With The Home Economics Clubs

Austin, Texas, Sept. 19, 1917.
Dearest Club Girls:
I am back in Austin, and real glad to be in Texas again. The eastern portion of the United States is beautiful as far as crop conditions go, but Texas soil, parched and dry as it is, looks better to me as far as home conditions go.

We are making great plans for our winter work, and I am sure you are going to enjoy the lessons this year, as the course is going to be of such value in your homes. We will begin to get prepared in the meantime, please get ready for your club exhibits.

In your evening and bread will be judged, just a few insects and a canned exhibit will suffice for the club display that is to be in each locality.

I am glad to tell you that the Texas Public Health Association is mighty interested in our work and are going to co-operate heartily in our work this winter. Mr. Breed, whom you remember prepared such nice programs in Red Cross work through Mrs. Kuper and Mrs. Graham, gave me a long conference this afternoon on our future work, and he, too, was quite enthusiastic over the plan of work for our clubs.

I talked of your accomplishments and successes every where I went, and your nice club pictures were admired by every one who saw them. I am sure no state is doing better work along the lines of our own club work than Texas. I am anxious to see my Texas clubs excel every other state in home economics, and I think we have a fair start to do it.

I will visit East Texas first, I think, among the clubs to be visited, and will organize other clubs in that section. You remember the beautiful exhibits from East Texas we had during the convention.

I have a great deal of mail here, which will be given attention as fast as we can get to it.

I am going to make a special appeal to the girls whose exhibits have been returned to look for a gown that will be as a nainsook gown and breaks up a set and, of course, she is anxious to receive it again. Please give this your attention, girls, as it is the only piece of work we had in our beautiful display that has gone astray. I am sure you have overlooked the matter heretofore.

Governor Williams of Oklahoma sent his kindest regards to all the Texas girls and said he was much interested in our progress. He remembered the nice box of exhibits sent to him by the Collinsville club.

Cordially yours,
MRS. J. L. LANDRUM,
Organizer and Supervisor Home Economics Clubs for the State Department of Agriculture.

HALE COUNTY WORKING FOR BEET-SUGAR MILL

Million-Dollar Factory Will Be Built at Plainview if 7,000 Acres Beets Are Grown.

PLAINVIEW, Texas, Sept. 17.—The Hale County Commissioners' Court has appropriated $500 for supplying a man or men to get farmers to sign contracts to plant and cultivate sugar beets for five years. This is not the purpose of securing for Hale County a beet-sugar factory to cost more than $1,000,000. It is estimated that such a factory will pay $750,000 a year to farmers for their beets.

Merrill Nibley, general manager of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, of Salt Lake City, Utah, was here recently, and said that if the people of Hale County would contract to grow a minimum of 7,000 acres of beets for five years, his company would locate a factory here. His son and other officials of the company will be here in a few days to arrange the contract.

With Judge W. C. Mathes as the chief spokesman, about fifty representative citizens went before the Commissioners' Court. They urged that as the taxable values of the county, enhancement in values of lands and increase in population would redound to the benefit of the entire county, the county should render assistance in getting contracts signed with farmers. The appropriation was allowed with the understanding that all work will be done under the direct supervision of the Commissioners' Court.

Sugar beets have been raised for several years in Hale County, chiefly for stock feed. Some of these beets sent to factories tested 18 per cent sugar content. Yields ranging from twenty to twenty-five tons per acre have been reported. Factories are paying about $5 per ton this year for beets.

AN OLD APPEAL
One of the bravest and most gallant struggles for national liberty in all the history of the world was the war for the independence of the Netherlands against Philip II of Spain. William of Orange—William the Silent—led his people through years of war to ultimate victory, though he did not live to see that great result. In unselfish devotion to his people and his country, his courage and ability, he stands in the annals of his country as Washington stands in ours. Of him it was said by Motley, the historian: "When he died, the little children cried in the streets." The great and powerful United States, engaged against Germany, is in the such condition as was the Netherlands Confederacy attacked against the power of Spain, yet the Prince of Orange's appeal to the Dutch people to give financial support to the cause of liberty possesses a timely interest when the United States Government is asking the American people to give their financial support to their Government in this war for liberty in the world.

