TOWERY AND SHROPSHIRE WIN SECOND PRIMARIES

Candidates for County Clerk and Surveyor Poll Three-Fourths Vote Cast First Election

B. H. Towery, for County Clerk, and Otis Shropshire, for Surveyor, were the successful candidates in the second primary. Little interest was manifested in most boxes. There were 1,133 votes cast for County Clerk and 1,115 for Surveyor in the first primary. Saturday 886 votes were cast for County Clerk; 852 for Surveyor.

Towery received 526 votes in the second election; Stoneker polled 320. For Surveyor, Shropshire polled 561; Holland 291. At the general election, with five candidates in the field, Towery polled 413, Stoneker 254; Otis Shropshire polled 388, O. Holland 379. The vote by precincts was as follows:

	Towery	Stoneker	Holland	Shropshire

NEW YORK TO SAN FRANCISCO HORSEBACK EXCURSIONIST HERE.

Jack Ruunser left New York City April 20, 1913, and will visit Every State.

Jack Ruunser, New York-to-Frisco horseback excursionist for the Hearst Newspaper Syndicate, is in Plainview to-day. He came down from Amarillo. Concerning Mr. Ruunser and his party, the Daily Panhandle says: "Ruunser, in company with his wife and two other couples, left New York City on April 20th, 1913. They were to go through every state in the Union, visit each state capital, and procure a letter from the Governor of each state. The first couple to make the round and arrive in San Francisco is to receive a prize of $5,000.

"One of the couples fell out at Chicago. Another became sick at St. Louis, and fell by the wayside. Mr. Ruunser and wife continued their course to El Reno, where Mrs. Ruunser happened to a serious accident, by being thrown from her horse. She recovered sufficiently for Ruunser to leave her there, and he continued on his way.

"Ruunser is a native of Idaho. The others who began the trip were Easterners. He carries a letter from the late Mayor Gaynor of New York to Mayor Ralph of San Francisco, which has to be delivered within two years in order to win the prize. His mount is a little Western broncho, tough as steel and live enough to get excited in Shamrock and run away in the country, ripping his shoulder against a fence corner. Mr. Ruunser returned to Shamrock Thursday night to take up his course again.

"Twelve states are yet to be traversed by the rambler in eight months and fourteen days' time, if he wins the bonus. He thinks he can make the connection easily. He was nine weeks ahead of the other excursionists when the last one dropped out.

"Ruunser looks like a real Westerner. He wears the familiar khaki trousers and brown shirt, broad white hat, and boots. He makes his own traveling expenses from a famous photo film presented to him by the Universal Company.

"The object of the contest, as announced by the donors of the prize, is to determine the endurance of Easterners, and to prove them as efficient as Western horsemen."

MRS. GEO. CROW LEADS BAPTIST LADIES' AID.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist Church met yesterday afternoon in regular session, at the old Calvary Church.

It was a devotional meeting, led by Mrs. George Crow, and was a full and interesting session.

FISHING IN PLAINVIEW BECOMING POPULAR NOW

Texas Land and Development Co. Has Lake Overstocked With Carp, Bass, and Cat

Fishing in Plainview! Of course, that sign has been seen a number of times when our streets were overflowed. This is bona fide fishing.

The Texas Land and Development Co. is permitting persons to fish in Lake Plainview. Last fall the Company stocked the lake with bass, carp and cat. These have multiplied remarkably. Recently half a dozen schools of fish were seen at one time. Apparently there were thousands of fish. One of the boys took a bucket and dipped up nearly a hundred.

The fish are becoming too thick, and it is thought best to catch some of them. Permits are given by the man in charge of the lake. A charge of 25c is made for each person, and only pole and line are permitted. No dip nets, throw lines or other devices for wholesale fishing is permitted. Catch it limited to fifteen.

You don't have to go to the canyons now to fish.

MCDONALD HOME FROM SLATON.

Willis and Leveridge Touring in Interest of Local College.

C. L. McDonald came in yesterday from Slaton and Post City. Mr. McDonald says that he found a number of young people who will attend Seth Ward College. He also lined up some good collections for the boys' dormitory.

Professor J. E. Willis, principal, and M. S. Leveridge, financial agent, left this afternoon. Mr. Willis will visit Olton, Dimmitt and Hereford. Brother Leveridge went from here to Tulla. He will canvass Vigo Park and a number of communities in that part of the country.

Frank Wilson, Athletic Director, is expected in Plainview at any time now. Mr. Wilson is one of the best coaches in junior college work. He was a star basketball and track man, and knows football and baseball thoroughly.

Miss Chloe Capps passed through Plainview to-day en route from Floydada to Trinidad, Colo., to visit friends and relatives this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Jones returned to-day to Cleburne. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have been visiting Mrs. Alex Anderson.

Lockney Man In Herald Overland Auto Contest

V. N. Dillard, Cashier of the Lockney State Bank, Lockney, has entered the Herald Overland contest this week. Mr. Dillard thinks he knows the worth of The Herald. He believes that a paper three times a week, carrying all local and development news of the Shallow Water Belt, in addition to latest telegraphic news, is a remarkable bargain at $1.50 a year.

The Herald is offering unheard-of values. It gives a paper for all the family, and its slogan is a Herald in every home in Hale County.

Miss Shropshire went to Tulla Saturday and Miss Howell went to the O-Bar-O Ranch in furtherance of their interests in the contest.

Bring in Rabbit Ears Before November if You Want Bounty

Commissioners' Court ordered that warrants issue for all rabbit ears presented before November 1, 1914. There will be no bounty paid on rabbits after that time. Warrants will be payable January 1, 1915.

More than 300,000 rabbits have been killed since the bounty was offered, about a year ago. Their deprivations are considerably lessened. However, there are many rabbits in the county now.

The Court accepted reports of O. B. Jackson and Thornton Jones, butchers.

Who's Who In Europe's War

KING CONSTANTINE of Greece is on the side of Serbia. On the first day of the declaration of war by Austria the king of Greece offered 100,000 soldiers to Serbia. The relations between Serbia and Greece are very cordial, as this action indicates, and Greece can be relied on to aid Serbia in every way.

MAY HOLD SPECIAL COURT SESSION FOR MRS. MUNCEY

If Attorneys Cannot Agree on Date Will Come Up in January; Horace Peters Dismissed

Trial of Mrs. Bertie Muncy, accused of murdering her husband, at Lockney, Texas, will not come up at this term of court. Judge Kinder said today that this trial will perhaps come up at a special term during the fall, if attorneys can decide upon a time. If that is not done, the case will come up at next term.

Charges against Horace Peters were dismissed upon motion of the State "for reasons."

Cause No. 568 was transferred to the County Court. District Court held that same does not come within its jurisdiction. The following cases were disposed of, as noted:

J. O. Oswald vs. E. Harlan. Dismissed at cost of defendant.

John Glynn vs. V. D. Moss et al. Continued for service on F. W. Newell. Plaintiff granted time to file first Sup. Petition.

P. C. Benedict vs. Green Machinery Co.; garnishee. Dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

J. J. Simpson vs. P. & N. T. Ry. Co. Parties given time to annul, and cause continued by agreement for the term.

Joe Lee Ferguson vs. W. S. Bolivar, Jr. Dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

J. W. Heard et al. vs. J. C. Cummons. Dismissed at cost of plaintiffs.

S. R. McLaughlin et al. vs. J. C. Cummons et al. Dismissed at cost of plaintiffs.

State of Texas vs. Dexter Wells. Continued upon the good behavior of defendant.

LATE WAR BULLETINS.

By United Press.
VIENNA, Aug. 11.—The War Office announces that Russia's invasion has been repulsed all along the line.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 11.—Six carloads of German prisoners are coming north.

NISH, Aug. 11.—Combined Serbian and Montenegrin armies are pushing through Bosnia. They are welcomed by the inhabitants. Austrians have been defeated with heavy losses in every encounter.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The British embassy has advised Secretary Bryan that North Sea has been mined. This warning has been sent particularly to the relief ships Tennessee and North Carolina.

INDIVIDUAL MERCHANTS OFFERING FAIR PRIZES

List of Premiums for Hale County Exposition in Hands of Printer This Week.

J. O. Brown was in town yesterday, asking for a premium list for the Hale County Fair. Mr. Brown's exhibit won the farm wagon at Amarillo last year. He says he is going to show winning products at the home exposition this fall, as well as at Amarillo.

Arrangements for premium are about complete. Catalogue will be in the hands of printers by Saturday. Now merchants are being solicited for special premiums. However, some local merchants and out-of-town firms are offering premiums, because of the special advertising value to them.

Such premiums are listed as coming from these men and advertisement of the fact is made in all announcements issued.

The Amusement Committee is working up a number of special features. Their idea is to have some particular amusement, if possible, each hour during the afternoon and evening. They will also try to arrange for a few high-class carnival and chautauqua attractions. There will be music all the time.

It has been pretty definitely decided that there will be a big parade on the last day of the fair, consisting of decorated automobiles and winners of first and second prizes among live stock.

