BAYH'S WIFE SECCUMBS TO CANCER — Marvella Bayh, who turned her long personal battle against cancer into a national crusade, died Tuesday at the age of 46.

Marvella Bayh dies after eight-year fight

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Marvella Bayh, who accepted a futile fight against cancer as a way to leave a legacy of hope for millions, is dead at the age of 46.

Mrs. Bayh died Tuesday at the National Institutes of Health in suburban Maryland, with her husband of 26 years, Indiana Sen. Birch Bayh, at her side.

She was hailed by political and personal friends alike for her strength and determination in an eight-year battle against the disease.

"Her courage in facing her illness is a noble example of the triumph of the human spirit over the afflictions of the body," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a close friend of the Bayhs. "Her example will offer inspiration to millions of others who must face disease."

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., called Mrs. Bayh "a brilliant woman and a complete partner" for Bayh.

"Her personal courage and public witness in her fight against cancer were an inspiration to millions of Americans and will remain as her legacy," Lugar said.

Mrs. Bayh underwent a mastectomy in October 1971, and learned 14 months ago that the cancer had returned and was inoperable. She said living with the disease helped her to learn to cherish life, and to set her own priorities.

Since her mastectomy, Mrs. Bayh had devoted countless hours to American Cancer Society projects, supporting anti-cigarette crusades and promoting school programs to teach girls to examine their breasts for signs of the disease. Last month, she was awarded the society's Hubert H. Humphrey Inspiration Award.

She was unable to attend a White House ceremony to accept the honor, however. Instead, she was admitted to the hospital.

A memorial service is scheduled Friday at the Washington, D.C., Cathedral, followed by funeral services Saturday at Centenary Methodist Church in Terre Haute, Ind., said an aide to Bayh. Burial will be in Terre Haute.

Bill goes to Senate for debate

House passes billion-dollar budget

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — After a last-minute skirmish over abortion, the House has passed a $20.3 billion two-year state budget bill that defies Gov. Bill Clements' hold-the-line demands.

An 87-51 vote, with all but 23 House Republicans voting "no," sent the bill to the Senate, where that chamber's version of the bill has yet to reach the floor.

Clements wants $1 billion left over for property tax relief but the House bill — not counting $269 million earmarked to avoid scheduled local school tax increases — leaves only $261 million for tax relief or other expenditures.

The governor said he hopes the final budget is lower than the House bill, which tops his spending recommendation by some $500 million.

"There are many steps left in the appropriations process before a final budget bill is agreed on. I am disappointed that the House did not provide for more tax relief, but I am still hopeful the final conference committee report will be more realistic and will leave on the table sufficient funds for additional tax reduction in the range that I have recommended," Clements said in a statement.

Shortly before the final House vote, Rep. Clay Smothers, D-Dallas, tried to add a rider prohibiting expenditure of state money for abortions for women on welfare.

Needing a two-thirds vote, the rider failed, 79-43, with 12 present but not voting.

Smothers conceded the Texas Department of Human Resources still could spend federal money on welfare abortions within the restrictions of the

Carter trying for public support of SALT treaty

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter declared today that the United States will be able to tell whether the Russians are cheating on a new strategic arms limitation treaty from the moment it is signed.

Campaigning for support of the yet-to-be completed treaty, Carter told the American Newspaper Publishers Association in a prepared speech that the nation is faced with the choice of a possibly imperfect treaty or "a dark nightmare of unrestrained arms competition."

Appealing to the publishers to help explain the treaty to their readers, Carter's clear hope was that this will pay off in votes for ratification when the agreement is sealed and submitted to the Senate later in the year.

Once again, Carter described the treaty as nearly complete, an optimistic report he has made for several months. He gave no inkling what remains in the way of a final agreement.

But State Department officials said privately there would have to be at least one more, and possibly several, negotiating sessions between

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

They said not to expect an announcement of a final agreement before early next week, if that soon.

One issue known to be unresolved is whether the treaty would have to be wrapped up before Carter held a summit meeting with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev or whether they could leave some final details to be cleared away there.

Following the speech, possibly his most extensive defense of U.S. arms policy, Carter planned to attend a town meeting and a Democratic fund raiser in New Hampshire before flying home to the White House.

In his speech, Carter dealt directly with the issue of verification, which looms as possibly the most explosive aspect of debate over treaty ratification.

He insisted that the loss of two monitoring stations in Iran, which provided a ringside view of Soviet rocket launchings, deprived the United States of only one of many intelligence sources.

"We are concerned with that loss, but we must keep it in perspective," Carter said.

He said the stations, which were closed by Iran's revolutionary regime, helped mostly to check on the way the Soviets modernize their missiles — and on only a part of that process.

Photographic satellites and other systems enable the United States to look over the Russians' shoulders with great accuracy, Carter said.

"There is no question that any cheating which might affect our national security would be discovered in time for us to respond fully," he said.

Some critics of the treaty have questioned U.S. verification capabilities, particularly with the loss of the Iranian stations. They have seized on acknowledgements from within the administration that it will take some time to make up for what was lost in Iran.

Carter seemed to hedge at one point, saying he was confident no "significant" treaty violation could take place without U.S. detection.

But he also declared flatly: "The treaty must — and will be — verifiable from the day it is signed."

That confidence was the overriding theme of his speech.

Ticking off the advantages he claimed would result from a treaty limiting U.S. and Soviet strategic bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles, Carter said SALT II would bring:

— Significant reductions in Soviet strategic forces.

— Far greater certainty in U.S. defense planning.

— Flexibility to meet U.S. defense needs.

— A foundation for further controls on nuclear and conventional arms.

— Self-respect and the earned respect of the world for a United States committed to peace.

Without a treaty, he said, the Russians would be free of restraints and capable of an enormous weapons buildup and U.S. defense spending would have to rise sharply.

"Without SALT," Carter said, "the world would be forced to conclude that America had chosen confrontation rather than cooperation and peace."

Autopsy on former undercover drug agent

New York pathologist called to San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A New York pathologist has been called in to observe an autopsy on the body of former undercover federal drug agent Sante Bario, who died early Tuesday — more than four months after lapsing into a mysterious coma while in his jail cell.

Bexar County medical examiner Dr. Ruben Santos will perform the autopsy "late this week" on the once flamboyant agent who was charged last October with accepting a $9,000 bribe.

Bario, 42, died about 1:30 a.m. Tuesday. He was stricken Dec. 16 in the Bexar County jail, where he was being held in lieu of $500,000 bond.

It was originally believed Bario was poisoned after traces of strychnine were reportedly found in initial test. But Santos said later test uncovered only normal traces of a prescribed anti-depressant.

Tests on drinking cups and a partially-eaten peanut butter sandwich in Bario's individual cell also turned up no traces of poison, Santos said.

Gerald Goldstein, Bario's attorney, said both sides had agreed to use Dr. David M. Spain of the Brookdale Medical Center in Brooklyn as "an advisor and observer" to the autopsy.

The attorney had said Spain was called in by the Justice Department, but Justice Department spokesman Joe Gross in Washington said federal officials had not hired Spain for this job.

Spain said Tuesday he was approached about the autopsy by attorney Ben Veniste, a former assistant Watergate prosecutor and friend of the Bario family. Gross said the Justice Department would pay for some toxicology test Spain had performed earlier in the case.

"He (Spain) has the reputation of being one of the best," said Frank Castillon, chief medical investigator for Santos.

Castillon said the autopsy would be performed "late this week" and speculated it would probably be late Thursday or Friday.

Goldstein said, however, that he fears it is impossible for the autopsy to show the cause of death because the former drug agent lingered long enough in the coma for his body to metabolize any traces of what it contained Dec. 16.

"I would hope that it would show what happened," he said Tuesday. "Whatever it was, it would at least lay to rest everyone's worries and the anxiety the family has felt."

"Realistically, the consensus of the pathologists I've talked to is that he lived long enough for it to be unlikely they would find traces of anything," added Goldstein.

Goldstein has maintained in the past that his client was poisoned by one of many possible enemies, and said Tuesday he still feels it is "one of the real possibilities," despite negative tests.

"I don't buy the theory that he choked on a peanut butter sandwich and went into spectacular convulsions," he said. "I know the family also feels uneasy and uncomfortable about the whole thing."

Bario, a native of Italy who worked undercover for 14 years, was arrested last Oct. 7 at a downtown San Antonio hotel for allegedly taking the bribe from a Drug Enforcement Administration informant to overlook a cache of cocaine during a Mexico City raid by DEA agents a year ago.

Bario was a DEA group supervisor in Mexico City at the time of the raid. Bario was suspended from the DEA after his arrest and fired about a month later.

He was found on the floor of his individual cell in the jail's hospital ward where he was confined because he was taking prescribed medication.

Inmates told jailers that Bario collapsed after eating part of the sandwich.

Action / reaction: Abandoned signs

Q. How can old and abandoned signs leading into the city be removed?

A. The District Right of Way Section of the Texas Highway Department in Abilene is responsible for the process, under the Highway Beautification Act passed in LBJ's administration. Right-of-Way Appraiser Fred Stacy said owners are contacted and asked to declare signs abandoned. If they do the highway department removes the signs for free.

Many sign owners demand that the state buy signs with Beautification Act money, a long and drawn out process. The average sign costs $5,000 to $6,000. The federal government provides funds to pay $11.80 per square foot for them. Recently a sign was bought near Colorado City for $13,000.

Calendar: Classes for probationers

TODAY
Adult Basic Education class for county and district probationers begins at 7 p.m. in 118th District Courtroom. The class is designed to prepare probationers for GED testing.

THURSDAY
The Affirmative Action Committee will meet at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the Administration Building Testing Room at Howard College.

