

Employees to lose jobs; cutback program begins

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The 260 employees of the Texas Department of Community Affairs learned Tuesday that some of them will be fired in the first announced personnel cutbacks under Gov. Bill Clements.

TDCA executive director Omar Harvey gave his employees the grim news and also announced he will cut off funds to the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs March 31 if the agency's accounting system fails an audit.

"This is a pure business approach to a pretty sticky problem," Harvey said of the GOMA decision at a news conference.

Harvey, a 58-year-old former IBM executive, told his employees by letter Tuesday afternoon that the "department is in no position to guarantee your continued employment." He said he has no cutback goal.

The governor's campaign manager in the primary election discussed his plans for TDCA after four days on the job.

Legislators already have recommended cutbacks for TDCA and they will follow through if the agency does not trim itself, Harvey said.

"There are four bills in the Legislature at this time recommending various reductions in our staff and program," Harvey wrote his employees, "and the climate in which we operate is serious enough that we should take a look at ourselves."

State auditors and the state classification officer will review each job and salary, he said. Employees will know their fate by March 15.

The TDCA funnels $81.5 million of federal funds to programs to combat drug abuse, provide manpower training, assist small rural communities and finance early childhood development programs.

To counter alleged inefficiency, the executive director said he will trim his budget, demand absolute accountability for contracted programs and evaluate those programs' effectiveness.

Harvey said he hopes GOMA does not lose its funding, but that past accounting problems left him no choice to threaten withdrawal of federal money.

GOMA is a separate office which receives all its federal funds from the community affairs department, he said.

Teng, Carter sign three agreements

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiaoping, after a morning of sightseeing and a private meeting with former President Richard M. Nixon, was joining President Carter in signing three historic agreements between the United States and China.

Teng's schedule, after an early-morning meeting with Cabinet members, took him to the National Air and Space Museum and the Lincoln Memorial during an hour of touring Washington.

Then the vice premier was returning to Blair House, the government VIP guest house that has been his home since Sunday, for his closed meeting with Nixon, a session Teng is understood to have specifically requested.

cock as U.S. ambassador in Peking.

Although no date has been set for his confirmation hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Woodcock has said he expects them to become a "battleground" if conservatives opposed to the severance of ties with Taiwan use the sessions as a forum for their views.

Carter also is seeking legislative approval for a private, non-profit corporation, the American Institute, to replace the U.S. embassy in representing Americans' dealing with the Taiwanese government.

Members of Congress pressed Teng repeatedly to disavow a military takeover of Taiwan.

Former Gov. Dolph Briscoe ordered TDCA to funnel one-fifth of its federal manpower training money to GOMA, over the protests of some TDCA officials.

GOMA and Briscoe were roundly criticized last winter because about 40 GOMA employees were not shown on the state payroll but were paid through a private manpower contractor.

A court of inquiry last year heard widespread allegations of misuse of federal job training funds in the Rio Grande Valley.

The agreements Teng and Carter were to sign in a brief late afternoon ceremony at the White House were described in advance as covering science and technology, cultural exchanges and the establishment of consulates in each other's country.

Senate Minority Leader to campaign for president

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee today took the first formal step toward mounting a campaign for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination.

In papers filed with the Federal Election Commission, Baker established an exploratory committee that will allow him to raise and spend funds for his prospective presidential campaign.

Baker spokesman Tom Griscorn said no final decision on a challenge to President Carter will be made until summer, probably around July 4.

Nonetheless, the decision to create the committee speeds up the timetable of Baker's likely candidacy.

In part, the FEC filing was made because of the eventual need by any presidential candidate to qualify for federal funds to match privately raised campaign contributions.

Griscorn said there are no current plans to raise money by mass mailings but that some informal solicitations will be made for a Baker candidacy.

Baker also has plans for extensive travel to test the political waters for a presidential candidacy and the costs of those trips will be reported by the exploratory committee to the FEC.

While the pacts were the only formal new ties resulting from Teng's visit, his trip to Capitol Hill Tuesday apparently left many congressmen impressed, possibly easing the way for the legislative package proposed by the Carter administration as part of its normalization of relations with China.

Larry Miller, co-owner of local pharmacy, seeks council post

Larry Miller, co-owner of Carver Drive In Pharmacy, will seek a seat on the Big Spring City Council in April's election.

Miller, 2606 Carol, will vie for the Place Four position currently occupied by Ralph Brooks.

A Big Spring native, Miller attended Big Spring High School and has been a resident here for 31 years. Following graduation from high school, he attended Southwestern University in Weatherford, Okla., where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in pharmacology.

He and his wife Marie have three children, two daughters, Carol, 13, and Meredith, 4, and a son, Shane, 7.

"I want to see that all the people in Big Spring are represented; not just one group but everyone in town. I am a candidate for all the people," he said this morning, shortly after filing with the city to run.

"Overall, he made a good impression," said Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., a leader of conservative Republicans opposed to the administration's move.

"He was cool, calm and self-possessed," said Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash.

And Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., predicted the Senate would approve legislation "that will enable us to build the relationship with China."

Indeed, at one point, members of the House International Relations Committee lined up — like small boys outside a stadium locker room — for Teng's autograph.

It began when Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., asked the vice premier to autograph his portrait on the cover of Time magazine.

Teng seemed puzzled at first, then took a fountain pen and, in bold strokes, drew the Chinese characters of his name.

Within minutes a line had formed as committee members waited with their printed programs and pieces of paper for their own autographs.

Foremost among the proposals Carter is asking Congress to approve is the nomination of Leonard Wood-

Argument ends when bus crashes into truck; three passengers die

BINGER, Okla. (AP) — An argument on a cross-country bus ended in fiery terror Tuesday night when an angry passenger grabbed the bus driver by the throat, sending the bus swerving head-on into a pickup truck and leaving three dead and 33 injured, authorities said.

Eighteen of the injured remained hospitalized today. Most were suffering from bruises, fractures, cuts and shock. Several were listed in "very serious" condition.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol said both vehicles burst into flames on impact. The heat of the flames welded the bus and the pickup together.

Troopers identified the passenger who attacked the driver as Albert Henry Sherwood, 36, of Chino, Calif. They said Sherwood was thrown through the bus windshield at the moment of the crash and killed.

Sherwood had told fellow passengers on the Continental Trailways bus traveling from Los Angeles to Norfolk, Va., that he was en route to Connecticut for his father's funeral, passengers said.

The elderly couple riding in the pickup truck, Lloyd Huckabay and his wife, Abbie, both 71, of rural Eakley, were also killed instantly, their bodies burned beyond recognition, said Trooper Doyle Mills.

"The bus was blazing. A woman was screaming for help to find her baby, people were screaming, it was awful," said injured passenger Adolf Frank, 41, of Lancaster, Ohio.

Frank said two passengers escaped through a window shattered in the crash and directed others to safety.

Bus passengers said the man identified as Sherwood had been gambling and drinking at the rear of the bus before he became abusive and began fighting with another man.

Bus driver Walter H. Feldman of Canyon, Texas, stopped the bus three times to separate the fighting men, said passenger Jennie Roll, 17, of Burbank, Calif.

"After the third time, the driver told him (Sherwood) that if he moved again, he was getting off at the next stop," Miss Roll said.

The bus driver then seated Sherwood in a seat directly behind him, Miss Roll said.

Frank said Sherwood then grabbed the bus driver by the throat as the bus traveled down Oklahoma Highway 152 in the evening darkness.

Passengers said panic broke out immediately after the crash, as those on the bus — including eight young children — hurried to escape.

"All I could think about was the little kids," Miss Roll said. "Cause they were screaming, and their mothers were calling for them. I thought they would all die."

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Well prepared

Q. If Big Spring had a bad ice storm like Dallas had would our power company be prepared?

A. According to Jack Redding of the Texas Electric Company, anytime you have an ice storm you're going to have some electrical outages. Our linemen are pretty well prepared for ice storms because of handling ice storms in the past. In Dallas, the problem was the trees fell on their lines and they had to pick up the trees to get to their lines. Big Spring won't have as much problem with this if a bad ice storm occurs.

City council to meet in special session

Your gas bill may go up 11 percent

By JAMES WERRELL.
Pioneer Natural Gas Company rates may rise 11 percent locally, according to City Manager Harry Nagel.

"Big Spring is already paying higher rates than Midland and Odessa, so our increase will be less. Those cities have already raised rates by 14 percent," said Nagel.

The rate hike was first proposed here on Aug. 10. At that time, the Big Spring City Council appointed a steering committee to review the proposal and report its findings to city officials.

According to Nagel, the committee found the hike reasonable, and recommended that it be implemented by Feb. 15.

"In order to do that, the council will have to meet in special session to consider the ordinance on first reading, and then consider the second reading at the next regular council meeting," said Nagel.

Committee estimates show that the average monthly bill for a Midland or Odessa resident will rise to $45.48. Since Big Spring's increase is less, the average residential bill would rise to only about $35.65.

Pioneer presently charges $2.25 for the first 2,000 cubic feet of natural gas

(two MCF) used during a month. Monthly rates then drop to $1.0496 for the next 10 MCF; $2.4094 for the next 10 MCF over that; and .7599 for usage of over 22 MCF.

The rate hike would increase monthly costs to $4 for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas; $2.4094 for the next three MCF; $2.2481 for the next six MCF; and $2.1487 for anything over 10 MCF.

These rates would apply to most general domestic and commercial use, including that by schools, hospitals, churches and homes.

If passed, the new ordinance would also increase costs for setting or turning on gas meters. Cost for either during regular working hours would be $8, while adjustments after regular hours would run $12.

