REVIVAL DOING GREAT WORK

BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSE FOR REVIVAL—BOB JONES BOOSTER FOR PLAINVIEW

All but two or three business houses in Plainview have signed up to close four mornings a week from ten to eleven o'clock so that all can take advantage of hearing Bob Jones at the city auditorium. Mr. Jones is giving wonderful addresses each morning. This week he has been speaking on the First epistle of First John taking a chapter each morning. The expository preaching of Mr. Jones in these morning meetings makes this epistle of First John one of the most wonderful books in the Bible. Wednesday morning, Mr. Jones spoke on the Christian's relation to the world; Thursday morning on the Christian's relation to the Second Coming of Christ. Friday morning he spoke on the Christian's relation to false religious systems. The great Bible conferences of the United States would be fortunate to have Mr. Jones deliver these addresses on First John. And he is in demand by the Bible conference at Winona Lake, Indiana, Chautauqua Lake, N. Y., and the great Bible conferences at Biloxi, Miss., where he goes this summer.

The night services are well attended, and all who have heard Mr. Jones realize what a wonderful preacher he is. He is the greatest evangelist that has ever been in this part of the country. In spite of the rain and mud the people somehow get out to the meetings, which shows the wonderful grip the revival has on the hearts of the people of Plainview.

High school night was a great success. Hundreds of the high school pupils met at the Presbyterian church and came in a body to the auditorium. Seats had been reserved for them. The pupils had decorated the auditorium in the school colors, and thrilled the audience with their songs and yells. Many responded to the invitation of the evangelist.

Thursday night Central school turned out almost 100 per cent. They had their songs, and a most unique yell. This was a great service. They certainly can sing.

The music at the auditorium continues to be an attractive feature. In addition to the solos of Mr. Loren Jones, he plans attractive programs. Wednesday night Mrs. Knoohuizen sang, "My Father Watches Over Me." She has a beautiful soprano voice, and thrilled the large audience with the message of this song. Every night is a special night at the auditorium.

Next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock Mr. Bob Jones will speak to men and boys over fourteen years of age on the subject, "The Sins of Men." This address has been pronounced throughout the country as the greatest address ever given to men.

At the same hour in the Presbyterian church Mrs. Loren Jones will speak to women and girls over fourteen years of age. If Plainview is like other towns the church will not begin to accommodate the crowds that will want to hear Mrs. Jones.

Monday night will be Sunday school night. The Baptist Sunday school will meet at the Third National Bank corner and form east. The Methodist Sunday school will meet at the First National Bank corner and form west. The Presbyterian Sunday school will form at the Ware hotel corner and form west. The Nazarene Sunday school will form at the Ware hotel corner and form south. The First Christian Sunday school will meet at the First National Bank corner and form north. The Boys' Band will furnish the music and the Sunday schools will fall in line and march to the auditorium where they will have reserved seats. This will be one of the greatest nights of the campaign.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon Mr. Bob Jones gave a really great address in just twelve minutes. When he found that Plainview wanted to go to Amarillo Wednesday and really would try to make it a big day he offered to call his meetings Wednesday so that everybody could boost for a great delegation to go to Amarillo. This magnanimous offer on the part of Mr. Jones is greatly appreciated by every citizen of Plainview. And it shows that Mr. Bob Jones is a booster not only for spiritual things but is a booster for everything that will make a better Plainview.

Additional Club Members

We overlooked the West Side "42" club in the list of club members printed last week. They are as follows: Messrs. and Mmes. R. A. Underwood, E. C. Lamb, L. S. Harkley, G. C. Keck, J. D. Steakley, Marvin Garner, C. D. Wofford, L. C. Wayland, J. B. Klinger, Elmer Sansom, Miss Lula Blair Neal.

COW, HOG, HEN TRAIN HERE

The Santa Fe railway, Texas A. & M. College Demonstration train, featuring the cow, sow and hen as important details in a well organized farming system, covered the Plainview-Floydada section Wednesday, visiting Abernathy, Hale Center, Lockney, Floydada and Plainview.

This was the fifth day on the Plains of Northwest Texas and maintained its record for attendance and interest in the subjects discussed by the lecturers from the college and in the excellent well selected exhibits of dairy cattle, hogs and poultry. At every stop the farmers have crowded to the train to hear and see. The business men have given the train a hearty welcome, in many localities closing all the business houses during the meetings. The school children have come to the train in a body and have shown marked interest in every thing.

"This is the twenty-second demonstration train the Santa Fe railway has run in recent years," said J. E. Jarrell, manager of the Agricultural Development Department of the road. At no time has there been such turnout of people and such strong interest in the lectures and the exhibits. The Santa Fe railway is highly gratified over the reception given this train.

In opening the meetings J. D. Tinsley, agricultural agent of the Santa Fe railway in charge of the speaking program, called attention to the efficient work the A. & M. college is doing to help the farmers to increase production. The Santa Fe railway believes in the college and is glad to bring the college to the farmer's door by this train.

"We urge more attention to the milk cow, the hog, and poultry at this time," said Mr. Tinsley, "because we find that the farmer who milked a few cows, had some hogs, and kept a few hens, came through the depression in better shape than the one crop farmer. We do not urge the farmer to stop growing the crops he is now raising but we do ask that he mix enough cows, have hogs and chickens to the extent at least to take care of the family living expenses."

Geo. P. Grout, head of the Dairy Department of the college, urged the improvement of the farm herd by the use of good sires. He explained how this may be accomplished surely and quickly. He elevates the milk cow or the farm is important not only to supply the table, but as a source of reliable income. "Raise better cows from the present herd by the use of high class sires and feed them well for an all year income," says Mr. Grout.

D. W. Williams, professor Animal Husbandry in charge of swine, says the hog is rightly classed as the "farmer's mortgage lifter" when given half a chance. He furnishes a most satisfactory package in which to market farm feed, particularly grain feed. Mr. Williams urged the growing of the larger type of hogs because they mature early and may be ready to market in six months.

Mr. E. O. Edson, poultry husbandman of the Extension Service of the college, says that good birds, given proper feed and care will return a handsome profit. The farm flocks may be readily improved by the use of good male birds of known egg strain. Poor layers should be culled. The little hen is the farmer's friend and with fair treatment fills the egg basket.

The train carries three cars of exhibits that are regarded as the finest ever shown on a railway train. There are Holstein, Jersey, Guernsey, and Ayrshire dairy cattle, including the big Holstein bull, weighing 2,700 pounds, a Holstein cow with a record of 26,000 pounds of milk and a net profit of one thousand dollars in one year; a Jersey cow with a record of 10,000 pounds of milk and six hundred pounds of butter in a year; and outstanding individuals of the Guernseys and Ayrshires. The hog car and the poultry car carried fine exhibits of standard hogs and poultry.

The attendance has been a record breaker at every stop. At the close Wednesday night at Clovis, the train had made sixty-five stops with a total attendance of 68,956, an average attendance of 1,060 at each meeting. The turnout in the Plainview-Floydada section in spite of the heavy rains the day before with muddy roads and cold cloudy weather was surprisingly large.

Not only has the attendance been large, but the interest in the lectures and the exhibits has been keen. This has been especially true on the Plains of Northwest Texas. The school children have flocked to the meetings and because of their interest in every feature, after meetings are usually held for them after they have passed through the train.

BAND WILL HEAD BOOSTERS IN TRIUMPHANT MARCH TO JUBILEE

Panhandle-Plains Jubilee Will Be Attended by Large Delegation From Plainview and Surrounding Territory—Make Your Plans To Be One of The Party.

