Hale county should have more silos. Silos always mean plenty of good feed for the stock during the winter.

A company is going to drill for oil in or near Plainview. It will get oil or drill deep enough to get a Chinaman.

If you want to vote in the coming elections, you must be possessed of a poll tax receipt or its equivalent—a certificate of exemption.

Fashion's latest decree is, that women's skirts shall be shorter and their shoes higher. Well, we're going to focus on the shoe tops, no matter how high they get.

The News continues to add new subscribers. The News is Hale county's newsy local paper. It keeps its readers posted on what's happening in Hale county and on the Plains.

The ancient and honorable order of taxpayers is now digging deep. Taxes are higher than ever before, but "Jones" must stand and deliver. It is a safe assertion that taxpayers get less for their money than most any set of people in the land.

Since the warmer sunny days have come the Sons of the Bureau of Information that holds forth on the northwest corner of the square maintain a full quorum each day. Just now they are settling the peace program and raising (by proxy) a big wheat crop.

Kentucky will pattern after Texas and provide free textbooks for its school children. Education is the thing. An educated citizenship is a better, more law-abiding, more God-fearing and thrifty citizenship. The dollar spent in education brings better and bigger returns than if invested in anything else—even oil stock.

Washington dispatches say the war department has decided that bodies of American soldiers who died in France will be buried either in a national cemetery to be established in that country, or in the national cemetery in Washington. But, there are many parents who wish their boys to be buried in their family plots. Are they to be denied this privilege? The boys gave their lives to the country, and now the country should give back the bodies to their families.

Funeral Wagon No Longer Outlaw and Man-Killer

EL PASO.—Funeral Wagon, the outlaw horse of Pendleton, Ore., is known wherever bowlegged broncho busters gather and talk horse. When he was shipped to the remount station at Fort Bliss his reputation as a bad actor preceded him. There was fame to be had for riding the outlaw and man-killer, but everybody seemed to have a positive dislike for the limelight. For whenever a buster approached the corral Funeral Wagon gave unmistakable evidence that he was looking for trouble.

Sergeant Davis fell heir to Funeral Wagon. The sergeant is one of those men who has a way with horses. They are few and they are born, not made. Accidentally he believes that horses can reason and have feelings; in fact, he wouldn't deny that horses have souls.

Ordinarily Davis can walk into a corral and lead out any horse in it without fuss or excitement. But it took him a month to gain the entree to Funeral Wagon's private corral. Another month went by before he could pat the big bay on the neck. After that the acquaintance progressed more rapidly.

At last came the day when Davis decided to try to ride the outlaw around the corral. He believed Funeral Wagon's intentions were good, but he was afraid that habit was strong. So he rigged up a Gleason bridge—the last word in horse-breaking. But Funeral Wagon behaved quite like a gentleman.

Now Sergeant Davis takes a daily ride on Funeral Wagon. He leaves quiet and spurs behind and he does not go out of his way to stir up his mount. He even hopes to have the commander ride the horse at review. Kindness? Or just Sergeant Davis' way with a horse?

Baby Blaine, Heiress, Travels in Her Incubator

CHICAGO.—Most Americans have heard of Cyrus H. McCormick and James G. Blaine. Well, their great-granddaughter, Baby Blaine, heiress, was born five weeks ago in Neurotin Memorial hospital, Chicago. And when she was taken to her home on Erie street there were great doings. Never in the history of Chicago were more elaborate precautions taken to shelter and protect an infant. For this is an incubator baby, a baby that must live in a regulated temperature, under glass, watched day and night to guard the sacred flame of life.

Everything stopped at the hospital for three-quarters of an hour until this precious charge was delivered safely to the waiting ambulance. No one was allowed in or out of the place. A canopy had been stretched from the front door. Six men held it.

"A lot of fuss over a baby," said one curious bystander. "Not a bit of it, lady," said one of the canvas bearers. "I'm for it. I'm getting $5 a day."

The driver of the ambulance said he had been driving around the city for four days, testing the temperature of the interior. Hot-water heaters had been placed inside.