The company will also continue to lay and extend all service connections with gas mains and pipes to a customers property line at no cost. But it will limit free extensions for any one customer to 75 feet, according to the proposed ordinance.

"This increase reflects a very large rise in gas costs for us. In 1974, it cost us .2064 for 1,000 cubic feet, and that cost has risen to $1.5437," said Dearl Pittman, local Pioneer manager.

'Russia, Summer and Winter' to be presented here Thursday

"Russia, Summer and Winter" is the title of the second "Passport to Adventure" programs to be presented in the Howard College Auditorium at 7:30 p.m., Thursday under the auspices of the Big Spring Rotary Clubs.

The lecturer of the evening is Dick Reddy, who has traveled widely in both Western and Eastern Europe. He once made a balloon flight over the Alps and has participated in several filming-camping trips to the Soviet Union. His curious camera has always sought to capture the unusual on film.

Since entering the lecture field, Reddy has been warmly received by audiences across the country. He brings a fresh, unique approach to all his films, both in his informative and entertaining narration and in his artistic photography.

Reddy is a graduate of the School of Journalism at North Texas State University and holds a master's degree from the same university.

Although he later attended the University of California at Los Angeles, it was his study of Cinematography at USC that really whetted his appetite for photography and travel.

Reddy's roving camera catches scenes at Leningrad, in Moscow's Red Square, Kiev, Volgograd, Tbilisi, the Moscow subway, and farmer's market, the rocky beach at Sochi and other items of interest.

Season tickets for the series are still available and single production tickets are available at the door. The singles are priced at $4 each.

Two state boards plead for 'policing' money

By JIM DAVIS
Herald-News Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Two state regulatory boards pleaded for more money Tuesday to better police their health-care professions.

The Vocational Nurse Examiners and Physical Therapy Examiners boards say complaints in their fields are increasing. Each wants to hire an investigator.

Supporters of the boards made their pitch Tuesday to a House Health Services Subcommittee, and they got some support from subcommittee members.

Rep. Arnold Gonzales, D-Corpus Christi, noted that the boards' licensing charges bring in more money than the legislature appropriates to the agencies. The subcommittee will recommend funding levels for the boards to the House Appropriations Committee.

The Legislative Budget Board has recommended against money for the investigators.

"Our complaints definitely are increasing," said Waldeen Wilson, vocational nursing board executive director. Complaints range from illegal drug use among nurses to abuse of patients.

Wilson said she and an administrative technician handle complaints in their spare time, mostly through letters and telephone inquiries.

The board received 377 complaints in the last fiscal year.

J.D. Wenderborn of Laredo, chairman of the Physical Therapy Examiners, said, "In the area of enforcement, our board does not have a good track record."

He said the board needs money to hire a professional investigator for complaints, estimated at 237 for the coming year.

In one recent case, the board hired a private investigator to receive treatment from a person suspected of improper treatment, Wenderborn said. A charge has been filed against the person through the attorney general's office.

Texas was the last state to license physical therapists, Wenderborn said, and many unqualified persons drifted here to practice before the board was formed in 1971.

Ann Walker, physical therapy instructor with Texas Woman's University at Denton, told the subcommittee the state board is unable to investigate 31 percent of the complaints it receives.

Walker, president of the Texas Chapter, American Physical Therapy Association, said her group "is very concerned about treatment of the consumer by unqualified personnel."

Snowed-in basement

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Bill and Sharon McAuliffe had trouble finding a place to store the nearly 2 feet of snow they shoveled off their roof last weekend.

When McAuliffe complained that there was no place to dump the snow without walking about 15 yards, his wife suggested they shovel it into the basement through a window by the driveway.

"It worked great," McAuliffe said Tuesday. "It's an unfinished basement with a concrete floor and drain and the snow is just about all gone today."

Frozen picnic

GURNEE, Ill. (AP) — There were snowflakes on the potato salad and lawn chairs were strewn with the sleds on either side of a shoveled driveway, but the celebrants were undaunted at Cliff and Phyllis Thornton's "First Annual Cabin Fever Cookout."

Eighteen people, mostly neighbors of the Thorntons, gathered last weekend around a grill with hot dogs roasting over the coals. The temperature was in the 20s and snowflakes sifted lazily down.

Mrs. Thornton said, "We're setting a record with the largest snowfall this year, so we decided to set a record for the earliest barbecue."

Grandparents, tots, and teenagers joined in hopping from foot to frosty foot trying to keep warm while eating baked beans, hot dogs, hamburgers, potato chips and corn on the cob from paper plates.

Said one participant, "Well, I'll tell you one thing. It sure makes you appreciate going back inside."

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Students at Poudre High School will go ahead with their goldfish-eating contest despite the objections of the local humane society.

"This type of thing does not belong in our school system," said Linda Wildman, a representative of the Larimer County Humane Society. "Superficially it is great fun. Philosophically, it is repulsive to us."

The Humane Society canceled a scheduled debate with the high school debating team on the subject of goldfish eating.

"We felt it would do no good," Ms. Wildman said Tuesday. "There was no changing the minds of these children or the administration."

The goldfish-eating contest is scheduled for Friday during a school assembly.

Students fighting shock of sniper

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Haunted by the sights, sounds and motives of death and bloodshed from sniper fire, students of Cleveland Elementary School returned to their classrooms to puzzle aloud: "Why did she do it?"

Some sat at their desks Tuesday in silence, bewildered and shocked by the horror they endured a day earlier when the school's principal and custodian were killed by bullets fired at their school. Nine other persons, including eight students, were injured.

"We called many parents last night, asking them to bring their children today," said Mike Simpson, a school board representative. "We've got to break down the shock."

Some children, dealing with death for the first time, slowly raised their hands with questions.

"Why did she do it?" a puzzled 8-year-old boy asked his teacher.

"Do the police know why her father didn't lock up the guns? It's pretty stupid," added a girl.

Brenda Spencer, 16, was arrested by police after the deadly 15-minute barrage of bullets and a seven-hour siege at her house across the street from the school.

District attorney's office spokesman Logan McKechnie said it will be up to a judge to decide if Miss Spencer will be tried as an adult. He said proceedings will be "wrapped in secrecy" for a time because of her age. She is being held in the San Diego County Juvenile Hall.

The deaths of principal Burton Wragg, 53, and Michael Suchar, 56, the school's head custodian, troubled the children.

"I couldn't sleep last night," said 9-year-old Mike McDaniel.

Another youngster told his teacher: "I thought Mr. Mike (Suchar) was one of the best custodians this school ever had."

"Will his family be taken care of?" asked Victoria Guerrero, 11.

"I had bad dreams and thought the lady would still be here," said 9-year-old George Johnson. "But my dad said it's all right now."

Scalding tap water pains 3,000 annually

Scalding water from many taps can burn you within two seconds. But who would get caught under hot water even that long? The sad answer is that scalding tap water injures at least 3,000 people, mostly children, annually. The handicapped and elderly also are likely victims of water that is too hot in about 80 percent of all homes, a Seattle study showed.

Hot water also has energy implications. Lowering water heater temperatures from the standard 140-150 degrees Fahrenheit to 135 degrees could save about 20 percent of a home's water heating bill in some areas of Texas, one electric company spokesman said.

Water in the 130 degree range still is not totally safe. It can cause severe skin burns within about 30 seconds. The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has said most households only need 120 degree water.

Even at the relatively safe temperature of 120 degrees, an unattended child might be exposed long enough to be hurt. Burns could occur if a child slipped into a sink or bathtub or accidentally turned on the hot water, the Texas Medical Association said. Parents can decrease this risk by keeping children away from hot water sources, carefully testing bath water and turning down water heaters.

To turn down the temperature, you need to locate the thermostat. Gas water heaters usually have a thermostat on the bottom outside of the tank. The "low" setting usually is about 120 degrees. Electric water heaters usually have either two panels screwed onto the top and bottom front of the tank or a single panel spanning the height of the tank. Remove these panels, remove some insulation and set the thermostats at "low."

The physicians who did the Seattle study doubt that stressing carefulness and lower water temperatures to parents will eliminate all scalding. Writing in Pediatrics journal, they said intentional scalding was the cause of 60 percent of the cases where an adult turned on the water in a scalding incident.

Weather Below-freezing temps experienced in Texas

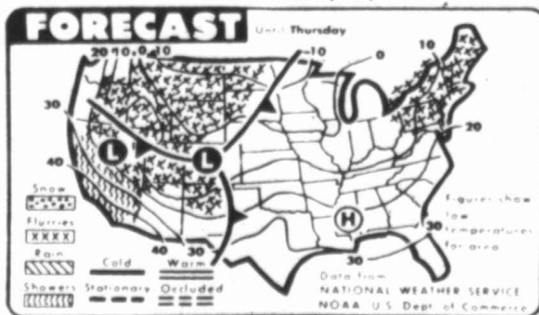

Cold Arctic air, boosted along by brisk northerly winds, sent temperatures plunging below freezing across all of Texas except the Lower Rio Grande Valley early today.

National Weather Service forecasters said another night of very cold temperatures was expected before a statewide warming trend begins Thursday. All of Texas except for the Valley was to have sub-freezing temperature readings early Thursday before the mercury was scheduled to climb into the 50s and 60s.

Skies were clear statewide early today and winds were brisk from the north. Early morning temperatures ranged from near zero in the Panhandle to the 40s in coastal sections of the Valley. Most of the state had readings in the 20s and 30s. Extremes ranged from four above at both Dalhart and Amarillo in the Panhandle to 48 at Brownsville.