R. H. KNOOHUIZEN WILL BE FIELD MARSHAL—BIG CROWD TO GO ON TRAIN

A special train has been secured to bear the Plainview people and people from surrounding territory to the Panhandle-Plains Tech. College Jubilee in Amarillo, Wednesday, April 4, and a capacity crowd is expected to go. The Plainview Boys' Band will head the delegation, and R. H. Knoohuizen has been selected as field marshal, to see that all things happen just at the right time and place. Mr. Knoohuizen will see to it that Plainview is "up to snuff" in every way on this occasion. He will show Amarillo and the Northwest Texans just what constitutes a real live town, and will have at his service the Boys' Band, the Minstrel, who will pull off all kinds of stunts, and the best bunch of Plainview boosters that have ever assembled to tell the people of the country of the "Rainbow's End."

A rate of $5.38 for the round trip has been announced by John Lucas, Santa Fe agent. Arrangements have been made for the train and tickets will be placed on sale up town.

Matt Cram, Lynn Pace and W. J. Klinger are assembling a bunch of real live clowns and will handle the amusement part of the program as far as "stunts" are concerned.

W. A. Nash, E. W. Mathes and Meade F. Griffin will see to it that all the people of the surrounding territory are invited to join Plainview for the big occasion.

Mrs. A. L. Putnam has charge of the ladies' committee.

The Chamber of Commerce Boys' Band of forty-two pieces, the pride of Plainview, will lead the big Plainview delegation in a parade at Amarillo and will furnish music during the day. Several other entertainment features will be included in the delegation. Plainview has hurled a challenge to all other towns for the largest and most enthusiastic delegation at the meeting and her citizens are going to back the challenge.

The exact time for the departure of the train from Plainview and the return from Amarillo have not been announced. It is probable that the train will leave Plainview at seven on Wednesday morning and arrive in Amarillo about nine, as no stops will be made along the way. It is also probable that the train will remain in Amarillo long enough to allow Plainviewians to attend the "Doughboy," the big feature play being presented by the American Legion in Amarillo's new auditorium. The details of this nature will be announced within a few days. Tickets for the trip will also be on sale at the Lamb Drug Co.

Other Towns Going Strong

Numerous towns have accepted Plainview's challenge and are going to make every effort to have a bigger delegation than Plainview. Lubbock has chartered a special train and is going to the rally with a big crowd. Memphis, the first town to accept the challenge, is going to close all business houses, the schools and take every man, woman and child in the city to the big affair. The Canyon Normal and the public schools of Canyon will likewise close so that the entire population of Canyon may attend. Special trains have been chartered by Childress, Memphis, Canadian, Hereford and probably other towns.

Morning for General Hilarity

The entire morning of the fourth will be given over to the individual delegations to do whatever they care to do to have a good time. There will be continual parades, band concerts, stunts, stump speeches, and general celebrating during the morning. Shortly afternoon, all delegations will take part in a monster parade to Amarillo's new auditorium where speakers of state and national prominence will be heard. All phases of Texas Technological college will be discussed at this time.

Banquet and Doughboy at Night

A big banquet in the Amarillo hotel and the presentation of the "Doughboy" in the auditorium will be the night features. Five hundred people and nearly a hundred horses will be used in the "Doughboy." It will be by far the largest play ever presented in West Texas.

Amarillo Making Great Preparation

The citizens of Amarillo have practically suspended business to make the final preparations for the rally. The streets and business houses will be covered with gaudy colors and patriotic emblems. There will be delegations to meet every train and help the visitors have the best time possible. Each town will have its headquarters where its people may meet from time to time on the day. In fact, Amarillo is overlooking nothing to make this big meeting a success.

VISITORS ARE ENTERTAINED

C. B. OF D. HAD A. & M. AND SANTA FE DEMONSTRATORS AS GUESTS

The Board of City Development entertained the A. & M. and Santa Fe Seakers and officials at the Ware hotel Wednesday evening with a banquet. The train arrived in Plainview a few minutes before 7 o'clock, and those in charge were immediately taken to the Ware hotel for supper, where they were greeted by representative citizens of the town and the Board of City Development.

Frank Butler was toastmaster and presided over the affair.

Rev. H. E. Bullock gave the invocation.

A. E. Boyd, was introduced and made the welcome address. Jake Burkett sang the Spanish Love Song with Mrs. Guy Jacob as accompanist; and answered an encore with a negro song.

Ross Wingo, with Mrs. Jacob as accompanist sang, "Road Looking Forward". And Messrs. Burkett and Wingo sang a duet, "The Hunting Song."

J. F. Jarrell, manager of the Agricultural Department of the Santa Fe was introduced, and spoke. He said he voted for Plainview for the Technological college, and thought it the proper place for it. He said the demonstration train had received larger crowds and the people showed more enthusiasm than the people of Kansas had to a similar train.

Geo. P. Grout, head of the Dairy department of the A. & M. college was the next speaker. He stated that the demonstration train was an educational institution on wheels. He praised soil and country around Plainview in general, and said many complimentary things about Plainview.

The assembly then sang "Santa Fe's Got Style."

J. W. Ridgeway, of the Extension department of the Mistletoe Creamery was next called on, and said "He had never had more co-operation in his line than he had here." He told of the great work the Santa Fe was doing for this section.

D. W. Williams, professor of Animal husbandry of A. & M., talked about the hog industry, telling of the decrease the last few years and the reason. He advised the raising of more hogs on the farm but in smaller quantities, saying every farm should have a few hogs, but he was opposed to a farm having nothing but hogs, as the hog was like cotton and wheat, if you raised only the one crop you would meet with failure. His plan is to have a few hogs and raise sufficient feed to care for them, and thereby make the hog industry a paying proposition.

E. O. Eston, poultry husbandman of A. & M., made a talk on poultry raising.

R. W. Person, state club agent of Extension Service, talked on Boys' and Girls' clubs, and stated he would be here for several days, for the purpose of organizing clubs.

H. M. Bainer, Director Southwest Wheat Improvement Association, talked on more wheat and better wheat per acre, stressing a better quality of wheat, and advised farmers to diversify, but to plant seed that will turn out more and better wheat per acre. He said it was his opinion that there was not a more suitable place for the Technological college than here at Plainview, where anything can be raised. Mr. Underwood asked that Mr. Bainer be presented to the locating committee of the Technological college.

T. B. Gallaher, General Freight and Passenger Agent, said he was no speech maker, and passed the buck to Mr. Lehman, General Manager of the Western lines of the Santa Fe. Mr. Lehman stated Mr. Gallaher was the viceroy of the Santa Fe people, but that he had scratched his hand at Lockney and could not talk.

Mr. Lehman complimented the country and predicted it would be the best country in the whole United States.

The banquet was adjourned to go to the passenger station to look over the Demonstration train.

Re-elected Superintendent

Floydada, March 25.—J. N. Johnston was re-elected superintendent of the Floydada public school at a meeting of the school board. Mr. Johnston has been in Floydada a year, succeeding J. E. Parks, who went from Floydada to Dallas to become superintendent of the school at Buckner Ordnance Home. An election for three trustees whose term of office expires April 15 was called for April 7.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. West, who have been here visiting their daughter, Mrs. R. A. Underwood, have returned to their home at McCurdy, Mo.

GIRL BURNED TO DEATH; AMARILLO

ROSALIND LOGAN DIES THURSDAY MORNING AS RESULT OF BURNS

Amarillo, March 29.—Rosalind Logan, age 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Logan, 308 West Ninth Street, was burned to death Wednesday night when her rope dancing costume caught fire from an open gas stove while she was practicing her specialty for "The Doughboy," a stage play to be held here next week.

The accident occurred about 11 o'clock Wednesday night and Miss Logan died Thursday morning about 5:15 o'clock.

Miss Logan had returned home from the Deandi Theatre, where she had been rehearsing her part, a Hawaiian dance, and had put on her new costume, made of rope, and was practicing her dance when the costume caught fire.

Mrs. Logan, her mother, was in another room and was attracted by the girl's screams. The mother endeavored to smother the flames by wrapping the girl in bed clothing and was severely burned about the hands in her attempts to save her daughter's life.

The attending physician stated that about nine-tenths of the girl's body was burned, with the deepest burns about her face.

