PRICE FIVE CENTS

COUNCIL OFFERS CHEAP WATER UNTIL JANUARY

If Rate of Fifteen Cents for Excess Is Profitable it Will Be Continued

MUST PAY RENT PROMPTLY

Aldermen Anxious that Plainview Shall Show What Cheap Water Means for Country

"We sincerely hope that everybody will use more water at the reduced rate. If they do, the rate will continue, if not, we will have to go back to the old rate after January 1." was the way City Secretary B. L. Spencer put the situation this morning.

At a special meeting of the Council Tuesday it was voted to make the rate 15c a thousand gallons for the first 10,000 gallons and 10c a thousand gallons for water in excess of this amount. Minimum charge is $1.00 for 3,000 gallons a month.

"However, to get benefit of these rates, a person must pay what he owes the department and payment for water must be made not later than the 10th of October, January, April and July, for each quarter," Mr. Spencer said to-day. If payment is not made promptly charge will be 25c a thousand, as at present.

This reduced rate is effective until January 1, 1915. If the department proves to be self sustaining, the rate will be continued. Residents believe that the reduction is a step in the right direction. It costs the city $5 a thousand gallons to pump the water. A fair profit is realized at 10 a thousand, provided sufficient quantity is used to pay for "fixed charges."

It is believed that at 10c a thousand gallons individuals could afford to close down their windmills. The rate is much lower than other municipalities charge.

However, water is Plainview's boast. The Town Council and citizens are alike anxious to have our laws show what water will do. It is too expensive at 25c a thousand gallons to use freely. If everybody will use city water, the charge of 10c a thousand can be maintained.

It is up to Plainview.

GASOLINE IGNITES WHEN MOTORIST LIGHTS "PILL"

Merry Call from Exge's Garage When E. J. Guttredge's Motor-cycle Burns.

There was considerable excitement Tuesday night when a fire alarm was turned in from Exge-Corlett's garage, on North Pacific Street. The department found a burning motorcycle in front of the garage. It was quickly extinguished.

J. E. Guttredge had just gotten the machine from Paul Barker. He was filling it and threw a lighted match over the gasoline line. Immediately the machine was enveloped. All the gasoline in the motorcycle burned and damaged the mechanism.

Mr. Guttredge was found inside of the garage in an apparent faint. Mr. Lindsay worked with him for half an hour, and he was able to walk to a hotel. It is thought that he inhaled some of the fumes. He was employed by the Texas Land and Development Company.

DERAILED FREIGHT DELAYS PASSENGER NEAR LUBBOCK

Heavy Rain Makes Soft Track; inch and Thirteen Hundred Precipitation at Plainview

Northbound Santa Fe train came in nearly 4 hours late yesterday. It was held up at Lubbock by derailment of a Santa Fe freight train near Lubbock stock yards.

Heavy rainfall had made the track oozy, and six cars went in the ditch. Nobody was hurt.

Yesterday's rain brought the total for Plainview up to 1.13 inches during the first five days in August. Sunday night .31 of an inch fell; yesterday morning .82 of an inch. The records show more than 5 inches of rain in May; 1.27 during June; 2.97 in July.

Rain yesterday morning seems to have been in showers; but the showers came so numerous that every section seems to have been covered. It rained at Tulla, Canyon, Lockney, Hale Center, Otton and Lubbock.

The wind blew over a few small trees and demolished an old barn in the south part of town.

FAIR COMMITTEES FIND EVERYBODY ENTHUSIASTIC

Arrangements are Made for Grounds South of Square and Money is Being Pledged

"You'll have to hurry if you want a part in the County Fair," was the way C. E. White put it this morning. Mr. White's committee had more than $800 pledged late to-day. They want $1,000. Persons can either make contribution or "take stock" and become one of the stockholders; that is up to the individual. Mr. White says the money will be subscribed within a day or two.

M. D. Henderson said this morning that his committee has made arrangements for the ground just south of the Public Square. Clint Shepard's big barn will be used for live stock. This is the largest barn west of Fort Worth.

Mr. Henderson has not heard from Sam L. Seay about his building. It is hoped that the Fair Association may secure that for general exhibits. All of the stores in the Wayland Building have been rented. Other arrangements will have to be made for the baby show and woman's department. That will be handled without difficulty.

Hale County is unitedly enthusiastic over its Fair. That is one proposition on which everybody seems to be working.

Alfalfa The King Forage Crop

Some of the Essential Requirements in Obtaining a Stand of this Excellent Legume, and How Success With It May Most Easily Be Obtained.

Alfalfa is the premier forage crop of the Nation. It has come into prominence more rapidly than any other crop and is being planted over a greater acreage each year than is any crop grown exclusively for hay. Although introduced into the United States very early in the Nineteenth Century, its popularity has come during the past decade, and another ten years will find it being grown in every agricultural county in the United States.

Its first entrance into this country was probably in New York State, where it failed to thrive. It was not then heard of again until some time between 1851 and 1854, when it came into prominence in California. In that State conditions seemed to be better adapted to the needs of alfalfa, and it rapidly climbed to its enviable position as king of forage crops. Later years saw it gradually pass eastward through the irrigated section of the West and as far as the Missouri River. Its further advance was then slower, as its needs in the way of soil and climate were not understood, and farmers who attempted to grow it made more or less of a failure of their attempts.

