COUNTY CONVENTION FAVORS C. A. CULBERSON'S CANDIDACY

Wilson Administration Is Endorsed in Resolution; Delegates to Conventions Elected.

Hale Center controlled the Hale County Democratic convention Saturday afternoon, having the largest number of accredited delegates present.

A. B. Martin and J. J. Roberts were appointed delegates to the State Convention. R. W. Lemoine and Dr. J. C. Anderson were appointed alternates.

C. S. Williams is the delegate to the Seventh Supreme Judicial Convention. Barnett O'Bryan, editor of The Hale Center Record, is delegate to the Congressional Convention, Nick Alley, of Hale Center, to the District Judicial Convention, and W. W. Kirk to the Legislative Convention.

Resolutions were introduced and passed favoring the candidacy of Chas. A. Culberson for the United States Senate. The Wilson administration was endorsed by another resolution.

IVEY KILLING WAS OVER TERM OF CONTRACT DISPUTE.

Body of Richard Ivey Was Buried at Mount Calm Cemetery Sunday Morning.

Richard Ivey, who was shot by Tim Luckey, it is alleged, at Mount Calm, Texas, last Friday, was buried in the Mount Calm Cemetery Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Ivey, parents of the deceased man, arrived this morning.

It is reported that Ivey had rented from the Luckey brothers on a sub-contract. A disagreement over the execution of the contract arose. Guns were brought into play by the Luckeys, it is alleged, prior to the killing, and on complaint by Ivey an arrest was made. It is stated that Ivey paid half the fine imposed.

The Luckeys had left the place, and returned on Thursday night. Apparently their mission was friendly. They slept on the porch of the house occupied by Ivey. In the morning, when Ivey went to feed his stock, they followed him to the barn. A shotgun had been borrowed from a neighbor by one of the men. The other bought the shells. Mrs. Ivey heard the men talking in loud tones and started for the barn, fearing trouble. Before she reached the barn she heard a shot, and hurrying she found her husband dead.

The Luckeys went in opposite directions after the killing, one of them leaving the shotgun in a buggy at a neighbor's house. Tim Luckey walked five miles to give himself up to the officers for protection.

It is alleged that Tim Luckey did the shooting. Both are in jail, having been refused bail. The case will probably come up in the September term of district court for Limestone County, at Groesbeck.

Richard Ivey leaves a wife and three children, seven, five and one year old, respectively.

FIRE AT SILVERTON.

Monday evening G. A. Nix had the misfortune to lose all his household goods by fire. It seems that everyone was away from the house at the time of the fire, and no one knows just how it started. Before any one could do anything the house was a mass of flames. The house and contents was a total loss, with no insurance. The house was owned by Jno. Burson.—Silverton Star.

LIGHTNING KILLS CATTLE.

A cow and calf on A. Van Howling's farm, five miles south of Plainview, were struck and killed by lightning Sunday afternoon. They were near a wire fence, which conducted the current.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Read and daughter, Cathrine, of Deport, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Read and family.

WHAT IT COST CANDIDATES.

Non-filing of Expense Accounts Indictable Offense—Yesterday Was the Last Day.

Most of the candidates in Hale County have filed their expense accounts with County Judge W. B. Lewis—but some haven't. Failure to file expense accounts within the time required by law is an indictable offense, and Monday was the last day.

Cigars, cold drinks, etc., are barred by the law.

The lowest expense accounts were those of Farris Frye and J. W. McDaniels, the only expense incurred being placing their name on the ballot.

Here is what it cost the several candidates to make the race:

W. M. Jeffus, $81.00.
B. H. Towery, $132.65.

Outline of Farm Loan Act

As Signed by President Woodrow Wilson on July 17, 1916.

The act provides for the creation of 12 Federal land banks and permits the establishment of any number of joint-stock land banks for the purpose of making loans at a reasonable rate of interest, for long periods of time, on farm lands.

A Federal Farm Loan Board has complete control over these banks.

(A) FEDERAL LAND BANKS.

Twelve Federal land banks are provided, one in each of 12 districts into which the country will be divided. These banks are empowered to lend on first mortgages on farm lands in amounts of $100 to $10,000 for approved purposes. The loans are to be made through farm loan associations and agents. No loan may be made for more than 50 per cent of the value of the land mortgaged and 20 per cent of the value of the permanent improvements upon it.

National farm loan associations—local organizations composed exclusively of borrowers—are authorized. These associations must be stockholders in the land banks in proportion to the amount their members wish to borrow. Eventually all stock in the Federal land banks will be owned exclusively by these associations.

A reasonable interest rate is established. The act prohibits the Federal land bank from charging more than 6 per cent on any mortgage, or requiring fees not approved by the Farm Loan Board.

The borrowers will share in the net profits of the bank, because they are stockholders. It is contemplated that ultimately the borrowers will be the only stockholders.

Long-term loans are provided by authorizing mortgages for periods of from 5 up to 40 years.

Small annual or semi-annual payments on the principal are made a required feature of all mortgages.

(B) JOINT-STOCK LAND BANKS.

Joint-stock land banks are authorized. They are corporations for carrying on the business of lending on farm-mortgage security and issuing farm-loan bonds. They are to be under the supervision of the Farm Loan Board, but the Government will not invest in them. Subject to geographical limitations and subject to the 50 and 20 per cent limitation, these banks can lend to an individual any amount they wish, and for any purpose. They can not charge an interest rate exceeding 6 per cent, and such rate must not exceed by more than 1 per cent the interest they have paid on their last issue of bonds. Their mortgages, however, must provide for amortization payments. These banks are prohibited from charging, under any pretext, fees or commissions other than those authorized by the act.

TRUSTEES SEEK SANITATION.

Will Offer Prize to School Keeping Premises in Best Condition.

To stimulate interest in sanitation, the County Board of Education, in their regular meeting Friday, decided to offer a prize to the school in Hale County which shall keep its premises, including school grounds, buildings and out-houses, in the cleanest and most sanitary condition during the coming term. The board recommended that interested individuals or firms give other prizes for second and third places.

A vote of thanks was given J. M. Adams for the medal offered by him for the best pupil in the rural schools of Hale County.

The board decided to continue granting diplomas, of good design, to pupils graduating from the seventh grade and from high schools of the county. This has been a custom of the board for the past four years. A certificate of merit is to be awarded each child who attends a term without being absent or tardy. A library certificate is to be given each child which reads as many as five volumes of the public libraries of the schools.

The board pledged its support and whatever encouragement possible to the nominated County Judge, Charles Clements.

The next meeting of the board will be September 6, at which time they will classify the schools of the county. This is also the date set for the County Teachers' Institute.

Dr. W. R. Ferguson, of Hale Center, is suffering from torn ligaments in his right ankle. While performing an operation on a horse Friday the animal got loose and pawed him. In his efforts to get out of the way he threw all his weight on one foot, and the strain caused the injury.

DAVENPORT SLIDES SHOW HOW IOWA CITY BEAUTIFIED ITSELF.

All Classes Became Interested in Making Their Home Town Attractive.

Sunday afternoon, at The Mae I., the slides showing the beautiful yards entered in the Rotary Club's beautiful yard contest at Davenport, Iowa, were shown. Col. R. P. Smyth, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices the pictures were shown, read an accompanying explanation of the various pictures.

The achievement of the Rotary Club of Davenport in improving the appearance of the town through nice prizes for beautiful yards attracted the attention of The Ladies' Home Journal, which publication is sending the pictures and the lecture over the country in the interest of the movement.

All classes in Davenport have been interested in making that city the city beautiful. The laboring class and the wealthy class alike are participating. There are divisions for those who do all their own work, in which cash or other valuable prizes are offered. Where part of the work is hired smaller cash prizes are awarded. Where none of the work is done by the owner only honors are given.

The contests, which have been conducted for three years, have meant much in the civic improvement of Davenport.

CITY TAXABLE VALUATIONS ARE NEARLY $3,000,000.

An estimate of the city valuations for 1916 is $2,900,000. It is probable that the valuations will reach $3,000,000. Totals last year were $2,811,107. Un-rendered property on the rolls shows a decrease over last year, a compliance to those making the canvass.

F. W. Clinkscales and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ware, Miss Helen Ware, Dibs Haynie, and Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Carter left Saturday in their cars on a pleasure trip through Southern Colorado.

VALUE OF HOGS IN COUNTY 145 PER CENT ABOVE 1915

All Classes of Livestock Show Big Increase Over Previous Year.

Farm and city property valuations in Hale County have been but slightly changed by the Commissioners' Court.

The increase in stock of all kinds, however, is indicative of the development of the county. According to County Tax Assessor J. N. Jordan's books, the total valuations in Hale County for 1915 was $7,512,475; in 1916, $7,680,000. The increase is largely in stock, since no change was made in valuations of land.

