Vietnam ready to negotiate

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vietnam announced today it is willing to negotiate with China once all Peking's troops have left Vietnamese soil and ended a more than two-week-old frontier war.

But a Vietnamese Foreign Ministry statement said if Chinese leaders were trying a "withdrawal trick" in order to escalate the war then Vietnam would fight on "in the spirit of general mobilization."

The statement said Chinese troops had to withdraw "completely and unconditionally from Vietnamese territory before any negotiations take place."

It also said China was forced to announce it was withdrawing Monday because it found itself in "difficult circumstances" — military losses, support Russia and others were giving Vietnam, and even objections to the war in China. It said any negotiations would take place at the vice foreign ministers' level at a time and place to be agreed on at a later date.

Hanoi Radio reported fighting was continuing in Lang Son province north of the Vietnamese capital and claimed Hanoi's troops killed or wounded more than 700 Chinese in fighting Monday in Hoang Lien Son province in the northwest.

Nhan Dan, the Vietnamese Communist Party newspaper, said Peking's announcement that Chinese troops began pulling out Monday, 16 days after the invasion started, was "contrary to the real situation in the battlefields."

China "is stepping up its aggression, and its troops are frantically destroying Vietnamese villages," said the paper.

The Vietnamese army newspaper, Quan Doi Nhan Dan, said Peking was "feverishly pouring more Chinese troops in to Vietnam," and asked: "Who can believe that China will withdraw when its southward crusade has just begun?"

The Vietnam News Agency said President Ton Duc Thang ordered "mobilization throughout the country to protect the nation and to win the aggressive war waged by the Chinese expansionists."

It said the president signed a decree ordering all citizens of military age to join the armed forces.

"All necessary manpower, material and financial resources shall be mobilized to meet the needs of war for national salvation," the decree said.

Bangkok intelligence sources said they had no evidence of a Chinese pullout, but intelligence reports frequently lag behind battlefield events.

Some of these sources said China might be following a scorched-earth policy in withdrawing and that this could be the stepped-up aggression Vietnam referred to.

Other intelligence sources said it was likely the fighting would not end abruptly but would wind down to small-scale border skirmishing.

The Vietnam News Agency said the first troops to be sent to war with China from Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, were given a rousing sendoff Sunday.

The agency said in the past few days thousands of young people in the former South Vietnamese capital volunteered to fight the Chinese. It said nearly 500,000 workers and civil servants joined a drive to make each factory "a fortress against Chinese aggressors."

Chinese troops crossed the Vietnamese border on Feb. 17 with the declared aim of punishing Vietnam for alleged border provocations, and Peking's Xinhua (Hsinhua) news agency said in announcing the withdrawal that the Chinese had achieved their goal of "dealing devastating blows to Vietnamese armed forces."

Vietnam invaded Cambodia Dec. 25, ousted the pro-Peking government of Premier Pol Pot two weeks later and set up a pro-Hanoi regime made up of Cambodian Communists who had broken with Pol Pot. But the Cambodian army has been waging guerrilla war against the invaders ever since.

Hiltbrunner announces entry into Big Spring council race

L.A. (Red) Hiltbrunner announced Monday, his entry into the race for Place Three on the Big Spring City Council.

Hiltbrunner is a long-time Big Spring resident, and the former owner and operator of the Alert Ambulance Service here. He is also a former Big Spring policeman.

He is now "semi-retired," but still maintains farming and small business interests in the city.

In an effort to reach Hiltbrunner for a statement about the race, a Herald reporter was unable to contact him. Hiltbrunner will be given an opportunity to promote his candidacy at a later date.

Place Three is presently occupied by Council Member Polly Mays. Local residents Larry Miller and Sam Hunnicutt have also filed to run for the same position.

Construction permits sag

Construction in the city dropped off for the first time in months during February.

Projects for the month totaled $256,360.50, compared to $2,643,899 for February of 1978. February of last year was a banner month for construction with signing of permits for the new K-Mart Complex, the Bent Cement Skateboard Park, and the remodeling of the State National Bank and structures at the Rip Griffin Truck Terminal.

These projects alone totaled $2,262,000.

The largest project of the month this year was the proposed construction of a truck and trailer dealership at 300 N.E. 12th. John Birdwell and Randall Jobe commissioned the project at an estimated $80,000.

The most expensive new residence to receive a permit during the month will be built at 2705 Central by Clay Thompson at an estimated cost of $40,000. Other new residents included those to be built by Monroe Godwin, 2304 S. Monticello, $24,000; and James Norman, 1809 Thorp, $31,000.

Robert Van Rosenberg will remodel a home at 2617 Ann at a cost of $28,567.

Carter to see peace?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's unannounced hope is to witness the final signing of an Egyptian-Israeli treaty as the climax of his dramatic Mideast peace mission.

This historic possibility, broached Monday by both Egyptian and Israeli leaders, was reinforced by U.S. officials.

When a Carter aide, who asked not to be named, was questioned about a possible treaty signing during the trip, he replied cryptically, "We have said on several occasions we would hope to bring this (treaty search) to an early conclusion."

In Cairo, Egyptian Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil said Carter's trip "will most likely lead to a signing."

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, noting his government's acceptance of U.S. suggestions for wrapping up a treaty, told a congressional audience:

"Let us hope Egypt will join the effort. Then if this happens, in a short period of time, we may have the ceremony of signing."

Khalil's analysis, in a telephone interview with The Associated Press, was pointed and upbeat: "When an American president puts down all his stakes, it is natural that it has to have a positive result."

White House press secretary Jody Powell said Carter will arrive in Cairo Thursday afternoon for talks with President Anwar Sadat and proceed to Jerusalem Saturday evening for talks with Begin.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Farm vehicles, tags

Q. Do tractors and farm vehicles require license plates? Sometimes I see them driving along public thoroughfares.

A. According to state law, they don't, if they are operated only temporarily on highways. Often a farmer will simply be driving a farm implement from one field to another. The farmer's pickup, because it is a regular road vehicle, needs a license.

Calendar: Schools open house

TODAY

Several area elementary schools have their Public School Week Open House tonight. College Heights holds open house from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Kentwood from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Moss will have open house from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Washington will have open house from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Students' work will be on display in all schools except Moss.

Pink Puffers meeting, open to the public, 7 p.m., Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Posse Clubhouse.

WEDNESDAY

The Region V Basketball Tournament will begin 7 p.m. in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Tourney competition is then scheduled for each day through the rest of the week.

THURSDAY

Retired Federal Employees at the Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center, 2805 Lynn St., 9:30 a.m.

Big Spring School Board of Trustees meet Thursday at 5:15 p.m. for their regular meeting in the board room at the high school.

FRIDAY

The Anthony Hunt Library on Howard College campus will close at 5 p.m. Friday and will remain closed for spring break. The library will reopen on Monday, March 19, at 8 a.m.

Tops on TV: Steel union

A few little gems are hidden in tonight's schedule. At 7 p.m., "CBS Reports" will take a look at the inside workings of a large steel workers union. It's tough to recommend NBC's premiere entry, "Gold Of The Amazon Women," so hang on until 8:15 when PBS presents a great musical, "High Society," with Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly and "Old Blue Eyes." Finally, Robert Altman fans will want to stay up until 10:30 p.m. for a quirky look at a compulsive gambler in "California Split." George Segal and Elliott Gould star on Channels 4 and 13.

Inside: Shouting match

A NON-CONTROVERSIAL bill that was supposed to flow through the state legislature, stirred up quite a shouting match between two Texas senators. See page 5-A.

THE DEMONSTRATIONS that were conducted by the American Agriculture movement were counter-productive, a federal farm official claims. See page 7-A.

DEAR ABBY: I feel silly writing to you, but neither my husband nor I seem able to resolve this problem. We have two daughters, 5 and 3. My husband is a devoted father who often takes the girls shopping. Sometimes I stay home alone just for a rest from the girls.

Nelda: During your teen years your body is changing rapidly and sometimes throws itself out of sync.

One way to get back to normal is to stick to a rigid sleeping schedule. Go to bed and get up at the same time each day — no catnaps allowed.

Husband Vietnam POW Wife squandered pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court says the Air Force allowed a colonel's wife to squander his military pay while he was a prisoner of war in Vietnam. Among the expenses criticized by the court: money for delivery of her child by another man at a private hospital.

"All she had to do was to state her wants in writing," the U.S. Court of Appeals said. "The record does not show a single instance in which the Air Force rejected a request for funds by the wife, no matter what reasons she assigned."

