Vietnam's 'punishment' not finished

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - In the heaviest fighting of the 6-day-old border war, Chinese forces launched fresh attacks on a Vietnamese-held mountain highway that links Hanoi with Vietnam's northeast border, reports from Peking said today.

A Chinese government official in Peking said today that China's "punishment" of Vietnam is not finished, Japan's Kyodo news service reported. The unidentified official reportedly said China will not back down leaving the military situation as

In Moscow, a Soviet Foreign Ministry official denied reports of a heightened alert for Soviet troops or troops in Soviet-allied Mongolia because of the Vietnam situation. He called the reports "dirty provocative

As fighting raged around the highway 50 miles inland, three Chinese infantry divisions pushed 12 miles into Vietnam in Quang Ninh Province, closer to the South China Sea, fighting for every mile against tough opposition, intelligence sources in Bangkok said.

This attack force is believed to number as many as 30,000 men and is said to be backed by tanks.

The three divisions were expected to try to cut off eastwest Highway 4, which is 12 miles farther south, and then may swing inland to attack the north-south Highway 1, the lifeline between Hanoi and Vietnamese troops concentrated around the town of Lang

Japan's Kyodo news service, in a dispatch from Peking, quoted Western military sources as saying the Chinese on Wednesday stepped up their assault on the mountain highway north of Lang Son, a strategically situated town 12 miles south of the border crossing that was named "Friendship Gate" in times of friendlier relations between the two countries.

The sources were quoted by Kyodo as saying the Vietnamese were fiercely resisting the attack.

The Soviet news agency Tass, in a report today from Hanoi, charged that the Chinese intend to annex many Vietnamese areas they have captured. The Chinese have disclaimed any intention to seize territory. The invasion route the Chinese followed is a river valley stretching from China southwest into Vietnam. The intelligence sources described the area as "rugged and mountainous."

After cutting Highway 4, the Chinese commanders could decide to swing inland and try to cut Highway 1 south of Lang Son. That highway is the lifeline between Hanoi and the Lang Son front.

Heavy fighting has been reported for several days around the border village of Dong Dang, seven miles from Lang Son. Foreign reporters who visited Lang Son Tuesday said they were told the Chinese were holding the hills on one side of Dong Dang, and the Vietnamese had the hills opposite them.

Bangkok sources believed the Chinese planned to deal a final blow to the Vietnamese, then in three or four days withdraw most of the forces who poured across the frontier Saturday with the declared aim of putting down border provocations.

But Japan's Kyodo news agency said a government official in Peking told it if Vietnam moved regular forces into the area to replace the militia that has been doing most of the fighting, the fighting would go on. The intelligence sources said Hanoi was in fact moving regular army reinforcements up to the border to relieve militia units battered in the first days

At the other end of the 450-mile border, Vietnamese troops stationed in northern Laos were reported moving into Hoang Lien Son province, where the Chinese captured the major town of Lao Cai on Tuesday. Other Vietnamese forces were said to have destroyed pontoon bridges the Chinese were using to cross the Red and Namthi rivers in the area

A 15-year-old Big Spring girl was raped at knifepoint, around 9 p.m. Wednesday.

According to police reports, the rapist slipped into the back seat of the victim's car while she was inside the Airport Grocery, 3107 West Highway 80, 8:45 p.m. Wednesday. When she returned to the car, the rapist drew a knife and ordered the girl to drive to the Howard County Fair Barns.

At the location he again threatened the frightened girl with a knife, and forced her to have intercourse. She was then instructed to drop her abductor off in a westside residential

The girl, who was told not to look back, then drove to Faye's Lounge, 3317 West Highway 80, where owners alerted police.

U.S. responds to Sadat's request

WASHINGTON (AP) — Responding quickly to an appeal from President Anwar Sadat, the Carter administration will send a special survey team to Egypt in April to measure that country's weapons The Pentagon team's mission could be the first step in a new move by the administration to equip Eygpt with modern arms. The impact on Mideast peace talks, now in their second, secrecy-shrouded day at Camp David, Md., was not immediately clear But Israel and its supporters would be wary of any move by the White House to boost the strength of surrounding Arab countries. Sadat lodged his appeal for modern American weapons at a meeting Saturday in Egypt with U.S. Defense Secretary Harold Brown.

With Iran's sudden breakaway from the Western camp, Egypt is offering itself as a potential guardian of U.S. interests in the Middle East.

The survey team will include military officers and technicians.

"We feel we just had to take a hard look at their defense needs," said one U.S. official, who asked not to be identified

He said the assessment would be given to Brown, who then would consult with President Carter.

U.S. officials said there was no comparable plan to send a survey team to Israel. "Our relationship is so longstanding and so fixed, a special necessary," the official said. Israel depends on the United States for virtually all the weapons it cannot manufacture.

Sadat's armed forces are now equipped largely with Soviet weapons. Except for some spare parts, his pipeline to Moscow has been shut off since 1974, when Sadat turned to Washington for help in recovering the territory Egypt lost to Israel in the Six-Day War of 1967.

Last year, Carter agreed to sell 50 F-5 fighters to Egypt, thereby ending an unofficial U.S. offensive arms embargo. To make sure Congress did not block the move, and an even more controversial decision to sell advanced jets to Saudi Arabia, Carter packaged the weapons with arms shipments for Israel

Faced with a take-it-or-leave-it proposition, Congress narrowly approved all the sales

The F-5 is a short-range fighter designed basically as a defensive weapon. A decision to equip Egypt with more sophisticated weapons could generate even more opposition.

The new round of peace talks opened Wednesday under U.S. auspices with a joint pledge to complete an accord as soon as possible. Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance took charge of the meetings at Camp both of them

City trying to tie up loose ends in overtime dispute with police

The city is still trying to tie up loose ends in the overtime dispute with Big Spring Police which began early this

Several local police lodged the complaint that they had been improperly paid for overtime worked. State law requires that officers be paid time-and-a-half for any work done over 40 hours in a given week. Officers may instead take off during that given week to compensate for the overtime worked. It was found that Big Spring Police had often been forced to take comp time whenever possible, during a different week from the one in which overtime was

"We settled with the great majority of officers, but have yet to make a settlement with four former officers.' said Elliott Mitchell, city attorney. "If we don't settle, there is still the threat of a lawsuit," he added.

Mitchell said that he has been unable to contact three of the former officers, and that negotiations are still pending with the fourth.

"We will attempt to settle to avoid a lawsuit, and to make everyone happy We are trying to do what's fair," said

The potential suit had been instigated by all officers involved before settlement with the city. But until settlement is made with the four former officers, the suit is still a possibility, according to the city at-

Marshals searching for suspect

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Federal marshals were searching today for a person named in a sealed indictment returned Wednesday afternoon by a investigating jury racketeering, prostitution and drug

U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd said the federal investigation will continue, and more indictments would be presented to grand jurors next week.

"Other indictments will be presented to the grand jury next Monday and Tuesday," Boyd said. He declined to reveal the nature of those indictments, but did confirm Wednesday's indictment involved only one

That person's identity and the nature of the indictment will be revealed after an arrest is made, he said. A spokesman for the U.S. marshal's office said the indictment had not been received in that office until late Wednesday and an arrest was not likely until Thursday.

New process to improve Odessa water

ODESSA - The water department of the City of Odessa has undertaken a new treatment process that should improve the taste of city water.

The process is designed to remove some of the salts and hardness which water experts say have reached

City council members recently approved the purchase of carbon dioxide for use in the new treatment. Bob Derrington, utilities director, said that an 'excessive amount' of lime will be put into the water with the gaseous material. Lime is added as a coagulant to take the high amounts of dissolved solids to the bottom of the

Although it will remove more of the solids, he said, the lime will make the water more alkaline.

The water then goes into a tank where it is injected with carbon dioxide. Derrington said the acidity of the gas is expected to stabilize the alkalinity created by the large

Action / reaction: Crosswalk laws

Q. What are the laws regarding the stopping of vehicles at a school crosswalk and what are the penalties for disobeying the laws?

A. The Big Spring Police Department says that anytime a child is in or near enough to a crosswalk to present a danger, all traffic will halt until the entire crosswalk or intersection is completely cleared of children. When the school safety patrol is on duty, their flag signals will be obeyed and anytime one of them signals to stop or steps into the crosswalk, traffic will halt. There is also a law forbidding the passing of another vehicle stopped at a crosswalk. The municipal court is very strict when it comes to protecting children's lives. Violators of the above laws will be cited. Bond for school zone violations is $35. The same strictness and bond is applied to vehicles passing school buses with flashing lights. Bond for speeding in a school zone begins at $35 and goes up.