The phenomenal increase in hog valuations in Hale County is notable. In 1915 there were 8,640 hogs in the county, valued at $15,780; in 1916, 19,375 hogs, valued at $38,745, an increase in valuation of 145 per cent.

In 1915 there were 7,320 sheep, valued at $10,980; in 1916, 9,045 sheep, valued at $14,650. There were in 1915 7,532 horses, valued at $301,280; in 1916, 7,854 horses, valued at $336,000.

SCHOOL CREDIT FOR FARM TASKS IS PROPOSED.

Farm May and Should Become Logical Laboratory for Testing Out Much Taught at School.

The idea that certain practical work done by boys and girls on the farm should count as credits in the agricultural courses of the rural elementary and high schools is growing rapidly in popularity among educators. The basis for this idea is the belief that the farm may and should become the logical laboratory for testing out and putting into practice much that is taught in the schools, and that the schools by giving credit for home work can and should encourage boys and girls to make profits for themselves or to become more directly helpful to their families. Educators, however, find some difficulty in defining just what work that the boy does on the farm should receive an educational credit and how many credits should be allotted for the different kinds of work which really help the boy to master progressive methods.

To assist the superintendents of schools and teachers, the specialists in Agricultural Education in the States Relations Service have recently published U. S. Department of Agriculture Bulletin 385, "School Credits for Home Practice in Agriculture." This bulletin, which may be had free by educators as long as the Department's supply lasts, devotes a number of pages to tables and examples showing the nature of school credit projects and the amount of credit to be granted. It is recognized, however, that real co-operation on the part of the parent is essential, and the author thus defines the part the parent must play in any plan for making school and farm work closer together in the interest of agricultural education:

The parent should agree: (1) To permit the pupil to use specified land, animals, and equipment, either as a temporary owner or as a tenant so far as the needs of the project are concerned; (2) to grant the pupil the time needed for the work and to verify and vouch for the time record; (3) to instruct the pupil in the necessary manipulation so far as practicable; (4) to allow the pupil the profits derived from his own labor and management. The last point is not always feasible, particularly where the pupil takes up one phase of the main business of the farm, such as the weighing and testing of milk for a dairy herd.

The parent must at least give an unbiased voucher of the time and expense record, and a statement that the project work was all done by the pupil. In the absence of an advisory committee or an inspector, the parent is the judge as to when the pupil has accomplished a task successfully.

Where the pupil's time is much needed by the parent in regular home duties it is well to advise that the pupil take over some part of that home work as a project. This will insure the co-operation of the parents, although the "managerial" income may not come to the pupil.

The school should not only give credit for work for which the pupil receives pay, but should consider the relative income or profit as one important factor in determining the school rank given on the project.

To insure success, it will be very desirable to have a memorandum of agreement signed by all parties before the project begins; a report in full from the pupil, and a voucher from the parent at the end.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.

THE STATE OF TEXAS,

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Hale County—GREETING:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED, That you summon, by making Publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Hale, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 64th Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said judicial district, then in a newspaper published in the nearest district to said 64th Judicial District, for four weeks previous to the return day hereof, T. H. Davis, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the Honorable District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the County of Hale, at the Court House thereof, in Plainview, Texas, on the 7th day of August, 1916, then and there to answer a Petition filed in said Court, on the 24th day of January, A. D. 1916, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 1206, wherein Annie May Davis is plaintiff and T. H. Davis is defendant. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit:

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF HALE,
IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF HALE COUNTY, TEXAS, AUGUST TERM, A. D. 1916.

To the Honorable District Court of said County:

Now comes Mrs. Annie May Davis, hereinafter called plaintiff, who resides in the said Hale County, Texas, complaining of T. H. Davis, hereinafter called defendant, who resides in Hale County, Texas, and, praying for a divorce for grounds, says:

1. That on or about the 24th day of November, A. D. 1907, plaintiff was duly and legally married to defendant in the County of Oklahoma, State of Oklahoma, and continued to live with him as his wife until about the 27th day of November, A. D. 1915.

2. That plaintiff has been an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas for a period of twelve months, and has resided in said County of Hale, where this suit is filed, a period of six months next preceding the filing thereof, having become an inhabitant of said State in the year of our Lord 1909, and a resident of said County on the 10th day of April, A. D. 1915.

3. That at all times, while married to the defendant, plaintiff has conducted herself with propriety, doing her duty as a wife, has at all times treated defendant with kindness and forbearance, and has been guilty of no act bringing about or causing the herein-after described acts, omissions and conditions on defendant's part.

4. That defendant disregarded the solemnity of his marriage vow, and his obligation to treat plaintiff with kindness and attention, within about a year after their said marriage, commenced a course of unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct toward her, which continued, with very slight intermission, until she finally separated from him, on or about the 27th day of November, A. D. 1915. That on divers occasions, while plaintiff lived with defendant as aforesaid, he was guilty of excesses, cruel treatment and outrages toward her, of such a nature as to render their living together insupportable.

5. That on or about the 1st day of February, A. D. 1913, at Newsome, Camp County, Texas, when plaintiff's and defendant's oldest child was sick, defendant, in a harsh and brutal manner, told plaintiff to bring him some medicine. That plaintiff was so hurt and shocked by said conduct of defendant that she hesitated or paused in going for said medicine and stopped by a window. That defendant became so enraged at plaintiff that he approached her in a very threatening manner and took hold of plaintiff's person in a cruel and brutal manner and addressed to her most opprobrious epithets and made threats of personal violence, saying "G— damn you, I've a great notion to kill you," under circumstances which showed utter disregard for plaintiff's health, if not her life, and plaintiff was greatly frightened.

6. That, in Vernon, Wilbarger County, Texas, in the month of December, A. D. 1913, defendant made arrangements with one Professor Gilley for defendant and plaintiff to live in the house with said Prof. Gilley which was at that time occupied by said Gilley. Defendant had agreed that he would furnish groceries for the common table and that plaintiff would cook and keep house for them, and that said Gilley would furnish the house and its furnishings. That plaintiff's wishes were not consulted in regard to said arrangement before said arrangement was made, and that plaintiff, upon learning of same, objected to agreement on the ground that said house was too dirty to live in. Defendant, without just cause or provocation, became angry at plaintiff and addressed to her such opprobrious epithets, saying "You G— damn whore," etc., and threats of personal violence as to put her in great fear of her health if not her life. That plaintiff, always solicitous of the welfare of defendant's financial interest, agreed and did accept with defendant said proposition of said Gilley, and moved into said house occupied by said Gilley. That sometime afterwards, the plaintiff being unable to fix the exact date thereof, the wife of said Gilley returned to live with him in said house. That, although plaintiff endeavored to be compatible with said Mrs. Gilley, their association together in the same house became unbearable to plaintiff, and plaintiff told defendant that she could no longer live under the existing arrangement. Defendant said that that was the best that he could do at that time. Plaintiff then suggested that she would go to visit her sister, who resided in Wichita Falls, Texas, until defendant could make other arrangements for a house, and thereby relieve him of the expense of paying hotel fare for that time. That defendant did not want plaintiff to go to Wichita Falls, and said that he would not let her have the money to pay her railroad fare. That defendant, for no reason known to plaintiff, became angry at plaintiff, and addressed to her such opprobrious epithets and threats of violence, saying "G— damn you, I have a good notion to cut your G— damn throat," all of which put plaintiff in great fear of her life.

7. That defendant, within a year after their said marriage, commenced cruel, harsh and indifferent course of conduct toward plaintiff, which continued throughout the time that she lived with him as his wife. That defendant, utterly disregarding plaintiff and unkindful of plaintiff's refined nature and her social position, continually, upon leaving home on business, or for other reasons, would leave plaintiff without funds with which to purchase the daily necessities for herself and children. That such treatment was not only embarrassing to the extent of cruelty, but it often left plaintiff without food sufficient for her absolute needs, and as a result of such treatment plaintiff's health was damaged and plaintiff was made to suffer needlessly therefrom.

8. That on or about the 27th day of November, A. D. 1915, plaintiff tried to talk over long distance telephone to defendant, who was at that time in Amarillo, Texas. That defendant, after being told who wanted to talk to him, denied that he had a wife and that any such person wanting to talk to him was an impostor and a fake. That such denial of marriage was of a most cruel and inhuman character, and that plaintiff suffered great mental agony therefrom, being destitute and among strangers.

9. That in consequence of the cruel and inhuman treatment above mentioned, together with the threats aforesaid, and such brutal and outrageous conduct towards her as rendered it unsafe for her to live with him or remain within the reach of his violence, she was, on or about the 27th day of November, A. D. 1915, obliged to leave, and did leave, the house of said defendant and go to her friends, since which time she has not dared to return to his said house or to live with him.