HERMAN TALMADGE LINDA BLAIR

Talmadge out sooner

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Herman Talmadge, hospitalized for treatment of exhaustion and alcohol abuse, could be out of the hospital in less than the four or five weeks originally planned by doctors, a spokesman says.
"His attitude is excellent and he's doing just great," Lisa Gill, a Talmadge press aide, said Tuesday.
The 65-year-old Georgia Democrat entered Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland on Jan. 22 and transferred to the Long Beach Naval Regional Medical Center last Wednesday on the advice of his physician.

Weatherman rehired

NEW YORK (AP) — The clouds have lifted for weatherman Bob Harris — he's been hired as a forecaster for radio station WNEW.
Harris, known locally as "Dr. Bob," was off the air for almost two weeks because it was discovered he had lied when he said he had a doctorate in geophysics.
When he was exposed by an anonymous tipster, Harris was fired by WCBS and The New York Times.
"We think he's the best in New York regardless of whether he got a degree," WNEW vice president Mel Karmazin said. "We are hiring him for his ability, not for where he got that ability."

Wallace column short-lived

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Former Gov. George C. Wallace's career as a newspaper columnist may be one of the shortest on record — one column.
Edward H. Sims, editor and publisher of Editor's Copy Syndicate of Orangeburg, S.C. said Tuesday his firm would be distributing a weekly commentary, written by Wallace, to more than 300 newspapers.
A sample column was printed this week, Sims said.
But, according to Wallace's agent, Robert Bray of Nashville, "The governor decided yesterday he didn't want to do the column right now so we're going to place it on the back burner for a while."

Blair troubles ending?

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — Actress Linda Blair's troubles with authorities in Connecticut may be coming to an end.
A drug charge against the 19-year-old Miss Blair will be dropped if she can prove authorities in Calgary, Alberta, have dismissed a marijuana charge against her, a judge says.
Miss Blair's lawyer, Martin Garbus, told Superior Court Judge Scott Melville on Tuesday that the Calgary City Court had dismissed the marijuana charge. Melville continued the hearing until Feb. 13 to give Garbus time to document his statement.
The star of "The Exorcist" was arrested in Calgary in August. At that time, she was on a program here which provided charges of possession of amphetamines would be dropped if she stayed out of trouble.
When Miss Blair was arrested in December 1977 on a Florida fugitive warrant, Connecticut police said they found amphetamines in her purse. Extradition proceedings are pending against her on Florida charges of conspiracy to buy or sell cocaine.

House approves emergency funds

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Millions of dollars in state income ride on accurate federal price decisions for each Texas gas well, a railroad commissioner says. The House Appropriations Committee approved a $581,000 emergency spending item Tuesday to help the Texas Railroad Commission process the data needed for those decisions.
House floor action on the Senate-approved bill (SB140) could come later in the week.
In Tuesday's legislation, the Senate passed and sent the House bills appropriating $2.5 million to the Texas Deepwater Port Authority and prohibiting trawling for sea trout and redfish between Dec. 16 and Feb. 28.
Rep. Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, sponsor of the emergency appropriation for the railroad commission, said the new federal energy act requires separate pricing of each well's gas. While the federal government could handle the job, "it is essential, in our opinion, that it be done by Texas," Hanna said.
Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent said wells qualify for various pricing levels based on such considerations as their depth, location and when they were first drilled.
Such determinations can make the difference between, say, a price of $1.64 per 1,000 cubic feet of gas and $2.24, he said.
Qualifying a well for the maximum available price could mean millions of dollars to the state in production taxes and royalty income, both of which are based on price, Nugent said.
Nugent said two applications on file now involve potential royalties to the state of $3.5 million.
He said the commission has received 1,578 pricing applications from gas producers, and "we are going to have 40,000 to 50,000 to process, counting stripper wells."
"It is fast approaching an unmanageable situation," said Rex White, commission general counsel.
Rep. Don Rains, D-San Marcos, committee vice chairman, said, "It is frustrating to me to sit here 140 days every two years passing this garbage they (the federal government) force us to pass."
Nugent said the U.S. Department of Energy had returned all of Wyoming's applications and said they did not comply with regulations.
"If it's any consolation, one of those bureaucrats used to work for me, and he wasn't one of our stars," said Rep. Milton Fox, R-Houston, a petroleum engineer.

Leaders have their thinking caps on

The current United States Congress may turn out to be no more spectacular or successful than those in the immediate past but some of the early appointments indicate that the leadership has its thinking cap on.

A good example of naming the right man for the right job is the selection of Charles Stenholm for the Agricultural Committee.

STENHOLM HAS spent most of his life in agriculture and wanted to see what he could do to help solve some serious problems that have long been nagging the industry.

The farmers, who have grown restless in recent years because they feel their complaints haven't always been heard, look upon Stenholm as a friend. Back when he was campaigning for the office, others promised more than he did. He fell into temporary disfavor with some of the farmers who felt he should come out for full farm parity, but Charley refused to spook. He said he fully understood their problems but he did not feel a guaranteed return of their investment was a way to solve their woes. He stumped, instead, for overseas sales, feeling the farmers should get full value for the staples they produced. He said he couldn't see the wisdom of America having to pay premium prices for imported oil and yet virtually giving away their farm products to those same nations who sent us their oil.

Stenholm, who keeps a cool head on his shoulders, should make quite an addition to the Texas Congressional team in Washington.

Other Texans are being placed in influential positions in Washington. One is Phil Gramm, a newly elected Congressman from Sixth District. Gramm is the same fellow who once contested Sen. Lloyd Bentsen for his seat in the upper house.

GRAMM, ONCE an economics professor who succeeded Tiger Teague in the Congress, was nominated for the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

It was Gramm's first choice but one he had some doubts he'd get. His credentials are outstanding because of his educational background and due to the importance of oil and gas to the Southwest. Gramm's particular views on oil and gas price deregulation should be well expressed. Gramm, incidentally, could be locking horns on the committee with another Texan, Houston's Mickey Leland, a liberal who is opposed to deregulation. It's going to be interesting to see whose will prevail.

Texas gained still another apparent victory when Martin Frost, Dallas, was nominated to the most influential committee of them all — Rules. Every bill must pass through the 11-member Rules Committee before it reaches the House floor.

Texas lost a lot of clout when people like George Mahon, Omar Burleson and Teague retired but the new breed, no doubt, will be heard from.

Good book supported

Around the rim

Don Woods

The Bible has taken some beatings in the last century. The modernist movement that has sought to discredit the text by saying it is only partially accurate is more popular than ever in intellectual circles and even many churches. In fact, in 1975 a question asked at a convention of the Worldwide Council of Churches revealed that 75 percent of the churches present thought that scripture was not totally infallible.

Many people realize that recent discoveries in the study of ancient history support the accuracy of the book. In the last 15 years scholarship has published information about ancient documents that have been very supportive of the historical viewpoint of the Bible, according to Charlie Clough, pastor of the Lubbock Bible Church.

AND ACCORDING TO William F. Albright, author of several books on archeology of the Middle East, no archeological find has ever contradicted Scripture. His is a name that would be recognized in any archeological circle.

The scholarship concerning ancient documents has revealed that some parts of the Old Testament are actually English translations of replicas of ancient legal documents. This is a new finding that just came out in the last 15 years.

A treaty between two ancient kings, for example, shows several interesting parallels Deuteronomy, a treaty between God and Israel. Pritchard's Ancient Near Eastern Text records the translation of the treaty from cuneiform to English. The two kings were "Zepululamas and Curtawaza in the country of Mataniland." The format of their treaty was identical to the format of Deuteronomy.

The pagan kings' treaty provided for depositing copies of the contract in their respective temples, periodical public reading, copies for both parties and prohibition against tampering with the text of the treaty.

Deuteronomy contains similar provisions.

Deuteronomy 10:2 says that Moses should take the copies of the stone tablets and "Put them in the ark." The ark was stored in the temple. This means that Deuteronomy has the same location for the tablets as the kings had for their treaty.

Deuteronomy 31:9 records Moses saying of the book of Deuteronomy "you shall read this law in front of all Israel in their hearing." This is a parallel to the part of the pagan kings' treaty dealing with periodic public reading.

Deuteronomy 10:3 says that Moses "cut out two tablets of stone like the former ones, and went up on the mountain with the two tablets in my hand." Christians had assumed for years that five of the Ten Commandments were written on one of the tablets and five on the other. We can see now, though, that one copy belonged to one party of the treaty and one to the other. The reason Moses broke the tablets is because the people violated the terms of the agreement. He was tearing up the contract.

THE LAST PARALLEL between the pagan king's contract and Deuteronomy is found in Deuteronomy 12:32. God told the people, "Whatever I command you, you shall be careful to do; you shall not add to nor take away from it." This parallels the other treaty where it commands that the text of the treaty not be tampered with.

Israel is the only nation in history that has made a contract with its God. If Israel fulfilled its stated obligations God would fulfill His. Deuteronomy is not like the legal Code of Hammurabi, in which a code of do's and don't's are listed. It is a contract between individuals. If you put your left hand on the first page of Deuteronomy and your right hand on the 34th chapter you will have in your hands a translation of an ancient legal document. This significantly supports the credence of the book.

Direct challenge

Evans, Novak

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., far from flinching at the ridicule of Jimmy Carter's Washington over his demand for a constitutionally-imposed balanced federal budget, is convinced the U.S. is on the verge of fundamental, inflation-connected political changes that he intends to shape and lead.

In the few days of his second term, Brown has already wrought political change here that has split him from conventional party leaders and delivered stunning help from both elected Republicans and influential businessmen.

