Rioters cast three American flags into Rio Grande

Girl killed during border bridge fight

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Hundreds of Mexican citizens, angered at a U.S. crackdown against illegal aliens, blocked three international bridges Saturday and tore down three American flags, casting them into the Rio Grande.

A 10-year-old Mexican girl was run down and killed at the "Bridge of the Americas" Saturday when two American women in a car allegedly tried to ram their way through the barricades from the El Paso to Juarez, Mexico, side of the international bridge.

One of the two women, a U.S. citizen who lives in Juarez, has been arrested in the death of Lara Patricia Favela-Chavez, according to Pedro Munoz, a radio operator for the Mexican Federal Highway Patrol.

Authorities estimated a total of 650 protesters were demonstrating at the three bridges. A few carried signs, some cheered, and some listened to speakers, but witnesses said the crowds were mostly orderly.

Auto traffic was blocked going and coming, but a few pedestrians with passports were allowed to cross. Later Saturday night the demonstrators disbanded, and some traffic was allowed to pass, but American officials feared the demonstration was not over.

"There are rumors that the protesters may try it again tomorrow," said Charles Perez, district director of the INS here.

El Paso Mayor Ray Salazar complained bitterly about the crackdown by federal border guards and fired an urgent telegram to Immigration and Naturalization Director Leonel Castillo, asking him to report to El Paso.

But Perez defended the arrests Friday of illegal aliens, blaming the trouble on bad timing.

"We returned about 150 people to Mexico that our criminal investigators had apprehended for being in the United States illegally," Perez said. "As luck would have it, about the same time they (border guards) revoked the (border crossing) cards of 11 people who were violators. They (the aliens) admitted to it."

"It just so happened they all were put back together at the same time, and one or two of these women incited a bunch of people there to riot."

Perez said the crowd grew Friday night and Saturday morning until the three main bridges linking this West Texas border city to Juarez, Mexico, were blocked by an estimated 650 protesters. The only bridge that was clear was the Zaragoza Bridge, which is the smallest of the four and the most remote from the downtown area.

Mayor Salazar said he would go all the way to President Carter if necessary. He was sharply critical of INS agents and said he wanted Castillo to come to this West Texas border city "because he could direct his employees who are misusing their authority."

Perez said the American flags were recovered from the river below. "They came up to the center of the bridge about midday today (Saturday) and tore down American flags and threw them in the river."

Perez said details were lacking involving the reported death of one of the demonstrators. "About midday two women in a car — and they were alleged to be Americans — but we don't know for sure, tried to run through the crowd below the Bridge of the Americas and ran into three young men. One of them was killed according to the report I got."

Witnesses said some Americans trapped on the Mexican side were lined up beside their cars near the bridges, waiting.

Carter appeals for peace

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — President Carter, appealing for support, arrived here Saturday strongly hinting that a peace accord between Egypt and Israel is nearing completion.

"I have good reason to hope that the goal can now be reached," the president said at Ben Gurion Airport.

"I look forward to completing the urgent business at hand on this visit."

Arriving at the end of the Jewish Sabbath, Carter and his wife Rosalynn were greeted by Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and President Yitzhak Navon.

Navon said Israel had made "enormous sacrifices far beyond what was expected" to achieve peace. But he said he prayed Carter's visit would remove Israel's concern about signing a peace treaty "liable to endanger our security."

During airport ceremonies, Carter stood in the darkness with his hand over his heart while the U.S. national anthem was played.

Carter, on the second leg of his peace journey that began Thursday in Egypt, said he would confer with Begin on the same "final details" he discussed with Egypt's Anwar Sadat.

From Tel Aviv, the president traveled to Jerusalem for ceremonial bread-and-wine greetings from the mayor, followed by a private dinner at Begin's home.

At the airport, Carter appealed for support, saying "it would be a tragedy to turn away from the path of peace after having come so far."

The president's visit prompted Israeli authorities to ban demonstrations in Jerusalem and workmen to put a fresh coat of varnish on the panning in Begin's office.

Security was tight. Israeli troops trapped and killed four Palestinian guerrillas in a tomato field early Saturday before they could carry out a plot to terrorize Israel by seizing hostages, the Israeli military said.

The Army warned that Palestinian commandos may mount further attacks during Carter's visit.

Carter's Mideast mission was tentatively scheduled to end Monday, but U.S. officials acknowledged the possibility of a return visit to Cairo on Tuesday.

Carter and Begin last met on Monday in Washington, where U.S. officials presented new compromise

Mass murders announcement

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police here say they are seeking nine first-degree murder warrants against a transient they are calling "a prime suspect" in the steakhouse-Lorenz mass murders.

Chief Tom Heggy and Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation Director Tom Kennedy called a press conference shortly before 10 p.m. Saturday to announce the case had been solved.

They said the man being sought, Roger Dale Stafford, 27, is believed to be in the Decatur, Ala. area. The FBI is assisting in attempts to arrest the man.

A second suspect, Harold Ray Stafford, 29, the brother of the suspect named Saturday night, was killed in a motorcycle accident in Tulsa, Okla., six days after the steakhouse murders, Heggy said.

Investigators said a woman who is believed to be the getaway driver in the steakhouse murders is being held in protective custody. They said she is the wife of one of the Staffords, but they refused to say which one.

Heggy said she is the uninvolved witness-informant they had been appealing to come forward.

The bodies of Air Force Sgt. Melvin Lorenz, of San Antonio, Texas, and his wife, Sgt. Linda Lorenz, were found June 22, 1978 along Interstate 35 near Purcell, Okla., about 35 miles south of Oklahoma City. The body of Lorenz' son was found the next day. The family was en route to a relative's funeral in North Dakota.

suggestions to Begin in an effort to break the negotiating stalemate.

Those undisclosed terms were accepted by the Israeli Cabinet, but brought counter-proposals from Egypt that were discussed during the president's visit there.

With Sadat at his side in Cairo, the American president said they had resolved some difficult issues, but not others. "I am hopeful the differences which still remain can be resolved."

Sadat described his talks as "very fruitful." Then the two leaders took a quick tour of the pyramids and Sadat escorted his guest to Cairo International Airport.

Their statements at the Mena House hotel followed a final 90-minute discussion between Sadat and Carter.

Earlier, Carter told the Egyptian People's Assembly that the long-elusive peace treaty was "within our grasp."

Pushing the U.S. compromise terms on key sticking points, Carter urged the two nations to adopt what they may consider an imperfect settlement.

Could become fashionable

Just 'veiled' threats?

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Tens of thousands of Iranian women dressed in blue jeans and skirts walked off their jobs Saturday and rallied in the streets of Tehran to protest curtailment of their freedoms.

Moslem zealots enraged by the unveiled protesters beat some of the women. At least one woman was stabbed.

The walkout paralyzed the nation's banking institutions and most private business. Saturday is a normal working day in Iran.

Several women wearing the traditional "chador," a bodylength black veil, joined the orthodox Moslems who attacked protesters near the British Embassy. Besides the woman who was stabbed, several others were injured in the brief clash. Militiamen fired into the air to disperse the attackers.

In other parts of the city, zealots harassed women with a slogan roughly translating into English: "Either you wear a head wrap or you get a head rap!" There were reports

STOPPING BRIDGE TRAFFIC — Pipe-wielding protesters stop a car from traversing Cordova Bridge in between Juarez and El Paso Saturday as a large group of Mexican nationals blocked three international bridges here to protest the denial of work permits to some Mexican women who work as domestic workers in El Paso. The blockade lasted more than four hours before the bridges opened again for traffic early Saturday evening.

'How Hydrogen Bomb Works'

Progressive magazine editor receives restraining order

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Progressive was created as a magazine that would stand up and fight for its supporters' beliefs, and now it's fighting the federal government for the right to publish an article about hydrogen bombs.

"We shall hit as hard as we can, giving and taking blows for the cause with joy in our heart," Sen. Robert M. La Follette wrote 70 years ago when he founded the magazine.

The Progressive vows to follow that motto as it fights an attempt to stop it from publishing an article the government says would reveal secrets about the making of hydrogen bombs. Its editor termed the government's allegations "absurd."

The Madison-based monthly, with a circulation of about 40,000, lost the first round in its fight Friday when U.S. District Judge Robert W. Warren of Milwaukee issued a 10-day temporary restraining order against publication of an article written by free-lance writer Howard Morland. Another hearing is scheduled for Friday.

The Justice Department seeks a permanent injunction, claiming Morland's article was entitled "How A Hydrogen Bomb Works" and that it contained information restricted by the Atomic Energy Act.

"The article provides specific and detailed information concerning the design and operation of a hydrogen bomb, and certain technical information necessary to construct such a bomb," the suit said.

TANGLED PROTEST — More than 144 people were arrested Friday as they attempted to block delivery of a 450-ton reactor vessel to the Seabrook, N.H. atomic power plant. Members of the Clamshell Alliance held on to each other as police tried to remove them from the path of the convoy carrying the huge vessel.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Brake life

Q. How long can I expect the brakes on my car to last before they need relining?

A. On the average, about 25,000 miles for the front brakes and about twice that long for the rear brakes. Brake life, however, depends mostly on how and where the car is driven. Brakes used infrequently, as on the highway for instance, will not need a brake job nearly as often as a car driven in town, where the brakes are used many times for every few miles. Brakes should be checked every ten thousand miles.

Howard College will remain closed for spring break today through Friday. Classes will resume on March 19.

The Coahoma Band boosters will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the band hall. Election of officers for 1979-1980 will be the order of business. All parents of band members are urged to attend.

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y will meet at the YMCA at 7:30 to hear guest speaker Dr. Cohorn, hypnotist and psychologist. All high school students are invited.

Tops on TV: Cowboys compete

The Dallas Cowboys will take off their shoulder pads and go to it with the Pittsburgh Steelers in a variety of challenges on "The Superteams," airing at 1 p.m. on ABC. The evening viewing leaves much to be desired. Two repeat movies, "Airport '77," and "Sweet Charity," air at 8 p.m. You might have better luck with "Mister Dugan" which premieres at 7:30 on CBS. It stars the talented Cleavon Little as a idealistic Congressman. Then at 10:25, Monty Python begins a series of new material on PBS with "Ripping Yarns." This one is "Tompkinson's Schooldays," and it promises to be silly.

Inside: Insurance inquiry

FORMER INSURANCE COMMISSIONER Joe Hawkins received gambling chips, hotel rooms and airplane rides from an insurance promoter who later received special treatment, according to a report published by the House General Investigating Committee. See page 9A.

THE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION advised publishers Saturday to be careful about textbooks that show too much violence and encourage deviant lifestyles. See page 10A.

Right-of-way issue on agenda

The Dawson County Commissioners' Court will hold its regular meeting, 10 a.m. Monday, in the County Court House in Lamesa.

Items on the agenda include:

- Notice that the R.E.A. will place an electric line in a county road right-of-way.
- A study of pending legislative bills.
- Consideration of a request by Phillips Petroleum Company for a road crossing permit.

Exemptions plea voiced

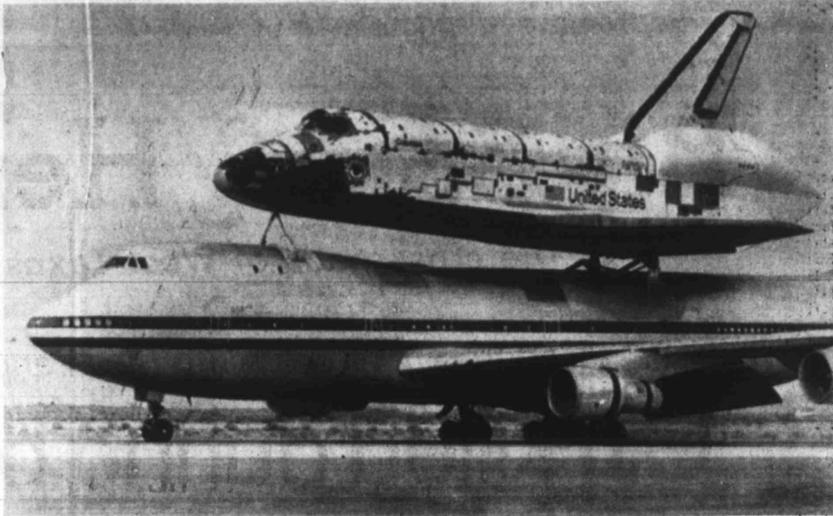

FORSAN — All eligible persons living in the Forsan School District are encouraged to apply for their residential homestead exemption immediately.

The exemption is new and must be applied for in order to receive it. Applications may be made in the tax office at Forsan High School or, if unable to appear in person, an application will be mailed to the applicant upon request.

Applications may be requested by calling 263-6571 or 457-2226.

For the record

The Herald mistakenly reported in its Thursday "Action-Reaction" column that it is legal to turn left in a car from a one-way street onto another street while the signal light is red. This is only legal when one is turning left from a one-way street onto another one-way street.

AFTER TEST FLIGHT — A 747 jetliner with the Space Shuttle Orbiter "Columbia" riding on its back, taxis on runway after completing a 17-minute test flight over Edwards Air Force Base Friday. During the flight temporary styrofoam insulation tiles on the shuttle tore off and may have damaged other permanent thermal tiles. Note notches on leading (black) edge of tail stabilizer. The transporting of the space craft by the 747 jet to the Kennedy Space Center in Florida may be delayed a day or two.

$11.5 million civil suit produces martyr

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A courtroom battle between nuclear industry critics and an energy industry conglomerate continues here this week in the first suit claiming a person was contaminated with plutonium outside a nuclear fuel processing plant.

The $11.5 million civil suit centers around the contamination of lab technician Karen Silkwood with plutonium, a highly radioactive element experts say can cause cancer. She died in an auto accident in 1974 and authorities say she fell asleep at the wheel.

Miss Silkwood has become a martyr to nuclear industry opponents, some of whom claim her death wasn't accidental. They say she was silenced en route to meet with a New York Times reporter to present him with documentation of poor safety practices at the plant.

At the time of her death, Miss Silkwood worked at the nuclear division of the Kerr-McGee Corp.'s Cimarron Facility near Crescent, Okla. She worked in quality control testing of the pencil-thin tubes filled with plutonium pellets that are made to fuel nuclear reactors.

Kerr-McGee Corp. and its subsidiary, the Kerr-McGee Nuclear Corp., are the defendants in the suit filed on behalf of Miss Silkwood's estate. The firm has more than $1 billion in assets and is one of Fortune magazine's top 200 companies.

A week before her death, Miss Silkwood and her apartment were found to be seriously contaminated with plutonium. Lawyers for her estate said in opening statements they will prove Kerr-McGee was negligent in allowing plutonium to be taken from its plant.

Kerr-McGee attorneys said in opening statements that, as an activist in the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, she may have purposely contaminated herself to embarrass the company and draw attention to her complaints about safety.

Two atomic scientists who have become concerned about the dangers of nuclear power were the first witnesses for the Silkwood estate.

Dr. John Gofman, described by Silkwood lawyers as the "Father of Plutonium," testified Thursday. The former Manhattan Project scientist said Silkwood had been exposed to enough plutonium to cause cancer. He said as little as one one-millionth of a gram of plutonium, comparable to one grain of pollen, may cause cancer.

He was sharply critical of Kerr-McGee's safety procedures and also had harsh words for federal regulatory agencies because of the radiation exposure standards they set for the industry.

Dr. Edward S. Martell, of Boulder, Colo., echoed Gofman's criticisms.

Testimony was to resume Monday with a third witness for the plaintiffs.

Big Spring schools would be loser if plan approved

By STEVE MCGONIGLE
Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Money with a message. That's what school districts get under a plan the House will debate Monday for replacing local revenues abolished by the 1978 Tax Relief Amendment.

The money is an estimated $415 million to be apportioned among 1,100 school districts during the next two years.

The message is either a promise of reward or a threat of punishment, depending on the accuracy of a school district's property appraisal.

Big Spring Independent School District would be one of the plan's losers. Its appraisal rate would be a revenue shortfall because of a new twist that the House Ways and Means Committee added to old theories of replacing lost tax dollars.

The innovation combines a dollar-for-dollar payback in 1979-80 with a reform-minded formula in 1980-81 that bases reimbursement on a school district's appraisal rates.

Under the plan, no district will receive less than 90 percent of its revenue losses but about 300 urban and suburban districts would have more dollars replaced by the state than they are expected to lose. This has been to encourage the other 780 primarily rural districts to improve appraisals.

Big Spring ISD would get enough state funds in 1979-80 to cover $323,400 in revenue losses from homestead exemptions and $32,200 lost by reassessing agricultural land for its production value, but because it appraises property at 62 percent of market value, Big Spring ISD would be 1 1/2 percent short of the break-even point in 1980-81.

Forsan ISD with a 66 percent appraisal rate would fare better. Its replacement revenues would fall only 100 short of actual losses.

School districts with appraisal rates at the 68 percent statewide average will neither gain or lose under the plan.

Statewide, losses from the tax breaks the committee proposes to grant homeowners, elderly and disabled persons, farmers and ranchers, timber interests and automobile owners are expected to reach $202 million in 1979-80 and $204 million for 1980-81.

The committee's bill replaces each year's anticipated loss and add $9.4 million in bonuses for districts appraising above the state averages.

Whether the House approves the plan depends on how well proponents sell the approach to legislators whose school districts would lose revenue.

Debate on the bill is expected to last two days and the bill could be amended severely during the discussions.

Regardless of the outcome, the actual dollar amounts school districts receive will vary from the 1977-78 data upon which house members will base their decisions as estimated by the state comptroller, these are some of the numbers Big Spring area legislators will see for the debate:

—Coahoma ISD (65 percent appraisal rate), $78,400 loss in homestead and agricultural tax breaks, reimbursement deficit of $500.

—Colorado ISD (65 percent appraisal rate), $217,600 tax break loss, deficit of $1800.

—Snyder ISD (66 percent appraisal rate), $255,000 tax break loss; deficit of $600.

Estimates do not include revenue losses from exemptions on intangible property, automobiles, homesteads of disabled persons, farm residences and homes built since 1977. They also omit any increase in property values caused by inflation.

Districts would become eligible for reimbursement for the 1979-80 school year by detailing their losses to the School Tax Assessment Practices Board before Nov. 1.

SIR LEW GRADE GOV. ARTHUR LINK

Governor to fiddle

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Gov. Arthur Link will perform a medley of seven songs on the violin Sunday to celebrate his pioneer family's history.

Link's appearance with the Bismarck-Mandan Symphony Orchestra will be a departure from his usual political speaking engagements, the governor acknowledged.

Link, 64, said he studied the violin under a Lutheran minister for several years from the age of 8. He said, "It's difficult to allocate much time to it now. I try to practice some every day, but my official work has to be done first."

Pope praises movie

NEW YORK (AP) — In an audience with Sir Lew Grade, the British TV and movie entrepreneur, Pope John Paul II expressed praise for Franco Zeffirelli's "Jesus of Nazareth."

Grade, whose ITC Entertainment produced the Biblical saga, said the pope's comments came in a private audience on Jan. 17.

NBC will rebroadcast "Jesus of Nazareth" in four parts beginning Sunday, April 1, at 8 p.m. EST. The eight-hour film continues April 2 and 3, and concludes on Palm Sunday, April 8. NBC initially broadcast a shorter version of "Jesus of Nazareth" in April 1977.

Hart murder trial

Parents of murdered scouts asked to stand

PRYOR, Okla. (AP) — Prosecutor S.M. Fallis planted an emotional charge in the plodding jury selection in the murder trial of Gene Leroy Hart Saturday, asking parents of two of three Girl Scouts Hart is accused of killing to stand.

"We have no way to have Lori or Doris or Michele here for you to look at," Fallis said, as he asked parents of the victims to stand in the courtroom to be identified by a prospective juror, as jury selection dragged into a sixth day.

Hart, 35, is charged with first-degree murder in the June 13, 1977 slayings of Doris Denise Milner, 10; Michele Guse, 9; and Lori Lee Farmer, 8, all of the Tulsa area, at a northeastern Oklahoma summer camp.

Attorneys appeared in no hurry Saturday to quicken the jury selection proceedings, and it appeared that a jury would not be seated until sometime early next week.

Garvin Isaacs, Hart's chief attorney, tried to block Fallis' new tactic of bringing more attention to what Fallis called "often times... forgotten" victims.

However, District Judge William Whistler allowed the line of questioning to continue.

Fallis asked Dr. and Mrs. Charles Farmer and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Guse to stand briefly. He asked the prospective juror to remember that the Milner girl had been "brutally beaten, raped and murdered." Her parents were not in court.

Isaacs had asked earlier prospective jurors to look at Hart as he stood before them, wearing a suit and tie. "Would you promise us you can give Gene here a fair trial?" Isaacs had asked, resting his hand on Hart's shoulder.

Isaacs asked for a mistrial Saturday afternoon in a conference in Whistler's chambers. Isaacs said the Farmers had given a television interview saying they would only be satisfied by a death penalty if Hart is found guilty.

Jurors may chose between a death sentence or life imprisonment if they convict Hart of the murder charges.

Whistler turned down the mistrial motion but said he would permit Isaacs to submit it again if he could back up his contention that the Farmer interview would "enflame the emotions" of prospective jurors.

Whistler said he would not admonish the Farmers for giving interviews.

A procession of more than 50 prospective jurors had gone through a sometimes lengthy interrogation by Saturday afternoon.

Attorneys for each side had each used five of their nine challenges to remove panelists thought to be least favorable to their case.

