Up in Kansas last week somebody stole a hot stove from a school house.

The Ford Motor Co. of Detroit has placed $50,000 on deposit in one of the Amarillo banks.

Germany now has 102 billion paper marks outstanding. No wonder the mark is worth so little.

The British government has agreed to give Egypt full independence if allowed to fortify and occupy Cairo and Alexandria. The Egyptians refuse to do this.

In several weeks the News will contain quite a lengthy announcement column, as a number of patriots are anxious to sacrifice themselves on the altar of their country. Well, the more the merrier.

All we have to say is, in these days of few jobs and a hard winter coming on, if we were a union laborer we would think several times before we voted the strike and thus bring suffering upon ourself and family. There's a proper time to do all things.

No wonder it is hard for the preachers to keep up with the religious status of the people. It is said there are thirty-three million phone conversations in the United States each day, and get the phone connection in each case is a potential cause of profanity.

King Alexander of Jugo-Slavs, declared the report that he is about to abdicate is purely fiction. About the only way the Slavs get rid of a king is to assassinate him, and it may be that some morning Alex will "wake up dead" having been sent hence with a dirk in his breast by some of his loving subjects.

Canada and the United States have entered into an agreement which will put a stop to practically all smuggling of liquor across the border, and additional forces will be used to put a ban on booze running along the Rio Grande in Texas. From time to time the screws will be tightened on enforcing prohibition until the nation is bonedry. Reforms never go backward.

Congressman Hudspeth has introduced a bill in congress providing for a tour of the delegates and press representatives to the arms convention over the United States, at the expense of the federal government. Such a trip would doubtless impress the foreigners with the greatness of our country and prove to them that our resources are such that no nation or many nations could ever prevail against us in a war.

No, the News is not going to "tear its shirt" supporting any person for office in next year's campaign. Shirts cost money—besides we have supported many politicians and helped them to get into office and then because we criticised some of their public acts they "got it in" for us. The News is not a hero worshipper. It is for the public weal all the time, and does not stand back on criticising any official, especially those it may help to elect.

Congress adjourned Wednesday night and will reconvene in regular session the first Monday in December. The principal reason for the adjournment, with only about ten days between the sessions is doubtless to permit the congressmen and senators to draw extra mileage from their homes to Washington, when hardly any of them will go home. By this scheme they will relieve the federal treasury of several hundred thousand dollars, as the delegates from Hawaii and Alaska will get about $2,000 each, the Pacific coast congressmen about $1,000 each, and the others will get rakeoffs in proportion according to the distance their homes are from Washington. The tax payers have to foot the bill.

To Americans the fear of the French that Germany might pounce on France at any time is ridiculous. Germany's navy has been absolutely destroyed and her army reduced to merely a police force and the allied nations have the power to throttle her at any time within the next generation or two that she may make any warlike move. France is keeping a standing army of a half-billion soldiers on the backs of the tax payers as a defence against Germany. May God hasten the day when there will be some court in which the nations of the world will bring their disputes for trial and adjudication, instead of by war.

JOY FOR WEeping

His anger endureth but a moment; in his favor is life; weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.—Psalm 30:5.

Gov. Neff and the state prison commissioners are making an investigation of the conditions in the penitentiaries. The governor, however, made a great mistake before he started, by refusing to permit any newspaperman to go along and report the inspection, so that the people of the state may become posted on the matter. Of course Gov. Neff being a politician, is not going to be over active when he returns from his trip in telling of many delinquencies in the conduct of the penitentiaries as may adversely affect his ambition for a second term as governor. As the Dallas News truly opines, the reforms brought about in the prisons of Texas were not made by governors, legislators or prison commissioners of their own free will, but by the people forcing them to action after public opinion had become wrought up after reading in the newspapers of the barbarity practiced upon convicts. Gov. Neff, should invite instead of repel publicity.

The arms conference in Washington now promises to accomplish a great deal in not only reducing armaments but in settling other international questions, for the people of the world seem to be in the proper frame of mind and want to obviate war.