The management hoped that a majority of the 475 automobiles in Hale County might be secured for this parade. Enthusiasm over the county and in surrounding counties seems to grow every day for a big fair at Plainview.

CLEAN YARDS POPULAR.

Fulton Lumber Company has cut and raked all weeds around its place. O. M. Unger has just had weeds on his lots on North Pacific Street cut and raked. Many of our residents have cleaned up their places and burned the trash. It is remarkable how much a thorough cleaning improves a place; it adds to the commercial value, too. Even more remarkable is how anybody will fail to clean up after he sees that a neighbor has so much improved things.

Misses Louise Bolton and Jennie Humphreys returned to-day from Colorado City, Texas. They visited Miss Humphreys' aunt, Mrs. Charles Adams.

Mrs. W. H. Mason left to-day for her cottage near Lake Skaneateles, New York. She will spend the summer there.

FRENCH ESTIMATES PLACE LOSS FROM WEEK'S FIGHTING 65,000

Germans Bringing Up Heavy Siege Guns in an Attempt to Reduce Forts and Detachments of French Artillery Pass Through Brussels to Reinforce Belgians

LONDON EXPECTS ITALY IN WORLD WAR

Fatherland Issues Call for All Able-Bodied Men Between Ages of Seventeen and Thirty-Five to Mobilize to Colors; Bryan May Demand Americans' Release

BY UNITED PRESS.

PARIS, France, Aug. 11.—It is officially announced that the French have been compelled to evacuate Mulhausen. The French army operating above New Breisach were driven back. Overwhelming numbers of Germans pushed the attack beyond Mulhausen, and French in still larger numbers drove back the German advance.

The French retired to the outskirts of the town, where they are now standing. A general battle is probably in progress.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 11. Rivers in the vicinity of Liege are stained with blood. Forts are still holding out. Garrison defending the fort made a number of brilliant sorties, inflicting severe losses upon the Germans.

Siege Guns Coming Up.
Heavy siege guns are being brought up and will attempt to reduce the forts. Detachments of French artillery passed through yesterday. Severe fighting is reported north of the River Meuse. Allied armies of English, French and Belgians are moving north from Namur to reinforce Belgians and French operating against the Germans on the Meuse.

Belgian war office announces that 8,000 German prisoners have been taken.

Wounded arriving tell stories of German daring when Liege was attacked Sunday night. Several regiments rushed across the open fields in mass formation. Shells from Fort Seraing tore great gaps in their lines, but the survivors kept on until entanglements were encountered. These were impossible to penetrate.

The German rear guard became impatient and rushed upon the advance. Rapid fire guns from the fort did terrific execution. Attacking column could not break through, and no signal for retreat was given until 800 Germans were killed and 3,000 wounded.

French reports give loss of all armies operating at 65,000 men for the week.

Britain Asks Austria to Explain.
LONDON, England, Aug. 11.—News agency dispatch from Athens advises that the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau rounded the southern extremity of Greece yesterday at full speed. Dispatches from Rome say that these boats have been captured by the British and French squadrons, which were pursuing them.

It is believed that England will declare war on Austria next. Britain has demanded an explanation of Austrian troops near the French border. She pointed out that France is England's ally. France has declared war on Austria.

It is officially stated that two German cavalry divisions are operating in the neighborhood of Tongres, Belgium. Large forces of Germans are entering Belgium by way of Luxembourg. They are entrenching along the river Aisne.

Italy's entry into the general European war is expected momentarily. The seizure of Albania is expected. This has long been coveted by Serbia and Montenegro.

Expect Tourists Released.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—Word is expected momentarily that the embargo against the departure of foreigners from Germany will be raised at once. A new order calling all Germans between the ages of 17 and 35 to colors may cause further delay.

Secretary Bryan has intimated that he will soon make demands on Germany to permit the departure of Americans. Cablegrams have been received giving reassurances as to condition of American tourists. Many tourists are without funds and stranded in Scandinavian countries.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Guthrie passed through Plainview to-day en route from Lockney to Escoto, Texas. Mrs. Guthrie will visit in Escoto while he will proceed to New York City. Mr. Guthrie will purchase his fall and winter goods, for his dry goods store, in Lockney, in New York.

Mrs. J. W. Willis and daughter, Miss Marguerite, returned Sunday from a visit in Franklin, Texas. Mr. Willis met them in Amarillo.

derwood, the Democratic leader; Representative Mann, the Republican leader, and Representative Murdock, the Progressive leader, the House committee, met at the White House at 2 o'clock and went in a body to the East Room.

The ranking members of each state delegation composed the committee. Both the Senate and the House provided magnificent floral pieces for the funeral. Flowers came from individuals and organizations in all parts of the country. Such a collection has seldom been seen except at funerals of Presidents of the United States.

In Mahogany Casket.
The body of Mrs. Wilson, in a mahogany casket lined with copper and covered with silver gray broadcloth and with silver handles, at the grave was placed in an outer case of steel. On the casket is a silver plate engraved with the simple inscription: "Ellen Axson Wilson. May 15, 1860—Aug. 6, 1914."

The services Monday in the East Room consisted of the reading of the Presbyterian rites by the Rev. Sylvester Beach, of Princeton, N. J., and the Rev. J. H. Taylor, of the Central Presbyterian Church, Washington. Only the family, intimate friends, the cabinet and the members of the Congressional committees were present.

ALL STORES CLOSE FOR WHITE HOUSE FUNERAL

United States Congress Adjourns and Flags Stand at Half-Mast; Burial in Georgia

Stores were closed from 2 o'clock to 3 in Plainview yesterday as a tribute of respect to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of President Wilson. United States flag was lowered to half mast. Funeral services were held in Washington at that hour.

Mrs. Wilson was buried in Myrtle Hill Cemetery, Rome, Ga., this afternoon—her girlhood home.

All Government departments in Washington closed Monday and Tuesday afternoons during the services there and at Rome, Ga.

The special funeral committee of the Senate, headed by Vice President Marshall, was Senator Kern, the Democratic leader, and Senator Gallinger, the Republican leader.

CIVIC LEAGUE NOTES.

The regular monthly meeting of the Civic League was held Wednesday afternoon in the club room at the City Hall. The new constitution was read and adopted, after a few changes were made in the form.

The committee which had been appointed to consult with the Chamber of Commerce in regard to the proposition of holding a County Fair reported the members of the Chamber of Commerce in favor of holding such a fair. It was voted that the members of the League help in the movement in any way they could.

Motion was made and adopted that the Civic League members enter protest against the painting or otherwise defacing of any sidewalk for advertising or any other purpose, and whether in the business district or in any other part of town.

The chairman of the "Fly Committee" reported money short and a number of little folks who had brought flies last Tuesday morning had to go home without their money. This committee very much regretted for them to have to do, and they will try to have money enough collected by next Tuesday to pay for all flies offered for sale.

The following report was made from the matron of the rest room: Received of the Carter-Houston Mercantile Company, $2.50 to be applied on matron's salary.

Fund realized from rummage sale for the month, $4.35. Visitors registered from July 1st to July 31st, inclusive, 109.

The League members are finding the Rest Room rummage sale a mutual accommodation; that is to say, there is a constant demand for second-hand clothes, shoes, etc., from the sale of which part of the fund is provided from which the matron's salary is paid. A number of the county officers and county commissioners are also contributing to the matron's salary by personal donation; and the fact that there were a hundred visitors registered at the Rest Room during the month of July is conclusive evidence that its advantages are being appreciated.

If any one having clothes that they no longer need and which they are willing to contribute will phone to some member of the League or, when possible, deliver them in person to the matron of the Rest Room, the favor will be much appreciated.

SECRETARY.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saigling will give a chicken barbecue and dance to-night, in honor of Miss Edna Harrington. This delightful function will take place at the Saigling Ranch, twenty miles southwest of Plainview.

The Benevolent League will meet to-morrow in regular session at four o'clock at the City Hall.

A social will be given Friday night on the lawn of the Presbyterian Church. The members of the church and their friends are cordially invited to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barnhill passed through Plainview yesterday en route from their home, in Wise County, to Hurley, to visit a son. Mr. and Mrs. Barnhill were traveling in an automobile, and reported good roads all the way. As evidence of this, they pointed out the fact that they had had only one puncture.

Why Europe Is At War

RUSSIA HAS CONSPIRED WITH SERBIA AGAINST AUSTRIA, FRANCE WANTS REVENGE AND TERRITORY FROM GERMANY, ENGLAND NEEDS PRESTIGE; OLD EMPEROR FRANZ JOSEPH WILL BE HIS OWN WAR LORD IN A STRUGGLE MADE INEVITABLE BY SLAV AGGRESSION, EX-DIPLOMAT DECLARES.

This exposition of the war situation in Europe was given to Brooklyn Eagle by an Austrian now living in New York, an ex-diplomat. It explains very clearly some of the reasons for the war which Americans do not understand. It should, of course, be remembered, however, that the explanation is from a viewpoint wholly Austrian.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

"A great European war is inevitable. Millions of dollars will be spent and thousands of lives sacrificed before Europe can settle down to peace.

