One million Iranians march

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — An estimated one million people, including hundreds of uniformed soldiers, marched through Tehran today in support of holy man Ruhollah Khomeini's revolution.

The turnout of military men was the biggest yet seen in an antigovernment demonstration here, giving Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar further cause to question whether lower-ranking soldiers would back his government in a showdown with Khomeini.

Bakhtiar remained defiant, however, vowing not to surrender to the Moslem religious leader and accusing him depending on the "mob" rather than democracy.

New political violence was reported in the Caspian Sea town of Gorgan, where state radio said four antigovernment demonstrators were killed and 21 injured. The broadcast said security forces opened fire when protesters set fire to shops, banks and other buildings.

Khomeini had called for a massive turnout in the streets today to keep up the pressure on the prime minister to give way to Mehdi Bazargan, a longtime political foe of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi named by the ayatollah on Monday to head a new provisional government.

A stream of Iranians two miles long flowed through central Tehran, waving pictures of Khomeini and Bazargan, chanting "Bazargan, Bazargan, you are our prime minister," and "Bakhtiar, Bakhtiar, west take orders from the U.S.A.

The organizers claimed that 1,000 air force and army men joined the march, many with their families, to show their loyalty to Khomeini and their defiance of their commanders' pledge that the 430,000 men of the armed forces would defend Bakhtiar's government. Journalists reported seeing as many as 200 soldiers in the

"The army must obey Bazargan!" the marchers chanted, tossing flowers to the soldiers.

To head off a possible confrontation, Bakhtiar had ordered riot troops to stay out of sight during the demonstration and to go into action only if violence developed.

Smaller pro-Khomeini demonstrations were reported in Isfahan, Iran's second-largest city, and Mashhad.

Speaking to a news conference as the demonstrators assembled, the prime minister said he was ready to talk with Bazargan, an old associate

Bergland stands by criticism of AAM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Protesting farmers are claiming a few small victories — fresh water and propane for their campers, new House and Senate hearings on their complaints and an apology from the agriculture secretary for suggesting some of them were motivated by simple greed.

Secretary Bob Bergland, who continued to avoid his office today, stood by his criticism, however. "He just felt it was unfortunate that it was taken ... to include innocent farmers," department press chief Joseph T. McDavid said.

Although security remained tight today at the Capitol, a distinct sense of relief showed on the faces of police and protesters alike. More than five inches of snow were on the ground, but the sun was shining, the sky was clear and farmers went about their lobbying at a leisurely pace.

Their leaders met with officials to decide if and when some of the demonstrators' tractors might be let out of the police corral on the Mall for an afternoon parade.

Agriculture Department employees arriving for work found some farmers on office couches where they had slept, including one woman drying her hair. At the Mall encampment, some tractors were being driven playfully in circles on the barricaded streets.

"I think things are beginning to work out," said Gerald McCathern of Hereford, Texas, "national wagon-master" of the American Agriculture movement. "They're beginning to understand that we're not a bunch of hoodlums."

City officials allowed farmers to bring in water and propane to cook their meals and heat their campers encircled on the Mall.

Gas adjustment explained

Council to consider rate hike

By JAMES WERRELL

It was disclosed today that rates cited recently for natural gas in Big Spring failed to include a monthly cost of gas adjustment which is included in all customers' bills.

According to Dearl Pittman, local manager of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company, this cost adjustment has been added to bills since November of 1973. As the cost of gas to the company rose, so did the added cost to the customer.

"As of November of 1978, the adjustment was $1.2473 per MCF (1,000 cubic feet of gas)," said Pittman. "That amount was added at each level on the rate schedule."

The Big Spring City Council will meet, 9 a.m. Friday, to consider the first reading of a rate increase request by Pioneer. Also considered will be an ordinance change which would modify Pioneer's obligation to extend main lines for new customers, and fees charged for setting, turning on and reconnecting meters in the

The meeting is public, and all interested citizens are invited to attend.

The cost to the customer of the first 2,000 cubic feet of gas is listed as $2.25 per month on the present general service rate schedule. But with the added cost of gas adjustment, the actual cost is $4.7446.

The cost for the next 10 MCFs is listed at $1.0496, but with the same adjustment it rises to $2.2969. The cost of the first 10 MCFs, therefore, would be approximately $23.12.

The new rate schedule has the cost adjustment taken into account, and lists the charge for the first MCF as $4 a month. The next three MCFs would cost $2.4094 apiece, while the following six MCFs would cost $2.2481.

At that rate, the first 10 MCFs would cost approximately $24.72, an increase of 6.92 percent.

According to Pittman, however, the company will retain provisions for a monthly cost of gas adjustment to be added to future bills.

"As the cost of gas rises for us, so will the adjustment," he said.

The new rate has already been adopted by nearly 25 cities in the Pioneer system, including Midland, Odessa, Plainview and Lubbock. The increase represented a 14 percent rise for most of those cities.

Big Spring, which for many years has had a higher rate than these cities, will experience only an average increase of 11 percent, said City Manager Harry Nagel. This is an effort on the part of Pioneer to equalize rates throughout the system, he added.

Comparable rates for the first 10,000 cubic feet of gas in other major Texas cities include: Dallas, $27.24; Abilene, $26.10; San Angelo, $27.04; Austin, $32.62; Houston, $33.10; and Fort Worth, $26.15.

Egypt accepts U.S. invitation to more Mideast peace talks

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egypt today accepted an American invitation to three-way ministerial-level talks aimed at breaking the impasse in Mideast peace talks with Israel.

The invitation was given to President Anwar Sadat by American Ambassador Hermann Eilts during a 40-minute meeting at the presidential palace.

A similar invitation was given to Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin on Wednesday. The Israeli Cabinet met today to consider the invitation but postponed a decision until its regular meeting on Sunday.

Israeli officials said the Cabinet almost certainly would agree to send Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan to the talks with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mustafa Khalil and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance. The talks are expected to be at Camp David, Md., letter this most between the computation of the co

later this month.

Eilts said the date and place of the meeting would not be announced until Israel had been heard from.

President Carter issued the invitations even though roving Ambassador Alfred Atherton was unable to bring the two sides together on the unresolved issues on his Mideast shuttle last month.

