Gov.-elect Clements thinks

On same wave length

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov.-elect Bill Clements thinks he's on the same wave length with most Texas legislators, as he was with Texas voters on Nov. 7.

"I think that most of the legislature understands that most of them were elected by the same people that elected me," Clements said in an interview with the Associated Press. "They feel a responsibility to be responsive to what I am talking about. There is not one set of voters out there who elected me and another set who elected the legislature. These are one and the same people."

"You would be amazed how many legislators have told me they fully understand that."

Clements, who talks fast and moves fast, does not take office until Jan. 16 in what may be the most elaborate gubernatorial inauguration in several decades. But he has been busy since the general election votes were counted in a small 10th floor office of a downtown office building.

Day after day, and some nights, there has been a constant stream of visitors and job hunters to the small office where the 61-year-old self-made multi-millionaire sits behind a bare wooden desk.

Clements' plan for dealing with the predominantly Democratic Legislature is simple — follow the aggressive personal contact method that was so successful when he was Deputy Secretary of Defense in Washington.

"I have met with four groups that constituted more than 100 members of the Legislature," he says proudly. "In addition I have met with a large number of committee chairmen and people like that on a one-on-one basis ... I intend to develop these personal relationships with the legislators and be fully sensitive to their needs and their responsibilities to their own constituents ... I represent all the people of the state. I'm where this whole process comes together as being the highest elected official statewide and I intend for us to have a legislative program that is responsive to this state."

Clements will make an inaugural address on Jan. 16 and present his proposed state budget about Feb. 1. But there will be no big unloading of his entire program at one time.

"We've got several months before we end up with definite answers to these questions and I'm not going to cut off the process half way through or even before it starts," he said.

The big issues of the session are easy to point out.

"You have to put tax reduction No. 1 and no. 2 undoubtedly is the issue of improving the quality of our education. Between those two there is the school finance problem, a separate issue but a part of both."

Next, Clements says, are our relations with Mexico. He has plans to meet with Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo, at a date to be announced later, and discuss three subjects that also are of interest to the Texas Legislature.

"Illegal aliens, that's a problem that's got to be solved," he said. "There's not any question whatsoever that Texas has a role to play in this. For us to be in default and abrogate our position is absurd."

Informal Caribbean summit

Security key issue

SAINT FRANCOIS, Guadeloupe (AP) — President Carter and three European allies focused their Caribbean summit today on key Western security issues, including the future of Iran and its oil resources and China's future role in the world.

Underlining the informal nature of the summit, the leaders met this morning in a thatched roof open pavilion overlooking the sea.

Carter and West German Chancelor Helmut Schmidt were the last to arrive, walking together. The president was tieless in a white short-sleeve shirt and wore gray slacks and desert boots.

French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, who like the others spurned neckties for the occasion, had a small stack of briefing books in front of him as the quartet sat down around a small circular table.

Roads, bridges iced over in north, northwest Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Roads and bridges in north and northwest Texas began icing today as another cold front dropped temperatures in the northern third of the state, the Texas highway department said.

Highway districts reporting hazardous conditions included Lubbock, Abilene, Childress, Wichita Falls area and the southern and eastern Panhandle along Interstate 40.

Further south and east, a new ice coating was expected today on highways in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and in Tyler.

Ice coated bridges in the Paris district along the Red River and conditions were expected to worsen. Here are the department's report on districts affected by the latest storm:

City attorney may be named

Big Spring may have a new city attorney Tuesday.

Following the regular meeting of the city council which begins 9 a.m. Tuesday, council members and city officials will huddle in closed session to discuss two applicants for the job. City Manager Harry Nagel has interviewed three applicants, two men and a woman, but the woman has already accepted the job as city attorney of McAllen.

Nagel will discuss the qualifications of the remaining two candidates with council members Tuesday, and there is a chance that one will be hired during the session, said the city manager.

One of the applicants presently holds the job of city attorney in another town and the other is a recent law school graduate.

Wichita Falls — freezing drizzle making driving extremely hazardous.

Fort Worth — Ice on bridges, roads passable but could worsen.

Lubbock — Snow in northwestern district, rest of South Plains highways slick following freezing rain.

Abilene — Highways glazing, extremely hazardous.

Tyler — roads clear, but expected to freeze at noon.

Childress — ice forming.

Amarillo — roads slick.

Dallas — freezing and hazardous conditions expected later today.

Paris — patchy ice on roads and bridges.

Brownwood — ice on bridges, expected to worsen.

Odessa — roads starting to glaze.

Ice on Comanche Lake not 'that thick,' lad finds

Andy Grisham, 12, found out that the ice was thin on Comanche Lake around 1 p.m., Thursday.

He and another young companion, Robert Hurt, were walking on the ice looking for fish underneath when Grisham fell through about 12 yards from shore.

Using a pocket knife, he broke up what was left of the ice between himself and the shore, and began trying to swim to the side using his pocket knife on the bottom to pull when he got near enough to the shore.

Hurt, standing on shore, couldn't help because he knew he wouldn't be able to swim in the icy water any better than Grisham, and there was nothing near long enough to reach Grisham and help pull him out.

Big Spring Police were summoned to the scene, arriving after Grisham pulled himself to the shore. They notified the boys mother, Inge Grisham and took him to Malone-Hogan emergency room where it took several hours for attendants to bathe the boy in warm water and bring his body temperature up to normal. He didn't go into shock, however, and is expected to recover, with only cold memories to hurt him.

"I see you've come well prepared," Carter noted.

None of the other leaders had any papers with him.

As the leaders gathered Thursday at a seaside resort on this French island, Giscard told reporters, "We want talks without academics — simple, plain and direct."

U.S. officials said the four might hold most of their sessions, which will conclude Saturday, without advisers at their sides.

The most prominent academic on the scene is Zbigniew Brzezinski, who was a university professor in world politics before being named as Carter's national security adviser. There was no indication however, that Giscard's comment was directed at him.

Kids are free until Monday

Forsan schools, the Junior High, High School and Elbow Elementary, are braving out the icy weather, having only closed one day as a result of road conditions.

The schools opened for classes both Thursday and today, although other area schools remained closed.

The Big Spring and Coahoma schools made early morning announcements that due to the layer of frozen moisture that fell Thursday night, re-icing roads which had been thawed by Thursday's warm temperatures, classes would not be held. The students check in Monday.

The new cold front, which moved into the area Thursday night, is expected to keep driving conditions bad through Saturday, but it is hoped that by Monday, roads will be in condition to allow all area school to open.

Action/reaction: Moving ratings

Q. "Who puts the ratings on theatre movies? Why was 'Every Which Way But Loose' and 'Smokey and the Bandits' rated PG here when our friends in Dallas say they were rated R there?"

A. Movies are rated by the Motion Picture Association, according to Ike Robb, owner of R-70, Ritz I and II, and Jet Drive-In theatres. "The ratings are uniform wherever they are shown, but Dallas and some other cities have local review boards who subclassify movies with suffixes such as (N) for nudity and (L) for offensive language," he said. "Both of the movies in question were rated PG by MPA and it's my guess that they were shown as PGs in Dallas."

NUGENT SWORN IN — State Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, (right) is sworn in Thursday as a new member of the Texas Railroad Commission. Chief Justice Joe Greenhill of the Texas Supreme Court (left) swears in Nugent while Nugent's wife, Billie, looks on. Nugent will serve the four years remaining on Jon Newton's term. Newton resigned Dec. 7.

Nugent sells oil holdings

Commissioner sworn in KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — New Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent, whose predecessor resigned after his family inherited natural gas-producing land, says he has sold his own oil and gas-related financial holdings to also avoid a potential conflict of interest.

Nugent, 56, a Kerrville Democrat who represented a sprawling Hill Country legislative district for 18 years, was sworn in here Thursday to the powerful three-member commission that regulates Texas' oil and natural gas production.

Nugent was appointed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to serve the remaining four years of Jon Newton's six-year term.

Newton resigned Dec. 7, saying he wanted to avoid a possible conflict of interest resulting from natural gas production on South Texas property recently inherited by his wife.

After being sworn in by Chief Justice Joe Greenhill of the Texas Supreme Court, Nugent told an overflow hometown crowd, "I had certain financial holdings which raised the question of a conflict of interest when Gov. Briscoe first notified me of my appointment."

"As of this time, I have sold those holdings which presented a conflict of interest or have them under a binding contract of sale, which will be closed as expeditiously as possible," he added.

"Responsibilities of this agency are too important for there to be a public question about the freedom of a member of this commission to make a decision that could involve a personal interest."

Nugent said those holdings represented a "very minor portion of my income."

They included, he added, "a very small" amount of energy-producing land and some stock in companies under the jurisdiction of the commission.

Nugent's appointment must still be confirmed by the Texas Senate, which convenes Tuesday. He said, however, that he anticipates no problem being confirmed.

Nine candidates are competing in Saturday's special election to replace Nugent.

The ceremony was attended by more than 300 persons, including Briscoe, House Speaker Bill Clayton, Newton, the other two railroad commission members and a host of legislators and state officials.

Briscoe, who served this same area in the early 1950s as a state representative, smiled and said, "The man who has served this area most efficiently in the Texas Legislature is Jim Nugent."

Vietnamese divisions driving to Phnom Penh

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vietnamese divisions were reported driving north, south and east of Phnom Penh today in an apparent move to throttle the Cambodian capital. Diplomatic sources in Peking said China may airlift Cambodian leaders out of the capital, carrying six of them to China, Japan's Kyodo News Service said. It quoted other Peking sources as saying China recently asked Thailand to allow passage of a special Chinese flight over Thailand, but said the information was not confirmed.

The Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda reported on its front page that Cambodian rebels are continuing a powerful offensive against the Phnom Penh government. It did not mention the participation of Vietnamese troops in the fighting.

The escalating border conflict between Vietnam and Cambodia mirrors the political struggle in southeast Asia between the Soviet Union and China.

Reports published in China's official People's Daily said 100,000 Vietnamese regulars, equipped with Russian-made fighter planes, tanks and guns, already have invaded and occupied a large chunk of Cambodian territory, Kyodo said.

"I would not be surprised if Phnom Penh was evacuated soon and the government took to the countryside," one European diplomat in Bangkok said.

Other Bangkok analysts said the Vietnamese bypassed Kompong Cham, 45 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, and may have moved 19 or more miles west of the Mekong River to a point near the dead center of Cambodia.

Activity down in oil fields

The number of working oil rigs in the state dropped slightly this week. As of Tuesday, 823 rotary rigs were making hole in the state, compared to 841 for the week of Dec. 26. A year ago at this time 821 rigs were in operation, while the total rose to 827 a month ago. The drop in Texas rigs accounts for about half of the drop in the national total. As of Tuesday, 2,219 rigs were in operation across the country, compared to 2,263 a week ago. A year ago at this time, 2,125 rigs were making hole, while 2,281 were in operation a month ago.