FRIDAY
The Wesley Methodist Men are having a pancake supper Friday from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Wesley Methodist Church, 12th and Owens. Cost is $2. Everyone is invited.

"Razzle Dazzle", a family magic show featuring veteran television magician Fred Story, begins at 7 p.m. at the Municipal Auditorium. Tickets are $2 per person at the door.

"How to Hang Wallcoverings" clinic to be given free of charge at the local Sherwin-Williams Center today at 6:30 p.m.

Tops on TV: 'You Can't Go Home Again'

A couple of ambitious, literary undertakings grace the small screen tonight. CBS will present "You Can't Go Home Again" at 8 o'clock with Chris Sarandon in the lead role. The story, which is based on Thomas Wolfe's monumental work, deals with a struggling young writer's romantic involvement with an older married woman. Also at 8 o'clock, PBS will present the last of this year's "The Shakespeare Plays." The play, "Henry VIII," is also the last written by the Bard. It features John Stride in the title role and Claire Bloom as his queen.

New law aimed at dogs, cats Wildcat scheduled in Howard County

MIDLAND -- Midland county commissioners have passed an ordinance which will require all dogs and cats in the county to be vaccinated once a year.

The ordinance is heavily supported by local health department officials and veterinarians.

No bond set

Michael Loya Hernandez, 803 S. Lancaster, was arrested on a revocation warrant Tuesday issued on a suspicion of burglary. No bond was set. He is in custody in county jail.

A wildcat has been scheduled for Howard County and confirmations reported in Howard and Glasscock counties.

Murphy H. Baxter, Midland, will drill the No. 1 J.J. Meador, an 8,200-foot wildcat in Howard County, 1 1/4 miles south and slightly west of the Vincent, South (Strawn oil) field, 1 1/2 miles northeast of the depleted O'Daniel (Canyon) field and four miles south of Vincent.

Location is 467 feet from the north and 1,667 feet from the west lines of 60-26-H&TC. The O'Daniel field produced at 8,005 feet and the Vincent, South field produces at 7,839 feet.

North American Royalties, Inc., Midland will drill the No. 1 A.R. Williams as an approximate 1,500-foot northeast outpost to the opener and lone producer in the Isaac (upper Pennsylvanian) field of Howard County, two miles north of Knott.

Location is 660 feet from the north and east lines of 11-34-2n-T&P. Contract depth is 11,000 feet.

The discovery, the firm's No. 1 T.W. Williams Estate, was finalized March 28 for 233 barrels of 47.4 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1,841-1, through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 9,266-304 feet.

Ike Lovelady, Inc., Midland, will drill the No. 2-28 Powell as a 3/4-mile southwest stepout to the current five-well Blalock Lake, South (Wolfcamp) field of Glasscock County, six miles northwest of Garden City.

Location is 660 feet from the north and east lines of 28-35-3s-T&P.

Contract depth is 8,400 feet.

Lifesaving course offered

The Big Spring YMCA will hold a lifesaving course beginning Saturday, from 7 a.m. to noon. This class will meet on three Saturdays.

After successful completion, the participants will have passed the YMCA Lifesaving requirements.

Cost for this class will be $10 for members and $15 for non-members. For more information contact the YMCA at 267-8234.

Habeas corpus hearing set

Robert Marquez, Sandra Gale Apartments No. 4, will appear in 118th District Court Thursday for a habeas corpus hearing.

Marquez contends that he should be released on bond from county jail. The state is contending that as a probationer, Marquez' bond should be denied. He has been in jail since the drug raid on his apartment Feb. 19.

Marquez also maintains that around $2,000 taken by police at the raid should be returned to him.

Annie Labrew is sentenced

Annie Bell Labrew, 1105 N. Gregg, entered a guilty plea in 118th District Court Tuesday to unlawful carrying of a concealed weapon inside Dickie's Club. She received a four-year probation sentence.

She was arrested in connection with a double slaying inside Dickie's Club Jan. 12. She indicted March 2 by a Howard County Grand Jury.

Pinball machine pays off for thugs

Big Spring Police spent a relatively slow Tuesday.

Thieves pried open a pinball machine at the Seven-Eleven Store at 11th and Settles, sometime between 3 and 5:15 p.m. Tuesday. The pinball wizards made off with only $70 worth of change, but did $700 worth of damage to the machine.

Denver L. Pettit, 2108 Johnson, found two very expensive violin bows belonging to him hidden under a tin sheet in the alley behind his home, Tuesday.

He then checked his garage, and found that two double-edged Masonic swords and a rifle scope had been stolen also. Loss was estimated at over $125.

NUCLEAR BAN -- Calif. Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. reflected his views Tuesday at the Capitol in Sacramento during an interview by ABC's "Good Morning America" program. During the interview Brown said the United States should permanently ban construction of nuclear power plants and concentrate instead on solar, wind and other alternative energy sources. He also said if he had the authority he would immediately shut down the Rancho Seco nuclear power plant near the California Capitol.

Nuclear accident rehearsal

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) -- About 500 military and civilian radiation experts ended a weeklong, $1.6 million rehearsal for handling a nuclear weapons accident at the Nevada Test Site, and officials said they may want to do it again in a few years.

"There were certain grins in the area of communication and control, but we learned a lot about teamwork," Lt. Col. Bill McGee, a Defense Nuclear Agency spokesman, said Tuesday. The test involved a simulated crash of a C-141 aircraft with six nuclear warheads and the use of low-level radium-223 to add realism. There were no reports of injuries or incidents and no measurable leaks of radiation, he said.

China cigarette sale begins

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) -- R.J. Reynolds Tobacco International Inc. will begin marketing 100-millimeter and 120-millimeter cigarettes in China, says Edward A. Horrigan Jr., the firm's chairman.

He said Tuesday the firm already has begun advertising Winston cigarettes on television in Canton and that advertising in the print media there will begin later this week. He said R.J. Reynolds soon will sell 100 millimeter Winston Super Length, 120 millimeter More regulars and 120 millimeter More menthols, marking the first time extra-length cigarettes have been available in China. Winston King Size cigarettes also will be sold under an agreement.

Three firms fined $10,000

FORKED RIVER, N.J. (AP) -- Three firms were fined $10,000 each for safety violations in connection with last month's fatal construction accident at the Forked River nuclear plant, officials said.

The citations attributed the March 12 accident in which one worker was killed and three others injured to an insufficient guy-wire system, a violation of federal safety standards, Harold Allendorf, district director for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, said Tuesday. No nuclear material was involved in the accident, officials said.

ADA wants ban extension

NEW YORK (AP) -- The American Diabetes Association has urged Congress to extend its moratorium expiring May 23 on the proposed federal ban on the artificial sweetener saccharin to give Congress more time to evaluate the situation.

The group, which represents 10 million diabetics in this country, said Tuesday that Congress should consider major revisions of food safety laws, urging that the laws be amended to allow the Food and Drug Administration to evaluate food additives such as saccharin on the basis of relative risks and benefits.

Feedgrain prices expected to rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Repeatedly stressing the uncertainty of predictions so early in the growing season, the Agriculture Department's forecasters expect only modest changes in soybean, food grain and feedgrain prices and supplies into 1980.

Feedgrain prices do have a good chance to rise next season, they said, if the weather is only slightly bad and if the pork and poultry markets continue their present expansion.

That's essentially what the Outlook and Situation Board has been saying all year. But Tuesday's formal update of current and 1979-80 supply and demand estimates did have some new wrinkles.

For one thing it placed increased emphasis on uncertainty. Sometimes twice a page, the forecasters noted that the weather is too unstable now for them to have a good feel for crop supplies, uses and prices.

Another new aspect was an improved outlook for the feedgrain market.

For example, a "sharper than expected expansion in pork production," along with more poultry to feed, caused the board to raise its estimate of corn going to feed this season by 100 million bushels.

That would mean 4.1

billion bushels of corn used for feed, compared to 3.71 billion in 1977-78. Depending on the new crop, which depends on the weather, animals could consume 3.9 billion to 4.4 billion bushels of a 1979-80 crop tentatively set at a range of 5.8 billion to 7 billion bushels.

Expanded hog and poultry production also means good movement of record soybean stocks, the board said.

It also raised by 25 million bushels its estimate of feed use of wheat this season, to 175 million. At the same time it hiked export projections by that amount, to almost 1.18 billion bushels. That will bring wheat stocks down to 951 million bushels in June after three years above 1 billion.

The board now expects feedgrain stocks at harvest this fall to total about 54 million metric tons, some 13 million above last fall but 3 million less than the last update foresaw.

Tentative planting intentions indicate the lowest feedgrain acreage since 1972 — 118 million acres — because of a shift to better-priced soybeans and sunflowers, the board said. And wet weather is delaying fieldwork, it noted.

Its best assessment now, it said, "suggests some reduction in supplies coupled with larger disappearance. Thus, stocks would likely decline, resulting in strong ... prices."

But for wheat, soybeans, rice and cotton, the board sees either surpluses or renewed large crops offsetting both the strong demand from foreign markets and any reduced production because of smaller plantings or weather problems.

High-priced beef: If you can't afford it, don't buy it

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland is suggesting that high-priced beef to a consumer is a little like a high-priced tractor to a farmer: "If you can't afford it, don't buy it."

But Bergland said Tuesday he is opposed to a planned consumer boycott of beef or "meatless days" to protest high prices.

"I think we who consume should buy what we can afford," he said. "There is no way to alleviate a shortage except by price."

Bergland told the annual meeting of the Newspaper Farm Writers of America that beef supplies will not increase until cattle producers finish rebuilding herds two or three years from now.

Until that happens, he said, prices will stay high and the limited amount of beef available will go to those with enough money to buy it.

