HALE COUNTY MAY VOTE ON $500,000 ROAD BONDS

PETITIONS WILL BE CIRCULATED, ASKING FOR ELECTION TO BE HELD SOON

Hale county people will likely soon have a vote on the matter of issuing about a half-million dollars in bonds for building permanent roads across the county.

The roads sub-committee of the Board of City Development has made a recommendation to the board of directors, asking that petitions be prepared and circulated over the county asking for such an election. The directors will meet tonight to consider the matter, and it is quite certain the request will be granted, and the campaign inaugurated.

The petitions, we understand, will be gotten up in time to present same to the commissioners' court at its April term which meets April 14th. A two-thirds majority is necessary to carry the election.

It is expected that the federal and state highway departments will supplement the county bond money with a similar amount, or maybe more, and that hard-surfaced roads can be built two ways across the county. As so many other counties are making preparations to improve their roads and get federal and state moneys it it thought best for Hale county to get busy at once, and get its application in before the funds available are exhausted.

The matter of getting cheap freight rates on shipments of road material necessary has been taken up with the Santa Fe. We understand that an excellent road-making rock is found in abundant quantity within a hundred miles of Plainview.

Postmaster Sanford Resigns

Ben O. Sanford last week resigned as postmaster of the Plainview office, his resignation taking effect Feb. 25. He resigned in order to enter the oil drilling business. He has bought a big drilling outfit, and has moved it from Corsicana to Burk Burnett. R. C. Dublin of this place is associated with him in the business.

Mr. Sanford was appointed as postmaster here by President Wilson, and took charge of the office July 1, 1913. He has given the people good faithful service, and it is much regretted that he has resigned. His wife and child will remain here for the time-being at least.

Assistant Postmaster Ernest Spencer has been appointed temporary postmaster until a new appointment can be made. Under the new rules a competitive examination must be held. He is an applicant for the place.

Editor Returns from Trip

The editor of the News returned yesterday morning from his trip of sixteen days to Eureka Springs, Ark., and down in Texas. He and Mrs. Adams left Eureka Springs Monday night of last week, coming down through Western Arkansas and Eastern Oklahoma.

But as the trip was made through these sections at night we saw none of the country, until Paris, Texas, was reached for breakfast. There have been almost continual rains for many weeks, and North and East Texas is almost swampy on account of so much water. The farmers have not been able to put a plow in the ground since they planted wheat last fall. They have not broken their land and no corn has so far been planted. They are praying for dry weather. North Texas on Tuesday was visited by a snow that covered the ground, but doubtless melted before the day was gone. Tuesday afternoon was spent in Dallas, and that night we went to Corsicana, to visit Mrs. Adams' relatives. There have been continued rains in that section, also, but the fields are beginning to dry off so that farmers expected to begin plowing within the next several days.

Mrs. Adams remained in Corsicana to visit a couple of weeks or more and the editor came to Tolar, in Hood county, and spent Thursday and Friday with his sister, and then to Dublin, and spent a couple of days with his mother. There have been abundant rains in that section but fair weather has prevailed for a week or more and the farmers are at work—at least many of them, but many others are not going to farm this year, as they have leased their lands at high prices for oil, and are going to take life easy.

Almost every acre of land in Hood, Erath, Comanche and other counties in that section has been leased for oil, or the owners are holding out for higher prices before letting lease. The people are simply batty on oil.

Farmers that have spent their lives trying to make a living on the farm, and have lived half-starved and half-taxed, have suddenly become rich. One man was couldn't buy a package of coffee on credit a year ago, is now rated at nearly $2,000,000, and puts a hundred thousand in the bank every month. Communities and towns that have been dead for twenty to thirty years have been galvanized into bustling business points, unable to care for the new people that have moved into them overnight. People are living in tents, shacks, garrets, and almost any place that affords shelter. DeLeon, Gorman, Dublin and Stephenville are each contending for the supremacy as an oil center. The hotels and boarding houses are reaping a mint of money, also, charging $3 to $5 for a bed that a few months ago was not taken at 25c to 50c.

New derricks and oil drilling outfits are to be seen every few miles. Some dry holes have been struck, and the people are very anxious about other wells going down, as if these test wells a few miles from the real wells prove failures the bottom will drop out in that immediate section.

At Cisco, another oil center, where new buildings are going up rapidly, we saw a whole bunch of Plainview citizens, who are in the oil game—J. J. Rushing, W. N. Baker, Chas. and Ed Calhoun and others. They were all happy and grinning from ear to ear. One of them tried to borrow enough money to get back to Plainview, but all we had was a dollar, so unless he gets to do some stenographic work he is going to have to walk home, we fear.

A Freak Egg

Dr. J. H. Wayland brought to the News office this morning a freak in the way of a hen egg, the egg was larger than a turkey egg, about 6 inches around one way and about 10 or twelve inches around the other, the egg was a complete egg with white and yolk, and then on the inside of that was a common size egg complete with the hard shell upon it. This was not the common double egg that so often is found in hen nests, but a complete egg on the inside of another, and the outside egg was extremely large for a hen to lay.

PLAINVIEW POSTOFFICE BUILDING BILL IS PENDING

CONGRESS WILL LIKELY PASS BILL TODAY—APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

It now seems almost certain that Plainview is to have a postoffice building. We understand that the congressional appropriations committee has approved the item in the public buildings bill appropriating $65,000 for a postoffice building in Plainview. The bill is to come up today, and if it passes before the old congress adjourns, (congress adjourns today), the building will be secured. Plainview needs such a building very badly. The population of the town and the volume of business is much larger than is necessary to secure it, and the present quarters are entirely inadequate.

City Buys Grader and Drag

The city has bought another road grader and a drag to be used on the streets of the town. At the meeting of the council last night, Mr. Wilson, representative of the Austin Western Road Machinery Co., was given an order for an Aurora 8 ft. grader and one three-way drag, with three 8 inch blades to each drag, and to have engine hitch. The grader is to cost $430 and the drag $187, delivered in Plainview.

Ordered that a street crossing be put across the street from C. A. Pierce's to Sam Wilks, and from E. H. Bawden's to T. E. Richards. E. H. Badwen was given the contract to put in above crossings at 22c square foot and to make steps at corners First and Citizens National banks and at Austin and Sixth streets, at 85c per hour and cost of material.

C. B. Thomas was awarded contract to repair roof of city hall at $35.

Fine Pig Shipped

Herman Blueger of Albuquerque, N. M., who owns the Grant building in this city, wrote to O. M. Unger here to buy him a fine Poland-China pig and ship it to a farm which he is opening near Las Cruces, N. M. A big-boned Poland-China was secured from P. B. Snyder and shipped by express Saturday. It is five months' old and weighs 157 pounds.