However, success comes to those who think success, and since there were some definite reasons why alfalfa would not thrive as vigorously in the humid sections as it did farther westward, experimenters began to investigate its needs, to find out the cultural requirements that would make alfalfa a success in every state. How well they succeeded is plainly shown in the splendid alfalfa fields which now dot the fields from Maine to Florida.

Lime and inoculation are the essential needs of most of the Eastern States for the development of alfalfa. Lime is needed to neutralize the sourness of most of the Eastern soils; and inoculation is necessary in order to supply the nitrogen-gathering bacteria which are of such vital importance to every legume. The discovery of these two greatest needs has brought about the dissemination of tons upon tons of printed matter setting forth the cultural requirements of alfalfa, and of extensive campaigns through farmers' institutes.

But it may be asked, why all this fuss over a forage crop? Why make such a fuss about hay? What is there about alfalfa that makes it so valuable?

The reasons are many. There is no other forage crop, when once established, which will give so large and constant returns with so little labor. No forage crop, not even clover, is so valuable a feed for every kind of live stock. It produces a greater yield of hay, and over a longer period of years, than any other crop. As a deep feeder and soil renovator, alfalfa has no equal; and it adds nitrogen to the soil in as liberal quantities as any other legume. These are only a few of the reasons for the popularity of alfalfa, but they are sufficient to indicate the importance of the crop.

Although established with comparative ease in almost any section of the West, there are certain precautions which must be observed in the Eastern and humid states before alfalfa will "catch." The first of these is perhaps that of determining whether or not the soil is acid. Alfalfa will not grow in a sour soil. To determine if the soil is acid, press a handful of the soil around a little strip of blue litmus paper—a special kind of paper which any druggist can supply—and allow it to remain for an hour or so. If the blue litmus paper turns pink, the soil is acid; if the paper remains blue, the soil contains no acid.

Acid soils must be made neutral or slightly alkaline with lime. Either air-slaked lime or finely-ground limestone answers the purpose equally well, and is applied in quantities varying from 500 to 2,500 pounds to an acre.

Alfalfa will not grow in a soil in which it has not grown or in which its near relative, sweet clover, has not grown, or unless the soil has been inoculated. This is for the reason that the little germs or bacteria which produce the knots or nodules on the roots of the alfalfa must be present in the soil before the crop will thrive. These nodules are important in the development and thriftiness of the crop, and it is through them that nitrogen is added to the soil. The inoculation of the soil with these germs may be done by spreading a little soil from an old alfalfa or sweet clover field at the time the alfalfa seed is planted, or by inoculating the seed with a commercial culture of the organisms before it is sown.

Well-drained soil of average fertility, or better than average fertility, prepared with more than the ordinary care, is also necessary for success with alfalfa. As one correspondent expresses it: "I have found that the only sure way of getting a stand of alfalfa is to start with a sort of 'before taking' treatment, beginning two or three years before I plan on sowing the alfalfa seed. By doing this I am able to get the field entirely free from grass, and grass is much worse for the alfalfa than weeds."

A firm seed bed is necessary for alfalfa. It must be firm within an inch or two of the surface, in order that the capillary moisture of the lower soil may be brought close to the germinating seed, and the seed must be sown at such a depth as will provide moisture to germinate it and let it become established. The best authorities advise sowing the seed to a depth of one-half to one and one-half inches, depending on the kind of soil. The seed may be sown broadcast, with a wheelbarrow seeder or with a drill, and can be distributed more evenly when one-half of the required amount is seeded one way across the field and the other half seeded at right angles to the first. Fifteen to twenty pounds of seed will afford a good stand, although if a drill is used the seed can be distributed and covered more uniformly than in other ways, and less seed to an acre is then required. According to Prof. C. B. Hutchinson, of the Missouri Agricultural College, "alfalfa may be sown in the spring on very fertile lands. But for average or thin lands, fall or late summer sowing is much better. From the middle of August to the middle of September is the best time for Central and North Missouri, but in the extreme southern part of the state the seeding may frequently be done as late as the first of October.

"Where it is sown in the spring it may be sown alone or with a light seeding of oats or barley for a nurse crop. It is sometimes sown on wheat in much the same manner as clover, but this should be done only on the very best lands, such as the bottom lands along the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers.

"For fall sowing, the ground should be plowed early, preferably in June or July, plowing deep and working down at once. It should be worked at intervals until the time to sow the alfalfa seed, so as to kill all of the growth of grass and weeds and conserve the moisture. If late plowing is necessary, the ground should be well rolled to compact it below and bring the loose soil in close contact with the bottom of the furrow."

Alfalfa seeded in the spring needs little care after the first season except to mow the weeds a few times during the first summer so as to prevent their crowding out the tender alfalfa plants. This clipping must be done rather high until after the alfalfa has reached the blooming stage. After that time, frequent close cutting seems to benefit the plants, causing them to grow more vigorously.

Fall-seeded alfalfa needs no care in the fall. Such growth as is made by the alfalfa and the weeds should be left as a winter covering. The next year the alfalfa may be cut regularly for hay, and if the stand is full the crop may make three or four cuttings of good hay. Making alfalfa hay is not a simple job, even where the best of modern machinery is used. The first crop comes in the spring when rains are most frequent, and especial care must be given to the hay in order to get it cured with the minimum of damage. The best time to cut the hay is when new shoots are just beginning to show at the base of the stalks and around the crown of the plants. At this time the crop will be coming into bloom, and for this reason many alfalfa growers judge the time of cutting by the condition of the bloom. This for the young shoots, as sometimes the is not as safe a practice as to watch young shoots will be long enough to be cut off by the mower before the blooms are out far enough. This delays the second cutting for a week or more, until a new lot of buds can be formed.