The Agriculture Department's chief economist, Howard W. Hjort, told the group Monday that meat consumption in the first three months of the year apparently dropped by 1.5 pounds a person.

But consumers still are spending only 4.8 percent of their after-tax income on meat, the second smallest portion on record, so incomes must be keeping pace

Government condemns Iowa's pork products

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department officials say they have condemned or impounded 2.9 million pounds of pork products from a Marshalltown, Iowa, plant because they were contaminated by waste water.

About 100,000 pounds of contaminated fresh pork made it to retail markets, but department officials said it will be safe to eat if cooked well — to an internal temperature of 170 degrees.

Donald L. Houston, acting administrator of the Food Safety and Quality Service, said production resumed Monday at the Swift and Co. plant after Iowa officials declared its water supply safe.

No pork had left the plant since the bacteria contamination was noticed April 12. All products in the plant were impounded the next day.

About 1.1 million pounds of fresh pork caught at the plant will be disposed of under government supervision, along with 400,000 pounds that was recovered from supermarkets, said Houston.

An additional 1.3 million pounds of cured and processed pork was impounded because the ingredients included about 300,000 pounds of contaminated meat, he said. Portions of the cured and processed products subsequently found free of bacteria will be released for the market, he said.

Bill Dillman, a spokesman for Esmark, the Chicago holding company that owns Swift, said the firm had no comment except to point out that the Agriculture Department had said the company is cooperating and has allowed it to resume operations.

Two $5,000 bonds posted

Leslie Hyde Montgomery and Oren Lee Montgomery, Gatesville, were released on two $5,000 bonds Monday. They were arrested April 17 on suspicion of theft over $200. They were charged April 9 with check violations.

Hearing Test For Big Spring This Week

Free Electronic hearing tests will be given at Beltone Hearing Aid Office Thursday thru Friday 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Sat. 9-1 p.m.

Factory-trained hearing aid specialists will be at the Beltone office to perform the tests.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have a test using the latest electronic equipment to determine if his loss is one which may be helped. Some of the causes of hearing loss will be explained, and diagrams of how the ear works will be shown. Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out whether the latest methods of hearing correction can help them hear better.

The free hearing test will be given at the Beltone Hearing Aid Center, 606 Johnson, Big Spring, Texas.

The people haven't forgotten

Is Jimmy Carter an utter incompetent, a man with a great capability for shaping foreign policy but a dud in controlling the spin of the wheel at home or he is destined for greatness on a job which invariably tests the true mettle of the man who holds it? Or do any of the above apply?

The American people are still waiting for the distinguished man from Georgia to do something about banking the fires of inflation. With 1980 and the presidential elections looming ever nearer, many are getting a little impatient.

It is difficult for the average American to figure how Carter spends so much time trying to settle a back yard brawl in the Middle East and so little trying to put a governor on the coast of living at home. Serving as a peace maker in the Middle East may get him high marks in Stockholm but his inability to make his domestic program clear, if indeed he has one, costs him the support of the people who will decide how long his political career will last.

Mr. Carter has made numerous decisions that may have pleased some pressure groups but have disappointed even larger representations. Consider his decision to stump for the transfer of the Panama Canal to Panama. Many Americans never find it in their hearts to forgive him for that. The president thought it prudent to withdraw recognition of Taiwan and embrace Red China.

Americans have yet to learn what the accord in the Middle East will cost them but then they were never told how expensive Henry Kissinger's miracle accomplishments were to the United States treasury. Our State Department is prone to go public with just the type of information it reasons will be palatable.

WE WERE on the wrong side in the Iranian dispute but then we have a history for blundering in such situations. We had a chance to win over Fidel Castro when Fulgencio Batista was on the verge of being chased into exile only to lose him to Russia.

The government proudly announces that corporate profits last year were up 28 percent yet many people, especially those who have been retired a long time, are in a financial bind with no relief in sight. Does that kind of economics make sense?

Carter and the Congress give the public lip service but little comfort when they say that things are going to get better, when all the while the value of the dollar erodes.

Where is the Carter that promised to bring a new era for the 'little man' in America, who reassured the voters his formula for controlling inflation could work?

He may have forgotten those vows. The people haven't.

Historical event

Around the rim

Don Woods

"I'll just run to McDonald's," said a friend of mine recently. Carl Ginzell, son of Colorado City District Attorney Frank Ginzell, walked out of his office and looked across the park at the White House, its north lawn afire with activity. It was March 26.

Crossing Lafayette Park, he saw that T.V. crews were setting up to film an event there. Chairs and tables were being set up for the signing of the historic treaty meant to bind Egypt and Israel in peace.

CARL SAID it didn't dawn on him what was going on until he asked a girl watching the arrangements. After talking to her he decided to ask his boss if he could come back to watch the proceedings after lunch.

After a brief respite at McDonald's his boss gave him permission. He got back to the curb around 1 p.m.

"Hundreds watched from across Pennsylvania Avenue for a glimpse of the historic signing," reported Associated Press. "The ceremony was broadcast throughout the U.S. and back to the Middle East." Carl said police sectioned off a bunch of protesters in a corner of the park.

"Close to 100 protesters marched from Dupont Circle about a mile away to Lafayette Park across the street from the White House," according to the Associated Press.

Though spring had arrived, climatic conditions were still chilly.

Carl said that "Jimmy walked out with a delegation." Loudspeakers set up inside the fence blared the proceedings to the crowd on the other side of Pennsylvania Avenue.

"AFTERWARDS I WAS hanging around and I saw the limosines pulling away with celebrities in them," he said. Carl got the impression that a hand that waved to him was Jimmy's.

Ginzell works for Citizen's Choice, a government sponsored organization to inform citizens of ways to be involved in political action. He will spend a year as an intern before resuming his education at Southwest Texas State.

Reagan to center

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Movement by front-running Republican presidential hopeful Ronald Reagan toward the center has been confirmed by his effort — though unsuccessful — to hire the campaign management firm that defeated him for the 1976 nomination.

The spurned offer was made to the Washington-based firm of Bailey and Deardourff, which handled the finishing stages of Gerald Ford's victorious campaign against Reagan. John Deardourff (who broke into national politics as an aide to Nelson Rockefeller) and Doug Bailey are preeminent practitioners of moderate Republicanism.

Consequently, those conservatives who have heard about it were stunned by Reagan's move. They believe it confirms their worst fears that Reagan manager John Sears wants to run a non-ideological campaign not attuned to the issues.

SEARS CONTACTED the Bailey-Deardourff firm, and Reagan himself conferred with Bailey last month. But the firm informed Reagan, as it has other Republican presidential hopefuls, that it does not intend to take on a presidential campaign this time.

The reasons are twofold: first, Bailey and Deardourff would rather concentrate on interesting state races — especially Illinois, Pennsylvania and California — in 1980; second, no current presidential prospect — Reagan included — particularly appeals to them.

A footnote: The 1984 campaign might be another matter. Bailey-Deardourff has close contacts with several Republican governors — James Thompson of Illinois, Richard Thornburgh of Pennsylvania, Lamar Alexander of Tennessee — who might be ready to go national that year.

SALT AND TURKEY Turkey, the long-time U.S. ally that was denied U.S. military aid several years ago by Congress under the influence of the pro-Greek lobby, now holds a whiphand over the U.S. that is giving policy-makers the jitters and raising questions about the new strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT II).

WHEN AID was restored by President Carter, the Turks agreed to reopen highly important American bases, but only for a one-year test period. That year runs out in October.