"A violent thunderstorm is needed to clear the atmosphere. For years the war clouds have been gathering. The great increase in armaments during the past decade has been made with the coming conflict in view. The clash between Austria and Serbia serves to precipitate the climax.

"The storm will be the greatest the world has ever seen. More men will be involved. More territory will be affected. Boundary lines of nations will be changed. And, while the great loss of life that is bound to follow is to be deplored, the world will be a better place after peace shall have been declared."

This is the opinion of a former Austrian diplomat, now living in the United States. He has but recently returned from a trip abroad. This man has served as a military officer in the Balkans. He is conversant with conditions in many countries, and his views are the result of calm, calculating consideration. His statements seem almost axiomatic as he utters them, his fine, somewhat sober, philosophic brow slightly wrinkled as he ponders on the situation.

"I have but recently returned from Europe," he says. "Everywhere I found the people deeply disturbed, deeply distrustful of present conditions. A sense of impending trouble was everywhere present. No one was putting money in the banks. Small hoards were carefully being secreted where they would be readily accessible. One prominent inn-keeper, whom I have known for years, is keeping in his own possession all the coin he takes in. Only the paper money does he entrust to the bank.

"This feeling of unrest is expressed in many other ways. Business has become extremely conservative. There is no general development of industries.

"Racial hatred and over-armorment are at the root of the present tense situation. Many conditions have arisen during the past fifty years that make inevitable a great international conflict. One nation is angered because of the loss of territory. Another is jealous of a neighbor's growing military power. Others have ambitions that up to the present have not been realized. War alone can settle these differences.

Says Austria Is Right.

"Austria is perfectly in the right in precipitating the present crisis with Serbia. For years the Serbians have studiously insulted all Germanic people with whom they have come in contact. Societies exist for that one purpose.

"There is an old saying, on the other hand, that well illustrates the low esteem the Austrians have for the Serbs. It goes something like this: 'A Chinaman is bad. One Hindu is as bad as two Chinamen. One Turk is as bad as two Hindus. One Serb is as bad as two Turks.'

"For years these insect pests have crawled over the wall from Serbia into Austria to sting our national pride in one way or another. The time has come for Austria to put down her foot and exterminate these loathsome vermin.

"The assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand was the crowning insult. This deliberate, cold-blooded murder was a Serbian plot backed by Russian money. Back of it all, of course, is the violent racial feeling of the Serbs against Austria. They are particularly resentful of the fact that Austria has shut them off from the sea by creating a buffer state and kingdom of Albania. The Serbs are thus securely landlocked. To the north they have access to seaports only across Austrian territory. On the west they are hemmed in by Bulgaria and Rumania. Greece cuts them off on the south, and on the east they are separated from the Adriatic by Montenegro and Albania.

"This situation is a hard blow to Serbian pride. Following their successes in the latest Balkan War, they got a magnified idea of their own importance. They desired more territory than was allotted to them, and especially did they crave an outlet to the sea. Hemmed in as they are at present, they are at the mercy of the powers that surround them. The way they are now importing arms is from Russia by ships to the Bulgarian coast at Varna, and thence by rail to Serbia.

"There has been a persistent rumor to the effect that Archduke Ferdinand's assassination was due to his desire to create a triple monarchy of Austria-Hungary, by forming a new department of the Balkan states and making them subservient to the Austrian domination. Nothing could be further from the truth than this statement. The rumor was circulated by the Serbian nationalists as part of their propaganda against Austria. They made the statement that Bosnia and Herzegovina were chafing under the Austria rule. As a matter of fact, but a small fraction in these two states desires to cut away from Austria. Ninety per cent of the people are loyal to Austria.

"Russia is at the root of much of the present trouble. Though bankrupt at the end of her war with Japan, she has obtained almost unlimited credit in France. Within the last ten years France has poured 1 billion dollars into the Russian exchequer for the purposes of her rehabilitation as a war power. Russia still has practically no funds of her own, but can draw upon France for millions more to carry on her political mischief. Much of this enormous sum is spent in maintaining an elaborate system of spies. Hundreds of them infest every country in Europe. You see them everywhere—in Galicia, in Austria, in Hungary and in Germany. Russians seem to have a particular liking for this sort of underground work.

"It is just possible that England and France are using Russia as a cat's paw to pull their chestnuts from the fire. England's naval supremacy is crumbling visibly, and desperate measures are needed to keep her above water. War may restore her prestige.

"Back of France's activity is her desire to regain her lost provinces of Alsace and Lorraine, and to deal a retaliatory blow at Germany for her losses in the Franco-Prussian War.

"Many nations will be drawn into the conflict unwillingly. Even little Belgium is now forced to increase her standing army beyond all reasonable bounds, to keep her territory neutral. The same situation is found in Switzerland, for the Swiss realize their precarious position, situated as they are between the hostile powers of France and Austria.

"French money is back of the whole situation. With the millions they have shipped to Russia, the czar has increased his army to such an enormous extent that he is now able to put more men in the field at a moment's notice than Austria and Germany combined.

"England has plenty of money, but no army worthy of mention. Her reliance in the case of hostilities will be her fleet, but just what part she will play the future alone can tell.

What Austria Must Do.

"Austria must take several decisive steps at once to insure success of her arms. Her first move will be to pour as many troops as possible over the Serbian frontier and into what was the Sanjak of Novi Bazar. This maneuver is absolutely essential to keep the Montenegrins from joining forces with the Serbians across that bit of territory. Once united, these two armies would be difficult to contend with. Divided, they can be disposed of with much less difficulty. The line of Austrian defense will beyond a doubt follow the Drina River. Thousands of men will be deployed along this natural boundary between Serbia on the south and Bosnia on the north. From there operations into the hostile territory can be carried on as conditions warrant.

"In Herzegovina, the city of Cattaro is a vulnerable point in the Austrian defense. Cattaro is located on the Adriatic, and is a base of supply for Austrian warships in those waters. There is a fine natural harbor, but directly back of the city Mount Lovcen rises to a height of more than a thousand feet. This mountain is in Montenegrin territory, and forms a natural fortress. From its summit it would be a simple matter for Serb sharpshooters to pick off the people in the city, and to make it very uncomfortable for Austrian warships in the harbor. Therefore, it is imperative for the Austrian army to take the hill at once.

"Russia is desirous of war. She hopes, of course, to regain the prestige she lost in the overwhelming defeat at the hands of Japan. She is continually plotting to gain new territory. Italy, the third power in the Triple Alliance, would like to keep clear of participating in the conflict, but there are many conditions that might at any instant make it imperative for her to take the field.

"This, then, is the situation. For years all the great powers have been building more and more battleships. Their armies have been increased to enormous size. There are thousands of reservist corps. Almost every man in Europe is a soldier.

"Have all these moves been made with the idea of maintaining peace? Do you build a factory for the purpose of standing idle?

"In the cities and in the country—everywhere, there is a feeling that some great catastrophe is impending. International jealousies have been becoming more and more acute.

"All this is not the result of one isolated circumstance. Trouble has been brewing for years. A number of years ago I traveled over practically all of the territory of the Balkan War.

I became intimate with people of all the races, and I know their state of mind. But never have they been so agitated as they are at present.

Franz Joseph His Own War Lord.

"One figure that stands out prominently in all this international turmoil is that of the 83-year-old Emperor, Franz Joseph. You ask, who will be his war lord? I answer you by saying Franz Joseph. True, he has his ministers, and capable men they are. But there is no Bismark in Austria-Hungary. The Emperor will map out his own campaigns. He will decide all matters of international policy. Upon his aged shoulders will rest the whole of the great war burden."

The young ladies were the honorees and Misses Pattie Dalton, Nell Webb and Flora Mae Scudder.

They planned to be away for three or four days.

AHEARNS MEETS CARPENTIER.

By United Press.

LONDON, England, Aug. 7.—Young Ahearn, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and George Carpentier, who assumes the white heavyweight title of the world by defeating Gunboat Smith on a foul, were to meet here to-night for a purse of $30,000, most of which will go to the Frenchman, win, lose or draw. Ahearn was thought to have small chance for victory. Experts picked Carpentier to land a sleep wallop in an early round. The fight is scheduled to go 20 rounds.

The fair will be held November 3 to 6, inclusive, and is expected to be the most successful in the history of the event.

PRINCESS WORE PEASANT GARB.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

There is a widespread desire in the part of the people of Sweden to return to national idiosyncracies, and in this even the royal family joins, especially the much-loved Princess Margaret of Connaught, who is the wife of the Crown Prince, Gustav Adolphus. At the inauguration of the Centennial Agricultural Exhibition at Malmoe the Princess Margaret dressed in Swedish national costume, and received a procession of one thousand peasants wearing the local costumes of every part of Sweden. With the Princess in peasant garb was her husband, the Crown Prince, who, however, refrained from wearing the male attire of the peasant folk, perhaps to preserve at least half of the dignity that is customary with royal couples.

