A REAL BARGAIN — A quarter for a penny may not sound like good business, but Curt Becker maintains that his "1999" Lincoln penny is worth every penny he paid for it. It's not known whether the coin is genuine or fake, but the intrigue alone was certainly worth a quarter.

Does paying quarter for penny make cents?

By EILEEN MCGUIRE

Curt Becker believes he got a bargain when he paid a quarter for a penny two years ago. His quarter bought him a "1999" Lincoln penny. Becker, a mechanic trainee at Foy Dunlap's Fina Service Station at 500 E. 3rd, purchased the penny from a friend, Scott Bennett, who discovered it while cleaning out a vent in his mobile home. Becker hopes that the penny's date may be a minting error, in which case it could reap him a sizable profit.

"I'm not sure of its worth and I haven't had it checked out, but if it is a misprint, I've heard it could be more valuable than if it were an old coin."

Chris Carter, a co-worker of Becker's, offered one theory.

"It looks like it may have been printed in 1966 but the '66' got turned upside down during the printing."

Originally thought to be a distorted "1936" coin, Becker confirmed that the penny did indeed bear a "1999" stamp by examining it with the aid of a magnifying glass.

Though he hasn't yet seen the coin, Doyce McKee, somewhat of a coin expert in Big Spring, says it would be difficult to tell if the coin is genuine. He contends that Becker will not know until it's been examined by a real expert which may mean a trip to the eastern seaboard.

"If it is genuine, I don't know how much it would be worth," he said. "In the case of a misprint, there are no two such coins alike and an oddity brings a pretty good premium."

He alleges, however, that if the mistake had been in the stamping process, the entire date would have had to be turned around as the stamp is in one piece. To be turned around to read "1999," the stamp would have had to originally read "1666."

The coin, he said, could have been faked by an expert, but only a coin dealer will be able to tell for certain.

Depending on whether the coin, lost and retrieved from a vent, is fake or genuine, Becker could be in for a financial surprise or he could be out a quarter. Either way, he still has one of the most unusual Lincoln pennies around.

Four Iranian generals executed Thursday night

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A revolutionary firing squad executed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's hated secret police chief and three other generals at Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's headquarters during the night. It was reported 26 other officers and officials of the old regime will be executed.

Fearful Americans were packing their bags for a massive air evacuation set to begin Saturday. A preliminary flight took off today with 167 of them.

Tehran radio reported that pro-Khomeini forces appealed for tear gas to disperse an attacking mob after a night-long street battle in eastern Tehran. But three days of fierce fighting in the northwestern city of Tabriz have ended, the radio said, and the government is in control.

Unconfirmed reports put the casualty toll in Tabriz as high as 700 dead with thousands wounded. Tehran Radio blamed the fighting on "counter-revolutionary SAVAK agents" and said a nightly curfew remained in effect.

Thousands of youths marched in Tehran in celebration of the reported victory in Tabriz.

Three other generals were killed last weekend by guerrillas as Khomeini's forces were taking over the country, but the government said the four just executed were "the first group of traitors" to be tried by revolutionary courts. It said Khomeini attended the trial.

The newspaper Ettelaat said 26 other officials and military officers of the shah's regime had been convicted of crimes and would be executed. It gave no further details, and Khomeini spokesmen declined comment.

The executions by a 10-man firing squad were announced by state radio accompanied by martial music.

The state radio said the generals were convicted on charges of "torture, massacre of people, treason to the country and earthly corruption."

They were sentenced to death and the verdict was immediately carried out by Islamic armed forces. It also said their property had been confiscated.

The generals were Nematollah Nassiri, chief of SAVAK, the shah's dreaded secret police and one of the most hated men in the country; Manuchehr Khosrowdad, head of the elite paratroopers; Mehdi Rahimi, martial law governor of Tehran, and Reza Naji, governor general of the central city of Isfahan.

Each was riddled by at least eight bullets. The bodies were transferred from Khomeini's headquarters to Tehran's central morgue.

Nassiri appeared on state television Monday night with his face bruised and bandaged. He had difficulty speaking because a mob pummelled his throat when it seized him Sunday at a ransacked army barracks.

The TV interviewer asked Nassiri if he ever expected to be tried by revolutionaries, and the general replied: "In this world anything is possible."

Nassiri had been held in a stockade since November awaiting trial on charges of corruption and of torturing and killing prisoners of SAVAK. The charges were preferred by the old regime while the shah was still in the country.

Radio Tehran also announced that Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan and his Cabinet unanimously approved a decree confiscating all properties of the royal family in Iran, including palaces, lands, and stock in banks, factories and businesses.

The Cabinet also decreed that properties and wealth of government officials will be examined, along with that of former officials arrested on corruption charges.

There was no official estimate of the value of the royal properties in Iran but unofficial estimates place their worth at several billion dollars. The shah and his family also are estimated to have foreign investment running as high as $20 billion but these are not affected by the decree.

Before leaving Iran the shah transferred title of all his personal holdings to a foundation that was to use them for the good of the people. The institution, called the Pahlavi Foundation, valued the holdings at $233.95 million.

The monarch and his immediate family moved Thursday from Marrakech, Morocco, to Rabat, the Moroccan capital, and settled in a government guest house. A correspondent for the London Daily Telegraph reported that "men around the shah" told her the monarch thinks pro-Moscow communists will soon take over in Iran and he will have to live out his life in exile.

The shah left Jan. 16 following Khomeini's year-long campaign to end "corruptive" Westernizing influences on Iran's traditionally conservative Islamic society.

Unconfirmed reports put the casualty toll in the past three days of fighting in Tabriz, Iran's fourth largest city, as high as 700 dead with thousands wounded. Radio Tehran blamed the fighting on "counter-revolutionary SAVAK agents" and said a nightly curfew remained in effect even though the revolutionary forces had regained control.

Tune did not err in dismissing DWI charges, according to Heath

Bob Heath, chairman of the Opinion Committee of the Attorney General's office in Austin, told District Attorney Rick Hamby Thursday that he did not think County Judge Bill Tune had erred in dismissing DWI charges and accepting a guilty plea for a lesser non-moving violation. Tune has been named in a complaint to the State Commission of Judicial Conduct, alleging violation of state law.

Maurice Pipkin, executive director of the commission, said in a letter to Tune dated Feb. 14 "your activities in this area can reasonably be construed as arising from a lack of knowledge of the law or advice from the county attorney acting in good faith."

Pipkin said in a telephone interview Wednesday "I'm not accusing anyone of doing anything illegal" but he also said that he believed Tune to be in violation of a Dec. 19 attorney general's opinion that says a judge is not authorized to dismiss a moving violation in exchange for a plea of guilty to an unrelated, non-moving violation.

Tune and County Attorney Harvey Hooser maintain that they have not violated the attorney general's opinion.

About 12 complaints have been filed against Texas judges with the commission. Pipkin said that he understood that many county judges were not attorneys and they were not aware of the recent opinion. He said when the commission is informed of a possible violation of the opinion they "try to take a swipe at it."

The commission was formed in September of 1967 by state legislation.

Focalpoint

Action / reaction: Personal taxes

Q. Why are only farmers and ranchers sent a questionnaire about personal property taxes and not every resident of Howard County?

A. According to Earl Dean, county tax appraiser, the farmers and ranchers are charged tax on their equipment but city home owners are not charged taxes on their personal furnishings. Big Spring store owners are charged tax on their inventory.

Tops on TV: 'Shampoo' viewing

It has probably been snipped (pun intended) to pieces by the censors, but "Shampoo" is still the best viewing tonight. The flick, starring Warren Beatty, Julie Christie, Goldie Hawn and Jack Warden, (the stand-out) airs at 8 p.m. on ABC. Sorry, there's really no other competition on the small screen tonight.

Calendar: 'Blind Sunday'

SATURDAY
The Howard County Library will show three films from 2 p.m. until 3 p.m. They are: "Blind Sunday", "Hansel and Gretel" and "Angel and Big Joe".

Awards ceremony for the Miniature Art Show, 2:30 p.m. Entries to be picked up 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. Show open to the public at Citizen's Federal Credit Union, 701 E. FM 700.

This is the last day of the Big Spring Girl Scout Cookie Sale, and the Scouts will operate a booth at the Highland Mall to sell the delectables throughout the day.

Inside: Dog tells all

A FIVE-YEAR-OLD girl used her red stuffed dog to tell the story of how her younger brother was drowned by her mother's boyfriend. See page 5-A.

AN ESTIMATE OF DAMAGE done by farmers in Washington was released. The farmers say that the figures are being exaggerated. See page 8-A.

Outside: Snow?

Skies will be mostly cloudy today and temperatures will continue to be low through Saturday. There is a chance of rain today through Saturday with a possibility of snow. High today is in the mid 30s, low tonight in the mid 20s. High Saturday in the upper 30s. Winds will be northerly at 15 to 20 mph changing to easterly late this afternoon and decreasing to 5 to 10 mph tonight. Chance of precipitation today is 20 percent, 40 percent tonight and 20 percent Saturday.

Howard County Spelling Bee moved forward to March 20

By necessity, the Howard County Spelling Bee has been moved forward to Tuesday, March 20. It was originally scheduled for April 3.

The Regional Spelling Bee will be held starting at 1 p.m., Saturday, March 31, in Lubbock. Last year, the Regional Bee was held in April.

Scene of this year's county competition will be the Howard College auditorium. The event gets under way at 4 p.m.

All elementary and junior high schools in the county are eligible to send their champions to the county bee. The winner of the local competition gets an expenses-paid trip to the Regional Bee and the champion there qualifies for the National Bee in Washington, D.C. Competition on the Regional level is sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

The supply of spelling books ordered for this year's meet is practically exhausted and is available only in the schools.

Students from the first through the eighth grades who are not older than 16 years of age are eligible to take part.

Big Spring supplied last year's Region champion in Julianne Raines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Raines. The family now resides in Arlington.

Big Spring entries invariably do well in Regional and National competition.

Carter ends trip to Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Carter held a final round of talks today over breakfast with Mexico's President Jose Lopez Portillo, after the host president said poor Mexicans are often treated as slaves in the United States.

In a midnight exchange of toasts Lopez Portillo said his countrymen often "have to sell themselves" in the United States, but Carter insisted,

District Democrats to meet in Stamford

At least four Big Spring residents will attend a 30th Senatorial District Democratic meeting in Stamford at Cliff House Restaurant starting at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Jane Ray, state committeewoman, D.A. Brazel, John Roemer and Jack Watson will represent Howard County at the session.

Items expected to draw attention at the meeting include presidential primaries, election of officers by county chairmen and highlights of State Democratic Executive Committee meetings held Dec. 1, 1978 and Jan. 10.

"The people of the United States are fair and decent people...in dealing with people of other nations."

Lopez Portillo, who surprised and irritated U.S. officials Wednesday when he in effect accused the United States of deceit and abuse, threw a fresh discordant note into the across-the-border summit early today.

Responding to a toast at a dinner given in his honor by the U.S. president, Lopez Portillo said:

"This, Mr. President, I believe, is the most serious matter of our times — the fact that there are men that can buy men and that there are men that have to sell themselves. And this is what happens very frequently with our poor people that go to the United States."

Carter and his associates had thought the summit talks were back on track after the shaky start Wednesday when Carter was given a correct but cool reception and was lectured by Lopez Portillo in the first toast of the summit during a luncheon given in Carter's honor.

A high White House official who asked not to be named said Thursday night that Lopez Portillo had indicated agreement when Carter, at an unannounced private 10-minute session earlier in the day, suggested that too-strident Mexican references to disagreements between the nations could be counterproductive.

Carter's session with Lopez Portillo was followed by reports of summit progress and the scheduling of a breakfast meeting between the two leaders — actions seen as indications that the Carter visit was going well.

Then came Lopez Portillo's emotional toast, during which he told Carter, "I am deeply moved, and I shall try to be more stable."

The Mexican chief executive went on, however, to ask rhetorically, "What is happening to the free world? ... Is it possible for the human being to be free and at the same time to be just, is it possible to conceive of an international order that can avoid the state of affairs in which a man would sell himself and another would buy another human being?"

But Lopez Portillo also said, "Our friendship has made it possible to be frank."

U.S. sources, reporting on Thursday's talks, said progress was made on energy issues. But no progress was reported on at least one major issue, illegal immigration.

Lopez Portillo's second dose of strong criticism overshadowed what Carter hoped would be the climactic event of his three-day visit, an address in Spanish today to Mexico's Chamber of Deputies.

Carter declared in the address that he and his host "have begun to define a common vision of a better future."

In an upbeat assessment of his talks with Lopez Portillo, Carter acknowledged that many key issues on which the two countries disagree will only be resolved with "patient work over a long period of time."

But he expressed confidence that his conversations here will speed progress "toward fuller cooperation, understanding and mutual respect."

Carter made these statements in his text for a formal address to Mexico's Chamber of Deputies.

Reaching out to his audience, he began by saying: "As president of the fourth largest Spanish-speaking nation, I speak to you — as best I can — in the language of Mexico, the largest Spanish-speaking nation on Earth."