Each attorney also has two challenges in the selection of two alternate jurors who will also hear testimony in what is expected to be a lengthy trial.

Whistler, who said Friday the jury selection was the slowest he had witnessed in 10 years on the bench, said prospective jurors would be allowed to go home Sunday in anticipation of being sequestered for weeks.

Dung research pushed

No, it's not Aggie joke

UVALDE, Texas (AP) — Did you hear the one about the Aggie researchers who want South Texas ranchers to start collecting livestock dung?

No, folks, it's not the start of another Aggie joke. These Aggies are serious when they say the ranchers can improve their land management and bolster the health of their livestock by collecting and analyzing the dung off their land.

"The way animals perform on the range is influenced mostly by the range forage species available, plant nutrient value and the diet of the animals using it," said Dr. Larry White, a range specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Uvalde.

"Fecal analysis is just another tool to help ranchers get this knowledge."

"When animals begin eating plants that are poisonous or that are of poor quality, then ranchers can know something is wrong, because microscopic analysis of fresh fecal material can tell the rancher these plants are in the animal digestive system," White continued.

By taking samples from both ends of the animals, the ranchers are able to quickly determine the needs and future performance of his livestock and properly develop his range resources.

"We are finding now that the combination of forage collections and fecal analyses are both useful to ranchers in helping them decide on the best mix of cattle, sheep, Angora goats and white-tail deer on their rangelands," the range specialist said.

The use of fecal analysis is not new to science, White said, but until now it has not been applied widely to practical situations such as ranching.

White said such analysis of the animals' diets will also help the ranchers identify the seasonal plant species most important to animal performance.

"As conditions change, diets will reflect the available foods," said White. "We can then spot trouble areas when the animal diets start including more of the same plants."

"Our research already has taught us that this kind of competition is a major factor in limiting the performance of different classes of livestock. The quicker we can find this out and take remedial action such as adjusting our stocking rates, rotating pastures or supplemental feeding, the better off our livestock will be," he explained.

Much of the research is going on at the Edwin Sawyer Ranch near Sonora. Researchers have learned there that livestock production is limited by low phosphorous levels in forage and by low crude protein content in these forages during cold and dry weather. Those same weather conditions also limit the production of key plants.

That information suggests the need for ranchers in that area to implement a year-round phosphorous and high protein supplementation.

The method of fecal analysis has long been used, White said, to identify diets of birds, grasshoppers and even extinct animals.

WE'VE COME A LONG WAY SINCE GEORGE'S WOODEN TEETH

It seems to be well documented fact that the Father of the United States, George Washington, had to make do with an uncomfortable set of wooden teeth. But, in those bygone days, most all dentistry was a hit and miss proposition and a trip to the dentist was truly an unwelcome experience.

Modern dentistry is something else, and during the month of February the public spotlight is on the maintenance of good dental health. Schedule an appointment today and you might not have to worry about false teeth (of any material) in the future.

Cold front triggers some light showers

A cold front that swept across Texas moved off the coast Saturday afternoon, but skies remained cloudy over most of the state.

Some light showers fell in Southeast Texas during the evening, with rainfall generally one-half inch or less.

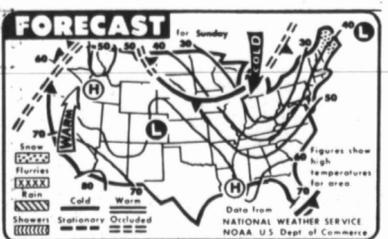

Afternoon high temperatures were mostly in the 50s and 60s.

High pressure was building over the state and forecast for Sunday called for gradual clearing from the north and west. The shower activity was expected to move out of the state. Afternoon highs were forecast to be mostly in the 60s, except 70s in the Big Bend area.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Fair north and partly cloudy south today and tonight, becoming warmer most sections. Partly cloudy and warmer Monday. Highs today in the 60s except 70s Big Bend. Lows tonight 34 to 44 except 30s near mountains. Highs Monday in the 70s except low 80s Big Bend.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy with warm days and cool nights Tuesday through Thursday. Lows upper 30s north to 50s south. Highs 60s north to 80s south.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast snow today for parts of northern Maine. The rest of the nation is expected to have clear skies.

Deliveries by CRMWD to oil companies lag

Deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District continued to lag during February, but practically all the loss was in the volume to oil companies.

During February, the district pumped 1,052,271,636 gallons to its customers, down 7.68 percent or about 87 million gallons from the same month last year. For the first two months of the year, deliveries aggregated 2,162,377,927 gallons, a decline of 10.87 percent from the same period in 1978 due to substantial losses in a severely cold January.

Municipal deliveries in February were 757,281,600, only a million and a half gallons below last February. Deliveries to oil companies for the month were 294,990,036 gallons, off 22.57 percent because no surface water is being sold for secondary recovery. For the first two months of the year oil company deliveries have amounted to 625,384,327 gallons, down 25.33 percent.

Odessa used 312,834,000 gallons, up 2.57 percent over February 1977; Big Spring used 162,193,000 gallons, down 2.25 percent; Snyder 54,175,000 gallons, down 6.00 percent; Stanton 6,198,000 gallons, down 16.79 percent; Midland 215,420,000 gallons, down 1.59 percent; Robert Lee 6,460,800 gallons, up 64.19 percent.

Look elsewhere for boost in food prices

When the farmers descended upon Washington recently to focus attention on their battle for survival, they became acutely aware of the wariness of the local press to accept their message at face value. That wariness bordered upon outright hostility at times.

The news media, coached or not by vested interests, made it quite plain that they didn't want the rural types marking up their beautiful city and would prefer to have the people from the outback say what they have to say and get out.

THE MOVERS and the shakers in the nation's capital had precious little time to commiserate with the people who put the food on America's tables — they were too busy saving the great unwashed in Southeast Asia or voting grants to study the mating habits of the earthworm. The message the farmers were circulating was loud, clear and blunt: The conglomerates are going to run the little guy out of the farming business. After that, the cartels will dictate the prices for farm products. The end result will be at least a 100 percent increase in the cost of food for the American consumer.

Washington's gainfully employed couldn't get excited about such a prospect because, after all, their pay scales are anchored to the cost of living plus 15 per cent. They couldn't care less what problems the wretched voters experience out in the boon-docks.

Evidently, the scribes in Washington are cut from the same mold. They are often prone to take the releases of the government's propaganda mills and use them at face value.

A news story relating the spiraling food costs, which came out of Washington the past week, was a good example of the subtle ways being used to disenfranchise the farmer.

"The report confirmed findings released by the administration that farm prices have been rising at the annual clip of 40 percent since November," this particular release stated. "In response to the sharp increase in farm prices, which the government concedes will continue for a while, President Carter's chief inflation fighter, Alfred E. Kahn, said that officials are considering ways of slowing hikes at the farm level."

Has anyone told Mr. Carter that the answer to America's grave problems can't be found on the sands of the blue Mediterranean? Does Mr. Kahn go around with a sack over his head?

ETHER THE authors of such articles are guilty of a deliberate distortion of facts or they are using an extremely poor choice of words.

The farmers, for the most part, are benefitting so much from the cornucopia that many are going out of business. The markups, in short, are coming elsewhere and the farmer, who Thomas Paine must have had in mind when he wrote that there was nothing as important as resisting those who would control man's mind, is being used as a whipping boy.

Such writers should back off a little farther and get a true picture of what is going on in this country. After all, they have as much at stake as anyone in this desperate struggle.

Exciting Iran

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — While anti-Americanism rushed toward a dangerous peak and big American contractors in Iran vainly sought information about the State Department's evacuation policy, military and diplomatic personnel were being quietly moved out of Tehran to safety.

That reversed the normal procedure: it is government officials, with their dependents if necessary, who usually stay till the dangerous end; the non-government Americans usually get moved out first.

BUT THE DETERIORATING situation in Tehran and other hot spots in revolutionary Iran reversed that process, infuriating non-government civilians. One major contractor with several thousands of employees in the country tried desperately to learn both from the State Department and the U.S. embassy in Tehran about evacuation. The diplomats, facing understandable pressures not to undercut the then-ruling but slipping Bakhtiar regime, hedged. The contractor was discouraged from chartering airliners.

But Uncle Sam was not forgetting his own. Under an emergency (but publicly unannounced) policy of "very liberal" leave, many embassy employees and their dependents were in effect subsidized for Christmas vacation trips out of the country — from which, of course, they never returned.

Admittedly, the State Department faced a difficult and even dangerous time in deciding when and how the exodus should take place. But the manner in which it finally happened left a lot of bad feeling.

Handle on Haig Supreme NATO commander Alexander Haig, who gives up his four stars in June for a possible new political career, was the star performer at an off-the-record breakfast with a dozen Republican senators on Capitol Hill ten days ago.

In uniform and saying nothing that could be interpreted as political in any partisan sense, Haig nevertheless delivered one of the "strongest addresses on America's world problems" that one senator had ever heard. The outgoing commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) discussed the new strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, but a careful reading between the lines was necessary to hear his warning.

HAIG'S VOICE is expected to weigh heavily against the new SALT treaty, unless the text is drastically modified by Senate amendment. But while in uniform, mum's the word. Haig's political ambitions range from the Republican presidential nomination, the vice presidential nomination if he cannot win the top spot, or the U.S. Senate seat in Pennsylvania now held by retiring Republican Sen. Richard Schweiker.

Politicians give him almost no chance for the 1980 presidential nomination, but larger prospects for either the vice presidential spot or the Senate. Continuing decline of the U.S. in the world and more defeats such as the anti-American crusade in Iran could change that and make Haig a real 1980 factor.

Tower the Leader? The prospect of Sen. John Tower of Texas replacing Tennessee's Sen. Howard Baker as Senate Republican leader would remove a major remaining White House hope that the expected arms control treaty (SALT II) with the Soviet Union may indeed win Senate approval.

Chinese medicine may get closer study

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am questioning the use of ginseng tea. Is it potent in any way? Does it have any adverse effects? — G.H.

Ginseng is one of many herbs used by the Chinese for at least 2,000 years for a variety of ailments, from excessive sweating to convulsions. Herb medicine and acupuncture are two Chinese arts that have not been thoroughly studied in Western countries. I know of no adverse effects from this particular herb, nor have I seen any specific benefits in literature I've studied.

Notwithstanding this, health food stores are happy with an apparently booming business in ginseng products — capsules, powdered extract and even lotions for the skin. The concentrated extract is expensive (about $25 an ounce). As tea, I'm told it gives a pleasant, sweet taste suggestive of licorice. It has no caffeine.

You can use your ginseng tea freely, but don't expect to be rejuvenated or cure any disease with it. As far as I can tell it is merely an expensive beverage.

Let me add that herbs used by ancient civilizations, including that of the American Indian, have been the basis for some of our important drugs used routinely today. Rauwolfia (a blood pressure medicine) is one. Perhaps the recent resumption of political relations with Mainland China may open the door for closer study of Chinese medicine, including the use of herbs. Western medicine doesn't have all the answers it needs, certainly.

Dear Dr. Ruble: My daughter was diagnosed as having heart trouble. Now she is pregnant and we are worried to death about her. Should she be hospitalized? What are the dangers to her, to the baby? — Mrs. T.S.

It is unpredictable from the scanty information you give. What is her age? What do you mean by "heart trouble"? Many heart patients can carry on right through to delivery with proper home care. The problems, if any, begin to show themselves after the third month, when demands on the heart by the fetus increase sharply. If the doctor notes any dramatic changes in heart performance, medicine and even hospitalization might be required until delivery, or her activities might be sharply curtailed.

So long as her heart can withstand the pressures of pregnancy and delivery, there need be no effect on the baby. Her own doctor can be more specific in your daughter's individual case.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Please discuss pterygium. Is it progressive? What causes it? Can anything be done for it? — L.V.H.

Pterygium (pronounced teh-RIH-gee-um) is from a Greek word meaning "wing." It is a growth of wing-like tissue which extends from a corner of the eye conjunctiva (usually from the nose side) and spreads gradually over the cornea toward the center of the eye. It is usually white or pinkish. The spread can be very slow. One may remain unchanged for years.

The actual cause is not known, but it is thought to result from chronic exposure to bright light (ultra-violet — from the sun or lamps), to dust, wind, and even to humid climates. Farmers seem prone to this, and I have seen references to the fact that Pony Express riders of the Old West were, also.

The only effective treatment is surgical removal if the growth reaches the eye's pupil and threatens vision. X-ray therapy has been used, but because this may lead to cataract growth it seldom is today. Local application of a medicine called Thiotepa has been tried by some ophthalmologists. The problem is usually bilateral — that is, occurring in both eyes.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I have a niece in the hospital. She is eight and has herpes and chickenpox. They claim the herpes is hereditary. What do you have to say about this? — Mrs. M.T.

Chickenpox is a herpes infection. This virus is the same one that causes herpes zoster (shingles). The virus is contagious, but is not hereditary. That is, it can be transferred from one person who has it to another but is not passed on to the unborn through genes. I suspect you misunderstood the doctor.

Dear Dr. Ruble: What is the best test to find if a man is sterile? — M.M.

Only one way — analysis of the quantity and quality of his sperm.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of a booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to Dr. Ruble in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Our high school history class has been studying all the wars that have been fought in the name of religion. What do you think about these? — M.W.

DEAR M.W.: The daily headlines show that there are still wars and killings being carried out in the name of religion in various parts of the world. This is tragic and far from the spirit of Jesus Christ. There also have been tragic cases of so-called "Christians" who have tried to use armed force to make people adopt the Christian faith. Such things are wrong; a person should accept Christ because he is convinced of the truth about Him, not because he is forced to do so. When Peter picked up the sword to fight against those who were arresting Jesus, Jesus rebuked him and warned, "Put your sword back in its place...for all who draw the sword will die by the sword" (Matthew 26:52, New International Version).

I recognize that there may be times when men and nations must take up arms to defend themselves against great evil. At the same time, the Bible makes it clear that the Kingdom of God is not an earthly kingdom and is not to be advanced by earthly weapons. The Bible says, "For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds" (2 Corinthians 10:3-4, NIV).

Sometimes, it is true, people who have claimed to be Christians have not acted like real Christians. Jesus Christ calls us to love, not to hate. As you learn about history, I hope you will learn also about the countless saints of God who have lived for Christ and had an impact for good throughout the centuries.

DEAR PAL, Well, here it is St. Patrick's Day next Saturday; the time when I usually take time out to write a few lines to my good Irish friends, the time when I remember all the good things and indulge myself to the extent of getting a little sentimental.

It's a blustery evening, but here in my den it's cozy and comfortable. I'm setting here before a nice open fire with my typewriter, sort of half-listening to the music and slowly sipping a nice, very dry martini.

I ONLY WISH you were here, but Ouster backed

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — When we broke the story last October of fund raising fraud and other financial flouting by Roy Innis, director of the once-respected Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), Innis was quick and vehement in his denial of any wrongdoing whatsoever.

It was all a tissue of lies fabricated by his enemies, he told our associates Gary Cohn and Tony Capaccio.

Since then, however, investigators for New York's attorney general have completed a probe of CORE and have amassed a mountain of evidence substantiating our charges. As of Jan. 31, CORE has been forbidden to conduct fund raising activities in New York, and the state attorney general has asked the court to either dissolve CORE or to remove Innis and his cronies from office.

WHEN INNIS TOOK over CORE in 1968, he pledged to work for improvement in the condition of blacks throughout the United States. But the only improvement achieved by CORE appears to have been in the condition of Innis and his buddies. In the process, the organization's proud image has suffered drastically.

The New York state investigators concluded that CORE solicited millions of dollars through a variety of illegal methods; that the impressive-sounding social programs supposedly being operated by the organization with the money it collected actually existed only on paper; and that CORE funds were in fact being looted by Innis and his aides for squandering on personal extravagances and high living.

Here are some of the shocking details compiled by the New York investigators:

● CORE telephone solicitors engaged in a number of "unlawful practices" to milk contributions from businessmen. A typical scam was for the fund raiser to identify himself vaguely as being from "equal opportunity," giving the false impression that he was calling from a government agency. The solicitor would then hint that he had received reports on discrimination by the businessman, and would "advise" the victim to show that his heart was in the right place by buying a place in CORE advertisements listing equal-opportunity employers.

● "Intimidation, coercing and harassing tactics" were used to imply that if a businessman being asked for money didn't come across, CORE would instigate a boycott among the black community. The organization might even "call out the troops" and picket the recalcitrant firm's outlets. In short, CORE was running a protection racket.

since you are not the very least I can do is to toast your health and happiness... so time out, pal, while I bend my elbow to you.

I just took time out to mix another martini and while I was out in the kitchen I thought of all the time I would waste this evening if I went out to mix another drink every once in a while.

So I just made a big pitcher of Martinis and brought it back with me so I'd have it right here beside me and wouldn't have to waste time making more of them. So now I'm all set and here goes.

BESIDES MARTINIS are a great drink. For some reason they never seem to affect me. Can drink them all day long... so here goes.

'The coal industry is sick'

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's coal industry, which a year ago was mired in the depths of a miners' strike, is trying now to figure out how to recover from lower prices and sluggish demand.

"The coal industry is sick," says an executive of one coal company. "Very sick. And it's getting sicker."

The industry has been hit by rising coal imports, slower-than-expected increases in electrical demand, new government emphasis on natural gas as an industrial fuel, and perhaps most importantly, the increasing cost of mining and burning coal cleanly enough to meet pollution standards.

Demand for coal continues to rise, but not as quickly as has been forecast. The National Coal Association expects 713 million tons of coal to be mined this year, up from 654 million last year, when the strike cut production. The year before, a record 688.6 million tons of coal were mined. But production in the past 10 years has been on a roller coaster ride, and the net rise has been small.

The Carter administration wants production to reach 1.2 billion tons by 1985.

Wrong address, wrong key

Big Spring Fire Chief Alvie Harrison refuted rumors late Friday that the fire department officials do not have keys to locks on gates at the city park and Industrial Park.

major delay and that the building could not have been saved even without the problems of wrong address and key.

Marshal Jim Rayals do have keys to the south gate of Industrial Park. Under normal circumstances, they each have the correct key to city park gates, also.

Harrison said, however, that an apparent change in locks did cause a minor delay in the arrival of firemen at the early Friday morning fire which heavily damaged a storage building at Comanche Trail Park Golf Course.

Iranian prince scheduled to depart Lubbock Sunday

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Crown Prince Reza Pahlavi of Iran has completed supersonic flight training and was to depart this West Texas city Sunday to join his family in Morocco, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal said in a copyright story.

The story said the 18-year-old prince received his wings ahead of schedule at nearby Reese Air Force Base and was poised to join his father, the deposed Shah, in Morocco.

Observers said electronic surveillance equipment around the prince's Lubbock house was dismantled.

Pahlavi's completion of the one-year training program in eight months was not unusual, said Capt.

Robert Brus, the information officer at Reese.

"He was an experienced pilot when he arrived in the United States; thus he was able to completely fulfill the instructions normally programmed by the Air Force for beginning pilots," Brus said.

Brus said Pahlavi received his pilot's wings during a private ceremony at the Air Force base here earlier Friday.

The Iranian royal family went into seclusion in Egypt and then Morocco because of political strife in their country. At one point during the turmoil in Iran, several members of the royal family visited the prince in Lubbock.

Before arriving to combat the blaze, firemen first had to overcome obstacles of a wrong address as well as the wrong key.

A citizen, Harrison said, first reported the fire to the police as a grass fire at an address other than the city park. Then, when firemen did arrive at the park, their key was useless on the locks. City police arrived quickly to unlock the gate.

Harrison stated that neither problem caused a

'Major breach' in Communist Party

Anti-war feeling grows in China

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Peking's most important newspaper revealed Saturday a "major breach" in the Chinese Communist Party leadership, and Hanoi said it was caused by internal opposition to the Chinese invasion of Vietnam.

The remarkably candid Chinese article, which spoke of "struggles" troubling the party, did not say whether the war had provoked the new factionalism.

"But Vietnam claimed that growing anti-war feeling in China had forced the government to announce the withdrawal of its invasion army last Monday. Hanoi also said a dissident radio station inside China has been making clandestine broadcasts against the war.

In their latest battle reports, the Vietnamese continued to insist that despite what was told to the Chinese people Peking's troops were not pulling back across the border and were indiscriminately shelling Vietnamese cities and committing atrocities.

Western intelligence sources here said they were unable to say accurately how much fighting continued along the 450-mile front on the Vietnamese-Chinese border.

People's Daily, organ of the Chinese Communist Party and Peking's leading newspaper, disclosed the party bickering in an unusual front-page editorial entitled "Settle Grudges and Tighten Solidarity." The editorial was quoted in a dispatch of Japan's Kyodo news service from Peking.

"There are grudges among many comrades of the party that, in the worst case, led to the formation of a major breach," it said.

It said "contradictions" and "struggles" had developed in the party. "Nobody should treat their executive posts as personal property."

The editorial said some Communists had formed exclusive groups, dealing only with those who shared similar views. The Japanese report gave no indication that the People's Daily editorial was any more specific in describing the issues and personalities of the disputes.

An editorial in Vietnam's Communist Party paper, Nhan Dan, said a "serious rift within the ruling (Chinese) circles had broken out since the launching of the aggressive war."

The commentary drew parallels between the current situation in China and the unpopularity of U.S. military involvement in the Vietnam conflict in the 1960s and early 1970s.