It does not pay to allow the alfalfa hay to become so dry in the swath or shocks that the leaves fall off when the hay is moved to the barn. Usually if the hay is handled in the early part of the day, the leaves will not be so brittle and the loss will be less than if handled in the afternoon. The leaves are the most valuable part of the hay; they contain most of the protein, and if they are scattered while the hay is being handled, the feeding value is lessened. The aim should be to cure the hay properly and to handle it before there is danger of losing too many of the leaves.

When alfalfa is rained on in the swath and then dried, the leaves are much more brittle and liable to be lost. Because of this it is important to choose a time when there is the least probability of rain for the cutting, and to get the hay into windrows or shocks as soon as it is dry enough. Where rains are expected, it is safest to cover the shocks until the hay has cured enough to go to the barn. Barns are best for the storage of alfalfa, as it is less liable to damage from rain.

Alfalfa in the stack does not turn water as well as does grass hay, such as timothy, and more damage can take place to alfalfa stacked in the open. Alfalfa barns are usually very inexpensive affairs, consisting of but little more than a good roof supported on posts, although some are provided with sides which reach half way or entirely to the ground. A writer in the Journal of Agriculture says: "If the hay barn has a good roof and the hay is properly cured before it is hauled, the feeding value of the crop will be as great in six months as at the time of haying. No matter how much care is exercised when the work is being done, stacked hay always results in some loss. Heavy rains will soak in for a considerable depth. The long, protracted autumn rains, which are common in the Middle West, always spoil a large amount of hay which has been stacked in the open. All things considered, the hay barn and hay mow are the best places for storing alfalfa.

"However, it is necessary for many farmers to stack their alfalfa hay in the open. They may have such a large acreage of alfalfa that it is impossible to accommodate the successive crops of hay in the hay barn. Numerous farmers have no hay barns or sheds. Renters frequently are obliged to stack their hay in the open. If they lease the land for short periods of time they think it would hardly pay them to go to the expense of erecting a hay shed, which they would be obliged to tear down when moving time came. For the farmers who have no hay sheds, stack covers are the next best thing. Canvas and sheet iron stack covers are both used with success. When purchasing a canvas stack cover it always pays to select one of ample size. The difference in price between a small and a large stack cover will not be excessive. The large cover will protect a small stack, but the protection which a small cover gives a large stack is meager. Canvas covers must be put on properly if they are to give good service. The main thing is to have the cover stretched fairly tight, and to build the top of the stack so there is a fair slope. It sometimes happens that a 'sharp' top cannot be built. Even if the stack is correctly topped out at the time of building, it may settle until the slope is insufficient. A ridge pole can be used in both these cases. A long pole can be mounted across the top of the stack and should be elevated two or three feet above the ridge. When the canvas cover is stretched over this pole a surface is made which will turn water like a duck's back. The canvas covers are provided with holes along the edges so that weights can be attached. Heavy stones and pieces of scrap iron can be used for this purpose. It pays to take plenty of time when putting on a stack cover."—Fruit-Grower and Farmer.

INDIANS HELP CELEBRATE LAWTON RUN ANNIVERSARY.

Townsite Which Government Sold for $514.71 Thirteen Years Ago Now City of 10,000 People.

LAWTON, Okla., Aug. 5.—With a parade over a mile in length, a large proportion of it being made up of the best type of plains Indians in the dress of their fathers, the people of Lawton today opened their three-day celebration of the thirteenth anniversary of the Big Run. The celebration will continue through August 7. All of the prominent State officials have promised to visit Lawton at some time during the celebration. Many were scheduled to deliver addresses.

On August 6, 1901, the Comanche, Kiowa and Apache reservations were thrown open to settlers. Drawings were held in El Reno and at Fort Sill, and the winners poured pell mell into what was one of the richest pieces of territory ever distributed by the Government to homeseekers. In a single night Lawton grew from a mere cluster of homes into a town of 7,000 inhabitants. The townsite had been sold by the Government for $514.71, and this money had been spent by Uncle Sam in laying out and building streets, sewers and a water system. To-day Lawton has a population of 10,000 people, has seven miles of asphalted streets, a $120,000 high school, and is a modern city in every respect.

Mrs. D. C. Harris, of Fort Worth, is visiting her son, A. E. Harris, and Mrs. R. A. Barrow.

RAILROAD JUGGLING AND "PORK."

Americans were disgusted at rottenness disclosed in the New Haven inquiry. Anathemas were heaped upon the late J. P. Morgan and President Mellen, of the railroad. To many minds it offered strong argument for Government ownership.

At Washington, especially, moral indignation rose to fever heat. The New Haven affair has not disclosed a moral plane so low as that to which Congress cheerfully descends in passing pork barrel appropriations every year.

New Haven directors recklessly gambled with stockholders' money. There is nothing to indicate, the Post suggests, that they did not believe they were pursuing a policy which would ultimately benefit those whose trustees they were. As yet we have no proof that they expected dishonest personal profit from the deal.