10. That during the marriage of plaintiff and defendant, they have had born to them as issue of such marriage, two children, both female; Feraby Mae, age 7 years, and Neva E'Lois, age two years, who are still living that plaintiff is able to bring up and educate said children properly in that plaintiff has relatives who are provided with means and who have expressed assurance that they will assist plaintiff in bringing up and educating said children; that defendant is not able to bring up or educate said children properly, because his business takes him from place to place, and he would not be able to care for said children if he was so inclined; that plaintiff is and would be prudent toward such children, but defendant would not because he often becomes intoxicated and remains so for days at a time, and is not therefore morally fit to be custodian of the persons and education of such children; that it would be right and proper to award the custody and education of said children to plaintiff instead of to defendant because of the sex of said children.

11. Wherefore plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to answer this petition; that on final hearing plaintiff have judgment dissolving the marriage between plaintiff and defendant; that plaintiff have the care, custody and education of the said children of said marriage, and for such other and further relief as the court shall think proper to grant, or as plaintiff may be entitled to, either at law or in equity, and for costs of this suit.

AUSTIN F. ANDERSON,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, And have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Plainview, this the 26th day of June, A. D. 1916.

A Carload of Bewley's Best Flour Just Arrived

In the face of a rising market on flour we bought this flour right and mean to give our customers the advantage of our purchase. While they last we will give a neat little cook book with each sack of this flour sold.

Bewley's Best Means Better Baking of Bread, Pastry, Biscuit and Cake

Many pages might be written to cover the story of how Bewley's Best Blue Ribbon Flour is made, of how the grain is selected, cleaned, inferior grains eliminated, etc.—of the preserving and preparing of these best grains for use in this brand of flour—of the process of grinding, sifting and purifying until all is put into by products and lower grades, leaving only the white, sound granules of uniform size and composition for the cream of the mill,—the Blue ribbon brand. The fact could be established that a barrel of this flour will make more loaves, absorb more water, give more strength, be more economical, etc., than any other flours.

We will not attempt to relate the whole story. All we ask is that you try a sack with your next order.

JOHN LUCAS, Agent

U. S. SUGGESTS MEANS OF ALLEVIATING TEXAS DROUGHT.

Senator Morris Sheppard recently called to the attention of the United States Geological Survey the existence of severe drought in a portion of Southwestern Texas, and suggested to the Director of the Survey the advisability of utilizing at this time the available information derived from investigations of the ground waters in the area. The data upon which the report now issued is based represent but one of the many lines of work that have been carried on by the Survey during the last 10 years in States bordering the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean. Practically all parts of the United States are visited at one time or another by protracted droughts, but not all are so fortunate as portions of Southwestern Texas, where abundant supplies of good underground water are available.

For a number of years the Geological Survey has been investigating the underground water conditions in Southern Texas, and the results of these investigations in a part of the area are now made public in advance of the complete report, in order to meet the needs of the region where there is at present a deficiency in rainfall. The area covered comprises thirteen counties—Atascosa, Karnes, Bee, Refugio, Aransas, McMullen, Live Oak, San Patricio, Duval, Jim Wells, Brooks, Nueces, and Kleberg. A large part of this region has been examined for the Survey by Alexander Deussen. The possibility of obtaining water from wells in these counties is set forth below, with a general statement of the quality of the water and the cost of completing wells. It is hoped that the presentation of this information at this time may in a measure alleviate the effects of deficient rainfall and lead to the permanent use of water supplies from underground sources in some localities where such waters are more healthful than surface waters.

Water Occurs in Sandstone Beds.

In order to understand and utilize the facts here presented it is necessary to realize that practically all the underground water in this region occurs in openings between grains of sand and sandstone and that the water-bearing beds underlie the surface in broad sheets. The depths to these beds vary from place to place, because of differences in altitude of the surface and because the beds themselves are inclined gently seaward. For this reason, in order to apply to any particular locality the depths given below, it will be necessary to take account of variations in altitude as well as of the inclination of the beds toward the sea. Along lines drawn parallel to the coast through the points for which the depths to water-bearing beds are given the depths are practically uniform, and between these lines and the coast they increase gradually and on the landward side they decrease gradually.

Cost of Wells.

Wells in this part of the State can be completed at 50 cents to $5 a foot, the cost depending on depth on location. Wells 200 to 300 feet deep can in general be drilled and cased at not over $2 a foot. Dug wells not more than 75 feet deep can be made and cased at about the same figure. Wells as deep as 2,000 feet will cost for drilling and casing $5 a foot, though in some places they may be finished for as little as $3.50 a foot.

For wells that do not flow pumping equipment will also be needed. This will cost from $100 to $1,500 or more, the cost depending on the amount of water to be pumped. An average windmill outfit and earthen reservoir suitable for the irrigation of a small garden or watering stock will cost about $200, though in some places this cost might be considerably reduced.

KANSAS CITY STOCK MARKET IN DETAIL.

KANSAS CITY STOCK YARDS. July 28.—The cattle market settled down to a more even basis this week, 20 to 35 cents above the worst point last week. A reduction of 9,000 in the supply, as compared with last week, was instrumental in effecting the improvement, although commission men believe the outlet will prove ample from now on for all the cattle that come.

Beef Steers.

Nothing strictly in the dry-lot class was here, but such steers, if prime, would sell upwards of $10.25. Good Missouri corn-and-grass steers sold up to $10.05, medium and plain ones downwards to $8.75, choice pulp-fed steers $9.25 to $9.35. Kansas wintered steers of best grade sold at $8.00 to $8.75 this week, and medium steers brought $7.40 to $7.75, weights of the latter up to 1,150. Medium-flesh grass steers from Kansas and Oklahoma weighing 950 to 1,100 pounds sold at $6.50 to $7.25, and common light Oklahoma steers sold as low as $5.75. About 35 cars of good fed Texas steers were received, and they sold at $7.50 to $8.25. Cows are comparatively scarce, and best fed cows bring $7.00 to $7.50, good grass cows $5.80 to $6.50, medium and common cows $5.00 to $5.50, bulls $5.50 to $6.50, veals up to $11.00.

Stockers and Feeders.

Plenty of buyers came in the first of the week to clean up everything that came in, at an advance of 25 to 40 cents, and commission men had no chance to work on their accumulated orders, which are heavy. It is possible that a heavy run next week might break prices again, but dealers believe the demand will be ample from now on. Most of the stock steers are selling at $6.50 to $7.25, feeders $6.75 to $7.75, a few choice steers in each class up to $8.00 or better, stock cows and heifers $5.00 to $6.75.

Hogs.

Hog prices have averaged slightly higher this week than last, although packers say the hot weather has cut down consumption immensely, and that the main trade now is in smoked meats and product. Receipts are larger than a year ago, but not excessive. Light hogs have sold better this week, wiping out part of the margin between them and heavy hogs. Pigs are scarce, as health among hogs is widespread. Receipts were only 3,000 today, market strong, top $9.77 1/2, bulk $9.50 to $9.75, light weights up to $9.70.

The market showed strength Monday, and has advanced steadily, buyers' orders Thursday and Friday being extremely urgent and with most elastic price limits. Receipts are largely confined to natives, and are very light. Prime Idaho lambs would sell up to $10.70, Arizonas and natives only slightly less, nearly a dollar above a week ago, yearlings $8.75 or better, wethers $8.00, ewes $7.65. Breeding ewes brought $9.00 this week, for anything good under five years old, and a drove of choice feeding lambs would bring $9.25.

CURES HOG MEAT FOR FARMERS AT COST OF $1.25 PER ANIMAL.

Paris and Three Other Cities Are Erecting Municipal Abattoirs; Increase Is Predicted.

Ed R. McCulston, Mayor of Paris, Texas, and a graduate of the University of Texas, addressed the Farmers' Institute which has just adjourned on the subject of the municipal abattoir. He told how in the beginning there was universal opposition to this innovation, but how opposition had gradually dwindled down until there is none now, and how the idea had become so popular that Lamar County was adding a curing plant to the abattoir put up by Paris, to the end that the farmers of that section might have fresh kill in July, when feed, green feed, is cheap. He dare not kill him, because he cannot keep the meat. Now, when Lamar County gets the curing plant finished, the farmer can bring his hog to the abattoir, have him inspected, slaughtered, receive the portions such as the backbone that are usually consumed fresh, and go on back home with a fine mess of fresh meat. When he comes to town the next time, say in three weeks, he will receive cured as well as any packing plant could cure them, the hams, shoulders, and sides of bacon. The fee for all this work will not be above $1.25 per animal."

Mayor McCulston stated further that there were four municipal abattoirs going up in Texas now, and if people generally knew as much about the workings of one as do the people of Paris, Texas, there would be 200 built in Texas within the next year.

MRS. LANDRUM WILL TAKE VACATION IN CALIFORNIA.Hopes to Give Work in Culture of Silk Worms for Members of Home Economics Clubs.

Austin, Texas, July 27, 1916.