The young girl's father, Mark Logan, is in Fort Worth, and a brother, Richard Logan, is at Kosse, Texas. Relatives were notified by long distance telephone Thursday morning and will reach here soon. A sister, Mrs. Sam Albright, of Dalhart, arrived at noon Thursday.

Tom Weaver and Gray Baker, who live in the house next door to the Logan home, were attracted by the screams of Miss Logan and helped to put out the flames.

The body is being held at the Griggs Undertaking Company parlors pending arrival of relatives and completion of funeral arrangements.

KANSAS CITY MEN COMING

Kansas, City, Mo., March 26.—Firms and individuals in Plainview will have an opportunity in April of meeting the business men of this city and discussing at close range questions pertaining to greater industrial and commercial development of the southwestern territory.

Approximately one hundred representatives of Kansas City's big business institutions will visit Plainview on the Thirty-Second Annual Trade Extension Trip of the Chamber of Commerce of Kansas City. The itinerary of this trip takes in many of the best cities and towns in the Kansas City trade territory. In past years there has been a difference of opinion as to the territory that should be covered by the Trade Extension Trip. This year seemingly the business men of Kansas City were all of the same mind as to the territory that should be selected and only one trip was selected, that to the southwest territory through Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

The itinerary to be covered is 2435 miles long and will be made in a special chartered train of thirteen cars. The party will leave Kansas City on the afternoon of April 18, returning to Kansas City after an eight day trip on April 27.

Members of this party are making the trip for the purpose of visiting their many friends in the southwest. President N. N. Dalton, of the Kansas City Chamber, said today. "In other words they are out to meet old friends and make new ones. They want to learn something at first hand of conditions in the territory to be covered, and now Kansas City can co-operate in improving conditions if possible. It will be a means of tightening the bonds of friendship now existing between Kansas City and its trade territory." Mr. Dalton said, "and through this medium we will be able to meet at close range the men that we have been dealing with at long range."

A great many towns have written the Chamber of Commerce and asked to be put on the list of those to be visited, it was announced today, but due to railroad conditions no change in the itinerary can be made.

No expense has been spared to make the trip the most successful ever taken by the Kansas City Chamber. Virtually tons of souvenirs will be distributed particularly among school children in the towns and cities to be visited, both by the Chamber of Commerce and the individual firms represented on the trip. Reports from school superintendents all along the line indicate that the schools will be dismissed during the time of stop in each town.

STABBED WEST IN THE BACK We notice that "technological" is a very heavy term to us Texans. Most of us had never heard of it before the legislature created such a college.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce formerly published a monthly magazine known as "West Texas Today," which was paid for by $1 out of each membership in W. T. C. C., or more than $5,000 a year. About a year ago it killed "West Texas Today," and gave the contract to the Texas Commercial News, published at Sugarland, less than twenty miles from Houston, and since then members of the W. T. C. C. have been receiving that publication, which is clear out of harmony with West and North west Texas on many things.

ABOUT OUR TEXAS SCHOOLS

There are fewer public schools in Texas today than in 1918-19, according to figures compiled by the State Department of Education. The explanation, of course, is the consolidation of schools. In 1918-19 there were 419 consolidated schools; last year there were 757.

Roughly speaking, there are in Texas today 100,000 more students in the elementary grades of our public schools than there were four years ago. High schools show an increase of nearly 40,000 enrollment. Enrollment in the public school system now amounts to 93.4 per cent of the scholastic census, whereas the percentage was 87.4 per cent four years previously.

The amount expended on schools has increased from $21,600,000 to practically $37,000,000 per year within the quadrennium covered by the Department of Education's figures. Of this, the amount raised by local taxation has increased from a little more than $10,100,000 to $15,775,000.

Is for Plainview Second

Dear Mr. Boyd:—I was informed that I had left the impression that I was opposed to locating the W. T. C. C. at Plainview when at the recent meeting at Plainview, that had been called for the purpose of discussing ways and means to draw it, the college to the Plains. At least that was the impression I had received of the purpose of the meeting.

is a better location than Plainview, for that is our secret.

However I want to assure you that I believe that Plainview would be the next best place for the school in West Texas, or for that matter in the state. And I want you to know that Plainview is my choice for a location for the school next to my home town.

Yours for a better understanding, F. W. STRUVE.

I Have Been Told

To the News: I have been told, there is a railroad which runs through the Blue Ridge, that crosses itself.

I heard a man say when he was a school boy, mad dogs were reported in the community, and one morning as he was going to school he saw a dog coming through the woods and up a tree he went; and while up the tree two snakes appeared under the tree and began to fight, they got each other by the tail and began to swallow each other, and directly there was nothing left.

I have been told that if the legislators of an Eastern state, don't quit clipping the school hour and the teachers don't quit trespassing on the school hours, the school children were soon going to meet themselves coming from school as they go to school.

I was told there was an editor of one of the Eastern states, who was a fine booster for his town and community, but he was a terrible knocker on courts, juries, legislators, congressmen, and secret organizations. The man said the editor reminded him a pet sheep that he knew of, which had been trained to butt, and the children had left a pillow in their swing one evening. The sheep came along and butted the pillow and it rebounded and he butted again.

I heard of a young man in olden times, who went to see his girl one Sunday afternoon, and it rained so he could not go home. Just before bed time the gentleman of the house brought out a foot bowl for the young man to wash his feet in, as he had come bare-footed and he got his foot hung in the foot bowl and they had to burst the bowl to get his foot out.

And I have been told of a person, who had a hog that was so poor, he had to be soaked three days in water before he would hold slop.

I don't know whether any of the things above told were true or not. But I believe that Plainview is an ideal place for the Texas Technological college, because of the climate, soil, and water. In these she is excelled by none.—J. B. COLE.

OLD TIMERS PLAN PANHANDLE REUNION

Gathering Will Be Held On the Site Of Old Adobe Walls Battle Ground

Pampa, Texas, March 24.—A move now on foot to hold a general get-together meeting of all the old-timers of the Panhandle country on the site of the old Adobe Walls battleground in the northeastern portion of Hutchinson county recalls the story of one of the most famous and one of the most desperate fights with the Indians ever staged in Texas—a fight in which twenty-eight white men were pitted against nearly 700 redskins in an all-day battle, resulting in the killing of three of the whites and many scores of the Indians.

The present plan is to call this reunion of the old-timers some time this spring when the weather gets warmer. At the same time, the members of the Historical society, founded in this section last year, will get together to mingle with the old-timers and gather as much of the rapidly vanishing data on the early days of the Panhandle as they are able to "dig out."

This re-union will also be connected in a way, with a move now on foot to build a bridge across the Canadian river near Adobe Walls as a part of highway 33-B. Several hundred pioneers and their descendants are expected to be present.

The Adobe Walls Indian fight took place on June 27, 1874. The white men who were attacked were, for the most part, buffalo hunters, freighters, and men who had moved south from Dodge City, Kansas, early in the spring of 1874 in search of hides and meat. Among the more famous of the hunters were Bat Masterson, afterward a famous gunman and still later a news paper reporter in New York City, and Billy Dixon, the famous scout and plainsman, later a scout for General Nelson A. Miles' command in the operations against the Indians in the Southwest.

Other white men who held the Indians at bay in that memorable fight were James Hanrahan, Mike Welch, Hiram Watson, Billy Ogg, James McKinley, Bermuda Carlisle, Fred Leonard, James Campbell, Edward Trevor, Frank Brown, Harry Armitage, Dutch Henry, Billy Tyler, Mike McCabe, Henry Lease, James Longton, George Eddy, Thomas O'Keefe, William Olds, Sam Smith, Andy Johnson, a bartender named Shepherd, a man called French and another known as Old Man Keeler. Our Population On The Jump

THE Geological Congress which met in Canada states that the United States is the world's chief source of coal supply, being accredited a supply of 3,854,000,000 metric tons.