Friday will make the second time that Mrs. Bradberry and Mrs. Baker have appeared before traffic commissioners to plead their cause. This time, however, they are armed with the knowledge that a city ordinance is not being enforced. The first time, in July, they were unaware an ordinance prohibiting the passage of trucks through city streets

"Around mid-July we got the problem on the agenda for a traffic commissioners meeting," Mrs. Bradberry recalled. "They told us that they were going to take it into consideration to see if a problem did exist. We never heard from them again. 'We decided that this time we were going to be more organized so we began calling different schools and groups to gain some sup-porters. We were considering circulating a petition to get an ordinance to ban trucks from city streets, but discovered through our phone calls that the ordinance already

The ordinance Mrs. Bradberry referred to is Sec. 28-54, Truck Routes. It is dated Aug. 12, 1958 and

'The city manager, as authorized and directed from time to time by the city commission, shall designate routes in the city to be used by through trucks and, when such routes are so designated and marked by appropriate signs, it shall be unlawful for any person to drive any through truck on any street in the city."

Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Bradberry said that they've spoken to several city officials and various agencies and no one seems to know why the ordinance has never been implemented or who is responsible for seeing that

"Harry Nagle says it's the responsibility of the traffic commission, but the traffic commission says it's the city manager's," said Mrs. Bradberry.

talked to Capt. Sherrill Farmer of the police department who had told her that FM 700 was originally designed to be used as a truck by-pass but signs designating it as such were never put up. He verified that Big Spring citizens bear the cost of city street repairs while repairs of FM 700 are the financial responsibility of the state. "Farmer thought that there might have been some question of an illegality in the ordinance and that may have been why it was never enforced, but Elliott Mitchell, the city attorney, looked it over and said that there were no illegalities.

went to a lot of trouble to get the ordinance on the books and then it was just forgotten. Now no one admits to being responsible for its enforcement."

Mrs. Bradberry said that her concern is not limited to just Birdwell Lane.

"We're not trying to get the trucks off of just Birdwell Lane; we want to get them off of every city street. Right now, there are only two streets, Washington and Coronado, that are off limits to trucks.

"There are four schools within this one square mile area where I live — Washington, St. Mary's, Howard College and the high school. All get a good share of trucks passing through school zones. I imagine that College Heights and Goliad Junior High have the worst 'Big Spring is surrounded on all four sides by highway and there's just no reason for the trucks to have to go through the city.

"It's not that we're against the trucking industry," said Mrs. Baker, the daughter of a truck driver, "But we feel that trucks have their place

CONCERNED FOR THE KIDS — As long as Big Spring streets are open to truck traffic, Linda Baker, left, and Terry Bradberry, right, say children face an unnecessary safety hazard even in protected school zones. The two homemakers became involved in the issue of establishing a truck route around instead of through Big Spring as mothers of school-age and preschool-age children. They are attempting to discover who is responsible for putting into effect a 1958 city ordinance designed to establish a truck route in Big Spring. The ordinance has never been implemented, say the two, who invite supporters to join them in their second appearance before the traffic commission Friday and that place is not the school zone or other city streets.'

She expressed particular concern for trucks carrying flammable materials, such 'Last summer, a Midland woman died because of a gas truck that ran into the back of her," Mrs. Bradberry recalled. "She burned to death in her car. That could happen here.

And it doesn't matter whether the tanker is full or empty because there's even more of a danger of an empty tank exploding One morning I counted 34

along with insuring safer conditions for children and other citizens, banning trucks from city streets also increases property value. 'A real estate broker told me that if we could get the trucks off of Birdwell Lane, the value of my house would 'The trucks aren't only dangerous, they're noisy. Between 6:30 and 7 o'clock in the morning, Birdwell Lane sounds like an interstate.

Mrs. Baker, who has a child attending Washington School, said that some of the trucks she's seen in the school zone during the time children are arriving at school have included trucks hauling gasoline, cattle and

'How fast can a full truck stop?" she quizzed.

Mrs. Bradberry described one incident that she had wheeler hauling gas drove through the alley behind me to park in the next lot. He left the motor running while he went to have coffee and chat several houses down. I watched school kids cross within two inches in front of this running truck.

"I called the traffic division of the police department to report it and I was told that there was no law against it. So I called the company that owned the truck and they said they'd take care of it.

"I used to work as a secretary for American Petro Fina and I know that trucking companies don't want their trucks in residential areas because they can't afford to pay the price of a child's life.

"After the driver returned to the truck, he jumped the curb leaving the lot," she continued. "I wonder how many people would move to Big Spring if they knew that 18-wheelers could anywhere they wanted to in

She pointed out that both Midland and Odessa have truck routes to steer truck traffic away from school zones and residential areas.

"UTPB sits on the outskirts of Odessa. Even out there, trucks aren't allowed in that area because of the school.

Mrs. Bradberry and Mrs. Baker urged that anyone who is involved with children - parents, PTA's, child study groups — support them with their presence at the Friday meeting at the city commissioners court-

"It looks like someone is going to have to get hurt before anyone admits that there's a problem. We don't want it to get that far," said Mrs. Bradberry.

"It's a shame," she continued. "My daughter will be attending Washington School. We live within a block of the school, yet unless something's done, found particularly upsetting, there's not way I'm going to One morning, an 18-let her walk!"

By JAMES WERRELL

City officials today defended their firing of Barry Stephens, ex-pro at the Figure Seven Tennis Center. denied several allegations made Stephens in a story that appeared in Wednesday's Herald.

Stephens was given notice Jan. 31. after which, he alleged, he was ordered to vacate the premises within three days. Under this deadline, said Stephens, he was forced to liquidate over $15,000 worth of merchandise an inordinately short period of time.

"First, Barry was ordered to vacate the premises within three days, as was stated," said Paul Feazelle, assistant city manager, this morning. "In fact, Barry was told that he was welcome to utilize the pro shop during regular business hours to allow the sale of his inventory. This offer was to be good until a replacement was hired and was on the job.'

As things turned out, said Feazelle, this would have given Stephens a month to sell his merchandise. 'In addition, Barry was informed that the city would attempt to hire replacement who would be interested in purchasing part or all of the inventory and equipment," added Feazelle. The city also sticks by its charges that Stephens "was personally directed to remedy several situations on numerous occasions, failed to do so. "Because only one written memo was received, does not mean he had not been told repeatedly to carry out certain orders. It would be unrealistic to expect every supervisor to put each and writing," said Feazelle. According to the assistant city manager, trash cans around the courts and in the pro shop could "usually be found overflowing," and the center's doors were sometimes closed and locked "even at times when players were present on the courts.' 'Monthly reports, which control at 1:07 p.m.

are required of most City departments were not submitted for November or December, even after reminders and requests to do so. Reports for previous months usually had to be specifically requested after deadlines were past," claimed Feazelle

The city also reiterated charges that restrooms in the community center were not kept clean; that the water supply to outdoor restrooms was not turned off as instructed during the cold spell in January; and that the lock on the community center door was often found unbolted.

In reference to the city's share of beer sales at the center. Feazelle claimed that funds were turned in only once. Records available in the city's finance department show receipts totaling $6.90

Mapping task at standstill

The Tax Appraisal Board heard a progress report by County Tax Appraiser Earl Dean Wednesday on new building permits and the ownership mapping project. The board met in the County Court Room at 3 p.m.

Twenty-one new business permits were issued since the board's last meeting on Jan. 10.

Dean reported that the mapping project is at a standstill due to a problem in obtaining mapping materials and a distortion problem in the aerial photographs. hotographs were returned the photographer for correction.

In other action, the monthly financial report was approved by the board members.

A fire on south 87 around 12:30 p.m. was fought by Forsan and Sand Springs Volunteer Departments Wednesday. It was under 1978 for the sale of beer. That was the only time we received funds for such sales." he said.

Records show that revenue from the center dropped from $5,300 in fiscal year 1976 to $3,600 in 1978. Monthly effect total 11, compared to 26 in February of 1978.

Stephens had also argued that although he was told of numerous complaints against him, he was never told specifically who lodged the complaints or the exact nature of the complaints.

"Many people are outspoken in their complaints about operations at the tennis center, and may choose to substantiate the facts. But the city does not publish lists of names of people who call in complaints about any area of city government," said Feazelle 'The actions taken are supported by the facts, and

Howard County strike clocked

Florida Gas Exploration Co., Midland, has completed its No. 1-32 Stella Petty as a Strawn oil discovery in Howard County, four miles southwest of Big Spring.

The new field opener northeast of Coahoma completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 270 barrels of 41-gravity oil through a 17-64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 1,041-1.

The pay section, opposite perforations from 9.336 to 9.353 feet and 9.360 to 9.370 feet, was treated with 500 gallons of acid. Wellsite is 2,080 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of Section 32, Block 33, T-1-S, T&P Survey. It is seven-eighths miles southeast of the shallow Moore T&P Survey.