Attention might be called to appropriations for public buildings in half a dozen towns little larger than Hale Center. Congress has not failed to use several million dollars for just such "self aggrandizement of its members" almost every session.

Are these pork-barrel appropriations any more honorable than "tapping the till" for the benefit of an individual Congressman's campaign fund? The Post thinks nothing so rotten as that has yet been turned up in the New Haven mess.

A Congress that comes into power with high professions of loyalty for public weal and denunciation of its predecessor's extravagance is a sorry spectacle when it plunges into the public treasury for personal profit. The people will not stand for this always.

You do not live at home all the time. Neither does your family. Your boys and girls are consciously influenced by the neighborhood.

The entire community acts and reacts. Each is a part of his town—in character, in health, in prosperity.

It is gratifying, then, that the Town Council has suggested doing away with glaring signs in the sidewalk. Few men would paint grotesque figures, or simple announcements, upon their own porches. Many do not think it desirable for the town to permit this. Others do not think that such placards profit those who cry their wares in this way.

"I avoid a sign-plastered walk," a citizen said this week. "If I cannot go around, I do not read what is there. It is displeasing to me to see the sidewalk defaced with paint brushes." Other citizens feel that way.

Civic beauty is being recognized as a commercial asset in our most prosperous communities. Its money value is little less than its influence upon character of boys and girls.

Kansas City, San Francisco, Cleveland, O., Detroit and hundreds of smaller towns have done away with sign painting on sidewalks. They have also found that the public billboard is undesirable. Surely Plainview will profit by their experience.

Little Stories of the Lone Star State

By United Press

When the Civil War opened in the United States it became the all-absorbing subject of interest to the people. Everything else sank into comparative insignificance. Politics was almost forgotten.

Troops volunteered, were equipped and sent to the field by individual subscriptions, and after that source of supply was exhausted the counties used their funds and credits for that purpose. Then the State devoted its means and credit to the raising of troops and the support of soldiers' families.

The cloth made at the State penitentiary was sold for the war fund.

Conscript laws were passed in Texas, and in time the great body of the male citizens of the State was fighting for the Confederacy. Men, women and children left behind were constantly engaged in making supplies and clothing for the soldiers in the field and in furnishing themselves with foodstuffs and supplies. Military posts were established in many Texas towns to collect the tithes levied by the Confederate Congress.

The very old men, the lame, the blind and the disabled, with some doctors and preachers, comprised all the men who were not in the military service in some capacity. The peace in Texas at that time was as remarkable as the peace immediately after the war, when thousands of soldiers returned empty-handed to Texas. It proved that Texans are a peace-loving people.

THE MARCH.

I, who was very weary, turn again
To face the journey of the winding day
To take my place amid the march of men
And be as brave as they.
To toil—to dare—to battle—to rejoice
Until again night yields us resting place;
And yet I have not heard my captain's voice
Nor ever seen his face.
Nor do I know wherefore we strive or when
The strife shall end. I only know each day

WOMAN LEADS

POLITICAL CONVENTION.

By United Press.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. —A new chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee probably will be elected at the called meeting of that body which opened sessions at a local hotel to-day. Mrs. Gertrude Lee, the first woman state chairman of a big political party in the history of the United States, succeeded temporarily to that position from the vice chairmanship last spring, when Chairman George T. Bradley resigned. With a new campaign coming on, a new chairman must be elected. Many predict that Mrs. Lee will be elected to succeed herself.

COLORADO DAY TO-DAY.

By United Press.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. —Thirty-eight years ago to-day the State of Colorado was born. This is Colorado Day throughout the State, and it is being appropriately celebrated on a greater scale than ever before. Harry Ruffner, secretary of the Sons of Colorado, and Governor Ammons have been in charge of the arrangements here, and the program includes a celebration at City Park. The Sons presented to the city a huge flag of the State, after which a chorus rendered patriotic songs. Governor Ammons was to be the principal speaker here this afternoon.

Grips Your Heart!

If you've got a drop of red blood in your veins—if your heart beats one bit faster to the tune of romance—adventure—love and mystery—then you've something in store so far ahead of anything you've ever read or seen that you'll forget the best among the rest.

The Story

We cinched the exclusive publication rights to Louis Joseph Vance's new sensation, The Trey O' Hearts—we did it at a price that staggered other publishers—biggest sum ever paid for a serial of its kind.

The Pictures

The Universal Film Manufacturing Co. pronounced The Trey O' Hearts the best action story for film purposes they had seen in three years. They backed up their judgment by putting the punch and $200,000 cash into a set of pictures that are more remarkable—they're simply extraordinary.

Won't Cost You One Red Penny

You read a paper regularly. Read ours and get all the soul-stirring, heart-gripping installments of The Trey O' Hearts—it sets a mile mark in literature and it won't cost you a penny more to read it.

Overshadowed

"The Fortune Hunter"—"The Black Bag"—"The Brass Bowl"—Louis Joseph Vance wrote 'em all. You know what millions thought of these stories. You know how they gripped—thrilled and inspired. But The Trey O' Hearts overshadows them all. Vance has set himself a mark in this story he'll never beat and we doubt if even he, master of the written word, will ever pen another like it. Action—plot and telling, all combine to push The Trey O' Hearts into the top notch of the best sellers in record time.

