Proud president returns to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter returned to a hero's welcome today bringing as the bounty of his shuttling summit an agreement by Egyptian and Israeli leaders to accept compromise peace terms and their pledge to push for final approval of a treaty.

"I believe that God has answered our prayers," Carter said.

The Israeli cabinet in Jerusalem was called into special session by Prime Minister Menachem Begin to debate two remaining compromises already accepted by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. The cabinet was expected to send them to Israel's parliament.

Approval there also seemed likely. Begin said he would resign if parliament rejected them.

The prime minister said a treaty with Egypt could be signed within the month, possibly in a week or two, if the cabinet and parliament, the Knesset, approve. Egyptian Foreign Minister Butros Ghali agreed with Begin's assessment.

Begin said he, Sadat and Carter would sign the accord in Washington. Then, Begin said, he and Sadat would sign the Hebrew version in Jerusalem and the Arabic text in Cairo.

Carter told about 1,000 congressional leaders, members of his administration and other flag-waving well-wishers who greeted him after midnight at Andrews Air Force Base: "You are looking at a tired but grateful man."

The president said he is asking world leaders in private messages to support "what Egypt and Israel have done." Carter said he had telephoned some of them from Air Force One.

PROUD PRESIDENT — President and Mrs. Carter share a proud moment as they are welcomed at Andrews Air Force Base this morning.

He did not identify the leaders, but presumably they included Arab heads of state whom the administration has been unable to persuade so far to rally support for Sadat in efforts for peace.

By choosing peace, Sadat and Begin "are venturing into the unknown," Carter said. "They know that these United States will be with them as they begin to make peace a living reality for their people."

"There were political risks involved," the president told the cheering, sign-waving crowd about his Middle East mission. One sign said, "Jimmy: Prophet for Peace." Another said, "100 Percent President."

"(They were) political risks to me as president — and therefore perhaps to the prestige of the United States," Carter said. "Fortunately our work has had a happy result...."

"In war, we offer our very lives almost as a matter of routine," the president declared. "We must be no less daring, no less steadfast in the pursuit of peace."

Vice President Walter F. Mondale, who shook hands with Carter at the end of a red carpet, told the president: "Welcome to a proud and hopeful nation...."

"You have drunk two ancient enemies to the brink of peace," the vice president said.

The high-risk Mideast venture Carter began a week ago paid off in its last hours Tuesday when Begin and Sadat endorsed U.S. compromise terms for the long-elusive peace accord.

Shuttling from Cairo to Jerusalem and back to Cairo, the American president and his aides mediated a compromise settlement. There were times the outcome seemed doubtful.

Carter announced the breakthrough at the Cairo airport Tuesday just before heading home.

Begin said it wouldn't be easy to win ratification. "I will have difficult days ahead with those who oppose the peace treaty," he told NBC. "I will have to do a lot of convincing."

In Cairo, briefings were scheduled for the cabinet Thursday and Sadat's National Democratic Party Saturday.

THREE WHO WERE INSIDE — Jose Jimenez, Constantino Diaz de la Luz and Francisco Tavera, three night watchmen at the Universidad Ibero-Americana were making their final rounds in the administration when Mexico City was jolted by an earthquake early Wednesday. None of the men was hurt though 60 percent of the university buildings fell.

Israeli Cabinet accepts last two peace proposals

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli Cabinet has approved the last two proposals for a peace treaty with Egypt, Commerce Minister Gidon Patt said today.

"The road is open to a peace treaty," said another minister, Yitzhak Modai. He said details remained to be worked out "but there will be a peace treaty."

Commerce chief Patt added, however, that the cabinet acceptance of the last two proposals did not complete the work it still needs to carry out examining the treaty in its entirety.

Emerging from almost six hours of debate behind closed doors, the ministers said the vote was 15 in favor with one abstention. Only one minister was absent.

The two remaining issues which President Carter left the Cabinet to decide were reliably reported to concern Egypt's demand to station military "liaison officers" in the Israeli-held Gaza strip, and Israel's demand to buy oil from the Egyptians would pump out of wells in the Sinai desert which Israel is to return to Egyptian rule under the terms of the peace treaty.

'Really a success for peace'

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli Cabinet today accepted President Carter's two key compromises to pave the way for an Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty, but postponed until Sunday its final decision whether to approve the treaty as a whole.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin told reporters that he telephoned Carter with the news immediately adding that "the president was very glad to receive this information."

In Cairo, Egypt's Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil termed the Israeli Cabinet move "really a success for peace."

"I am happy that everything went to the satisfaction of the two sides," Khalil said in a telephone interview with The Associated Press. Khalil, Egypt's main peace negotiator, laughed heartily when told of the decision and said, "I think they were reasonable to have accepted."

Emerging from almost six hours of debate behind closed doors, the Cabinet ministers said the vote was 15 in favor, with one abstention. Only one minister was absent.

"The road is open to a peace treaty," said one minister, Yitzhak Modai. He said details remained to be worked out "but there will be a peace treaty."

The ministers voted to approve the Carter compromises, so that now each clause in the draft treaty has been decided upon separately.

Commerce Minister Gidon Patt said, however, that today's action did not complete the work of the Cabinet, which still needs to examine the treaty in its entirety.

The compromises were not made public, but reliable sources said they resolved Egypt's demand to station liaison officers in the Gaza Strip to supervise the progress toward Palestinian autonomy there and Israel's demand for direct oil sales from Egypt rather than through a middleman as Egypt wanted.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Butros Ghali said Egypt agreed to sell Israel oil but at world prices with no special privileges. He said the treaty would specify that negotiations for Palestinian autonomy in the Gaza Strip and the West Bank of the Jordan River must begin within a month after the treaty is signed and must end within a year.

Local man stabbed five times during robbery

A local man was stabbed during the robbery of his empty wallet, 11:55 p.m. Tuesday.

Jessie Paul Carl, 40, 700 S. Bell, was stabbed twice in the back, once in the left arm, once over the left eye, and once in the stomach by two assailants. He is listed in satisfactory condition at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Carl had accepted a ride in a car occupied by a man and a male juvenile, shortly before midnight. The pair drove their victim to the parking lot of the Seven-Eleven Store at Willia and West Highway 80, and stabbed him with a short knife while they searched his wallet. The wallet contained no money and was discarded at the scene, said police.

Fortunately, Detectives David Spilman and George Quintero happened to be patrolling the area at the exact moment that the suspects' car pulled out of the parking lot. According to Spilman, the two detectives chased the car for seven or eight blocks before the suspects gave up and surrendered at West Highway 80 and Lorilla.

Arrested were Gonzalo Hernandez Jr., 22, 904 Goliad, and a 15-year-old juvenile. Both will be held for suspicion of aggravated assault and aggravated robbery.

Williams guilty of involuntary manslaughter

COLORADO CITY — Aubrey Gene Williams, 38, of Snyder, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter in the July, 1978 stabbing death of his wife, Girlie Ann Williams.

The 32nd District Court jury in Colorado City began deliberations around 3 p.m. Tuesday, and was sent home without a decision at 10:30 p.m. They resumed deliberations at 9 a.m. today, and returned the verdict around 11 a.m.

The punishment phase of the trial began at 1:30 p.m. with presentations by the defense and prosecution, and should be turned over to the jury this afternoon.

Candidates to be quizzed

It was announced today by Jane Ray, chairman of the Governmental Affairs Committee, that an Open Forum will be held in the Tumbleweed Room at Howard College Tuesday, March 27, at 7:30 p.m. Purpose of the meeting is to introduce candidates for the School Board and City Council election April 7.

Attendees will have an opportunity to ask questions of any of the candidates present. All questions must be submitted in writing and may be mailed to the Chamber Office, P.O. Box 1391, in advance, or submitted at the door during the forum.

Moderator for the discussion will be Jim Baum, manager of Radio Station KBYG.

Everyone is welcome to attend and the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Mexico City has earthquake

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A severe earthquake damaged buildings and sprayed broken glass over the streets of downtown Mexico City before dawn today. The Red Cross said a 14-year-old girl was killed and 20 persons injured.

A three-story building collapsed at Ibero-American University, a private institution in the southern part of the city. Most of the windows at the university were broken.

Police said many private homes were heavily damaged. But life quickly returned to normal, and traffic filled the streets during the morning rush hour.

The Seismological Institute in Mexico City reported the quake measured 7 on the Richter scale and the epicenter was about 200 miles southwest of the capital city.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo., called it a major quake with a Richter reading of 7.9 and the epicenter 100 miles northwest of Acapulco, on the Pacific coast or a short distance at sea.

Scientists there said that reading would make it the strongest quake in the world this year.

No damage was reported in Acapulco, a popular resort, but the highway to it from Mexico City was blocked by landslides.

Lights were out in several sections of the capital of 13 million people when a strong aftershock hit almost exactly an hour after the main shock rolled through the capital shortly after 5 a.m.

The facade fell from a bank building on Juarez Street in the heart of the city. It appeared at least one upper story of the building had collapsed into the ground floor.

Tourists gathered in small frightened knots in front of the towering hotels on Paseo de la Reforma Boulevard. Glass from broken windows littered the sidewalk.

Electricity was cut in many parts of Mexico City. The subway system stopped and firemen reported serious damage to some buildings at Inter-American University in the southern part of the city.

Florida Omens, 80, of Galesburg, Ill., said the locked door of her hotel room flew open.

Focalpoint

Action / reaction: Garage sales permit

Q. Is a permit required to conduct garage sales in the city?
A. "No permit is necessary, provided it is a garage sale and not a business," said Bill Brown, assistant city manager. "Garage sales that last longer than three days, or are conducted on a very frequent basis are looked into by the State Comptroller's Office as a possible business." Brown explained that businesses are required to have a sales tax number, and any time a garage sale takes on any resemblance to a business, it raises the possibility that city and state sales taxes should be collected.

Calendar: B.J. Thomas concert

TODAY
Singer B.J. Thomas will be in concert beginning at 8 p.m. in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Big Spring public schools dismiss for two days of Spring Break beginning today at regular dismissal times. Classes meet again Monday morning.

