it did me a great deal of good."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT.

We learn that Rev. G. S. Hardy has been selected as president of the new Methodist college at Plainview. We can assure the people of Plainview that this is a wise selection. Rev. ## OUR LOVING FRIENDS.

A tenderfoot enters from the effete East, accepts a job, and at once commences to insult four of the pioneers of Hale county. We have been in West Texas twelve years, but still we would not, as this neophyte has done, cast dirty slurs on any of the "old-timers" of Hale county, lived they in Plainview or Hale Center. The men who wrested Hale county from a reputation as a semi-arid cow range by toiling and enduring privations for years, while the world was laughing their confidence in the county to scorn—surely they deserve more credit than being called "hogs" even though you may differ from them in opinions.—Hale Center Live Wire.

This is about the best argument that The Live Wire has produced during the court-house controversy. First he charges The Herald editor with being an ignoramus, and now he calls us a tenderfoot, neophyte, and almost puts us bodily into an animal class, where we might claim his kinship.

"A tenderfoot from the effete East!" Black, you are developing a great humorous talent. The writer lived in Texas before your fond parents ever dreamed that your prodigious intellect would some day direct the destinies of Hale county. The Herald's editor was born in Texas, and, perhaps, personally knows as many old-time cow-men and pioneers in the State as any man of his age. Needless to say, we like them; everybody does who is acquainted with their generous dispositions, whole-souled hospitality and broad-gauge way of doing things. You possibly did not intend it that way, but your statement is likely correct, that your four citizens "wrested Hale county from a reputation as a cow range." The sheep herders always ruined the cow-man's grass.

"Twelve years in Texas!" Oh, pahaw! Back to the hills, boy—you're a new-comer.

But, why get personal? Why not fling your harpoon into the Commissioners' Court, the people of Plainview, or any one who presumed to take issue with your high and mighty megals? Perhaps there is motive in your method.

We never baited you to display such 18-karat editorial idocy, and really regretted and condoned the first in-jaws you had with yourself, but made a neophyte's part to countenance.

Coal is a prophet, philistines days that if they expect to cut any ice in the Plains country they will have to whip up.

THE FUTURE OF STOCK RAISING.

The demand for increased production of live stock is fast becoming a national problem. Carefully compiled statistics establish the surprising fact that live stock production is not keeping pace with the increase of the meat-eating population. Until something is done to change this situation there can be no well-founded hope for any considerable or permanent lowering of the cost of meat. While it may be and doubtless is true that occasionally prices may be artificially advanced or lowered by powerful interests operating in the live stock industry, and while, now and then, exceptional crop conditions affecting the production of grain fed to live stock may temporarily affect prices, no power on earth can stay the advance until supply overtakes demand. In the course of a thoughtful and comprehensive article on the "Live Stock Situation in Illinois," Mr. Herbert W. Mumford, chief of animal industry of that state, makes a strong plea for a system of agriculture in which animal husbandry shall have its proper place, and declares: "Let no one be deceived that the present high prices for foodstuffs is temporary. All that the consumer can justly demand is that foodstuffs shall be available at prices which represent a fair profit above the cost of production and distribution."

So serious has the situation become, in the opinion of Mr. Mumford, that he is urging the state authorities of Illinois to enter upon the work of establishing and exploiting a system of live stock husbandry. State aid and encouragement has made of Illinois and surrounding states great grain-producing sections. In fact, the profitableness of grain-growing is one of the causes assigned for the decreased interest in live stock. But, as Mr. Mumford so clearly points out, exclusive grain-growing without live stock production, will in time bring disaster, as under this system the soil is robbed of its fertility with no return, and the decreased demand for grain for animal feeding must result in lowering prices.

While pasturage is essential to live stock production on an economic basis, the old notion that vast areas were necessary to produce cattle profitably has been exploded. Improved breeds and improved pasture go together, and statistics from other countries prove that the number of animals of farms be decreased. Demonstration of this truth may be found in Texas to-day, for many countries in the West, from which the big ranches have disappeared, have more cattle to-day than when they were vast, unfenced ranges.—Fort Worth Record.

"MAKE ME A CHEERFUL LOSER."

