Four-fifths of the diamond cutters in Amsterdam, Holland, are out of work. This is because of late so many American newspapermen have quit buying diamonds.

Another reason why we love America so well is that it is so difficult to determine at what point a man cases to become a worker and becomes a capitalist. Hence, how can there be any so-called "class consciousness" which the socialists and anarchists prate so much about?

A reliable authority declares that copper, which now costs 15c a pound, costs the consumer after 5c to 10c worth of labor has been applied to it from $1 to $2 a pound. There are many manufactured articles that are now being sold at the same peak prices that prevailed following the

SAW STEAMBOAT AS ENEMY

Sailors and Fishermen Alike Dreaded Power of Which They Had No Comprehension.

When Fulton's steamboat the Clermont, made her maiden trip on the Hudson river in 1807, it frightened more persons than it interested. Fishermen and small boatmen to a man believed it to be some horrible monster, and headed for shore as fast as they could go, and once on land ran were no better, and many a schooper Mrs. F. M. Nations, near Whitfield. stream as the snorting, clanking, smoke-tossing Clermont appeared.

Later it was made known along the river what the thing was, and there at once arose a great wave of hate instigated by boatmen who saw their business ruined, and by fishermen who were sure the noise of the steamboat would drive the fish to sea. Added to them were hundreds of religious fanatics who declared the boat was the work of the devil and a "flying in the face of God." So acute did this dislike grow that attempt after attempt was made by large sailing ships to run the Clermont down. The state legislature had to pass a special law making it a criminal offense to attempt to injure the beat.

Decorative Church Windows.

The art of glass decorating is not a modern Bohemian accomplishment. The Roman Cathed al of l'rague contained, in 1276, two windows which were decorated with Old and New Testament scenes. Decorative windows soon became a favorite form of church ornamentation. Asnaes Sylvius, who subsequently became Pope Pius the Second and incidentally was a very close student of contemporary affairs of Bohemia, records that the churches of the Czechs possessed many "high and wide windows which were brightly and artistically decurated, and such style of decorating was not confined to the churches in the large cities and towns, but even the distant hamlets prided themselves on churches containing windows ornamented in a similar fashion." The curriculum of the division of technical arts of the University of Prague included courses in painting, woodcarving, and glass ornamentation. No degree was ever conferred on a student unless he could exhibit sufficient aptitude as a "glass man" or qualify in "glassery," a practical demonstration of the high esteem in which this branch of the arts was held.

America's Meat-Eaters.

Take it the world over and the annual consumption of meat amounts to 39 pounds per capita. Here in these United States, however, the figure rises to 180 pounds a head, declares the Los Angeles Times. The American is the world's champion meat eater, The average citizen of the United States will every year eat more than his weight in red beef. The Englishan average of 120 pounds a year. Of course, the vegetarian will insist that the Americans are the lowest type of civilization and are a feeble, pulseless people tottering to the grave. But if they can do what they have done under the incubus of 180 pounds of beef every year, what could they not accomplish if they would only leave meat alone? The people who have banished booze from the land should now arise in their might and absolve America from the curse of filet mignon.

Observations of Travelers Show Remarkable Difference in Vegetation of Tropical Forests.

Tropical forests are divided by Hann into those having months of less than six rainy days and those having no dry season proper. Those with no dry season are constantly humid, although the varying seasonal moisture has its influence even here. Undisturbed constantly humid regions are nearly always covered with evergreen rain forest; periodically dry districts are occupied by deciduous woodland and savannah. With every slight annual precipitation the vegetation becomes that of the desert. Seen on approaching, a tropical rain forest shows a much more irregular and jagged skyline than the temperate forest, and its varied shades of green are usually dull, but often broken by white, red or other brilliant-hued flowering tree crowns. The tree tops, moreover, are often overhung by climbing vines and parasitic plants. The interior of some rain forests is a dense mass of tangled foliage from the ground up to the tree tops, but others are like immense dark columned halls which afford a free passage and a clear outlook, with only a few ferns on the ground and tree stems. As examples of light column forest Schimper mentions those of a species of Canarium on the mountains of Dominica and of many tree ferns in Trinidad. In the closed forest, the trunk and even leaves grow mosses, algae and flowering herbs. The struggle for light, intensified by great moisture, is a feature of the virgin rain

MODERN "CARMEN" AT WORK

Gathering of Women Cigarmakers Presents a Colorful Sight in Spanish Cities Today.