Dear Club Girls:

I wish I could see all the girls who remained at home the past week and tell them of the good times that we had at the recent convention, just closed. I think it would be nice if every club would get the club picture and keep it in your club rooms, that you may show the other girls what a nice delegation we had in Austin. Any of the visiting girls to Austin can get the club picture of the general assembly for 75c; and of the group pictures, unmounted, for 50c, or mounted, 75c, from Elliott's, the photographer, Austin, Texas. A number of the counties had their pictures taken, and they are very pretty indeed.

I think it was one of the greatest conventions that I have ever attended. I was so glad to welcome the old club girls and receive the new clubs, and I hope every girl who was here had the pleasure of enlarging her acquaintance with the other girls of Texas.

Now, girls, the vacation days have come for those who have been at work all the summer. Yours began early. My vacation and that of Mrs. Wyatt will be enjoyed some time in August, and, as I will be in California and Mrs. Wyatt in New York, we will ask you to go right on with your work just as if we were here to write to you and receive your letters. See how much you can put up for the fairs and your home consumption. There are going to be many prizes offered for the girls' exhibits at the fairs this year. To the girls of the Waco section, see how much you can do for the Cotton Palace exhibits. To the girls of South Texas, I wish you to work for the Corpus Christi-Gulf Coast Exposition. Let us have good exhibits this year. I will send your fruit home as carefully as I can. Please write your name and paste it on the bottom of any jar that you expect to send to the fairs.

I wish the girls who had the pleasure of hearing the silk-worm-industry lecture would tell the other girls about it and agitate the silk-worm culture in your communities. I am going to give you a course of study along the lines of this industry this fall in connection with a good full course of shelter and clothing. Every club could have a good silk-worm industry. Plant the white mulberry trees at once, as that is all you need for the food. To those who have this variety of trees, take care of them and let's get real busy. Just think what a lovely course of work for the fall together with our school savings-banks work! These things will interest the boys as well as the girls, I am sure.

Now, for fear I will make my letter too long for the kind editor of your paper, I will close. I will write you from California. I am to be on a program at the Boys' and Girls' Indian School. I will tell you everything that we see that is of interest to you. Now, with lots of love to you and the dear chaperones who came with you and the dear girls who remained at home, I am,

Cordially,
MRS. J. L. LANDRUM.STRAW AS A FEED.

Straw is worth more for feed than most men realize. The wasteful way in which straw is usually blown into irregular, rambling piles shows how little its feeding value is appreciated. In some stock-producing sections the straw is carefully stacked. It costs little to do it. Even one extra man can work wonders in shaping the straw pile as it comes from the blower. He saves many tons of straw from drifting into loose, billowy shapes that take water with the first rain and rot.

What straw is not needed for bedding can be used as the main winter ration for dry cows and for idle horses. This is the usual procedure in some parts of the country. When straw is made the sole maintenance there is commonly some loss of flesh and of vitality as the winter advances. When a little silage, clover, alfalfa, cottonseed meal or oilmeal is also given the wintering is both cheap and satisfactory. Even so small an allowance as 1 to 1½ pounds daily of cottonseed meal per head balances the straw ration nicely. Silage benefits by the succulence it provides, and does much more good than equal nourishment in field-cured fodder.

Much of America's production of cottonseed meal and oilmeal still goes across the Atlantic for just such use by thrifty old-country feeders who save their straw more carefully than we save hay. By following this example our baby-beef producers succeed in keeping their breeding cows at very low cost. They have their best hay and all their grain left with which to fatten the calves at an early age, when the most beef can be made per bushel. Some of these men have figured it out that baby-beef production on this plan allows a greater consumption of rough feed and a smaller consumption of grain per year than any other plan of cattle breeding or feeding. Even this year of abundant hay it will pay to save and use the straw.

PRUNING ALFALFA PROPERLY.

Alfalfa has somewhat more the habits of a tree than most of our forage plants, though fortunately the buds come in succession instead of once a year. When alfalfa is pruned we get the same effect as with the tree. The sap is used by the bud, and the next crop starts as soon as the mower passes. The bud was there waiting to make use of it. But if we allow the old branches to continue just as on the unpruned tree they continue to draw the juices and the plant follows its strongest instinct to make seed. The bud remains dormant and recedes, or if moisture suffices for two crops the new growth may overcome the other one, just as in the case of an excessive drouth followed by rain it may, though slowly, replace it.

Unto us has been given a plant of the most marvelous capabilities, one that if conditions are right will give crop after crop in succession until it tries our ability to keep up with it. To delay cutting after the buds have started, awaiting a period of bloom, is worse than getting up an hour late in the morning. Haying once delayed can not be caught up with, except on minute patches, and even these will be damaged. Whenever weather permits cut early and you will cut often. Prune the crop neither too early nor too late, but the mistake of too early cutting is so infrequent as hardly to require mention except for young alfalfa, while cutting too late is a general mistake, common to nearly all communities.—Breeder's Gazette.

ONE-CENT PIECE IMPORTANT.

One cent will not buy much in this world, and less in the United States than in many other places in the world, but it is about the most important coin in circulation. The penny is an essential cog in the system of merchandising which has been built up in this country. A study of the annual reports of the director of the United States mint shows that the record of the pennies coined furnishes an accurate index to the general state of trade throughout the country from year to year. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, the coinage of pennies for the first time in the history of the mint exceeded the amount of $1,000,000. The exact amount was $1,851,386.18.

The period covered by that report was the one in which the country enjoyed unusual commercial activity in conjunction with the phenomenal development of its railroads and industrial expansion. The culmination in the "rich man's panic," in the fall of 1907, was followed by the extreme depression in all lines of business, and the report of the director of the mint shows that only $334,429.87 in pennies was coined during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908.

Then times changed for the better, and for the year 1910 it was necessary to coin pennies to the sum of $1,525,426.18.

"The penny is a more important coin than is generally realized," said George E. Roberts, one-time director of the mint. "It plays an intimate part in the transactions of nearly all the important business in life.

"Its purchasing power, however, is relative. It narrows the margin of negotiation between the buyer and the seller, and promotes thrift by enabling us to count our money more closely."

The United States Government discontinued the coinage of half-cent pieces in 1857. The coinage of two-cent pieces was stopped in 1872. Since the year 1793 there has been coined in the United States approximately 2,700,000,000 one-cent pieces of various sizes and designs.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

35,000 More Hudson Super-Sixes

An Announcement of Hudson Policy

DETROIT, MICH., July, 1916.

We have today to announce—

That more than ten thousand Hudson Super-Sixes have been delivered to owners.

That we have in four months, by tremendous exertion, quadrupled our daily output.

That we have parts and materials, on hand and in process, for 20,000 more of the present Super-Six. Constantly increasing demand has just forced us to place contracts on materials for an additional 15,000.

Thus it is settled that at least 35,000 more of the Hudson Super-Six will be built like present model. Our production is now 35,000 monthly.

No Change in Sight

Our opinion is that a like announcement will be made in a year from now. The Super-Six invention, in one bound, increased motor efficiency by 80 per cent. From a small, light Six, which delivered 42-horsepower, it created a 76-horsepower motor. And simply by reducing vibration.

Stock Super-Sixes, in a hundred tests, have out-rivalled all other stock car performance. In speed, in hill-climbing, in quick acceleration and endurance, they have done what was never done before.

No man can doubt that the Super-Six holds the pinnacle place among motors. And there is no higher place in sight.

After eight months experience, with 10,000 cars, not one important improvement in design suggests itself to our engineering corps.

So the Super-Six will remain as it is. And, because of our patents, it will maintain its supremacy.

Watch the 10,000

Watch the 10,000 Super-Sixes now running, and judge if you want a car like them.

Each owner feels himself master of the road. He knows that in every sort of performance his car has out-matched all rivals.

He knows that he has the smoothest-running motor ever built. The most powerful for its size.

He knows that in ordinary driving he never taxes half its capacity. That means long life and economy.

He knows that his motor has shown boundless endurance—such as never before was shown. And that he can look forward to many years of its perfect present service.

Watch some of those cars. Talk to the men who own them. Then ask yourself if there is any fine car to equal it.

Now 135 Per Day

Thousands of men in the past few months have been forced to take second choice. Most of them, we think, now regret it, and will always regret that they did not wait.

Those times are over. We are now sending out 135 Super-Sixes per day.

Go ask our local dealer.

SPOTTED BUR CLOVER GOOD COVER CROP FOR SOUTH.

Bur clover is the cheapest legume that will serve in the South as a winter cover crop and prevent the washing of soil. The Southern spotted variety is the one best adapted to conditions over the larger part of this area.

Among the special advantages of bur clover is the fact that good stands can often be obtained from year to year without additional seeding. When once established on pasture lands bur clover will reseed itself indefinitely, provided the plants are allowed to mature some seed at least every other year. Its use has also resulted in many instances in materially increasing the yield of cotton. Farmers' Bulletin 693 of the U. S. Department of Agriculture gives directions for inoculating the land and sowing the seed, and suggests rotations in which bur clover may be used to advantage.