Delta Kappa Gamma has postponed its Saturday meeting of 6 until the following Saturday, Jan. 13.

Minyard reminds, there is change in tax form

The form is printed three to a page and copy A of the form is to be submitted to Social Security in just that way — three to a page. If the forms are cut apart, they cannot be processed by the optical scanner. Even if one or two of the forms are left blank, the entire page must be sent in, Minyard said.

All Forms W-2 should be submitted with Form W-3 (Transmittal of Income and Tax Statements), available from local Internal Revenue Service Offices or from private printers. The deadline for submitting the forms is Feb. 28.

Detailed instructions for completing the forms are given in the December 1977 Circular E supplement to the Employer's Tax Guides. A copy of Circular E can be obtained from the nearest Internal Revenue Service Office or by calling the IRS toll free in Dallas, 1-800-492-4830.

The changeovers are all part of the switch to annual reporting of employees' earnings, Minyard said. Reports were submitted quarterly in previous years.

Clements favors a return of some form of the old bracero program where Mexican workers would be admitted under temporary work permits. "President Lopez Portillo and I are in complete agreement on this," he said. "By Mexico and Texas agreeing to this puts enormous pressure on Washington and puts aside this nonsense of an amnesty program put forth by President Carter."

Another matter to be discussed would be the border drug traffic. And third would be Mexico's new oil and gas reserves.

"It is absolutely necessary that we now commit to market some reasonable amount of Mexico's gas and oil for our energy requirements in the United States and allow us here in Texas to conserve our national resources in a technical and reasonable basis."

"Talking with Mexico about these three main things would set the tone for what the United States does at the national level," Clements declared.

Clements says he is not only optimistic of his relations with the legislature, but he is not afraid of the strongly entrenched Democrats either.

"I feel strongly that the people of Texas have spoken, they have said what they want in approving the tax relief amendment by 85 percent. And as governor I feel a strong responsibility to see that constitutional amendment is fully implemented, both to the letter and in spirit," he said.

"If the Legislature in its wisdom sees fit to do otherwise and violates the will of the people and does not carry it out to the letter and the spirit, I will veto it."

Bus runs over child

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (AP) — Police say a 5-year-old girl on her way home from kindergarten apparently was too little to be seen by a school bus driver who ran over the child, killing her instantly.

Sgt. Charles Carpenter said Christine Aldred was one of five children dropped off at a neighborhood bus stop Thursday. He said the driver apparently believed all of the youngsters were out of the way and put the bus in gear. "Being about three feet high, you can guess what happened," he said, adding that the accident is under investigation. No charges have been filed against the driver.

Company named in suit

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A Maryland demolition company has been named in two suits seeking $1.2 million for damages incurred while the firm was blasting an ice jam on the Ohio River last winter.

Controlled Demolition Inc. of Towson, Md. has had 20 suits filed against it since it was hired last February after a giant ice jam shut down all river traffic at the Markland Dam, about 60 miles downstream from Warsaw, Ky. Richard Wilson, of Warsaw, one of the plaintiffs in the million-dollar suits filed Thursday, said the blasting collapsed a roof and damaged his antique auto business. Company officials were not available for comment.

Feds have $40,000 in birds

SEATTLE (AP) — Federal agents here have $40,000 worth of exotic Indonesian birds on their hands because of what a ruffled importer says is basically a language problem.

Larry Keeney, special agent for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said Charles Cantino had permits to import only cockatoos, but brought back several other kinds of tropical birds — 250 in all. Cantino maintains he complied with the import laws. He said the problem lies with the Indonesians "who don't know the scientific names of the other birds." The birds have been placed in quarantine at a nearby zoo until authorities determine what to do with them.

Meter money stolen

RHINELANDER, Wis. (AP) — Police chief Tony Paris says the city may be faced with the expensive task of replacing 700 parking meter locks because someone obtained a set of city-owned keys and took $400 to $500 in coins from meters.

A meter repairman apparently left his keys in a meter sometime Tuesday, Paris said. The next day at least 24 meters were emptied. All of the city's parking meters will have to be fitted with new locks unless the missing keys are found. Paris said it would cost $3.57 to replace the lock on each meter.

Airport still digging

CHICAGO (AP) — O'Hare International Airport is still digging out from under a small mountain of luggage following the New Year's Day storm that stranded thousands of passengers and left weary employees wondering where to put the thousands of unclaimed or lost bags.

An FAA spokesman in Washington said the holiday storm caused 306 flight cancellations at the airport. Many eager passengers grabbed other flights, leaving the airlines to worry about getting their luggage to them. A United Air Lines spokesman said about 5,000 bags piled up at its terminals during the storm. A Trans World Airlines spokesman termed the lingering confusion "a real mess."

As cause of illnesses

Folk medicine faulted

In an environment where bad sanitation, overcrowded housing and poor nutrition threaten their babies' health, some Mexican-American mothers worry more about loud trains, people with glasses and ghosts. According to Mexican folk medicine, ghosts may be a primary cause of some illnesses.

Belief in folk medicine usually is not a sign of stupidity. People often turn to folk medicine because of tradition, lack of other remedies or lack of knowledge about treatments, the Texas Medical Association said.

State, federal and private groups are trying to make help available for migrants and other groups not easily exposed to modern medical care. But once people know where to get good care, they still may not go if they are trapped by traditional beliefs.

One traditional remedy for infant diarrhea involves rubbing the baby with an egg in the shell and then breaking it in a plate. The form of the egg-like egg tells the examiner whether or not the egg has taken the "evil eye" away from the baby. An article in the January issue of Texas Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's monthly journal, said other treatments, depending on the suspected cause, can include pulling a baby's hair or giving cinnamon tea.

None of these treatments may be especially harmful but they can delay proper medical help, said Carmen Acosta Johnson, Ph.D., the article's author. Language and cultural barriers also can keep well-meaning mothers away from physicians and clinics, so mothers rely on traditional folk remedies, said Johnson, an assistant professor at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

The article, which dealt with attitudes about infant diarrhea, said Mexican folk medicine labeled four major causes for the disease. One is "susto," a magical fright or shock that scares the baby's soul out of its body. Ghosts or loud trains are in this category. One remedy involves prayers, blowing rain water on the baby to cleanse it, slapping the baby hard (to re-enact the original shock) and calling three times (a magical number) for the soul to come back.

A baby may get diarrhea from "mal de ojo," the evil eye, when a stranger, enemy, someone with glasses or a bad eye, or someone with "very strong blood" looks at the baby.

Another cause involves suspected imbalance in the body's hot and cold mechanisms. These mythical mechanisms can be balanced by giving "hot" foods such as milk or cinnamon tea in many cases.

Hair-pulling or pressing on the baby's palate is the cure for the fourth cause, which occurs supposedly when the soft part of the baby's skull presses down, according to folk medicine beliefs.

Of course none of these causes or cures are reliable. But Johnson urged physicians to keep the ideas in mind while helping mothers accept better treatment methods.

Proper treatment is very important because diarrhea can rob a baby's body of vital fluids if it continues too long. A physician can suggest treatment to replace fluids and control diarrhea.

Billy Carter more popular

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Carter says his brother Jimmy is "probably the most brilliant man I've ever known" but that he himself is more popular — and makes more money.

"I get along with folks," the president's brother said in a Penthouse magazine interview. "My audience is not the real high-class crowd, not the middle class, but more the working class."

"I hate to say it," he said, "but I guess I'm one of the best judges of audiences in the world, and whatever they want to hear is what I talk about."

"One of the best things that is happening now," he said, "is that when we come into a town, they don't say, 'Jimmy Carter's brother's coming.' They say, 'Billy Carter's coming.' It's a big step."

Production loss blamed on drought conditions

Final production figures of the Colorado River Municipal Water District for 1978 are now in, and a 10 percent loss can be attributed to one word — drought.

All the loss — and more — is represented in reduction of deliveries to oil companies in order to conserve supplies for the cities.

Total deliveries for the year amounted to 17,670,613,432 gallons of water, a decline of 2,137,000,000 gallons or down 10.79 percent.

But deliveries to municipalities were up by 2.26 percent in aggregating 13,779,520,600 gallons. On the other hand, deliveries to oil companies were $3,891,092,832, a reduction of 38.56 percent from the previous year. Another way to put it is that while total deliveries dropped off by 2,137,000,000 gallons, those to KAHLER RECEIVES $350,000 IN KSU SUIT — Dean Kahler, a former Kent State University student who was paralyzed in the May 1970 shootings, received $350,000 in an out-of-court settlement in the civil damages suit. Kahler is shown at a Thursday press conference following announcement of the settlement. He said he was not bitter about the incident.

Indicted prosecutor faces two state judges in court

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Indicted South Texas prosecutor Oscar McInnis went back to court today as a pair of state judges pondered criminal and civil cases against the longtime district attorney.

McInnis is charged with plotting to have a friend's ex-husband kidnapped and killed last May. State District Judge Vernon Harville was to rule today on defense motions claiming prosecutors improperly entrapped McInnis by planting a tape recorder on a county jail inmate allegedly asked by McInnis to arrange the slaying.

For the first half of 1978 surface water deliveries to oil companies were curtailed by one half, and for the last half of the year they were cut off entirely. Such deliveries as were made were almost wholly in unpotable diversions and from brine wells.

Back-to-back subnormal inflows into the CRMWD's reservoirs contributed to the problem. During the past two years Lake J.B. Thomas has captured only 13,160 acre feet, by far the worst biennium on record. Similarly the 39,990 acre feet for both Lake Thomas and Lake E.V. Spence for 1977-78 is far under the second worst two years of inflow.

'Peace Prayer' given by Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II welcomed the new year with a special "peace prayer" asking for an end to war and hatred.

Speaking on the Roman Catholic Church's "World Day of Peace," the 58-year-old pontiff Monday directed his Happy New Year wishes to the sick, imprisoned and those held by kidnapers in Italy.

"Deliver us from war, from hatred, from the destruction of human life! Don't let us kill!" the pope said. "... Deliver us from evil! Defend us from war! From any war."

The pontiff also issued a papal message for the day, entitled "To Reach Peace, Teach Peace." The message, released 10 days ago, asked "all of you who desire peace to make gestures of peace, even audacious ones, to break free from vicious cycles and from the deadweight of passions inherited from history."

Weather

Arctic cold front moves into Texas

An Arctic cold front moved southward across the Red River into North Texas early today, bringing with it freezing drizzle, freezing rain and snow.

Much of North and West Texas was under a winter storm watch today as the National Weather Service warned of freezing drizzle, freezing rain, sleet and snow accumulations today and Saturday.