The Crown Prince, Gustav Adolphus, also holding the title of Duke of Sackia, was born November 11, 1882. He was married to the Princess Margaret of Connaught in June, 1905. His wife is a daughter of the Duke of Connaught and has established herself strongly in the affections of her husband's people since her union with the Crown Prince. They have four children, three boys and one girl. The eldest boy, who will subsequently become Crown Prince and heir to the Swedish throne, if nothing politic happens to prevent, also bears the name of Gustav Adolphus, like his father and many forebears before him.

Mrs. Harry Long, of Mobeetie, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Penry.

THE PLAINVIEW EVENING HERALD

THREE TIMES A WEEK

—Published Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday by—
THE HERALD PUBLISHING COMPANY
Corner North Pacific and Second Sts.

BUFORD O. BROWN, Editor. E. B. MILLER, Business Manager.

Entered as second class mail matter July 1, 1914, at the Post Office at Plainview, Texas, under the act of March 3, 1879

$1.50 a Year; 75c, 6 Months. Advertising Rates on Application.

LET'S KEEP WATER CHEAP.

A country whose chief advertisement is its water ought to have cheap water. Your part and mine, in helping to make cheap water, is to use water—lots of it—at the reduced price which the city is offering.

Of course, we can't ask the Council to give us cheap water at a loss. The cost is largely "fixed," except 5c a thousand gallons for pumping. If we use an amount sufficient to justify the rate of 15c a thousand and 10c a thousand for excess over 10,000 gallons a month will be permanent. We can't ask for that rate if it means that the town is losing money.

The old rate of 25c a thousand gallons is about what other municipalities in the Southwest are charging. It is less than many of them charge. Cheap water is another point at which Plainview is forging ahead.

Water is the greatest tonic. It works magic with human life and even more so with vegetable life. Why not make Plainview lawns the most beautiful in all the country? It would rejoice your life when you go home each evening. Those lawns would also have a positive and large effect on the youth of your community.

A clean town tends to make clean lives. A beautiful town has a large influence for finer living.

Use water freely. Let's make it worth while to have cheap water.

FERGUSON AND SCHOOLS.

Texas is watching James E. Ferguson. Conservative thinkers are afraid of the Temple banker's land rent plank. They feel that it augurs sensationalism on other governmental issues. Prohibitionists feel that Mr. Ferguson stands with the wrong crowd. To them he is a "tool of the white apron brigade."

Few thinking people can deny the seeming incontestable idea that the State would have made a wise step if we had voted to do away with a business which burns up $80,000,000 a year; in addition to supplying three-fourths of our criminals, insane, paupers and incompetent.

We cannot deny that Mr. Ferguson made a remarkable campaign. He can block prohibition legislation now. Ultimately not only Texas—the entire Nation—will be dry.

Let us plan to bring about that consummation quickly.

However, The Herald hopes that so far as the Legislature is concerned it will devote its time to constructive legislation—seeing that it does not have the two-thirds majority to pass liquor laws over Mr. Ferguson's veto.

Let us find the good in Mr. Ferguson and support him in what is for the general welfare. We must commend his action in asking for needs of Texas schools. The Commonwealth ranks low in education. Rural school and University are handicapped. That is placing a handicap on our citizens of to-morrow.

By all means, let us help Mr. Ferguson secure better schools for Texas.

AMERICA'S STRENGTH.

There is to be no great railroad strike. Reason and public spirit have prevailed, and arbitration is to be substituted for the folly and waste of labor war.

This means that our vast surplus crops will be moved to the seaboard without hindrance, and Congress is now at work devising ways and means to expand our facilities for export. To a considerable extent, Europe's need is our opportunity, and if we unitedly act with foresight and good judgment we shall not only save ourselves from serious injury but profit legitimately by supplying in crops and supplies of goods the great deficiencies created by the paralysis of war abroad.

What we ourselves need is to keep cool, conserve and mobilize our resources, avoid strikes and disturbances of our business machinery. There is no need for fear. We are safe from entangling alliances. Our financial relations are being safeguarded to protect us from disastrous foreign reactions. We have an enormous wheat crop, representing a solid basis of wealth. Credit is not expanded. Business enterprise, after months depression, is on the most conservative footing. The banks are in a very strong position, and the Government, besides having a tremendous reserve of gold and silver, has facilities for assisting the banks, and through them the general public, more simply, promptly, and effectually than ever before. The Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency law permits the issuance of $500,000,000 notes, $50,000,000 of which already are printed and ready in Washington. Behind these notes will be eleven billions of assets of the National banks. As to gold, aside from the large amount now free in the country, there is $1,040,000,000 in the Government's hands, to say nothing of nearly $500,000,000 in silver.

Meanwhile the new Federal reserve system is in process of organization, and in a very short time will be in operation. By this new system our financial resources will be effectively mobilized and utilized according to need.

Congress is in session and with the administration availing itself of expert opinion and the financial leaders working vigilantly and harmoniously the United States seems about to give as striking an exhibition of the forces of financial and economic power as Europe is giving of the forces of war and destruction.

In this mighty and beneficent mobilization of the nation's resources we all have responsibility, just as we would have in war a responsibility to keep cheerful, clear-headed, cool, confident of our own strength.

MRS. MARTHA A. BEARD

BURIED BY FRIENDS.

Woman Benevolent League Has Been Caring for Succumbs to Disease: Lived Long in Sherman.

"And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three, but the greatest of these is charity."

That this is true has been exemplified in Plainview since the death of Mrs. Martha A. Beard, at ten o'clock Sunday night, at the sanitarium. Differences of sect and order have been forgotten, and all united in caring for the mortal remains of Mrs. Beard, who came here a few months ago from Sherman to obtain work. She had lived in the latter place for twenty years, and had never known what it was to be dependent until the loss of health deprived her of the strength to make a living.

Mrs. Beard has relatives in Crest, Ga., and a son at Pilot Point, Texas. She was a member of the Methodist Church and of the Rebekah Lodge.

For the last six weeks Mrs. Beard has been in the Guyton-Nichols sanitarium. The Benevolent League, assisted by the Ladies' Aids of the various churches, have paid all expenses.

The funeral took place at the Methodist Church this afternoon at four o'clock, Rev. O. P. Kiker conducting the services. The interment took place in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Mayor Dorsett, C. A. Gilbert, proprietor of Gilbert's livery stable; the Odd Fellows, the Benevolent League and other fraternal orders and church auxiliaries contributed to the expense of the funeral.

The body was embalmed by W. F. Piper, funeral director for Paxton & Oswald, and the funeral was conducted by him this afternoon.

THE WOMAN'S THANKS.

There is so much strong men are thankful for—

A nation's progress, or a slow strife's end;

And though I join my praise with theirs to-day,

Grave things are these I scarce can comprehend,

So vast are they;

And so apart, dear God, I pray thee take

My thanks for these. Thy little blessings' sake.

The little common joys of every day,

My garden blowing in an April wind,

A linnet's greeting and the morning fall

Of happy sunshine through the opened blind.

The poplars tall

That guard my threshold, and the peace that falls

Like Sabbath stillness from my humble walls.

The little, simple joys that we forget

Until we lose them; for the lamp that lights

The pages of the books I lovebest,

The hearth's red welcoming on winter nights.

The kindly jest

That moves within its circle, and the near

Companionship of those the heart holds dear.

The dear, accustomed joys we lightly take

Too much for granted sometimes, as a child

His father's gifts; and, so remembering,

For these my thanks, for these my treasures piled,

Each simple thing

Those wiser may forget, dear Father, take

My thanks for these. Thy little blessings' sake.

—Theodosia Garrison, in Harper's Bazaar.

LITTLE STORIES OF THE LONE STAR STATE.

By United Press.

The publishing of a newspaper in Texas has always been a hazardous undertaking financially, but in the early days there were other risks as well. The old San Felipe Weekly Telegraph and Texas Register, of the firm of Baker & Bordens, was thriving until the approach of Santa Anna's invading army, in March, 1836. The press and other material was taken to Harrisburg, on Buffalo Bayou, set up, and an effort made to resume publication. The matter was prepared, and on the 14th of April, just one week before the battle of San Jacinto, the "form went to press."

As the sixth sheet was taken off the press Santa Anna's advance guard entered the village, and it was up to the editors and printers to sprint. The editors got off with the papers, but the printers were not so fortunate. They and the printing outfit were seized. The latter was thrown into the bayou. The printers were held prisoners. The press was a Hoe, and at that time was the best obtainable. It was afterwards "fished" out of the water, cleaned and set up in Houston, and the Morning Star printed on it. It was still running in February, 1877.

DINNER AND THEATER PARTY.

Mrs. Frank Bone Entertains, Honoring Popular Young Ladies.

Miss Olga Carter, of Crosbyton; Miss Marietta Hancock, of Missouri, and Misses Daisy Gidney and Leona Carter, of Plainview, were cordially entertained Saturday night with an elegant four-course supper by Mrs. Frank Bone, 300 West Moreland Street.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Bone chaperoned the young ladies to The Olympic.

PSALM IV.

1. Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness, thou has enlarged me when I was in distress; have mercy upon me, and hear my prayer.

2. O ye sons of men, how long will ye turn my glory into shame? how long will ye love vanity, and seek after leasing? Selah!