It was a gambler who uttered this prayer: "Oh, Lord, I pray Thee, make me a winner. But if it can not be so, then, in mercy, make me a cheerful loser." It is a good prayer. There is philosophy in it, even if a gambler made it. All of us encounter disappointment going through life. Who is it, that has had any part in the affairs of life, but has had the experience of seeing things go any way but his way? And, if our plans, our ideas, our desires are not those of the majority, and we have to give way, isn't it wiser, isn't it better for us and our fellowmen, to accept the result cheerfully, and instead of sulking or quitting, fall into line and strive with others for the common good? "Make me a cheerful loser." A big part of the philosophy of life is embodied in the sentiment, and the man who tries to apply it practically, is not alone a wise man, but he is one who will surely be happier and a helper in promoting the common weal. For write it down as the truth that the man who wants to live unto himself, and has no concern in the well-being of the town and of his neighbors and friends, is not living to good purpose. The common good is something none of us can afford to lose sight of. When we do, our scheme of life is wrong, and we will live to realize it. The cheerful loser, in the long run, is of far more good to the community than the exultant winner.—Waco Tribune.

CITY PAPERS TOO SLOW.

The metropolitan papers in this country are making a great to-do over the fact that they were able to give the news, on Saturday morning, of King Edward's death, which occurred at 11:45 Friday night. That was not much of a rapid news stunt. They had plenty of time, owing to the six hours difference in London and New York time. The Herald is published on Friday, yet this paper gave a front-page account of the royal demise, after verifying the accuracy of the report. Plainview citizens read of the king's death 24 hours before a metropolitan paper showed up on the streets here. And all the trains were on time. Whether The Herald was or not is immaterial. Our city brethren are too slow when it comes to handling news items of such importance. If they expect to cut any ice in the Plains country they will have to whip up.

FAVORS THE FAIR.

In a recent issue of The Lockney Beacon, Uncle Joe Foster speaks kind words for the coming Hale County Fair, and says it will be a good thing for this entire section. Uncle Joe has two valid reasons for commendation: being a newspaper man, he is fully informed as to development needs, and he also has a happy example right at home. Lockney's trade days are winners. They are mutually attractive to farmers and merchants. If, for the compliment, the fair promoters don't send the entire Beacon force a season ticket, they can have ours—and we'll climb the fence.

AMARILLO'S ENTERPRISE.

Amarillo is lining up the legislative candidates in this district to express themselves in favor of a new Court of Civil Appeals, and, incidentally, that Amarillo is the logical place of location. To this The Herald has no objection, as Amarillo has started the move with commendable energy, and we need the court too bad to engage in any squabble over its location. Under present conditions, when a party in this section has a case on appeal, he issues full instructions to his youngest son as to how the suit shall be conducted after he has passed away, and then begins hustling to save enough money to pay his railroad fare. Northwest Texas will some day come into full notice for State legislative favors—it is only a matter of time—but there is pressing need for a Court of Appeals in this section, and it is ours to demand.

BRYAN ON SALOONS.

Hon. Wm. J. Bryan's position with reference to the Democratic party divorcing itself from any alliance, real or otherwise, of a sympathetic interest with open saloons, has aroused and arrayed the liquor forces against him, and they have not hesitated to hurl at him all sorts of anathemas and impugn his motives. But the great leader is seldom guilty of narrow-mindedness, and his recent utterances with reference to the saloon question is worthy of him and should be endorsed by the broad-gauge men in all walks of life, regardless of political party. He said:

"The vociferous champion of 'personal liberty' should devote a little of his time to the by-products of the saloon, instead of exhausting his voice declaiming about the 'inalienable right' to drink. It is time for the men who want to drink moderately and under reasonable conditions to separate themselves from those who find a pecuniary profit in debauching society."

THE MONTH OF MAY.

One of the things that naturally draws us toward the month of May is the fact that it is one of the first months in the year to get particular about the weather it associates with. January is frigid until it suddenly lets us down with its warm spell; February is proverbially uncertain; March irritates us beyond measure with its perennial bluster, and April cries on our shoulders. But May has a sense of dignity, lifts up its skirts, gets warm and hospitable, and really makes us believe that life, after all, is worth living.

May is an artist in her way. She does not put all the finishing touches on, but she makes splendid beginnings. She gives us a sense of warmth and color, caters to our imaginations, and supplies us with those longings which only a later season can justify.