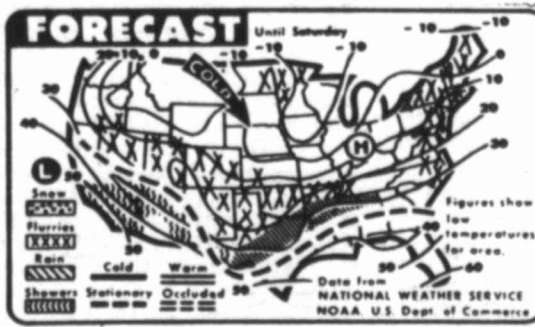

The Dallas area, still attempting to dig out from last weekend's devastating ice storm, expected additional accumulations of ice from the latest storm.

The same storm created hazardous driving conditions and disrupted business operations earlier as it passed through Oklahoma. Schools were closed there and many highways, including Interstate 35, the main route between Dallas and Oklahoma City, was closed at times because of icy road conditions in the Arbuckle Mountains.

Texas living south of the area anticipating the latest wintry onslaught had little to look forward to weatherwise. Dense fog cut visibility to near zero in the Hill County and dense fog was reported in South Texas as well as in areas of the Panhandle. Forecasts called for drizzle rain and some possible thunderstorms in the southern half of the state.

This could be vintage year for politics

Politics is a game played every waking hour by some people. Invariably, because they are so vocal and perhaps because the constituency demands so much of them, the layman rarely gets a chance to rest his ears.

We've only recently come out of a year where major changes took place in the political lineup on national, state and local levels.

Now, before this year is out, we will see the national parties gearing up for the next presidential races.

In less than a year, filings will close for the presidential primary in New Hampshire. Others will follow in fairly rapid order.

IF YOU DON'T think presidential primaries are important, hark back to 1976, when Jimmy Carter made his name increasingly well known by appearing in the primaries.

Carter received 23,373 votes in the New Hampshire primary while the four liberals — Morris K. Udall, Birch Bayh, Fred H. Harris and Sargent Shriver — sliced up twice that number, 46,826, between them.

At that time, there wasn't a man among the four who didn't think he could take Mr. Carter over the hurdles.

In a post-election conference at Harvard's Institute of Politics, Robert J. Keefe, manager of Sen. Henry M. Jackson's 1976 campaign said Jackson's decision to skip New Hampshire was probably the most critical strategic error any Democrat made in the nomination fight.

Had Jackson offered for the nation's highest office there, he might or might not have won. But, at worst, he probably would have split the moderate-conservative vote with Carter and thrown the victory to Udall.

The relevance of that 20-20 hindsight is that the conservative candidates are leading up the 1980 Republican field in New Hampshire in much the same way that liberals crowded in back in 1976.

RONALD REAGAN, the presumed favorite in New Hampshire, will have to share the conservative portion of the spectrum in 1980 with young Philip M. Crane, the already-announced Illinois congressman, and with likely challengers John B. Connally of Texas and Bob Dole of Kansas.

The only certain contender there with a moderate label is George Bush of Texas, the former ambassador and national GOP chairman. Bush could be forced to share the moderate GOP vote if Senate Minority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., or Illinois Governor James R. Thompson enter the race.

Two progressive Republicans, Rep. John B. Anderson and Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, could find enough support in New Hampshire to sustain their presidential ambitions, too.

If you're a political buff, 1979 could be a very engaging year, if for no other reason than 1980 looms ever nearer. If you weary easily of the cacophony that accompanies any political campaign, you'd best get yourself a pair of ear muffs and prepare for what's ahead. The political rhetoric is being prepared even now.

Handling the issues

Around the rim

James Werrell

Sometimes we "Rim" writers get carried away with what goes on in our workday lives. Every time our cats get run over, our babies drool, or our fish eat one another. We feel compelled to record it for posterity in the upper right-hand corner of the editorial page.

Why? Because next to running out of milk in the middle of making chipped-beef on toast these are probably the most exciting events of the week for us. Besides, we hope you have cats, kids or fish that do the same things.

to Southern California and pay 70 cents a gallon for gas like the rest of us, and maybe get Roiled or something.

Last night we visited Danny and Rhonda Reagan over at the home of Rhonda's parents, Bill and Lou Norris, where we had some of Lou's best-in-the-world fried chicken. Rhonda, by the way, is looking very peachy after a short stay at the hospital.

ALSO VISITING with the Reagans is their humanoid cat, the ever-popular Bucky. "Rim" readers of yore will remember Buck as that fun-loving ball of white heat that spent most of his childhood spreading cigarette butts on the rug and playing the Acapulco cliff-diver game on Rhonda's head.

But when we saw him last night, he seemed to have mellowed a bit. He was lying with his head in one of Danny's shoes, and chicken gizzards on his breath, and barely raised an eyelid when we entered the room.

When I scratched his head and said hello, he replied "Waaa, Waaa."

The sound reverberated in my head, and all I could think of was "Wall, Wall... Great Wall of China!" Should we really be normalizing relations with mainland Chinese? You bet!

Come on, Taiwan, grow up! When you can fit a third of the world's population on that shrimpy little island of yours, then maybe we can talk turkey. Or should I say, pressed duck.

I guess there is a chance that I lost some of you readers who just can't handle a hard-boiled look at the really important issues of the day. I'm sorry, but it's just something I had to get off my chest.

Don't worry, though. I'll try to lighten it up next week. My fish have started eating each other again.

Confused issues

William F. Buckley, Jr.

It became a gag a few years ago when it first appeared as graffiti: "FREE THE INDIANAPOLIS 500." The tacit point is worth meditating. It is, of course, that any arrest of what one might call a corporate character — more than one or two defendants — is inherently suspicious. Putatively a "political" arrest, trial, conviction, of the kind that catches the attention of Andy Young.

WHAT MAKES THE case of the so-called Wilmington Ten stand out is that the Justice Department has filed a brief amicus curiae in behalf of the W-10, alongside the Communist Party of the U.S.A., the United Church of Christ, and, in absentia, the Soviet Union. Such sponsorship by no means establishes the guilt of the Wilmington 10, but does provoke the curiosity.

For the benefit of those whose subscription to the Daily World has lapsed, the Wilmington Ten are nine black men and one white woman, convicted in 1972 for the burning of a Wilmington, North Carolina, grocery store during two days of rioting one year earlier.

The case got complicated by retractions and recantations. One Allen Hall, a principal witness for the prosecution, presented himself in 1975 at the law offices of the defense attorney for the purpose of withdrawing his testimony. His motives in doing so were slightly polluted by his accepting $328 from the defense to defray bills for food, lodging, liquor and phone calls. And then the recantation came when, over the telephone, he recanted the recantation in a taped telephone call to the prosecutor in which he said that the defense had threatened him into doing what he did.

A second source of confusion has been the Reverend Eugene Templeton, pastor of the Wilmington church in which the offenses of the Ten were plotted, if one is to believe the prosecution. Mr. Templeton claimed, on CBS's "60 Minutes," that he had actually intended to testify in behalf of the Ten — but fumbled his duty on hearing rumors that, if he failed to aid the prosecution, he would himself be arrested. "60 Minutes" neglected to mention that the prosecutor had personally assured the defense that Templeton would not be touched; indeed, that the prosecution had wanted Templeton to submit to cross-examination, which he failed to do.

THE TEN, HAVING lost several appeals, are coming in this time around on a complaint that the trial judge withheld from the defense knowledge of a revised version of Allen Hall's first statement to the police. The Justice Department has supported them in an 89-page brief the operative conclusion of which is that "since there is a reasonable likelihood that the jury's verdict might have been different... one could conclude that the trial was imbued with a fundamental unfairness, and was in violation of the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment."

Understand that, the static notwithstanding, the question of punishment is now largely moot: all the defendants have been paroled, save only the group's leader, who is studying divinity in a special prison program. What the defendants are after is "pardons of innocence," and given the licentious uses of the due process clause, that may very well be what they will end up with.

EVERYBODY KNOWS, by now, the rakish uses of the 5th Amendment. What is new is the unprecedented (no hyperbole here: this is literally the first) intervention of the Justice Department at the state level.

Toxoplasmosis may harm fetus

By Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Please tell me in plain language what toxoplasmosis is. My granddaughter has it in her left eye. Mr. W.G.

This is a parasite disease that humans get by eating undercooked or raw meat or handling the feces of warm-blooded animals, more specifically that of the cat. Some suspect that cats are the exclusive carriers. It is widespread, though mild, and often practically symptomless. It has been estimated that about a third of the population has been affected at one time or another because of the frequency of telltale antibodies found in routine blood examinations. Presence of antibodies usually means a past exposure to the infecting organism.

A particularly insidious route of infection is to the newborn by way of the placenta of a pregnant woman who is infected. Involvement of the eyes of newborns is one of the more serious consequences. As I mentioned, ordinarily adult infection produces only mild symptoms, such as fever and weakness, which may last for months. The lymph nodes are usually enlarged.

Many times the infection is so mild as not to require treatment. But if there is an inordinate rise in antibodies (indicating the more serious type), then medicines like sulfadiazine, pyrimethamine, or prednisone may be prescribed. Treatment does not, however, prevent formation of cysts in the tissue, which remain. The outlook is generally good for those who get the infection after birth.

While cats are the prime suspects, I should point out that those kept indoors are usually safe from it. Those allowed to wander freely may be threats, and pregnant women should exercise special caution.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I found a lump on each of my breasts. The doctor examined me and said I might need surgery, but he called in a specialist to look at them. At that time the specialist turned to his nurse and asked for a syringe. He then drew some fluid from my breasts, a darkish fluid. He told me the material in the needle was my cysts and that he had just saved me a $350 operation. Four years ago I had had two cysts removed from my right breast by surgery and had a biopsy that showed they were not malignant. I have never heard of this new method before. I am confused and wonder if the wrong decision was made. There is a swelling in my left breast, and it is painful. Please comment. M.J.L.

You appear to be a chronic cyst former. The fluid of cysts is usually a clear, brown-greenish hue. The aspiration (syringe) method is the recognized procedure for emptying a cyst. When drained dry, about half may reappear. The rest will disappear, not to return. It does indeed, save you from surgery. If the cyst on the left breast has reformed and is painful it may have to be aspirated again or removed at a later date. The doctor very likely examined the cyst fluid to determine its status. Sometimes women on the birth control pills or other hormone medicines may lose the tendency to form cysts when they discontinue them.

Dear Dr. Ruble: When I was about three months pregnant I was X-rayed in the spine area. I didn't realize that this could damage the baby I was carrying then. My son was born at full term and was healthy. Now he is 20 and is serious about a girl he wants to marry. Is it possible that my X-rays could affect their children? M.M.

The chief dangers of X-rays are to the fetus during the first three months of pregnancy. Your son apparently escaped any harmful effects. You need not be concerned about any effect on his children.

Dear Dr. Ruble: How obese does a person have to be to qualify to get an intestinal bypass job done in order to reduce? M.M.

The decision is based on various factors — for example, how life-threatening the obesity is. There is a rule of thumb that is sometimes loosely applied. It is that the person should be approximately 100 percent heavier than he should be for his height. If your normal weight were 150 pounds and if you weighed 300 you might be considered sufficiently obese to warrant the procedure. But you certainly would not need it necessarily. More recently, some success has been obtained with a sort of stapling of a portion of the stomach to decrease its volume and encourage weight loss.