THURSDAY
The fourth in the five-part "Passport to Adventure" lectures will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Howard College Auditorium with Kathleen Dusk speaking about "Storybook Germany."

The first performance of the American Continental Circus will begin at 4:30 p.m. in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. There will be a second performance at 8 p.m. The circus is sponsored by the Howard County Sheriff's Posse.

The National Association of Veteran and Retired Railroad Employees will meet at Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center for potluck dinner and business meeting, 6:30 p.m.

Tops on TV: 'Studs Lonigan'

There are three choices tonight. Unfortunately they all start at the same time, 8 p.m. NBC will feature the second installment of "Studs Lonigan." In this one, Studs has his long-awaited date with Lucy, but it turns into a disaster. CBS will air a star-studded salute to the venerable Pearl Bailey. Pearl's guests will include Ella Fitzgerald, Jack Albertson, and a surprise visit from former first lady Betty Ford. PBS will present a new version of Shakespeare's finest romance, "Romeo and Juliet." A 15-year-old (Juliet's actual age) girl will play the star-crossed lover in this version.

Outside: Rain

Partly cloudy and not as warm today. Mostly cloudy tonight and Thursday and a chance of showers. High today is in the mid 60s, low tonight near 40. High Thursday in the low 60s. Winds will be easterly 10 to 15 mph today changing to south southeast tonight. Probability of rain is 40 percent tonight and 50 percent Thursday.

STAFFORD ARRESTED — A Chicago policeman escorts Roger Dale Stafford into a police station Tuesday night after his arrest at a YMCA on Chicago's North Side. Stafford is sought by Oklahoma authorities in connection with slayings of nine persons, including six employees of a fast food restaurant.

Grant request by Rehab Center to be considered

The Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission will consider a resolution accepting the review and comment of the Health Systems Agency on a grant application from the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center of Big Spring to the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, Developmental Disabilities Division when its board of directors hold its regular monthly session next Wednesday at 1:30 p.m., at Midland Air Terminal.

The Health Systems Agency is seeking funds for a developmental disabilities project for children age birth to five. The trustees will also consider a resolution on the grant application from the City of Big Spring to the Texas Action office for the continuation funding of the Big Spring Keen Ager's Retired Citizens Volunteer Program (RSVP). Immediately prior to adjournment, the PBRPC board will consider a resolution accepting the review and comment of the Regional Alcohol and Drug Abuse Advisory Council on the grant application from the City of Big Spring to the Texas Commission on Alcoholism for a continuation of their grant to operate the Big Spring Alcoholism Treatment and Rehabilitation Center (Detox Center).

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center is seeking $19,392 for its project, agreeing to supply $8,625 for a project totaling $28,017. Starting date of the project is June 1979 and funding would continue for 24 months. The City of Big Spring is seeking $19,106 for the RSVP operation, with the applicant supplying $9,991 for the project total of $29,097.

The project starting date is July 1, 1979, and the funding would continue for one year.

The City of Big Spring is also seeking funding in the amount of $15,000 from the Texas Commission on Alcoholism for the detox center, with the grantee supplying $60,840 for a total project budget of $75,840. The grant period is one year beginning July 1 this year.

The program is expected to provide treatment and short term rehabilitation for 350 to 420 persons during the grant period.

Irrigation plans unfurled

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentina has announced plans to spend $580 million during the next four years to irrigate nearly 1.75 million acres of arid land.

The project involves reclaiming land in 17 provinces in the lower valley of the River Colorado to develop the food-growing potential of the subtropical areas of Santa Fe and Chaco.

ROBBIE DOLAN

BERT PATTERSON

Spelling Bee champion named at Elbow School

Robbie Dolan, a ten-year-old fourth grader, won the Elbow Elementary School Spelling Bee Tuesday.

Robbie thus earned a spot in the March 20 County Bee, which gets under way at 4 p.m. in the Howard College Auditorium.

The Elbow alternate will be Bert Patterson, also ten and a fifth grader.

Robbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dolan, Sterling City Route. Bert is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson, Garden City Route, Big Spring.

Fifteen Elbow students vied for the crown. Robbie survived the competition by spelling 'bicycle' and then 'blister.'

War hero will address Texas bankers meeting

Brig. Gen. Robinson Risner will be the principal speaker when bankers from Big Spring and other West Texas communities gather for the annual District 6 Texas Bankers Association meeting which will be held in Midland April 6-7.

The activities will include registration and a business session at the Midland Hilton, a buffet and reception at Ranchland Hills Country Club, Gen. Risner's address, and entertainment by the Midland Theatre's production of "Prisoner of Second Avenue" by Neil Simon.

BRIG. GEN. RISNER

Gen. Risner enlisted in the Army Air Corps in 1943. He flew P-38s in Panama until 1946 when he became a civilian again, flying with the Oklahoma National Guard. He went back to active duty in 1951 and flew 100 combat missions in Korea and was credited with eight enemy kills, becoming the 20th ace during that war. In 1965, during the Vietnamese conflict, he was shot down, captured, and held prisoner for seven years in Hoa Lo Prison. He was released in 1973 and retired from Air Force service in 1976.

President of the TBA is Charles E. Cheever Jr., who is president of the Broadway National Bank of San Antonio. J.D. Nelson, who is president of the Security State Bank of Big Spring, serves as chairman of the District 6 group.

REFLECTS RESULTS — The Big Spring is looking beautiful, and cleaner than it has in some time, a reflection of the work of the City Parks Department and two juveniles. The juveniles were spotted last week dumping trash into the Big Spring. An off-duty policeman spotted them, and later they were apprehended. The juveniles were told that no charges would be filed against them, provided they donated two weekends to working in the park on cleanup details. Between them and the city workers, Comanche Trail Park has taken on a much improved appearance.

Coahoma schools to use services of state education association

By DON WOODS
COAHOMA — The Coahoma School Board moved to employ the policy information services of Austin's Texas Association of School Boards Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the administration building. The services include a manual, three yearly update packets and a localization of the packets at an initial cost of about $1,600.

Ted Haynes, TASB representative, said the updates will include policy changes made in the state legislative session of each year. The updates will be automatic for TASB clients. For around $100 a year TASB will localize the updates, tailoring them to Coahoma's individuality. The TASB will also call the district if a change occurs that must be immediately instituted.

The TASB will renew the service yearly on Sept. 1 at a cost of $250. The $1,600 initial cost includes 12 manuals. Cost will be lowered if Coahoma splits travel costs for TASB staff trips with Stanton. Stanton's school board moved to institute the program Monday night.

The current school year budget was amended to include $18,557 for workbooks, bus liability, contract service, a portable building, industrial art supplies, bus maintenance and bus building costs.

Property evaluation for tax purposes for the district was raised from 60 percent to 75 percent, the first raise in several years. The current tax rate of 1.65, however, will be lowered and, according to School Superintendent W.A. Wilson, school taxes will not be raised. Total district property value is currently $118,000,000.

In other school board action, all teachers will be rehired for the 1979-80 school year. Two teachers resigned, Mrs. Susan Haney, high school, and Mrs. Kaye Barr, elementary. They were replaced by Mrs. Eric

Dickey and Mrs. Patricia Wilson. Permission was granted to Mrs. Pam Hansen, band director, to take the 80 member group to Houston for a pleasure trip. Some members of the board objected to a trip in which band members did no performing. Others said that a 1,500 mile trip carrying the instruments would do more damage than good because the instruments are used only an hour and a half for performing and they are damaged by the transportation.

Some board members also objected to a pleasure trip because, they said, other groups would want the same privilege. The trip will cost $5,954. The group will leave the morning of May 3 and return May 6.

Earl Dean, county tax appraiser, explained the ramifications to the school board of the Homestead Exemption. He said the school board is required under the exemption passed by the current state legislature to give a $5,000 exemption to the school district taxpayers. He said the state would reimburse the district for money exempted under the Homestead Exemption.

In other action, the textbooks recommended by the district's textbook committee were accepted. The committee recommended all the books recommended by the state committee. The local committee's public hearing was Feb. 27.

Meeting was adjourned around 11:30 p.m. Next meeting is April 10.

Exploration manager, chief geologist named

DALLAS — Appointment of Robert J. Hester as Exploration Manager, and Dr. Cole D. Letteney as Chief Geologist, both in the Onshore Division of the Exploration Department of American Petrofina Company of Texas, has been announced in Houston by Rene Thiers, vice president, Exploration. Dr. Letteney succeeds Hester as Chief Geologist.

American Petrofina Company of Texas, a wholly-owned subsidiary of American Petrofina, Inc., engages in both onshore and offshore activities.

Hester, a native of Merkel, Texas, and a graduate of Texas Technological University with a B.S. degree in Petroleum Geology, joined Cosden Petroleum Corporation, acquired by Fina in 1963, in 1959, as an Exploration Geologist in Midland. He moved to Corpus Christi in 1964 and became District Exploration Manager. He transferred to Houston as an Exploration Geologist in 1968, and was named Chief Geologist in April, 1978. Hester is a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, West Texas Geological Society, New Mexico Geological Society and Houston Geological Society.

Dr. Letteney, a native of Houston, Mass., received his B.S. degree in geology from Dartmouth and Ph.D. in geology from Syracuse University. He has 12 years experience in the petroleum industry, eight years with Shell in Texas, followed by two years in Southeast Asia as Resident Exploration Manager for Core Laboratories, Incorporated.

Parts recovered, two men jailed

Sheriff's deputies recovered $1,050 of stolen specialized automotive parts and arrested two men Tuesday afternoon. Alvin Lewis Collins and Joel Adams, residing in the IH-20 Trailer Court, were arrested in the trailer park on suspicion of theft by exercising control.

Recovered were three specially built intake manifolds, two four-barrel carburetors, two sets of chrome valve covers and one set of custom built exhaust manifolds. The parts were stolen from Huck's Automotive, 406 San Jacinto, on Feb. 28. The Howard County Sheriff's Office has been investigating the case since that time.

Collins and Adams were released on $10,000 bond each. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Bob West.

Dip in crime rate is foreseen

Perhaps John Manson, corrections commissioner for the state of Connecticut, was right when he predicted that a reduction in the nation's crime rate would become apparent in the early 1980s.