The relative figures show plain as a pikestaff that something is radically wrong not only with our economic system, but with the economic system of the entire world. While Americans were suffering from cold and could not obtain fuel all winter our railroad was busy carrying coal to Canada which has 1,234,000,000,000 of coal under her own soil.

With furnaces about closing and spring buds appearing coal dealers already are warning us that prices next year will be about the same as they are now. True we know—or rather we are advised—there will be no strike, but what does that matter where profits are involved?

The dear old public must pay through the nose just the same.

Now We Are Thinking in Trillions

THE National Bureau of Economic Research shows that on January, 1923, the population of the United States stood at 110,100,000, a gain of approximately four and a half million since the last census was taken.

How puny seem the great cities of America when one considers that a majority of the known population plus one hundred per cent of the unrecorded population lives and finds its being in the villages of 5,000 population and less, and on the farms. What a sleeping giant is this wonderful country America—what a market for the absorption of American manufactures, a market practically untapped.

ABOUT LOCATION TECH. COLLEGE

POSSIBLE TO PUT COLLEGE ONLY 17 MILES OF AUSTIN

By Hamilton Wright, Special Correspondent.

Stamford, March 21.—The part of West Texas west of the 98th meridian and north of the 29th parallel which has been designated as the region in which the Texas Technological College shall be situated, has a population of 1,251,761, according to the 1920 federal census compared with a total of 4,663,228 for the entire state, the research department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce announced today. Within this district there is not an institution of higher learning supported by the state. Two state normals, one at Canyon and the other at Alpine, are the only big educational factors provided at present by state support.

Has Half of Counties

The territory favored for the Texas Tech college contains 127 counties, or practically half of the counties in the state. In area it compares favorably with those great sections of the state where the college cannot be located, but where the state has already built up great educational institutions including Texas University, Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college and Texas Industrial Arts College. The eastern boundary of the West Texas district is less than 40 miles from the center of Texas population as determined by the last census, while the exact geographical center of Texas is well within the defined territory. Moreover, the great population growth of the state is in West Texas, where, according to well-informed census jugglers, the bulk of Texas population will be in the next decade or two.

The demarcation line for the district does not invariably follow the boundaries of some of the counties which are partly included in the territory which is to receive the college. In fact, there are 16 counties portions of which are without and portions within the district defined by the 98th meridian and the 29th parallel. The total population of the portions of these counties within the boundaries of "West Texas" is approximately 96,719. These counties, which have a chance of landing the college, are: Coryell, Travis, Guadalupe, Maverick, Zavalla, Frio, Atascosa, Jack, Parker, Hood, Hays, Wilson, Erath, Hamilton, Lampasas and Burnet.

If It Should Happen

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce research department has discovered that some anomalies could occur if the locating board of the Texas Tech college should so decree. For instance it would be possible for this board legally to locate the Texas Tech college within seventeen miles of the University of Texas, almost within view of the on the high hills west of Austin. If such a situation were decided upon the Texas Tech College would be only 96 miles from the Texas A. & M. College, as the crow flies. Contrary to the common belief that the greatest distance from the Texas A. & M. college at Bryan to a point in Texas is Texline, in the upper Panhandle, the farthest away point anywhere in Texas is La Tuna, in the region of the Rio Grande, above El Paso. That point is approximately 625 miles from Bryan as the crow would fly, while Texline is 578 miles.

How Counties Rank

The most populous county within the territory set aside for the college is Bexar, San Antonio being the principal city with a population, according to the 1920 census, of 202,096. The next ranking county is El Paso, with 101,860; followed by Wichita, with 72,911; Eastland with 58,505. The county with the smallest population, according to the latest census report, is Crane with 37, Cochran being second with 67. These counties probably admit of greater population growth than any other sections of the state in the next decade, since their soil is excellent for agriculture. Retardation in population growth is almost surely due to present lack of transportation.

How Cities Rank
Based on government figures for 1920 cities and towns within the lines of demarcation with 10,000 people and over, some of which are candidates for the new institution are: San Antonio, 161,379; El Paso, 77,543; Wichita Falls, 40,079; Ranger, 16,205; Amarillo, 15,494; Del Rio, 10,589; Abilene, 10,274; San Angelo, 10,050.

Many Towns Candidates
Up to this time 44 West Texas towns are candidates for the college. A few of these probably will withdraw, but the preponderance will remain in the race and submit briefs. The locating board will find it very difficult to find the most logical town for the institution since West Texas is an immense territory, with startling potentialities. The Texas Tech college will be an institution unique in the annals of agricultural development. Insofar as it is known it will cater to the semi-arid section of the Southwest, where probably irrigation will be given a thorough test out in time. Bulletins concerning agricultural achievements in semi-arid country will be much sought after throughout the world, so that in a short time this institution will make a mark in the agricultural limelight that will differentiate it from all other similar institutions.

See Wonderful Future

Heads of agricultural institutions in other states are looking forward with deep interest and pleasure to the founding of this agricultural and technological college. They believe that in five years after its opening not less than 2,500 students will be enrolled. It is believed that for a few years agriculture as applied to semi-arid country will be the motif of research and study, but that as the state enters the industrial realm the technological curriculae will be given an impetus that will advance this institution to the highest in the United States. The establishment of this institution in West Texas is expected to be the forerunner of a number of state agricultural colleges in Western states which have placed their present institutions in the irrigated districts. It is hinted that Western Oklahoma is already preening itself for a West Oklahoma Agricultural College, which may become the Oklahoma Technological College.

Wayland College Choral Club Has Soloists from Plainview Talent

An organization of 100 mixed voices, the Wayland College Choral Club has been rehearsing, since the first week in January, the beautiful cantata, "The Soul Triumphant" by H. R. Shelley for a concert program to be given in the city auditorium Tuesday evening, April 10th.

In the program given last year, with but one or two exceptions, the Choral club used soloists selected from the best voices of the chorus, to sing the principal parts. This year the leading roles in the cantata will be sung by some of Plainview's best, experienced talent, namely Mr. W. F. Clement, tenor; Mrs. R. H. Knoohuizen, soprano; Mrs. W. E. Patty, mezzo-soprano; Mrs. S. W. Smith, soprano and Mr. Sims, baritone.

The work of the Choral club in the singing of this cantata is not without merit and the special numbers sung by the soloists are rendered effectively and musically.

A character of entertainment rarely heard and a genuine musical treat is promised the Plainview public. With the efficient assistance and the generous support of the soloists, the Wayland College Choral Club is putting forth great effort to give the community, without charge, an evening of enjoyment and inspiration in listening to a fountain of beauty in harmony and song.

STUDEBAKER HISTORY, RESOURCES AND POLICY

History

The Studebaker business was established at South Bend, Indiana, in the year of 1852, and has operated continuously for seventy-one years.

For two generations Studebaker was the world's largest manufacturer of horse-drawn vehicles, which business it liquidated in 1919-20. Began experimenting with a "horseless-vehicle" in 1897, and launched into the automobile business in 1902, producing electric, and later in 1904, gasoline propelled vehicles. Incorporated as The Studebaker Corporation in 1911.

Studebaker has been a consistent leader in advancing the standards of automobile design, quality and value. The first six-cylinder motor cast en bloc was made by Studebaker, and cord tires as standard equipment were first adopted on Studebaker cars. First quantity manufacturer to design and produce bodies of the highest grade, completely equipped with fittings of the finest quality, in both open and closed models.

More than 600,000 Studebaker cars, valued at $800,000,000, have been produced and sold, of which 110,000 were produced and sold in 1922.

Studebaker is the world's largest manufacturer of six-cylinder cars.

Financial Resources

The actual net assets employed in Studebaker business amounts to $82,000,000, against which there is no indebtedness.

Studebaker is the second strongest financially of the automobile manufacturers of the world.

