RED CROSS ROLL CALL BEGINS ARMISTICE DAY

EVERY PERSON IN COUNTY
SHOULD RENEW MEMBERSHIP IN CHARTER

The annual Red Cross Roll Call will begin Armistice Day and continue until Thanksgiving Day. Arthur Lamb of Plainview is chairman of the drive to be made in Hale county, and will have the proper committees to solicit the renewal of memberships and also take new memberships. The fee is $1 for each member.

Every person in the county should invest a dollar in the Red Cross work. The local chapter is maintaining a Red Cross nutrition worker, who is giving her entire time to the children of the county. Only through the money to be raised in this roll call can her future work be continued.

In the United States last year 75,432 people were killed by accidents, and there were 2,500,000 disabilities due to industrial accidents.

Over 300,000 were injured in railroad accidents alone.

To try to prevent this waste of life and labor 437 Red Cross chapters last year conducted 5,100 first-aid classes with an enrollment of 104,496 students.

In the United States last year 7,000 people were drowned.

Under 1,276 examiners, 6,096 life-saving certificates were issued during the year. One hundred and sixty Life-Saving Corps have been organized to date.

During the last year 177 Red Cross chapters rendered relief in emergencies caused by 70 disasters in the United States.

There are 328 chapters now organized to deal with disasters.

During the year the amount expended for Red Cross disaster relief totaled $1,600,000. Since 1881 the American Red Cross has disbursed $14,052,734 for disaster relief.

The fact that the American Red Cross stands equipped and ready to cope with disaster is alone sufficient to justify its existence.

Your membership dollar will help to keep it always ready for this traditional duty.

West Texas Exhibits Win $1000

Stamford, Texas, Oct. 31.—The West Texas exhibit, entered by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the Texas Cotton Palace in competition with South and Central Texas for the finest intersectional agricultural exhibit, was for the second year awarded the one thousand dollar first prize. Central Texas, was given second, five hundred dollars and South Texas third prize, two hundred and fifty dollars. Last year South and Central Texas did not compete and West Texas was awarded first prize by default, but both entered this year on a challenge of West Texas.

Stolen Auto Found

The Chamber of Commerce Buick touring car stolen at the Dallas fair was found at Arlington, about fifteen miles east of Dallas, last week. It was not much hurt, the only damage being a stripped differential, which doubtless caused the thieves to abandon the car.

Lubbock Defeats Plainview

In the game of football at Lubbock this afternoon between Plainview and Lubbock high school teams, the latter won by a score of 6 to 3.

Fine Weather Prevailing

The weather now prevailing on the Plains is superb—fair and bracingly cool. Rain is needed.

WHEAT PRODUCTION SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Washington, Nov. 4.—Total wheat production this year of the twenty-nine leading wheat growing countries of the world, excluding Russia, reached 2,852,825,000 bushels or approximately 10,000,000 more than in 1920, according to latest available estimates reported by the Department of Agriculture for next year's crop, the department reported generally favorable conditions through the northern hemisphere.

For winter wheat in Argentina, spring planting was said to have been seriously delayed by insufficient moisture with the result that the 1921-1922 acreage would be approximately 1,000,000 short of 14,947,000 planted last season.

Norfleet Wants $6,000 in Funds

Austin, Nov. 1.—J. Frank Norfleet, wealthy ranchman and deputy sheriff of Plainview, Hale county, and victim of the famous $45,000 stock exchange swindle at Fort Worth and Dallas in November, 1919, was here last week and conferred with Governor Neff relative to reimbursement by the state for expenses incurred by Norfleet in tracking down the swindlers who fleeced him. While Norfleet stated he spent about $10,000 in tracing the spurious stock brokers he has only put in a claim for $6,000. The governor heard Norfleet's story and has taken the matter under consideration.

It will be recalled, Norfleet chased Joe Furey and his associates over the United States on two occasions from San Francisco to Florida, finally capturing Furey and a man named Ward. Furey is serving a 20-year sentence in the state penitentiary at Huntsville for the crime, while Ward is said to have killed himself while in jail. The last legislature made an appropriation of $25,000 to be expended by the governor in law enforcement, and if the claim, or any part thereof, is allowed, it will be taken out of this fund.

American Legion Convention

The American Legion convention held in Kansas City this week, adopted resolutions demanding a bonus from the federal treasury for ex-soldiers, in favor of disarmament, against the pardoning of Eugene V. Debs, for the punishment of slackers, and selected New Orleans as its next convention city.

Hanford MacNider of Mason City, Iowa, was elected national commander.

Among the distinguished guests of the convention were General Foch, Admiral Beatty of the English navy, General Pershing and the commanding general of the Italian navy.

There was a parade in which 40,000 soldiers took part.

Hon. Cullen Thomas Here

Hon. Cullen Thomas of Dallas, candidate for U. S. senator, is here today in behalf of his candidacy. He was guest at the Kiwanis club luncheon at noon, and delivered a short address in behalf of the success of the disarmament conference to begin in Washington next week, declaring that disarmament is the greatest issue now before the people of the world.

He was a pleasant visitor at the News office this afternoon, and stated that he is greatly pleased with the support that is coming to him in his race. He is likely much stronger in this county than any other candidate for the place.

October Weather Report

The following is the report of the weather during October, as kept by W. J. Klinger, local observer.

Temperature—Maximum 95 degrees Oct. 10, minimum 33 degrees Oct. 26, average maximum 80.05, average minimum 45.5 average for month 63, which was 2.6 degrees above normal.

Rainfall for the month was only one-tenth of an inch, or 1.44 inches below normal.

The rainfall to Nov. 1 each year has been as follows: 1915, 34.07 inches; 1916, 15.29; 1917, 9.87; 1918, 15.76; 1919, 31.24; 1920, 22.32; 1921, 24.13.

Will Meet in Tulia

Fifty commercial club executives are expected at Tulia Nov. 5, when the Panhandle Association of Commercial Executives meet. Tulia is preparing to entertain the visitors with a banquet. Men are expected from Southern Oklahoma and Eastern New Mexico as well as the Texas Panhandle.

Will Preach on Disarmament

All the pastors of churches of all denominations in the entire country have been asked to deliver sermons next Sunday on the disarmament conference to meet in Washington next week, and most of them will do so. This is the greatest issue now before the world for solution, and Christian people everywhere are praying for the success of the conference.

DIRECT LINE TO PLAINVIEW IS URGED

Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Oct. 29.—"I am more interested in a direct railroad connecting Plainview and Fort Worth than in anything else," said John Boswell, secretary of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce while here Saturday.