A lot of people think otherwise, that as the crunch of inflation becomes harder that the incidence of crime will increase. A lot of people who ordinarily would never think about resorting to devious ways of making ends will be forced into it because of an inability to make ends meet.

MANSON SAYS that the bulk of Americans born in the post-war baby boom (meaning WW II) will be in their 30s by the time the next decade rolls around.

Statistics show that most crimes are committed by individuals under the age of 30. With the lower birth rates of the 60s, the age groups reaching maturity in the wake of the baby boomers are much smaller and there simply will be fewer people around to commit crimes.

Thus the ebb and flow of population growth should accomplish what has been beyond the powers of law enforcement agencies, the courts, social scientists and politicians.

Manson, whose views were circulated in a recent wire report, isn't the only one holding the opinion. Lining up with him are officials of the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. In a surprisingly contemplative segment of the overpoweringly statistical fiscal forecast for 1980 dropped on Congress by President Carter, the budget makers say the approaching decline of the "high crime age group" — 13 to 29 years of age — as one of the significant consequences for the U.S.

economy and society of the aging baby boom.

Not to be beneficial, however, is the effect of this — in an unusually poetic phrase for a budget — 'demographic tidal wave' on the work force. The entry of so many new job seekers into a market at one time is a probable major factor in stubbornly high unemployment statistics and the economy's low productivity growth in recent decades.

THERE IS, of course, a brighter side to the employment situation. Once the newcomers are experienced and integrated into the economy, unemployment should drop, production rise and, hope upon hope, inflationary pressures ease. If as the age group moves toward middle age follows the customary pattern, it will begin putting aside more of its income, accelerating capital accumulation, providing new investment resources and contributing a powerful stimulus to economic growth.

Tax revenues will go up, federal deficits should recede, Social Security financing should improve and more active workers will help support the retired.

Problems lie ahead for this generation for it, too, must age. Unless the entire retirement program is restructured, current problems in this area will look minor. The budget forecasters suggest that in the next 50 years, the added financial burden could raise the total tax cut from 33 to 50 percent. The situation could present a most unpleasant choice between ever higher taxes and a painful cut in services.

Something you are

Around the rim

Don Woods

What it isn't. Christianity isn't something you do. It is something you are.

It isn't a list of do's and don't's and I think this is what ticks people off about it. People object to someone telling them they have to do this and that and don't do that to be a Christian.

AND I DON'T blame them, because it's frustrating for someone to set up a standard you have to reach to go to heaven and you know you can't meet the standard.

God doesn't work that way. His concern isn't with what we do or don't do, basically. He's concerned with the motivation behind the act. He's concerned with whether the motivation behind an act is to honor God or to rebel against what He would want us to do.

This is why becoming a Christian isn't a matter of actions but a change in our thought system. What could be more impossible than this, though? It's much harder than a change in our actions.

So let's just drop the whole pious front. No one can do anything to become Christians by their own efforts. No one is any better than anyone else. This is why we must depend on what He does to save us, not on what we do to save ourselves.

This is why the gospel is called the good news. We can be saved without having to do anything ourselves, except to have faith in what Christ did on the cross to take away the sinful nature that keeps us from thinking correctly. It's known as grace. We receive eternal life in the future and a changed life in the present and we don't have to give anything in return. Ephesians 2:8 and 9 says, "For it is by faith we have been saved, and that not of ourselves, it is the gift of God, that no one should boast."

THIS IS WHY I say Christianity is something you are. When a person places their trust in Christ's death on the cross to pay for their sins Christ comes into the life and they become a new person. This is supernatural. This is where the Bible differs from people who say you can be saved by works. II Corinthians 5:17 says, "Therefore if any man is in Christ, he is a new creature; the old things passed away; behold, all things have become new."

Not that we become immediately perfect, either. But God recognizes the change and sees we'll be perfect in the future.

The survival of society depends on the changing of the lives of the people in it. It's practical, I know because it worked in me and the people I know who gave it a chance.

Rising worry

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — A Soviet airlift of Ethiopians and Cubans to toughen South Yemen's invasion of North Yemen explains President Carter's decision to waive, for the first time, congressional controls on U.S. arms exports.

Those controls require congressional approval of the shipment of arms to U.S. allies except in case of an "emergency" certified by the president. With the Carter administration at long last determined to react strongly — if not wholly in kind — to another Soviet-backed offensive against an anti-Soviet state, Carter ordered an immediate airlift of arms to North Yemen without waiting for the usual congressional clearance.

IN CONGRESS, the mood was surprisingly receptive. Sen. Frank Church, the often-scolding chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, asked only one question of Pentagon witnesses about the president invoking the waiver. He never pressed the point, which would have been unthinkable a year or more ago.

The rush of the Soviet political-military offensive has chastened post-Vietnam feelings of guilt over alleged U.S. excesses during the '60s and early '70s. Moscow has found in South Yemen another ideal opportunity, with South Yemeni Marxist hardliners ready to stop at nothing if generously supplied with Soviet arms. Cuban-Ethiopian advisers are being flown to South Yemen to supply the strategy and tactics.

The Marxist government of South Yemen now has an estimated two to four gates in the field, numbering about 2,000 men per brigade. North Yemen, U.S.-supplied and Saudi Arabia-supported, is receiving long-range guns, tanks and other modern arms from Washington.

Pentagon strategists privately call the war "serious." They know that if the Moscow-backed forces succeed, the signal to the oil-rich Saudis will be deafening: the U.S. cannot defend pro-Western regimes. That could cause a political convulsion in Saudi Arabia, the West's single most important oil state ally.

A TEDDY SIGNAL. Prominent Massachusetts Democratic politicians are privately predicting that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will end up running for president in 1980, but they await a confirming signal from him: surreptitious approval for moving the Massachusetts presidential primary to a later date.

The state's primary is now set for March 4, a week too early for national Democratic party rules. If it is reset much later in the year, it would give Kennedy more leeway in planning a late candidacy.

"We haven't heard a word from Teddy's people," one pro-Kennedy legislative leader told us. "If we start hearing whispers about the senator preferring a late primary, you can bet he's on his way."

WHITHER KEMP?

ALTHOUGH MOST politicians take it for granted that Rep. Jack Kemp of New York will run for the Senate in 1980 and defer his presidential ambitions until 1984, Ronald Reagan and his associates have taken nothing for granted.

The front-running Reagan's political advisers most fear a Kemp campaign that would cut into conservative ranks. Accordingly, they wanted Kemp's name on the dotted line as a Reagan-for-president committee member.

Anxiety, medicines may hamper sex

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am 61 and had a heart attack a year ago. Since then I have not had an erection. Was it the heart attack or is it the medicine I am taking? I asked the doctor about this and he told me not to worry about it. I know some men who are older and who still have intercourse. Why can't I? — D.R.

The doctor's suggestion not to "worry about it" wasn't a medical brushoff. He meant just that.

Impotence (inability to perform) is not at all unusual after a major illness. There are many psychological implications — worry, fatigue, depression — and some physical ones, such as weakness. Some of the heart medicines can contribute as can those for high blood pressure, sedatives, pain pills, even hormones. In another part of your letter you mention taking a medicine for diabetes. These problems can occur with diabetes and with other gland-related ailments.

If you suspect the medicines, your doctor might agree to try other types that might not have quite the side effects of the present ones. Very often, if a patient knows about potential side effects from medicine he will experience them, or the knowledge will create undue anxiety about them. This can add to the total picture of sexual decline.

Then there is the matter of the fear of exertion itself in the post-heart attack period. Patients who were able to perform prior to the attack usually can after a reasonable period of recovery. The time-tested "flight of stairs" rule is a pretty good one. If you are able to climb a flight of stairs without difficulty, you should be able to withstand the exertions involved in ordinary sex.

I once mentioned this to a patient who had the same fears you have and who was taking medication probably much like yours. He came in for a follow-up examination a month or two later, smiled and told me that he was having no trouble "climbing stairs."

Dear Dr. Ruble: Is there danger in taking Atromid for cholesterol? I have been for some time now. At first my count was 375, but it is now down to 235. Another doctor told me four aspirins a day would have the same effect. Would it? I have also been on a special diet. — V.M.

Hard to say at this point just which has had the most effect — the Atromid (clofibrate) or your low-cholesterol diet. The drug and aspirin have entirely different effects. The clofibrate acts on the blood fats, the aspirin on the blood platelets, making blood less "clottable," to use a non-medical term. Investigations are still underway to determine how effective clofibrate is in preventing artery hardening.

I suspect you could use reevaluation of your cholesterol situation. Perhaps diet alone will be sufficient. In many cases diet is tried before cholesterol-lowering drugs are used.

The idea of aspirins taken regularly as a preventative for stroke has been studied and I have mentioned it here before. It is still under investigation, and until we know more about it, I discourage casual use by the public for that purpose.

The most common side effect from the clofibrate is nausea. Less common effects are many and varied, from diarrhea to skin rash.

Dear Dr. Ruble: What should a person do if she suspects, but isn't sure, if she has lost a tampon? Is this serious? Is it possible? — Miss G.A.

She should make a doctor's appointment to have it removed. A doctor can easily determine the situation. Don't feel embarrassed. It is not uncommon, especially among young girls. The chronic irritation from a "lost" tampon can cause bleeding and unpleasant odor.

Dear Dr. Ruble: When my husband was in the service his blood type was "B." We still have his dogtags as proof. At work recently he donated some blood and they typed him as "O-positive." Is this possible? Both of our children have "B," which makes us suspicious. — Mrs. I.K.

You certainly should be suspicious. Blood types don't change with years. A mistake was made, either while he was in the service or by the lab people who drew the blood at work. He should be tested again. You can't tell too much from the children's blood type because your own blood type also enters into that as well as your husband's.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and their circulatory troubles, it is at the same time vital to human life. For a copy of his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly," write to Dr. Ruble in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Can the detectors through which airline passengers pass be harmful to a fetus in the womb? — L.B.

These devices merely pick up the presence of metal objects. They are not X-ray machines or anything like that. Harmless.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung problem, write to Dr. Ruble for a copy of his booklet on "How to Control Emphysema," care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Reader's questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My boyfriend says the Ten Commandments only forbid adultery, which involves married people. He says they really don't forbid sexual relations between two single people. Is this true? — R.A.