According to John R. Neill of the University of Kentucky College of Medicine, about 90 percent of overweight persons fall within 30 pounds of their desired weights.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Do you advise a woman who is pregnant to continue taking part in contact sports? Like basketball? — J.Z.

No, particularly not after the first three months. The pelvis provides excellent protection for the uterus, but as pregnancy progresses the uterus enlarges and is in a more vulnerable position, where a sharp, direct blow might cause some injury to it. Basketball has been defined by some as a "collision" sport.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of a booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to Dr. Ruble in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My doctor has just told me that we will never have children. We had looked forward to being parents very much. Why does God allow this to happen? — B.W.

DEAR B.W.: I know this is difficult for you to accept. However, God does not make mistakes. He has allowed this to happen for a reason. His purposes are not always clear to us immediately, but you can be sure He is faithful and can be trusted.

You probably will want to think about the possibility of adoption. While it is not always easy, it may well be that God wants to give you a child in this way. Talk with your doctor and your pastor about this; they should be able to point you to the proper agencies.

If this does not seem to be an option for you, then accept the fact that God has something else in store for you. Because His way is perfect, you can be sure whatever He has for you will be far better than anything you could imagine right now. You and your husband should commit this matter to God and trust Him to lead you together. If you have never really trusted Jesus Christ and made Him the center of your lives, God may be using this incident to show you your need of Him. Turn your lives over to Christ, and then begin to seek His will for your lives.

Don't grow bitter because you can't have children. Instead, ask God to help you seek the very special responsibilities He does have for you.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

I reviewed Keith Hart's Letter to the Editor with regret as it depicts a false impression on the events which happened Dec. 20. It is true that Hart did land his Cessna 172 on the aircraft parking ramp instead of an authorized runway; his stated reason being due to the excessive crosswinds he would have experienced if he landed on Runway 35 Right.

Following Hart's landing, I contacted him by telephone at Transregional Air to inquire as to why he landed on the aircraft parking ramp instead of the crosswind runway which extends West at 250 degrees. I further stated to Hart that I had personally landed on the crosswind runway just 30 minutes prior to his arrival and that his use of the crosswind runway would have been the safest and most suitable landing area for him under the existing wind conditions, as landing on the aircraft parking ramp, endangered not only himself, but the general aviation public who park their aircraft on the ramp and workmen who are traveling the ramp in their vehicles.

Hart acknowledged that he had knowledge of my landing on the crosswind runway but since his aircraft was a high wing-type airplane, he thought the safest measure was to land on the aircraft parking ramp area.

During my telephone conversation with Hart it was apparent that he was uncertain of the exact wind direction just prior to his landing and that he was not familiar with the crosswind runway feature. I relayed to Hart that if the hazardous condition existed, as he stated, his safest avenue would have been to land at a suitable alternate airport which would provide him a near zero degree crosswind landing situation. At no time did Hart relay to me that he was low on fuel and had to land at the Big Spring Airport.

I am concerned that Hart felt it necessary to state his complaint against the airport management through "Letter to the Editor" means. I believe that the conversation between Hart and myself was tactful, fact finding and informative to both parties. As Hart was evidently concerned about high winds, low on fuel and considered the situation as nearing an emergency, it was his option to land wherever he selected; it was also my duty to inquire as to why he elected to land on an unauthorized area as it prompted a hazardous situation.

I also emphasize that it is the pilots' responsibility to know what the weather conditions are at the destination airport, the general layout of the destination airport runways and taxiways and to have sufficient reserve fuel on board to meet with contingencies. When a situation happens as did to Hart, a simple call to the Airport Management through Transregional Air's Unicom radio, would have provided me knowledge of Hart's situation and sufficient time to clear the aircraft parking ramp of vehicles and personnel should he require the aircraft ramp to land upon. This has been a standard procedure for emergency situations and each Fixed Base Operator has received such procedures in writing. In this case, however, no call was ever made to the Airport Management for assistance in aiding a pilot who was faced with a hazardous situation.

As Airport Manager, it is my charter and duty to develop the airport into a safe environment for both general aviation and the public. In doing this, we have identified and improved two separate runways from which to operate on, fully believing that the existing approved runways are suitable for most any general aviation situation and any further expansion of additional runways would be a total waste of tax dollars. Although we have emphasized this to our Fixed Base Operators and to local pilots by means of a quarterly newsletter, some are opposed to our procedures and willfully violate such standards by taking off and landing on the aircraft parking ramp and taxiways.

The Airport Management and Steering Committee has worked closely with the FAA in establishing safe general aviation procedures for the general aviation majorities. It appears that most pilots are satisfied with such procedures, especially when we are able to discuss with them the pro's and con's of doing things a certain way. It is the general aviation minority we are troubled with, and who oppose our safety first — convenience second approach and either refuse to comply with our standards or will not engage in a discussion of reasoning to determine as to why we have established certain operating procedures.

In conclusion, I am sorry that Hart developed a poor impression of Big Spring Airport management. Had the proper procedures been followed, I believe his letter would have been one of thanks instead of complaint.

I welcome Hart's visit should he ever return to the Big Spring Airport. I believe a face-to-face discussion would alter his attitude concerning the Big Spring Airport management. For others who are in opposition to our development efforts, I invite each to personally discuss their objections with me at their convenience, as I believe such informative discussion can be beneficial to all parties involved.

Education criticized in Time magazine ad

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The birth of his son prompted Marty Malone to run a full-page ad in Time magazine criticizing Florida's education system. The state's bureaucracy has recoiled like a student told to stand in the corner.

"Florida's educational system stinks," proclaimed the ad in a regional edition of the Jan. 8 issue.

The ad has a picture of 6-month-old Marty Jan Malone and a large headline reading, "This is my newborn son, I demand Florida give him a decent education."

Malone's wife, Juliette, said becoming a father inspired her husband, a Miami advertising agent, to write the ad.

"Florida is 49th in the amount of state and local tax money provided for all government, but that's not schools," Turlington said. "We're probably at 30 in the amount of per pupil expenditures."

He said only 1 percent of the 2,050 public schools in Florida still operate on double session.

Steve Hull, a spokesman for Gov. Bob Graham, said acting state Commerce Secretary James Cooney was told by a Time regional representative that a request for response space would have to be forwarded to Time corporate executives in New York.

Missing diplomat key figure in 1976 baffling, brutal killings

WASHINGTON (AP) — William Bradford Bishop Jr., the former American diplomat reportedly spotted in Sweden, is the central figure in one of the most baffling — and more brutal — murder cases in recent American history.

For almost three years, Bishop has been on the Federal Bureau of Investigation's list of fugitives from justice, the prime suspect in the slayings of his wife, his mother and his three sons, aged 14, 10 and 5.

Authorities had followed a bloody trail from a shallow grave in North Carolina to a Washington suburban home to an abandoned car — but seemingly ended there. In three years the best report on Bishop seemed to be the one from Sweden.

It was on March 2, 1976, that the bodies of the five Bishop family members were found in the open grave in a remote swamp area of North Carolina, some 200 miles south of Washington, D.C. They had been doused with gasoline and set afire in an apparent attempt to destroy them, but smoke from the fire was seen by a forest ranger.

Identification of the bodies was difficult, and it was a week before police were able to establish that the actual murders took place on March 1 at the Bishop family home in Carderock Springs, an upper income area of Bethesda, Md.

Investigation showed that Bishop's mother, Lobelia, 68, his wife Annette, 37, and their three sons were beaten to death. There was no trace of Bishop and authorities at first speculated that he, too, had been the victim of a slayer.

But he became a suspect after it was discovered that on the same day the bodies were found, he used a credit card to buy outdoor supplies in a store in Jacksonville, N.C., about 100 miles farther south.

Sixteen days later, Bishop's blood-spattered station wagon was found abandoned at a campground in the Great Smoky Mountain National Park on the North Carolina-Tennessee border. Inside were a bloody blanket, a shotgun, an ax and some pills used for treating depression or insomnia prescribed for Bishop by a psychiatrist.

Authorities speculated that Bishop might have hiked into the rugged mountains and either committed suicide or died of exposure.

WILLIAM BRADFORD BISHOP JR.

At first the search for Bishop was concentrated in the North Carolina region where he vanished. Some hikers on the Appalachian Trail reported seeing a man fitting his description about the time of the incident. Others claimed to have met him in towns along the Atlantic coast.

The murders shocked the quiet community where the Bishops lived, and the State Department as well. "Brad" Bishop, then 39, was a professional foreign service officer who had served in Ethiopia, Italy and Botswana, and was highly regarded by his superiors.

Neighbors, describing the family as well-liked, puzzled along with the police over the possible motive for the mass slaying, and police still have no motive for the slayings.

Police believe the most plausible theory of what happened to Bishop is that he carried out an elaborate plan to disappear.

Some officers believe he planned for his disappearance by having one or more phony passports prepared that would enable him to travel abroad. They also assume he has changed his appearance.

Since Bishop was indicted as a federal fugitive from justice, the FBI has checked dozens of reports that he was seen at various places in the United States, Africa and Europe.

There was a brief surge of excitement last year when a newspaper photograph of hostages taken by South Moluccan terrorists in the Netherlands showed a man who looked like Bishop. The resemblance was close, but the man turned out to be a Dutch taxi driver.

On Wednesday, the FBI confirmed Washington radio station WMAL's report that it was investigating a possible sighting of Bishop in Sweden last summer.

According to the FBI, a woman who said she knew Bishop and his family in Ethiopia between 1965 and 1968 claimed to have seen him twice on the street in Stockholm in the first week of July.

The women, who reportedly is Swedish but was not identified by name, said Bishop wore a beard. Reportedly, she told police she made no attempt to talk to the man, and notified them only after remembering that she had heard about the Bishop family to be screened

"John Baker's Last Race," the true story of the New Mexico track athlete's courageous race against death, will be shown for the public at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Howard County Library.

Baker, a track runner of the late 1960s, died of cancer while still in his 20s. He coached for some time after he was no longer able to run, teaching students how to run life, as well as races.

The film is sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, although it has no religious doctrine. It will be shown at Big Spring High School and other area schools during the week.

It is recommended that visitors to the library use the back steps for easier access in case of ice.

While stating that the woman "was not in a position to be certain" that the man she saw was Bishop, FBI agents said the report was the most substantial one received thus far because it was the first from someone who actually knew Bishop.

They also said Swedish police were cooperating in "making an effort to locate and positively identify the suspect." This was described in news reports as a covert investigation by Swedish authorities.

WMAL also said, however, that Swedish police had told U.S. officials they had found no evidence that Bishop was still in Sweden, and that they had refused a request by the FBI for a "publicity blitz" that would include distributing photos of Bishop to Swedish news media.

