

HIGHWAY PARTY PASSES THRU CITY

ENTERTAINED BY BAND

Cars from Trinidad, Colo.; Raton and Clayton, New Mexico, and Amarillo in the Party.

Plainview entertained last night four parties of automobile enthusiasts en route from Colorado and New Mexico cities to the San Angelo meeting held to promote interest in the Colorado-to-Gulf Highway via Amarillo and Plainview to the Gulf.

The four cars, one each from Trinidad, Colorado; Raton, New Mexico; Clayton, New Mexico, and Amarillo, arrived here at nine o'clock last night and were escorted to the Ware Hotel, where the Plainview band gave them a serenade.

The party left Plainview this morning at four o'clock, accompanied by Clarendon Ions, of Amarillo, who left his car in Plainview last week that he might be able to join the party here, and E. E. Roos and B. O. Brown, representatives of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, in Mr. Roos' Buick Roadster. Mr. Brown will talk on good roads and the feasibility of the proposed highway across the South Plains at the meeting in San Angelo.

In the Trinidad, Colorado, party were E. J. Welch, managing editor of the Trinidad Advertiser; Victor M. Frear, Secretary of the Trinidad Chamber of Commerce, and C. O. Samuels, E. J. Rice and H. E. Wilby. These gentlemen left Trinidad Saturday, making the run over the scenic highway to Raton, New Mexico, where they were joined by the Raton car. In this car were E. C. Sperry, representing the Studebaker automobiles; Professor Conway, Superintendent of Raton's schools; J. H. Conway, Editor of the Raton Range, and Dr. O. T. Whitcomb.

Sunday afternoon these cars were joined by the Clayton, New Mexico, party and motored to Dalhart that night. Dalhart citizens met the party five miles out of town and escorted them to their city for supper and entertained them that night.

In the Clayton car were N. E. Charlton, Mayor; Judge O. T. Toombs, State Representative for New Mexico, and R. T. Mansker, Sheriff of Union County.

The party was enlarged at Amarillo by the addition of another car, containing Frank A. White, Vice President of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce; Tom Currie, Treasurer of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce; C. O. Wolfelin, President of the Potter County Good Roads Association; Seth B. Holman, Secretary of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, and Clarendon Ions, who drove his own car from Plainview.

Mr. Welch, of the Trinidad party, explained to a Herald reporter last night that they want the road through Trinidad, Raton and Clayton because it is one of the best roads entering the State of Colorado and because they are spending large sums of money to keep the roads in condition. Las Animas County, in which Trinidad is situated, will expend $71,000 on its roads this year—$10,000 appropriated by the commissioners of the county and $61,000 from a special tax levy for Las Animas County.

Mr. Welch says they made the trip to Plainview in good time considering the fact that they had to stop for three hours in Amarillo for repairs on the radiator of the Trinidad car. He said that the best roads they found were between Plainview and Amarillo and that they enjoyed most hearty entertainment wherever they stopped and that people along the entire route are tremendously interested in the possibility of the establishment of the highway.

ROOS AND BROWN MAKING GOOD RUN.

Late this afternoon O. M. Unger received a telegram from B. O. Brown, which announced that in company with E. E. Roos, en route to San Angelo, they had gone 180 miles in eight hours. The message stated that they had encountered heavy mud ten miles south of Lubbock, but would reach San Angelo tonight.

Brown and Roos are representatives of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce at the meeting in San Angelo to arouse interest in the Colorado-to-Gulf Highway.

PLAINVIEW METHODISTS CONTRIBUTE $2,700 TO S. M. U.

Methodists of Texas Must Complete Subscription of $500,000 by Monday Night.

Rev. J. D. Young, commissioner for Southern Methodist University, at Dallas, was in Plainview yesterday. He preached at the Methodist Church Sunday night. Plainview Methodists gave their visitor nearly $2,700 for the great school at Dallas.

The church is closing up a campaign this week for $500,000. Nearly one year ago the General Board of Education, in New York City, offered the school $200,000 on condition that the Methodists of the State would raise $500,000. Saturday this fund amounted to $475,000. The entire half million must be raised by Monday night, June 30.