In the Chamber of Deputies speech, Carter did not attempt to hide differences between the countries.

"Our friendship has at times been marred by mistakes and even by abuses of power," he said. "Our perceptions of each other have sometimes been distorted."

Police beat Burglars steal pistol

Only two reports of criminal activity were made to local police on a slow Thursday.

Vandals broke a door glass at the Goodyear Store, 408 Runnels, Thursday night. Damage was estimated at $150.

Burglars broke through a living room window into the home of Gary Burt, 609

McEwen, sometimes Wednesday night. Stolen was a .357 magnum caliber pistol from a bedroom closet. The gun was valued at $120.

Six mishaps were reported Thursday.

Vehicles driven by Toni Hale, Route 1, and Gary Walker, 1307 E. 19th, collided at Sixth and Circle, 5:25 p.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to J.T. Summers, Forsan, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at 300 Main, 1:45 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Randal D. Stroder, 703 Creighton, struck a parked truck belonging to the Bettie-Womack Company, Box 2257, at 700 Creighton, 8:44 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Glenn White, 617 Holbert, struck a fence at the home of Jennie Lawson, 110 Circle, 7:58 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Mary Grima, 803 1/2 E. 14th, and Norma Flores, 1200 1/2 Nolan, collided at 11th and Nolan, 8:39 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Sally Stovall, Sterling City Route, and Domingo Rios, Sterling City Route, collided at 15th and Gregg, 11:37 a.m.

COTTON DESTROYED — Four modules of cotton near the Co-Op Gin here were destroyed by fire of an unknown origin Thursday, according to gin manager Billy Bryant. The blaze started about 11:30 a.m. County firemen responded to the call for help. No gin equipment was damaged. The gin is located on the Lamesa Highway.

Cooperation vowed in U.S. evacuation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iran's new government has promised its cooperation in the planned U.S. evacuation of up to 5,000 Americans, but officials say they are worried that Iranian leftists may try to disrupt the operation.

"There are a lot of loose guns around," said a State Department official who asked not to be identified.

Plans are for at least two civilian airliners chartered from Pan American World Airways to evacuate some 800 Americans Saturday from Tehran's Mehrabad Airport which has been closed by strikes.

Meanwhile, Pan American officials said they were sending one of their Boeing 707 jetliners to Tehran today to evacuate most of the airline's 90 personnel in Iran, plus any other Americans who could get aboard the 183-seat plane.

In Tehran, the U.S. Embassy's announcement of the evacuation was terse: "We cannot protect American lives in Iran. You are allowed one suitcase per person. Evacuation planes will begin flying 17 February."

Mehdi Bazargan, prime minister of the Khomeini government, has ordered safe passage for evacuees to the Tehran airport and said the government will provide enough guards for the movement of 1,000 persons a day.

The U.S. goal is to reduce the number of Americans in Iran from the estimated 7,000 still there to 2,000.

Twin seal pups born in zoo

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Twin pups were born to Lucy and Snoopy, the Louisville Zoo's gray seals, in what officials said was the first twin birth of seals in captivity.

The first arrival, a 20-pound seal, dipped into the chilly water of the harbor seal pool Thursday with Lucy, its mother, for its maiden swim about 90 minutes after birth. "The pup is very active," said Mary Duane, a zoo spokeswoman. Officials have not been able to determine the sex of the babies, but they suspect that one is male and one female. The pups will be named when their gender is determined.

Ice quakes being caused

TOWNSEND, Mass. (AP) — Geologists at the Weston Observatory say subzero temperatures are causing ice quakes — buckling in the earth's outer crust, creating effects similar to small earthquakes.

The winter phenomena were reported in Harvard Monday by geologists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and in Townsend on Tuesday. A quarter-mile crack in the earth was discovered running through a Townsend barn and two driveways. The fissure was a quarter inch across and two inches deep. Weston Observatory Professor Edward Chiburis called the breaks "a giant frost heave."

Jail cell to be memorial

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A jail cell that held the Rev. Martin Luther King during the 1960s civil rights struggle will be preserved as a memorial.

Mayor David Vann said Thursday he wants King's cell left untouched during a court-ordered renovation of Birmingham Jail. The renovation calls for enlarging inmates' quarters by combining some of the small cells. One of those small cells was where King wrote his "letter" of resistance to black leaders.

Casino gambling favored

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Nearly two-thirds of New Jersey residents favor casino gambling, but the same number also believe operators of the only casino to open in Atlantic City may be linked to organized crime, a statewide poll says.

The Eagleton Poll found supporters of legalized casino gambling in Atlantic City outnumbered opponents by 64 percent to 30 percent with 6 percent undecided. By 63 percent to 15 percent, most people also said they thought the charges of a connection between organized crime and Resorts International Hotel Casino in Atlantic City were true.

China scholars in America

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — One of the first groups of scholars from the People's Republic of China who will study at American universities since the normalization of relations between the United States and China has arrived at Northwestern University.

The 10 scientists will be joined by two others within the next two months. The physicists, all men, will take part in a co-operative research program through Northwestern's department of physics and astronomy, a university spokesman said Thursday at a news conference.

American income rises minimally

WASHINGTON (AP) — Income received by Americans rose by the smallest amount in a year in January, the government said today. The small advance reflected the slower performance of the economy that many analysts say will end in a recession.

Income Americans receive from all sources rose just $7.9 billion in January, an annual rate of 0.4 percent. That was only one-third the December increase of 1.2 percent and the smallest income gain since another 0.4 percent increase in January 1978.

The income includes money from all sources, including wages, rents, dividends and government payments, and changes indicate the amount of money consumers will have to buy goods and services in the economy.

Total income of all Americans in January was $1 trillion, 815.4 billion, at a seasonally adjusted annual rate. Income had increased $21.8 billion, or 1.2 percent, in December, and $17.4 billion, or 0.9 percent, in November.

But the Commerce Department said the slow growth of income in January was due in part to an increase in the Social Security tax, an increase in the minimum wage and a cutoff in some government farm subsidies, which reduced farm income.

Without those factors, the department said, income would have increased by another $7.2 billion.

Nevertheless, the slow growth of income came against a background of evidence that the economy is beginning to slow. The government reported Thursday that industrial output advanced only 0.1 percent last month, the smallest increase in production in a year.

While the Carter administration wants the economy to slow to help it reduce inflation, it says a recession can be avoided. However, many other economists believe a recession is now a virtual certainty later this year.

On Thursday, a group of prominent business leaders also said a mild recession this year is a virtual certainty.

Memorial scholarship established

A memorial scholarship for Preston Monroe Bell has been established by the Evangel Temple Assembly of God Church. The scholarship is to be used at Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie, Texas.

Bell was a member of the church's board of deacons and worked as a refinery steelman for Cosden Oil Co. He also worked as a plumber for McKinney Plumbing. Bell's mother, Mrs. Annie Bell, resides in Colorado City with his two brothers, Roy Lee and Ronnie Bell. His children are in Odessa with their mother. They are Bobby, Barbara, Troy Glen, and Joe Dean.

One of the stipulations of the scholarship is that it go to a West Texas student attending the college. The first scholarship will be awarded March 8 at the Annual West Texas Banquet at Waxahachie.

Scholarship contributors may send their donations to: Preston Bell Scholarship Fund, care of Evangel Temple, P.O. Box 908, Big Spring, Tex., 79720.

Richter enters mayor's race

COAHOMA — E.A. Richter of Coahoma filed his entry into the mayor's race Wednesday. He said his primary goal if elected will be to clear up a water dispute between the City of Coahoma and the Howard County Water Control District over Coahoma selling water to customers outside of the city limits.

Richter said, "I like the town of Coahoma and I like the people of Coahoma and I'll do my best to be a hand."

Councilmen in C-City face jobs, pay dilemma

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City council is faced with a dilemma it may not be able to immediately dissolve.

Acting city manager Brenda Tarter has recommended that eight city employees be given their two weeks' dismissal notices. It's part of Mrs. Tarter's plan to save the financially troubled city $4,000 a month.

Three of the eight who could lose their jobs are in the sanitation department, three others from the street department. Also scheduled to be dismissed are the animal warden and a part-time employee at city hall.

A Catch-22 situation developed, however, when Mayor Marion Bassham said she thought the remaining city employees should be given a raise to compensate for the extra work they would be asked to do.

After some discussion on the matter, the matter of pay raises was tabled.

For the month ending Jan. 30, the city had receipts of $82,980.88 and expenditures of $61,974.47.

The receipts for January included $58,739.61 in ad valorem tax collections, which brought the fiscal year tax collections to $177,813.24. That represents about 83 percent of the total taxes.

Of the $61,000 plus spent by the city in January, $26,000 went for salaries, $24,500 went for contracts and agreements in which the city is already locked in to. The other $10,000 went for purchases and miscellaneous bills.

From May until October, when taxes start coming in again, the city will collect no more than $25,000 per month in various fees.

Mrs. Tarter presented her preliminary budget to the council, which shows general fund revenues at $657,775.

Two more candidates for the city manager's job will shortly be interviewed by the council members. They are Dwight Mays, Choctaw, Okla., and Ray Mason, Tahoka, Tex.

Applications have been received for the job from Kevin Evans, Shamrock; and Donald Birker, Galveston.

Deaths

He married Clara Dunn in November of 1968. He was a member of the Christian Fellowship Church. He was a Mason.

Survivors include his wife, and a sister, Iva Polk of Corpus Christi.

Pallbearers will be Elmo Dunn, Jack Dunn, Vic Chambers, Melvin Smith, Bill Stanley and Larry Chaney.

Big Spring's sales tax rebate tops $54,000

Big Spring's city sales tax rebate for January more than doubled the amount for the same month last year.

The city's one percent share of the tax totaled $54,698 for January of this year. The payment for the same month in 1978 was $25,979.67.

The State Comptroller's Office has included rebates for December taxes in the 1979 total to date, which raises this year's payments to $79,750. This represents a 41 percent rise over last year's total at this time of $56,470.

Rebates rose for three area cities, and dropped for another during the month. Coahoma's payment for January of this year was $1,751.12, compared to $654.86 for the same month in 1978.

This brings the city's total for the year to $2,911.64, compared to $2,116.74 for last year.

Lamesa received a payment of $18,434.83 for January, compared to $13,591.27 for the same month last year. Yearly totals so far come to $29,915.81, compared to $28,747.32 for 1978.

Stanton received a check for $2,222.80 for January, compared to nothing for January last year. The total for the year so far rose from $592.44 in 1978, to $2,222.80 so far this year.

Colorado City, which received no check for January, was the only area city to register a drop in payments. Its check for January of 1978 totaled $4,635.13.

The city's total for the year-to-date is only $5,254.98, compared to $11,370.17 for 1978.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday said rebates to Texas cities are up a whopping 36 percent this month over the same period last year.

Bullock said Texas cities will receive a rebate of some $25.5 million this month, compared to a net payment of about $13.7 for February last year.

The 1979 year-to-date payments for city sales tax rebates have climbed to $43.7 million, compared to a two-month figure last year of $32.2 million, an increase of $11.5 million.

Houston will receive $5.4 million for this reporting period, compared to a payment of $2.8 million during February of 1978, or an increase of about 30 percent.

Fort Worth's check for February will be $954,490 compared to $542,741 received by the city during February last year.

Dallas will get a check for $2.4 million, which is 25 percent more than the amount paid during the same period in 1978.

The rebate check for San Antonio will total $1.3 million or an increase of 35 percent over the 1978 allocation for February.

Over 909 Texas cities will receive rebates as their share of the city sales tax.

The sales tax is collected by merchants and other sales tax permit holders along with the state sales tax and is rebated monthly to cities in which it is collected by the Comptroller's Office.

Dedication ceremony for Scout Service Center slated Saturday

A training seminar will be held by the Buffalo Trail Council and District Committee of the Boy Scouts of America at the Memorial Christian Church in Midland Saturday, Feb. 24.

Registration gets under way at 9 a.m., at which time coffee will be served. The seminar takes place from 9:30 a.m. until 4 p.m., with a 12 noon break for a special luncheon.

A dedication ceremony for the new Scout Service Center is scheduled at 1101 Texas Ave., Midland, for 5 p.m., that day, to be followed by an informal barbecue dinner and an open house.

All members of the council executive and advisory board have been sent special invitations to attend.

Paving funds are requested

LAMESA — The Lamesa city council is intent on applying for a $500,000 Community Development Block Grant in order to undertake a paving program.

The funds being requested would be used to pave at least nine streets in the city.

Jan Whittington snags first place in prose interpretation

Jan Whittington took first place in prose interpretation and Chris Smith third place in the same event in competition at Texas Tech in Lubbock last weekend. Both are Big Spring High School students.

Smith seeks council seat

LAMESA — Nicky Smith, owner of a music company, has become a candidate for the Place Four on the Lamesa city council.

He is seeking a position being vacated by Mayor Lloyd Cline. Incumbent Bennie Lybrand filed for Place 5 on the council last week.

A native of Lamesa, Smith has lived here all his life except for three years in Arkansas. At one time, he operated a chicken farm here.

Smith is married to the former Mary Pruitt. They have a son, age nine.