Plant Facilities

$41,000,000 is invested in the seven Studebaker plants at South Bend, Detroit, Walkerville, and Chicago, which cover 225 acres and contain 7,100,000 square feet of floor space and have a manufacturing capacity of 150,000 automobiles per annum.

These plants are modern, scientifically equipped, and employ 20,000 people. One-half of the total plant capacity has been provided and developed in the past five years. Research and experimental laboratories employ 125 skilled men, and make 500,000 laboratory tests annually. 12,500 machines used in 500 manufacturing departments. 1,000 inspectors employed in the plants make 30,000 inspections during manufacture before cars are passed for delivery. 1,120 mechanical operations on the three models of Studebaker cars are accurate to one-thousandth of an inch, and 360 to one-half-thousandth of an inch.

150 tons of castings are produced daily in Studebaker foundries, and 115,000 tons of steel, 7,000,000 gallons of fuel oil, and 185,000,000 cubic feet of gas are used annually.

Studebaker plants, in cost and size, are the second largest of the world's automobile plants.

Organization

The ablest engineers, metallurgists, chemists, production experts, inspectors, and executives constitute the man power back of the machine, the organization, and the product.

Home office, South Bend, Ind., with 25 branch offices, 5,000 dealers, and 3,500 service stations, in all civilized countries. These branches and dealers carry in stock $4,000,000 of repair parts for all models of Studebaker cars. Based on the total number of Studebaker cars in operation in 1922, our sales of repair parts amounted to $13 per car for repairs covering renewals and accidents.

Policy

The broad principle upon which Studebaker business has prospered for seventy-one years, now grounded upon tradition, insures satisfaction to everybody who deals with the House of Studebaker.

Special Arrangements for Ladies
Special arrangements are being made for the convenience and pleasure of the lady visitor to the rally. Mrs. A. L. Putnam will have charge of the arrangements for the Plainview ladies and she will be assisted by several able helpers. Rooms have been reserved in the Amarillo hotel for the convenience of Plainview ladies.

Many Will Go In Automobiles
Although the main delegation will go to Amarillo on the big special train, many are planning to make the trip by automobile. L. P. Barker and T. C. Shepard will be in charge of the automobile train which will leave the business section of Plainview early Wednesday morning. It is hoped that the automobile train and the special train will arrive at near the same time so that all from Plainview may join in one big parade. Those expecting to make the trip by automobile are asked to notify either Mr. Barker or Mr. Shepard as soon as possible.

Plainviewans Urged to Attend
A. B. Martin, general chairman of Plainview's Texas Technological college committee, and others in close touch with the situation urge that every man, woman and child in Plainview and surrounding country attend the Amarillo rally. They believe it is very much to Plainview's interests to have the largest and most enthusiastic delegation there.

Those expecting to go on the special train may reserve tickets by notifying H. S. Hilburn, P. B. Randolph or the Lamb Drug Co.

The greatest meeting ever held in the Panhandle will be held at Amarillo next Wednesday when this section celebrates the creation of Texas Technological college. Although the primary purpose of this meeting is to express appreciation to those who made the school possible, it is certain to have a good effect in other ways. For one thing, it will attract the attention of the state as a whole, and the locating board, that the territory in this section of Texas is well worthy of consideration. It is generally predicted that the attendance at the Amarillo jubilee will far exceed the attendance at the big Sweetwater jubilee held recently. This should be enough to convince all that the Panhandle truly "has the pep."

Go to the Rally

Plainview should take a leading part in this rally. Plainview was among the towns which called the meeting. Plainview's interests will be served at this meeting. Plainview has issued a challenge to any town to match her delegation in size and pep. Plainview must have the biggest delegation at Amarillo. Plainview can and will.

Amarillo Chairman Praises Plainview

BOB JONES URGES PLAINVIEWIANS TO ATTEND AMARILLO RALLY WEDNESDAY

"If Amarillo does not get Texas Technological College, I want to see it located at Plainview," declared Judge J. W. Drudginton, chairman of Amarillo's committee to secure the college, at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Wednesday noon. The statement brought forth great applause and enthusiasm from the big crowd of local boosters present.

"I would boost for Plainview as my second choice even if I were in Sweetwater or Lubbock," declared the Amarillo chairman.

"Great things are in store for Plainview and the surrounding country and we know that Plainview usually gets what she goes after. We expect Plainview to take a leading part in the big rally in our town next week and we will do our best to make you enjoy yourselves while with us. We are going the limit to make this rally the biggest thing ever held in West Texas and it seems that the entire Panhandle has the same idea."

Dr. Bob Jones, who is conducting the union revival services in Plainview added to the enthusiasm of the meeting when he volunteered to postpone services for Wednesday to allow all Plainview to attend the Amarillo celebration. He lauded the progressive spirit of Plainview and said that he admired a man with civic pride. He made a wonderful short talk on the elements of good citizenship.

Plans for the Plainview delegation to the Texas Technological College Rally at Amarillo were announced by R. H. Knoohuizen, in general charge of the delegation. P. B. Randolph and R. A. Underwood also told of plans for the trip and urged Plainviewans and people from surrounding country to go.

The president was authorized to appoint a committee of three to select a "Miss Plainview" to represent Plainview at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at San Angelo. Considerable other business was disposed of.

The meeting as a whole was one of the most enthusiastic ever held by the Chamber of Commerce. The crowd was so much larger than had been expected that J. B. Gilliland, manager of the O'Keefe Inn had to set several extra tables. In the ab-

C. E. MYERS KILLED IN FT. WORTH

"HE ANNOYED ME," REASON GIVEN BY MRS. WHITE FOR KILLING CLARENCE MEYERS

Fort Worth, March 28.—Mrs. Goldie White, 33, is held here by county officers, following the fatal shooting of C. E. Meyers, 34, recently of Amarillo. Meyers shot in front of his place of business a few blocks from the business district Wednesday morning, died at noon.

Mrs. White was seated in a car and began firing when he came to work. He was hit three times by bullets when he fled.

En route to the hospital in an ambulance, he declared that he did not know the woman.

Officers from police headquarters, a block away seized Mrs. White after she had reloaded her pistol and was searching for Meyers, presumably to shoot him again.

"He is the right man and I had good reason to kill him" was the only statement she made. She will be given an examining trial Friday morning.

Myers, who is survived by a wife and two children, none of whom are here at present, was employed directly across the street from Mrs. White's home. He was stationed at Camp Bowie during the world war as a second lieutenant. He was manager of the Panhandle Building and Supply Co. at Amarillo, and had planned to bring his family here as soon as he was settled. He had been here two weeks. Mrs. White, a widow, formerly lived in Wichita Falls. Her husband, G. O. Lee, was killed there in an oil field accident in 1920, according to a letter found in her room. She has property in Wichita Falls and in Oklahoma. The shooting, the second down town shooting in two weeks, created much excitement in the vicinity, and large crowds viewed the scene. Several bullets went wild, and bored holes through plate glass windows.

Ft. Worth, March 29.—"He annoyed me."

Breaking her silence which she said was caused by her attorneys telling her "not to talk", Mrs. Goldie White, 33, today gave this brief explanation for killing C. E. Meyers yesterday.

"But I mustn't talk of the case," Mrs. White said. She added, however that "all of those men that worked where he did had been bothering me".

District Attorney R. K. Hanger said that after investigating the case he was positive that Meyers was shot without any just cause.

"I will investigate the report that the defendant is of unsound mind," he said. "So far we have been unable to find any motive for the shooting."

Meyers' widow and two small children arrived this morning and will take the body to Amarillo tonight for burial.

Amarillo, March 29.—The body of C. E. Meyers, 34, who died at Fort Worth hospital Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock as a result of gunshot wounds received when he was assaulted on a down-town street by Mrs. Goldie White, early Wednesday morning, will be brought to Amarillo Friday for burial, it was announced here Thursday morning. The body, accompanied by relatives and friends, will arrive Friday at noon over the Fort Worth & Denver from Fort Worth, and will be taken to the Blackburn funeral home where it will be held pending funeral arrangements.