3. But know that the Lord hath set apart him that is godly for Himself; the Lord will hear when I call unto Him.

4. Stand in awe and sin not: commune with your own heart upon your bed and be still. Selah!

5. Offer the sacrifices of righteousness and put your trust in the Lord.

6. There be many who say, Who will shew us any good? Lord, lift Thou up the light of Thy countenance upon us.

7. Thou hast put gladness in my heart, more than in the time that their corn and their wine increased.

8. I will both lay me down in peace and sleep: for Thou, Lord, only makest me dwell in safety.

REV. M. S. LEVERIDGE PREACHES
ON GOD'S LOVE AND MAN'S WILL.

Financial Agent of Seth Ward College
Fills Rev. S. A. Barnes' Pulpit Sunday.

Rev. M. S. Leveridge, Financial Agent of Seth Ward College, preached at the Methodist Church Sunday morning and night. At the night service Mr. Leveridge took his text from John 3:16—"For God so loved the world."

The love of God cannot be defined. Brother Leveridge said, "God himself did not fully define it. He demonstrated it and made it manifest in Christ." The preacher stressed the universality of God's love for man—"salvation for all."

He said that God did not intend man should perish. However, man can set aside the purpose of God and thereby become responsible for his own damnation. There is only one thing that stands between God and man—the will.

Christ's invitation is given to all, the speaker said. All can be saved if they WILL be saved.

At the morning service Brother Leveridge preached on Daniel—he "purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself." The preacher stressed the need to-day for men of steadfast purpose.

ST. LOUIS CLAIMS BIGGEST FLAG.

Fifty Pretty Girls Made the Largest Star Spangled Banner.

From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A reader objects to the statement in a recent article that the flag which has just been made by the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, and which is ninety-five feet long by fifty feet wide, is the "biggest American flag ever made."

The biggest American flag ever made is a St. Louis flag—the flag carried in the Million Population Club's parade June 14. That flag is 150 feet long by 75 feet wide. It has thirteen stripes, each six feet in width, and its stars are each four and one-half feet high. It was made by fifty pretty St. Louis girls, and 175 members of the Million Population Club carried it in the parade.

There will probably never be a bigger flag made. Size matters little in flags, anyway. The original Star Spangled Banner, which waved over Fort McHenry and inspired the great American patriotic song, was thirty-two by twenty-eight feet in size. It was plenty big enough.

Miss Edith McCall and Sam Moore, both of Happy Union, went to Amarillo to-day. They will be married there within the next few days.

Mrs. O. M. Unger left to-day for Ohio. She will visit friends and relatives in different parts of the State.

J. Q. King, V. D. Smith and C. K. Monroe, of Crawford, Texas, are here prospecting. Mr. King is also visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. King.

To the Citizens of Hale County:

It is with a glad heart that I beg you to accept my heartfelt thanks for the favors shown me in the past and especially at the primaries held over the county last Saturday. I have tried to make a clean campaign and win the office on my own merits, and feel that the people do not appreciate mud slinging or dirty politics.

To my supporters who elected me I thank you sincerely for what you did, and to those who voted against me I hope I still have your friendship and assure you I will put forth every effort to make you a good servant.

Again I thank the people of Hale County for all they have done and assure you it is my ambition to make you the very best servant possible.

Yours for Service,

ONCE MORE IT'S "ON TO PARIS."

The Same Strategy Von Moltke Used Is Being Attempted by His Son.

Henry M. Hyde, in Chicago Tribune. They tell of the field marshal, Count von Moltke, that when on that fateful July day of 1870 an excited aide burst into his private office and gasped out the word that France had declared war, the old warrior hardly looked up from the documents he was reading.

"Upper pigeonhole on the right hand side of my desk," he said. And there, in fact, was the carefully-worked out plan for the invasion of France which was soon carried through to a successful issue. Every contingency had been provided for in the Von Moltke plans, which represented the careful labor and study of years. For every possible move of the French army a check had been provided, and it was largely due to the patient and thorough study of the great chief of staff that the German operations were so quickly and so consistently successful.

New Von Moltke Commands.

That was forty-four years ago. Now, as far as may be judged from the broken and scattered dispatches which are allowed to filter through the censored telegraph wires, history is about to repeat itself in a most remarkable way.

Now, as then, it is Count Von Moltke—son of the great field marshal—who is chief of staff of the German army. Now, as then, the mobilization of the German troops has been accomplished with startling celerity and already two great armies—if the dispatches are correct—have been thrown across the French border.

And it would almost appear as if the son had somyly taken out again his great father's plan of campaign from its dusty pigeonhole and was starting the German legions on to Paris over almost the same routes which their predecessors traveled in 1870.

Luxemburg Again Invaded.

In 1870 one of the Prussian columns marching on Paris was sent through the territory of the grand duchy of Luxemburg, the unity of which lies on the southern boundaries of Belgium, and the neutrality of which was guaranteed in 1867, both Prussia and France being among the powers which pledged themselves to preserve it.

Now, as then, the neutrality of Luxemburg was violated, for it appears that a German army of at least one hundred thousand men, marching towards France over practically the same route which a Prussian army followed in 1870.

It is this invasion of Luxemburg which lends point to the inquiry made by the British ambassador at Berlin as to whether the German government was prepared to observe the neutrality of Belgium, and which makes significant the German refusal to make any answer to the demand. It is exactly over this issue that Great Britain may feel herself forced to take an hand in the great struggle, for by the treaty all the signatory powers bind themselves to enforce the neutrality of Luxemburg against all comers.

Army on Second Route.

In 1870 the second German army centering on Paris was started across the frontier not far from Strassburg. And now comes an unofficial report that this younger Count von Moltke has sent his second army into the enemy's territory by almost the same route.

Truly it would see that the tall, gaunt old soldier who was the mailed hand of Wilhelm the Great did his work so well more than forty years ago that the younger generation has found little in his plans to change. And it will be interesting to see if his son, now the German chief of staff, has inherited the genius of his father, that Prussian "man of iron," of whom it was said that he knew how to be silent in seven languages.

Now Has Enemy in Rear.

But with all the strange parallels between the campaign of 1870 and that which has just begun, there is one tremendous difference, and one which may well prove fatal even to plans prepared by the greatest of German strategists.

In 1870 Prussia and her allied states had only one enemy to fight. There was indeed some fear that Austria might give aid to Napoleon III, but that was never realized. And, at worst, the elder Von Moltke could send his armies forward with no danger that his colunry, stripped of troops, would be invaded from the rear.

Now the sun must face—is already facing—exactly that contingency. While his armies are pushing forward for the invasion of France, the Russian forces are already across the German border to the east. The peril which Germany faces would seem to be more than doubled. One wonders whether the plans in "upper pigeonhole on the right of my desk" provide for that.

It is, no doubt, that certainty of Russian invasion which is responsible for the fiery haste with which the Germans are pushing their invasion of France. Their hope would seem to be to crush the French foe before the slow-moving Russian bear has time to strike.

Germany would indeed seem to have need of careful plans and off all the military genius of Von Moltke.

OHIO IN THE MIDST OF GREAT CAMPAIGN.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 7.—Ohio is in the midst of the greatest political campaign in its history. The first State-wide primaries, to be held Aug. 11, furnish a starter. Then, woman suffrage, anti-saloon and liquor forces will file three separate petitions to place constitutional senatorial amendments before the voters at the November elections. The regular State, Senatorial and Congressional campaigns will come as a matter of course.

Woman suffrage workers, defeated two years ago, when voters refused to write a "votes for women" clause in the State constitution, are back this year with an initiative petition to place a constitutional amendment providing equal suffrage on the ballot in November. This State will be one of the seven to vote on woman suffrage this fall. The National organization is concentrating its strength here, because Ohio is the largest State and is the most eastern. Suffragists believe if Ohio adopts equal suffrage, New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New Jersey will follow its lead when they vote on the question, next year.

Anti-saloon forces planned to place a constitutional amendment providing State-wide prohibition before the voters next year. Their plans were changed when liberal forces initiated an amendment which would repeal the present county option law and prevent a vote being taken on state-wide prohibition. The "drys" immediately circulated petitions to place a state-wide prohibition amendment before the voters at the same time—at the November election. Attorney General Hogan has ruled that in case both amendments should carry, the one receiving the largest number of affirmative votes would be written into the constitution.

The primaries have attracted the attention of politicians throughout the country because of the entrance of former United States Senator Joseph B. Foraker, of Cincinnati, into the Republican Senatorial race. He seeks to "come back," and is making his fight as a "stand pater." Showing much of his old-time vigor, that won for him the name of "Fire Alarm Joe," Foraker is campaigning the State giving his explanation of the now famous "Standard Oil Letters."

His opponents are Warren G. Harding, of Marion, former Lieutenant Governor, and former Congressman Ralph D. Cole, of Findlay. Harding always has been known as a staunch supporter and friend of Foraker. He jumped into the fight after a conference with the former Senator. What was discussed at the meeting has not been told. Cole is making his campaign as a protectionist. In the Democratic Senatorial race, Attorney General Timothy S. Hogan is opposed by former Congressman John J. Lentz, of Columbus, who is advocating Government ownership of telegraph lines; and John L. Zimmerman, of Springfield, who is making a quiet campaign. A. J. Garford, Elyria manufacturer, is the progressive candidate. He has no opposition at the primaries.