During his imprisonment in North Vietnam for more than seven years, Col. Fred V. Cherry's pay totaled nearly $150,000, which the court said was nearly gone when he was freed. It had been used for support of his wife and the couple's four children.

requested money for surgery at a private hospital despite the fact she was entitled to free care at military hospitals in the area, a routine inquiry "might have discovered this evidence of marital misconduct" — that the "operation in the private hospital was for delivery of an illegitimate child."

The court ruled that Cherry "is entitled to recover any amounts owed him" by the Air Force through its violation of duty with the amount to be decided at another trial.

Cherry claims he is entitled to $122,098. The court noted that it did not have before it the question of whether Cherry also may be able to recover money from his ex-wife.

After his return, Cherry got a divorce on grounds of adultery and charged that the Air Force failed to protect his interests.

The Claims court agreed, saying the Air Force "settled on a policy of satisfying the more vocal demands of dependents as painlessly as possible for it and for the dependents, without consideration of the concerns of the absent and silent servicemen."

Stenholm has been working with the administrator of the SBA on a daily basis in an effort to seek these extensions. Many farmers and ranchers in the area have faced difficulty in filing applications because of the fact that it has been, in many instances, impossible to harvest crops and obtain the necessary ASCS certification which must accompany an SBA application.

The Congressman indicated his hope that the extension will prove helpful to individuals who have experienced losses and thereby qualify for this program.

Disaster loan plan deadline extended

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announced that the Small Business Administration has extended the deadline for submitting applications under the disaster loan program.

The new deadline for physical disaster loan applications is April 5, 1979. Farmers and ranchers who suffered financial hardship due to drought losses on 1978 crops may now file by the later deadline. July 6, 1979 has been set as the new deadline for economic disaster loans.

Area cotton prices declined last week

B.B. Manly reported that 24,000 cotton samples were classed at the U.S.D.A. Cotton Marketing Services Office in Abilene during the week ending Friday, March 2nd. About 13,000 samples were classed from bales produced in the Abilene territory, and the remaining 11,000 were from the Munday territory. This brought the seasonal total to 420,000 samples classed in Abilene, and 60,000 classed at Munday.

Local cotton prices declined daily last week. Prices fell to seasonal low levels. Some prices were down by 2 1/2 cents per pound during the week. Bid prices ranged from 6 1/2 to 9 cents per pound over CCC loan rates. Most mixed quality lots of cotton sold at 50 to 52 cents per pound. Demand was light to moderate, and trading was mostly slow.

Naked man's body found near railroad tracks

The identity of a naked body of a white male found west of Abilene near Trent has not been established, and the Big Spring State Hospital is searching its records to aid Abilene authorities.

The body, described as 18 to 24 years old, 140 pounds, five-foot-six inches tall with blue-gray eyes, strawberry blond hair and beard, was found near railroad tracks west of Trent by two railroad workers, Ed Stuart, 31, and Willie L. Washington, 42.

The body was lying face down in a gully at the bottom of a railroad track embankment near U.S. Highway 80 around 2:30 p.m. Monday. He had apparently been dead about two days.

Although no marks that would indicate violent death were found on the body, Merkel Justice of the Peace Henry Guenther ordered an autopsy to determine the cause of death. A Department of Public Safety trooper, several Taylor County Sheriff's deputies and the Merkel Chief of Police were all at the scene.

About a mile from the body, near a stock tank, a pair of jeans and a black T-shirt were found, but it had not been determined whether the clothes belonged to the man; they do fit the body.

The only other identifying mark on the body was a tattoo on the left forearm which read "I walk alone."

The Big Spring State

Hospital officials have begun checking their patient files on a request from Abilene authorities.

"We have determined that he was not an unauthorized departure — walk-away, as they are commonly termed," said Jake Glickman. "That means he was not a current patient, but he could have been a patient sometime in the past. We are checking through all our old records, but it could take several days to find out whether or not he was ever treated here."

The body was picked up by Starbuck Funeral Home and transported to Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene for the autopsy.

Gov. Clements cannot win this fight

The gloves are off in Austin. Gov. Bill Clements, who some legislators regarded as a carpetbagger in the beginning because he wore the political stripe of the 'other' party, said he could trim taxes by $1 billion.

Even the legislators expressed admiration for such a statement until they discovered the way Clements wanted to go about it. The governor proposed to cut $780 million out of the educational pie created by the Legislative Budget Bureau.

IN SHORT, Clements was prepared to totally ignore the 5.1 percent base increase in teachers' salaries. That was alright for Bill, who won the election without the help of the teachers anyway. But many of the legislators had been elected with the help of the educators. Naturally, they didn't feel the same way.

Spokesmen for the educators argue that pay raises granted the teachers haven't kept pace with inflation, that many of them can't continue to teach if they lose money year after year.

The quality of education is determined by the caliber of people hired to teach the students and not many people who like to eat and who appreciate the better things in life are going to risk their future in a business where the system which offers them employment is not realistic about pay scales.

GRANTED THERE may be some fat in school budgets, trimming educational dollars can be a case of being penny wise and pound foolish.

What we save in dollars today we stand to lose in far greater proportion in our educational level.

Some legislators may oppose Clements' plan simply because he is a Republican. An overwhelming number, it appears, challenge his view because they are convinced he simply can't do this sort of thing to an honorable and very necessary profession.

This is one fight Gov. Clements should concede gracefully, because it is one he's not going to win.

Worthwhile movie

Around the rim

Marie Homeyer

This past weekend, because there were no decent shows that appealed to us playing in Big Spring, a friend of mine and I went to Midland to see "Ice Castles," a movie starring Robby Benson.

The movie was worth the 45-minute drive. I had heard the show was good and my friend had seen it once. I knew it must be good for her to want to see it a second time. I was not disappointed. The show was excellent.

YOUNG BENSON has always been one of my favorite actors and his performance in this production lived up to his potential.

Benson plays the part of the boyfriend of a young, talented ice skater. He is trying to discover what it is in life that he wants. He tries medical school and decides against it. Then he tries out for the major hockey league and realizes that he is not good enough.

By that time his girlfriend, played by a newcomer to the acting field, has gained loads of attention as the 16-year-old girl trying to make the Olympics with only six months training. Lynn-Holly Johnson offers a creditable performance, both in her acting and in her skating.

The heart of story comes when Johnson, overwhelmed by all the attention she is getting, becomes careless in her skating, has an accident and as a result of that accident loses her sight.

It is then that Benson sees the meaning in his life. He must help the girl he loves get a grip on life. Until then, Johnson withdraws into herself, sitting in the attack of her home in her dead mother's clothes.

Benson takes her out, with the help of her old skating instructor, and teaches her to skate without benefit of sight. It is difficult for her at first but she succeeds. She regains enough confidence to think that she can still make the tryouts for the regional or sectional contest. Her father, who has treated her like a doll ever since her mother's death, was skeptical at first but finally gives his consent. After he gives in, he is one of her staunchest supporters.

Her only reservation is that she thinks people might laugh at her because she is blind. So between the four of them, they devise a way to fool the spectators. Not even the skaters themselves can tell that she is not able to see. She pulls it off until the very last. They forget one item. That part I will not give away. You see the movie to find out how it ends.

I truly enjoyed the movie and the excellent skating ability that Johnson shows. There is some incidence of profanity that might have been left out of the script. Other than adding a twinge of reality, it served no real purpose.

If you have the chance, and if the movie makes its way to Big Spring, it will be worth your time and money to see what, in my opinion, an old-fashioned movie where everything turns out good.

Blundering with Billy

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter's efforts to stop brother Billy from alienating the president's remaining Jewish support not only came six weeks late but badly missed the mark, reflecting leadership problems that persist despite more than two years in power.

Carter's closest aides were too frightened of their chief during those six weeks to impress on him the need for total disassociation from Billy Carter's anti-Semitic outbursts; it took the redoubtable Robert Strauss to enter the tiger's lair. Even then, however, Carter could not quite make the surgically clean division between himself and his brother that Jewish supporters demanded.

A completed Israel-Egypt peace treaty, unthinkable without Carter's courageous mediation, could restore much of the president's Jewish backing — but not all of it. Unfair though it is, Jimmy Carter's handling of his errant brother constitutes an irretrievable political blunder.

INDEED, CARTER is the innocent victim in relations with the politically important Jewish community. Jewish suspicions of him as an evangelical Christian were exacerbated by his refusal to tilt toward Israel in Mideast diplomacy. In truth, the president is not remotely anti-Semitic. Nor is his Mideast policy anti-Israel or pro-Arab; as it should be, it is pro-American.