Stumbling blocks include the question of whether the treaty should be linked to progress toward Palestinian autonomy in the West Bank and Gaza Strip and over the question of whether the treaty would supercede previous Egyptian defense pacts with Arab nations.

Criminal activity increase reported

Crimes of nearly all types increased in the city during January.

The increased criminal activity boosted the total number of cases during the month by nine percent, and the average case per detective to 32.28, compared to 29.57 in December.

Fortunately, the clearance rate for cases also rose, from 69 percent in December to 77 percent in January.

Thefts increased more than any other crime, from 51 to 60. Burglaries rose almost as much, from 48 to 53.

Two murders occurred during January, compared to none in December. One robbery took place in January, while none were recorded in December.

Assaults were up by nine percent, from 14 to 16.

The only area in which a drop was recorded was in auto thefts. A total of 11 occurred in December, compared to seven in January.

Excessive regulation burdens consumers

While regulations may be desirable to a point, excessive regulation can add billions of dollars nationally to product and services costs each year. Downtown Lions heard Wednesday.

Sandra Killough, member of the Texas Electric Service Company staff, used her company's experience to illustrate a point. Where high-sulphur coal is burned to generate power, equipment is required to remove or minimize sulphur dioxide stack emissions. But in East Texas where TESCO's plants use lignite as fuel, the sulphur content is minimal. Yet, not only were two new units required to put in the full equipment at a cost of $26 million each, but had to be put on two existing units as well. People who use electricity paid for that.

become as much a threat as condition being regulated. There are, she said, 87 government agencies with regulatory powers, but the worst burdens appear in the field of consumer protection, economic opportunity, health and safety, and encironment protection. In the latter case, one city found it had to discharge effluent from its sewer plant in a much purer state than was required of its drinking water, she said. In another instance, a company was slapped with a fine for not having a beeper working on a moving vehicle when actually the unit was unused because it was in the shop to have the beeper repaired. She quoted Robert Strauss as saying 70 percent of new regulations could be avoided without adversely affecting the environment significantly.

Take lots of money on trip to China

If you're planning a trip to China soon, you'll probably need nothing more than a couple of jumper suits, an extra pair of socks and a clean shirt the inscrutible Orientals don't go in much for fashions

Don't, however, make the mistake of not taking enough money. In a part of the world where the average pay for the working man has never been very high, it takes a tourist a king's ransom to live. In other words, a bargain you don't get.

MINIMUM PRICE of restaurant meals for foreigners has doubled to more than $6. A gallon of gas in a country where oil is supposed to be plentiful has tripled to $3. The cost of personal services such as hair-dressing (and they do have them over there) has doubled or more.

Does your itinerary call for hops between cities on domestic Chinese airlines? Be prepared for fares comparable to the standards of the international carriers, and the service you get suffers by comparison.

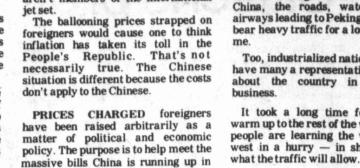

You'd better hope you speak the language. If you need the services of an interpretor, the cost has gone up nearly seven times within a year's time — to $350 a month. That's more than some of the country's top leaders get in the way of compensation

The average pay of the Chinese worker doesn't exceed $35 a month, so it's easy to see the Chinese themselves aren't members of the international its crash modernization program by raking in as much hard currency as possible. Judging by the renewed interest foreigners have shown in China, the roads, waterways and airways leading to Peking are going to bear heavy traffic for a long time to co

Too, industrialized nations expect to have many a representative traveling about the country in search of

It took a long time for China to warm up to the rest of the world but its people are learning the ways of the west in a hurry — in short, charge

Wrong number

Around the rim

Eileen McGuire

Alexander Graham Bell gave us one of the greatest time-saving devices known to mankind (women, too). The telephone is not without its risks,

Anyone who owns one is a candidate for prank calls, obscene calls and those mysterious calls that come from far-away places telling you all about aluminum siding before you get a chance to blurt out "But I don't have a house to put it on!

ANYONE WHO owns a telephone is also a candidate for many a wrong number. Those I can take goodnaturedly because many times I've been the embarrassed person whose called up someone, chatted for a few minutes, then discovered that I've dialed a wrong number.

The nature of my job keeps me dialing numbers a good part of the day obtaining information and setting up interviews. Occasionally my dialing finger goes astray. The results can be interesting.

Like the time I was calling all of the local churches in order to drum up some stories for the religion page the week before New Year's. Halfway through the yellow pages, my conversation with the church secretaries had shortened to something like this:

"This is Eileen McGuire from the Herald. What are you doing New Year's Eve?' My afternoon was considerably brightened when a pleasant male voice replied "Nothing, what did you have in mind?" He wasn't a church. On another occasion, while trying to get in touch with someone from a volunteer fire department, I gave a woman more information than she wanted to know about a fire. After telling this woman all of the details that I had so far, she said with a note of sincere sadness, "Gee, that's awful". I am forced to live with the burden that my wandering finger put a damper on an innocent housewife's

BUT I, TOO, am often a wrong number. During my first year in Big Spring, I was a regular wrong number for a man who had apparently met a woman who had no intention of ever telling him the sad truth that she was not interested. Instead, she gave him "her" telephone number, which in fact, turned out to be mine.

Every weekend, this man called The first week he asked for Linda. When he discovered that "Linda doesn't live here'', he asked for her sister (If you can't have the one you want, pick a sister)

I don't think he ever believed that I wasn't her sister because in ensuing weeks he asked for "Mary, Susan, Theresa, Jackie and just about every other girl's common name he could think of. At the end of a year, he'd run out of names and the Rumpelstiltskin game ended. I kind of missed it.

The callers I always feel sorry for are those who make repeated longdistance attempts to get in contact with someone who had my telephone number before it was issued to me.

After calling and apolozing several times, the party finally has the insight to reveal what number he has been dialing. In this case, the right number is now the wrong number

Ordinarily, a repeat of interruptions by someone calling the wrong number over and over again would begin to tick me off, but when it's long distance, I figure the caller has paid enough for his error. On one oc-casion, I even looked the right number up for the party.