Down in the state a few days ago a barber cut a customer's ear off while shaving him. A woman in short skirts passed by the door and the barber let the razor slip while looking at her.

PLAIN WRITING ON ALL CHRISTMAS MAIL URGED

Help Postmasters to Handle Your Christmas Parcels, Most Efficiently and With Dispatch

An appeal to American women to address their Christmas cards and packages in plain writing is made by Postmaster General Hays in a circular issued containing instructions for the handling of Christmas mail. Fancy writing only serves to clog the mail and increase the burdens of the postal clerk, the circular says.

The use of regular size cards and envelopes instead of those of small size is also urged, attention being called to the fact that the envelopes of regular size may be run through a cancelling machine at the rate of 50,000 an hour, whereas those of odd sizes must be canceled by hand.

The Post Office Department is now making arrangements for the holiday rush, and all offices are planning to dispatch mail promptly and in good shape. It is requested that all holiday mail be wrapped in the best condition possible, and that care be taken to have all packages in as condensed a form as possible. One of the greatest mistakes one can make in wrapping a parcel post package is to make it larger than necessary. In sending off a dainty package do not wrap with tissue paper, but wrap with strong tough paper so that no damage can be done to the contents of the package. If ordinary care is given to the wrapping of packages there will be no delay or loss. And by all means use a pen and ink to address the package, and be sure to put a return address on the package.

High School News

The high school and Floydada high had a very interesting game here Thanksgiving. The teams were very evenly matched, the game ending with a score of 7 to 7.

The football boys met and organized for next year. Clem Leslie was elected captain and Sallee Saffle manager.

The new piano for the high school arrived Wednesday. Every one is eager to start into the years work of music which has been so off set by the delay.

The Thanksgiving holiday was greatly enjoyed by both the student body and faculty.

Building Houses and Pens

The lumber dealers report a growing demand for lumber to be used in the erection of chicken houses and hog pens, and farmers throughout the Plainview country tell them they are going into the raising of chickens and hogs on larger scales, as they find that these two items bring them more money than the more pretentious field crops.

There is an abundance of feedstuff for the feeding of chickens, hogs and livestock, the market price is low and they feel that they can make lots more feeding same to the poultry and animals.

In another article we tell of how one poultry firm in Plainview has each day for the past three weeks paid out $1,500 a day for turkeys only.

Sells Interest in Hog Farm

Julius Ebeling, who has been engaged in raising fine registered Duroc hogs for the past few years, has sold out his interest to his brother, E. C. Ebeling.

Since selling out Mr. Ebeling has accepted a position with Rockwell Bros. Lumber Co., and will begin work the first of the month.

The gin at Floydada has ginned between thirteen and fourteen hundred bales of cotton. It will close for the season about Dec. 1.

A negro was arrested near Shallowater in Lubbock county last week on a charge of making chalk beer.

What is a Can Worth?

Do you know that on a three pound can of coffee you pay about ten cents for the can?

Do you know that the can is used to keep the coffee fresh and retain its strength?

It enables the toasters of coffee to ship their product and keep it in the best condition, but even sealed it loses some of its aroma and strength.

GET FRESHLY ROASTED COFFEE

We wish to announce that we have installed an electric coffee roaster, and will supply the grocers of the South Plains with coffee fresh from the roaster.

We will use none but the best grade of coffee, and you can be assured that the coffee bearing our name is always fresh and that it is cheaper than the same grade bought in cans—

Trying to Catch Up

The News has not been coming out on time for several weeks, having had something each issue to handicap it. The first week of the month the editor returned from a two weeks' trip to the Southeast, then Armistice Day came the next week and the whole force took a day off, and this week Thanksgiving day caused the office to be closed another day. We hope with the coming week to get out on time, and will try to make a clean record from then on.

Big Results From A Small Outlay of Money

The News carries the largest volume of Want Ads of any paper in this section. There is a reason for this, for if satisfactory results were not obtained people would not continue to spend their money for Want Ads in this paper.