That trust was ignored by many Jewish leaders when Carter applied pressure to Israel in search of settlement. It was wiped away by brother Billy's new comradeship with Libya's viciously anti-Israeli regime. On Jan. 10, the younger Carter erased indulgent smiles at the White House by attacking Jewish power in America. When he declared "the Jewish media tears up Arab countries full time," he was drawing from anti-Semitism's traditional charge that Jews monopolize communications.

White House aides gravely let it be known that Billy had become "a real problem" — a major admission in a polyantha administration that pooh-poos revolutionary upheaval in Iran. Press secretary Jody Powell on Jan. 11 disassociated the president from his brother's comments, but indirect disavowal did not satisfy the Jewish community.

Ed Sanders, the Los Angeles Jewish leader whose unhappy role on the White House staff is presidential intermediary with the Jewish community, advised the president (in writing and orally) that he must personally disavow his brother's views. But Sanders is no Carter intimate. The few aides who are intimates dared not tell him they agreed with Sanders.

That was the situation in mid-February when Billy, accompanied by Libyan friends, said of Jewish criticism: "They can kiss my —" during the Washington's Birthday blizzard a snowbound Bob Strauss pondered the situation from his Watergate penthouse. With Carter's stock dropping after worldwide Valentine's Day humiliations, something had to be done about Billy.

Powell agreed with Strauss, who finally convinced the president. The result was a Sunday story in the Washington Post in which Strauss quoted the president as disassociating himself from his brother.

Not only too late but too little, said Jewish leaders. They wanted the president speaking for himself. But when he did so at a press conference two days later, he set back relations with the Jewish community. Carter's misstatement that Billy is "seriously ill" denied by his brother's doctor was merely compulsive exaggeration. What bothered Jewish leaders was his denial that Billy's statements were anti-Semitic when in fact they are universally so perceived by Jews.

"Scuse me, Mr. Washington, sir... but you can't keep throwing dollars INTO the river, y'hear, sir...?"

Glands seldom cause of overweight

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I have always heard that when your thyroid gland gets out of whack you get fat. I was surprised to read in your column that this is not so, or that it rarely happens. My doctor must agree, because when I suggested that my fatness might be caused by the gland problem, he pooh-poohed the idea. He said, "If you want the tests I can order them, but it's a waste of money." Can you clarify this for me? I am not greatly overweight, but do find losing weight difficult. This gland idea has me worried — Mrs. T.E.

Incomplete medical knowledge can be worse than none at all in some cases. Thyroid gland deficiency (underactivity) can be a cause of obesity, but the idea can be oversimplified. The fact is that it seldom is, and in most cases the only one who really benefits from the testing is the laboratory.

The reason for saying this is that the symptom of overweight, if it is related to gland function, is usually a late-appearing one. There are a host of other symptoms that precede it, any one or group of which would probably get a patient in for examination. These include weakness, intolerance to cold, dry thickened skin and fluid retention (edema). There may be brittleness of nails and hair.

Confronted with such symptoms, a doctor might begin to suspect thyroid gland deficiency and want the tests. The symptoms indicate a general slowing of body metabolism, which is what helps promote weight gain.

Puffiness of the face and edema is a classic sign, but I presume you have had none of the ones I mentioned. Hence, your doctor has good enough reason NOT to suspect thyroid gland involvement in your overweight problem. But if you can't get the idea out of your mind it might be well to have the tests, an admittedly expensive way to ease your anxiety and confine you that willpower, not glands, is what is deficient.

Dr. Ruble: I have heard that chocolate and candy do not cause pimples and acne. My mother insists they do. Who is correct? — D.S.D.S.

Both of you are partially correct. For years, doctors recommended certain diets for various conditions, including skin problems like acne. Your mother remembers well what she was taught. The restrictions usually included your chocolates, nuts, fatty or fried foods, seafood, alcoholic beverages, as well as limiting all kinds of carbohydrates (starchy foods, etc.) More recent studies, however, have failed to show where diet of any kind helps clear up or prevent acne or skin blemishes. In fact, your dentist would object more to the candy than would your dermatologist (skin specialist).

If it is generally agreed today that acne results from a combination of things — hormones, skin gland activity and possibly skin bacteria. So why do I say that mother might be partially correct? It's because one's total diet may be a secondary factor. For example, overdoing any one food source (such as chocolates and other sweets) tends to throw a diet into imbalance. That can affect general skin health. If you do have acne, you have to look elsewhere than to diet for help. You may want to read a more extensive treatment of this subject in the booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples." If so, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of Bcg Spring Herald and I'll send a copy.

Dear Dr. Ruble: With teenage sex increasing along with teenage VD and abortions, can you say something for parents of teenage girls who seem bent on experimenting in this? — Mrs. P.N.

VD is rising among teenage girls. Latest figures I've seen indicate that about a third of all abortions are performed on teenagers, so you are not overstating the dimensions of this problem.

Nothing I can say would be half as effective as what you might in a one-to-one discussion with your own daughter. Literature seldom is as effective, although the Planned Parenthood Federation of America has recently published a pamphlet on this subject for teenagers. It is called, "Teensex? — It's OK To Say 'No Way.'" I have reviewed it and it appears to be a sensible approach, one teenage girls can relate to. A local branch of the organization will be able to tell you how to get a copy.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why are Christians not more concerned about issues like poverty and hunger in our world? It seems to me that Jesus was concerned about these things. — P.O.

DEAR P.O.: Yes, Jesus was concerned about these issues, and there were times when He acted to alleviate these and other social problems. He also, both by His example and His teaching, taught His disciples to help alleviate human need wherever they might find it. Jesus even said that at the last judgment His disciples would have to give an account of they way they had treated those who were in need (see Matthew 25:31-46).

Virtually every movement to alleviate human need in our society has roots in Christianity. An Anglican bishop in England once told me he knew of no social organization in his country (including the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) that did not have its roots in a spiritual awakening.

At the same time, the Christian knows that human misery will never be completely solved this side of eternity. At best all we can do is provide temporary solutions to many problems — although that should not keep us from acting. But the Christian also knows that many of the social problems we face have a spiritual dimension as well. How much of the poverty of this world, for example, is caused by human greed, and people who oppress others?

That is why we must never lose sight of our primary task — the spreading of the good news of Jesus Christ. Christ — and Christ alone — is able to change the hearts of the individuals who make up society. If we truly love as Christ loves, we will want to do what we can for those who suffer.

King of peddlers

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — From our private rogues' gallery of international scoundrels, we have identified the world's most notorious drug trafficker. He is Chang Chi-fu, 45-year-old Burmese leader of an army of mercenary cutthroats in the "Golden Triangle" area of Southeast Asia.

Chang, also known by his Burmese Shan name of Khun Sa, is the boss of the world's biggest opium ring. He controls a so-called "Shan United Army," supposedly a patriotic liberation army of freedom fighters that battle Communist enemies of the Burmese government. But the group is actually nothing more than a well-armed gang of dope smugglers led by Chinese ethnics who control half the Golden Triangle's opium trade.

The self-styled liberation army's true mission is to provide protection for shipments of narcotics to Thailand — tons of high-grade opium which, when refined into heroin, eventually finds its way into the veins of junkies in the United States.

DURING THE YEARS of U.S. involvement in Vietnam Chang cleverly used his patriotic cover to consolidate control over the booming dope traffic in the Golden Triangle.

Burmese authorities apprehended Chang and put him under house arrest for a couple of years in the early 1970s, but he escaped in 1975 and made his way back to his army headquarters. Under his leadership, the Shan United Army has become the largest single drug-peddling organization in Southeast Asia.

Chang's father was also an opium merchant. His associates claim that Chang is a legitimate businessman, and point to his tin mines and jade exporting interests in Burma. But our associate Jack Mitchell has learned from intelligence sources that he is the new kingpin of international dope smuggling.

Two years ago we exposed what was then the largest narcotics ring in history, operating in the Golden Triangle. The publicity from subsequent congressional hearings, and pressure from the U.S. government, forced most of the drug dealers into hiding.

Today, however, many of them have resumed their illicit activities, operating freely right under the noses of Chinese- and Soviet-backed troops.

ANIMAL REPRIEVE: Like the legendary officer who set out to save a Vietnamese village by destroying it, the Safari Club International wants to save 39 endangered species of African and Asian wildlife by slaughtering some of them for trophies.

Last August, the Arizona-based club submitted a proposed yearly shopping list of 1,120 rare animals to the Fish and Wildlife Service, which grants exceptions to the ban on such hunting under the Endangered Species Act. The club recently withdrew the application on the grounds that the proposal was never approved by its board of directors.

That's just as well, because the club probably would have been subjected to a Justice Department investigation challenging some of the claims it made.

