RETAIL FISSION — In biology, when two cells split to form two complete, new cells, the process is called fission. That happened in Big Spring, but the cells were retail stores, rather than organic cells. When the Singer chain closed out its Big Spring store last year, local manager Eileen Zant had been with the store 13 years and didn't want to be transferred out of Big Spring, although she liked her job. The solution? She bought out the local dealership in November, making it a home-owned, home-operated business (top photo) for Big Spring. She brought Kenneth Sanders from Pampa to be the repairman for her business. Not needing the entire floor space of the present store, a wall was erected, making room for a new store, the Cherry Orchard (bottom photo) owned by Tommy and Phyllis Hogan. Manager of the store, which opened a week before Christmas, is Debbie Bryans. Tommy Hogan has lived all his life in Big Spring, so the business is another example of local residents working within and expanding the business community. The shop offers bed and bath items, gifts, wall decoration, and "a little bit of everything," says Hogan.

Funded Weatherization Program in area delayed

A federally funded weatherization program for some of homes of Howard County underprivileged residents has been delayed until funds for the employment of six laborers is approved by the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission (PBRPC). The commission demanded clarification of the supervision of the Comprehensive Employee Training Act (CETA) laborers.

Big Spring's Community Development Director Bill Hall said the clarification was mailed Friday. He expects the program to be under way by March 15.

PBRPC serves as a clearinghouse for federal funds in the Permian Basin area.

Lubbock's West Texas Opportunities (WTO) office, a branch of the Department of Energy, promised a supervisor and federal weatherization funds for buying materials.

The HCDD office will handle the paper work and provide a meeting place for the workers. Hall initiated the program about seven months ago. He presented the CETA application for the laborers to County Judge Bill Tune for signing in their Jan. 8 meeting. Tune was required to sign the application because the laborers will be considered county employees.

Before PBRPC asked for clarification of the application Hall projected Feb. 15 for the project to begin.

CD has weatherized six Big Spring homes in the two and a half years of the program's existence. The city wide program provides installation of storm windows and doors, insulation, weather stripping and fixing holes in the structures.

CD, however, does not have funds to weatherize homes outside of Big Spring. Hall said he wanted to see the program expanded to include Howard County because it is very valuable to underprivileged homeowners.

Harry Clark, one of the leaders in the development of the city's economy, predicted that during the next ten to 15 years most of the major oil companies will relocate from this area because the emphasis in domestic production will be on off-shore and Alaskan reserves.

Clark said major oil companies had moved out before and the impact had been absorbed within a reasonable time.

Houston's Shell office denied a report that the reorganization, originally reported as affecting primarily the company's Denver offices, came as the result of unprofitable ventures in Alaska.

Textbook Committee to report on hearing

A report from the Big Spring School Board Textbook Committee will be heard at 5:15 p.m. at their regular meeting in the board room of the high school. The committee conducted a public hearing Feb. 26 to provide public input to textbook adoption decisions.

Teacher contract recommendations will also be discussed. Board members may go into executive session.

The board will accept bids on a pickup truck.

Also discussed will be employment and resignation of personnel, the 1979-80 school calendar and a policy decision on admission of students on suspension.

Items of routine business include approval of minutes of the last regular meeting and a special meeting, bills paid, budget statement, weekly enrollment report, analysis of Tax Department collection, delinquent tax collection report and miscellaneous items.

WTO provided funds for the city wide program. CD used several city contractors for the jobs. Bids were advertised by CD and the jobs given to the lowest bidder. Three jobs are currently under contract.

Fifteen homes have been planned for weatherization when the laborers are approved. Homeowners must be of below average income established for a poverty group to be eligible for the program. Weatherization will be done on the home free of charge.

Birthday party planning due

Plans for a birthday party will be discussed at length in a meeting of the Big Spring American Legion post and its auxiliary, scheduled for 7 p.m., Friday at the post home on Longshore Road.

All members are being urged to be present to help plan for the annual event.

Heavy lobbying reason for rejection of finance disclosure bill, legislator says

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Frank Tejada blames heavy lobbying by school board members for House rejection of his bill requiring elected local officials to disclose their finances.

Tejada, D-San Antonio, said he might seek reconsideration of the 77-63 vote that tabled his bill Wednesday and might even exempt school board members if that would help the bill.

He said the bill went down because of "a major lobbying effort by school boards."

"With one amendment, we could bring over a whole bunch of people," Tejada said. The amendment would exempt school boards from the bill.