"We expect Fort Worth to take the lead and have a definite plan to propose at the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which will be held in Plainview in early Spring," added the secretary.

Boswell outlined the plan for a system that would feed to Fort Worth the entire trade from that large and rapidly developing territory. As it stands, all produce from that section most go to Amarillo and then to Fort Worth by way of the Fort Worth & Denver, or else to Sweetwater and then to Fort Worth by way of the Texas & Pacific. The result is that no perishable produce can be sent and the greater part of all other products are sent direct to Kansas City or to Galveston, never giving Fort Worth a chance to get the benefit on the local markets of any of the products. By building the proposed straight line through from Plainview to Fort Worth, the large grain yield, the cotton yield, and the large hog shipments would be turned to Fort Worth as the natural trade center. Even Los Angeles is getting more of the Plainview produce than is Fort Worth, for the reason that there is direct connection to California requiring no change of road.

And not only would it develop the marketing conditions of that section and bring an enormous increase in Fort Worth markets in grain, hogs and cotton, but such a railroad would also make the shortest transcontinental line, and bring thousands of tourists through Fort Worth that now go by some other route.

Boswell stated that he felt that the Santa Fe was the logical road to build the line, but that the company would have to be shown the proper backing. Already the Santa Fe has built a short line to Floydada, and lately put on heavy steel. It is directly on a line between Fort Worth and Plainview.

Hale county, of which Plainview is the largest city, raised more than one-tenth of the wheat which Texas produced last year, yet only 15 per cent of the arable land is being farmed. Only about one-sixth of the produce of last year was marketed in and by Fort Worth.

FOSTER'S WEATHER BULLETIN

Washington, Nov. 1.—A moderate cool wave is expected on the northern parts of meridian 90 near Nov. 6, a warm wave near 8, a cool wave and blizzard near 11. Near these dates these weather features will cover all the northern Rockies, Pacific slope, western Canada and northwestern America. Beginning with high temperatures and moderate storm forces, in the far northwest, the usual weather that precedes a great continental storm disturbance will affect the whole continent.

That great November storm, with its varying weather features, will move toward New Orleans and then gradually turn, moving over and along the Alleghenies and down the St. Lawrence river, then out along the European steamer line towards Great Britain. Of course the last end of this great storm, the blizzard part, will interest you most. I expect the central part of the cold wave to reach Missouri not far from Nov. 13, Texas 14, Ohio 15, Quebec and Maine 16. It will be a big cold wave and will affect the whole continent. I have given only its central portions and they are usually mildest part of it; the fiercest part of these bad weather storms usually occur northeast of the central parts.

This storm and that expected near Nov. 28 will bring the principal precipitations of the month. But I am expecting the total precipitation of the month to be less than usual.

West Texas League to Meet

The meeting of the West Texas Baseball League will be held at Ballinger, Texas, Nov. 15, according to announcement made. The meeting will probably be held at night.

Baseball representatives from Sweetwater, San Angelo, Abilene, Plainview, Lubbock, Stamford, Weatherford, Big Springs, Brownwood and other places, all of whom are contemplating acquiring franchises in the West Texas League, are expected to be present at the meeting.

Pioneer Celebrates 85th Anniversary

Looney, Oct. 31.—A large number of relatives were present when William P. Stalcup, an early Texas settler, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday anniversary. Stalcup is the father of twelve children and has forty-five grandchildren and thirty-one great-grandchildren.

EDITOR SEES PRESIDENT HARDING IN BIRMINGHAM

HARDING'S SPEECH ON THE RACE QUESTION STIRS UP
ADVERSE FEELINGS

Birmingham, Ala.—We had the interesting pleasure of seeing no less personage than President Warren Harding in this city tonight.

Leaving New Orleans early in the morning, and passing out through the suburbs of the city over the Southern railroad, we saw the great freight terminals of the railroads, with their net work of tracks, many large freight depots and the thousands of freight cars loading or unloading. Surely this is a great transportation and commercial center, with its large railway systems meeting the large ocean and river traffic at the port.

For many miles our train ran alongside Lake Ponchartrain, with the lake to the right. The water was like the sky in its blueness and the white breasted sea gulls were flying hither and thither, just above the water, darting down to the surface occasionally doubtless after fish, which seem to be in this lake. Many houses are built out into the water, and the people who live in them catch fish for their living. Finally the railroad leaves the land and a long trestle crosses the lake, with several drawbridges through which the boats on the lake pass. When out several miles on this long bridge no land can be seen in any direction. This lake is very large, and extends to the Gulf of Mexico, with a small outlet into the gulf.

On the east side of the lake the railroad runs northeast through Mississippi and Alabama, hence we were enabled to see the southern, central and eastern parts of the first state and the central portion of the latter. We went through the cities of Pycane, Hattiesburg, Laurel, Stafford Springs and Meridian, Miss., the latter being the largest with a population of 35,000, and a very important railroad center.

The other places are saw mill centers, with considerable farming around them. They seem to be very dull and slow-going, and very few new improvements are to be seen in any of them. The houses are old, weather-beaten and many are in various states of dilapidation. A few train loads of paint would greatly help Mississippi. The people move about slowly as compared with western people. The negro quarter of each town and city is very large, as the population of this state is divided almost evenly of whites and negroes.

In the country except for the numerous large saw mills, there is not much doing. The farmers live in old-fashioned unpainted or greatly faded houses, and farm little patches of corn and cotton. These patches are scattered in among the trees in cut-over timber land or in the valleys, and I do not believe I saw a farm in Mississippi that was over five acres in size. It is astonishing that people are content to live as these people do, but of course, they know no better, nor do they know anything of the great Plains of Texas, where there are farms of 160, 320, 640, 1280 and more acres without a gully, stump or rock on it, and where the soil is more productive than these thin covered clay hills of Mississippi. There are no tractors here, nor have I seen a single plow or other modern farm implement. A mule and a walking plow is the equipment for a farm here. But, from five to ten acres does not take much time even with crude tools, and this gives the farmer time to work at the saw mill, or fish and hunt—and take life easy.

A drought has prevailed in Mississippi and Alabama this year, and crops are a failure. A fellow-passenger informed me that no rain had fallen in six months.

One thing Southern Mississippi has that is superb, and it is good shell-covered roads, as smooth and fine as asphalt. Surely automobiling over these roads is grand.

The cattle are few and smaller than on the Plains; doubtless the ticks and poor breeding are responsible for them being sorry.

We crossed the Pearl river just this side of Lake Ponchartrain, it being the boundary line of Louisiana and Mississippi, and northwest of Meridian we passed over the Tom Bigbee and Black Warrior rivers, both large streams and well known in Southern history.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., 15,000 population, is the only place of much importance between Meridian and Birmingham, and we reached it just about nightfall.