Dallas gave, in money and lands, $1,300,000 to secure the establishment of the University in that city. "This was the greatest offer ever made in the history of the world by any community for the founding of a school," Mr. Young said.

Quoting a noted financier of Texas, Mr. Young said "The building of great churches is the first thing that enters into the making of great men and women. The building of great schools is the second thing that enters into the making of a great people." "Don't build extravagant churches," he said. "But the House of God ought to be the best building in the community."

Mr. Young told the people that the church is working out a system which will take care of all its schools—Seth Ward as well as the rest. "The chief assets of the church, as well as the State," he said, "are the young. The security of the nation rests upon the young."

WEED CUTTING IN PROGRESS AT LAKE PLAINVIEW.

Other Improvements Will Be Made as Soon as Grounds Dry; Lake Nearly Full.

Early Monday morning six men with scythes and a mower with a four-horse team attached waded into the new syndicate lake to cut the crop of weeds that has been so successfully nourished by the shallow water pumped into the lake. By tomorrow evening all the weeds will be cut. Portions of the lake are clear of weeds now, and the wind is causing some ripples that almost can be classed as waves.

The pump is running constantly, and since last Monday approximately 15,120,000 gallons of water has been pumped into the lake. The water in the deepest part is nearly six feet. In the course of a few hours it will be on a level with the drain pipe in the center of the lake.

As soon as the ground is sufficiently dry construction of a concrete walk from the pier pool to the railroad will be commenced.

The recent heavy rains have eroded the causeway around the lake, and this will be repaired at once.

HALE COUNTY TEACHER GROWS FANCY STOCK.

Shetland ponies, Scotch Collie dogs and pedigreed chickens are only a hobby with J. W. Wiggins, R. F. D. No. 2 out of Lockney, Texas. He teaches school. Or maybe it is school teaching which is his hobby. At any rate he is successful at both school teaching and stock raising.

Mr. Wiggins has just lost a Scotch Collie which he brought from Oregon. He values the dog at $100. He also raises Rhode Island Red, Buff Leghorns and Partridge Wyandotte chickens, Indian Runner ducks, and drives a pair of paint Shetland ponies which he says he will put against any two horses in the county for endurance.

Mr. Wiggins has a pen of Buff Leghorn chickens which won at Arlington, Texas, over the pen which took first prize at Dallas. He thinks that the South Plains should become a great chicken and general live stock breeding yard.

This year, Mr. Wiggins says, has been hard on poultry. Eggs do not seem to be fertile. He placed 3,000 eggs in his incubators and only hatched about 300 chickens.

LITTLE MERLIN WINN DROWNED IN TANK.

Boys Were Playing in Stock Tank When Lad Fell from Shoulders of Companion.

The funeral of little Merlin Winn, who was drowned Friday afternoon, was held Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, at the E. E. Winn home, in West Plainview. Dr. L. L. Gladney conducted the service. Interment was at the Plainview Cemetery.

The accident which caused the drowning occurred in a lake near the Winn home. A number of the neighbor boys were wading in the stock pond, and the little Winn child was taken into the deep water on the back of one of the larger boys. The boy fell, plunging the little fellow into water which was over his head. Merlin rose once to the surface, but the boys were unable to save him.

Alarm was made and a large number of neighbors went to the lake to aid in the search for the body. Jasper Ellerd dived in at a place pointed out by the boys as the possible location of the body and brought the remains to the surface. Dr. A. H. Lindsay had been called, but life was extinct before the body could be recovered.

Floyd County Grand Jury Has Been Ordered to Convene Next Monday.

Horace Peters, who was arrested as an accomplice in the alleged killing of J. M. Muncey by his wife, Mrs. Birdie Muncey, at Lockney, on May 24, was brought to Plainview yesterday, and, by agreement, was placed under bond of $5,000 by Judge Kinder. Three of the men who wished to go on his bond came with the party from Floydada, but in the absence of the other two prospective bondsmen Sheriff [unclear] of Floydada, took the prisoner back to the Floyd County jail. He was released at Floydada yesterday, the five bondsmen having signed the bond.

Mrs. Muncey is yet confined in the jail at Plainview. The court has ordered the Grand Jury of Floyd County to convene next Monday to consider the matter of an indictment, according to Hon. L. C. Penry, and on account of this fact they will not hold habeas corpus proceedings on the 26th, as had been intended.

