Sniper kills 2 women, wounds 50 Friday

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Somewhere in the recesses of his mind, the police relentlessly stalked Ira Attebury.

His brother and an acquaintance say that might be why the 64-year-old man, hunched in a parked motor home and armed with at least 15 guns, unleashed flurries of deadly gunfire Friday afternoon into thousands of festive parade spectators.

Two were killed and at least 50 injured as Attebury, reportedly yelling "Traitors! Traitors! Traitors!" cut up crowd. Six police officers were among the first wounded.

Attebury, a heavy-set, bald former independent trucker and lifelong bachelor who would have turned 65 Sunday, was found dead inside the small, bullet-riddled motor home in which he lived.

Police Chief Emil Peters said it appeared Attebury had shot himself in the right ear with a .38-caliber pistol. Bexar County Medical Examiner Dr.

Ruben Santos ruled Saturday that Attebury killed himself, but said no other autopsy details would be available until Monday.

Peters said afterward, "It's obvious he came to the parade with a plan designed to do what he did."

"He felt the police were following him all the time, but it was all in his imagination," said Attebury's brother, Roy, contacted in Naylor, Mo. Police later said Ira Attebury had no police record.

"He was afraid of something all the time. He said police were always watching him and people always were stealing things," said Clayton Richards, who forced Attebury to move a year ago from his trailer park because Attebury was "always paranoid."

But Attebury had lived quietly at Kate Copeland's trailer park in southwest San Antonio, growing roses on a $40-per-month lot where he parked his green-and-white camper. Roy Attebury said his brother lived off disability checks and hadn't worked regularly for several years.

"He was such a loner and so very quiet," Mrs. Copeland said of the sniper. "He never caused any trouble here."

"He had sponged in his winclows so no one could see in," recalled neighbor April Harper.

He washed his motor home on Wednesday and told Mrs. Copeland he was going to be gone awhile after the 84th Battle of Flowers Parade.

About a week earlier, Attebury had asked permission to park his camper in a tire store parking lot at the corner of Grayson St. and Broadway, the starting point of the huge parade.

"I told him sure, we usually let everybody park here during Fiesta," said John Phillips, assistant manager of Burggraf's Tire Store.

"He was a very quiet-spoken man, very polite. I talked to the man myself. I saw him. I just can't believe it," he said.

"He had parked here before. He was quiet and a real nice guy," said Mike Pacheco, the store manager. "But he was never watching the parade. He had his curtains drawn."

Attebury parked the camper there about 6 p.m. Thursday, 19 hours before the drama unfolded.

The two dead women, 26-year-old Ida Long, and Amalia Castillo, 48, were standing only a few feet from the motor home and were shot pointblank.

helped the anti-nuclear cause.

"The public is getting the word now because they are getting it on their television news in a way you could never give it to them," he said.

The Colorado State Patrol estimated that 9,500 people gathered at the site, located about 16 miles northwest of Denver in the Rocky Mountain foothills.

Demonstrators also hiked, biked and jogged to the gates of isolated nuclear plants in other areas to hear such well-known protesters as Ellsberg and Dr. Benjamin Spock — or a farmer in Maine, a man new to demonstrating, who pleaded for reason.

"There's a world of difference between concern and hysteria," said the farmer, Raymond Shaddis, who organized an overflow town hall meeting of 750 Friday night in the coastal community of Edgcomb, near the closed Maine Yankee plant at Wiscasset. "Effectiveness depends on rationality."

Elsewhere: About 200 hikers left the University of Colorado campus at Boulder, bound for a civil disobedience rally expected to grow to 3,000 by Sunday at the gates of the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant where Ellsberg and 27 other demonstrators were arrested a year ago.

Spock, a resident of Rogers, Ark., released helium-filled balloons from a farm near Arkansas Power & Light Co.'s plant at Russellville to show how far radiation could travel if the plant leaked.

With 330-vote plurality

Massey is elected

John Massey, a relative newcomer to Big Spring and to the game of politics, unseated incumbent Polly Mays in Saturday's election for Place 3 on the Big Spring city council.

A three-term member of the council and the current mayor pro-tem, Mrs. Mays was beaten by a total of 330 votes.