Then there's the "Guess who this is game?" which may work either way. You answer the phone and a mysterious voice says, "Who's this?" Since I have a policy not to give out my name to unknown persons, I ask Who do you think it is?'

The puzzling part is when the caller, in reply to my question, says "Oh sorry, I must have a wrong number." Apparently, there is a person in this community whose lover or whatever always greets her with "Who's this" and if she still says hello, he knows he has the right person.

The calls I hate the most are the You know me, but I'm not going to identify myself" calls. The caller responds to my "Hello?" with "Guess who this is?" or "Hi". A single person who may be dating more than one "Guess who this is?" at a time assumes that this is a trap.

The first time it happened to me, I foolishly guessed. Wrong guy. I learned quickly that you may safely respond in only one way. You en-thusiastically say "Oh, hi!" and then keep the conversation light, cheerful and as empty as possible until you discover which "guess who" you are speaking to. The results can be rather funny when it turns out to be just another wrong number and after a long, light, cheerful and empty conversation, you part without either of you ever knowing who it was you were speaking to.

Being a wrong number is not something that I consciously choose, but occasionally it is entertaining. Many times I've cursed Mr. Bell, but every once in switte, the tight wrong number comes along and makes me feel somewhat fortunate that I was the other number

Job too big?

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON - Jimmy Carter, besieged by a balky Congress, an uncontrollable economy and a critical press, has had cause to reflect ruefully upon Mark Twain's frustrations in asking directions to a friend's farm in New Hampshire.

"How far is it to Henderson's place?" Twain inquired. The farmer said it was "about a mile and a half." Twain continued along the road until he met another farmer and again asked the distance to the Henderson farm. "About a mile and a half." replied the second farmer.

Still farther down the road, Twain asked another passing farmer the distance and was told, "about a mile and a half." Mark Twain replied: 'Thank God, I am holding my own.'

THE PRESIDENT IS beginning to vonder whether he is holding his own. He puts in about two working days every 24 hours. He is usually at his desk by 6:30 a.m. Often he doesn't put aside his work, except for meals and ceremonial functions, until midnight. He keeps plugging away not merely from dawn to dark but, in times of crisis, from dawn to dawn.

Carter has an extraordinary energy that exhausts ordinary men who try to keep up with him. Associates say he thrives on work. He speed-reads through stacks of presidential papers. The Carter technique, according to those who know him, is to commit to memory the key facts and figures he needs to understand a problem.

These become guideposts, which he uses in his discussions with subordinates. Frequently he has flabbergasted them by remembering some detail - a guidepost he had picked out of the fine print — that they had forgotten.

Carter is a determined man who desperately wants to be a good president. But the strain is beginning to show. The face is more gaunt, the famous smile waning, weary lines appearing under the eyes. "What this country needs," commented an associate who has tried to keep up with Carter's multiplying problems and exhausting pace, "is a good night's sleep."

Of course, there can be no eighthour day for the president, no laying aside the awesome responsibilities, no setting down the overwhelming burdens. A move on his chessboard could cause war or bring peace. A chance remark from him could start an economic downslide. He sits at the center of government with a thousand hands, pulling strings, controlling movements, touching everything. He directs the preparation of figures he is expected to understand in detail. He sets foreign policy, guides legislation, makes domestic decisions, controls the government news output, plans political strategy

ARCHAIC LAWS AND traditions also impose upon him a thousand and one minor chores, many of them requiring his personal signature. He is supposed to be that nation's chief greeter, civic pitchman and fatherconfessor

He has to serve as host at banquets for kings, queens and potentates. And he is also expected to greet pickle queens, poster girls and Boy Scout delegations. Nobody knows how many hands a president shakes in a year, but Carter's hand has often gone limp from the exercise. The president's grueling schedule raises an urgent question: has the world's biggest job become too big for any single person to handle?

Not only is Carter expected to comprehend the full significance of the thousands of words and figures that pour across his desk each day; not only must he decide immediate issues and cope with each new crisis; but he must also give constant thought to the future and chart a reliable course for the ship of state to follow.

WHEN DOES THE MAN in the White House find the time to ponder? How can future presidents with normal exhaustion points be expected to hold down the job? The lesser post of defense secretary drove James Forestal to suicide. Many historians believe exhaustion and illness adversely affected the decisions of Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt during their declining

The conclusion is inescapable. The presidency is too overpowering for any one human being. The most modern country in the world is at the same time saddled with one of the most archai political structures. The presidency should be streamlined, perhaps with the vice president picking up more of the load

WATCH ON WASTE: It may seem hard to believe, but federal agencies are not supposed to spend taxpayers' money on publicity and other forms of self-promotion. It is, in fact, against

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON - A high U.S. official recently returned from Saudi Arabia with this private warning: shocked by the calamitous U.S reversal in Iran, Saudi Arabia's royal family is losing confidence in Jimmy Carter's Washington.

This disturbing word from America's most indispensable oil ally explains the president's decision to send Defense Secretary Harold Brown to Rivadh later this week, the first Pentagon chief ever to visit the desert kingdom. At stake in the confidence-building trip by the inscrutable U.S. defense boss is nothing less than arresting precipitous events that threaten Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf. Iran to the north, Soviet-controlled Ethiopia to the west and Soviet-dominated Afghanistan to the east now all but surround Saudi Arabia with hostile regimes Thus, the disaster in Iran has ended complacency in the Carter administration and belatedly riveted attention on the weakening southern flank of Saudi Arabia. Brown's task is to convince the skeptical Saudis that, unlike Carter's perceived treatment of the shah of Iran and of the Nationalist Chinese on Taiwan, Carter will not shortchange Saudi Arabia.

That is no easy deal. For months, the Saudis have been begging Carter and Brown to get serious about building military strength in the small country of North Yemen which, along Moscow-controlled South borders southern Saudi Arabia. Until Iran blew up, the Carter administration equivocated.

The new evidence, not yet announced, of U.S. intentions is that Brown will take the Riyadh what amounts to about $200 million in military aid for North Yemen, including an eventual squadron of F-5s, air-defense, tanks, howitzers and other defensive weapons. American and Saudi advisers will share the training chore in North Yemen.