Mental Back Somersaults

No matter how clever, you can't fathom the plot of The Trey O' Hearts one inch ahead of the words you're reading or the scene you're viewing. It keeps you turning mental back somersaults all the way whether you're reading the story or seeing the pictures.

Superhuman Imagination

The imagination of this man Vance is superhuman—surprise is too mild a word to describe situations The Trey O' Hearts is filled with to overflowing. And the end of every installment, written or pictured, is a startling climax that leaves you tense in every nerve, waiting and watching for the next one.

APPLE TRADERS AND GROWERS HOLDING ANNUAL CONVENTION.

By United Press.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 6.—The convention dinner at the Hotel Copley-Plaza this evening was the big event on to-day's program of the twentieth annual gathering of the International Apple Shippers' Association. Between 200 and 300 members of the organization, who are here from all sections of the country, spent to-day in a brief business session and in sight-seeing tours to the many spots of historic interest about The Hub.

Texas, Oklahoma and California delegates vied with each other to-day in their efforts to get the 1915 convention of the organization. Although California had the promise of an interesting session during the Panama-Pacific Fair, Texans put in a strong argument in favor of the Lone Star State. Colorado delegates also put up a strong fight to-day for the next year's meeting. They want it held either at Denver or Colorado Springs. The convention closes to-morrow.

WIVES COLLECT THEIR HUSBANDS' SALARIES.

By United Press.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., — Nearly 200 long-suffering wives collected their husbands' wages from the county to-day. Whether the husbands in question get any of the money depends entirely upon the willingness of the wives to declare a division.

The disbursement by the county was a partial working out of an experiment of giving work on the highways to men who are cited for failure to provide for their families. "Making little ones out of big ones" on a rock pile is the commonest employment. Each wife received every cent of her husband's wages at the end of the month.

By the terms of the company's arrangement with the Government, the dock will be capable of handling the biggest dreadnaught that can pass through the Panama Canal. In turn, the last naval appropriation bill guaranteed rentals for it amounting to at least $50,000 annually for six years.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE STATE CONSTITUTION, AMENDING ARTICLE XI, SECTION 7a, OF THE CONSTITUTION—PROVIDING FOR AUTHORIZING COUNTIES BORDERING ON THE GULF OF MEXICO TO BUILD SEA-WALLS.

(S. J. R. No. 22.)

Senate Joint Resolution.

To amend Section 7 of Article XI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, authorizing counties bordering on the Gulf of Mexico to build sea-walls by adding Section 7a, so as to authorize such counties to build sea-walls and designate sea-wall reclamation districts for the protection of life and property from storm overflow, and to build or condemn land for sea-wall and reclamation districts, the county to have State's title to the roads and bay shore line to low tide within the district, and the right to issue district bonds for acquiring and developing the district and building the sea-walls, and when district is developed as townsite to sell such portions of the land as not reserved for public use by the county.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

That the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas be proposed to the voters of the State of Texas for their adoption in accordance with law, and that the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to add Section 7a of Article XI, and that Section 7a of Article XI shall read as follows, to-wit:

Section 7a. Where protection against the waters of the Gulf of Mexico is needed for protection of life, health, property or the sea-wall, any county bordering on the Gulf of Mexico may acquire title to the land for said sea-wall or sea-wall reclamation district as designated by the County Commissioners' court by purchase or condemnation of all the land desired for sea-wall and land for the sea-wall reclamation district from the sea-wall to bay shore tide line boundary of the property abutting on the bay, and the State hereby cedes to the county, for such district, for reclamation and general uses of the district, the title to bay shore lands in the district between the property tide line boundary and the low tide line of the bay shore, and any land in the reclamation district that may have been retained by the Republic of Texas or the State for roads when the lands adjacent were platted and sold, and the county is given the right to dredge in the bay or in the gulf for fill for the district, and right to sell the land when reclaimed and laid off as townsite or otherwise, and where condemnation is used to acquire the land the proceedings to be as under the Statutes for condemnation for railroads, provided that the condemnation shall vest title in fee in the county, and county may issue bonds or other evidence of district indebtedness for acquiring the property, building the sea-wall, reclamation developments and all incidents thereto as expenses of sea-wall and reclamation district, with lien on land and such terms and conditions as county, through its commissioners' court may deem best, and the county commissioners' court shall appoint two persons who are owners of land within the district, and who desire to sell for reclamation and buy back from the county when reclaimed, who, with the county judge as chairman, shall continue a sea-wall reclamation district commission, whose compensation shall be fixed by the court, and this commission has power to make all rules and regulations for acquiring the land of district sea-wall building, reclaiming and plating land of district, issuing bonds or other evidence of indebtedness for same, subject, however, to all such rules, regulations and acts of the commission being authorized and approved and ratified by county commissioners' court. The district must bear all expenses of sea-wall and purchase of the land and expenses of filling (filling) same and other expenses, and the same shall not in any way involve the credit of the county or be a basis for a tax by the county on general lands of the county unless authorized by a vote of two-thirds of the property taxpayers of the county voting at a special election therefor. It is further provided that any owner of land in a proposed district may subscribe and pay for the district commission, when organized, as a pro rata of his land of the expense of the wall, reclamation, plating as town lots on a basis as such area of land is to be the whole land of the reclamation district and sea-wall, and at any time before the completion of the district may surrender the bonds and receive from the county a bond for title for his land in town lots, less streets and alleys deducted therefrom, for which on surrendered deed may be demanded from the county after the district is walled, filled and platted into streets, alleys and lots, and bonds so bought shall so provide. It is further provided that no district shall be formally designated by the county commissioners' court until owners of at least one-half of the proposed area of district petition therefor, and subscribe out for bonds for repurchase from the county as herein provided. This amendment may be acted on without delay of legislation in aid thereof or legislative action may be had in furtherance thereof if desired by the county, acting through its commissioners' court.