Does anyone know what is going on?

We could use a little less bombast and a little more honesty in reporting the problems creating by the cutoff of

After digesting all the scary headlines that have come out of Washington following the banishment of the Shah, it makes one wonder if we can believe anything our spokesmen for the bureaucracies tell us anymore.

We concede that oil imports from that Middle East nation have been cu' off and that any agreement about the resumption of shipments from Iran looks anything but rosy, especially in view of the indecent manner in which Americans are being treated over there.

NO ONE IN THIS country can agree on what impact the oil cutoff is going to have on this country. Consequently we're getting nothing but scare headlines out of the nation's capital.

Soon after the oil shipments were terminated, we were told by one source that 900,000 barrels a day had come from Iran. Later, Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger estimated the shipment was 500,000 barrels a day. One capital report claimed America relied on Iran for five percent of its regular oil needs. Later, some one of authority cut that figure in half.

Soon after the curtailment of shipments, we were told gasoline pirces would rise as much as six or eight cents a gallon within a short period of time. Then that voice of doom and damnation. Sen. Henry Jackson, told Americans to get ready for $1 a gallon gasoline prices.

It's difficult to see what Sunday closings of service stations would but a spokesman for the Energy Department said we could expect that. Another predicted that stations would begin to keep the same kind of hours as banks.

PRESIDENT JIMMY CARTER proved a calming influence when he said we could solve the Iranian oil loss by lowering thermostats and observing a certain amount of conservation practices, like respecting the 55 MPH speed limit.

What will tomorrow's energy headlines say? The Lord only knows. There must be someone in-Washington who get's his jollies by trying to startle the consumers, however, with gloomy warnings.

One wonders if the Carter Administration is working on a contingency plan which would call for more stringent action in the use of energy. Carter's energy plans to date have promoted nothing but suspicion.

Meanwhile, the wizards in Washington should get their act together. With everyone trying to sing a different song, it's hard to tell what any of them are trying to say

Comedy in ads

Around the rim

Eileen McGuire

The best always comes last. Christmas comes at the end of the year, dessert comes at the end of the meal, and the classified ads give me a lift after digesting the news.

I used to skip reading the classified ads because the "free to good homes" puppies were too tempting, the "house for rent, $300 a month" was too depressing, and the "1973 Datson good heater" too mysterious.

Then one day, I found cause for a small chuckle when I came across an ad placed by a man in search of a wife. On following days, I found even more comedy in the way ads were worded.

I began reading the ads with regularity and an enthusiasm I hadn't experienced since "Fanny Hill." I've discovered, in my addiction, that the classified ads are more than informative - they're downright entertaining.

ONE CHOICE ITEM read "Puppies to give away to good home." At first glance, it looks like an ordinary advertisment for free pups. But closer examination reveals that "good home" is also going to have to be a fairly good sized one to ahndle all those puppies.

Or, how about this one: "For rent:

large four-bedroom, two-bath house. No children."

So who wants to rent kids? And if you haven't got kids, who wants to rent a big four-bedroom house?"

Here's an ad designed to fire you up about an automobile that may or may not have a running motor: "For Sale: 1976 Ford van, beautifully customized, looks great, priced right, great car, priced to sell. One of my favorite is "Must sell or give away." I wonder how much they

OR HOW ABOUT "Small unfurnished apartment. Prefer nice couples." I wonder if any not-so-nice couples applied? I also wonder how many couples are going to fit into that small apartment?

Now, here's some ads I'd like to see but probably never will:

'For rent: three-bedroom house, kids and pets welcome, landlord has training in plumbing and wife is an electrician, always available for repairs.'

'For sale: 1974 Chevy. Breaks down from time to time. Currently in good condition. Reasonable.'

Classified ads may not be your idea of entertainment, but for 15 cents, they're not bad.

Giant ripoff

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON - Koniag Inc. is a native Alaskan development corporation that federal investigators believe has attempted one of the biggest public-lands ripoffs of this century. Evidence gathered by the Justice and Interior Departments indicates that Koniag claimed more than 600,000 acres of valuable government land for "phantom" native villages that exist only on

A federal grand jury indictment of some of the parties involved was quashed by a former Bureau of Indian Affairs official. So we sent our associate Hal Bernton on an investigative foray into Alaska, where he dug up the facts.

KONIAG CLAIMED the land under provisions of the 1971 Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act. The law was designed to give the state's Eskimo, Aleut and Indian population an economic base with which to ease their transition from the isolated village life of their ancestors to the realities of the 20th century. But the driving force behind Koniag Inc. is no simple, semi-literate Eskimo fisherman or Indian trapper He is an articulate, acerbic exnewspaper editor with a talent for lobbying and a weakness for alliterative invective toward anyone who crosses him. His name is Karl Armstrong and he is Koniag's executive vice president When residents of Kodiak banded together to fight Koniag's attempted land grab, Armstrong described the Citizens Action Group in a local newspaper he helped to found as a mysterious mob of malcontents making malicious mischief through misleading information.

He added darkly: "It is not easy to find out just what this weird secret society is - or who it is. Like the Ku Klux Klan, it hides.

Armstrong was stretching poetic license to the point of arrant nonsense. Our associate Hal Bernton had no trouble locating members of the Citizens Action Group, and he found them neither weird nor mysterious. They are local businessmen, ranchers, hunters and fishermen who are concerned and angry about what they see as Koniag's illegal move to gain ownership of valuable timberland worth millions of dollars. The land that Koniag seeks is located on the federally owned island of Afognak.

Seven of the 16 villages for which Koniag Inc. claims federal land under the 1971 act have been challenged as paper phantoms, imaginary entities that are not entitled to grants of federal land. After initially certifying all seven as eligible, the Bureau of Indian Affairs was reversed by higher-ups in the Interior Department on six of the alleged villages.

The one village that was given final certificaton is now being contested in court by Kodiak Island's citizens

Whether a court suit can overcome Koniag's clout in Washington remains to be seen. There seems little doubt that Armstrong has been an effective lobbyist in both the state and federal capitals. Backed by the increasing political strength of the native American corporations that have become Alaska's biggest private landowners, Armstrong is not above playing on the guilt of the white majority over the historically shabby treatment of native americans.

THOSE WHO QUESTION the validity of Koniag's villages are 'trash, human trash, people who are here whom I would rather not have here," in Armstrong's words. "As far as I am concerned," he told our reporter, "the villages are there because they (the natives) said they are there. If that is where they have a sense of place, who am I to argue with Armstrong was once the editor of the Kodiak Daily Mirror. His successor in the editorship, Nell Waage won a national award for her editorial writing. But when the Mirror published some articles critical of some of Armstrong's friends, he denounced Waage as a "racist bigot."

The odd thing about Armstrong's fierce championing of native Alaskan rights is that his credentials as a native — and thus his credibility as the executive officer of the native development corporation - are almost as ephemeral as the villages that Koniag Inc. has claimed land for.

Armstrong's initial application to the Bureau of Indian Affairs for certification as a native was rejected because he could show only that he was only three-sixteenths native Alaskan. Eligibility for "native" status requires at least one-fourth native ancestry. But Armstrong protested, and the BIA gave him legal status as a native.

KREMLIN KUDO: It's always flattering to be denounced by the running dogs of totalitarianism. Over the years, we have basked in the warmth of attacks by dictatorial regimes of every persuasion.

Still, it's not every day that the Soviet Union's most pretigious cultural organ, the Literary Gazette, calls us skunks.

My answer

so much waste in the government that I don't see any reason why I shouldn't cheat a little bit on my income tax this year. Would it really be all that serious? - H.C.

DEAR H. C.: It would not only be wrong according to the laws of our country, but wrong in the eyes of God. If you are a Christian, the Bible tells you to obey the laws of your nation. Tax evasion is against the law. The Bible specifically tells us to pay the taxes we owe. "Give everyone what you owe him: If you owe taxes, pay taxes; if revenue, then revenue; if respect, then respect; if honor, then honor" (Romans 13:7, New International Version).

One reason for this is that government is instituted by God. The Bible even tells us that governmental to Him, and derive their authority from Him. "The authorities that exist have been established by God. Consequently, he who rebels against the authority is rebelling against what God has instituted" (Romans 13:1-2, athorities are ultimately accountable

Your question, however, may reveal a more basic problem in your life which you need to face very honestly. There is a hint of greed or covetousness in your question - you want to keep money for yourself which rightfully belongs elsewhere. Covetousness is a serious matter in the Bible; in fact, one of the Ten Commandments specifically says: 'Thou shalt not covet' (Exodus 20:17). The Bible says, "He that is greedy of gain troubleth his own house" (Proverbs 15:27).