Burial will take place probably Sunday or Monday, it is announced.

Mr. Meyers' mother, who resides in California, has been notified of the death of her son, and is expected to arrive by Sunday. The wife and two children are understood to be in Ft. Worth and will accompany the body home.

Funeral services will be under the auspices of Hanson Post of the American Legion, it is announced.

JOE C. RANDALL AMBUSHED

FORMER DISTRICT ATTORNEY AT HAMLIN IS KILLED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS

Fort Worth, March 29.—Joe C. Randall, former district attorney at Hamlin, who was shot from ambush late yesterday, while passing through the Cedar breaks just north of Hamlin, died this morning according to word received here.

Judge Randall had been attending court at Aspermont and was returning to Hamlin, accompanied by Virgil Clark, C. T. Clark and S. P. Rudder, when the party was fired on by unknown persons, who were hidden in the timber near Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos river, eleven miles from Hamlin. Two shots were fired and one entered Judge Randall's head at the back.

Randall served two terms as district attorney and also had been county attorney for Jones county. No motive for the attack is known, the police said today. Friends of Randall, of both President Williams and Vice President Adams, who were out of town, Winfield Holbrook, director of agriculture, presided.

AMBITION OF HIS CAREER
REALIZED BY HAROLD LLOYD

Wholesome Comedy, He Has Always Contended Would One Day Be Accorded Feature Position

In "Grandma's Boy" his latest Associated Exhibitors offering, Harold Lloyd is realizing one of the ambitions of his life. From the beginning of his career he has believed that wholesome comedy would one day demand and be accorded a place of equal importance on the bill of a "movie" theatre with a straight dramatic production. It is just this position to which big exhibitors are assigning "Grandma's Boy."

Mr. Lloyd was the first picture comedian to come before the public without make-up or the slightest hint at disguise. Though he made his debut as a laugh-provoker at a time when the fans were still in a mood to look for buslesque, he consistently and persistently refused to give them anything of the sort. The only step he ever consented to take in the direction of make-believe was to adopt a pair of horn-rimmed glasses, a facial adornment that the public now regards as an essential part of him as his nose or mouth or ears.

Harold would and did and does wear horn-rimmed glasses, yes. He played an important part, indeed, in ushering in the vogue of those never inconspicuous decorations, as soldiers in the Great War made the wearing of wrist-watches by men respectable, and as another and earlier-day time-piece brought fame to the American dollar. But he would resort to slapstick never! As for the custard-pie he insists that its only place in the human order is as an article of consumption.

Mr. Lloyd has always cherished the conviction that fun and horseplay are two very different things; that a real laugh-inspiring comedy may tell a genuine and consistent story. One of the many reasons for his strong hold on public favor is the fact that all of his pictures are based on logical happenings, rather than a collection of unrelated incidents thrown together merely to invite chuckles. He has insisted that each of his productions should have a good, basic plot, with the story followed throughout.

Mr. Lloyd long ago set out to typify youth, and he has demonstrated his ability to picture youth of whatever country or clime, for youth is just that the world over. It has the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. From the time he started to play "the boy" his comedy ideals have been undergoing a steady process of evolution, though the movement has always been upward. The star has found such a variety of characterizations for "the boy" that he has never had to repeat himself. He has proved himself a comedian of remarkable versatility, indeed.

"Grandma's Boy" is Mr. Lloyd's first five-art picture. When he first discussed the story with Hal Roach, Jean Havez and Sam Taylor, of his scenario staff, neither he nor either of them had any expectation that it would run to such a length. But his appreciation of the possibilities grew as he studied the subject, just as his conception of comedy in general had been growing through the years.

Too much of a story has always been a bugaboo to the average comedy scenarioist, and the all too-common practice has been to find a slender theme and hang gags about it more or less at haphazard. But Lloyd has determined that the plot of this story should not depend upon impossible or even ridiculous situations. To construct the outline of a funny piece and dress it up until it takes on the proportions of a feature drama, making it tell a well-rounded story, but at the same time overlook no opportunities to provoke laughter is no easy task.

No more difficult undertakings could be assumed by an actor, indeed, than to make his public laugh one minute and hold it bound by the intensity of his dramatic action the next. Harold Lloyd, though, dares do what few players would attempt and fewer could ever accomplish. He carries not only the comedy element of the picture but also bears the burden of the dramatic moments, which are frequent throughout the production.

Yet not for a moment has he lost sight of the fact that he is essentially and always a comedian. He has seen to it that the last scene ends as the first began—with a laugh.

The result is exactly what big exhibitors are acclaiming the piece when they accord it the feature place on their programs. These expert judges of entertainment and box-office values recognize it as a typical Lloydesque comedy—one that makes you laugh but that causes you to think too. Through Harold Lloyd comedy at last has come into its own.

STORY AND CAST OF "MR. BILLINGS SPENDS HIS DIME"

Romance and longing for adventure are the chief traits of John Percival Billings, a twenty-dollar-a-week clerk employed in a large department store. He reads lurid literature on the sly and visits Spanish restaurants when he can afford it. Priscilla Parker, the wrapper—and a flapper as well—admires him greatly, and as a result he incurs the enmity of Martin Green, the floorwalker whose jealousy is aroused.

One day, a customer gives Billings a lucky dime and later returns for it, but when Billings learns of it, he borrows a dime from Priscilla and returns it as a substitute, himself keeping the original dime. He takes Priscilla to the Cafe Espagnol where he sees Suzanna Jaurez's picture on a cigar box and immediately falls in love with her. Later, at the movies, he sees Suzanna in a news reel and learns that she is the daughter of the president of Santo Dinero, a little South American republic, in which a revolution threatens. Priscilla is angered by Billings' admiration for Suzanna and leaves the show. He follows and on the way out, adroitly steals a still photograph of Suzanna which is on display in the lobby.

In Santo Dinero, President Jaurez is struggling against plotters for his overthrow. Captain Gomez, a traitor, loves Suzanna and uses her to obtain secret information for his conspirators. His confederates are Starbock, an American tobacco promoter; and General Blanco, who covets the presidency. White, a huge negro servant, brings news of Blanco's escape from prison. Gomez offers to trail Blanco, while Suzanna decides upon measures of her own to protect her father.

Starbock promises Blanco that he will send word to the Cafe Espagnol when they are to come and complete arrangements for the revolution, and to write the information on the inside of a Flor de Suzanna cigar band. Billings, meanwhile, retains his lucky dime, but one morning on coming to work late, he is discharged by the floorwalker. He goes to the Cafe Espagnol where the conspirators are having a lively time searching for the Starbock message in a consignment of thousands of cigars. Billings tosses his dime to determine whether he should spend it for a dish of chile con carne or a Flor de Suzanna cigar.

The cigar wins and Billings buys one, taken from a box dropped by Gomez's servant. As he removes the band, he sees a message written thereon. As he reads it, Diego, a stranger, snatches it from him and runs away. Manuel gives chase but fails to overtake Diego. Returning, he drags Billings into a room where the conspirators are gathered and at the point of knives and revolvers, he accepts five thousand dollars to reveal the message on the cigar band. Billings makes his getaway with the money, goes back to the store, buys everything in sight, gets even with Green and bids his friends farewell, saying he is going to Santo Dinero.

On the steamship bound for South America, Blanco and Gomez offers Billings a soft job at $10,000 a year to study conditions in Santo Dinero, which he accepts. Diego, who is shadowing them, reports this to Suzanna who contrives to have him call on her at the presidencia where he tells her of the still photograph of her which he carries with him. They become decidedly friendly, and both are unaware that meanwhile, the conspirators had completed arrangements to start their revolution with the opening of the bull fight the next day.