Big Spring placed all but two of its entries in the semifinals.

Those advancing as far as the semifinals were Robin von Rosenberg, Norma Cabalero, Kerry Whitley, Elise Wheat, Tiffany Whiteside, Cappy Tatom and Kathy Birdwell.

The Big Spring debate team of Elaine Brown and Natalie Blackshear was defeated by Amarillo High debaters in the quarterfinals.

The Big Spring speech team competes at West Texas State University in Canyon this weekend.

Weather Threat of snow, sleet freezing rain in state

A fast-moving cold front moved into the Gulf of Mexico early today, leaving behind it extremely cold temperatures and the threat of snow, sleet and freezing rain across much of Texas.

Forecasters warned stockmen in Central Texas and in the Concho Valley to take measures to protect newly born animals and recently shorn goats and sheep.

The areas expected cold temperatures and the threat of freezing rain. Some light snow fell in western sections of the Panhandle and South Plains during the night. The snow was expected to move eastward during the day and night.

WEATHER FORECAST — Cold to very cold weather is expected for most of the country in the forecast period, Friday until Saturday morning. Mild temperatures are expected for southern Georgia and Florida. Rain is forecast for east Texas. Snow is forecast from Oklahoma to the northern Plains. Snow flurries are expected for the northern Rockies.

Some college building banned

By STEVE MCGONIGLE
Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Senate Education Committee said yes Wednesday to a ban on certain college construction projects but balked at reducing state aid to wealthy school districts.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy had little trouble winning committee consent for a bill outlawing state construction funds for senior college centers on junior college campuses.

Upper-level centers now lease space from seven junior colleges. The Mauzy bill would make the arrangement mandatory.

The measure is aimed at preventing satellite centers from setting up their own, separately funded campuses.

Among those centers affected would be East Texas State University's Texarkana center, Laredo State University, Pan American University at Brownsville, the University of Houston at Victoria and Sul Ross State University's Uvalde center.

If enacted, the bill would kill requests for $9 million in building funds for ETSU's Texarkana center and Pan American's Brownsville satellite. Officials of the State College and University Coordinating Board attack such construction as wasteful in the face of declining college enrollments.

The argument was enough to convince the Senate committee, which voted 7 to 1 in favor of Mauzy's proposal. Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado voted no.

Opposition was more formidable to Mauzy's plan to trim millions of dollars in state aid from 75 property-rich school districts.

The bill would force wealthy districts with low tax rates to compensate for lost state aid with higher ad valorem levies. Mauzy claimed this would help narrow the spending differences between school districts.

A bill opponent, Sen. W.E. "Pete" Snelson of Midland, complained the measure would double tax rates in some districts.

When a vote was called, Snelson collected enough support to keep the bill two votes shy of the six needed to pass it from committee. Voting with Snelson were Sens. Grant Jones of Abilene, O.H. "Ike" Harris of Dallas and Patman.

Welfare laws sometimes discriminate

The sternest critics of America's welfare system say it promotes intolerance among that segment of the population "which wouldn't work anyway."

A self-styled victim of the system, who will be identified here as John Doe, says he would have been better off if he had gone on the welfare rolls when he first arrived in Big Spring and not tried to stay in the work force.

He made a mistake after he arrived here eight months ago and the mistake cost him his job as a truck driver. Officials of the welfare agencies, he complains, would not offer him any help whatsoever.

In defense of the welfare agencies, the state of Texas has some of the most stringent and exacting welfare laws of any state of the union. Their authors reasoned they would offer protection against the so-called deadbeats in our society, those people who got their only exercise by walking to the welfare office for their checks. Their administrators were to discover later that those same laws often discriminated against deserving people under certain conditions.

Doe's funds were quickly depleted. Because he had contributed to the support of a system that provides for relief in some cases of need, Doe reasoned he would qualify for assistance. Imagine his surprise and disappointment when he found out otherwise.

John's troubles were compounded because he is married and the father of a small child. He says he had been able to rent a house for a fee in excess of $200 only after he had put up a deposit of an extra $100.

He adds that when the rent came due and the landlord learned of his low estate, he gave Doe three days to move. Otherwise, John said, the property owner threatened to padlock the place and impound his personal belongings.

Doe insisted he had devoted a large part of each day trying to find employment. He says he was told at each place that this is a slow time of year as far as the job market in Big Spring is concerned. Even the places advertising for help place such exacting demands on the type of help they need that he doesn't qualify, says Doe.

"What is a fellow like me supposed to do?" John laments. "I don't want to rob a bank."

A sizeable number of people likely share Doe's plight in Texas. If the laws are so written that that indigent people who need temporary assistance can't qualify, perhaps it is high time we took a new look at the intent of the law.

Talking tough

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — While Iran severs its intimate Western ties for a Moslem-style republic, one of Israel's more charismatic leaders is talking tougher than ever about his country's long-range plans to bring the Palestinian West Bank under permanent Israeli control.

Gen. Ariel Sharon, who was put in charge of the torrid Jewish settlements issue by Prime Minister Menahem Begin, is publicly plotting a future for more than one million West Bank Palestinians — most of them Moslems — that could drastically lengthen the odds against success of President Carter's newest Jerusalem-Cairo mediation effort.

That effort starts next week when Israeli and Egyptian foreign ministers meet in a renewal of Camp David, but under conditions alarmingly pessimistic compared to the outcome of Carter's Camp David summit last fall.

WHAT DISTURBS TOP officials is that Sharon risks stirring up dormant religious passions on the West Bank and in East Jerusalem, one of Islam's holiest places, at a time when Moslem fundamentalism showed sufficient strength to fire up the Iranian revolution and now threatens sectarian reactions elsewhere. "The Israeli claim to legal rights in Samaria and Judea (the West Bank) is purely biblical," one American official told us. "The Moslem claim to East or Old Jerusalem also has a religious derivation. Any fool can see the lethal potential in the aftermath of Iran."

Such caveats have not quieted Sharon. The public airing of Sharon's latest West Bank plans came in late January when he conjured up a "metropolitan Jerusalem (that), with its surrounding towns, will have a population of one million Jews." State Department statisticians put Jerusalem's total population today at 300,000, with Arab Palestinians outnumbering Jews two-to-one.

Sharon's call for a Jerusalem with one million Jewish inhabitants is not part of Begin's public plans, and probably not his secret plans either. Indeed, Sharon's glowing aspirations for Israel's future holdings on the West Bank may be tinged with the same kind of fancy that has made Ambassador Andrew Young, the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, the most controversial official in the Carter administration.

"Sharon is Begin's Andy Young," one extremely well-placed authority told us. "He speaks with authority conviction about the way things ought to be, but in his heart he must know they never will be that way."

That may be wishful thinking. Sharon, a true hero in the October 1973 Israeli-Egyptian war, is a convinced territorialist at a time when Israeli hawkers are at the increase. What some critics term his territorial romanticism could become tomorrow's political realism, a fact that may have influenced Begin himself in giving Sharon so much freedom for public announcement of future plans.

The plans Sharon announced in his Jan. 26 interview with Ma'ariv, one of Israel's foremost journals, are breathtaking in their scope and sweep. Casting aside much of Begin's promise of self-rule or local autonomy to the Palestinians, Sharon said the process of Israel's control and absorption of vast West Bank lands "will take many years." But he wants the decision to do so to be made publicly right now, before any peace agreement is signed with Egypt.

Sharon envisions three belts of Jewish settlements on the Arab-populated West Bank, "and not just settlements," he said. He promises roads and highways to ensure territorial continuity between (new) cities and settlements.

Radiation not always for cancer

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: Is there any use for radiation treatments besides cancer victims? If so, what? I am concerned about the long-term effects of radiation. — C.W.

Your concern is shared by most doctors. Over the years radiation treatment was used for many non-cancer medical problems, including arthritis of the spine, bursitis, acne, swollen tonsils and thymus gland enlargement. These treatments are not used any longer. The thymus gland therapy and other therapy in the neck area, you may recall, did lead to the well-publicized thyroid gland problem years afterward.

Certain organs are especially sensitive to radiation and thus are at greater risk of developing cancer than others. It is important to protect the thyroid, eyes and breast, and of course, special protection is required during pregnancy, especially in the early months.

Now to your specific question. Radiation therapy is still necessary for some benign conditions. A good example is hemangioma (blood vessel growth) of the eye that threatens vision. In some cases, a benign tumor, depending on its location, might be life-threatening (on the brain, for example) and require radiation to destroy it. A pituitary tumor may threaten that gland and cause blindness.

Radiation therapy is one of the last treatments considered, but it might even be used for cosmetic purposes when the obvious benefit outweighs the potential risks. A keloid on the ear lobe might cause great anguish for some. Dermatologists still treat a number of problems of a benign nature with low-dose radiation, but the large list has been narrowed considerably — fortunately. It is rare to find radiation used for such problems as acne, boils, psoriasis or oily skin.

On the whole, the radiation therapist used his tool primarily for malignant (cancerous) conditions or for life-threatening benign ones — and only when other treatment fails.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: I was told I have low glycosuria, which is supposedly not a true form of diabetes. I would like to know what it is and whether or not it is a serious thing. Should I be concerned about it? Also, what does low renal threshold mean? — C.A.

We need to simplify some terms. Glycosuria (GLY-koh-SOO-ree-uh) means there are abnormally high amounts of blood sugar in the urine. The diabetic may have this because there is too much sugar in his blood and the kidneys have to work overtime trying to get rid of it (via the urine). But a person may have normal blood sugar and the kidneys for some reason still allow too much of it to get into the urine. That is "renal glycosuria." (Renal" refers to the kidneys.)

In renal glycosuria blood sugar tests show normal, and that helps to rule out diabetes. In fact, the danger of the person with this kind of urine sugar developing diabetes is no greater than for anyone else.

The term "low threshold" means only that the kidneys have this tendency to release more sugar into the urine than they should. One cannot say whether a renal glycosuria is serious or not. Tests will show why your kidneys behave this way. Some drugs and some heavy metal poisoning can cause it.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: I am 79 years old and have acute bursitis. Is there

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Two years ago my husband and I were divorced. We both were selfish and God never played any part in our lives. Now we have both become Christians and are discussing remarriage. Do you see any barrier to this? — T.H.

DEAR T.H.: No. I assume you have discussed the problems you had before and are determined to work them out. Your remarriage could be a powerful witness to others of the change that Jesus Christ can bring into our lives.

You have put your finger on the basic problem which afflicted your marriage — and afflicts countless others as well. God was left out of your life. As a result, you both lived for self, rather than seeking His will. Selfishness is the great destroyer of marriages. When two people enter a marriage just for what they will each anything one can do to dissolve the calcium deposits? — R.B.

There is no safe medicine to take to remove calcium deposits. Sometimes deposits are so extensive that only surgical removal will relieve the joint pain. Uric acid deposits as in gout may accumulate like calcium around a joint. These may disappear after long-term use of allopurinol, an anti-gout medicine.

Tests will tell just what is involved in your bursitis, which is a generalized inflammation of the bursae — the tiny fluid-filled sacs that assist joint movement. From those tests your doctor can determine the best treatment for you.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: Is it true that minerals from our drinking water settle in our joints and cause rheumatoid arthritis? — J.D.

Untrue. Rheumatoid arthritis begins with inflammation of the joints. We don't know what causes that to happen.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Ruble, in care of this newspaper, for a copy of the booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat it." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

get out of it — rather than for what they can give in love — conflict is almost certain. Instead of being a loving relationship in which each partner seeks to help and serve the other, marriage becomes a battlefield in which two wills are pitted against each other.

But now that you know Christ, all this has changed. The Holy Spirit has been given to you, and He is able to give you a new capacity to love.

God takes the marriage vow very seriously. In fact, it is a covenant made before God Himself. That is why the Bible says, "Therefore what God has joined together, let man not separate" (Matthew 19:6, New International Version). God gave you each other in the first place, and it would be a blessing to you and to others to come together again now that you know Christ.

Li'l ole wine-taster

Around the rim

James Werrell

Until a couple of nights ago it was just a dream.

In my somnolent scenario I am walking through a large, cool cellar crammed full of bottles of wines from distant lands (particularly the Napa and Sonoma Valleys). As I gaze longingly at the reds, whites and in-betweens, a smiling man approaches carrying a corkscrew.

"Ah, my boy, I see you admire our little collection of viniferous beverages. Why don't you just try as many as you like," he says, still smiling.

AT THIS POINT, poof, I wake up, run to my own cabinet, and discover only a half-empty bottle of tonic water and a dusty bottle of chablis that will soon taste better on a salad than in a glass. Dream on.

But the other night I was fortunate enough to participate in a wine tasting at the home of Clarence and Grace Peters; an experience not too far removed from the aforementioned sleepwalk.

In addition to a gracious host and hostess and a number of friendly fellow guests, this party was populated with some lovely Pinot Chardonnays, Cabernet Sauvignons, Vintage Burgundies, Gewurz Traminers and a cute little number known as "The Eye Of The Swan" from the Pinot Noir family.

All in all it was a delightful way to spend an evening, and a unique opportunity to try a large variety of varietals; not to mention some fine generics.