Tejada's bill would require city, county and district elected officials to submit the same financial form as state officials and legislators. Assets, debts and sources of income must be listed but not dollar amounts.

He said his sole interest was to heighten public confidence in local government and to smoke out potential conflicts of interest.

Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, recalled that legislators passed the state disclosure law in 1973 after the Sharpstown scandals left lawmakers and other officials in low public esteem.

"To my knowledge, we are lower today than we were then," Kubiak said. "We passed it six years ago, and what have we changed? How has that bettered government or bettered public opinion?"

Rep. Reby Cary, D-Fort Worth, said legislators "are really getting carried away over financial disclosure when we extend it down to small cities."

"Do you feel we should disclose at the state level?" Tejada asked.

"No," Cary said.

Tejada was asked by a supporter of the bill why a person might spend $20,000 campaigning for city councilman in a municipality where that is an unpaid job.

He said the opportunity of receiving "inside information and taking advantage of it" might be one reason.

In other action Wednesday, House members passed and sent to the Senate bills that would:

- Enable cities to hold their elections on the statewide general election day in November.
- Permit state banks to buy up to 5 percent of the stock in other state banks.
- Require hospitals to report potential child abuse cases on forms prescribed by the Texas Department of Human Resources.

Senators refused to debate two controversial measures sponsored by Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

By a 23-7 vote the Senate lacked two votes of taking up a bill that would increase tuition equalization grants to private colleges from $600 per student to 50 percent of the cost of attending a state college or university.

By a 21-4 vote, the Senate refused by a four-vote margin to debate a bill calling for competitive bidding on electricity used in state buildings, which now get their power from the city of Austin.

The idea behind the bill is to buy electricity more cheaply than Austin can sell it.

Senate bills passed and sent to the House would:

- Let cities located in three counties hold local option liquor elections.
- Allow motor boat renewal certificates to be issued in every county.
- Approve an emergency appropriation of $166,511 to the Texas Real Estate Commission for its license issuing process.
- Allow a $5,000 exemption from state inheritance taxes for orphans under 18 years.
- Approve a $450,000 appropriation to the University of Houston for repair of a fire-damaged building.
- Do away with the requirement of a bond for school bus drivers.
- Require notice to taxpayers of any reappraisal that increases market value by at least $1,000, instead of $100.

Ex-wife fires bullets at Williams, court told

COLORADO CITY — Sally Rainwater Williams, 34, testified Wednesday that her husband, Aubrey, accused of killing his ex-wife, Gurley Ann Williams, had been shot at several times and almost run over by his former wife. Mrs. Williams was the first witness for the defense which began presenting its case before 32nd District Court Judge Weldon Kirk Wednesday. It was the first almost full day of testimony heard by the jury since the trial began Feb. 26.

The 38-year-old Colorado City man is accused of the stabbing death of the former Mrs. Williams, 31, who left her home shortly before midnight July 10, 1978 and was found dead in a cotton field July 12.

Before the jury's entrance into the courtroom Wednesday, defense attorney Travis Shelton of Lubbock filed a motion asking for an instructed verdict of "not guilty" and a motion that testimony from Dallas pathologist Dr. Charles F. Petty, who performed the autopsy, be stricken from the record. Both motions were denied by Judge Kirk. Williams' present wife testified that on her first meeting with Williams' ex-wife, she witnessed Gurley Ann firing two shots at Williams and attempting to run him down with her car. Mrs. Williams stated that prior to their marriage, she had visited Williams at his place of employment. Shortly after midnight, she said, Gurley Ann had driven to the plant and had shot twice, but had not hit anyone. Mrs. Williams testified that Gurley Ann was cursing and had jumped into her car and attempted to run over Williams.

Mrs. Williams said that before the incident, at which time Gurley Ann identified herself to Williams' current wife, she had never met the dead woman. Gurley Ann, she said, told her that she had been Williams' wife "for five goddamn years".

On another occasion, Mrs. Williams said that Gurley Ann had shown up at her home ranting and cursing while Williams was visiting at the Rainwater home. Snyder police officer Johnny Hedges testified that he had answered a disturbance call at the Rainwater home and had warned Gurley Ann that if she didn't leave, he would arrest her for causing a disturbance. She left, he testified.