Zbig vs Marshall

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON - Deepening friction between Zbigniew Brzezinski, President Carter's national security adviser, and Marshall Shulman, the State Department's Soviet expert, is shrouding policy toward communist Russia in contradictions that deeply trouble major American allies. "It's making my skin crawl," one administration policymaker told us in describing what he called the Brzezinski-Shulman "hatred." Hatred is surely too strong a word. Nevertheless, the two former intellectual adversaries from Columbia University have been on a descending curve of policy conflict and personal relations ever since Carter entered the White House. The result has been Carter's dizzying on-again, off-again wavering toward Moscow: hard-line, soft-line,

Brzezinski, with total access to the Oval Office, pushes his hard line demanding that the Soviet Union be held to account for its worldwide

SHULMAN, 11 YEARS Brzezinski's senior, at 62 is the oldest aide brought to Washington by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance. He refuses to react to Soviet depredations in Asia, Africa and the Far East, advising Vance that SALT II and bilateral U.S.-Soviet relations are all that matter. A strong president with convictions of his own about handling the Soviets could quickly resolve the conflict and force feuding ministers to comply or duit. Carter's inability to do that has astonished foreign leaders from Western Europe, Japan, communist China and elsewhere.

'Where should I go to find out what America's policy is!" a major European foreign policy leader, here on a recent fact-finding mission, privately asked a State Department official. The reply was totally unsadisfactory

But the U.S. humiliation in Iran, plus undisguised ridicule of America's anability to protect its embassies or its ambassadors, could change Carter. He could be forced over to the Brzezinski way, at the expense of the Shulman way.

Political developments on Capitol Hill are also relentlessly pushing Carter. Republican leaders, appalled at U.S. reverses, are opening a major campaign to compel Carter to explain his policy toward the Soviets. The more he and his top aides explain, the more public the Brzezinski-Shulman split must become. In the current political mood, Brzezinski's relatively hard line would win hands down in Congress.

Carter will find it difficult to continue not to choose between the two conflicting methods of treating a Soviet Union that is clearly on the offensive. The alternative is further decline in U.S. standing abroad.

As Vance's top adviser on dealing with the Russians, Shulman succeeded many illustrious diplomats, including Averell Harriman, Llewelyn Thompson and Charles (Chip) Bohlen. Each was a veteran of personal confrontations with the remlin's leadership. In contrast, Shulman never had held a top policy job; his experience with the Soviet leadership was on an academic level.

BRZEZINSKI AND SHULMAN, as contradictory in temperament as in attitudes toward Moscow, had a long history of disputation over the U.S. and Russia that friends of both insist was conducted with professorial courtesy at Columbia and, before that, at Harvard, Shulman was the expert on internal Soviet affairs: Brzezinski the expert on the Soviet world role, its regional political goals and the postwar expansion of its military capabilities.

Same uncertainities faced

Dear Dr. Ruble: When is the best time for a woman to conceive? Do you count the days as soon as the period starts or after it is over? How many days do you count? My periods have been brief (3 or 4 days) since I stopped

I assume that since you went off the Pill, you are trying to conceive.

Women like yourself, who are trying to become pregnant, face the same uncertainties as women who are trying NOT to get pregnant. Your job is far more difficult because you must pinpoint a specific moment in your monthly cycle - the one at which ovulation happens — when an overy produces an egg for fertilization. It is not easy and the X's on your calendar are of only limited value.

Why? Because the timing of ovulation is more related to the NEXT menstruation than to the last one. True, ovulation does generally occur 14 days from the first day of mensttuation, but there's a catch. It can vary from 12 to 16 days or more after the first day of menstruation. Some women may, after long experience be able to determine their several "safe" days this way. For others the calendar

The key for you, then, is in pinpointing ovulation as it occurs on a month-to-month basis. The continual monitoring of basal temperature is one way to do this. The temperature rises noticeably as ovulation occurs. To help in this some drug companies have developed various techniques and do-it-yourself kits. Rather than try to discuss them in this brief space I would rather refer you to your gynecologist who can suggest one for you. In answer to your specific question, women who do use the calendar method to predict the next ovulation time begin counting from day one of menstruation.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Is there a medicine to reduce excess saliva? I'm a clerk and it is embarrassing when speaking to customers. - Mrs. T.W. There are special pills for this. One I'm thinking of is a combination drying agent, decongestant and antihistamine. There may be side effects, including difficulty in urination. Other medicines are purely drying agents. Ask you doctor about these. Dear Dr. Ruble: Should a hysterectomy cause hot flashes?

The Coahoma Independent School District has established a new program for academic children, the AWAKE Program. It is designed to accommodate the needs of the child of superior ability who needs a somewhat differentiated learning environment beyond the services provided by the regular curriculum. AWAKE seeks to challenge the academically gifted student with a program whose content, materials, and activities will provide a climate that allows this student to develop his abilities to the limits of his potential. Because these students acquire basic skills in much less time than average, more of their school time needs to be spent in the higher skills of application of knowledge. AWAKE also seeks to help each student develop a more adequate self-concept and to become more independent and effective learners.

In order to accommodate needs, interests, and learning styles, AWAKE relies heavily upon real-life teaching situations and requires expertise in many areas of study. Two teachers are provided for grades K-8. and these two saw from the beginning that there was no way they alone could provide the kind of program that these students required and deserved. So we set out to find people, organizations, and learning situations to fit the needs of our students. It has been such a rewarding experience to us personally and to the students to find in our area so many people who care enough about the needs of children to share their knowledge and facilities with us and with our students One of our projects is a school community magazine, WIDE AWAKE. The Publications Department of Howard College under the direction of faculty advisor John Marder and Editor-in-Chief Jim Brown has provided invaluable assistance and support. They have undertaken to provide all the assistance needed in actually getting the magazine ready for publication. Their equipment is modern, their staff is knowledgeable, and their willingness to help students learn about journalistic writing, photography, and the actual lay-out and design of the magazine has made this project a very rewarding effort the teachers and students of AWAKE.

Another person who has been so helpful in sharing knowledge and materials is Paul Ausmus of the HC Science Department. He has provided direction and materials for a study of the heart and circulatory system that will make this study come alive in a way that it could not have done without him. Also Mrs. Ramona Harris of the Vocational Nursing Department has agreed to provide instruction and materials for our students as they learn to read blood pressure and techniques that could mean the difference between life and death in a cardiac emergency

Mrs. Mary Crawford of Howard College Library is providing instruction and sharing the facilities of the library as our students enter independent study and research. She does such a very fine job of adjusting the material to the level of the learner and she and the other librarians are supportive and patient as these students learn to search for themselves among a bewildering array of resources for those that will provide them with what they need for their many and diverse interest studies.

The Big Spring Herald itself has been most helpful and open to us in allowing tours of their facilities and in the willingness of their people to answer the questions of each child. Mari Carpenter came out to us before she left to help our students with interviewing skills and human interest stories, and most recently we found Carla Walker. Carla came to help with interviewing and journalistic writing. and then came back again to help with photography and maybe because she liked us almost as much as we liked her. She shared so well with the students some of her enthusiasm for writing and for relating to the person of the interview. She also proved to be a storehouse of names of people who have knowledge in many fields that they may be willing to share. Bob Rogers was very encouraging and helpful in planning the actual printing of Wide Awake on the Herald presses. Another debt of gratitude is owed the business leaders and citizens of the area who have granted interviews to our budding reporters and posed patiently for photographs. Communication skills have been built in a way that is more effective than any other as these people have shared so willingly with our students. Bill Read of Coahoma State Bank granted an interview and provided a tour of the bank and also agreed to keep a time capsule of the student's design within the safety of his vault. Others have taken time from their work to talk to students and then gone on to offer any other assistance they might be able to provide for future studies.

AWAKE has so much going for it we have been so blessed by the caring. sharing attitude of our own classroom teachers who must provide planning and support; of the administrators who must believe in and implement and actual carrying out of the program; and of our school board and tax payers who cared enough to provide the funding for AWAKE. All have together provided the support and freedom that make the effort

U.S. oil companies cutting production

NEW YORK (AP) -Citing the cutoff of Iranian oil exports, several U.S. oil companies have announced cutbacks in production to conserve available crude oil. a move that could further reduce the flow of gasoline to neighborhood pumps

Shell Oil Co. said Wednesday the cutback will involve all refined products. Shell announced a 5 percent to 8 percent cutback in the amount of crude going into its refineries, beginning March 1

Atlantic Richfield Co. said it would soon have to limit sales of some petroleum products.

"It is more responsible to allocate now than wait for the summer driving season Spreading the limited supply around is the proper way to deal with a shortage," ARCO Vice Chairman W.F. Kieschnick said Wednesday. He gave no details on his company's allocation plans. The Phillips Petroleum

Co which already has reduced gasoline deliveries to its dealers by 15 percent, announced that it would double that reduction to 30 percent, according to today's editions of the New York Times.