Though I would not attempt to top the Peters' affair, I have recently toyed with the idea of a wine tasting party myself. It seems like a good way to pick the wines you really like, and enjoy yourself in the process.

Some wine fanciers suggest that you soak the labels from the bottles before the tasting begins. This way, one is not faced with an imposing array of difficult-to-pronounce French words; the only thing between you and the wine is a plain green bottle.

Be careful, however, to remember which wine is which for future reference.

In this sort of situation it is also advisable to invite friends of equal, or maybe only slightly higher, expertise in tasting. You don't want to feel compelled to swirl the wine around in your mouth, utter something obscure about its legs, and spit it out.

Drinking it is much more fun.

HAVING ON hand a pre-printed rating sheet is also helpful for later reference. The sheet can include mention of aroma, dryness, astingency, bouquet, color or whatever you find memorable about the wine ("It tasted like an old sock," for example, would be a useful reminder for the future).

Cheese and crackers are also welcome guests at any wine tasting party. Not only do the cheeses complement the wines, but they also help to clear the palate for the next taste test.

You may want to get as adventurous with your cheese as you do with your wine. Don't get into a Velveeta-Mogen David rut.

Finally, remember that the only important consideration is whether you like the way a wine tastes. Everyone is an expert when it comes to his own taste buds.

A deserved plug: One would hardly guess that Grace Peters' store at FM 700 and Goliad, with the unprepossessing name of "Quick Stop Grocery," would have one of the best wine selections in town. Well, just take a look!

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

In the Herald Tuesday, with reference to my presentation to the Council on the increase in water rates, I resent the inference by Mr. Nagel that I somehow attempted to deceive the Council on my computation of the number of multi-unit houses that would be paying at least the minimum water rate. Mr. Nagel is in a poor position to question my credibility, inasmuch as all the facts I have ever presented to the Council were documented and proved later to be correct — although probably a little conservative even from my facts.

He stated "I don't know where Jack got his figures. The city computer can't estimate how many there are." I got my figures from a direct telephone survey of apartment complexes, trailer parks, multi-unit property owners, and by adding in the new Capehart housing and the new Canterbury units, and determined there were actually around 2,000. Added to the 8,980 estimated by the City, I rounded the total out to 11,000 separate units that would pay at least the minimum.

I then multiplied such 11,000 separate billings by the $1.50 proposed rate increase for a total of $1,650,000 a year. They needed approximately $143,000 for the increase of fixed rates per year by CRMWD. This would have left an average of $55,000 a year. On this basis I recommended an increase of only $1.10 instead of the $1.50, which would have produced $145,200 a year — enough to adequately cover the fixed cost increase by CRMWD.

Just for the benefit of the citizens, the City now pays CRMWD a fixed rate of $68.525.25 a month, plus 6 cents a thousand gallons of water.

As to the statement by Nagel about the city computer not being able to estimate how not being able to estimate how many multi-units exist in the City, everyone knows a computer can only compute the data fed into it, and by Nagel's own admission, he doesn't have such data, hasn't tried to obtain such data, and therefore couldn't have attempted to compute the additional revenues to be derived from this water increase.

He further stated "even if all those extra billings existed, which I doubt, it would only represent about $1,500 a month in revenues." If he would simply multiply 2,000 multi-units by the $1.50 proposed monthly increase, he would come out with $3,000 additional a month, or $36,000 a year. I fail to understand why he feels he has to divide by 2 after he has reached a good solid figure. Maybe this is new math...taught at some of the Municipal League schools for City Managers.

I submit that my figures are correct, and a year from now we can go back over these calculations and see whose credibility stood up and whose never existed in the first place.

Dear Editor:

The farmers of the American Agricultural Movement have gone to Washington, not to demolish it as the news media has been reporting, but to ask the Secretary of Agriculture to implement the 1977 Farm Bill to the maximum instead of the minimum. This is a loan rate of 90 percent of parity for the five basic agricultural products. This is not a subsidy nor a guaranteed income but equality in the market place.

Mr. Bergland has said that the farmers are doing real well with farm income up 40 percent. He also said that they had bought high-priced land and equipment, are poor managers, are greedy, and are seeking publicity.

The farmers are blamed for inflation, high food prices and considered as welfare recipients. This gives them a poor image, and is propaganda to influence the thinking of the American people, and it is working.

Agriculture does not cause inflation but is a victim of it. It produces wealth, employment, and pays for most of our imports. Parity for agriculture could decrease the trade deficit, but agricultural policies and trade agreements and market manipulations are robbing agriculture and the consumer.

The American farmer is being driven from the farm by the thousands each year because of the cheap food and fiber policies of our government.

The Carter Administration talks of Human Rights: They wine and dine every foreign dignitary and turn a deaf ear to the plight of agriculture by saying, "All is well down on a farm." They are not listening, neither are the people.

Every farmer is not suffering financially due to other income to supplement their farm income. They haven't been affected, so they don't feel that there is a problem. This has created opposition to the farm movement.

The tactics of the American Agricultural Movement are opposed by farmers, non-farmers, and the largest so called farm organization that represents agri-business, corporate farming, and insurance. They advocate free markets, less government, low loan rates, and the law of supply and demand. If anything is accomplished, they will not refuse to participate in the benefits.

The protesting farmers are a minority of small grass-root farmers speaking for themselves and using every means possible to tell their story. They have used the political process; some have resorted to violence because of desperation and frustration. I don't advocate this, but I understand the reason for it. They are called radical and militant because of their tactics, and they dare to speak out against unfairness. They are not seeking self-glory or publicity, but it is a fight for survival of the family farm and the freedoms of America. They love God, their country and the land. They will fight for their survival regardless of hardship or criticism.

Very few victories have been won by silence! Everything worthwhile has been achieved by participation and sacrifice. The so called radicals helped to make this country great. The Declaration of Independence, the Boston Tea Party, and Jesus overthrowing the table of the money changers, also the Apostle Paul was accused of turning the world upside down are examples of violent action.

Even if the efforts of the American Agricultural Movement fail, we are proud to have been a part of this movement. We believe that it is a fight for honesty and justice for America.

We appreciate the moral and financial support and want to thank all who have had a part.

Sugar prices may rise 5.5 cents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price of a 5-pound bag of sugar, forced up almost 17 cents in 13 months by government action, could rise 5.5 cents more by early next year under legislation before the House.

By raising both domestic and imported raw sugar prices, the bill would hike the retail cost of soft drinks, canned goods and bakery products as well.

But the two House committee chairmen who introduced the legislation Thursday say many sugarbeet and cane farmers and processors, unable to make ends meet, will go out of business unless they find some relief.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., chairman of the Agriculture Committee, and Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

Ullman's panel shares jurisdiction over the sugar program with the Agriculture Committee because domestic crop prices are set by the duties imposed on foreign shipments, which account for about 45 percent of U.S. consumption.

The Carter administration will soon offer legislation that top-level sources, who asked for anonymity, say is "very close" to the Foley-Ullman bill.

By increasing import duties a quarter-cent per given a direct subsidy of up to a half-cent a pound.

If imported sugar, relatively cheap now because of excess supplies, were allowed to enter the country duty-free, domestic prices would be forced down 8 to 9 cents a pound.

The price at which foreign sugar is sold in this country has for decades set domestic prices.

Congress in October killed a bill hiking duties enough that the 1978 sugar price would be 15 cents a pound. But President Carter used discretionary power given him under tariff legislation to do the same thing.

Stuffed dog tells story

MOUNT HOLLY, N.J. (AP) — Tanya Luciani used a red stuffed dog to show police how her mother's boyfriend allegedly held her 3-year-old brother by the ankles and dunked him in a bathtub until he drowned, according to published reports.

The 5-year-old girl's story prompted authorities to file charges Wednesday against her mother, Linda May Luciani, 23, and Brian Lee Still, 21.

Still was charged with murder, and Ms. Luciani with "aiding and abetting" a murder, which in New Jersey carries the same penalties as murder, said assistant Burlington County prosecutor Ralph Tolomeo.

Both also were charged with child abuse and were held without bail.

When a reporter asked Tanya what had happened to her missing brother, Arthur, she said, "Daddy drowned him," according to a copyright article in the Burlington County Times.

The newspaper said she held the stuffed toy upside down to show how Still allegedly held Arthur by the ankles and dunked his head into a bathtub full of hot water and bubblebath.

At first, she said, Arthur kicked.

Still pulled Arthur out of the water, laid him on a sofa and tried to revive him with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, the paper quoted her as saying.

But Arthur "wouldn't wake up. He was seeing, but his mouth wasn't moving," she said, explaining later that Arthur's eyes were open.

Tanya's statement — first to family friends, then to newspaper reporter Paul Mickle and finally to police — led to the charges, officials said.

The boy's body was found in a plastic bag in a grave behind Still's boyhood neighborhood in Mount Holly.

An autopsy showed Arthur died of multiple blows to the head. Tanya said Still beat the boy before putting him in the tub, the newspaper said. Tolomeo said Still had been "physically disciplining" the boy throughout the day.

Tanya said her mother took no part in the incident, and when Still and the boy were in the bathroom, the woman was "in the kitchen."

Pemberton Township Police Detective Lt. Richard Serafin said police had suspected the couple soon after the boy was reported missing. Police were about to question them again when they got the tip about Tanya's account from the newspaper reporter.

Mickle learned of the girl's story through a friend of Ms. Luciani, Leda Massey, who said she heard Tanya's story when the girl stayed overnight with her daughter.

Tanya said Still had come into the children's bedroom and asked Arthur if he had wet the bed. Arthur had but said he had not. When Still asked Arthur why he lied, Tanya quoted her brother as saying, "Because I was afraid you'd beat me."

Then Arthur was struck and taken to the bathroom, Tanya said.

The girl repeated the story at least three times, never waiving from the first version, the paper said. The reporter called police, and the girl told the story to Serafin and a county homicide investigator.

Tanya said she later saw Still carry Arthur "like a baby" into the woods behind their home. Still returned from the woods with the boy and drove off, Tanya said.

Tanya and an 11-month-old brother, Eddie, have been put into state custody and will be placed in foster homes, officials said.

Tolomeo said Ms. Luciani was charged because she had called police on Jan. 8, the morning after the incident, and told them Arthur had disappeared. She also allegedly made false statements in an effort to protect Still, Tolomeo said.

"Mommy ain't bad," Tanya insisted. "Daddy's bad — and I'm serious."

Friday Romans 14:1-23
Saturday Romans 15:1-13

People keep teaching their children to say their prayers at bedtime; but how many do it themselves?

Maybe sometimes they pray in the darkness, silently, so that no one will know. But why the secrecy? Because prayer is a very deep, personal kind of expression? Because we reveal ourselves through it?

The truth is that more of us sense the reaching of our souls toward God than have yet openly admitted our religious need.

Why wait? In church you can pray alone or with others... in darkness or in light. But always in peace... reaching toward God.

Gov. Ralph Waller highlights Optimists' district meeting

GOV. RALPH WALLER

His professional affiliations cover many areas including the Fort Worth Administrators Association, Fort Worth Classroom Teachers Association; Texas State Teachers Association; National Education Association, and the Texas Association for Evaluation

Registration began at 1 p.m. this afternoon for the North Texas District Second Quarter Board meeting in the lobby of the Holiday Inn. This event, which will take place Friday through Sunday, is a joint effort between Big Spring's Morning Optimist Club and Hi-Noon Optimist Club. Gov. Ralph Waller will highlight the activities as guest speaker. He presently serves as governor, 1978-79, for the North Texas District Optimist International. A native of Crescent, Okla., he and his wife, Joyce, have one daughter, Vickie. They presently reside in Fort Worth. Gov. Waller received a Bachelor of Science and Master of Education from Texas Wesleyan College. He is employed as coordinator of student records and attendance in the Fort Worth Independent School District. He joined the Breakfast Optimist Club of East Fort Worth in 1964. From 1970-71, he served as president. On the district level, Gov. Waller served as achievement and awards chairman from 1973-74, lieutenant governor from 1974-75, and finance chairman in 1977-78.

and Research. Gov. Waller, a man who has had a most active and energetic career in the field of Optimist, contributes greatly to the continuing growth and success of the organization. Registration will continue Saturday in the Holiday Inn lobby, with a board of directors meeting to begin at 8:30 a.m. in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum (east). Bruce Griffith, president of the Morning Optimists will call the meeting to order. Invocation will be given by Dr. Robert Rice, district chaplain. James Cook, president of the Hi-Noon Optimist Club, will lead the Pledge of Allegiance. Danny Meador, Lt. Gov. Zone Two and Polly Mays, mayor protem, will be welcomed. Following the introduction of Past Gov. Jim Welch, various reports and statements will be presented at the conference. A talent review "The Wrong Show" will be held at 3:30 p.m. Saturday in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum (east). At 7 p.m., members will enjoy a banquet in the Howard College Cactus Room where the presentation of Talent Show Awards will take place. A dance will follow. Sunday activities will include an Executive Committee and District Chairman Meeting and dutch treat breakfast at the Holiday Inn Patio Room. Dr. Robert Rice, chaplain will present the devotional. The North Texas Second Quarter Board Meeting has many special activities planned for the ladies. In addition to being in charge of registration, they will attend a "Get Acquainted" party with their husbands tonight at 8 p.m. Wives will meet with First Lady Joyce Waller for food, fun and fellowship in the Holiday Inn Patio Room at 9 a.m. Saturday. Following a noon luncheon, Polly Mays will conduct a tour through the Potton House. The board meeting, an enthusiastically awaited event by both the Morning Optimists and the Hi-Noon Optimists, will conclude Sunday.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Guidance needed by homosexual

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I am a 15-year-old girl and I have a big problem. I'm a homosexual and I don't want to be. It's fine for other gays to be gay if they can accept who they are, but I can't accept it. To make matters worse, I love my best friend, but she has a boyfriend who is not gay. I need advice and fast. — N.J., Fullerton, Calif.