Directions for Sowing the Seed.
Bur clover should always be sown in the late summer or fall. In the cotton States the best time for seeding is the month of September, but it may be seeded in August, and seedings as late as October often give favorable results, even as far north as South Carolina. Seedings later than October, however, are to be avoided whenever possible, as but little fall and winter growth is usually secured from such plantings.

When the seed is sown in the bur, broadcasting is the only practicable method. To obtain a full stand by this method, from 3 to 6 bushels of seed per acre are necessary. After sowing, a light harrowing should be given. In the regions, however, which are well adapted to bur clover, it is much more economical, as a rule, to begin with a light seeding and to depend in subsequent years on the volunteer crop when this is practicable.

Inoculation Advisable in South.

In the cotton States lack of inoculation apparently has often been the cause of failure in establishing bur-clover crops, especially when hulled seed was sown. Usually when seed is sown in the bur there are enough bacteria in the dust on the bur to insure inoculation. It is desirable, however, in planting bur clover for the first time, that farmers do not go to the expense of purchasing a large quantity of seed, but that they plant a comparatively small area, inoculating the soil either by the soil-transfer method or, in the absence of inoculated soil, by the use of pure cultures. When once a patch of bur clover has been grown successfully on a farm the whole farm can easily be inoculated by scattering soil from the places where the bur clover grew successfully.

Rotating Bur Clover With Other Crops.
Bur clover may be used as a winter crop in rotation with any cultivated summer crop.

Make Cooking a Real Pleasure

As soon as you have an OIL STOVE cooking will be a real pleasure. They are always ready when you are. They save fuel, save health, save temper, save food, and save money for the owner. There should be an immense amount of satisfaction in the increased efficiency and the comfort in ownership of a modern appliance like a guaranteed oil stove. Wouldn't it be a boon to the housewife in your home if she could eliminate the heat and worry of the old-fashioned method of cooking and have the advantage of the coolness, comfort and quickness of a real oil stove? The heat is right under (and hence goes up into) the "cooking," and not out into the room. The heat is always under perfect control.

You can keep one or four burners at an intensely hot flame, or a mere simmer. To regulate the heat you turn a lever according to a dial.

Oil stoves are clean, safe, economical, reliable. No wicks to trim nor valves to leak. The oil supply is automatically constant.

Water heaters give you plenty of hot water—any time—without heating your kitchen.

Glass-door ovens are perfect bakers, insulated with air space and asbestos, retaining heat for the cooking.

We sell The Florence and other high-grade makes of oil stoves, and invite your careful inspection of their merits.

CAN'T LIKE A QUITTER.

There is some talk of another road-bond issue being gotten up for this county. We have heard more than a hundred farmers say during the past week that they were in favor of it—and they also said they voted against it before. We have been asked to push the proposition along, but we wish to decline with honor. Talk about a bond issue for this county and a majority of the people are "agin" it. Nope, we know the sentiment of the people on bond issues here—no matter for what purpose it is gotten up—and we decline to waste good printers' ink and the wearing out of typewriter ribbons on the proposition. In fact, we use the Cottle County roads about once a year, and if people who use them every day are satisfied to drag along through life over them, we ought to be.—Paducah Post.

That's an unreason that is unwarranted, if the best interests of Cottle County demand a bond issue for good roads. The press has a place in the sun. It should have convictions and stand for its convictions. It should help in every way to aid in the cultural, educational and economic life of the community, regardless of typewriter ribbons or printers' ink.

If a bond issue is not feasible or not expedient, then The Post might ignore requests to champion it; but if it is needed, the unconcern of the public or a portion of the public should not enter into the consideration.

We can't like a quitter.

BOYS AT ALPINE HAVE WOODEN FLOORS AND ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

Members of Company L There Congratulate Themselves on Their Good Fortune.

Alpine, Texas, July 28, 1916.

To The Herald:

One-half of Company L has been stationed at Alpine since June the 28th, thus making it headquarters for the company, with Capt. L. O. Shropshire and Sergeants Fowler, Vaughn and Dishon.

Alpine is a town of about 2,000 population, including 600 Mexicans. It is located on the Southern Pacific Railway. It is also a terminal for the Orient Railway. It is 90 miles northwest of our old stamping ground, Sanderson, and also 90 miles from the border. This beautiful city gets its name from the Alpine Mountains. These mountains are very interesting.

This is a much better country than around Sanderson. Ranching is carried on extensively. Twenty to 200 sections are the acreage of many.

The people of Alpine have fully demonstrated their appreciation of our presence by giving us a chicken supper, with many additional and palatable dishes. To close the appreciated reception, several solos were rendered by the talented vocalists of the town. They were responded to by our male quartet, Sergeant Fowler, Sam Goslee, Melvon Hilton and W. D. Hines.

Our duties here are patrolling, hiking and target practice. Wood chopping is the extra duty. Seven guards are put out each night, four in Mexican town and three at camp. Our hikes are often to the target range four and a half miles from camp, and frequently farther. Eight to fifteen miles is an ordinary hike. Our hikes are always made in the morning. We are at leisure in the afternoons.

On the target range we shoot from fifteen to twenty rounds, ranging from 200 up to 1,200 yards. Good scores have been made, considering the practice we have had.

Up until two weeks ago we had no lights. Our box of candles, through mistake, was left out in the sun. Therefore they all "ran together."

This has been a military post for several years. We relieved Troop C, the 6th Cavalry (regulars). We now have their quarters, with board floors and electric lights in our tents. We are also favored with a shower bath and buzzer, which is used by the signal corps for phoning and telegraphing. Burro riding is the chief amusement in camp. Paul Foster is the professional rider. It takes some ability to ride one without a saddle.

From this military post provisions are transferred by truck to inland border towns. Every other day a truck leaves here for Terlingua, 90 miles distant, loaded with provisions for Companies K and A and Troop C, the 6th Cavalry, stationed here. Terlingua is only a quicksilver mining camp. Also it is one of the few openings whereby Villa's army could enter Texas. It's a mountainous country.

We were more fortunate in drawing Sanderson and Alpine. Companies K and A and the 6th Cavalry haul all their water 6 miles. The infantry hike the same distance for a bath twice a week. The cavalry drive their horses and mules to water. Several trucks are kept busy daily hauling water.

The Packard trucks, used by the United States in transporting, are wonderful machines, covering the distance with a 3- to 4-ton load at the rate of 8 to 10 miles an hour without a "bobble." No hill is too long or steep. However, they are somewhat disabled in muddy weather. A guard is sent with each truck. Some of the boys call it a journey of joy, while others say it resembles what Sherman said war was.

Most of the boys have settled down to soldiering and are making a grand success, so says Major Elliott. "Rag chewing" is apparently a thing of the past. I do not mean that we are becoming accustomed to such a life to the extent that it will be our lifetime profession, for the majority hope to be back on the Plains on or about November 3, 1916.

Many new experiences are ours, but we have had no skirmishes as yet, to try our staying qualities.

We have inspection of quarters and equipment every Saturday by Captain Shropshire.

Considerable interest is shown in the reading of The Herald whenever they find their way into camp. We had one today giving the election returns.

We hear from the Sanderson boys once in a while, reporting they are faring as well as we, having been favored with good weather and good health.

I am, Yours sincerely,

C. W. BARNES.

U. S. ACCEPTS CARRANZA'S PROPOSAL FOR COMMISSION.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—General Carranza was informed tonight in a note handed to his ambassador here that the Washington Government is prepared to submit to a joint commission the task of seeking a solution of the problems facing the two nations. The proposal of the defacto government for a commission is accepted, however, with the suggestion that the powers of the commission be enlarged beyond the limits proposed in the Mexican note of July 12.

Agreement to this suggestion is expected, and it was stated officially tonight that the American members would be appointed and the commission be assembled at some point in the United States at an early date.

TEXAS UNIVERSITY SUMMER SCHOOL HAD 1,462 STUDENTS.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 29.—The Summer School of the University of Texas closed last week, having enrolled 1,462 students, more than one thousand of them being Texas teachers not applicants for teachers' certificates, but taking regular college courses.

Beginning next summer, the Summer School of the University of Texas will last eleven weeks, the University thus remaining open throughout the entire year, with the exception of the month of September. It is thought by some of the officials of the University that the attendance for the 1917 term will not fall far short of 2,000 students.

MAY MUSTER OUT COLLEGE STUDENTS WHEN TERMS OPEN.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—All national guard organizations composed of college students will be mustered out of the Federal service in time for them to proceed with their school work at the fall term. It was announced at the War Department today that the policy of the Government would be to disband such organizations completely as units of the national guard and to seek the reorganization of the college men into branches of the officers' reserve corps.