The Carmen of the opera is no idle fancy of a poet. She was and is very real in Spain today. They are known | as cigarreras, and their age may be anything from twelve to sixty. They are paid but a peseta a day, and as no human being can live on that, they devote a good share of their time to a business said to be the oldest in the world. It is no uncommon thing to find as high as 50 babies in cradles or crawling about the feet of the girls as they work. For comfort the discard the greater part of their clothing when they start to work, but retain a red rose in their hair or great silver earrings.

They are bolsterous and rough, and the visitor is hailed with demands for money and given the vilest of curses if he refuses. But the girls sing as they work. Every one has a tiny mirror before her in which she sends constant glances, and the little clothing she retains is colorful as the rainbow. Right Way to Read.

The only way to read with any efficiency is to read so heartily that dinner time comes two hours before you expected it, Sidney Smith wrote. To sit with your Livy before you and hear the geese cackling that saved the capital and to see with your own eyes the Carthaginian sutlers gathering up the rings of the Roman knights after the battle of Cannae and heaping them into bushels; and to be so intimately present at the actions you are reading of that when any one knocks at the door it will take you two or three seconds to determine whether you are in your own study at Hannibal's weather-beaten facethat is the only kind of study that that is not useless.

The Peruvian Central railroad is of railroad engineering, the climb being made through a system of "switchbacks" and having 54 tunnels in its traject. At one point, Ticklio pass, it rises to an altitude of nearly 19,000 feet. The mines are rich in historical lore, having been operated in a primitive way by the Inca Indians a long of said Court, at office in Plainview, time before the advent of Pizzaro, the famous conquistador of Peru,

In the near vicinity of the mines are many ruins of old Inca temples and other evidences of a remote but welldeveloped form of civilization that dates back to ages that as yet have not been definitely established.

Big Results From A Small Outlay of Money

The News carries the largest volume of Want Ads of any paper in this section. There is a reason for this, for if satisfactory results were not obtained people would not continue to spend their money for Want Ads in this paper.

The News is read by more farmers and other people in Plainview trade territory than any other newspaper. and these people buy lots of things. They sell lots of things. They rent rooms and houses, etc.

A Want Adv. in the News costs only 15c for fifteen words and 1c for each additional word, but it is read by possibly six to eight thousand people. Isn't that very cheap publicity? Can you beat it?

If you have anything to sell or trade, a room or house or farm to rent, there is something you want to buy or trade for; something lost or found; a cow or horse strayed some notice you wish to give publicity to, you will get results if you use the News Want columns.

TRY LONG-BELL

"Bone Dry" Painting

With Cook's Paint

The good job of painting, the one that looks best and wears best, is done when the lumber painted is "bone dry."

The drier the board, the better it takes and retains the paint. Oil and water won't mix, you know. Lumber often looks dry when it is not---dry on the surface, but moist inside.

Lumber should be bone dry, thoroughly dry, thru and thru, when painted. Don't trust your eye or sense of touch---you can't tell that way, but do your painting during a dry spell of weather.

The Best Paint is Economy

Nothing is gained by experimenting with paint---much has been lost. Good paint couers a greater area--- wears and looks better.

We can supply you with paint that satisfies---and you know in advance it's good paint, or "Long-Bell would not recommend it.

RED LEADERS ARE TWO-FACED

Take Both Sides of the Argument to Appease the Peasants and Workers.

IN FEAR OF FARMER POWER

Bolshevik Organ Warns the Peasants That if They Do Not Support the Soviet the Resuscitated White Generals Will Return.

Helsingfors. - Recent speeches of Bolshevist leaders in Russia and the utterances of the Bolshevist press have indicated a double purpose-to appease both peasants and city workers, whose interests are very different.