But it is the national Democratic party and the 1980 presidential nomination, which Brown clearly wants, that will feel the full force of Brown's political conversion. Brown is hurling his challenge directly at President Carter, Sen. Edward Kennedy and the party's traditional constituencies. As he told us in his office here: "American is running on panic today" — and voters want basic fiscal changes to end the horror of inflation and make America competitive again.

BOTH BROWN'S PRINCIPAL legislative leader, Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, and the state's top Democrat in Washington, Sen. Alan Cranston, have publicly broken with Brown on his Jan. 8 inaugural demand for a constitutional ban of federal red ink. Indeed, Brown is probably the first just-elected governor to be booed by his own state party, as he was at the Democratic convention here Jan. 20 when he first appeared at the podium.

Instead of backing down with apologies, Brown carefully built his case in a tightly reasoned explanation of fiscal "reality," then attacked "experts," "the Ph.D.'s" and the "timid souls" who defend red-ink spending even at the peak of today's recovery cycle. At the end, delegates in the nation's most liberal Democratic party gave him a standing ovation.

That is the quintessential Brown today: explain, then attack from what he feels is a secure position of political strength. Brown, an original foe of California's Proposition 13, had his eyes opened to reality when voters here approved it by a huge majority last year. As one of his top aides told us: "He feels he experienced something very personally about the voter mood today that few other politicians have felt."

Long considered a political oddball, Brown finds that his offensive has suddenly made him a fixture at podiums he used to shun. He showed up somewhat unexpectedly at the San Francisco convention of the National Food Processors Jan. 23 and talked for 45 minutes, highly unusual for Brown. Four days earlier he insisted on addressing the top brass of the Big Four auto companies (guests of the California Chamber of Commerce) at the Century Plaza Hotel. Out-of-state invitations for Brown are piling up in record numbers.

In his interview with us at the state capitol, Brown ridiculed opposition to his call for a constitutional convention to force an end of deficit spending and halt what he calls "this perverse government money machine." The decline of the U.S., he told us, is directly tied to the decline of its currency which in turn is directly influenced by the immense red-ink spending of the past dozen years. Politicians in Washington may have trouble understanding that, he says, but voters have no trouble at all.

What to do if fungus digs in

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I have a continuing problem with athlete's foot. I keep separate towels, wash cloths, etc., from the rest of the family. Do bath soaps kill the germs? I wear support stockings and am wondering if they may have something to do with it. I was told athlete's foot cannot be cured, and I believe it. Hope you have some different ideas. — Mrs. J.K.

Athlete's foot can be cured, but the first order of business is to find out if that is what you have. There are several kinds of fungi (dermatophytes) that cause it, and they can be examined to determine which one is present. There are, though, several non-fungal irritations that can mimic athlete's foot — psoriasis, for example. Allergies should be investigated. Some feet are more sensitive than others to such things as the adhesive cement used by shoe manufacturers or to dyes and laning materials. Other causes include plain sweating. Here is where confining support hose may enter the picture — improper ventilation and absorption. That might cause tiny blisters.

In athlete's foot, the fungi settle down and really dig in wherever they find dead tissue and a moist situation. You can control most of the factors mentioned. A daily dusting with an antifungal powder is an effective measure. Only takes a few seconds a day, yet I've known people who have suffered a lifetime without being willing to do that. Keep the feet dry as possible, especially the skin between toes after baths and showers. Wear the clogs in the bath area because fungi live and thrive in moist areas. Nylon hose should be avoided or cotton inserts should be worn. Take the time to expose your bare feet to the air, especially after a day at work when you return home.

About 90 percent of people have some brush with athlete's foot at some time in their lives. The other ten percent escape, perhaps because of a certain skin "mantle" that discourages the fungus growth. Soap, which might be effective against bacteria, has no effect on fungi. I think it is wise to segregate your bath cloths, etc.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I have thalassemia, which I understand is a kind of anemia. I thought anemia meant lack of iron, but I have had this for years and have been told my blood count is low. Why? Can you explain this disease? — B.A.

Thalassemia is an inherited type of anemia first discovered in people living in countries bordering the Mediterranean. You may have seen it discussed here in the past as "Mediterranean anemia" or "Cooley's anemia." It is not a very common ailment, and very often the anemia may be very mild and produce no symptoms.

The severe type produces symptoms early in life. In the mild type the patient lives out a normal life with no need for treatment.

There is no iron deficiency, so iron supplements are not needed. In fact, people with serious forms of this may have to have blood transfusions and may, because of them, have an actual iron overload. Sometimes there can be a folic acid deficiency. This is important for blood formation and supplements may be needed. Incidentally, you don't have to reside in the Mediterranean to have this, since it may appear among descendants anywhere in the world.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Doctor, my problem is my bust. When I was 13 my bustline was 34. When I was 18 and pregnant it went up to 36. Now I am 21 and it is 32. I am really concerned. What causes this change? Is there anything I can do? I am not writing because I want a big bustline, just what a woman of 21 should have. Please find this important enough to answer. I am sure there are a lot of young women with this problem. — Mrs. C.J.

I can assure you there are a lot of women with this same "problem."

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have so many personal problems I don't know what to do. I have been to see two fortune tellers. Should I take their advice? — Y.J.

DEAR Y. J.: Don't take their advice. Stay away from them. The Bible is very clear about this. It does not matter how sound or reasonable advice from sources like this may seem; ultimately you would be basing your life on a lie.

Turn to the living God. I sense from what you say that you are searching for answers, and I want to tell you clearly as I know how that God, and God alone, can be trusted in your situation.

There is something else I want you to know. You have many problems, but in God's eyes there is one problem which is far more important than any other. This is the problem of your sins. More than anything else you need the forgiveness of God, and you need to know what it means to be born again spiritually. The wonderful thing is that God has provided a way for you to be forgiven. When Jesus died on the cross He was making a complete and sufficient sacrifice for your sins. He died for your sins, the Bible says, "to bring you to God" (1 Peter 3:18, New International Version). Give your life to Him, and seek to follow Him every day. "He guides the humble in what is right and teaches them his way" (Psalms 25:9, NIV).

But they should know that breasts change with weight change. You mention the increase in size with pregnancy. This is normal, too. After the pregnancy the breasts get either larger or smaller than they were before, but some change in contour and measurement can be expected. Nothing you can do about it and it is not significant, except perhaps cosmetically. Arm exercise may help tone the muscles involved.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Is it fact or fiction that females have an extra rib or pair of ribs compared to males? Can't find anything on this. — Mrs. D.F.

The creator, anticipating an age of sex equality, provided an identical rib cunt for men and women.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Could bedwetting be inherited? — Mrs. B.B.

There is often a history of bedwetting in one or both parents. There may be an inherited factor, such as a food allergy or a urinary tract defect.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I have read that women with fuller breasts should not jog, that it can cause damage to the breasts. Is this true? — P.L.

Jogging will not harm your breasts, but a snug bra should give adequate support and relieve any discomfort.

There's an old saying — if your feet hurt, you hurt all over. The booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet," shows you how to avoid and take care of foot problems. To get your copy, write to Dr. Ruble in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Nixon is blamed

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Norodom Sihanouk, a rotund little man with a squeaky voice, has come out of Cambodia to haunt Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger.

They were the two men, Sihanouk charges, who set in motion the terrible events in Cambodia. He holds them responsible for the human holocaust that wiped out hundreds of thousands of his countrymen and enslaved the survivors. There is evidence, unhappily, that he may be right.

Seldom in the course of human events has there been a story to equal the Sihanouk saga. It is an epic story not only of one man's indestructibility but of the agony of a nation.

AT THE HAPPY age of 18, Sihanouk became Cambodia's "god king." He was a playboy prince, with a taste for champagne, mistresses and pop music. He ruled a gentle people in a land of quaint pagodas and tinkling temple bells. Probably nowhere on earth was there a country more peaceful and innocent.

But tragically, Cambodia was to be caught in the big-power struggle over Southeast Asia. First came the Vietcong guerrillas, slipping down Cambodia's jungle paths on sandals hacked from old truck tires. Then the pursuing Americans, with their frightening firepower, began banging on Cambodia's east gate. But the Chinese loomed massively and menacingly at the north gate.

The man in the middle, Norodom Sihanouk, truned out to be a wily international manipulator. He wooed the Americans, enchanted the Chinese and carried on a flirtation with the Soviets. He cooperated with the Vietcong at the same time that he maneuvered behind their backs to get them out of his country.

Sihanouk's superb tightrope diplomacy kept his defenseless little country in a state of benign neutrality until 1970. He was deposed by a coup on March 18, 1970, while he was out of the country.

Sihanouk believes the Central Intelligence Agency was behind the coup. CIA-trained troops, known as Khmer Serai, are known to have infiltrated the country just prior to the coup. But Cambodian sources told us the CIA soldiers never reached the capital in time to aid the military plotters.

THERE IS NO denying, however, that the new ruler, Lon Nol, had sold U.S. backing. The leader of the CIA-trained Cambodian cadres, Son Ngac Than, was quickly brought in as an adviser.

Not long afterward, one of Lon Nol's first U.S. visitors was Gen. Alexander Haig who was later to cope with the emotional upheavals of Richard Nixon's final days. At the meeting with Haig, according to U.S. aides, Lon Nol unexpectedly broke down and sobbed. He told Haig in an anguished voice that he lacked the understanding to confront his country's problems.

The United States, nevertheless, kept Lon Nol in power and showered him with blessings. Yet the record is clear that Nixon had no interest in Cambodia except to use the country to outmaneuver the vexatious Vietcong.