Texaco and Continental Oil Co. are among other companies already allocating gasoline. In addition, Exxon, Gulf and other large suppliers of crude oil also have cut sales to refineries in order to conserve the product.

Meanwhile, Libya raised Its oil prices by 5 per cent 'across the board" Wedhesday, a spokesman for Occidental Petroleum Corp.

across the board and that averages out to about 5 percent. Occidental is one of Libya's biggest customers of crude oil. Two other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, Abu Dhabi and Qatar, last week raised some of their prices by 7 percent.

There has been virtually no rise in consumer prices as a result of the special increases by OPEC members because not much oil is involved. But should OPEC decide the market will bear higher prices, it could speed up its graduated 14.5 percent general price rise scheduled for this year.

Saudi Arabia, OPEC's biggest producer, has stepped up its production by about 1 million barrels a day and has begun charging higher prices for the extra

Meanwhile, the Kuwait magazine Al Hadaf reported today that several Persian Gulf oil states are trying to persuade Saudi Arabia to agree to another increase in the price of oil but the Saudis are resisting.

It said oil ministers of the smaller states are meeting with Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, Saudi Arabia's oil minister, to get him to agree to an increase to prevent the international oil companies and other middlemen from making huge profits as a result of the shortage in world oil supplies caused by curtailment of Iranian

But oil sources quoted by Al Hadaf said Saudi Arabia is opposed to another increase so soon after the one announced by OPEC in

In Vienna, Austria, OPEC announced Wednesday it would meet March 26 to supply shortages discuss caused by Iran's political turmoil. Also to be discussed are the higher prices on the spot market, which OPEC blamed on "speculative

While the spot market, where oil not sold under contract changes hands, is small, many oil companies use it to provide flexibility, for example. Supplies of some products such as jet fuel are tight because some companies rely on the spot market to meet demand

Biography of Ball to be printed

A biographical sketch of Brigadier Robert S. Ball, commander of the Big Spring Salvation Army post, will appear in the 1978-79 edition of Personalities of the South, an annual publication authorized by the American Biographical Institute of Raleigh, N.C.

The sketch all came about after editors of the publication spotted an article written by reporter Don Woods about Ball for the Herald's Leisure Magazine.

Mr. and Mrs. Ball are retiring in June as commanders of the Salvation Army post here after long service to the community. They plan to make their home in Orlando, Fla.

In 1941, Ball organized the USO Club in Raleigh and served as it's first director.

'Pet Lady's' arrest blessing in disguise

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) - Delores Dean went two days without meals so her six dogs and four cats could share her spaghetti — her only food. She had no electricity, and the gas company threatened to cut service.

On cold evenings, she said she visited with a neighbor 'so I wouldn't have to sit in the dark.

All that changed in one week, with her arrest, which a caseworker calls "a blessing in disguise.

Vietnam a pawn in struggle for communism leadership

TOKYO (AP) — The 23-year-old struggle between China and the Soviet Union for leadership of international communism hangs like a red cloud over the battlefields of northern

Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos have become pawns in the bitter game of Sino-Soviet chess that began in 1956, when Nikita Khrushchev's denunciation of Joseph Stalin split world

Until then, the Soviet Communist Party's domination of the international movement was unchallenged. But Khrushchev's savage assault on Stalin and all he stood for - repression at home, isolationism, the cold war - sent tremors through the Communist camp, particularly in Eastern

The Chinese were quick to see the implications. Having torn down the myth of Stalin's - and the Soviet party's - infallbility, Khruschev could no longer claim leadership for Moscow of the world's Communist parties.

Mao Tse-tung, the Chinese party chairman, had reason enough to detest Stalin. For three decades, the Georgian deceived, misled and sacrificed the young Chinese party to the Soviet Union's national interests. But neither Mao nor his Chinese comrades, after only seven scant years in power, could have survived had they extended de-Stalinization's loosening of controls to China's millions.

liberalism the generated by Khrushchev began to make a little headway in the European Communist countries, Peking's leaders became the Stalinists of the world

The Sino-Soviet differences simmered beneath the surface for two years, bursting into the open in 1958 when Khrushchev contemptuously dismissed China's first Great Leap Forward to industrialize as 'goulash communism.'' Two years later he withdrew Soviet development projects and technicians from economically crippled China, and the break was complete. The Chinese dredged up an old communist word to describe Khrushchev and his followers - "revisionists who espoused trine capitalism.

From then on, Mao saw revisionists under every bed, not only abroad but at home. When Defense Minister Peng Tehhuai challenged Mao's Great Leap program, he was branded a revisionist and dismissed from all government and party offices.

This obsession with Soviet revisionism turned Mao period of isolationism and regimentation which party's realists - Liu Shaochi, Premier Chou Enlai and Deputy Premier Teng Hsiao-peng — resisted.

They succeeded in putting Mao on the shelf for awhile He came back with the purge called the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution. Victorious, he, his wife Chiang Ching and their extremist followers pinned the revisionist label on thousands of their enemies, among them Liu and Teng.

Meanwhile, relations with Moscow sank to their lowest point. The U.S. wars against communism in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia did nothing to close the breach. Though China and Russia undertook massive programs of military aid and advice to the Vietnamese Communists, they failed to form a united front against the United States.

Under wily old Ho Chiminh, the Communists in Hanoi played off the Russians and the Chinese against each other, walking carefully between the opposing camps. Ho's successors, after their victory in 1975, allied themselves with Moscow, thus aborting betrayers of Marxist doc- prospects for peace and unity in Indochina

Inevitably, the three Indochinese states became bones for Moscow and Peking to growl over. When a Vietnamese invasion of Cambodia drove China's clients, Premier Pol Pot and his associates, out of Phnom Penh, the fat was in the fire.

Much has changed in China since the start of the Sino-Soviet schism more than two decades ago.

The United States, then a common enemy to both, is closer to Peking and is accused by the Soviets of giving approval to the Chinese thrust into Vietnam.

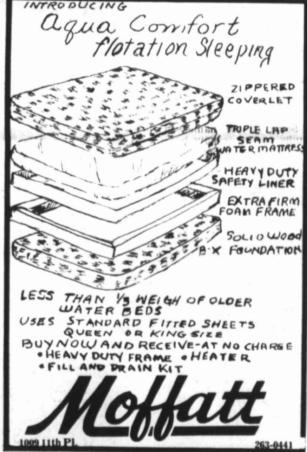

Teng is back in power along with other surviving victims of Maoist purges. The myth of Mao's infallibility is being dismantled, like Stalin's was. The open door is replacing isolationism. Capitalism, democracy and freedom are no longer dirty words.

"Hegemony" Chinese term for Soviet expansionism - still is. But Peking insists it doesn't apply to its actions in

Connally begins campaign for president in home state

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Former Texas Gov. John Connally gave his Texas campaign for the Republican presidential nomination a homestate shove Wednesday, chiding Americans for losing "our respect for ourselves.

'Our prestige is ebbing away because in some ways we have no respect for ourselves," he told a crowd of 2,500 in Fort Worth Wednesday night. He denounced what he called an "aura of defeatism, and aura of negativism and an aura of retrenchment," but said he believes "the horizon of America is brighter than it's been any time in history

Connally's Fort Worth stop was the fourth of the day and he ended the evening listening to singer Ray Price croon western tunes. His Thursday schedule includes a morning stop in Wichita Falls, then appearances in Amarillo and Lubbock.

The former Democrat kicked off the 7day swing through 22 Texas cities with a breakfast in Austin Wednesday morning where he told supporters he wants to restore pride in America

"It is time for us to regain pride in our country and in our governmental system, the former U.S. treasury secretary said. He criticized President Carter for severing diplomatic relations with Taiwan in favor of China, saying the move jeopardized U.S. military and political strength in the eyes of foreign leaders. should have normalization of relations with China, but we must not cut off our friends," he said in an interview in Waco. "We must show the world that we have strength, we will maintain our strength and use our strength.' Connally told a Fort Worth news conference he does not think he will run against President Carter "I have said since 1977 that I think he is a one-term president," he said during the Austin stop.

Connally also said he does not favor 100 percent parity for farmers and warned American Agriculture Movement members not to "overplay their hand." He advocated international storage agreements and new markets through

Japan and the European common market to give farmers the break they need. He said he expects former California Gov. Ronald Reagan to win the New Hampshire primary, but Connally said he "certainly must win a Texas primary, if

He said he does not anticipate competition from fellow Republican Gov. Bill Clements, but added that Clements has not asked his advice, "and I have not given

Connally's entourage crept north through Waco and Hillsboro, and made an unscheduled stop in West, where he toured the Nemecek Meat Plant. He said his father, a butcher, first told him of the plant many years ago

Senior Citizens quilt and play

By MICKIE DICKSON The ladies of the Howard County Council on Aging are still piecing and quilting quilts as they have been for the better part of the 10 years the organization has existed.