This two-sided attitude is maintained, it is said, to conciliate the peasants, who form the vast majority in Russia, even at the cost of sacrificing some communist principles, and at the same time of persuading the town workers that the adoption of a conservative land policy, like the granting of concessions to foreigners, is a clever bit of tactics.

"The Last Battle."

Nikolai Lenin, the Bolshevist premier, addressing a meeting of railway workers at Moscow the other day, dwelt on "the last battle" with the peasants, whom he characterized as an uncertain factor that might swing in favor of capitalism or of the

"The peasants helped the revolution," he declared, "but now they are tired and have swung around to a pronounced petite bourgeoisie. They might even turn monarchist."

This "last battle" with the peasants is in reality a battle of enjolement, It is a campaign to win over the land workers. The well-known journal Derevenskala Kommun (Village Commune) has been rechristened Derevenskala Pravda (Village Truth) and the peasants are begged to regard it es their special paper and to make their wants known to its sympathetic

Threat of "White Generals." "You must know, peasants," It writes, "that if you will not support soviet rule, tomorrow the resuscitated white generals will reappear. Only the czar can replace the Bolsheviki. You must decide for yourselves whether von want him or not."

Meanwhile the peasants are filled with relief at the substitution of a corn tax for the odious requisition and the reintroduction of free commerce.

PIN SAVES MAN FROM DEATH

Stalled Motorist Pricks Himself With It and So Keeps From Freezing.

Denver, Colo,-Just a common, ordinary steel pin was all that saved American plantation owners, managers the life of John U. Fish, Wyoming representative of the Bankers' Trust company of Denver.

Fish left Laramie, Wvo. to motor to Cheyenne in an open car. A blizzard marooned him on the plains for 18 hours.

Unable to drive his car, Fish began his battle for life against the terrible drowsiness overcoming him. Taking a pin he jabbed himself constantly with the sharp point to keep himself awake. When found 18 hours later Fish was in a semiconscious condition, his feet and face frozen.

The Mountain Goes to Mahomet. Marion, Ky .- Sunday school teachers were in dismay when it was learned that the track team of the Marion high school and the rooters would not be back in time for Sunday school on "Go to Sunday School day," so the Sunday school moved over to Blackford, Ky., half way, and there the rooters and track team assembled and the services were held. The Marion Supday schools had a 100 per cent attendance.

Cure for Toothache.

Stockholm.-The Swedish Medical Journal says that too thache may be immediately cured by bending the head backward and placing some absorbed cotton with at least five drops of ether in the nostril of the same side on which the aching tooth is located. The same procedure renders extraction of a tooth painless.

Marriage Causes Real Puzzle in Relationship

Spencer, Mass .- Speaking of mix-up families. When Mrs. Catherine DeMarco and Louis Gagner were married here-

The bride became the sister-inlaw of her son-in-law, John Gagner.

The bridegroom became the stepfather of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Gagner's daughter.

John Gagner, brother of Louis, married the new Mrs. Gagner's daughter Jennie some time ago, therefore, his new sister-in-law is also his mother-

Another daughter of Mrs. De-Marco Gagner married another brother of Louis Gagner, who by his marriage to their mother became their stepfather.

HAD BROUGHT ANOTHER LOAD

Colored Tobacco Grower Knew What Was Expected of Him, and Had Come Prepared.

A colored man from Kentucky drove to a loose leaf tobacco sales warehouse in one of the Indiana cities on the Ohio with a load of tobacco. When he received his sales slip and weights he noticed the customary bank check was missing.

Approaching the cashier he said: "Look here, boss, where is my money for this here tobacco?" The sales sheet was consulted.

"It's like this: the expenses for weighing, unloading and commission for selling your tobacco amounted to more than the tobacco was worth. You still owe us just 59 cents," explained the cashier.

"Well, that's all right, I guess, but I ain't got a cent with me." "Then next time you are coming over the river, just bring along a chicken with you and we will call the deal square." Within a week the colored man appeared in the office with two chickens, one under each arm.

"Here are the chickens." "Sure-but you didn't have to bring two of them, one would have paid the bill."

"Yes, boss, but I'se brought another load of tobacco."-Indianapolis News.