Dear R.A.: Your boyfriend is trying to talk you into something. You should not be taken in by his arguments. He wants you to lower your standards, and I earnestly hope you will not give in.

The Bible is very clear in many places on God's standard for sexual conduct. Sex outside of marriage is wrong, whether it involves someone who is married or not. The term "adultery" found in the commandment "Thou shalt not commit adultery" (Exodus 20:14) is a general term, and includes all kinds of sexual conduct outside of marriage.

Sex is a gift from God. When used as God intended, it can be a source of joy and blessing. But the place for sex is marriage, in which two people are brought together in love, mutual respect and commitment. "Marriage should be honored by all, and the marriage bed kept pure, for God will judge the adulterer and all the sexually immoral" (Hebrews 13:4, NIV).

Mideast journey

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — An earnest Jimmy Carter is using all the powers of the presidency to bring peace to the Middle East before another Arab-Israeli conflagration disrupts oil shipments to the United States. Yet apprehensive Washington strategists wonder privately whether he can keep the fabric from unraveling.

With the best of intentions, Carter set out two years ago to win friends and influence leaders in the Middle East. He gave top priority to cultivating the rulers of Israel, Iran, Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

By letter and in person, he established a warm relationship with each of them. Yet one by one, they became disenchanted with their new friend in the White House. There is now an undercurrent of suspicion and distrust beneath the outward show of pleasantry.

YITZHAK RABIN WAS then prime minister of Israel. Carter invited him to the White House and took him upstairs into the family quarters. For two hours, Carter expressed his deep personal feelings for Israel. He swore to Rabin that the United States would preserve Israel. He would see to it, the president said, that "Israel continues to exist for a thousand years."

They emerged warm friends. Carter never dreamed, confidants say, that Rabin would be upset in the next election. The opposition leader, Menachem Begin, had a reputation as hard-headed and hard-lining. He had also criticized Israel's kowtowing to the United States.

Anxiously, the president brought the victorious Begin to the White House and again spread on the molasses. Begin was properly impressed and came away praising Carter.

But privately, Carter remained uneasy about Begin. The White House kept in close touch with the losing Labor Party leaders. The president's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski, huddled repeatedly with Begin's rivals. The word seeped out that the White House regarded Begin as too uncompromising to make peace. If he remained prime minister, it was whispered he could jeopardize Israel's special relationship with the United States.

The whispers, of course, got back to Begin. Intimates say he was hurt and angry. He was also disillusioned over the way his private understandings with Carter began to develop into misunderstandings. The Israeli leader, ever blunt, spoke privately of Carter's "deception" and "duplicitous."

The relationship turned colder after Begin ordered the retaliatory invasion of Lebanon in March 1978. Begin, thereafter, paid a call at the White House where he found the president chilly. He returned to Jerusalem to find his political base being undermined. Rightly or wrongly, Begin Carter hasn't had much better results with other Middle East leaders. He did his best, for example, to woo the shah of Iran whose armies dominated the Persian Gulf, where tankers come to load up on oil for the United States.

Carter pampered the shah outrageously, praising him in public and flattering him in private. This was no different than previous presidents had done. But Carter continued to sustain the shah long after the Iranian people had taken to the streets against him.

Then in panic, Carter abandoned the shah in a belated attempt to appease his conquerors. A bitter shah spread the word around the Middle East, according to intelligence reports, that Carter had "double-crossed" him.

Carter also courted Egyptian President Anwar Sadat assiduously, showering him with letters and calling him on the phone. The Egyptian leader, our sources say, had private misgivings about the shah. But Carter helped to persuade him that the shah, as a loyal American ally, was deserving of support. Sadat was in the midst of welcoming the fleeing shah to Cairo when Carter abruptly dropped him.

Sadat was left with the uneasy feeling, Arab sources say, that Carter would be just as quick to embrace a new leader in Cairo. Saudi Arabia's royal family has also developed doubts about Carter's ability to cope with Middle East problems. In earlier columns, we have detailed how the royal princes have started flirting with Moscow and tightening their ties with the radical Arab regimes.

this treasonous "payaway" if enough of you immediately write to your Representative (House Office Bldg., Wash., D.C.), with copies to your senators (Senate Office Bldg., 20510).

You should tell your representative to do two things:

1. Vote against Carter's legislation, whether it be known as H.R. 1716 or by other numbers.
2. Support and vote for H.R. 1511, the Ban Canal Funds bill. This was introduced by Conservative Rep. George Hansen who has long led the fight to save the Canal. His bill would prohibit the use of all U.S. funds to implement the Panama Canal Treaty of 1978 and prohibit the transfer of any territory or other property of the U.S. in the Canal Zone.

Carter is putting terrific pressure on Congress to complete his treason. You may wish to counter this by reminding your Representative that, of those up for reelection, most of the Senators who had voted for the Panama Treaties were put out of office by angry voters last November.

Two BSBS pupils enter state VIC competition

Big Spring High School's chapter of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America will have two representatives at state competition in April.

Kathy Priest and Linda Leos Marquez were winners in the job selection category at the District competition last weekend in Abilene. They will represent the local chapter at state, April 5 in Houston.

Both of the girls picked manequin comb-outs as their projects.

Others competing in job selection were Maria Moreno and Katie Rodriguez.

In live model competition, Carrie Custer, Starla Mize, JoAnn Morelion, Juanita Porras, Dawn Berry, Belinda Puga, Maria Marquez and Linda Leos Marquez.

VICA instructor at BSBS is Shirley Standridge, and Wanda Mize also accompanied the group to Abilene as a sponsor.

Syndrome experienced by middle-aged couples

Statistics reveal that 50 percent of middle-aged couples with grown children experience it. No, it's not the vapors, gray hair or insomnia. "It" is the "empty nest" syndrome — the emotional experience a couple has when their children have left home for good.

All of a sudden, the house seems too big and too empty, the unused bedrooms too much trouble to maintain and the yard too large to care for. And the most logical solution to the dilemma is to move to a smaller house.

For those couples who feel as though they've been abandoned, the thought of moving to a new house — and leaving many fond memories behind — is unrealistic. But once they adjust to the idea, the move makes sense. And studies show that, chances are, they'll move no farther away than 10 miles from their former homes.

Moving to a new home can present an exciting challenge to today's liberated parents. Decorating the house gives both husband and wife the chance to work together and express their own personal creativity. And now that they don't have to worry about "child-proof" furniture, they can select items with more than just durability in mind.

One empty-nester couple, in High Point, N.C., recently made the move from a five-bedroom home with a den to a two-bedroom house sans den. They selected furniture from Riverside Furniture Corporation and added some personal decorating touches to give the rooms a homey, lived-in look.

During the years their children were growing up, the couple opted for a casual lifestyle to meet the demands of frequent overnight guests, innumerable instances of last-minute chauffeuring and evening meals that seldom found everyone in attendance — at the same time. As a result, they chose this same casual design-for-living in their new home, but with an added look of elegance to fit their new unincumbered status.

In the living room, the couple selected a bright print fabric for the sofa and loveseat to set the stage for a room that's inviting and comfortable for both themselves and their friends. Glass-top tables — impractical in a house with young children — give the room an open feeling. And a display cabinet in a dark finish was chosen to show-off items the couple had collected over the years.

For the dining room, the liberated parents installed parquet flooring to set-off a prized Indian rug, a treasure that had previously been rolled up and stored in the attic. And furniture pieces from Riverside's Continental Classics collection, highlighted with accents of brass, were chosen to create an elegant, yet still casual, dining atmosphere — one more appropriate for a relaxing dinner with friends than a neighborhood buffet for the kids.

The master bedroom was designed to be as bright and cheery as possible. Shades of yellow and green are evident everywhere — from the carpeting to the lamps to the bedspread and draperies. And a small seating area turns the room into a quiet retreat for reading.

After rearing a family for most of their adult lives, many couples do experience some withdrawal pains when their children leave the nest. But the loneliness does subside — often more quickly than expected — and today's emancipated couples are finding that life without the kids isn't so bad after all.

OK for sitters to snooze

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 15-year-old girl and I do a lot of babysitting. I wonder what you think about the baby sitter falling asleep after the kids are sleeping. — Sonja, Palm Springs, Calif.

Sonja: I think that if the parents are going to be out past 11 p.m., and the children are sleeping, the baby sitter should go to sleep if he or she so desires.

After all, the parents don't stay up all night watching their offspring.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 19 and need your advice. I moved to Windsor, Ontario, from Fredericton, New Brunswick. My move meant that I had to leave my girlfriend. We have been writing to each other for months and I had high hopes she would soon come to live here in Windsor.

About two weeks ago she wrote to me and said that she had fallen in love with another guy but that I could still write to her if I wanted to. Now I'm confused. Should I continue writing to her or should I leave her? — Martin, Windsor, Ontario

Martin: Stop writing to this girl. She was honest and told you she has fallen in love with someone else.

It seems to me you left her when you left Fredericton. Windsor is known for its lovely young ladies, so the next time that you meet your "Juliet," don't move away unless you take her along.

For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 25-cent stamped, large self-addressed envelope to Dr. R. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

Task force organized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 14-member task force has been appointed to study relationships between the National Endowment for the Arts and local community arts groups in the country. The group is to review the programmatic relationships between the endowment and local arts organizations and agencies and to recommend an overall endowment policy for community-based programs to the chairman of the endowment and the National Council on the Arts, the endowment's advisory body.

Don't Bring the Bride A Gift-Wrapped Burden

DEAR ABBY: I was disappointed in your advice to carry no wedding gifts to the reception. You said gifts should be sent to the bride's home before the wedding or to the couple's home afterwards so as not to be a problem for the bride's mother, who already had enough on her mind.

You also said it was a pain in the neck to have to haul a carload of wedding presents home. Boy, I should have had such a pain in the neck!

