W. T. COLLEGE BILL PASSES

WEST TEXAS COLLEGE BILL IS PASSED IN SENATE BY 24 TO 5

Austin, Jan. 29.—The senate today passed finally the Bledsoe bill providing for the establishment of a Texas technology college in West Texas after debating the measure for two hours. The final vote was twenty-four to five. The measure had been engrossed in the house.

The vote on the West Texas College measure follows: For—Baugh, Bledsoe, Bowers, Burkett, Clark, Cousins, Darwin, Davis, Doyle, Dudley, Fairchild, Floyd, Holbrook, Lewis, McMillin Parr, Pollard, Rice, Pigeway, Rogers, Stuart, Turner, Watts, Witt. Against—Bailey, Murphy, Strong, Thomas, Wirtz.

Senator Woods of Navarro county was present, but did not vote. Senator Wood of Williamson county, was absent.

The measure carries appropriation provisions totalling a million dollars. An attempt to amend the bill reducing the appropriations $350,000 was defeated. The amendment was submitted by Darwin. Two minor amendments by Witt were adopted before final passage. One makes the balance of $150,000 appropriated for purchasing a site which is not used for this purpose available for building purposes and the other altered the purposes of the college.

Senator Bledsoe, author of the bill, made the principal address in favor of the measure. He said the bill was an attempt to reconcile the views and opinions of educators and citizens from all parts of the state. He said the proposed college has the support of practically every official of state schools with the exception of Dr. Bizzell of the A. & M. college, whom he stated, had not expressed an opinion on the measure.

Senator Thomas of Bell county spoke against the bill stating that he would not vote for any measure that carried a large appropriation with the state treasury in a depleted condition as it is now.

ANOTHER CRISIS IN NEAR EAST

SITUATIONS THAT HAVE HOUND ED CONFERENCE FOR SOME TIME STILL PURSUE IT

Lausanne, Jan. 29.—The "situations" that have hounded the Near East Conference since its convocation more than two months ago still pursue it as the time draws near for officially presenting the allied treaty to the Turks.

A new crisis arose over the week end through the insistence of Ismet Pasha and Riza Nur Bey that the success or failure of the conference depended on whether the allies would recognize the complete sovereignty of Turkey, abolishing the capitulations and agreeing upon an equitable distribution of the Ottoman debt.

Adoption of a set of principles embodying these points, Riza Nur Bey told the correspondent, could be followed later by the formulation of the treaty's details; meanwhile, Turkey's dignity as a nation would not be compromised.

The week end also saw the Armenian acceptance of Russia's offer of asylum, thus removing a troublesome item. The proposal of the Moscow government, regarded here as a shrewd piece of diplomacy, contemplates giving some 250,000 Armenians homes in southwestern Russia. In return the Armenians must become Russian subjects. They will not own the land on which they settle, for that belongs to the state.

Temporary adjournment on Wednesday after presentation of the treaty is the program as it now stands. The allies will ask the Turks to accept the basic principles of and agreement, where upon the conference will adjourn, leaving experts here to work out the details. If diplomatic channels are able to effect an accord with Angora, the heads of the delegations will return to Lausanne and sign the treaty.

UNIFORM MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE LAW URGED

Senator Capper Introduces Measure That Seems to Cover the Matter Very Thoroughly

Washington.—A new national marriage and divorce law, with an enacting resolution proposing a constitutional amendment, was introduced in the senate today by Arthur Capper, republican, of Kansas.

The bill seeks to make divorce more difficult and to prevent what Capper termed "hasty and foolish marriages."

The age at which boys and girls may marry with consent of parents, under provisions of the bill, is fixed at 16 for girls and 18 years for boys. The marriage without consent of parents, is fixed at 18 years for girls and 21 for boys.

The bill specifically links grounds on which divorces will be granted, as follows:

Adultery, physical and mental cruelty, abandonment or failure to provide for one year or more, incurable insanity or the commission of a felony.

As a further bar against hasty marriages, Capper's bill proposes application for license must be made two weeks before issuance of the license. Both parties must also submit health certificates. Two witnesses, at least, must be present at the wedding ceremony. The bill would prevent marriages of feeble-minded; of whites and blacks, Mongolians and white, and those afflicted with communicable diseases.

No new Federal bureau is set up by the Capper legislation, enforcement and application of the law is delegated to the state courts.

Hurrah, for the Santa Fe

Judge Clyde M. Reed of the Kansas public utilities commission attacks the Santa Fe system for spending too much money on maintenance. His figures are enormous, as official reports show, but his main charge is that the Santa Fe is "silver-plated and mahogany finished." We know the Santa Fe in Texas, and the only remark we will make is that if what makes the Santa Fe a real railroad is "silver-plate and mahogany finish," we are for it. However, we thought it was mostly brains.—Editorial in Fort Worth Record.

Doing God's Way

When the geese fly southward they fly in "V" formation. When man learned to fly, and sailed forth to the battle's front he learned that God's way was best, and flew in "V" formation.