The timetable of the Chinese invasion and withdrawal has in part been determined by "the need to cope with an increasingly alarming situation in China itself caused by the Chinese people's opposition to the Vietnam invasion," Nhan Dan said. The editorial was carried by other official Vietnamese media.

Hanoi Radio said a clandestine radio station inside Chinese territory was making anti-war broadcasts. Independent observers were unable to pick up the station Saturday, although Hanoi provided its frequency and broadcast schedule.

Hanoi Radio said the station, whose location was not given and whose operators were not identified, attacked Chinese Vice Premier Deng Xiaoping (Teng Hsiao-ping) for embroiling China in the war with Vietnam and said China was sending troops to Laos "to open a new war front."

The Vietnamese-dominated Laotian government also has charged China with massing troops along its border and supporting insurgents. Xinhua (Hsinhua), the official Chinese news agency, denied the charges and said an official protest had been sent to Laos.

The secret radio station also was reported to have said a new anti-war poster was put up on "Democracy Wall" in Peking Wednesday.

Japanese reporters in Peking have reported a handful of similar posters appearing since the invasion was launched Feb. 17.

China has previously charged Vietnam with attacking withdrawing Chinese soldiers, forcing them to return the fire.

11 Criminal Justice Division employees feeling Clements ax

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office apparently will be bearing a large share of the employee cuts pledged by Gov. Bill Clements.

Division spokesman Chick Morris said Friday that 11 criminal justice employees had been told they would lose their jobs at the end of the month.

Clements has said he planned to have 5 percent fewer employees in his office than former Gov. Dolph Briscoe. The number of positions would then be 268 instead of the 282 listed in the budget.

Allen Clark, Clements' special assistant for administration, said the cuts in the Criminal Justice Division will bring the reduction close to its goal.

The governor has also said he plans to trim the state payroll by 25,000 jobs during the four years of his term.

Morris said the employees were told Thursday "so they would have three weeks to look for other jobs." He said the cuts were possible because of re-evaluated work loads and lighter federal requirements.

Patrol Capt. Shaw retires March 31

Major Ira W. Dees, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety's 49 County West Texas Region has announced that Highway Patrol Capt. Hugh Shaw, Midland, will retire from the Department March 31, after more than 41 years of service.

Capt. and Mrs. Shaw were honored by their friends and fellow employees with a barbecue catered by the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang at the Midland Exhibit Barn Friday. Some of the participants in the program are Sen. Pete Snelson, Commissioner Blakemore, Colonel Wilson Speir, Col. Gossett, Chief Milner, and Major Dees. The master of ceremonies was Inspector J.O. Tanner, formerly of Midland.

Shaw was born in Rockwall, Texas, and completed public schools in that community. Shaw was farming at the time he made application with the Department.

Shaw was employed with the Department Aug. 2, 1937, and graduated from the DPS Academy at Camp Mabry in Austin Oct. 2, 1937, and was stationed in San Angelo in the Highway Patrol Service.

He was promoted to sergeant Jan. 1, 1952, and stationed in Pecos. On Sept. 1, 1955, he was promoted to Acting Lieutenant and remained in Pecos. He transferred from Pecos to Midland as Lieutenant Sept. 1, 1957, at the time of Department reorganization.

Shaw was promoted to Captain March 1, 1969, and was stationed in Waco. He transferred from Waco to Midland March 1, 1973. He has served the Department in San Angelo, Sonora, Dalhart, Borger, Amarillo, Pecos, Waco, and Midland.

Shaw will be succeeded by Lt. B.F. Wade, Beaumont, who will be promoted to Captain April 1.

Gambling chips, plane rides, 'free' rooms revealed in quiz

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The House General Investigating Committee says former Insurance Commissioner Joe Hawkins received gambling chips, hotel rooms and airplane rides from an insurance promoter who later received special treatment.

The 1977-78 committee's report was published Friday over the signature of former Rep. DeWitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, who chaired the panel.

It said Hawkins met Roger LeBlanc, a Louisiana insurance promoter, at an insurance commissioners convention in December 1976, shortly after Hawkins had placed LeBlanc's Great Commonwealth Life Insurance Co. under state supervision.

According to the committee report, Great Commonwealth lent a firm called CENTRAM $3 million to buy some land owned by LeBlanc and some associates in Louisiana. But since there already was a lien on the land, the insurance company received "a security interest so remote that it was not admissible as an asset on its books."

The committee said that for several months after December 1976, "there was a continuing course of conduct in which LeBlanc conferred benefits on Hawkins, including gambling chips, free or reduced-rate hotel accommodations and free airplane transportation, and Hawkins treated GCL in a manner favorable to LeBlanc's interest."

"These favorable actions included cutting short a special examination into the CENTRAM loan and changing the date of a regular examination into GCL's operation," the report said.

It said Hawkins repeatedly overruled insurance department staff recommendations regarding the handling of Great Commonwealth and at times acted without consulting experts on his staff.

"The effect of these actions was to allow Mr. LeBlanc and his associates to avoid, or at least postpone, suffering the consequences of the CENTRAM loan and other questionable business dealings," the report said.

Hawkins was indicted in 1977 on charges of lying to a grand jury investigating his dealings with LeBlanc. He resigned the same day and later pleaded no-contest to a lesser charge of accepting a plane ride from the promoter.

Hawkins remains active as a consulting actuary, appearing at recent board hearings on behalf of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association and the Texas Apartment Association.

The committee disagreed with recommendations made by some witnesses that the Legislature prevent State Insurance Board interference with day-to-day operations of the insurance department, which is headed by the commissioner.

"However, it appears from the evidence presented to the committee that at least part of the GCL problem arose because the commissioner was operating without adequate supervision," the committee said.

While Hugh Yantis was board chairman, the board began organizing an internal review group that would investigate any problems occurring in the insurance department. Yantis was removed as chairman by the Senate last August.

"The committee understands that since the hearings, the organization of this unit has been abated. The committee commends the idea of such a unit and urges the board to proceed with its establishment," the report said.

The committee also investigated allegations of patient abuse in state schools for the mentally retarded, focusing on institutions at Mexico, Richmond and Corpus Christi.

Nol shows up in LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Cambodian Premier Lon Nol, reportedly ailing and using a wheelchair, arrived here Saturday to take up residence at his new home in the nearby Orange County.

Sporting flowery leis around their necks, Nol and a party of about 20 persons — including his wife and at least one of their eight children — arrived at Los Angeles International Airport on a flight from Honolulu. They collected their baggage and left.

Nol has lived in Honolulu since his government was toppled by the Khmer Rouge in 1975.

His new four-bedroom singletory home is situated on a hilltop in Fullerton, about 25 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

Stock mart heating up

NEW YORK (AP) — The hot-and-cold stock market of the past several months is heating up again.

After rising sharply in January and then slumping last month, stock prices have rallied strongly once more in early March.

Last week the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials jumped 27.11 to 842.86, for its best weekly showing since it gained 28.41 points early last September.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index chimed in with a 1.44 gain to 55.81, and the American Stock Exchange market value index was up 3.69 at 166.66.

Big Board volume accelerated to its heaviest levels since late January, averaging 28.90 million shares a day against 25.23 million the week before.

As the pace increased, so did speculative activity in such issues as the gambling stocks: Caesars World, for example, reached an all-time high of 63 on Thursday before slipping back a bit at the end of the week.

Since the start of the year, the Dow Jones industrial average has traced a sharp zig-zag pattern between 800 and 860.

Analysts were hard put to find concrete "reasons" for the early-March rally. Hopes apparently were high that President Carter might succeed on his Middle East trip in clearing away the last obstacles to a peace treaty between Egypt and Israel.

But some Wall Streeters were also fretting that the market might be vulnerable should the mission fail. And analysts also pointed out that other problems involving the Middle East — including rising world oil prices — remain unresolved.

Another factor that has been mentioned is speculation that interest rates might turn downward before long.

Yet that hope is far from unanimous. Gabriel Hauge, chairman of New York's Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., told reporters in London on Friday he expects a further rise in both long and short term interest rates.

Equal Rights Amendment under fresh attacks

By The Associated Press

Less than two weeks before the original deadline for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, the proposal is under fresh attack, with eight states considering measures to rescind or otherwise nullify their approval.

Four of the 35 states which have ratified the amendment already have rescinded their actions, although the legality of the votes to rescind is uncertain. A fifth state, Kentucky, voted to rescind its approval, but the measure was vetoed by the acting governor and the state's position remains unclear.

An Associated press survey showed that resolutions to rescind approval or to nullify ratification if the amendment is not passed by the required 38 states by the original March 22 deadline also are pending in Delaware, Kansas, Montana, New Hampshire, Ohio, Texas and Wisconsin.

South Dakota rescinded its ratification earlier this month, joining Idaho, Nebraska and Tennessee. Attempts to rescind ratification were defeated this year in Indiana, North Dakota and Wyoming.

Proposals calling for approval of the ERA have been defeated this year in Arizona, Nevada, North Carolina and Virginia; the amendment suffered a setback in Illinois when an attempt to change Senate rules to make it easier to ratify the proposal was defeated.

The Nevada defeat followed a non-binding advisory referendum in last November's election when the ERA lost, two-to-one. A proposal for a public referendum at the time of the August 1980 primary is pending in Missouri, where the ERA has been defeated twice in the past.

Supporters of the ERA say they are confident they will win ratification in time to meet the new, June 30, 1982 deadline, set by Congress last year. Opponents say they are equally confident they will block the amendment.

Pay increases, revenue sharing dominates agenda

The Howard County Commissioners' Court will hold its regular meeting, 9 a.m. Monday in the County Court House.

Items on the agenda include:

- A request for intermediate law enforcement pay for Sheriff's Deputy B.R. McCartney, and an automatic pay increase for county secretary and county attorney.
- Discussion of employees' insurance with Mark Slate.
- A request for permission to amend the Revenue Sharing Budget for 1978-79.
- A bid opening at 1:30 p.m. on a pickup for the County Road and Bridge Department.

-Organization of a Board of Equalization, and the setting of dates for board meetings.

-A conference with County Engineer Bill Mims to discuss approval of a sign easement for Robert A. Merrick; approval of road crossings for Getty Oil Company; approval for a right-of-way for the General Telephone Company to lay a cable near a county road.

-A conference with Margie Baeza regarding a birthday party at the Fairbarns on May 5.

Retirement reception set for telephone exec

STANTON — After 27 years, Glenn Gates will step down from his position as manager of Wes-Tex Telephone Cooperative Inc. in Stanton.

Gates will be honored for his lengthy service to the Stanton community with a retirement reception, to which the public is invited, at the cooperative, 2:30-4:30 p.m. March 18.

Gates began his career with the cooperative after moving to Stanton from Clayton, N.M. where he had also worked for a co-op. His starting position with Wes-Tex, then connected with Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, was assistant manager.

When the two cooperatives split apart in 1970, Gates was named manager of Wes-Tex. At that time, there were 1,336 subscribers, most of whom were on eight-party service. Since then, the number of subscribers has increased to 1,664 and the cooperative is in the process of converting the system to all one-party service.

Lenora and West Stanton are already enjoying the one-party service and all other exchanges are due to be converted within the next two years.

Gates has served as a member of the board of directors of the Texas Association of Telephone Cooperatives. He has served one year as vice president of the association and six years as secretary-treasurer.

An active member of his community, he has served on the Stanton Independent School District Board of Trustees. During his term of office, he worked diligently and successfully for the construction of a new high school which was completed during his term.

He is a member of the Stanton Lions Club, American Legion and Masonic Lodge. He has served as both secretary and master of the lodge.

Succeeding Gates as manager of Wes-Tex Cooperative in Stanton is Charles E. Butler, a 20-year employee of the co-op.

600-mile march ends Scott Robinson captures $275 in calf scramble

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Members of the Texas Farmworkers Union came to the end of a 600-mile march Saturday and heard they had dropped backward since their first trek to the Capitol 13 years ago.

"We thought it was a new era," said Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso, of the well-publicized first march from South Texas. "We were dreamers."

The rally was held in a chilly drizzle, appropriate for a march that began with 250 people six weeks ago but quickly dropped to a handful as ice and cold drove supporters away.

"We walked three days in below zero conditions," union President Antonio Orendain had said when he announced that the number of marchers had dwindled to 17.

About 100 supporters joined the marchers for the last haul from the outskirts of Austin to the Capitol.

Scott Robinson of Ackerly wrestled a calf over the finish line in a recent performance of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo to earn a $275 calf purchase certificate.

The certificate, donated by Hill and Hill Truck Line, will enable Scott to purchase a beef or dairy heifer which he will feed and groom during the coming year under the direction of Andy Vestal, assistant Howard County agricultural agent. At next year's Houston Livestock Show, young Robinson will return with his calf to compete in the special show ring competition.

The rough and tumble calf scramble takes place at each of the 15 rodeo performances. Twelve calves and 24 youngsters are turned loose. Each contestant who manages to halt a calf and drag it across the finish line received a purchase certificate donated by Houston-area businesses and individuals.

While the viewing public sees only the scramble and judging events, the heart of the calf scramble program is the knowledge the scramble winners gain in the intervening year. Closely supervised by a Vocational Agricultural Teacher or County Extension Agent, each youth keeps accurate records and performs other obligations designed to underscore the responsibilities involved in raising a calf.

The calf scramble is only one example of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo's commitment to the youth of Texas, and the benefits of this one event alone are considerable. Many heifers purchased with these certificates form the basis for future cattle herds. Since the calf scramble program began, more than 7900 animals valued at more than $1.5 million have been donated to youngsters.

Textbooks in Texas

Deviant lifestyles hit

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Board of Education served extra notice to publishers Saturday it is not interested in textbooks that show too much violence, paint a negative picture of America or encourage deviant lifestyles.

Words to that effect were the final additions to the annual textbook proclamation that the board adopted.

"These items are just to clarify what the policy means," said board member Mary Ann Levering of East Bernard.

"I think basically the intent in clarifying them is that we have had textbooks presented that sometimes have an overall amount of things we didn't want," she said.

The board must approve any textbook used in state public schools.

Mrs. Levering, program committee chairman, said one seventh-grade literature text included five stories on suicide.

"For several years the board has taken note that in many of the books there seems to be violence for no real purpose — particularly in the literature books," she said.

A 15-member textbook committee will review possible selections throughout the summer, then hold public hearings Aug. 13-17 in Austin.

The board will hold a final public hearing Nov. 8 in Austin before taking action on the recommended list Nov. 10.

The final additions to the textbook content policy were:

—Textbooks shall present positive aspects of America and its heritage.

—Textbooks shall not contain material which serves to undermine authority.

—In the design of textbook content the amount of violence should be minimal.

—Textbook content shall not encourage life styles deviating from generally accepted standards of society.

Mrs. Levering said some American history books now dwell on negative aspects "really out of proportion. The positive kinds of things are given two lines or a short paragraph."

She also said the board has not seen many textbooks that encourage "perversion" but was looking ahead.

"I really think that the continuous overall emphasis on violence perhaps made us look forward ... particularly with some of the movements in the country."

The Texas Education Agency has estimated the cost of books purchased through this year's proclamation will be $6.8 million. Purchases of books already in use will push total textbook expenses to about $23.4 million, or $7.82 per student.

No elementary subjects are on this year's proclamation. It includes high school texts for typewriting, health education, computer mathematics, civil government and automotive trades.

Poison prevention week designated

The week of March 18-24 has been designated as National Poison Prevention Week and is designed to help parents, grandparents, etc. in taking a look at the potential poisons in their homes, garages, gardens, and neighborhood.

During 1978 the Texas State Poison Center assisted with nearly 13,000 poisoning cases. Over 72 percent of these involved children under five years old.

"Children in this age group, and most particularly those in the 6 months to 3 year age bracket, live in a 'hand-to-mouth' world," said Michael D. Ellis, M.S., Director of the Poison Center. "There are certain areas in the home that are particularly dangerous, for instances, under the kitchen sink, the bathroom sink, and the garage. These areas are where most people store cleaning products. The garage contains lots of petroleum distillate-containing (oil-based) products such as gasoline, paint thinner, enamel paints, etc. With these products, as little as one sip, if it gets into the lungs, can potentially be fatal."

The major substances ingested by young children included plants, colognes and perfumes, cosmetics, disinfectants, and household cleaners. Chewable multi-vitamins rank high on the list of frequently ingested medicines along with cough preparations, aspirin, and aspirin substitutes.

"Over 77 percent of the cases that the Poison Center has assisted with can be treated at home," Ellis noted, "thus eliminating the necessity of taking the child to either their physician or the emergency room. That's why we encourage the parents of children who have ingested a potentially toxic substance to call the Poison Center first."

Prevention of these numerous poisoning instances is the ultimate goal of the Poison Center. But prevention requires considerable effort on the part of the adults in the home. "This means that traditional storage areas for cleaning products, medicines, furniture polishes, etc. must be altered. Areas, like under the kitchen sink, must be cleaned out and the household products moved to higher locations," Ellis observed that "since most houses don't have an overabundance of storage places, we recommend that canned goods be put under the kitchen sink and the cleaning products be placed in high cabinets." Another way to help keep small children out of poisonous items is to use Mr. YUK stickers. "When these stickers are used as a teaching tool, they can be very effective in labeling the many substances that the child should not touch. If the parent will take the child with them and go over and over with the child that Mr. YUK is a NO-NO and he will make you sick, the child can be taught to leave Mr. YUK labeled products alone," Ellis noted.

"Should all else fail," said Ellis, "and if the child should require medical attention, we can assist in referring the patient to either their physician, the nearest Member Hospital in the Poison Center Network or the closest emergency room. The Poison Center will call ahead and tell the medical facility what the problem is and also recommend the proper treatment. In that way the child will receive the best and quickest care possible."

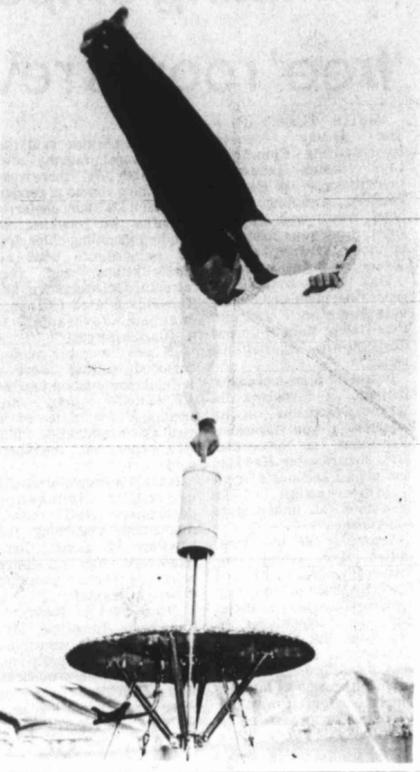

"Accidental poisoning is a growing problem," observed Ellis, "and there are some 100,000 cases of poisoning each year in Texas. But we hope that we can help reduce this number by parent education and through the use of the Mr. YUK poison warning symbol." Should a poisoning emergency occur, the Poison Center can be reached by calling 713-765-1420. The Mr. YUK stickers can be obtained by sending a large self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Poison Center, University of Texas Medical Branch, 8th & Mechanic, Galveston, TX 77550.

"We urge parents, grandparents, and adults who have young children in their homes to survey their storage areas, and to help us prevent a poisoning from occurring," Ellis concluded.

'Tomato clubs' dating produced 4-H Club

It is as American as baseball or apple pie. The present 4-H Club movement in Texas is an outgrowth of boys "corn clubs" and girls "tomato clubs" dating back more than 70 years.

In Texas, 4-H expanded rapidly following the creation of the State Agricultural Extension Service in 1914 by the United States Congress. In 70 years, it has grown from 25 boys who grew an acre of corn to 5.5 million boys and girls between the age 9 and 19. More than 137,500 of these are Texans.

The 4-H program continues to grow throughout the state and nation. Texas enrollment last year increased almost 25 percent.

What makes 4-H such a flourishing organization? It is a combination of many things, but the most valuable asset this organization has is people; there are boys and girls who are interested in participating, and involved parents and other adults who are concerned with helping our youth to learn and grow. The 4-H program has enjoyed much success in the past, but the groundwork must be laid now to face challenges that are ahead. Challenges are plenty as 4-H strives to assist youth along the road of life and to prepare them to be the leaders of tomorrow's America.

All boys and girls 9-19 years of age may become 4-H members whether rural or urban and regardless of ethnic, social, economic or cultural differences. Don't miss out on all the fun, enroll in 4-H at the Extension Office located in the basement of the courthouse.

New London school blast killed 293

One of world's worst disasters

NEW LONDON, Texas (AP) — On March 18, 1937, an explosion rocked the New London school, killing 293 students and teachers in a blast that is considered among the world's worst disasters.

For the second time in three years, survivors and other alumni have scheduled a reunion in remembrance of the tragedy. They will meet March 17 and 18 at the Community Inn at nearby Kilgore.

They will visit the new school Saturday, then attend a banquet Saturday night and a memorial service Sunday morning.

The first reunion, two years ago, attracted about 400 of some of those who were at the New London school during the tragedy or had children or relatives there. About 900 persons are expected this year. The first reunion was a spontaneous gathering put together by a few local survivors who contacted others through newspaper ads and radio announcements.

Wanda Kerce, one of the organizers, said the reunion won't be a lively, festive bash.

A number of residents of this small East Texas community, about 125 miles east of Dallas, were disturbed when plans were announced two years ago for the first reunion.

"Some of them were a little resentful, thinking it was a celebration," Mrs. Kerce said. The event is "really more of a memorial service," she added.

Mrs. Kerce prefers not to talk about the details of the explosion.