At one point in the permit application the club said that it had the approval of various foreign countries to hunt the animals. But the New York Zoological Society noted that at least five animals on the club's intended list were fully protected by the host nations.

For example, the club asked permission to kill 10 orangutans yearly. But the Zoological Society noted that "in the last decade no permits have been issued for the legal hunting-killing of wild orangutans" in the only three countries where the valued

THE CLUB'S application also cited the "well recognized principle that regulated sport hunting is a valuable tool for scientific research and provides critical incentive for propagation and hence survival of the species."

The Orwellian logic here is that if an animal has some economic value — like bringing in revenue through the sale of licenses to trophy hunters — the host country will be encouraged to set up an efficient conservation program for the species.

Some environmental groups are unimpressed with the Safari Club's reasoning. While hunting is a legitimate conservation tool for overpopulated animal species, they argue that this is not the case with endangered species.

Besides the orangutans, the club's proposed hit list included 100 cheetahs, five gorillas, 40 jaguars, 25 tigers, 100 mountain zebras and 200 snow leopards.

"In all cases," say experts with the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums, "there is data available to demonstrate the taking of these animals as trophy material is illogical, ill conceived and not justifiable."

The New York Zoological Society also noted that some of the club's targets "are so critically endangered that killing any of the specimens would constitute a severe threat to the survival of the wild population."

UNDER THE DOME: The United States Senate is a gentlemen's club of such long standing that when it's all-male solidarity is cracked on rare occasions a lot of people can't seem to accept the situation. Much of the mail the Senate's only woman member, Nancy Kassebaum, gets from lobbyists and trade associations addresses her as "Mr." or "Sir."

'Non-controversial' bill stirs up shouting match in committee

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A seemingly non-controversial bill requiring each county to choose a single voting system — machine or punchcard — provoked a shouting match between a conservative legislator and a committee chairwoman Monday.

The House tentatively approved the bill, 104-33, was expected to vote final passage today.

The measure would outlaw mixed voting systems, which sponsors contend cause delays in counting ballots.

According to a House Study Group report, only Bexar County has both machine and punchcard voting.

Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, said passage of the measure could delay Texas elections because the U.S. Voting rights act requires approval of election law changes by a federal court or the justice department.

"This is some of the blessings the Voting Rights Act has brought to you: chaos, confusion and constraint," Hollowell said.

But Rep. Sue McBee, D-Del Rio, chairwoman of the House Elections Committee, said Texas has had no problems so far in having election law changes approved by the justice department.

"Last session, the justice department didn't object to one single piece of legislation this legislature passed," she said, shouting to be heard as Hollowell continued speaking.

Mrs. McBee said following Hollowell's logic would amount to shutting down the elections committee for the session.

"If we don't pass this bill, we won't have to worry about some federal court shutting down the free election process like they have done in Dallas and Houston," Hollowell insisted.

He contended voting rights suits had blocked some local elections in those two cities.

Senators passed, 26-3, and sent to the House a bill allowing trucker organizations to make rate recommendations to the Texas Railroad Commission without violating anti-trust laws.

Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, dropped the filibuster he had begun against the bill last Wednesday but spoke briefly against it.

The sponsor, Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said federal law already permits truckers to have rating bureaus that present a common front to regulatory bodies.

Schwartz, sponsor of a bill to deregulate truckers altogether, said the bill did nothing more than "rubber stamp the practice for their (truckers) own protection against anti-trust laws."

Also in Monday's floor action, the House tentatively approved a bill allowing counties and special districts to receive airport safety and construction grants from the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

Inflation number one enemy

By Bill Albright

Executive Vice President,
Big Spring Area Ch. of Commerce
Industrial Growth and Development

According to a national poll, Wage & Price controls are favored by more than 50 percent of the American public.

Such a feeling is the result of extremely dangerous conditions created at the federal level of government and is based on some very erroneous and mythical information!

Let's examine some of those myths and discuss the governments role in causing inflation.

It is no myth that Inflation is our number one enemy.

Unfortunately, it has taken the Congress an inordinately long time to recognize and proclaim this fact.

It is, however, a myth, that wage and price spirals are the cause of inflation. Wages and prices simply reflect the inflated economy of today. They are the symptoms of the disease. And the diseases? The inflation or expansion of our money supply is the real source of our economic disability.

It should be noted here that the real wealth of any country, is in the goods and services produced by the people. Money is nothing more than a representation or symbol of that wealth.

Ideally, the money printed or coined by the government should be an accurate balance symbolizing the value of that nations goods or services.

It is fact that the United States spends far more money than it takes in through taxation. We casually refer to this deficit spending.

If you or I followed this practice of deficit spending, in a very short time, we would be bankrupt.

The Federal Government, however, has a tool that we don't have — it's called a printing press, or in this case, the bureau of engraving — and they simply print the additional dollars needed to meet the deficit.

Even the most basic student of economics knows that when there is a surplus of anything, the value of that anything decreases. When the government prints an excess of money to meet its deficit spending, the value of that surplus money decreases and presto — inflation occurs.

It should be obvious then, that wage and price controls will not curb inflation. Controls have been tried for 2000 years and have failed consistently. Actually, they have contributed to even greater inflationary conditions.

As an example, such controls create shortages — simply because the incentive to produce at artificially set prices is drastically curtailed. So-called black markets result. They, in turn, distribute these short supply items at tremendously high prices. But, the major bad effect of controls is the delayed action that occurs, when finally, the controls are relaxed or removed — after being bottled up for any period of time — wages prices will surge to new high to "catch up" or to find their supply and demand level, often creating an even more pronounced inflation.

Another myth is that inflation can be contained by you and me. That it's a universally affected condition which the private sector can influence directly. Government creates inflation by increasing the number of dollars which represents non-existent goods and services — government alone can stop the process.

At the invitation of the White House, the National Chamber has proposed several suggestions to curb inflation. Next week we'll continue discussion of this important matter and review those suggestions.

In the mean time, just think of the effectiveness of Federal Government, if we could get it to decrease its regulatory control and increase its HUSTLE!!!! HUSTLE!!!! HUSTLE!!!!

'My house is the target' for cars

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — Cars keep trying to hit his house, claims Robert Casagrande, and he's tired of it.

"It's getting so my mother's afraid to sit in the living room at night," said the 49-year-old bachelor printer. "My house is the target."

A car coming off a sharp curve 50 yards from the two-story frame house smashed through the hedges and slammed into the front porch about 2 a.m. Saturday. Casagrande said it was the sixth time in five years an out-of-control car spun onto the property.

"I woke up and said, 'Here we go again,'" said Casagrande.

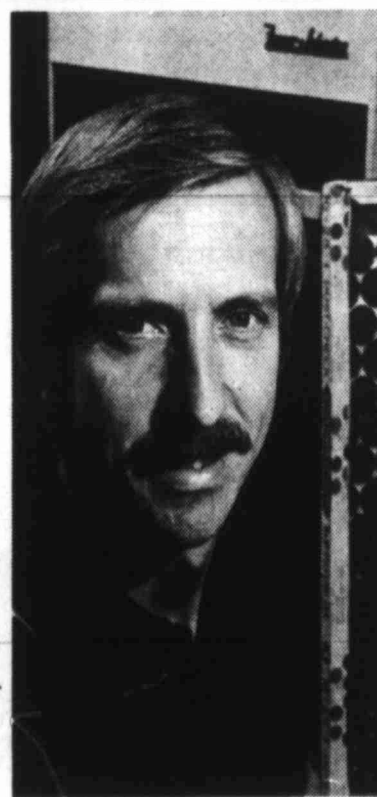

"The car didn't make the curve. The driver didn't even apply the brakes. He shook the house like a bomb. My mother's 70. She's still not recovered from the shock."

"The car was underneath the porch. I saw one guy hanging out of the car. Not a scratch on him. Couldn't pull the car out of the porch."

"Road's like a speedway. It's getting to be like a race track. Always happens after the bars close."

"A clean filter can save on your electric bill, so I check mine once a month"

Darrell Bevelhymmer, Texas Electric engineer.

"At Texas Electric, where I work, our job is to provide you with the electricity you need.

But higher construction and fuel costs are making it more expensive to do.

I can tell just by looking at my electric bill.

One thing I do at home is to keep a checklist right on my heating/air-conditioning unit. I sure I check it at least once a month. I couldn't remember it otherwise, and it's important.

A dirty filter limits the air flow through there—and that uses more energy."

Demonstrations harmful, fed says

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Last month's demonstrations by the American Agriculture Movement were counter-productive and eroded the dwindling support that agriculture enjoys in the nation's capital, a federal farm official said Monday.