When Noah built the Ark according to a plan that has never been excelled in its proportioned construction. The ingenuity of man has never discovered in centuries of shipbuilding a better proportion to build a weight carrying vessel than the one God supervised the construction of.

And yet, when we are able to see that God's way cannot be improved upon, we continue in our presumptuous way and manner and try to add something to that which God has given us, which will be an improvement over God's way, and the result is dismal failure here, and punishment in the world to come.

Sixteen Million for Schools

Austin, Jan. 24.—Appropriations totalling $16,000,000 for the public schools of Texas were provided for in two bills introduced in the house today by Representative Patman just before the close of the session.

The appropriation is for $5,000,000 each year for two years provided in one bill and $3,000,000 per year for two years for rural aid provided in the other.

$25,000 for Canyon Church

Canyon, Jan. 27.—Rev. M. M. Beavers received notice Wednesday that the Board of Church Extension had made a gift of $25,000 to the Canyon Methodist church for the erection of a new church building in this city.

This gift will be increased by local subscriptions.

We are sure glad to have the Kiwanians meet with us today. They are a set of fine fellows, but are not quite so good looking as the Rotarians.

Don't wait for things to "turn up." Success never came that way to anyone but a fool, and few of us want it badly enough to be willing to join that class.

I am bigger than anything that can happen to me. All these things, sorrow, misfortune and suffering, are outside my door. I am the house and I have the key.

CHILD SCALDED TO DEATH

SMALL BOY FALLS INTO BOILING WATER USED IN KILLING HOGS

Roger Jones, 5-year-old child, was scalded to death Saturday when he fell into a pot of boiling water being used in connection with hog killing at the farm home of his father, Ellis Jones, living near Olton.

Roger and other children were playing tag when the boy stumbled and fell backward into the pot. He was pulled out, but not until he had been badly burned. He was taken to a hospital in Plainview, thirty miles away, where he died soon afterward.

The child's father and farm hands sustained painful burns in removing him from the boiling water.

The remains of the child were shipped Sunday to down in the state for burial.

Killed Big Raccoon

Jack Huddleston, who works on J. A. Cox's farm, three miles west of Plainview, one day last week killed a very large raccoon. Just how the coon ever happened to get up on the Plains is a mystery, as nobody ever remembers seeing one on the Plains before this.

GERMANS STRIKE IN RUHR AREA

OCCUPATION OFFICIALS TURN ATTENTION TO EXTENDING CONTROL OF RAILWAYS

Duesseldorf, Jan. 29.—The Ruhr occupation officials turned their attention today to extending their control of the railway lines. This operation is being hampered by the refusal of the German workmen to take orders from the French.

The rail strike is completely effective in Coblenz, but two battalions of French engineers have taken over the lines and placed heavy guards at important points. The workers have served notice that they will not resume their jobs while French troops are present. There is no communication between this city and Duisberg and Essen.

A strike of the forces at the telephone and telegraph central offices, called last evening in protest against the troops, gave the French another problem to solve.

The Ruhr has been taken so completely that today the City of Dortmund was the only open avenue of communication with the rest of Germany. The closing of that entrance, it is expected, will be followed by other strikes. Burgomaster Schmidt, Chief of Police, Oexle and five other city officials have taken up their residence in Elberfeld. Arrested Friday as a result of Thursday's disturbances, the men were escorted out of the occupied zone yesterday. Altogether, it is estimated that approximately 100 German officials in the Ruhr have been expelled.

The coal miners seem to be generally at work, for on Saturday two thirds of the normal output was mined. Nearly 10,000 cars of the 15,639 loaded on that day were sent into the interior of Germany for local consumption.

The departure of the American troops from the Coblenz area has had marked effect on the people, who are showing temper to the occupying forces.

WILL HOLD A TURKEY TROT

PLANS FOR BIG TURKEY CELEBRATION IN PLAINVIEW NEXT FALL

It is proposed to pull off a big "turkey trot" in Plainview next fall, in which many thousands of turkeys will take part. The "turkey trot" will be conducted somewhat after the manner of the one held each year at Cuero, in Southwest Texas, which is known all over the United States.

It is likely that buyers from all over the country will be here, for the purpose of bidding on and buying the turkeys.

During the past fall $100,000 worth of turkeys were shipped out of Plainview, and this year it is possible that a half-million dollars' worth will be raised in Hale county. Turkey raising is destined to become one of the most profitable crops of the Plains, and will be encouraged in every way by the agricultural and business organizations of the county.

The Staked Plains Turkey Growers' Association was recently organized, and is to use its best efforts to promote the growing and marketing of turkeys in this trade territory.

Mrs. C. J. Hill Dies

Mrs. Chas. J. Hill died at the family home in Plainview yesterday, and burial will take place this afternoon in Plainview cemetery. The funeral will be held at the Church of Christ at 2:30 o'clock, Pastor O. M. Reynolds conducting the service.