Be it further resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Proclamation of such election shall be made by the Governor, as required by the Constitution and the law, and there is appropriated out of any funds not otherwise appropriated the sum of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to pay the expenses of advertising and holding such election.

Lucile Lewis and Sam Thomas, of Amarillo, came down yesterday to visit their aunt, Mrs. Robert Faulkner.

The Governor shall make proclamation of such election upon said proposed amendment by publication as aforesaid, and as required by the Constitution and laws, and the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) is now appropriated out of any fund in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expense of making such proclamation and publication and holding said election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE STATE CONSTITUTION, AMENDING SECTION 24, ARTICLE 3, OF THE CONSTITUTION INCREASING COMPENSATION OF THE LEGISLATURE AND EXTENDING LENGTH OF REGULAR SESSION.

(S. J. R. No. 26.)

Senate Joint Resolution.

Joint resolution proposing an amendment to Section No. 24, of Article 3, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, relating to compensation for members of the Legislature.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That at the next general election of the State of Texas for the election of State officers, or at a previous general election, in case a general election for the State shall be sooner ordered by the Governor for other purposes, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Texas, for their adoption or rejection, the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas, as provided for in Section 1, Article 17, of said Constitution, relating to proposed amendments thereto, it being intended to amend Section 24, Article 3, of said Constitution, relating to the pay of members of the Legislature, and extension of term of regular sessions, so that the said Section shall read as follows:

Section 24. The members of the Legislature shall each receive from the public treasury as compensation for their services twelve hundred ($1200.00) dollars for the year in which each regular session of the Legislature is held, payable in equal installments on the twentieth days of January, April, July and October of the year in which the regular session is held, and five dollars per day for each day of every special session held in the year next succeeding that in which any regular session is held. In addition to said compensation the members of each house shall be entitled to mileage going to and returning from the seat of government, which mileage shall not exceed five cents per mile, the distance to be computed by the nearest and most direct route of travel by land, regardless of railroads or water routes; and the Comptroller of the State shall prepare and preserve a table of distances to each county seat, now or hereafter to be established, and by said table the mileage of each member shall be paid. Each regular session shall continue until the business of such session is disposed of.

Sec. 2. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation submitting this amendment to be voted upon by the qualified electors for members of the Legislature, at the first general election to be held in this State. Those favoring the amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the words: "For amendment to Section 24 of Article 3 of the Constitution increasing compensation of the Legislature, and extending the length of the regular session of the Legislature." Those opposing said amendment shall have written or printed on their ballot the words: "Against amendment to Section 24, of Article 3, of the Constitution increasing compensation of the members of the Legislature, and extending the term of regular sessions of the Legislature."

Sec. 3. The sum of five thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the State Treasury, not otherwise appropriated, to defray the expenses of such proclamation, publication and election.

FERGUSON LIKES AUSTIN.

Governor-Elect Takes Notes of Office from Colquitt.

By United Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 4.—James E. Ferguson, Democratic primary nominee for Governor of Texas, likes the Governor's mansion and the big capitol here. He came down from Temple last week and inventoried his future home. He was specially pleased with the new addition to the old mansion building, where he and his family will live for two years, and very probably for four, if the unbroken precedent of giving a Governor a second term is carried out. Mr. Ferguson informed himself as to just what is expected of a new Governor in many places, including inauguration and messages. Governor Colquitt "put him wise," and the man from Temple went home with his pockets bulging with sample copies of inaugural addresses, legislative messages and department reports.

Perhaps the most characteristic feature of his visit to Austin was the effusiveness of the greeting extended by a host of men who want slices of the patronage that the new Governor will have at his disposal. Some of them already hold office and want to be re-appointed, while the others want a seat at the pie counter.

There is much speculation already as to who Mr. Ferguson will appoint. If he respects the wishes of Governor Colquitt he will retain Henry Hutchings as Adjutant General and W. W. Collier as Commissioner of Insurance and Banking. C. C. McDonald is reported to be slated for Assistant Attorney General to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

New Books For The Library

Sixty new books were catalogued and placed on the shelves yesterday by the Purchasing Committee for the Public Library. In this most recent shipment there will be found something to suit the taste of every member of the family. For the tiny tots there are the "GOOP BOOKS" and the L. Frank Baum "OZ BOOKS." For the young girls there are a number of splendid books, including several of Miss L. M. Montgomery's delightful stories. For the boy there are the Clarence E. Mulford and B. M. Bower "cow-boy" stories, and for the elders there are Bryce's "AMERICAN COMMONWEALTH" and Wile's "MEN AROUND THE KAISER"; also a number of fine histories, biographies, novels, essays and poems.