J. IN PASO ROBLES

DEAR J.: Although the mail has been running 2 to 1 in your favor and against me, here's one for my side:

DEAR ABBY: Let me add a loud "Amen" to your opinion that taking wedding gifts to the reception is very inconsiderate. I recently married off a daughter, and of the gifts that were brought to the reception, many mysteriously disappeared—having been either lost or stolen. Some were broken when I got them home, and many cards were lost and mixed up.

Abby, please keep repeating your advice to send the wedding gifts to the bride before the wedding, or to the couple afterward.

POST-MARITAL HEADACHE

DEAR ABBY: I was jogging the other morning and when I came to an intersection (not a particularly busy one) a passing motorist leaned out his window and yelled, "Hey, you jerk, get off the street! What are you trying to prove?" I ignored him and kept right on jogging.

Abby, this wasn't the first time I've been insulted by a hostile motorist. Other joggers tell me they've had the same experience.

What do you think motivates these people to put down joggers?

KEEPING FIT IN SAN MATEO

DEAR KEEPING: Jealousy, probably.

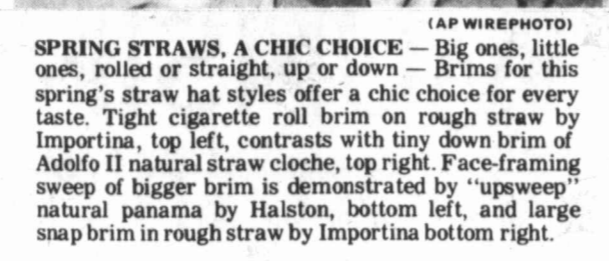

DEAR ABBY: On Valentine's Day the gentleman I've been dating gave me a bottle of perfume in my favorite fragrance. He also took me to dinner and presented me with a beautiful orchid corsage. Then he spoiled it all by handing me a $100 GIFT CERTIFICATE!

I tried not to show my shock and disappointment, but I still haven't been able to bring myself to cash it. Should I drop him?

INSULTED IN ELMHURST

DEAR INSULTED: I can't see any reason that you should be shocked, disappointed, or insulted. But if you decide to drop this gentleman, let me know where you drop him. I know several women in Elmhurst who would love to meet him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FAITHFUL FAN IN BREMER-TON, WASH.: Your character is what you ARE, your reputation is what people THINK you are, but once you get a reputation as an early riser you can sleep till noon.

Prison reform leaders hail action as tax saver

By JIM DAVIS
Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A group of minority legislators maneuvered plans for a new prison unit into a parliamentary blind alley Monday night and proclaimed a saving of $18 million for Texas taxpayers.

A proposal by Rep. Craig A. Washington knocks out at least temporarily — appropriations for new construction and directs the Texas Department of Corrections to purchase the Harris County Detention Facility at Humble for conversation into a prison.

Prison reform leaders immediately hailed the action as a move away from the traditional rural philosophy of the Texas prison system. They said the Harris County facility could be used as a pilot program for an urban work-release effort.

Washington, a black from Houston, got support from three Mexican-Americans and a Republican on the House Security and Sanctions Committee.

INCUMBENT REGIME CONTROLS GRENADA — Wellington Friday, minister of education of Grenada, faces questions from newsmen Tuesday in New York City. Friday, who was acting as a spokesman for Prime Minister Sir Eric Gairy, said he had reports from Grenada officials who insisted that they were still in control. The news conference was held after a group calling itself the new Revolutionary Government broadcast that it had taken over the island.

Steakhouse killings

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Work by the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation and the Oklahoma City Police Department led to the arrest Tuesday night in Chicago of Roger Dale Stafford, an OSBI spokesman said early Wednesday.

Stafford, 27, wanted in connection with the killings of six employees at the Sirolo Stocking in Oklahoma City in July and the slaying of the three-member Melvin Lorenz family of San Antonio, Texas, along Interstate 35 near Purcell in June, was arrested by Chicago police at a YMCA in Chicago at about 9 p.m.

Arthur Linville, an OSBI agent in charge of the mass murder task force, said law officers learned that Stafford had made a telephone call from Illinois and had information he was in the Chicago area.

OSBI Agent Phil Stinnett and Oklahoma City detective Bill Cook were in Tennessee tracking down leads when they heard about the development. They were flown to Chicago and were waiting there Tuesday night when Stafford was arrested, Linville said.

"We are extremely happy with the arrest," Linville said.

Stinnett and Cook had interviewed 68 persons in six states since Stafford was named Saturday as the prime suspect in the nine slayings, Linville said. Authorities believe Stafford's brother was also involved. He was killed in a motorcycle accident in Tulsa.

Military leaders spar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's top military and civilian leaders are sparring over whether to bring back the draft and let Uncle Sam call up as many as 100,000 recruits each year for mandatory training and standby duty. The dispute erupted Tuesday after a surprise call by Gen. Bernard W. Rogers, the Army's chief of staff, for immediately instituting a limited version of the draft.

Border war winds down

BANKOK, Thailand (AP) — Fighting in the Vietnam-China border war wound down today, intelligence officials in Bangkok reported, but the propaganda battle escalated with Vietnam accusing Chinese troops of butchering children and raping women.

Autobiography a success

MONTREAL (AP) — Margaret Trudeau's autobiography is a publishing blockbuster a month before it goes on sale and the prime minister's estranged wife is expected to make more than $1 million. Michael Baxendale, vice president of Optimum Publishing Co., said Tuesday.

He said his firm already has orders for "well over 20,000 copies" of the $12.95 hardcover version, four times the level considered by Canadian standards to be a best seller.

Followers commits suicide

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Mike Prokes, 31, the former TV reporter who spoke for Jim Jones during the halcyon days of the Peoples Temple, has followed his leader into death, shooting himself in the head moments after defending the Jonestown suicides at a news conference.

Prokes then walked out of a motel meeting room into an adjacent bathroom, witnesses said, and they heard a single shot ring out.

Washington made the proposal part of the committee's overall recommendation on the Department of Correction, Texas Youth Council and Jail Standards Commission, and that required only a majority of those present.

Opponents tried in vain to get the vote reconsidered, but Washington threatened to call a point of order on any appropriations proposal that did not include his proposal.

Washington's proposal had to join the five in supporting the entire proposal in order

Vandals slash tires, break pane with rocks

Vandals were busy in Big Spring again Tuesday.

Tim Davidson, 1501 A Sycamore, reported that four polyester tires had been slashed on his car while it was parked at the Shamrock Service Station, 1111 W. 4th. Damage was estimated at $160.

Vandals pumped BBs through a plate-glass window on the south side of a home belonging to Samuel Earls, 2801 Lawrence, 6:15 p.m. Tuesday. Damage was estimated at $200.

Rocks were thrown through the front window at the Virginia Sosa residence, Southland Apartments, sometime between 8:15 and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. Damage was estimated at $35. The victim believes she knows who the rock thrower was.

Deaths

Henry A. Hull

Henry A. Hull, a former resident of Howard County, died at 5:30 p.m., Monday in a retirement home in Hobbs, N.M.

Services will be at 2 p.m., Wednesday in the Griffin Funeral Home Chapel in Hobbs. Burial will occur in the Hobbs Cemetery beside the grave of his wife.

Mr. Hull was born in Rising Star, Tex. He moved to Howard County with his parents in 1906. He was married to Minnie Chancor in Coahoma Oct. 16, 1916.

They resided in Howard County for several years before moving to Lamesa where they made their home for over 20 years. He was a member of the Second Street Baptist Church, where he served as a deacon and a song leader.

Mrs. Hull and a daughter preceded him in death.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Don Swafford, Hobbs; a son, H.A. Hull, San Antonio; two brothers, Earl and Floyd Hull, both of the Big Spring area; a sister, Leona Baugh, Big Spring; six grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. Grandsons will serve as pallbearers.

R.J. Self

R. J. Self, 49, of Sweetwater died in the Big Spring VA Medical Center at 7 a.m., Tuesday following an extended illness.

Arrangements for services are being completed at the McCoy Funeral Home in Sweetwater.

Born Feb. 21, 1930, in Sweetwater, Mr. Self was a truck driver by profession and served in the Army during WW II. He attended public schools in Sweetwater.

Survivors include a daughter, Carol Self, Stanton; four sons, Ronald, Dennis, Randy and Monte, all of Odessa; his aunts, Mr. and Mrs. A.Q. Self, Sweetwater; two sisters, Mrs. Floyd Redden of Sweetwater and Fay Johnson of Snyder; and two brothers, Ray of San Antonio and Dean of Midland.

A brother, Charles, preceded him in death.

Four back behind bars in Dawson County Jail

LAMESA — Four inmates of the Dawson County Jail experienced short-lived freedom after enlisting the aid of a trusty to engineer an escape Monday.

All have been returned to their cells.

One of the escapees, Henry Barrera, 29, was recaptured about 11 p.m., Monday in Lamesa, only 30 minutes after jail officials discovered the break-out.

Barrera's three companions, Robert Calloway and James Mason, both 25, and Quincy Butler, 26, were apprehended Tuesday afternoon in Odessa by authorities there while a Dawson County deputy sheriff was en route to that city with pictures of the escapees, according to Dawson County Sheriff Bill Horton.

Dawson peace officers reasoned that Butler might try to contact relatives in Odessa.

Mason, who had earned trusty status, broke into the locked jail office and found the keys to the cell in which the other three prisoners were being held. Mason then hot-wired the electrical power system of the jail's elevator, according to Horton, and raised it from the ground floor to the fourth floor tank, freed the other men and they made their escape down a stairway.

Ninth inning error paves the way

Snyder races past Steers

Swift Richard Crayton scored in the top of the ninth on an error on a throw at third base to boost the Snyder Tigers past the Big Spring Steers by a score of 5-3.

Crayton led off the ninth inning with a double. The Tigers Mitch Mackey then laid down a bunt, with Steer hurler Ricky Myers throwing quickly toward third. Shortstop Kevin McLaughlin could not handle the hardball, with the ball rolling past him and allowing Crayton to score. Mackey was safe at first, and later scored an insurance run on a double by Scott Crenweige.

Snyder opened the game by scoring in the first inning. After one out, Crayton walked and proceeded to steal second. He then scored one out later on Mitch Mackey's single.