Birmingham, the Iron City
Birmingham is celebrating her fiftieth birthday with a week of festivities. It is a modern city of over 200,000 people, and extends many miles in all directions. It is not many towns that have grown from nothing to nearly a quarter-million people within a half-century. The whole secret of its wonderful growth is explained in three words—coal, iron, limestone. There is a range of iron mountains close to the city; there are many coal mines over the district, and inexhaustible ledges of limestone. The coal is used to melt the iron ore, and limestone is necessary to flux it.

The United States Steel corporation, better known as the steel trust, dominates the field. There have sprung up smelters, coking plants, iron factories, steel mills, wire factories etc., and the railroads have built into the city to handle the products. The coal mines furnish fuel to all the Gulf and Atlantic coast states from the Mississippi river to the Carolinas. Many sky scraper buildings have been built, and Birmingham is one of the most important cities of the south.

She is proud of her growth and is celebrating. The streets are decorated profusely with thousands of colored electric lights, flags, streamers and pictures of President Harding, who is the guest of the city the day we are here. Out at the park each night there are pageants almost as brilliant as the French Mardi Gras in New Orleans, there are flower and fashion shows and a grand ball for "the county queens," at the country club tonight.

A Glimpse of the President

Had we known that President and Mrs. Harding and several members of his cabinet were to be in Birmingham today we would have left New Orleans last night and arrived here this morning, in time to witness the presidential parade and hear his speech, but we read of it only at the breakfast table in New Orleans this morning, and got here at 8 o'clock tonight. However, we got to see the president and his suite while in the lobby of the Tutwiler hotel, as he went from the dining room up a stairway. We did not get to see Mrs. Harding. Had we cared to have seen the entire party as they left the hotel for the Country Club and later when they returned and then left for their special train, but we were both tired and are not of hero worshipping or intensely curious sort, anyway.

The president is somewhat heavier than most pictures show him; he has a pleasant smiling face. He is a good man and shows it in his features. Out in front of the hotel a large crowd of people stood for hours, waiting to see the presidential party pass out and take automobiles, and late in the evening we heard them cheer loudly.

The president made a rather notable speech at the park today to thousands of white people and negroes. It was on the race question, and in it he declared that while politically and economically the negro should be accorded the same rights and opportunities as the whites, there can never and should not be any semblance of social equality, and he urged the negro leaders to impress this upon their race. There is nothing new in this policy, for it is the Southern point of view, except that politically the whites will never permit the blacks or any other race other than the white to dominate—the people of the south will fight if necessary to the last drop of their blood for this principle. The president made a great mistake in delivering such a speech in the South, and much that is bad will flow from it. The Northern people always make a mistake when they attempt to advise the South on the negro question, for the people of the South understands and know how to deal with the negro, and the people of the North do not know but little about the matter, and what they say is invariably nothing but theory.

HALE COUNTY OIL WELL IS NOW 1150 FEET DEEP

BLED SOE INSISTS HE WILL STRIKE OIL AT 1700
FEET

W. E. Bledsoe, who is sinking the oil well five miles west of Abernathy, in Hale county, is in town today, and informed the editor that the well is now down 1,500 feet and the drill is working on a blue and reddish shale. A pocket of gas and also indications of oil have been struck at several places in the drilling.

Mr. Bledsoe is very optimistic and insists that oil or gas will be found in paying quantities at 1,700 feet. He says that many leases have been sold to people living about Abernathy and in Hale and Lubbock counties, but few have been sold to people living out of this section of the state.

ANDREWS RESIGNED AS NIGHT-WATCHMAN

P. H. Andrews has resigned as nightwatchman, giving as his reason that he would not use the punch-clock which the city council has ordered the nightwatchmen to carry. He has held down the position for six or eight years.

Herman Cadell has been appointed to succeed him. Tom Thompson has also been appointed as nightwatchman.

Next Year's Fair Days Set

A meeting of a number of local citizens interested in a fair in Plainview, held Wednesday night, and the dates for the next year's fair were set—and the fair will be held during the week of September 25 to 30, two weeks before the Dallas fair.

The matter of a permanent fair grounds and adequate buildings was discussed, and another meeting was called for Nov. 18, at 4 o'clock, at the Board of City Development, at which time there will be a further discussion of the matter, and a committee will likely report a plan whereby this object can be accomplished. Every person interested in a good fair in Plainview is urged to attend.

Raising Funds for Chickie Show

Oscar Collier and E. B. Miller of the South Plains Poultry association are circulating a subscription list to raise funds with which to hold the fourth annual poultry show, which will be held in December. It will require about $2,000, most of the money to be used for premiums. The annual poultry show here has grown to be one of the most successful in the entire Southwest. Last year there were more than 1,900 birds on exhibition, and the quality was very high. The show contributes much to encouraging the growing of more and better poultry on the Plains.

Seventeen Cars Derailed

Yesterday morning about five o'clock a south bound freight train on the Santa Fe was wrecked three miles this side of Snyder, seventeen cars jumping the track. The wreck was caused by a broken rail. Included in the wreck were several cars loaded and two or three empty oil tank cars. Traffic on the railroad was blocked until 10 o'clock last night, when the northbound train due in Plainview at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon was able to pass the wreck and arrived here at 3 o'clock this morning.

Six transients who were beating their way on the train were injured, two very seriously. They are being cared for by the Red Cross in Snyder.

A Plainview high school teacher says that the reason she is quitting her present boarding place, is because the gravy is so thin it escapes through the pores in her plate.

When Henry Ford was asked a few days ago, "How, in its beginning, before you had capital, did you manage to finance a great business out of its earnings and keep it in your own control?" He said, "Pay cash," and insist on being paid cash. I always did. We sell our cars to our agents for cash; the agent can sell on time if he pleases, but he is a fool if he sells for anything but cash," and he then added "and the buyer who buys on a credit is a still bigger fool."

RECREANT CITIZENS

Six or seven members of a jury venire in a Texas city the other day stated to the court that they would not convict any defendant of a violation of a certain law, no matter what the evidence was. The frankness of these citizens is to be admired more than their conception of what citizenship means. The fact that the law which they referred to was the law against the traffic in liquor can scarcely be said to mitigate the character of their attitude. In effect their action was a public and blanket endorsement of every bootlegger that operating in violation of the statutes of the state and of the country.