ATKINSON FASHION — Shown are two examples of the Bill Atkinson collection being presented in New York.

Please Fasten Your Earplugs

DEAR READERS: The following item appeared recently in my column:

DEAR ABBY: While flying from Los Angeles to Chicago recently, I was rudely awakened from a much-needed nap by a booming voice that came over the loudspeaker with: "This is your captain speaking. We are now flying over the Grand Canyon . . . etc."

Abby, this was not a charter flight carrying a load of sight-seeing hicks who had never flown before. I'm sure most of the passengers had already seen the Grand Canyon from 39,000 feet.

Be a friend to those of us who fly the friendly skies frequently and print this. It might help.

J.E. IN L.A.

DEAR J.E.: I also fly the friendly skies frequently, and concur. (Captain, oh, captain, are you listening?) Ever since the above hit print, I have been deluged with reader reaction. For example:

DEAR ABBY: To assume that others should miss the opportunity of a lifetime because YOU have already seen the Grand Canyon at 39,000 feet is selfish and inconsiderate. If you and J.E. find it necessary to nap in the afternoon, you should get to bed earlier or see a doctor.

J.K. IN COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA

DEAR ABBY: If J.E. doesn't appreciate the captain's announcements, why doesn't he charter his own private jet and put a hood over his head?

BILL C. IN ELIZABETH, N.J.

DEAR ABBY: I am a private pilot and recently flew to Arizona on a commercial flight. This was my first flight west. The captain's voice, calling attention to points of interest, increased the pleasure of the flight immensely. I had a window seat, but there were three noses pressed against it. So, Abby, stick this in your boarding pass and enjoy your next flight.

E.C. IN COLUMBUS, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: I agree with you and J.E., reluctantly, that sleeping passengers should be allowed to sleep. However, you should not have allowed his arrogant, deprecating allusion to "sight-seeing hicks" to have passed without reprimand.

BERNARD SCOTT, ERIE, PENN.

DEAR BERNARD: You're right. I apologize.

DEAR ABBY: Fares are now low enough so that many are flying for the first time. Those who want to sleep during a daytime flight should use earplugs. I slept soundly at 2 a.m. during a forced landing while the rest of the passengers prayed and sang hymns.

Tween 12 and 20

Most shoplifters are teenage girls

By Robert Wallace Ed. D.

Teens: I know this title won't shock you, but I'd like to shed a little light on the subject thanks to information sent to me by Seventeen Magazine.

Interestingly, studies show that the greatest proportion of shoplifters are female and sadly, most of them are teenage girls with enough money to pay for what they steal.

There are many reasons why teens shoplift, but two of the main reasons are that teen employment is more difficult to obtain, therefore teens don't have the opportunity to earn money; and that shoplifting is exciting.

Everything sounds cool and relaxed, that is, until you are caught. The pain to you and your family when you are caught and arrested is everlasting.

Dear Doctor Wallace: I'm 17 years old and my problem is my 14-year-old sister. She wants to do everything I do and go everywhere I go. It wouldn't be so bad if she was more mature but she isn't. She acts like a chaperone when I'm with my boyfriend and doesn't take her eyes off us or let us out of her sight if she can help it. She always knows what's going on even if it's none of her business.

She talks before she thinks and embarrasses me in front of my friends. On more than one occasion, one of my friends has refused to go anywhere with me if she's along. This is getting to be irritating and I'm losing friends because of it. I've tried talking it over with my mother but it hasn't done any good. Help! — K.D., Elyria, Ohio

K.D.: Fourteen-year-old sisters should not be going places all the time with 17-year-olds, especially on a date. See if your school counselor can give mother "guidance."

For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace in care of this newspaper.

Focus on family living

Meet the perfect housewife

By JANET ROGERS
County Extension Agent

Have you ever met "the perfect housewife?" "The perfect housewife" always has a clean house, clean kids and clean laundry. How do we know? Television tells us so. Shirley Partridge does — and she does it without a husband. Carol Brady does and she does it without a husband. Carol Brady does — with little help from Alice Edith does — without any help from Archie. Even Carolyn Ingalls does — with what appears to be help from only a homemade broom and a bar of Iysoap.

The perfect housewife always has a clean home, clean kids and clean laundry. How do we know? Advertising tells us so. The house can't smell like fried fish or the neighbors will whisper. The linoleum floor can't have black heel marks or your mother-in-law will think unkindly of you.

So it becomes a battle lasting your lifetime between you and the forces of Evil, Dirt, and Clutter. You know the battle is lost if your husband comes home with "ring around the collar."

The perfect housewife understands and meets her husband's every need. You're there at the door to greet him in the evening, you've coped with the children all day, the house is spotless, and the dinner is a sumptuous feast without going over $3.25. You've fixed the toaster, unplugged the sink, mowed the lawn and tiled the bathroom floor. And your reward for all of this? You discover he really prefers stuffing over potatoes.

How can you do all this — marvelous though you are? Obviously you can't. The role of the perfect housewife may be a guilt-infested role. It soon becomes perfectly clear that playing the perfect mother, perfect wife or perfect housewife is perfectly awful. Most happy homemakers enjoy being just themselves.

Setting priorities can help you escape from the perfect housewife role. To achieve this you have to know what you really want to be and do, rather than play a role of what you think others expect of you.

Ask yourself a few questions. Do you want your children to grow up remembering that their mother had the cleanest windows in town or that their mother could sure make neat sand castles? Are you more concerned with the carpet than those who use and abuse it?

There are a few guidelines to help prevent the world from squeezing you into its mold. Write down your priorities. What is important to you? What do you want out of life for yourself, husband and children. Keep housework in perspective — it's only done to make the home comfortable for family living — not an end in itself. Avoid competing with other wives, mothers, neighbors, husbands and children.

DRESSMAKER The Sewing Machine that's built to last. With a price you can afford. New from $60.00 to $200.00 Flat or free arm — all the stitches you'll ever need. Carrying cases only $15.00 (Made to take a beating) Also Used Singers. We are specialists in repairs & service.

Boy's world plunges into darkness

CHICAGO (AP) — David was only seven years old when his world was plunged into darkness.

For reasons which neither he nor anyone else involved seemed to understand, that's when his mother decided to close the door on their apartment and lock the rest of the world out.

To make sure no one could reach them, David's mother had the phone disconnected. She had the gas meter removed and they no longer ate hot meals. She stopped using electricity: no television, no radio, no phonograph, no refrigerator, and most of all, no lights.

In the fall of 1977, David did not report for the third grade at nearby McPherson school, and instead remained hidden away with his mother in their third-floor apartment. He saw no other children, and his "friends" became the dolls he had in the apartment, two goldfish, a bird and a hamster named Charlie.

David's aunts and his maternal grandmother came by, but they never got beyond the locked door. They would stand in the hall and beg David's mother to open it, but she never did. When the landlord stopped to collect the rent, she would slip an envelope under the door.

Only at night, and only occasionally, when she was certain no one could see them, the mother would take David to the grocery store. Almost secretly, they would emerge from the apartment to buy food — potato chips, bread, crackers, luncheon meat and the like — that was cheap and required no refrigeration or cooking.

Despite these measures, and the anonymity that living in the city seems to afford, David's absence did not go unnoticed.

But, as the family told Chicago Tribune columnist Anne Keegan, the efforts to free David required monumental patience.

Shortly after school began that year, a woman who lived downstairs called the Department of Children and Family Services to report that David was not being allowed to go to school. But she got nowhere.

Meanwhile, David's aunt called the school and was told a truant officer was looking into the case. But he "never returned any of my calls," said the sister. "He paid no attention to us at all, as if he didn't care."

Then she called family services and was told something would be done. But time passed and nothing was.

Then the sister contacted the state's attorney office and was told nothing could be done because she was not the legal guardian. She wrote a television station and the response was no different from the others.

"If I didn't see them at night sometimes coming home with a pitiful little bag of food, you'd never know anyone lived up there," said a neighbor. "David had been completely removed from the world, and I couldn't take it any longer. I didn't want to live next door to a child who was getting paler and paler and thinner and thinner and his clothes getting too small for him and me not do something."

So the neighbor called McPherson School. They told her to call family services, and again nothing was done. So she called the state's attorney's office and they told her to call the Board of Education. The result was the same. "I had made a complete circle," she said, "and it really burned me up."

Today's junk may be tomorrow's treasure

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Don't throw away those old matchbooks, menus and greeting cards. While they may seem ordinary now, someday they could be valuable collector's items, says the January issue of Seventeen Magazine.

"Today's commonplace item may become another generation's rarity," concurs Anne Gilbert, author of Collecting the New Antiques (Grosset & Dunlap). Just as the dresses in Grandma's trunk are now considered funky, more and more old photos, calendars and catalogs are coming out of the garage and into the galleries.

To start your collection, find a unifying theme, whether it's Harlow or horror movies, Redford or romance. Ask your local theater manager for appropriate posters, and collect lobby cards (mounted advertisements), publicity photos, and play programs. Deltiology, or postcard collecting, can provide a fascinating history of popular culture. And events like the Bicentennial, the King Tut exhibit and political elections have yielded souvenirs that could appreciate in value. You also could look for trendy record graphics and old album covers, as well as magazine art and photography.

David missed all of third grade and the following summer remained locked in the apartment. When the school year began in the fall of 1978, he did not appear.

Hunt your treasure in attics, thrift shops, garage sales, auctions and church bazaars, and consult local collectors' clubs, hobby magazines and flea market dealers. You might even start by cleaning your closet!

The mother's family grew desperate. They did not know where David's mother was getting her money or when it would run out. They did not want to think about what would happen in the third-floor apartment if it did. They wanted to get David out.

In November they went to the Assyrian National Aide Society where an unpaid volunteer named Diane took up their cause. They targeted Thanksgiving as their goal to free David, and they went to Juvenile Court to do it.

But Thanksgiving passed, and a court mixup caused the case to be continued. Their goal then became Dec. 12, David's ninth birthday. That day passed uncelebrated.

In a last desperate move just before the New Year, Diane and the family went to the mental health division of the state's attorney's office. That day, a judge issued a writ of detention.

It took two policemen to force the door and take the mother, kicking and sobbing, to a mental hospital. And there sat David and his "friends."

The dolls and the birds were fine, but Charlie the hamster, wrapped tenderly in a washcloth as though he were asleep, had died.

In the apartment, police found a replica of the city that David had built because he never got to see the original anymore.

There, too, they found a book he had written and illustrated about a child who had fallen into a dark hole. In it, two policemen finally found the hole after a long, long time, got a crane and "up, up went the rope," wrote David "and they pulled the child out."

"I am so happy to get out of there," said the child in the story. "We're happy, too," said the policeman.

Shah's mother, sister seek refuge in desert

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The besieged mother and sister of Iran's troubled shah have found refuge in a sprawling desert estate, where former President Richard Nixon also sought a haven in recent years.