All the floors and walls near the place where the baby was to be carried had been scrubbed until they shone. Carpets and rugs covered steps and sidewalk.

A crowd that numbered 150, watching the affair, caught a glimpse of the little face.

Doctors and nurses, with the mother and a few friends, formed the procession. The baby's portable home was carried in a specially constructed basket.

"Your Son, a Soldier of America, Salutes You"

A SMALL WISCONSIN TOWN.—When Private Lester Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner, went overseas in Pershing's army he left a sealed letter. A few days ago his name appeared under the caption "Killed in Action." The letter:

"Dear Father: This is a final message to you. There will be little else—just the brief official notice—maybe a belated letter or two, speaking only of the small happenings of the day; perhaps the tale of a comrade or two as to how I fell. Beyond that, nothing. And therefore now, beforehand, I say farewell.

"There is no need of many words, but I want first to thank you for the gift of a clean, strong, vigorous and healthy body. Straight limbs that could serve America at her need; for the gift of a good intellect and discerning mind, I thank you.

"For the long years of self-denial that made my education possible; for guidance and teaching that kept me straight in the days of my youth; for the counsel and help ever freely proffered when I asked; for all noble things in your example—again and most earnestly I thank you.

"Secondly, as to my death: "Inasmuch as we be men together, there is little need for words. It is in a good cause that I lay down my life. All the things I hold dear in life I willingly give up, since it is requested of me. I am proud and I am glad to be one of those America takes who with their bodies pay the price of liberty and justice; and though in your hearts will be sorrow, you will also be proud of me, and will not grieve overmuch.

"All good things be unto you. May the coming years bring wider field of service, honor and wisdom to perform it, and in the end peace and contentment and rest.

"Your son, a soldier of America, salutes you. Farewell."

Say "Squirrel" and Fight; Say "M-e-ow" and Run

SAN FRANCISCO.—There is woe and wrath among society folk and epicures in this neck of woods. They have been basely deceived and the gray deceiver is a simple country boy, at that.

Jimmie Burkett of Lone Oak, Cal., 16 years old, acted as guide for a party of San Francisco millionaires on a hunting trip through the mountains of Shasta county a year ago last summer. Jimmie is mountain-bred and wise in his generation. He is a crack shot and knows the mountains as a preacher knows his Book.

The boy killed squirrels and caught trout for the party. When the camping trip was over he had entered into a deal whereby he was to send his San Francisco friends so many squirrels a week. Gray squirrels, as is well known, are a delight to any epicure's palate.

Then Jimmie began sending the "squirrels" to his friends. His fame grew and his business increased. Each member of the camping party told a friend of the wonderful "squirrel" dinners. Jimmie's mail-order business increased and he was making money fast.

But it is against the law to sell gray squirrels. The game warden heard about the "squirrel" business and camped on Jimmie's trail. No arrests have been made, but Jimmie's business has failed. He ships no more "squirrels."

The truth is that Jimmie sent them no squirrels at all. He just raised the common or household variety of cats, and as soon as they were the size of a squirrel he killed and skinned them and sent them to his customers.

Say "squirrel" to several San Francisco capitalists and clubmen and a fight will follow. Say "m-e-ow" and run for your life.

U. S. MARINETTES IN DRILL FORMATION

The 200 marinettes of the United States marine corps who are stationed in Washington have perfected their drill so that their appearance either singly or in drill formation excites the admiration of visitors to the capital. They are regularly enrolled in the corps as reserves, and though they are assigned to clerical duty they are under the same discipline as men. They wear practically the same kind of uniform, but for their skirts, and even do police duty. This picture shows them in drill formation back of the White House.

PAPER SUBSTITUTES SHOWN; LEVIATHAN BRINGS 8,500 YANKS BACK HOME

The extent to which paper has been used in Europe during the war to replace various textiles is shown in an exhibition at the office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce in the customhouse, New York city. There are samples of camouflage material, and of machine-gun belting, also paper textile carpets comprising different patterns which have the general appearance of matting.