That seems little enough for defense against possible attack from South Yemen, whose ugly subversive warfare caused the murder of North Yemen's President Al-Ghashmi last year. Armed and trained by agents from the Soviet Union, East Germany and Cuba, South Yemen has posed a mounting threat to Saudi Arabia. The threat was under control while the shah reigned in Tehran.

No longer. Although opinions here differ, a direct invasion of North Yemen by its communist namesake is not wholly ruled out and would threaten to entrap Saudi Arabia in a giant pincers. That explains why Saudi leaders have been smoothing differences with militant Arab states like Iraq, on the northern Saudi border, and militant Palestinians (an effort which, for inexplicable reasons, the loquacious Sen. Frank Church and other Saudi critics naively condemn).

With intentional overstatement, one U.S. official told us that Saudi Arabia has become so vulnerable that "ten smart guys with matchsticks could put them out of commission," Today's overstatement could be tomorrow's prophecy which, if fulfilled, could lead to a world war.

There is rising division within the Saudi royal family as to how to handle Moscow's move to establish diplomatic relations for the first time in 44 years. Prince Saud, the foreign minister, announced last month there would be no change. Others disagree.

Likewise, with the West pleading for higher oil production to take up the loss of Iranian crude, differences have cropped up between Prince Fahd, the heir apparent, and Ahmad Zaki Yamani, the oil minister. So far, the response has been an increase in planned production for 1979 from 8.5 to 9.5 million barrels a day — less than maximum capacity of perhaps 12 million barrels

Evelid 'lumps' may require surgery

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: My daughter, who is 27, has been bothered for several months with chalazions and styles on her eyelids, possibly a staph in ection. She has to have the lumps removed surgically and is getting discouraged. She is also allergic and gets shots for that. Do you know of any treatments for this? - A.B.

The skin around the eyes is rich in tiny ducts and glands. Lumps on the eyelids may have any of several causes, and they have to be seen to be evaluated. A chalazion is an enlargement of one of the oil glands of the lid which has become blocked. The oil accumulates and hardens causing the small, hard lump - the chalazion. The skin can be moved over the lump easily. They usually disappear on their own in time, but if they do not within several weeks or two months then surgery may have to be done to remove them.

The location of lumps is also important. For example, a lump in the lower lid at the inside corner may be a blocked tear duct. This can be relieved by dilating (expanding) the duct to allow better drainage. A repeated infection or irritation of the lid may cause it, as can an allergy.

Styes, on the other hand, are an infection from the staph germ. They require special antibiotic ointments. An eye specialist (ophthalmologist) would be the specialist to see for proper identification of the lumps. Your daughter might be dealing with multiple problems requiring different treatment. The tear duct problem incidentally, is called "dacrocystitis.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I have gout, which settled in my big toe. I was discussing this with a friend recently. He said the reason it settles there is that the toe is farthest away from the heart and so the material just gravitates. Is this the case? We have a small friendly bet going because I disagree. - N.V.

Wrong. Gout is a chemical problem That is, it begins with a blood chemistry disorder - too much uric acid. When enough of this is circulating in the body some of it will collect and crystallization will form deposits. They are called tophi (TOE fie), which despite the way it sounds has nothing to do with the toes.

The big toe or any extremity, such as fingers or even ear lobes, are likely places for this to occur, but the tophi can pop up about anywhere on the body. Why the feet seem more prone is not known, but it has nothing to do with your friend's gravity theory. A more likely explanation is that the feet are more prone to injury. There's a fuller discussion of gout in the booklet, "Gout, the Modern Way to Stop It." For a copy send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald. Dear Dr. Ruble: Please, for my peace of mind answer this question. A person told a friend of mine that canker sores were related to V.D. My friend gets these when she has a cold.

A canker sore has nothing at all to do with V.D. The tiny blisters appear on the mouth or inner cheek, usually heal on their own, but may recur as do cold sores or fever blisters. They are not related to any cold virus, nor to any V.D. germ.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am 64, a male. I just had a cardiac catheterization done. My arteries were not obstructed, but the doctor mentioned signs of hardening. A cholesterollowering diet was suggested. My blood pressure is 120-75. What action should I take? - G.W.

You must have had some serious symptoms to warrant the catheterization -- which is a special test to determine the state of the insides of arteries serving the heart. If there was no blockage, then just keeping your weight down, exercising as much as you can without pain, and quitting cigarettes if you smoke should be helpful. The diet might help also. If you do have pain (angina) you may need medicine to control it.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I've always heard one should take aspirin with milk or with meals. Now I'm told that it works in the blood and taking it with meals won't help. Please explain. - A.P. It works in the bloodstream, but before it gets there it can irritate your stomach. Thus the advice is correct.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Ruble, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of the booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I grew up in a broken home, and I never really knew what it meant to be loved by my parents. Although I am a Christian, I still am bothered by a deep sense of guilt and unworthiness. What can I do about this? - M.G.F.

DEAR M.G.F.: It is unfortunate that you did not have as great a sense of parental love as you deserved during those early years of your life. Perhaps your parents made you feel unwanted, and you have carried this sense of unworthiness with you for many years. However, I believe God wants you to be free from this, and He can help you overcome it.

The first step is to really be sure you understand what Jesus Christ has done for you. You were a sinner - in many ways no better, and no worse, than anyone else in God's eyes, for we have all sinned. But "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners" (1 Timothy 1:15). On the Cross Christ took away your sins totally and completely I believe it would be important for you to get involved in some type of Christian work (in your church, for example, or actively witnessing to those around you at work). Pray that God will help you to be used of Him in the lives of a few people around you. There are all kinds of people in your community who have very real physical, emotional, and spiritual needs you may be able to help. Why do I suggest this? Because I have often found that it is easy to become absorbed in your own problem. But when you get involved in the live of other people, you find your problems often

Your problem is not necessarily an easy one to overcome, and you may want to find a trained Christian counselor with whom you can discuss it. But it can be overcome, and don't let it paralyze you and keep you from being used of God.

Curb This Doggie Gag!

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor lady has a peculiar sense of humor. Last Christmas she went to the animal shelter and got a dog which she named Marvin, knowing perfectly well that is my husband's name

In the evening when she calls her dog, my Marvin goes to the window and barks like a dog just to confuse her. There have been times when I've called my husband when he's outdoors, and that dog comes running

Everyone in the neighborhood thinks it's hilarious, but I cant see anything funny about it.