Such perverted notions of the meaning and standing of law and law enforcement are to be blamed, more than anything else, for the laxity with which most laws are observed at this time. There can be no respect for any law as such so long as there is the feeling that no law is to be observed unless it is convenient or pleasant to observe it. If no citizen obeyed or enforced any law except such as he personally felt impelled by his own wishes to respect, this state would be without law. It would then be in a state of actual and technical anarchy, even though the legislature remained in constant session and passed criminal statutes every five or ten minutes.

The judge presiding over the court in which this disgraceful occurrence took place properly rebuked the venire men and dismissed them. It is perhaps unfortunate that they cannot be visited with suitable penalties under the law. If they were not in contempt of court they were certainly in contempt of law and order.

Men who will not abide by the law as put on the statute books by the will of the majority scarcely deserve a voice in the creation of statutes. The question of the desirability of a statute is no question for a juror. Were there a genuine conscientious scruple or religious conviction involved, the case might be different. But in the instance which took place in court common sense indicates that the reason prospective jurors announced openly their determination to obey no oath if the defendant were charged with liquor violations was largely a matter of an individual liking for hooch.—Dallas News.

Rather See a Sermon
"I'd rather see a sermon than hear one any day;
I'd rather one would walk with me than merely tell the way.
The eye is a better pupil and more willing than the ear;
Fine counsel is confusing, but example's always clear;
And the best of all the preachers are the men who live the creed,
For to see good put in action is what everybody needs.

"I can learn how to do it if you let me see it done;
I can watch your hands in action but your tongues too fast may run;
And the lectures you deliver may be very wise and true,
But I had rather get my lesson by observing what you do;
For I may misunderstand you and the high advice you give;
But there's no misunderstanding how you act and how you live.

"When I see an act of kindness, I am eager to be kind;
When a weaker brother stumbles and a stronger man stays behind
Just to see if he can help him, then the wish grows strong in me
To become as big and thoughtful as I knew that friend to be.
And all travelers can witness that the best of guides to-day
It not the one that tells them, but the one that shows the way.

One deed of kindness noticed is worth forty that are told.
Who stands with men of honor learns to hold his honor dear,
For right living speaks a language that to everyone is clear.
Though an able speaker charms me with his eloquence, I say;
I'd rather see a sermon than hear one any day."

CALOMEL USERS TAKE AWFUL RISK

Very Next Dose of Treacherous Drug May Start Terrible Salivation

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel. It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not

Miss Sadye Earle Adams and E. Q. Perry Marry in Fort Worth

Anderson, pastor, performing the rites, the ring ceremony being used. The father of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sadye Earle and her father had been on a trip to the Southeastern states, and on their return were met in Dallas by Mr. Perry, Tuesday, and the wedding followed the next night.

The bride is the daughter of the editor of the News. She is a graduate of Plainview high school and of Sullins College in Virginia, and also attended Crescent college in Eureka Springs, Arkansas, one year. She has been keeping house for her father since the death of her mother in December.

Mr. Perry is the son of E. H. Perry of this city, and is the head of the Perry Motor Co., which handles the Molinee line of implements. He graduated from the Kansas Agricultural College, and during the war was a lieutenant with the army in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry are spending several days in Dallas, after which they will visit his sister at College Station, and then come to Coleman to spend a day or so with her relatives. They will be at home in Plainview about Nov. 10. They will make their home at the Adams place on West Ninth street.

Woodmen Circle Has Interesting Meeting

The Woodmen Circle met in regular session last night at 7:00 o'clock at the W. O. W. hall. It will be remembered that the circle has changed its meeting days to the 1st and 3rd Thursday night, the W. O. W. having permitted them to meet on two of their nights.

A large and enthusiastic number was present and it was decided to wage a membership contest. The contest is to be called the Maggie and Jiggs contest. Mrs. J. E. Green is leader of the Jiggs side and Mrs. L. D. Griffin of the Maggie side. It is hoped in this way to create an interest in the lodge that has been lacking for some time. The contest is not only to get new members but to urge and see that the old members turn over a new leaf and resolve to come back and help make the lodge a real live one. All members are urged to come and bring some member with them. Remember the date 1st and 3rd Thursday nights at 7:00 o'clock prompt. There were seventeen members present last night and all promised to do their best in the contest.

After the business of the lodge was disposed of pop corn was served to those present.

MAY BE PHOENICIAN COINS

Recent Discovery Made in California Has Given Archeologists Some Food for Thought.

Examination by Prof. Oliver M. Washburn of six coins discovered in a canyon of the foothills back of Berkeley, Cal., and described by him as being of undoubted antiquity, has stimulated the belief of archeologists that the ruins of an ancient city exist in that locality. Antiquarians of the University of California, where Professor Washburn is assistant in the department of classical archeology, favor making excavations in an effort to determine the existence of important evidence as to the early history of this continent.

The coins were discovered by Chester K. Frost, an Oakland shipbuilder. While on a trip he was digging in the canyon when he uncovered a misshapen copper coin. He prosecuted his work and was rewarded with five pieces of copper, unquestionably minted by hand, according to Professor Washburn, and containing inscriptions in Greek and Latin. Two of the coins are blackened beyond recognition by the action of the elements, but through their irregular shape and general minting are described as antedating the oldest known Roman coins.

The coins are faintly embossed with the facial contours of divinities or legends in tempered copper. Coin experts advance the opinion that the material used fixes a remote period of manufacture, because tempered copper in coin manufacture is more or less a forgotten art.

One of the coins is about the size of a dime and bears certain resemblances to early Phoenician money, which bore the characteristic embossing of a woman's head.

One version advanced is that the Berkeley coins were brought to the California coast by Phoenician colonists who preceded the early padres to the bay district.

What He Missed.

My wedding was not far in the past and I was giving a dinner party for several bachelor friends of my husband's. I was especially anxious for things to run smoothly, as one of the party was somewhat of an "old flame," and I wanted him to see just what a wonderful housekeeper he had missed. The maid was new, so to be perfectly sure that all would go well I ordered the dinner in complete detail the previous evening.

In bringing in the soup the maid spilled a serving on the very man that I was planning to impress. When the meat course came on there was an absence of potatoes, and on asking for them I was informed that we were out of potatoes and she had forgotten to order them.

Needless to say that my face did not need the aid of any drug store for sufficient coloring, while the face of the young man in question reflected, I thought, positive relief that he had escaped such extreme lack of management.—Chicago Tribune.

Grey Victim of Ill Fortune.

Sir Edward Grey, former foreign secretary, now Viscount Grey of Falloden, is preparing a volume of memoirs. He has grown almost totally blind, and is learning all over again how to read by the sense of touch.