The News is read by more farmers and other people in Plainview trade territory than any other newspaper, and these people buy lots of things. They sell lots of things. They rent rooms and houses, etc.

A Want Adv. in the News costs only 15c for fifteen words and 1c for each additional word, but it is read by possibly six to eight thousand people. Isn't that very heap publicity? Can you beat it?

If you have anything to sell or trade, a room or house or farm to rent, there is something you want to buy or trade for; something lost or found; a cow or horse strayed. some notice you wish to give publicity to, you will get results if you use the News Want columns.

Lamar School Observes Red Cross Week

During the past week special attention has been given to the Red Cross movement, both by the teachers and pupils of Lamar school. Every child in the school made a poster supporting and boosting the movement. An enameled Red Cross pin was given together with the privileges of membership for one year, to the pupil in each section, who made the neatest and most unique poster.

Much enthusiasm and interest were manifested when Mrs. Tom Carter and Miss Kritzer came to make the decisions on the first prizes. The judging of the posters was as follows: Harold Woodward, 1st prize, low first (morning division), Alyne McCallon and Ruby Graham, honorable mention, Billie Clifford, 1st prize, low first, (afternoon section). Paul Manges and Lola Miller honorable mention. Vivian Turner, 1st prize, high first; Charles Dickson, high first, honorable mention. Low second (Miss Lane's room), Idell Garrison, 1st prize. Honorable mention, Guy Lemonds and Valey Gilbreath. Third grade: 1st prize, Victor Batchler. Honorable mention, Milton Stoddard, Thomas Mooring.

Fox Williams, Maydeen Lindsay and Harold McLean, low 4th grade, first prize. Evelyn Haltom; honorable mentioned Ralph Lemond, Chester Van Hoy and Floyd Poer. High 4th grade: First prize R. M. Harp. Honorable mention Gladys Parker, Agnes Harrison, Ethel Free, and Harlan Hubbard.

Low 5th grade: First prize Tyrol Formby; honorable mention Clovis Mooring, Victor Davis and George Farris.

High 5th grade, first prize Hallie Harrison. Honorable mention Bernard Perkins and Carter Lindsay.

6th grade, first prize, Reginald Mitchell. Honorable mentioned Katherine Lindsay, Doris Clayton, Aileen Swafford, John Craig, Edna Kent, Evard Pullen, Modelle Watson, Maxine Slonaker, Lola Mae Whitfield, Lon Harrell and Lottie Roe Davis.

7th grade, first prize Robert McGhee. Honorable mentioned Gladys Hoper, Lyle Clayton, Ralph Wallen, Bernard Reese and Nell Whitesides.

The committee found some difficulty in judging the first prizes—due to the large number of honorable mentions. The teachers themselves enrolled one hundred per cent together with a large number of pupils.

Mrs. H. C. Randolph and Daughter of Lockney Entertained With Dinner

Mrs. H. C. Randolph and daughter, Miss Clara entertained a number of friends and relatives with a most bounteous Thanksgiving dinner. The dinner consisted of Turkey and many different good things to eat that goes with it. A very pleasant day was spent by those present. They had as their guests: Messrs. and Mesdames Everett Randolph and family of Lockney, J. W. Stevens and daughters, Misses Emma and Ethel, Mrs. McCulley and family, Misses Clem Blankenship and Grace Miller, Mr. Lindsay Graham all of Plainview.

B. B. Club Has Thanksgiving Entertainment

A most delightful evening was enjoyed by the B. B. Club members and their families at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franke E. Pearson Thanksgiving evening.

Each lady present fixed a box of various good things to eat and a guessing contest was engaged in by the men, to learn who they were to eat with. Each lady stood behind a curtain and nothing but their feet was visible, and the man who guessed correct whose feet they were was permitted to partake of the bounteous supper she had prepared for him. After supper was over the evening was spent in a mock school with Mrs. A. H. Morrison as teacher. A most interesting time was had by the pupils saying recitations singing and debating and telling of what he or she had to be thankful for. Music was furnished by an Edison, and Mr. Jake Burkett rendered a vocal solo. Delicious home made candy was served after which all departed for their homes.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames W. H. Woodal, Brady, A. H. Morrison, Jake Burkett, H. B. Adams, C. M. Abbot, W. E. Jones, Ed Hayes, L. D. Griffin, A. L. Talley, Frank E. Pearson and Misses Caribel Abbott and Clem Blankenship. The club will meet Thursday Dec. 1, with Mrs. A. H. Morrison.