Mrs. Williams described another occasion when Gurley Ann had thrown everything out of the back of Williams' pickup, let the air out of the tires and removed some parts from under the hood so that it would not run. On cross examination, Mrs. Williams testified that Williams had come home later than usual and had gone out again, returning near dawn, on the night that Gurley Ann was killed.

Weather Spring-like weather ends for Panhandle

By the Associated Press

A cold front moved into northern portions of the Texas Panhandle today, bringing to an end the balmy, spring-like weather for that area.

The cold front is expected to bring cooler weather and showers and possible thundershowers over much of the northern half of the state Friday.

Skies were to remain clear to partly cloudy with quite warm temperatures today over most of the state. Highs were to be mostly in the 70s and 80s.

Some blowing dust was expected in Northwest sections of the state today because of a developing low pressure system.

Early morning temperatures remained quite warm although readings dropped into the 20s in the mountains of West Texas and into the 30s in the Panhandle. Early morning extremes ranged from 35 at Dalhart to 57 at Cotulla.

Some early morning readings included 42 at Amarillo, 38 at Wichita Falls, 39 at Texarkana, 38 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 48 at Austin, 43 at Houston, 49 at Corpus Christi, 53 at Brownsville, 51 at Del Rio, 48 at San Angelo, 45 at El Paso and 50 at Lubbock.

Air Force Jazz Ensemble to present free concert

The Airmen of Note, official jazz ensemble of the U.S. Air Force, will present a free public concert at 8 p.m., Thursday, March 22, in the Municipal Auditorium here.

The public is being urged to write for tickets or request them in person at the Big Spring Herald, which is co-sponsoring the event along with the Cultural Affairs Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

Even though the concert is free, those holding tickets will be seated first if they show up by 7:45 p.m., the evening of the concert. Non-ticket holders will be allowed to take seats at 7:50 p.m.

During the years that this outstanding jazz organization has performed throughout the world, it has been honored by many guest artists from both the acting and music professions.

Jimmy Stewart, star of "The Glenn Miller Story," in which The Airmen of Note portrayed the Glenn Miller Orchestra, has appeared several times with the band since the release of the picture. In fact, whenever Stewart and the band meet in the midst of their travels, it is not uncommon to find Jimmy leading the band in a few numbers.

Many great musicians and vocalists have worked with The Airmen of Note including Sammy Davis, Jr., Stan Kenton, Sarah Vaughn;

Buddy de Franco, the famous clarinetist; the great drummer, Louis Bellson; and "Doc" Severinsen, leading jazz trumpeter and director of the "Tonight Show" orchestra.

On a number of occasions, The Airmen of Note have shared the bandstand with some of the best dance and jazz orchestras in the world — Count Basie, Woody Herman, Ray McKinley, Ralph Flanagan, Skitch Henderson, Buddy Morrow, Myer Davis and Lester Lanin.

Usually the bands will alternate in performing, but one evening, Count Basie's orchestra and The Airmen of Note joined in a "Battle of the Bands" that literally stopped dancing and brought everyone to the front of the bandstage.

Organized labor charges Cuts 'devastating'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor charged today that President Carter's proposed budget cuts for 1980 would be "devastating" to most Americans and would not make a significant dent in the inflation rate.

The AFL-CIO told Congress that Carter, in response to public concerns about accelerating prices and taxes, seems "willing to risk recession, rising unemployment and cutbacks in vital social programs for the appearance of 'fiscal responsibility'."

If Congress were to accept Carter's cuts in social programs, "a recession would be even more likely and millions of Americans would suffer needlessly," chief AFL-CIO lobbyist Kenneth Young said in testimony prepared for the House Budget Committee.

"Despite this risk, the impact of this budget on inflation would be negligible," said Young.

"In people terms, the consequences would be direct, immediate and devastating," he added. "The cuts are concentrated in programs that are helping the unemployed, retirees, workers, the poor, children, students, women and minorities."

Carter has proposed a "very austere" budget of $532 billion, which he contends would combat inflation by reducing the budget deficit from a projected $37 billion this year to $29 billion in 1980.

Forsan High band wins sweepstakes

FORSAN — The "Buffalo Band" of Forsan High School, directed by Sam Robertson, emerged from University Interscholastic League competitions Tuesday as the sweepstakes winner of Region VI, Class A.

The all-day competitions were conducted at Midland High School. Competing for the music awards were several area bands, with Forsan and Coahoma both bringing home awards.