The Library Committee are especially indebted to Mrs. W. B. Martine for a set of Mark Twain's works, and to Mrs. D. F. Sansom for the complete works of Thackeray and Bulwer Lytton. The committee realizes that no matter how insistent the demand may be for new books and "best sellers," a complete set of the works of such true and tried authors is the only safe nucleus around which to build a collection such as they hope the Plainview Public Library will become some day.

The Library is open on Tuesday and Saturday afternoons from four to six-thirty o'clock. Membership cards may be purchased from the librarian at the desk, who will receipt for same. Membership cards good for one year from date, one dollar.

Membership cards good for six months from date, fifty cents.

Membership cards good for three months from date, twenty-five cents.

FORT WORTH HAS NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCE.

Special to The Herald.
 FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 5.—The new traffic ordinance which went into effect in this city August 1st means the stopping of street cars on the near side of the street, instead of the far side, as heretofore in vogue. For the benefit of their customers, the Northern Texas Traction Company is distributing handbills, which give a complete analysis of the ordinance. Automobiles and other vehicles are restricted from blocking traffic. Jay walking is also prohibited.

CATTLE MARKET IN DETAIL.

Cattle Prices Off at Kansas City; Hog Supplies Light.

KANSAS CITY STOCK YARDS, Aug. 3.—Cattle prices declined 15 to 40 cents last week, prime steers and common cows losing least, medium and common grass steers, good cows, and stockers and feeders closing 25 to 40 cents lower. Tight money and fears of corn crop damage from dry weather were leading causes of weakness.

Smaller beef consumption since the late advance to retailers, together with liberal receipts of imported meats at New York, combine to lighten the demand from killers for live cattle. The supply to-day is 11,000 head, and the market is slow and unevenly lower. Packer buyers remained close to telephone receivers till 10 o'clock, getting their bearings with reference to financing purchases, the question of available cash having suddenly become extremely important.

A few early sales of medium native steers at $8.25 to $8.65, and prime natives at $9.80 to $9.90, were steady, but bulk of sales were 10 to 15 cents lower, and the market very slow. All the adverse influences at work for three weeks in the stocker and feeder trade remain effective, with uncertainty and fear respecting the future of trade in general added to-day.

Quarantine cattle receipts were 88 cars, trade slow, and unevenly lower. Some good cake-fed steers sold at $7.65, and medium to common Oklahoma grass steers at $5.75 to $6.50. Hog supplies have been running very light here, and the efforts of packers to break the market, who have invoked every influence at their command to that end, have had a minimum effect here, because of a good order-buying trade.

Receipts to-day are 4,000 head, and about 1,000 hogs were sold to order buyers at $8.40 to $8.60. Packers did nothing till noon, when, in response to a report of a break of 50 cents in Chicago, they made their bids 40 to 50 cents lower, and secured a good many hogs at $8.00 to $8.30.

With Europe on a war footing, it would seem that provisions must advance, regardless of the fact that mess pork declined heavily to-day. Severe fluctuations in hog prices during the next week are expected.

Sheep and lamb supplies to-day were at the advance of last week. Native lambs sold at $7.75 to $8.05 to-day, and choice range lambs would bring $8.25. Receipts are running very light, and no Westerns were received to-day. Native ewes bring up to $5.00, range ewes worth $5.25, breeding ewes up to $5.50, and feeding lambs could be sold for around $7.00.

FERGUSON TO BE LIBERAL TO STATE INSTITUTIONS.

By United Press.
 AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 5.—It is reported on trustworthy authority that James E. Ferguson, as the next Governor of Texas, will not seek to pose as an anti-corporation Governor. He will recommend a limited amount of legislation of a constructive character, it is stated, and for what he deems to be to the best interests of the people. He is pledged to deal liberally with the educational and philanthropic institutions of the State. It is expected that he will initiate plans for lifting the penitentiary system out of the poor financial condition into which it has fallen.

Political observers here continue to believe that the people took Mr. Ferguson's land-rent promises seriously and will demand both a plank from the coming El Paso convention and the next Legislature. The announcement of Former Senator J. W. Bailey that he will oppose the adoption of Mr. Ferguson's land rental plank suggests a fight in the convention. It is odds that Ferguson wins. He is regarded to-day as the leader of the Democratic party in Texas.

It is also regarded here as practically certain that Mr. Bailey's proposed effort to obtain a declaration of the convention on the tariff question in opposition to the Wilson administration policy will meet with defeat. The convention will indorse the Wilson administration all the way down the line if Mr. Ferguson has his way about it.

GAS PIPE LINE ASSURED.

Special to The Herald.
 WACO, Texas, Aug. 5.—After wrangling for several months over the letting of a contract for the construction of a gas pipe line from Mexico to this city, the matter has finally been disposed of, and under the present contract work will start within a very few days and rushed to an early completion. R. H. Baker, of Austin, is the promoter of the project.

EACH GUEST CONTRIBUTES LINE TO STORY AT PARTY.

Mrs. Robert Faulkner Entertains, Honoring Her Daughter, Mrs. T. M. Daniel, of Tennessee.

Mrs. Robert Faulkner entertained Tuesday afternoon for her daughter, Mrs. T. M. Daniel, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who is spending the summer in Plainview.

Only those who had called on Mrs. Daniel were included in the guest list. These filled the rooms thrown open to guests.