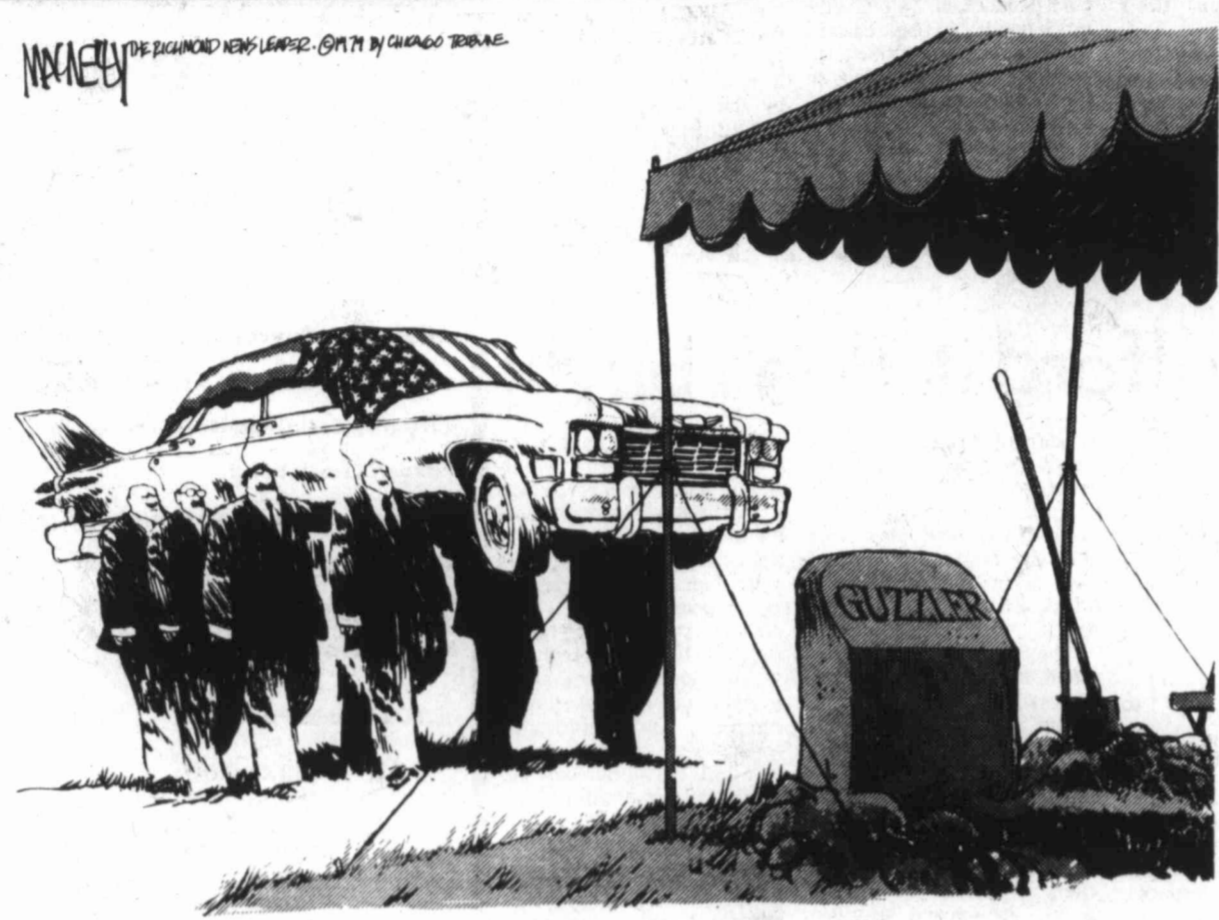

The problem is that, as a result of the Iranian revolution, the loss of U.S. monitoring stations in Iran that could monitor Soviet missile tests has made the Turkish bases infinitely more important than they used to be. Although the Turkish stations could never fully take the place of the now-closed monitoring stations in Iran to verify Soviet performance on SALT, they are far more important today than ever before.

The problem is that the pro-Greek lobby is still furious at Turkey for that country's refusal to make concessions on Cyprus that Greece demands. That means Congress retains the threat to reduce the new U.S. aid program, a threat the Turks take so seriously they will not promise that the American bases will stay open indefinitely. Without such assurance, the Carter administration is reluctant to spend the large sums needed to upgrade the bases.

CONNALLY'S LITTLE TRIUMPHS

While his foes insist he will soon self-destruct by peaking much too early in his run for the Republican presidential nomination, John B. Connally continues to pile up little triumphs. Two new examples:

He was given a highly unusual standing ovation after addressing the weekly breakfast meeting of an influential group of Republican House members.

Medical term allowed to die

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Is there such an ailment as catarrhal jaundice? If so, is it rare or common? What are the symptoms? Would it affect the chest and stomach? — V.S.

Some medical terms are born to die. Catarrhal jaundice is one. It came into use in the latter part of the 19th century and was still a respectable term as late as 1892 in the book, "Principles and Practice of Medicine," by the famous Sir William Osler. Until then it referred only to certain symptoms — inflammation of mucous membranes with drainage, along with yellowed skin.

When doctors got smarter they learned that the cause of the symptoms was liver infection (as in hepatitis). The old term "catarrhal jaundice" lost its meaning and "viral hepatitis" in its various forms replaced it. That's as far as I care to tread upon the ground of medical historians. You may still find some doctors who use terms such as "autumnal catarrh" (for hay fever) or "vernal catarrh" (for spring allergies).

Viral hepatitis is common. Jaundice, chills, fever, loss of appetite, weakness and aches are the usual symptoms. The virus infection damages the liver cells, leading to the digestive symptoms. The damage to the liver causes improper retention of bile, which is deposited in tissues (jaundice). It usually lasts a few weeks, after which the liver returns to normal and recovery occurs. This is the type of hepatitis that may occur in epidemics since it is contagious. The treatment is rest and a nourishing diet.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I would like to learn how to live with hardening of the valve of the heart that governs the outflow of blood. My doctor advises living as usual, stressing only an afternoon nap. Is there any diet one should follow? I exercise — keeping house and doing some chores outside. I am always busy with church and civic duties. I am 85 and am really fairly well except for deafness, for which I wear hearing aides. — M.L.B.

After age 70 some hardening, even calcification (calcium deposits), is common in the aortic valve. That is the one that governs the flow of blood from the heart to the aorta, the chief artery of the body. By itself this is no problem. The doctor just hears an extra sound when he listens over the area. No treatment is necessary, and you should continue as your doctor suggests. Staying active should add enjoyable years to your life.

For K.H. — "Paroxysmal ventricular tachycardia" means sudden, fast heart beats that originate in a lower chamber of the heart rather than in the upper chamber where they normally should. It is rare in normal hearts; if you have been told this is your problem, you should have a thorough examination. The rhythm disturbance is particularly dangerous in people who have serious heart disease, because it may lead to more dangerous rhythm problems.

You ask about medicine. If the heart is otherwise normal the rhythm is controlled by medicine like quinidine and propranolol. You should not have to be thumping yourself to restore proper rhythm — as you tell me you do. Have your doctor adjust your medicine to prevent attacks! It is dangerous to engage in self-diagnosis and even more so to self-prescribe. Thumping yourself is not the answer, although chest-thumping is used to restore rhythm in some emergencies.

Dear Dr. Ruble: My daughter, age 17, has pretty bad acne. She has begged me to buy a sunlamp, but I don't want to waste money on something that isn't going to help her. On the other hand, I don't want to deny her this if it is a good thing for her. Will it help? — Mrs. T.Z.

A sunlamp (ultraviolet) properly used might help acne. Rays from the sun seem to help, which is why many young girls see improvement in the summer. If you get a lamp for her, be sure you instruct her in its proper use and to observe the precautions that come with it. Youngsters easily fall into the "if a little helps a lot will help a lot" syndrome. The fact is that too much sun, from whatever source, can be worse than too little. The lamp should always be at least two feet from her, and exposures should be brief. If she has a doctor treating her, he can advise as to specific exposure times.

Acne is a terrible problem for anyone growing up. If you are afflicted with it, or have children who are, write to Dr. Ruble in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is at the same time vital to human life. For a copy of his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly," write to Dr. Ruble in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Many Christians claim to have seen God at work in many remarkable ways in healing the sick, while others make no such claims. What should our attitude be to this subject? — D.J.

DEAR D.J.: We must first of all acknowledge the reality of Christ's healing ministry during His time on earth. We know He did not heal every sick person He saw; at the pool of Bethesda, for example, there were many sick people, but Jesus healed only one (see John 5). The first apostles often healed in the name of Jesus, and there have been many times throughout the history of the church when Christians have continued to believe God healed on occasion.

I believe the Bible teaches us that we are to come to God in prayer when illness strikes. That does not mean we neglect medical help, however. God may choose to use a doctor's abilities to bring healing. But we must recognize that even when we pray in full faith, asking God for healing, it will not necessarily occur. Paul prayed three times that a "thorn in the flesh" would be taken from him — apparently some type of physical disability (see 2 Corinthians 12). But God did not take it away. He had something greater in mind for Paul. By his suffering, Paul came to trust God more.

Yes, God may bring healing, even in unexpected and unexplainable ways. But God is sovereign in all matters, and we must be content to allow Him to act in whatever way He knows will be right. God can be trusted to bring His perfect will to pass when we commit our way to Him.

Crackdown needed

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Three recent fires in adult boarding homes claimed 43 lives in Pennsylvania, Missouri and the District of Columbia. Federal investigators have told us the tragedies are only a foretaste of what could be a national scandal on a par with the revelations about nursing homes in the early 1970s.

The federal government will bear a major portion of the blame if the dangerous situation in these facilities goes uncorrected.

The homes have different bureaucratic names in different localities: "domiciliary care facilities" in New York, "shelter care facilities" in Illinois, "foster care homes" in Washington, D.C. But what most have in common is that they are profit-making institutions providing room and board with minimal supervision and nursing care.

THEY ALSO HAVE another, heart-breaking feature in common: residents of the boarding homes are the unwanted — the senile, the difficult, all those who have been cast off by their families and by society in general.

Most of the people in these minimum-care homes were the beneficiaries of the "deinstitutionalization" trend begun in the late 1960s. The goal, spurred by various court decisions, was laudable: Get senile and marginally maladjusted patients out of the expensive, dehumanizing world of mental hospitals and into society.

The release — some would say dumping — of these patients was given a dollars-and-cents incentive by the Supplemental Security Income Act of 1972. Under the act, no SSI payments are made to residents of state institutions. Deprived of this federal subsidy to ease the average cost of $25,339 a year per patient, the states released marginal patients with relief and enthusiasm.

But SSI payments are also cut when a recipient lives with a relative. So instead of providing a monetary incentive to take in a released relative, the federal government encouraged families to place their senile or difficult relatives in a group home, where much of their monthly SSI payment would be forthcoming.

These twin financial spurs by the federal government contributed heavily to the growth of profit-making boarding homes across the country. No one knows precisely how many of these loosely regulated homes exist because states are just beginning to license them. But analysts at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare conservatively estimate the number at more than 25,000.

The deinstitutionalization program succeeded in decreasing the number of patients in state mental hospitals; there were $266,879 fewer patients in 1977 than in 1969. But the still unanswered question is what kind of alternative the unwanted patients have been given. The stark truth is that no one seems to know.

Only 13 states have regulations for what they call "boarding homes"; 23 say they regulated "foster care" homes; 13 have rules for "personal care" homes, and 16 regulate adult "group" homes. Yet no one at HEW has bothered to find out whether the requirements for these variously designated facilities are either adequate or enforced.

Available evidence indicates a wide disparity in the regulations. One sample study done for HEW, for example, showed that Colorado allows up to six persons per room in adult homes. Maryland and the District of Columbia permit up to four. Only two per room, in contrast, are permitted under homes in the Housing and Urban Development Department's jurisdiction.