Fate has brought tragedy into Sir Edward Grey's life. He was deeply devoted to his wife, a companion to him in his fishing trips and other outdoor excursions. She was injured in a runaway accident in 1905 and died. Always of a retiring disposition, the former secretary became more so under the poignancy of this domestic tragedy. A short time before the war a brother was killed by a lion in Africa. In the early days of the war his nephew, who would have become heir to the title of viscount, which was conferred on him when governmental changes saw him depart from the foreign office, was killed. The title, therefore, may lapse with the death of the first viscount, Grey, himself, for he has no children.

Secrets Betrayed in Sleep.

"It is much more usual for people to swear than to sing hymns in their sleep," says Dr. E. Coplans in a letter to the British Medical Journal. Doctor Coplans has been a patient in a military hospital.

"The percentage of talkers is astonishing; 60 per cent of the men in my ward indulged in it. The maximum period is from 12 to 2 a. m. Often a sentence is begun clearly, but trails off in a blur. One patient, a by-no-means pious Scotsman, started me at 1:20 by singing in a stentorian voice, 'Abide With Me.' The melody and words were perfect.

"One speaker will start another going in an adjacent bed. Your sleep talker will answer a question, and there is no doubt that people give away secrets."

Philippines Producing Newsprint.

The Philippines are in a position not only to supply newsprint for domestic needs, but to export large quantities of this product. According to a report recently made by the director of the bureau of forestry, the raw materials available such as the bamboo and two kinds of grasses, the cogon and talahib, are of such good quality and can be so cheaply obtained that if careful study is given this industry the islands will not need to import annually $2,000,000 worth of paper, as heretofore.

The Higher Culture.

"Your daughter is well educated." "Educated! I should say she is! She's read! She's read! She's read!"

FEAST WORTHY OF THE NAME

Montenegrins Put Up Elaborate Spread as Natural Part of the Wedding Ceremony.

The feasts prepared by Montenegrins, when weddings are celebrated, overshadow the most elaborate affairs along that line in America, says Edna Worthley Underwood, in a translation of a story, "Furor Illyricus," by A. von Vestendorf. Two serving maids and the head of the house enter with huge, four-cornered bottles. One little drink and a dried fig open the meal. This is a custom to banish the taste of cigars, which are always in evidence. The heavy, thick, ink-black wine of Lissa is then poured, and the diners choose their favorite morsels from plates, after which sugared eggs are passed around. This is just the beginning of the banquet, which is followed by minestra, baked macaroni, with hashee made from the entrails of young lambs, fowl roasted in sugar, small barboni baked in oil, baked ink fish with citron, pullets cooked with fresh vegetables, and beef served on huge platters. Wine flows in abundance, and boisterous laughter and loud talking prevail. The banquet is closed with a special dish, after champagne has been served. A roast lamb is brought in on a wooden platter, and put near the lower end of the large table. With a lordly gesture the master of ceremonies steps forward, and with a large knife, ground as thin as a hair, chops the lamb into four pieces with two strokes. The women continue to eat cakes and fruit, but the men spend the remainder of the time drinking.

GENTILITY IN HUMBLE GARB

Rags and Tatters Proudly Worn by the Famous Experimenters at Brook Farm.

"Arcadians though we were," wrote Hawthorne of the Brooks farm experiment, "our costume bore no resemblance to the beribboned doublets, silk breeches and stockings, and slippers fastened with artificial roses that distinguished the pastoral people of poetry and the stage. In outward show, I humbly concede, we looked rather like a gang of beggars, or banditti, than either a company of honest laboring men or a conclave of philosophers. Whatever might be our points of difference, we all of us seemed to have come to Blithedale with the one thrifty and laudable idea of wearing out our old clothes. Such garments as had a airing whenever we strode afield! Coats with high collars and with no collars; broad-skirted or swallow-tailed and with the waist at every point between the hip and armpit; pantaloons of a dozen successive epochs, and greatly defaced at the knees by the humiliations of the wearer before his lady-love; in short, we were a living epitome of defunct fashions, and the very raggedest presentment of men who had seen better days. It was gentility in tatters. We might have been sworn comrades to Falstaff's ragged regiment. Little skill as we boasted in other points of husbandry, every mother's son of us would have served admirably to stick up for a scarecrow."

Queen's Dreams Faded.

Cecily, duchess of York, who lived toward the end of the sixteenth century, was doomed to witness in her family more appalling calamities than probably are found in the history of any other individual. Twenty-six of her closest relatives, through whom she hoped to inherit the throne of England, were killed in battle, poisoned or murdered during her lifetime. Her father was that rash and powerful nobleman, Ralph Neville, earl of Westmoreland. She was the youngest of twenty-one children, and on becoming the wife of Richard Plantagenet, duke of York, her family exerted all their influence to place her on the throne of England. After a series of splendid achievements, unparalleled in history, the whole family of Nevilles was swept away long before Cecily had descended in sorrow to her grave.

What is a Creole?

Originally the word was used to denote persons born in the West Indies of Spanish parents to distinguish them from immigrants direct from Spain, aboriginals, negroes or mulattos. It is now used for the descendants of non-aboriginal races born and settled in the West Indies, in various parts of the American mainland and in Mauritius, Reunion or some other places colonized by Spain, Portugal, France or (in the case of the West Indies) by England. The use of the word by some writers as necessarily implying a person of mixed blood is entirely erroneous. In itself "creole" has no distinction of color; a creole may be a person of European, negro or mixed extraction, or even a horse. French Canadians are never Creoles. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Opals and Pearls.

We suppose that those people who call pearls "tears" do so because both are globular and limpid. It is suggested by resemblance. The ancients believed that pearls are formed of drops of dew that fall into the shells of the oysters at night. If the dew was pure the pearls would be beautiful and clear; if impure, they would be dull and muddy. We do not find that the pearl is considered unlucky, but mottoes with the first letter of some it is used to spell "good luck."

Big Results From A Small Outlay of Money

The News carries the largest volume of Want Ads of any paper in this section. There is a reason for this, for if satisfactory results were not obtained people would not continue to spend their money for Want Ads in this paper.

The News is read by more farmers and other people in Plainview trade territory than any other newspaper, and these people buy lots of things. They sell lots of things. They rent rooms and houses, etc.

A Want Adv. in the News costs only 15c for fifteen words and 1c for each additional word, but it is read by possibly six to eight thousand people. Isn't that very heap publicity? Can you beat it?

If you have anything to sell or trade, a room or house or farm to rent, there is something you want to buy or trade for; something lost or found; a cow or horse strayed, some notice you wish to give publicity to, you will get results if you use the News Want columns.