But Big Spring stormed back in its half of the first to score three runs off Snyder sophomore Tony Degrate. With one out, Ysa Rubio singled and David Manley walked. Myers then singled to drive in Ysa Rubio, before Tony Rubio doubled to send home Manley. Big Spring then attempted a squeeze, but the hitter missed the ball. The Steers escaped, however, as Myers missed the Snyder catcher to complete a successful steal and run the score to 3-1. But Big Spring could not bring Gomez home from third, and this would set a pattern for the remainder of the afternoon.

Snyder rallied for two runs in the third. Crayton, who scored three times in the contest, opened up the inning by walking and stealing second. Sid Everton singled home Crayton, then tied the score when Crenweige doubled to right center field.

The game was a stalemate until the ninth inning. Big Spring threatened three times in regulation but couldn't push across what would have been the winning run. Twice Steer sophomore Rusty Hayworth hit safely and advanced to third with only one out. But on each occasion the Bovines could not push Hayworth home.

Big Spring threatened again in the eighth inning. Myers walked to lead off the inning. He was then replaced by pinch-runner Rocky Torres. But disaster struck quickly, as Tommy Rodriguez missed a sacrifice bunt for a strikeout, with Torres being picked off first by alert Snyder catcher Bob Neves.

The loss dropped the Steers record to 6-3 on the year. Big Spring has one final encounter, against Lubbock Monterey, before they open district play at home next Tuesday versus Abilene.

NHL considering expansion

By The Associated Press

If the National Hockey League's Board of Governors follows through on its plan to meet at Chicago on March 22, it will offer membership to four teams from the World Hockey Association.

And if that takes place, the Canadian consumer will have won The Battle of the Bottle.

Last week, when the NHL's negative vote on expansion was announced, people in Winnipeg, Edmonton and Quebec City started boycotting the products of Molson's brewery.

Molson's owns the Montreal Canadiens, one of five NHL teams which helped kill expansion to WHA cities "once and for all" by voting against admission of Winnipeg, Edmonton, Quebec and New England.

At the Winnipeg Arena, where the WHA Jets play their home games, a Molson's plaque was torn off the wall. The brewing corporation, which sponsors the "Three Stars of the Game" awards, reportedly was informed it no longer was welcome to do so.

A Winnipeg paper ran, on its front page, a coupon which readers were asked to send to the seat of government in Ottawa, protesting restrictive trade practices by the NHL.

And people started returning their Molson's for refunds. Suddenly, Molson's announced it wanted the NHL to reopen the expansion talks. Speculators assume the Canadiens are under pressure to reconsider their negative vote.

Hardballers take NCAA playoff interest

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Ball players in spring training camps are following the NCAA basketball playoffs with the keen interest normally reserved for the stock market ticker, but none more avidly than the Yankees' Tommy John.

The rangy ex-Dodger with the bionic left arm has a legitimate rooting interest in the nation's No. 1 team, unbeaten Indiana State.

It's his alma mater. Terre Haute, Ind., is his home town. His parents, plus a rash of uncles, aunts and cousins all still live there. Indiana State's All-America star, Larry Bird, is a golfing companion and one of his closest friends.

"Larry is coming down to camp after the playoffs are over — I hope to goodness the Sycamores are in the finals," John said during a respite in the Yankee locker room. "He loves baseball. He's coming down to watch and we're going to play a little golf with Bob Toski."

Talk of the college basketball showdown was saturated the baseball training scene.

Pete Rose is upset because the Phillies' exhibition schedule may force him to miss the NCAA finals on TV. Almost everybody was shocked by the defeat of Duke and North Carolina at the hands of a couple of Eastern teams, one of them — of all things — from the Ivy League.

Who's going to win the big one — Notre Dame, UCLA, Michigan State, Indiana State?

"I still think the Atlantic Coast Conference plays the best basketball in the country," John said. "And there's not a better coach anywhere than Dean Smith at North Carolina. I don't understand it. They must have gotten overconfident. But don't count Indiana State out."

"A lot of people don't take them seriously. They've still got to prove themselves. So you can bet they're going to be fired up to the gills."

The newest of the Yankees' free agent millionaires, whose career was saved when a tendon from his right arm was sewn into a ruptured ligament in his left elbow, has been back home in Indiana since signing with the world champions last November. "Terre Haute never changes," he said. "There are the same number of people in town — about 70,000 — as when my father was growing up," he said. "What is different is the enthusiasm shown for this basketball team."

"It's a little ironic. For anything for the team. A friend of mine, an auto dealer named Bob McClelland, provided free cars and spent thousands of dollars to help the recruiting program."

"Now that Indiana State is No. 1 and has the best player in the country in Larry Bird, everybody's saying, 'Our team' and 'our man, Larry.' They jumped on the band wagon."

Umpire meeting tonight

The Big Spring Umpires Association will meet tonight at 6:30 at Family's Country Kitchen to discuss the upcoming baseball season. Anyone interested in umpiring is urged to attend.

NBA BASKETBALL

By The Associated Press

There is a method to Red Holzman's madness. With Kevin Loughery, it seems to be the other way around.

Holzman, coach of the New York Knicks, has torn his team apart and put it back together again this year, trying to reshape it into the kind of squad which won two National Basketball Association championships during his first tenure as coach.

For a while Tuesday night, Holzman couldn't convey his concept of organization to his Knicks. In the third period, the New Orleans Jazz, the worst team in the NBA, sliced New York's lead from 24 to six points. But when they did put it together in the fourth period, they ran off to a 104-91 victory.

Loughery, meanwhile, did what he does best as coach of the New Jersey Nets. He got two more technical fouls — that's 38 this season — ran onto the court to get at referee Bernie Fryer and got run out of yet another game.

And the Chicago Bulls, trailing by as many as 17 points, caught the Nets and beat them 105-102.

In the rest of the NBA it was Indiana 122, Detroit 120 in overtime; Portland 103, Atlanta 82; Washington 120, Los Angeles 111, and Phoenix 124, Cleveland 120.

Bulls 105, Nets 102
Artis Gilmore and Reggie Theus scored 18 points apiece and had the key baskets in the closing minutes that propelled the Bulls past New Jersey. With the Nets up 102-99, Gilmore stuffed in an alley-oop pass from Ollie Johnson, then Theus whirled 180 degrees and heaved in a rainbow shot to put Chicago on top to stay.

Pacers 122, Pistons 120
Guard Johnny Davis faked Detroit's Earl Tatum out of his socks and hit a desperation basket from the top of the key with one second left in overtime to give Indiana its victory. The Pacers, winning for the fourth straight time, were led by Ricky Sobers' 24 points. Davis finished with 23. M.L. Carr had 33 for Detroit.

Blazers 103, Hawks 82
Portland ran away from the Hawks late in the second period, built a 51-35 halftime lead and breezed to the victory that halted Atlanta's nine-game winning streak. Mychal Thompson's 19 points and Maurice Lucas' 16 led the Trail Blazers to their fifth victory in six games. Wayne Rollins scored 14 points for Atlanta.

Bullets 120, Lakers 111
Bob Dandridge scored 22 of his 30 points in the second half to carry Washington, the winningest team in the NBA, past the Lakers.

Los Angeles suffered its fourth straight setback and fell one game behind first-place Seattle in the Pacific Division. Adrian Dantley scored 28 points for the Lakers. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was held to 17 by Wes Unseld.

Suns 124, Cavaliers, 120
Walter Davis' 36 points and Paul Westphal's 32 helped Phoenix edge the Cavaliers, who got a career-high 41 points from Campy Russell.

The Suns led by a basket with less than half a minute to play but the Cavs had the ball with a chance to tie it — before Elmore Smith was called for traveling.

Farda resigns at C-City

COLORADO CITY — Mike Farda, head football coach and athletic director at Colorado City the past five years, resigned earlier in the week to take the same position at Moore High School in Moore, Oklahoma.

Farda's resignation, which is effective March 26, was accepted by the Colorado City school board. The resignation came after Farda had received an extension of two years on his present contract only last month.

CCISD Superintendent Charles Uselton said that until a new coach is hired that CCHS principal Jerry Reynolds would handle Farda's paper work, with the coaches on the staff handling the remaining coaching duties.

Moore High School, with an enrollment of 4,000 students, is believed to be the largest high school in Oklahoma. Farda's contract at Moore will be $18,785, plus a car and expenses.

Detroit gets Super Bowl

HONOLULU (AP) — The sun belt no longer holds exclusive possession of football's Super Bowl after the decision of National Football League owners to send their premier game to the Silverdome in Pontiac, Mich., on Jan. 24, 1982.

It came as no surprise that the 1981 game will be held in New Orleans on Jan. 25, marking the fifth time the Super Bowl has gone to the Louisiana city.

The owners awarded the Jan. 30, 1983 game to Pasadena's Rose Bowl in California, which also holds the 1980 contest next Jan. 20.

The league also gave strong support to Max Winter, president of the Minnesota Vikings, in his battle to gain improved stadium conditions.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle gave strong indications that Winter would be given permission to move the franchise if the situation "became intolerable."

SUPERBOWL IN 1982 — This is an aerial view of the Silverdome in Pontiac, Mich., home of the Detroit Lions. Tuesday, the National Football League owners voted to play Super Bowl XVI in the stadium on Jan. 24, 1982. It will be the first time that the event will be played in a Northern site. In 1981 it will be in New Orleans and in 1983, and 1980, Pasadena, Calif., at the Rose Bowl. This is a 1975 photo.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAR. 15, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent day to consider a joint venture with associates which could produce greater income in the days ahead. The use of tact and diplomacy is needed at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are now able to get the help of associates for a new plan you have in mind. Civic work can bring you added prestige.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) At this time you can comprehend exactly what your responsibilities are and how best to discharge them. Show that you are sensible.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Once you handle career work, you can engage creative activities you enjoy. Concentrate on the brighter side of life.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take steps to win the favor of a higher-up. Putting your business affairs on a more sound basis is wise now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Sitting down with allies and talking over how to expand in mutual activities is wise. Take no risks where your reputation is concerned.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Delve into financial affairs since you can add appreciably to present abundance at this time. Show others you have wisdom.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Spend as much time as you can in the company of good friends and express happiness. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get together with one you admire and you can accomplish much today. The data you need is readily available to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good day to be with congenials once you have completed important work. State your ambitions and what you intend to do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Delve into career affairs early in the day and get excellent results. Take a more positive attitude where money is concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Contact a newcomer who can assist you in getting ahead in your line of endeavor. Avoid a tendency to downgrade yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make those plans with your mate to expand in right direction and be happier together. Be sure to keep promises you've made.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one with a certain charm that attracts others and who will find life easier than most, but teach to stand on own two feet, otherwise the fine potential here could be lost. Happiness and success is indicated here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Aggies face Bama in NIT tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP) — C.M. Newton and his boys are tired. Lee Rose, on the other hand, is sick and tired. Newton is the coach of Alabama's basketball team, a tired Crimson Tide that was hoping for relief from the National Invitation Tournament but got, instead, an invitation to play one more game before next Monday's semifinals in New York's Madison Square Garden.