The election created great interest among voters. A total of 2,572 votes were cast in the runoff, compared to 2,536 for the primary. Mrs. Mays had a slight edge in the first go-around but a third candidate, L.A. Hiltbrunner, forced Mays and Massey into a runoff by collecting 220 votes.

Massey, an instructor in Law Enforcement Education at Howard College, received 1,451 votes to 1,121 for Mays. He carried all but one of the five precincts. Mrs. Mays, wife of a retired doctor here, led only in Box 3 at the 18th and Main Street Fire Station. Mrs. Mays' margin of victory there was 499 to 432.

Massey's most decisive wins came on the North Side, where Mrs. Mays rallied only 25 of 212 votes cast, and at Airport. Of the 140 ballots counted there, Massey claimed 124 of them.

"I am proud to be associated with the people of Big Spring," Massey said, after Mrs. Mays had conceded defeat. "I reaffirm my support of all the department heads who work for the city of Big Spring and will continue to support them, until it is proved otherwise that they cannot do their jobs. I have no 'hit list.' I bear no grudges."

"I have thoroughly enjoyed the campaign and I have great respect for a very nice lady who was my opponent in this campaign. She has worked for the betterment of the city and I hope she will continue to contribute her efforts to improve it."

JOHN MASSEY

Mrs. Mays' terms on the council were distinguished by her unceasing efforts to beautify the community and polish its image as a tourist stop. She took immense pride in the park system here. Massey was born in Greenville, Tex., 36 years ago and lived there 17 years. He enlisted in the Navy and ultimately was in Meteorology in that branch of the service, assigned to Pearl Harbor.

After he received his discharge in 1963, Massey went to work for Lone Star Gas Co. He later worked for Pioneer Natural Gas as an irrigation contractor.

In 1965, he joined the Lubbock police force as a patrolman, a job he was to keep for nine years.

While on the Lubbock force, he spotted and helped in the capture of one of America's "ten most wanted criminals," Troy Lisco Roberts.

He started his college education at Texas Tech in 1969, majoring in Law Enforcement Education. He got his degree from Wayland Baptist College in Plainview in 1974.

He remained at Wayland as an instructor for a year before moving to Big Spring to join the Howard College faculty as an instructor in a Law Enforcement course.

Massey married the former Donna Jeanette Glasscock in Leonard, Tex. They have two children, John, 15, a student at Big Spring High School; and David 13, a student at Goliad Middle School.

The Masseys are members of the PTA and the Band Boosters. The family makes its home at 1502 Nolan.

The Masseys are members of the First Baptist Church. He is a Master Mason with McKenzie Lodge 1327 in Lubbock and is a member of the Scottish Rite of Dallas.

Massey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. (Pete) Wilburn of Greenville. His own father, J.D. Massey Jr., died in 1965.

'Incredible as if... on the moon'

Soviet dissidents arrive in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-four hours earlier they had been prisoners, newly shorn of Soviet citizenship and told to board a plane for a reason they did not know. On Saturday, five Soviet dissidents spoke as free men, marveling at the abrupt turn of fate that brought them here.

They called their presence in this country "as incredible as if we had found ourselves on the moon."

They said this country "has its own problems" — but not "the heavy weight of unfreedom."

The five, including Alexander Ginzburg, one of the leading Soviet dissidents, were flown into fog-shrouded Kennedy airport Friday afternoon, there to be exchanged for two Russian spies.

Ginzburg was the only one of the five to express a wish that he might have remained in his homeland. Had he been a free man there, and had he been given a choice, he said, he would have stayed.

But the saga that the five related told of neither freedom nor a choice. It began before dawn Friday when they were brought from various imprisonment sites to the Moscow prison.

Then, they said, they were taken before a special meeting of the Presidium, the Soviet Union's main governing body when the Russian legislature is not in session.

"We were deprived of our citizenship and were informed of that at 5 a.m.," the five related in a statement. "We were told that we must leave the country in two hours."

Their prison garb was taken from them, replaced by civilian clothes, they said. Not until they were inside the Soviet airliner that flew them here were they told what their journey was about, they said.

"Because of a special deal with President Carter and other authorities, we were told we were going to New York," they said.