Castle Case is Reversed

The court of criminal appeals at Austin last week reversed and remanded the case of Verner Castle, from this county. Castle was sentenced to the penitentiary for seriously stabbing his brother-in-law, Mr. Echols, at Petersburg about a year ago.

Sunday was "Texas Independence Day." The banks and postoffice were closed Monday.

PRESIDENT WILL LEAVE TOMORROW FOR FRANCE

PRESIDENT SPENDS BUSY DAY PREPARATORY TO LEAVING FOR FRANCE

Washington, March 3.—President Wilson tonight was ready to begin the return journey to the peace conference, having transacted in the seven days of his stay in Washington all pending public business except such as will engage his attention at the capital in the final hours tomorrow of this congress. Immediately after adjournment he will leave for New York on his way to Paris.

Working at top speed in the last full day available to him in the capital, the president cleared his desk sufficiently to get out for a walk this afternoon with Mrs. Wilson, tramping through matinee crowds and home going war workers. Large crowds followed them and finally the police had to intervene as traffic impeded. Several times the president stopped to speak to wounded soldiers.

Public Auction Sales

John S. Hosier will hold a sale at his home five miles south and one mile east of Hale Center, Wednesday, March 12, at 10:30. The sale includes sixty-six head of stock, consisting of seventeen horses, forty-nine cows and calves. W. A. Nash will be the auctioneer.

Edgar Johnson will sell at his place, eight miles north and two miles east of Plainview, Thursday, March 13, beginning at 10 o'clock, the J. E. Lindgren live stock and farm implements, consisting of seventeen horses and mules, fifteen pigs, also farm implements, etc. A full list will appear in an advertisement in Friday's News. Auctioneer C. F. Sjogren of Kress will have charge of the sale.

$60 Bonus for Soldiers

Daily papers report that on last Tuesday President Wilson signed the war revenue measure, which makes it a law. To this bill is attached a rider, providing that to each person "serving in the military or naval forces of the United States during the present war, who have, since April 6, 1917, resigned or been discharged under honorable conditions," shall be paid, in addition to all other amounts due them, the sum of $60. Those who had been inducted into service on or prior to November 11, 1918, but had not reported for duty at their station on or prior to such date are not included in this act, nor are those who are entitled to retired pay included.

Paul Barrier of Floydada was in Plainview Thursday.

WILL DRILL FOR OIL

NEAR HAPPY, SOON

Will Go 3,600 Feet—Company Has Large Lease Acreage—Best Geological Reports

J. P. McKinney and Vaughn Miller, formerly of Corsicana, are in Plainview, and will be for some days, selling stock in the Happy Oil & Gas Co., which will drill for oil near Happy, about forty miles north of Plainview, on the Santa Fe railroad. A. B. Miller of Corsicana is vice president and general manager of the company, and has had much experience in oil matters.

The company has large lease holdings in that vicinity and has a geological report that is very promising for oil, in fact the best of any in this section of the state.

The company has secured the services of two expert drillers, and they will drill 3,600 feet deep unless gas or oil in paying quantities is found at a less depth. It expects to begin drilling within the next few weeks, and make a thorough test.

Panhandle Swine Breeders' Ass'n

The spring meeting of the Panhandle Swine Breeders' Ass'n. will be held at Childress the 28th and 29th of March, and everyone interested in the raising of swine of any breed or kind is cordially invited to attend. There was no meeting in the fall of 1918 on account of the war and crop conditions, and this is a meeting of importance.

The best talent of the state will be there to address the meeting, and it will be money and time well invested to attend.

R. E. Prewitt of Childress is president of the association.

May Buy Goodnight Ranch

Representative Lee Satterwhite of Carson county has introduced a bill in the legislature looking to the purchase by the state of Texas of the Goodnight ranch and herd of buffaloes in Armstrong county. The speaker of the house has appointed the following legislators as a committee to visit the ranch and report on the advisability of making the purchase: W. I. McFarlane, J. Homer Gaddy, T. R. Bolin, W. A. Poage and J. D. Parnell.

Col. Goodnight is to address the legislature tomorrow, his eighty-fifth birthday anniversary.

Deep Test Well at Sweetwater Soon

Sweetwater, Feb. 17.—Contract was signed today by Walter Booth, E. H. Witches, William Wight et al, as land owners, with Louis Heilbron, F. W. Offenhauser, James O'Hara and H. F. Offenhauser of Texarkana, Texas, as promoters, the said contract being made for the drilling of a deep test well, 3500 feet, eight miles south of Sweetwater. The sum of $2000 was deposited in the First National Bank as good faith money; that operation would begin within 60 days.

Will Drill for Oil

The editor of the News met Sol Jackson of Crosbyton Sunday while in Dublin. He owns leases on sixteen thousand acres of land near Lockney, along the Floyd county caprock, and informed us that he was down there arranging to secure a drill for the purpose of drilling a test well for oil. He said he would begin operations at a very near date.

Delighted with Country

Herman Schultz of Madison, Wis., left for the north Saturday morning. While here Mr. Schultz sold 401 acres of land to the people he had with him. They went back to get ready to move to this "wonderful country" as they expressed it.

The land lies two miles southwest of Plainview.

Just to possibly throw a scare into the bunch that hangs out at the northwest corner of the square, we print the following dispatch taken from a daily paper: Minneapolis, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Rosa Webber shot and killed her husband, John Webber, because he declined to get a job and go to work.

There was a box supper at the Kress school Saturday night, for the benefit of the school, and $100 was realized.

Col. T. J. Tilson has been named as a member of the state committee from Plainview.

CONGRESS WILL ADJOURN SESSION AT NOON TODAY

LACK OF TIME CAUSES MEMBERS TO IGNORE MANY IMPORTANT RESOLUTIONS

Washington, March 3.—Renewed controversy over the League of Nations and the long threatened republican filibuster on legislation came tonight as the clocks were ticking off the hours ending the life of the sixty-fifth congress. Unprecedented crowds watched the proceedings in both senate and house which were expected to remain in continuous session until sine die adjournment at noon tomorrow.

In the senate, the minority filibuster was in headway on the general deficiency bill carrying an appropriation of $750,000,000 for the railroad administration; while the house marked time considering minor matters and holding for the last the conference report on the $1,000,000,000 wheat guarantee bill. Republican senators said their obstructive tactics were directed not at the railroad fund, which they predicted would be voted finally, but as a means of holding off other legislation. While believing that the deficiency measure would be enacted, democratic leaders said they feared the bill was in great jeopardy.