Hollis L. Shirley built the quilting frame and set of four stands soon after they moved into the Adult Education Building at Howard College in Feb., 1974, that they still use. Shirley also built three large bulletin boards for the center.

J.M. Lee, 1600 State St. donated a Singer sewing machine that the ladies use in their quilting projects.

The first quilt made by the ladies, the Star of Bethlehem, was raffled off for $1 a chance, and brought them $75. With this money they bought forks and spoons to be used at their monthly luncheon.

Their quilting force is small, usually four or five ladies meet each Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. regularly. They average about three quilts a year which they sell at the Senior Citizens annual Talent Fair at Highland Shopping Center, if they're not sold before that time. The ladies have three finished quilts on hand now at the Senior Citizens Center at the First Presbyterian Church at 7th and Runnels. One king sized one and two regular bed size. These are lined with 100 percent polyester quilt bats, and pieced of double knit and lined with double knit, and quilted with polyester thread.

The king size quilt is a four patch stripped together with two inch strips of peach colored double knit broken with a two inch square green

One of the most novel quilts the ladies have worked on was donated by Mrs. Vera Walker. It had good sized donkeys on it. After it was quilted, the ladies sold chances on it and realized $120 out of it.

Some of the names of quilts worked on have been dog bone, odd fellow, star of Bethlehem, nine patch and wedding ring. Many of the quilts did not have names for they pieced them of the material they had donated of various sizes and shapes which couldn't be cut to specific patterns.

sometimes the quiiters quilt tops which belong to specific individuals. Monday they started quilting a top named Dresden Plate for Mrs. Jean Hampton.

The Senior Citizens Center has been in operation since its organization in February 1969. The Howard County Council on Aging Board first met March 14, 1969, at the County Agents office. It received its charter May 23, Bessie Love, the councils first chairman recalls that the first two monthly luncheons were first held in the Boy's Club on Third St., then in the original barn at the County Fair Grounds. February, 1974, the council moved into quarters at Howard College in the Adult Education Building. Here they were able to have games each afternoon, quilting, adult education classes and the monthly covered dish luncheon.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Not a single voice and only one vote was raised in protest Wednesday to a bill that could increase state spending at church and other private colleges by nearly $50 million in 1980-81.

The Senate Education Committee approved the proposal, 8-1, with only committee chairman Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, opposing it. The bill is sponsored by Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, who has several private schools in his 13-county district, including Baylor, Howard Payne, Hardin-Simmons, McMurry and Abilene Christian.

President Norman Hackerman of Rice University said the original concept was to provide tuition grants at private colleges that were approximately one-half the average appropriation for students at state-financed

In 1971, when the first tuition grant was made, the average state appropriation was $1,200, so the private grants were limited to $600. Hackerman said "largely because of inflation," the average state appropriation has

1977 measure linked to higher farm income

WASHINGTON, D.C. -The president of the National Cotton Council today testified that the 1977 farm act, properly administered, will lead to higher farm income than other approaches

Testifying before the House Agriculture Committee. Council President Hoke Leggett 'said the industrywide organization's delegates recently reaffirmed their support of the law and recognized that it embodies the elements desired in a long-range government cotton program.

"Under the type of government cotton program we have had since 1970, the loan does not set the market price." The Hobgood, N.C., grower showed the committee a chart demonstrating that the market price has stayed well above the loan during the last eight seasons.

"It did so even during periods like last season when the cotton supply was temporarily excessive," he said, "and with a loan level almost two-and-a-half times higher than it was eight years ago.

Leggett said this was in keeping with most farmers' belief that their income should come from the marketplace rather than from the government.

By contrast, the Council president said that from 1938 through 1963 - when cotton price support loans by law were at a percentage of parity which farmers considered profitable - market prices hovered at the loan level. He said this brought on strict acreage allotments in an attempt to keep growers from responding to those levels with too much production.

With U.S. price supports setting a floor for cotton prices around the world, foreign growers nearly their cotton production. In addition, Leggett said man-made fiber producers increased their production almost as much since cotton prices were not competitive.

"The results depressed markets for U.S. cotton and a build-up of surplus," the Council president stated. "The only way balance could be restored was through drastic government action — paying producers to cut production and installing export sub-

Leggett said government programs of the 1970's have 'clearly demonstrated' that a loan below the market price but related to it provides price opportunities seldom realized in the preceding 40 years.

The Council president firmly opposed the establishment of a reserve program for excess cotton stocks, pointing out that the law provides tools for the Secretary of Agriculture to adjust cotton supplies through set-aside and diversion programs. He urged the committee to make it clear that a reserve program is neither intended nor desired as a feature of the government cotton

Leggett said the Council has already asked the Secretary to consider a 10 percent voluntary paid diversion program for 1979 upland cotton based on 1979 percent of the average state appropriation, whatever it might be. It would also make part-time students eligible foreseeable future," said Hackerman.

Universities of Texas - ICUT - Hackerman was the only witness on the proposal. Representatives of 13 other private schools showed up to support the bill, however, including Baylor President Abner McCall.

Low VA rates hamper loan activity in U.S.

WASHINGTON Applications for Veterans or proposed homes and Administration loan $39,931 for existing homes. guarantees of insurance declined substantially during November 1978, dropping from 42,335 in October to 35,110 and considerably below the 42,176 applications of November 1977. Thus, VA activity has declined by 17 percent on both a month-to-month, and year-over-year basis. "The decline in VA activity is largely attributable to the administered rate of FHA and VA mortgages holding them at 9.5 percent while the market rate on conventional loans hovers near, or above, 10.5 percent," said Dr. Thomas R. Harter, chief economist of the Mortgage Bankers

Association of America. During November 1978. mortgage companies accounted for about 75 percent of the total VA activity in section 1810 home mortgage loans. The average loan

_ amount was $46,442 on new Excluding alteration and repair loans, 25 percent of the VA loans issued in November 1978 represented loan amounts of less than $30,000, while 53.4 percent were for loans of less than $40,000. Therefore, ". hold down the rate on VA loans, and thereby cause a reduction in VA activity, has the effect of excluding the small borrower from the mortgage market and depriving that borrower the right to home ownership,' Harter said. "Future activity in VA, and FHA, mortgage loans is likely to continue to decline as long as the administered. rate remains at 9.5 percent, while the rate on conventional loans exceeds 10.5 percent, and the secondary. mortgage market demands a yield in excess of 10.7 percent," said Dr. Harter.

Jon Mansbury scored 21 to top all TCU scorers, and senior Steve Scales, playing his final home game, added 19 points. Larry Frevert had a career-high 17 points and freshman guard Ed Wineinger had 14.

BA Roundup

How bad are the Kansas City Kings without rookie sensation Phil Ford?

"The first two minutes of the fourth quarter he was on the bench and we didn't get a shot. That's how bad we are without Phil Ford," Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said Wednesday night.

Luckily, Ford played 44 minutes in the Kings' 133-117 rout of the Milwaukee Bucks and, when he wasn't scoring 26 points, handed out 22 assists, matching the club record set by Oscar Robertson in 1961 and again in 1966 when the Kings were the Cincinnati Royals.

With Ford responsible for 70 of Kansas City's points, the Kings posted their 13th consecutive homecourt victory, the longest streak in the 31-year history of the franchise.

Nets 123, Suns 112 Bernard King and John Williamson scored 26 points apiece and New Jersey hit its first nine shots of the fourth quarter. Playmaker Eddie Jordan added 18 points, 12 assists and five steals for the Nets. Paul Westphal led the Suns with 25 points and Alvan Adams scored 24.

Pistons 106, 76ers99

M.L. Carr hit two baskets to spark a 15-8 overtime barrage that provided Detroit with its fourth straight victory. A tip-in by Steve Mix with one second left in regulation time forced the extra period.

In the overtime, after Carr and Philadelphia's Maurice Cheeks exchanged baskets, the Pistons ran off four straight baskets by Bob Lanier, Carr, Leon Douglas and John Long to put the game out of reach. The Pistons finished with six men in double figures, topped by Long's 23 points and Carr's 20.

SuperSonics 96, Jazz 94 Gus Williams scored 20 points to lead Seattle over crippled New Orleans, which played without leading scorer Pete Maravich and Spencer Haywood. Williams scored 14 points in the third period when Seattle took control. New Orleans was led by Jim McElroy's 37 points and 29 from Aaron James.