BUYERS' WEEK IN PORTLAND.

By United Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 7.—Hundreds of proprietors and representatives of stores in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Northern California and Western Idaho were in Portland to-day to stock up for the fall trade during the annual "Buyers' Week."

The merchants and jobbers have arranged their stocks and prices so as to attract the visitors.

This year the Jobbers' and Manufacturers' Association originated the idea of having a certain period each year for out-of-town merchants to do their shopping, and sent out 25,000 invitations.

The purchases of the visiting merchants last year amounted to more than $100,000.

"THE BEAR THAT WALKS LIKE A MAN."

In 1908, when Great Britain was in a state of great unrest over the encroachments of Russia in the Far East, Kipling wrote the poem called "The Truce of the Bear." The bear, of course, was Russia; the poem, a clever allegory warning the empire to beware of Muscovite friendship. But to-day England is hand in glove with "the bear that walks like a man," bound by the terms which hold together the "Triple Entente." Here is the poem:

The Truce of the Bear.
Yearly, with tent and rifle, our careless white men go
By the pass called Muttianee, to shoot in the vale below.
Yeafly by Muttianee he follows our white men in—
Matun, the old blind beggar, bandaged from brow to chin.

Eyeless, noseless and lipless—toothless, broken of speech,
Seeking his dole at the doorway, he mumbles his tale to each;
Over and over the story, ending as he began:
"Make ye no truce with Adam-zad—the Bear that walks like a man!"

"There was a flint in my musket—pricked and primed was the pan,
When I went hunting Adam-zad—the Bear that stands like a man.
I looked my last on the timber, I looked my last on the snow,
When I went hunting Adam-zad, fifty summers ago!"

"I knew his times and his seasons, as he knew mine, that fed
By night in the ripened maize field and robbed my house of bread;
I knew his strength and cunning, as he knew mine, that crept
At dawn to the crowded goat pens and plundered while I slept.

"Up from his stony playground—down from his well-dugged lair—
Out on the naked ridges ran Adam-zad the Bear;
Groaning, grunting and roaring, heavy with stolen meals,
Two long marches to northward, and I was at his heels!"

"Two full marches to northward, at the fall of the second night,
I came on mine enemy Adam-zad, all panting from his flight.
There was a charge in the musket—pricked and primed was the pan—
My finger crooked on the trigger—when he reared up like a man.

"Horrible, hairy, human, with paws like hands in prayer,
Making his supplication, rose Adam-zad the Bear!
I looked at the swaying shoulders, at the paunch's sway and swing,
And my heart was touched with pity for the monstrous, pleading thing.

"Touched with pity and wonder, I did not fire then * * *
I have looked no more on women—I have walked no more with men.
Nearer he tottered and nearer, with with paws like hands that pray—
From brow to jaw the steel-shod paw, it ripped my face away!"

"Sudden, silent and savage, searing as flame and blow—
Faceless I fell before his feet, fifty summers ago.
I heard him grunt and chuckle—I heard him pass to his den;
He left me blind in the darkened years and the little mercy of men.

"Now ye go down in the morning with guns of the newer style,
That load (I have felt) in the middle and range (I have heard) a mile,
Luck to the white man's rifle, that shoots so fast and true.
But—pay, and I lift my bandage and show what the Bear can do!"

(Flesh like slag in the furnace, knobbed and withered and gray—Matun, the old blind beggar, he gives good worth for his pay.)
"Rouse him at noon in the bushes, follow and press him hard—
Not from his ragings and roarings flinch ye from Adam-zad.

"But (pay, and I put back the bandage) this is the time to fear,
When he stands up like a tried man, tottering near and near;
When he stands up as pleading, in wavering, man-bruite guise,
When he veils the hate and cunning of the little, swinish eyes;

"When he shows as seeking quarter, with paws like hands in prayer,
That is the time of peril—the time of the Truce of the Bear!"
Eyeless, noseless and lipless, asking a dole at the door,
Matun, the old blind beggar, he tells it o'er and o'er;

Fumbling and feeling the rifles, warming his hands at the flame,
Hearing our careless white men talk of the morrow's game:
Over and over the story, ending as he began—
"There is no truce with Adam-zad, the Bear that looks like a man!"

CHAPTER V.

The Hunted Man.

That day was hot and windless with an unclouded sky—a day of brass and burning.

Long before any sound audible to human ears disturbed the noonday hush, a bobcat sunning on a log in a glade to which no trail led, pricked ears, rose, glanced over shoulder with a snarl and—of a sudden was no more there.

Perhaps two minutes later a succession of remote crashings began to be heard, a cumulative volume of sounds made by some heavy body forcing by main strength through the underbrush, and ceased only when a man broke into the clearing, pulled up, stood for an instant swaying, then reeled to a seat on the log, pillowing his head on arms folded across his knees and shuddering uncontrollably in all his limbs.

He was a young man who had been and would again be very personable. Just now he wore the look of one hounded by furies. His face was crimson with congested blood and streaked with sweat and grime; bluish veins throbbled in high relief upon his temples; his lips were cracked and swollen, his eyes haggard, his hands torn and bleeding. His shirt and trousers and "cruisers" were wrecks, the latter scorched, charred, and broken in a dozen places. Woods equipment he had none beyond a hunting knife belted at the small of his back. All else had been either consumed in the forest fire or stolen by his Indian guide—who had subsequently died while attempting to murder his employer.

Since that event, the man had succeeded in losing himself completely. In seeking shelter from the thunderstorm, he had lost touch with his only known and none too clearly located landmarks. Then, after a night passed without a fire in the lee of a ragged bluff, he had waked to discover the sun rising in the west and the rest of the universe sympathetically upside-down; and aimlessly ever since he had stumbled and blundered in the maze of those grimly reticent fastnesses, for the last few hours haunted by a fear of falling reason—possessed by a notion that he was dogged by furtive enemies—and within the last hour the puppet of blind, witless panic.

But even as he strove to calm himself and rest, the feeling that something was peering at him from behind a mask of undergrowth grew intolerably acute.

At length he jumped up, glared wildly at the spot where that something no longer was, flung himself frantically through the brush in pursuit of it, and—found nothing.

With a great effort he pulled himself together, clamped his teeth upon the promise not again to give way to hallucinations, and turned back to the clearing.

There, upon the log on which he had rested, he found—but refused to believe he saw—a playing card, a Trey of hearts, face up in the sun-glare.

With a gesture of horror, Alan Law fled the place.

While the sounds of his flight were still loud, a grinning half-breed guide stole like a shadow to the log, laughed derisively after the fugitive, picked up and pocketed the card, and set out in tireless, out-footed pursuit.

An hour later, topping a ridge of rising ground, Alan caught from the hollow on its farther side the music of clashing waters. Tortured by thirst, he began at once to descend in reckless haste.

What was at first a gentle slope covered with waist-deep brush and carpeted with leaf-mold, grew swiftly more declivitous, a mobay hillside, as steep as a roof, bare of underbrush, and sparsely sown with small cedars through whose ranks cool blue water twinkled far below.

The shelving moss-bede afforded treacherous footing; Alan was glad now and then of the support of a cedar, but these grew ever smaller, and more widely spaced and were not always convenient to his hand. He came hurrying down at headlong pace within sight of the eaves of a cliff—and precisely then the hillside seemed to slip from under him.

His heels flourished in the air, his back thumped a bed of pebbles thinly overgrown with moss. The stones gave, the moss-skin broke, he began to slide—grasped at random a youngish cedar which stayed him imperceptibly, coming away with all its puny roots—caught at another, no more substantial—and amid a shower of loose stones shot out over the edge and down a drop of more than thirty feet.

He was instantaneously aware of the sun, a molten ball wheeling madly in the cup of the turquoise sky. Then dark waters closed over him. He came up struggling and gasping, and struck out for something dark that rode the waters near at hand—something vaguely resembling a canoe.

But his strength was largely spent, his breath had been driven out of him by the force of the fall, and he had swallowed much water—while the field of his consciousness was stricken with confusion.

Within a stroke of an outstretched paddle, he flung up a hand and went down again.

Instantly one occupant of the canoe, a young and very beautiful woman in a man's hunting clothes, spoke a sharp word of command and, as her guide steadied the vessel with his paddle, rose in her place so surely that she scarcely disturbed the nice balance of the little craft, and curved her lithe body over the bow, head-foremost into the pool.

Mr. Law had, in point of fact, endured more than he knew; more than even a weathered woodsman could have borne without suffering. Forty-eight hours of such heavy woods-walking as he had put in to escape the forest fire, would have served to prostrate almost any man; add to this (ignoring a dozen other mental, nervous and physical strains) merely the fact that he had been half-drowned.

He experienced a little fever, a little delirium, then blank slumbers of exhaustion.