"We're very tired and obviously we would rather have gotten a bye," Newton said. "And our next choice would have been to play in Birmingham or Tuscaloosa."

Instead, in one of Thursday night's quarter-finals to whittle the NIT field to four teams, Alabama will play Texas A&M in Houston. In the other game, Old Dominion will play Purdue in West Lafayette, Ind.

Two other teams, Indiana and Ohio State, had their names picked out of a hat Tuesday and drew byes to the semifinals. They'll play each other after the winners of the quarter-finals face each other.

The idea that Indiana and Ohio State can sit back and relax for nearly a week doesn't sit well with Rose, Purdue's coach.

"Can someone please explain to me the advantages of being the Big Ten champion?" he muttered after the 15th-ranked Boilermakers, the only ranked team still in the NIT field, heard their fate.

Actually, Purdue shared the Big Ten title with Michigan State and Iowa, both of whom were invited to play in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament, while Purdue was passed over. "And now," Rose said, "the Big Ten's fourth- and fifth-place teams (Ohio State and Indiana) get byes and we don't."

The Boilermakers, an 84-70 second-round winner over Dayton, have to start thinking about Old Dominion, which edged Clemson 61-59 in double overtime Monday night. Apparently Rose doesn't know much about Purdue's next opposition, except that "I do know it's a run-and-gun ball club."

Purdue won its second-round game on the strength of center Joe Barry Carroll's 25 points. Alabama nosed out Virginia 90-88 thanks to Reginald "Mule" King's 43 points. In the other second-round games, Texas A&M turned back Nevada-Reno 67-64, Ohio State defeated Maryland 79-72 and Indiana beat Alcorn State 72-69.

Evert, Casals advance

BOSTON — Top-seeded Chris Evert scored a 6-2, 6-2 opening-round victory over Pam Teeguarden while fourth-seeded Wendy Turnbull took a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Diane Desfor in the second day of opening matches in a $150,000 women's tennis tournament.

In other matches, Rosie Casals defeated Jeanne Duval 6-3, 6-4; Australian Kerry Reid beat Renee Richards 6-2, 6-4; Linda Siegel scored a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Sandra Collins; Betsy Nagelsen defeated Pat Medrado of Brazil 6-7, 6-1, 6-1; Betty Stove of The Netherlands beat Anne Smith 6-4, 6-1, and Terry Holladay due to retire from her match with Sue Barker of Britain due to a cyst.

Malavasi in hospital

HONOLULU (AP) — Los Angeles Rams' Coach Ray Malavasi, suffering from the effects of high blood pressure, is expected to remain at St. Francis Hospital for a few days of observation.

Dr. David Fergusson said Tuesday that Malavasi, 48, had shown no signs of a heart attack.

Malavasi, who had heart bypass surgery in 1977, asked to be taken to the hospital Monday night after he felt dizzy and had difficulty breathing. The Rams coach was attending the National Football League's annual meetings here.

Sportswriter Hall of Fame to induct John Wayne

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — Movie star John Wayne will be inducted into the National Sports Writers and Sportscasters Hall of Fame next month at the group's annual meeting.

Wayne's son, Patrick, will accept the award for his ailing father, and comedian Bob Hope will preside over the ceremonies April 9, in Keppel Auditorium on the Catawba College campus.

Wayne is being honored because of his patriotism, contributions to the entertainment world and outstanding football career at the University of Southern California, according to Dr. Ed McKenzie of Salisbury, N.S.S.A. president.

The Hall of Fame was established in 1961. Two new categories were added in 1977 — for an individual team moment or event that has proved inspirational and for an individual who has made a significant contribution to sports, then gone on to outstanding achievements in other fields.

Wayne is the first inductee in the latter category because no winner was named last year.

Wayne was a star tackle at the University of Southern California, but was forced to drop out for financial reasons. The "Duke" then devoted his time to acting professionally.

CAREW'S HAPPY WITH HIT — Rod Carew, newest member of the California Angels, points down to center of the diamond with a happy grin as he shows his pleasure with ball he hit during spring training batting practice recently in Palm Springs, Calif. Carew will be playing first base for the Angels.

YOUNG IDEAS

By DICK YOUNG

TAMPA — They don't tell Polish jokes in the Reds' training camp. They sit around the clubhouse and press room and tell Pete Rose jokes. When a man is being hit with a paternity suit, it makes for real macho humor. There's a certain relief in knowing that it is happening to the other guy.

"I hear she sent out birth announcements: Pete and I are happy to announce..."

"That's not the half of it. On Mother's Day, she called up Pete's wife. She thought they should talk because they have something in common."

"I hear Pete was over in Fort Lauderdale the other day, making a commercial."

"Yeah, for Pampers."

YOU'RE IN THE FISH BOWL

And so it goes. When you're making $800,000 a year as a ball player, and maybe that much again from side-deals, you're right out there in front, living again the well-known fish bowl. Pete Rose can handle it, and don't worry about Karolyn Rose. She can take it better than he can. She's the original Charley Hustle.

As you may have heard, Pete Rose won't be playing for the Reds this year. They offered him only $475,000 to say, and shucks, who can get for that kind of money these days, Joel Youngblood?

$800,000 a year for four years landed Pete Rose in Philadelphia. Since then, he has been going on the Phil Donahue Show, and on 60 Minutes, and everything but To Tell the Truth, insisting that Dick Wagner didn't want him to play in Cincinnati any longer. There is more than a subtle suspicion that the Reds' front office felt the impending paternity-suit publicity wouldn't sit well with mid-American fandom.

"Consider the offer we made to Pete, I doubt we can be accused of not wanting him," said Dick Wagner, who still considers $475,000 sincere.

Dick Wagner has been running the Reds for one year now. In that time period, he has let Pete Rose get away, and has fired Sparky Anderson as manager. That is considerable to answer for to the Cincinnati fan. He has climbed far out on the limb. If the gamble fails, Dick Wagner could go next.

"In the first place," he says, "I didn't get rid of Pete Rose. He left us. As for Sparky, I wanted a change of leadership."

"Why?"

"Anybody who saw our club play the last two years needn't ask why," said Dick Wagner.

The unspoken charge is that Sparky Anderson had grown soft. We are so busy watching ballplayers grow complacent with success, that we may miss it in a manager. Sparky Anderson had won his division five of the first seven years he managed. Four of those five he won the playoffs, twice in a row the World Series — including the 1976 crunching of the Yankees in four. That is the Sparky Anderson we all remember and admire.

Dick Wagner remembers seeing the Reds of 1977 and '78. He sees fly balls dropping between outfielders. He sees men going from first to second on long singles. He sees runners peeling off on double plays instead of cutting down the pivotman. He sees men out at the plate for failing to slide, and shying away from walls in the outfield. To most of us, Pete Rose's hustle camouflaged the lack of it in others.

"No more Mr. Nice Guy," Sparky Anderson had said at the end of the losing season in '77. "I'm going to get tough."

He intended to, but he didn't. His gratitude toward the players who had done so much for him in earlier years was overwhelming. He could not crack down on them. He protected them, and of course they betrayed him.

"WE NEED AGGRESSIVE LEADERSHIP"

"We need aggressive leadership," says Dick Wagner, who replaced Sparky Anderson with John McNamara. McNamara whispers. He is a lovely man. I doubt that he has an enemy in the world. If you were asked to give one word to describe John McNamara, aggressive would occur to you 186th. Maybe.

"Aggressive is not whoopee talk," said Dick Wagner. "You can be aggressive without being an aggressive talker."

And so John McNamara takes over the Roseless Reds, and everyone asks him who will take Pete's place at third. There is a scramble among Ray Knight and Harry Spillman and Rick Auerback, or maybe they will move Dave Concepcion over from short and play a hot prospect named Ron Oester there, but I rather doubt that.

"The Number One problem is not third base," says John McNamara. "It is starting pitching."

But how much will you miss Pete Rose?

"I don't know. I never had the pleasure or privilege of having Pete Rose play for me."

HAS TIME TO TALK—Bud Summers, who operates the Forsan Conoco station, always enjoys talking to the folks, oilfield workers and townspeople, who stop in at his garage. The old telephone and typewriter here don't work, however, but they, along with the roll-top desk and several other items were brought by Summers from his childhood home in another state.

ALL TOGETHER—Today, the community of Forsan is an interrelation of oil, the residential community and the school system there. The water tower in the picture, located in the center of town along with the well (and many others) is painted with a supportive sign for the local high school, the Forsan Buffalos.

F O R S A N

OLD RIG—This old drilling rig, one of the original ones used by Fred Hyer, first driller to look for oil at Forsan, sits in a pasture near Forsan, its cable equipment showing a different method of drilling than is used today. The discovery of the well in the picture below, drilled by Hyer, possible with this rig on Nov. 9, 1925 on the land of H.R. Clay, started the oil boom which led to the development of the community. First named Four Sands, referring to a geological term describing the construction of the underground layers of earth, the community name became combined to its present form over the years. The pump jack on the well, while not the original one, dates to the approximate time period in which the well was dug. It is a gas operated model placed there (nonworking) by Conoco, which now has the oil lease, to preserve the site. The well hit pay dirt at 1508 feet down, and soon speculators began drilling and this prompted the discovery of the Permian Basin field, one of the richest oil repositories in the state. More than 300 million barrels of oil have been retrieved from the field since that first well was drilled in 1925. Looking at the drilling rig and pump jack is Leroy Dolan, senior maintenance operator with Conoco for 34 years.