The Prince of Orange in his address to the inhabitants of the Netherlands used these words:

"Let not a sum of gold be so dear to you that for its sake you will sacrifice your lives, your wives, your children, and all descendants, to the latest generations; that you will bring sin and shame upon yourselves, and destruction upon us who have so heartily striven to assist you. Think what scorn you will incur from foreign nations, what a crime you will commit against the Lord God, what a bloody yoke ye will impose forever upon yourselves and your children, if you now seek for subtleties; if you now prevent us from taking the field with the troops we have enlisted. On the other hand, what inexpressible benefits you will confer on your country, if you now help us to rescue that fatherland from the power of our enemies."

DISCOVERY OF NEW POWER A BIG WAR SECRET.

Transmission of power by a method hitherto unknown is the interesting subject of an article in the October number of Popular Mechanics Magazine. This discovery is now being utilized by the British War Office and Admiralty. After the war it will be available for general use by all power users and it is said will completely revolutionize prevailing systems.

AMERICAN SOLDIER'S FIGHTING EQUIPMENT.

It may sound strange to American ears, accustomed as they are to denunciations of our national unreadiness, to hear that the American soldier's equipment is conceded by military authorities to be the finest of any army in the world, says Gerald Mygatt in Leslie's.

Thus it is that Sammy will go to France (or to Russia or Mesopotamia or wherever the fates decree) carrying on his person the most complete, most adaptable, lightest, handiest and most thoroughly efficient living, working and fighting outfit of any soldier on earth, not excepting either our enemies or our allies.

- Rifle (this alone weighs 8 1/2 pounds).
Ammunition (220 cartridges; 100 worn in the belt, 120 in bandoleers slung over the shoulders).
Bayonet.
Bayonet scabbard.
Intrenching shovel (or pickax or wire cutter).
This would seem to be something of a hardware store to start with, but the list has just begun:
Cartridge belt.
Haversack.
Pack carrier (these latter two items, with their suspenders, form the cylindrical roll carried on the back, commonly called the pack).
Shelter tent half an rope (each man carried one-half of a tent, the halves buttoning together).
Metal canteen.
Padded canteen cover.
Meat can.
Bacon can.
Condiment can.
Towel.
Housewife (a small, handy sewing kit).
Identification tag (a metal disk) and tape (to fasten around the neck).
Whatever rations may be issued.
All the articles mentioned above the American infantryman carries upon his person—and he is given frequent inspections to see that he does carry them and that not a single thing is missing. One tent pin gone, a comb or toothbrush or pair of socks not there—and trouble results. But these articles are not all. Each squad of eight men has a squad kit-bag, which is carried in the wagons, and in this bag each man must always have the following things:

An extra pair of breeches.
An extra flannel shirt.
Two additional pairs of socks.
An additional suit of underclothes.
A spare pair of marching shoes, in good condition.
Extra shoelaces.
This is the equipment with which Sammy goes forth to war, and if it occurs to you that it must make quite a sizable and weighty package, it might be well for you to consider two further things. In the first place, if it is winter, Sammy will be wearing not only what is noted above, but also a sweater or overcoat, or possibly both, with arctic or some sort of lumberman's boots over his shoes. And in the second place, winter or summer, there are always the glorious extras which nobody thinks about in making up tables of weights—jackknives, pipes, matches, tobacco, mouth organs, sneakers to rest the feet at night, razors and shaving equipment, metal pocket mirror, electric flashlights, compasses, knick-knacks of one sort or another—all the bet conveniences and little personal necessities that men want to have with them. All in all, a man's equipment may thus run up as high in weight as seventy-five or eighty pounds. Nevertheless, ounce for ounce, convenience for convenience, the American equipment is a marvel of compactness.

SOLDIER INSURANCE.

One of the uses to which is it proposed to devote part of the proceeds of Liberty Loan Bonds is to afford to our soldiers and sailors life and indemnity insurance and to provide for allowances to their dependent families while they are in the ranks. On this point Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury, whose plan of insurance for our fighting men was endorsed by President Wilson and is now embodied in a law pending before Congress, says:

"Every soldier and sailor who serves his country in this war will earn everything the proposed war insurance bill provides; to be a beneficiary of the proposed law will be a badge of honor. "When we draft a wage earner, we call not only him but the entire family to the flag; the sacrifice entailed is not divisible. The wife and children, the mother, the father, are all involved in the sacrifice—they directly bear the burden of defense. They suffer just as much as the soldier, but in a different way, and the nation must generously discharge as a proud privilege the duty of maintaining them until the soldiers and sailors return from the war and resume the responsibility. "We have drawn the sword to vindicate our honor, violated the sacred store peace and justice, and to secure the progress of civilization. We cannot permit our soldiers, while they hold the front, to be stabbed in the back by uncertainty as to what is being done for their loved ones at home. Our tomorrows are in their hands—theirs in ours. The national conscience will not permit American soldiers and their dependents to go unprotected with anything that a just, generous and noble people can do to compensate them for the sufferings and sacrifices they make to serve their country."