A movement by republican senators for a resolution formally disapproving the league of nations constitution as now drafted and declaring for an early peace treaty added to the tension. Republican Leader Lodge prepared the resolution planning its introduction at a favorable opportunity but he had in reserve the signed pledges of many republican senators who will sit in the next senate announcing their opposition to the proposed league constitution.

With the railroad appropriation and the wheat measure as the two major bills remaining, the formal death blow was given today to many other important bills.

Formal efforts were made late today to securing votes an appropriations bills, but republicans objected and the failure of these was regarded as certain.

Bills shut out in the senate included those providing appropriations for the enforcement of the war time prohibition law and Secretary Lane's measure to reclaim waste lands for settlement by discharged soldiers. Three more regular appropriation bills, however, the Indian diplomatic and military academy measures were completed and sent to the President. Final extensive action also was taken on the measure appropriating funds for hospital construction.

During the night hours, republicans and democrats of the senate disputed responsibility for prospective failure of the main bill which both conceded would not be passed. The democrats asserted that without republican opposition the measure could pass before congress adjourned whereby the republicans declared bills involving such large sums of money should not be passed so hastily, and demanded an extra session immediately.

SEVEN MILLION MEN KILLED IN ACTION

Washington, March 1.—Battle deaths during the war among all participants as far as available statistics show were given today by General March as in action or died of wounds.

In the list prepared by the general staff Russia led with a total of 1,700,000; Germany was second with 1,600,000 and the United States last with 50,000. Approximate figures for other nations were: France 1,385,300; England 706,700; Italy 460,000; Turkey, 250,000; Belgium, 162,000; Rumania, 100,000; Serbia and Montenegro, 100,000; Austria-Hungary, 900,000; Bulgaria, 100,000, a total of 7,354,000. This represents only men killed.

MANY NEW WAYS TO AID ALASKANS

Washington.—While educators have spoken of what education ought to do, and have propounded theories the burden of which has been that education and life should be synonymous, one part of the United States has been experiencing such an ideal in actual practice. In Alaska each schoolhouse is a social center for the accomplishment of practical ends. Many of the buildings, in addition to the recitation room, contain also kitchen, quarters of the teacher, and a laundry and bath for the use of the native community.

Every teacher is a social worker. Every district superintendent, in visiting his widely separated schools, must travel vast distances by sled over the frozen, trackless wilderness. Frequently he must risk his life on treacherous, tempestuous waters in a native canoe or small power boat. He must endure the violence of the northern storms, the rigors of the arctic winter, and the foulness of the native huts in which he must often find shelter.

Directed by Bureau of Education. This work is carried on under the supervision of the bureau of education, and the details of current operation are reported upon by William Hamilton. He tells that there are in Alaska approximately 25,000 natives in villages ranging from 30 or 40, up to 300 or 400 persons, scattered along thousands of miles of coast line and on the great rivers. Some of the villages on remote islands or beside the frozen outside world only once or twice a year, when visited by a United States coast guard steamer on its annual cruise, or by the supply vessel sent by the bureau of education.

Many of the settlements have no regular mail service and can communicate with one another and with the outside world only by occasionally passing boats in summer and sleds in winter. During eight months of the year all the villages in Alaska, with the exception of those on the southern coast, are reached only by trails over the snow-covered land or frozen rivers.

In spite of the difficulties of the problem a United States public school has been established in each of seventy villages. In many instances the school is the only elevating power in the community. Tuberculosis, pneumonia, rheumatism, and venereal diseases prevail to an alarming extent in many of the native villages, and in its endeavor to safeguard the health of the natives of Alaska the bureau of education maintains hospitals in five important centers. It employs physicians and nurses, who devote themselves to medical and sanitary work, and provides medical supplies and textbooks to the teachers to enable them to treat minor ailments and intelligently to supervise hygienic measures. There are extensive regions in which the services of a physician are not obtainable. Accordingly, it often becomes the duty of a teacher to render first aid to the injured or to care for a patient through the course of a serious illness.

Supervise Co-Operative Store. Another duty of the teacher is to supervise the co-operative store which is owned and managed by the natives, who deal in everything but refrigerators. Strange to say, the government of the white man has to protect the native from the white man himself. To secure the native from the intrusions of the unscrupulous trader, the bureau of education has adopted the policy of establishing reservations to which large numbers of natives can be attracted and where they can obtain fish and game and conduct their own industrial and commercial enterprises. The settlement at Noorvik, on the Kobuk river, in arctic Alaska, is one of the most conspicuous successes of this policy.

With their advancement in civilization the Eskimos living at Deering, on the bleak sea coast, craved a new home. Lack of timber compelled them to live in the semi-underground hovels of their ancestors, while the killing off of game animals made it increasingly difficult to obtain food. An uninhabited tract on the bank of the Kobuk river, 15 miles square, abounding in game, fish and timber, was reserved by executive order for these Eskimos, and thither they migrated in the summer of 1915. On this tract in the arctic wilderness the colonists, under the leadership of the teachers, within two years have built a village with well

TO USE WHALE MILK

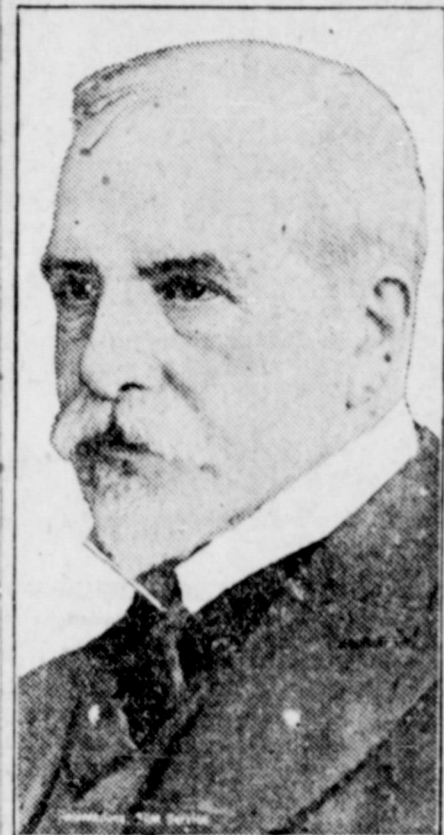

Salem, Ore.—Whale milk may some day settle the question of milk supply for Oregon, according to State Veterinarian Lytle, who is entirely serious in the matter.

"The milk shortage," said Mr. Lytle, "may be swatted some day by domesticating the whale. With the whole Pacific ocean as a farm the domesticated whale would put the Oregon dairy business on a mammoth scale. Whales are mammals, each of which furnishes about a barrel of milk at a milking, and while at present they are a little too shy to be exactly classed as easy milkers, some day they will be domesticated."