He awoke in dark of night, wholly unaware that thirty-six hours had passed since his fall. This last, however, and events that had gone before, he recalled with tolerable clearness—allowing for the sluggishness of a drowsy mind. Other memories, more vague, of gentle ministering hands, of a face by turns an angel's, a fiend's, and a dear woman's, troubled him even less materially. He was already sane enough to allow he had probably been a bit out of his head, and since it seemed he had been saved and cared for, he found no reason to quarrel with present circumstances.

Still, he would have been grateful for some explanation of certain phenomena which still haunted him—such as a faint, elusive scent of roses with a vague but importunate sense of a woman's presence in that darkened room—things manifestly absurd.

With some difficulty, from a dry throat, he spoke, or rather whispered: "Water!"

In response he heard someone move over a creaking floor. A sulphur match spluttered infamously. A candle caught fire, silhouetting—illusion, of course!—the figure of a woman in hunting shirt and skirt. Water splashed noisily. Alan became aware of someone who stood at his side, one hand offering a glass to his lips, the other gently raising his head that he might drink with ease.

Draining the glass, he breathed his thanks and sank back, retaining his grasp on the wrist of that unreal hand. It suffered him without resistance. The hallucination even went so far as to say, in a woman's soft accents:

"You are better, Alan?"

He sighed incredulously: "Rose!"

The voice responded "Yes!" Then the perfume of roses grew still more strong, seeming to fan his cheek like a woman's warm breath. And a miracle came to pass; for Mr. Law, who realized poignantly that all this was sheer, downright nonsense, distinctly felt lips like velvet caress his forehead.

He closed his eyes, tightened his grasp on that hand of phantasy, and muttered rather inarticulately:

The voice asked: "What is it, dear?"

He responded: "Delirium."

But I like it. . . . Let me rave!"

Then again he slept.

The Trey O' Hearts

If you've got a drop of red blood in your veins—if your heart beats one bit faster to the tune of romance—adventure—love and mystery—then you've something in store so far ahead of anything you've ever seen that you will never forget.

The Pictures The Universal Film Manufacturing Co., pronounced THE TREY O' HEARTS the best action story for film purposes they had seen in three years. They backed up their judgment by putting the punch and $200,000 cash into a set of pictures that are more than remarkable—they're simply extraordinary.

Won't Cost You One Red Penny You attend the movies—regularly. Instead of an ordinary film, you'll see graphically pictured by the best emotional actors and actresses in America—THE TREY O' HEARTS—a pace maker in pictures. So it won't cost you a nickle more to see it.

Mental Back Somersaults No matter how clever, you can't fathom the plot of THE TREY O' HEARTS one inch ahead of the scene you're viewing. It keeps you turning mental back somersaults all the way.

Full Reel Action in Every Foot The Universal Film Manufacturing Co., who are producing these films tell us that there is more action in every foot of THE TREY O' HEARTS than in a full reel of the ordinary scenario. And they should know. Thousands of scenarios go through their hands every year and they're investing $200,000 in putting THE TREY O' HEARTS on the screen. That's backing judgment. And their success in the moving picture business tells whether or not they know a good thing when they see it.

"The Trey O' Hearts" Is the Moving Picture Play You Want to See Produced in Weekly Installments at THE OLYMPIC Every Thursday Afternoon and Night

PRAIRIE AVENUE.

PRAIRIE AVENUE, Tex., Aug. 10.—Mrs. Ida Carroll left Saturday for Clovis, N. M., after a few weeks' visit at the M. E. Nations' home.

Quite a number from here attended the preaching services at Liberty Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dodson spent Sunday at the Joe Barrett home.

Clayton Williams spent Sunday at Sand Hill, visiting at the McClain residence.

Mrs. Joe Barrett was on the sick list last week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Underwood, of Lone Star, passed through here Monday morning on their way in a Ford automobile to New Mexico on a visit.

Mrs. Chas. Merrick, Jr., and sister, Lucy McGee, were the guests of Mrs. J. A. Pullen last Thursday.

Mr. W. S. Thomas and family, of Lincoln, Nebr., arrived Wednesday, and will make their home near Floydada. Mr. Thomas owns four sections near there.

Mrs. H. Hannon and daughter, Miss Esther, of Fort Worth, arrived Saturday to visit at the Ooley home a few weeks.

Miss Edith Edwards spent Saturday night at the Ooley home. She and Miss Hannon went to Plainview Sunday.

Miss Florida Pullen spent a few days at the K. Barker home, in Plainview, the first of the week.

OKLAHOMA MAN PREACHES.

Rev. Mr. Wassen Holds Services at Baptist Church.

Rev. Mr. Wassen, of Oklahoma, preached two excellent sermons Sunday morning and night at the Baptist Church.

There was a large attendance at both services, and four conversions during the day.

TO HOUSEPARTY IN NEW YORK.

Mrs. W. H. Mason Will Also Visit Her Mother, in Massachusetts.

Mrs. W. H. Mason leaves to-morrow to join a house party at Lake Skeneestles, New York.

After remaining there two weeks, Mrs. Mason will visit her mother, at Springfield, Mass., and will probably be absent the greater part of the fall and winter.

Call The Herald for Job Printing.

ABERNATHY.

Good rains recently, covering almost everybody's patch for miles around Abernathy, have caused great rejoicing and thanksgiving with most everyone you meet. Farmers, ranchmen, blacksmiths and merchants, doctors and preachers, too, meet on one common level of gratitude to the beneficent Giver of all good.

Do you want to know what Sudan everybody's patch for miles around outshines? Go look at Mr. D. H. Rosser's 50-acre patch. The present prospect is, if properly matured, harvested and marketed, he will realize three or four hundred dollars per acre.

R. M. Hester and wife, with Mrs. Annie Pearson, took a little outing the first of the week, calling on friends at Bartonsite and Norfleet.

Last Sunday night we closed quite a successful revival meeting at Bartonsite. Rev. Ed Williams, of Lockney, assisted the writer. Brother Williams is a fine preacher. The church was greatly revived and strengthened numerically.

Ed Hoffman and family, of Floyd County, were visiting with E. N. Wilkins last Friday. Saturday both families went up to Kress to visit, and worshipped with their preacher boys, Bailey and Charley, who were holding a revival at that place.

Rev. Mr. Foley, pastor of the Baptist Church, began a series of meetings at Abernathy Tuesday night.

This scribe, assisted by Rev. Z. R. Fee, of Plainview, will open a protracted meeting services at Pearce Chapel next Sunday.

W. W. Griffith recently sold his barbershop to Mr. Vanderslice and left last Monday for Chillicothe. While here Mr. Griffith and family made many friends, who greatly regret their removal from our midst, but we welcome Mr. Vanderslice as an enterprising young man, worthy of patronage and success.

Mrs. J. H. Johnson, of Holdenville, Okla., is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. N. Morrison, and her brothers, R. E. and H. M. Burch.

Rev. W. B. Davis and son, of Lamesa, spent Sunday night at the home of R. F. Ivey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sander and Miss Lou Sander spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives at Oton.

E. I. Kerr is in the Lamesa country on a business trip.

The Christian Endeavor held their regular monthly business meeting and social with the White young people Friday night. After the business meeting a very social time was spent, after which delightful peaches and cream were served.

The Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society held a meeting at the church Friday. The ladies spent the day, and enjoyed a very fine dinner at the noon hour. The Aid quilted a quilt, and at 3 o'clock Mrs. McCall gave a splendid talk on Morita's White. Mrs. McCall is a missionary spending a six months' vacation in the United States, after seven years spent in South America.

HONORING LITTLE DOROTHY JORDAN.

Mrs. H. V. Tull Entertains for Niece from Tennessee.

Mrs. H. V. Tull entertained with a lawn party Saturday afternoon from four to six at her beautiful suburban home, two miles east of Plainview.

The party was given in honor of her little niece, Dorothy Jordan, of Clarksville, Tenn.

Quite a large number of little folks were present, and delightful refreshments were served.

Amusement

The fifth installment of Lucile Love will be shown to-day at The Olympic.

Lucile and Loubeque are aboard the same vessel, and after a series of exciting scenes find themselves alone in a small boat. Though the avowed enemy of Lucile and her father, Loubeque shows the greatest consideration for the girl's comfort and care.

PARTY FOR MISS LUCILLE THOMAS.

Mrs. R. L. Faulkner Entertains for Niece from Amarillo.

Fourteen happy little girls and boys enjoyed a party yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. L. Faulkner, 395 Alexander Street.

The party was given for Mrs. Faulkner's little niece, Lucille Thomas, of Amarillo, and her little grandson, Tom Daniel, of Chattanooga, Tenn., in honor of his ninth birthday.

Guessing games, eight or nine in number, delighted the children for an hour or more. In one of these Ruth Towery won the prize, a pretty box of stationery.

Apricot ice cream and white loaf cake were served by Mrs. Faulkner, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. T. M. Daniel.

The children present were Lucille Thomas, Ruth Towery, Sadie Earl Adams, Helen Bolton, Agnes Coleman, Gladys Speer, Elizabeth Potts, Tom Daniel, Billie Bromley, Leslie Randolph, Chauncey Gidney, Charles White, Allen Potts, Earl Vaughn, Howard Towery, Lewis and Sam Thomas, of Amarillo, and Bill Daniel.