THE RECORD SENTENCE.

He had just been sentenced for thirty days for stealing and eating two apples. "That's a high price," said a bystander, "for two apples." "That's nothing," said another. "Adam took only one, and was condemned to hard labor for life."

THE LETTER E

Someone has advanced the opinion the letter "E" is the most unfortunate character in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger and in hell all the time.

But we call attention to the fact that "E" is never in war and always in peace, it is the beginning of ex-istance, the commencement of ease, and the end of trouble.

WANTED—MORE LIBERTY DOLLARS.

That the head of the Goddess of Liberty on your dollars may never mean less than its present significance; that the eagle may never have its wings trimmed or be converted into the German black eagle; that your dollars in the future may continue to be worth one hundred cents of American purchasing power; and that we may never have to change the high-minded wording "In God We Trust" into the debased meaning of "In the Kaiser We Distrust"—that these things may not change you are asked to spend a few of your dollars to save the many more.

Next month the Second Liberty Loan of 1917 will be offered to the public. The response by purchase should be a privilege. If a sacrifice is necessary it should be made. Those who bear arms make far greater sacrifice. If you can't fight with bullets, let your dollars fight for you.

As a straight risk, the man on the firing line risks his life—all that is dear to him. The loan of your dollar to the government to protect that fighting man is no risk. It would be no risk and should be your duty if no interest payment were made for the use of your money. The government makes your principal secure and gives it earning power. It is your patriotic and business duty to support the loan.

As the war advances, no doubt you will be called upon more and more to sacrifice, and the least sacrifice later on may be the giving up of your money through taxes imposed without return of principal or interest.

ALL CAN FIGHT FOR AMERICA.

We are sending our soldier boys to the front by the hundred thousand. They are doing their part. But the rest of us, who stay at home, have no right to bask in their reflected glory. It does no good for us merely to give them three cheers.

While we are asking them to offer their lives, are we who stay at home willing to do our share? Are we willing to risk business or political success, if need be, by hitting straight from the shoulder like true Americans?

No matter how much we might sacrifice, it is insignificant compared with what they do.

There is a big job to be done, and it is right under our noses.

Some who affect sophistication ridicule the idea that enemy agents are busy in our very midst. But they are really very unsophisticated. They are ignorant of the meaning of world events now taking place.

"Riga was captured by Senator LaFollette and his followers," says Charles Edward Russell, who has recently returned from Russia and knows whereof he speaks. Not all the friends of Germany receive pay from Germany. They may be only misguided fanatics. But they are none the less effective tools.

Russell's accusation is a vivid way of saying that Germany is winning its battles by psychology. It no longer hopes for a pure military victory.

Russia looks to America for inspiration. The talk of LaFollette, the Peoples' Council, the Non-parsisan League, the I. W. W. and similar men and organizations is carried to them by oily-tongued German hirelings and made to appear as proof that the American people are about to surrender to German might-right, make peace and let the devil take the hindmost. This causes the Russians to lose heart. They retreat, and with every retreat the end of the war is put farther off.

Every German victory, no matter where it takes place, now means a setback, a defeat for America. Do we all get that clearly?

In every military clash with France, England and Italy, Germany is slowly beaten back. The members of the German general staff are no fools. They know their only hope is to break down the enemy from within, as they are doing in Russia.

THEY ARE TRYING TO DO IT IN AMERICA.

THEY ARE USING AMERICAN PACIFISTS TO BREAK RUSSIA DOWN.

Every time we cater to the pacifists and fail to brand the clever and insidious enemy propagandists at every opportunity we are proving faithless to the soldiers we are sending out to the firing line.

We are putting off the end of the war and sacrificing the lives of our own boys.—Wichita Beacon.

GOV. FERGUSON IMPEACHED ON TEN CHARGES.

referred to the action of the Governor in regard to the office of Commissioner of Labor, held by C. W. Wootman, whose appointment was not confirmed by the Senate. On this article the vote was 2 ayes and 27 noes on the question, Shall the article be sustained?

ternoon to make his speech clothed in white Palm Beach.