Wants More Homes Erected

To the News:—You will pardon this letter and hope it will not fall into your ever ready "waste basket." I see no reason why a man should sit silently by and not be man enough and 100 per cent American grit in him to speak a truthful word for his town he expects to live in, to be one of its citizens. I'm stuck on Plainview, especially its citizens. I never was and never expect to be treated better in these 68 years I've lived.

I've not seen a single man under the influence of liquor or snuff in his under lip since here. I was told I would freeze or starve if I came here to live. Thank God I'm in the land of the living, plenty to eat and among the brave.

The reason I write this letter is I feel an interest in the place. 1st, is your fine schools, churches, business houses, good lands, reasonable in prices, the finest of water, good health, lastly, with a desire to increase population, by organization. There certainly is need of organizing for what? In answer, homes for those who want them, who are willing to work and pay for them under the installment plan. I see on first page of News such is on foot. This shows the right spirit on the part of the gentlemen getting together and getting busy. This act will bring fruits. Rents are too extravagantly high, out of reason and few able to pay. I know of a few who had to return home on this account; they came here to educate their children.

The writer visited the high school building before its opening and found everything up to date. Now if your money men will erect homes and small cottages for those who wish to come here next term. All I have to say is this, Plainview will be the "Chicago of the West." People in the east are like those wise men, they see a bright star in the Western horizon and that star is Plainview.

In conclusion, I'm interested and wish heartily to thank the people here for their kindness to me. The good book says "Cast your bread upon the waters and it will return ten fold."

NOT THE ONLY ONE

There Are Other Plainview People Similarly Situated

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Plainview residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

S. B. Farris, retired farmer, Plainview says: "My back was sore and lame and ached most all the time. It bothered me mostly when I had to stoop over, as sharp and aching pains would shoot through my back and shoulders. Mornings when I first got up my back was so lame and stiff I could hardly straighten. I felt tired and worn out and had dizzy spells. I also suffered from headaches. My kidneys were weak and the kidney secretions were scanty in passage and bothered me a great deal. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and bought some from R. A. Long's Drug Store. One box of Doan's cured me of the trouble. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly to all my friends."

ANNOUNCEMENT

Subject to the action of the Democratic Primary in July, 1922. For County Clerk:

MRS. W. L. BRADY.

Jones Takes Longworth to Task Washington, D. C. Oct. 25.—Congressman Marvin Jones took Hon. Nicholas Longworth to task today for his attitude on the Muscle Shoals project.

During the war the government established a nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee River to manufacture nitrate for manufacturing explosives for war purposes. After the war the engineers recognizing the value of the tremendous water power and of the established plant urged that dams could be completed at a small expense and fertilizer manufactured for use on the farms, the claim being made that in this way fertilizer could be sold to the farmers at one-half the present cost. Mr. Longworth and others from manufacturing districts strenuously opposed the completion of the project.

The entire project was about to be abandoned when Hery Ford offered to take the whole system off the hands of the government and to operate it in the interest of agriculture.

"For years," said the Texas member, "Mr. Longworth has been fighting the entire project and picturing it as public waste and extravagance. The government has spent some $60,000,000 there.

"One would think that the gentleman from Ohio would jump at a chance to rid the government of the whole proposition. But all of a sudden when the manufacturer of 'Flivvers,' Henry Ford, offers to pay the government a total of $214,000,000 Mr. Longworth becomes dumb. The outburst of oratory has not occurred; the flaming patriot has not spoken; the eloquent tongue has been silent. Oh, consistency, thy name is not Nicholas!

"What is the reason for the sudden cooling of the ardor of all these gentlemen? Can it be that the cause in Mr. Ford's offer that the guarantee to sell fertilizer at a net profit of not more than eight per cent frightens the other manufacturers, and that his offer to turn it over to the government in the event of war as a powder plant scares the munition workers.

"There are those in congress who balk at any legislation which has for its primary purpose the furthering of

A POLITICAL CONSPIRACY

The story your Washington correspondent sent out concerning the genesis of the republican opposition to the League of Nations and treaty of peace as formulated at the Versailles conference is of exceeding interest, but he does not tell all the facts.

Last May I spent some weeks in Battle Creek, and while there had the joy of renewing my acquaintance with the Hon. Samuel V. Dickie of Albion, Mich., who was for twelve years chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Prohibition party, and where for all his mature life has been an outstanding American citizen and patriot. At present he is president of Albion University, the leading Methodist school of Michigan. For many years Dr. Dickie and I were members of the National Prohibition party and active in all of its deliberations. The last national prohibition convention either of us attended was in 1912. Following that convention Dr. Dickie went back to Michigan to re-align himself locally with the republican party, and I came back and joined hands again with the democratic party. Through all the two years we have been personal friends, and I was glad during that interview to go over matters of state and current political interest with this able statesman, who is one of the cleanest and most patriotic among the leaders of American thought and life.

Dr. Dickie told me substantially that same story that appeared in your Sunday's issue, but he told me the inside facts, which your correspondent either did not know, or knowing did not care to divulge. When Senators Knox, Brandegee and Lodge, together with some others of their republican confers, met to deliberate concerning the League of Nations and treaty of peace, there were some words exchanged between them, which your correspondent did not disclose. Dr. Dickie told me that the leading address was made by Senator Lodge himself, who said to these republican senators in substance the following:

"President Wilson has brought back from France the most important state document ever formulated in the history of the world. If the senate of the United States ratifies this League of Nations covenant and treaty of peace, it will be known, heralded and recorded as an achievement of the Democratic party. As republicans we can not allow this to occur. For such an instrument of such world-wide importance to be ratified and chronicled as the achievement of a democratic president and a democratic administration would cast a blight upon the republican party and its future that would keep us in the background perhaps for years. Our only remedy is to kill the League of Nations and the treaty of peace, and in order to do this we must eliminate President Wilson."

Dr. Dickie told me that he knew of the facts I herein relate from the inside, and having voted the republican ticket in the state of Michigan and being known locally in Michigan as a republican, his word carried with them very great weight. Notwithstanding the fact that he is a republican in local politics, he believes that the League of Nations was the greatest document being to world peace that was ever formulated. I believe he knew the truth and told the truth, and his statement coupled with that of the statement of your Washington correspondent, dovetails into the facts of the history itself in a most marvelous way.