"The sentiment for agriculture in Washington is shifting quite fast," said Stewart Smith, associate administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. "Beneficial legislation may be lost because many (Congressmen and Senators) might hesitate to lend their support now because they think they've been pressured into providing that support."

The majority of Congress doesn't have a farm constituency, Smith told newsmen after addressing the Missouri ASCS state conference. Farmers comprise only 4 percent of the nation's population, and there are only two Congressional districts with a farm population as high as 25 percent (both in Minnesota), only 11 districts as high as 20 percent.

Concern in the U.S. House and Senate over inflation and a balanced budget has diluted the interest in the plight of agriculture, Smith said.

"If there's any money going around, I think the urban areas are going to get it," he said when asked about possible federal funding of new farm programs.

Smith said there is more support for agriculture in the Senate, where each Senator has some farm constituents, but less and less support in the House.

Smith said the farmers hurt their cause in last month's demonstrations.

"There was a different feeling this year than last. There was less sympathy for them this year, and the farmers seemed less coordinated."

"Most of the people there (in Washington) were not very pleased. I don't see the demonstrations bringing any improvements."

Smith also questioned the credibility of the strike threats raised by the AA a year ago.

"They said if they didn't get what they wanted they would cut back in production 50 percent. But there was no major reduction," Smith said.

With agriculture in the upheaval it's in today, more and more people are becoming concerned about the survival of the family farm, Smith said. The roller-coaster economics agriculture is experiencing hits the producer and the consumer hardest, he added.

Smith told the 650 state and county ASCS workers that he had mixed emotions about the federal grain reserve program. He said it was working better than anyone had thought possible, but quickly added:

"I want to run up a danger signal. Grain producers cannot rely solely upon the reserve program, and I am somewhat afraid they are beginning to do that. We cannot continue producing corn and wheat for a reserve program. Farmers must use the set-aside and diversion programs to begin balancing supply with demand so the market will pay reasonably profitable prices. It is important that farmers understand that."

Prince eats snake meat

MOSCOW (AP) — It's another busy week for Britain's royal family, with a sustained Prince Philip flying off to Moscow and Prince Charles eating snake meat.

Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, arrived in the Soviet capital Monday for a four-day visit and is to view facilities being built for horses and riders at the 1980 Moscow Olympics.

Philip, looking suntanned after a three-week tour of Arabian Gulf states with the queen, is president of the International Equestrian Federation. He came here at the invitation of Soviet Olympic organizers.

Meanwhile, in Hong Kong, 30-year-old Prince Charles gingerly ate several ferns, grimaced after drinking some rice wine, then when it came time for the snake meat, quipped, "Boy, the things I do for England."

Senator gives advice

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Former Sen. Clifford Case has some simple advice for prospective politicians: "Get rich first."

"Get rich and don't be dependent on a political job to feed a family or pay the rent. Then you can tell anyone where to go if he wants you to do something you don't want to," says Case.

His style when he spoke Monday at Rutgers University was familiar, almost like he was campaigning. But, he said, "I'm not a politician, I'm not running for anything and I don't expect to again."

"I've never been so happy in my life, enjoying all the showoff parts without any of the unpleasant things," said Chase, a Republican who spent 24 years in the Senate.

Billy Carter improves

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) — Reporters no longer will have to interview Billy Carter from the window of his hospital room — provided he wants to talk.

The president's brother, hospitalized more than a week with a severe case of bronchitis, is expected to be released either Wednesday or Thursday.

His physician, Dr. Paul Broun, said Monday that Carter's condition has continued to improve.

"He's doing very well," Broun said. "He's coming along nicely and will get out of the hospital either Wednesday or Thursday."

Connors quiet about wife

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jimmy Connors is often outspoken, but when it comes to the subject of his marriage to an auburn-haired Playboy Playmate, the tennis champ isn't talking.

Several sources confirmed Monday that Connors is secretly married to former Playmate Patti McGuire, but Connors was unavailable for comment.

A spokesman in St. Louis said the 26-year-old Connors was "away for a rest" after his $40,000 National Indoor Tennis Championship victory Sunday over Arthur Ashe in Memphis.

Britain stops supply flights

Amin orders new offensive move

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin has ordered a new offensive against Tanzanian invaders and urged his army to "fight to the last man." But the British government stopped supply flights to the Ugandan dictator, and neighboring African nations have offered to help Tanzania.

Amin's official Radio Kampala warned all persons in the southern part of the country occupied by the Tanzanians to "evacuate immediately before a major offensive is launched to liberate Ugandan territory."

There was no indication when the drive might start. In London, the British Trade Department banned Uganda Airlines' twice-a-week cargo flights that had been carrying supplies, reportedly much of it medical equipment.

A spokesman said the move was made to "put additional pressure" on Amin. A report from Angola said leaders of Angola, Zambia, Mozambique and Botswana met there Monday and offered support for Tanzania's attack on Uganda's "imperialist aggression." The nature of the proffered support was not specified. Amin also was getting foreign help.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said Libyan troops were flown recently to Kampala, but he would not say how many were in the airlift. He said although Libya has been sending military supplies to Amin for several years, this is the first time it has sent troops.

The Nation, a Nairobi newspaper, said a source close to Amin told it 2,500 Libyan and Moroccan troops arrived in Uganda to help him. But the State Department spokesman said he had no evidence of such Moroccan aid.

The Tanzanians, backed by Ugandan exiles and reportedly by dissident Ugandan soldiers, control much of southeastern Uganda. They were reported shelling Lukaya, 52 miles from Kampala, but sources in Kampala said the city was calm and there was no indication that a Tanzanian advance was feared.

In the Tanzanian capital of Dar es Salaam, the Ugandan president Amin ousted in 1971, said in a television interview that guerrillas loyal to him were "marching toward Kampala." But observers in Nairobi believe the Tanzanians will not try to advance that far.

Obote said he is certain Amin will be overthrown, but he said he does not plan to return as president.

"I will return as an Ugandan," he said. "We want to liberate the country first before we talk about leaders. First we must liberate the country, then we will sit down to decide how to elect our next president."

Trade Department banned Uganda Airlines' twice-a-week cargo flights that had been carrying supplies, reportedly much of it medical equipment. A spokesman said the move was made to "put additional pressure" on Amin.

Macca Findley hat in ring

COLORADO CITY — Macca Findley, 29, has filed for a place on the Colorado City city council. Findley has resided in Colorado City since 1964 and graduated from Colorado High School.

He is a district foreman for an oil firm. He and his wife, Jane, have two children.

For the record

To clarify an answer provided to the Action-Reaction question in Monday's Herald, some readers might have assumed that the east gate in the Big Spring Industrial Park is now open. That is not the case.

The east gate was permanently closed long before Webb AFB was phased out and has remained closed. There are no plans to reopen it.

Man is freed on $4,500 bond

Joseph Vernon Long, Southland Apartments 48, was released on $4,500 bond. He was arrested Sunday on suspicion of a felony DWI and for driving with a suspended license. Bond was set at $3,000 by Justice of the Peace Bob West on the DWI arrest and $1,500 for the driving with a suspended license arrest.

'Anybody Can Write'

Journalism workshop at HC attracts 130

Over 130 students attended the first area wide journalism workshop ever held on the Howard College campus Monday.

The workshop was jointly sponsored by Howard College and the Big Spring Herald. Guest speakers included Dr. Robert Rothstein, Mass Communications Chairman from the University of Texas of the Permian Basin; Dr. Harvey Saalberg, professor of journalism, Angelo State University; Tom Watson, publisher, Big Spring Herald; Larry Chapman, representative of Keaton Kolor; and John Marder, Howard College Publications Advisor.

Dr. Robert Rothstein, author of a recently published book "Anybody Can Write," currently teaches psychology, education, and courses in journalism and mass communications at UTPB. Rothstein considers research and hard work to be key elements of successful writing. "Many successful writers," said Rothstein, "did not learn writing in English courses or at the university level. They learned writing while working for newspapers, magazines, and other publications."

Dr. Harvey Saalberg received his bachelor's degree at State University in New York, his Master's at Syracuse University in New York, and his Ph.D. at the University of Missouri in Journalism. Recently, Dr. Saalberg has written a series of articles on "Martyrs of the Press."

Bail posted

Ronald Dean Jeter, 813 W. 3rd, was released on bond today from county jail. He was arrested Monday on an Ector County warrant for hindering secured creditors. Bond was set at $1,000 by an Ector County authority.

Lujan moved to county jail

Thomas Lujan, Jr., 1315 Sycamore, was transferred Monday to county jail. He was arrested Saturday on suspicion of shoplifting and evading arrest. He is now being held for a probation revocation hearing.