Nixon rejected a French proposal that, for the sake of stability, Sihanouk be reinstated as Souvanna Phouma had been in Laos in 1964. Instead, Nixon got Lon Nol's acquiescence for a U.S. thrust into Cambodia.

The invasion was supposed to eliminate the Vietcong sanctuaries along the frontier. Instead, the U.S. forces drove the Vietcong deep into Cambodia where they joined forces with the Cambodian communists. Most of the peasants fled the countryside and thronged into the capital, leaving the interior in the hands of the communists.

U.S. intelligence cables in 1971 reflect the deteriorating situation. They quoted high-placed Cambodian sources as saying "the recent military reverses appeared to have caused Lon Nol to take leave of his senses."

With the collapse of U.S. power in Southeast Asia, Lon Nol's downfall was inevitable. He fled, a broken man, half-paralyzed, to a fruit farm in Hawaii.

The durable Sihanouk, meanwhile, had allowed himself to be used as a front for the communist rebels. He joyfully referred to himself as the "pink prince." But behind the scenes, he twice tried to contact Henry Kissinger about returning to Cambodia to end the war. But Kissinger refused to see him.

After the communist takeover, Sihanouk returned to Cambodia as the figurehead chief of state. He says that he was kept under house arrest, never knowing when his turn would come on the execution block. Twice a year, he was taken on a drive into the countryside presumably to show the peasantry he was still behind the radical communist government. But he was never sure where the car was taking him or whether he would return.

From interviews with refugees and classified intelligence reports, meanwhile, we had chronicled the story of slaughter and oppression in Cambodia. It's a story Sihanouk has now confirmed. He told a press conference eloquently:

"I would like to see my people have the right to their pagodas, to travel freely, to love and to be loved, to be able to see their wives and to be with their wives and children and not be separated...These are basic rights of humanity...We are not animals, like buffaloes and oxen."

The human tragedy in Cambodia, with its terrible toll, surpasses all other news shocks of this decade in sheer horror. It remains to be seen whether history will hold Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger accountable.

Mother's Day Out is learning center

BY ROBBIE CROW
 Family News Editor

If you're an average housewife and mother, you more than likely need, as well as deserve, a day out of the house without household worries and without your children.

There just happens to be a place available where you can leave your children every Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. so you can do that much-needed shopping and errand-running.

Mother's Day Out is the name of this place. It is operated by the First United Methodist Church, 400 Scurry.

The capable women operating this convenient day-care center, which keeps infants through the first grade, include Sara Reid, children's director; Madge Vaughn, supervisor; Betty Crocker, toddlers; Loena Smith, 2-year-olds; Susan Jordan, 4 and 5-year-olds; Ila Davidson and Janie Flores, crib room; and Mary Ellen Allen, 3-year-olds.

The center, which has been in operation for almost 12 years, is not only a service to mothers, but to their children. Mother's Day Out is more than a babysitting service, according to Mrs. Vaughn.

"It is a chance for children to participate with others their own age in a planned program of varied learning activities."

Children enjoy crafts and games as well as a trip to the Howard County Library. Susan Jordan presents Story Hour from 10-11 a.m. every Friday and the 3-5 year olds from the day-care center attend.

An enclosed playground completes the features of Mother's Day Out. Children are allowed to play in the playground under supervision.

Reservations are not required for child attendance. All that is requested is that the mother fill out a registration form upon leaving her child at the center. Mothers should furnish their child with a sack lunch. Milk is provided at the day-care center.

"This service is not just for church members," stressed Mrs. Reid, "it is open to any racial, religious, or cultural background."

The service began just as a day-care center for the members of the church, but due to the rising need in the Big Spring community for another outlet to working mothers, the church decided to broaden their day-care center.

So if you're a working or non-working mother who would like a day out of the house, whether it be for business or pleasure, contact Sara Reid at the First United Methodist Church, 267-6394.

Ingrate Briton

DEAR ABBY: We work with an attractive woman who is in her early 50s. She was born in England and has lived in the U.S. for 30 years.

Three years ago she started working in this office, and because of her English accent we were all charmed by her. But lately she has begun to irritate us because she never loses an opportunity to put down this country. (According to her, everything is better in England!)

She has never bothered to become an American citizen. Do you think a person who is not a citizen of this country has the right to criticize it?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: Yes, freedom of speech gives her the right to criticize. But as a resident alien who has lived on the American economy for 30 years, she shows poor taste in exercising that right. Basically, she is a guest of Uncle Sam, and a good guest does not criticize her host.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is the woman my husband used to see before he married me. She keeps sending Arthur "miss you" cards, birthday telegrams, Christmas cards, etc., to remind him that she's still around. These reminders are sent to our home and signed, "with love."

Arthur makes no effort to hide them. He just drops them in the wastebasket, and I find them when I empty the trash. I have begged him to ring up this woman and tell her to please leave him alone, but he won't do it. He says he has never done anything to encourage her. I believe him, but don't you think if Arthur really cared about my feelings he would do something to put a stop to all this?

I am 53 and Arthur is 62, and this is the second marriage for both of us.

JEALOUS IN JOPLIN

DEAR JEALOUS: If you're wise, you'll stop begging your husband to ring up his old flame for any reason. By ignoring her he is discouraging her in the best possible way. She probably never enters his mind until you bring her up.

DEAR ABBY: Ever since I can remember, my husband has given me $100 in cash and told me to buy myself a Christmas present. It's been all right with me because Alex hates to shop. Besides, his taste is so lousy that whenever he'd buy me something I'd have to exchange it for something else.

Well, for the last three Christmases Alex has given me the usual cash gift, then a week later he'd ask to "borrow" it until after the first of the year — and that was the last I saw of my "present."

Some present, huh? Any suggestions?

GIFTLESS

DEAR GIFTLESS: Yes. As soon as you get the cash, either spend it or bank it.

Nurses will hear practice act report

The Texas Nurses Association district 24 will meet Thursday, 7:30 p.m., in the reference library of the Horace Garrett Building on Howard College campus.

A report of the recent legal opinion of the Texas Attorney General Based on the existing nurse practice act will be given to and discussed by the members.

The opinion, that registered nurses may not provide medications to patients under "standing or written orders" unless the physician has prescribed for the individual patient, has dramatic implications on the delivery of health care across the state.

This ruling places all nurses, especially those involved in public health facilities, in a precarious situation legally. All nurses, whether or not they are members of TNA or the American Nurses' Association, are urged to attend this meeting.

In the light of the Attorney General's opinion, RN's are liable to be charged with practicing medicine which is clearly illegal in Texas. There is a dire need for an investigation of options to protect the health care consumer as well as nurses.

Whenever I talk to him, my girlfriend gets mad. I think he likes me a little, but if I say anything to her about it, she will really get mad and I don't want to lose her as a friend.

I'm confused. What should I do? — Jackie, Valparaiso, Ind.

Jackie: It's whatever is more important to you at this time — a best girlfriend or a boyfriend. You make the choice.

Recently, by complete accident, I found out that two of my sisters and I are adopted and that one of my sisters is actually my real sister.

Should I confront my parents with this or should I spare my parents and sisters the hurt and pain? — E.M., Ogden, Utah

E.M.: Confront your parents. It would only hurt you to keep it inside. Regardless of what transpires, say nothing to your sisters until you too leave home.

Police beat Unlucky driver hurt

An unfortunate James L. Caffey, Hobbs, N.M., should have quit while he was ahead, Tuesday.

Caffey, who was driving a large trailer truck on Highway 176, failed to negotiate a curve, and struck the concrete median strip there, 3:18 p.m. Tuesday. Police investigated, and Caffey was on his way again.

Then at 5:28 p.m., Caffey failed to negotiate another curve while eastbound on the north access road of IS 20. This time the truck struck a guard rail, and Caffey's stomach struck the steering wheel.

Following this accident, the hapless driver was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital for observation where he is listed in stable condition.

Ernest Gonzales, 505 W. 8th, also met with misfortune while sitting in his car, 12:40 a.m. today. According to police, an assailant known to Gonzales threw a beer bottle through the window of the car in which Gonzales and two friends were sitting.

Flying glass caused several cuts on Gonzales' face, and one piece lodged in his right eye. The injuries were not serious, but detectives will investigate the incident further.

Officer Ted Lancaster found a grand new pickup abandoned in a ditch beside Channing Street, 10:45 p.m. Tuesday. It turned out that the 1979 Ford pickup, valued at $8,900, belongs to the Bob Brock Dealership, 500 W. 4th, and had been stolen sometime after closing hours.

A man in his early 20s conked Dunlaps Store, 214 Main, out of a two-piece suit, Tuesday afternoon. According to reports, the man approached a clerk saying he wanted to exchange a suit.

When the clerk told the man that he needed a sales receipt, the man volunteered to go home and get one, taking the suit with him. The clerk later realized that the $85.50 suit hadn't belonged to the man in the first place, but had been freshly lifted from the rack in the store.

Police arrested Thomas A. Thigpen, 69, Settles Hotel resident, on suspicion of leaving the scene of an accident and failure to stop and render aid, 6:44 p.m. Tuesday. According to reports, two cars collided at the corner of Seventh and Gregg, and one of the cars sped off, leaving two injured women behind.

Three witnesses tailed the other car, which stopped at 611 Rannels where the driver got out and ran inside a business there. Sgt. Jimmy Wallace and Officer Ray Meek arrested the suspect inside.

Both the driver of the other car, Mary G. Mendez, Stanton, and a passenger, Louisa Garza, Lenorah, were treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Burglars broke into the home of Tonia Jennings, 1001 S. Main, sometime between 9 a.m. and 10 p.m. Tuesday. Stolen was $10 worth of loose change.

