SWINE BREEDERS WANT TO MEET IN PLAINVIEW

NASH AGAIN BRINGS TENANCY QUESTION BEFORE THE YOUNG MEN'S BUSINESS LEAGUE.

ASPHALT INDUSTRY EXPLAINED

Cigar Manufacturer Would Open Small Factory Here; Asks Co-operaton in Marketing.

That Plainview will entertain the Panhandle Swine Breeders' Association, March 30 and 31, is practically assured. Harry E. Nelson, of Miami, president of the Association, is in communication with the Y. M. B. L. of Plainview relative to the convention. Last night, in its regular session, the Y. M. B. L. reported favorably on the proposition, and a committee was appointed to have charge of the details of entertainment for the convention. On this committee are P. J. Wooldridge, Geo. R. Quesenberry, W. A. Nash, W. E. Risser and H. S. Hilburn. The Hale County Swine Breeders' Association, through its president, Geo. R. Quesenberry, is taking the lead in the movement, the association being invited as their guests, and the Y. M. B. L. is to assist in entertaining the Association.

Nash Stands "Pat" on Tenancy.

Two weeks ago W. A. Nash presented to the League his views on the tenancy question and asked the League to consider the proposition. Last night he again opened the question, stating that investigation he has made since the last meeting leads him to be more insistent on the League's taking some action. "I am convinced that thirtythree and one-third per cent of the people on farms in Floyd County came to this country as tenants," said Mr. Nash. "This is not guess work, for I have asked at the sales I have been holding. Seventy-five per cent of those who came there landless now own their homes, have checkbooks in their pockets and come to the public sales, buy stock or implements, take the cash discount and go to their homes happy. I believe we should let the good tenants of East Texas know that we have good land for the landthat if they know this they will come here and farm the land and will stay was playing cards in his rooms in the and assurances of a living, developing souls. here and make citizens who actually produce and increase the wealth of "The time has passed, as I said before, when this country is nothing but a stock country. The day of the cattle range is no longer. What we need is men who will actually till the soil, and there are hundreds of them just waiting for the opportunity. It should be our pleasure to bring the man who owns land and the good tenant together. They will both profit, and so will we.

"I find by inquiry among landlords here that from $2.20 to $7.40 per acre, net, is the profit made for the landlord on land in this section for the past three years. Of course, at first the return would be slow, but ultimately it would be worth while. Improved property sells for from one-third to one-half higher than unimproved property."

To work out details of the plan and report to the League, a committee, Jas. Pipkin, J. J. Lash and Dr. L. V. Dawson, volunteered.

Z. E. Black, committee to see about purchasing chairs for the League, reported the purchase of seventy-five folding chairs.

"BARRED ZONES" AND "SAFETY LANES" OUTLINED IN GERMANY'S NOTE.

Surrounding the British isles and bordering the coasts of France, Belgium and Holland is a "barred zone" (indicated by black areas on the map) twenty nautical miles wide. The boundaries of a secondary "barred zone," shutting off the British isles and running as far south as Cape Finisterre, on the northwestern coast of Spain, are indicated by a heavy black line. This zone is pierced by the route to Falmouth, as laid down for one American ship a week in the annex to the

Up in Woodward County they say that sweet clover grows out of the solid rock, but, then, they are sweet clover crazy in that section of the short-grass country, and the statement must not be taken too literally. Any man that travels, however, has seen sweet clover growing out of cinders along a railroad right-of-way where no other vegetation was growing. When the sweet clover plant sends its roots down after water it usually finds it, and the plant will thrive where less hardy vegeta-