N.J.: You can't go this alone. You need mature adult guidance — someone who can steer you to professional counseling. The best persons in my opinion would be your parents, clergy, or school nurse, counselor or teacher. Select one and share your feeling with that person, and ask that you be directed to a professional counselor. Many school districts employ professional psychologists who can offer great assistance.

Dr. Wallace: Our family had the wonderful experience of having a foreign exchange student live with us for a year. Greta was from Norway and the love we shared cannot be communicated. We now, even though she is back in Norway, consider her a part of our family. What we discovered is that people are really the same no matter where they are born. Greta shared the same goals, desires, needs, and loves as we did. Next year my sister, 17, is spending her senior year in Oslo as a guest in Greta's home. If I may be permitted, Doctor, I would like to encourage families in America to open their homes to a wonderful and beautiful experience by having a foreign teen-ager share a little time with them.

— Sylvia Roberts, Columbus, Ohio.

Dear Sylvia: Thank you for sharing your experiences with us. The Wallace family had a similar experience with two young ladies from war-torn Northern Ireland. While they were not with us for a year, their presence enriched our lives.

THE LIGHT TOUCH

By SHERRY WEGNER

Remember when a $25.00 a plate dinner was a luxury to attend, now it's an everyday thing.

At the rate groceries are going up...brides will soon be making their selections at the supermarket instead of the gift shops.

Ever know anybody you wouldn't give 2¢ for?...They are now 3 for a quarter.

Definition: Mutual funds...Joint bank account. To err is human...but it's a lousy excuse.

We're not making excuses at Ye Olde Pottery Shoppe, 502 Gregg for our tremendous price cut. Starting Monday, Feb. 19th everything will be 40 off (excluding the art). Save on baskets, pottery, brass, turquoise and many other items.

How Lambs Become Sheep

DEAR ABBY: I need your help. Or maybe one of your readers has the answer. Where does one start in having a religious organization investigated? Can someone be deprogrammed after six years of indoctrination?

My academically gifted son became interested in different philosophies, lifestyles and religions while he was a college student. Now he has given up his goals and become a religious fanatic.

He's a slave to the head of a religious cult who lives in luxury while my son is always broke and borrowing money from me so he can give more money to the cult.

Now he spends all his time recruiting members; he's so brainwashed and blinded by "loyalty" he can't see how he has been used.

What can I do?

DEAR LOST: Don't send him any more money, but do keep in communication with him and let him know that you love him. There are many organizations throughout the country that exist to help parents who have "lost" their children to unscrupulous religious cults.

The organization nearest you is: Individual Freedom Foundation, Box 131, Allison Park, Pa., 15101. Write to them and enclose a stamped (15 cents) self-addressed envelope for their reply. They are a non-profit group. Good luck.

Future bride is feted at shower

Hostesses presented Donna Kennemer, bride-elect of Don Addy, with a vacuum cleaner Feb. 6 when they honored her with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Loretta Cook, Chapman Road, Sand Springs. Other hostesses in addition to Mrs. Cook included Terri Jo Cook, Mrs. Beth Kuykendall, Mrs. R. D. Bradshaw, Mrs. Bill Patterson, Billie Procter, Lucille Richters, LaVerne Lewis, Vickie Walker, Wanda Smith and Janice O'Neal.

Special guests in attendance were the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Don Kennemer, Sand Springs; the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. William Addy; and the prospective bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. Paul Russell and Mrs. J.C. Collins.

Corsages of white carnation adorned with blue satin ribbon were presented the honoree and mothers. The table was laid with a white lace tablecloth and topped with a bride doll cake. Blue and white, colors of the bride-elect, were carried throughout the motif. Crystal appointments were used.

Miss Kennemer and Addy will be married March 3 in Phillips Memorial Church. The Rev. Dan Sanford will officiate the ceremony.

MOST POPULAR VEGETABLE
Tomatoes widely grown

Tomatoes, peppers most widely grown vegetable

Since tomatoes, peppers and cabbage are the most widely grown vegetables in America, home gardeners should consider the individual likes and dislikes of these three when buying transplants.

Cabbage, which is the first to be planted into the garden in spring, is hardy and will tolerate light frosts. Unlike tomatoes and peppers which are tender plants, cabbage can be planted about four weeks before the last frost date in any given area. Healthy transplants can be purchased from bedding plant outlets. They should be spaced one and one-half feet apart in a row. Miniature heads are not yet formed when cabbage is bought as a bedding plant. Heads appear after the plants are well established in the garden. Even so, healthy cabbage transplants can cut six weeks from the growing time.

Broccoli is closely related to cabbage and can be treated in the same way with early planting. Like cabbage, broccoli will not form heads until about six weeks after transplanting.

Peppers and tomatoes cannot tolerate frost and so should not be set out as transplants until after the last frost date in any area. Tomatoes should be set out with several inches of stem buried below ground. The stem will produce additional roots and create a healthier plant. Bedding plant outlets often sell plants with flowers or fruit already formed. When these are replaced in the garden, gardeners have an opportunity for an early crop.

Tomato vines need the support of staking. Left to sprawl on the ground, tomatoes will occupy more space and be more prone to disease.

Bedding plant tomatoes in good supply range from giant-sized (usually red-fruited hybrids) to cherry-sized fruits. Yellow-fruited tomatoes can also be found at bedding plant outlets.

Although peppers and tomatoes are closely related and thrive under similar conditions, the stem of the pepper plant will not produce additional roots so it should be planted shallow. A sunny location and fertile soil is needed to get worthwhile crops of peppers. The pepper stem is generally strong enough to support the plant without staking, but when fruit is picked, care must be taken not to break the extremely brittle branches. Sweet bell peppers are the most popular kinds in home gardens. These generally ripen from green to red, although several good yellow varieties are also available.

Tips for greener gardening

Don't let a luxurious garden slip between your fingers. The surest way to a green thumb is knowing how best to avoid that perennial garden sore thumb, unhealthy plants, by avoiding these gardening mistakes.

1. Not having the right tools. These include a shovel, spading fork, steel rake, wooden rake, hoe, cultivator, grass edger, several types of shears, pen-knife, trowel, wheelbarrow, spreader, sprayer, watering can and gardening gloves.

Don't leave tools outdoors or they will rust or corrode. Always wash them after use. Lawn mowers should be kept in good repair. Keep blades sharpened or they will split grass tops and turn them brown.

2. Not becoming acquainted with insect identification and control. For example, malformed buds and flowers might indicate the presence of aphids, pale plants might suggest lacebug infestation, and buds that fail to open may mean that thrips are present. Once you know which bugs are bugging your greenery, then it's a mistake not to control them with an effective insecticide.

Black Leaf 40 is a product that has been killing destructive insects for 80 years. Since it is a biodegradable product of tobacco leaves and alcohol, it leaves no dangerous residues. And insects do not become immune to Black Leaf 40.

3. Forgetting that plants need the right nutrients to grow strong and beautiful. But grass and flowers need different fertilizers. In general, fertilizers with a high percentage of nitrogen are best for leaf and root crops; flowers and many vegetables do better on a formula with more phosphorus. Don't use too much fertilizer because it can kill plants by dehydrating the roots. And test your soil for lime before applying it. It may turn out to be a needless expense.

In short, it's a mistake not to know your garden — what it needs and what it can do without. It is a community of living things — which requires love and understanding to grow.

Sugar Snap: New vegetable for '79

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

You remove the strings and eat the pods and the peas, just as you would string beans. That's Sugar Snap, a 1979 "new vegetable" available for early planting this spring.

You can cook them or eat them raw, or you can shell them and eat the edible pods just as you would snow peas. In fact, Sugar Snap came about while the breeder was trying to strengthen the pod of a processing pea by using a thick-podded snow pea. Nine years of crossing followed near Twin Falls, Idaho.

You raise this Sugar Snap, an All-America vegetable winner for 1979, as you would a conventional garden pea. But remember that it grows to 8 feet and needs support of strings, wire or stakes. The pea does well in cool, humid weather. It makes a good fall crop in California's coastal region or similar climate.

Harvest time is when the pods are filled with peas about 70 days but they are best just before the pods are filled.

The Gallatin Valley Seed Co., of Twin Falls, which developed Sugar Snap, has this advice:

Fresh Sugar Snap peas should be kept for storage unwashed in plastic wrap or plastic bags in the refrigerator. Fresh Sugar Snap peas will keep this way at least 10 days, after which they will begin to get starchy.

Sugar Snap is suited for fast freezing, uncooked crocking, pickling, but not for canning. Frozen Sugar Snaps will last up to a year; uncooked crocked will keep a few years; thawed frozen Sugar Snap peas are good only in heated dishes because they are no longer crisp.

To freeze Sugar Snap peas, blanch them for 2 minutes, then chill in ice water for 5 minutes. Lay them separately on trays and freeze immediately.

When thoroughly frozen, store in batch-size plastic containers and freeze further. No seasoning is needed for freezing.

To remove strings, pinch the tip, pull string up the straight side to the stem end. String peas before freezing.

Try fresh Sugar Snap whole, chunked or sliced lengthwise in salad, sandwiches, soups, as dippers for cocktail dips, or fill the crisp pods as you would celery sticks.

If over-cooked they will fall apart and lose flavor. Blanched or stir-fried fresh, two minutes cooking is enough. From the freezer they need only two minutes cooking. Cooked they may be used for batter-coated tempura, stews, spaghetti sauces, meat, poultry or fish, vegetable garnish-accompaniments. But add them to cooked dishes just before serving for superior flavor.

Pickled Sugar Snap are suggested for addition to cocktail or vegetable drinks at parties, whole, and pods or peas separately.

Sugar snap can be used, pod and all, at all stages of growth.

How about a Sugar Snap Omelet with English muffins, asks Willetta Warberg of Twin Falls.

6-8 fresh or unthawed Sugar Snaps; 4 teaspoons margarine or butter; 4 eggs; 1/4 cup milk or cream; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon paprika.

In omelet pan, melt margarine or butter; add peas, cut in half crosswise if desired, and cook no more than two minutes. Remove peas to side dish and make the omelet in same pan. Beat together eggs, milk or cream, salt and paprika. Add egg mixture to hot pan and cook over low heat. Lift edges with pancake turner, tilting pan to allow uncooked egg mixture to run to bottom. When egg is mostly cooked, leaving top moist, arrange Sugar Snaps in center. Fold omelet over and serve hot.

Simplicity best for garden decorations

COLLEGE STATION — Accessories are an important part of a yard or garden and can add character and individuality to the home landscape if properly chosen, says one authority.

"However, too often accessories are bought which serve no purpose and only clutter up a yard," points out Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "An accessory should be beautiful in itself, have a practical value, and relate to the overall landscape design."

Welch suggests using abstract sculpture as a garden accessory. "A well designed piece of abstract sculpture can create interest in your garden and will increase in value over the years."

Outdoor furniture can also add interest and provide a useful function. When choosing garden furniture, look for comfort, attractiveness and low maintenance," advises the Texas A&M University System horticulturist. "Outdoor furniture should be practical and in harmony with the landscape."

If furniture or sculpture proves inappropriate or too costly, Welch suggests using natural materials such as driftwood, tree limbs or roots, boulders or rocks as yard accessories. "Natural materials can be related to most landscapes and are easy to get."

Other useful, decorative accessories include bird-baths, stained glass windows, outdoor chandeliers and plant containers. A stained glass window can be used to enclose an area while an outdoor chandelier can provide light and possibly repel insects.

"Avoid the temptation to overdo accessories," cautions Welch. "Simplicity is the best design."

A favorite for centuries

Spring is time for roses

When spring's gently-warmed earth brings forth the rose bush's first colorful, fragrant blossoms, the gardener is reminded of why this ancient flower has remained a perennial favorite for centuries.

The most common of flowering shrubs, the rose's popularity is accounted for, in part, by the variety of species available. It is a rare lawn that does not have some rose-bearing plant: a miniature, a bush, a tree or a climber. The color selection is a slice out of the rainbow's spectrum — yellows, creams, pinks, reds, white. When properly cared for, roses are easily grown almost anywhere, and are always an attractive addition to any lawn or garden.