The Governor began his address with a quotation of verse to the effect that it requires skill and truth to sail against a gale. Early in his speech he said: "Men come and men go; issues come and issues go, but principles live forever. Whether you acquit me or not is a matter of little consequence to me. It is with your conscience—between you and your God."

When the Governor closed his speech, at 11:34 o'clock, an adjournment was taken until 1:30, when Mr. Crane began his argument. He was entitled to two hours and forty minutes, but said at the outset he would not occupy all this time. He closed at 3 o'clock, using about half of his time.

Immediately at the close of Mr. Crane's argument Mr. Hudson moved that the articles be voted on according to the rules of the court. He asked that strict enforcement be made of the rule against demonstrations during the vote. A two-thirds vote was required to sustain any article.

After the vote on the last of the twenty-one articles of impeachment the Senate set Tuesday, September 25, at high noon, as the hour for formally passing judgment on Governor Ferguson. The Committee on Civil Jurisprudence was given the task of preparing the judgment of the Senate, which will be reported Monday.

GOVERNOR FERGUSON'S CAREER IN GRIEF.

Born near Belton August 31, 1871, son of a Methodist preacher and farmer.

As a boy, worked on a farm, a bell boy in hotel and a miner.

As a young man, worked as a bridge carpenter and railroader, eventually studying law and being admitted to the bar, practicing only a short time.

Became a banker and was made president of the Temple State Bank, when in 1914 he decided to become a candidate for governor.

Although scarcely known outside of Temple, his platform of vetoing any measure dealing with the liquor traffic and his proposition to regulate land rentals attracted attention and he won the Democratic nomination over T. H. Ball of Houston, prohibitionist, and another candidate who polled only a small vote.

First administration was harmonious.

When he became candidate for reelection in 1916, he was opposed by C. H. Morris of Willsboro and charges were made during the campaign as to where he received the campaign funds in the first race.

On February 14 of this year further agitation against the governor started with introduction in the Senate by Johnson of Hall County of a resolution repeating the charges made in the campaign advertisement referred to.

He also was charged with exceeding the loan limit in his dealings with the Temple State Bank. The resolution called for an investigation, but the Senate tabled it.

A few days later Representative M. M. O'Bannon introduced a resolution embodying the Johnson resolution in the House. This also was tabled.

On March 3 the matters were reopened when Rev. H. P. Davis, representative from Van Zandt County, introduced a resolution calling for impeachment of the governor, making the same charges as had been made before and also charging that the governor had illegally purchased groceries in violation of the "chicken salad" case.

An investigation was ordered and conducted, and at its conclusion the committee returned a report criticizing the governor, but holding that impeachment was not deserved.

The last storm broke when, after the last call session, the Governor vetoed the entire appropriations for the University of Texas and the medical school.

Much criticism arose over the location of the West Texas A. & M. College at Abilene also.

The culmination was the calling of the House in special session by Speaker Fuller August 1, for the purpose of impeaching the governor.

A subsequent call by Governor Ferguson for the Legislature to meet on the same day for the purpose of making university appropriations brought the lawmakers together.

Speaker Fuller introduced the articles of impeachment, and another investigation, which was concluded only last Wednesday, was ordered.

Judge H. C. Randolph went to Tulla this afternoon on legal business.

The New Autumn Modes in Women's Coats

Long loose lines are favored.

Fur collars and fur trimmings are the rule.

Huge pockets, hidden pockets, simulated pockets.

Loose belts mark the waistline, but do not break the long straight silhouette.

So much for the main fashion features. There's too much to tell, and too much that's indescribable, without your own eyes to interpret it. The new colors—the gores, piping, vents, the drapes and all the quaint, curious and bewitching embellishments that make the new garments so fascinating.

They're here! You'll want first selection! You will want to be the first to wear the new things. You'll get the most gratification and the long service by making your selection now. At your service.

Fall Tailored Suits For Women

Handsome Than Ever—and More Varied.

Fur trimmings is the rule—and was ever any fashion so charmingly becoming to all women? Rich in its effect; pleasing in its contrasts; with a comforting warmth for the cold day coming.

While fur trimming is the rule, there are many pleasing exceptions, in smart and dressy suits that neither have fur nor need it. Some have high, close fitting collars, with straight or irregular rolls, and nothing would seem to give greater witchery to the wearer. Some have belts, and others have loose sashes—all coats have the long graceful lines, and each has its individual embellishment, simple or ornate.