He was sentenced to a ten-year probation sentence June 5, 1978 for a burglary of a motor vehicle offense that occurred June 2, 1978.

Fugitive count names Owens

Lucian David Owens, a local man, was charged Monday with being a fugitive from justice. Palm Beach, Fla., authorities sought him on charges of car theft. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin for the fugitive charge at $15,000.

Owens was arrested Monday and is still in custody. Bonds of $2,000 and $1,000 were set for DWI, driving without a license and failure to yield right of way.

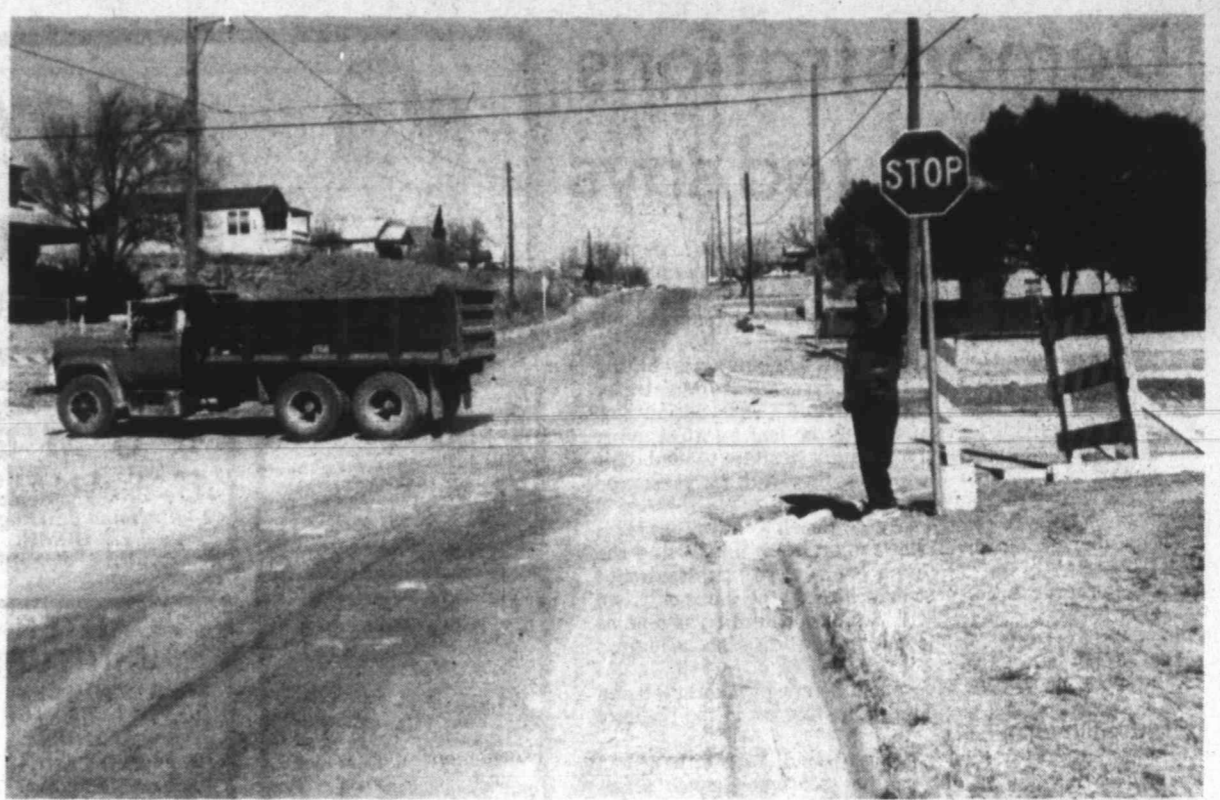

Local police spent a relatively slow Monday. Vandals emptied trash cans all over Comanche Trail Park, sometime Monday night. Bottles were broken on the streets there, and cans and other garbage were spread throughout the area. Damage has not been estimated.

A 10th Street resident was beaten with a pool cue wielded by her husband, around 9:30 p.m. Monday. According to police reports, the husband had taken $60 from the woman, causing the argument.

Burglars may have tried to break into J.W. Dean's home, 410 Circle, sometime between 1 and 5 p.m. Monday. They succeeded only in doing $5 worth of damage to the front door screen and latch.

Four mishaps were reported Monday. Vehicles driven by Samuel Munoz, 901 N.W. 3rd, and Joe Torres, 103 Main, collided at Ninth and Bell, 4:12 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Ross McDaniel, 1419 E. 6th, and Juanita Chamberlain, 1611 Rannels, collided at 15th and Rannels, 6:40 p.m.

NEW TRAFFIC CONTROLS — At 10th and Lancaster, (shown above) and at 10th and Aylford, new stop signs have been installed, forcing traffic on Lancaster and Aylford to yield to traffic on 10th. Reason for the new traffic controls is the truck and heavy construction traffic on 10th. The construction is on what is labeled the 11th Place extension, although the route actually becomes 10th street soon after it crosses Abrams.

Shooting death witnesses are 'uncooperative'

Witnesses have been "uncooperative" in the investigation of the shooting death of Felipe Diaz, 23, that occurred early Sunday morning, according to Police Lt. Claude Morris.

"It looks like we had what amounted to a shoving match between several people outside the (Blue Moon) Lounge. But nobody is talking," Morris said today.

Investigators do have a woman suspect they would like to question, but have been unable to locate her. Diaz was pronounced dead on arrival at Malone-Hogan Hospital, 12:35 a.m. Sunday. He had been shot once through the chest.

"The bullet traveled right through him. There's no way we'll ever recover it," said Morris.

Area residents' brother dies in car accident

Jack Everett, 59, one of four persons who died in a head-on automobile crash near Cisco Monday afternoon, was the brother of B. F. Everett, Big Spring, and Bill Everett, superintendent of the Sands schools at Ackerly.

Also killed in the collision were Jack Everett's wife, Mary Burnen Everett, 55; their five-year-old granddaughter, Elaine Heidelberg, who was dead on arrival at a Cisco hospital; and George Timothy Brasher, 36, Eastland, driver of the other car.

The Everetts were living in Breckenridge at the time of their deaths. They formerly resided in Midland. He was a salesman for McCullough Tool Co.

In an unusual twist of fate, the Everetts' daughter, Diane Heidelberg, was on her way to a night art class

Mrs. Heidelberg was taken to her home in Breckenridge to recover from shock.

The wreck, which occurred at 5:30 p.m., scattered portions of the vehicles for 100 feet. The wreck occurred about five miles north of Cisco on US 183.

College enrollment drops

CINCINNATI (AP) — In a possible preview of more drastic slides, enrollment at American four-year colleges and universities dropped slightly this academic year due to a population decline and rising tuitions, a study of nearly 1,700 institutions shows.

The American College Testing Program reported on Monday a 0.3 percent enrollment decline nationwide. "It will may be that the downward trend long forecast for the 1980s has set in. If so, it has been exacerbated by the escalating effects of inflation, rising tuition rates, other mounting expenses for collegians ... even increasing questions about the financial value of a college education," said study director Dr. Garland Parker.

Quadruplets born in Illinois

PARK RIDGE, Ill. (AP) — Quadruplets — three boys and a girl all weighing under three pounds — were reported in stable condition after being delivered by Caesarean section, doctors at Lutheran General Hospital said.

The quads, born Monday within two minutes of each other, have not been named. The girl was delivered third and weighed 2 pounds 1½ ounces. The boys weighed between 2 pounds 12½ ounces and 2 pounds 13½ ounces. Their mother, Cherie Tenneyson, 25, was reported doing fine. She and her 25-year-old husband, Scott, an engineer, also have a 3½-year-old son, Billy.

Three officers suspended

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Three police officers were suspended Monday on charges they smoked a fake marijuana cigarette at a Christmas party in an incident their chief says was designed to embarrass department officials.

Cpl. Willard Ward, Sgt. Larry Duncan and Officer Randy McMillen were suspended without pay for 30 days and placed on probation for a year. Ward also was demoted to patrolman, said Police Chief David Walsh.

Walsh said the cigarette actually was parsley laced with a substance designed to simulate marijuana's aroma. Ward apologized for the incident, saying it was meant as a joke, not to deride department policy.

Homosexuals may be hired

SAN FRANCISCO — Police Chief Charles Gain says the department plans to hire homosexuals among its minority candidates during the next three years.

"We want the police department to be a reflection of the community, and obviously, San Francisco has a substantial gay population," he said after a police softball squad was defeated Sunday by a gay team, 20-9. Over the next three years, Gain said, the department will hire about 650 new officers from the eligibility list. His goal, he said, is 30 percent minorities, including gays, and 20 percent women.