Doctor Lytle suggests placing a sheep or two on every lawn in Oregon as a more immediate means of curing the milk and wool shortage.

"A good sheep of long or medium wool will give as much milk as a $75 milch goat, and it is the finest obtainable for infants. In addition, from $6 to $8 worth of wool can be obtained. If the lamb is raised, $10 can

NEGRO IS FATHER OF FORTY

Had Eighteen Children by First Wife, None by Second and Twenty-Two by the Third.

St. Louis.—B. B. Banks, a negro who lives in Benton, St. Louis county, says he is the father of 40 children.

Banks asserts that all his "babies" are alive. He says he has six sons in France.

Banks was discovered in Division No. 5 of the circuit court, where he was a plaintiff, in an action against the Clover Leaf Casualty company, seeking judgment of $500 for alleged personal injuries suffered while employed at a steel plant.

"I've been married three times," Banks said. "By my first wife I had 18 children. She's dead. My second wife had no children. I divorced her. I had 22 children by my third wife."

COAL COMING FROM ALASKA

Railroads Planned for Development of Big Fields in the Far North.

Seattle, Wash.—Development of the coal resources in Alaska which have been locked up through federal laws has been greater in 1918 than in all previous years combined, according to advices received by the Seattle chamber of commerce, due to the construction of the government railway.

The first shipment of Alaska anthracite coal to reach tide-water was delivered at Cordova October 24. Another shipment of 100 tons is now en route to Seattle. The Alaska anthracite railway has been completed from tide-water on Bering river to the coal mines of the Alaska Petroleum and Coal company, 22 miles.

It is planned to extend this railroad eight miles from its present tide-water terminus to deep water on Okalee channel, Controller bay, where coal can be discharged direct from the cars to ocean carriers.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE TEASE.

"A little girl named Grace," said Daddy, "had a doll. She was devoted to this doll as you can imagine she might be."

Nancy smiled and said: "I know how fond she must have been of her doll, Daddy."

And Nick said: "I know, too. Nancy loves her dolls so much and especially one doll she has."

"Yes," said Daddy, "and although Nick doesn't care about playing with dolls, he's never unkind to Nancy's dolls. He does not toss them about and play mean tricks with them. He's not a bully, I'm glad to say."

Nick grinned a little foolishly at these remarks of Daddy's, but he was very much pleased, for it was a good deal to have his great big, strong Daddy tell him such fine things.

"You're right, Daddy," said Nancy. "I know lots of girls, and their brothers are horrid to their dolls and laugh at them for caring about them. Nick never does that."

"Let's hear the story," said Nick modestly. "Grace had named her doll Gracie and she used to love to play with Gracie, as I have said before. Gracie was a rag doll, so she was pretty easy to do anything to."

"Grace had a brother named Edward, and Edward was a tease, not a nice, good-natured, funny sort of a tease, but he was the kind who hurt people's feelings. He would see some one who had a suit on which was not new, or which had been patched, and he would try to make the one who was wearing it feel very uncomfortable."

"Edward would also see boys wearing their older brothers' suits, and he would say with a mean look: 'Where did you get that suit?'"

"And—he also liked to tease Grace by making fun of Gracie and by tossing her up in the air, and playing with her as though she were a ball, and he could bat her in a game of his own mean making.

"Oh, how she would feel when Gracie was lifted up into Edward's hands, and then he would toss her up and say:

"'What's the difference? She's only made of rag. Why do you care? Gracie doesn't."

"That would hurt Gracie's feelings so, as you can well imagine."

"He was horrid," said Nancy. "Trying to hurt something which couldn't hurt him," said Nick, in a very disgusted tone of voice.

"Yes," said Daddy. "He caused Grace a good deal of unhappiness, and Grace was always afraid that Gracie would fall to pieces. One day he left her high up in a tree out in the yard, and Grace was afraid that more snow would come in the night and that it would spoil her beloved Gracie."

"But a boy, a friend of Edward's, who didn't think Edward was really much of a boy for teasing Grace in that horrid way, and had finally come to hardly playing at all with Edward, found Gracie crying. He found out what the trouble was, and he got Gracie from the high limb of the tree."

"Edward didn't know that his friend had brought down the doll, and at night when he slept, lo and behold, Gracie seemed to come and stand at the end of his bed."

"But no longer was Gracie a little rag doll. She had grown, oh, she had grown. And she was wearing instead of a painted wig, great icicles which were so heavy and cold looking."

"Her body seemed very stiff and straight. It seemed very strong, and as though she were made of steel or of iron instead of rags."

"Edward," she said, and her voice seemed harsh and terrible, "Edward," she continued, "you left me out in the snow tonight, so as to tease your little sister. But now I will show you what it is like to be teased. Even if you don't actually hurt me, you hurt your sister who loves me. Wait and I will show you."

"Oh, don't," shrieked Edward. He was very cowardly when he was going to be teased, you see. "I'll be good, I promise," and his voice sounded thoroughly frightened.

"I'll have to show you first," said the doll. She took Edward in her arms, which had grown so big and so hard, and she tossed him up in the air and around and about, so that he was frightened any moment he might land on the ground."

"And Edward thought of the doll outside as he thought she still was there, and oh, he was so sorry, but he never again made Gracie miserable by teasing Gracie."

What Doctor Pierce Has Done for Humanity

BY DOCTOR CRIPPS.

It has always seemed to me that Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., should be placed near the top when a list of America's great benefactors is written. He studied and conquered human diseases to a degree that few realize. Whenever he found a remedy that overcame disease, he at once announced it in the newspapers and told where it could be bought at a small price. He did not follow the usual custom of keeping the ingredients secret, so that the rich only could afford to buy the medicine, but openly printed the name of each root and herb he used. And so today the names of Dr. Pierce and his medicines are widely known, and they stand for better health and better citizenship.

One of this great physician's most successful remedies is known as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are little, sugar-coated pills, composed of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap—things that Nature grows in the ground. These Pellets are safe because they move the bowels gently, leaving no bad after-effects, as so many pills do. Very often they make a person who takes them feel like a new man or woman, for they cleanse the intestines of hard, decayed and poisonous matter that accumulates when one is constive. If you are constipated, by all means go to your druggist and get some of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They may prove to be the very thing your system requires to make you well and happy.

BIT OF UNPUBLISHED HISTORY

Did Man Surely Looked With Prophetic Eye Into the Future of "Holy Russia."

Czar Alexander of Russia was driving in Moscow in his bombproof carriage and was endeavoring to put out a fire in his coat-tail pocket, which had been caused when one of his faithful subjects had slipped an infernal machine into it.