An assassin is posted in the bull ring to shoot Juarez after the bull fight is finished. Billings, not liking the Spanish fighting methods, displaces the matador and throws the bull by the horns amid wild applause. He sees the assassin preparing to shoot Juarez and prevents the crime, though he is himself wounded in the struggle. Suzanna removes him to the presidential place where she nurses him back to health. The revolutionists continue their activities, and Suzanna prevails upon Billings to take her father's place at a fiesta. He wears a mask and is captured and sentenced by Gomez to be shot. His rescue follows in dramatic circumstances and as Blanco and Starbock go to the presidencia to take possession, they find Juarez and many troops in possession. They are arrested and Billings and Suzanna appear amid popular rejoicing. Thus the love romance of Billings and Suzanna comes to a happy conclusion.

"EVERY KNOCK A BOOST"

We, of the Staked Plains are very slow finding out what this vast territory is good for. The Turkey Growers' Association is engaged in a work of great value to all farmers every where. Yet it is of more importance to the Plains people as we are having to do many things to get on our feet financially. What the people say can't be done is often times just what needs to be done for the country's good. So the association is going to place the turkey gobbler and hen at the head of the table as well as the head of the market. Richard Lloyd Jones Says THINK IT OUT

IT is not by chance that anatomically the brain overtops your eyes, ears, nose and mouth, but by design, that it may supervise what you are to see, hear, smell and taste. Think it out!

Not by chance was your brain put above legs and arms, but by plan, that it might direct and conserve their energy. Think it out!

Your brain—your best counsellor—sits in the "crow's nest" of your craft on purpose to oversee your course. It is equipped with the most precious power nature gave you. Make that brain yield you the fullest value. A clear brain is the best conservator of muscle and energy. Use it. Cultivate the power to think clearly.

As a people we evade hard thinking. Shallow surface cleverness is a too common characteristic. Our educational system develops the minds of our children along the lines of memory and absorption. Child and teacher seem equally afraid of reason. Thus as the child grows older he shows less and less inclination to tax his brain with thinking a thing out. Stuffed and crammed with information in early youth he faces life with few, if any, material powers developed. How enthusiastically and how blindly we embark on a new idea only to cast it aside when our muscles are tired and it doesn't "work." It may have had its measure of value, else why our first enthusiasm. Think it out!

Relax your muscle—clinch up your brain. A bit of adjustment that good thinking will suggest to you,—a bit of cool patience—oh, rarely among Americans,—and you may contribute something of value to the world.

Success means ability to make the best use of our powers. Success means that the man in the "crow's nest" is awake and on guard. One of the best valued faculties commercially is the power to get efficient work out of men. Everywhere we hear the cry for efficiency. What scientific study we give to the elimination of waste! How we scheme to cut out unnecessary motion in even so primitive a work as brick-laying! Competition is so fierce that competitors bend every effort toward organization. The struggle for individual existence must mean better co-ordination in the human being himself. And education should mean organization for efficiency of a man's native powers.

The vacant look, the wandering attention, the meaningless erratic motion characteristic of the imbecile or the lunatic,—all mean that the watch has left the "crow's nest." Reason is off duty. Think it out!

HOMELY PHILOSOPHY for 1923

HERE you are reading this newspaper again. You haven't seen it for a week and it feels like an old friend who's just dropped into the house. Wonder why you read it? Perhaps you like the simple way it tells the news of the old home town. Perhaps you like the editorials. Maybe it's because you can do all your shopping safely through the advertisements. Or the paper may have been helpful—a little informative. Anyhow, whatever it is that moves you to read, is summed up in this: It brings you either pleasure or profit—perhaps both. So when you have finished reading it why not pass it along to a friend. Scatter your roses while you may, for what is good belongs to all humanity, and every kindly act rebounds.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

I know you remember the childhood hour, when April called from her bluegrass dell,—I know you haven't forgot the shower that gave no warm' as it fell. . . . And I'm sure you recall the childish glee that suddenly changed to keen regret when Daddy called out, to you an' me, "Come in—you children—out of the wet!"

And—we obeyed, as we knowed we must,—but we whimpered a lot, as children do,—we held no dread of the April g'et, that pelted right down, from skies so blue. . . . For children love the patterin' rain, that lays the dust, an' cools the sweat,—You have to remind 'em, time and again, afore they'll come in, out of the wet!

"Twas ever thus" of the human kind, when venturesome spirits dared the rain,—an' appetites has allers been blind, till they fetched us down, on the bed of pain. . . . So, I hark back to Daddy's comma'd, which impressed me, so's I can't forget,—and I can't help callin' the heedless band,—"Come in—you children—out of the wet!"

When Plainview Citizens Show a Way

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what Plainview citizen says:

W. G. Shackelford, carpenter, Box 844, Galveston St., says: "I found it necessary to use a kidney remedy and as I had heard a lot about Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at the R. A. Long Drug Store. I had been troubled for some time before that with my back being weak and lame and the kidney secretions were too frequent and highly colored. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills helped me and I continued using them until cured."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Shackelford had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

FARMERS CAN BORROW MONEY ON PRODUCTS ON GOOD TERMS

The new system of rural credits created by the last congress is certain to have an important bearing on the prosperity of the farmer. It will make borrowing for current operations by the farmer, especially the tenant, easier, and it will enable all farmers to borrow money at a lower rate of interest and on terms that are better suited to their needs than at present.

It should be understood from the outset, however, that this new system is not intended to help out the financially weak by lending them money on insufficient security. Just the opposite is the purpose of the new rural credit banks. The success of this new system will depend entirely upon the readiness with which investors buy the bonds issued by the new rural credit banks, based on farm loans. If it should be the policy of these banks to lend money wherever there are signs of life in the hope of reviving the farmers business, the security would in many cases be insufficient and the debentures issued by the new banks would have little or no sale. In that case the banks would have little money to lend and the whole system would fail.

For the weak, the War Finance Corporation is still functioning and its services have been wisely extended for another 12-month period.

The chief benefit to the farmer of this new system will be to give to him the opportunity of borrowing money on good security, such as wheat, livestock, hay and cotton, on as favorable terms as the merchant secures loans on stocks of dry goods, millinery or clothing. Up to this time the farmer has paid a substantially higher rate of interest than has the merchant or business man in town. Country loans now in many regions bear, 7, 8 or 10 per cent, while in the cities the interest rate is 6 per cent or less.

Before the federal land banks were established the farmer was paying 8 or 10 per cent in many regions on loans secured by his farm lands. At present he is borrowing money at a lower rate than at any time in the past. Not all of this reduction has been due to the creation of the federal land banks, but it is safe to say that a substantial part of it has been due to this cause. And it is not unreasonable to believe that there will be a corresponding reduction in the rate charged the farmer on his current loans following the establishment of the intermediate rural banks as a part of the federal land bank system.

Since there are but twelve of these intermediate banks in the United States the individual farmer will deal with them through his local bank. He will borrow from his local bank and the banker in turn will rediscount the farmer's note at the intermediate bank. It is stipulated that the local banker cannot charge the farmer more than 1-2 per cent above the rate that is fixed by the intermediate bank on paper that is rediscounted.

Co-operative marketing agencies may deal directly with the intermediate bank in securing funds to advance to farmers on grain, cotton or other crops. Under the new law these farmer marketing associations are also permitted to go direct to the Federal Reserve Bank for money and get it on the same terms as to rate and length of time the notes are to run as at the rural credit bank.

Under this new system of rural credits the period for which the loan may be made is extended from three months to a maximum of nine months for crops and as long as eight years for financing stock breeding operations. This extension of time will enable the farmer to make a note that will fall due when his crops are ready for market or when the product of his breeding herd is of a merchantable age.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Plainview News, a newspaper published in Hale County.

Witness my hand, this 6th day of March, 1923.

of the farmer, for he is already overburdened with debt. It is to lighten his interest load by enabling him to borrow at as low a rate and on as favorable terms as other business men borrow.—H. J. Waters in Kansas City Star.