"Survivors of that just really and truly don't talk about it. There are people that live here that had children in it. We don't want them to be hurt," she said.

She said the last reunion was "a very touching affair. We saw people we hadn't seen in 45 years. There was a lot of happiness seeing your old friends, of course," Mrs. Kerce said.

Calvin Corrie of Shreveport, La., is in charge of this year's event. Mrs. Kerce said it's not likely to become an annual affair.

"Two years ago we said we'd meet again in five years. But then we all began to think about our ages and we thought that may be too long. So we decided to make it two," she said.

Mrs. Kerce is secretary at the present New London high school. Both she and her husband, George, survived the explosion.

Leaking gas — which had accumulated in the crawl space under the large junior-senior high school where about 700 students were in classes — ignited in an explosion about 30 minutes before school was to dismiss for the day.

One survivor who plans to attend the reunion is Al Braden, a labor representative living in Albuquerque, N.M. Braden was 16 at the time of the disaster, and his 13-year-old sister was killed.

"I was in math class," he said. "It was just like somebody opened a door and threw a bomb in the room. Some people I was playing with just 30 minutes before were lying there in all kinds of conditions."

Ten of 26 plead guilty to one or more charges

Ten of 26 individuals who were indicted on Jan. 16, 1979, in Lubbock for conspiracy of filing false claims against the U. S. Government for fraudulent income tax refunds and perjury appeared in U. S. District Court this week in Lubbock and entered pleas of guilty to one or more charges for which they were indicted.

They included Calvin Lee Camp, Jerry D. Hankins, Larry G. James, Danya J. Broyles, J. D. Woodard, Nathan Baker, Howard M. McCormick, Robert W. Thompson, William F. Wise and Roy Orender, all residents or former residents of Big Spring.

They appeared before a U. S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward and changed their pleas to guilty from not guilty, which they entered at their initial arraignment after they were indicted.

Sentencing for these individuals was set for a later date except for Danya Broyles, Roy Orender and William Wise.

Broyles was sentenced under the Federal Youth

Correction Act which carries a possible six-year prison confinement. Wise was sentenced to two years confinement, the term to run concurrent with a Texas Department of Correction prison term. Orender received two years probation.

Robert Sims is the only other individual of the 26 indicted who has been sentenced. Sims previously pleaded guilty and received a five-year prison term.

Trial for the remaining 15 individuals is scheduled for March 26 in Lubbock

It isn't nice to fool around with election laws in Texas

By SCOTT CARPENTER and JIM DAVIS

HARTE-HANKS AUSTIN BUREAU AUSTIN — Whenever politicians start fooling with election laws things take on a partisan flavor and are best digested with a spoonful of skepticism.

The legislature currently is considering proposals to set up a presidential primary system for Texas. The big question is whether the presidential vote should come at the same time as the primary for state and local offices, of earlier.

We are hearing philosophical and practical arguments for and against separating the two votes, such as:

For — The presidential primary should be held early to maximize the influence Texans will have on selecting the presidential nominees.

Against — The two-primary system is sinfully wasteful, with the added cost estimated as high as $4.2 million.

The cost element alone should drive conservative Democrats — self-proclaimed defenders of the public purse strings away from the split-primary proposal.

But conservative Democrats are scared that holding a presidential vote at the same time as the regular primary will help possible liberal and moderate Democratic opponents.

They fear that a hot Republican presidential nomination race could draw conservative voters away from the Democratic primary — leaving liberal Democratic voters more influence on party nominees.

So we see Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Billy Clayton, leaders of the conservative establishment that dominates Texas politics, pumping for split primaries. They want conservatives to be able to vote Republican in the presidential race and come back later to the Democratic fold for legislative and other races.

Enough senators and representatives have indicated opposition to the split primary proposal to block it. But there's a lot of arm twisting going on to change their minds.

An added inducement for the conservative Democrats is that the 1981 Legislature will handle redistricting for legislative and congressional seats based on 1980 census figures. They want to be in complete control of the legislature for that.

Republican Chairman Ray Barnhart sees an active fight for the Republican nomination, including such appealing personalities as John Connally and Ronald Reagan. Barnhart hopes this will draw new Texas voters to his party's primary — and get them used to voting Republican.

Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg and his executive committee don't like the idea of voters switching parties between primaries and have gone on record against any split primaries.

One of President Jimmy Carter's key political advisors, national party chairman John White, thinks Texas shouldn't have a presidential primary at all.

A primary loss in Texas could be disastrous to Carter's re-election, if he decides to run. Carter probably would stand a better chance with convention delegates — who tend to be party regulars — and even a convention loss would not be as bad as rejection by the primary voters.

If the election law stays as it is, Republicans still could hold a presidential vote with the May primary because their state convention voted for it. The Democratic state convention did not.

That situation is important because any legislation will have to be signed by Gov. Bill Clements, a Republican.

KIM CLANTON

GARY OSBURN

Kim Clanton wins first place in Spelling Bee

Kim Clanton, ten-year-old fifth grader, won the Moss Elementary School Spelling Bee Friday.

The Moss alternate will be nine-year-old Gary Osburn, a fourth grader, the son of Joyce Ann Osburn of 508 Wasson Road.

Kim is the daughter of Kay Eileen and Ronnie Clanton of 407 E. 11th St.

Nineteen Moss students vied for the crown. Kim survived the competition by spelling "inexcusable" and then fielded the word "acknowledge."

She thus becomes eligible to take part in the Howard County Spelling Bee, which takes place in the Howard College Auditorium starting at 4 p.m., Tuesday, March 20.

Kim is the first school champion declared in the county.

Villanova rallies to NCAA Track & Field crown

DETROIT (AP) — Villanova's swift mile relay team won the final running event Saturday and captured its third title in the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships, edging Texas-El Paso by one point despite victories in the mile and two-mile by the Miners' Sulamin Nyambui.

The Miners' chances of repeating as champions and winning their fifth title in the past six years were thwarted in the two-mile relay when they were disqualified after finishing second.

Charged with the infraction, which cost Texas-El Paso eight points, was Jan Boogman of the Netherlands. He was found guilty of knocking down Notre Dame's Chuck Aragon on the third leg.

Thus, Villanova, which began the final program of the two-day competition with only two points compared to Texas-El Paso's 27, wound up with 52 points to the Miners' 51.

In addition to the mile relay, the Wildcats picked up points on victories by Don Paige in the 1,000, Anthony Tufariello and Tim Dale, the 2-3 finish of Sydney Maree and Amos Korir in the mile, and a third in the distance medley.

However, they still needed a victory in the mile relay, run in two sections. Winning in the second section, the Wildcats were faced with beating the time of 3 minutes, 16.07 seconds turned in by first place Kansas in the opening section.

Led by Keith Brown, the fifth-place finisher in Friday's 440, the Wildcats reeled off a 3:15.52 clocking to wrest the team title from the disappointed Miners. Villanova's previous titles came in 1968 and 1971.

Following Brown on the relay were Derrek Harbour, Tufariello and Tim Dale.

Despite his team's bitter loss, the 25-year-old Nyambui, a freshman, was the meet's individual standout. He won the two-mile handily in 8:37.87, then about one hour later, came back and took the mile in a meet record time of 3:57.89.

DASHING TO VICTORY — Curtis Dickey of Texas A&M (642) hits the tape to win the 60-yard-dash with 6.15.2 during Saturday's NCAA Indoor Track Championships at Detroit's Cobo Arena. Following are: Harvey Glance (42) of Auburn, second place, Jerome Deal (653) of Texas-El Paso, fourth place, and Rich Edwards of Houston, fifth place.

Nelson takes 4-stroke lead in Jackie Gleason Classic

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — Larry Nelson, gunning for his first victory in six years of pro golf tour activity, birdied three holes in a row on the way to a 5-under-par 67 that lifted him into a 4-stroke lead Saturday in the third round of the $300,000 Jackie Gleason Invitational Classic.

Nelson, 31, a consistent money-winner and a member of the PGA Tour's Policy Board, had a 54-hole total of 203, 13 shots under par on the 7,127 yard Inverrary Country Club course.

While the slightly-built Nelson was taking apparent command in the chase for a $54,000 first prize, Jack Nicklaus shot an uninspired 73 and decided he needs some more work.

Nicklaus, unbeaten on this course in the last three years but well out of contention at 219, made a late entry in next week's Doral-Eastern Open, a tournament he originally planned to skip.

"I'm a little behind schedule," Nicklaus said. "My game isn't as sharp as it should be. It just needs more work."

Marquette whips Pacific

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Sam Worthen and Bernaru Toone scored 18 apiece as No. 12 Marquette cruised to an easy 73-48 triumph Saturday over outmanned Pacific in the final game of the NCAA West Regional college basketball tournament.

The 1977 national champion Warriors started off slowly, troubled by Pacific's physical defense, and trailed until midway through the first half when Toone connected from the corner for a 14-12 advantage. After that, Marquette never trailed.

The Warriors pushed out to a 28-22 halftime lead on the strength of Toone's 12 points and Worthen's eight.

The Tigers, led by Ron Cornelius' 12 points, were unable to put anything together in the second half.

Worthen's steady ball handling and sleight of hand with Pacific's passes helped the Warriors surge away to their 25-point edge at the finish, which was the largest of the game.

Bass Club to host tourney

The Big Spring Bass Club Invitational Tournament will be held Saturday, March 24 at Twin Buttes Reservoir located west of San Angelo.

The competition will begin at 7:00 a.m., with the weigh-in at 3:00 p.m. Participants should report to the main boat ramp at Twin Buttes.

The competition will be based on a two-string fish with a 14" inch minimum catch. The first prize will be $200 plus a choice of merchandise. The second prize will be $150 plus a trophy, with third place collecting $100 plus a trophy. Fourth place will be $50 or a choice of merchandise. Fifth through 25th place will also receive merchandise prizes.

There will also be a two dollar calcutta on the big fish of the day and a trophy, also.

All merchandise will be donated by Big Spring merchants.

Western Texas claims Region V Tourney

By NATHAN POSS

Western Texas used a non-stop press and some sizzling outside shooting in the first half to race past the Cooke County Lions by a score of 88-73 in the finals of the Region V Tournament held last night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The win enables the Westerners to continue their dominance of the region, as it was the fourth consecutive year in which the Snyder crew had captured the annual event. Texas Western will now meet Panola next week, with the winner advancing to the national tournament.

Cooke County jumped out to an early 11-8 lead five minutes into the contest, but it was strictly a pressing Westerner show the remainder of the way.

Western Texas, which used its outstanding depth to press past Midland on Friday night, applied the

Georgetown nips Sweeney in AAA girl's finals

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Georgetown, supported by a crowd of several thousand screaming fans, won its first girls basketball championship Saturday night by edging Sweeney, 51-49, in the Class 3A finals.

Renee Woodard missed the first of a one-and-one free throw that would have tied the game with four seconds remaining, and Elnora Woodard missed the followup shot to give Georgetown its narrow victory.

Ironically, Sweeney outshot Georgetown dramatically from the free throw line, swishing 15 of 23 charity tosses, while Georgetown had only seven of 23.

Sooners blitz Texas Longhorns

By DENNE FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Sophomore guard Raymond Whitley shredded Texas' match-up zone defense with 25 points Saturday and the Oklahoma Sooners whipped the nation's 15th-ranked team 90-76 in a second-round

NCAA Midwest Regional basketball game. South Alabama and Louisville met in the second game of the doubleheader in Moody Coliseum before a sellout crowd of 9,681 fans. Whitley singled the Texas zone from the outside in the first half, then personally took charge when the Longhorns caught fire in the second half. The Longhorns, co-champions of the Southwest Conference, trailed by as much as 16 points before cutting the deficit to five with 6:03 left on a bucket by John Moore.

The Big Eight Conference champions, will play the winner of Sunday's Virginia Tech-Indiana State game on March 15 in Cincinnati. The Sooners connected on 16 of their first 22 shots in the first half against the Texas zone.

Whitley, forward — John McCullough, guard Cary Carrabine, and Aaron Curry did most of the damage from outside. Whitley scored 16 of his points in the second half. Other shooters in double figures included McCullough with 17, Curry with 14, Terry Stotts with 12 and Carrabine with 10. High point man for Texas, which finished the year at 21-8, was Tyrone Branyan at 21, and John Moore added 18. Jim Krivacs pitched in 16.

Whitley then triggered a seven-point Oklahoma surge, which he climaxed with a spectacular dunk shot with 3:50 to play and the Sooners leading 78-66. Oklahoma, now 21-9 and

Lemons praises Okies

DALLAS — Following the Texas Longhorns 90-76 loss to the Oklahoma Sooners, UT Coach Abe Lemons praised the play of OU. Meanwhile, Lemons had a few choice words describing the play of some of his performers.

Texas Coach Abe Lemons said, "I have never seen a team play so well...even the substitutes. They play like we do, only better."

"Nobody has a team with four perimeter shooters like they do." Lemons, talking about the zone defense the Longhorns played against the Sooners, said, "We had a lack of communications and one side of our defense was not concentrating. The team that was out there for Texas I haven't seen for some time. We made a lot of scary mistakes...we made a nice comeback, but we burned out when we got it to five (points behind)."

The only Longhorn Lemons praised was senior John Danks. Lemons added, "We had two individuals who did not play well at all."

Oklahoma Coach David Bliss said, "That's as good as we can shoot. We were playing on confidence and adrenalin after that first half. That first half was the best we've shot ever. When they (the Longhorns) made their run, it was because we mishandled the ball. But we were making our shots, and when we did that, it cuts down what Texas does best, which is break."

Whitley said of his clutch performance when Texas rallied: "I felt it was time to go ahead and put the game away. I was able to hit a couple of quick baskets."

He added, "I wasn't worried, because I knew we were a good team and could withstand the pressure."

Louisville nips South Alabama

DALLAS (AP) — The clutch second-half shooting of junior guard Darrell Griffith propelled the 18th-ranked Louisville Cardinals past scrappy South Alabama 69-66 Saturday in a second-round NCAA Midwest Regional basketball game.

Louisville will meet Sunday's winner of the Arkansas-Weber State game on March 15 in Cincinnati while Oklahoma will play the winner of the Indiana State-Virginia Tech matchup.

Louisville, now 24-7 for the season, swept to a 33-28 halftime lead, then had all kinds of trouble putting the Jaguars away in the second half.

South Alabama pulled to within a point, 40-39, on a bucket by Scott Williams. Then Griffith took charge and a three-point play with 1:40 left to put the Jaguars on ice. Griffith scored 13 of his 17 points in the second half.

Freshman center Scooter McCray was high-point man for Louisville with 21, 15 of them coming in the first half.

The Jaguars, champions of the Sun Belt Conference who finished the year with a 20-7 record, were led by Dennis Still, who scored 18 points. Ed Rains added 15 points before fouling out with less than two minutes to play.

It was the first NCAA appearance for South Alabama.

Both Louisville and South Alabama had sub-par shooting games. The Cardinals outshot South Alabama 49 percent to 44 percent. Louisville, of the Metropolitan Collegiate Athletic Conference, out rebounded South Alabama 37-30. But 25 Louisville turnovers kept the Jaguars in the game.

Louisville Coach Denny Crum said, "We had problems putting them away. We made a lot of mistakes at the end. But we won, and we are happy about that."

"We didn't play exceptionally well, but we did play hard."

Gov. proclaims Campbell Day

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements issued a statement Friday calling attention to "Earl Campbell Day," which will be held here Monday.

The Heisman Trophy winner and Houston Oilers running back will be honored in the Texas Senate on Monday, followed by a luncheon in the lieutenant governor's apartment and a barbecue that evening.

TWO POINTS — Cooke County's Dennis Mays (24) who scored 24 points to lead the Lions to a 101-83 victory over McLennan in the Region V Tournament semifinals, arches a field goal attempt over the Highlanders Charles Jones (51). Looking on for a possible rebound is McLennan's Charles Burley (33).

Strickland had 21 points, 17 in the first half, while Bailey, the senior 6-foot-9 center, dominated the game's second half with 11 points for a total of 19.

Rutgers, 22-8, led 29-26 at halftime. Georgetown struggled back to take a 48-45 lead midway through the second half. However, the losers, 24-5, saw their offense completely shut down by the scrambling Rutgers man-to-man defense, which held its opponents scoreless for six minutes late in the half.

Rutgers scored nine unanswered points and piled up a late-game lead, aided by the foul-shooting of Kelvin Troy, who was the recipient of numerous free-throws as Georgetown switched to a gambling full-court press, trying to get back in the game.

Georgetown was led by guard John Duren, who had 13 points, while Craig Shelton added 12.

Slaton, Nazareth repeat with state girls' titles

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Slaton and Nazareth defended their titles at the girls' state basketball tournament Saturday, with Slaton running a sensational performance by 6-foot-2 Karen Thompson of Pflugerville, who scored 42 points.

Slaton, trailing 14-3 late in the first quarter, exploded for 25 points in the second period to whip Pflugerville, 68-54, for its second straight Class 2A championship.

Cartwright leads USF over Brigham Young

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — All-America center Bill Cartwright scored 24 points and keyed a second-half scoring explosion that carried No. 19 San Francisco to a 86-63 victory over unranked Brigham Young Saturday in a second-round game of the NCAA West Regional college basketball tournament.

No. 12 Marquette, the 1977 national champion, met Pacific in the second game of the doubleheader at McKale Center on the University of Arizona campus. The West Coast Athletic Conference champion Dons, now 22-6, had trouble with the smaller but quicker Cougars in the first half, but began to assert their superior height and rebounding ability in the second period.

With Cartwright and Doug Jemison, who finished with 18 points, pouring on the offense, San Francisco quickly pulled out to a nine-point lead after being ahead by only three at intermission.

That quickly ballooned to better than a 20-point advantage as Cartwright scored nine of 12 San Francisco points at one stretch midway through the half.

The Cougars, who finished at 20-8 after winning their first Western Athletic Conference title since 1972, were led by 16 points each from guard Scott Runia and center Alan Taylor.

Nazareth got a game-high 25 points from sophomore Lori Gerber — one of four Gerber girls in the lineup — to edge Weatherford Brock, 46-43, for its third consecutive Class B title.

Slaton's full-court defense was so effective in the second period that Slaton poured in nine points in just 49 seconds on a jump shot and three layups following steals.

The score was 50-30 at the end of three quarters and was on the verge of turning into a rout when Thompson, a junior, went on her scoring spree. She poured in all 24 of Pflugerville's fourth quarter points in a six-minute stretch to keep the score respectable.

Her performance was especially impressive in that Slaton's all-state defender Debbie Bednarz had help from teammates in guarding Thompson.

Linda Lewis was high for Slaton with 19 points and Bednarz scored 17 and collected 12 rebounds, two more than Thompson, who went sprawling on the floor a half dozen times in the fast-paced game.

Pflugerville had 32 turnovers, which Slaton converted in 29 points — 17 in the second quarter.

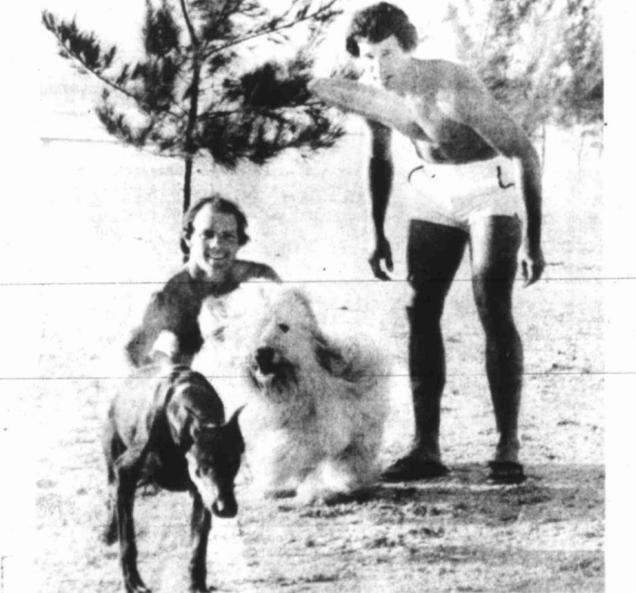

Pflugerville lost in the semifinals to Slaton last year, 78-50.

Brock trailed only 40-39 with 3:50 left in the game but Paula Phillips missed two crucial free throws and her twin sister Pattie missed a short jump shot. A field goal and two field goals by Gerber clinched the victory for Nazareth.

Syracuse stops Huskies

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Roosevelt Bouie scored 19 points as Syracuse barely survived a furious comeback by Connecticut to move into the NCAA East Regional semifinals with a 89-81 victory Saturday.

Earlier, Rutgers upset 11th-ranked Georgetown 64-58 in the first game of a doubleheader at the Providence Civic Center.

Jammin' James Bailey and Daryl Strickland combined for 40 points in the opener as Rutgers advanced to the NCAA East semifinals next Friday in Greensboro, N.C.

In the second game, 10th-ranked Syracuse piled up leads as high as 25 points in the first half and had a 17-point margin, 52-35, at halftime, before Connecticut staged a comeback that cut the Syracuse lead to four points with 24 seconds left.

A slam dunk by Bouie, a 6-foot-11 center, capped the victory for the Orangemen, who were outscored 46-37 in the second half.

The losing Huskies rattled Syracuse in the early going after intermission as center Jeff Carr dominated the rebounding and added 12 points for his total of 17. Mike McCay led Connecticut with 21 points and freshman Cory Thompson added 18.