GREAT IS OLD MISSISSIPPI

Big River Easily the Longest Continuous Waterway of Which the World Can Boast.

The Mississippi is the main stem of the greatest drainage system of North America. There are 1,257,000 square miles in the drainage system. It extends from within 100 miles of Canada to the Gulf of Mexico in a water course of about 1,550 miles. It forms the total or partial boundary line between ten states. It has on its banks four cities with from about 250,000 to 750,000 inhabitants—New Orleans, St. Paul, Minneapolis and St. Louis. It has about 100,000 tributaries, 240 large enough to figure on small-sized statistical charts.

The greatest of the affluents of the Mississippi is the Missouri river. The Missouri river proper begins at the confluence of the Jefferson, Madison and Gallatin rivers. The length of the whole course is about 2,915 miles. The Missouri river enters the Mississippi river 20 miles north of St. Louis. From the source of the Missouri to the mouth of the Mississippi is a total length of 4,200 miles, the longest continuous waterway in the world. The Missouri river and its tributaries drain about 500,000 square miles of country or about two-fifths of the Mississippi basin. The principal cities on the Missouri river are Great Falls and Fort Benton, Mont.; Bismack, N. D.; Pierre, S. D.; Sioux City, Ia.; Omaha, Neb.; Leavenworth and Kansas City, Kan.; St. Joseph, Kansas City and Jefferson City, Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Boonville, Mo., who have been visiting their son, E. B. Miller and family, left this morn in gfor Roswell, N. M., to visit a daughter.

Dude Shankle of Fort Worth is on an extended visit here with his parents.

Roy Bailey, who has been in the Southwestern part of the state buying cotton, has returned home.

Services at 11 o'clock at the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Rev. Berry will be assisted in the services by Rev. Chas. Joiner and Rev. L. H. Davis. The community will serve dinner in picnic style. In the afternoon a program will be rendered by the pupils of the public school.

Friday afternoon the L. C. Claitor home was a scene of enjoyment. The young ladies entertained the club with a special program. The parlor and reception hall were beautifully decorated in the colors of the rainbow. After all business was disposed of the young ladies took charge. A mock marriage was the first number presented. It was also given in rainbow colors. Miss Annie Hegi as the bride dressed in white with flowing veil; Miss Mavis Smith, as the bride groom in conventional black; Miss Besse Gartin, first groomsmen in brown suit; Miss Meredith Seviars, first bridesmaid in pink organdy; Miss Ruth Ripley, second groomsmen in blue suit; Miss Lily Dendy, second bridesmaid in orange organdy; Miss Jessie Johnson matron of honor in red organdy; Miss Pearl Roberson, as minister, black frock coat, grey pants, derby hat; Madelyne Gregory in white flower girl; Harold Hegi, in blue suit, ring bearer. Miss Ada Belle McGuire sang "Annie Laura." She wore green organdy; Miss Eugenia Johnson in pale pink, presided at the piano. Miss Pearl Roberson read the ceremony from a mail order catalog, it was very amusing and was enjoyed by all present. The next number was a song and a dance "I've Got a Gal" by Miss Bessie Gartin and Miss Pearl Roberson. It was fine; the girls were encored and responded.