The 24-inch sweepstakes trophy, according to Robertson, is the highest award for a regional competition. The 71-student Buffalo Band won it by scoring a one, the top rating, in concert and in unrehearsed sight reading. The band also placed first in marching last fall.

The band had been "tuning up" for the UIL competitions since the first week in January.

As sweepstakes winner, the Forsan band represents District VI in the 25-region state competitions. A tape recording has been submitted for preliminary judging. The selected top five bands of the state will have the honor of performing at the Texas Music Educators Convention in Feb., 1980. Robertson said that this is the highest honor that can be paid on a high school band.

Accepting the trophy on behalf of the entire band Tuesday were the 11 senior members. The trophy was presented by J.R. McEntyre, Odessa coordinator of Music and executive secretary of Region VI, Class A.

Coahoma High School band wins top honors

COAHOMA — The "Big Red Band" of Coahoma High School marched away from the University Interscholastic League competitions in Midland Tuesday with several honors.

Competing against five other high school bands in Region VI, Class AA, the Coahoma band scored a one, the top rating, in concert and a two in sight reading. It was only the second time in the band's history that it had won the highest number of awards in the Class AA division of UIL. The first time was in the early 1960's.

Only two other Class AA bands made first division at the all-day competitions. Alpine High took an award in concert and Crane in sight reading.

Accepting the plaque for the 75-student Coahoma band were drum majors Julie Hall and Suzie Swann.

The band had been diligently working in preparation of the event since January. Band director is Pam Hansen.

'Help today means hope for tomorrow'

HCARC to sponsor Special Olympics

By MICKIE DICKSON
"When you give help, you give hope," for help today means hope for tomorrow. This is the motto for the Howard County Association for Retarded Citizens, an organization of concerned parents, teachers and friends of the retarded people of Howard County, established in 1968.

The HCARC sponsors, among other things, Special Olympics for retarded citizens, which includes softball throw, standing long jump, high jump, wheelchair softball throw, gymnastics, tug-of-war, wheelchair relay and obstacle course, track and field events like the 25, 50, and 100 yard dash and 880-yard run; wheelchair 25 yard dash, 440 yard relay, 200 yard shuttle relay, and 440 yard run. Bowling and basketball are also events in Special Olympics.

The Special Olympics Oath is "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt."

In 1968 the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. foundation created Special Olympics. Since then, it has become the largest program of sports training and athletic competition for the mentally retarded in the world. For the mentally retarded, sports and physical activity are the quickest, surest road to health, growth and self-confidence. Rather than the "You can't do it," the retarded have always been told, Special Olympics says: "You can do it. All you need is a chance."

Since its beginning, Special Olympics has reached more than 1,000,000 special children and adults. In thousands of community, area, chapter, national and international games, meets and regular training programs, the retarded — often for the first time — have the chance to show their families and communities just how much they can accomplish. For them, Special Olympics is a new way to health, a new kind of joy.

Special Olympics is sport in its truest sense. The goal is not to win, but to try. To experience, not to conquer. No records are broken except those for courage, determination, and sportsmanship.

One of the projects of the local ARC is to raise money to send the retarded citizens to the district and state Special Olympics. The Hi-Y and Tri-Y, sponsored by Mrs. Fred Coleman, are raising the money for all uniforms and ribbons for 20 athletes this year.

A $100 silver dollar raffle is now in progress to raise money for room and board, $35 per day per athlete, at Austin for the state Special Olympics meeting on Memorial Day weekend the last of May. The district meet is at Midland the evening of April 19, and will include competition in the 50 meter dash, 200 meter dash, 400 meter run, softball throw, 400 meter relay, standing long jump, high jump, frisbee competition and 25 meter wheelchair race.

The HCARC priority is finding and setting up work job situations through the public schools, and, hopefully, after the handicapped are out of school," says Mike Cowley, educational diagnosis for the public schools of Big Spring.

"Retarded students are being given the opportunity to function in the least restricted situation possible socially and academically in the public schools," Cowley said.

He has been working with retarded citizens about seven years. He is on a committee to raise money to send two athletes from this area to International Special Olympics in New York this summer.

The handicapped are now attending all the schools, some of them are in engineered rooms geared to their capabilities. Moss Elementary was originally the only school the retarded students attended.

Fred Earhart, 18 years old, is working at Mid Continent Inn under the supervision of a teacher's aide, folding laundry. He spends one-half day in school and one-half day at Mid Continent. He's worked there since January.