Dale Shackelford stemmed the tide for Syracuse with nine second-half points and Louis Orr had 17 for the game.

Lee takes 5-AAAA lead

SAN ANGELO — Midland Lee and Midland High shot identical rounds of 324 to take the lead in the first week of District 5-AAAAA boys' golf action.

The team scores were extremely tight, with last place Odessa only 17 strokes off the leaders at 341. Big Spring finished in fifth place with a 332 stroke total.

Big Spring's Ben Garcia shot a 79 to lead his team, with John Hernandez and Jimmy Newsom carding 84's, Larry Boskoo an 85 and Bruce Carroll an 86.

Midland High also took the lead in the junior varsity competition with a 344 total. Big Spring was seventh with a 376 stroke total. Ralph Clarke led the Shorthorns with an 89, with Brad Small carding a 93.

Steer fems improving

The Big Spring Steer girl's golf team had their best overall round of the year, but couldn't gain any ground on the district leading Midland Bulldogs.

Jackie Roach, a BSHS sophomore, was the first Steer to shoot in the 80's this year, carding an excellent round of 86. It was also a first for the entire team, as all of the members shot below a round of 100.

Midland High led all teams in the day's competition with a round of 359, with Lee carding a 362 and BSHS a 368. San Angelo, despite the fact that they were playing on their home course, could manage only a round of 441.

The next tournament in district is slated for March 23 at Midland's Hogan Park. It is an invitational and the Steers plan on taking ten girls. The BSHS girl's are striving for at least a second place finish in district competition in order to qualify for regional play.

Rutgers upsets Georgetown

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — James Bailey and Daryl Strickland combined for 40 points to lead Rutgers to a 64-58 upset over 11th-ranked Georgetown in the first game of the NCAA East Regional second-round basketball doubleheader Saturday at Providence Civic Center.

Connecticut played 10th-ranked Syracuse in the second game for the right to join Rutgers in their NCAA tournament semifinals next Friday in Greensboro, N.C.

Strickland had 21 points, 17 in the first half, while Bailey, the senior 6-foot-9 center, dominated the game's second half with 11 points for a total of 19.

Rutgers, 22-8, led 29-26 at halftime. Georgetown struggled back to take a 48-45 lead midway through the second half. However, the losers, 24-5, saw their offense completely shut down by the scrambling Rutgers man-to-man defense, which held its opponents scoreless for six minutes late in the half.

Rutgers scored nine unanswered points and piled up a late-game lead, aided by the foul-shooting of Kelvin Troy, who was the recipient of numerous free-throws as Georgetown switched to a gambling full-court press, trying to get back in the game.

Georgetown was led by guard John Duren, who had 13 points, while Craig Shelton added 12.

Little League sign-up dates announced

Sign up dates for Little League baseball will be held on successive Saturdays beginning March 17, district commissioner Jack Barber announced yesterday.

March 17 will be the first date to sign for action, with the other date being March 24. This applies to all four leagues.

American Leaguers are asked to report to the activity center at the College Baptist Church from 9:30 to 3:00. All other prospective Little Leaguers are to report to their respective parks. The International and Texas Leagues will have a 10-2 enrollment time, with the National League's time spanning from 9-2.

A map will be shown in The Herald later in the week to show youngsters at which park they should report.

Tennessee, Lamar take NCAA playoff wins

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — Just before No. 20 Tennessee squared off against Eastern Kentucky, Terry Crosby had a bad case of the upsets — stomach, head and nerves. The tipoff was his "plop, plop, fizz, fizz."

The senior paced Tennessee's Vols to their first National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball playoff win in five attempts.

"I'm a senior this year and it gave me a good feeling to win the first NCAA playoff game for Tennessee," said Crosby, whose 19 points and defensive hustle against one of the nation's leading scorers — Eastern Kentucky's James Tillman — sparked the Vols to a 97-81 win Friday night.

"I'm not going to lie to you, I had the jitters," he said.

Tennessee faces No. 5 Notre Dame on Sunday, while unheralded Lamar, which upset No. 17 Detroit 95-87, takes on fourth-ranked Michigan State.

Down by 10 points in the first half, Tennessee, 21-11, battled back as Crosby held Tillman to 21 points, seven below his average. Reggie Johnson added 20 for the Vols, while Dave Tierney had 13 for Eastern Kentucky, 21-8.

"Tillman beat me a few times 'cause I kinda fell asleep," Crosby said. "I'll take care of that by Sunday. But we came alive in the second half 'cause we got the ball inside. We had to punch it inside and crash the boards."

As the clock wound down in the last minute, Coach Don DeVoe walked down Tennessee's bench and shook hands with his players. "Hey guys, you won Tennessee's first NCAA playoff game. Congratulations; way to go," he said.

"It was plain and simple," DeVoe said. "Let's go inside, wheel to the basket, get them in foul trouble, and I'd say it paid off plenty well for us."

Lamar Coach Billy Tubbs was worried that he'd miss country music's finest at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville if his club hadn't come out on top, thanks to a 6-foot-6 bull named Clarence Kea who muscled his way under the boards for 33 points.

"Clarence Kea was the key — all the way," Tubbs said. "He hit the boards tonight. The only thing was if we lost we wouldn't get to go to the Grand Ole Opry. Now we'll get to go and then get ready for Michigan State."

Lamar, 23-8, got 23 points from Mike Olliver, while Detroit, 22-6, was paced by Terry Duerod's 22 points.

In the waning moments of the game, many Cardinal players started chanting, "Michigan State, here we come." Tubbs got a victory cigar.

Asked if Lamar should be ranked after downing Detroit, Tubbs said, "I guess we should be No. 17 and if we beat Michigan State maybe we should be No. 4. But I don't care whether we're ranked just as long as we keep winning. All I know is you got to shoot the ball in the hole and get it off the boards. If you can do that, you can win."

Steers lose twice in weekend tourney

GRAND PRAIRIE — The Big Spring Steers gave up only four hits in their last two games in the South Grand Prairie Tournament, but lost both games as the Bovines suffered from poor hitting and untimely lapses in the field.

Big Spring, after defeating Irving Nimitz in the opening round, lost to Dallas Thomas Jefferson on Friday by a score of 4-2.

Thomas Jefferson scored four unearned runs in the opening frame off of Steer starter Bradley Files. Files walked the first man, then struck out the next man before an error put runners on first and second. Files then walked the next batter, before gaining the second out of the inning on a whiff. But Jefferson's sixth and seventh hitters connected on singles to drive in four runs for the Dallas school.

Files pitched very effectively the rest of the game, limiting TJ to only one hit.

The Steers Tony Rubio walked in the fifth inning, then Mark Warren reached base on an error. The duo then successfully pulled off a double steal, with Mike Evans striking out in the process. Kevin McLaughlin then walked, and David Manley singled to drive in Rubio. But the next two hitters walked to squelch the rally.

Rubio then walked in the sixth inning and later scored on a single by Evans. But the Steers stranded runners on first and third to end the inning.

Wood was the winning pitcher for Thomas Jefferson, with Files receiving the loss.

South Grand Prairie then scored in the sixth inning of the Saturday consolation game dealing the Steers a 2-1 loss and put them out of the tournament.

Grand Prairie took an early lead in the contest as the Steers committed two errors in allowing the host school to score.

Big Spring tied the score in the fourth inning when Myers reached base on an error, stole second, then scored when Mike Gomez doubled. Gomez' hit was the only base hit of the game for Big Spring.

South Grand Prairie won the game in the sixth inning of the game when the ninth man in the lineup singled with two outs for the winning run.

Myers pitched very well in the contest, allowing only two hits, walking five and striking out eight.

Big Spring, who dropped to 5-2 on the year, will be in action again Monday when they travel to Lubbock to meet highly regarded Lubbock Coronado.

Cardinals hire Sweeney

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jim Sweeney of the Oakland Raiders will join the St. Louis Cardinals as offensive backfield coach, the National Football League team says.

Bud Wilkinson, Cardinal coach, described Sweeney's offensive style Friday as "flamboyant and unusually creative."

The 49-year-old Sweeney said he decided to leave Oakland after John Madden announced his retirement as head coach. At St. Louis, he will fill the position vacated by Pete Elliott, who was recently named the executive director of the Pro Football Hall of Fame at Canton, Ohio.

Sweeney coached seven years at Montana State before spending eight seasons as head coach at Washington State. He moved on to Fresno State in 1976 before joining the Raiders in 1978.

"Once you're exposed to the charms of Bud Wilkinson, you jump at the opportunity to work with him," Sweeney said.

NBA Roundup

By The Associated Press

"The fans were really part of this game!" Detroit Coach Dick Vitale exclaimed. By the looks of the numbers, you might have thought they were down on the court, taking shots along with the Pistons.

When the shooting in the Silverdome stopped Friday night, Detroit had demolished the Boston Celtics 160-117.

"Sometimes you get blown out, but tonight's game went a little too far," said Dave Cowens, the Celtics' proud player-coach. "This was the worst loss of my life. You just have to forget about these kinds of losses or you'll go crazy."

"Right now it's lack of motivation. If the players cannot find it amongst themselves, then I have to do something to help them find it. I can either make lineup changes or fine them, and I guess hitting the old pocketbook just might be the answer."

"You can call it terrible, poor, horrendous or embarrassing, but that's just the way it went tonight."

Bob Lanier, who missed eight of Detroit's previous nine games with a jammed right toe, chipped in with 24 points. Cedric Maxwell and former Piston Chris Ford had 22 apiece for Boston.

Kings 121, Bullets 116
Rookie Phil Ford's 29 points helped Kansas City snap a fivegame losing streak, in which three of the losses were in overtime.

"I'm so happy to get the monkey off their back," Kings Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said. "I've coached some lousy teams. I've had to deal with losing before. It's like a cancer. It can eat away at you."

"Close doesn't count except in horseshoes, but I told them they were playing good ball and if they kept plugging away it would fall for us. Tonight, it did."

The Kings took the lead for good at 106-104 on a Ford field goal with 6:12 to go, but didn't pull away until the final seconds. Forward Bob Dandridge led Washington with 38 points.

Pacers 125, Blazers 116
Ricky Sobers' career-high 34 points enabled the Pacers to hold off Portland, which cut a 111-100 lead to as little as four points several times in the final minutes, the last time at 120-116 with 1:46 left. Johnny Davis added 28 points for Indiana.

Bucks 119, 76ers 113
Milwaukee, leading 61-55 at intermission, scored 11 of the first 16 points in the second half and riding Marques Johnson's 24 points, cruised past Philadelphia for its seventh straight victory at home.

Brian Winters and Kent Benson finished with 23 points apiece for the Bucks. Darryl Dawkins had 26 and Julius Erving 23 for the 76ers.

Sonics 108, Nets 100
Gus Williams drilled in 10 of his game-high 38 points late in the fourth period to propel Seattle past the Nets — and past Los Angeles into first place in the Pacific Division.

Williams' two foul shots gave the SuperSonics an 86-85 with 8:45 remaining and the Nets, en route to their fourth straight setback, never led thereafter. Bernard King led the Nets with 20 points — but he missed five straight foul shots in the final quarter.

Bulls 102, Lakers 92
Chicago scored 10 of the game's first 12 points and never looked back. John Mengel scored 21 points, Reggie Theus had 20 and Mickey Johnson 17 for the Bulls, who halted a three-game tailspin. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar topped the Lakers with 20 points and Norm Nixon had 18.

GOMEZ BEATS JIMENEZ — Wilfredo Gomez, of Puerto Rico, pounds Nestor Jimenez, of Colombia, against the ropes during their super bantamweight bout at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night. Gomez scored a fifth round knockout to retain his title.

Fouke retiring as Houston AD

HOUSTON (AP) — When the University of Houston started its football program in 1945, Harry Fouke got the team's first uniforms from Ellington Air Force Base's incinerator.

When the Cougars emerged as a national power in football in the 1960s and decided to play their home games in the Astrodome, Harry Fouke negotiated the contract.

When the Cougars were admitted into the Southwest Conference in 1971 and when they won SWC football titles in 1976 and 1978, Harry Fouke was a guiding force.

When the 1979-1980 crop of Cougar athletes report next September, someone else will be operating UH's $2.5 million athletic program.

Fouke, the only athletic director in the school's 34-year athletic career, is retiring Aug. 31.

Fouke, 65, announced Friday he will step down as athletic director because "I've always looked to the time when the major contributions that I had to make were finished. I think that time is here."

"All of our programs, track, baseball, swimming, all of them are on good sound ground now and we've got good people directing them so I'm going to do something I've wanted to do for a long time."

"I've been to every part of the United States and haven't seen any of it. Virginia (his wife) and I are going to do some traveling and see some of those places."

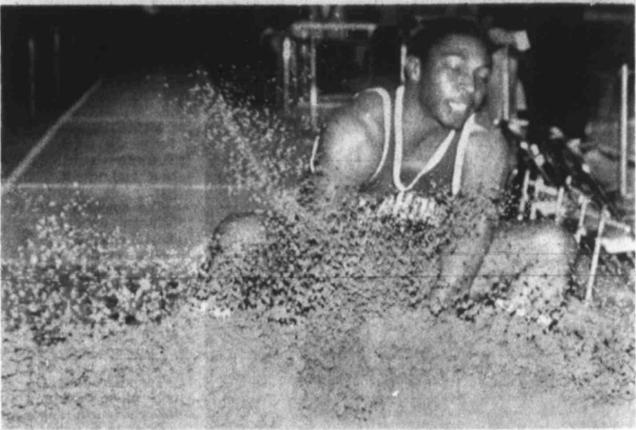

The Cougar athletic program definitely "went some place" under Fouke's guidance, from a bargain basement budget that first year to its current modern plant and $2.5 million annual budget.

"From the very beginning it seems like everytime we had a critical problem, something happened to help us overcome it," Fouke said.

"When we started our football program we didn't even have uniforms."

"A captain at Ellington heard about our problem. He said they were discontinuing their athletic program and had been ordered to burn all their old uniforms but we could have them if we wanted them."

Almost a quarter of a century later, the 1967-68

Smith cracks 3 homers as Dodgers whip Texas

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "You come to spring training and you have to wonder if you really can do all the things you did last year," says Reggie Smith.

All self doubts were most likely blasted away when Smith hit three home runs — one to each field — in the first exhibition game for the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday.

Another key blow in the Dodgers' 8-3 victory over the Texas Rangers was Dusty Baker's three-run homer to break open a tie game in the sixth inning.

Also in high readiness was Dodger starting pitcher Don Sutton, who struck out nine Rangers in five innings, allowing just four hits and one run.

"I was ready to go five innings. Anything less than five innings would not have been much of a workout," said Sutton, a 33-year-old right-hander who was 15-12 last year as he closed in on all-time Dodger pitching records of Don Drysdale in victories and shutouts and the career strikeout record of Sandy Koufax.

"A day like this removes all doubt," Smith said of his pair of homers off Dock Medich and his shot off Danny Darwin that capped the Dodgers' five-run sixth inning.

"Now I know I have the power to hit to all fields," said Smith, who homered to right field in the first, left field in the third and center field in the sixth.

Ruidosa Downs begins renovation

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — Two major improvement projects are now getting underway at Ruidoso Downs Race Track, according to General Manager Woody Erwin.

One project concerns the rebuilding and repair of the roof above the All-American Turf Club, the main offices, the mainline betting area, and other sections.

The Rangers, who have a 1-1 spring record, tied the game at 3-3 in the sixth inning when John Ellis hit a two-run homer.

Ellis hit his pinch-hit homer off Dodger winning hurler Rick Rhoden. Rhoden pitched just one inning, and was taken out when his shoulder tightened. Rick Sutcliffe finished up with three shutout innings, allowing just two hits.

decisioned Guadalupe Rangel of San Antonio and will face Michael McBride of Houston in the finals.

Odessa's three champions, flyweight Richard Abila, featherweight Dan Levario and lightweight Ruben Munez, Jr., won close fights to advance to the semifinals in their divisions.

Levario, 21, will face Robin Blake, 17, of Levelland in his semifinal fight. Blake, fighting for Lubbock, posted Friday's only knockout when he finished Freddy Ramirez of Brownsville a minute and a half into the second round.

Gov. Bill Clements, a former Dallas junior boxer, attended the fights and spoke briefly to the crowd of 8,012.

Dallas leads Golden Gloves

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Punishing blows by Dallas' Tyrone Cotton and Robert Garcia pummeled their opponents and knocked San Antonio out of sole possession of the team lead in the State Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament.

Dallas and San Antonio both have 15 points going into today's matches. Odessa, led by three defending state champions, is close behind with 14 points.

Cotton, 21, fighting in his third state tournament, knocked 17-year-old Mike Adams of San Antonio down three times Friday night for a decision and a spot opposite Kent Knowles of Wichita Falls in the light welterweight finals.

Garcia, the defending welterweight champion, decided to play his home games in the Astrodome, Harry Fouke negotiated the contract.

UT feds defeated in nationals

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Hot-shooting Angela Turner scored 24 points to lead Louisiana Tech to a 77-74 victory over Texas Friday in the AIAW National Basketball Tournament.

Louisiana Tech will meet Wayland Baptist in the championship game Saturday night. Wayland upset Stephen F. Austin 70-53 to gain the finals against Louisiana Tech. Stephen F. Austin was the No. 3 ranked team in the American Intercollegiate Athletic Association for Women.

Elinor Griffin added 22 points and had 13 rebounds in Louisiana Tech's victory over Texas. Jackie Swain led Texas with 19 points.

Stephen F. Austin will meet Texas in the consolation game.

Phillies 'Kiddie Korps' copy dads

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Petey Rose, age 9, strode into Danny Ozark's spring training office the other day and confronted the manager of the Philadelphia Phillies.

"Danny," the boy asked in dead earnestness, "does my pop have a chance of making this baseball team?"

Ozark, who said Petey never calls him "Mister," was stumped momentarily. Then he managed to suppress a smile and allay the youngster's concern.

"Well, Petey," the skipper replied, "I'd say he has a pretty good chance."

Happy as a kid with a toad, Pete's offspring raced out on the field to join his companions in crime — Bret and Aaron Boone, Ryan Luzinski and Mark McGraw.

They're the Phillies' notorious "Kiddie Korps" — heirs and half-pint duplicates of some of the men who hope to carry the talent-pocked Phils into a World Series.

They are a precocious lot, those tykes, outfitted from cap to cleated leather shoes in custom-made official Philly uniforms, forever underfoot, disdainful of all the grownup folks around them.

Secure the vaults. Hide the checkbooks. They're the potential bonus babies of the 1990s.

"Look," proudly says Pete Rose, the Phillies' celebrated $3.2 million transplant, pointing inside his screened locker. "Four different uniforms just like mine. They're Pete's."

All have Pete's number — 14.

Matching numbers are the case also for Bret, 9, and Aaron, 5, sons of catcher Bob Boone; Mark McGraw, 6, son of pitcher Tug McGraw, and 5-year old Ryan Michael Luzinski, son of slugging outfielder Greg Luzinski, known as "Bull."

Killanin sees IOC breakthrough

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The International Olympic Committee was close to a major breakthrough Saturday and planned to bring sports officials from the Peoples Republic of China and Taiwan together for talks on Chinese participation in the Olympic Games.

IOC members, in Lausanne for the executive board meeting, believe that if the talks take place, the IOC will become the first body to bring the two Chinas together since the communists took control of the mainland in 1948.

Song Zhong, general secretary of the Olympic Committee of the Peoples Republic, spent one hour with the IOC executive board and said his committee was agreeable to such talks.

The Olympic Committee of Taiwan, which already is recognized by the IOC, also has agreed to the meeting, according to Lord Killanin, president of the IOC.

Killanin added, "The executive board welcomes this positive approach and has offered to act as mediator. A meeting could be held in Lausanne, at the IOC headquarters, under my chairmanship."

Killanin said he hopes the talks could take place before the end of this month so that the executive board can make a formal recommendation to the full IOC session at Montevideo in the first week in April.

The Olympic Committee of mainland China has applied for IOC recognition but until now always has maintained that recognition must be withdrawn from Taiwan.

Song gave no indication of a change of heart by Peking when he left the executive board meeting and held a press conference.

He said, "There is only one China, and that is the established fact. That is the People's Republic of China."

Song told newsmen Taiwanese athletes would be welcome to compete in the Olympics as members of the Chinese team but would have to accept the authority of the Chinese Olympic Committee in Peking.

Former Steer tracksters excel at East Texas

COMMERCE — Two former Big Spring High School athletes, Connie Jackson and Doris Mitchell, are now members of the East Texas State University track team. Both are freshmen.

Jackson, a freshman majoring in accounting, runs on the 400-meter relay team, sprints, and is a long jumper.

Coach Carolyn Burt has hopes that Jackson can help her young squad in the 200-meter dash.

Mitchell, who majors in physical education, runs the 100 and 200-meter dashes, as well as a leg on the 400-meter relay team.

Readers in Elbow awarded

The Elbow Elementary School of the Forsan Independent School District has been awarded a set of the new 1979 edition of "The World Book Encyclopedia" for having the highest percentage of students completing the 1978 Fall READ-a-thon conducted by the Permian Basin Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Mary Ann Knight of Odessa, Texas, division manager for World Book-Childcraft International, Inc., publishers of the encyclopedia, made the award to Mr. W.R. Cregar, Elbow Elementary School Principal Wednesday.

Also present at the award assembly were Mrs. Hazel Lewis, executive director of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Permian Basin Chapter, and Mrs. Doreen Dolan, local Multiple Sclerosis Society chairman and member of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club which helped sponsor the event.