THE RESULT OF this slapdash regulation of boarding homes should have been predictable. Fire hazards, overcrowding, malnutrition and untended medical needs are often routine. Boarding homes have become a lucrative enterprise, but with no unified government regulation, the homes' operators are able to cut corners with impunity.

Congressional investigator Val Halamandaris, special counsel for Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., told our associate Tony Capaccio that the basic problem is that the adult boarding homes are "universal receptacles of the unwanted." The pitiful residents, for the most part, have no one who cares whether they live or die.

Footnote: The supreme irony in the boarding home situation is that the one weapon in the hands of federal regulators strikes not so much at the home operators as at the helpless, often elderly residents. The only sanction available to the feds under a 1976 law, when a home is found to be in violation of state standards, is to reduce SSI payments to individual residents of the home.

INSURANCE EXPOSE: The multimillion-dollar life insurance industry is in a swivet over a new book that accuses your traditionally friendly insurance agent of being a consummate ripoff artist. Entitled "The Life Insurance Conspiracy," the book, due out this week, is written by Peter Spielmann, Aaron Zelman, and the industry's most illustrious "bete noir," Dean Sharp. He is the former chief insurance sleuth for the late Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich.

A main target of the book is the industry's promotion of expensive "whole life" policies at a time when inflation makes "term insurance" a far more sensible purchase. The point is that the industry and particularly the agents make more money from whole-life policies.

The book offers do-it-yourself instruction on how to beat the "conspiracy" by converting to term insurance before the dollar's decline makes your traditional policies worth even less.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: The only thing that rings true in Tuesday's Mailbag letter by D.A. Brazel is the fact (and it's a fact) that "deficit spending is prohibited by the Constitution by the State of Texas."

Having attended the forum, Mr. (John) Massey did not take the position that the industrial park was a liability to the city, but rather that the $2,800,000 hangar is a present liability.

It is interesting to know that D.A. Brazel is a member, and has been a member of the board of equalization which each year evaluates property for tax purposes.

He states that it has been 21 years since property taxes have been re-evaluated and intimates an over-all reappraisal of property is a good idea.

All citizens should be aware that our taxes have increased steadily since 1958 as well as all charges for services rendered in the city and other governmental agencies the people cannot stand another tax raise. The government is big enough on a local, state and federal level.

I was under the impression that Mr. Brazel was a laborman. You cannot support labor and bigger government at the same time.

Mrs. Mays has been in office six years already. Our problems are not resolved and in my opinion we need new ideas. Let's vote for a change and vote for John Massey.

Tale of woe for speaker at seminar in Lubbock

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Charley Pope had a tale of woe to tell when he finally appeared as guest speaker at a seminar at the Lakeway resort 30 miles west of here. Pope, executive vice president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Lubbock, flew to Austin on Monday afternoon. He rented a car, but as soon as he got on the expressway, a wheel fell off. He got another rent car at the airport, but it caught fire before he pulled out of the parking lot. "Then I got lost," Pope admitted, ending up in Round Rock, 18 miles north of Austin. Finally at 2:30 a.m., eight and a half hours after leaving the Austin airport and 12 hours after leaving Lubbock, he reached the registration desk at Lakeway resort hotel. He was given a key to a room.

Three ex-jailers claim trusty mismanagement

SAN ANGELO — Three former employees of the Tom Green County jail here have charged that unsupervised inmates are allowed to roam in and out of the jail and have access to keys, drugs and knives in the jail. The three, all of whom worked as jailers, claim the trusty program is badly mismanaged and subject to the whim of supervisors. Tom Green County Sheriff Ernest Haynes was unavailable for comment before the charges were made. The charges were leveled by Walter Heinrichs, who was fired following the escape of a prisoner last Saturday; Al Kinney who worked as both a jailer and deputy; and Fred Brazier, who quit two months ago in a dispute about control over a trusty. Sheriff Haynes formerly resided in Big Spring. At one time, he was employed as a printer by the Big Spring Herald.

Training course offered officers in West Texas

A training course is being offered to all recruit law enforcement officers in the region by the Permian Basin Law Enforcement Academy. The Basic Recruit Training course begins May 7 and ends June 29. Students will receive extensive training covering all aspects of criminal law enforcement, investigation community relations, patrol procedures and emergency care of the injured in situations most often encountered by officers. Participating in the academy's last session, its 17th, were officers from Big Spring, Odessa, Midland, Pecos and Lamesa Police Departments and the Odessa Fire Department and Ector County Sheriff's Department. They will graduate April 27.

The school is funded by a Criminal Justice Division Grant through the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

Located at 310 North Colorado Street in Midland, the school follows standards set by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education. More information may be obtained by calling the school at area code 915, 683-5638.

Housing still needed for 90-member cast

The "Up With People" organization is still in need of housing for its 90-member cast which will arrive in Big Spring on May 6. The cast customarily stays with residents in each town in which it performs. This part of the learning experience offered by the group, and it is hoped that the experience will also be enlightening for those who open their homes to the young troupe. Those who house cast members will be required to provide morning meals and transportation. Tickets for the May 8 show will be provided free of charge for families who provide lodging for the cast.

Those interested should call the Big Spring Herald at 263-7331 to make arrangements.

New rains, snow in the North

Floodwaters wearing on people

By the Associated Press
The rampaging Red River, bolstered by new rains and even snow, climbed toward record heights as fatigued volunteers plugged leaky dikes and reinforced piled sandbags, eroding after eight days of severe flooding. "The wear on the people is a little visible, but morale is up and we'll fight for two more days," said Jay Graba, assistant flood control coordinator at Grand Forks, N.D., where the Red was now expected to crest at 49.5 feet on Thursday or Friday. Flood stage is 28 feet.

In Mississippi, flood waters from the Pearl River slackened and officials predicted some of the 4,000 persons who fled Columbia, Miss., might start returning home Thursday. The Army Corps of Engineers said the flooding in the Red River Valley that separates North Dakota and Minnesota will be the most expensive in the area's history. Preliminary damage estimates for North Dakota and Minnesota total $45.7 million, with 425,000 acres in North Dakota and 274,000 in Minnesota under water, the corps said. The East Grand Forks, Minn., area received 2 more inches of unneeded moisture Tuesday from a mixture of snow and rain. About 1,000 workers in East Grand Forks and its sister city, Grand Forks, N.D., built new dikes Tuesday and reinforced those that were sodden and giving way. Hundreds of volunteers remained on duty throughout the night, walking lonely patrols along the miles of dikes, searching for weak spots. Others remained in flood control centers, ready to respond if a break occurred. "There's a bunch of crabby people. They're overly tired and they're working hard, trying to save what they've got," said Jan Murray, an East Grand Forks liquor store owner doing a good business. The Red and its overflowing tributaries also were spreading out for miles in the flat Red River Valley, isolating farms and inundating scores of homes. Officials said East Grand Forks now has six miles of earth and sandbag dikes. Some 1,400 people, almost all in Grand Forks, have left their homes because of water 2 feet to 10 feet deep. In Columbia, Miss., Sue King, a civil defense worker said the Pearl River had dropped to 26.7 feet by Tuesday night, still almost 10 feet above flood stage but down from the Saturday crest of 27.8 feet. "No rain has fallen this evening," Mrs. King said. "It's pretty quiet around here." Elsewhere in the state, preparations were made for more flooding. At Greenville on the Mississippi River, a crest of 54.1 feet was predicted for Friday, 8 feet above flood stage. President Carter met Tuesday with Mississippi Gov. Cliff Finch to discuss federal relief efforts. The president urged Finch to "call me personally" if there were any snags in the flow of federal aid to the state.

Grace posts record first quarter sales, earnings

NEW YORK — W.R. Grace & Co. announced record earnings of $55.1 million on sales of $1.1 billion for the first quarter of 1979. Grace, an international chemical company with interests in related natural resource activities and selected consumer services, increased net income 56.2 percent and sales 14.5 percent, which boosted results to the highest level in any first quarter of the company's 125-year history. Sales for the first quarter ending March 31, 1979 were $1,140,209,000, compared to $995,670,000 for the first quarter last year, an increase of 14.5 percent. Net income rose 56.2 percent to $55,071,000, versus $35,255,000 for 1978 period which was restated for pooling of interests and for the effect of the adoption of Financial Accounting Standard No. 19 for reporting results of oil and gas producing operations. Earnings per common share were $1.30 compared to 86 cents last year, an increase of 51.2 percent. Both net income and earnings per share for 1979 reflected the inclusion of an after-tax gain on divestments of $17,053,000, principally resulting from the sale of Grace's 23 percent interest in Voyager Petroleum Ltd., a Canadian oil and gas producer. The 1978 figure included a net gain on divestment activity of $1,081,000. In addition, the first quarters of 1979 and 1978 had favorable effects from foreign currency translation (FAS No. 8) of $3,793,000 and $2,827,000, respectively. Excluding these non-operating factors, earnings would have been $34,225,000 in 1979 versus $31,347,000 last year, an increase of 9.2 percent. On a comparable basis, earnings per share would have been 80 cents against 76 cents last year. Grace, an international chemical company with related natural resources activities and selected consumer services, operates an agricultural chemicals plant on IS 20 East in Big Spring.

Don't count whooper eggs before they hatch

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Officials at the San Antonio Zoo aren't counting their whooping cranes before they hatch, especially after a rare chick died Thursday immediately after hatching. One of the rare eggs being tended by bantam jungle fowl hens hatched Thursday morning, but the chick died just after it poked its beak through the shell, David McKelvey, senior aviculturist at the zoo, reported Friday. Two other fertile eggs are still being tended by the foster mothers, while two have been sent to the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center in Laurel, Md., for incubation, McKelvey said. The avocado-sized eggs are from Ektu and Crip, the only two of the rare whooping cranes in a public zoo.