Twenty Soviet guards accompanied them on the flight. Only when the plane landed at Kennedy did the five learn they were being exchanged for two Russians held in this country as spies.

The arrangement had been worked out in top-secret negotiations conducted since last autumn. A White House source said most of the negotiations were conducted by Zbigniew Brzezinski, President Carter's national security advisor, and Anatoly Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to the United States.

During a packed news conference at their hotel overlooking the United Nations in Manhattan, a statement on behalf of the five was read by one of them, Eduard Kuznetsov, who had been convicted of an attempt to hijack a Soviet airplane. The other four dissidents stood by. A translator then repeated the text in English.

Afterwards, George Vins read a separate statement of his own.

"Today," Kuznetsov read in Russian, "we are here in a country which for more than 200 years has been the symbol of freedom. ... We are not that naive to believe we have found ourselves in an earthly paradise."

"We realize that this country, too, has its own problems and difficulties ... but still these are not prison problems. These are misfortunes of freedom. These are liberty's burdens which are not easy but which cannot be compared to the heavy weight of unfreedom ..."

"We are here. This seems inconceivable. It is difficult to get this through our heads."

Protests continue despite closing of more reactors

By the Associated Press

The spectre of Three Mile Island fueled anti-nuclear protest demonstrations from remote corners of New England to Indian lands of the West on Saturday, even as more nuclear reactors were shutting down under government orders.

Protest regular Daniel Ellsberg and more than 9,500 other demonstrators descended on the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant north of Denver, where the former Pentagon analyst and 200 others were arrested a year ago for blocking a railroad entrance to the facility.

They vowed to stage another civil disobedience demonstration Sunday in an effort to close down the plant.

Three Buddhist monks prayed in front of the barbed wire fence around the plant as Ellsberg told the crowd the accident at Three Mile Island

Stanton voters back school bond proposal

STANTON — Voters in the Stanton Independent School District solidly backed a $500,000 school bond proposal here Saturday, favoring the issue, 257 to 73.

School trustees can now proceed with plans to add six classrooms and a band hall to the elementary school.

The elementary library, which has been in the school cafeteria, will be relocated and enlarged.

Focalpoint

Action / reaction: Serious problem

Q. Aren't dog bites becoming a serious public health threat?

A. Universally, yes. It's estimated up to three million people a year suffer dog bites annually. There are about 100,000 dog bites reported in New York City annually alone. A few tips: Don't leave an infant with a dog, even a pet you know very well. Never let children play with a dog that's eating, sleeping or tired. If you encounter a strange dog in the street, don't run. Back away slowly. If necessary, yell "Go Home!" Never try to outrun a dog on a bicycle — invariably they'll give chase. The best advice is, get off and stand still.

Calendar: Dedication

TODAY

Dedication of new Garrett Natatorium, 2 p.m., Big Spring State Hospital. Public is invited.

1979 Howard College graduates and UTPB students will be honored with a tea, 3-5 p.m., in the Tumbleweed Room, Howard College by UTPB administration and faculty.

MONDAY

Special art exhibit on display at the Heritage Museum by elementary students of Big Spring. Exhibit will continue through May 3.

WEDNESDAY

Newcomers Handcraft Club will meet 9:30 a.m. in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. Members will continue their study of wood carving.

Tops on TV: Two movies

The NBA playoffs will dominate the air this afternoon, with games at 12:30 p.m., and again at 3 p.m., on Channel 7. The San Antonio Spurs are very much involved in the race for the championship. NBC will offer the adventure movie, "Swashbuckler," starring Robert Shaw and James Earl Jones, at 7 p.m. This was filmed as recently as 1976. At 8 p.m., the movie, "The Master Gunfighter," starring Tom Laughlin and Ron O'Neal, can be seen on ABC.

Residents still fighting

Water wins first battle

By the Associated Press
Water still stands in some of the hundreds of Southeast Texas homes inundated when heavy rains glutted rivers and bayous, causing flooding in 10 counties and damage estimated as high as $750 million.

The water won the first battle, driving thousands from their homes. But most were back by Saturday to continue the war, fighting to reclaim their houses from the ravages of the record-breaking deluge.

It was almost too much, however, for those who lacked the weapons to carry on the campaign.