May has so many things to commend her that to enumerate them all would fill a volume. First, she is the month in which the last of our Christmas bills are paid—also the month, as a rule, that is farthest removed from the autumn tax zone. Why is it, we wonder in passing, that taxes always fall due in the late autumn, just when we need all of our strength for New Year resolutions? May introduces us once more to out-doors, and for this favor alone she is entitled to a blue ribbon among months.

Perhaps her one drawback is the fact that too often she makes us move. The duty of getting us moved, indeed, seems to have devolved entirely upon her. It is as if she had so many other virtues that she had voluntarily taken this displeasing duty upon herself, as if to show that perfection in this fleeting world is impossible.—Thomas L. Masson, in May Lippincott's.

When Candidate Colquitt jumped on the Department of Agriculture and would abolish it to vent a personal spite at Governor Campbell and Secretary Kone, he tackled the interesting end of a hot proposition, and one that he will want to turn loose before the campaign is over. What little has been accomplished in the line of promoting and disseminating agricultural information in this greatest of all agricultural states has been worth more to Texas than the entire benefits conferred by all the shifting political demagogues of Colquitt's kind who ever tried to prejudice people into placing them in office.

Uncle Joe Cannon was 74 years old last Saturday. The good die young.

The Tullia Herald has made a change for the better; W. L. Lyles is editor-in-chief.

Cut out the kicking! It's all over, and we promise to forgive you—if you will promise not to do it any more!

An East Texas preacher says he does not believe in a "personal devil." That fellow has never been to Hale Center.

"The soil of Texas would sell for fertilizer in New Jersey," said B. F. Yoakum before the Texas Industrial Congress.

"Peace and amity" are all right in their place, but a mule will never return your affection. Why waste tenderness? Take a club.

Hale county needs boosters instead of bellyachers. Get over your grouch and let's do something for the real benefit of the Plains country.

Kate Bender, of Kansas fame, is dead again, this time in California, New Mexico, or some other place. It is now up to Jesse James to show up somewhere.

"Get off the fence!" says an exchange. The Herald would add: Yes, and, when you do, take the top rail with you and lamm the other fellow in the slats with it.

Col. Cunyus, of McKinney, has retired from the governor's race and has publicly pledged his support to Cone Johnson. If the colonel has paid his poll tax, Cone will get one vote in Collin county after all.

The Clovis Post's editorial page is filled this week with leaders, paragraphs and fillers, all breathing a spirit of optimism, love and conciliation. The Post talks like a publication that had just settled a county-seat tangle and received a majority of the votes. Good winners are always generous.

Dr. Rankin, who assumes political godfatherhood to every prohibitionist in Texas, is in Asheville, N. C., attending the general conference of the M. E. Church, South. It is said that he may be made a bishop, and, since some of his recent political capers in Texas, The Herald has no objection to his being sent out as a missionary to Africa, provided they put him among some tribe of energetic cannibals.

After ten years of waiting, Congress has at last decided to raise the sunken battleship Maine, in Havana harbor, and see if the treacherous Spaniards or American carelessness blew a hole in her bottom. If we did it ourselves, we owe Spain an apology, and it is to be hoped they will accept it—and also the return of the various possessions we took away from them. If King Ferdinand is willing to take the Sugar and Tobacco trusts, he can have Cuba right now, and we will drop the investigation.

A LIMITED OFFER.

The Herald Offers a Year's Subscription for One Dollar.

For some time The Herald has contemplated making a special drive for new subscriptions, but, for various reasons, has hesitated in reducing the price of the paper. We consider The Herald worth $1.50 per year, and our subscription list shows that a large number agrees with us in this opinion. However, consequences, together with a desire to add 500 to our list of subscribers, influences us to offer the paper one year for one dollar. We consider the offer a bargain that needs no further comment. When our number is secured the price of the paper will be as formerly, $1.50 per year. The time is limited, so send in your acceptance. The price applies to renewals as well as new subscribers.

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

The Herald wants a live correspondent in every community in Hale county. We furnish stationery and stamps and allow liberal commissions on new subscriptions. We want to make the paper of local interest to every county reader, and a few items weekly of the doings of your section would not only be a help to us, but would attract attention to your locality and might be the means of inducing helpful settlement. Continued from Page 1.)

material development of Texas. "Instead of having 13,000 miles of railroads, Texas should have 30,000, and I believe in a policy that will encourage this railroad building.