The more severely handicapped who are over 21 years of age attend the sheltered workshop at Big Spring State Hospital. They receive music therapy, personalization classes (how to interact socially, grooming, etc.) and occupational therapy (craft type things) for half a day.

Phil Christiansen, M.D., director of the outpatient clinic, and Sarah Rosenzweig, M.S.W., have been instrumental in getting the retarded citizens in the sheltered workshop.

Regarding job placement, ARC contends that the retarded have the right to risk. A right to succeed or fail like anyone else. These citizens have been denied this privilege in the past.

The trend now is to keep the retarded citizens in the home and community instead of institutionalizing them.

There has been a lot of talk about the legal rights of the retarded. They have a right to choose the place they want to live and a right to work. Many times they can be productive citizens when given the chance. The HCARC has about 18 members with Mrs. Lorena Cole serving as president, Mrs. Mary Smith, vice president, Mrs. Betty Newman, secretary and Mike Cowley, treasurer. The group meets the first Tuesday of each month at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center at 7:30 p.m. They cordially invite anyone interested in serving Howard County's retarded citizens to join them. The lady officers of ARC share the following recipes:

Farmers 'not against Carter'

WASHINGTON (AP) — This winter's wave of "tractorades" does not mean farmers are against President Carter, says Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

"In fact, I think the Carter policies are generally regarded in agricultural communities, in rural regions, as a good, sound policy," Bergland said.

"Conservative, yes, but a good, sound policy — market-oriented, business-oriented, rational, based on premises within our ability to finance."

Why then, he was asked, did Bergland's home state of Minnesota — also the home state of Vice President Walter F. Mondale — elect two Republicans as U.S. senators, a Republican governor and almost put Republicans in control of the state legislature last year?

"It's what I would call good old-fashioned political cannibalism," Bergland told a National Press Club audience Wednesday.

Bergland, a former three-term congressman from Minnesota, said the state's Democrats "engaged in some wild internal disputes" that caused many voters to stay home on election day.

"It was not an anti-Carter vote, it was not an anti-Democratic vote," Bergland said. "It was what happens when a party gets itself all gummed-up in a family fight that it can't settle."

"Besides that, the Republicans deserved to win. ... They ran good candidates, they raised enough money to finance good campaigns, they hired good advertising agencies, they didn't make any mistakes."

Bergland was initially asked: Considering his poor showing in most farm states in 1976 and his problems there since, should Carter realistically write off most of the Midwest and Great Plains states next year?

"You're assuming he runs for re-election," Bergland said. "If I were a candidate for the presidency, I wouldn't write off any group, any place."

Bergland said that some news analysts' predictions that the Democrats would suffer "devastating losses" of congressional seats the last two general elections did not materialize.

"I think the president's policies are going to be generally well received come election 1980," he said. "Of course, I know it's been a long time since Nebraska farmers voted for a Democrat for the presidency — 1964."

With the huge backlog of wheat and other grain, why not use it as a "weapon" in world trade to help offset rising oil prices charged by OPEC countries?

"You either have oil or you don't," Bergland said. "But wheat can be grown in all the moderate climates of the world, about 130 countries or so, and if the price is high enough ... we can grow a lot more than we're growing today."

Tractor maintenance course booked at Sands High School

A tractor maintenance short course for adult farmers will be sponsored June 4-7 by the Sands High School Vocational Agriculture Department, according to Lon McDonald, teacher of vocational agriculture, and Bill Everett, superintendent.

Richard Pivonka, tractor maintenance specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Texas A&M University will be the instructor. He is headquartered at Texas A&M.

Pivonka received his Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanized Agriculture from Texas A&M in 1975. From June, 1975 to April, 1977, he worked for the Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers, Inc. as mechanical equipment foreman. He was responsible for the maintenance of a wide variety of shop and field equipment.

The short course at Sands High School is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. June 4 in the vocational agriculture buildings. Other meetings in the series of four will be on June 5, 6 and 7.

While the short course is in progress, Pivonka will be available to assist farmers with individual tractor problems and to provide "on-the-farm" instruction, according to McDonald.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call the vocational Agriculture teacher, McDonald, or Everett, the superintendent of schools. An entry fee of $5 will be charged.

Tractor Maintenance Short Course certificates will be presented to each individual who attends all the training sessions.

Pivonka states that the key to longer tractor life comes from a full knowledge of the fundamentals of an engine and the application of the proper maintenance skills involving lubrication, fuels, carburetion, air cleaners, cooling systems, valves and ignition. The instructor will cover the proper adjustments and maintenance of the above, with emphasis on the importance of each in obtaining a longer tractor life and improved performance.