The three major requirements for location of roses are plenty of air circulation, sun and drainage. Specific planting instructions are available from your local nursery garden center. If rose-bearing plants are already growing in your yard, now is the right time for pruning and feeding. To prune, cut away all dead, broken or scraggly shoots, leaving the bush open for healthy growth of stronger canes. New green shoots will soon be appearing on your plants as the spring sun warms the earth.

Roses need nitrogen, phosphorus and potash as basic nutrients, and these are available from commercial fertilizers, such as 5-10-5, or natural materials. Sow fertilizer two to three inches into soil surrounding perimeter and water afterwards. For the healthiest roses, good feeding practice is to repeat this process three times annually: once in early spring, once about the time of heavy June bloom, and once in early August.

Watering requirements vary with the climate, but a good rule of thumb is to make sure the roses receive the equivalent of one inch of rainfall weekly.

There are certain common diseases, such as black spot, and insects, such as Japanese beetles, which may be readily controlled by the use of properly timed sprays and dusts. Advice and materials for pest control may be obtained from your garden center.

The American Association of Nurserymen, in its ecology-oriented Green Survival Program, advises that spring is an ideal time for putting in roses, and suggests that this year is a particularly appropriate occasion for adding these flowered beauties to a home or business landscape to help decorate your community.

Farmers' Capitol protest

Damage estimates given

WASHINGTON (AP) — After nearly two weeks of the farmer protest, city and federal government officials estimate the bill for personnel costs and destroyed property at about $2.7 million and rising.

The National Park Service estimated that about 500 tractors and a similar number of support vehicles such as trucks and campers remained on the snow-covered National Mall Thursday.

Police have kept the vehicles penned up on the two-mile stretch of grass and walkways extending from the Capitol to the Washington Monument since the protesting farmers arrived earlier this month.

George Berkley, a spokesman for the Park Service, said 108 tractors have left this week. Only a few farmers could be seen walking among their parked vehicles Thursday as a steady snow fell.

Berkley said overtime costs for federal park policemen and the costs to repair damages to the Mall, including extensive resodding, are estimated at about $1.2 million. He had placed the figure earlier at $2 million, but said that was a very preliminary figure.

Many farmers have disputed the government cost estimates and a number of Maryland farmers, according to Bud Bitner, a founder of the American Agriculture movement, have volunteered to help seed the grass. Berkley said the offer is under consideration, but no decision has been made.

"We feel that the damage to the Mall is very slight compared to press reports," Bitner of Walsh, Colo., told the House Agriculture

Keeping justice of peace post filled in Dawson no easy task

LAMESA — Dawson County is experiencing problems keeping the justice of peace position filled since Richard Don Nelson was suspended last July.

Barbara Harris was first appointed to the position following Nelson's suspension. She served until the November elections.

In a five-way write-in contest, voters elevated John Parchman to the post. Parchman resigned after only 42 days on the job.

K.D. Smith, 70-year-old former elementary school principal, was appointed as Parchman's successor but his appointment was challenged by the Democratic and GOP chairmen, Leon Cohorn and weeks.

The Cake Decorating II class will begin Monday, Feb. 26, from 7-9 p.m. The six week class will be held in the instructor's home, and will end on April 9. Cost of the course will be $12. The instructor will discuss the need for supplies on the beginning night of class. The class will be limited to 12 people. Students will get instruction in marzipan and wedding cake work.

A person may pre-register at the Adult and Continuing Education office located in the Horace Garrett Building or may call 267-6311, ext. 70 for more information. Specific information concerning the course content can be obtained by calling Mrs. Harmon after 5 p.m. at 263-3073.

The Howard College Department of Adult and Continuing Education is announcing its Cake Decorating I and II classes, taught by Mrs. Janie Harmon. The classes have always been a success, and a big turnout is expected this year.

The Cake Decorating I class will begin Feb. 22 at 7:00 p.m. in Room A-4 of the Administration building. The class size will be limited to 15 in order to insure that each student gets sufficient attention. The course will cost $12, and each person not already having the necessary supplies can purchase them at the Howard College Bookstore for about $22. The class will meet each Thursday night from 7 until 9 p.m. for six

The association has a budget of $125,000 which is funded by private donations and membership fees from the 3,200 members.

Five and a half of the ten staff positions are paid through University funds, Ellis said.

Previously, the agency was funded through university research or other funds.

When research funds were cut by the legislature two years ago the university began looking for areas to cut spending, Ellis said.

Because the center does more than research, university officials decided to make it a separate budget item.

Sutton said he had been given no reason for the rejection. "They apparently didn't support the arguments the university presented," Sutton said.

If the legislature rejects funding it will not mean the automatic closing of the center, Sutton said. It will be up to the Board of Regents to determine whether to use research or other funds for the center, Sutton said.

Jim Oliver, assistant director of the LBB, said few new programs were funded.

The LBB probably presumed the center could be funded as it had in the past rather than by appropriating general revenue money, Oliver said.

Ellis said historical association board members are considering what steps to take.

The Dawson County Commissioners' Court will hold a special meeting, 10 a.m. Monday in the Courthouse in Lamesa. Discussion will center around the appointment of a Justice of the Peace.

Stanton Councilmen will meet in special session at 7:30 p.m. Monday to discuss a number of items.

During the meeting, councilmen will call for an election of city officers on April 7, and will designate election precincts and an election judge.

The council will also consider a rate increase request by the Cap Rock Electric Co-op Inc.

Other items of business will include a discussion of the paving of the 1100 block of North Saint Boniface; the sale of industrial property; and the adjustment of a water bill for Mr. Morgan.

On the light side

Don't pick the tree moss

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Tree moss has now come under the protection of the Black Lake Game Commission.

The commission wanted a legal opinion on whether it had jurisdiction to stop persons from gathering moss from the lake.

Attorney General William Guste's office obliged, stating that under the state's theft statutes, tree moss could be considered a "thing of value."

Commission officials couldn't be reached to determine what problems they're having with moss thieves.

"Maybe their tree moss is gold-plated," said one member of the attorney general's staff, who didn't want to be identified.

Does dog read classifieds?

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — After his pet dog, Sparky, wandered away from home, Stanley Ylinen placed a lost dog ad in the Oakland Tribune saying: "Dog, small brown long hair, lame right back leg, male."

On Wednesday, the woman who had taken the ad, Lorraine Whitaker, noticed a dog trot into the newspaper's lobby.

She gave Ylinen a quick telephone call, and sure enough, it was his 15-year-old pet, a canine of mixed ancestry, which had disappeared Monday. And Wednesday was Ylinen's 62nd birthday.

"I think this is a miracle," the overjoyed Ylinen said. "This is quite a birthday present."

Stopping Crime Stoppers

AZTEC, N.M. (AP) — An imposter is soliciting funds for the San Juan Crime Stoppers, and the real organization is offering its weekly reward to find out who it is.

Crime Stoppers coordinator Leroy Cruz said Thursday that San Juan County residents are receiving telephone calls from persons seeking cash donations for Crime Stoppers, which offers rewards for information about specific crimes.

Cruz said his organization does not solicit contributions in that manner and the calls are being made by an imposter.

Houston man to get new trial

HOUSTON (AP) —

Allegations of alleged Jacinto City police brutality have led to a new trial for John Charles Zimmerman, who received a death sentence in the 1977 rape and murder of a 10-year-old niece.

State District Judge Frank Price ordered the new trial Thursday after a district attorney's investigator testified he witnessed Jacinto City officers beat Zimmerman the night of his arrest.

Robert J. Bodisch testified he reported the beating to Vic Driscoll, who prosecuted the case, before the trial but defense lawyers were never told and a statement made by Zimmerman was admitted into evidence.

After Price's ruling, District Attorney Carol Vance said he plans an in-house investigation of events that preceded the 1977 trial.

Witnesses at the trial testified Zimmerman picked up his niece, Ramona Abner,

Cake decorating classes at HC expected to draw big turnout

The Howard College Department of Adult and Continuing Education is announcing its Cake Decorating I and II classes, taught by Mrs. Janie Harmon. The classes have always been a success, and a big turnout is expected this year.

The Cake Decorating I class will begin Feb. 22 at 7:00 p.m. in Room A-4 of the Administration building. The class size will be limited to 15 in order to insure that each student gets sufficient attention. The course will cost $12, and each person not already having the necessary supplies can purchase them at the Howard College Bookstore for about $22. The class will meet each Thursday night from 7 until 9 p.m. for six weeks.

The Cake Decorating II class will begin Monday, Feb. 26, from 7-9 p.m. The six week class will be held in the instructor's home, and will end on April 9. Cost of the course will be $12. The instructor will discuss the need for supplies on the beginning night of class. The class will be limited to 12 people. Students will get instruction in marzipan and wedding cake work.

A person may pre-register at the Adult and Continuing Education office located in the Horace Garrett Building or may call 267-6311, ext. 70 for more information. Specific information concerning the course content can be obtained by calling Mrs. Harmon after 5 p.m. at 263-3073.

Funding for history center cut by LBB

HARLE HANKS AUSTIN BUREAU AUSTIN — Two months after the Legislative Budget Board issued its recommendations the Center for Studies in Texas History found out it had been left out.

L. Tuffly Ellis, center director, said University of Texas Vice President for Research Eldon Sutton told him about the deletion of $84,000 for the center.

Ellis said the only explanation he could think of was the LBB saw the center's new name and decided it was just a proposed project.

The center has been sponsored by the university since 1943 and is associated with the privately funded Texas State Historical Association.

The center and historical association staffs compile information for the Handbook of Texas, Southern Historical Quarterly and other publications, sponsors workshops and youth programs.

Court calls special meet

The Dawson County Commissioners' Court will hold a special meeting, 10 a.m. Monday in the Courthouse in Lamesa. Discussion will center around the appointment of a Justice of the Peace.

Stanton councilmen to consider Co-op rate increase, paving

Stanton Councilmen will meet in special session at 7:30 p.m. Monday to discuss a number of items.

During the meeting, councilmen will call for an election of city officers on April 7, and will designate election precincts and an election judge.

The council will also consider a rate increase request by the Cap Rock Electric Co-op Inc.

Other items of business will include a discussion of the paving of the 1100 block of North Saint Boniface; the sale of industrial property; and the adjustment of a water bill for Mr. Morgan.

Hangin' Out

by Nathan Poss

In the midst of another year of recruiting by Southwest Conference football coaches (and other coaches from other major college conferences) the usual stories are circulated throughout the media about who is going where and which coach or alumni is offering what.

This year is also no different in the category of glamorization. This year the center of attention is Eric Dickerson. In the past, such worthy performers as Billy Sims, Earl Campbell and Tommy Kramer have dotted the headlines.

The stories never really change from year to year, just the names. For this reason, many people tend to stereotype the prospective college athlete that is being recruited into the category of "happily pampered and spoiled". Of course, when Eric Dickerson started driving a new Trans-Am a couple of weeks ago, it made it hard for the public to change this view.

To an extent, this stereotype of coaches and alumni flattering their recruits with promises of starting as a freshman, cars, jobs and women is very true. Especially so for the blue-chippers and a handful of others that are signed.

But this group of athletes are probably only 10 percent of all of the athletes signed by the major college schools. For the rest of the high school athletes being recruited, it is in many instances a case of wondering which coach is sincere, which is not, and who might possibly renege.

As a high school senior, I was included in the group being recruited by a few major universities, but not to the extent of the blue-chip stud. I can't complain, as I did have what I felt was a good choice among attractive colleges and did take advantage of a few schools for free recruiting trips, but I also became aware of the cut throat nature that college football can be.

The stories are never told in the paper about how a certain coach has another member of his staff call and tell you how they already have their quotas of running backs, or the coach that pressures the already mixed up youth by saying he can either sign with his school this year or be taken off the list (fully knowing the young man is unsure which way to go), or Coach X that calls the prospective athlete every other night from mid-November to mid-January, telling the young man numerous sweet lies and creating false fantasies in his mind. Then, Coach X, respected around the state for his coaching knowledge and personal integrity, suddenly disappears into oblivion. When the very apprehensive young man tries continually to call Coach X and ask him what's going on, the man of integrity is never in and never has the guts to return the call.

All of these things did not happen to me. One of them did, from a school that I was somewhat interested in. But that's just life. All of the examples have happened to countless people that I met while playing college football.

*****

One occurrence that did irritate me came from Texas Tech. Jim Carlen was the head coach at the time, and an assistant named Dale Evans recruited West Texas.

Carlen was noted for his inspiring banquet talks concerning God, country, respect, loyalty, etc. He was an excellent speaker, and naturally had great influence on parents.

Evans was the same way in his personal recruiting speech. He seemed to be a very honest man that wouldn't hurt a fly. He talked his forthright and persuasive way until 10 days remained before signing date. I hadn't let him know, but I was already leaning elsewhere.

Suddenly, I no longer heard from Evans, Carlen or anyone else from Tech. I wondered what had happened, but knew before Evans quit calling that my heart wanted me to go further away than Lubbock. (Of course, my mother calling him Roy Rogers on the phone one night might not have helped.)

On signing date, my father, who silently wanted me to go to Tech, asked if we should call Tech and find out what had happened. No way, I was ready to sign with Rice and had already figured out Carlen's recruiting line.