Two years ago, while on a trip to Southern Wisconsin. I noticed that through Iowa the plant was much in evidence. For miles through Iowa there would hardly be a break in the double chain of sweet clover. But it was confined to the right-of-way! asked a farmer in Northeast Iowa if his neighbors grew any sweet clover. Emphatically, they did not. I asked him the same question about alfalfa. He was more tolerant in his views, but farm would grow red clover should want to sow either alfalfa or sweet clover. At Ames a newspaper man told me that Iowa considered sweet clover a weed. The other day I saw an article telling of the remarkable increase of alfalfa acreage in the heart of the red-clover belt in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Iowa. In some sections of Iowa sweet clover is gaining over other hay and pasture crops. Oklahoma is outside the field of the red-clover argument, but anyone who will stop to do a little thinking will remember that alfalfa had, and still has in some sections, somewhat the same sort of battie that sweet clover is having. Many farmers in Kansas and Oklahoma took up alfalfa only after they had found that some of the clovers they had grown in other states were not adapted to their new conditions. Most of the farmers who are now taking up with sweet clover have tried alfalfa and have failed. Sweet clover will grow in some places where alfalfa will not grow. This fact is indisputable. The sweet-clover rage may be a "Hobson's choice" with most persons, but that isn't any argument against the crop. The "semi-arid" Southwest grew green with the grain sorghums only after hosts of farmers had tried to grow corn without rainfall and had failed. That sweet clover is making com-partively more gains in Oklahoma at this time than any other crop is probably true. In Northwestern Oklahoma, particularly, it gave remarkable satisfaction the past year. There is probably no more consistent and enthusiastic advocate of sweet clover in this state than C. A. McNabh, district agent in the farm-demonstration work for the northwest quarter of the state. on the east side in counties where it has been given a fair trial. "Charley Baker, Woodward, Okla-Mr. Baker was so well pleased with his success with sweet clover that he is sewing 30 acres more this season, and is planning a crop-rotation system with sweet clover two years, Sudan grass, corn, and wheat.

"Ed Stedman, Woodward, sowed four acres on gravelly, rolling, red soil, which was unfit for cultivation, in the spring of 1915. This sweet clover was pastured during the summer of 1915 until very late in the fall. In the spring of 1916 eight head of dairy cattle and four work horses were pastured on this sweet clover patch. This clover furnished an abundance of pasture during the summer and until late in the fail. Mr. Stedman states that his milk cows have made him more money and have given more milk than they ever have on any feed used. This piece, after being pastured very closely, grew continually through the whole season, but did not reseed,

"C. O. Schaub, Gage, sowed one acre in February, 1915, in the row, 31/2-foot rows, planted with corn binder, at the rate of four pounds to the acre. This clover did not come to a good stand, on account of the soil being too loose and extreme depth of planting, but he was persuaded to leave the stand. During making as good feed or better than peanut hay, that was also sown and cured in splendid shape by Mr. Schaub. In the spring of 1916 Mr. Schaub's cattle and hogs were turned into this sweet clover. This acre was pastured for three months very heavily, and was then left and made seed, making 111/4 bushels of seed to the acre, which he sold at $10 a bushel at the farm. Mr. Schaub is so pleased with his success with sweet clover that he will abandon his plan of crop rotation with cowpeas as a legume and will use sweet clover instead.

"T. E. Johnson, Woodward, has six acres of land that he had been utilizing for hog pasture for a number of years. This is sandy upland, and had been sown to cane and utilized as a hog pasture during the season of 1915. On March 15, 1916, three acres of the six were sown to a light seeding of oats, about one-half bushel to the acre, by being thoroughly disced and drilling in. Later this three acres was sown to sweet clover. The other three acres were sown in sweet clover without any preparation, being drilled very shallow at the rate of 10 pounds to the acre. Querland,

Undoubtedly the Industry's Crowning Achievement

From your point of view this announcement is most important.

For herein we set forth the achievement toward which this company has aimed for the last eight years.

This achievement in a word is the completion of our gigantic organization to a point where we can make and market a complete line of automobiles under one head.

This means tremendous economies—much greater than ever before.

This means the elimination of all waste, all lost motion and much greater factory efficiency.

This means an even higher grade of cars at much more attractive prices. All of which means a substantial saving for you on the next car you buy.

For now and for the first time in the history of the automobile business we as one single organization offer the public a full and complete line of automobiles.

This concentration—this greater efficiency—this more effective means of pulling together is going to set a new standard of low priced high-grade automobile values.

For we operate on the basis of—

- -one executive organization
- -one factory management
- -one purchasing unit -one sales expense
- -one group of dealers to plan, produce and sell all Overland, Willys and Willys-Knight models.

Buying power is concentrated. Costs are distributed over all these cars. The savings are enormous.

As a result we are producing cars of exceptional quality-and marketing them at unusually low

Every car is built to a rigid standard of performance, comfort and appearance.

