Four federal charges filed against Estes

DALLAS (AP) — The legal problems nagging paroled West Texas con man Billie Sol Estes have culminated with four federal grand jury indictments charging he plotted to bilk investors, operate businesses in violation of his parole and conceal assets to avoid paying income taxes.

Estes has been the subject of intensive state and federal investigations for almost two years, and has been in court trying to fend off similar, but slimmed-down charges since October. That month, he signed a plea agreement with prosecutors, but U.S. District Judge Eldon Mahon rejected the bargain in January.

The grand jury Thursday returned the lengthy indictments against Estes, two former associates, Raymond K. Horton and M. L. Copenhaver; and his long-time secretary, Sue Goolsby.

Estes' attorney, G. Brockett Irwin of Longview, said later his client would plead innocent at his arraignment March 1.

Estes was convicted in 1963 of building a vast fortune on mortgage loans using non-existent fertilizer tanks as collateral. A similar scheme involving the financing of non-existent oilfield steam cleaners was spelled out in Thursday's indictment.

That indictment details a plot to defraud four leasing companies of more than $589,000 by financing non-existent steam cleaners and using a dummy corporation to sell them to another fake company. According to the indictment, the selling and purchasing companies existed only on paper — created by Estes, Horton and Copenhaver. The legitimate companies unknowingly financed a total of 38 bogus steam cleaners, the indictment said.

Another indictment naming only Estes and Horton says the two ran corporations in Horton's name that actually belonged to Estes. Discussions for the plan began in July of 1971, the indictment said, the same year Estes was released on parole from his 1963 fraud conviction.

He was barred from selfemployment or promotional activities under the terms of his parole on a 15year sentence. That indictment also charges Estes with conspiring to defraud the government of income taxes owed for 1959-1962, 1971 and 1977.

A separate indictment says Estes reported a net income of $11,200 on 1975 income tax forms when he actually earned more than $45,000.

The fourth indictment alleges Estes and Ms. Goolsby forged Billy D. Pyron's signature on a power of attorney and numerous lease agreement guarantees that later were used to obtain a 1976 van, two electric cash registers and insurance on those items.

Pyron, a Tyler businessman, had testified in earlier court cases he did not sign any of the documents.

The guarantees also were used to secure two personal loans totaling $50,000 from J. H. "Jap" Burkett, an Abilene used car dealer who said he met Estes in church. The indictment said the money was obtained fraudulently. Burkett has filed a civil suit to recoup his money.

An estranged business partner of Estes, Don Trull, brought much of the information contained in Thursday's indictment to the attention of newspaper reporters, state and federal investigators almost two years ago.

And last spring, when Trull was being tried on kidnapping charges in Tyler, many of the documents he claimed detailed Estes' business operations, came to light.

Trull was acquitted of holding a Pyron employee hostage in a Tyler office building. He claimed Pyron and Estes owed him several million dollars and defense attorneys tried to prove that swindle in court.

Trull now is serving a 6-month sentence in a Hattiesburg, Miss., jail on a non-payment of debt charge. Shortly after he won the acquittal by trying to prove Estes conned Trull, defense attorney G. Brockett Irwin was hired as Estes' attorney.

Horton, Copenhaver and several others were named in a state attorney general's complaint early last year. And although his name was tossed about frequently by federal and state investigators, Estes was not solidly linked with the schemes until Thursday's indictments. During his latest troubles, Estes' family has, as they have in the past, remained protectively supportive. During recent court appearances in Fort Worth, the former whiz-kid wheeler dealer appeared tired and overweight. His once-inky hair is streaked with gray, but he still wears the black horn-rimmed glasses that became almost a trademark for him in his hey-day.

While he still lives in the sprawling home he built on the outskirts of Abilene, he claims his dentist brother John L. Estes now owns it. Estes said he could not keep up the payments on the salary he said he earned as a janitor and truck-dispatcher.

Dr. John Estes was one of the family members federal attorneys agreed not to prosecute under terms of the October plea agreement. That agreement, rendered void last month, also stipulated Estes' eldest daughter, Pam Tedford, and Ms. Goolsby would not be prosecuted.

Mrs. Tedford was not mentioned in

Police strike showdown shapes

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The police strike that crippled Mardi Gras headed today toward a showdown with City Hall as pickets blocked garbage collection and moved to disrupt the fire department and upset the port.

The angry escalation came after 1,000 strikers met to consider a contract offer from Mayor Ernest Morial.

Details of the offer were not announced, but union spokesman Neil

Curran called it "a joke."

Officers burst out of the meeting shouting: "Strike! Strike! No amnesty!"

nesty!"
"These men are being forced to the wall," said Joseph Valenti of Detroit, a Teamsters specialist brought in to handle negotiations for the Police Association of Louisiana, which is Teamsters Local 253.

Claiming a misunderstanding over whether strikers were offered amnesty, the city asked for a "clarification meeting" and the federal mediator scheduled one for today.

Amnesty would guarantee that no striker could be punished for having joined the strike, which started Feb. 16. Since then the city has been patrolled by 600 National Guardsmen, 150 State Police and nonstriking officers.

There have been reports of increased shoplifting, but officers on duty say they have no indications of such a surge since the week-old strike

In other strike developments:

—Union officials and pickets were told Thursday to appear in Civil District Court Saturday for a hearing about whether they should be held in contempt of court for ignoring a backto-work order. Maximum punishment on conviction would be six months in jail and $500 fine.

—Picketing at city sanitation department garages began Thursday, and Patrick Koloski, director of the sanitation department, told his employees to stay away from work today for their own safety.

ISSUE OF CONCERN — A number of Big Spring citizens turned out for today's meeting of traffic commissioners who considered a proposal for enforcement of a city ordinance authorizing the establishment of a truck route around Big Spring. After hearing citizens' complaints and opinions, the commission resolved to have the issue added to the agenda of the 9 a.m. March 13 city council meeting. Enforcement of the ordinance, passed in 1958, would ban trucks from some or all of Big Spring city streets.

COLORADO CITY — Upwards to 300 people may gather at the Civic Center here at 7 p.m., today for the reunion of former Col-Tex Refinery employees.

Col-Tex was an independent business firm until its assets were purchased by Cosden Oil & Chemical Company in 1959.

The refinery was eventually phased out and many of the employees were transferred to Cosden's refining plant in Big Spring. Many Col-Tex families continued to reside in Colorado City, however.

A covered dish meal will be served.

resulted in a large turn out of interested citizens at today's meeting of traffic commissioners, 10 a.m., at the City Council Room.