The last number was "fortune telling", Miss Mavis Smith, as a gypsy palimist read the fortunes of the club ladies. Quite a jolly time was passed. Ginger cake, hot tea and coffee were served by the young ladies to Mesdames Ben Allen, A. V. McCarty, M. J. Gregory, J. B. Gartin, Chas. Jay, T. A. White, W. E. Dendy, L. C. Claitor, Sieburn Claitor, Chas. Joiner, R. A. Jeffries, N. M. Sells, Marx Weise, lyde Barnes and Herman Hegi.

formed the editor of the News that the next morning within an hour after being informed of the affair he arrested Lloyd Johnson and the man Killough. The girl at that time thought it was Killough who assaulted her. Mrs. Haynes had brought the girl home. He went down to the girl's home for her to identify the men. Tom Johnson wanted to go along also and did go. She was unable to tell who the man was, except that he wore a dark suit and white hat, and then the scratches on his face and a cut place on his hand from the glass when it fell, helped her to identify Tom Johnson as the man. At first the men denied the matter, but later Tom acknowledged he was the party with the girl the night before.

Dr. Owens Treated Miss Henderson

Dr. J. F. Owens was called as a witness but could not be found as he was out on a case, hence did not testify. He stated to the editor of the News that he was called to treat Miss Henderson after she had been brought home. She had bruises on the shoulder and one of her knees, and was complaining of her side hurting, and showed symptoms of its being fractured, and while he was unable to know just whether it was fractured he treated it as though it was and

GROWTH INFLUENCED BY RAIN

Cultivators of Travelers Show Remarkable Difference in Vegetation of Tropical Forests.

Tropical forests are divided by Haun into those having months of less than six rainy days and those having no dry season proper. Those with no dry season are constantly humid, although the varying seasonal moisture has its influence even here. Undisturbed constantly humid regions are nearly always covered with evergreen rain forest; periodically dry districts are occupied by deciduous woodland and savannah. With every slight annual precipitation the vegetation becomes that of the desert. Seen on approaching, a tropical rain forest shows a much more irregular and jagged skyline than the temperate forest, and its varied shades of green are usually dull, but often broken by white, red or other brilliant-hued flowering tree crowns. The tree tops, moreover, are often overhung by climbing vines and parasitic plants. The interior of some rain forests is a dense mass of tangled foliage from the ground up to the tree tops, but others are like immense dark columned halls which afford a free passage and a clear outlook, with only a few ferns on the ground and tree stems. As examples of light column forest Schimper mentions those of a species of Canarium on the mountains of Dominica and of many tree ferns in Trinidad. In the closed forest, the trunk and even leaves grow mosses, algae and flowering herbs. The struggle for light, intensified by great moisture, is a feature of the virgin rain forest.

MODERN "CARMEN" AT WORK

Gathering of Women Cigarmakers Presents a Colorful Sight in Spanish Cities Today.

The Carmen of the opera is no idle fancy of a poet. She was and is very real in Spain today. They are known as cigarreras, and their age may be anything from twelve to sixty. They are paid but a peseta a day, and as no human being can live on that, they devote a good share of their time to a business said to be the oldest in the world. It is no uncommon thing to find as high as 50 babies in cradles or crawling about the feet of the girls as they work. For comfort the girls discard the greater part of their clothing when they start to work, but retain a red rose in their hair or great silver earrings. They are boisterous and rough, and the visitor is halted with demands for money and given the vilest of curses if he refuses. But the girls sing as they work. Every one has a tiny mirror before her in which she sends constant glances, and the little clothing she retains is colorful as the rainbow. They all have lovers who almost without exception abuse them, beat them and take away their earnings. She stands thus as long as the lover is true to her, but if he looks elsewhere he had best beware of a stiletto blade between his shoulders. The older women make the cigars and the younger the cigarettes.—Denver News.

Right Way to Read.

The only way to read with any efficiency is to read so heartily that dinner time comes two hours before you expected it, Sidney Smith wrote. To sit with your Livy before you and hear the geese cackling that saved the capital and to see with your own eyes the Carthaginian sutlers gathering up the rings of the Roman knights after the battle of Cannae and heaping them into bushels; and to be so intimately present at the actions you are reading of that when any one knocks at the door it will take you two or three seconds to determine whether you are in your own study or on the plains of Lombardy looking at Hannibal's weather-beaten face—that is the only kind of study that is not tiresome, almost the only kind that is not useless.