The deceased was the daughter of Mrs. Nannie Lagow, and had lived in Plainview many years. She leaves a husband and children.

Negro Woman Slashed

Lubbock, Jan. 26.—Willie Houston, negro, is in jail following the affray at his home in the servants on the M. M. Dupre place Thursday night, and his wife is lying at the point of death with a fighting chance to recover from the wound inflicted by the enraged negro, who used a large knife in presenting his side of an argument which arose between the two.

Rabbit Drive Next Thursday

A rabbit drive will be held Thursday afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock, near Bellview, on the south side of Frank Daugherty's section. The people in that vicinity urge that many people come out and help them.

They have also asked that we urge the farmers in every part of the county to hold drives and get rid of the rabbits.

TURKEY POOLING IS PROFITABLE

GROWERS RECEIVED HIGHER PRICES DURING THANKSGIVING AND CHRISTMAS SEASON

To the News: Hale Center, Texas, Jan. 26.—I read with interest an article on the last page of your Jan. 23rd issue copied from the Lockney Beacon in regard to the pooling of turkeys and other farm products. Since it was published without comment, I assume that it has the editor's approval and was published for the effect it might have on the movement now on foot for the pooling of the next five years turkey crop in Hale and adjoining counties.

Since I do not hold the same views on the subject, I am taking the liberty of stating some facts which I have at hand. The Floydada and Abernathy cases referred to in the article were most unfortunate and altogether unnecessary had the pools been properly handled as they were in other places this last year.

It is a known fact and one that I have failed to see disputed that before the turkey market opened last fall, an eastern buyer came into Texas and contracted with the leading poultry buyers for the Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys at a stated price. They in turn made contracts with local buyers at a price which would make them a profit. The farmer was not considered. This would not have been made public had not the buyer been so pleased with his deal that he boastingly gave it out but after her got home. It was published in some of the leading papers of the country.

Lubbock county pooled their turkeys and received 31 cents for them. The farmers of the Olton community formed a small pool and sold their turkeys for 23 1-2 cents to a local merchant at Hale Center, who loaded a full carload of turkeys at Hale Center and shipped to an Amarillo house that had not contracted with the eastern buyer. The best price the buyers who had contracted would of-

PLAINVIEW HIGH SCHOOL WINS HONORS IN BASKET BALL

Capture District Championship and Silver Trophy Cup in Tournament Held Here Last Week

The boys' team played three games at Wayland college, winning them all. The first with Lorenzo, was played thirty-two to sixteen. Friday night our team played Estelline, winning by a score of fourteen to twelve. This was the hardest fought game of the season, and the most exciting. The Board of City Development awarded a large silver loving cup to the winners, and Plainview is glad to own it. The next game will be played with Littlefield next Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, on the Abernathy court.

The girls have been busy too. They played Floydada and won by the large score of twenty-four to twelve. The team consisted of Eva D. Scoggins and Gypsie Williams, guards; Jessie Lee Mock and Vernie Thompson centers; Grace Miller and Lucile Goodwin, forwards, and Frances Bier, substitute. The next game will be played with Hale Center, in the city auditorium, Friday night.

Sixty-Two Years Given

Washington, Jan. 27.—Final extinguishment of Great Britain's debt to the United States is sixty-two years, with an interest rate of 3 per cent for the first ten years and 3 1-2 per cent thereafter, is the basis of settlement suggested to the British delegation by the American debt funding commission in the recent funding negotiations here, it was disclosed officially today.

The suggested program carries with it an amortization rate of one-half of 1 per cent of the principal annually, together with the retirement by Great Britain of such parts of the debt at such times as its financial permits. An interest rate of 4 1-2 per cent would prevail for the period since the date of the loans to the time when the funding arrangement becomes effective, instead of the present rate at 5 per cent.

The debt at the present time approximates $4,700,000,000.

Plainview Hotel Changes Hands

John Purcell has traded for the Plainview hotel, and will take charge of same. He has traded seventy-five acres of improved land in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, under irrigation ditches, to J. H. Davis, for the hotel, also the Ward house in this city, two lots on Broadway, just north of Fuston Lumber Co. Mr. Davis and family will move at once to the Valley.

fer was 27 cents. I personally know of the Olton pool. The price received for the Lubbock county pool was published in the Plainview News.

Was the pool worth while? CLYDE PHILLIPS.

Editor's note—The editor of the News does not endorse every article he publishes without comment. Quite often the reverse is true, for we try to publish both sides of controverted questions. We are friendly to the turkey growers' Association, and believe it will do a great work in encouraging the increased and successful growing of turkeys, and the better marketing, and if turkeys can be pooled and sold at a better advantage it should be done.

Mrs. Sarah Estelle Jackson Dies

Mrs. Sarah Estelle Jackson, wife of the principal of the Lakeview school, just east of Abernathy, died Friday. K. & R. HOLDS JOINT LUNCHEON

ANNUAL CLUB AFFAIR PROVES VERY INTERESTING AND ENJOYABLE

The annual joint luncheon of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, held today at noon at the Ware hotel, proved a very interesting and enjoyable affair, with about one hundred members of the two clubs and a few visitors in attendance.