Opening the discussion was Traffic Commission Chairperson Sue Corson.
Terry Bradberry, unofficial spokeswoman for citizens in support of banning trucks from city streets, introduced a resolution to ban trucks from 11th Place, Birdwell Lane and all school zones in Big Spring.

Her resolution was followed with a number of comments from other citizens calling attention to problems presented by the lack of a truck route in Big Spring.

Safety and property values were cited as the key issues by Bill Boroughs who said, "It's gratifying to see so many of Big Spring's older homes being renovated. We need to maintain the good housing that we have

"If there's already an ordinance on the books for designating a truck route," he continued, "we should not have to propose a new ordinance."

R.B. Davis, a retired truck driver, voiced what he felt would be the opinion of the trucking industry if the route is established.

"Our city streets are no place for trucks," he said. "And it doesn't matter to the trucking industries which streets they use. If a route is established, they will abide by it."
A number of potentially dangerous situations resulting from trucks in the city were pointed out by citizens.

"We have chemical, oil and gas trucks traveling our street," said Sharon Settles, who identified her neighborhood as N. Monticello. "I'm concerned for the children playing outside."

Rev. Harland Birdwell of St. Mary's Episcopal Church and School said that he had observed a number of gas trucks on Dallas Street and was concerned about a moving van which had been parked on the street for several days interfering with a clear view of oncoming traffic.

It was recommended by the citizens that a truck route directing truck traffic around Big Spring be marked with signs and that any truck on any city street without a legitimate reason, such as fueling up or delivering goods, be fined.

Capt. Sherrill Farmer of the Traffic Division of the Big Spring Police Department suggested that in addition to posting signs designating FM 700 as a truck route, that some streets in the city be designated "no truck traffic." The designation would apply to any truck weighing more than one

The consensus of both the citizens and commissioners was that a recommendation of enforcing ordinance 28-94, which authorizes the establishment of a truck route in Big Spring, should be passed on to the city council.

By a unanimous vote, traffic commissioners agreed to add the recommendation of enforcing the ordinance to the agenda of the city council's 9 a.m. March 13 meeting.

Other recommendations that will be made to the council include making the intersection of N.E. 4th and Trades a four-way rather than a two-way stop intersection due to a danger presented by speed violators. The request for the additional traffic control was made by the Rev. Willie Nelson.

It was also decided that a recommendation will be passed on to the city council to add four-way stop signs with flashing lights at the intersection of Snyder Hwy. and N. Service Rd. The intersection, Capt. Sherrill Farmer pointed out, had been the scene of two recent serious accidents and had also been the scene of a fatality in the past.

The city council will also be given recommendations that stop signs be added on E. 7th where it intersects with N. Runnels and, as requested by the Parks Board, that a one-way street around the pool of Comanche Trail Park be reversed and that a narrow road entering the park from Wasson Rd. be designated a one-way street.

Councilmen will consider final step in increasing water rates

The final step in raising Big Spring's water rates will be considered at the next regular meeting of the City Council, 9 a.m. Tuesday.

If passed, the new rates will total $5.75 per month for the first 2,000 gallons of water, and 85 cents for every 1,000 gallons over that.

James Duncan, owner of the former Capehart Housing Complex in the Big Spring Industrial Park, will request a zone change for the property. He will ask the council to rezone the 119.24 acre tract from Agricultural to Planned Development for the purpose of establishing a subdivision

Q. Why doesn't the Herald, when publishing death notices, list the home

A. The Herald will list home addresses in obituaries where they are requested. However, the newspaper refrains from such practices because thieves pick those times on occasions to enter the homes of death victims or bereaved relatives, knowing well the attentions of involved people are devoted elsewhere.

Consumer price increases giving Carter 'indigestion'

WASHINGTON (AP) Sharp new increases in consumer prices, par-ticularly beef and veal, are giving the Carter administration a new case of economic indigestion. Some government officials said they expected the Consumer Price Index for January, due out later today, would show a startling 1 percent increase from December prices - perhaps even more.

A 1 percent monthly increase would translate to a 12 percent annual increase, most analysts do not expect it to be that high over the course of a full year.

Most, but not all, of the latest increase is attributed to the soaring cost of beef, which is in short supply.

The National Cattlemen's Association said retail beef prices jumped at least 5 percent in January because of severe winter weather, increased costs and the decline in beef production. Average retail prices of choice-grade beef rose to a record $2.06 a pound in January, up 6.6 percent from $1.94 a pound in December. A year ago comparable prices averaged about $1.60 a

The government's producer price report for January, released earlier, showed wholesale prices of all products rising 1.3 percent. Although beef showed the biggest increase, the gains were widespread, including steel, automobiles tobacco and gasoline.

Alfred Kahn, chief of the Carter administration's antiinflation program, called these increases "clearly troublesome."

Besides the new price reports, the administration is faced with a suit by the AFL-CIO against President Carter's 4-month-old antiinflation wage and price guidelines. AFL-CIO President George Meany said in Bal Harbour, Fla., Thursday that the labor federation would go to court to have the standards declared illegal.

Meany has maintained that it is easier to enforce the 7 percent limit against wages than it is to enforce price standards, which are more complicated.

The program is described as voluntary but Meany said is really mandatory sanctions threatened against companies that don't comply. And there are no laws now on books permitting mandatory standards, he

And Federal Reserve Chairman G. William Miller told the Senate Budget Committee Thursday it would be difficult to imagine that inflation in 1979 will be significantly lower than the 9 percent recorded last year.

Many private economists are predicting a recession at the end of the year as the administration tries to fight inflation.

A Commerce Department report Thursday showed that the gross national product output of goods and services - grew at an annual rate of 6.4 percent in the fourth quarter, up from the 26 percent rate in the third

Carter's program may be working

Tone down those verbal barrages and save your sneers for another day. Those voluntary wage and price restraints recommended by President Carter seem to be taking hold.

When Mr. Carter unveiled his guidelines to slow the runaway freight train called inflation, the boo birds went to work. George Meany, the AFL-CIO honcho, for one, was derisive. He said Carter's plans would never fly.

So how is Carter doing? Now that you asked, it might interest you to know that a Princeton-based management consulting firm, Sibson & Co., polled 600 large companies to see whether they were holding back on wage increases as requested by Mr.

He is seen a sure loser to Gov.

Edmund G. Brown Jr. or Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in the Democratic primary and to Ronald Reagan in the general election. A 34 percent statewide approval rating in a new private poll confirms that judgment.