Burglars also broke into a car belonging to Suzanna Croteau, 1810 S. Monticello, sometime over the weekend, and stole an eight-track tape player. The machine was valued at $30.

Six minor mishaps were reported Tuesday.

Vehicles driven by Rocky New, Box 1055, and Raymond Woolverton, 1611 Donley, collided at FM 700 and Goliad, 9:18 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Maria Hilario, 1601 Stadium, and Lois Singleton, 511 Lancaster, collided at Forth and Lancaster, 10:03 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Phillip Smith, Route 1, and Roxene Belew, 1418 Tucson, collided at 1400 Tucson, 5:43 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Benito Sainz, 609 N. Rannels, and Michael L. Cochran, 1604 Walnut, collided at Fourth and Johnson, 1:44 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Cornell Kimble, 1405 Mesa, and David W. McNary, 1313 Kindle, collided at Air Base Road and West Highway 80, 2:30 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Debra A. DeWeese, 1605 B. Lincoln, and Sandra H. Olyer, 1706 Owens, collided at 15th and State, 4:12 p.m.

SECOND TIME AROUND — An unfortunate James L. Caffey, Hobbs, N.M., was involved in two mishaps Tuesday. In this, the second, he is helped by Police Sgt. Jimmy Wallace after being injured when his truck went out of control. The accident occurred on the north access road of IS 20, 5:28 p.m.

Discrimination suit

Statement of facts ordered withdrawn

Federal Judge Leo Brewster has ordered that the statement of facts submitted by plaintiffs Rachel Shaffer and Bernice Nail be withdrawn because it was submitted without authorization by the defendant, Howard County.

The statement of facts is the transcript of the discrimination hearing involving two female deputies in the Howard County Sheriff's Office. The two are appealing Brewster's decision not to allow pay equal to male deputies for the two women.

According to County Attorney Harvey Hooser the statement was obtained from the county clerk's office and probably xeroxed.

The order to withdraw the document will delay the case for 30 days.

Both attorneys presented arguments before Brewster before he ordered the document withdrawn.

The case has been docketed at the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. No date has set for the hearing. Hooser and Malcolm Schulz will go to New Orleans to represent Howard County. The plaintiffs are being represented by Gerald Lopez of Midland.

The plaintiffs must acquire a copy of the statement from the court reporter and submit their own copy, according to Hooser.

Howard teen charged with kicking officer

Ricky Len Murphy, 18, Knott Route Box 16, was charged Monday with assault on a law officer. The incident occurred Friday when Highway Patrolman Bill Jennings approached a vehicle illegally parked on a roadway and was allegedly kicked and scratched by an occupant of the vehicle.

Bond has been set by Justice of the Peace Louis Hefflin at $2,500.

Murphy was out on $15,000 bond from an earlier arrest that "also" involved a suspicion of resisting arrest. Sheriff deputies approached a brown Ford at the intersection of Old Gail Road and Leatherwood Road Jan. 18. The car started up and almost hit the officers as they approached. The chase ended after the driver turned north on highway 87 and ran into some trees behind a fiberglass plant. Deputies had to force the man out of the car.

Murphy was arrested in that incident for fleeing, eluding an officer and resisting arrest. Bond was set at $5,000 each.

Digest

Female shoplifter sought

HOUSTON (AP) — Clerks paid no particular attention to one female shopper at the Neiman Marcus specialty store.

She apparently found what she wanted — $150,000 in jewelry — without a clerk's helping hand. She also didn't bother to stop at a cash register. Police said the woman evidently pried up prongs holding a protective glass case, then lifted the top to get the jewelry. A surveillance camera caught a woman standing near the case, but the film was fuzzy. Authorities said 24 rings are missing.

Evacuees returning home

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — The more than 1,000 people evacuated from a 40-block area when toxic gas began leaking from derailed freight cars are back at home. No one was injured, authorities said.

The evacuation was ordered Monday when nine cars of a Santa Fe train derailed. Two tank cars holding vinyl chloride, a poisonous gas, began leaking. The evacuees were allowed to return after the wreckage was cleared early Tuesday, according to Ardmore Police Chief Bill Culley. Railroad spokesman Richard Bradley said a broken axle on a tank car apparently caused the derailment.

Who's first for a million a year

Who's going to be baseball's first $1 million-a-year player?
 "It has to come, they're inching closer," former Giants' star Monte Irvin was saying just the other day at ceremonies announcing teammate Willie Mays' election into baseball's Hall of Fame.
 Somebody asked "Say Hey Willie" how much he thought he would be worth in today's inflated market.
 "If Jim Rice is worth $5.4 million, I figure I would be worth $8 million," replied Mays, not one to succumb to false modesty.
 "Ten million at least," whispered Irvin standing in the wings.
 "In Willie's day, the magic salary figure for the baseball superstar was $100,000 so you can see how far we've come, 10 times greater now," Monte added.
 "There were some others who I think you'd have to classify as $10 million guys measured by the present price tags. Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio, Stan Musial, Sandy Koufax, Hank Aaron, also Mickey Mantle. I am not going back to the Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson era."
 Big Dave Parker came close to the new plateau last Friday when he signed a five-year contract with Pittsburgh for a reported $4.5 million. Broken down, that's puts his yearly wage at $900,000, highest in the game.

 Earlier, Pete Rose signed a four-year contract with the Phillies for $3.4 million followed by Jim Rice's agreement to keep playing with the Boston Red Sox for $5.4 million covering seven years.
 It will be interesting to see how much the New York Yankees have to shell out to Rod Carew if they land the perennial American League batting champion.
 Although pro basketball has the highest average pay scale — around $147,000 — baseball has moved ahead of both basketball and football in rewarding its most glamorous performers.
 Here is the rundown of the aristocrats of sports:
 Dave Parker, baseball, $900,000.
 Pete Rose, baseball, $850,000.
 O.J. Simpson, football, $800,000.
 David Thompson, basketball, $800,000.
 Julius Erving, basketball, $700,000.
 Vida Blue, baseball, $700,000.
 Bjorn Borg, tennis, $690,000.
 Pete Maravich, basketball, $650,000.
 Artis Gilmore, basketball, $650,000.
 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, basketball, $625,000.
 Darrel McHargue, jockey, $600,000.
 Reggie Jackson and Catfish Hunter are also in the $600,000 range along with hockey's Ulf Nilsson.
 With Rose, Rice and Parker having signed long-term contracts, the question is who will be the first to reach the $1 million-a-year figure? One man's guess: Ron Guidry, the Yankees slingshot.

NBA Roundup

After two years of pain and frustration, James Silas is back.
 Silas scored a season-high 30 points, including four in overtime, to help the Spurs beat the Chicago Bulls 112-108 Tuesday night. That victory, coupled with Houston's 112-106 loss to the Indiana Pacers, gave San Antonio a 2½-game lead over the Rockets in the National Basketball Association's Central Division.
 Silas was the best basketball player in the dying days of the American Basketball Association, but suffered a string of ankle, knee and thigh injuries the past two years. Most of his time was spent gathering splinters on the bench; when he was able to play, he found he couldn't do the things he used to take for granted.
 "You have no idea what it was like to sit there and watch my team play without me," Silas recalled. "The feeling of helplessness, of not being able to do anything about it, was indescribable."
 But Spurs Coach Doug Moe, knowing what Silas could do when healthy, stuck with him.
 Silas started this season on the Spurs' bench, but the team got out of the gate slowly. San Antonio didn't start winning until Silas replaced Mike Gale in the starting backcourt alongside NBA scoring champion George Gervin.
 "We complement each other," said Gervin, who also had 30 points against Chicago but fouled out with three minutes left in overtime and the Bulls leading 108-106. "If we are not the best guard tandem in basketball, I don't know who is."

In other NBA games Tuesday night, Portland defeated Denver 82-76, Washington beat Atlanta 109-105, San Diego trimmed Milwaukee 117-113 and Los Angeles topped New Jersey 122-108.
 San Antonio erased a 100-88 deficit with 6:45 left, Gervin sending the game into overtime on a 30-foot jumper with 50 seconds to go that tied the score at 104.
 After Gervin fouled out in overtime, Silas took command. He tied the game with a 20-footer and drew a charging foul from Reggie Theus. After Mike Grew hit a driving layup with 1:15 remaining, Silas drew another charging foul from Theus, then sank two free throws with six seconds left to clinch the victory.
 Chicago, which has lost eight of nine, got 27 points from Artis Gilmore and 19 points and 23 rebounds from Mark Landsberger.
 Indiana won its fourth in a row behind 20 points and 16 assists by Ricky Sobers and 20 points by reserve Billy Knight. The Pacers led 49-28 midway through the second period, saw Houston come within four in the fourth quarter but held on.
 Blazers 82, Nuggets 76
 Rookie Mychal Thompson scored 24 points and Maurice Lucas got five in a row late in the fourth quarter as Portland beat Denver.
 Denver center Dan Issel was knocked unconscious briefly when he went down in a tangle of bodies under the Portland basket with 8:35 remaining. He suffered a sprained back and neck.
 Clippers 117, Bucks 113
 San Diego snapped an 89-89 tie with 15 straight points to take control midway through the fourth quarter as Milwaukee lost for the 17th time in 21 road games. Randy Smith led the Clippers with 26 points while rookie Freeman Williams got 12 of his 19 points in the final period.
 Marques Johnson topped the Bucks with 39 points and 12 rebounds.
 Bullets 109, Hawks 105
 Elvin Hayes sank three foul shots and Tom Henderson four in the final 79 seconds as Washington raised its Atlantic Division lead to 4½ games over Philadelphia. Hayes led the Bullets with 23 points.
 Lakers 127, Nets 108
 Lou Hudson hit seven of eight shots in the first half to help Los Angeles to a 63-47 lead and the Nets never threatened. Hudson finished with 22 points and five other Lakers scored in double figures.