The MS READ-a-thon is a unique educational program developed by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society in 1974. Children in grades 1 through 8 recruit parents, relatives, and friends as sponsors, who pledge an amount from 10 cents to a dollar or more for each book their children read in a four-to-six-week period.

The all-day competitions were conducted at Midland High School. Competing at the music awards were several area bands, with Forsan and Coahoma both bringing home awards.

The 24-inch Sweepstakes trophy is the highest award for a regional competition. The 71-member band won it by scoring a one, top rating in concert and in unrehearsed sight reading. The band also placed first in marching last fall.

Accepting the trophy on behalf of the entire band were the 11 seniors members. They are Ladene Hartin, Kim Long, Stella Holguin, Rhonda Shoults, Beth Boeker, Melissa Frank, Karen Hobbs, Kathy Harrell, Lisa McMillan, Carrie Poyner and Randy Cregar.

Next Saturday, March 17, the Forsan Booster Club will again sponsor the High School Track Meet. On the same day there will be a UIL practice meet at Big Lake.

Thursday, March 15, the Junior High Track teams will travel to Klondike for a meet.

The High School Tennis teams participated in a tournament in Odessa this weekend. Next Friday and Saturday they will be in competition at a Lubbock tournament.

In making the award at Elbow Elementary School, Mary Ann Knight congratulated the 43 children who read 1,326 books and raised $2,101.86 for a 24 percent participation rate. The money will be divided, 60 percent for the mechanical needs of the MS victims in the Permian Basin, and 40 percent to the National organization for research. The PB chapter of the NMSS only accepted 10 children, 200 books and $700.

"Your motivation and that of children all over the country try has raised millions of dollars to help solve the mystery of multiple sclerosis," Mrs. Knight said.

Other winners will be selected in May. All area students who rank in the upper 25 percent of their senior class are eligible to

FHA sponsors style show

By JUDY COX

The FHA sponsored a style show in the high school auditorium Monday, March 5, at 6:30 p.m. The clothes were furnished by Terry Himes, manager of Treehouse Unlimited which is located at 1105 11th Place. Ten FHA members served as models: Stacy Hodnett, Dana Hodnett, Pam Hodnett, Paula Allen, Robin Ethridge, Kristi Franklin, Gayla Paige, Robbie Ritchey, Andrea Fowler, and Raylene Tyler. Two mothers of FHA members, Mrs. Paige and Mrs. Tyler, also participated. After the show a salad supper was held in the high school cafeteria. Approximately 75 guests attended. Decorations for the auditorium and cafeteria were provided by committee chairman, Cathy Cagle. Others helping with decorations were Lisa Bowen, Jennie Oldaker, Debbie Hitchcock, Lynn Brockman, and Kim Smith. Tuesday, March 6, the Coahoma Big Red Band traveled to Midland to take part in the UIL Concert and Sightreading contest. The band, under the direction of Pam Hansen, received a II rating in concert and a II rating in sightreading. Saturday, March 3, the boys and girls varsity track teams traveled to McCamey to compete against several schools in track and field events. The Coahoma teams won the meet with the boys having 120 points and the girls having 123 points. Kerri Brown has received a bronze medal for her entry in readywriting at the UIL practice meet which was held February 24 at Stamford. The annual CHS contest will be held Friday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The public is invited. The admission is $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Saunders gains scholarship

ODESSA — Five students who will be attending Odessa College next fall are recipients of Permian Honor Scholarships.

The scholarships, presented by the Permian Merit Scholarship Foundation, entitle the winners to $300 a year for four years to pay tuition and fees if the students attend Odessa College for their first two years and the University of Texas of the Permian Basin for their junior and senior years.

Awards are based on high school grade point averages and high college entrance test scores. Students receiving the awards include Jaylene Enece Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Millard E. Saunders, Forsan.

Other winners will be selected in May. All area students who rank in the upper 25 percent of their senior class are eligible to apply for the Permian Honor Scholarship. Applications may be obtained from their high school counselors.

Some 28 Odessa College students received the Permian Honor Scholarships for 1978-79 school year.

The feature seniors this week are Gloria Gonzales and Oralia Guerra. Gloria played volleyball for four years and was a captain her senior year. She was track manager her junior year, and basketball manager this year. She was a member of the Bearkat Hall of Fame for her performance in volleyball. She was a Halloween Carnival Candidate her freshman year.

Ora participated in basketball and track for two years. She was a member of the pep squad for four years and a member of FHA for three. She has been a teacher's aide for three years. This year she is a member of the Band.

The program will enable all Forsan junior high students to receive extensive reading instruction.

Lackland AFB to play for assembly Wednesday

By CINDY KNIGHT

The long awaited and much needed spring break occurs this week. Students will be out Thursday, March 15 and Friday, March 16.

There will be an assembly Wednesday, March 14, during 2nd period. It will be given by the Lackland Air Force Band from San Antonio.

There will be a March of Dimes meeting Monday, March 12 at 7:00 p.m. in the library. The disco dance for the students who walked in the Mother's March, and plans for the Walkathon will be discussed at this meeting.

The Permian Basin Regional Science Fair will be held at Howard College Friday, March 23 and Saturday, March 24. Mr. Joe Reed, Biology teacher, is the director of this fair.

The Student Council will sponsor a dance, March 23 from 9:00 to 12:00. This dance is on Friday, and J.J. Mac will provide the music. The students attending the Permian Basin Regional Science Fair will be invited to attend.

The first meeting of Quil and Scroll will be Monday, March 12 at Mrs. Strong's house. The meeting is at 6:00, and her address is 3205 Duke.

The baseball team has begun their season with a winning streak. They won the El Paso tournament and also won Tuesday game against Lubbock Monterrey. The Steers will travel to Lubbock to play Coronado Monday, March 12. On Tuesday, they will host Snyder, and Friday, March 16 they will go back on the road to challenge Lubbock Monterrey.

This past week was Texas Public School Week. The F.T.A. participated by honoring a segment of the High School on each day of the week. Monday was Parent's Day. The F.T.A. registered the parents who attended the open house. Tuesday was Principal's Day. The F.T.A. honored the four principals by presenting each one with a plate of cookies. Wednesday was counselor's and Registrar Day. The counselors and Registrar was each presented a plate of cookies. Thursday was Teacher's Day. Each teacher was presented a juicy red apple. Friday was Student's Day. The F.T.A. encouraged students to be more enthusiastic and diligent in their school work. Also, the students were encouraged to vote in the favorite teacher contest sponsored by the F.T.A.

The F.T.A. officers are President Orlando Tercero, Secretary Angela Kohl, Treasurer Laurie Daniels, Parliamentarian, Steve Trevino and Reporter Tanga Cain.

The Bible Club will have a meeting Tuesday March 14 at Furr's Cafeteria at 6:30. Sharing Life meets at 11:30 on Wednesday March 15. Rev. Bill Henning is sharing "Modern Music and Theology."

Advisory classes held the first spelling bee run-off Friday, March 9 and will hold the school spell-off Tuesday, March 13. The word pronouncer will be Mrs. Helen Gladden. The judges will be Mrs. Salisbury and Mrs. Hunter.

The choir members ordered T-shirts for the advanced girls and beginning girls choirs. The advanced girls choirs' T-shirts are black with white lettering and the beginning girls' T-shirts are white with black lettering. Both groups have the steer emblem on the front. Purchase of the shirts is optional, but they are available to any member.

The girls track team went to San Angelo for a track meet on Friday, and the boys track team went on Saturday. Both teams did well. At the last track meet several ribbons were won.

If all goes well, there will be a spring break Thursday and Friday, March 15 and 16. School will resume at normal times on Monday, March 19.

Goliad Jr. High

Band will present concert March 13

By BRONWYN ALLEN & MELINDA CORWIN

Mrs. Terrazas and Mrs. Slate's English classes are making preparation for a unit on career opportunities. Several guest speakers will present information to the students about various careers. Anna Walker and Judy Blick will explain the high school Vocational Program. Harvey Rothell, vocational counselor from the high school, will take the students on a tour of the vocational classes offered at the high school. Ramona Harris, instructor at Howard College, will speak to the classes about the nursing program offered at the college. Brad Marshner, also from Howard College, will come and speak about auto mechanics.

Two representatives from the Texas Employment Commission will come and tell the students what their agency can do for the students. They will also tell how to apply for a job. Each student will prepare a folder containing summaries, reports, and papers on careers. Mrs. Slate will show them how to fill out an application for a job.

The Goliad advanced band will hold a concert Tuesday, March 13 at 7:00 at the high school auditorium. They will perform numbers such as "Elanor Rigby" by John Lennon and Paul McCartney, and "Peter Gunn" by Henry Mancini. There is no charge for admission.

The fourth six weeks ended and report cards were issued Wednesday. The honor rolls will be in a future Megaphone.

Deadline

nears for medical program

ODESSA — The deadline is nearing for students interested in applying for admission to Odessa College's medical lab technology program next fall.

According to Joel Smith, director of the medical lab technology department, enrollment in the program is limited and the deadline is June 15 for students to apply for admission to next fall's classes.

"Students are selected each summer to begin studies the following fall," explains the director.

The college offers a two-year training program for persons wanting to become medical lab technicians. The program includes classroom study and practical experience working in a hospital lab under the supervision of a certified technician.

After successfully completing the two-year study at OC, a student is eligible to take the national registry exam, which is given by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

The technician "does just about everything in the lab, from specimen collection to processing, chemical testing, microbiology identifying, to blood banking," adds Smith.

For details contact Smith at OC.

Teachers attend Odessa workshop

By SEAN GRAVES

Texas Public School Week was observed March 5-9 throughout the state. The Runnels Junior High Student Council elected to place special emphasis on last Thursday. All parents were invited to visit the Runnels campus at any time during that day.

Student Council activities for the observance of Texas Public School Week included an old fashioned variety show and melodrama, and tours of the campus. Refreshments were served after the variety show and throughout the day to visiting parents.

Some 35 students participated in the 25-minute variety show. Student Council members were in charge of tours of the school. Such things as an art exhibit of student art work, the computer room, career project room, and a display of photographs by the annual staff were viewed. A large number of students participated in the preparations for welcoming the parents to Runnels and it was a total success.

A Student Teacher workshop was held in Odessa, on March 8 and 9. Gene Warren, Garry Spence, Patricia Jones, and Stephanie Russel attended the workshop along with Mrs. Lucy Bonner and Mrs. Catherine Alred.

A student council meeting was held Tuesday in the library. A financial report was given by Amy Ragan, treasurer, and a reading of the minutes was read by Becky Stephens, secretary.

The third and fourth meetings of the Careers Committee were held this week. Film directors were selected and planning is still continuing for the Careers Day.

Two tennis tournaments were held last week on Thursday and Friday. Tennis team members that participated in the Thursday tournament included: Amy Burleson, Dean Gartman, Todd Gilbert, Diana Johnson, Kim Madry, Scott Nelson, Robin Snodgrass, and Jeff Whiteside. Those included in the Friday tournament are: Todd Gilbert, Diana Johnson, Kim Mabry, Scott Nelson, and Robin Snodgrass.

The answer to the Calendar Clue Game this week was Francis Marion, and the first people to answer with the correct solution was Esther Strain, Keat Wilkins, and Rory Wortham.

The Runnels Spelling Bee is scheduled for Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the library at Runnels.

Thursday and Friday are designated as Spring Holidays for Big Spring schools. Classes will resume Monday, March 19 at the regular time.

Just couple fools in love

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst and her nervous fiance, Bernard Shaw, paid a $6 fee, and received their marriage license at San Francisco City Hall for their planned April 1 wedding.

They presented the necessary proof of age and blood test information to the Marriage License Bureau on Friday, and were given the license by Superior Court Judge Ollie Marie-Victoire.

"I think Shaw was more nervous, but most men are," said clerk Genevieve Bayan, who was in the judge's office.

Shaw, 32, who says he and his bride-to-be are "just a couple of fools in love," is a San Francisco police officer, and served as Miss Hearst's bodyguard for a time.

The wedding is planned for the city's Treasure Island naval base where security precautions are expected to be tight.

Miss Hearst, 25, was released from federal prison Feb. 1 after serving 22 months of a seven-year prison term for joining her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnappers in a San Francisco bank robbery.

Paintings altered

LONDON (AP) — Masterpieces at the National Gallery in London are being reappraised after restorers discovered that the works had been overpainted by former cleaners.

The painting, "Saints Fabian and Sebastian," by Giovanni di Paolo, has 20 arrows piercing one body and not seven as previously believed.

In another work by Bellini, "The Blood of the Redeemer," a group of clouds made a surprise appearance hovering above Christ's head.

SWINDON, England (AP) — The train speeding toward London is teaching Spanish, French, German and economics to commuters every weekday morning.

The new "Brain Train" special, one of several operated by Britain's national railway, helps travelers pass the time usefully and pleasantly. Passengers can join a special coaching car where three instructors hold classes.

Inexpensive caviar 'flops'

EDMONTON, Alberta (AP) — While some Canadians are buying imported caviar for $80 a pound, others are selling domestic caviar to Japan for $5.50 a kilogram.

The small yellow eggs of freshwater whitefish, of which more than 4.1 metric tons were harvested in Canada last year, has the same texture as classic sturgeon roe but a slightly different flavor.

It doesn't sell well in Canada.

TV cop shows, is wheezing now because anti-pollution devices and a federal push for better mileage have bogged down new patrol cars.

Many older cars or souped-up newer ones in the private sector can outperform police cars. And state troopers and other law enforcement officials, tired of being left in the dust, want Congress to help reverse the trend.

"This is an unfortunate situation. The state police in Pennsylvania is not alone in this. . . This is a common problem — power," said Francis Wolfe, head of the Pennsylvania State Police transportation division.

Trooper Tom Parker of the Pennsylvania State Police was asked to demonstrate the performance of his new Ford cruiser, one of slower Fords purchased last year. They are considerably slower than the larger-engined Fords and Plymouths used in the past.

"Here, I'll show you the acceleration," he said, jamming the gas pedal to the floor. About 13 seconds later, the Ford's engine screeching in protest, the car hit 60 mph. "That's it. . . You want to get out and push." Parker said. The performance of new cars can be improved only with changes in federal laws, which will be getting even more stringent on emissions and mileage standards over the next few years.

"We'll be looking at a four-cylinder police car by 1985, and then a lot of violators will be getting away," said Warran Woodfield, an analyst for the International Chiefs of Police.

Woodfield said the association was urging Congress to exempt police cars from laws that say garages may not change emission controls or install four-barrel carburetors, special ignition systems, dual exhausts and other high-performance devices.

But any self-styled mechanic can drastically increase horsepower by equipping engines with turbochargers, while police can't.

"An individual citizen can do it. They can sell you the stuff and you install it. But it's against the law for a garage to do it, including a municipal or police garage," Woodfield said.

Actually, the trend in recent years has been to discourage high-speed chases and to rely instead on radios, radar and aircraft. The Pennsylvania State Police Academy, for example, gives cadets more training in horseback riding than it does in pursuit driving.

In that sense, one Harrisburg speed-shop owner said even the driver of a hot car would be stupid to try to run from a police cruiser.

"My money's on the state police. They outnumber you 50 to 1, and you can't outrun those radios," said John Maxwell of Maxwell Racing Enterprises. "State police cars are no poodles. They definitely are not dogs."

But Joe O'Connell, manager of the Bash Speed Shop in Philadelphia, said Pennsylvania's police cars were hopelessly outclassed.

He said a 1968 Camaro, with a little help from special manifolds and a four-barrel carburetor, could hit 60 mph in six seconds. And its top speed is a blurring 140.

"I don't understand it. You don't send cops out with .22 caliber pistols," he said.

Jogging sport for the masses

WASHINGTON (AP) — When it comes to exercising, walking and jogging are well ahead of fishing, tennis, golfing and sailing, according to Department of the Interior figures.

There are 96.7 million walkers-joggers, 61.9 million who fish, 40.9 million who golf and 7.8 million who sail. Figures refer to people who took part in each activity five or more times a year.

City families eating less

WASHINGTON (AP) — Families in four of America's major cities apparently find that cutting down on their food bills is the best way to cope with inflation.

According to a recent survey of families in New York City, Detroit, Atlanta and San Francisco, the food bill cutback was the most popular method being used.

The Center for the Study of Metropolitan Problems, which conducted the study, reported the second most used tactic was to try to raise their incomes by working more.

Over a third of the families did this by overtime work or, less frequently, by moonlighting or sending an additional family member to work, according to the survey.

Top scholars are recruited by college in Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Like his colleagues in the athletic department, Dr. Peter Consacro is busy recruiting for the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga.

The difference is that Consacro looks for brains, not brawn. He's competing with such schools as Harvard and Yale for the cream of high school intellectuals around the country.

Consacro, head of UTC's Interdisciplinary Studies Department, is in charge of the institution's University Scholars program, which brings to UTC each year about 20 students who are in the top 5 percent of the National Merit Scholarship tests and who are demonstrated leaders.

Because it's small and relatively unknown, UTC goes one step further in its recruiting program than most universities, Consacro said. UTC pays the expenses of up to 60 students to come and spend three days on the campus, meeting with teachers and previous scholars and seeing the university's physical facilities.

The program, which replaced the old freshman honors program, is in its second year. Of the 20 freshmen and 20 sophomores, two have dropped out. They got married and had to go to work, Consacro said.

"We used to have freshman honors and we'd recruit for that too," Consacro said in an interview. "But there was nothing to keep those students together after the first year, and that's when I proposed a comprehensive program over four years."

The students may major in anything but they are required to take interdisciplinary seminars each year to give them a broad background in the humanities, fine arts, non-Western cultures, and the social, behavioral and natural sciences. Why do universities need such programs?

"The university has a responsibility to provide education for very talented people who are going to be leaders in their communities," Consacro said. "If you don't look for this type of student, the level of learning, the atmosphere at the university will drop. These people provide a kind of leaven. They mix with other students and improve the intellectual climate on the campus."

Consacro doesn't like the comparison to athletic recruiting, but says it has some validity.

"They are recruiting people gifted in athletics," he says. "We are looking for students who are gifted intellectually and who have leadership potential."

And the scholars don't get the same all-expense-paid education many top athletes get. Out-of-state students get $4,000 for the four years and Tennesseans get $3,000, about half of what Consacro estimates they will need for their education.

Consacro told the 56 scholars candidates who visited the university recently that the program was designed to give them "a taste of excellence — you need it only once and you will want more and then you won't ever be willing to accept mediocrity."

Former lawmaker returns to school at age of 61

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sam Landes, once a member of Ohio's legislature, finds he can draw from his previous work experience for a new activity he's pursuing — acting.

"In politics, we're all hams," Landes says.

Landes is appearing in a play at Wright State University, where he recently enrolled as a freshman. He plays Sir Oliver Surfaces, one of the leading characters in Richard Sheridan's "The School for Scandal."

Landes, 61, began his college career at the start of the winter quarter.

"When I was in school before, I did just enough to get by," the former lawmaker says. "Now I'm an eager beaver. I try to get in the front row so I can hear. I do my reading. I do all the writing. I'm loving it."

Landes served three terms, from 1961 to 1967, as a Republican in the Ohio House of Representatives from Madison County. During that period, efforts to set up Wright State began.

"We had in mind a little commuter college, but it's turned into quite a place," Landes says.

Wright State waives tuition for students over 60, but that wasn't what drew Landes back to school.

"I didn't even know about it. I enrolled and went down to pay my fees and the lady asked me how old I was. I didn't mind her asking because I've always looked 90," he says.

in charge of his insurance business, and the youngest of his five children now has completed undergraduate college work.

"That relieved some of the financial obligation and sort of freed me up to go to school," he says.

Landes says he missed politics after he left office.

"I missed seeing all the acquaintances, missed the friendships. That's one negative about being in school. I don't get around to see my friends," he said.

"The nice thing about school is those kids are beautiful, and if you listen to them you can learn a lot."

"This is a great way to rejuvenate yourself. If you've got a mom and dad, tell them to go back to school."

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — In 1944 a Clarksville soldier mailed his mother a photograph of his Army buddies. After apparently falling off a postal truck or out of a mailbox and being gnawed by vermin until it was thrown out in the garbage, the package arrived — 34 years later.

But Mae Baggett never received her son's picture because she died before it reached home from Camp Edwards, Mass. The cylindrical package, found by a mailman on a roadside last December, wound up in the hands of Louise Lackey, Kenneth Baggett's sister, before being returned to Baggett himself.

The mystery of the photo's circuitous route didn't end once the package arrived in Clarksville.

Parts of the labels on the tube — frayed by the teeth of rats or mice — were missing and what was legible in fading ink was a puzzle to be untangled.

The address read: "ggett, Cl—lle, Tenn., Route 31, Care of Weems."

A mailman figured the correct road was Route 3, not Route 31 or Route 31, and he delivered the package to Mabel Allen, a sister of Cook Weems, in whose house the soldier's mother lived during World War II.

Mrs. Weems then called Mrs. Lackey, and the photo finally got to the sender's sister, who returned it to Baggett in Detroit.

Local Postmaster Rodney Bumpus says the tube probably fell off a mail truck or out of a mailbox and was eventually picked up by someone who stored it until it made its way into a pile of rubbish that was picked up before perhaps falling out of a garbage truck.

He said he doubted the package had been lying outdoors ever since its mailing.

Military Hernandez participates in return to Germany

U.S. FORCES, Germany — Spec. 5 Juan J. Hernandez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Ramos, 1408 Robin, Big Spring, Texas, recently participated in the first Return of Forces to Germany exercise to be held in winter.