While Carter's declining political health is under preliminary diagnosis in Washington, he has been interred in California as a political corpse. Reagan's principal professed worry is that he will be denied the Carter

AS IT TURNS out, almost three quarters — 73 per cent — have scaled down scheduled pay boosts, from an average of 8.5 per cent to 7.1 per cent. That all but fits into the pattern proposed by Carter, who could very well have lost a lot of face over this

It might be added that the effect of the guidelines extend beyond the working jobs on the assembly line. Management types, who customarily take home heftier pay hikes than their underlings, have, if anything, been hit harder by the program than others. Even bonuses, which fall outside the guidelines, are being shaved by image-conscious corporations.

Mr. Carter, of course, is not out of the woods. There could be some rugged times ahead for him and his administration. For one thing, the Carter people are going to have to demonstrate to the working man that the program is really reducing the rate of inflation. That is going to call for cooperation from the companies which dictate the prices of products. If the cost of products keep going up, the working class of people will let Mr. Carter know about it.

Should it begin to look like the corporation giants are taking advantage of the opportunity to score windfall profits, the whole voluntary program will end in a hurry.

THERE IS, in addition, the uncertainty which still surrounds

President Carter's proposal to provide real-wage 'insurance' to workers whose pay hikes fall within the bounds of the system, but who are fighting a losing battle against inflation. Wage earners can only be placated so long by assurances that they are contributing to WIN (Whip Inflation Now).

The river rapids up ahead could be rather treacherous for the raft carrying Mr. Carter and his trusty crew but then they have survived the rugged tests they've already met.

The American people had better hope Carter's plan works. If the economy doesn't cool down, alternate plans available to Mr. Carter could be a lot harder to take.

Would air fraud

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON - Sen. Ted Stevens R-Alaska, has spearheaded legislation that will award 115,000 Alaskan village corporation; federal investigators have labeled the village a "fraud."

The village corporation, called Leisnoi Inc., is a subsidiary of Koniag Inc., a regional native corporation. Justice and Interior Department investigators believe Koniag has tried to pull off a gigantic public-lands swindle in southwest Alaska.

UNDER THE Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of 1971, federal lands are granted to Aleut, Eskimo and Indian settlements on the basis of their population in 1970. Investigators found that seven of Koniag's 16 villages were phantom communities. unable to qualify even under the 1971 act's liberal definition of a village. The act requires at least 25 residents, 13 actually on the site and another 12 transient or intended residents.

The seven phantom villages applied for a total of more than 600,000 acres valuable federal land, and the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) originally approved their claims. But six of the approvals were rescinded as a result of the investigations by the Interior Department agents. Their final status is still in doubt.

Only Leisnoi has been given final certification as a legitimate native village; its 40 official residents entitle the village to 115,000 acres of land. It is this valuable property — the timber on just 69,000 acres is worth $150 million — that Stevens' legislation will turn over to Leisnoi Inc., and other village corporations

Our associate Hal Bernton made a first-hand inspection of the suppose site of Leisnoi village, on a small, heavily forested piece of land called Woody Island, a few miles offshore from the fishing boom town of Kodiak. He took a skiff out to the island and walked across it, but found few signs of a native village.

The chief evidence of human habitation was an old government housing complex built for Federal Aviation Administration employees, a Baptist summer camp and a single, small, abandoned cabin. There was no sign of the 40 native residents, much less of the potential "enrollment" of 235 natives claimed in the cer-tification papers for Leisnoi Inc.

The Alaska Advocate, a weekly newspaper published in Anchorage, has reported that Darrell Chaffin, who headed the FAA complex and has lived on Woody Island for 33 years, gave a sworn affidavit stating that only two natives have lived there since 1970. He has also sworn that Karl Armstrong, executive vice president of Koniag Inc., who claims to be a resident of Leisnoi, has never lived on Woody Island.

Yet the BIA investigator, Ed Fitz-patrick, who was shown around the island by Armstrong, reported that 40 native Alaskans lived on the island in 1970. The BIA's final certification report contains photographs of the FAA housing with the caption, "Family dwellings at Woody Island"—giving the false impression that the government buildings are native

Sen. Stevens explained to us that the land grants to Koniag were the result of a negotiated settlement that took months to complete. The agreement stipulates that Koning Inc. would give up its claim to mainland acreage that environmentalists wanted to keep as a wildlife refuge in return for Leisnoi's grant of 115,000 acres. The senator stressed that the legislation was supported by the Interior Depart-ment, as well as the state and local governments.

A STEVENS AIDE told us that if pending litigation shows Leisnoi to have been illegally set up, the court could revoke the congressionally authorized land grant. Meanwhile, Koniag Inc. has already made plans to harvest millions of dollars' worth of timber on the 115,000 acres.

CAPITOL CRIMINALS? If members of Congress had to obey the law like the rest of us, they could shave $1.6 million a year from congressional

That's the potential total that would have been docked last year from the paychecks of members who were sent for reasons other than illness. A little-known law passed in 1856 equires that senators or representatives who play hooky without a valid excuse forfeit their day's pay.

Based on the number of days they were in session last year, House members made $330.46 a day: senators made $323.03.

Unfortunately for the taxpayers, the no-work-no-pay statute has been enforced only rarely - from 1856 to 1867 in the Senate, and between 1894 and 1914 in the House.

When the Foundation for the Study of Presidential and Congressional Terms asked the Senate's legislative counsel why the law isn't enforced, it got this reply: "No attempt should be made to enforce the law...until such time as the Senate has taken action to indicate that it should be enforced and how it should be applied to the Senate as it now functions.

The House sergeant-at-arms cited a section of the House rules that concludes enforcement is "no longer

The case for enforcement was stated succinctly during a 1914 debate by Rep. William E. Cox. "How can we expect the people to respect our laws," he said, "if we refuse to enforce them ourselves?" How indeed?

Facelift won't help eyelids

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Would you please discuss facelifts? I am 48 and my eyelids have excess flesh and are wrinkled. It certainly detracts from my appearance. How safe is the surgery to correct this, seeing as how it is so close to the eve itself? Also, how long does healing take, and would I have to take time off or have it done

You are talking about several different problems, not all of which can be corrected by a "facelift." I gather you have not discussed this with a plastic surgeon, which is the place to start. He will tell you what is possible and what is not. I can only generalize here.