That same morning, I remember wondering: "What if I had really wanted to go to Tech? What if I had told Rice and the other colleges two weeks ago that I was committing to Tech? Fortunately, I had not and was happily signing what I felt to be and what turned out to be a good scholarship and a good education.

But a couple of months later, I found out what happened to those that had committed before signing date, then mysteriously been given the silent shaft.

I was playing a high school baseball game in April against a team that had a player that I had met on a weekend recruiting visit. I knew that he had been offered a scholarship by a certain SWC school that he had cheered for and dreamed of playing for since childhood. On the recruiting trip, he had told me of his excitement of signing with this school.

Assuming that he had signed with the school, I approached him and mentioned that he should give me a call the following year when they came to Houston to play Rice. Lowering his head, he said in such a low tone of voice that I could barely hear his voice: "I'm not going there. A week before signing date they suddenly quit contacting me. I would call the coaches office, but they would never talk to me or return the call. I finally talked to them on the signing date, and they told me they had already signed their quota."

My wondering ceased. The sad thing about this guy is that, in order to show this particular school that he was loyal to them, he told the three other major college schools offering him a scholarship that he had already committed elsewhere. So these schools naturally went out and recruited someone else in his place on signing date.

That's why it's really hard for me to feel sympathetic to the cries of the Aggies that Eric Dickerson has betrayed them. You have to understand that there are two sides to every coin, although I'm sure they would have saved a scholarship for Dickerson.

But don't get me wrong! Most of the college football coaches are very honest and sincere recruiters. Oh sure, many of them tend to fabricate the more favorable aspects of their school and downplay the negative aspects, but that's to be expected. Nearly every coach is a caring individual with feelings, and will not want the athlete to come to his school if it is against his will.

Unfortunately, there will always be a few college football recruiters that forget that a 17-year-old prospective college football player is more than a toy without emotions and desires. And these guys sometimes give the whole profession a bad name.

Carroll leads BSHS golfers

ODESSA — The Big Spring High School golf team shot a most creditable round of 308 in the first round of the two-day annual Odessa Invitations Golf Tournament held Thursday at the Golden Acres Golf Course.

The 308 round puts them in contention for Friday's finale at the Odessa Country Club. Bruce Carroll's round of 72 paced the Steer golfers. Other rounds for BSHS included Larry Blockos at 76, Brad Small at 78, Jimmy Newsom at 82, and David Stephens with a round of 87.

ALL-AMERICAN — Pittsburgh Penguins' defenseman Russ Anderson and his wife, Dorothy, pose in their suburban Pittsburgh home. Anderson is one of a rare breed of American players in the NHL. Dorothy has an even more unique distinction — she was Miss America in 1977. They met in their native Minneapolis.

OC wins 68-67

Hawk rally falls short

ODESSA — The hard luck Howard College Hawks couldn't connect on any of three shots in the last 15 seconds of the game last night, finally falling to the Odessa College Wranglers by a score of 68-67.

The Hawks of Coach Harold Wilder had put forth a tremendous rally in the second half to put themselves in a position to win, after trailing by 36-22 at halftime.

Odessa controlled the game in the first half, but the Hawks regrouped to take control of the tempo in the second half. Howard had gradually chipped away at the Odessa lead in the second 20 minutes, relying on the outstanding perimeter play of Robby Randolph, Rocky Rawls, Elroy Green and Allen Bonds.

Odessa led 63-58 with three minutes remaining, but the Hawks narrowed the gap to 68-67 with one minute remaining and had control of the ball. Howard waited patiently for the easy bucket, finally shooting with 15 seconds remaining. The shot missed, but the scrappy Hawks managed two more shots due to their rebounding. The shots, however, would not fall.

Wilder praised his team's effort, saying: "We controlled the tempo and stuck to our game plan in the second half. We played hard the entire game, and played a great game. But like it's been lately, we barely lost."

Randolph led the Hawks in scoring with 22 points, and Bonds added 17. Rocky Rawls and Elroy Green also hit in double figures for Howard College, with 11 and 10, respectively. Taylor and Billy Ray Ennis led Odessa with 20 and 17 points, respectively.

The Hawks return to friendly Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Monday when they host Clarendon College. Howard won their only conference game on the year earlier when they defeated Clarendon. Grady Consolidated ISD will be the special guests Monday night.

HOWARD COLLEGE SCORING: Martin 10.2; Strickland 21.5; Coats 20.4; Leftridge 2.6; Schulte 0.0; Phillips 1.0; Young 5.0; Jones 3.2; Freeman 1.0; Smith 5.6; Meyer 1.0; TOTALS 24 13 41.

Dickerson signs with Mustangs

SEALY, Texas (AP) — Eric Dickerson, the Sealy running back who had been sought by about 80 colleges, signed a letter of intent today with Southern Methodist University.

Coach Ron Meyer of the Mustangs was on hand as Dickerson joined Houston Stratford's Craig James and five other blue-chippers in signing with SMU.

"We are extremely happy," said Meyer, who moved on to Sealy after seeing James sign Thursday night as champagne flowed at the Stratford star's home.

Dickerson originally had announced he planned to sign with Texas A&M but abruptly changed his mind earlier this week and said he would not sign with any school on Wednesday, the opening day for Southwest Conference formal commitments.

James also decided to delay but acknowledged he had encouraged Dickerson to join him in going to SMU.

UCLA ending topples ASU

By The Associated Press

Those Hollywood endings are all the same: It's UCLA every time, it seems.

Hard to beat anywhere — but almost impossible at home — the second-ranked Bruins turned an apparent loss into a victory at Pauley Pavilion Thursday night, beating Arizona State 85-83 with some late-game theatrics.

"We had the game absolutely won," said Arizona State Coach Ned Wulk, stunned by the dramatic turn of events. "It was completely disheartening to lose. Everything was happening at the other end of the court and we couldn't get any information to the players."

What happened was certainly enough to frustrate any coach.

The Sun Devils had an 83-79 lead with nine seconds left, but fouled Roy Hamilton at this point and the UCLA guard made two free throws. Then UCLA's Kiki Vandeweghe stole the inbound pass from Arizona State's Tony Zeno and was fouled by Zeno in the resulting action. Vandeweghe made two shots to tie the game at 83 with seven seconds to play.

Blake Taylor missed a 20-foot shot for the Sun Devils with five seconds to play and Zeno fouled Holland on the rebound.

"There was no doubt that Brad Holland was fouled," said UCLA Coach Gary Cunningham. "The only question was, had time expired?"

It hadn't — and the call went UCLA's way. Whereupon, Holland converted both shots with many UCLA fans hanging expectantly at the rim of the court. Holland sank the first shot of the one-and-one situation for the winning point, then put in the other while the UCLA fans swarmed around him at the foul line.

Stanton captures 5-A title

ANDREWS — Todd Smith scored 27 points and Paul Sparks sank two free throws with six seconds remaining to lead the Stanton Buffaloes to a 52-48 victory over the Seagraves Eagles in the battle for the District 5-A championship.

Stanton, now 20-7 on the year, will meet District 6-A champion Iraan in Monahans on Tuesday night at 7:30.

Seagraves jumped out to a 13-7 lead at the end of the first stanza, and gradually increased the lead throughout the game, leading by as much as 11 points midway in the third period.

In the fourth quarter, Seagraves went to a slow, deliberate game in an attempt to protect their lead. The plan backfired, however, as this forced Stanton out of their zone defense and into a man-to-man.

Stanton played excellent defense in this stage of the game, forcing numerous Seagraves turnovers which allowed the Buffaloes to finally take the lead in the final minute.

Smith's 27 points led all scorers in the contest. Tommy Morrow added 15 for Stanton. Bob Serna was high point man for Seagraves with 10.

SCORING: STANTON — Smith 10.7; Morrow 4.1; Sparks 2.4; Eiland 1.2. TOTALS 17 18 52. SEAGRAVES — Eddins 2.6; Welch 1.2; McKinzie 3.2; Griffin 4.0; Hart 0.4; Serna 5.0; Middleton 2.0. TOTALS 19 10 48.

OC clips Queens

ODESSA — The Odessa College Wranglerettes dealt the Howard College Hawk Queens a most serious blow in their Western Conference title hopes here Thursday night, taking a 71-61 decision.

Howard College jumped out to an early lead midway in the first half, and had a chance to put their Odessa College counterparts away when OC's two big women, Laura Smith and Patsy Burnam, ran into foul trouble. But the Hawk Queens didn't take advantage of it, allowing Odessa to rally and take a 37-30 lead.

The Hawk Queens shot an atrocious 31 percent from the field for the night, but OC could only manage to connect on 33 percent from the field. The big difference in the game's shooting was from the free throw line, as the Wranglerettes hit on 21 of 28, compared to Howard College's 13 of 30.

Howard College Coach Don Stevens was not pleased with the performance of his females in the contest, but did praise the efforts of Queen Shawn Smith, who led the team in scoring with 16 points.

Stevens feels the Queens must now win the remainder of their games in order to be assured of a berth in the Region V tournament. The Queens return to action tomorrow afternoon when they meet Frank Phillips in Berger at 2:30.

Besides Smith's 16 points, Loretta Young was the only other Howard player to score in double figures, adding 10 points. Emma Deanda led all scorers in the contest with 17 points, while Laura Smith added 15 for OC. Smith connected on 11 of 12 free throws for OC.

The Hawks Queens are now 4-4 in conference and 19-7 on the year. Odessa College is now 8-2 in conference and 20-4 on the year.

HOWARD COLLEGE SCORING: Martin 10.2; Strickland 21.5; Coats 20.4; Leftridge 2.6; Schulte 0.0; Phillips 1.0; Young 5.0; Jones 3.2; Freeman 1.0; Smith 5.6; Meyer 1.0; TOTALS 24 13 41.

Snyder-Lamesa tonight at 7:30

The Snyder Tigers and the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes meet tonight in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at 7:30 for the District 3-AAA championship.

Perennial state power Lamesa won the first half of the district, with Snyder rebounding to capture the second half.

Snyder, ranked number three in the state in Class AAA, sports an impressive record of 25-4. Lamesa owns a record of 21-7.

The two teams split their matches this year. Lamesa won the first game at the buzzer, then Snyder gained revenge in the second game with a four point victory.

During World War II and the Korean War he was a flying officer. He has retained his flying skills by piloting his private plane to evangelistic meetings he has conducted throughout the nation. He has logged 9,000 hours in the air. Boyce was an amateur rodeo cowboy and received knowledge of relating to men in all walks of life. Evans has recently earned a doctor of ministry degree from Luther Rice Baptist Seminary and an honorary doctor of divinity degree was conferred on him by Linda Vista Baptist College. He is listed in "Who's Who in American Religion".

Times for the Sunday services are 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Monday through Friday. Meetings will be at noon and 7:30 p.m. The noon meetings will be in the Fellowship Building on Gregg Street with a meal preceding the short services.

'Catholic schools are really neat!'

By EILEEN McGUIRE
"I think Catholic schools are really neat!", says Lisa Salazar, a sixth-grade student of Immaculate Heart of Mary.

Lisa included that statement in a recent letter to the Editor of the Big Spring Herald regarding the observance of Catholic School Week.

"The observance is a national one," explained Principal Adrian Saldivar, "much like the observance of public schools during Public School Week."

Though the observance was held nationally during the week of Feb. 4-10, the local school experienced an interruption in planned activities due to the Feb. 5 snow storm. Taking the weather in stride, Immaculate Heart began its celebration Feb. 9 and concluded Wednesday.

The theme for this year's week-long salute to Catholic schools was "Next to the Family, Catholic Schools". The slogan relays a message of warmth and closeness, traits displayed by Immaculate Heart of Mary throughout the school year, according to Lisa and Saldivar.

"We (the kids) are very close," writes Lisa. "We all get along real well. This year we have a nun to play the guitar for us. She also helps us in religion and to practice for Mass. Her name is Sister Andre."

"Our pastor, Father Gulley, has helped us to understand our Catholic faith better. Our principal,

Mr. Saldivar, is our prime source. He has been our principal for two years now. "Our teachers are really great!"

Expanding on Lisa's opinion of Immaculate Heart of Mary, Saldivar said that the 115 students, from grades Kindergarten through sixth, and the school staff are very much like a family.

Observance of the week by the school began with a celebration of a special Mass Friday. Events this week included a religious prayer service Monday through which the entire school expressed its thankfulness for the school. On Tuesday, the teaching ministry of Immaculate Heart participated in a rededication ceremony.

The week concluded on a day that Saldivar said was most fitting for the atmosphere of the school, Valentine's Day. Events that day included a St. Valentine's Mass and celebration. "It was an appropriate day for our observance of National Catholic School Week to end," said Saldivar. "The theme of Valentine's Day is love. And that was our theme throughout the preceding week."

Lisa concludes her letter with "It's not that I don't like public schools — I don't know what a public school is like because I never went to one."

"I'm looking forward to going to Goliad, but I'm satisfied with where I am right now and am thankful for a Christian education."