Her Hope of Relief. Her second husband had been buried during the afternoon, and as the dewy shades of evening were gathering over the landscape she sat by the open window watching and watching the shadows deepen into night.

"What are you watching?" asked a sympathetic neighbor. "I am waiting," said the weeping widow, "for the cats to begin fighting in the back yard. This thing of going to sleep without a quarrel is so new, so unusual, it is too hard to bear. Leave me alone with my grief to gaze on the ever-changing wonders of the starlit skies, and when the cats begin I'll doze off gently."

Thoroughly Satisfied. He came from Texas and was one of a party invited to swim in the sea from one of the Long Island beaches last summer. He sat in a rocking chair the picture of comfort, but seemed reluctant to shift into a bathing suit.

"Why don't you go in with the rest?" asked the host. "Well, to tell the honest truth," answered Mr. Texas soldier man, "I haven't sat in a rocking chair in six months, and if you don't mind, I reckon I'll stay right here and rock." And he did.

The Leviathan being towed to her dock by tugs, after her first voyage since the signing of the armistice. The Leviathan brought back 8,500 soldiers, sailors and civilians, most prominent among them being Lord Deries and Maj. Gen. George A. Barnett, chief of the United States marines, and wife.

CITIZENS OF DAMASCUS GET THE NEWS

Great excitement among the people of Damascus when the Palestine News telling of the surrender of the Germans was distributed.

Those of us who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and in consequence deposit lime-salts in the arteries, veins and joints. We often suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. There is no longer the slightest need of this, however, as the new prescription, "Anuric," is bound to give immediate results as it is many times more potent than lithia, in ridding the impoverished blood of its poisons by way of the kidneys. It can be obtained at almost any drug store, by simply asking for "Anuric" for kidneys or backache. It will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant arising from bed at night.

Send to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a 10c trial package.

MADERA, CAL.—"I recommend Doctor Pierce's Anuric very highly. I have suffered for the last three years with catarrh of the bladder, having tried every remedy I heard of but without relief. I saw Anuric advertised in the paper, and like a drowning man grabbing at a straw I thought I would try it also, which I did with great success, as it relieved me almost immediately, before I had taken all of the trial package, and having great confidence in the remedy I immediately sent to the drug store and bought a full-size package. I can say to all suffering from any disease of the kidneys or uric acid troubles, try this remedy and suffer no longer. I have great faith in Dr. Pierce's remedy."—S. F. Hanson.

RUNNINGWATER

Jan. 20.—The snow in this vicinity has melted in the fields, but the road from Runningwater to the Helen-Temple farm has much drifted snow in it, and is very muddy. The remainder of the way to Plainview, the road is much better.

J. F. Watson of the T. L. & D. Co., is riding a bronc now instead of his car.

Messrs. Dennis, Hare, Collins and perhaps others expect to put in some cotton this year. The two former grew some good cotton this past season.

Miss Mash, the principal of the Runningwater school, has been sick with what was reported to be the influenza. After being sick for a week she was able to leave her bed the 11th, and opened school the 13th, with about six or seven scholars present. Of those present the first part of the week Mr. Edmonson's three children, Eugene Lock and Ruth Tarwater are sick with every symptom of the influenza, being all who attended school the first two days of last week with the exception of Laura Lou Tarwater and Athale Tipton. The principal of the school is strongly opposed to suspending the school on account of the influenza, and so far the local school board has not decided it is necessary to do so, but if the experiment of trying to teach school with children and influenza germs both in attendance produces the same results this week, it seems the "flu" germs will be the only ones in attendance.—A. B. Tarwater.

Twelve hundred aeroplanes and nearly twice as many aeroplane engines, now stored by the government in Houston, will be sold to the highest bidders on February 1. These were planes and engines used for training purposes, and are said to be in good condition. It is expected that bidding will be spirited by former army men and others who will want the machines for individual use. Flying experts predict, that with small flyabout machines selling at about the prices of small automobiles, the former will soon become popular for general use. They will make a mile a minute, and some types can be operated at less expense than some automobiles.