JERRY LEE LEWIS RINGO STARR

Ringo undergoes surgery

LONDON (AP) — Ex-Beatle Ringo Starr says he nearly died when he collapsed in his Monte Carlo home two weeks ago and later underwent surgery to remove part of his intestines.

"I had a good look at death in the face. I was convinced this was it," Starr, 38, said in an interview published in Wednesday editions of the Sun.

"It all went back to when I had peritonitis (inflammation of abdominal membrane that causes severe internal pain and fever) as a child. Suddenly everything twisted up inside me," Starr said in the interview at his London home.

"I was told that another minute or two and it was nearly curtains," he said of his collapse.

Default judgment entered

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A federal judge has entered a default judgment against Jerry Lee Lewis in a suit filed by a former member of the entertainer's band who was wounded at Lewis' home in 1976.

In a written order issued Tuesday, Judge Robert McRae Jr. of U.S. District Court said a hearing will be scheduled to determine the amount of damages Lewis must pay Norman Owens, a former guitar player for Lewis.

Owens and his wife, Jacqueline, sued Lewis and his wife, Jaren Elizabeth, in September 1977 for $400,000 in damages. Owens was shot in the chest at Lewis' Collierville, Tenn., home.

Brooke not talking of bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former senator Edward Brooke, R-Mass., says it's "too soon for vice presidential speculation," but he's not discounting a bid for some other unspecified office.

Meanwhile, the New York Daily News said in today's editions that Brooke, 59, would soon marry Ann Fleming, 29, daughter of the mayor of St. Martin, the French island in the Caribbean. Brooke could not be immediately reached for comment on the report.

Brooke, defeated in his try for a third term last fall, appeared before a Senate banking subcommittee Tuesday to ask for an increase in the budget allotment or federal housing subsidies. Brooke chairs the National Low Income Housing Coalition.

Ford at Air Force Academy

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Former President Gerald Ford has been sharing his perspectives on the Middle East, arms control and other issues during a two-day visit to the U.S. Air Force Academy.

Ford lectured at some classes during the visit, his first teaching stint at one of the nation's military academies. He told his hosts Tuesday that he has lectured at 50 colleges since leaving the White House in 1976.

Senators reject bilingual order

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — within a grade level who need it.

Senators have refused to order an additional two years of bilingual instruction that the State Board of Education also has rejected.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, says he will try to switch two votes and ask the Senate to reconsider his bill that failed Tuesday to get enough support to merit floor debate.

"The whole purpose of the program is to help children stay in school, become fluent in English and do good in school," said Truan.

"We're not mandating something," he added. "The local school district still would identify the children who need the program."

The sponsor needed 21 votes to bring up the bill, but senators voted 19-12.

Local schools must provide access to bilingual instruction in kindergarten through the third grade if there are at least 20 children

Truan wants bilingual classes added to the fourth and fifth grades. The State Board of Education refused to extend the program in November.

Opponents argued that more bilingual instruction could hurt children.

"I have a lot of sympathy with bilingual education through the third grade, but it's a crime to carry it any further," said Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan.

"Educators tell me they can learn it in four years, from kindergarten to third grade."

Truan's bill would cost the state an additional $2 million in 1980 and $2.5 million in 1981. In addition to extending bilingual instruction, it would authorize schools to offer English improvement courses to Spanish-speaking pupils in the sixth to 12th grades.

Opening of Medicine Shoppe lures crowds

The word is official, coming as it has from the St. Louis headquarters of the franchised Medicine Shoppe — the grand opening of the local store, located at Tenth and Gregg Streets, attracted bigger crowds than any such facility in history.

Owner Clint Holloman said the turnout not only was stellar Monday but the public continued to explore the building Tuesday.

There are now a total of 360 Medicine Shoppes throughout the country and the number is growing.

Clint and his wife, Mary, decided upon Big Spring as a location for their store after visiting communities all over the Southwest, including some in Arizona.

They first scouted possible sites along Birdwell Lane near FM 700 before making a final selection.

"We are sold on the town," Holloman said this morning. "Everyone has been so nice. The Chamber of Commerce has been very cooperative. We are very happy with the reception we've been given."

RIDING TO HELP THE HANDICAPPED — Youngsters in the community of Garden City take part in a bike-a-thon, held recently to raise funds for the fight against cystic fibrosis. Among the bike riders pictured are Heath Burns, Ryan Frerich, Ed Wayne Cypert, Jim Lee, Todd Schafer, Billy Kelso. Stephanie Frerich, Marshall Lister, Debbie Bednar and Joe Hamilton. In all, 25 riders set out to raise money in the campaign.

HISTORICALLY SIGNIFICANT — Gary and Debra Anstice examine a historical marker which has been placed in front of the Glasscock County courthouse. The county was named for George W. Glasscock, who died in 1868. Glasscock was once a flatboating partner of Abraham Lincoln in Illinois. Glasscock is one of the most thinly populated counties in the state of Texas.

COMMUNITY GROCERY STORE — Sooner or later, Mr. and Mrs. B.W. Thomason see almost everyone in Glasscock County because they run the City Grocery Store in Garden City. The school kids at Garden City especially find this a good place to hang out. Mr. and Mrs. Thomason are pictured at the right.

ONE OF TWO IN STATE — W.J. Livingston (left), a member of the Glasscock County school board, is shown conferring with George Smith, who is helping put the finishing touches on a new $100,000 track at Garden City High School. The track, which provides a suitable cushion for runners, is one of two such tracks in the state. The other has been built at Wichita Falls. The surface is 80 per cent rubber and 20 per cent asphalt.

NONE QUITE LIKE IT — Garden City, a small ranching community which lies an estimated 27 miles southwest of Big Spring, is regarded by some as the gateway to the Big Bend recreational area. The Texas Historical Commission has seen fit to locate several historical markers within the corporate limits.

PROUD OF THEIR ATHLETIC TEAMS — The Glasscock County school district's class of 1966 erected this sign near the Garden City schools, which reflects the pride the entire community has in its athletic teams. Garden City has always been representative in football and basketball and is now stressing track and field as never before.

Gasoline shortage worse?

WASHINGTON (AP) — An anticipated summer gasoline shortage may be made worse deliberately to keep heating oil flowing to homes next winter, says Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

Schlesinger said the administration may soon have to take steps to see that crude oil normally destined for refining into gasoline is used to make home heating oil instead.

Meanwhile, an administration proposal to give the president standby authority to save fuel by ordering weekend closings of gasoline stations has been turned down by an important House committee.

Schlesinger was scheduled to appear today before a House-Senate Economic subcommittee chaired by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to defend the president's recent decision to lift price controls on domestically produced oil.

Other witnesses called included Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers; Alice Rivlin, director of the Congressional Budget Office; and several private economists.

Kennedy said today's hearing would "look at the whole range of direct and indirect economic impacts of oil decontrol" and "how any revenue collected through a windfall profits tax, if it is enacted, will be used."

Carter has proposed using some of the money from his proposed tax to help low-income people pay heating bills. But Schlesinger said Tuesday specifics of the plan have yet to be worked out.

The steps to ensure an adequate supply of heating oil will begin with "polite conversations" with oil companies but could end up with orders to refineries to produce less gasoline and more heating oil, Schlesinger said Tuesday.

Because of the nearly threemonth loss of Iranian oil, home heating oil supplies are now at critically low levels, Schlesinger said.

"The message is clear," he said. "We are not going into next winter's heating season with the risk that homes that need oil for heat will be short."

Testifying before the House Commerce energy and power subcommittee, Schlesinger said that although decontrol is needed to ease potential long range oil shortages, it won't do anything to avoid possible heating oil shortages next winter.

Sears boycotts government

CHICAGO (AP) — Sears, Roebuck and Co., the nation's largest retailer, says it will accept no further federal contracts because of a "campaign of harassment" by federal investigators over Sears' hiring practices.

Company chairman Edward R. Telling said Tuesday that Sears will honor existing government contracts but will not bid upon or accept contracts "for an indefinite time, beginning immediately." The company's dealings with the government amount to about .1 percent of its annual business — $20 million of $17.2 billion in sales.

Telling said Sears was taking the action because the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs had started what he said appears to be "a campaign of harassment, subterfuge or retaliation." Companies that bid on government contracts must comply with federal civil rights and affirmative action laws and regulations.

In January, Sears sued 10 federal agencies, including the contract compliance agency, to resolve what it described as conflicting laws and regulations restricting jobs and promotions for minorities and women.

"After 15 months of silence, but within weeks after our suit was filed, the OFCCP suddenly decided to 'field test' the company's model affirmative action compliance plan," Telling said. "Last month, the OFCCP told us it intends to conduct almost as many on-site reviews in the next two months as it conducted in all of 1978."

Burning Over Club Rejection

DEAR ABBY: My husband has told me that he wants to be cremated. Then his last wish is to have his ashes scattered over the local country club where he was turned down for membership three times. (He never did make it, so he joined another club.)

I told him I thought he was foolish to want his ashes scattered over a club that wouldn't accept him as a member, but he insists that this is the way he wants it and nobody is going to talk him out of it.

What do you think of his idea?

BETTER HALF

DEAR HALF: Permission is required to scatter one's ashes on private property, so tell your persistent husband that he probably won't have any better luck crashing that club after he makes an ash of himself than before.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the 8-year-old girl who wanted a bra even though she didn't have anything to put in it reminded me of the following anecdote:

I was shopping in a large department store with my 12-year-old daughter and my 76-year-old grandmother whom we call Bubby.

My daughter dragged me over to look at some bras, although she didn't need one yet.

Bubby wanted to know what we were looking at, so my daughter told her she wanted a training bra.

Bubby asked, "What are you training your breasts to do?"