Queen Mother Tadj Ul Moluk and Princess Chams arrived at the oasis winter residence of Walter Annenberg Wednesday night after they became the targets of anti-shah violence in Beverly Hills.

Federal, state and local authorities are protecting the estate — surrounded by a high wall and Tamarisk trees — said Annenberg, the former U.S. ambassador to Great Britain.

Asked about security against possible violence by anti-shah demonstrators at Sunnyslands near Rancho Mirage, the 70-year-old publisher replied: "If they come, so be it."

Annenberg served as ambassador to Great Britain from 1969 to 1974, and his winter home provided seclusion for Richard Nixon following the former president's resignation in 1974.

The United States offers shelter to those seeking protection from radical extremists, the citizens of this country should respond affirmatively if necessary," he said.

The 90-year-old mother of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi was flown to Los Angeles from riot-swept Iran last weekend, reportedly to seek medical attention.

She was at the Beverly Hills home of her daughter, Princess Chams, on Tuesday when about 500 protesters — including many Iranian students attending U.S. colleges — rushed the house. Demonstrators broke windows and set fire to cars before being driven back by police using tear gas and fire hoses.

In a statement to the Palm Springs Desert Sun, Annenberg called the attack "outrageous conduct." He said the demonstrators' threats against "the shah's elderly mother and his sister in their anarchistic drive to murder them, enraged Americans."

Attorney General Griffin Bell, acting on instructions from President Carter, said Thursday that participants in such violence "will be deported to the extent the law permits or requires."

Cold temperatures remain over nation

Rain and freezing drizzle slicked roads in Oklahoma and northern Texas, and cold temperatures continued today from the Midwest to the Atlantic Coast.

Deaths related to the cold were reported Thursday in Illinois, where two mentally retarded boys were found frozen to death, and in Georgia, where an elderly woman died in a fire kindled by sparks from a bedroom fireplace.

Electric use records were set in Milwaukee and in North and South Carolina.

Schools were closed Thursday in parts of Oklahoma because of ice-coated roads, and Oklahoma Gov. George Nigh ordered all non-essential state workers to stay home today because of the hazardous driving conditions.

Rain was reported from the coast of eastern Texas into Arkansas and Louisiana, with freezing drizzle over Oklahoma and northern Arkansas. Snow fell in Nebraska, Kansas and much of the Midwest.

Snow continued through the Great Lakes region, and snow showers were reported across western New York.

A strong cold front off the West Coast brought rain into southern California, and cloudy skies and low temperatures were reported in the Pacific Northwest. Readings below zero were recorded in Nebraska and the Dakotas.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 37 below zero in Butte, Mont. to 67 in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Here are some early morning temperatures and weather conditions from key cities around the nation:

Eastern U.S.: Cincinnati 16, snow; Cleveland 12, cloudy; Detroit 10, snow; New York 25, windy; Pittsburgh 13, cloudy;

Guidry honored as Male Athlete of the Year

By The Associated Press
Ron Guidry, the slender New York Yankee left-hander who authored one of the most remarkable pitching seasons in major league baseball history, was named Male Athlete of the Year for 1978 by The Associated Press today.

Guidry, who was the unanimous choice for the American League's Cy Young Award after posting a remarkable 25-3 record last season, received 143 votes in nationwide balloting by 412 sports writers and broadcasters.

The Yankee southpaw easily outdistanced another baseball star, Pete Rose of the Philadelphia Phillies, who finished second with 94 votes after setting a modern National League record by hitting safely in 44 consecutive games for the Cincinnati Reds last season.

Jim Rice, the Boston Red Sox slugger who beat Guidry for the American League's Most Valuable Player Award, was third with 38.

Muhammad Ali, who became the first man in history to win the heavyweight championship three times, finished fourth with 26. He was just ahead of rookie running back Earl Campbell of the Houston Oilers, the National Football League rushing leader with 1,450 yards, who had 23.

Auto racer Mario Andretti (13), marathon runner Bill Rodgers (12), Dave Parker of the Pittsburgh Pirates (9), Triple Crown jockey Steve Cauthen (8), and tennis star Bjorn Borg (7) completed the top 10 finishers. Cauthen won the award last year. Guidry's winning percentage of .893 was the best ever for a 20-game winner and his earned run average of 1.74 was the lowest by an American League left-hander since Dutch Leonard's 1.01 in 1914. The Yankee left-hander also had nine shutouts, tying the AL record set in 1916 by Babe Ruth.

Guidry started the season with a 13-game winning streak, and for the first half of the year was the only dependable pitcher his floundering team had. Fifteen of his 25 victories, which included the division clinch in the single-game playoff against Boston, came after New York losses. He pitched the pennant clincher in the championship series against Kansas City and resumed his stopper role in the World Series, winning the third game against Los Angeles after the Yankees had dropped the first two contests.

The slim southpaw set a club record with 248 strikeouts in 2732-3 innings, breaking a Yankee mark that had endured for 74 years since Jack Chesbro fanned 239 in 1904. He finished second in the AL in strikeouts, trailing only California's Nolan Ryan, who had 280.

Guidry, 28, bloomed late for the Yankees. He had been up and down several times between the major and minor leagues and was ready to give up baseball in 1976 when the club farmed him out again. But his wife urged him to give it one more try.

He struggled through a bad spring training in 1977 but made the team, and when injuries depleted the staff, he got his opportunity. Guidry posted a 16-7 record that season, setting the stage for his super 1978 season that earned him today's honor.

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Lou Saban begins the seventh college coaching job of his 28-year career today, taking over an Army football program that is rife with controversy.

The hiring of Saban, 57, as head football coach was announced Thursday by Lt. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, superintendent of the Military Academy. Saban resigned as head coach and athletic director at the University of Miami, Fla., to take the Army job.

Saban succeeds Homer Smith, who was fired last month and then charged Army with illegal recruiting practices and an attempted coverup. Smith also said he was fired three days after he resigned.

Saban, who was to be introduced as Army's coach at a news conference today in New York, was briefed Thursday on investigations into alleged improprieties in Army recruiting by Maj. Gen. Ray Murphy, Army's athletic director.

Hangin' out

by Nathan Poss

"Score," a magazine rated as America's number one forecasting newsletter for hard core gamblers, recently published their All-Star professional football teams. It was somewhat interesting because their choices were divided into an All-White Team and All-Black Team.

Of course, the two mythical teams will never meet, but on paper it appeared that the blacks had the better offense. It featured such running backs and specialists as Earl Campbell, Tony Dorsett, Lynn Swann and Wesley Walker.

The White defense, however, looked tougher. The big difference here was the White's linebacking trio of Jack Lambert, Bob Bergey and Randy Gradishar.

A couple of interesting and amusing spots were occupied by Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw and 49er running back O.J. Simpson.

The Juice was included on the 'White' team because a recent survey revealed that due to the high visibility of his Hertz commercials, many people now perceive O.J. as white.

Bradshaw was included on the 'Black' squad because of the lack of a great black QB and because he exhibits all the qualities of the truly great black athlete.

Each team was also honored with two former football greats for captains that in some way got caught doing something that is unacceptable to society.

The "All White Team" selected Joe Don Looney and Lance Rentzel as their dignitaries. When last seen, Looney was meditating in a cow pattie in India and Rentzel was teaching elementary physical education.

The "All-Black Team" honored Joe Gilliam and Warren Wells as their captains. Gilliam was last seen with a tranquil smile on his face, throwing footballs at trees in a Nashville park. Wells was last seen listening to the Raider games on Sunday afternoon from his cell, still claiming that he was framed.

"Score" rates the black team as a nine point favorite. I'll pick the blacks, also, but only by three because the white kicking game featuring Ray Guy and Garo Yepremian should help keep the game closer.

While I'm in the mood to pick, I might as well try to pick the NFL conference championships. A few people have told me throughout the football season that I should have picked a few games of interest in my column. But that would give too many people a good reason to ask me both insane and legitimate questions. A person just has to draw the line on his answers at a certain point, if you know what I mean.

Anyway, in the first game I'll pick Pittsburgh 21, Houston 16. Scooter is going to hate me picking against Houston, but I have to think that the Steelers are just too strong in every aspect of the game. Both of them are my favorites. Houston is said to be a team of destiny, and I'll believe it if they beat the Steelers. A lot depends on Superman.

Dallas 24, Los Angeles 21. The Cowboys will have to play the full 60 minutes the way they played Atlanta the last half. It will still be tough, but Rafael Septien will get revenge against his old teammates with a last minute kick. Everybody talks about the Houston-Pittsburgh game being a bloodbath, but there won't be any baby oil at this one, either.

Howard College men's basketball coach Harold Wilder is accustomed to winning, so the less than average winning percentage of the Hawks this year is somewhat disturbing to him. It's not completely annoying, however, as Wilder can understand the basic reasons behind the record.

What has disturbed Wilder are some of the snide and uncalled for remarks that a few of the locals have made. But it's just human nature for many fans to hurl insults at the coach, despite the fact that they are unaware of what has taken place.

Before the season began, Wilder had to boot two players off the squad for disciplinary reasons. One of the players would have been a starter, and according to the Hawk boss probably would have made the difference in a couple of close games. He made the decision for what he felt was the good of the team, and then asked that nothing be said about the disciplinary action in order to save the young men involved from embarrassment. Wilder could have cried for sympathy, but didn't.

Vilas joins Borg, Connors

BOCA WEST, Fla. — Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, who won the Australian Open Wednesday, joined Bjorn Borg and Jimmy Connors in qualifying for the $300,000 Grand Slam of Tennis, to be held Feb. 9-11.

The Grand Slam matches the winners of the U.S. Open, Wimbledon, French Open and Australian Open. Borg qualified as the reigning Wimbledon and French Open champion, while Connors qualified by beating Borg for the U.S. Open title.

The fourth player to compete will be the winner of the Grand Prix Masters, the alternate qualifying tournament. Should one of the present qualifiers win that event, Vitas Gerulaitis will be invited to compete.

Sporting News picks USC

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Southern California, conqueror of Michigan in the Rose Bowl, has been named the nation's top collegiate football power in final rankings by the Sporting News, a weekly publication.

Alabama was ranked second, Oklahoma third and Michigan fourth. The remainder of the Sporting News top 10 is Nebraska, Notre Dame, Penn State, Michigan State, Clemson and Houston in that order.

USC's triumphs over Big Ten co-champions Michigan and Michigan State plus victories over both Alabama and Notre Dame were cited as reasons for backing the once-beaten Trojans, champions of the Pacific 10 Conference.

Smitty Hill resigns at SA

SNA ANGELO — San Angelo Central Bobcats head football coach Smitty Hill resigned Thursday evening by submitting a letter to the school board.

Hill was under pressure from certain groups before the 1978 season, before the Bobcats slipped to a record of 2-8, worst in the seven year stint of Hill.

Hill, who came from Port Arthur Jefferson in 1972, produced two District 5-AAAA co-champions and an overall record of 42-28.