Land of the Incas.

The Peruvian Central railroad is a wonderful monument to the science of railroad engineering, the climb being made through a system of "switchbacks" and having 54 tunnels in its tract. At one point, Ticklo pass, it rises to an altitude of nearly 19,000 feet. The mines are rich in historical lore, having been operated in a primitive way by the Inca Indians a long time before the advent of Pizarro, the famous conquistador of Peru. In the near vicinity of the mines are many ruins of old Inca temples and other evidences of a remote but well-developed form of civilization that dates back to ages that as yet have not been definitely established.

Pointers for Aviators.

Prehistoric birds resembled the early airplanes in their small wing expanse and large tails, according to a British engineer, indicating that man's and nature's development work have been parallel. Flying fish are more likely than birds to yield information about soaring flight, in the opinion of another observer.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

May Be in Earnest.

"This burlesque queen says she's going to play Hamlet."
"For why?"
"She says she wants to do better work."
"She's bluffing."
"I don't think she's bluffing. She needn't hunt for an excuse to wear tight."—

WELSH HONOR PATRON SAINT

March 1, St. David's Day, Set Apart as a Time for Celebration That is Country-Wide.

St. David's day is celebrated by the Welsh on March 1 in commemoration of the character and achievements of St. David, patron and titular saint of Wales. St. David is numbered as one of the "three canonized saints of Britain." He appears to have had more honors paid him in England than in his native country. He was termed "a mirror and pattern to all, instructing both by word and example, excellent in his preaching, but still more so in his works. He was a doctrine to all, a guide to the religious, a life to the poor, a support to orphans, a protection to widows, a father to the fatherless, a rule to monks, and a model to teachers; becoming all to all, so that he might gain all to God."

The leek, the emblem of Wales, is worn by the Welsh on St. David's day because of an order that is said to have been issued by St. David during the conflict between the Welshmen and the Saxons, commanding the Welshmen to put leeks into their hats to distinguish them from their enemies.

WHEN NEW YORK WAS YOUNG

Police Records Show That July 27, 1834, Might Be Called a Comparatively Dull Day.

Easy day for the police of New York when "there was no one committed at the watch returns; but in the course of the day recently three persons were brought up and sent to the bridewell."

That, of course, was not this week or last week, or last year, but years ago, according to a New York newspaper of that day, observes the New York Evening Sun. The three persons sent to the bridewell on July 27, 1834, were:

"John Morris, an Englishman, for rudely seizing Mrs. Hanson round the waist as she was walking to church with her husband.

"William Johnson, for being dreadfully abusive at Mrs. Henwick's soda water store, near Gouverneur market. He went in and destroyed all the glasses and decanters, and beat the daughter.

"A fire volunteer, for being concerned in a dreadful fight last evening, near Hugh Riley's porterhouse, corner of Leonard and Cort streets."

RULES FOR AVIATORS

Aviators in Italy or its colonies may fly or make ascents only after obtaining a written authorization from the minister of transportation, states the Corriere della Sera of Milan. The aviators will be obliged to descend with the greatest possible care for every command of competent authority of the place nearest the landing spot, according to a recent government decree. In flying, the aviators must proceed with a view to insuring the observance of all the conditions set forth in the laws, the regulations and the instructions then in force.

FAMILIAR PIECE.

Cameron (inspecting the newly furnished dining room in Letson's house)—It's fine, old man! There's something about it that makes it look remarkably homelike.

Letson—I guess it's the sideboard, Cam. It's the one that used to be behind Tim Leary's bar.—Judge.

CAREFUL GIRL.

"Daughter, where are you going?"

"To work."

"In your pink satin slippers? Why, there is ice on the streets."

"In that case I'll wear my silver satin slippers. They will match the ice."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE HOUSE.

"He offers us the house for $5,000."

"Not a bad buy. No profiteering there."

"You don't understand. He offers to rent it to us for $5,000 a year."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

DISMAL PROSPECT.