Without blinking an eye, her great-granddaughter replied "To grow!" Bubby bought her the bra, thus closing a gap that spanned four generations!

NEWSDAY READER

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I will be going on our vacation soon. After much persuasion, we agreed to let our two sons, 17 and 19, stay home and "bach it."

We just learned they're planning to invite about 10 couples to a party at our house while we're gone.

We firmly told them that they could have the party only if an aunt and uncle chaperoned it. The boys didn't like that idea, and suggested instead that a newly-married couple of their acquaintance be the chaperones. (This couple is about the age of our elder son.) My husband promptly vetoed that suggestion. We then gave the boys a choice of postponing the party until we return, have the party before we go, or having the aunt and uncle chaperone it. Well, their noses have been out of joint ever since.

Abby, my husband and I have looked forward to a well-earned vacation. We would not feel at ease unless we were reasonably certain that everything was all right at home. Do you think we are being fair in our demands?

MOM AND POP

DEAR M AND P.: Yes. And hooray for you and for all other parents who insist on having a clean-cut understanding of what their children may and may not do in their absence.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Piano students audition

A number of Big Spring piano students are participating in the National Piano Playing Auditions, sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

Pupils from the class of Mrs. Brenda Bedell auditioning Monday morning were Sharla Bailey, Lisa Dixon, Carol Davey, Debbie Lee, and Lisa Stabeno.

Mrs. Emilee Beckham's students who played Tuesday are Michelle Dorton, a district winner with five pieces; Rebecca Read, Connie Grisham and Stacy Swan who all are national winners with 10 pieces.

Students from the studio of Ann Gibson Houser that will play in the auditions today and Saturday are Clark Johnson, Kay Pollard, Kyna Kerby, Holly Parham, Deanna LaFond, and Dawn Estes.

Others participating are Louise Shive, Elise Wheat, Deborah Hamill, Dawn

Thoughts on Interracial dating

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Julie, a college freshman at Sacramento (Calif.) State, comes from Fullerton, Calif., and she has a problem. She is white and her boyfriend is black.

Willie Padgett, 18, who lives in Elyria, Ohio, and Glenda Counts, 18, who hails from Gadsden, Ala., will add their thoughts to mine. Welcome to all three teens.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a freshman at Sacramento State which is about 400 miles from my home in Fullerton.

My parents are planning to visit me in two weeks to see me and to meet my new boyfriend. It so happens that Jason is black and I'm white and naturally I have not told my parents.

On campus we are totally accepted and there is no friction because of our interracial dating.

My question is this: Should I tell my parents before they come to visit that Jason is black, or should I wait until they arrive and just introduce him as my boyfriend? — Julie Julie: I'm leaving myself open for criticism no matter how I answer your question. But — I would call them and share with them that Jason is black. That way, if they still decide to come, the visit won't be ruined and you won't be thrust into an emotional situation.

Hi Julie: I don't know if Dr. Wallace knows this, but I am black. I've always dated black girls so I don't have experience in interracial matters.

But to give thought to your "problem," if the situation were to be reversed, I would tell my parents before they traveled 400 miles that my girlfriend was white.

That way your problem is now gone and it belongs to your parents and they are the ones who have to make decisions. — The best, Willie

Natorium dedication Sunday

The Garrett Natatorium, an enclosed, therapeutic swimming pool for Big Spring State Hospital patients, will be dedicated in a ceremony Sunday at 2 p.m. on the natatorium patio.

Jack Y. Smith, chairman of the Capital Improvements Committee of the Volunteer Services Council responsible for raising funds to construct the pool, will present the presentation to Grace Renee Ferguson, M.D., M.P.H., Big Spring State Hospital superintendent, who will cut the ribbon to officially open the natatorium. Lee Butler, Th.D., chaplain of BSSH will close the ceremony with a dedication prayer. Masters of ceremony will be Curt Mullins, past-chairman of the Council and W.A. "Dub" Moore, Jr., current Council chairman.

Following a tour of the building, a reception will be held in the Tollett All-Faith Chapel hosted by volunteers under the direction of Mattie Watson, second vice-chairman of the VSC.

The dedication of the Garrett Natatorium marks the end of a volunteer endeavor to raise funds for the construction of the pool which began in 1974. Added to the individual donations from area volunteers, interested citizens, BSSH staff and patients, were grants from Levi Strauss Foundation and Dora Roberts Foundation.

Constructed by Chaparral Contractors, Inc. of Big Spring, the heated pool can be used year-round for various forms of water therapy as well as for recreation. Operation of the programs will be under the supervision of A.L. Gatewood, director of Rehabilitation Services.

The name was selected to honor the family of the late Horace Garrett for their numerous contributions through the Dora Roberts Foundation to Big Spring State Hospital and the community.

The public is invited to attend the dedication and reception. The natatorium is located on the north side of the BSSH campus, three blocks west of Highway 87.

Family reunion held at Sugarland

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Horn and six of their seven children met in Sugarland at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Mohn, 1310 Ashwood, over the weekend for a family reunion.

This was the first reunion of the family since 1974, when 28 came home for Christmas.

Two new additions to the family present were Wrylon Franchesca Horn, new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horn and Shawn Paul Pardue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pardue.

Leslie Marie Irwin is a third new grandchild born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Irwin of Alexandria, Ind. The Horns will visit her later in the summer.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, APR. 26, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you can get the rights results by being practical and down-to-earth in handling business matters. Make plans to have more stability and security in the days ahead.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study just where you are going in your career and make improvements to plans where needed. Follow the advice of a money expert.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get conditions around you improved and there will be smooth sailing in the future. Evening is fine for social enjoyment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be alert to opportunities in which you can advance in your line of endeavor. You can make a fine impression on others now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) This is not the time to become involved in a new interest. Sidestep one who could lead you in the wrong direction.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Think carefully before you handle a public matter and avoid a possible mistake. Go after your aims and get excellent results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have many fine ideas but you must select the best of these if you want the future to be brighter. Don't neglect health.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Attend to unfinished duties early in the day. Put your mind to work and accomplish more. Do something thoughtful for loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Now you can comprehend better what associates are thinking, so listen to their comments carefully. Let your talents be known.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make sure your business affairs are in good order. Follow through on plans made and have fine time with congenials today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study your home and make plans for improvement, but don't be hasty. Forget a new interest which is not really good for you.

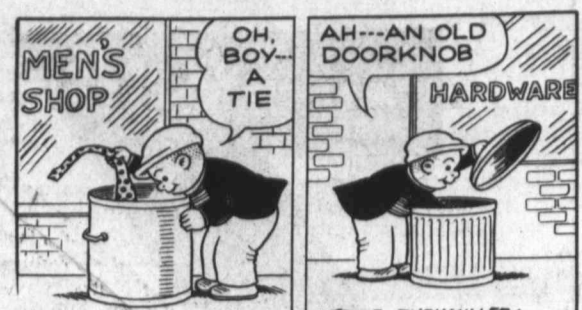

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Work and travel at a measured pace and get better results today and tonight. Sidestep one who wants to waste your time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Not a good day to make radical changes of any kind. Avoid a temptation to spend more money for pleasure than you can afford.

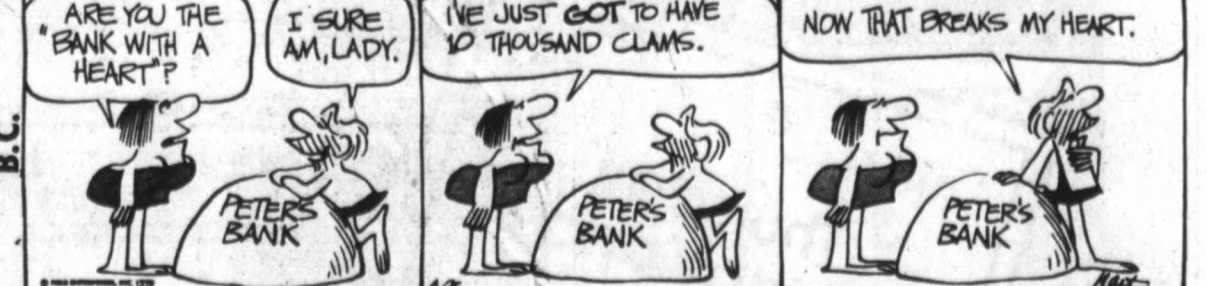

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will easily understand difficult matters so be sure to give the best education you can afford. Teach to first comprehend the overall picture and the motivations behind any enterprise for best results throughout lifetime.

Malaysia island renamed 'terrible'

EDITOR'S NOTE: AP Special Correspondents Peter Arnett and Eddie Adams, a prize-winning reporter-photographer team, traveled 45,000 miles over four continents to document the plight of the world's 10.5 million refugees. In this dispatch they record one day in the life of one group of the world's homeless, Vietnamese "boat people" stranded on Bidong Island, Malaysia.

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent
BIDONG ISLAND, Malaysia (AP) — It was 7 a.m. and the equatorial sun was already blazing over the horizon as Vuong Kiet Kheim scaled the hillside with his ax in hand, calling to his three oldest children to try to keep up.

Down below, the surf lapped lazily at two wide white beaches. A fringe of palm trees nodded at the waters' edge. The sparkling blue sea stretched toward the distant mainland.

But for Kheim and 30,000 other Vietnamese refugees struggling to survive on a thin, 100-acre ribbon of scrubby land, this is no tropical paradise.

With bitter humor, they have renamed it "Bidat," which means "terrible" in their language.

Until a few months ago, no one had ever lived on Bidong Island. But the Malaysian government, reluctant to let the Vietnamese "boat people" land on the coast, decided to dump them here, two hours by boat from the nearest port, Kuala Trengganu.

So on this day Kheim was struggling up the hill to chop down a few remaining stumpy trees. They can be sold for crude furniture.