The facelift merely tightens skin around the face and neck. The eyelids are an entirely different matter. They are not helped by a facelift. As a matter of fact, different procedures are required to correct either upper or lower lid imperfections. A drooping upper lid may obstruct vision and that can be corrected by removing excess skin there. The lower lid problem results from protrusion of tissue underneath the skin, not the skin itself. This can be corrected by removing the bulging tissue.

You can see why I referred to different problems, different solutions. It is doubtful that all would be corrected at the same time. Some results are spectacular, but time does march on and none lasts forever. I have seen some women who managed to look five, even 10 years younger.

The healing time, including that required for skin discoloration to disappear is from two to three weeks. With proper timing, a month's vacation and a healthy savings account, you should be able to manage

Dear Dr. Ruble: If a man has genital herpes, can he pass it on to a woman? Can she get cancer from herpes? -C.

There is a chance a woman might get the infection if there is contact (intercourse). The virus causes many little painful blisters. Healing takes from two to three weeks. Then the virus remains dormant (inactive) and is not contagious until the next outbreak of blisters. Sex should be avoided at this time. The cancer question is a bit more iffy and difficult to answer definitely. There is thought to be an increased frequency of cancer of the cervix (mouth of the womb) in herpes patients. The woman with this should be checked

DEAR ABBY: Our baby died two weeks after she was born. With the help of wonderful friends and relatives we made it through some rough days. However, we continue to have some upsetting problems.

We still get telephone calls from business peole who want to sell us diaper services, insurance, baby furniture and other things for the "new baby." They talk a blue streak before I can get a word in edgewise to let them know that

Two days after the funeral, a man with a big smile knock ed on our door and gave us a sales pitch about taking pictures of the baby! I became hysterical.

These salespeople might be welcomed with open arms by parents of living children, but it tears people like us apart. It has been four months since we buried our precious angel, and we're still getting calls. Even if this doesn't make your column, thanks for listen-

BOTHERED, BEREAVED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Thanks for writing. I hope this reminds those who sell baby services to be less eager and more considerate. DEAR ABBY: I live in a part of the country where it's warm or hot most of the time, and for this reason I often go My parents have a fit when they see me driving without shoes because they think it is unsafe. I can't see where driving shoeless has anything to do with safety. What do you

DEAR LIKES: A bare foot is more apt to slip off the pedals than one with a shoe. So, when driving, put your best foot forward—and put a shoe on it!

DEAR ABBY: I go with a man who is never satisfied with the food in a restaurant.

No matter what Stan orders, he usually sends it back. It's either overcooked or undercooked, cold, smells "funny," or he just doesn't like the looks of it. It's embarrassing. He's never satisfied with the table they give us, and if the waiter isn't right there when he wants something, he complains to the manager. If the service isn't perfect, he leaves no tip! He also carries one of those little battery operated fans. If someone smokes near him, out comes the fan and blows the smoke back into the smoker's face!

I'm 22 and he's 29. He wants to marry me, but I'm not sure. What do you think?

DEAR HAVING: Stan appears demanding, inflexible, quick to criticize and slow to spend. If you marry him, be prepared to give in a lot.

DEAR ABBY: Our 14-year-old daughter (I'll call her Meg) has been corresponding with an English pen pal for nearly a year. Derrick is 16. She found his name and address in a Well, it seems that Meg told Derrick a lot of things in her letters that were not true. For example, that we were very wealthy, lived on a 3,000-acre ranch and kept horses, etc. Actually, we are far from rich and live in a three-bedroom home in a project in New Jersey. (By "we" I mean my husband and I, Meg and her two brothers, an older sister and Grandma.) Derrick TELEPHONED Meg to tell her that he was coming to visit us! She broke down and told us, and of course we have no room for this English fellow. I am a nervous wreck and could cheerfully wring Meg's neck, but that won't solve

How can we head off Derrick?

MEG'S MOTHER

HAVING DOUBTS

DEAR MOTHER: Either telephone or cable Derrick and advise him to postpone his visit. Then have Meg write him a long, true-confessions type letter to set the record straight. And tell Meg that fantasies are levely, but they're like dream castles—fun to build, but you can't live in them.

benefit Nursing," official journal of the American Association of Occupational Health Nurses.

Hannigan is vice president of the association, which has 10,000 members, all registered nurses employed by business, government and industry to protect the health and safety of the work force.

Seldom is an employee with a medical or surgical problem seen without need to consider the emotional effect of the illness or injury, notes Hannigan, divisional manager of nursing services for International Business Machines Corp., Franklin Lakes, N.J.

"Frequently," he points out, "the occupational health nurse serves as the first line of defense for an employee's disease.'

As an example he cites the case of a 26-year-old man who returned to work after an absence caused by high blood pressure. On his return, the employee was depressed and unaccepting of his "potentially catastrophic" condition.

After counseling sessions with the occupational health nurse and conferences with management and private physicians, he accepted the recommendation of a job

'He then became an effective employee and was soon promoted," Hannigan. "Not only were management employee satisfied with the intervention of the company's nurse, but so was his wife

Occupational health nurses, Hannigan notes, are obliged to keep current on trends in psychiatric treatment and new psychotropic

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) - For months he stalked a terrified city as the Son of Sam, the .44-caliber killer, eager to satisfy the bloodthirsty desires of his demanding demons

Now, 1½ years after the last of his brutal attacks in which he killed six persons and wounded seven, a calm, coherent, smiling and polite David Berkowitz says he

"I've let people step on me just once too often and now I've had enough. It's time for the truth to come out — not a story about demons, talking dogs and legions of satan's henchmen," Berkowitz said Thursday in his first prison interview. He said it was also his last interview.

He said the demon story was invented by his "wild imagination so as to find some form of justification for my criminal acts against society.'

Berkowitz said he has no substitute reason for the killings, but he added that he no longer has the urge to kill. "Whatever it is has left me. I've mellowed," he said.

Queen showered with jewels

LONDON (AP) - Queen Elizabeth II is being showered with jewels estimated at more than $2 million by the rulers of the Arabian peninsula as she tours the region, say British reporters.

Norman Luck of the Daily Express said a double string of pearls as big as marbles came from Kuwait, a gold tray encrusted with amethysts from Saudi Arabia and a knee-length gold necklace decorated with precious stones from Qatar -'more like chain mail," the reporter said.

The queen's husband, Prince Philip, has received jeweled golden swords and valuable carpets.

Pope's encyclical issued

ROME (AP) - Pope John Paul II's first encyclical will be issued before Easter and will deal with human rights and the Gospel, several Italian newspapers report.