Staubach blitzed by unruly youths

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A band of unruly youths blitzed Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach in the parking lot of the Los Angeles Coliseum after he had led his team to victory in the Pro Bowl Monday night.
 Staubach said he lost "less than $50" when his attackers knocked him, his wife and son down, grabbed his wallet and ran.
 They failed in their effort to take his wife's necklace.
 "I chased the guy, but by the time I caught him, he'd handed it off to some other kid," Staubach said.
 No one was hurt, and Staubach said someone found his wallet and returned it to him, with nothing missing but the money, before he and his family returned Tuesday to Dallas.
 "I gave the kid who found my wallet on the street a reward. It was more than the amount I lost. It just goes to show there are good people too," he said.
 He was holding his son, Jeff, and had just leaned into a car to put the child on the seat when he felt his wallet being taken, he said.
 Meanwhile, similar incidents were occurring all over the parking lot, Staubach said.
 "There were no police in the parking lot, and there was an unruly crowd of perhaps a couple hundred kids out there. Most of them were good kids, but there were 10 or 12 who were definitely out to create a disturbance," he added.
 Staubach remained in Los Angeles after the Pro Bowl long enough to receive the 7th YMCA Brian Piccolo Award for Humanitarian Service. The ceremony Tuesday honored Staubach for his involvement in the American Diabetes Association, the Salvation Army, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the Paul Anderson Youth Home.

Permian shoots down cold Steers

POSS SCORES — Big Spring's Mark Poss (34) prepares to release a successful field goal in the 68-56 loss to Odessa Permian in a District 5-AAAA basketball game played in Steer Gym Tuesday night.

The Odessa Permian Panthers completed dominated the Big Spring Steers in a District 5-AAAA game played Tuesday night in Steer Gym. The final score was Permian 68, Big Spring

56. The Steers played a good defensive game, but could not match the Mojo crew in shooting, both from the field and the charity line, and in the rebounding department.

District 5-AAAA

Odessa's lightning quick guard Danny Wright scored all of teams seven points in the fourth stanza, then put the Bronchos in the lead with a free throw with 18 seconds remaining in overtime to lead OHS to its first district win of the year, a 46-44 upset over San Angelo. It was San Angelo's first loss in the second half of district play.

Wright scored a game high 27 points to pace OHS, while San Angelo was led by Kenneth Sullivan's 14 points.

The Midland Bulldogs moved one step closer to the District 5-AAAA title by taking a 48-42 victory over the Abilene Eagles Tuesday night.

The victory gives Midland a 3-0 record in the second half while Abilene slips to 1-2.

Midland was paced by Milton Sanders, who had 17 points. Roy Lee Jefferson and Walter Bryson added 12 and 11 points, respectively, for the Bulldogs. Derrick Caballero led Abilene with 10 points.

Mike Anderson hit a shot with two seconds remaining to give Abilene Cooper a 46-45 win over the Midland Lee Rebels in a District 5-AAAA game played Tuesday night.

Lee had one last chance, but Ernest Merritt's shot bounced off the rim.

The victory gives Cooper a 2-1 mark in the second half, while Lee slips to 1-2.

Anderson led Cooper with 16 points, while Kyle Sturard added 13. Merritt led Lee with 17 points, and Mike McGaha chipped in with 16.

Fired Army coach entering Harvard's Divinity School

By DICK BRAUDE
AP Sports Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — "I've been upset with my own behavior in a secular world. It's been nagging at me. I want to operate more honestly, ethically and morally."

With those words, Homer Smith, fired as Army football coach, prepared to enroll today in Harvard University's Divinity School.

Released after the 1978 football season — capped by a 28-0 loss to archrival Navy — Smith said in a telephone interview from West Point, N.Y., he would move today to a Cambridge, Mass. apartment near the Harvard campus.

He said he would register for four courses and will be a fulltime student for two years, seeking a masters degree in the theological studies.

Smith, 47, has charged Army with numerous violations of NCAA recruiting rules and claimed that the academy was engaged in a coverup. West Point has, however, begun an investigation.

The alleged violations helped convince Smith to study for a possible future teaching career. He says he will not, under any circumstances, return to coaching.

"It hurts to leave football," Smith said. "It's addictive. But it's morally wrong to drag athletes into violations of rules. I couldn't stand it."

"I want to do whatever I do from a religious perspective. I'm thrilled to have been admitted to Harvard and I'm happy I can afford it. No one loved coaching more than me. If we had beaten Navy and won a few more games I'd probably be the most enthusiastic guy in the East right now."

"But coaching is terminal. Everyone knows that. I've decided I want to be with people in divinity school. I want to catch up on what I've been missing. My area of concern — make that fascination — is world conflict. Maybe I'll teach students from different countries."

Smith's five-year log at Army was 21-33-1. His only winning season was 7-4 in 1977 when he was voted major college coach of the year in the East by the New York Football Writers Association.

Army was 4-6-1 last year. Lou Saban has been named to replace Smith.

There will be numerous awards presented during the evening for the two sports. Included are football awards for Dibrell's Outstanding Back, KBST Outstanding Lineman, Football Coaches Award, KBYG Defensive Award, and the Scholastic Award.

Volleyball awards include Texas Electric Outstanding Volleyball Players Award, Volleyball Coaches Award, Volleyball Scholastic Award and the Big Spring Herald Award.

On the general subject of tennis, Miss Ever said that men tennis players were less generous in their contributions to the game. She was alluding to the refusal of five top male pros to commit themselves to the Grand Prix Circuit's six designated tournaments.

Ali: 2 mil for retiring!

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Muhammad Ali said Tuesday night the ante is up to $2 million for a television extravaganza during which he'll announce his retirement from boxing once and for all. And the world heavyweight champ indicated it's just a matter of time before he does it.

Albany. "I don't know which network because they're all bidding; one network is now up to $2 million," he continued. "They're giving me $2 million to retire just before a (Leon) Spinks-(Larry) Holmes fight. I'll come on television and I'll have a big party and laugh and say I'm retired and they'll show a round from each one of our biggest fights and then it's official."

"My retirement party will be held on network television," Ali told about 5,000 students packing a gymnasium at the State University of New York at

Albany. "I don't know which network because they're all bidding; one network is now up to $2 million," he continued. "They're giving me $2 million to retire just before a (Leon) Spinks-(Larry) Holmes fight. I'll come on television and I'll have a big party and laugh and say I'm retired and they'll show a round from each one of our biggest fights and then it's official."

(AP WIREPHOTO) OPEN ARMS — Pope John Paul II opens his arms to the applause of thousands as he entered the Jalisco Stadium in Guadalajara on Tuesday. Hundreds of thousands of Mexicans filled the stadium and lined the Pope's motorcade route in Guadalajara.

Pope John Paul II ends Mexican stay

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II ends his Mexican visit today after winning the hearts of the Mexican people and charting a course of non-political social activism for the Roman Catholic Church in Latin America.

He planned an early morning meeting with university students and a late afternoon talk with factory workers in the northern industrial center of Monterrey. From Monterrey he flies to Nassau, the Bahamas, for a two-hour stop before returning to Rome Thursday.

On Tuesday, he appealed for a war on illiteracy and told workers in a poor district of Guadalajara that the wealthy should forsake "some of what is theirs" to promote social justice and help the poor live better.

He later had his helicopter land before one of Mexico's most violent prisons and delivered a blessing to its 2,000 inmates, who had petitioned him to come. Then in the evening he reiterated his theme of aid to the poor and "the necessary transformation of society" in a homily during a High Mass at the Basilica of Zapopan near Guadalajara.

John Paul came to Mexico to open the third conference of Latin American bishops, the most important meeting of Latin American Catholics in a decade, and to tell his bishops what he thinks the church should do to help the poor and oppressed in Latin America.

His comments at the inauguration at a bishop's working meeting and before students, peasants, workers and priests in 11 different cities set that tone but also touched off controversy.

Some within the church felt his speeches were too conservative and that he might kill the only hope Latin America's poor have. Others cheered his speeches as true guides for keeping the church on a spiritual path and out of local or national politics.

Bishops at the meeting in Puebla, 80 miles south of Mexico City, were still poring over the texts of his speeches looking for guidance in their deliberations. The Puebla meeting is expected to lay the course for the church in Latin America — where 330 million Catholics live — well into the next century.

John Paul put the church squarely behind traditional methods of social change, ruled out violence by priests or faithful no matter what the provocation, and put down those who look upon Jesus as "a subversive from Nazareth."

Followers of the so-called theology of liberation were especially stunned by the pope's speech. Some tried to organize a counter-conference on the other side of Puebla but the Puebla archbishop ruled that none of his priests could attend.

Blue Cadillac linked to rape-strangulation

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — An automobile that "resembled" one owned by a 27-year-old Argyle man was near the spot where the body of a Lewisville High School majorette was found an hour later, according to testimony from a Denton county couple.

The testimony came from Terry and Jo Ann Ritchey Tuesday in the rape-strangulation trial of John W. McCrory of Argyle.

They were shown a photograph of a 1966 blue Cadillac belonging to John W. McCrory and compared it to one they saw parked by a burned-out house on Denton County's Farm Road 407 just after midnight June 3.

McCrory is charged with raping and strangling 17-year-old Jena Melissa Walker of Roanoke. Her body was found about 1 a.m. June 3 in tall grass near the charred house.