STRUGGLES ALONG ON $80,000

University of Pennsylvania Law Student Who Receives Huge Income Lives in Modest Fashion.

"Wanted, a stenographer of unimpeachable character, experienced in shorthand and taking dictation, who will be willing to devote her Sundays to indexing and preparing the cases of a struggling law student at the University of Pennsylvania."

This is the model of stenographic ability required by the university's richest student, John Jeffries V of England, who is "struggling" only in so far as his law work goes, for he came to this country with the mere trifle of $80,000 a year on which to live, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Jeffries, who is a second-year student, already has one stenographer, but his earnest delving into the intricacles of Blackstone and his ilk require more assistance and he is now looking for a suitable young woman to add to his staff.

The young Englishman, who is the fifth direct descendant of John Temple, governor general of Ireland, and has three cousins in the house of lords, is popular among his classmates, who declare that he is quite democratic, in spite of the burden of his wealth. He lives quietly and unpretentiously, and nothing in his mode of living seems to indicate that he spends even a half of $80,000 allowed him.

Japanese Remain Buddhists.

That 80 per cent of the Japanese flying in the sugar plantation camps of Hawaii never have been touched by Christian propaganda, and that Japanese Buddhist missions, "did a foolish thing, if ever man did," were two of the statements made by Rev. Ulysses G. Murphy, representative of the American Bible society, in a recent address at Honolulu.

Rev. Mr. Murphy also said that the elder generation of Japanese living in the plantation camps, owing to their isolation, are forty years behind their native country in thought and understanding of modern conditions.

Any attempt at Americanization of the Japanese in Hawaii which leaves untouched their home life and fails to recognize that the key to the problem is the Japanese language schools is foredoomed to failure, Rev. Mr. Murphy declared.

Almost Had It.

One of the Terre Haute ward schools was having a contest in seeing which children could learn the airs of a number of standard songs so they could tell their names when they heard a few bars of the melody played.

After "Home, Sweet Home" and "Old Black Joe" had been played several times the teacher put on the record "Believe Me, If All Those I'ndearing Young Charms." It was played a few minutes and she began to look expectantly at the children.

They a fair little youngster looked triumphantly up from the list of songs he had in his hand. "Oh, it's that believe me in tears all about your charms," he hazarded.-Indianapolis News.

Would You Believe It?

The game of croquet does not develop experts and enthusiasts to the extent that golf and tennis do; but more people play it and more wood is consumed in providing the balls, mallets and stakes than in the production of golf clubs and tennis rackets combined, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. The entire playing outfit of croquet is made of wood except the arches, and sometimes these are of bent wood.

Some Large Emeralds.

One South American country has produced an emerald of 630 carats size and claimed it was the largest emerald in the world, and then learned that fields in the Usal mountains have produced emeralds that weighed six and three-quarters pounds, while the South American stone weighed only one-third of a pound. The six and three-quarter pound emerald was among the crown jewels of Russia, and its location now is unknown.

PILOT HOLDS RECORD

Has Traveled More Than 3.000 .-000 Miles on Ohio River.

Captain Williamson, Sixty-Two Years in Service, Never Sick and Never Had Accident.

Cincinnati.-Capt. Edward S. Williamson, who recently celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday anniversary, believes he holds a river record that is unequaled. For 62 years he rode on boats on the Ohio river. For 55 years he was a licensed pilot. Now he is captain of the steamer John S. Hubbard, which operates between Cincinnati and Louisville.

The veteran river pilot, in relating the interesting story, said: "I was about fourteen years of age when I was first employed on a boat operated by my father from Pomeroy, O., where I was born. I navigated the Ohio river for seven years, and when twenty-one I obtained a license as a full-fledged pilot. I passed the examination without any trouble. All the men who were members of the board of examiners have since died.

"For 35 years I was pilot for the White Collar line, and made two trips a week between Pomeroy and Cincinnati, traveling on an average of 1,000 miles a week. At that rate, I traveled 52,000 miles a year, and in 35 years 1,820,000 miles. Mind you, in all that time I was never ill or lost a day.