Encyclicals are the most authoritative of papal documents. They have been used by recent popes to outline the policies they planned to follow during their pontificates

John Paul, 58, who is Polish, was elected Oct. 16 as the first non-Italian pope in almost 500 years.

Nixon telephoned Mitchell

MIAMI (AP) — Former Attorney General John Mitchell received frequent telephone calls while in prison from his old boss, former President Richard Nixon, according to a "Miami" magazine article.

The copyright article appearing in the magazine's March issue was written under the pseudonym Ronald James by J. Ronald Beasley, a former Miami television news producer. He met Mitchell while serving part of a 14-month sentence at Maxwell Federal Prison Camp in Montgomery, Ala., for cocaine possession and conspiracy.

The article also said Mitchell blamed former White House counsel Charles Colson for Watergate.

Berkowitz said he granted the 66-minute interview to The Associated Press, The New York Times and Newsday after reading — with displeasure — an AP story con-cerning a book-movie deal about his life being put together by McGraw-Hill Inc.

The 25-year-old curly-haired killer - inmate number 78-A-1976 — said he wanted people to know the truth behind his claim he was commanded to kill by demons who spoke to him through a neighbor's dog. He said people might be discouraged from buying the book or watching the movie once they learned he had lied.

The interview in a small meeting room on the grounds of the New York State Correctional Facility at Attica was casual. Hands were shaken and a microphone was clipped to Berkowitz's gray corduroy shirt to record his remarks, then the confessed killer explained to the reporters why he had called the meeting.

Berkowitz said the book deal sounded as though "greedy vultures" — including his former lawyers and a court-appointed conservator who arranged the publishing pact — were out to make money at the expense of the families of his victims.

Under state law, profits from such books go to the victims of a crime, after expenses paid to lawyers and publishing agents. It is these expenses which Berkowitz says he is disturbed about.

Berkowitz said he wrote McGraw-Hill to protest the proposed book, saying: "I cannot stop you from publishing your 'Hollywood' book filled with all the outrageousness and absurdity that usually goes with mass killer and supernatural stories. However, I will tell you right now that I will do everything in my power to see that your multi-million dollar venture becomes a flop."

McGraw-Hill officials said they had not yet received the letter but noted that their contract was with author Lawrence David Klausner, not Berkowitz.

With that said, Berkowitz spent the rest of the session posing for photographs, joking about his prison job as a porter and discussing a variety of topics.

Dismissals, reprimands result of CIA security

WASHINGTON (AP) -Tighter security measures aimed at preventing leaks of classified materials have resulted in about a dozen recent dismissals or reprimands at the Central Intelligence Agency, a CIA spokesman says.

'Yes, there has been more security in the past six months or so," public affairs officer Herbert Hetu said Thursday night. He acknowledged more frequent polygraph tests and a new policy of searching employees' briefcases and purses at the doors of the Virginia big headquarters near

He indicated the new measures are at least partly connected to the case of William Kampiles, a former CIA employee convicted last December of selling a topsecret satellite plan manual to the Soviet Union.

Hetu would not give names, details or numbers, but said fewer fired and fewer than 10 reprimanded because of new measures aimed at finding possible security violators.

reported in today's editions that the measures also had contributed to a wave of voluntary departures at the CIA "amid renewed reports that morale there had plummeted.'

Hetu agreed retirements rose last year at the CIA and that as many as 200 middle-and senior-level officials chose early retirement last month.

But he said the bunching of retirements in January occurred because of government rules making that timing financially advantageous and denied that general morale was low at CIA. "We're not going to close up shop," he joked.

CIA retirements last year last month's retirees are counted in 1978 figures under the federal computation system — totaled about 90 more than in 1977, an inthan five workers have been crease of 15 percent to 20 percent, he said

All-America Gladiolus Selections named for '79

Gardeners eager to acquire the newest and best plants each year will welcome news of the 1979 All-America Gladiolus Selections. Like its counterparts, All-America Rose Selections and the All-America Seed Selections, A.A.G.S. has tested hundreds of new gladiolus during the past 23 years. This year's releases Black Stallion, Green Isle and Prince Indigo, include some of the finest varieties ever to win the coveted award. Together with the previous releases, a wide assortment of color and types is available to the public, each of them rigorously tested for exceptional performance throughout North America.

In its continuing quest for the finest new gladiolus, All-America Gladiolus Selections has obtained the most beautiful green glad ever. Not cartreuse (like many of the other so-called greens) Green Isle is true green Nature has outdone herself by giving us not only purity and clarity of color, but very fancy four-inch florets as well. With ruffled, frilled and needlepointed petals, the heavy-substanced florets open on slender but strong four-to-five-foot stems.

First shown in Vermont in 1976, it was Best Seedling and Reserve Champion; in Maine, it was Best 3-Spike in the same year, and received North American Gladiolus Council's Bronze Medal. Green Isle was the top-rated seedling in the 1977 British Gladiolus Society Trials, in competition with 94 other entries from all over the world.

With eight or nine artistically-formed florets open in near formal placement, it's likely that Green Isle will bring in many more awards at the flower shows in the years to come. Color value alone attracts everyone's attention, and spike characteristics enhance the total effect.

There is always hope that the All-America Award winners will find a place in the commercial cut-flower business, as well as with home gardeners, and it seems that Green Isle is destined to do just that. This past summer, it bloomed uniformly in mid-July and the leathery substance and dred percent cuttable stems in several commercial plantings. Everyone who has seen it can easily recall 'That new Green!'' Florists who have seen it predict a fabulous future for it.

Plant habits leave little to be desired - for the foliage is lush and disease-resistant, the spikes do not crook during hot weather, and the bulbs are plump little beauties. As cool and refreshing as the name implies, Green Isle is without doubt one of the finest selections

Green Isle is classified as 304 — which means it's a medium to deep green, with florets that measure up to four and one-half inches. Some of the trial judges released this year, all originating with Carl Fischer. His new Prince Indigo will majestically stand without peer in the garden, at once regal in bearing and color. Shown this past summer in the Midwest, it attracted everyone's attention in single- and three-spike competition. Well-grown, the 32-inch cut spikes held 10 florets open formally on very strong stems, with an additional 12 to 14 buds yet to

In the garden planting, it can be featured to the rear of the border, where its stature can be shown to advantage. An easy grower, Prince Indigo find a place in the commercial planting with its robust six-foot plants. And its show potential will bring in many championships in the giant-flowered sections. Prince Indigo is recommended to be planted as early as possible since it inches, on spikes over five blooms later than most feet tall. The blooming date ordinary glads (in about 85 to 90 days from planting.)