Jim Anderson, past president of the Rotary club, presided. There were several superb vocal selections by the double quartette, composed of members of the clubs, Messrs. Matt Cram, Frank Butler, E. M. Ballinger, David Neal, Marvin Garner, Jake Burkett, Warren Clement, also chorus singing led by Matt Cram.

Judge L. S. Kinder, Rotarian, had for his subject the value of civic clubs in the community, and told of the history of Plainview people of the early days, of their hospitality, progressiveness and good citizenship, and urged that the young men of the two clubs now carry forward the work that is being relinquished by the pioneer citizens. He told of a country dance held in Plainview back in the eighties, when less than two hundred people lived in Plainview, when two thousand people attended, some coming for two hundred miles; also a cowboy's reunion in 1895 when nearly ten thousand people came from five hundred miles around and stayed here three days, with but 400 citizens living in Plainview; also the great convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce last year.

Ray H. Knoohuizen, Kiwanian, spoke on how enlightened the Kiwanians were to meet with the Rotarians. His was an "illustrated lecture, as unbeknowing to him a large thermometer was placed behind him on the face of which were the words, beginning at the bottom, "rotten," "poor," "fair," "good" "bull," "super-bull" and as he spoke the "mercury" in the thermometer was caused to rise or fall according to what he was saying. It caused shouts of laughter when Ray became very eloquent for the thermometer to rise to "bull" or "super-bull."

In the attendance drawing Dr. E. O. Nichols won the prize, after he and five other members had taken part in a toy balloon blowing contest. A committee of four from each club was upon motion ordered appointed to join similar committees from the commercial clubs of the city to at all times work on plans for the upbuilding of Plainview, this being at the suggestion of Judge Kinder in his speech.

New Plains Booster Magazine

JOHNSON GETS 13 MONTHS

JURY REDUCES ASSAULT TO RAPE FROM FELONY TO MISDEMEANOR

The jury in the Tom Johnson case, tried last week for assault to rape a young lady, brought in a verdict yesterday afternoon, reducing the crime to aggravated assault, and assessed his punishment at thirteen months in the county jail. At the first trial a year ago he was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary, but got a reversal by the higher court.

The case was given to the jury late Saturday night, and several times the jury announced it was hopelessly hung, but after being brought before the judge he admonished them to get together if possible and they did later. It is said that some of the jurors wanted to give Johnson a very heavy sentence, one as much as fifty years. It is said he will appeal this case, also.

Yesterday the case of Joe Flack, a local youth now twenty-one years, charged with having stolen a Stephens car from the Perry Motor Co. the night of Dec. 31, 1920, and driven it to El Paso, was tried, and this morning the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Today the case of Slim Blanton, a negro porter at the Welch barber shop, charged with bootlegging, is on trial.

The case of E. E. Terry vs. W. J. Dunaway, a civil suit, for the possession of the Terry child, will be called for trial tomorrow. Terry is the son-in-law of Dunaway, and the child's mother died recently.

We sometimes think that instead of making it easier for people to borrow money, congress should make it a penitentiary offense to do so.

The action of the Evangelical Ministers' Association of Atlanta in resolving not to perform a marriage ceremony for any person who had a husband or wife living, unless divorced for the one Biblical reason, is a start in the right direction.

While we believe an agricultural agent for Hale county would be a good investment, we do not favor the way his salary would likely be financed—$1,600 from the federal and state governments, and $1,000 from the county. All of his salary should be paid by the county.

The Japs may be heathens and cannot be trusted, but the fact remains that, in compliance with her promise, she a few days ago restored the Shantung territory to China. This is more than England or France or other European country has even done with any seized territory. Japan promptly ratified the Washington naval limitation treaty, but so far France nor Italy has done so. Give the Japs their dues, even if they are considered little devils.

Speaking of war debts, Great Britain has followed the example of the United States and released its claim on China for the $50,000,000 still due on the Boxer indemnity, a condition being that the amount be used for the education of promising Chinese students. Some years ago Uncle Sam gave up 11,000,000 from the same fund on the same condition. Waving a claim that is difficult to collect is one way of showing national generosity.

If Uncle Sam was as insistent on France and the other allies paying him the debts which are long past due as France is upon Germany, what a roar would go up from the French. Germany has paid a part of the reparations debts to France and Belgium, but if France has paid Uncle Sam even a dollar on interest or principle, we have never heard of it. France is more interesting in wrecking Germany than in collecting the indebtedness. France is going to bring on another big war and Uncle Sam is going to keep herself out of the mess.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers some time ago established a bank in Cleveland, Ohio, and it has proven such a success that they have bought an interest in a leading New York trust company in order to have a correspondent in the metropolis. This puts the union engineers in the "capital class", and at enmity with the radical element of organized labor. Among the directors of the New York trust company are Chas. M. Schwab and T. Coleman Dupont, the great industrial captains; and association of them and the leaders of the engineers will likely give each side a better understanding of the other's problems and thus make for industrial peace. The capitalist is a laborer who has saved his money and invested it properly.