"You work all your life, and then this can destroy it in a couple of hours," said Herman Vermillion, who lost most of his possessions when the Neches River breached its banks, flooding about 50 Beaumont homes.

"I wasn't expecting the water to get this high. There was nothing we could do," said Vermillion, who was raised in the house where he lived before the flood.

"There isn't much you can do now but keep from crying."

Homeowners along the Neches lugged about 78,500 sandbags to the river's edge in an effort to contain the rising water, which crested at 11.1 feet Tuesday, more than seven feet above flood stage and a foot higher than the previous record flood of 9.9 feet in May 1969.

The effort was successful in many areas, but about 50 yards down Vermillion's street, the water lapped at the top of a sandbag wall as if to mock the futile gesture.

Vermillion, who said he had no flood insurance because he couldn't afford it, was indicative of many hit by the floodwaters in Harris, Montgomery, Jefferson, Tyler, Hardin, Liberty, Orange, Jasper, Polk and Chambers counties.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," he sighed. "I guess I'll just have to wait until the water goes down and see what I can save."

There were many with the tools, such as money and insurance, to counter the deluvian havoc. But the trauma of struggling mightily to save belongings gathered throughout a lifetime, only to watch helplessly as they are enveloped by the rising flood, was no less great for them.

"It was very, very bad," said Mrs. Glenn Moore, whose home in the Pinewood subdivision northwest of Beaumont had three feet of water inside. "It affected us terribly."

Her husband said there was little warning before the flood hit.

"We knew they had had 13 inches of rain west of us," he said, "but the additional heavy rain hit us, and the water in the Pine Island Bayou came up very quickly, before we knew what to do."

Moore said his family now lives upstairs, while he and friends clean up the ravaged first story.

"Right now, we're drying out, trying to get the flood-damaged things out of the way so we can begin leading as near normal lives as possible," he said. "We've got a pretty good-size home, and we're still pulling up carpet."

"Our air system doesn't work, so we have to get that replaced, then turn it down to about 60 degrees to dry everything out," he continued. "We have to tear out the walls and insulation, and make sure all the wiring and plumbing is okay."

"It's going to be quite a job," he said.

The clean-up for six counties will be aided by low-interest federal loans and grants since President Jimmy Carter Thursday declared as disaster areas Harris, Hardin, Jefferson, Liberty, Montgomery and Orange counties.

Federal officials said one-stop sites would be established where residents could apply for money and temporary housing.

In Conroe, City Administrator Ken White said it will be several months to a year before the Montgomery County community returns to its condition before the flood 12 days ago, when 14 inches of rain inundated the area.

A portion of one street was ripped away by the flood, leaving a gaping hole 20 feet wide and eight feet deep where a culvert pipe used to run. Water got into more than 1,000 businesses and homes in the area. Damages were estimated at $100 million for that county, as well as Harris County, where a torrential downpour 11 days ago hit Houston motorists just as they were leaving work.

The Sabine River also breached its banks last weekend, causing flooding in the lowlands near Orange.

Moving again Monday

Halfway House in a bind

By EILEEN McGUIRE
Lee Coulter, a 58-year-old alcoholic, says he owes his life to a facility in Big Spring that is currently weathering a financial setback.

The Halfway House, located at 703 E. 3rd, is moving Monday. It's moving back to its previous location at the Alamo Courts on W. 3rd due, in part, to a recent cutback in state funding.

Coulter, one of its several dozen current residents, is an example of how the Halfway House helps to mend the lives of the people who temporarily call it home.

The Halfway House, explained board member John Bennett, is a sort of way station for people who need help in readjusting to community life. Some are state hospital patients, some are ex-cons, some are alcoholics or former drug addicts, and all are people who need help either readjusting to or learning to cope with the pressure of living in a complex society.

For these people, Bennett said, the Halfway House provides a temporary social support system while helping them gain independence.

"That's why it's called the Halfway House," Bennett said. "It's half way between where they came from and where they're going to."

Coulter described the situation he came from. "I'm an alcoholic," he said. "I knew 18 years ago that there was something wrong with me because people would tell me things that I did that I couldn't remember doing."

"Sometimes I'd wake up and not know where I was or how I got there. I woke up in the Odessa city jail many times," the Odessa man said.