National guard units composed of students who have not gone to the border prior to August 1 will not be sent forward, and similar organizations on the border will be withdrawn on September 1 for mustering out, unless some new emergency arises.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

Here's his ragged "round-about."
Turn the pockets inside out;
See his penknife, lost to use,
Rusted shut with apple juice;
Here, with marbles, top and string,
Is his deadly "devil sling."
With its rubber, limp at last
As a sparrow of the past!
Beeswax—buckles—leather straps—
Bullets and a box of caps—
Not a thing of all, I guess,
But betrays some waywardness—
E'en these tickets, blue and red,
For the Bible verses said—
Such as this his mem'ry kept—
"Jesus wept."
Here's a fishing hook and line,
Tangled up with wire and twine,
And dead angle-worms and some
Slugs of lead and chewing gum,
Blent with scents that can but come
From the oil of rhodium.
Here—a soiled yet dainty note,
That some little sweetheart wrote,
Dotting—"Vine grows round the stump,"
And—"My sweetest sugar lump!"
Wrapped in this—a padlock key
Where he's filed a touch-hole—see?
Once some powder in a quill
Corked up with a liver pill;
And a spongy little chunk
Of "punk."

Here's the little coat—but oh!
Where's he we've censured so?
Don't you hear us calling, dear?
Back! Come back, and never fear!
You may wander where you will,
Over orchard, field and hill;
You may kill the birds, or do
Anything that pleases you!
Ah, this empty coat of his!
Every tatter worth a kiss!
Every stain is pure instead
As the white stars overhead;
And the pockets—homes were they
Of the little hands that play
Now no more—but, absent, thus —Beckon us.

CREDIT

Credit is the best asset anyone can have, but it must be taken care of the right way to keep it.

Every kind of business is based on credit whether they buy merchandise on credit or borrow money from banks.

We do not do what is called a credit business, everything we sell is due on the first of each month.

Our rule has always been that we want our accounts paid not later than the 5th, and hereafter we will adhere to this rule and insist on all accounts being paid not later than the 5th.

Sometimes in the past we have let accounts run over and double up and we can name practically all we have lost to this practice. It is not a question of whether a customer is good pay or not, no matter what he is worth if he owes us we cannot pay the wholesaler with his account, the banks and wholesalers will not take accounts as pay and we find that it takes cash to satisfy them.

Practically everything we handle it takes the CASH to get it and hereafter we want all accounts paid by the 5th. We must keep our credit good with bank and wholesaler and have to collect what is due us to do this.

Motor News of General Interest

HINTS TO THE CAR OWNER.

Under no circumstances should spring water, well water or boiled water be used in the storage battery. Only distilled water or rain water should be used. Keep battery fully charged at all times and add water often enough to keep the plates covered. It is not necessary to add acid unless some of the electrolyte has been taken out.

Do not forget to oil the dynamo bearings once a week, at least. These are usually ball bearings and, running dry, will be ruined. The oil caps should fit tight to prevent dust from getting into the bearings.

Quite often one of the valve push rods will stick in the guide and cause the motor to miss fire. A slightly warped valve stem will produce the same result. A push rod may be freed by rubbing down with emery, but it is best to replace a warped valve.

Quite often one sees a car stalled by the roadside with a front-wheel bearing destroyed. Very few operators stop to think that the front wheel hub bearing needs a fresh supply of grease frequently. If too much is put in, the grease will work out on the inside of the hub and cause a dirty wheel and pivot points. If the hub cap is taken off and a small quantity of grease installed about every 1,000 to 1,500 miles the life of the bearings will be greatly prolonged.

Excessive carbonization in one cylinder generally can be traced to a bad set of piston rings, which allow too much oil to pass into the combustion chamber. The installation of new rings is necessary in such cases to remedy the trouble.

FROM OX TO AUTO.

Men are comparatively few who span in the bridge of their natural lives the gulf of years which rolls between the era of the ox and the era of the auto. J. M. Kimball, an 80-year-old pioneer living at Manhattan, Kans., now drives a motor car over the same roads he traveled 60 years ago with a yoke of oxen and farm wagon. When he left the hills of New Hampshire for the prairies of Kansas, the rail transportation reached no further than St. Louis. Journey by boat was, then made to Kansas, where a yoke of oxen was purchased and Mr. Kimball hit the trail for Manhattan, his final destination. The historian would find his task well cut out for him if he undertook to condense the developments which have been recorded between the time the ox team entered the little Kansas settlement and the day that Mr. Kimball first drove his car over the paved streets of Manhattan. The statutes and ordinances ordinarily forbid a minor under 16 years of age to drive an auto over country roads or city streets. Must we seek a statute against the driving of motor cars by octogenarians? Hardly. It is quite likely that the sturdy manhood which pioneered the Western prairies, and has preserved its physical and mental qualities by sane living and right thinking, may safely enough be entrusted with the steering wheel. Those men were made of stern stuff, and survivors of that generation may yet be found who can sight a rifle for a bull's-eye or guide safely an auto through city streets. There were giants in those days, and the present generation may well emulate their virtues, although free from the privations which in part produced such rugged characters.—Breeder's Gazette.

NEW GOOD-ROADS LAW TO BE INTERPRETED AT MEDINA.

"The urgent need for thorough cooperation of all good-roads organizations in Texas was never more apparent than now," says Geo. J. Roark, secretary of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, in a press letter. "The $85,000,000 Federal Aid Road Bill, which has been signed by President Wilson, provides that the funds shall be distributed among the States that are willing to appropriate dollar for dollar. If Texas counties or districts vote a million dollars worth of bonds for road construction, Federal aid will be extended to the amount of one million. This means that a good-roads system will cost the property, owners who evince a progressive interest and take action exactly one-half of the actual expenditure made.

"At the Texas Good Roads Congress, to be held August 17, 18 and 19 at Medina Lake, San Antonio, the new law will be interpreted by competent authorities and a co-operative effort will be launched toward securing every dollar that should be rightly spent on Texas roads. It is declared by those closely in touch with the situation that counties having representatives at the Congress will be better equipped to secure their pro rata part, because they will have a complete knowledge of the situation and the valuable co-operation of the entire good-roads forces of Texas. The programs for the three days will soon be ready for the press, and each program will offer solutions for problems that seem insurmountable in certain districts of Texas."

SQUELCHING A BORE.

Richard Harding Davis was much troubled by bores. He had a short way with them, however.

Mr. Davis, for example, sat in the smoking room of a Bar Harbor hotel one evening with a cigar and a novel when a bore said to him:

"Well, sir, is Wilson too proud to fight or not?"

Mr. Davis looked up calmly from his novel, blew a cloud into the air and said:

"Wilson? What Wilson?"

"Why, Woodrow Wilson, of course!" said the astonished bore. "President Woodrow Wilson! Did you ever hear of him?"

"No," said Mr. Davis; "I never did," and he yawned and took up his novel again.

The bore regarded him darkly for ten minutes. Then he attacked him again.

"Looking kind of black for Bernstorff—I guess he'll get his walking papers, hey?" he said.

"Bernstorff?" said Mr. Davis. "Who the deuce is Bernstorff?"

"What! You never heard of him, either?" shouted the bore.

"No," said Mr. Davis; "never."

Five minutes of silence. Then the bore took a long pull at his glass and said, bitterly:

"I guess you never heard of Adam, did you?"

Mr. Davis frowned as if in intent thought.

"Adam? Adam?" he said. "What's his last name?"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

FEEDING ALFALFA WITH SILAGE FOR CATTLE.

Alfalfa when fed with silage is particularly well adapted as a feed for young cattle, according to Ray A. Gatewood, instructor in animal husbandry in the Kansas Agricultural College. "In the beginning of the fattening processes the cattle will consume from 15 to 30 pounds of hay and silage a day," says Mr. Gatewood. "Alfalfa hay fed alone does not produce the same effect on cattle as it does when fed in connection with silage, because the latter is more succulent and more palatable than the former. Cattle will not eat alfalfa so readily if it is not fed in connection with silage. As cattle approach the marketable point corn must be fed in quantities readily consumed to produce solid fat. At this stage alfalfa and silage should not be fed in such large quantities as formerly, because the cattle do not need the extra protein. Taking all facts into consideration, alfalfa hay, silage and corn are the most nominal a-pat wotNL EynddrnatflaEdd economical fat-producers if fed in correct proportions."—Breeder's Gazette.

RETRORT COURTEOUS.

E. Pluribus Jones reached the station platform just as the five-fifteen was pulling out. A little burst of speed before the admiring onlookers netted him fifty feet in overcoming the train's handicap, but the best that his ample carcass could do thereafter was to run a losing race. He quit at the end of the freight yards and returned.

"Miss your train, sir?" inquired the porter cheerfully.

Jones flected a speck of dust from his coat sleeve.

"No, my friend," he said earnestly; "oh, no; I was just chasing it out of the yard. You oughtn't to allow it around here. Don't you see the tracks it's left?"—New York Post.

CAPTURES COYOTE WITH DODGE BROTHERS CAR.