Celtics 101, Warriors 97

Player-coach Dave Cowens sent Boston ahead on a 20-foot jump shot with 27 seconds remaining and finished with 20 points. The Celtics scored the last eight points after trailing 97-93 with 2:29 left. Cowens' jumper broke a 97-97 tie and Bob McAdoo made two free throws for Boston's final points. Cowens, who benched himself and made McAdoo the starting center last week, played 36 minutes. He entered the game late in the first period after McAdoo drew his third personal Hawks 106, Trail Blazers 83 Wayne Rollins blocked a club record 12 shots and Terry Furlow led a balanced attack with 19 points. The Blazers played in the Hawks' practice uniforms because of a baggage mixup. Portland's Maurice Lucas led all scorers with 29 points.

Spurrier named assistant

ATLANTA (AP) - Steve Spurrier, who won the Heisman Trophy as Florida's quarterback in 1966, has been hired to teach the tricks of his trade to Georgia Tech's quarterbacks.

'We're going to become more of a pro-type offensive team." Coach Pepper Rodgers said. "We need to develop that through people like Spurrier who have been in the pro game.

Spurrier, 33, played for the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League from 1967 to 1975, mostly as a backup. He also played briefly for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and the Denver Broncos.

Campbell receives Scovell Award

DALLAS (AP) -Earl Campbell, the rookie all-Pro running back of the Houston Oilers of the National Football League, was presented the prestigious Field Scovell Award Wednesday night by the Dallas All Sports Association.

Campbell, the Heisman Trophy winner from the University of Texas, was given the award by Texas Athletic Director Darrell Royal, a former Field Scovell winner himself 'No award I ever received meant more to me and I'm proud to see it go to Earl, the greatest player I've ever seen," said Royal before a sellout crowd of 1,000 at the annual ASA banquet. Campbell said of the heavy trophy "I can't hold it...maybe I haven't been eating right. This is one award that is going to my house. Earlier, Houston Coach Bum Phillips was presented the Professional Coach of the Year Award by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Phillips immediately gave the award to Campbell, saying "I believe in paying my debts." Phillips added "I hope (Dallas) Coach Tom Landry wins this award next year and I get to go to the Super

Coahoma--promoting the good way of life

DIVIDING LINE — North and South Coahoma are divided by Missouri Pacific Railway tracks, which means several trains roar through Coahoma each day.

Here a vehicle pauses near the tracks as the driver looks both ways before crossing the tracks. This scene is looking north on Coahoma's principal artery.

COMMODITY THAT HELPS KEEP COAHOMA ON THE MOVE — Cottin in abundance is grown in the Coahoma area. Many Coahoma residents identify themselves proudly as dirt farmers. Cotton, combined with oil and cattle, has brought prosperity to the people. Here, baled cotton in the yard of one of the gins waits to be picked up for shipment to market. To the left, more of the raw products waits to be ginned.

SOONER OR LATER ALL OF COAHOMA MEETS HERE — Pictured is the Coahoma post office, which everyone in the area has occasion to visit from time to time. The facility is located immediately south of the MP tracks on Main Street.

Shower honors Brock addition

Mrs. Rondell Brock and her new son, Jason Rondell, were the honorees at a baby shower held Feb. 15 in the fellowship hall of the East Fourth Baptist Church.

The table was draped with yellow cloth adorned with matching flowers. An inking glass of the baby announcement accented the table as centerpiece.

Hotesses for the event included Joan Fletcher.

Latrice Davis, Joy Hester, Mary Cane, Patsy Anderson and Helen Worthan.

Other hostesses were Jan. Steward, Becky Mauldin, Sherry Womack, Paula Hillger, Billy Sanderson and Gayle Worthan.

They presented Mrs. Brock with a corsage of baby rattles and socks. Hostess gift was a converta swing. Jason was born to Rondell and Sherry Brock Feb. 3.

Optimists say board

Meeting of the North Texas District of Optimist International came to a close Sunday. Hosts for the event were the Hi-Noon Optimist Club and the Breakfast Optimist Club.

Hi-Noon President James Cook and President Bruce Griffith of the Breakfast Optimists, with the help of all members and wives, made this board meeting a great success.

Representatives from all 15 zones of the district were in attendance, with approximately 48 representatives out of the possible 95 clubs turning out for the meeting.

Optimists from Seminole, where the charter was presented last Monday, represented the newest club in the district while the contingent from Marshall traveled the farthest. The two-fold purpose of the meeting is a success The Second Quarter Board conference was evaluating past performance and planning next quarter's programs Approximately 90 to 100 Optimists and wives were in attendance at the welcome and get-acquainted party in the Holiday Inn Patio Room Friday, while approximately 120 men attended the sessions in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Both Cook and Griffith stated "There's no way this could have been done without the splendid cooperation of all involved. It would be virtually impossibly to remember and list them all, so we thank them collectively!"

The next joint venture of the Hi-Noon and Breakfast Optimist clubs will be the annual Greater West Texas Junior High Track Meet. The meet, which will include both boys and girls, will be held

He's Not a Good Joe

DEAR ABBY: Joe and I have been married before. We have a wonderful marriage and I love him dearly. Joe has five grown children and six grandchildren. We entertain them often. I go out of my way to make them feel welcome and loved, and Joe has often expressed his appreciation for the way I treat them.

I have two grown, unmarried children. We have a great relationship. They are sensible and well-mannered

However, whenever my children visit us, which isn't often because they live out of town, Joe becomes unfriendly and sulky. He finds fault with them constantly. He usually retires to his bedroom early without even a goodnight. You could describe his behavior as rude. My children must sense his unfriendliness because they seldom come to see us now.

I've told Joe how unhappy I am with his behavior, but he insists he is not rude or unfriendly. Meanwhile, the situation remains unchanged. Should I change my attitude toward HIS children in an effort to show him how unfair he's being to mine? JOE'S BEWILDERED WIFE

DEAR WIFE: No. Instead, get Joe to talk out his feelings about your children, and try to find out why he's so rude and unfriendly to them.

Your solution - to fight fire with fire - could cause your wonderful marriage to go up in smoke.

DEAR ABBY: My husband wants me to try group sex, but I just can't see having anybody in bed with us. He says he doesn't see anything wrong with making our lives a little more exciting, and this is one sure way of doing it.

What is your opinion of this? LONE STAR STATE DEAR LONE: Three's a crowd. Especially in bed.

DEAR ABBY: I've never seen a problem like mine in your column. I'm a 33-year-old normal man except that I have absolutely no hair on my chest, arms or legs. And that is where I want hair the most. I have plenty of hair on my head and a thick growth in my pubic area, so I know I can grow hair, but I'm so ashamed of my hairless body I avoid going to the

Tuesday night at the 19th annual Cactus ABWA Boss Night Banquet. Gail Earls, right. an employee of Griffiths, submitted the letter recommending him.

Bruce Griffith is Cactus Chapter Boss of the Year

Members and guests at the 19th annual American Women's Business Association (ABWA) Cactus Chapter Boss Night banquet were in for a double treat as they heard special guest speaker U.S. Congressman Omar Burleson (retired) and witnessed the proclamation of Bruce Griffith as 1979-1980 Boss of the Year, Tuesday night in the Nail Room of the Brass Nail Restaurant.

Ruth Manuel served as, toastmistress.

Boss night is the annual event established for emplovers of ABWA members and to familiarize employers with the educational association.

Prior to the Boss of the Year presentation, Frances Swann, chapter president, lead the invocation and Pledge of Allegiance.

Members, guests and visitors, seated around tables draped with white cloth accented by a strip of red bandana cloth were welcomed and introduced by Nelda Coclazer, recording secretary. Centerpieces of country flowers arranged in baskets and red candles completed the decor in coordination with the "Our Western Heritage" theme.

Mrs. Lahoma Clark, employed in the bookkeeping Hospital presented the vocational talk concerning her job at the hospital.

"We must realize" stated Mrs. Clark, "most of the people we see are not happy to be at the hospital. We must be kind and sympathetic

She explained her bookkeeping procedures and then revealed the many complaints received. Mrs. Clark concluded saying "Without my boss, work would be much more hectic. Following the vocational talk, Margaret Wiles introduced the chapter's present and officers recognized the past bosses of the year attending the event.

Former Congressman Omar Burleson was then introduced by Marshallene Read, program chairman. He presented a speech revealing information on the Washington Scene." Congressman Burleson said there was reason to be encouraged. The entire government is having a sobering effect on program spending. Useless programs are being cut.

"What we need," explained Burleson, "is more common sense in government." He concluded expressing his confidence in new Congressman Charles Stenholm

Mrs. Clark read the winning Boss of the Year letter and Truett Thomas made the presentation to Bruce Griffith.