Aren't there laws to protect people against being publicly humiliated? If I thought I could win, I'd haul this neighbor into court. What are my chances?

DEAR WIFE: Better pick this bone out of court. A grown man who tries to confuse his neighbor by "barking" when she's calling her dog is in no position to criticize a practical

DEAR ABBY: Today is my 15th birthday and I feel like 40. I developed early and thought that because I looked mature I could handle any situation. Well, I was wrong. I started dating when I was 12, and before I was 13 I was going steady with a 17-year-old dude. I gave in to him and that's when my troubles began. He dropped me and I started going with a friend of his. I gave in to him, too (on the first date), and from then on it was one guy after another. I never used anything, and it was a miracle I didn't get pregnant.

I'm not writing for advice, Abby. It's too late for that. Now I have to live down a bad reputation. (Guys talk afterwards, I found that out.) I just hope you will print this for girls who be, their mothers to let them date and go steady before they know how to handle guys. No matter how mature a girl thinks she is at 13, she's only a kid. "NO GOOD AT 15"

DEAR "15": There is a lot of good in you or you wouldn't have written to offer your experience as a warning to others. With consistent good behavior you can build your self-respect. Tomorrow is the first day of the rest of your life. Good luck, dear.

DEAR ABBY: I have studied the Bible and am convinced that everything that happens to us is the result of God's plan. When we become ill, it is God's will-that's why I never take any medicine. Why try to reverse God's decision? Also, when we fall victim to an illness or an accident, that is God's way of punishing us for our sins. If you can refute this, you are a genius.

Selecting pets advice

Every year, more and more people become firsttime pet owners. People become pet owners for a variety of reasons. Some purchase pets for companionship; some for protection; and still others buy pets - such as fish - for the visual beauty they add to any room in the home.

Deciding to purchase a pet is the easy part; selecting one specific pet out of a choice of hundreds of breeds and species is obviously more difficult. Pet ownership involves a great deal of responsibility that requires careful thought, long before a purchase is made. These guidelines can help the prospective pet owner select the most suitable pet.

First, ask yourself why. Whether acquired by accident or design, a pet becomes part of a household for particular reasons. Homes with young children, for instance, are ideal places to raise and care for pets. There's no better way to teach a youngster about responsibility and concern for others than with a pet that requires care and attention. People living alone also make good candidates for pet ownership, as do older people who find companionship and a sense of security in befriending a furry or feathered pet. For childless couples, pets can serve as a child substitute, providing an important emotional outlet. As a therapeutic aid, pets have also been used successfully the treatment of emotionally disturbed adults and children who need to develop a sense of belonging and sharing.

Factors such as where you live, ages of household members, temperament of children, if any, and the amount of time family members spend at home must all be taken into consideration when selecting a Budgetary considerations are also important - large dogs, of course, eat more than small ones. Families who travel frequently should consider fish, gerbils, hamsters and guinea pigs, for example. Timed-release fish food can last for days; hamsters tend to hoard food for later consumption. With the advent of different pet litters and dry foods, many pets cats, for one - which previously needed daily tive basis. attention can now be safely and comfortably left on their sports most frequently own for as long as a participated in, followed by weekend. The child's size, weight and temperament must be considered if the pet is a dog. Medium sized to large dogs tend to be more tolerant of a child's rough play than smaller, lighter dogs. Cats make excellent children's pets because they're selfsufficient and can handle themsleves if the child gets

TRIAL MUST RECESS TO FEED HUNGRY BABY - Mary Hoving burps her 21/2 month old daughter, Laura, as the babysitter looks on during a recess of a court trial. If you ever walk into the beautiful home of Mrs. Ralph (Mariane) Walker, 1900 Runnels, you'll be astounded by a unique collection which is arranged in a showcase constructed by

Hundreds of miniature lass figurines, obtained from many different states and countries around the world, are the pride and joy of this lady.

"I have collected glass figurines for about as long as I can remember. In fact, it's hard to remember when I didn't have any," revealed

The first of her collection was a dog and cat given to her by her brothers when she was a child. She's been collecting them ever since.

Mrs. Walker claims she has no idea exactly how many figurines she has accumulated, though it's obvious there are many. Her collection includes items from occupied Japan which are extremely old and considered collector's items.

Since she and her husband enjoy traveling in their travel trailer, she has a chance to pick up many additions to her collection from various states such as New Mexico, Arizona, California, Tennessee, Colorado. Florida Mississippi and Alabama. A few came from Mexico and

Mrs. Walker says she isn't exactly sure how glass is blown, although she has watched it being done several times. "All I know," stated Mrs. Walker, "is that it takes some kind of butane flame and an extreme amount of skill and control."

On a recent vacation to Florida, she purchased a glass figurine of Mickey Mouse who was celebrating his 50th birthday at the time. Other well-known items in her collection include Humpty Dumpty, the Crooked Man, Little Jack Horner, Little Miss Muffet, Little Bo Peep, Mother Hubbard, Little Red, Biding Hood, Jack and Jill, the Three Bears, and My Son

Others include the Cat and the Fiddle, Old Lady Who Lived In A Shoe, Little Boy Blue, Peter, Peter Pumpkin Eater, Hickory Dickory

Two outstanding items in her collection include a merry-go-round which ac-tually turns and a rocking horse which actually rocks. She owns practically every miniature glass figurine imaginable. Friends and family who know of her hobby help her broaden her collection by buying additional figurines as gifts.

The originality of Mrs. Walker doesn't end there. She does all of her family's sewing and has made her husband several suits as well as numerous afghans. At present she is working on an American Flag which she says should turn out to be 52'

She serves as organist at College Baptist Church where she and her husband are active members.

Presently, Mrs. Walker is employed part-time at Damson Petroservices. She works three days a week and thoroughly enjoys the time she has off to do the things that interest her. Working 10 years full-time preceding her employment at the petroservice company, Mrs. Walker was employed three years at Big Spring Aircraft and seven years at Republic

The Walkers have one daughter, Tina, who graduated from Angelo State University in December of 1977. She is presently working in San Angelo.