NO HIDDEN VALUES

SO-CALLED VALUE when hidden is doubtful. The value is visible if it is there. Otherwise it isn't there. Don't buy an uncertainty.

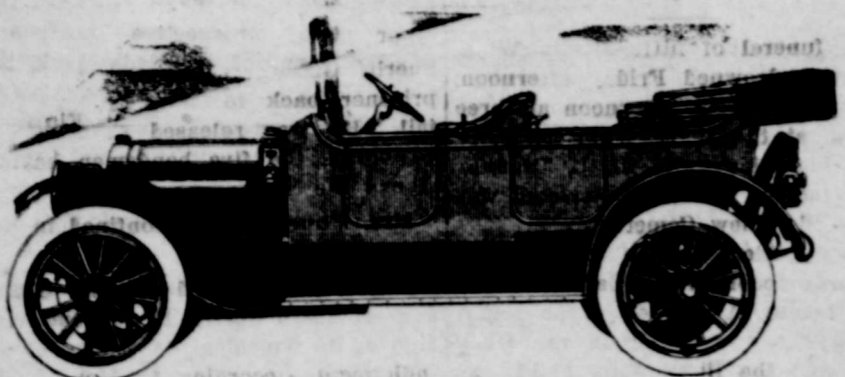

IN THE APPERSON you plainly see the value. We use the 2-inch crank shaft, whereas most others will not exceed 1 1/2 inches. This shaft runs on 5 bearings. In only three other cars has the crank shaft more than 3. The APPERSON axle shaft measures 1 3/4 inches; only a few exceed 1 inch.

LIGHT WEIGHT

THE APPERSON is the lightest weight car for the developed horse power. We use expensive materials, whose strength is in quality rather than in bulk. The crank case is made of 36c aluminum, against others' 6c malleable. The axle shafts are made of chrome nickel steel, and the cam shafts are from high-grade drilled rod stock.

THESE values are not hidden—they are too essential. Where are the hidden values in cars that can not compare favorably with these features? Can you tell? We don't even hide our desire that you buy an Jacksonville.—From ten to fifteen carloads of tomatoes are being shipped from this point daily. Recently the demand has been brisk, and the slight advance in the market, with prospects of better prices during the remainder of the season, has caused the shipments to grow heavier daily.

Says Dodson's Liver Tonic is the Best Remedy for Constipation and Shivering Liver He Has Ever Sold.

Every person who has tried Dodson's Liver Tonic and knows how surely and gently it starts the liver to working and relieves biliousness will bear out the R. A. Long Drug Company drug store in this statement about Dodson's Liver Tonic:

"It is a purely vegetable liquid that entirely takes the place of calomel, harmless and pleasant to the taste, that has proven itself the most satisfactory remedy for the slow-working liver that most of our customers have ever tried. A large bottle sells for fifty cents, and we do not hesitate to give the money back to any person who tries a bottle on the strength of this statement and is not satisfied with the result."

In these days of doubtful medicines and dangerous drugs, a statement like the above is a pleasant assurance that Dodson's Liver Tonic is a reliable remedy for both children and grown-ups. In buying a bottle for immediate or future use it is well to make sure you are getting the genuine Dodson's Liver Tonic and not some spurious imitation that has copied our claims, but do not stand back of their guarantee. BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking will not cure children of wetting the bed, because it is not a habit, but a dangerous disease. The C. H. KAFFIR AND MILO YIELD WHERE OTHER CROPS FAIL.

As Substitute for Corn, Either Is Excellent, Says F. D. Coburn in Valley Farmer.

While Kaffir or milo have their greatest value in regions where other corn is uncertain or out of the question, even in the rain-belt either crop gives insurance against failure in other crops in seasons of delayed or limited rainfall.

As a dry-weather-resistant, Kaffir is premier in sections where rainfall is light. Its peculiarity of suspending growth for perhaps a month on account of dry weather that would injure other plants beyond recovery, and then, when the rains come, continuing to grow almost as if there had been no interruption, makes it of unusual importance in regions and seasons of scant moisture. When conditions are especially favorable yields will be extra heavy, and, besides, it affords a wholesome change in the dietary of the live stock.