Capturing wild coyotes with motor cars is a sport not everyone is privileged to enjoy. More exciting even than the stories of the recent shant hunting on the Eastern coast is the account of Edward Spear's "chase of the wolf" on the plains of the McCord ranch, near Fresno, Calif. Mr. Spear is a member of the firm of Spear Brothers, Dodge Brothers dealers in Coalinga, Calif. The Coalinga Record describes it as the fastest 28 minutes of fun in the 30 years of his life.

Spear had two passengers with him in his Dodge Brothers roadster, when he came upon the coyote, according to the Record, but the chase soon became so furiously fast that they persuaded him to pause until they got out. Spear resumed the chase alone. The Record says:

"As the car drew near, Mr. Coyote took a single look and was off like the wind, but Spear kept right after him. Finally the coyote, half frightened to death by Spear's yelling, began to slacken his speed and resorted to dodging, in an effort to get away. As he would dodge, so would the car, and after a series of dodges and dives, Spear finally caught him with front wheel and put the predatory varmint out of the running. Spear was compelled to run over the animal four times before he could kill him."

WILL INAUGURATE PRESIDENT VINSON ON THANKSGIVING DAY.

A special committee of the University Faculty has been appointed, with Dr. Frederick W. Simonds as chairman, to arrange for the inauguration ceremonies on November 29th. As November 30th is Thanksgiving Day, when the annual football contest between the University of Texas football team and that of the A. & M. College will be played, at Austin, it is expected that these two occasions will draw a very large crowd of visitors. The Alumni Welfare Committee, composed of one member from each senatorial district, will co-operate with the faculty in arousing interest in the inauguration exercises. Representatives from every prominent institution of learning in the United States will be invited to have a delegate present, and a speaker of international reputation will be brought to Austin to make the principal address. In addition, all prominent alumni of the University who live in Texas and elsewhere will be urged to attend. It is hoped that such men as T. W. Gregory, Attorney General of the United States; A. S. Burlison, Postmaster General, Senator Morris Sheppard, R. A. Thompson, of the Board of Valuation of the United States; the seven Congressmen who are University graduates, and a number of distinguished alumni who are teaching in Northern colleges will be present to welcome Dr. Vinson.

MINING UNDER CORNFIELDS.

In the popular mind most metal mining is associated with mountainous regions. We know that coal is mined near cornfields, but how many, off-hand, would locate lead and zinc deposits in grain fields? A recent publication by the United States Geological Survey describes a thickly settled agricultural district in northwestern Illinois where corn, oats, and hay are raised on the surface and lead and zinc are extracted from the rocks beneath the fields.

TO THE VOTERS AND CITIZENS OF HALE COUNTY.

I wish to thank you for the nomination for Sheriff and Tax Collector of Hale County.

I especially thank the ladies and people throughout the rural districts for the nice dinners and courteous treatment during my campaign. I have not words to express my gratitude. I will try to handle your trust in a way that you will not regret having made me your choice.

Again thanking you one and all, I am, Yours truly, J. C. TERRY.

A COMPLETE ADVERTISEMENT.

A complete advertisement, to put it in a nutshell, to be most effective, should attract favorable attention, awaken interest, create desire, carry conviction, inspire confidence, and influence the reader to buy. Attracting favorable attention and awakening interest are accomplished by appropriate headings, attractive informing illustration and good typographical display. Creating desire is accomplished by appealing to the different senses, sight, hearing, taste, smell and touch, as well as to the desires, needs, sentiments, emotions and prejudices of the reader. To carry conviction, the advertisement should appeal to the reader's reason, should show by logical information and argument why he should buy, and should answer the objections in his mind as to the desirability of the article. Confidence is inspired by an earnest style and the avoidance of extravagant claims. With this done, everything possible has been done to bring the results so ardently desired by the advertiser. In paraphrasing the prophet's statement made to a group of people in Phillipi in ancient Rome: "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, advertise these things."

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 12.—The Summer School at the University of Texas has enrolled 1,465 students for 1916. Next summer, when the summer school term will be lengthened to three months, Dean W. S. Sutton expects 2,000 students. The University, beginning with next session, will keep its doors open practically throughout the year, the summer term giving needed advantages especially for the teachers of the State.

During the past session of the University of Texas, at Austin, a well dressed student went into a barber shop to get a shave. It turned out that the young man who shaved him was also a University student. As the young barber pocketed his fifteen cents, his friend said: "Well, old man, goodbye. I'm leaving Austin tonight. The faculty are sending me home because I have failed in my studies." The barber, who had passed in all of his studies, despite the fact that he had to earn his expenses by shaving people, sympathized with his friend and turned to wait on another customer. One boy probably had too much money, the other perhaps too little. In the words of the popular moving-picture story, "Who's to blame?"

Professor E. D. Shurter, State Chairman of the University Interscholastic League, announces that the subject for next year's high school debates will be "Resolved, that all revenues for the support of government—local, state, and national—should be derived from a single tax on land values, constitutionality granted." Last year nearly 1,500 schools belonged to the League. Through the bright boys interested in public discussion, the Texas public will soon hear a good deal about the merits and demerits of Henry George's land-tax theory.

Miss Jennie Dale Powell returned to Clarendon this morning, after a visit with the Misses Story.

Hupmobile ANNOUNCEMENT The Hupp Motor Sales Co. W. W. CONNELL, Manager

Has taken the agency for the distribution of the Hupmobile throughout twenty-four counties in the South Plains territory. Hubbard Brothers will continue in the service end of the company and the new organization will give special attention to service on all Hupmobiles sold within its territory. There will always be a man, or two or three of them, on the job to care for your every need. We will always carry a complete line of parts for all Hupp models and will be in a position to give up-to-the-minute service to all owners of this popular car.

"WE BELIEVE THE HUPMOBILE TO BE THE BEST CAR OF ITS CLASS IN THE WORLD"

WE offer you the 1916 Hupmobile with full confidence that there is not a more beautiful car on the market. Fully to appreciate the harmony of Hupmobile design and the beauty of Hupmobile finish, you must see this car for yourself. It cannot be adequately described by printed word.

Table with 2 columns: Car Model and Price. 5-Passenger Touring Car $1185, 7-Passenger Touring Car $1340, 2-Passenger Roadster $1185, 5-Passenger Sedan $1735, 5-Passenger All-Year Touring Car $1385. All prices quoted f. o. b. Detroit.

IF you had never heard of the Hupmobile and chanced to see one of the 1916 models on the street, you would immediately put it in the class of the expensive foreign cars. Its low-hung, racy appearance is typical of the highest class product of the European designers.

NO matter what your choice—five or seven-passenger touring car, roadster, sedan or limousine—you have a long, graceful car, with every line blending perfectly, with the exterior unmarred by unsightly mouldings, sidelights or obtrusive hardware.

THERE is no car on the American market that has this low, racy appearance in such degree as the Hupmobile—a quality which gives not only unusual style, but is directly responsible for the steady riding and "rocking chair" comfort every one finds in the Hupmobile.

We will be much pleased to meet the car owners of the South Plains and those who contemplate buying cars. We will be pleased to talk Hupp with them and to demonstrate the merits of the cars themselves.

RETAIL PRICES OF FOOD IN U. S. FROM 1907 TO 1915.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, of the Department of Labor, has just issued its Bulletin 197 on retail prices of food, 1907 to 1915, covering 44 of the principal industrial cities of the United States, a report in its regular series on Retail Prices and Cost of Living. The bulletin shows actual prices for June to December, 1915, and also summarizes retail prices for the period from 1907 to 1915, inclusive.

According to the bureau's report, the combined average price for the year of the 17 principal articles of food covered by the report was 1 per cent lower in 1915 than in 1914. From 1914 to 1915 there was a decline in sirloin steak of 1 per cent; in round steak of 3 per cent; in rib roast of 2 per cent; in chuck roast of 5 per cent; in plate boiling beef of 4 per cent; in pork chops of 8 per cent; in bacon of 2 per cent; in ham of 5 per cent; in lard of 6 per cent; in hens of 5 per cent; in eggs of 4 per cent; in butter of 1 per cent; in milk of 1 per cent; and in potatoes of 18 per cent. Three articles advanced in price from 1914 to 1915: Flour advanced 20 per cent; corn meal 3 per cent; and sugar 11 per cent.

The lowest point during 1915 was reached in March, when the price of food as a whole was 4 per cent below the average of the year. From this point there was an upward trend to the end of the year, prices in December being 6 per cent above the average of the year.

Information up to April, 1916, collected by the Bureau from month to month from the same sources and published in its Monthly Review, shows that the level reached in December, 1915, has been maintained, with slight declines in February and March, followed by a recovery in April.

To show the changes and results of changes in retail prices of food for a period of 26 years, from 1890 to 1915, inclusive, a table is given in this bulletin prepared from figures appearing in preceding reports and bulletins, presenting the average price of each article that could be bought for $1, each year of the period, except for two articles—sirloin steak and rib roast—for which satisfactory data were available only for the years 1907 to 1915.