A special trip was taken by Walkers to the Holy Land. They toured seven countries and two islands. "While we were on a ship close to Beirut, our ship was shot at," recalled Mrs. Mrs. Walker revealed that the people of Israel and other Schlesinger's testimony was considered the most pessimistic assessment of the oil situation so far. Analysts blamed his remarks for a decline in stock market prices Wednesday and for a sharp drop in the value of the dollar on foreign exchanges.

The energy secretary also said the United States was better prepared today to manage in an oil crisis than it was during the embargo. The nation now has a 70-day supply of oil in reserve, he said. At the time of the embargo, the normal reserve was 54 days.

Meanwhile, states were warned Wednesday they will lose federal highway funds if they raise their speed limits higher than 55 mph.

Transportation Secretary Brock Adams estimated that if the speed limit were raised, the consumption of oil would go up 250,000 barrels a day. At least 14 states are discussing ways to get around the governmentimposed limit.

Clements stressed to a news conference that any such agreement would be based on "a fair wage and proper living conditions. 'I don't want this labeled

Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt was quoted earlier this week as opposing any effort to re-enact the bracero program of the 1950s and 1960s. A spokesman for California Gov. Jerry Brown said Wednesday he had no immediate comment on Clements' proposal, but that Brown has not liked the idea

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — King said he would be happy Texas Gov. Bill Clements to meet with other governors in Washington to consider the concept of documented Mexican workers, without being committed to endorse the old program.

If the four U.S. governors reach agreement, Clements said, then governors of the border Mexican states will be invited to join their talks on Mexican workers, drug traffic and importation of Mexican oil and gas.

Clements talked with Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo earlier this month and announced afterwards his efforts to organize border governors.

Babbit said he thought Clements' proposal was particularly advised....on the eve of the president's visit to Mexico." "He has not told me that."

Clements said Wednesday. 'I look forward to seeing him in Washington.

"Under no circumstances can we go back to the kind of patronizing, condescending exploitative approach the bracero program King said the old bracero program "worked fairly well for the time. However, times have changed.

NMMI meets Hawks tonight

Hawks will try to play the role of the spoilers tonight when they host the Western Junior College Athletic Conference's second place team, the New Mexico

Military Institute Cadets. NMMI is fresh from a 71-62 victory over Midland College, which raised their conference mark to 8-3, while dropping the Midland crew's record to 7-4. NMMI stands 16-6 on the year.

Lewis Lloyd, possibly the outstanding player in the conference this year, leads the Cadet attack from his post position. In the last R.Q. Tolliver.

The Howard College three NMMI games Lloyd has scored 121 points, an average of 40.3 per contest.

Howard College, sporting a conference record of 1-10 and a season record of 8-17, feels that a vital part of the game will be the beginning. If the Hawks can get a lead, they will more than likely go to a slow down offense and try to play ball control against the powerful Cadets.

Crenshaw among favorites in Hawaii

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) - Ben Crenshaw declined to make any predictions. But the young man who resurrected his golfing career did offer an observation:

"I'm probably playing better right now than I ever did in my life. "I'm driving the ball better, striking the ball better than I ever have.

"I played real well in the last round (at the Bing Crosby) last week and shot 78. I just got it in the wrong places on the greens and when you do that there you can be in big trouble."

The situation is slightly different in the $300,000 Hawaiian Open that got started today. The 7,234 yard Waialae Country Club course has probably the best, truest greens the touring pros encounter all year. And that's tailor-made for Crenshaw, generally considered one of the game's best putters.

"I'm excited about playing. I'm up mentally. Winning was awfully important to me. "It rescued me at just the right time.

The rescue took place in rainy Phoenix, were Crenshaw scored the sixth victory of his career and first in 11/2 years.

"It had been too long. I was beginning to wonder. I think I've learned some things over the years. I think I'm a better player now than I've ever been. Now I want to go on and win. That's all I want to do — win.

Adrian Dantley grabbed a loose ball and scored from underneath the basket with six seconds remaining to give Los Angeles its victory. Norm Nixon scored 12 points in the final period and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar added eight as the Lakers came from behind to register their eighth straight victory over the Warriors, a streak which began almost two years ago. Nixon finished with 27 points, Jabbar 26 and Dantley 23. Phil Smith of the Warriors had a game-high 31 76ers 114, Pistons 103

Julius Erving collected 37 points and Darryl Dawkins a career-high 25 as Philadelphia held off a final-period Detroit rally. Bob Lanier scored 31 for the Pistons, who haven't won in Philadelphia in nine games since Nov. 2, 1974. A crowd of 2,551 turned out in a snowstorm that dropped 10 inches on the city and prevented the 76ers' newest acquisitions, guards Eric Money and Al Skinner, from reporting.

Dan Issel scored 25 points to help Denver give new Coach Donnie Walsh a victory in his first home game. The Nuggets got 24 points from George McGinnis and 21 from Charlie Scott. Cleveland also had three players with 20 or more points-Campy Russell with 21 and Mike Mitchell and Austin Carr with 20

Nets 90, Pacers 84

Rookie Winford Boynes scored 10 points in the fourth quarter, including eight in a row, to help New Jersey end a five-game losing streak. With the score tied at 72, Boynes who had just four points in the first three periods, made three field goals and two free throws in the next three minutes.

Jazz 125, Knicks 123

Ex Knick Spencer Haywood led a balanced New Orleans attack with 26 points to offset a 37-point output by New York's Bob McAdoo. McAdoo's hot shooting staked New York to a 119-114 advantage in the first 80 seconds of overtime but the Jazz ran off six points in a row to take the lead. Haywood got support from Rich Kelley and Jim McElroy, who had 22 apiece, and Pete Maravich, who added 20. Toby Knight added 27 for the

Dickerson to sign with A&M

HOUSTON (AP) — Sealy unning back Eric running Dickerson, the state's No. 1 blue chip football player, says he will sign a Southwest Conference letter of intent with the Texas Aggies.

The SWC signing date is not until Wednesday but Dickerson told the Houston Post he wanted to make his decision public "to get people off my back."