No successor has been named. San Angelo superintendent James Nevins said that they would search for the best man possible, but that they would also like to name the man before too long.

Swim meet cancelled

The dual swim meet between Big Spring High School and Monahans scheduled for this afternoon at the YMCA has been cancelled, according to swimming coach Harlan Smith.

A make-up meet has not been set.

ATHLETE OF YEAR — New York Yankees pitcher Ron Guidry gets an embrace from his pretty wife Bonnie in Lafayette, La., Thursday afternoon after he was told he was named Athlete of the Year by The Associated Press. The 25-3 Cy Young Award winner finished ahead of Pete Rose, Jim Rice, Muhammad Ali and Earl Campbell for the annual award.

Permian eases by Steer fems

The Odessa Permian Panthers, led by Myrna Smith, jumped out to a 17-2 lead and then held off a Big Spring Steer rally to take a 41-30 victory in girls District 5-AAAA basketball action here Thursday night.

Permian, a team Big Spring had beaten in the Hawk Queen Classic in December, was a much improved outfit. They held a 23-12 halftime lead, and then played the Steers on even terms in the second half for the final winning margin. Smith led the Panther charge with 22 points. Big Spring was led by Peggy Calhoun's nine points. Pam Banks and Debra Ausbie chipped in with eight points each.

Dickey honored

DALLAS (AP) — Texas A&M's Curtis Dickey, a 1,000-yard rusher who led the Aggies to a Hall of Fame Bowl victory over Iowa State, has been named the Texas Sports Writers Association's Amateur Athlete of the Year.

Dickey, only a junior from Bryan, Texas, garnered 30 first place votes for 614 points.

Southern Methodist's All-America wide receiver Emanuel Tolbert was second with 24 first place votes for 572 points.

Others receiving ballots included marathon runner Jeff Wells of Dallas Seminary, 17 first place votes and 444 points; Hank Thurmond, Texas A&M baseball player, six first place votes and 392 points; golfer Lindy Miller of Oklahoma State, nine first place votes and 377 points; and Southern Methodist's Andy Veris, four first place votes and 328 points.

CONTROVERSY OVER THE INSTANT REPLAY — USC's Charles White (12) dives for what officials ruled was USC's second touchdown in their game Monday in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. against Michigan. This play again raised the demand for use of television slow motion and replay equipment to aid the game officials on difficult decisions.

Madden retires as Raider coach

OAKLAND (AP) — John Madden of the Oakland Raiders says he's burned out, has an ulcer to prove it and has coached his last football game.

"There was no pressure on me to retire," he said Thursday in his retirement announcement. "It was my decision."

It was a decision he made late in the 1978 National Football League season, but when the announcement was made, the impact of it filled Madden's eyes with tears.

"Things like this are easy to talk about and hard to do," said the burly, red-haired coach whose 10-year record of 103-32-7 with Oakland is one of the best in NFL history.

"I think this is the end of an era, certainly in Oakland Raiders' history," said Pete Banaszak, the running back who was in his second pro season when Madden joined the team as an assistant coach in 1967.

"I only knew one way to do this job for 10 years, and that was to give it everything I had. I just don't have it any more," Madden said, speaking of the dedication and drive that helped the Raiders win seven division titles and one Super Bowl. Madden may work for the Raiders in another position after relaxing for a few months in hopes his ulcer problem improves, but he said that even should his physical condition improve dramatically, he has decided, "I'm never going to coach again."

Al Davis, the team's managing general partner, probably will name a new head coach within a month.

MADDEN RETIRES..Oakland Raider Head Coach John Madden answers questions Thursday that were asked by newsmen. Madden announced his retirement, stating: "I'm never going to coach again."

Houston Oilers disdain home field advantage

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Home is where the heart is. Home is where you find it. There's no place like home. And home is where the Pittsburgh Steelers play the Houston Oilers Sunday for the American Football Conference title.

"No matter what anyone says, it's a tremendous advantage," said Steeler safety Don Shell. "You still have to play, but it definitely helps."

"Our fans will be fired up," said defensive end L.C. Greenwood. "Maybe some of that electricity will flow out on the field and hinder the Oilers."

"It's not really that big a difference," said Houston Coach Bum Phillips. "We're gonna play 'em."

Whatever the home field is worth, the Steelers have made the most of it since moving into Three Rivers Stadium in 1970.

They have won 53 and lost 12 at home in that span, while compiling a 34-28-1 road record. They are 5-1 at home in the playoffs and 2-3 on the road.

However, Houston has fared better at Three Rivers than any other team in the NFL. The Oilers have won three of nine games in Pittsburgh: one in 1970, one in 1974 and another this season.

No other team from the AFC Central Division has ever beaten the Steelers at Three Rivers. Cleveland and Cincinnati are both winless in nine tries.

"I thought we could win when we went up there before."

BSSHS hosts MHS tomorrow

The Big Spring Steer boys basketball team starts off a rugged weekend of basketball action tonight when they travel to Odessa to meet the Permian Panthers.

The Steers lost their district opener to Abilene by a score of 46-36. Permian is 1-1 in district play. They lost to the loop's top team, Midland, before rebounding to take a 42-41 win over Abilene Tuesday night. The Panthers, who were picked as the number two team in the pre-season poll, start three men that are at least 6'4" in height.

Tomorrow night, the Bovines return to Steer Gym to face the Midland Bulldogs. It is a makeup game for the contest that was originally scheduled for last Tuesday. Midland returns a veteran team from last year, as one first team All-District performer, Walter Bryson, and two honorable mention All-District players return to lead the Purple Pack. Game time is 8:00, with the JV's slated for a 6:15 tipoff.

Steer boss Tommy Collins will start a lineup featuring guards Mike Evans and James Magers, forwards

Stanton at Forsan

FORSAN — Forsan and Stanton will meet tonight in the Forsan Gym with three games on tap. Varsity girls are slated for a 6:00 tipoff, while the boys games will begin at 8:00.

The Forsan girls are fresh and ready after winning the Jayton Tournament last weekend. The Forsan boys advanced to the finals of the same tournament before being ousted by the seventh ranked team in the state in Class B, Greenwood.

NBA Roundup

Campy Russell sure shot the works Thursday night. "He shows you something new every game, doesn't he?" said teammate Terry Furlow after Russell's fine all-around performance led the Cleveland Cavaliers to a 117-103 National Basketball Association victory over the New York Knicks.

The versatile Russell scored 26 points and collected eight assists in another of his powerhouse games this season, and Coach Bill Fitch was quick to underscore his value to the team.

"So far, so good," said Fitch. "From the standpoint of consistency, he's playing both ends of the court, he's handling two positions (forward and guard) and he's been able to stay healthy. I'd have to say he's had an excellent year."

"He's a very versatile player. But he's not a great shooter. Furlow and Bobby Smith would love to get him in a game of 21" on pay day."

In other NBA action Thursday night, the Kansas City Kings beat the San Diego Clippers 108-99 and the New Jersey Nets whipped the New Orleans Jazz 125-112.

Kings 108, Clippers 99
Bernard King scored 29 points and John Williamson had 27 as New Jersey broke a six-game losing streak with its victory over New Orleans. New Orleans, the team with the worst record in the NBA with 27 losses this year, fell far behind early in the contest and never caught up.

Kings 108, Clippers 99
Scott Wedman scored 22 points, including 11 in the decisive third quarter, to lead Kansas City over San Diego. Kansas City trailed 54-51 at halftime, but the Kings scored nine points at the start of the third quarter and never trailed again.

Big Discovery

Nostalgia, nostalgia. Everything that was seems better than anything that is, to most of us. We go for Tiffany lamps and Currier and Ives prints, and now it's "in" to have a beard. But we don't go all the way. Why? Why doesn't the present measure up? Could it be we who are at fault, at least partly, for the buildup of pressures and the breakdown of moral values today? If we're going on a nostalgia trip, let's take it all the way. Let's make the big discovery that people made back in the old days which is just as valid now as it was then ... the Church.

FOR THE NEXT DECADE — First Baptist Church has set the first part of 1980 as the goal for completion of a million dollar building on which construction has begun at 705 W. Marcy. The building is being constructed in order to provide additional activities for youth and children, according to Ron Killough, Minister of Education at the church. It will include a chapel with a seating capacity of 250 people, a gym for sports — including skating — and banquets, a classroom, hobby room, exercise room, separate shower and locker facilities for men and women, a fully-equipped kitchen, six-lane bowling facilities, and some additional space for education. Total cost is estimated at $1,120,000.

Additional publications due in March Good news Bible in 7 million homes

NEW YORK — Well over 7 million copies of the Good News Bible, which was published just two years ago, are now in circulation here at home and around the world, the American Bible Society has announced.

The precise number of copies in circulation is 7,109,891. This breaks down into 4,177,064 distributed by ABS both in the U.S. and overseas; 524,914 through commercial book publishing outlets in the U.S.; and 2,407,893 by partner Bible Societies and associates spread through 158 countries and territories.

When the Good News Bible, in Today's English Version, was first published, it was the Christmas holiday season of 1976. People flocked to the sales counter of the Bible Society's headquarters in New York, eager not only for copies for themselves, but for giving to family and friends. Distribution in this period alone was well over 1 million copies.

"You can expect an initial burst of enthusiasm for a new publishing venture of this kind," said an official of the American Bible Society. "Some people are curious. But the real test comes over the long haul. We are pleased at the way people continue to ask for the Good News Bible. It's because it speaks their kind of language."

This highwater mark in Scripture publishing is surpassed by the circulation record of "Good News for Modern Man," the New Testament part of the Good News Bible, now renamed the "Good News New Testament."

Pearce will sing Sunday

Larry Pearce, Minister of Music and Youth Minister at Foursquare Church in Midland, will present a singing message to the congregation of the local Foursquare Gospel Church, 1210 E. 19th, Sunday.

Pearce attended L.I.F.E. Bible College at Los Angeles, Calif., and is a graduate of Abilene Christian University. He has sung for congregations of many large churches.

Pastor Willis Sparks invites everyone to attend the 10-11 a.m. service.

Nearly 60 million copies of it are in global circulation, mostly in paperback, putting it light years ahead of any current book on the best-seller list. It was first published in 1966.

The Good News Bible is a "common language" translation. It is in everyday English designed to be understood by everyone who reads or speaks the language, wherever they may be and whatever their idiomatic or regional speech patterns.

It is a direct translation, faithful to the Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek in which the Bible was first written. Translation began 17 years ago.

The project's culmination will come with the publication in March of additional writings from Biblical times in selected editions of the Good News Bible, writings known as the Apocrypha or Deuterocanonicals.

Twelve of these same writings are considered sacred Scripture by Roman Catholics, and are called the Deuterocanonicals.