An aged man of Semitic cast stood at the curb and laughed at the czar's plight. The czar was wrath and stopped his carriage.

"Why are you laughing, you poor old fish?" he asked.

"I am laughing because while your family rules Russia now mine will rule in the near future," replied the old man.

It was an omen. Alexander dropped back into the carriage sent pale and trembling. "Who are you, my man?" he asked.

"Ha-ha!" shouted the old party. "I am the great-grandfather of Leon Trotsky."

How It Turns Out. "Love is blind," launched out the chronic quoter, for the 'seventh time.

"Quite true," agreed the henpecked man, glancing furtively about, "but after marriage a man has his eyes opened and a woman develops a keen sense of touch."

The cleverer a man is the less he tries to get away with a lie.

"Nothing is certain," as the fisherman said when he found it on his hook.

"There's a Reason"

ALLIED SUBS PERILED

London.—One of the greatest perils to allied submarines during the war was attack by friendly destroyers. A submarine was assumed to be an enemy when sighted by the ships of any allied nation and it was up to the submarine to show recognition signals if she was not German.

But if it was a destroyer that sighted the submarine she was always making for the little craft by the time the recognition signals could be shown. A slight hitch in getting up a flag or firing a rocket would mean the submarine would be forced to seek safety beneath the surface.

Probably the last attack of this sort was made by American destroyers on a new British submarine of a large type. She was being tested when sighted by the destroyers and they made for her full speed. Something happened to the signal system, and the under-water vessel submerged as depth charges began to tear up the water. One charge shook her until the crew thought she was doomed.

The submarine was constructed to dive 320 feet, but that was forgotten as charge after charge exploded near by. Finally she struck bottom at 300 feet and it was found she was not badly damaged. She was kept on the bottom until her commander was certain the destroyers had gone. Then she was cautiously brought to the surface.

"She don't need any more testing after that experience," the commander reported to the officer in charge of the submarine base.

Bread—An' Butter —An'—Apple Butter

By BARBARA KERR

(Copyright, 1913, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

She was a little brown wisp of a thing, sitting in a big chair propped upon a box to make her just the right height to stir the apple butter.

It was an ideal October day. Along the fence was a riot of color, with now and then a sunshineweed or a clump of goldenrod. The pokeberries with their purple inkwells mingled with the browns, russets and greens of summer weeds and a great profusion of wild grapevines.

HEIGHT THAT FEW ATTAIN Not Many People Can Boast Their Complete Guiltlessness of the "Seven Deadly Sins."

The "seven deadly sins" are pride, envy, lust, avarice, anger, sloth and gluttony.

The fathers, the sages, the wise men of the world, handing down from one generation to another through the centuries what they had observed and learned, at last agreed that all our spiritual and mental miseries, as well as most of our physical sufferings, come from an indulgence in the thoughts and actions included in the above-mentioned list of sins.

Old-fashioned people used to keep this list constantly before them, and their spiritual and physical health progressed or declined in the measure that they were able or unable to control their thoughts and appetites.

In these modern days we are still surprised to learn that the list of seven deadly sins was ever made, and we are more surprised to know that it is a list which really covers the whole moral scheme of existence.

The man who can finally subdue himself into a state in which he does not break any of the laws for which the seven deadly sins stand as infringements, may well congratulate himself. He is what we would call a pretty good man, and we would like to have him as a neighbor.

October came and went in the valley. Other children, sons and daughters of the farmers, went to college. Many of them, after finishing, returned no more, but took up their lives in various ways in other places. One who did not return was Milo Ward, for his family had moved away and the Ward farm was sold.

Then war broke out, and Sarah Jane, patriotic and sweet and wholesome as her own valley, wanted to do her bit. She would make apple butter for the soldiers.

Dr. Samuel Schwab claims that the oldest good story is the one about the boy who left the farm and got a job in the city. He wrote a letter to his brother who had elected to stork by the farm telling of the joys of city life, in which he said:

"Thursday we auto'd out to the country club and we golfed until dark. Then we trolleyed back to town and danced until dawn. Then we motored to the beach and Friday night." The brother on the farm wrote back:

"Yesterday we buggyed to town and baseballed all afternoon. Then we went to Ned's and poked till morning. Today we muled out to the cornfield and gee-hawed till sundown. Then we suppered and then we piped for awhile. After that we staired up to our room and bedsteaded until the clock five'd."

Very Possible. A Kansas City business woman the day before Thanksgiving received a box of chrysanthemums, which she proudly set upon her desk for the decoration of her fellow workers.

"I remember that you promised you'd have better manners next time, and now you've reminded me of that awful moment."

"When the queen's throne toppled—and when I tried to fix it she abdicated."

"It looks as if you were intent on seeing some one else into abdicating," remarked Sarah Jane with a sweep of her basket toward the train.

"Who says so?" bantered Milo. "I have a 26-hour stop-over. I was going out to your place, hoping you'd invite me to stay, and then take me around to see the old places."

Sarah Jane for a moment was tongue-tied with a rush of her old childish diffidence. "Oh, have a heart!" he pleaded, as he took her basket from her arm.

"Yes," assented Sarah Jane demurely, "mother is such a good patriot, she'd do anything for a soldier."

"I've a great mind to make you apologize right now for that remark to an old schoolmate, little Say-Jane," he threatened as he helped her into the roadster. "We are going to cut out all the hero stuff. I'm not making an international appeal. In fact, it is a sort of domestic matter."

"Be careful!" warned Sarah Jane in a panic. "I'm not a good driver—it just about takes all my mind."

"Oh, in a case like that, I'll take the wheel, or else we'll stop at the old hedge, under that big hedge apple tree, and I'll tell you why I did not come sooner."

As he drove through the sweet-scented lanes he set about giving, as he termed it, a strict account of himself. And it must have been quite satisfactory to all concerned, for while 26 hours' leave is all too short, it was still long enough to convince Sarah Jane of his sincerity.

"Bread—an'—butter—an'—apple butter."

Scenes in Arkansas

Eureka Springs, Ark.—This is a very religious town, and most every denomination seems to be represented with a house of worship. Though there are not more than 4,000 people living here there must be about a dozen church houses. The finest is the Catholic church, built by Dick Kerens, the well-known St. Louis multimillionaire, the church is very small, high on the side of the mountain just below Crescent college and hotel; it is of cut lime stone and has a tiling room, the inside is of imported marble, and the decorations and furnishings are possibly as fine as in any church in the entire country; it cost $70,000 so I am told; Kerens built it as a memorial to his mother; she came down from the hotel as he was leaving one day and bid him goodbye for the last time, as she died before he ever again saw her. The Baptists have two churches—one of the quite a fine church, and is named "Pen's Memorial" in honor of the celebrated Baptist preacher and revivalist, Major Penn, who was known to thousands of Texas people twenty years ago and longer; he died here, this town being his home at the time. The Christian Scientists have an elegant building, a replica of the "mother church" of the cult built by Mrs. Eddy in Boston. The Southern Methodists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Disciples of Christ, etc., all have churches here, and the Pentacostal people have a college and state headquarters, and issue a religious paper.