A collection we are sure, that you will very greatly enjoy seeing. Some good looking suits at $22.50. Others at $30.00 and $35.00. But come in and let us show you.

La Camille front lace corsets mold the body to the lines of greatest beauty in harmony with the prevailing dictates of style.

At the same time, they always mean comfort. In these models, front lace corseting reaches its highest expression.

The wonderful Ventiloback, which is one of the principle features of "La Camilles," relieves all pressure upon the spine. It is soft yielding and comfortable and provides thoro ventilation.

The Ventiloback in front gives added comfort, as the flesh cannot be secured.

A full, new line of these corsets—aristocrats in the corset world, and will be glad indeed, to show them to you, to tell you of their merits, and best of all to fit you with one of them.

There are models for every type of figure. Beautiful materials—broche and coutil, the better corsets having pretty lace and ribbon trimming around the top.

Prices range from $3.50 to $10.00.

So, milady, look to your corset needs, and if you would appear at your best, corseted right and completely at ease—choose a "La Camille."

Autumn Blouses

Did fashion ever make such radical changes? Yesterday the blouse was merely a soft or filmy shirtwaist, and today we scarcely recognize it. "Simple!" Yes, but how different and clever. Sometimes it is the flaring or rolling collar, sometimes it is the drapes, the little pleatings, the beaded trimming.

It is these little different style touches that distinguish our blouses from the "commonplace."

For Example: There are some especially attractive blouses of crepe de chine and georgette crepe at $5.95 unusual styles.

At $6.50 to $12.50 are also new arrivals.

A great variety of autumn's newest things—may we have the pleasure of showing you?

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Shipping Prices and Shipments for the U. S. for Period from September 1-11, Inclusive.

Despite the fact that one-half more sweet potatoes moved to market during the week of September 1-11 than the week previous, prices have advanced considerably. Virginia selling F. O. B. at $4.00 to $4.25 per barrel, as compared with $3.50 to $4.00 a week ago.

Watermelons Supply Only One-Half as Large as a Week Ago. Shipments from Maryland and Delaware have declined markedly. The Missouri movement is also becoming light, although only 2,258 cars have been shipped from there to date, as compared with 4,417 cars last year.

Potato Prices Slightly Firmer. New Jersey potatoes, which make up the bulk of the stock on the market, have advanced from $1.15 to $1.25 per bushel F. O. B. price for cobblers a week ago, to $1.15 to $1.50.

Rock Ford cantaloupes are selling for $2.50 to $3.25, about the same price as a week ago. Illinois and Indiana have declined considerably although the supply from those sections is decreasing. Rocky Fords are reported as selling $2.50 to $3.00 F. O. B., as compared with $1.50 to $1.75 a week ago.

Western Peaches More Plentiful. Washington and Colorado sections are now at the summit of their peach shipments. In the past week, West Virginia and Maryland were in small supply. The total shipments for the week have been 1,512 cars, as compared with 4,345 a week ago.

Other Fruits and Vegetables. The supply of grapes was slightly heavier this past week. California still leads in shipments, although Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and New York have been factors this past week. Grapes were reported as selling at 27 cents per six-pound basket F. O. B. Council Bluffs, Iowa, yesterday.

Onion shipments have been slightly heavier this past week. New York, Massachusetts, California and Ohio are all moving a considerable quantity. New Yorks are selling at $1.00 to $1.25 per bushel, F. O. B. Council Bluffs, Iowa, yesterday.

Cabbages—Colorado cabbages still occupy the most prominent place in the market. Shipments are now at their height from that state. However, the movement from that state to date has been only 728 cars, as compared with 1,199 cars last year to the corresponding time.

POTATOES SAVE WHEAT. Irish and Sweet Furnish Starch and When Pleatful May Replace a Considerable Amount of Cereals.

Americans, if they would think of the humble potato as a "breadstuff" rather than merely as a "vegetable," would find that they could spare much bread from their diet without inconvenience, the dietetic specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture point out. The potato—Irish or sweet—differs from almost all other common vegetables in that it supplies important amounts of starch, and starch is the chief element we get from bread.

One division of the exhibit that is expected to be of peculiar attraction is that of the East Indian troops, which have had an important part in the war. The uniforms of these picturesque fighters, models of rope bridges built by the natives of the Himalayas, frontier towers along the northwest line of India, Sapper equipment, bridges, mortars and bombs will be exhibited.

The British War Exhibit weighs approximately twenty-five tons, and will require an immense amount of floor space. It will be located in the Educational Building, where special quarters have been set aside.