"I say this not for the railroads, but for the people who are benefited by them. I believe in a State policy that will encourage all legitimate investments in Texas and one that puts those interests in Texas out of business that do not want to obey the laws of the State.

"I believe that corporations should be placed under the criminal law and that they should not be allowed to oppress the poor, but none of us can prosper without the aid of capital, and I would not oppose them except when they oppose the law."

The speaker dwelt at some length on the need of reforms in our superior court practices, and especially the system of pleading now in vogue. He declared for radical reforms in our Courts of Appeal, both civil and criminal, and said: "The people are being devoured by civil taxes to support procedure in civil cases." The speaker's remedy for this evil was to simplify pleadings, to reduce to more simple issues and save time in determining just what points of law were involved in a case, thereby effecting a saving of time, expense and trouble.

He was especially severe in his criticism of the Court of Criminal Appeals on account of the burdensome technicalities they held to be so vital in the code of criminal procedure. Judge Poindexter's views needed judicial reforms appear to have been given his best thought and they appealed to the people as being able and worthy of serious consideration.

Those favoring a liberal system with State education was well received. Praising the A. and M. State University, the speaker said that the State support of education is a reflection of the people of proved, and declared that we owe it to the young men who are in that school, struggling to gain knowledge to better the agricultural conditions of the State, to provide suitable buildings for them to live in, and not require them to inhabit tents, as they are now doing.

Briefly touching on the business management of penitentiaries, State railroad and other State institutions, the speaker charged mismanagement and said: "Give us less peanut politics and more business ability."

His reference to care of the insane and liberal appropriations for the Confederate Home brought forth a responsive applause.

All of the speaker's talk along the lines of educational facilities bespoke liberal views. In the public schools, he wanted Southern teachers and Southern books. He was not especially anxious to pay out any too much money to educate the negroes, and said he thought the people of the South had done a splendid work for the negro already. The speaker at this point made some reference to his willingness to turn the education of the negro over to one of his opponents, the Hon. Cone Johnson, as that gentleman was solicitous for their welfare.

With this reference the speaker left the subject of material development, needed reforms and other subjects, as outlined by his published platform, and proceeded to hand out a few left-handed compliments to his three opponents, and, with one exception, the remainder of his talk was directed to their positions, as compared with his own, on the question of prohibition. The exception was when he was criticizing Attorney General Davidson for merely bringing civil action against the trusts, and taking confessed judgments in some cases. The Waters-Pierce judgment, Millers' Lumbermen's, Harvesters' and several other cases were only brought to pay a nominal fine in order that more "coon skins" could be secured to adorn the outside of the Attorney General's political picture of a cabin. His verbal castigation of Attorney General Davidson's policies was severe, but it was to Cone Johnson that the speaker devoted the larger criticism.

After stating that he was now 55 years old and had spent at least one-half of his life fighting the battles of prohibition, he said that he could not understand why a man who only claimed to be a recent convert, and who was certainly open to suspicion, could be considered the simon-pure candidate of that element.

"I was fighting the battles for local option 23 years ago," said the speaker. "Where was Cone Johnson then? He and a few other whiskey advocates were trying to read all of us who favored prohibition out of the Democratic party."

The speaker then stated his position with reference to submission and statutory prohibition, coming out squarely for the former and unequivocally against the latter.

"The constitution gave to the people the sole right of prohibition, and the legislature can only regulate, and when regulation become prohibition it is no longer constitutional. I believe that this 'statutory prohibition' fraud is about the worst thing that ever happened to this State."

After further ridiculing this "flim-flammy" that Cone Johnson is trying to make the sole issue in this campaign, Judge Poindexter read a statement of Cone Johnson's, made in The Dallas News in 1908, in which he said: "Theoretically and abstractly, I suppose I am an anti, but practically I am a pro. Having observed for twenty years the workings of the local option law, I am somewhat more tolerant of it than I have been."

"And this is the man, who, though a new convert, knows what is best and arrogates to himself leadership over men who have spent their lives in fighting for the cause."

"The proposition of 'statutory prohibition' was never heard of all through the twenty-five years of fighting against the liquor interests in this State until the gubernatorial bee buzzed in Johnson's bonnet, and it will not fool anybody. Johnson wants submission, so he says—but why? Why bother about submission if there is authority for statutory prohibition?"