The classification number 579 indicates that it will be shown with the giantflowered varieties, with florets five and one-half inches or more across. The last two digits indicate that the color is purple with a conspicuous mark — a purple blotch on the white throat. Black Stallion is the darkest-colored variety A.A.G.S. has ever selected what is termed a pure blackred self, classification 458 meaning it shows no other color). On strong-growing five-to-six-foot stems, Black Stallion will easily open eight to nine black velvet-like florets with crisply ruffled and fluted petals. Though not of the standard for exhibitation type, like Prince Indigo, Black Stallion will likely win many awards at flower shows, since it combines so beautifully with pastel shades It can be used more artistically when arranged in baskets or large vases, with varieties that are a cool shade of pink, lavender, or (Cool shades are those with no yellow - if the color tends to another shade, would be towards blue. Light pinks, lavenders and rose-pinks, especially those which blend to a white throat, can be lovely with Black Stallion.

Black Stallion should be grown in the cutting garden, where flowering spikes can used for home decorations. A few should be planted in the border, where the rich black-red will offer a welcome contrast to other flowers blooming in July and August. Dark shades seem to attract men more than the pastels, and just watch them gravitate to this one. With good growing habits and vigourous plants, it's small wonder that Black Stallion arrived in the winner's circle

The huge conservatory, an acre of glass with a center Palm House dome that rises 90 feet, was closed to permit final stages of refurbishment. It re-opens March 10 with a spectacular display of tulips, daffodils, lilies and other flowers. The exhibits will change in the 12 pavilions, each with a separate theme, as suddenly as spring does, as other seasons take over "The show will not be a 10day affair, it will be ongoing," said Carlton B. Lees, the man who has guided the six-year renovation of the Conservatory. "There will be bulbs and pensies with May; then there will be big begonias and hanging plants for May and June; caladium and cannas will take over for July, August and September, we are back to chrysanthemum for autumn." These are only a few of the varieties that will blossom for visitors, said Lees, senior vice president and chief horticulturist for the Botanical Garden The spring exhibition will include about 3,600 primulas, primrose and an equal number of flowering bulbs

among the 12,000 plants. "In the new displays, seasonal color will be used as much as possibile," Lees

Renovations to the 80-yearold Conservatory have been spectacular. Lily ponds are being established in the courtyard. Platforms over the water will permit spectators to view rare lilies closely. Cold frames have been installed beside the conservatory foundation. A tunnel with an approach resembling that of an old mine in the Conservatory's American Desert area will expedite movement of crowds that will see plants growing under lights, perhaps even mushroom culture, along the corridor.

"What we have here is huge piece of environmental sculpture," says Lees. The aim is "interpretation of the green world of plants."

"It is a living museum where people can see what the real world was like in the past," he added. "We're more related to these things we are to the automobile. They live and

CHICAGO (AP) - No need to tell 77-year-old Charlie Zahr that Chicago has suffered the worst combination of cold and snow in the city's

More snow seven-feet - has fallen this winter than any other. A record one-day snow depth of 29 inches was set. The record for the consecutive days with low temperatures of zero or below — 10 — was tied.

Business lost billions, transportation paralyzed, the city's political organization was shaken, psychiatrists' caseloads increased, and Charlie Zahr fought to survive.

"In nice weather I used to go out for a short stroll," said Zahr. "Now it's even hard for me to pay people to get me groceries.

White flag over Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — It was just too much.

Four inches of sleet and snow, stranded travelers, a power failure and two days of fog prompted employees at Hartsfield International Airport to throw in the towel and run up the white flag.

"We give up. We surrender," John Braden, an airport spokesman, said Thursday after workers hoisted the white flag outside the terminal of the nation's second busiest airport. It's been a rough week.

Saturday night a winter storm covered runways with snow and sleet. On Sunday and Monday, the storm moved north, closing airports there, but stranding travelers here. A minor fire in a storage area knocked out electrical power for the airport for Tuesday and part of Wednesday.

Then on Wednesday, the fog rolled in and hung around all day Thursday. 'I don't know anything else that could happen to us," Braden said. "We're just looking forward to the next natural disaster."

Dancing for dollars

OKLAOMA CITY (AP) - Gov. George Nigh has found dancing to be more profitable than praying in his first few weeks as the state's chief executive.

Nigh announced Thursday that he generated a $416 profit on his inaugural ball, but lost $75 on his inaugural prayer breakfast.

The governor blamed the cost overrun for the prayer breakfast on an $82 expenditure for decorative candles.

Southbound suspect

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — The suspect got away, but that's just fine with two Saginaw County sheriff's deputies and a local resident.

Deputies Charles Frisby and Jerry Wilson were called to John Wetzel's home Wednesday night after receiving a complaint that there was someone in Wetzel's basement.

With their weapons drawn, the deputies slipped into the basement. They spotted some movement in a corner, approached the figure, and were confronted by an irate blackbird. Here's what the deputies reported as happening: "Officers and complainant then pursued suspect around the basement area in a vain attempt to apprehend same. Suspect continuously eluded capture and kept dive-bombing pursuers. Deputy Wilson, with hat in hand, finally flushed suspect back upstairs and culprit made his getaway through the back door, which complainant had left

WTC trips Queens

SNYDER — The Western Texas College Dusters used a fantastic shooting performance from Nodia Vaughn to guide their way to a fast paced 84-74 victory over the Howard College Hawk Queens in a Western Junior Conference game played here Thursday night.

Vaughn connected on 11 of 13 from the field, and added four free throws, to score 26 points and slightly overshadow a fine performance from Howard College counterpart Joanne LeFridge.

Western Texas led by 38-33 at the half. Howard College relied on outside shooting all night to stay in the game, as the Hawk Queens could not score inside. LeFridge connected on 16 of her 24 points in the first half to keep the Queens within striking distance. Howard College, behind the deadly outside shooting of Sherrie Coalson, took a 58-56 lead with ten minutes remaining in the game, but WTC rallied shortly after to

The Hawk Queens stayed close until the end of the game. Down by three points with just minutes to play, the Howard College crew was forced to gamble in an attempt to take the lead. WTC then converted this into a couple of easy buckets and free throws to ice the game away. The ten point-margin at the conclusion of the game was the biggest lead of the game by either Vaughn's 26 points led all scorers in the contest. Katie Fisher chipped in with 17 for WTC. LeFridge led HC with 24 points, followed by Coalson and Jan Phillips with 19 and 11 points, respectively.