The most extensive cultivation of Kaffir, and milo, its next kin, should everywhere be encouraged. Where Indian corn cannot be grown reliably, Kaffir is an excellent substitute, and pound for pound the values of the grains of the two in the feeding ration are, according to experience, not widely apart. Of course, where it is already a chief grain crop, its importance need not be urged.

Grain sorghums were only introduced in the United States 30-odd years ago. The introduction of Kaffir in this country was brought about through the efforts of the United States Department of Agriculture at a cost said not to exceed $5,000, and now the value of the crop in Kansas alone, in 1911, was more than fourteen million dollars. Although Kaffir was introduced in the early nineties, it is only in the last seven years or so that milo, or "milo maize," has begun to approximate its rightful position in popular esteem. Milo is a plant particularly adapted to regions of high altitudes, short seasons and comparatively low rainfall. Being small, its water requirements are not heavy; early maturity gives it the benefit of the season of most rainfall, records showing that the months of greatest precipitation are April, May, June and July, and its yields of grain, approximating in value, pound for pound, that of Indian corn, are of large importance.

Larger Food Values.

At the Kansas Agricultural College when a field of Indian corn yielded but 19 bushels per acre, the Kaffir in an adjoining field gave upwards of 37 bushels of threshed grain per acre. On the college farm, which is upland, the average yield of grain per acre was of Kaffir corn 46 bushels and of Indian corn 34.5 bushels. In one of these years (1894) the crop of both was a total failure. In one year the yield of Kaffir was 98 bushels and of corn 74 bushels per acre. In a year when Kaffir yielded 71 bushels the yield of milo was 57 bushels. Some say milo requires a longer season than Kaffir, and in two years out of three on the college farm the crop of the former was cut off by frost, yet other authorities, equally competent to speak, make statements directly the opposite of this. Investigations indicate that in the plains country milo will average twice as much grain per acre as corn, in a series of years; that it will yield, say, 15 bushels where corn would be a failure, and in favorable seasons produce more grain, with a greater feeding value. It is estimated by scientists that 100 pounds of milo (seed) is equivalent to 90 pounds of shelled corn in rations for live stock.

There are three varieties of milo, the Standard, Dwarf and White, and for grain the Dwarf is preferred, for it has advantages not possessed by the taller strains. It not only requires less water, but can be harvested with a grain header, and the best authorities agree that it will "outyield the standard milos even in favorable seasons."

Milo is planted three to four weeks later than Indian corn, and best results are had from dropping single seeds at intervals of 7 or 8 inches, in rows 3 1/2 feet apart. Planter plates suitable for Kaffir are not adapted to milo, for the reason that the seeds of the latter are larger and more nearly spherical. If proper plates are not available ready-made, blank ones can be drilled to suit. The fact that the Dwarf milo can be harvested with the header is greatly in its favor. By a strict system of seed selection little trouble need be expected from the pendant, or "gooseneck," a characteristic which has been pretty well bred out of the milo where it is grown extensively. As the seed ripens later than the stalks the leaves become dry and brittle and break off, lessening its forage, which, however, is quite valuable.

Soil Should Be Warm.

The climatic limits for Indian corn and Kaffir are not materially different, although the latter requires a slightly warmer atmosphere for its best development. Kaffir, however, permits much the widest latitude as to soils. Nourishing its roots as it does chiefly from the surface soil, and its rank-growing character make it better adapted than most other plants to uplands and soils of limited fertility. It is rather a weak germinator. Its first shoots are very delicate and tender, as the seeds are small and do not contain much stored food for plant growth; hence, it should not be planted until the soil is well warmed. Properly, and as a general rule, this should follow corn planting. Listing, but not so deep as for corn, is common in the regions of scant rainfall, which helps to resist dryness, enables better root-hold, requires less work, and the plants are more easily cultivated. The slow, weak growth of the plant at first, however, makes drilling desirable wherever practicable, as it needs all the warmth obtainable, and the drilled surface gives this to a greater degree than is had on the land left in ridges and hollows by the lister. Drilling in rows from 30 to 36 inches apart, with seeds 4 to 8 inches apart in the row, requires from 10 to 12 pounds per acre. An ordinary grain drill is made suitable by stopping all the holes except those which will give rows the proper distance apart and setting it to sow the desired quantity. Planting with the lister, as is done in the drier territory, does not require so much seed, 6 to 7 pounds being sufficient, in rows 3 to 3 1/2 feet apart.