Reforger 79, a strategic mobility exercise, demonstrates the U.S. capability to move by air and sea to reinforce NATO rapidly in a crisis situation.

The Reforger units join U.S. units stationed in Germany and allied elements for the exercise in an area between Northern Baden-Wuerttemberg and Eastern Bavaria.

Army National Guard and Army Reserve units also are included in Reforger, one of NATO's largest annual exercises.

The soldier is a member of the 1st Armored Division in Germany.

Hernandez's wife, Jesusita, is with him in Germany.

McCurtain promoted

TUCSON, Ariz. — Wesley J. McCurtain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim T. McCurtain of 2300 Morrison St., Big Spring, Tex., has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

The airman, ammunitions maintenance specialist at Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz., serves with a unit of the Tactical Air Command.

Airman McCurtain is a 1978 graduate of Big Spring High School.

Lamesa grad at Offutt AFB

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gusman of 1704 N. 17th St., Lamesa, Tex., has reenlisted in the U.S. Air Force at Offutt AFB, Neb.

SSgt. Gusman, whose Air Force career began in 1967, is an aircraft maintenance specialist at Offutt. He is assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

The sergeant is a 1965 graduate of Lamesa High School. His wife, Rosa, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Garcia of 615 Thompson St., San Antonio.

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Constable Kenneth Thomas rescued David Dixon from drowning 15 years ago.

The boy is 21. The boy is now 21, and his mother, Marlene Dixon, went to a great deal of trouble to track down the constable, who has moved several times in the intervening years, to invite the officer to David's 21st birthday party.

Reverse crossings

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Presumably everyone knows "The Spirit of St. Louis" crossed the Atlantic first — from west to east — but it was a Junker that did it the other way.

Less than a year after Charles Lindbergh made the first trans-Atlantic flight in 1927, two Germans and an Irish airman flew a Junker monoplane from Baldonnel Field in Ireland to Greenely Island, Canada.

Ballroom attracts seniors

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Outside, the wind-chill might hit 40-below zero. But inside, it's a hot time for one group of hardy Minneapolis senior citizens dressed in decorous suits, daring silver, slippers and scoop-backed dresses.

They come to the Coliseum Ballroom every Wednesday, Friday and Saturday night. Most are single. And all love to dance.

"This is a good place to go and have a good time if you're alone in the world," said Rose Wharton, 68, whose father taught her to dance when she was 5. She has danced in North and South Dakota as well as Minnesota.

"It's a good place for women to come to meet men," adds Florence Carstens, 58. "The women can come up here to dance and still be a lady, not feel like they're chasing."

The Coliseum's wooden floor has been made springy and slippery by 60 years of dancing. Before the band starts playing at 8:30 p.m., people can chat in the dining room with its red and pink decorations as a background.

There are few wallflowers at the Coliseum. Men and women promise each other dances hours in advance.

"I think it gives men a lift, to see the women dressed so nicely," said Ed Nierowicz, a retired Internal Revenue Service agent and expert dancer. "Ballroom dancing beats jogging for exercise," he adds.

"Everybody's seeking happiness and this is one of the places you get it: the ballroom life," said Mike Sass, 55. Sass, known to his friends as somewhat of a wolf, has been going to the Coliseum for 20 years.

"I dance with the new girls," he said. "I help the girls. If they've been married 20 or 30 years and they're a little rusty, as long as they have just a little ability, I'll teach them."

The number of faithful ballroom dancers has diminished. Clara Federly, ticket-taker at the Coliseum for 24 years, says she sold 144 tickets on a bitter cold Saturday night a few weeks ago.

"When I first started, we used to have 400 on Wednesday nights and 500 to 600 on Saturdays," she said. "We get more than 200 a night here sometimes now, but it used to be bumper to bumper."

But ballroom dancing isn't entirely ignored by younger people.

Sharon Hershleder, 21, a University of Minnesota student, says she and her friend, Avi Zirler, 26, hate disco dancing because it's "loud, plastic and repetitious."

"Ballroom dancing is different," says Miss Hershleder. "It's exercise, it's entertainment. It's an art, it's romantic, it's nonverbal communication."

Cannibals before they are born

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sand tiger sharks are cannibals even before they are born, according to the National Geographic Society.

The eggs hatch within the female shark's uterus, where the young remain until sufficiently developed to enter the ocean.

The first baby hatched feeds on its weaker brothers and sisters as they emerge from other eggs, scientists have noted.

Burglaries up

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 2 million burglaries were committed in American homes last year, with a loss of about $1 billion, according to a spokesman for Honeywell's building services division.

Rates of exclusion for capital gains increased

A relatively new tax law allows taxpayers who have sold property after Oct. 31, 1978 to keep an extra ten percent of the gain. The Revenue Act of 1978 has increased the exclusion for long term capital gains to 60 percent on all sales or exchanges after Oct. 31, 1978. Sales and exchanges on or before this date still get the old 50 percent exclusion. The 60 percent deduction also applies to installment payments received on or after Nov. 1, 1978, no matter when the actual sale took place.

Taxpayers who had taxable transactions both before and after the cutoff date must combine all transactions to find their actual, reportable capital gains. Part III, Schedule D (1040) should be used to figure capital gains.

The new rates of exclusion for capital gains and other recent changes in the tax law are covered in IRS Publication 553, "Highlights of 1978 Changes in the Tax Law," available from most IRS offices.

It ain't me

LONDON (AP) — A member of Parliament is suing for libel damages because his name was used in a fictitious conversation in a book on English usage.

Sir Nigel Fisher, a Conservative, has issued a writ contending the authors of the book, "Contact English I," gave examples of a grammatically incorrect conversation with a member of Parliament of the same name.

Revival dates set

Church of the Nazarene, 14th and Lancaster, holds a revival this week, Tuesday through Friday. Guest Evangelist is Ted Robinson of Mount Vernon, Ohio.

Robinson had been a successful businessman in the sales area before being called to evangelism in September of 1977. He trained for the ministry at Nazarene Bible College and is an ordained elder of the Nazarene Church. He pastored churches in the Central Ohio and North Central Ohio Districts.

Services, starting at 7:30 p.m., will include special singing groups.

Spring is a season of newness and freshness; a coming-out time for flowers, sunshine and energetic spirits.

According to Creative Extension Homemakers, Spring is also a time for the cool, classy and comfortable 'now' fashions.

In an effort to present new styles for the warmer months of the year, the club will conduct a Spring Style Show for public viewing. Models will be wearing outfits from Margaret's and the Cottage, as well as many homesewn fashions.

A wide range of tastes in clothing, from children's to adults' will be featured at the style show which will be held in the Kentwood Center. Models will include representatives from the homemakers club, their children and 4-H club members.

The atmosphere will be set with the scene of Spring.

There is sure to be something in the way of styles for everyone, whether your taste be refined or unique.

Immediately following the style show, those in attendance will be treated to refreshments.

The Creative Extension Homemakers have been an organized club for three years. This will be their second annual style show.

Officers include Esther Lopez, president; Pam Thompson, vice president; Carolyn Reed, secretary; Shirley Johnson, treasurer; and Pat Johnston, council delegate.

Meeting on the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m., members exchange ideas on topics such as baking, sewing and gardening. The organization is extremely home oriented.

In addition to the annual style show, members also hold a bake sale every year.

To further interest homemakers with home situations is the main purpose of Creative Extension Homemakers.

Members encourage all interested persons to attend their second annual style show. A short business meeting will be held immediately following the refreshment hour for those interested in joining the club.

Make a special effort to attend this Spring Style Show. It'll make you more aware of Spring... a most fashionable time of year!

Generic labeling offers consumers another choice

By JANET ROGERS
COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT
"Generic" or "unbranded" products — also known as "no-name" or "no-frills" labeling — offer consumers "another" choice.

Traditionally, retailers have sold two major types of brands — national or name brands and store or private label brands.

"Generic" products come in plain packages and carry no brand names or trademarks. The labels are generally black and white with bold lettering, state only the basic name for each product — such as "sweet peas" — and the essential complementary information — such as ingredients, net contents and name of manufacturer or distributor.

Generic items carried by food stores number from around 10 to 100, but most stores carry between 25 and 50 of these products, according to USDA interviews with 15 chain stores and three wholesalers that handle generics.

Many retailers said they may slowly increase the number of items, but had no plans to extend beyond 45 or 50. Retailers generally carry only one size of any items.

Virtually all firms carry some type or style of canned corn, beans and peas.

Other popular food items are canned to mato products, canned fruits, canned fruit and vegetable juices and drinks, packaged macaroni and cheese dinners and larger sizes of dry pet foods.

Carried less frequently are ready-to-eat cereals, baking needs — including oils and shortening — tea bags, peanut butter, mayonnaise, cheese and packaged processed meats.

Most retailers place all generic products together in the store in one mass display.

Responses of retailers indicate that consumers can expect to save an average of 25 percent over national brands and about 15 percent over store brands. Savings can vary from no savings to over 50 percent, depending on individual product and retailer.

Sources of savings on cost of generics are product quality — cheaper ingredients — reduced advertising and promotion, and less expensive packaging and labeling.

The standard minimum specification for generic food items was USDA Grade C, with some Grade B to fill in where needed.

National brands and top-line store brands, on the other hand, use primarily Grade A and some Grade B.

All three grades are safe, wholesome and nutritious and are packed under the same sanitary standards.

The USDA Grades B and C are acceptable quality for table use, cooking and casseroles, sauces, tarts and puddings. Grade C products may have less uniform size, color, texture and maturity.

WEDDING DATE REVEALED — Mr. and Mrs. Herb Pittman, 1614 E. 14th, Sweetwater, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Deana Linn to Barry Wayne McGonagill. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. D. H. McGonagill, Big Spring. The couple will wed April 14 in the Fundamental Baptist Church at Sweetwater with the Rev. Max Smiley, Sweetwater, and the Rev. William Hatler, Big Spring, officiating.

Miss Diamondback contestants needed

It's time again for the annual Jaycee Rattlesnake Roundup featuring the Miss Diamondback Contest.

According to Maria Faulkner, pageant chairman, contestants are desperately needed.

Entry deadline date will be March 14. Requirements for those interested are they must be girls between the ages of 16-18, a resident of Howard County, and must be unmarried.

Contestants may pick up entry forms at the front desk of the Big Spring Herald. Contact Mrs. Faulkner at 3-4963 for further details.

Pictures will be made at the big spring of Comanche Trail Park at 2 p.m. March 4 by Herald photographer Danny Valdes. There is no entry fee.

Any interested girls are urged to participate in this annual event. Miss Diamondback will be crowned at the close of the Rattlesnake Roundup on March 25.

Shy guy needs nudge

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 15-year-old girl and live about two blocks from a store where I spend a lot of time. It so happens that a super nice guy works there.

When I see him, I always say "hi" and so does he. I really want to meet him but I don't know how.

He seems a little shy and the type of guy who doesn't like pushy girls. How do I let this guy know I want to know him better? Please help fast! — B.J. Rock Island, Ill.

B.J.: Shy boys need little nudges and shoves. Find out what his hobbies are and learn a little about them.

After several weeks of friendly chatter, invite him to a school function. This is the moment of truth. The next move is his.

Dr. Wallace: I was going with a guy for six months when he talked my parents and me into letting him move in with us. After about a month, he quit his job and my parents told him to leave.

At the time, I didn't think much about it but now I find that I'm pregnant.

I called him and told him to come see me that I had something important to tell him, but he said later because he was going to his new girlfriend's house.

Before he left, he told me that if I ever got pregnant by him, that we would get married.

He now has a good job and makes $7 an hour so I know he could support me.

Now I'm really confused. Could you please tell me what to do? — K.D. Oklahoma City, Okla.

K.D.: The first thing you should do is tell your parents you are pregnant.

I think you should also tell this boy that you are pregnant but forget about the "marriage," he sounds much too immature to be a husband.

Somehow I feel your parents did you a gross injustice when they allowed your boyfriend to move into your home.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 15-year-old girl dating a 30-year-old guy. Please tell me the age of consent in California. I don't want my love to get hit with a statutory rape charge. — R.K. Fresno, Calif.

R.K.: The legal age of consent in California is 16, so technically he is guilty of statutory rape.

I'd be remiss if I didn't speak out on the moral issue here.

This man has a very serious social and emotional problem. You should not be dating him and making love to this guy can only lead to hurt and emotional scars for you.

Please take heed and dump this guy.

Tracy Diane Meeks becomes Mrs. Michael Roy Watson

The wedding vows between Tracy Diane Meeks and Michael Roy Watson were solemnized Feb. 9 in the Berea Baptist Church. The Rev. D.R. Philley officiated the 6:30 p.m. rite before an altar featuring a heart-shaped archway entwined with greenery. Two standing candelabrams completed the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Meeks, 4206 Muir, are the parents of the bride. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Watson, 1405 E. 15th.

Wedding music for the ceremony was provided by David Gillett, Abilene, cousin of the bride, as vocalist. He was accompanied by Marsha Allen, aunt of the bride, at the piano.

The bride chose to wear a floor-length gown featuring an empire waistline and scooped neck. Her long puffed sleeves of white fake eyelet enhanced the dress as did a blue belt which defined the waistline. She wore a veil of German lace enhanced with blue tint which fell from a daisy medallion-covered cap adorned with bridal pearls.

Tamra Meeks served her sister as maid of honor. Carrie Custer served as bridesmaid. They wore blue floral gowns similar to the bride's featuring short sleeves. Each carried a blue carnation.

Michael McKenzie, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man for the ceremony. Groomsman was Tony Meeks, brother of the bride.

A reception feted the couple in the home of the bride's parents.

The table was covered with white cloth over blue lace and topped with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in blue. The traditional bride and groom figurines accented the cake. Serving were Gladys Custer and Barbara Morrow.

Presently attending Big Spring High School as a senior, the bride is employed by Dairy Queen. The groom attended Big Spring High School and is presently employed at Pool Oil Services.

Following their wedding trip to San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Watson now reside at 904 Rosemont in Big Spring.

Garden club hears program

Mrs. Paul Guy, president, presided when the Planters Garden Club met March 7 at 3:30 p.m. in the Reddy Room at Texas Electric Service Company. Hostesses for the gathering included Mrs. Cass Hill and Mrs. Fannie Kent. Mrs. Guy received a certificate of award for the president report at the District I Texas Garden Club meeting in Midland. Mrs. J.O. Murph gave the program entitled "Attracting Birds to Our Garden." Active, abundant and brightly colored birds are among the most noticeable of man's fellow creatures on earth, according to the speaker. Special feeders of glass or plastic featuring tubes with sugar and water lure hummingbirds. Their diet is supplemented with protein in the form of tiny insects. Red attracts them to the feeder. Mrs. Murph concluded by stating that birds are always hungry because their food digests in 1 1/2 hours. The next meeting of the club will be April 4 in the home of Mrs. A.C. Moore, 1907 Main.

Club elects Debra Adams as debutante

The Ever Ready Civic and Art Club met at the Lakeview YMCA Wednesday evening at 6 p.m. with Jo Hazel Dawson serving as hostess. Mrs. Linda Jones presided. Car buyers steer clear of lemons

MAY CEREMONY — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buckner, 1206 Runnels, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Larry Clarke. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clarke, 3700 Calvin. The couple will wed May 20 in the First Presbyterian Church with Dr. Gage Lloyd, former pastor, officiating.

NEW YORK, N.Y. — It might be the biggest investment you make all year. So before you say "yes" to that new or used car, use these tips from the March issue of Seventeen Magazine to steer you in the right direction for the best deal on wheels.

Car shops with a pro. Go with a friend or relative who knows his way around a car. Even better, take any car you're considering to a qualified mechanic.

So what if it's not raining; try out those windshield wipers. And flash the lights, buckle the seat belts, test the emergency flashers and the parking brakes. Repairs can be costly, so insist they be made before you buy.

It'll take more than a penny to buy that new car, but that's all you'll need to check out the tire tread. Insert the penny edgewise into the tread of each tire. If the tread covers the words "One Cent," the tires are usually safe and should give you several thousand miles of service.

Steer clear of cars that have been in accidents. Body repairs, which leave a rippling appearance on the metal, can hide serious damage to other parts of the car.

Turn on the engine. The ignition should idle smoothly. Now, take the car on a long test drive on a section of a highway and a stretch of rough road. Test the brakes. You shouldn't hear any squealing or grinding noises, and the car should stop smoothly and not pull to one side.

Don't avoid that pothole! It's a good way to check the shock absorbers. The car should bounce only once or twice.

Your new car can be a gas — or it can drive you crazy. So look before you buy.

Pound of Counsel Saves Ton of Woe

DEAR ABBY: You constantly urge people to get counseling or therapy to help solve their problems. This might seem to be a cop-out to some, but I know how helpful it is.

At 14 my daughter was having problems. She wasn't popular, her grades were poor and we were constantly at each other's throats.

She threatened several times to run away, and I was worried.

Her teacher called me in and recommended a psychologist. My daughter agreed to go "just once." It worked out splendidly. It took only six months. (Both of us went so we could learn to understand each other better.)

Today my daughter is the mother of two well-adjusted children. When they showed signs of emotional turmoil, she saw to it that they went to a professional therapist, just as she did, in order to understand themselves better. (Kids frequently need to talk to someone other than their parents because their parents usually are the problem.)

Don't let up, Abby. Mental health is the most important thing in the world. I dread to think of what might have happened had I been too proud, ashamed, or stingy or whatever it is that keeps so many people from seeking the help they need.

THANKFUL

DEAR THANKFUL: Thank you for the testimonial. I know of no one who, at some time in his or her life, couldn't have used counseling. Not everyone needs years of analysis. But in times of stress, sorrow or indecision, a few sessions with a trained therapist can work miracles. Help is as near as one's mental health clinic. And the price is always right.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please find a nice girl for my son? Burton is 33, nice looking, plays the piano, and is not dumb. He's had three years of college, but he lacks ambition and drive.

He's gone out with lots of girls, but he never calls them, if they call him, or if I arrange a date for him, he'll go. He has a few friends, but if they don't call him, he doesn't call them. I'm sure the right girl could motivate Burton to be a little more active socially.

His father and I would like to be grandparents, but Burton is our only child and he doesn't seem to be in any hurry to have a home of his own.

He lives with us, has an 8 to 4 job, and that's his life. Do you know of a nice girl for my Burton, Abby?

WORRIED IN PATTERSON

DEAR WORRIED: If Burton wants a girl he will have to find one himself. Perhaps one of his problems could be a mother who does too much for him. Burton sounds like a nice fellow. If he wants any help from me, I'll be glad to help him, but I can't intrude on a man's life because his mother asks me to.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Some men pilots still uneasy

Women don't fly planes

EDITOR'S NOTE — The skies are getting a little friendlier to women fliers. Six years after the first woman became captain for a scheduled airline, a score of others are flying airliners and more are waiting in the wings — or between them. If the total number of female airline pilots remains small, progress and acceptance have been steady.

By HOWARD BENEDICT
Associated Press Writer
ABOARD FRONTIER FLIGHT 138 (AP) — The copilot is a lady, and she's at the controls as the Boeing 737 jetliner begins its final approach into the Memphis night.

Emily Warner has made thousands of takeoffs and landings in nearly six years with Frontier, and tonight she doesn't feel pressured to prove herself. She was the first woman pilot for a scheduled U.S. airline, and today there's a score of others.

From 40 miles away at 13,000 feet Memphis is a blur of lights in a sea of darkness. Ms. Warner looks for the lights that mark the runway. "There it is, that black triangle over there," Kenneth Sleater, her captain, calls out.

Minutes later she eases the 737 over the flashing approach lights. It glides for several hundred feet before she firmly, smoothly pushes its wheels to the concrete.

"Nice approach, Emily," Sleater says. "Can I open my eyes now," he jokes.

Flight 138 was at the end of the line for the night. It had flown from Denver to Wichita to Little Rock to Memphis. As they usually do, captain and co-pilot flew alternate legs, with Ms. Warner handling the first and third.

"I was under an awful lot of pressure when I started in 1973," she says. "Everyone was watching me, waiting for me to make a mistake. I'll never forget the first time I walked into the crew room. It was like walking into a room full of little old ladies."

Had she failed, she feels, ambitions of other women would have suffered a blow. But she succeeded, and earned the respect of most of her male counterparts.

"There are a few holdouts among some of the older, more conservative pilots who feel it's a man's job to fly the airplane and a woman's to serve the passengers," says Sleater, a 20-year veteran with Frontier. "But Emily's an excellent flier and 99 percent of us are for the women pilots."

After she broke the barrier, scores of women began applying to the airlines for pilot jobs. But there was a recession in the mid-1970s and the carriers were furloughing pilots, not hiring them.

By 1976, the situation eased, and, with the women's movement in full swing, a few airlines began hiring females.

Their number is small compared with the 34,000 male pilots flying for U.S. trunk carriers, but it is growing. By the end of 1977 there were 40 women in the cockpits of major airlines. Then came cheap fares and the air travel boom of 1978, and in one year the number has doubled to about 80.

Two are captains and another 20 to 25 are first officers, or co-pilots, who also fly the plane. The rest are second officers, essentially flight engineers who occupy a third seat on the flight deck. They can fly but don't take the controls on a scheduled flight.

Baby shower fetes Mrs. Bobby Heath

Mrs. Bobby Heath was the honoree at a baby shower held Saturday morning from 10-12 in the home of Cheri Sparks, 2619 Coronado.