This is also a town of older people. Very few young people are seen. When the young people grow up and finish their schooling, as there are no industries or other avenues of work here, they must go elsewhere to work. Then, a greater part of the people here for the benefit of their health, are of course older people. I was at a Washington and Lincoln service at the Methodist church Sunday, and the house was filled with older people, but a few young people being in attendance.

My wife, daughter and myself went far out into the country Monday, by a road that lead up a valley alongside spring brooks and climbed over the mountains, with pines, cedars, jack oaks, on either side. Here and there were small farms, with old and run-down orchards. We saw several "hog ranches," but the hogs are thin and light and nothing to be compared with the battleship hogs of the Plainview country. The story is told that a northern man brought in a carload of fine thoroughbred Poland-Chinas, and tried to sell them here, but found few buyers. One native declared that "Them fat hogs look mighty purty, and are doubtless alright for some countries, but they won't be a success in Arkansas, for no hog will do any good here that can't outrun a nigger." The hogs here seem to subsist a goodly part of the year on "mast," and the acorn crop is very heavy. There are lots of grapes, strawberries, huckleberries and other wild berries growing in the valleys and on the mountain sides, and produce abundant fruit in season.

The Blockson family of Plainview used to live in Eureka Springs, and many people here have inquired of them. They have many relatives here, who are prominent and wealthy citizens.

The state is building a fine highway across the state and it will run thru this town. It is within eight miles of town, so I am told, and a member of the state highway commission has invited me to go out and see the road and how the work is being done. About seventy-five negro state convicts are helping in the work. Most of them are trustees and are seen going about here and there, without guards, but wearing their striped convict clothes. These convict negroes seem to associate with the local negroes on an equality, for I see them walking along the streets with crowds of negroes, all laughing and talking. This state highway will reach across the state and touch all the large cities, connecting them with Little Rock. Arkansas is becoming very much alive to good roads and education, and great progress in these matters is surely coming.

Eureka Springs has a small local daily newspaper, also a weekly paper, published by the same office. The editor is a very able man, and is quite a factor in the local community affairs.

There is much to admire in Arkansas, and in her people. They are true Americans of the old-time type, and democrats through and through. They are also in many ways progressive. Their public schools rank higher than any of the Southern States, they have adopted statewide prohibition, and have granted the women the right to vote in elections of all kinds. They have always been fighters for the right. The state is rich in agricultural, mining, lumbering and other natural resources.

However, I would not like to live in the state, for I am of the west, where the people are in many ways different and are more boyant and pushing. But I have enjoyed my visit with these people. J. M. A.

Her Eighth Birthday

Such a pretty party did dear little Martha Alice Moore give Friday afternoon at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Moore. The occasion was her eighth birthday. In honor of the event her little friends brought a profusion of dainty gifts.

Games which delight childish hearts were enjoyed during the afternoon, until the cutting of the birthday cake, which centered a beautifully appointed table.

Eight burning tapers surrounded the cake. These were blown out by the small guests with many good wishes for the hostess. The cake, a marvel of the culinary art, contained a thimble, a dime and a button. The thimble fell to Rebecca Williams, the dime to Rebecca Meyers and the button to Edna Ruth Cochrane. With the cake was served ice cream, candy and pop corn balls.

Mrs. Moore was assisted in entertaining her daughter's friends by Mrs. John Oswald. The little folks present were Rebecca Meyers, Katherine Oswald, Janice Stockton, Theresa Stockton, Marie Bowen, Rebecca Williams, Betsy Miller, Jane Miller, Edna Ruth Cochrane, Ione Arnett, Minnie Belle Wilson, Marie Thomas, Elizabeth Putnam, Mary Hal Wofford, Alice Rosser, Vaudine Braddy, Walter Beck, Bob Underwood, Jim Oswald, Malvina Zackary and Buster Moore.

IS LONGING TO RETURN TO GOOD OLD U. S. A.

Joe Peace Declares Columbus Was A Great Man to Have Discovered America

Joe Peace, who is with the American forces in France, writes to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Peace, under date of Jan. 28, as follows:

"Dear Mother and Dad: I never saw snow fall as thick as it has been this afternoon, the flakes were about the size of a silver dollar. Everything was frozen this morning and it was snowing when I got up.

"Was just thinking a few minutes ago how beautiful everything looked as this camp is surrounded with hills and pine trees, green as spring of the year and everything covered with snow. Now the pine trees are not like the pine trees they have in the states. The small towns like Plainview don't have stores like they do there. Maybe one or two stores, but you never see any wooden buildings, not even a wooden shed or barn. Everything is rock or brick, but the country is simply beautiful, most of it is just like a park; but me for the good old U. S. A.

"I never realized that Columbus was such a great man until I came over here and if I ever get back to the States I only want to see the face of the Statue of Liberty one more time, because she will have to do "about face" before I ever see her again as I never expect to leave the U. S. A. again, and you know she is facing this way. They are sending a few men home now.

"I am sitting here by a red hot stove now, haven't been out but one time today and just went to the "Y" for a box of candy. You know I wouldn't do any inside work until the war was over and after it was over I looked for the inside work until after bad weather, and if the war was going on now I suppose I would be in the trenches tonight, as I would

"I notice from the papers that they are going to investigate the way the Y. M. C. A. treated the boys over here, but the war is over now and I knew they would find out lots of things as soon as the boys returned, and it didn't take them long. You certainly have to pay for anything over here, and gee! but it is high.

"I have lots of work to do and my reports to make out so will have to say good night, after I enclose a couple of post cards. I always send post cards so you can see how everything looks over here, so be sure and save them as I will send some in every letter of the different places in France. I am so anxious to see you I can hardly wait for the time to come home."

It is bad enough to have our boys bringing French brides back with them, instead of annexing a pretty American girl, but the action of eighteen members of the U. S. gunboat Scorpion, interned at Constantinople, in marrying Turks beats all.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels needs a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

Sure, They Might Be Useful.

Once upon a time the village cut-up made application to get into the army. "Sorry, my boy," said the recruiting officer after the physical examination. "Doc says we'll have to turn you down. You have hammer toes." "Aw, gimme a chanst, wontcha; mebbe there'll be some toe nails ya want druv."