Senator Lodge and his collaborators killed the League of Nations, and practically killed our great outstanding Democratic President Woodrow Wilson. It is called success they achieved success in the succeeding national election, but in their success in the destruction of the League of Nations covenant they cursed the whole world. If the League of Nations Covenant and treaty of peace had been promptly ratified upon the return of President Wilson from the Versailles conference, the world would now have safely emerged from the chaos into which it was plunged by the great war. The wild riot of unsettled financial conditions, business depression, sporadic wars and universal crime that has been witnessed throughout the whole world since the crucifixion of the League of Nations covenant, must all be laid at the door of the republican party. Some one recently said that future history would thus write it. I amend the statement by saying that the current history is now writing it. The whole world is out of joint and the disarmament conference that is staged to meet in Washington Nov. 11 has in advance been emasculated by the milk and water forecast of President Harding. The disarmament conference can accomplish nothing that was not already done by the league covenant. It is greatly to be feared that nothing of value will be done, and the republicans who cursed a world in order to save their party have come to know that they can take no forward step without walking in the footsteps of Woodrow Wilson. And it is now too late for them to save the world with their little side show that is soon to begin its exhibitions at Washington.—J. E. Cranfill, in Dallas News.

"PILGRIMS" ALL YOUNG MEN

Though We Are in the Habit of Speaking of Them as "Fathers," They Were Youthful.

Among the contributions to the literature of the tercentennial of the landing of the "Pilgrim Fathers" is a paper by Sir Arthur E. Shipley, master of Christ's college, Cambridge, and vice chancellor of the university. In an editorial note introducing his article in the New York Times it is stated that he is well known as a zoologist, but why that qualifies him to write learnedly about our Pilgrim ancestors, who never heard of Darwin or his evolution theory, is unrevealed in the note. We take it that the alleged "fathers" never claimed kinship with the anthropoids and that they looked much higher for information about their origin than to a noted zoologist. But, be that as it may, Sir Arthur does inject a new thought, while not telling us much else that is new about those valiant and earnest souls who embarked on the tiny Mayflower—tiny in our eyes now, but not so considered by them—and buffeted the Atlantic gales for two months in search of a land hospitable to them in the matter of religious freedom if not in climate.

When we speak of them as "fathers" we conjure up a vision of grim-faced men with long beards, venerable seniors bringing to the new world the wisdom of their ripe years and long experience in both the joy and the value of treading the narrow path, but it is an illusion. Sir Arthur says there was only one of them over thirty-two years of age. That one was Captain Miles Standish, the valiant soldier, who was only thirty-six. They were all born about the year 1588, the time when the wonderful Spanish armada came to grief before the elements and the ships of Sir Francis Drake, and every last one of them was a loyal subject of King James and proud of that fact. They were young, vigorous, enterprising Englishmen, genuine colonists, seeking religious freedom but not political exile. It took men and women of such youthful vigor to endure the hardships and dangers incident to the first few years of their colonial life. Ever since that day it has been like young men and women who have pioneered the way across the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific talking with them the same spirit of attachment to the home land while building homes in the new. The "fathers" have remained at home, while the "sons" have fared forth, spreading the Mayflower spirit from ocean to ocean and now across the seas to many lands where it is growing and fruiting into what we may hope will eventually encompass the whole earth.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Preventing Loss of Identity.

All parents are being urged to have their children's finger-prints taken, so that in case of disappearance from home their whereabouts can be more easily ascertained than with a meager description. The police department of any city would be glad, with this idea in view, to make and file the finger-prints. Argentina is far in advance in this matter. In that country the fingerprints of every individual are taken and filed away for possible future reference. Every now and then one hears of a case where somebody has forgotten all about himself, and does not know who he is or where he belongs. This affliction, fortunately rare, is called "aphasia." If the finger-prints of such an unlucky individual were on file somewhere, the task of identifying him might be greatly simplified. Fingerprints taken in babyhood do not alter their pattern through life. Every day the War and Navy departments are called upon to locate young men who are missing from their homes. With only the names (which may have been changed) and the vague descriptions, it is always difficult and often impossible to respond to the demand.

Patriotic Movement in Canada.

A new organization, to be known as the Daughters of Canada, with headquarters in Toronto, has been incorporated. The aim of the organization, it is stated in the letters patent granted by the department of state, is "to develop a spirit of true patriotism based on love and pride in country." It is also the purpose to study the constitutional history and geography of Canada, to advance the knowledge of sound domestic principles, to stimulate a love for Canadian art, music and literature in the schools and community centers, and "to welcome strangers within our institutions, and to encourage them to become citizens of Canada."

Treatment of Goiter With Radium.

Dr. A. N. Clagett (Illinois Medical Journal) believes that radium should be given a trial in exophthalmic goiter, because there is no mortality, no scar, no pain, and only three or four days hospitalization. Its advantages over the X-ray are that it produces no discoloration of the neck, there is less time consumed in the treatment and it is simpler to apply. The selective action of radium destroys the harmful cells, while not disturbing the healthy cells. Surgery has not been necessary in any one of forty-seven cases extending back over three years.

Standards of Value.

"Josh," said Farmer Cornsossel, "I want you to go to town and sell a few bushels of potatoes."

"What for?"

"So's we can have the cash."

"I don't see the sense of it. A man with a few bushels of potatoes looks a lot wealthier than a man with a handful of money."

KRESS

Nov. 2.—Miss Jaunita Harmlinson, of Plainview, was visiting in Kress Sunday.

Mrs. T. J. Sanders, who has been in Fort Worth for some time on business and also visiting with relatives, returned home Thursday. She spent Wednesday in Plainview visiting with her brother.

Morris Kimbal, of Tulia, was a business visitor in Kress Tuesday.

D. D. Neal, of Plainview, was in Kress Tuesday attending to business.

Relatives are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Skipworth.

It is with saddened hearts that we tell you that the death angel has once more made his fatal rounds, and stopped at the Houser home and took away Mr. Charlie Houser, known as Uncle Charlie. Mr. Houser was born in Wayne county, Ohio, Nov. 19th, 1844, and died Friday, Oct. 28th, 1921, at one o'clock; age 76 years, 11 months and 9 days. He joined the army at the age of 17, as a volunteer, and served through the Civil War. He came to Texas from Ohio, in 1870, and has lived on the Plains for thirty years. He joined the Methodist church at the age of 25. Mr. Houser leaves a wife and seven children, four boys and three girls. Boys—John Houser and C. E. Houser, Tulsa, Texas; George Houser, of Kansas City; George Houser, of Kress. Girls—Mrs. Bert Bagley of Kress, Miss Myrtle Houser of Kress, and Mrs. W. B. Campbell of Canyon. Only one boy and two girls were present at the time of his death—Myrtle, Mrs. Bagley and Geo. Houser. The rest of the children came Saturday morning. The funeral services were held at the Methodist church at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, by Rev. T. C. Willett, of Tulia, assisted by Rev. Smallwood, of Kress. By request of some of the relatives, they had a special quartette,—Mrs. Ira Kerr, Mrs. C. Sanders, Mrs. DeLong and Mr. Gregg. The house was crowded with friends and relatives. He was laid in his last resting place in the Kress cemetery, with Masonic honors. Mr. Houser is well known and loved by all who knew him. His many friends sympathize with his loved ones in this darkest hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Stroupe of near Tulia, are spending this week with the mother of Mrs. Stroupe, Mrs. J. E. Milton.