Throughout the short course, emphasis will be placed on "learning to do by doing" through the use of several demonstration tractors. All enrollees will have the opportunity to perform actual adjustments and maintenance on their own tractors. Safety and operating techniques will also be stressed.

"Short courses in tractor maintenance, as well as other subjects, are now available to farmers throughout the state under a cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University who coordinates the program for Texas A&M."

"This cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people."

Specialists are now available in the fields of Beef Production, Farm Wiring, Electric Motors, Farm Arc Welding, Swine Production, Tractor Maintenance, Pasture, and Oxy-Acetylene Welding.

Course will aid swine producers

PLAINVIEW — Pork producers in West Texas have an opportunity to learn the latest strategies and methods in management and production at the annual Texas A&M University Swine Shortcourse here Wednesday, April 4.

Leading animal scientists and producers from Texas, Arizona, Minnesota, Iowa and Indiana will conduct the day-long program at the Hale County Agricultural Center south of the city. There is a $7 registration fee for the course, noted Dr. Robert S. Cohen, area swine specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Lubbock.

The course is organized and sponsored by the Extension Service. Cooperating with it are the department of animal science at A&M, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Pork Producers Assn., and Texas Pork Producers Board.

The course begins at 8 a.m. and adjourns at 4:15 p.m. Management strategies for the breeding herd and for the young boar will be outlined by Dr. Wayne Singleton. He is a reproductive physiologist and Extension specialist at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind.

Opportunities for improving reproductive efficiency will be discussed in the morning session by Dr.

Al Leman. In the afternoon, he will discuss reproductive diseases and problems. Leman is associate professor of large animal medicine and Extension veterinarian at the College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Minnesota, St. Paul.

The use of frozen boar semen for artificial insemination will be explained by Keith Olson. He is director and chief operating officer of International Boar Semen, Eldora, Iowa.

His experience in feeding reclaimed waste to sows will be reported by Jim Caldwell, who operates a 3,125-sow farrow-to-finish operation in Snowflake, Ariz.

Regulations affecting the producer who mixes feed for his swine will be explained by I.J. Shenkir. He is assistant director for feed with the Texas Feed and Fertilizer Control Service, College Station.

Swine research being conducted by the Texas A&M University System will be outlined by four scientists from the department of animal science, the Experiment Station and Extension Service. They are Dr. T.D. Tanksley Jr., Dr. Darrell Knabe, Dr. Howard Hesby and Dr. Paul Harms.

Moderators for the course will be Cohen and Dr. William B. Thomas, Extension swine specialist, College Station.

Hall of Fame selects Wilson, Giles

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Lewis "Hack" Wilson, who drove in a major league record 190 runs in 1930 and set the National League mark of 56 homers the same year, has been elected to baseball's Hall of Fame post-humously along with former NL President Warren Giles.

Giles, whose entire career was spent organizing and running baseball franchises until he became NL president in 1951, served as general manager of the Syracuse and Rochester minor league teams before moving to Cincinnati as president of the Reds in 1936.

Both rotund men, Wilson and Giles were chosen by the 18-member Veterans Committee, which reviews the careers of players bypassed by the Baseball Writers Association of America during their period of eligibility, as well as executives, umpires and Negro Leaguers.

Wilson, who played for the New York, Chicago, Brooklyn and Philadelphia National League teams, was a heavy drinker who died broke on Nov. 23, 1948, at age 48.

Giles, who served as president of the National League for 18 years, died Feb. 8 at age 82. He is credited with helping develop such managers as George Sisler, Burt Shotton, Billy Southworth, Eddie Dyer and Bill McKechnie.

Wilson and Giles were chosen from a list 20 players and officials who received votes. As in the regular Hall of Fame balloting conducted by the writers, a 75 percent vote by the committee is needed for election.

The two new honorees will be inducted along with Willie Mays at the annual Hall of Fame ceremonies in Cooperstown, N.Y., Aug. 5. Mays was chosen earlier this year by the BBWAA.

Wilson was a standout hitter from the time he entered the majors with the New York Giants in 1923 until he closed his career with the Dodgers and Phillies in 1934.

In his big 1930 season with the Cubs, the hard-hitting outfielder also compiled a .356 batting average. His life-time mark was .307.