Mrs. B. L. Shook returned Sunday from Ballinger. Mrs. Shook visited a sister.

STONEBACK

The rain which came Tuesday night was one of the most welcome things received for some time. It did much good, both in the way of laying the dust and in refreshing the crops.

Robert Hudson is spending a few days at Plainview, taking in the sights.

A number of people from here enjoyed the supper given by the Mothers' Club at Hale Center Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Stanford and sister, Mrs. Alexander, were trading in Hale Center the first of the week.

Mr. Cleis and wife and children and a Mr. Calfield, of Archer County, are visiting in the home of M. S. Hudson. They report the Plains a lovely place.

MONEY STRENGTH OF NATIONS.

Resources of Triple Entente Exceed Those of Triple Alliance.

From the New York Telegram.

While the numerical strength of the armies of the great nations of Europe that may be drawn into war will be an important factor, just as important an element will be the financial strength of those countries with which to maintain such an expensive and costly war as may occur.

The resources of the countries composing the triple entente exceed those of the triple alliance, although the national debts of Great Britain, France and Russia are far beyond the aggregate indebtedness of those nations making up the triple alliance.

While the revenues of the United Kingdom, Russia and France are greater than those of Austria, Germany and Italy, it is interesting to note that the wealth of the United States is much greater than that of all the nations in the triple alliance combined, besides exceeding the resources of the Franco-Russian Alliance. Likewise, it is greater than that of the aggregate wealth of Russia and the United Kingdom.

Germany has a revenue of $879,656,000, expenditures $879,656,000, a debt of $1,177,418,999 and total wealth of 60 1/2 billion dollars; Austria, $636,909,000 revenue, $636,852,000 expenditure, $1,432,511,000 debt, 25 billion dollars total wealth; Italy, 512,000,000 revenue, $505,841,000 expenditure, $2,706,609,000 debt and 20 billion dollars total wealth, all comprising the triple alliance.

In the triple entente, the United Kingdom has $918,805,000 revenue, $917,929,000 expenditure, $2,485,818,000 debt and 80 billion dollars total wealth; France, $914,604,000 revenue, $914,550,000 expenditure, $6,282,675,000 debt and 65 billion dollars total wealth, and Russia, $1,674,038,000 revenue, $1,674,038,000 expenditure, $4,553,488,000 debt, and 40 billion dollars total wealth.

WEDDED AT PLAINVIEW.

Marriage of Mr. Whitworth and Miss Parsons.

Much interest and of a pleasant nature has been aroused in Waco by information regarding a wedding that occurred in Plainview, Texas, Tuesday, August 4. The contracting parties were H. C. Whitworth, of Plainview, and Miss Bess Parsons, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Parsons, of North Seventeenth Street, Waco.

The news of this event came somewhat as a surprise to friends of the bride, for the engagement had been kept so quiet that even intimate friends were not advised as to the consummation so near at hand. The ceremony was celebrated by Rev. I. E. Gates, formerly of Waco, and now president of the Baptist college at Plainview, and was witnessed by a small group of relatives and intimate friends at Plainview, where the bride had gone a few weeks ago to visit relatives there.

The friends of the young couple, here and elsewhere, will join in extending sincere good wishes for their lifelong happiness. Mr. Whitworth is a graduate of Baylor University and has a number of friends and acquaintances in Waco. He is now a commercial traveler, and is known to be a young man of splendid character and capable business traits. The bride of this wedding has spent most of her life in Waco, coming here with her parents, from Luling, perhaps twelve years ago, and has a large circle of friends in this city, especially among the students and graduates of Baylor University, where her last school days were spent. She is a young lady of amiable and pleasing personality, with accomplishments that fit her for social station, and Plainview is to be congratulated on such an acquisition to the social life of that city, as it is probable that Mr. and Mrs. Whitworth will reside there.—Waco Semi-Weekly Tribune.

IOWA AVE.

A surprise kitchen shower was given Saturday evening to Mr. Frank Hewett and wife by neighbors and friends. A goodly number was present, but the early shower kept some away. Many useful and beneficial presents were received, and regrets expressed that they could find no rolling pin to use on Frank. However, the broom came with this note: "In calm weather use the brush; in stormy, use the other." Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. At a late hour guests departed, expressing themselves as enjoying a pleasant evening.

E. E. Evans' family called on Mr. Campbell Sunday.

C. E. Hewett has had another horse badly cut on the wire fence.

Mr. Near and daughter, Martha, took dinner with the Hewett family Sunday.

Mr. Fern returned Wednesday from a visit to Kansas.

Rev. Bone and wife, of Hale Center, called at the Hewett home Tuesday evening, taking home some early fryers. As a rule, preachers like chicken, and Rev. Bone is no exception to the rule.

ELDER McCARTY PREACHES ON "THE IDENTITY OF THE CHURCH."

Dinner on the Ground is Feature of Revival at Tabernacle of Church of Christ.

"Identity of the Church" was the subject Sunday morning of Elder McCarty's sermon at the tabernacle. In the afternoon the Elder preached on the twenty-third Psalm, and at night on "The Two Ways."

At all of these services the tabernacle was filled with an attentive audience, eager to hear the words that fell from the lips of the man of God.

Nor were the material things forgotten. Dinner and supper were served on the grounds, and such a dinner and supper!—chicken fried and "pied," with everything else good in proportion. There was enough for all provided by the members of the Church of Christ, who are holding the meeting.

The meeting will continue until Wednesday.

DINNER PARTY HONORING TEMPLE GUESTS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Jr., Entertain with Informal Lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Jr., were the hosts Friday night for a delightful, though informal, dinner, complimentary to Miss Lucile Scott, of Temple, her brother, Arthur Scott, and her guests, who are Miss Harrel, of Gainesville; Miss Gaither, of Kentucky, and Miss Lewis, of Temple.

The additional guests were Miss Edna Harrington and Messrs. Austin and Jennings Anderson.

Arthur L. Deaton, who has been spending several weeks in Plainview, left for Fort Worth to-day.

CROSBY COUNTY WHEAT MAKES GOOD YIELD.

More Than Thirty Bushels an Acre Was Raised in Fields Near Crosbyton.

Crosby County is producing good wheat this year, and already a large quantity has been sold at very profitable prices, with a good prospect that the remainder will bring more.

As illustration of what has been done in the country with wheat, it may be mentioned that one field belonging to the C B Livestock Company yielded a little more than twenty-nine bushels per acre, according to the thresher records, and a smaller field of six acres, belonging to the same company, yielded, according to thresher records, thirty-four bushels per acre. In the latter field some of the crop had been damaged by hogs before threshing time, it is said, and, besides, a considerable quantity was fed to stock, so no account was taken of it.

M. Shaw sold his abstract business a few days ago to R. Taylor Woodson, formerly of Arkansas, but recently residing in Abilene.—Crosbyton Review.

Rev. J. M. Harder left to-day for Panhandle. Rev. Harder will attend the Palo Duro Baptist Association, which meets in Panhandle August 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th.

TYPHOID FEVER.

By RALPH STEINER, Austin, State Health Officer.

Cause.

But one germ can cause typhoid fever, and that is the typhoid bacillus. Before it can produce disease it must be swallowed into the stomach and pass the intestines. Every person who contracts typhoid fever has previously swallowed unwholesome food or water. The typhoid germ is carried by the fly, and unsanitary conditions are its direct cause.

Prevention.

Do not let sewage mix with surface soil or seep into wells, springs, creeks or rivers. Screen all houses, out-houses and stables. Keep stables and barns free from manure.

Vaccination will absolutely prevent typhoid fever, and the practice is safe, simple and sane.

FOR SALE—Six-room modern house. Plastered; tinted walls; quarter-sawn white oak woodwork and floors. Two, four or twelve lots. 1301 Wayland Boulevard. J. C. GOODWIN, Phone 249. —Adv. 3t.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Moore returned to Tullia to-day. They have been visiting Mr. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Moore.

J. B. Downs, of Lockney, was in Plainview to-day.

HALE CENTER

The Needlework Club held a delightful picnic on the Claxton Lawn. It was a merry crowd, and such a "feast of good things!" These good women are as well versed in things culinary as they are in embroidering.

Miss Clara Head, who has been spending the month with her brother, Lee Kemmerer, left for her home, in Illinois, Tuesday.

A. I. Anderson and family have moved to Amarillo. Mr. Anderson loaded his things on a car. The family drove through in their Cadillac. Their going will be very much missed.

Dr. Sanders has threshed his irrigated wheat. He is very well satisfied with the yield.

Mrs. Mary Gantt, of Fort Worth, who has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Elliott, went to Tullia to visit relatives.

George Herbert has returned home from the Sanitarium in Plainview.

Mrs. Fred Stalling has returned to her home, at Farwell, Texas, after a visit with friends.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS TO MEET.

All Christian Scientists and those interested in Christian Science are earnestly requested to meet every night at eight o'clock at the home of L. C. Penry, 815 Slaton St.