CHILLS, COLDS, FEVERISHNESS

Black-Draught Is Used by Virginia Lady for Colds, Fever and Other Troubles With Fine Results.

Rocky Mount, Va.—Miss Mae Chitwood, of this place, recently stated: "I have used Black-Draught for colds and stomach trouble and certainly have found it very satisfactory."

When I would feel bad and feverish, as though I was taking a fresh cold, I would make a good cup of Black-Draught tea and it would soon set me all right.

I can recommend it as a splendid laxative and gladly do so. You may publish my statement."

When you feel chilly, tired, feverish, headachy and fear that you are taking cold, take a good dose of the old, reliable, liver medicine you have heard so much about—Theford's Black-Draught. It is made from purely vegetable ingredients, acts in a gentle, natural way, and by helping to drive out poisonous waste matter from your system, it will often, if taken in time, prevent a chill from developing into a cold.

Thousands of people, during the past 70 years, have found Black-Draught of benefit in such cases.

Try it, the next time you chill or sneeze.—Adv.

Chinese Influence in Hawaii.

The Chinese first planted sugarcane at the "Crossroads of the Pacific" and manufactured sugar, and when the Hawaiians began to cease the cultivation of taro it was the Chinese who became the taro planters and the makers of poi—the staff of life of the native Hawaiian.

The charm of a bathroom is its spotlessness. By the use of Red Cross Ball Blue, all cloths and towels retain their whiteness until worn out. 5c.

Advancement in China.

GERMAN SOCIALIST LEADER

Herr Karl Kautz, leader in German socialist circles, leaving the chancellor's palace in Berlin after a conference with Premier Ebert.

Scored on the Sergeant.

A war story: A regular army sergeant was drilling a lot of rookies. The rookies were very, very slow to learn and the sergeant, who thought that he should have been in France instead of on duty in a training camp, was not as patient as he could have been.

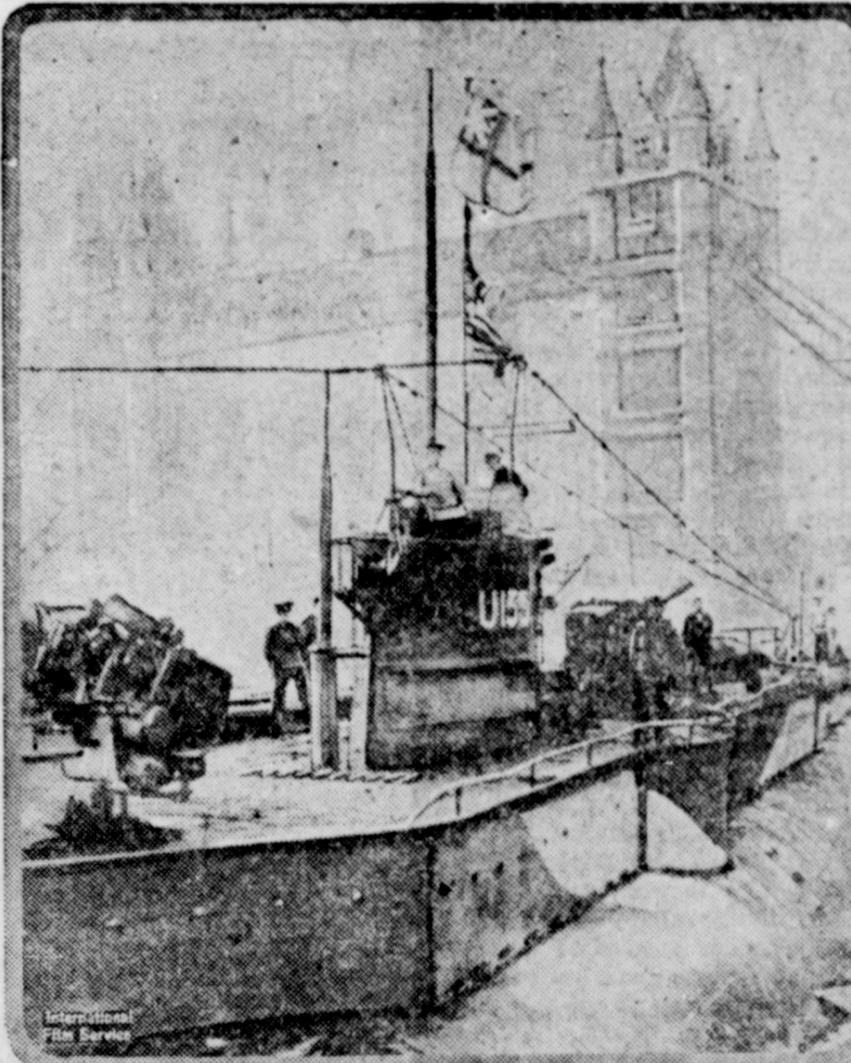

"What the dickens did you work at before you got into this man's army?" he demanded of a recruit who seemed to be unable to guess quickly which foot was right and which was left.

"I worked in a bank," said the new soldier.

"Carrying out the waste baskets, I'll bet," said the sergeant in a tone that he intended to be very, very sarcastic.

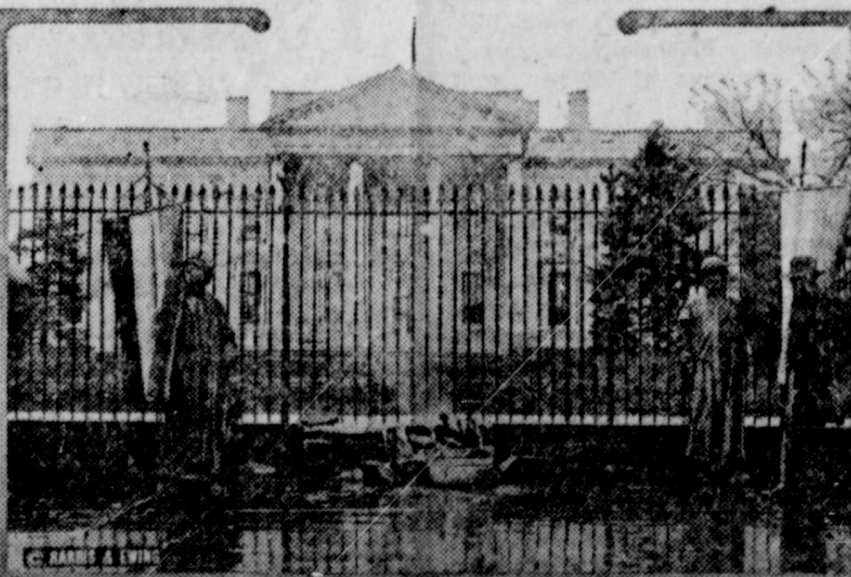

"No," answered the recruit quickly—for repartee in the army must be quick if anything—"we have a retired army sergeant to do that."