It should be carefully cultivated, but after the plants reach any considerable size the workings should be shallow, in order not to disturb or injure the roots near the surface. Proper preparation of the seed bed, which implies fall plowing wherever expedient, and thorough cultivation, count for as much with this crop as with any other.

Harvesting for forage and grain is probably best done as the seeds reach or pass the hard dough stage. The corn binder thus far is most popular for this, as it leaves bundles in convenient size for handling, and these are put in shocks to cure. If seed is to be saved separately the heads are cut off and threshed with the common grain separator. If to be fed on the fodder, an inexpensive method of harvesting is with the ordinary corn-cutting sled. In the drier sections it does not grow tall and often is cut with a grain header.

Where sown for hay the seeding should be at the rate of about 1 1/2 bushels per acre on land prepared as for corn. It is mowed when the heads are in the early dough stage, and when cured is put in large cocks of 500 to 1,000 pounds, and generally is left there until used. The grain of Kaffir stored in bulk is liable to heat. To guard against this, many leave the Kaffir unthreshed until the grain is needed. F. D. COBURN.

BOY SCOUTS WILL RUN 500 MILES IN FOUR DAYS.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—In preparation for a boy scout relay race from the National Capital to Chicago, Dr. J. H. Farrell, chairman of the relay committee of the Pro-Olympic games to be held in Chicago June 28, is here and will confer today with leaders of the local branch of the Boy Scouts over the selection of the squad that will start the long race.

It is expected that no fewer than fifteen hundred boys will take part in the run of eight hundred miles, and the distance, according to the pre-arranged schedule, will be covered in something under four days. The last runner is expected to arrive in Chicago at the grounds where the games are to be held in time for the opening session.

E. S. Martin, local scout master, announced that he had a specially picked squad of fifty boys who will inaugurate the long dash. They will carry a message from President Wilson to Mayor Harrison as far as Rockville, Md., where it will be turned over to another squad. The route then runs through Frederick, Fairmont, Gettysburg, Chambersburg, Everett, Bedford, Greensburg and Pittsburgh, thence to Chicago by way of Cleveland. No longer distance than a mile will be run by any one boy.

A BUILDING FOR TEXAS! A Texas building at the Panama-Pacific Fair to be held at San Francisco in 1915 is the avowed purpose of patriotic women living in California, but who migrated westward from Texas.

This exposition will mark the consummation of the greatest engineering feat of the age—the cutting of a canal between North and South America and the uniting of two oceans. This shorter water route from Atlantic ports to the Pacific will revolutionize trade routes of the world.

Texas has a large interest in the Panama Canal, and should have fitting place at the San Francisco Exposition. We have the longest coast line of any American Commonwealth. Our ports are just away from South Central America; our advantages in a commercial way should be greater than those of any other State in the Union. Patriotic self interest urges that Texas should have a building for the exhibition of the wealth abiding in her imperial borders.

Texas has never lagged behind. The men and women of Texas will see that their State is adequately represented in 1915. But it is time to begin now.

EXAMINATION FOR LAMB COUNTY POST OFFICE.

The Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Postmaster at Olton, to be held in Plainview Saturday, July 12. This office paid $306 last year. The rules prescribe that applicants must be 21 years old, except that women over 18 years of age, in Texas, are eligible. Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the Olton office. Application form and full information may be secured from the postmaster at Olton and the "local secretary at Plainview." These applications must be executed in proper manner and filed with the Commissioner at Washington at least 7 days before date set for this examination.

IS SECOND LARGEST SUNDAY SCHOOL IN WEST.

Methodist Church Has Had 325 Reclamations and Conversions Since Coming of Brother Barnes.

Nine persons joined the Methodist Church Sunday at 11 o'clock. "This makes an even hundred since our revival services began, three weeks ago," said Rev. S. A. Barnes, pastor. "And this makes 160 since December 1, 1912. We have now 866 members. We have baptized six infants, and have had, including our College meeting in the spring, 325 conversions and reclamations."