Windy In East Texas
West Texas hasn't got it over this part of the state as a wind producing area. Last Saturday and Sunday, and in fact several days previous to that the wind blew so hard that a West Texas man in this part of the country would feel perfectly at home.—Wolfe City Sun.

CHANGES NAMES TO "TEACHERS COLLEGES"

A bill passed the legislature changing the word "Normal" in the name of educational institutions to "Teachers," thus making the institution located here "The West Texas State Teachers College."

This change is made by the request of the educational interests of the state.

The word "Normal" has been discarded by most of the teacher training colleges of the United States, as it does not convey the true meaning of the institutions.—Canyon News.

If Firpo comes through a summer campaign with a record in keeping with his defeat of Brennan, a match with Dempsey for the title will likely be staged in the fall—not in America, then at Buenos Ayres, S. Anton, division superintendent; H. M. Bainer, director Wheat Improvement Association; Dan Trahey, tram-master; and A. H. Howe, assistant editor "The Earth;" J. D. Sweeney, ear accountant; and H. L. Ford, agricultural agent Burlington and Denver railroads.

Grout Hits the Ball
Livestock farming should be looked upon largely as a means of guaranteeing at home a satisfactory market for crops most easily grown in any particular section of Texas, according to Geo. P. Grout, head of the Dairy Department of the A. & M. college, who delivered the first lecture at the meeting here. "Livestock farming," he said, "makes possible the utilization of by-products, such as stalk fields that might otherwise go to waste. It is also a means of using efficiently the available labor throughout the year."

"People who live on specialized farms, such as those devoted entirely to cotton or grain, work only a part of the year; while on the stock farms, there is something for every member of the family to do every day in the year. Naturally, a steady job pays better than an irregular job. Therefore, investigation indicates that stock farms, properly managed, are the most profitable. Livestock farming increases production because fertility is added to the soil from barnyard manure, which is the most ideal fertilizer yet devised."

Diversification the Slogan
It is not desirable that Texas farmers should specialize in stock farming to the exclusion of everything else, the speaker emphasized, but every farm should be sufficiently diversified with crops, livestock, etc., to insure a well balanced business with a steady and regular income and a constantly improving soil fertility. Practically every part of Texas is adapted to some type of livestock production, so that every person should thoroughly inform himself with reference to the different phases and select that type of animal best suited to his personal fancy, and his local soil and market conditions.

"This train," Mr. Grout said, "brings to you examples of what other Texas farmers are doing. The Santa Fe railroad and the A. & M. college simply submit these demonstrations for the farmer's consideration. They offer one piece of general advice, and that is: do not match your time against a scrub."

Dairying a Steady Job
"Dairying is the steadyest job in the world, and therefore, on the average, is the best paying type of farming for those who manage it properly. It furnishes the work for every member of the family every day. It furnishes a relief from the credit system because it brings a regular weekly or monthly cash income, from which operating expenses may be defrayed so that any cash crop sales at the end of the year may be added to the savings account."

"The requisites for successful dairying are: (1) good cows, (2) proper feeding, (3) sensible marketing of the product. Good cows may be selected from any of the regular dairy breeds that suit the fancy, but they must be heavy producers to return a profit. A cow that will produce 600 pounds of butter in a year will make more profit than 20 cows producing 150 pounds of butter in a year, with considerably less labor."

"The difference between profits and loss is often determined by the intelligent mixing of a balanced ration. The dairy cow is a high geared machine and will not run in low gear profitably."

Good Send Off for the Pig
D. W. Williams, professor Animal Husbandry in charge of swine at the college, gave the pig a particularly good send off. "The pig," he said, "is the only farm crop that can be produced twice each year, and he is the only crop that can be produced and marketed all in six to eight months. Any good brood sow can have 16 to 20 pigs per year; this means 1600 to 2000 per cent increase per year."

"Two of the greatest drawbacks to farming are lack of capital for economic operations and slow turn-overs. The big type prolific sow of today can do much to overcome those two handicaps. No other line of livestock farming can be brought so quickly to profitable production with so limited an amount of capital invested in stock and equipment as the production of meat from the pig. This fact makes pork production attractive on practically all farms, large or small."

A Swat at Scrubs
"Success in pig raising cannot come from the use of scrub boars and common place or 'cold blooded' sows. The Golden Text for successful pig production is: Breed right, feed right, care for right, market right."

Mr. Williams pointed out that farmers who own herds of common hogs for pork production have been aroused by the hard jolt given them by the United States Department of Agriculture in the announcement that purebred hogs have an earning capacity for pork production of 38 per cent greater than common or scrub hogs. Purebred hogs of today are of a type adapted to making the greatest gains in the least number of days, and at the same time meet the market requirements, Mr. Williams insisted. There is no standard breed of hogs from which market toppers cannot be raised, he asserted.

No farm animal can manufacture as much meat from a given quantity of feedstuffs as the pig, provided the feeds are not too bulky, Mrs. Williams said in conclusion.

Hen, Faithful and Helpful
The last lecturer was E. O. Edson, poultry husbandman at the college. He said that the poultry business, if started on a sound basis, generally is a thriving business; at least a small plant in connection with general farming can be made a very profitable investment line. It is a fact that a small investment in connection with the farm equipment for poultry production has given larger returns than most any other line of farming, the speaker concluded.

"Good birds, given proper houses, a balanced ration, with plenty of fresh water, grit, oystershell, etc., and houses kept clean and sanitary at all times with plenty of sunshine and fresh air, will prove profitable producers in the poultry business," Mr. Edson said. This holds true either as a side line or on the commercial plant.

Mr. Edson told of numerous instances in which a flock of good hens on the farm had saved the day for the farmer's family when the crops had failed. He expressed the hope that the day would come when it would be impossible to find a Texas farm without a good poultry yard.

FARMERS PLAN TO IRRIGATE

CONTRACTS FOR FOUR NEW WELLS LET AND DRILLING STARTED

Contracts for four new irrigation wells, each capable of producing 2,000 gallons of pure water per minute, were let here recently. Drilling has started on the T. Hall Brown farm, 3 miles south of Plainview. All the wells will be completed within thirty days. Many other farmers in this section are planning to install irrigation plants this year.

Although most of the farming in the Plainview section is done without irrigation, it has been proven that irrigation pays in increased yields, even in the best of crop years. The water is struck at thirty to sixty feet, although the wells are drilled to 150 feet to give a good screening basin. Centrifugal pumps, run by oil engines are used to bring the water to the surface.

There are about 100 such irrigation wells in the Plainview section. Some of them have been in operation for nine years, but none of them have lowered the water level an inch. The water from these wells is 99.98 per cent pure, according to chemical analysis.

Meadows Makes Statement
To the Editor of the News:

The statement I want to make in regard to insulting the lady at the Santa Fe depot Sunday morning is this: The south bound train arrived a lady got off with a large suit case and looked like she wanted to go some where, but turned and did not come to the taxi stand, and later I walked around in front of the ladies' sitting room and another taxi man was talking to her. I waited till he walked away and I opened the door and spoke to the lady, asked her if she wanted a service car. She said she wanted to go six miles north of Lockney, was expecting her folks to meet her here, but they had not come, and asked me what I would charge to take her and I said my charge to Lockney was five dollars. She said we would not have to go by Lockney, and said then I would take her to where she wanted to go for five dollars, as it would be only a little farther. She said the line car offered to take her to Lockney for one dollar and a half, I said he would not take you by where you wanted to go, and I said now I have a good car and have never made this trip to Lockney for less than five dollars and if you go with me I will show you a nice time (as I often speak to anyone with reference to my car running smoother and nice). In the meantime I asked her name and where he lived and she told me she was the daughter of Mr. Dodson, a big ranchman. I honestly had no more thought of her being insulted for my intentions were that I had treated her lady like and she me gentlemanly like. She made no sign of being insulted. The agent was not fifteen feet from us when this happened.—H. F. Meadows.