Photos by Danny Valdes

ACTIVE, ON-GOING—The high school has a lot of pride in themselves and their community. This bus, photographed the day it returned from a contest in Midland, was outside the high school. The band had earned "sweepstakes," or a one (top rating) in both events at the contest, concert performance and sight reading.

On the light side Bard of Hazard Hill

BERLIN, Vt. (AP) - Some impromptu poetry brought quick relief from paving problems for an anonymous central Vermont motorist. Taking a cue from the Burma-Shave signs that once graced the nation's highways, the poet - identified only as "Need-A-Pave" - tacked this bit of doggerel on trees along ice-covered Vine Street in Berlin: "This is the bottom of Hazzard Hill, "Try and climb it if you will. "And if your wheels slide off the track, "Floor that sucker and don't look back." A short while later, a town highway truck appeared on the scene to sand and grade the roadway.

Nothing for something

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP) - And now, for those who appreciate the value of nothing: the Nothing Card. It is honored everywhere, comes with a lifetime guarantee, a portrait of Millard Fillmore and is good for absolutely nothing. "Take this card and enough cash into any store and you can buy whatever you want," says Bryan Sennett. Sennett, along with B.J. Clark and Jan Kieser, are founders of the Nothing Co., which is licensed to sell Nothing Cards. "We're a basic honest American corporation," said Ms. Clark. "We have nothing to offer." Millard Fillmore was a natural for the front, Ms. Clark explained. Besides being the only president to accomplish absolutely nothing, she said, "He even ran on the Know-Nothing ticket." Each card really is something: embossed with the owner's name, a space on the back for the owner's signature and a number that's all your own. But the card doesn't cost "nothing." The charge is $5.

San Diego soap opera

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The heralded pairing of Abe and Bouba has yet to produce the patter of little gorilla feet at San Diego Zoo. It seems Abe is suffering from a broken heart - and perhaps a swollen kisser. Abe, a 23-year-old lowland gorilla, was flown here last month from Cheyenne Mountain Zoological Park in Colorado Springs with the hope that he and Bouba, a barren 30-year-old San Diego Zoo veteran, would mate. Abe, however, was torn away from Bathsheba, his girlfriend of 20 years, and now spends his time staring forlornly into space. "There's no doubt about it, Abe loved Bathsheba," William Aragon, general curator of the Colorado zoo, said in a telephone interview Monday. Bathsheba is lonely, too, Aragon said. Meanwhile, at their first meeting last week, Bouba slugged Abe in the face and, according to Abe's keeper, Harold Mitchell, "he has given up the chase game entirely." "He's tired of playing games with Bouba, who is still acting cocky," Mitchell said, adding that Abe no longer pounds his chest and walks toward her with his head held high like he did at first. "Maybe Abe," who pretty much had the run of things in Colorado, "just doesn't know how to relate to a liberated female gorilla," offered zoo spokesman Jeff Jouett.

Oil pipeline to Texas abandoned by company

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The scrapping of a proposed $1 billion oil pipeline that would have stretched from California to Texas has been termed "tragic, most tragic," by the chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission. The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) announced Tuesday it is abandoning the project that would have pumped 500,000 barrels of Alaskan crude daily through Texas and into America's heartland. "We were counting on construction of the pipeline to allow Alaskan oil to enter the pipeline arteries of the United States," said Railroad Commission Chairman John Poerner. Sohio Chairman Alton W. Whitehouse made the announcement in Cleveland just one day after Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger told a Senate Energy Committee hearing in Washington that he believed the pipeline was needed by the nation. "The project-killing delays were endless government permit procedures, pending and threatened litigation, and the prospective unavailability of two natural gas lines which Sohio proposed to convert to the oil pipeline," said Whitehouse. Texas Gov. Bill Clements, who headed an oil exploration firm before his election, also bemoaned the decision. "This would have been a means by which we could have corrected the maldistribution problem on the West Coast in a highly efficient and cost effective way. It's a tragedy," he said. "I think that again we have a clear demonstration of excessive government interference and red tape with the result being that a project has now been abandoned that was very cost effective and certainly needed in the energy crisis that we are in now." Sohio has tried since 1974 to obtain federal, state and regional approval for more than 700 permits to build an oil tanker terminal, storage tanks and pipeline to move Alaskan oil from Long Beach, Calif., to a national pipeline distribution center in Midland. Whitehouse said regulatory delays and inflation eroded savings of 75 cents to $1 a barrel Sohio hoped to realize by using a regulatory system, rather than Brown was to blame for the delays. But Poerner laid the blame on foot dragging by the State of California and its governor. "It is most unfortunate that the state of California, especially the lack of enthusiasm on the part of the governor of California, has caused the company to abandon its plans," said Poerner. But a spokesman for Gov. Brown said the decision to cancel the project may have been based on more complex reasons than publicly stated. CITATION BY PUBLICATION THE STATE OF TEXAS TO: M. G. Farm

ALTON W. WHITEHOUSE

Repair bills raising tempers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the tractors that churned up the grassy Mall here last month are gone but tempers are still frayed as the bills for repairs and other costs come to light.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., normally a low-key advocate of many farm causes, reacted sharply Tuesday after hearing new official estimates that the month-long protests by American Agriculture demonstrators will cost taxpayers around $3.6 million.

Butch Neel of Windom,

Kan., speaking for the farmers who brought 1,950 farm vehicles here Feb. 5, flatly denied any blame for damage.

"If there is any blame, it must rest with Congress and the Carter administration for allowing agriculture in America to get into such a position" that the farmers must drive across country in tractors to dramatize financial problems, he said.

"You have hurt the cause of farmers," shot back Leahy.

The exchange was at a hearing of an Appropriations subcommittee, of which Leahy is chairman, that handles the District of Columbia budget. He had asked city and federal park officials to testify on costs of the demonstration.

Neel had asked to be allowed to rebut the damage figures, Leahy said.

Most police forces have returned to normal patrols now, even though a symbolic four dozen tractors are being allowed to remain parked on a street near the Capitol, the officials said.

Neel said that blaming the farmers for the damaged turf, destroyed benches and toppled trees and lampposts, after the police penned them in the area, was like inviting a guest to your home and locking the door.

"Then if he spills a drink on your couch, you not only suggest that he should pay for a complete set of new furniture but should pay for new carpets, having the house repainted, repairing the gutters ... and so forth," he said.

"That's a nice analogy that doesn't really fit this situation, does it, Mr. Neel?" Leahy interrupted.

When Leahy suggested that congressional hearings were a better forum to make their case, Neel said, "We didn't get enough attention (that way) last year" when only 40 or 50 tractors were brought.

"You must be aware of the kind of feedback we've had nationally. We've been inundated with criticism for our support of farmers generally. Do you think you've accomplished anything? ... I don't," Leahy said.

Neel said regular pedestrian traffic and mowers have done more damage to the 29 acres of grass than the tractors and suggested Leahy look at it. "I did, on Sunday, and I disagree with you," he replied.

Washington Mayor Marion Barry said the net cost to his agencies was $2.57 million even though total spending was twice that, not counting physical strain on police officers from a month of 12-hour, seven-day shifts.

The city can recover those costs from the federal government under the terms of its home-rule charter.

Farm Workers members meet with Gov. Clements

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — "Want to start another one?" Gov. Bill Clements asked members of the Texas Farm Workers who had recently completed a 600-mile march from Muleshoe.

"Want to march from here to California to see Governor (Jerry) Brown?" a high-spirited Clements said Tuesday as he circulated among about 15 farm workers in his reception area.

He was pointedly informed that Texas union members have indeed traveled, if not marched, to California to help with the United Farm Workers' lettuce strike.

Clements and five union representatives then retired for a private half-hour conversation, and they emerged apparently satisfied.

"We had a very good conversation and everyone, literally everyone, participated," the governor said. "I don't know of any work that is harder than agricultural work."

Union President Antonio Orendain said, "He (Clements) is friendly and positive to hear our problems."

Clements said the talk included topics he had discussed previously: "less than a fair wage, living conditions, undocumented workers and of course education for children."

He promised to visit House Speaker Bill Clayton to see if an agricultural labor bill has any chance of reaching the House floor.

The proposal to extend collective bargaining laws to farm workers is presently mired in the House Committee on Agriculture and Livestock.

Its chairman, Rep. Forrest Green of Corsicana, has said it has "an uphill battle to even get out of committee."

Clements said, "As governor I have very little control over one of those committees. ... I have said on other occasions that I am opposed to unions for agricultural workers in Texas. Nevertheless, I am sympathetic with the problem."

Orendain jokingly said marching was easier than his past two days of lobbying on behalf of the collective bargaining bill and another that would make workers' compensation insurance mandatory for farm workers.

Both proposals have failed in past legislative sessions. "I didn't come here to harvest a lot of promises but just to see the legislative session and what kind of governor we have," he said.

Feedlot cattle inventory down 1 percent this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Feedlot cattle inventories in major beef states totaled 8.21 million head on March 1, down 1 percent from a year ago, says the Agriculture Department.

Severe weather last month and the recent record high prices of lighter-weight feeder cattle have been factors in the slowdown, officials said.

The monthly report, issued Tuesday, covered seven states that normally supply about 75 percent of the nation's beef.

Placements of new cattle in feedlots last month were estimated at 1.31 million head, a 14 percent drop from February 1978, the report said.

Marketings of feedlot cattle last month were shown at 1.65 million head, a decline of 2 percent from a year earlier.

The report showed these states increased their March 1 feedlot inventories from a year ago:

Arizona, 428,000 head on March 1, up 16 percent from a year earlier; California, 646,000 and 12 percent; Colorado, 970,000 and 3 percent; and Nebraska, 1,670,000 and 2 percent.

Declines were reported in Iowa, 1,480,000 head on March 1, down 9 percent from a year earlier; Kansas, 1,290,000 and 3 percent; and Texas, 1,730,000 and 3 percent.