Brother Barnes says this is the largest membership, with one exception, in the Northwest Texas Conference. Polk Street Church in Amarillo has 23 more members.

The Methodist Sunday School has nearly 500 in attendance, and Rev. Barnes says that it is, with perhaps one exception, the largest Sunday School in the entire West. The Baraca class of young men has a membership of 66.

PLAINVIEW FLORAL COMPANY IMPROVES.

The Plainview Floral Company are making plans for increasing their equipment. Mr. Jeffries says that the business of the firm has far exceeded their expectations. The block of land between the greenhouse and the depot cafe has been planted in roses, geraniums, and other hardy flowers. Garden vegetables of various kinds now grow where formerly there was nothing but thistles and weeds. Along the walk there are canna lilies.

The floral company have planted trees along quite a section of the walk and plan to plant more, until all the block occupied by them is provided with shade trees. One of the best trees for this section is the black locust. It provides a luxuriant shade and the leaves are small, being hardly noticeable when they have fallen to the ground.

Mr. Jeffries is anxious to interest the property owners to plant trees inside the curb on both sides of the street from the depot to the business section. Good shade trees will be in thorough keeping with the cement sidewalks being constructed.

CAN SAVE MONEY AND TIME.

Runningwater Boys Would Like to Take Care of Local Baseball Aspirations.

"We noticed in the paper that the Elks wanted to make a round to Angelo and other points for baseball games. We say, to save you time and money," reads a communication from the Runningwater Baseball Boys, "come to Runningwater, and then you won't want to go nowhere else. We have played everybody that would play us, and haven't lost a game. Come out, one and all."

The Herald has not yet gotten an answer from the manager of the Elks' team, as to whether or not they will meet the boys of Runningwater.

CALVARY LADIES ENTERTAINED.

Calvary Baptist Ladies' Aid is indebted to Mrs. F. M. Meyers for a delightful afternoon yesterday. A large number of the members were present in an enthusiastic study of medical missions as propagated by the Baptist denomination.

Mrs. C. L. Barnes was leader for the afternoon. Mrs. D. M. Hodges read a letter from "Mother" Jones, who is now in California. This letter was peculiarly interesting to this organization, since "Mother" Jones was so long one of their number.

Mrs. Meyers served delicious cream and cake of her own making.

CROSBYTON MAY PLAY LOCAL ELKS FRIDAY.

The local Elks baseball team played a game with Crosbyton last week, in which the score was 9 to 6 in favor of the Crosbyton team. The game was finished about 7 o'clock, and an informal banquet was tendered the visitors. Joe Ryan says he could not say too much about the royal entertainment accorded them.

The local team was hampered by the absence of members of the pitching staff. The line-up for the Friday game, if played, will probably be slightly changed from that of the game of last week.

The "Self-Interest League" of America

The most natural, the most human, if not the most altruistic, bond is that of self-interest.

There are thousands of associations, leagues and societies all over the country that bears witness to the uniting force of a common, personal cause.

The biggest society in the country is one that has no president, no by-laws, nor, in fact, any specified organization. Yet practically every man and woman belongs to it.

It is the Society of Newspaper Readers. Their only bond is that of self-interest.

All men and women know that in order to be able to hold their own with their neighbors they must learn what the newspapers have to tell them, not to general events of the day, but also in regard to the specific activities of the locality in which they live.

The advertisements in the reliable newspapers are no less important and are apt to be of more lasting value in this matter of self-interest.

Being a member of the league means that you are up-and-doing, progressive and alive to your own welfare.

JAMES WANTS FREE CATTLE AND MEAT.

Does Not Oppose Countervailing Duties on Wheat and Flour; on Cattle and Wheat, Yes.

When the majority members of the finance committee resumed consideration of the proposed countervailing duties on agricultural products in Washington Tuesday, Senator James emphatically declared the public entitled to unrestricted free cattle and meat, according to Associated Press reports. He did not oppose the action of Democrats in free listing wheat and flour with countervailing duty, but opposed similar duty on cattle and meat so strenuously that final action was deferred. The majority members in session late tonight practically completed the sundries schedule.