The Methodist Sunday school convention met in Kress Sunday. Several neighboring Sunday schools were represented. Morning services were held at the Methodist church, and on account of the need of room, the afternoon services were held at the Kress high school building. A large crowd was present and all enjoyed the fine talks that were made during the day, and the special song by the Kress choir, as well as the dinner that was prepared for those present. The next convention meets at Vigo Park, in January. Make your plans to go.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Adkisson of Tulia, were visiting in Kress Sunday. J. F. Moore and family of Canyon, came to Kress Saturday to attend the funeral of Uncle Charlie Houser, and also visited with relatives.

L. Pott of Groom, Texas, was in Kress Monday visiting with Rev. Smallwood and wife. He is an old friend of these good people.

The Kress high school gave a masquerade supper Monday night at the school building. The amusements for the hour were—each room was to represent different things. One room, we remember in particular, represented "Hell." You could go in and shake hands with the "Devil" and get acquainted with his wife, and also his angels, and near them was the gypsy fortune teller. Besides this there were many other amusements and also plenty to eat. The proceeds of this is to be used to get song books for the school. $22.50 was received. After the supper the crowd was entertained at the home of Mrs. W.

Skipworth, Jr., with a Halloween party. Everyone enjoyed the night. Mrs. M. L. Guyer and children motored to Plainview Wednesday.

Miss Jimmie Knox, who is teaching school here, spent Saturday in Happy with home folks. She was accompanied by Miss Agnes Potts.

Quite a bit of improvement made last week at the church, varnishing and painting, and a new rug was bought.

J. W. Skipworth, Jr., is in Kansas City this week on business.

The turkey season is at hand. In line with other commodities turkeys will be lower than they were last year but still a good price considering the value of other farm products. Phone 547 for highest market prices.—Panhandle Produce Co., Plainview, Texas. 49-11-p

MAN OF DAUNTLESS SPIRIT

Captain Arthur Phillip, First Governor of New South Wales, Made Light of Difficulties.

History teems with records of great enterprises carried through with courage and strong purpose. The early settlement of Australia provides a good example of this. Capt. Arthur Phillip, the first governor of New South Wales, unobtrusively set sail from the Isle of Wight, on a May morning in 1787, with 11 ships, mostly ill-equipped, and so started, inauspiciously, on his 12,000 miles voyage to the Antipodes.

It was not until eight months later that is on January 26, 1788, that the expedition landed at Sydney cove, situated inside the world famous Sydney Harbor. The anniversary of this historic landing is punctiliously observed throughout the commonwealth as a public holiday.

Captain Phillip, with every conceivable difficulty to face, including unsuitable settlers, great shortage of food, and every kind of equipment, yet weathered the storm. His every report home was couched in a cheery spirit. Most of the seed wheat and other grain had unfortunately become spoiled on the voyage out and things were looking bad. Anticipations of help were centered on the impending arrival of the relief ship which was due early in 1790, but the vessel struck an iceberg near the cape, and the cargo had to go overboard to save the ship, which was then compelled to return to port. This even necessitated the strict rationing of the settlers. In writing home, the governor referred to his desperate situation as "these little difficulties which we have encountered."

Such was the man who initiated the settlement of Australia. His attitude toward the natives demonstrated at once his humanity and statesmanship, for he showed them great kindness and did his best to establish friendly relations between them and his settlers. Ultimately the settlement flourished and formed the nucleus of the commonwealth as it is known today, and thus well has Governor Phillip earned the distinction of being included in the roll of honor of the "Men Who Built the Empire."

Colossal Farms in Argentina.

Our American farms seem diminutive compared with those of Argentina. There the farm of two hundred thousand acres is common. Many are twice that size, and there is a record of at least one three times as large. It is not unusual for a whole day to be consumed on the train in crossing the land of a single proprietor.

The old cowpuncher days of our West are being repeated here. Looking from the window of the train one may often count twenty thousand cattle within an hour. Also he will see thousands of sheep and scores of ostriches. But one thing he will not see—barns. In a land where it is not too cold for animals to be out all the year round, and where there is no need to cut and store hay because hay grows 12 months in the year, barns are unnecessary.

At every station one will see corrals and pens for convenience in loading the cattle cars. Every day trains from all parts of the republic arrive at the great packing plants near Buenos Aires with their burden of restless animals.—Willard Price in the Christian Herald.

Alarm Clock as Egg Urge.

Councilman Lester Lutz is somewhat of a chicken fancier, writes a Berwick (Pa.) correspondent of the New York Tribune. Recently he tried the experiment of placing in his chicken pen electric lights that would switch on at four o'clock in the morning. He believed it would result in getting more eggs from the hens. That stunt didn't work, because the chickens failed to be aroused, even by the light in the pen, but Lutz thought further than that.

He got an alarm clock and put that in the pen, so it would ring every morning at four o'clock, the same time the lights were switched on.

"Formerly I was getting only six eggs a day from a pen of 20 Leghorns," said Lutz. "Now I am getting 12, 13 and 14 eggs a day from the same hens."

He invites visitors to come to his pen and see the electric lighting system and the alarm clock.

Provincialism.

"What kind of a place is this, anyhow?" said the stranger, as he ordered the porter to get him a berth on the 7:29, and to be sure that it was a lower berth, near the middle of the car.

"We kind of like it," the porter replied taking the stub of a pencil from behind his ear. "Ain't there anything doin' in your line here?"

"Oh, yes—as much as I could expect, I guess; but you're old-fashioned. You're away behind the procession. Right out on Main street there's a candy store that's not run by a Greek."—Exchange.

Powdered Lemon Juice.

One of the newest fruit products is powdered lemon juice. It is pure juice reduced to a perfectly soluble powder. Details of the process used have not been given out, but it is an adaptation of the well-known spray method of reducing milk to powdered form; indeed, the originators of the product are powdered-milk manufacturers, the largest in the world. The process can also be used successfully with orange juice. The originators intend to erect a California factory for the manufacture of the product.