"For five years I have been making two trips to Louisville each week. Each round trip is 300 miles, or 600 miles a week. That would make a total of 156,-000 miles in five years. So you can see that 40 years of my service is unaccounted for, as to distance traveled. I think I have covered more than 1,-000,000 miles in 22 years, making a total in excess of 3,000,000 miles in 62 years of service."

During the 62 years of service Captain Williamson never was in an accident, and the only time he was prevented from traveling was when the ice stopped the bonts

During the Civil war Captain Williamson piloted the gunboat Alice up the Ohio river, when Morgan's raiders were approaching the North. "I had to stand between pieces of boiler iron while in the pilot house to avoid being shot," he said.

List Is Not Overlong, but There Have Been Some Great Men Who Remained Single.

Who is the most famous bachelor in history? While, as is natural to expect, a large majority of the notables of the past have been married men, there have been a few who have attained prominence in the world of art, of science, of statesmanship and in war without the aid of a "better half.".

One who had as much claim as any other to the distinction of most eminent bachelor is Michelangelo, one of the greatest figures of the past. Voltaire, scientist and statesman, is another great man who remained single.

In the realm of warfare few of the reatly great have remained bachelors. Perhaps the most eminent is Lord Kitchener, who was so laregly responsible for England's military strength in the World war.

Eliminating these few the list presents a more complicating problem to one who would pick the greatest. There are several others of about equal preminence. Among the paint-"And how," said the photographer, ers Raphael stands out as one of the greatest to die unmarried. Chopin and Beethoven achieved fame in the realm of music without the inspiration of a belpmate.

Several modern writers, poets and essayists achieved prominence by themselves. Charles Lamb, Alexander Pope, Walt Whitman, Phillips Brooks, Henry James, Whittier and Swinburne head the list.

Petrarch was an unmarried historian, and Cecil Rhodes, also single, attained great prominence. Few men have become famous as statesman without marrying before the end of their career. President Buchanan was a notable exception.

World-Famous Village Apparently Unaware of Its Immense Historic Importance.

Chateau Thierry has patched its roots, plastered its chimneys, painted its shutters and decided to forget the war. At first every villager dreamed of making his fortune as a tourist guide. They are all back now at their old trades. It is only the good housewife who still pays attention to tourists, and then only to think black thoughts of the dust raised by the rubber neck cars that plunge without a stop through the village streets.

Over the bridge, our famous bridge, that crosses the Marne come the jolting market carts filled with beets and cabbages grown in the farm lands at the foot of Belleau Wood. There is a good deal of grumbling about the temporary wood structure that now spans the Marne, and the peasants tell you that they cannot imagine why the soldiers did not build it wide enough to let two carts pass each other.

In the Cafe des Mariniers they talk no more of the war. Instead one hears only the idle gossip that the river men have picked up. Chateau Thierry is no place for the sentimentalist who has imagined that this town of towns would live forever in awe of its memories.

haunt the trapping grounds north of Fort St. James. Terror stalks the wilderness trails and panic grips the Indians. If a brave hears the crackle of a twig in the woods he looks about him in fear that this ghost of the big woods is dogging his steps. A number of Indians, it is said, have been frightened off their trup lines.

Fort St. James is one of the oldest posts in British Columbia owned by the Hudson's Bay company. It was founded in 1806 by Simon Fraser, the pioneer explorer for whom the Fraser river was named. Several hundred Indians live about the fort and market their furs there.

Other Indians have brought back the same story from the Manson creek region. The "Stick Siwash" has long figured in the traditions of British Columbia tribes. The name means ghost of the big woods. "Stick" is slang for forest and "Siwash" is a corruption of the French word "Sauvage," and is applied to all the Indians of the Pacific coast. The superstitious natives believe the appearance of the apparition presages misfortune to the New Idea in Jelly-Making. In the jelly-making process patented by M. O. Johnson, fruit juice is concentrated by freezing out a portlon of its water, and is then heated to a temperature high enough to coagulate suspended matter, though not high enough to impair the flavor. After separation of congulated matter, the juice is sterilized by heating to a temperature below that employed for coagulation, then jellified after sugar has been added. Sugar added before congulation may give better clarification.