The victim's mother, Mrs. Lee Walker, testified on Monday — the first day of the trial — that her daughter left about 10 p.m. June 2 to pick up her boyfriend for a graduation party.

Highland Village police officer Tom Teague said Tuesday that McCrory and his mother came to the small Denton County community's police station on June 7, and McCrory was driving the 1966 Cadillac at the time. Prosecutors did not question Teague further about the June 7 visit.

In six hours of tedious testimony, Teague also described 127 fingerprint areas lifted from the yellow Ford Torino Miss Walker was driving the day of her death. Teague told the 8-woman, 4-man jury McCrory was voluntarily fingerprinted on June 7, but there was no testimony as to whether any of the prints matched those found on the car.

Hostages take gunmen

Hostages take gunmen
PINEVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — State police stormed a restaurant early this morning after hostages apparently overpowered a gunman who had held them for more than eight hours, authorities said.
One of the hostages died at an area hospital shortly after he was freed, according to Trooper B. L. Baker. Police said he had been shot about an hour before the 4 a.m. storming of the restaurant. They did not identify him.
Two other unidentified hostages were wounded when they overpowered their captor, police said. They were taken to nearby hospitals, but their conditions were not immediately available.
Just before midnight Tuesday, Church had released a fifth hostage, Wayne Beam of Summersville. Beam was the employer of the other four hostages, authorities said. The five had been staying at the Mountain Motel and Restaurant near this town of 1,200 in southwestern West Virginia. The siege took place at the restaurant.
Richard G. Rundle, Wyoming County prosecutor, said he was grazed in the hip by a stray bullet early this morning. He said the gunman was firing indiscriminately.
Church had threatened to kill the five hostages at 9 p.m. Tuesday and gave authorities a five-hour deadline so he could talk to Brenda Mayhew, a welfare case worker, officials said.
Rundle said the welfare worker had accused Church of child abuse. Church also complained about food stamp policies and lack of money to pay medical bills, Cassell said.
Church's mother said her son hadn't been himself since the 1972 Buffalo Creek flood in Logan County that killed 125 persons.
"Freddie was in the Buffalo Creek flood. He helped pull children out of the water and the people that lived near him. It did something to him. He just hasn't been himself since," she said.
Both associations are leaders in the national "Voluntary Effort" program to hold down hospital inflation rates to 11.6 percent this year.
Brackenridge's 1979 dues would be about 2.5 percent above the 1978 dues, $12,000 for the state association and $8,000 for the national.
However, Brackenridge board members said they feel the city hospital dues are unfair because they are based on the hospital's expenses.

$20,000 hospital dues too much, board rules

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The governing board of city-owned Brackenridge Hospital has decided that $20,000 a year is too much to pay for dues to the Texas Hospital Association and the American Hospital Association.
The board said Friday it had voted to withdraw Brackenridge from the two professional organizations in view of soaring hospital costs.

DPS director asking for trooper pay raise

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — In these inflationary times, the slogan "one Ranger, one riot" might be replaced with "one trooper, 9,500 Texans."
That's the ratio of officers to Texans, and Col. Wilson Speir of the Department of Public Safety said the troopers are not getting paid enough for what they do.
He told the Senate Finance Committee on Tuesday the DPS needs 400 more troopers but — if he has to make a choice — he would rather raise the salaries of those already on the payroll.
Speir asked the committee for a 13.6 percent pay raise for troopers during each of the next two years.
Additionally, Speir recommended increasing hazardous duty pay from $4 to $5 per month for each year of service and increasing the maximum years for which pay is received from 25 to 30 years.
The Legislative Budget Board has recommended only a 5.1 percent across-the-board pay increase each year of the biennium.
The board's total budget recommendation for the DPS in 1980-81 is $196 million, $40.2 million less than the DPS request.
"Of first and most important concern is the benefits recommended in this bill for our present personnel," said Speir.
Speir said surrounding states and states with

Threat of deportation less likely in Seminole

SEMINOLE, Texas (AP) — Thursday's threat of deportation for 550 Mennonite immigrants seems less imminent as the religious farmers hire on to skilled jobs they hope will bring them legal alien status that has eluded them for almost two years, an attorney for the group said.

With the Feb. 1 deadline looming, all but "10 or 12" of the 125 family heads and single adults had located jobs by Tuesday night, according to Mennonite attorney John Shepherd.

The Mennonites immigrated to West Texas from Canada and Mexico in 1977 hoping to establish a farm-based community on 6,400 acres. But the land was not as productive as they had hoped and a windmill-powered electric generator factory is not producing enough to provide jobs for the Mennonites.

"We are confident they (the remaining 10 or 12) will find something," he said. "The people had to make up their minds they were going to have to get out and away from the farm."

He said most found jobs as welders, carpenters and machinists — all classified as skilled jobs that Shepherd said should qualify them for permanent resident status.

To qualify, wages from the new-found jobs must meet U.S. wage laws and the employment must be something for which American citizens either aren't available to do or won't do.

A close-knit farming community, the Mennonites hoped for agriculture worker "green cards" when they arrived here. But the relatively large number of Mexican-Americans in the Rio Grande Valley had already "cornered the market" on the green cards. The Mennonites were turned down.

"Working on a farm won't qualify," Shepherd said. "I must have had 35 calls from farmers in the last two days offering to hire them (Mennonites) on their farms."

Shepherd said Immigration and Naturalization officials have emphasized they plan no mass invasion of Seminole Thursday to "swoop down" on the Mennonites and deport them.

"If substantial progress is not made after the first, they will review each file on an individual basis. Then they (Mennonites who do not qualify) will be notified by letter they have 30 days to leave the country voluntarily," Shepherd added.

"So we figure we have two to three weeks, plus 30 days."

SIDEWALK STATEMENT — Former President Richard M. Nixon exhibited these expressions Tuesday as he answered newsmen's questions on a gusty New York City sidewalk outside the apartment of his daughter, Tricia Nixon Cox. Nixon, scheduled to visit his daughter in the early afternoon, delayed the visit, so that he could drive to Pocantico Hills, N.Y., to offer condolences to the widow of former Vice President Nelson Rockefeller.

White voters approve Rhodesian constitution

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Sixty percent of Rhodesia's white voters approved the new constitution promising the black majority eventual control of the country.

About 66,300 of the 94,700 registered voters cast ballots in the referendum Tuesday, and results from 37 of the 50 districts showed 85 percent voted "yes." Results from the other districts were expected today.

"I believe we have strengthened our position. There was nothing half-hearted about this vote," said Prime Minister Ian Smith, who argued that the constitution guaranteeing the whites at least partial control for the next five years was the only alternative to a takeover by Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe, whose black guerrillas have been battling the Rhodesian armed forces from bases in Mozambique and Zambia for more than six years.

Smith also said he hoped the referendum would induce the United States and Britain to recognize the new government to be elected three months from now and lift their trade embargo against Rhodesia.

Ultra-right-wing opponents of the constitution said the white voters "sold their souls to the devil." And a spokesman for the guerrillas' Patriotic Front declared in New York that the whites "sort of dug their own graves."

The Patriotic Front spokesman, Callistus Dingiswayo Ndlovu, said the constitution offers only the illusion of black majority rule. "There's no doubt" the guerrillas will take power through force of arms.

The constitution takes effect April 20 when blacks and whites vote together for the first time for the first Rhodesian Parliament with a black majority.

However, the document reserves 28 of the 100 seats in the legislature for whites for 10 years, a big enough margin to block changes in the constitution. It also reserves a quarter of the Cabinet portfolios for whites for at least five years and gives whites control over the civil service, the judiciary and military for the same period of time.

The referendum was held under terms of Smith's 10-month-old agreement establishing an interim government with moderate black leaders the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, Bishop Abel Muzorewa and Sen. Jeremiah Chirau.

Voting stations in guerrilla-infested rural areas were guarded heavily, and dirt roads near the Mozambique border were swept for mines before white settlers in the area went to town to vote.

Smith declared Rhodesia independent from Britain in 1965 rather than agree to a constitution providing for eventual black rule. Guerrilla warfare started seven years later, and so far more than 12,000 persons have been killed on both sides.

Four counties under supervision of Big Spring FmHA office

Farmers Home Administration County Supervisor, J. Stanley Bickel, was recently informed by the Farmers Home Administration State Office in Temple, Texas that in addition to Howard and Glasscock Counties, Midland and Upton Counties are now under the supervision of the Big Spring FmHA office.

All four of these counties have been authorized to receive Emergency loans due to drought.

Emergency loans at 3 percent interest can now be processed without the completion of cotton harvesting and ginning. A loan for a conservative amount can be made to provide extra financial assistance until a subsequent Emergency Loan can be processed. The Big Spring FmHA Office is now accepting applications from all four counties.

Employees of the Big Spring Office are Bickel; County Supervisor; Daria Doty; Assistant County Supervisor; Mattie Norwood; County Office Assistant; and Tammy Fryar; County Office Clerk.

Production in Mitchell

The Jamerson, North (Strawn) field of Mitchell County has been extended 1 1/2 miles southwest with completion of Tejas Production Co., Houston, No. 1 Chappell Trust, et al, one mile north and east of depleted Strawn production in a northwest extension area of the Jamerson field, seven miles west of Silver, for a daily potential of 39 barrels of 38.8 gravity oil, plus 86 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 179-1.

Production was through perforations at 6,289-304 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 59,000 gallons and 87,500 pounds of sand.

It originally was scheduled as a 7,200-foot wildcat in Coke County, however, location was amended and to the above field and to Mitchell County.

Location (amended) is 134 feet from the northwest and 2,930 feet from the southwest lines of 3-15-SPRR.