Kheim, 39, said he paid 50 ounces of gold, all he had, for his family of eight to flee Saigon last October. His small plastics factory in Saigon was confiscated.

In the settlement below, Dr. Nguyen Van Hong, 34, was picking his way along a rutted dirt path between small houses framed with rough bush timber. The houses are covered and floored with straw matting, flattened cardboard boxes and old sacks.

Several women with children at their feet were waiting for the doctor. One pale child was lying in a crumpled heap on the ground. Hong diagnosed the child's ailment as hepatitis and worried that it might be the start of another epidemic.

By mid-morning, Bidong was bustling.

Several American and Australian embassy officials had arrived to interview those who want to immigrate. They drew thousands of shouting applicants.

But only a few hundred from the Bidong settlement have been selected so far. Refugees who arrived earlier in other Malaysian camps have priority. Many will stay in Bidong for at least a year.

An Australian doctor said not enough food is provided by United Nations and that actual shipments are often less than what was expected. Vegetables and fruit are particularly in short supply. A recent shipment of rice was found to be bad.

"The community is living on the verge of starvation," he said.

To compensate, Vietnamese entrepreneurs — using gold they brought with them — have established a black market that flourishes. Malaysian smugglers supply the goods, landing them in coves at the back of the island. The Vietnamese stole enough wood for a score of small rowboats that pick up the illegal merchandise at night.

Eggs cost one U.S. dollar each. Beer and soda pop sells for a dollar a can, half as much again if it's cold. Fruit, meat and toiletries are also for sale. French bread baked on the island in primitive stoves costs a dollar for two small loaves.

The few Malaysian security men on the island make only infrequent attempts to stop the trade.

With permission from the Malaysian authorities, the Vietnamese established a primitive government on the island, including a judicial system.

In late afternoon, the refugees were reminded of their own recent trials at sea. A small fishing boat, with red eyes painted on its prow, pulled into the bay with 11 people aboard, waving to the shore. But the Malaysian authorities would not let them land immediately.

Watching them, Nguyen Phuong Lam, 33, a former interpreter for the U.S. Provost Marshall's Office, recalled his own arrival in Malaysia on the evening of January 9.

When he and 60 others landed on a beach they were set upon by young Malaysians armed with knives. They took everyone's watches and wallets and most of the food. The Vietnamese were being pushed back into the sea when police arrived to help.

The refugees remember the pirates with even more bitterness. Mrs. Tran Thi Qui said she was on boat KG 0480 that left Soctrang on Nov. 2. They were attacked by Thai pirates six times during the seven-day journey. The last band took everyone's clothes because there was nothing else left to take.

Floodwaters retreat in Southeast Texas

By the Associated Press

Retreating floodwaters have left a trail of destruction in Southeast Texas where federal officials say a "tremendous number of homes" have been flooded by the murky spillage from swollen rivers.

The Neches River and Pine Island Bayou crested as predicted Tuesday and began to inch away from the 78,000 sandbags stacked in Jefferson and Hardin Counties.

More than 300 families still are isolated by water from Pine Island Bayou in the Lumberton area of Cook's Lake Road, but all sandbagging operations have been halted.

"With what we have seen, there's no doubt there are a tremendous number of homes are flooded," said Roy Smith, Assistance Administration operations officer. Smith and other FDAA surveyors flew over the soggy counties Tuesday. "There's no doubt in anyone's mind that the area needs federal assistance."

The U.S. Geological Survey reported spillage from the Pine Island Bayou had slowed from 22,000 cubic feet per second to 14,000 cubic feet per second. And emergency workers reported water that swirled out of Village Creek and into the Kountze area of Hardin County was down to just over 20 feet Tuesday afternoon.

"We still don't know how much damage there is until the water recedes," said L.D. Farrow of the Jefferson County Civil Defense office.

"Lots of people don't even know what kind of shape their homes are in."

Most of Orange County has dried out, although the Department of Public Safety has closed underpasses and freeway turnarounds on IH 10 near Vidor.

And authorities report retreating water in the Brushy Creek, Boggy Creek and Artesian Acres areas near Lumberton.

The news that no rain is forecast for the flood-weary area was welcomed by residents trying to clean out their drenched homes.

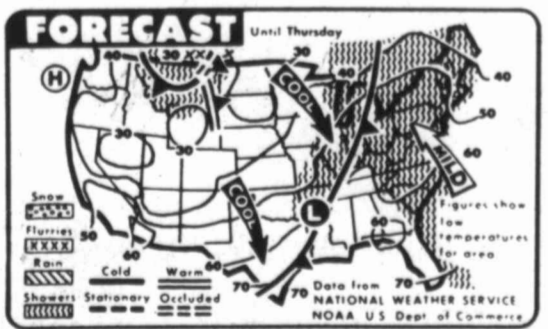

Gov. Bill Clements had asked that Jefferson, Orange, Hardin, Polk, Taylor, Harris, Liberty and Montgomery Counties be declared federal disaster areas. Smith said Jasper, Chambers and Newton Counties also are being considered.

Convicted of librarian's murder

Jury to fix Cuevas' sentence

HOUSTON (AP) — Death by injection or a second life sentence once again face convicted murderer Ignacio Cuevas today as the jury that declared him guilty of causing the death of a prison librarian decides his punishment.

Cuevas' conviction Tuesday by a six-man, six-woman jury was his second for causing the death of Julia Standley during a bloody, 1974 escape attempt from a state prison following an 11-day siege — the longest in U.S. penal history.

Mrs. Standley and another librarian hostage, Elizabeth Beseda, were shot to death as three convicts attempted to escape from a prison unit called The Walls in Huntsville.

Fred Carrasco, Rudolph Dominguez and Cuevas, who was serving 45 years on a 1971 murder conviction, hid within a moveable shield of lawbooks and chalkboards surrounded by 11 handcuffed hostages.

Carrasco, Dominguez and the two female hostages were shot to death as they attempted to move down a ramp from the third-floor prison library to an armored truck waiting at the bottom.

Cuevas lived to be tried in 1975, and was convicted by a nine-man, three-woman jury that deliberated a little more than two hours. The jury took 20 hours to recommend that he be given the death penalty.

After more than three years on death row, he was granted a new trial by the state Court of Criminal Appeals on the ground of a judicial error.

Tuesday's verdict came just five hours after deliberations began. The jury sent several notes to District Judge Miron Love asking for testimony from three hostages, two of whom were taken inside the shield by the inmates prior to the escape attempt.

He asked the jurors to be more specific, and the jury's final note to Love at about 3:30 p.m. told him it had reached an impasse until it could hear testimony concerning how the inmates and hostages had entered the shield and who was handcuffed to whom.

The jury entered the courtroom at about 5 p.m., listened for about 30 minutes to the rereading of testimony from hostages Rev. Joseph O'Brien, Novella Pollard and Dr. Ronald Robinson, then returned to its deliberations.

It buzzed almost immediately, however, this time to tell the bailiff it had reached a verdict.

"Whatever the question someone had on the jury apparently was answered when the testimony was read back," said Bert Graham, Harris County assistant district attorney.

Cuevas, who sat impassively during the reading of the verdict, was escorted from the courtroom, accompanied by his attorneys. His wife and four young children, who had been present at the reading of the verdict, also left immediately.

The only comment from the defense came when Hector Azios responded to a question hurled at him as he passed through the door concerning how many witnesses he would call in the punishment phase, which began today at 9 a.m.

"We'll have several witnesses, I don't know how many," he said.

CAN'T SMOKE IT, BUT IT'S SWEETER SMELLING — Actor George Burns, center, was presented with a six-foot cigar made of flowers by 100 young women after Burns was honored at the 22nd Annual Show-A-Rama as the "Entertainer of the Century" on Tuesday in Kansas City. Of the honor Burns said, "If you think I made it in this century, wait 'til you catch me in the next century. I'll be here. I have to be here...I'm booked."

SAVE ON POLYGLAS NEXT WEEK.

For a limited time Goodyear's best selling bias belted tire, the Custom Power Cushion Polyglas is now sale priced to sell even better!

Goodyear's Custom Power Cushion Polyglas has always been built to perform. Now, it's priced to sell.

You'll pay less for the strong two-ply polyester cord body. And the two tough fiberglass belts.

You'll pay less for the traction tread pattern, proved both on dry pavement and wet.

Best of all, you'll pay less for the confidence you'll get riding on this famous Goodyear tire. It's been original equipment on many Detroit cars every year since 1970.

Do you want to save? You'll have to hurry...

Sale prices in effect through Saturday night, April 28th.

Basic education classes for probationers slated

An Adult Basic Education Class for county and district probationers will begin today at 7 p.m. in the 118th District Courtroom. The class is a joint venture of the county probation office and the local Adult Basic Education organization.

The classes will prepare probationers for taking the GED test to measure high school education equivalency. Probation officers are concerned with the educational deficiency of Howard County probationers. Without the high school diploma or equivalent job choices are limited and probationers are tempted to turn to crime for ready cash.

Discussion between Adult Probation Officer Frank Martinez and Adult Basic Education Director Sherry Sparks initiated plans for the classes two months ago. Martinez said the classes were something that has never been done before.

Classes will be self-paced. When the probationer feels he is ready for the GED test he may take it. Cost for taking the test is $5. There is no charge for the course.

"Probationers shouldn't feel that they are pressed for time, that they should finish the course in a certain length of time," said Martinez.

The class will begin Wednesday with testing that will determine the educational level of the probationer. The class will be split into several groups under one teacher, Sue Burnett.

The classes are financed through the federal Educational Act that finances public schools. The teacher and materials are provided by the Adult Education Department.

The classes will meet from 7 to 9 Wednesday nights.