The committee will try to conclude the income tax and administrative features of the bill by Thursday night, and it is probable a caucus will be called Friday, but problems of the administrative section may delay till Monday. Chairman Simmons is planning to get the bill to the Senate a week from Monday.

A REPORTER'S DUTY FIEST.

Fatally Injured in New Haven Wreck, Gregory Humes Notified His Paper.

Stamford, Conn., June 13.—The death list resulting from the rear-end collision between the two divisions of the Boston-New York passenger train on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad was increased to six early today, when Gregory T. Humes, 34 years old, a reporter for the New York World, died at the Stamford Hospital.

Humes was found to be fatally injured when he was dragged from the wreckage. He gave orders that his paper should be called immediately and informed of the wreck. Then Humes collapsed.

In addition to the inquest, which was scheduled for today, prosecuting Attorney G. A. Carter said that he would make a thorough investigation as to the cause of the wreck. Of the twenty injured, several are in a serious condition.

Charles Dougherty, engineer, who is charged, disregarded signals, was still missing early today. Attorney Carter said that his first efforts would be directed toward getting hold of the engineer and fireman.

The wreck was one of the most spectacular in the history of New England. Dougherty's engine plowed its way almost completely through the rear, wood-constructed Pullman of the first section of the train. The sides of the Pullman spread apart and the engine was completely incased in the wooden car clear back to the cab of the engine.—Kansas City Star.

TEXAS FARMS GET SMALLER.

A Tendency Toward More Intensive Cultivation Shown in 1900-1910.

As shown by the recent bulletin issued from the census bureau of the United States, the tendency toward more intensive farming throughout Texas is marked, and the increase in farm values has been astonishing.

From 1900 to 1910 the total farm lands of the State decreased from 125 million acres to 112 million, but this decrease was in reality of great benefit to the State. It resulted largely from the fact that many great tracts in the western part of the State, which had been used for grazing purposes and classed as farms by the census bureau, were bought up by speculators and put on the market in small acreage lots.

This decrease was more than offset by the increase of improved land, which rose from 19 million acres in 1900 to 27 million in 1910.

During the same decade the number of farms increased from 350,000 to 417,000, and the average size of farms decreased from 357 acres to 269 acres. This shows a marked tendency toward smaller and better equipped farms. In 1900 the average farm of 357 acres was valued at $2,700, while in 1910 the average farm of 269 acres was valued at $5,300.—Houston Chronicle.

ALVIN SHIPS $93,000 WORTH OF STRAWBERRIES.

The Alvin Fruit and Truck Growers' Association and other produce firms report that $147,003.98 worth of products were shipped from the Alvin country during the first five months of 1913.

The sources of increased wealth are strawberries, cream and milk, Cape Jasmynes and eggs. There have been 40,000 crates of strawberries, or about 94 carloads, shipped, which have netted the planters something over $93,000.

The shipments of cream and milk from January 1 to May 31 amounted to $35,733.18. During the same period there were shipped 1,408 crates, or 49,920 dozens, of eggs, which sold for $9,984.

Four thousand one hundred and thirty-five crates of Cape Jasmynes, 250 buds to the crate, have been shipped, bringing the snug sum of $8,286.80.

FARMERS WILL ASK STATE AID.

The Farmers' Union of Texas is going to ask the Texas Legislature at the special session to appropriate $25,000 a year to be expended under the direction of the State Department of Agriculture in promoting marketing and rural credits, according to Peter Radford, president of the Farmers' Union, says a Fort Worth correspondent.

"It is as properly a function of government to study and disseminate information and to put into execution plans for the sale of products as it is to 'teach production,'" declared President Radford in a recent interview. "Certainly it is poor statesmanship to follow the crop to the harvest field and there let it rot for want of a market."

Mr. Radford said the Farmers' Union stands ready to co-operate with the State Government in developing a warehouse system and facilities for the systematic marketing of all products on a more intelligent and business-like basis.

An increased attendance is expected at the school during the Farmers' Short Course, the Farmers' Congress and the Farmers' Institute, July 21 to August 1.

TO MAKE GOVERNMENT FORESTS PAY.

Secretary Houston Believes National Forests May Be Made Self-Sustaining.