Dickerson, a 6-3, 210, told the Post he had been "sitting around thinking about it all day. Sometimes I wish I never played football. This thing has gotten too hectic. "I could have gone to OU

(Oklahoma) for more publicity maybe, but if I stay in Texas everybody knows me. I just came to a decision and I want to get it out in the commitment is pretty solid."

'Gimmick bonds' an escape from state provision, senator says

By JACK KEEVER Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) Colleges are using "gimmick bonds" to escape the Texas Constitution's "pay-as-yougo'' provision, says Sen. Lloyd Doggett.

Doggett, D-Austin, told the Senate Education Committee Wednesday that Texas' educational sector is second only to New York in stitution.

He urged repeal of the 1941 Skiles Act, which authorizes colleges to pledge $5 from each student's tuition each semester to support campus construction bonds.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, proposed canceling a centers at Brownsville, special authorization in 1971- Uvalde, Victoria, Laredo, 73 for the University of Texarkana, Orange and Port Texas System, Texas A&M Arthur showed a net University, Texas Tech

In yet another attempt to hold down college costs, Mauzy offered a bill outlawing the use of state funds to build senior college centers on junior college campuses. These upperlevel centers now lease space.

"Year after year, the Coordinating Board is faced with efforts by these centers deficit spending even though to become separately it is prohibited by the conrecognized by the recognized by Legislature, to be separately funded, to become separately accredited and to build their own campuses," said Kenneth Ashworth, commissioner of higher education. Ashworth said upper-level enrollment increase of only University, University of 186 students this year and Houston and Pan American those at Uvalde, Victoria and University to issue $242.5 Texarkana had a net decline

Nevertheless, Ashworth said, the centers have asked the 1979 Legislature for more than $9 million in construction funds, and efforts are underway to create additional centers.

Ashworth's figures show 13 major schools have been added to the state system in 10 years as higher education costs have risen from $670 million to $2.9 billion and are named expected to soar as high as $5.8 billion in 1984-85.

"We believe the state has already overexpanded its higher education system ... is time we slowed down," he

Texas Research League said tuition bonds are "an excessively expensive way to support bonded in-debtedness" with interest running up to 30 percent a year more than on general

The tuition income lost in retiring the bonds, Norwood said, must be made up by appropriations from general tax revenue, and this costs Texas approximately $6 million every two years. Eight Dawson residents opposed by Harris County District Attorney Carol

Vance, however, said Wednesday he now favors the efforts if the cameras don't bother anyone.

Vance said recent changes in legal standards around the country had prompted him to change his attitude toward TV coverage. He pointed to a trial in Florida last year that was piped into homes around the country.

Hawver said improved technology proved a key consideration in persuading Love that TV coverage would not create a circus atmosphere in the court-

Twenty states now allow televisions cameras in courtrooms, Hawver said.

A judge in Dallas allowed a television orew to film sentencing of a man to death three years ago, Hawver said, but the Cuevas trial would be covered in depth. Cuevas was sentenced to death in 1975 for his role in an attempted escape from a state prison unit at Huntsville. The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed that conviction.

McCrory given death penalty

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — A 27-year-old Argyle truck driver has been sentenced to death for the rape-strangulation slaying last June of a Lewisville High School girl.

A state court jury deliberated one hour and 20 minutes Wednesday before recommending the punishment for John W. McCrory.

The same jury on Tuesday convicted McCrory of capital murder in the death of Jeana

Melissa Walker of Roanoke. The minimum sentence for the offense was life imprisonment

McCrory showed no emotion when the death sentence was announced. District Judge Stanley Kirk informed McCrory that an appeal was automatic in death penalty cases. Miss Walker's partially sude body was found in a rural Denton County field. A medical examination showed she had been raped and strangled.

Miss Walker's mother testified during the trial that her daughter left the family home about 11 p.m. to pick up her boyfriend for a party woman never confessed the crime to him. McCrory's trial was moved from Denton County to Wichita Falls because of publicity the case received in the Denton area.

Punishment needs fine?

WASHINGTON (AP) - As far as the Justice Department is concerned, the punishment won't fit Gordon Liddy's crime until the Watergate burglar has paid a $40,000 fine.

Liddy, who spent 521/2 months in prison for devising and supervising the burglary at Democratic Party headquarters in 1972, asked the Justice Department to waive his fine, but the legartment rejected in request Wednesday.

List springed in prison ast fall saying he was a pauper with less than $20 and debts of $337,500. He has steadfastly refused to cooperate with prosecutors. As a result, he served more time than anyone convicted in the Watergate case before being released from prison last Sept. 7 after a pardon by President Carter.

Bill flunks test

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) - A bill that would require tougher graduation standards in New Jersey high schools flunked a test at the hands of students.

Juniors and seniors from two East Orange high schools voted overwhelmingly to reject the bill, which would require seniors to prove they can read, Fortunately for the bill's sponsor, state Sen. Matthew Feldman, the vote carries no weight.

The students met with Feldman in the Assembly chamber Wednesday. After a questionand-answer period, the voting machine was opened to allow students to "vote" on the bill. The measure has passed the state Senate, 32-3.

Nineteen green lights flashed, and 32 red lights. The bill was defeated.

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) - A young reporter for the weekly Nogales International probably wishes he'd stayed home.

During a session of Santa Cruz County Superior Court, reporter Ray Panzarella stood up and took a flash picture of the accused and his lawyer as they appeared before Judge John McGuire.

"You can't do that, young man," said the judge. County Attorney Richard Groves asked that the film be confiscated.

The red-faced reporter, who has only 13 months' experience, said he was not aware that courtroom pictures are forbidden.

"In that case," said the judge, "I won't charge you with contempt of court, but you will have to open the camera and hand over the film.

Panzarella opened the camera. There was no film in it.

Emergency spending bill is cut by more than half

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Challenged to keep campaign promises of government economy, the House has chopped an emergency spending bill for the Texas Railroad Commission by more than half. Speaker Bill Clayton said that was OK with him, even though a band of dissidents, newly labeled "The Gang of Four," led the charge and roughed up the work of his House Appropriations Committee. "I didn't care whether it went through intact. If they can't prove their case, they don't deserve it. I don't like to dish out any extra dollars if they don't need it," Clayton

The House voted 75-66 to cut the bill from $581,682 to $245,509, then advanced it on voice vote. A final vote is expected Monday. Senators then would decide whether to accept the cut or call for negotiations

With "The Gang of Four" threatening a floor fight, sponsors postponed until March 9 another emergency bill, appropriating $115,794 to the Texas Animal Health Commission.