HINTS FOR POULTRY RAISERS.

Sour milk is valuable in any ration. Summer shade insures thrifty chicks.

Remove over-active cockerels to a separate yard.

Clean up the incubator, remove the lamp, and throw away the wick.

Soft fresh dirt is an insurance against leg weakness in chicks.

Add to the grain feeds with a mixture such as bran, shorts, and corn meal.

Do not keep unnecessary male birds. An extra hen eats no more and may lay eggs.

When range is limited, spade up the runs or remove the brood coop a short distance daily.

Spoiled or decaying flesh, if eaten, will surely cause limberneck. Burn or bury the dead.

Watch for head lice on the chicks. If found, rub top of head with small piece of lard free from salt.

Avoid crowding by keeping in small flocks and by providing roomy coops. Thin out of there are too many.

Broody hens should be removed to slat-bottomed coops as soon as discovered. Leave them there until they forget it.

Clean, fresh water lessens disease. Filthy drinking water is the source of much trouble. Clean the drinking pans frequently.

If hens are lousy rub a piece of blue ointment the size of a pea into the skin just beneath the vent and on the underside of the wings.

Mites are sure to accumulate if the droppings are not removed every week and the roost sprayed with kerosene emulsion or disinfectants.

After the grass gets tough chicks can catch more bugs and worms and will grow better on loose soil. The corn field furnishes ideal conditions.—H. L. Kempster, Missouri College of Agriculture.

HOW TO PREPARE CULTURE BUTTERMILK FROM SKIM MILK.

Lactic acid-producing bacteria, which cause milk and cream to sour, produce not more than 1 per cent of acid. Metchnikoff's bacillus, or bacillus Bulgaricus, which is used quite extensively in the preparation of culture buttermilk, is capable of producing as much as 3 per cent lactic acid, if allowed to stand long enough. Bacillus Bulgaricus produces a viscous curd, which will not settle to the bottom. In preparing a mother starter, which can be used from time to time for souring additional lots of milk, take a quart of skim milk, or whole milk, boil it or pasteurize it to destroy the bacteria present, cool back to a temperature of about 70 degrees Fahrenheit and add to this a pulverized lactic acid tablet, and cover and let stand from 12 to 24 hours. As soon as the milk is coagulated, it is ready for use, and should be stirred before serving.

In preparing culture buttermilk from day to day, add from 1 to 2 per cent of the soured buttermilk of the previous day's make. If Bacillus Bulgaricus is used, the temperature of milk to be soured should be 100 degrees Fahrenheit instead of 70 degrees. Some follow the practice of souring a lot of milk with lactic acid tablets and an equal amount with Bulgarian tablets. After the two lots are soured they are placed in a churn and thoroughly mixed by churning to a smooth consistency.

In preparing buttermilk some add a little whole milk or cream, so that particles of fat will be seen floating around on the surface when churned, thereby having the appearance of the old-style buttermilk. One gallon of whole milk to 20 gallons of skim milk will give a good combination when churned. Tablets can be purchased from dairy supply houses.

Bacillus Bulgaricus is a lover of high temperatures, and will persist in the digestive tract much longer than the common lactic acid germ. Bulgarian buttermilk will stand heat and long age without wheying off, but the flavor of Bulgarian buttermilk is sharp and astringent or coarse. The flavor of the lactic acid culture is pleasant, by combining the two cultures a fine-flavored beverage, which does not whey off, is produced.

JERSEY COWS AT A BANQUET.

A cow barn as clean as a kitchen is no longer an idle jest. Thomas S. Griffith, of Glen Tina Farm, in the State of Washington, has realized it. He breeds Jerseys, and caters for a discriminating trade. He rides his hobby of sanitation hard, for he is making certified milk, much of which is used by infants and invalids. He produces milk in three large concrete barns, each of which houses 100 Jerseys. Light, airy and sanitary, the barns are models of dairy-building construction. Recently the owner conceived the idea of giving a banquet to a number of his friends and a deputation from Spokane in one of the barns. Covers for 70 guests were laid at long tables in the center alleys, and the cows looked on, interested spectators of the feast. Mr. Griffith's idea made a strong impression upon his guests, who were thus graphically shown how sanitary are the conditions under which certified milk is produced. No cow in Mr. Griffith's herd is kept unless she produces a certain amount of milk and fat and shows a profit above the cost of feed and care.—Breeder's Gazette.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea. If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful, and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition. —Adv.

Colonade Chief was sired by the Grand Champion Colonade at the International Livestock Show at Chicago, in 1912, where all the champions meet. This made him the World Champion Duroc-Jersey Boar.

Mary's King is one of the biggest, smoothest Duroc-Jersey Boars of the breed. He weighed over 600 pounds at 15 months of age. He won second in Junior Yearling Class in Kansas and Oklahoma in 1914. Trace his parentage back and you will find prize winners on both sides. He is siring the kind of pigs everybody wants.

They visited Mr. Boles' ranch while there and saw his fine Hereford cattle. Mr. Boles is making good with the White Face breed. They also called on Mrs. Hamilton's sister, Mrs. Rushing, while in Lubbock.

The Ladies' Club met with Mrs. Rankin last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Rankin was assisted in the entertaining by her two daughters, of Russellville, Ark., Miss Lillian Rankin and Mrs. Ruth Stark.

The singing at Mr. Fowler's was well attended Sunday evening, and the singing was good.

Some of Roseland's young people and Miss Blunt, of Lockney, attended singing and Sunday School here Sunday afternoon.

We hope to see many of our Plainview singers out to our Singing Convention on the first Sunday, and give The Herald staff a special invitation.

L. T. Wilson and son Lee are visiting in New Mexico this week. Lee will file on land while there.

CHAS. SCHULER'S WHEAT YIELDED NEARLY 30 BUSHELS.

Mrs. Herman Weise, of Petersburg, is Hostess at Dinner Honoring New Mexico Guest.

PETERSBURG, July 31.—We have had a nice rain this afternoon, and hope to have more tonight.

Wheat threshing is almost over with. Two more days will finish it. The farmers are well satisfied with their yields. Chas. Schuler made 29½ bushels to the acre on some of his land. H. Weise made 18 bushels on an average. Considering the dry weather, wheat was fairly good.

We were grieved the past week when a message came announcing the death of Mrs. Lyda Coats. She lived among us so long, and was closely endeared to each one, either by kinship or friendship ties, that her going away left an aching void, for "none knew her but to love her, none named her but to praise."

Mrs. Herman Weise gave a six-o'clock dinner July 25th, at her home, two miles south of town, in honor of Mrs. R. V. Young, of Artesia, New Mexico, formerly of this place. Covers were laid for the following guests: Mrs. Young, Mrs. Ramsey and daughters, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Claitor, Miss Evelyn Claitor, Mrs. Matt Gregory, Miss Martha Erland, of Chickasha, and Miss Ethel Thomas, of Plainview. The evening was delightfully spent. There were vocal and instrumental music and readings for entertainment. Oh, the dinner! It was par excellence, long to be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. White, accompanied by their grandson, Cecil White, are traveling in New Mexico for the benefit of Mrs. White's health. We hope the outing will prove beneficial.

Miss Allie Reed, of Hale Center, has been visiting Miss Besse Gartin.

The young folks have a tennis court now. Such jolly good times as they do have playing!

Mrs. R. V. Young and little daughter, Margaret, who have been visiting her sister, Mrs. B. F. Moore, returned to their home, in Artesia, New Mexico, Wednesday.

GOOD RAIN AT WHITFIELD.

WHITFIELD, Aug. 1.—A good 2½-inch rain fell here Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. M. E. Nations and son Claud left last Friday for a few weeks' visit at Barley, Okla.

The Sunday School class held a picnic Saturday at the Whitfield park, and a good time was had by all who attended.

Miss Florida Pullen was the guest of Mrs. C. S. Woodrow, of Plainview, over Sunday.

Sam Wright and Will Lovvorn went to the breaks last week after grapes. Earl Edwards is visiting at Floyd-ada.

Walter Edwards is visiting at Hereford nowadays.

Mrs. Ooley visited near Lone Star last week, the guest of Mrs. Nance.

Another rain fell here Sunday.

STOCK WATER SHORT IN THE LITTLEFIELD COUNTRY.

LITTLEFIELD, Texas, July 29.—Four car loads of Lamb County fat hogs were shipped from here to the Fort Worth markets today.

Stockmen all over this section have experienced serious trouble recently on account of shortage of water. The wind failed to blow sufficiently to turn the windmills. It was necessary to employ small gasoline engines to pump the water, and the supply of small engines was soon exhausted. Many were brought in by express. Old residents here state they have never seen similar conditions.

Threshing is about through, and wheat yielded from eight to twenty bushels per acre. Showers fall most every day, but a good general rain is badly needed.