Rev. Bill Henning of First Presbyterian Church will be the guest speaker at the monthly joint worship service of First Methodist, First Presbyterian, First Christian and St. Mary's Episcopal churches at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The hosting church is St. Mary's Episcopal, 1005 Goliad, and the public is invited to attend. Rev. Henning's sermon will be on "God's Unfolding Purpose."

Millions of dollars missing Church founder, aide accused of 'pilfering'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Worldwide Church of God and two of its properties — Ambassador College at Big Sandy, Texas, — have been temporarily put under court jurisdiction after the California attorney general's office accused the church's founder and his chief aide of siphoning off "several million dollars a year."

In a suit filed Tuesday, the attorney general's office accused 86-year-old Herbert W. Armstrong and Stanley Rader, 48, the church's general counsel and treasurer, of liquidating much of the church's property at prices well below market value.

"Dozens and possibly as many as 50 pieces of real estate held by the church have been sold in the last few months," said Deputy Attorney General Lawrence Tapper. Among those were the college's campus at Big Sandy, which was reportedly sold for $10 million, although it was valued at $30 million.

The Big Sandy campus was sold to a Virginia businessman who in turned has offered to lease it to Texas Evangelist Lester Roloff. Roloff has been trying to raise $10.6 million to lease the campus for his Roloff Enterprises, which operates homes for wayward children.

Roloff said today he had been given a 30-day extension to raise the money. The first deadline was today and Roloff was reportedly about $8 million short of the necessary funds.

Attorney general's agents Wednesday seized records and bank account information of the 75,000-member church and two of its properties, Ambassador College and Ambassador International Cultural Foundation Inc.

"We are going to find out what is happening to tens of millions of dollars in funds of the church," said Tapper. "We understand there has been a rapid liquidation of funds in recent months."

A complaint seeking a full accounting of funds of the church, college and cultural foundation was filed by the attorney general and six longtime members and contributors to the Pasadena-based church.

The complaint claimed that Armstrong and Rader siphoned off church property and assets "for their own use and benefit, on a massive scale, amounting to several million dollars per year."

The suit terms this "pilfering."

Rader contended the legal action was based on "wild conclusions and things that are not true" and said the church would go to court to overturn the receivership order. A Jan. 10 hearing has been set in Superior Court on whether a permanent receiver should be appointed.

Communists ban religious literature at Olympics

GLENDALE — Players and spectators of the 1980 summer Olympic games in Moscow will be welcome provided they bring no religious literature into the country, warns the official Communist newspaper Izvestia.

While the ban on Bibles, Korans and any religious material has been in effect for 60 years, the Izvestia warning implies tighter surveillance against missionary efforts to infiltrate crowds and propagate their beliefs during the games.

According to Michael Wurmbbrand, general director of Jesus to the Communist World Inc. of Glendale, California, the penalty for distributing religious literature is two to five years imprisonment.

Wurmbbrand asserts the ban will not stop his organization, as support to the Russian underground church. Secret evangelism efforts behind the Iron Curtain are major efforts of the Glendale mission.

Missionary societies closely guard smuggling methods used for infiltrating Communist countries with the Gospel. Couriers are carefully trained to protect not only themselves and the literature, but their contacts.

A FARTHING'S WORTH
"BUT I DON'T KNOW HOW!"
We'd do a lot of things if we knew how, wouldn't we? I've found this to be true in vital spiritual matters. How often I've gotten into the pulpit and have really given it to the congregation, only to discover that when it came to what I was telling them they should do, they just didn't know how.
I'm starting a series of "How To" lessons and sermons on January 14. I will cover one theme per Sunday morning, teaching on it at 9:45 and preaching on it at 10:45. Here are the themes:
"How to be Sure I'm a Christian"
"How to Experience God's Love and Forgiveness"
"How to Be Filled with the Holy Spirit"
"How to Walk in the Spirit"
"How to Witness in the Spirit"
"How to Introduce Others to Christ"
"How to Help Fulfill the Great Commission"
"How to Love by Faith"
"How to Pray"
"How to STUDY THE BIBLE"
"How to Have Spiritual Unity in the Home"
"How to Maintain Spiritual Unity in the Home"
I will also have devotional guides on each theme to give to everyone to use during the week.
Come, and learn how!

By peaceful means China wants Taiwan back

PEKING (AP) — Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping says he hopes China can get Taiwan back peacefully this year, but he doesn't rule out regaining it by "other than peaceful means."

To rule out other means, the senior vice premier told American correspondents at a news conference today, would tie China's hands. But he emphasized that peaceful reunification of the mainland and the big offshore island is Peking's goal.

Teng said his government "will be taking a variety of measures in different forms" to open discussions with President Chiang Ching-kuo and other leaders of the Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan.

Chiang has repeatedly rejected negotiations with the Communists, and his government has rebuffed the overtures Peking has been making almost daily since the Nationalists' mainstay, the United States, opened diplomatic relations with Peking on Jan. 1 and broke formal relations with Taipei.

But Teng, who is 74, said he expects to see the mainland in control of Taiwan within his lifetime. He added with a smile: "I can live for at least another 10 years."

Teng, who begins a visit to Washington on Jan. 28, spoke with the American reporters for an hour conference in the Great Hall of the People. He spoke in Chinese entirely, using an interpreter, chain-smoked throughout and appeared to relish the session.

He said while in Washington he would not discuss Taiwan with Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Nationalists' chief supporter in Congress, but if he met him he would renew his invitation earlier this week to come to Peking to discuss reunification.

"Our main goal is for Mr. Goldwater to get to know about China," he explained.

Asked about China's getting most-favored-nation tariff status from the United States, which Washington denies the Soviet Union because of its restrictions on Jewish emigration, Teng said his government is "making great efforts in this regard" and "trying to give full play to democracy."

He denied Soviet charges that Chinese-American normalization will lead to a military alliance of Washington, Peking and Tokyo. He said although China "would like to absorb all kinds of advanced things, so far the United States does not have any intention of selling us weapons."

Defense to rest case in Davis trial

HOUSTON (AP) — Defense attorneys, ending their fifth week of testimony, said they intended to rest their case today in the murder conspiracy trial of millionaire Cullen Davis.

Dallas lawyer Phil Burleson said the defense has four potential witnesses remaining but he doubted more than two would actually be called.

"I'll believe it when I see it," said a weary prosecutor. Trial Judge Wallace Moore informed newsmen Thursday he expected the defense to wind up by noon and he instructed the state to have its rebuttal witnesses on hand.

Moore said it was "very likely" the case could reach the jury next week.

"I think they'll rest. They've gone too long as it is," grumbled prosecutor Jack Strickland prior to today's session. Strickland indicated state rebuttal would not exceed more than two days assuming defense cross-examination is not extensive.

Davis, 45, who spent four days on the stand, is accused of plotting the murder of his divorce attorney and others on an alleged death list.

Despite nine weeks of testimony, the jury must decide essentially whether to believe Davis or his chief accuser, FBI informant David McCrory, 40.

McCrory testified that Davis ordered him to hire a gunman to kill Judge Joe Eidsen and the defendant paid him $25,000 when he thought the judge was dead.

The FBI wired McCrory for sound and recorded two conversations last August in which Davis discussed mass murder and the money to finance it.

Davis maintained he "played along" with McCrory to expose an extortion plot against him and to win over killers purportedly hired by his estranged wife Priscilla.

It was Mrs. Davis, 37, the defense insisted, who masterminded a scheme to frame Davis in an attempt to enhance her position in the high-stakes divorce case.

Most of Thursday's testimony unfolded outside the jury's presence, with lead defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes questioning private investigators.

Haynes vowed to show that an independent investigation related to this case was bankrolled by the defendant's younger brother and was part of a "ongoing conspiracy" against his client.

But he failed to forge a relevant link between Bill Davis and the current proceedings and Judge Moore ruled the investigator's testimony inadmissible before the jury.

Fort Worth attorney Joe Shannon, who headed the "sidebar investigation," said he did not know who was financing the operation, adding:

"I was told that Bill Davis was not involved in this matter."

He said he was hired by a Denver attorney, Richard Shaw, to assemble the investigating team, but that he never learned who Shaw represented.

"He indicated to me he had a client but he did not tell me who it was, Shannon said. "He told me who it was not."

Haynes argued that Bill Davis, ousted by Cullen and Ken Davis from the families vast business empire, had both the money and motive to arrange the investigation.

Not everyone married in church, JP's say

Marriages sometimes happen at unusual times or under unusual circumstances. Justice of the Peace Bob West said that of the 132 weddings he has performed this year one marriage involved a man who was charged with burglary of a habitation.

James Allen Isaac, 20, 1001 E. 3rd St., married Mrs. Patricia Ray Loper on Sept. 11. Isaac pled guilty to burglary charges the next day and was sentenced to 8 years in the penitentiary.

On June 20, 1977 Justice of the Peace Bob West united in marriage Teri Arlene Williams and Terry Wayne Harris. Williams, 24, and Harris were both in custody at the time. Mrs. Harris, the former Miss Williams, was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary for voluntary manslaughter and Mr. Harris was sentenced to 2 to 10 years for aggravated robbery. He was married on the same day that he was sentenced.

Gus Ochoteren, former justice of the peace, said that around three months ago he married a couple at the bride's house. The groom's parents sat down wordlessly just before the ceremony began and got up stiffly, still not saying a word, and walked out when Ochoteren had finished.

The Christmas before last a couple got married in front of the courthouse well on into the evening. "It was late at night," said Ochoteren. "The cars were going by and cold but that's where they wanted to get married."

Coahoma VFD responded to 71 calls in '78

COAHOMA — One fireman was injured in the line of duty in Coahoma last year.

The 1978 annual report filed by Kenneth Lewhon, Coahoma Fire Marshall, with the Howard County Commissioners Court and the Coahoma City Council also revealed that the three deaths and five civilian injuries which occurred were the result of auto or truck accidents to which the fire department was called in a rescue capacity.

Though there were 71 fires reported in Coahoma during 1978, they resulted in no deaths or civilian injuries.

The leading known cause of the fires were railroads, which accounted for 15. The breakdown includes eight fires suspiciously set, six fires caused by heaters and water heaters, four by smoking materials, three by children, two by arson, two by welding machines, two by appliances, and one each by fireworks, power lines, television or radio, and electrical wiring.

An unknown source of ignition accounted for 22 additional fires and one fire was categorized as a smoke scare.

Of the total 71 fires, 31 were grass fires. Eight originated from automobiles, trucks and motorcycles, and seven occurred at the sites of mobil homes.

Breakdown of where the remaining fires occurred revealed that five were trash fires, four were residence fires and four began in private garages, storage units or out buildings. Two fires occurred in school buildings.

The fire department answered three false alarms, three rescue calls, three calls for public assistance and one bomb threat.

At the close of 1978, the department had a total of 21 firemen on the roster. The figure includes four firemen certified during the year: Robert Helm, Richard Gilmore, Jane Gilmore and Louis Herrera.

Twenty-four two-hour fire drills were conducted by the department.