Scientists who have been poking around the city of Luxor, Egypt, discovered the tomb of the late King Tutankhamen, who passed away, surrounded by a large circle of friends and relatives, in the year 1350 B. C., even before some of the present-day taxicabs were built. In his tomb were found gold trophies worth $12,000,000 in present-day American money. The old king also had buried with him a fine chariot in which he expected to ride down the road to eternity. His plate and jewels he had buried with him. The only thing about these great riches which is worth mentioning is the fact that King Tutankhamen, like everybody else, found that he could not take them with him. The moral is strong for a good many people of today, who seem to think they can pull that little trick at the last moment.

DEMOCRACY

A majority of people are not mentally—even if physically—capable of making a good living. They are not capable of furnishing with their own hands a sufficient quantity of goods this world needs to exchange their unaided product for goods they need. The average workman is more interested in a steady job than advancement. Scarcely more than 5 per cent though they desire more money, have the willingness to accept additional responsibility and work which go with the higher places.—Henry Ford, in McClure's.

It's the songs we sing, and the smiles we wear, that makes the sunshine everywhere.

SILVERTON

Jan. 26.—J. W. Kent and Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Brown of the J-A ranch were in Silvertown Wednesday. Incidentally they left with Sheriff Garrison, a little souvenir in the shape of a check for Briscoe county taxes, the check amounted to $20,864.07. This amount covers only a portion of the company's holdings which also lay in several of the adjoining counties.

On Monday the county commissioners inspected and accepted the bridge across Red river northeast of Silvertown, also the Battle Creek bridge. The Red river bridge is 1697 feet in length and the one across Battle creek something over 300 feet. Both these structures were erected by Austin Bros. at a cost of something over $21,000. The funds being derived from road bond fund in district No. 8.

The commissioners' court is in receipt of advice from the McClung Cons. Co., the successful bidders of the Federal Aid road across Briscoe county to the effect that the office of the Federal engineer in Fort Worth turned the proposition down on the grounds that no appropriation was available for this project. There seems to be a difference of opinion between the state and federal departments on this point, however some hopes are still held that the government aid will be granted. The matter has been taken up with Congressman Jones and it is hoped that he will succeed in getting the tangle straightened out.

A deal was closed the fore part of the week by which Earl Cowart disposed of the Silvertown Milling Co. plant to Perry Fort. The consideration is reported to have been $7,000 and includes Mr. Cowart's residence here. Mr. Cowart took over the Fort farm four miles northeast of the city in the transaction. Mr. Fort has already moved into the Cowart residence. Mr. Cowart stated yesterday that he would move to Quitaque at once where he will be associated with the Jackson Collier bank as cashier.—Star.

A Bad Bunch

Kiwanian—We certainly have the rottenest set of bankers in the land in our town. They ruined good plowhands and trap-drummers when they became bankers.

Rotarian—You can't get any argument out of me on that. They wouldn't let me have a cent, either.

CHANGES IN 110 YEARS

MANY IMPORTANT EVENTS OCCURRED IN 1813, WHEN RUSSELL WAS BORN

His 110 birthday will be celebrated April 12 by Joseph Allen Russell, at his home in Lampasas, Texas. It must bewilder him as he thinks back and contemplates the changes he has lived through.

In 1813 the year of Russell's birth, America was rather a dull place to live, excepting for exciting war news. The war with Great Britain continued though rather sporadically. Perry won his naval victory on Lake Erie. Meantime, the British blockade of our coast ports was drawn tighter.

No transportation of goods for export was permitted, except by special presidential permit.

Creek Indians were on the warpath in the South. The national government's expenses during the year totaled $39,190,520. This figure, considered terrific in those days, created much opposition to continuance of the war with Britain.

It was a big event for people of 1813 when they got, sandwiched between their war news, the announcement that the first ferry boat had begun making trips between Brooklyn and New York.

The public in 1813 objected strenuously to a special war tax of $2 to $20 apiece on carriages, which reminds you of modern auto taxes.

Maybe, after all, there were lots of interesting events in 1813 that weren't recorded because there were so few newspapers. Even Boston had no daily paper until 1813.

In 1823, when Russell was 10 years old, events were more interesting. New Hampshire had become a great manufacturing state, with 28 cotton factories, 20 iron mills and 22 distilleries—which many wets will consider about the right proportion.

Liquor seemed to keep great minds busy in 1823. Thomas Eubank inventing a process of plating lead pipes with tin, for "stills."

Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati, in 1823 began the manufacture of wine from muscated grapes.

During the year, Commodore Porter led a naval force against the West Indian pirates and dispersed them. The public cheered, but a more important event was the setting up and starting of the first American steam-power printing press by Benthuyson, Albany, (N. Y.) printer.