Foster signs juicy pact; Umpires on strike

By The Associated Press
On a day when yet another big-name player signed yet another big-money contract, attorney Richie Phillips asked a bigger slice of the financial pie for his clients, the umpires.

The Cincinnati Reds and George Foster announced Monday the slugger had signed a three-year contract which begins in 1980 and is worth a reported $750,000 per season.

At about the same time, Phillips made this statement: "Player salaries indicate a willingness and a desire on the part of owners to present a first-class product. The umpires are part of that first-class product." "I don't say they should be compensated the same as players, but they are an integral part of the game — always on the road, always performing in pressure situations. Their salaries should reflect those factors," said Phillips.

As of now, the attorney claimed, umpire salaries don't even reflect parity with the pay of game officials in other sports.

An official with 10 years' experience in the NBA receives a minimum of $45,000 for the 82-game season," he said. "A baseball umpire with the same amount of experience gets a minimum of $32,500 for 162 games. For exhibition games, basketball officials get $550 per game. Baseball umpires get $40 per game."

The 30-year-old outfielder again led the National League with 40 home runs and 120 runs batted in last season, and hopes to do the same in 1979.

"I like playing with the Reds and in Cincinnati," said Foster. "Right now all I need to think about is the need to be consistent, productive and to stay healthy."

The same is true of their teams to arrange local umpires for the games.

Foster, meanwhile, had no complaints about the resolution of his contract situation. The 30-year-old outfielder again led the National League with 40 home runs and 120 runs batted in last season, and hopes to do the same in 1979.

Since third baseman Bob Horner still feels the Atlanta Braves are paying him all wrong for his Rookie of the Year season in 1978, Atlanta Manager Bobby Cox said rookie Mike Macha would handle the hot corner in the exhibition opener Friday against the Houston Astros.

Tech fans facing NIT challenge

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The National Invitation Tournament has issued a challenge to Texas Tech and the Southwest Conference by pairing the Red Raiders against Indiana, Coach Gerald Myers feels.

"I think the NIT wants to see what kind of crowd we can attract against Indiana," Myers said Monday. "If we don't do well in the stands or on the court, they might not feel we deserve future consideration."

The Red Raiders, 19-10, will host Indiana, 18-12, in a first round NIT game at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

"Indiana averaged over 14,000 fans a game at home, and yet they gave the home berth to us," Myers said. "I think they (NIT officials) want to see if the Southwest Conference is growing as much as we say it is."

The Lubbock Coliseum holds 10,000. Texas Tech averaged 8,194 during the SWC season — the Raiders' highest figure in five years.

Both Indiana and Texas Tech sport young teams. However, seven of Indiana's 11 players are 6-7 or taller while the Raiders are considered small.

Thursday's game will be Texas Tech's first appearance in the NIT.

Bird issues NCAA warning

NEW YORK (AP) — Indiana State's Larry Bird won't be thumbing a ride to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament, but when you're No. 1, you don't have to. And when you have a broken thumb, you can't.

Bird and his Indiana State teammates retained the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press college basketball poll Monday, collecting 55 of 58 first-place votes and 1,150 points in balloting by a nationwide panel of sport writers and broadcasters, easily outdistancing runner-up UCLA.

"I fractured the tip of my left thumb in the second half of our game against New Mexico State Saturday, but that won't keep me from playing in the NCAA tournament," Bird said, adding, "I know I can shoot."

The Sycamores, 29-0 and seeded No. 1 in the NCAA Midwest Regional, also received one second-place vote, one fourth-place vote, one seventh-place vote and issued one "Bird" warning to the other 39 teams in the NCAA tournament.

"If a team beats us, it will have to pay the price," Bird said. "We've got a team that doesn't mind getting down on the floor and we are not a one-man team."

UCLA, seeded first in the NCAA's West Regional, received the remaining three first-place votes and 1,077 points.

The Bruins, 23-4 and ranked third last week, clinched their 13th straight Pac-10 title last week with victories over California and Stanford.

North Carolina, No. 7 last week, jumped to No. 3 with 1,034 points after winning the Atlantic Coast Conference title and earning the No. 1 seed in the NCAA's East Regional with a 71-63 triumph over Duke on Saturday.

Big Ten co-champion Michigan State remained No. 4 with 932 points, followed by Notre Dame, No. 2 last week but upset by both DePaul and Michigan, with 850 points.

The Irish were seeded No. 1 in the NCAA's Midwest Regional.

Duke slipped one notch to sixth with 810 points — 13 more than Southwest Conference champion Arkansas, No. 10 last week.

DePaul, unranked three weeks ago and 15th last week, continued its rapid rise, moving to No. 8 with 678 points.

Louisiana State and Syracuse rounded out the Top 10, the Tigers, with 612 points, edging the Orangemen by two points.

Georgetown, which defeated Syracuse 66-58 last Saturday, headed the Second 10 with 556 points. The Hoyas were followed by Marquette, Temple, Iowa, Texas, Purdue, Detroit, Louisville, San Francisco and Southeastern Conference champion Tennessee, the only newcomer to this week's Top 20, replacing Ohio State.

Every member of The Top 20 except Purdue will play in the NCAA tournament, which will determine the national champion. The Boilermakers will play in the National Invitational Tournament.

The Big Spring Steers opened up the 1979 baseball in impressive fashion, winning the El Paso Invitational Tournament over the past weekend.

The Steers will be swinging for their fourth victory of the young season this afternoon at 4:00 in Steer Park when they host perennial state toughie Lubbock Monterrey.

Monterrey split their opening games with Odessa Permian.

The Steers opened up the year by taking a 5-1 win over El Paso Riverside on Friday afternoon.

Larry Smith sparked the win, tossing a three-hitter and striking out 13 Riverside hitters.

Rusty Hayworth had two RBI's in the game on a sacrifice fly and a successful squeeze bunt.

Big Spring then took an easy 13-1 victory over Amarillo Palo Duro in the semifinals.

Files was the winning pitcher in the five inning game, combining with Gilbert Rubio for a one-hitter.

David Manley led a powerful offensive attack in this game by driving in four runs.

The Steers then claimed the championship by taking a 5-4 decision over El Paso Coronado.

Ricky Myers gave the Steers an early lead with a bases loaded triple.

Myers then went the distance on the mound, hurling a five-hitter and striking out nine in the process.

Mike Evans led the Steers in hitting with a five for nine performance in the tournament, a .555 batting average.

Others hitting the ball well in the opening tournament were Myers at four for nine, Mike Gomez at three for seven, and Manley at three for nine.

Manley led the Bovines with five runs batted in, followed by Myers with four and Hayworth with three.

Steer head coach Tommy Collins will start Myers at catcher, Gomez at first, Tony Rubio at second, Kevin McLaughlin at shortstop, Hayworth at third, Mark Warren in left, Evans in center, and Smith in right.

Manley will be the designated hitter, with Luis Rodriguez on the mound.

Candy Young honored as female athlete of the month

NEW YORK — Teenage hurdler Candy Young of Beaver Falls, Pa., has been named woman track and field athlete of the month for February, and long-distance runner Suleiman Nyambui of Texas-El Paso has received the same honor for men.

The honors were announced by the Track and Field Writers of America.

Last month, Young set an American indoor record of 6.95 seconds for the 50-meter hurdles at Edmonton, Alberta, and twice had record clockings of 7.50 seconds for the 60-yard hurdles in the semifinals and final of the National AAU Indoor Championships in New York.

Nyambui, from Tanzania, handed Emamon Coghlan his first indoor defeat in nearly two years in the 3,000-meter race at the Ottawa Citizens Games, he won the 3,000 at Edmonton, he won two-mile races at the Millrose Games in New York and at San Diego, and he won the mile and two-mile in the West Coast Athletic Championships.

LSU suspends Scales

NEW ORLEANS — Forward DeWayne Scales was suspended from the Louisiana State University basketball team for having repeated contacts with a professional player agent and lying to his coach about it.

The Associated Press learned that the suspension was the second time this season that Scales has been dismissed. After a loss to Mississippi State, he was suspended for the identical reason but was reinstated within 45 minutes after the rest of the team begged Coach Dale Brown to give the star a second chance.

Scales will not play when LSU sees action in the NCAA championship tournament Saturday against Appalachian State University in Bloomington, Ind.

Wise earns points in regional swim meet

MIDLAND — Amarillo High and El Paso Coronado dominated the regional Class AAAA swimming competition held over the weekend. Coronado won the girls division, scoring 88 points to 59 points by second place Amarillo. Amarillo won the boys' division, however, scoring 83 points. Midland and Midland Lee were next in the scoring with 44 and 43 points, respectively. Coronado was fourth with 26 points.