The railroad commission appropriation was sold as necessary to cover the cost of analyzing each Texas gas well for federal pricing decisions under the 1978 natural gas policy act.

But Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, said the commission had requested only $245,509 for that purpose and failed to justify the rest. 'They are asking for 40 positions when their own report says they need only 17 positions to implement the federal act," Coleman said.

"I assume they are running a taut ship over there. ... If you want to question their integrity, so be it," replied Rep. Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, sponsor of the Coleman reminded the representatives of campaign promises to work for government economy.

"Political rhetoric sounds real good back home. Let's see if you've got the nerve to do it today," he said. Coleman also had help from Reps. John Whitmire, D-Houston; John Bryant, D-Dallas: and Luther Jones. D-El Paso. The four have been the most vocal critics of Clayton and his administration.

Before lawmakers dispersed for the day, the label, "The Gang of Four," was making the rounds.

The four had distributed memoranda criticizing the animal health commission appropriation for a brucellosis program as boondoggle for former Rep. Joe Hubenak of Rosenberg. Included is $32,000 for his

of the commission. Hubenak, defeated in a race for agriculture commissioner last year, is a friend of Clayton.

salary as newly appointed deputy director

Rep. Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, chairman of the appropriations committee, said the bill was postponed not because of the criticisms but because cattlemen were having second thoughts about the brucellosis program.

He said he didn't want to force representatives into casting votes that might be read as support for the program until he was sure what the position of Texas cattlemen would be.

"Hubenak is on the payroll regardless of whether this passes," Presnal said.

A minority of seven senators prevented action on a bill that would have cleared the way for the Texas Department of Corrections to build a new prison anywhere in the state

Loosening of wage guidelines to be necessary?

The Carter administration will have to consider loosening its wage guideline inflation worsens and Congress rejects a proposed tax credit for workers who comply with the guideline, Secretary Ray Marshall says.

But Marshall said Wednesday he is confident inflation will ebb and hopeful Congress will approve the "real wage insurance" tax making credit. unnecessary to relax the voluntary 7 percent ceiling on annual wage and fringe benefit increases.

"If inflation gets to be 10, 11 percent and you're trying to get workers to settle for 7, you're going to have getting union compliance, Marshall said in an interview with The Associated Press

"And, if you're unable to get real wage insurance, vou'll have to consider adjusting the standard (guideline) or doing some other things to try to bring the inflation rate down, Marshall said.

He added that the administration never intended its wage and price guidelines to be "fixed forever."

'One possibility would be to gradually grind it down as you grind inflation down," he "Now, if you're wrong and you don't (reduce inflation), then you've got to have a more realistic

FÓRECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEB. 9, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This can be a very upsetting time and you would be wise not to try to force any situation. If you have benefits coming to you they come in an unexpected manner in which it is best not to do anything but accept them gratefully. But expect some tiresome problems.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use tact at home so that no arguments start there. Not a good day to get involved in any new projects. Use your money wisely or you could get into big debt.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Look to a partner for help in advancing your career. Take no risks with your health. Be extra cautious in driving.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid being impulsive, especially where money is concerned. Think twice about money deals offered you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Count your blessings and don't let others impose on you in any way, or feel that they are. Take time to improve health, appearance. Romance is in the picture. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You feel you are being limited, restricted in some way, but get at your routines and all works out fine. Try to help one who is in financial trouble. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Depend on yourself since friends have problems of their own to solve. Know what your true personal aims are and forget whatever holds you back. Improve your financial position. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A bigwig may seem demanding, but it is for your own good. Credit affairs should be handled carefully. Take no risks in driving.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There are many projects that interest you, but don't jump into them without any study first. Your hunches are not good now. Rely only on your best judgment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) As much as you dislike carrying through with what you have promised, it is best to meet your obligations for best results. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) One who is demanding could upset but you quietly state you will not be fooled and send packing. Not a good day for attempting to reconcile with others. Wait for a better day. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Clear the slate for more important things. Steer clear of one who has strange ideas and could get you into trouble of some sort. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Recreation could disappoint you, so indulge only in whatever is inexpensive, and little of that too. Be more generous with compliments.

Coahoma trustees mull construction projects

COAHOMA - An addition to the Coahoma High School cafeteria was discussed at a Tuesday night meeting of the district school board. Supt. W.A. Wilson stressed that plans for the lunch room project were prioritized because of the possibility of the issue going before the voters in a bond election.

Board members also discussed various construction projects including improved stadium seating and lighting, improvements on the high school's industrial arts, choir room and music building, and an addition to the field house.

The present 1,128 square foot lunch room may more than double under the proposed plan. Currently students are spilling into the hall outside the cafeteria for lunch and into the homemaking rooms. Board members discussed a 1,700 square foot lunch room, which would cost $59,500. The room would measure 32 feet four inches by 52 feet four inches with a capacity of 130 to 150 students. Regulations demand nine to 12 square feet per students. The proposed building would allow for ten square feet per

Board members discussed a possibility of increasing the size of the lunch room to 2.900 square feet to allow for changes in lunch room procedure.

Donald Bailey, architect, said a manufacturer had quoted him a price of $28 a seat for the new visitors seating at the stadium. Trustees hope to add 1,500 seats. Estimated cost of the project is $48,500 for the seats and $3,500 for a new

Possible cost for proposed stadium lighting is $40,000. Cost of improvements on the industrial arts music building are projected at an estimated $144,000. Several principals' contracts due for consideration were discussed in closed session in the district administration office board room. Also discussed was the contract of Athletic Director Roy Winters. Contracts were extended for all five educators discussed. They are Bill Easterling, high school principal; Harry Herbst, assistant high school principal; Tom Spell, elementary school principal, and Winters.

A motion carried to accept the calendar for the 1979-1980 school year. Four days were added to this year's calendar to allow for the days missed due to bad weather. The days added were Feb. 26, May 25, 28 and 29. The days were previously teachers' work