Congress in 1823 made its first venture in railroad legislation, incorporating a company to build a railroad from Philadelphia to Columbia, Pa. This was considered decidedly less important than the completion of the Champlain Canal, connecting Hudson river with Lake Champlain.

Yes, Joe Russell has lived through tremendous changes. He saw a backward America develop into the richest and most powerful nation in all history.

It makes you wonder whether you also will not see equally great changes, like he, live to 110. Life seems startling, magical, today. And, yet our marvels of 1923 will be antiquated before the century is run, and he laughed at as old-fashioned by the people of the 2000.

To the Business Men

General sales tax bill and state income tax bill have been introduced at this legislature. Through co-operation of the many organized Retail Merchants' Associations of Texas, we are insisting that our representative and senator oppose such bill, as an additional tax would be detrimental to the public in general. "You business men back your representative and senator by telegrams and letters as opinions from home count more than many of you think."

We insist that you urge passage of the itinerant merchant bill which has been introduced, such bill having been reported favorably by the house committee.—Retail Merchants' Association.

Unloading Cotton Oil Mills

It is said that West Texas is being flooded with schemes for the erection of cotton oil mills. This is said to have come about by the fact that the boll weevil is taking such a heavy toll of the country in North and East Texas that many of the oil mills down there have gone broke, or on account of the shortage of seed there are too many of them.

The plan of the promoters is to secure an option on one of these mills and then start west for the purpose of unloading on some town that wants an oil mill. He goes into the town and offers to put in a mill provided the citizens will put up half of the expense. But in making this expense he generally places his mill at about two or three times what it really cost him. After the mill is erected in its new location and he owns a half interest he sells out to some man at a big discount and the mill will be left without a head unless the new buyer can persuade the other stockholders to turn it over to him.

Some seven or eight of these schemes have been sent to Childress, but so far no nibble.—Childress Index

Vision and work are two great success ingredients. Vision to know what you are trying to accomplish, and work to accomplish the purpose.

Baylor Club Gives Shower For Bride and Groom

Friday evening, Jan. 12th, at their home on Seventh street, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pierce entertained the Baylor club with a kitchen shower honoring Mr. and Mrs. Warren Clement.

After several contests, the guests were given the opportunity to write advice to the bride and groom, and Mrs. Clement was given a lovely hand painted book in which to preserve the advice of her friends.

At this point Z. T. Huff, impersonating "Aunt Jemima," entered and presented Mrs. Clement with a basket filled with every contrivance which might please a housewife.

Following the unpacking of the basket, the guests were ushered into the dining room which was beautifully decorated with tulle streamers, smilax, and lavender sweet peas as a background for an exquisitely decorated wedding cake. After toasts to the bride and groom and those who were not so fortunate were given by Mrs. Knohuizen, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Francis, Mr. Knohuizen and Mr. Sparks, the wedding cake was cut and served with delicious ice cream as a fitting close to one of the most delightful events in the history of the club.—Contributed.

Marriage A La Mode

A southeast Russian bride calls on all the villagers on her wedding eve and receives from them a small present.

On her return home her hair is cut off and henceforth, when she appears in public, she must wear the platok or turban, of wool or linen, rolled about her head.

This is the distinction between the married and unmarried.

The Girl Who Understands Money

Make the Least Expensive Wife

A woman banker has started a crusade to teach the daughters of well-to-do parents how to keep a budget so that they may learn how to spend their money wisely and well, instead of wasting it.

She urges every father not only to make his girls an allowance, but to see that they live within it, because that is the only possible way of instilling a sense of financial responsibility and habits of thrift into the youthful feminine mind.

Let us hope that a few fathers will listen to the good advice given by this experienced woman, for there is no other crime under the sun greater than that which parents commit in raising up their daughters in utter ignorance of the value of money and how to handle it.

No one is so ignorant as not to know that the prosperity and well-being of a family depend upon the financial sagacity of the wife, because the woman is the disbursing member of the household. Unless a man is a perfect wizard at money making he can achieve no head way against an extravagant wife.

No one is so foolish as not to realize that money is far more necessary to a woman's happiness than it is to a man's. The creature comforts mean more to her. She is less able than man to face hardships. For the woman who has been raised softly, who has had dainty food and beautiful clothes and lovely surroundings all her life, to have all of these things torn from her, and to be plunged into the sordidness of poverty, is never less than the bitterest of tragedies to her.

No one is so stupid as not to know the helplessness of women who have been trained to no gainful profession, and who find themselves without money. It is women such as these who sell their souls for themselves without money, and without the ability to make money. It is women such as these who sell their souls for bread on the streets or at the marriage altar.

Every one knows these commonplace facts, and yet despite this knowledge and the further knowledge that the only way to keep money is to learn how to manage it, fathers and mothers let their daughters grow up with no more idea of the value of a dollar than they have of Einstein's theory of relativity.