Japanese baskets filled with sweet peas and golden coreopsis adorned tables and walls. The ladies brought their needlework, some just plain, old-fashioned sewing, others the daintiest of fancy work, but all present had a good time and will always remember the afternoon as one of the cherished "pictures hung on memory's wall."

A pencil and notebook were handed around among the guests and each wrote a few words, which, when combined, made the following impromptu story:

"Once upon a time there was a party at a fashionable home in the city of Plainview.

"At this party was gathered a number of merry wives and maidens. Busy with needle and thread, they passed the merry hours in pleasant conversation.

"There came along a handsome swain who fell in love with the merry crowd, but found no one in particular on whom to bestow his affection until he saw a maiden coming up the garden walk, with the sun shining on her golden hair.

"The maiden proved to be Miss Bessie Ann Swann, from Hickory Creek, a charming girl with rosy cheeks and dainty feet, her beauty being enhanced by a charming costume.

"He was entirely captivated for the moment. Only time shall tell what the end will be.

"I may be far, it may be near;

"You cannot tell; life is so queer."

Mrs. Faulkner, assisted by Mrs. J. F. Garrison, Mrs. T. C. Shepard, Mrs. Asa Brookshire and Miss Pauline Millwee, served delightful refreshments, consisting of ice cream, pineapple sherbet, angel food and nut cake.

Those who were present at this informal but pleasant party were the honoree, Mrs. T. M. Daniel, and Mesdames H. C. and Peyton Randolph, C. H. White, J. P. Crawford, J. F. Garrison, E. H. Humphreys, L. T. Mayhugh, J. M. Adams, E. T. Coleman, C. J. Biles, Oscar Collier, T. C. Shepard, H. W. Potts, A. B. Bellis, Nell Dorsey, Asa Brookshire, W. E. Armstrong, Misses Rosa Mae Fowle, Pauline Millwee and Bessie Swann.

I thank you from the bottom of my heart for the kindnesses shown me in the campaign, I am making for County and District Clerk, and wish to thank you for the good support given me in the Primary held July 25th. I received 413 votes which was over ONE-THIRD of the entire vote cast in that election. If I had received ONE more vote than my Four Opponents, it would have given me the nomination and prevented the Second Primary.

Mr. Sloneker received 254 votes and I 413, and we will have to run until August the eighth in order to get a Majority Vote, and I ask Each and Every Voter to go to the polls on August 8th and cast their vote and if I am defeated I will be satisfied and if Mr. Sloneker is defeated he will be the same. All that I Ask is that the voters give me Consideration and cast their Vote as they think Best. CAPE COD CANAL FORMALLY OPENED BY ROSE STANDISH.

By United Press.
SANDWICH, Mass., Aug. 4.—The Cape Cod Canal, dreamed of ever since the earliest Pilgrims followed the old Indian trails across the narrow heel of the long curved peninsula which encloses Massachusetts Bay, was officially opened here to-day with high officials of the State and many famous New York financiers as the guests of August Belmont, organizer of the company. The 12-mile sea-level ditch, which adds another link to the chain of canals along the Atlantic seaboard, is expected to open a new era in sea trade between New England ports and those south of the Cape. Between Boston and New York alone, it will save 70 miles in distance and four hours in time, and prevent the disastrous wrecks which have so long strewn the desolate sands of the Cape.

Coincidentally with the opening of the canal, the town of Sandwich, the oldest on the Cape, celebrated its 275th anniversary to-day. A score of floats depicting historical events in the town's history since the earliest Pilgrim days headed a parade this morning, while a brilliant waterway illumination will be provided this evening, with electric lights strung along both sides of the canal.

The big ditch is 12 miles long from deep water to deep water, with eight miles cut through the land, and extends from this point on Cape Cod Bay to Buzzards Bay, on the south. The depth will be 25 feet at low water, with a bottom width of 100 feet and width of approaches of 250 feet. The deepest cut was 29 feet at high water. On the Cape Cod side a breakwater 3,000 feet long, built with 350,000 tons of granite, will keep out the heavy storms. Two bridges will span the canal, one at Bourne and the other at Bridgewater. The estimated cost is $19,000,000.

The Cape Cod Canal is nearly as old in conception as the Panama Canal, having been dreamed of for 300 years. It follows the old course of the Indian trail, and was first officially mentioned in a resolution in the General Assembly in 1690 favoring its construction. Several schemes came to an unsuccessful end; then August Belmont organized a $6,000,000 New York corporation, which turned the first spadeful of earth August 19, 1907. Belmont, with a large party, left New Bedford this morning on the specially chartered Rose Standish, Boston's largest excursion steamer, the first big boat through the canal. After going through the canal from end to end, and stopping at Sandwich, to join in the festivities, the party returned to Buzzards Bay.

Rev. F. P. Culver Received More Than Hundred Votes for Bishop at Birmingham Conference.

Rev. F. P. Culver is coming to conduct a revival meeting at the Methodist Church, beginning August 23. C. H. Hendry, formerly of Seth Ward College, will lead the singing.

Brother Culver is pastor of Palytenchic Church, Fort Worth, Texas. He is one of the most-sought-after preachers in Southern Methodism. As a pulpit orator, Dr. Culver has few, if any, equals in his church. His sermons are extremely practical, as well as eloquent.

At the General Conference in Birmingham Dr. Culver received more than 100 votes for Bishop. He is yet a young man, and his friends are confident that he will be elevated to the Bishopric.