"Bruce Griffith, County Extension Agent, serves the organization is one of its Chapter. people in Howard County, works with farmers, businessmen and 4-H kids ...This was my first job outside the home. I could not have lasted had it not been for Bruce. When I got discouraged he would say, 'It's a great life if you don't weaken' and tell me I was doing just fine...All in all Bruce Griffith is a fine person and very nice boss and deserving of the award of Boss of the Year."

Griffith's employee, Gail Earls, submitted this letter. claiming him as Boss of the Year. He has a Master's Degree in agricultural education and has been in the Extension Service for 18

Death rate from lung cancer may decline in future

BOSTON (AP) - Newly discovered microscopic evidence shows the death rate from lung cancer will probably decline in coming vears because smokers have cleaner switched to cigarettes, researchers say.

Their study found that the cigarettes being smoked in the 1970s cause far less cancer-linked lung damage than those of the 1950s, which contained more tar and Cells in the lungs of recent smokers had at least 10 times fewer pre-cancerous abnormalities than those of men who smoked 15 years ago, they said.

Harris County

Commissioner Eckels indicted

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County Commissioner Bob Eckels is under a misdemeanor indictment on charges of official misconduct in connection with the county's purchase of a motor scooter he formerly owned.

He was indicted Wednesday by the county grand jury for allegedly failing to make public his interest in the scooter.

An earlier investigation indicated Eckels had traded the scooter to a firm where it was reconditioned prior to its purchase for the county by the commissioners court.

Maximum punishment for the conviction is a year in jail or a $2,000 fine.

Grubbs contends that auto insurance companies are enjoying a "ripoff" because these drivers are required to pay an additional insurance premium when the speeding violation has not cost the insurance company any money in claims.

Caps, gowns measurements date listed

Persons planning to graduate from Howard College this May must have their degree plans checked before Feb. 28. Dr. Bobby R. Wright, vice president for instruction at Howard College, has requested that all prospective graduates who have not yet done so come by his office in the Administration Building on the HC campus as soon as possible

Measurements for caps and gowns for graduating students will be taken Feb. 28 between 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. in the snack bar of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building. Payment of a $12 graduation fee will be required prior measurement.

Graduation exercises are scheduled for May 10, 7:30 p.m., in the Dorothy Garrett

Number of working oil rigs decline

The number of working oil rigs in the state continued to drop this week.

As of Monday, a total of 721 rigs were making hole in Texas, compared to 730 for the previous week. During this week last year, a total of 843 rigs were operating. By Jan. 22 of this year that figure had dropped to 784. The statewide drop was also reflected in the total for the entire nation. As of Monday, the national total of working rigs was 2,046, down from 2,088 for the previous

The total for Jan. 22, 1979, however, was 2,192, higher than the 2,139 total for Feb.

Who really knows correct birthday for Washington?

WASHINGTON (AP) - Today is Washington's Birthday, not to be confused with last Monday, the federal holiday.

George may have understood such things. He wasn't born on either of those days, but on Feb. 11.

Thus, Washington could have three birthday celebrations. Or four, if you count Feb. 12, 1798.

It's all a bit puzzling, but the first change stemmed from England's adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1750. Washington had been born under the Julian or "old style" calendar on Feb. 11, 1731. The switch moved the date 11 days. So after that, was his birthday on Feb.

Yes, in most places, but not in his hometown of Alexandria, Va. The good citizens there stuck with tradition and celebrated on the old date, Feb. 11. George

But perhaps Alexandria residents didn't that Washington, through his secretary, had sent word in 1792 to Thomas Jefferson about his birthday preference.

Because Feb. 11 fell on a Sabbath that year (no dancing), the Alexandria celebration was moved a day. Noted the obliging Father of his Country: "Feb. 12 — Went to a ball given by the citizens of Alexandria in commemoration of my

Jogging mania spreading at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) The jogging mania at the White House is spreading. Joining the parade of runners headed by President Carter and wife Rosalynn is Zbigniew Brzezinski, the president's 50-year-old national security adviser. Within minutes after participating presidential review of disturbing developments in Iran, Brzezinski was seen circling the South Lawn driveway at the White House in a blue jogging suit. During his visit to Mexico City last week, Carter not only found time for jogging but told President Jose Lopez Portillo that he had first adopted the sport during a 1971 visit to the Mexican capital as governor of Georgia.

With its 7,000-foot altitude, Mexico City certainly provides a rigorous test of a jogger's respiratory system.

The Carters' knowledge of Spanish, conspicuously exhibited during the Mexican visit, also is inself-improvement spiring among presidential aides

Frank Moore, the White assistant congressional liaison, confided that he and a number of his associates plan to begin taking lessons in Spanish.

During the Mexico City the motorcade carrying the Carters to a performance of the Ballet Folklorico slowed to a crawl Appointments secretary

Phil Wise got on his walkie talkie and demanded an explanation for Ellis Woodward, the president's chief advance man, replied that Lopez Portillo's motorcade was approaching from an intersecting street and planned to join the Carter procession to the theater.

After a pause, during which he presumably consulted with a higher authority. Wise shot back

He (the Mexican president) invited himself. Let him find his own way. All the talk about Carter's irritation at being lectured in blunt terms by Lopez Portillo was reinforced by this

During one of his lecture sessions, the Mexican leader got so het up that he interrupted a tirade on the treatment of poor Mexicans in the United States to say:

I confess, Mr. President that I am deeply moved, and I shall try to be more

At least, that's what the interpreter told Carter.

Beginning typing course offered at HC

The Howard College Adult and Continuing Education Department announces an eight-week course in Beginning Typing. The course will begin Feb. 26 and end April 23. It will be held from 7-9 p.m. in Room 209 of the Horace Garrett

Chavez returns to Texas

SAN JUAN, Texas (AP) -Cesar Chavez, the farm workers union organizer who some claim abandoned Texas four years ago, returns to the Rio Grande Valley this weekend for the state's first United Farm Workers convention.

The UFW president is among the featured speakers for Sunday's first Texas Organizing Convocation here. Harry Hubbard, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, is also scheduled to speak.

Rebecca Harrington, the local UFW director said some 2,000 farm workers are expected at the day-long convention. Ms. Harrington said the meeting will be used to spur membership drives and to establish priorities as migrant workers continue their decades old struggle for better living conditions.

WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal court decision upholding the right of a women's group to push a boycott against states that have not ratified the Equal Rights Amendment leaves the 15 affected states susceptible to the additional loss of millions of dollars in convention money.

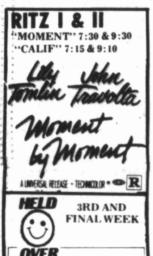

The National Organization for Women already has induced many groups ranging from labor unions to governmental units to deny their convention business to the states that have declined to approve the amendment.

The boycott appears to have cost those states millions of dollars, particularly such popular convention sites as Chicago; St. Louis; Kansas City, Mo.; and Miami.

It was this loss of money that prompted Missouri to file suit, charging NOW with violating the Sherman Antitrust Act and contending that NOW is "taking states economic hostages with the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment as the

But U.S. District Judge Elmo B. Hunter ruled Wednesday in Kansas City that the boycott is not an antitrust violation because its aim is not to increase profits and because it takes place in what is essentially a political context.

Although 35 states have approved ERA, four have voted to rescind that action. The Justice Department has said it is up to Congress to decide whether they can rescind earlier approval.

The weekend of March 2-4 offers nothing but viewing and listening pleasure to Big Springers who appreciate the fine arts.

In addition to the two-day, two-man art show featuring Roland Rose and Delbert Brewster of Andrews at the Heritage Museum March 3-4, the concluding weekend of Fine Arts Week, sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, will be highlighted with top Texas musical entertainment

Bluegrass music students of South Plains College at Levelland will be presented in their widely-acclaimed Sandyland Opry March 2, 8 p.m., at the Municipal Auditorium. The opry consists of about a dozen students and faculty members John Hartin, of countrydirector bluegrass music, and country-bluegrass structors Tim McCasland, Dan Hanson and Ed Marsh. The Municipal Auditorium will also be the scene of history told through singing and dancing on March 3, 8 p.m., when the famous Fandangle presents a show with 25-30 cast members.

Fandangle is an annual show, put on by citizens of Albany since 1938 in celebration of the past of West Texas. Through song, dance and pantomine, and with pageantry and comedy, Fandangle will recreate for Big Spring the prairie

And since each year's show is a brand new one, a Fandangle appearance wagons, never repetitive. Fandangle has appeared throughout Texas. Past performances include one at the invitation of the late President Johnson to entertain Latin guests and another for Mrs. Johnson in spring, 1976. This year, the group was invited to join the on a five-day visit to Scotland and Great Britain. In their own hometown of Albany, 140 miles east of Big Spring, Fandanglers go all out in its production - open