The exhibit was secured by the State Fair of Texas only after the posting of a heavy bond and at a very considerable expense. It will be shown at the State Fair of Texas as a benefit for the Red Cross Society. Attendees will be at the exhibit on a strictly voluntary basis in detail the operating points.

REPEATING AND AUTOLOADING SHOTGUNS

There is any one thing that a sportsman demands of a gun or a shell it is that it shall give him the full advantage of his skill. The further along he gets in the game, whether at the traps or in the field, the surer he is to swear by Remington UMC—both in guns and shells.

Remington UMC guns work quicker than any man can aim, and shoot longer. "Arrow" and "Nitro Club" feed and speed shells. They cut down many a bird that would have gotten away from any of the slower makes of shell.

Wayland Baptist College. This institution is now in the Department of Education. Students who are admitted to schools or colleges of university grade and who complete our two years of regular college work will be admitted to the Junior year in the best colleges of the country.

WAR EXHIBIT TO BE SHOWN AT DALLAS FAIR.

Implementations of warfare used by the fighting forces on the European battlefields will be shown in great number by the mammoth British War Exhibit which will be placed at the State Fair of Texas, October 13-28.

Long-range cannons, submarine torpedoes, howitzers, gas masks, trench periscopes, machine guns, and scores of other death-dealing weapons that are snuffing out the lives of soldiers across the sea will be shown and demonstrated in this exhibit.

Chief among the interesting specimens will be guns from the famous raider ship, "The Emden." The heroic career and death-dealing record of this boat will lend added attraction to any piece of equipment that might once have been service thereon.

The Heating Stove Season Will Be Here Before You Can Expect It. Be among the wise ones who will get their heaters early and be prepared when the first northr hits. You know it will come soon for it always does year after year. Year after year many of you have waited until the blizzard came and while the little folks and the housewife sat about wrapped up and shivering you rushed down to buy a stove. Every body rushes the orders about the same time and it taxes us to get them all up promptly so some have to wait and keep on shivering until the stove gets there. Don't be one of those who will shiver this year. Be wise, buy now and defy the coming cold. Cole's Hot Blast Heaters, and Garland Base Burners and Heaters will fill the bill in every particular. The oil stove has served its summer purpose but now comes the time when you want a warm stove in the kitchen. One about which you can pop corn and make candy on cool nights. That's all and the Garland and Arcadian Ranges are just the thing that will serve the purpose. R. C. WARE HARDWARE CO. Phone 178 tin boxes each holding a quarter of a pound, will provide a better variety for a packet than a larger quantity of a single confection.

CHRISTMAS CHEER BAGS WANTED FOR SOLDIERS.

No liquid nor articles packed in glass should be placed in the package. For wrapping the gifts use a khaki-colored handkerchief or other material, twenty-seven inches square, and form a base of the packet by placing on the center of the handkerchief a pad of writing paper about seven by ten inches. Select a variety of articles either from the suggested list (according to individual wishes) to an amount of not exceeding $1.50 and arrange them on the pad of paper so that the entire package shall be the width of the pad and approximately five or six inches high.

Wrap and tie with one-inch ribbon, and place a Christmas card under the bow of ribbon. A card bearing the greetings of the chapter would be desirable. Wrap the parcel again in heavy, light-brown Manila paper, and tie securely with red, green or gift cord, and use Christmas labels or American flags, as desired. A list from which to select Christmas gifts for these bags follows:

men were here and sought them out. They are a fine, healthy-looking lot, and nearly two months of hard work under real campaigning conditions has put them in shape.

They are prepared and anxious to try honors with the Germans. In fact, their only grievance is that for the present they are not permitted, except where necessity demands, to expose themselves to the enemy's guns. In fact, until a stringent order was issued recently the officers had a hard time keeping them out of the British front-line trenches. It is said that more than one American soldier has crept away when off duty and after making friends with the "Tomnies" has taken his place beside them for a few glorious minutes while a minor battle was progressing.

Over the Top.

It would have been unwise, perhaps, for the correspondent to inquire too closely whether any of the American officers had "done his bit" in this manner. Nevertheless the correspondent had grave suspicions that some of them had gone "over the top" with their Allies before orders forbade it.

The correspondent visited two different camps, and in each there were the same scenes of methodical activities characteristic of American methods. Things were moving smoothly and no false motions were being made. Efficiency was the watchword everywhere.