Despite the loss, Howard is assured a spot in the regional tournament due to a loss by Clarendon last night. The selection committee will meet at one o'clock on Sunday in Abilene to discuss the pairing for the tourney. Howard College Coach Don Stevens is on the WTC is now 8-2 in conference, while Howard College is 6-5. The Hawk Queens are 21-8 on the year.

Moncrief heads All-SWC

DALLAS (AP) - Sidney Moncrief, the leading points per game in SWC play rebounder and scorer in Arkansas history, has been to lead the league, was named The Associated Press 1978-79 Southwest Conference Player of the Year.

Typical of Moncrief's performances was the final regular season game of his career against Texas Tech when he hit a jump shot in the final seconds to give the Razorbacks a 66-65 victory and a tie for the title with the University of Texas.

Texas Tech Coach Gerald Myers said of Moncrief: "I'd have to say that Sidney is the Player of the Year in college basketball.' added Myers (Moncrief) has been good for Arkansas and the conference but thank goodness we don't have to see him again."

The 6-4 Moncrief averaged 22 points a game and Coach Eddie Sutton said "I can't say enough about him. He's one of those rare athletes who has the ability to rise to the occasion.

Baylor's Vinnie Johnson, who averaged 25 points a game and scored 50 against Texas Christian Tuesday night, was runner-up.

Both were unanimous choices on The AP All-SWC

Texas forward Tyrone Branyan, Southern Methodist's Brad Branson and Texas A&M's 6-11 freshman center Rudy Woods were also named to the first

Branson, who averaged 18 Johnson, who along with Moncrief is expected to be a and averaged 10.6 rebounds first round draft choice in the National Basketball named Newcomer of the Association, scored a school Year. He came to SMU from record season-high 610 Florida where he was a junior college All-American.

Woods, a tough defender and rebounder, was The Freshman of the Year out of Bryan, Texas High School. He was 13th in the United States in field goal accuracy. Sutton and Myers shared Coach of the Year honors.

The second team was a high-scoring outfit led by guards John Moore and Jim Krivacs, both of Texas, Rice's Elbert Darden, and Texas A&M forwards Rynn Wright and Vernon Smith.

Malone dominates Washington Bullets

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Moses Malone, with game highs of 35 points and 23 rebounds for Houston, felt it was time the Rockets handed Washington one of those rare homecourt losses

Houston, trailing 83-79 late in the third quarter Thursday night, rallied to a 120-110 National Basketball Association victory over Washington. Cleveland beat Kansas City 111-107 in the only other NBA game.

"Washington is a good team, but we were ready for them tonight," Malone said. "They came from behind to beat us twice at our place. We should be 3-0 against Rockets Coach Tom Nissalke said the hot-shooting 6foot-11 Malone "took charge in the fourth quarter" to help the Rockets deal the Bullets their sixth defeat in 27 home games this season.

"We went with our strong lineup," Nissalke said. The Rockets used 6-foot-8 Ron Reid at guard along with Calvin Murphy and also employed a large front line of 6-foot-11 Malone, 6-10 Dwight Jones and 6-7 Rudy Tomianovich.

Malone's 13 points in the first six minutes of the final period pushed the Rockets' lead from 91-86 to 110-92. 'Moses was sensational, but that's nothing new, Nissalke said. "He took charge in the fourth quarter and that was the difference."

The Bullets played without playmaker Tom Henderson, who had the flu, and Mitch Kupchak, who is on the injured reserve list with an inflamed achilles tendon After Malone extended Houston's lead to 110-92 he took a breather and Washington's Elvin Hayes, who led the Bullets with 25 points, made three quick baskets to pull his team within 12 points. But Malone returned and stuffed in a missed shot to slow the rally.

Murphy and Tomjanovich kept the Rockets in contention after the Bullets bolted to a 25-14 lead. Together they combined for 29 points in the first half to help Houston inch in front 58-57 at the half. Cavaliers 111, Kings 107

Rookies Mike Mitchell, Ken Higgs and Butch Lee combined for 59 points as Cleveland upended the Midwest Division leaders.

Mitchell led the Cavs with 23 points, while Higgs had a career-high 21 and Lee 15.

Cleveland was clinging to a 108-107 lead with 23 seconds left when Campy Russell hit a field goal. Then Mitchell grabbed a key rebound and Foots Walker added a free throw with eight seconds remaining. Otis Birdsong topped Kansas City with 24 points, Phil

Ford scored 22 and Bill Robinzine had 20.

NEW YORK (AP) - Franklin Jacobs, the little Flexible Flyer from Fairleigh Dickinson, is an overwhelming favorite to win the one major high jump title that has eluded him in tonight's National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships at Madison Square to eclipse the record of 7 feet, 812 inches, held by Vladimir Yashchenko of the Soviet Union?

Jacobs, unbeaten in eight meets this year, with a high of 7-6 — the best in the world for 1979 — has been promising a jump of 7-9. The highest he has attempted s 7-834, missing three times at the Millrose Games two weeks ago in the Garden.

Still, the 5-8¹/₄ Jacobs maintains he can clear 7-9 — a leap that would be 2434 inches over his head. How? "I'll keep concentrating on my arm lift, early height and less traveling over the bar," said Jacobs, who is recovering from a minor foot bruise suffered last

"It was on my left leg, which is my takeoff leg," he explained. "I have been taking whirlpools all week. I should be ready.

The high jump is only one of three events on the 24event program — for men and women — without a defending champion. Last year's high jump winner, Dwight Stones, has given up his amateur status.

Other events without a defending champion are the men's mile, featuring 1975, 1976 and 1977 winner Filbert Bayi of Tanzania, Dick Buerkle, Steve Scott, Wilson Waigwa, Niall O'Shaughnessy and Steve Lacy, and the men's three-mile, with Marty Liquori, Garry Bjorklund and Nick Rose.

The men's defending champions are: Houston McTear, 60-yard dash; Stan Vinson, 600; Gideon Terer, 1,000; Charles Foster, hurdles; Todd Scully, two-mile walk; Ed Kania, 35-pound weight throw; Larry Jessee, pole vault; Al Feuerbach, shot put; Charlton Ehizuelen, long jump, and Ron Livers, triple jump.