"What kind of a prohibitionist is 'a theoretical and abstract anti, but a practical pro'? Some of you Johnson men answer that question"—and the speaker warmed up to the subject of Cone Johnson's political record, and did not mince words in talking about any of the candidate's positions, and at times gave vent to his feelings in unmistakable terms.

The Judge repeated the question: "What kind of a prohibitionist is 'an anti in principle and a pro in practice'? How many of you Cone Johnson prohibitionists are present? Hold up your hands!"—eleven hands were raised. "Just eleven of you!" and the speaker indulged in a short controversy with one of the audience, and finally flung at his interrupter a direct charge of being an anti-Bailey man.

The man in the audience, who was sitting near and directly in front of the speaker admitted that such was

Lard Has Been in Existence a Long Time--So Has Indigestion

Human nature is hard to solve. People who are most particular about adapting the weight of their wearing apparel to the season and its conditions, who never think of going out in a storm without an umbrella and rubbers, who would not sit in a draft, will day after day eat lard-soaked food and not realize for an instant that it is clogging their whole inner machinery. Lard is produced from hog fat, sometimes pure, always indigestible.

Cottolene is the best frying and shortening medium in the world. It is made from refined cottonseed oil. From Cottonfield to Kitchen--human hands never touch the oil from which Cottolene is made. Everything in Cottolene is digestible and conducive to health.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.

not decided on what prizes will be awarded at the auto races. Our organization is not yet perfected, but we are rapidly shaping things up and everything will be ready on schedule time.

Additional classes and premiums will be added to the list until it is complete.

The date set for the fair is Sept. 15, 16 and 17, 1910. It is proposed to hold one of the biggest and best fairs ever held in West Texas.

There will be reduced rates on railroads from all points, and big crowds will attend. In addition to the fair proper, baseball games and automobile racing will be special features each day.

This is going to be the banner year for Hale county—plenty of rain, good grain crops, good fruit crops, and a happy, contented people.

Let us show the outside world that the farmers of Hale county can produce better and bigger crops than our friends in other states.

Let's whoop her up!

VERY HIGH ENDORSEMENT.

Among those who have given endorsement to use of cotton seed flour are:

The President of the United States; Secretary of War J. M. Dickson; nearly all of the President's Cabinet; many members of Congress.

If these can eat cotton seed flour, it is time the people of the South put aside prejudices and begin its use. If it be made to take the place of meats and cheeses, its price will approximate those of meats and cheeses. Ten cents per pound is not more than twice as rich as lean beef, several times as rich as bacon, and only rich nut foods are to be compared with it.

The kernel of the cotton seed is as much a nut food as the kernel of the pecan or walnut. It is rich, and costs excessive, if value is considered. It far less. The use of cotton seed flour is an advance in intelligent eating.

Almost anything will be better than the "grease" so often supplied at the tables of the poor. Fat bacon and bacon grease are healthful only in small quantities.

It is pitiful to see the children of the poor who are forced to eat "grease" to the exclusion of more healthful foods. The better food is plentiful.—Farm and Ranch.

MOTHER'S DAY SERMON.

As Rev. Jewell Howard, pastor of the Christian Church at this place, was absent on last Sunday, he will preach his "Mother's Day" sermon on next Sunday morning, at the Southern Presbyterian church.

Those who have ever had the pleasure of hearing Rev. Howard preach will need no second invitation; those who have not are earnestly requested to come and hear him next Sunday. Mr. Howard is an interesting and able speaker, and will make the service of interest to every man, woman and child who shall attend.

AN OVERLAND TRIP.

H. D. McMasters, of Cleburne, who recently accompanied Chas. W. Pickett on a wagon trip to this city, returned on Monday to again take up his duties as city editor of the Daily Enterprise. He returns from his first outing in six years, feeling much improved in health and said that he enjoyed the trip hugely and was most favorably impressed with the Plains country, as he thought well of the West before, but did not expect to find it so full of live, progressive people.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Rev. C. E. Hastings, B. D., of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, announces the following services for Sunday, May 14:

10 a. m.—Sunday School. 11 a. m.—Preaching by Pastor—Subject: "The Palm-Tree Christian." 8 p. m.—Preaching—Subject: "Sincerity."

You are invited to worship with us. Services in the court house.

THAT KID OF SOLONS.