"Sir Oliver Lodge thinks the earth will grow cold in about 20,000,000 years."

"Good gracious! With coal going steadily up now, what will we have to pay for it then?"

OF EVERY RACE AND TONGUE

All Peoples of the Earth Represented in the Millions Seeking Homes in This Country.

Arms equal in size to the one we sent to France land every two years on our shores, and at the present time millions are said to be waiting to enter. Since 1900 more than thirteen million immigrants have entered this country, and approximately one-third of our present population of more than one hundred millions are immigrants or the children of immigrants. Two-thirds of the population of New York state and three-fourths of that of our great cities are foreign born or the children of foreign-born parents. From a fourth to a half of the population of the large cities of the South are negroes. Already we are the most heterogeneous people on earth; here are found representatives of every race and tongue and culture in the world, and still they continue to come in enormous numbers. It is doubtful whether any other migration in the history of mankind compares in magnitude with that which has been converging on America during the past twenty years. The sources and magnitude of this migration are indicated by the following general summary: Of more than thirty million persons in this country who are foreign born or the children of foreign-born parents there are from eight to nine million Germans, four to five million Irish, about three millions from Great Britain, about three million Scandinavians, more than two million Italians, and about two million Hebrews, while all other races and nations constitute about five millions.—Edwin Grant Conklin, in Scribners.

NEW PARISIAN DANCE STEPS

Pleasure Seekers of the French Capital Practice Futurist Movements With Warlike Names.

Paris has something new in dancing. She is introducing no fewer than three futurist dances; the machine gun, the shrapnel and the airman's dance.

A poet of futurist tendencies is the culprit. Being conservative enough to love the waltz and confessing unashamed to many happy moments during the lancers, we trust that remorse will be his lot.

So far we have only read a brief description of one of these measures, the airman's dance, and that simply tells us that the dancers imitate the motions of a monoplane starting on a flight and soaring away.

The shrapnel dance should be easy enough, for it is only necessary to turn up at any dancing hall and see people who remind one instinctively of a creeping barrage. There are also plenty of aids to heighten the effect.

What to make of the machine gun dance, however, puzzles us, for although there are men and even women, who can talk as fast as a machine gun firing, we have never seen a dance that was anything like the real thing.

London Tired of Jazz.

The "jazz" is dead in London, says P. J. S. Richardson, one of the foremost English authorities on dancing. He declares that no new dances will be popularized this year, but the fox-trot, one-step and tango, which have held international interest for two or three seasons, will be standardized. "Previously those taught the same dances by different teachers found themselves hopelessly at sea when they tried to dance together," he said. "Through standardization on which the majority of dancing instructors in London have now agreed, a common framework in the steps will be insured without eliminating all chance of introducing individual variations. Freakish and eccentric 'light gymnastics' such as exaggerated forms of 'jazz' are rapidly passing out."

"See" With His Ears.

Paul Donehue, blind lawyer and musician, who is in town on a visit from Atlanta, gets around over the city and over the whole United States without any assistance, because he "hears" the walls and posts and every other material obstacle in his path. "I can follow the building line along the sidewalk by sound," he says. "I can hear a tree or post very distinctly. I think it is a sense that every one has, but that one does not develop unless he is blind. I call it sound because I find that when there is an overwhelming noise I cannot do it."

Mr. Donehue walks fearlessly about the streets, turns without hesitation at corners and can even estimate very accurately the width of the sidewalk, always knowing when it becomes wider or narrower.—Providence Journal.

Over the Earth's Shoulder.

Ocean voyages are sometimes shortened considerably by going "over the shoulder of the earth," as the navigators say, the Nebraska State Journal observes. The same thing is true, of course, of air travel. When an attempt is made to fly over the Pacific ocean from San Francisco the shortest way will not be directly across, as a study of the map would indicate. Instead, the fliers will go hundreds of miles northward, skirting the Aleutian islands and in this way saving a great distance as well as securing the advantage of more numerous landing places.

The earth will soon be charted for air travel and the lines for long distance flights will be circular more often than direct.