TCC focuses on social issues

Churches to support farm workers

AUSTIN — Proposing that financial and social service benefits and education be offered to all residents of the state, regardless of citizenship, the Texas Conference of Churches Assembly of Represen-tatives stayed in the arena of social concerns this week, despite the Governor's advice to the contrary. Governor William P. Clements Jr. had told the assembly Tuesday morning, "I am a strong supporter of the church within its intended mission, but not as a political force.

Passing resolutions on a variety of social issues, but tabling a proposed resolution that would have endorsed the "truth" that life begins at conception, the TCC's 10th anniversary assembly voted on 22 resolutions and heard reports from its divisions, committees, and commissions

The TCC, organized in 1969, is an organization of Roman Catholics, Protestants, and Greek Orthodox.

Meeting in Austin, the assembly adjourned its annual three-day meeting at noon Wednesday, after voting to co-sponsor a consulatation on hunger in Texas and a national workshop on Christian-Jewish relations. The TCC made a five-year commitment to working toward justice for farm workers by adopting a strategy beginning with identifying farm worker's needs and sharing this information widely, and supporting specific legislation including an Agricultural Labor Relations Act, workers compensation, minimum wage.

In addition, the assembly voted to send the Rev. Dr. Frank C. Mabee Jr., of Dallas, chairman of the Task Force on Farm Workers Concerns of the TCC, to represent the organization at His tracking.

Today we hear many things ascribed to the Scriptures that cannot be located between Genesis 1: 1 and Revelation 22:21.

"The Lord helps those who help themselves" has an element of truth to it, but it is not so stated in the Bible.

"Just so a person is sincere; that's what counts; what's in the heart."
Sincerity is certainly a virtue, but it is possible to be sincere while being sincerely wrong.

sincerely wrong.

"There are good people in all churches." There certainly are. And there are good Hondus, good Budhists, good atheists, good Communists, etc., but when it comes to entering the kingdom of heaven, a person must be "born again, of the water and the spirit" (John 3); he must "obey the Gospet" (11 Thess. 1: 8). Gespel" (11 Thess. 1:8).
."They prayed to receive Christ." "Baptism has nothing to do with salvation." Search as we may the pages of the book of Acts, the book of conversions, and we will not find one person "praying to receive Christ". What we do find, however, is that every convert was baptized (immersed in water) immediately after he professed helief in Jesus as God's Son. It certainly does have something to do with salvation, according to Matt. 28:19; Acts 2:36; Acts 22:16; I Peter 3:18-21; Gal. 3:26, 27.
Is what you think or teach truth of Scripture, or is it just what you have heard?

"We think that's illegal, most lawyers feel that it's illegal, the employers think that it's illegal," Meany said at this ocean resort city where the federation's leaders are meeting. The suit will challenge the only "teeth" in the antiinflation program: the denial of government contracts worth $5 million or more to companies that fail to comply with wage-price ceilings

Carter wants wage and fringe benefit increases held to 7 percent a year or over the life of a contract, and a slowdown in price increases to reduce inflation - 9 percent last year.

Tom Joyce, a spokesman for the administration's inflation-monitoring agency. said in Washington that "the Justice Department has advised us that the program is legal." Meany sees it differently. At a news conference, the 84year-old labor leader referred to a newspaper photograph widely displayed several months ago. It shows Carter's chief inflation fighter, Alfred Kahn, and other administration ofat a St. Louis meeting held to drum up support for Carter's program. 'Did you see that?"

Meany said. "Oh, yes, great big baseball bats. .. sort of brought the thing home to us. One AFL-CIO attorney said he expected that if the federation wins in U.S. District Court, "the case could go to the Supreme Court pretty quickly.

Meany, one of Carter's harshest critics on economic policies, argued that under voluntary programs employers are eager to hold down wage increases, but not price increases.

Instead, the federation has called for mandatory controls that would guarantee what it says would be equal sacrifices by workers and employers in the fight for inflation

"We don't want any controls," said Meany, a strong advocate of a economy free of government controls. But after Carter "imposed these voluntary." controls, we said, 'All right you want to have controls? Do the whole job. Give us mandatory controls by an ficials holding baseball bats act of Congress

Six counties in Texas declared disaster areas

Six counties in Texas have been declared disaster areas by A. Vernon Weaver, administrator of the U.S. Small Business Administration

Coke, Nolan, Palo Pinto and Parker counties were declared because of extreme drought conditions. Culberson and Hudspeth counties in southwest Texas were declared because of excessive rainfall

This declaration immediately activates SBA's Physical Disaster Loan Program in these six counties as well as in all adjacent counties within the state. Agricultural producers who suffered financial hardship because of losses to 1978 crops caused by these natural disasters may be eligible for a lowinterest SBA disaster loan.

The following formula is used by SBA in calculating the amount of eligible loss on crop damage: Acres planted x established normal yield x percentage of loss x market price - recovery equals eligible loss.

A producer may borrow only the amount of his actual losses, and the SBA loan cannot duplicate insurance ASCS disaster deficiency payments.

Interest rates on SBA disaster loans are three percent on the first $250,000 and 65% percent on any remaining amount. Terms of the loan are based on repayment ability.

SBA also has an office in Wichita Falls on the second floor of the Hamilton Building, 8th and Lamar, 76307. That phone number is 817-723-2741. Producers in Hudspeth.

Culberson and adjacent counties may contact SBA at 4100 Rio Bravo Street, Suite 300, El Paso, TX 79902 or call 915-543-7586.

Physical disaster loan applications must be filed with SBA by August 7, 1979. Economic injury disaster loan applications must be filed by November 7, 1979.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee seems to be backing away from its decision to attach an income test to a $10,000 homestead exemption from school taxes for old persons.

Committee members are expected to decide Monday whether to grant the exemption to all Texans 65 and over or restrict it to those below a certain income.

The panel also is rethinking its earlier stance in favor of immediately exempting two cars per family from property taxes. It probably will decide next week whether to delay the exemption for up to two

A week ago, the committee thought it had all the big decisions made on its bill implementing the 1978 Tax Relief Amendment, with only details to be ironed out.

"Tax relief is like a ball of yarn. When you think you're getting to the end, it starts to unravel," said the committee chairman, Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving.

Davis said the panel will miss its target of placing a bill before the House for debate on March 1. He said it will be March 7 at the earliest, and probably March 12, before floor action can begin.

The amendment allows the Legislature to exempt $10,000 of a home's market value from school taxes if the owner is disabled or 65 years old. This would be in addition to a $5,000 mandatory exemption for all homeowners.

An old person's school taxes would be frozen at current levels for his or her lifetime if the Legislature