The new models are listed in this announcement. They include Overland models from the snappy comfortable $665 Light Four to the beautiful Light Six Sedan at $1585.

They include also the big, handsome Willys-Knights from the Four at $1285, to the super efficient Eight at $1950.

These new models establish price records, value records and performance records which we believe will prove to the public conclusively that the vast economies of vast production are the key note and manufacturing secret of the greatest value for the least amount of money.

EIVALRY AND PROGRESSIVE SCHOOLS.

There is keen rivalry betwen the rural schools of Hale County. ment on American life or property. There are some few schools in the county which are leaders in number of scholars, equipment at the disposal of the teachers, etc., but for fairness of Great Britain's blockade individual interest among the pupils and teachers in their work the and the necessity of self-preservation schools are much the same.

In the matter of attendance, scholarship, well kept grounds and policy. athletic games the spirit of competition has run high. This spirit has helped keep the schools of the county in a healthy condition. Every flight torpedoed and three killed. schievement of one school has been a spur to the other schools, who do not want to be outstripped in progress and in records.

The Hale-Lamb County School Fair, to be held in Hale Center, March 30 and 31, will offer a splendid opportunity to the individual had booked passage on Lusitania rescholars for showing their accomplishments. The list of classes is published elsewhere in this issue of The Herald. We suggest that every school boy or girl clip this list and begin now to work on things drowned, 115 of them Americans. for the County School Fair and to collect the things they have made which will be eligible for entry. THE ETERNAL EFFICACY OF WORK.

It is not expected that the paving plans, which means the issuance of paving bonds, will appeal to that small class of pussyfooters and molly-coddles, who are afraid to turn one dollar loose until they have their finger tips on a dollar and a half. There will be no appeal to that type of ultra-conservative man who sacrifices to his worship of his hoard of non-productive wealth the first principles of progressive civilization—initiative. The drifting man, who in his own business drawal of order. has not vigor, energy, push and vim enough to make a success; the slacker, who is afraid to "hit theball" and who fears the galling House voted to stand back of Presicollar mark; the incompetent, who has no confidence in his own dent. ability and no faith in the good intentions of others and the eternal March 24-British steamer Sussex efficiecy of work—all these will be afraid and indifferent.

Not every man of the few who oppose the bond issue can be placed in these classes. Some good men will doubt the ability of Plainview to execute the paving program. But it is a safe surmise that if these who are honest doubters will apply themselves along with those who are most anxious to carry out the plan and who will pay the biggest part of the bill—the property owners abutting the proposed pavements—the program will be carried out successfully dresses Congress on German submaand Plainview will have made the greatest step in its history toward rine warfare. lasting prosperity, cleanliness, convenience and civic attractiveness.

Our recent big shipment of Buick cars enables us to deliver to you the day you buy. No matter what use you expect to make of your car you will never be disappointed in the performance of a Buick. The Buick has been sold in this territory long enough for you to judge of this performance. Watch the cars on the road; see them work under all conditions; ask the man who is driving a Buick; then decide on the car you want. Don't take the chance of buying an untried car-select a Buick and know that you have a car that will give you continuous service.

The Buick Four

This motor car is ideally suited to those who want Buick correctness of design and high standards of quality in a car of less size than the larger Buicks. In this car there is a four-cylinder, Valve-in-Head motor of Buick design and manufacture, and with that degree of efficiciency and power which can be had only in the famous Buick power plant.

The car is constructed thruout of high grade materials, and built from the ground up in a way that insures the owner the utmost in long continued service. The tires are four inches in diameter, which makes them actually oversize for a car of this weight. The car is supplied with the thoroughly dependable Delco starting, lighting and ignition system, and in all essentials is complete as it leaves the factory.

In service this Buick model has proven a worthy member of the famous line of Buick Valve-in-Head motor cars.

improvements in the automobile after weight. the war. Of what benefit will now metal knowledge be, the combination of lightness with strength, as in the framework of the Zeppelin?