It seems to be assumed, in the first place, that the girl hasn't enough intelligence to handle any money, which isn't true, for the girls who earn their own money are generally the shrewdest of financiers, and get a hundred cents out of every dollar. And in the second place it seems to be fatuously believed that when a woman needs to understand about how to manage money she will be miraculously inspired with financial wisdom. This doesn't happen, as is proved by the wastefulness of young wives and the number of women who lose the fortunes they inherit.

Nevertheless, parents make no effort to teach their daughters to be money wise. Mother buys their clothes. Father lets them run up extravagant bills, and the girls never come to actual grips with the purchasing power of a dollar, or find out by experience that if you have spent it for one thing you haven't got it to spend for another.

The first financial responsibility that the majority of girls have comes to them with matrimony. When they set up housekeeping they have their initial experience in handling money. They cut their financial teeth on their husband's salary, and it is pretty hard on poor husbands.

The bride doesn't mean to be extravagant. She doesn't intend to waste the money for which her husband works so hard, but she simply has no idea of value. She doesn't know how to budget her expenses, and she gets swamped by the bills of the butcher and baker and candlestick maker.

Husband finds that matrimony is ten times as expensive a luxury as he expected it to be, and far more than he can afford. He complains of the high cost of living and loving, and there are tears and bickering, and heart burnings and disillusion on both sides. All of which could have been prevented if the young wife had been taught how to manage her end of the matrimonial partnership.

There is no business man who does not have a procession of forlorn, middle-aged women coming to his office asking him for work telling him to tell them how untrained women can make a living. These women's fathers and husbands left them comfortable fortunes, but they never took the trouble to teach the women how to manage money, and they spent it, or lost it through foolish investments, or were cheated out of it.

They are the women who cannot distinguish between capital and income and gayly spend until the last is gone. They are the women who think that real financing consists in selling a government bond and putting the money into a wildcat stock that promises to pay 20 per cent. They are the women who will lend money without security to the deacon in their church because he prays so beautifully at Wednesday night prayer meeting.

Do you think you are giving your young man a fair deal by letting him have to pay for your daughter's education in how to handle money? Do you think you are giving the girl herself a fair deal in leaving her to be the victim of her own ignorance of money matters?

Consider that, father.—Dorothy Dix.

Go down to a furniture store and see what it would cost you to replace your household furnishings.

The dresser for which you paid $30.00 would now cost you $75.00, and so on through the list—the furniture you bought five years ago has at least doubled in value.

Have you doubled your insurance?

If not, and you should have a fire, your insurance money would replace less than half of your household goods.

She has written the following article relative to the work and aims of the organization:

Just a few words to every one on the Staked Plains of Texas, who is interested in the raising of turkeys. The Staked Plains Turkey Growers' Association, which was organized Dec. 16, 1922 in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in Plainview, is your organization and you should be just as interested and give your support and co-operation as the local farmers in Hale county. (Some your neighbors) that are trying to make this a great success. This has not been financed nor fostered by any outsider. But was worked out by those who have been elected officers of this association. There are no paid officers; each one is working for the good of his fellowman and is interested in the same purpose. The raising of better turkeys and finding the best market possible for the turkeys grown by the members of the association.

The association is not in market to buy your turkeys—"get that into your mind"—but to help you as a member to find buyers for your turkeys at the market time, which is Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Also remember the association does not handle a single turkey that does not belong to its members. The membership fee is only one dollar and only one member in each family as asked to sign the agreement.

The secretary has written to Austin for a charter and has letters from Chas. E. Banghauan, commissioner; W. W. Sanders, chief clerk, wanting to congratulate the people of this country for undertaking this most laudible piece of work, and assured us that the department stands ready to assist in every way possible, and further assured us that when the turkey selling season comes will devote considerable time to this work and heartily commend your efforts in this connection.

Now what more could you or I ask? Turkey raisers, it's time for you to wake up to the fact. This association has been organized and we incorporate under the state laws.

I, as a member of this association promise to give an 18 months old Giant Bronze Turkey tom, valued at $50 to the member that raises the largest flock of turkeys in the year 1923, to sign up not later than 15th of May.

Plan to be with us at next meeting, tell your neighbor to come or bring them with you and hear and learn more what we have planned to do. Meeting place court house, Plainview 2:30 o'clock first Monday in February.—Mrs. Florence Scaling, secretary-treasurer.

It is said that a local dentist has composed a new song entitled, "I will put a crown on your tooth and make you a king." Is that all it takes to achieve royalty?

Every drunken man who is arrested in Des Moines will have his picture taken, according to an announcement of the chief of police. When the prisoner has become sober again he will be presented with a picture of himself so he may know how he looked when arrested.

Service is that uncharted and dynamic development of modern times, that makes your goods worth buying, and worth having.

I wish, I can, I will—these are the three trumpet notes to victory.

DETROIT.—If the men responsible for the "come back" of Chevrolet ever fully loosen their tongues the public will be treated to a most romantic story. Here is a company which got so badly in the doldrums that it virtually breathed through the financial oxygen tank of its parent General Motors, and in a year has become one of the corporation's most valuable units.