PROSAIC END OF THE DEUTSCHLAND

This is the end of the German undersea merchantman, the Deutschland. After the entry of the United States into the war, the merchantman was converted into a sea raider. SCRAPS OF HUMOR

A RURAL COMPROMISE.

A vacationist, just returned, relates having overheard this bit of bucolic dickering:

"Hirom, when are you goin' to pay me them eight dollars for resturin' your heifer? I've had her now fer about ten weeks."

"Why, Sam, the critter ain't worth more'n ten dollars."

"Well, s'posin' I keep her for what you owe me?"

"Not by a jugful! Tell you what I'll do, tho—keep her two weeks more as you kin have her."—Boston Transcript.

Oh!

"What caused the trouble between Fussy and Kidder? I thought they were such good friends."

"They were till Kidder went visitin' and sent back a postcard with 'Wish You Were Here' on it."

"Well, that's terribly old stuff, but it shouldn't destroy friendship."

"Not ordinarily, but there was a picture of a jill on the postcard."

EASY.

"I'd bet a nickel you don't know your lesson!"

"Gee! You're cheap! Not bettin' more'n a nickel on a sure thing."

NATURAL QUESTION.

"Nero fiddled at the burning of Rome, my son."

"Why didn't the firemen turn the hose on him, pa?"

Her Answer.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

A small bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine—It costs but a few cents—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fullness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this. Adv.

Uses for Tape.

One of the most convenient agents of the handy box is a roll of adhesive tape. A small piece of it on the bottom of a thin sole will add considerably to the endurance of a pair of shoes. A linen window shade that has started to tear will be prevented from doing so further by a narrow strip of the tape pressed over the tear. A torn bathing cap may be made seaworthy by it.

SKIN ERUPTIONS ON THE FACE

are unsightly and mar the appearance of many a woman whose face would be otherwise attractive. There is no need for this. Just get a box of Tetterine and use it regularly and you will be surprised how quickly pimples, blotches, itchy patches, etc., disappear and how soft and clear the skin becomes. Nothing better for eczema and other skin troubles than Tetterine. Sold by druggists or mailed for 50c. by Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.—Adv.

Public Virtue.

That patriotism which, catching its inspiration from on high, and leaving at an immeasurable distance below all lesser, grovelling, personal interests and feelings, animates and prompts to deeds of self-sacrifice, of valor, or devotion, . . . that is public virtue; that is the noblest, the sublimest of all public virtues!—Clay.

"Turn Down Your Pants."

A well-known pastor of an eastern town on a recent rainy Sunday turned up his trousers and trudged to church. Being of an absent-minded nature he forgot to turn them down on arriving at the church. His good wife from her pew noticed the trouble and dropped a note into the collection basket. The pastor took the note, thinking it was a notice, and read aloud:

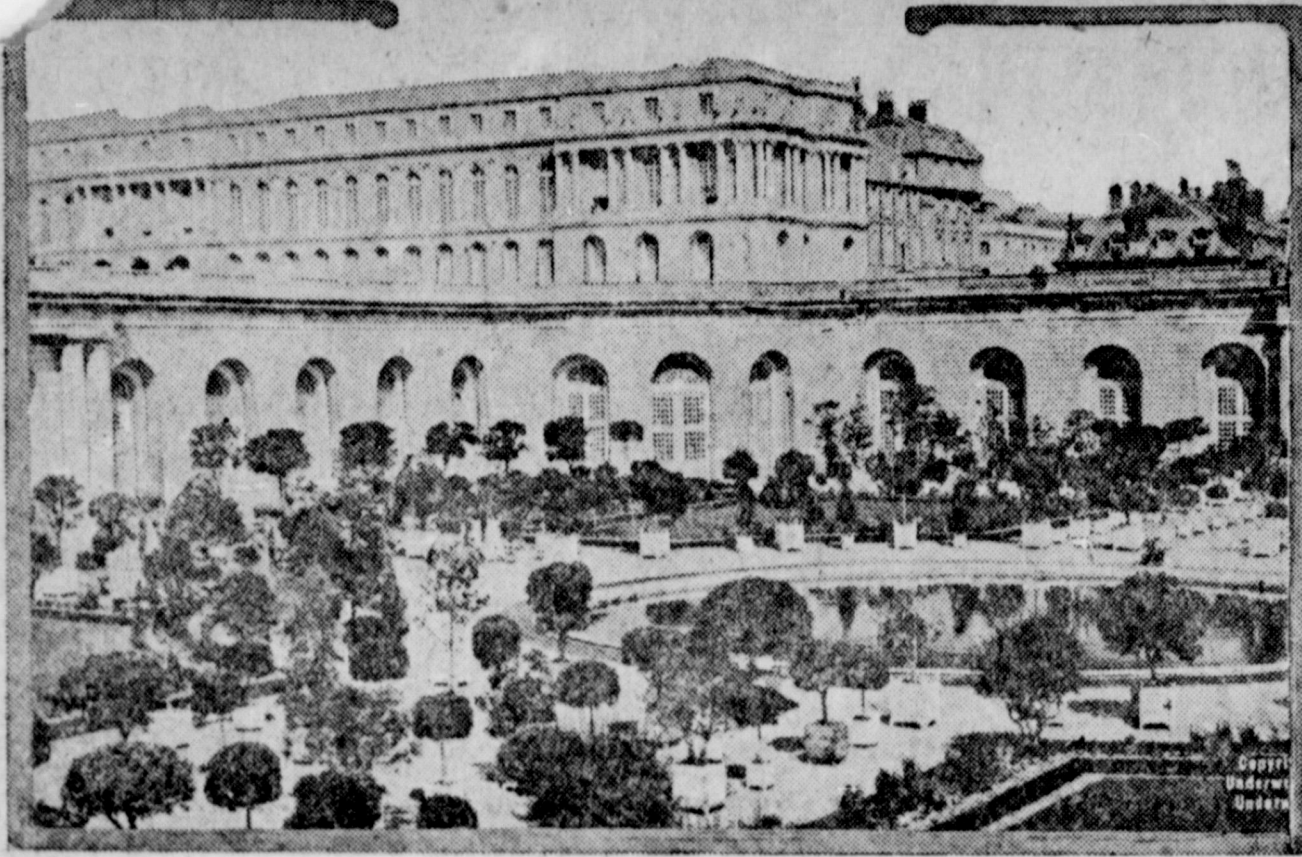

"Henry, turn down your pants."