After the War. What Will Cars Be of modern metals more and more. Like?" published in the London Mail. After asserting that we are but touching the fringes of motor-car development, he continues:

"There is no need to indulge in irresponsible prophecy. Instead, we have merely to observe certain factors which obtain today and which in combination will predetermine the nature of passenger-car development. The matter may be stated thus:

"(a) The purchasing power of the community, which, class for class, will be much less than it was when war broke out

"(b) The progress of metallurgy in association with the world increase of steel output, and the resultant widening of the scope of the designer.

"(c) The labor situation and the general growth of education concerning the profitableness of concentration

"There will be two ways only of causing the private individual to buy a motor carriage after the war. Either you will produce it at such a price that it will be an economy for him to acquire it, or will you embody in it such a combination of improvements, alike in design and materials, as will make him disguested with the finest motor carriages so far available in any class; therefore you will tempt him successfully to part with his money.

"It may be recalled that before the war manufacturers were wont to employ special steels for making cars solely for competition purposes. There were, however, a hundred and one reasons why they could not standardize engines of high output then, among them being the fact that the very special grade steels of which they must be fashioned were not commercially available. Again, the rank and file of each factory staff was not educated to such highly specialized work. But the demands of war have compelled one motor maker after another to produce engines of more or less high output for aviation work. The original British designs that have proved practical are plied equally to the cases of France or Germany, for instance; but manufacturers are nevertheless gaining enormous experience because many who are unable to make high-powered aircraft engines of their own designing are producing them from designs evolved elsewhere.

"The difference between war and peace work for engines of high output is this, that in pace time the individual manufacturer produces a few examples for competition work under what may be styled more or less nursery conditions, in that the cream of his staff of mechanics is in constant attendance on them; wheras in war time touring cars and issued to the servengines of high output have to be standardized precisely as do those of touring cars and issued to the services, whereupon they are placed in charge of those who, for the most part, had never anything to do with this class of engineering construction before the war. Hence, experience is being gained on an immense scale.

"There remains the question of price. The war has put an amazing premium on increase of steel production. The point that matters in this particular connection is that, alike in the case of this country and of any of the big engineering nations, post-war steel production capacity will be enormously in excess of normal requirements, as distinct from those of the brief reconstruction rush period.

"Steel makers will find themselves in very keen competition one with another. Those who will succeed in filling their order books will be the firms which will commercialize higher and yet higher grades of steel. Of course, the way to make a better motor carriage is not merely to employ finer materials than hitherto-the possibilities of these materials must be realized to the full by utilizing them with worthy designs. "Probably, by concentration on one model to the factory, and so forth, as far as the lower-priced cars of ordinary design are concerned, no radical change will be witnessed for a spell. They will be more completely equipped for less money. But as regards higher-grade production, including the matter of power for weight, we shall see startlingly fresh things in car design, because the weight problem will be attacked to the saving of tires and petrol. You will be able to maintain a motor carriage more cheaply, as well as find it more pleasurable to use, because it will be more felxible, and so forth. Certainly we shall see the more and more efficient overhead-

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes Into Sour Bile Making You Sick, and You Lose a Day's Work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel billous, neadachy, constipeted and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for danand if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker harmiess to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at wight and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headche, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like vioent calomel. Take a dose of calomel oday and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose day's work! Take Dodson's Liver one instead and feel fine, full of vigor

Cold Days Require Coal

Why is it that some folks always delay their coal buying and the installing of their stoves until the last minute when every member of the family has run the risk of serious cold or pneumonia and until all of the coal and stove dealers are so busy they cannot give the best service? Surely the wise man will not be caught in a blizzard with his coal supply not yet laid in.

We have the supply of coal, we have the prompt service, and the prices are lower now than they will be when winter gets here. Isn't it good health insurance, isn't it good business, isn't it the sensible thing to do to place your order now?

Just phone us at 162 and we will do the rest.

Blackwood, of Chicago, gave an interesting and instructive talk on asphalt, explaining the method of handling the mineral in modern construction. A three-reel motion picture was shown, depicting the natives in Bermi dez and Triridad mining the mineral from the great lakes as asphalt, the loading on cars and transportation to ships, loading on ships and the mining of the asphalt! from the hold of the ships after it had arrived at its destination, the mineral having congealed while in transit. The plants for mixing the asphalt, refraing plants, method of laying paying, both sheet asphalt and asphaltic concrete, principal streets of the world paved with asphalt and other things of interest, were shown and interstingly ex-