Mrs. Ray Stukel, 2604 Clanton Street. Guests were Mrs. Glynn Atkins, Mrs. Gary Dahl and Mrs. Jack Redding.

The devotions were given by Mrs. Stukel and followed with a short topic by Mrs. Guilford Jones on the "Widow's Mite."

An explanation was given by her of the special projects chosen at the Texas District Convention for two years. A portion of the funds received are sent to the International LWML for projects selected at their convention which will be held this year in Omaha, Neb.

Some of the Texas projects for 1978-1980 are a special bus with a lift for the Good Samaritan Home in Cypress, Tex., Seaman's Project for the Galveston area, recorder for the Ambassadors for Christ and others.

Campus Chapels have also benefitted from these mites collected from each society in the Lutheran Women's Missionary League in the state.

A new Bible study will begin in March on "Jesus Speaks to Me in Parables." The Bible Study is scheduled to be held every other Wednesday.

Mrs. Richard Knocke was appointed chairman of the 50th anniversary project. St. Paul Church will celebrate the Golden Anniversary of the church charter in October.

The Rev. Glenn O'Shoney, president of the Texas District of Missouri Synod, will be a guest speaker at the first of a series of special services to be held. Mrs. Knocke was appointed to be chairman of the pot-luck dinner to be held following the services Feb. 18, sponsored by the LWML.

It was announced that a money management course will be held at Howard College beginning March 6. The Spring Workshop will be held April 29 in Andrews and the topic will be Lutheran Social Service in Texas. The supper was attended by 14 members and guests.

"I'M GOING TO SPEAK OUT..."
I've always been an out-spoken person. Sometimes I've had to apologize or eat my words, but most of the time I've found people appreciative of someone who speaks his mind and tells it like it is, so...
I'm going to speak out against godless atheism in all its forms — from Communism to hypocrisy on the part of people who wear the name Christian while being no more help to the cause of Christ than Ms. O'Hare herself!
I'm going to speak out against the actions and teachings of my brethren who have veered from sound doctrine and who are misusing their ministries and freedom in Christ!
I'm going to speak out against preachers that don't preach, elders that don't lead, deacons that don't deac, and churches that don't church!
I'm going to speak out against sin, and call it by its first name, whether it be murder, stealing, lying, adultery, fornication, homosexuality, hypocrisy or apathy, and whether it be committed by a hitchhiker passing through or the garbage man's daughter or the richest family's son!
Visit us Sunday and you'll find out what I'm "for".
Join us as we climb above the clouds this Sunday at

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, FEB. 17, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Don't take any chances by arguing with others today. Instead, analyze and think out a course of action whereby you will be able to get right results in a situation where confusion exists.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be sure not to neglect any pressing bills at this time. Contact congenials and engage in your favorite hobby.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Show a more cooperative spirit with your associates and you have greater mutual success. Keep out of trouble as much as you can.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Conduct regular routines in a normal fashion without making any changes for best results today. Be less critical of others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study a plan whereby you can advance in your line of endeavor. Engage in a hobby you like.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't be too demanding at home and maintain harmony there. Take time to garner the data you need for a new project.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make long-range plans for the future that will give you added income. Join good friends for recreational purposes later in the day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make sure you don't take on any more responsibilities that you can afford. Make necessary repairs to property.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact the right people in going after personal aims. Handle private duties early so you'll have time for recreation later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make constructive plans for the future after you have conferred with an adviser you can trust. Avoid an opponent.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Ust tact with a determined friend or you could get into trouble with this person. Take needed health treatments.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have to act wisely in public today to avoid any kind of trouble. Sidestep one who is hypocritical. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study every phase of new interests you have in mind before actually taking part. Take no risks with your reputation now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will easily understand problematical affairs, and should be given a good education to make the most of this ability. The early part of life is likely to be difficult but the latter part can be most pleasant. One with excessive energy. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

YES, SLUGGO... I'M READY TO LEAVE FOR THE COSTUME PARTY. MEET ME ON THE CORNER.

NO, I WON'T WALK WITH YOU.

BLONDIE

I CAN'T REMEMBER WHAT MY WIFE WANTED. WAS IT LAMB CHOPS? NO... WAS IT STEAK? NO...

OH, BOY... LET'S SEE... WAS IT HAMBURGER? NO... WAS IT PORK CHOPS? NO...

I'VE GOT CALVES' BRAINS THAT CAN THINK BETTER THAN YOU CAN!

CHANNEL 22. MR. QUIMBY, LOWELL LIPMORE, CHANNEL 22'S NEWCASTER IS HERE TO SEE YOU.

MR. QUIMBY WILL GET YOU NOW MR. LIPMORE. MR. LIPMORE, MR. LIPMORE.

MAYBE YOU BETTER COME OUT HERE, GIRL.

WHEN SHERMAN STEPS ON THE STARTER, HIS COLD ENGINE REFUSES TO FUNCTION...

I HAVE TO RUN BACK TO MY OFFICE, TED!... AND THIS CAR WON'T START!

I'M GOING OVER THAT WAY... TO SEE OUR SALES MANAGER!... LET ME GIVE YOU A LIFT IN THE ROLLS!

THAT WOULD BE A GREAT HELP, TED!

MINE EES ZE MOST MODERN TECHNIQUE FOR MOVING ZE PAYROLL...

STEP NUMBER ONE--WE OPEN ZE VAULT. I AM SORRY, MON AMI.

WHAT? ZE PAYROLL SHE EES ALL IN HEAVY GOLD COINS. EES THERE NO PAPER MONEY?

SOME FOLKS ARE NEVER SATISFIED.

I BEEN SORTIN' MAIL AN' LOOKIN' AT ZIP CODES TILL I'M PLUMB WORE TO A FRAZZLE

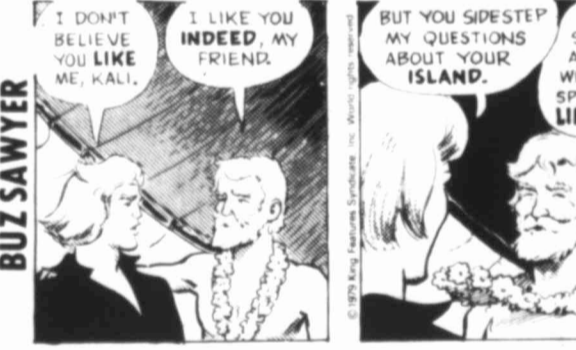

BUT I'M TAKIN' ME A BODACIOUS VACATION NEXT WEEK, SNUFFY

WHAR 'BOUNTS YE GOIN', URIAH?

DOWN TO SUNNY 33140!!

I DON'T BELIEVE YOU LIKE ME, KALL.

INDIVID, MY FRIEND.

BUT YOU SIDESTEP MY QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR ISLAND.

YOU'VE SEEN IT. ARE YOU WILLING TO SPEND YOUR LIFE THERE?

SO YOU'VE DECIDED TO PUT ME ON THE TEAM, EH?

NO WAY... I'VE MADE INQUIRIES ABOUT YOU, DANPEY, AND EVERYTHING CAME UP NEGATIVE!

HOWEVER, IT'S NOT MY PRACTICE TO CHALK UP A KID AS "NO GOOD" BECAUSE OF HIS REPUTATION... AND YOU HAVE A LOUSY ONE!

I'M GOING TO GIVE YOU A CHANCE TO TURN YOURSELF AROUND... A CHANCE TO BUST YOUR BUTT TO PROVE TO ME YOU REALLY WANT TO PLAY BALL... AND MAYBE NEXT YEAR...

NEXT YEAR?

Quiet, Sieg! You'll wake Gretchen!

What is it?

Oh, no!

I SEE YOU BITING YOUR NAILS...

YOU ARE PERSPIRING PROFUSELY... YOU LOOK CONFUSED AND TERRIFIED

WHERE AM I?

IN A CHAIR, OPPOSITE MIKE WALLACE

YOU WIN THE BET, RUBE - I CAME BACK TIME

DID I RUN SHORT OF MONEY?

I COULDN'T LOSE - YOU CAN ALWAYS DEPEND ON ANDY TO DEPEND ON FLD

I APPRECIATE YOUR COMING OUT HERE. REX, I'LL TELL KAY YOU STOPPED!

ALL RIGHT, REX.

YOU KNOW, I'D FEEL BETTER ABOUT IT IF I SAW KAY AND EXAMINED HER WHILE I'M HERE!

BUT SHE'S OKAY... REALLY.

MAYBE SHE ISN'T ASLEEP. EVEN IF SHE IS, WAKE HER! SOMETIMES THERE ARE SECONDARY EFFECTS!

LET ME GO TALK TO HER FIRST!

I'VE JUST GOT TO GET AWAY FROM THE HUSTLE AND BUSTLE!

WHERE WILL YOU BE?

DOWNTOWN CLEVELAND.

YOU DIDN'T SEND ME A VALENTINE, DID YOU?

I DON'T CARE... IT GIVES ME A GOOD EXCUSE

EXCUSE FOR WHAT?

TO KICK YOUR PIANO!

WHAT'LL YOU HAVE, OTTO?

WOOF! WOOF! WOOF! WOOF!

Field work based at Big Spring

Weather mod project rolling

Participants in the HIPLIX weather modification research project have geared up for the 1979 field work based at Big Spring.

Representatives from the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, the Texas Department of Water Resources, Texas Tech University, Texas A and M University and Colorado River Municipal Water District formed plans this week for operations and for installation of new equipment for studies.

Bill Harrison, Denver, Colo., of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, made a presentation of the capabilities of the Enterprise 5 radar unit which will be moved to the area on a short-term basis from Miles City, Mont. It will be used to assess radar data in the development of cloud seeding technology. Using this more sophisticated radar, technicians will seek to establish a cause and effect comparison between seeded and unseeded clouds. In connection with the unit, 25 additional recording rain gauges will be installed to intensify precipitation measurement within the primary target area of the radar.

The 1979 program also will call for the installation of cloud physics equipment in the turbo charged Navajo plane of the CRMWD, and this will mean that a cloud physicist will fly missions through clouds. Instruments in the plane will record in-cloud and ambient-cloud data at the minus 10 degrees centigrade temperature level.

This includes temperatures, dew-point temperatures, moisture content, both on larger drop particles as well as total moisture volume, flight direction, speed and time. The data will be recorded and may be printed out.

Dates for the HIPLIX program are May 15 through July 15, but the CRMWD will operate its weather modification program from March 1 through Oct. 31.

Secretarial Development course offered

The Continuing Education Department of Howard College announces a course in Secretarial Development beginning Feb. 21 and ending March 7. The class will be held Wednesdays from 7-9 p.m. in room 207 of the Horace Garrett Building. Cost of the course will be $6.

Doris Huibregtse, a member of the Howard College Business Department faculty, will be the instructor for the three-week course.

Topics to be covered in the class will include the mechanics and composition of written communications, office etiquette, and efficiency tips. Area secretaries and persons interested in secretarial work will improve the skills necessary for job positions.

Interested persons must register in the Continuing Education office located in the Horace Garrett Building. For more information, call 267-6311, ext. 70.

FIRE DESTROYS PROPERTY — A blaze in a shed, owned by J.O. Murphy, three miles north on Gail Road destroyed a boat, trailer, small tractor and the shed. Firemen from Sand Springs and Howard County Sheriff Department Deputy Eddie Owens were summoned to the fire but it was almost out when they arrived Tuesday afternoon. Damages were estimated at $8,000.

Strange sight in Texas

Legislator's camel creates excitement

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — It's unlikely Rep. Tom Martin would be mistaken for an Arab. At least until you see his camel.

There's no mistaking Abdul. With one hump, legs like stilts and a neck the length of an elephant's trunk he is decidedly not your average livestock.

Abdul is a dromedary. He is also a strange sight in South Texas.

More than one motorist along the Laredo highway outside George West has done a double-take after spotting the tallest member of the Martin cattle herd.

"He creates a lot of excitement on the highway among CB's," Martin says with a chuckle. "He gives them something to talk about."

In the two years since he arrived from a Mexican game preserve, Abdul has become a celebrity.

Martin says the animal is a natural crowd pleaser and is much in demand for area parades. The Beeville Country Club has made it a must for Abdul to attend their annual Arabian Nights Ball.

And does Abdul love it. Martin says the camel devotes much of his day receiving fans bearing gifts of food and affection.

But a camel in Texas does have problems.

Being a foreigner, and a rather oddshaped one at that, Abdul hasn't quite fit in.

"He's a little neurotic," Martin says. "He's not quite sure whether he's a cow or a horse or what he is."

Goats are Abdul's best friends, Martin says, and horses his bitterest enemies.

"The horses are scared of him," Martin says. "Most of the cowboys tend to cuss at him cause he spooks their mounts."

Martin says he has considered finding Abdul a female companion to lessen his identity crisis. Once, he says he promised Abdul would be a father.

"One fella who was kind of drunk wanted to buy him — he just had to have him," Martin relates. "Finally, after I assured him that when we bought a mate for (Abdul), he would be the first to have an offspring, he went on his way."

Martin says he has no plans to fulfill the promise, though. He says he's not ready for a head of neurotic celebrities.