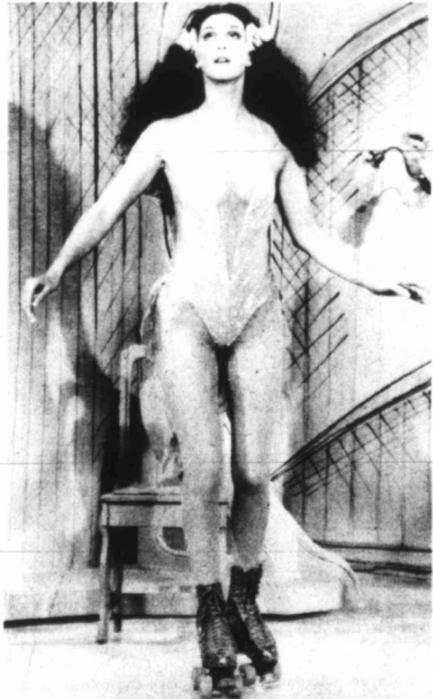

Other hostesses in addition to Mrs. Sparks, included Glynn Mouton, Alice Weaver, Barbara Hall, Martha Fierro, Libby Swartz, Barbara Draper and Donna Griffin.

The table was centered with a baby trash can filled with an assortment of spring flowers and stuffed animals. Wine punch and coffee cake were served to those attending.

Hostesses presented Mrs. Heath, the former Jill Forrest, with a walker filled with various baby items.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath, 2605 Cindy, are expecting their first child at the end of March.

Habeas corpus writ granted

Ismael Juarez, convicted of aggravated robbery in 1976, was granted a writ of habeas corpus Wednesday by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals and his indictment voided. The indictment was voided because an examining trial was not granted before an indictment was handed down.

Assistant District Attorney Don Richards received the decision in the mail Thursday.

Juarez was certified to stand trial as an adult, entered a guilty plea to the charge and received a 20-year sentence. He was charged with a stabbing and robbery at Winchell Donuts Feb. 22, 1976.

The examining trial will be conducted in the next four weeks, according to Richards. Juarez will have to be indicted again if he is to stand trial for the charges.

Juarez is free until the trial gets under way.

'Women and money' tips

NEW YORK (AP) — "Women and Money," a course offered as part of the Women's Studies Program in New York University's School of Continuing Education, is designed to help the woman who wants to handle her own finances with confidence.

Topics covered include money management, insurance, housing, choosing financial advisers, investments, tax-saving possibilities, future planning and the financial aspects of marriage, divorce and living together.

Look before you leap!

NEW YORK (AP) — It's better to be working when you're looking for a job, according to a survey of the member personnel agencies of the National Personnel Associates, which shows employed applicants get 18 percent more in pay and benefits in new jobs than unemployed applicants. Moreover, employed applicants get more jobs. Seventy two percent of applicants applying to these management-level agencies are employed but they get 81 percent of the available jobs.

Brake fluid fails tests

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Two brands of brake fluid have failed federal laboratory tests for safety standards, the director of the state Department of Public Safety said.

Col. Wilson E. Speir of the DPS said samples of Puma Brake Fluid and Certified Brake Fluid failed tests conducted by the Southwest Research Institute in San Antonio for the U.S. Transportation Department.

"These failures are critical and could lead to possible failure of the brake system in the auto," Speir said.

Test failures were on batch number 833 on the Cer' Jed Hydraulic Heavy Duty Brake Fluid and batch number 35 on the Puma Heavy Duty Drum and Disc Brake Fluid.

The samples were purchased at retail stores by state troopers.

Speir said test results are being turned over to district attorneys for further consideration.

Varied tasks performed by voice-controlled device

PROVO, UTAH AP — Talking to doors, windows and wheelchairs may seem strange, but, according to Gayle F. Miner, a Brigham Young University electrical-engineering professor, his new voice-actuation device will actually make them listen.

Miner's device, which consists of a little box weighing less than 5 pounds and stuffed full of electronic circuitry, allows people to give commands to their doors, windows and television sets, just to name a few.

When hooked up to a microphone and electrically wired to various household items, it is programmed to control the items according to voice commands.

It works, Miner explains, by detecting the first two dominant frequencies of the voice.

With the help of a circular moving windshield-wiper-arm-type mechanism, the two frequencies are matched with what has already been programmed into the device.

"When the arm finds the match," Miner says, "electricity is allowed to flow through the arm and the wire to an outlet, which could be a television set or a window, for example."

"With a voice-actuation device," he adds, "people who are bedridden or wheelchair bound can open doors, turn on television sets, raise their beds, or do anything that is connected to the device. The applications are almost limitless." Miner explains that the programming is done by taping certain words or sounds made by the person, then matching the sounds with various commands.

"For example, the word 'stop' could be used to turn off the television set," Miner says. "In that case, the device would be programmed to respond to the 'st' sound in the word. Even when words are used, it still focuses on one particular sound within the word."

Because of this need for just one sound, Miner feels that people with speech problems, who have a difficult time forming words, will find the device especially helpful. As long as the user can make sounds, the apparatus can be programmed to respond to certain sounds in the distinct way they are made by the user.

Miner acknowledges that memorizing different sounds might be difficult, but he feels that if the sound is matched to a word that is normally used with the object, such as saying "up" to raise window or "on" to turn on a television set, then the memorization would not be a problem.

What if the person accidentally makes the sound or says a word with the sound in it?

"The device is set so the sound must be made slowly and distinctly," he points out. "This was done to prevent someone from just talking at a regular rate and accidentally triggering the action. Also, the sound must be loud and distinct enough for the sound to be picked up."

Another important emergency measure, says Miner, is the automatic shut-off.

"Any loud noise will stop the device and cease a response to all commands," Miner explains. "This would be especially useful in a dangerous situation, such as a person getting caught in a lathe. In that case, a scream or some other noise would automatically stop the lathe."

The fact that Miner's voice-actuator is not restricted to bedridden patients would make it useful for many people, he believes.

"Even lazy people will be able to use it to save themselves from getting up to close the window, turn off the television set, or perform any number of time-consuming duties," Miner says.

Miner notes that the implications of using the contrivance to increase productivity and assure worker safety are great. One application is as a control for wheelchairs.

"On a wheelchair, the device works just like the 'joy stick,' the manual control stick on the arm of an electric wheelchair," Miner explains. "In fact, it even fits into the same plug." The microphone would rest on the arm of the wheelchair and extend to a few inches from the person's mouth, Miner says. Thus, the user could command the wheelchair to go forward, back up, turn, or stop.

Unfortunately, he adds, the voice-actuation device is not yet practical for wheelchairs, because the safety measures have not been completely worked out. However, the BYU professor believes it will eventually be available to wheelchair patients.

Special promotions boost bus ridership

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Count Dracula and 'Frankenstein drive the buses on Halloween.

Despite chilly temperatures, passengers who wear shorts on the first day of spring ride buses for just a nickel.

Others board buses in the middle of a summer day, ride to McDonald's, get free french fries and ride home at no charge.

It may sound like a strange way to run a bus company, but advertising and promotion schemes have helped boost ridership of the Champaign-Urbana Mass Transit District by 450 percent since 1974 — one of the best records in the nation.

"We had Santa Claus ride the buses at Christmas and give out candy canes," said assistant director Thomas Costello.

"When the circus came to town, we had a clown ride the bus. It helps promote the circus and taking the bus to the circus." Costello says the district spends about $30,000 a year on advertising and marketing.

Transit is up against some pretty stiff competition and if people don't hear about it, they won't think about it, and they won't ride," said Chuck Kromer of the American Public Transit Association.

"Champaign-Urbana is frequently mentioned for its aggressive marketing program and its innovative management."

But, the selling of the bus line is only one part of the success story.

District Director Bill Volk realized that unless he provided people with the kind of bus service they wanted, advertising and promotion would do little good.

An infusion of state and federal funds in 1974 also was instrumental in the turnaround, as was approval of a 400 percent increase in the tax which goes to the bus line.

When Volk took over five years ago, he recognized the potential in the twin cities, with their population of 100,000. Their borders meet at the sprawling campus of the University of Illinois, with more than 34,000 students and 11,000 employees.

"At mid-day, you have a potential peak over there every hour," said Volk, who now runs nine of his 10 bus routes through campus. Only two passed the university when Volk took over.

"The whole system had failed. Our image was terrible. From a public opinion standpoint, we were probably way down at the bottom," he said.

Volk said there were only 13 buses on the streets during the rush hour then, there were no schedules and the time between buses ranged from 30 to 90 minutes.

Yesterday's Jumbles: BOGUS PANSY OMELET MALTED

Answer: Form of meat that is important in modern defense—"ATOM"

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 12, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Problems that face you early in the day can be solved if you give them serious thought. Don't pass up an invitation to a social gathering where you get the chance to make new friends.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Attend a group meeting where lofty precepts are taught that help you handle problems more wisely. Evening can be a very happy one.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Use your best judgment today since your hunches are not very accurate or sure. Day hours could be tense, but evening is placid and happy for you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Think now to improve a question that you have to answer quickly. Be prepared for such.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Organize personal affairs better and then later you can be with good friends. Work to bring new, being social in the evening is fine.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Figure out how to gain more prestige in the outside world, which you feel is lacking now. Meditate and then contact the right people.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Get in touch with wise persons you know and get the advice you need now. Plan how to become more prosperous by your own good ideas.

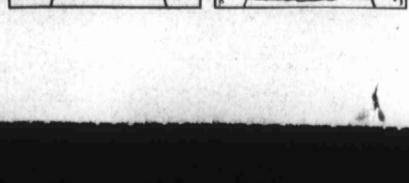

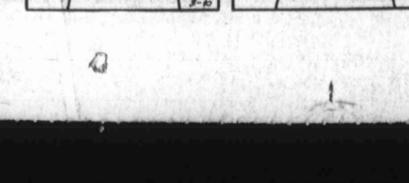

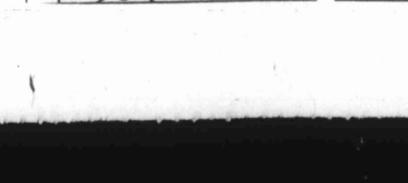

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Plan how to have better relations with others, especially in business in the future. Don't take anything for granted. Doublecheck all facts and figures.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Take care not to annoy a close friend during the day and then all works out fine in the evening. Plan time for or volunteer work before you go out for special pleasure.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A fine day to do favors for others who have been good to you in the past. Plan how to have more rapport with close friends in the future. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... ...he or she will likely be one to get bogged down in details and should be taught first to understand the overall picture of any undertaking. Give a fine education along lines of research for best results.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... ...the stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to you!

'Circle of Iron' demanding film

The grotesque Monkey Man, the suddenly terrifying Panther Man (Death), the subtle and lethal Rhythm Man, and the enigmatic sage, the Blind Man — these are the mantles worn by actor David Carradine in what could be the most demanding roles he has ever played. All appear in a new film, the Sandy Howard-Richard St. Johns production "Circle of Iron."

The film concerns a young man's quest for truth through martial arts trials and sensuous temptations. His name is Cord and he is played by actor-martial artist Jeff Cooper, a long time friend of Carradine. The young man's guide and mentor as well as his adversaries in his savage trials, are the parts played by Carradine.

As the Blind Man, Carradine demonstrates his incredible speed and extraordinary skill and grace as a martial arts expert. He has been a serious student for the past four years of Kam Yuen, one of the world's leading martial artists.

In a scene, which was filmed on location against the background of historic Aphek Castle near Tel Aviv, the Blind Man dispatches seven attackers in a flurry of wild staff and high kicks. The staff is a five-and-half foot long bamboo staff which acts as both lethal weapon and melodic flute.

When Carradine raises it to his lips, its great length appears quite natural. On the location, the actor surprised everyone as the music he made with it was quite hauntingly beautiful.

Changsha, the Rhythm Man, is the leader of a bizarre circus-like caravan and in this role Carradine fights Cord in one of the young man's most stunning tests. While dancers writhe and fire-eaters belch flames, the two confront one another. Changsha's manner of combat is grace and rhythm, confusing his opponents with driving, discordant drum melodies and a ballet of hands, not unlike a Thai dancer. Cord has previously faced other strange trials in the form of the Monkey Man and the Panther Man (Death) and now, bewilderingly, Changsha splits into all three and the young seeker of Truth must battle the trio to survive.

The actual filming of this sequence was as exciting and demanding as it appears on the screen. For Carradine, it was a continuity of costume and make-up changes as well as 12 hours of continual martial arts.

When Carradine arrived back on the set after one particular change (to Panther Man), everyone gasped — he was black from head to toe except for strange white feline markings on his face, silver teeth and long, tapering silver claws on his hands. As the Panther Man (Death), he is a leaping, bounding, slashing attacker, instantly shadow, substance and surprise.

Costume designer Lilly Fenichel created hundreds of designs for the film, but her favorites were those for Carradine.

"David's were the most interesting and represented the greatest challenge. I had to transfer him from the Monkey Man to the Panther Man to the Rhythm Man and make them startling, fitting for the different characters and yet allow them to be practical to allow for the amazing actions he performs in each part.

"Working with David was terrific. He has an incredible sense of making the costume his, taking it away from being simply a costume and making it his gear, his possession. In the case of Changsha, the Rhythm Man, he instinctively suggested a change... he wanted it truer, more realistic. There are no snaps and buttons on his clothes in the film. If they are tied or knotted, he ties and knots them."

Jungar is the Monkey Man. Carradine explains this character: "He is sort of primordial man, part of the gibbering fool that we all know. It's that part of Cord that Cord must excise from himself."

Armed with a forked spear, Jungar faces Cord surrounded by the simian faces of his followers the Monkeyman, grunting, squealing and roaring. This fight sequence was filmed on location in Israel's beautiful Beit Guvrin caves.

For Carradine, his roles in "Circle of Iron" were something very special. "This is almost as good as it gets," he grinned. "This dancing through the air and playing all these guys was a lot of fun."

There was also a price to be paid. During filming of the dynamic action sequences, he had his nose broken twice, his toe gouged and pain inflicted to his knee throughout the demanding martial arts flights.

(AP Wirephoto) TALKING AGAIN — Bluegrass Lester Platt says he and Earl Scruggs are talking again after a less-than-friendly breakup 10 years ago. Platt, with a picture of him in his earlier days in the background, says one of the things they have discussed is doing a show together again.

West Texas free of wind?

'Horse latitudes' calm

The high pressure latitudes at about 30 to 35 are called "horse latitudes" because ships were becalmed in those waters and were often forced to becalmed in those waters West Texas, being in the same latitudes, should be as free of wind. However, fundamental differences between land and water alter this basic atmospheric characteristic. Land is not level and it heats and cools more rapidly than water.

The lands of the "horse latitudes", being high pressure areas, are usually dry, unless near water or of high altitude. This dryness limits vegetation and the barren land heats more rapidly than surrounding wet or vegetated areas. Many of our dust storms are prompted by this temperature variation combined with approaching weather fronts. Because of this phenomenon, most of the world's great deserts are located in the same latitudes, and many of the most famous winds are found in these deserts.

One of the most famous winds is the sirocco of the Sahara in northern Africa. The sand of the Sahara are known to reach 172 after a night near freezing. Usually in November, conditions combine to produce a fierce, hot, dry wind that blasts the northern coast of Africa. The evaporation rate soars to 9 inches per day as compared to 36 inches a year in England and 150 inches per year in Death Valley. The extreme heat and dryness cracks the skin, curls the corners of books and turns leather wooden. It sometimes crosses the Mediterranean and arrives in Europe hot and wet. It sometimes carries the red Sahara sand which is deposited in "showers of blood" or "red snows."

A different kind of terrain causes a similar effect called a foehn wind.

Main Street Plus offers variety of arts in Houston

There will be literally hundreds of entertainers, artists and craftsmen participating in the free weekend activities of The Houston Festival: Main Street Plus set for March 16-25. Chairmen of the Arts and Crafts section report that already over 130 artists and craftsmen have reserved space for the downtown "culture fest."

There will be five feature areas where crafts will be demonstrated through the weekends. These include such crafts as potting by the Potter's Guild, stained glass, Indian basket weaving and beading, spinning and weaving by The Weavers, and blacksmithing. Demonstration areas will be scattered throughout the festival grounds, and the arts and crafts booths will be in Sam Houston Park and around the City Hall reflection pool. All of these participants will have been screened and must be selling only original work.

Another special section, Art-Street Market, will be set up on Prairie between Louisiana and Milam where the street will be closed off. This unscreened section is open to all comers who will be setting up between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. each weekend. Here Festival visitors will find a pot pourri of handicrafts, art and reproductions.

A group from Lamar

University will be demonstrating metal casting of sculpture in this Art-Street Market area on the 18th and on the 24th and 25th.

Artist Equity will have a post card project whereby Festival visitors can create their own postcard, mail it and have it cancelled with The Houston Festival: Main Street Plus special mark. This may be the last opportunity for special cancellation issued by the U.S. Post Office.

A children's painting project has been planned for Tranquility Park Block 1. Here children young and old will be able to paint and create on the spot.

'Prisoner of Second Avenue' opens Friday

"The Prisoner of Second Avenue," the eleventh comedy in the string of Neil Simon's blockbuster hits, will open Friday, March 16 for a nine-performance run at Theatre Midland.

Although the comedy's title places the action in one of the high-rise, paperboard pueblos of New York, and many of its hilarities spring from the inconveniences and hazards of life in modern New York, the play is not geographically limited to that so-called "Fun City." It is about the wounded dignity of any American who is trapped in the confusions of present-day society.

Darrell Ward will play Mel Edison, the harassed individual of the show, a man made into a restless prisoner in his apartment house when he is let go by the firm where he has been an executive for 22 years, and at 47, can't find another job. His home is robbed and everything else goes wrong, until he feels himself to be low man on a faceless totem pole. Coila Morrow plays Mel's loving wife, Edna. She loyally goes back to being the secretary she had been before their marriage — until her job, too, vanishes in the wreck of a firm's bankruptcy.

The grimness of the situation does not keep "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" from being a convulsing comedy. Neil Simon's gift manages to distill hysterical laughter out of a grave situation.

Mail orders for seat reservations are now being accepted from Theatre Midland members. The box office will open to members on March 8 and to the general public on March 12. Box office hours are 10:00-5:00 p.m. daily and the phone number is 682-4111.

This is the last month to buy a 1979 MCT membership.

MR. AND MRS. LEE ROY HUNT JR.

Patricia Murphey weds Lee Roy Hunt

Patricia M. Murphey became the bride of Lee Roy Hunt Jr. in a candlelight ceremony in the home of the groom's parents Feb. 22.

Officiating the 6 p.m. ceremony before a fireplace mantle decorated with yellow mums and yellow tapered candles was Garden City Justice of the Peace J. E. Wooten.

Parents of the bride are D.E. Murphey and Jean Murphey, both of Big Spring. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hunt, Garden City.

The bride was attired in a cream-colored Indian wedding gown trimmed in cream ribbon and enhanced with lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and white daisies. An assortment of dried flowers enhanced the arrangement.

Kay Sayers served as maid of honor. Best man was Charlie D. Hunt, brother of the groom. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the family room of the groom's parents in Garden City.

The bride attended Big Spring schools and is presently employed in the Pet Dept. at Kmart. The groom graduated from Garden City High School and is presently employed by the Lee Roy Hunt Trucking Firm.

The couple now make their home in Big Spring on Gail Rt. following their wedding trip to Dallas.

Couple celebrate 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wood, Snyder, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at a reception in the Snyder Savings and Loan Community Room today from 2:30 to 5 p.m., hosted by their children and grandchildren. Friends are invited to join the observance.

Mrs. Van Meador, Snyder; Daryl Wood, Big Spring and two foster sons, Billy Rinehart, Arlington and Wallace Rinehart of Lanham, Md. are the children of the couple. There are 11 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Wood, a native of Grif-fithville, Ark., and Essie Bell Rinehart, a native of Sidney, met when their parents, W.R. Wood and O.C. Rinehart, moved to adjoining farms in Scurry County. They were married March 9, 1929.

Wood is retired from the Snyder Street Department.

Mother-to-be honored at recent baby shower

Mrs. Steven Lockhart, the former Vonda Madry, was the honoree at a baby shower held March 8 at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Pat Prater.

Special guests attending were the honoree's mother and mother-in-law, Nophlet Madry and Mrs. Jeanie Lockhart.

Other hostesses in addition to Mrs. Prater included Terri Born, Janice Hopper, Elia Herrera, Donna Love, Cathy Yarbrough, Jo

Griffith and Linda Swinney. Mrs. Lockhart was presented with a pink and blue corsage and an infant dressing table from the hostesses.

Refreshments were served to guests from a table accented with lace and a crystal serving service. A cake featuring baby blocks and topped with baby booties, flowers and ABC's enhanced the table.

Support needed

'Spring City Theatre' has been chosen as the name for the newly organized community theatre in Big Spring.

According to Cecelia McKenzie, director, members will perform a melodrama for the Starlight Specials July 13-14. Tryouts will be conducted at the end of May.

A fund-raising committee has been formed in an effort to draw community support for the theatre. A dance featuring a '30's and '40's theme is slated in the near future.

Presently, the 'Spring City Theatre' is working with the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Historical Committee to revise the 1949 Big Spring Centennial.

"We really need the support of the community in order to make this theatre work," explained Mrs. McKenzie. "Big Spring deserves a culturally-oriented theatre, but unless we have participant support and monetary support, it will be virtually impossible."