Production comparisons give perhaps the best picture of what has happened. In nine months of 1922 Chevrolet turned out 176,711 cars, against 45,000 for corresponding nine months of 1921. Value for nine months of 1922 is $89,620,489, compared with $52,603,602 for the entire year 1921. Reduced to basis of average monthly sales, the 1922 rate is $9,950,000, against $4,400,000. Estimate for all of 1922 is 249,000 cars.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE MODEL

Chevrolet began in July, 1921, to build a better product. New front-axle bearings were adopted, a better rear axle made and an improved clutch developed. Every part of the car which had given trouble was redesigned. Some idea of how thoroughly the "490" Chevrolet has been remade may be gained from the engineer's report. In body and top there were 22 changes, in the front axle and wheels 10, in the rear axle six, in the transmission seven, in the motor 10, and in the chassis 13 changes. Total of changes between July 1, 1921, and July 1, 1922, was 68.

Not satisfied with these, Chevrolet made 26 additional changes in the 1923 model, which is now having such a remarkable run of sales. Officials who have been responsible for the improvements modestly say: "We have only followed the dictates of the public. Building a popular low-priced car is now beyond the poker and circus stage. People have not time to stop at any side-show—they want to go right into the big tent." The official who made this remark is probably the least known in public press among motor wizards. A year from now, when Chevrolet reaches the 2,000 daily-production goal, he may be prevailed upon to permit connection of his name with the Chevrolet achievement, but at present he threatens to throw the Wall Street Journal's correspondent out of the window of his office, on the sixth floor, General Motors Building, if he is quoted.

ECONOMIES IN OPERATION

An illustration of operating economies is in the changed method of handling closed cars. Formerly bodies were built by an outside company, shipped to Flint, and there attached to chassis. Four or five in a freight car was the maximum. Now the company buys bodies from its associated Fisher Body Company knocked down. It ships more than fifty in a freight car to the assembling plants, with an obvious freight and time saving. Furthermore, the labor cost of assembling is deferred until the car is much nearer delivery to purchaser.

Chevrolet in this respect is closely following the Ford assembly idea, but possibly going one better in the matter of closed bodies. To economize further on closed-body manufacture and delivery, Fisher Body Company eventually will have a body plant alongside of each Chevrolet assembling plant. In Flint Chevrolet has its engine plant and assembling plant, and Fisher is building a body plant exclusively for Chevrolet bodies on adjoining ground.

How closely Fisher is expanding to accommodate Chevrolet may be seen in a list of Chevrolet assembling plants placed along side Fisher body plants completed or in process outside of Detroit and Cleveland:

Chevrolet	Fisher
Flint (engine, assembly)	Chevrolet body plant
St. Louis (assembly)	Chevrolet body plant
Oakland (assembly)	Chevrolet body plant
Janesville (assembly)	Chevrolet body plant
Cincinnati (assembly)	Chevrolet body plant
Buffalo (assembly)	Chevrolet body plant
Tarrytown (assembly, under construction);
Toledo (transmission);
Detroit (axles).

Chevrolet has 14 plants in operation, and as its business expands several additional branches in other strategically located cities will be built.

THE OUTSTANDING FIGURES

Three men stand out prominently in the Chevrolet resuscitation, though each denies his part. They are Pierre S. du Pont, Colin Campbell and W. S. Knudsen. Mr. du Pont, though not generally known, has been and is acting head of Chevrolet. He is credited by his associates with having conceived the resuscitation plans. He has fathered the movement, and the others, under his generalship, have done the building in their respective fields.

Mr. Campbell, vice president in charge of sales, began July 1, 1921, one of the most intensive missionary campaigns in the history of merchandising. He traveled 10 months over 48 states, holding meetings, appointing distributors and agents, removing certain agents and installing sub-agents. In the 14 months between July 1, 1921, and November 1, 1922, the number of Chevrolet dealers and parts depots increased from 3,200 to 12,080, and sales jumped 250 per cent. Asked about the feat, his sole comment is: "I knew the du Ponts sold nothing but the highest class merchandise and that Chevrolet was going to be a winner under Mr. du Pont's guidance. All I did was to impart the faith I had to dealers."

When Mr. Knudsen, vice president in charge of production, was asked about his part in reviving Chevrolet, he said: "The public is quick to recognize a good car nowadays. All I did was jump in here and say, 'Come on, boys.'"

London Daily Mail prints the first photograph sent by wireless in England. The Mail is quite excited. It calls the photo a "great scientific achievement, after 50 years of experiments." A correct description. It is close to the day when pictures of the most important events will be wireless and printed in every newspaper of importance. You cannot get much closer to the supernatural, this side of the grave, than sending a photo by radio. However, we live in an age of magic, wonders crowding wonders, and the average comment will be: "Wonder why some one hasn't been able to do it before." The world is learning that nothing is impossible.