Solon Clements says The Herald is all sorts of a disciple of error, and we suppose he's right about it—but what does a bachelor know about babies, anyhow? Solon says its a boy, instead of a girl up at his house, and a big, fine boy at that. We correct the error with all apologies, and will try and soothe the ruffled father's feelings by saying that if the kid resembles its dad—he's a daisy.

Quite a number of Hale Center's young folks attended a social at the Benson home, ten miles southwest of town, on last Friday night, in honor of Miss Allene Perry, of Plainview, who is visiting there. An immense time is reported.—Live Wire.

HOW TO BE HAPPY

"Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone," was truthfully written by the famous author Wilcox, and have become household words.

No person can laugh and be merry, if the food he eats is indigestible; but pain and misery is the consequence. Then why not be particular in selecting the food you eat? To do this you have got to first purchase pure and wholesome groceries. That's the kind we sell and will stand behind every article that leaves our store as to purity. Buy from us and thereby be assured that you have the best.

OUR PRODUCE MARKET

is second to none in town. We pay the highest Cash price for chickens and eggs, and always have a good supply on hand for the trade. Farmers, remember, when your chickens get large enough for the market, you have a place to bring them where they will bring their money's worth. We are here to serve the people and work for a greater Plainview, and if our friends continue to stay by us as they have been, we will be able to run a store of which all Hale county should be proud. Remember our motto is: "We Make Good."

TRUSTEES HOLD FINAL MEETING

CENTRAL PLAINS COLLEGE WILL SOON PASS TO OTHER CONTROL.

State Charter Will Be Dissolved When Church Takes Charge—Dr. Gladney Recipient of D. D. Degree.

As a chartered corporation, the Central Plains College will be formally dissolved when the Methodist Church takes charge of the institution.

The Board of Trustees who will soon retire held their last formal meeting on Monday afternoon in the parlors of the Citizens National Bank and attended to such matters as came up for consideration.

They voted diplomas to two students of the college who finish the course of study at this session, and awarded both of them degrees of A. B.

A. P. Williams, of Gulf Port, Miss., and R. S. Harmon, of Plainview, received the honors.

In recognition of his ability and as a testimonial of respect and the high esteem in which he is held, the board voted the retiring president, Dr. L. L. Gladney, a degree of D. D., a fitting compliment to an able educator, who, despite difficulties, has built up a new school into a splendid institution.

At the meeting on Monday, at which the entire board, consisting of F. Faulkner, Judge Mayfield, Mr. Miller, B. E. Sebastian, S. S. Sloneker, Mayor DeLay and Jas. B. Posey, were present, a number of talks were made in review of the past work, their affiliation with affairs of the college and official association as members of the board, and considerable feeling was displayed—each of the members expressing their deep interest in the success of the college and pledging their individual aid to any movement looking to its future success.

The board did not pass resolutions necessary to dissolution as a chartered corporation on account of a few deeds yet necessary to be made, but the present meeting was considered the last one for the transaction of any other business, as the institution is considered as under the control of the Methodist Church, and will henceforth be known as Seth Ward College.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cochrane entertained on last Sunday with an elegant five-course dinner, the occasion being the thirty-sixth birthday of the host and an entire surprise to that gentleman, the event being planned by Mrs. Cochrane. Toasts were given and many good wishes offered for the long life and prosperity of the honoree. Covers were laid for M. and Mrs. E. L. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Waller, Dr. Letcher and Will Nicholson.

PETERSBURG PARAGRAPHS.

Railroad Men Visiting, Hospitality the Watchword, but Chlekens Now the Paramount Issue.

Petersburg, Texas, May 11.—There must be something in the Petersburg country especially attractive to railroad people. Do you suppose it could be productive land? Last week we had with us Messrs. Bassett, Knox and Burkman, of the Crosbyton & South Plains railroad company. They had business with the people of Petersburg, and were cordially received, and we hope to do business with them later on.

This week we have Messrs. Kennedy, Park and Thurston, of the Altus, Roswell & El Paso road. They, likewise, have been cordially received. They report the affairs of that road in excellent shape, and say that it is only a matter of a few weeks until track-laying will be begun. They are finishing up preliminary matters of rights-of-way, and will shorten the distance to Loekney by one and two-tenths miles.