The Big Spring Steers earned three points to tie for 12th place in the region due to Morgan Wise's fourth place finish in the 100-Backstroke. Wise was timed in 59.1.

The Big Spring boy's medley relay placed eighth, just two spots out of earning points. The team was comprised of Wise, Kirk Nelson, Bill Hart and Randy Stukel.

BSHS was represented by seven girls in the competition, but could not come away with any points. Those representing Big Spring were Ellen Karwedsky, Carrie Little, Lisa Fleckenstein, Marie Bonewitz, Cathy Miller, Tonda Batchelor, and Paula Willadson.

'Agricultural use' tax break rejected

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has rejected a new attempt to withhold an "agricultural use" tax break from corporations.

The action came Monday as the committee moved toward a final decision on a bill implementing the 1978 Tax Relief Amendment.

An 8-4 vote against denying the "agricultural use" tax break to corporations settled the issue in committee but it is sure to arise again on the House floor.

The committee planned to take its final vote on the bill (HB1060) today after Rep. Wayne Peвето, D-Orange, said he wanted more time to analyze the latest draft of the measure.

Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, committee chairman, a committee decision today would assure the bill a place on next Monday's calendar for House debate.

Peвето and Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Salado, reopened the issue of "agricultural use" appraisal of corporation-owned farm, ranch and timber land for taxation — probably the most sensitive matter in the bill.

Farm, ranch and timber land would be assessed for taxation on its ability to nourish crops, livestock and trees — not its value on a rising real estate market.

Peвето said that would be an incentive for corporations to compete with individuals to buy farms and ranches that are offered for sale.

"We are going to see much faster depletion of the family farmer and rancher, and more land will fall under the ownership of large corporations," he predicted.

He said corporate ownership of timber land was so widespread in East Texas that giving corporations the tax break would "almost completely destroy" the tax bases of 11 counties.

But Davis pointed out the bill prohibits taxing timber on anything less than its current assessed valuation.

Rep. Bennie Bock II, D-New Braunfels, said the idea behind "agricultural use" valuation of land was not so much to encourage family farming as to keep land in production.

RIG FIRE — Two tugs spray water on a burning gas rig in the Gulf of Mexico after an explosion and fire killed two with six others reported missing Monday. Twenty seven other workers escaped in a survival capsule from the rig located 45 miles southwest of Morgan City, La.

Deceptive trade practice bill sent to Senate Monday

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Consumers would bear the new responsibility of proving businessmen knowingly cheated them in deceptive trade practice cases under a bill forwarded to the Senate Monday.

The Senate Economic Development Committee approved the measure 7-0 after 4 1/2 hours of public testimony.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Bill Meier, D-Euless, and one of the measure's fiercest opponents, Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, cross-examined witnesses in a preview of future floor debate.

Similar legislation in the House was sent to a subcommittee.

"The present law is not only inequitable, but it has retarded commerce in Texas," said Meier.

Under present law, the businessman must prove he did not cheat the consumer.

Triple damages — the awarding of three times the actual amount lost — would be prohibited in most cases by Meier's bill. The legislation would also exclude breach of warranty cases from being tried under the act.

Unreasonable settlement demands can be used as coercion under the present law, said attorney Jack Ayres of Dallas.

"People can be penalized by triple damages because of a mistake, incorrect speech or an error in judgement," he said.

A real estate agent who passed on misinformation recently was ordered to pay $17,300 because a new roof actually was a substantially repaired roof, said Mark Hanna, an attorney for the Texas Association of Realtors.

"This puts the realtor in the position of simply not being able to respond to legitimate inquiries from the buying public," Hanna said.

The plaintiff in that suit, Clayton Boyer, testified later and said $9,000 of the award was for attorneys fees made necessary by defense delays. He said the leaky roof caused $400 interior damage to his house and had to be replaced.

Other opponents attacked removal of triple damages and warranty cases from the law.

"For the type of people I represent, it's very important to retain warranty and triple damages," said Steve Cochran, a Bexar County legal aid attorney who defends low income persons.

On the light side

In a hold-in pattern

HONOLULU (AP) — That thumping sound passengers heard as a Hawaiian Airlines inter-island flight taxied away from a Honolulu Airport terminal wasn't a mechanical problem.

It was a worried baggage handler who accidentally was locked inside the luggage compartment in the belly of the DC-9 after it was loaded for a flight to the island of Maui, said airline spokesman Tom McGarvey.

Fellow workers missed the baggage handler, whom McGarvey declined to identify, at about the same time the flight crew heard him banging, the spokesman said. The pilot held up the flight and the handler was rescued, saving him from what, at worst, would have been a short but dark and chilly flight in the pressurized compartment, McGarvey said.

This farmer's got the scoop
 BOLINGBROKE, Ga. (AP) — Seaborn Howard says the best fertilizer is found in the chicken coop, although water manure is most appropriate for growing melons.

Howard, who has a small farm in this central Georgia town, raises his fruits and vegetables without man-made chemicals.

The best fertilizer is "right over there in the chicken coop," he said, adding that he sometimes uses cow manure in his garden.

Howard, 69, scoffs at using the Farmer's Almanac for reference. He said it's used mostly by "city farmers" who'd be better off talking to an experienced farmer like him.

Howard also advises planting the first crop of the year on Good Friday and planting other crops during full moons.

Good excuse won't save you
 WARREN, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan policeman who comes up with the most outlandish excuse by a motorist caught speeding probably won't have to worry about making up an excuse if he's caught speeding.

Michigan's Fraternal Order of Police is holding a statewide contest during March to see who has heard the most "creative" excuse for speeding.

First prize, to be announced in June, is a device used to locate radar detection units before they detect speeders.

The contest is being held to put a little humor in an unpopular job, says Tony Malta of the Dale Corp., which publishes the FOA's semi-monthly magazine, "The Peace Officer," in which the contest was announced.

Creativity aside, says Malta, a speeder probably will get a ticket anyway.

Pay toilets discriminatory, woman claims
 AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Houston housewife has concluded pay toilets doubly discriminate against women.

"As I understand it, men are not required to pay for their use of public restrooms and women are. I thought it was rank discrimination," Bernice Scotty told the House Committee on Business and Industry.

Informed that there are no pay urinals but there are some pay commodes in men's restrooms, she replied: "Men do not have to pay for urinals. Women have to pay regardless. That's discriminatory."

The committee voted 6-2 in favor of a bill that would outlaw pay toilets in Texas public places.

Committee wants more influence

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A 7-6 majority of the Senate State Affairs Committee wants Texas to have a bigger say in electing the next president of the United States.

The narrow vote late Monday sent to the Senate floor a bill that calls for a presidential primary vote in March of 1980 and moves regular primary elections from May and June to July and August.

Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, author of the bill which has the support of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton, said he is "negotiable" on leaving the regular primary elections in May and June. He also said he might agree to holding elections on Saturdays instead of Tuesday.

However, Ogg said he is "not negotiable" on changing the presidential primary date to coincide with the first primary election in May.

If approved by the Senate, the bill would go to the House, where similar proposals are in a subcommittee.

Gov. Bill Clements has threatened to veto any bill that would move the current May and June primaries to July and August, as Ogg's original bill provided.

Chairmen of both the Texas Democratic Party and the Texas Republican Party testified against the bill despite Ogg's argument the early vote on presidential candidates would give Texas more say in national politics.

"This bill allows Texas its rightful place in the sun," Ogg said, "and it allows the Sun Belt its rightful place in national politics."

State Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg said the party's state executive committee voted Saturday for a presidential primary, but only if held on the regular primary election date.

"The more elections you have, the more you decrease turnout," Goldberg said.

"If you want the Texas vote to be meaningful, then leave it at the May election," said State GOP Chairman Ray Barnhart. "At that time it could very well determine who the party will nominate."

Ogg said the New Hampshire primary, which will be on Feb. 26 next year, would attract political attention and could have undue influence on the campaign. He said there are four areas in Texas that have more population than New Hampshire — Harris County, Dallas and Mesquite, Denton and Tarrant County, and Bexar County.

Billie Carr, Houston, a National Democratic Committee member, repeated her charge that the March date was tailored to help John Connally, a GOP candidate.

"You want them to vote in March for John Connally and vote in July for Ogg," she told the bill's author.

She said President Carter did not lock up the Democratic nomination in 1976 until the Ohio primary in June and that Bobby Kennedy did not get enough support for the nomination until the California primary in late June of 1968.