That the national forests should be self-supporting is the belief of David F. Houston, Secretary of Agriculture. At present, the Nation's 200-million-acre timber reserve receives an appropriation of five million dollars annually and returns one-half of that amount in revenue, says the Kansas City Star.

In Germany the national forests yield a surplus to the government.

Secretary Houston will go this summer to the North Pacific Coast, chiefly to inspect the government forests of Oregon, Washington and Montana, and he may extend the visit to Alaska.

"If I do," he added, "I shall try to acquaint myself with the Alaskan brown bear. It is a curious fact that the Department of Agriculture has jurisdiction over brown bears in Alaska, while another department, that of Commerce, I believe, has jurisdiction over all other bears in Alaska.

"That is one of the oddities which occur in the division of various matters between the government departments. The Department of Agriculture has a bison range in Montana, but the buffaloes in Alaska—and I am told there are buffaloes in Alaska—are under the Interior Department. We have an ostrich farm and an elk range. I am not informed as to whether any other department has either of these interesting features."

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT BEGINS FIGHT ON CHOLERA.

Loss of Hogs During Last Year Amounted to Sixty Million Dollars.

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Convinced in the face of the increased cost of living that something must be done to save the hog as a food animal, experts of the Department of Agriculture announced today that they would begin a campaign July 1 to eradicate hog cholera. On that date the $75,000 appropriated by the last Congress for the work will become available.

The losses in hogs which succumbed to cholera last year were 60 million dollars, according to the department's figures. This is so obviously an unnecessary waste, in the experts' opinion, that they propose to go into the work with the end in view of stamping out the disease altogether. Previously the department conducted experiments by which it developed a serum that was a specific in cholera epidemics, but now it proposes to go to the root of the trouble and eliminate the cause.

"Because of the short supply and high prices of meats," says the department in its statement today, "it is becoming imperative that something should be done to check the ravages of the disease."

The first experiments will be made in Dallas County, Iowa, later in Indiana and possibly in one or two other states.

FARMED HIS WAY IN COLLEGE.

From His Own Experience an Oregon Boy Showed Middlemen's Profits.

Eugene, Ore.—In an exhaustive thesis, in which is presented a great array of facts and figures, Andrew Collier, a senior in the State University, gives conclusions concerning the middleman that are of interest to the producer and the consumer alike. He shows that the statement is true that of the 13 million dollars annually spent in this country for agricultural products more than half goes to the middleman. And in proof he offers the results of his investigations that have been confined to three articles of common consumption—pumpkins, prunes and watermelons.

An interesting fact is that in the preparation of his thesis Collier has drawn upon his own experience as an up-to-date farmer. He has put himself through college by the profits from his farm, which he has operated along scientific lines.

His father turned over a 50-acre tract two miles west of Eugene to him five years ago, with the understanding that the son was to run the place and get the proceeds. The farm is worth $15,000, being partly in prunes, apples and peaches. There are fifteen acres of hay and six acres given to potatoes, pumpkins, melons and other products. Six horses are used about the place, while young Collier hires such help as he needs during the busy seasons. During the college year he takes a number of fellow students to the farm with him on Saturdays, pays them regular wages for their work and sets the pace for them.

From the outset the farm has returned him a profit, and he has been able to earn a college education and build up a bank account in addition.

Collier has also been active in campus affairs. Last year he successfully managed the college year book, and this year is business manager of the university paper, the Oregon Emerald.—Wyoming Stockman-Farmer.

SPRAYING SAVED THE APPLES.

Kansas Orchards Uncared for Have Been Stripped by Webworms.

Cottonwood Falls, Kans., June 23.—According to Chase County fruit growers, a lighter crop of fruit will be raised here this year than was secured last season. Peaches will be unusually scarce all over this section of the State, it is said, while prospects for apples are good in some vicinities, but on account of webworms and other harmful insects the yield will be materially cut down in other localities.

Along the Cottonwood Valley in the western part of this county dozens of apple orchards are said to have been almost stripped of fruit and foliage this spring by webworms. Only where farmers have carefully followed up the work of spraying their trees are good yields generally to be found, and probably never before has the value of spraying been so strongly demonstrated as is the case this season.—Kansas City Star.