Our folks are now on the lookout for the surveyors from Paducah, and a little later, for those of the Rock Island, the Texas Central, and, possibly, the Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific.

The Commercial Club here is not asleep as to these possibilities. It is going on the theory that "All things come to him who waits"—EXCEPT THAT FOR WHICH HE WAITS.

The Petersburg people always extend the glad hand to railroad people, and to other promoters of permanent prosperity, and, thank God, we have NOT in our midst a personage resembling that grouchy gal—the "furious female"—further to the northwest. Her confession reveals—but I shall not comment further. I'd rather "suffice to say"—and let it go at that.

While we pride ourselves on our hospitality to the right sort, the paramount issue in the Petersburg country at the present time is CHICKENS (though we request The Herald to keep this fact dark when Methodist preachers are around). Next year, in our evolution, it will be ALEALFA, MAIZE AND HOGS, though chickens will be kept well to the foreground—the statements of lazy persons to the contrary notwithstanding.

Owing to the fact that our horses and cows are too gentle to run away or kick, and our people too well civilized to fight, and too careful to burn out, news items are scarce.

Some women would rather join the crowd than go to heaven.

In Society's Realm

VISITED ELDERSLIE.

Last Sunday afternoon a very small part of The Herald staff, in company with, and through the courtesy of, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Brahan, visited the home of Mrs. F. N. Catto and her son, Keith Angus Catto, some eight miles southwest of the city.

"Elderslie," so named after the Scottish home of Sir William Wallace, though but recently an unbroken prairie, is rapidly developing into a beautiful country home. Acres of well-tilled land surround the house, and evidences the skill of the scientific and progressive farmer.

Upon entering the home, however, all trace of the farm disappears. Judging by the handsome and artistic furnishings, one would imagine themselves in an elegant city home, or, more wonderful still, in a far away corner of some foreign land. The rooms are filled with draperies and curios, gathered in Europe and the ancient East by Mrs. Catto and her son in their numerous trips abroad, while books galore are on every side, testifying to the cultured tastes of the inmates.

The charming hospitality of the hostess and the glamour of her surroundings caused the hours to pass so swiftly that the shades of night were falling ere we turned our faces homeward, feeling as if we had just returned from a visit to some enchanted country, and were returning again to the prosaic routine of every-day life.

One of the prettiest of the spring-time functions was that given by Mr. and Mrs. William Burton Joiner on last Tuesday evening at their home, corner of White and West First streets.

Mrs. J. O. Wyckoff presided at the punch bowl, serving the delicious beverage to the guests as they arrived.

After the five-table game of forty-two, came the crowning event of the evening, the serving of fresh strawberries, with whipped cream and angel cake, by the charming hostess, assisted by Miss Joe Keck, who has recently returned from Kidd-Key.

The berries were immense, luscious specimens, grown in their own garden—fit food for the gods, and duly appreciated by the delighted guests.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames J. F. Garrison, E. B. Hughes, J. L. Vaughn, J. M. Malone, J. O. Wyckoff, H. C. Randolph, G. C. Keck, W. E. Armstrong and Misses Rosa Fowle and Joe Keck.

The Highland Club held its usual weekly meeting last Thursday with Mrs. Clarence Wayland, at her pretty bungalow home, at the corner of Archer and West Second streets.

Four tables were in evidence, Mrs. Lloyd Mayhugh winning high score. A dainty and delightful salad course was served the members of the club and Miss Vera Newton, of Seymour, sister of the hostess.

One of the most enjoyable features of the function was the fine music furnished by Miss Newton, whose ability as a pianist is well known in Plainview.

The Herald for Job Printing.

While in Plainview, Judge Poindexter was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tudor, who, on Sunday, honored him with a dinner. Covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. L. Lee Dye, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Frye, Mrs. A. E. Poindexter, of Portland, Oregon, an aunt of Judge Poindexter, and Charles Vincent.

Mrs. R. W. Otto entertained on last Tuesday afternoon with three-table bridge whist. At the close of the game, an elegant and varied three-course luncheon was served the following guests: Mesdames R. W. Brahan, W. A. Wheelock, R. E. Burch, H. W. Harrel, L. A. Knight, R. A. McWhorter, J. D. Hanby, George Bethel, E. Dowden, Robert Meyers and Miss Alice Harrel.

Dr. J. D. Hanby returned on Wednesday from Brewster county.