Burleigh Grimes, one of the top pitchers in National League history and a member of the Veterans Committee, recalled Wilson's batting prowess.

"He was a short man — only 5-foot-6 and 190 pounds," Grimes said. "He was hard to pitch to and he had tremendous power. He was one of the most dangerous men I ever faced. You had to be careful as hell against him and it wasn't until late in my career that I was able to get him out effectively."

A FANTASTIC NIGHT — New Mexico Military's Lewis Lloyd (35) plays keep away from Hill County's Harold Triche (21) and an unidentified Hill player. Lloyd was nearly unstoppable, scoring 39 points and controlling the backboards. It was not enough, however, as Triche and company pressed their way to an exciting 83-79 victory over NMMI in the Region V Tournament qualifying round. The excellent juco action continues tonight as Midland faces Weatherford at 2:00, Cooke County meets Odessa at 4:00, Western Texas squares off with NMJC at 7:00, and Hill faces McLennan at 9:00. See Region V stories on page 2-B.

Tech hosts Indiana

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Texas Tech Coach Gerald Myers needs no scouting report on Indiana's Mike Woodson.

For a month last summer, Myers was Woodson's basketball coach.

Woodson, a junior, was on the All-Star team that toured Russia, gaining experience for the 1980 Olympic Games.

Myers and Woodson meet again tonight on less friendly terms in a first round National Invitational Tournament game.

"Mike is tough," said Myers. "He was the best pure shooter we had on that team, one of the best I've ever seen. I should say I know a lot about him. I was with him for about a month."

Woodson, a 6-foot-5 forward, comes off the finest Big Ten game by an Indiana player in 15 years.

He scored 48 points in a victory over Illinois, hitting 13 of his first 16 shots. With 15 minutes left in the game, Woodson had outscored Illinois 37-36.

"It was as good an offensive game as I have seen," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight.

Woodson will be going against a Southwest Conference team that prides itself on defense.

Myers was being coy about how he planned to defense Woodson.

"You don't totally stop him," said Myers.

Permian, Tahoka claim BSHS Golf Tourney

Odessa Permian and Tahoka emerged as the winning teams in the Big Spring High School Invitational Golf Tournament that concluded Wednesday afternoon at the Country Club.

Permian, led by Donald Riley and Kent Stallcup, won the first division by eight strokes over runnerup Lamesa. Snyder was third, with Big Spring's number two team placing fifth. Big Spring's varsity could not participate due to their already competing in their quota of nondistrict tournaments.

Tahoka won the second division with a 720 total, 11 shots better than the Midland Lee number three team. Forsan placed sixth in the competition.

Riley of Permian won the medalist competition in the first division with a 151 total, edging Snyder's Lance McMillan by one stroke. Jesus Morales of El Paso and Rick Woodson of Lamesa sa were just two strokes off of Riley's winning score.

Jeff Howes of Midland High's number three team won the second division medalist competition with a 166 total. Mike Bailey of Forsan was second at 174 and John Basden of Big Spring number three team was fourth with a 180 total.

Trophies for the tournament were supplied by Dibrrell's Sporting Goods, 1st Federal Savings and Big Spring Savings.

Aggies visit "The Pit"

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Playing New Mexico's run-and-gun Lobos can be quite a task in itself. But to have to battle them in their lair with 8,000 of their faithful screaming at you as Texas A&M will tonight makes it near impossible.

"We've got a good road record considering where we played and where," said Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf whose 22-8 Aggies will face the 19-9 Lobos and their boisterous horde of followers in a National Invitation Tournament first-round struggle.

"But that doesn't offset what they've got here," he added. "Hell, they were 15-1 here this year, 16-1 last year. That's 31-2 in the last two years. I don't know of any team that could come in here and be favored.

Metcalf stood on the sidelines watching his players work out at the University of New Mexico Arena Wednesday night and asked about as many questions of the local media as were asked him. And it seemed that more of his questions were about the crowd than about the Lobos. He wanted to know how wild the fans would be, would they be noisy, would they intimidate the officials...

Only a handful of followers trailed Metcalf and the Aggies from College Station to Albuquerque for the game. But if A&M's terrific threesome of 6-11 freshman Rudy Woods, 6-7 sophomore Vernon Smith and 6-6 sophomore Rynn Wright are on, the Aggie loyalists may end up the only fans at the arena, known in the Rocky Mountain area as "The Pit," with anything to cheer about.