Coulter, a roughneck by trade, said he joined Alcoholics Anonymous in 1972. That same year, he was admitted to the Big Spring State Hospital for the first time.

"I've been there six times since 1972," he said. "Three times I was committed by judges. I just couldn't stop drinking."

The drinking eventually led to health problems, including a double hernia, revealed Coulter. And as his need for medical attention became more intense, his ability to work to pay for his medical needs lessened.

"I've worked the oilrigs all my life," he said, "but I was so bad off, I couldn't work anymore. The doctor said I needed an operation, but I couldn't pay for it."

"My doctor at the state hospital wanted me to come to this Halfway House. He said they could help me here, but I didn't want any part of it. I had already given up. He said that they'd even help me get the operation, but I didn't believe him."

Coulter said he finally accepted the Halfway House's offer when he knew he was about to lose another battle to alcoholism.

"I got a day's pass from the state hospital. I went out and had a drink and ended up drunk for the next two days. When I sobered up, I went back to the hospital and told them I'd try the Halfway House."

That was over ten months ago. Since then Coulter has received the operation he needed to correct his medical problems, the social support he needed to overcome his alcoholism and he's traded his former despair for future hope.

"You know where I'd be if there were no Halfway House?" he asked. "I'd be dead. I know I would be because I know what I would have done."

"I didn't have any hope for me when I came here. But they did. I gave them one last chance to prove that they couldn't help me."

"But it did do me good. Things are a lot different now. It took time, but I know I'm going to make it."

Coulter said that he's still not able to put in a full day of work, but he's looking forward to the future with hope.

"I've always liked Big Spring and I'd like to find something that I can do. The future's uncertain, but I've got a lot of hope because I've been given this much more time."

Time, said Bennett, is what the Halfway House offers its residents. Most, unlike Coulter, stay only a few days to a few months. The time is used by the residents to find jobs and make the transition from institution to community life.

The Halfway House, formerly located at the state hospital, moved to town during the 1960's. Temporarily located on Lancaster Street, it was moved to the Alamo Courts in 1967 where it remained until the old Phillips Motel was made available in 1976.

Part of the reason that it is now moving back to the Alamo Courts, Bennett said, is that the rent there will be more affordable for the Halfway House.

"Funding for the House comes from a variety of sources," Bennett said. The State Hospital authorizes $250 per month per patient transferred to the Halfway House and the Texas Board of Corrections, which may have up to three people at the House at any given time, contributes $3.95 per day for each of its people.

The House receives some additional funds from the state and a contribution of up to half of a resident's job earnings or $100, whichever amount is least, from the resident.

In exchange, residents receive temporary housing in single or double cabins, a reintroduction to independence and society, employment counseling and help in finding jobs, transportation to jobs, and in the case of alcohol or drug abuse, rehabilitation.

"It's a non-profit, deductible charity," said Bennett, adding that donations are always appreciated.

"We were receiving some experimental revenue-sharing funds," he said, "but those funds have been drying up. We have requested help from United Way and our application is going to be considered for the next budget."

Some fund-raising events are an alternative that the Halfway House is now considering.

One way in which the community can help, Bennett said, is to remember the Halfway House when there's a job that needs doing.

"We've got some good potential employees here for small jobs and temporary jobs," he said. "If someone has yardwork, carpentry or other jobs that need doing, we've probably got someone who can do them. Even permanent jobs sometimes we get some highly skilled people at the Halfway House."

Anyone who does have a job, may contact Halfway House Director Ruby Anding, 263-1691.

For the time being, the move back to the Alamo Courts will ease the financial burden somewhat, allowing those who the Halfway House helps to continue benefiting.

"It doesn't matter where we move to as far as I'm concerned," said Coulter. "I'm just glad to be here."

R NOSE DROPS CAN GET CONTAMINATED

Nose drops are helpful in the treatment of adults and children. Most physicians prescribe them. When you get them from your pharmacy they are pure and potent. But as soon as you take out and use the dropper, it is exposed to virulent germs which may enter the bottle, multiply and cause a severe infection. Removal of the protective cap of the spray bottles permits these germs to collect at the top to infect you.

To avoid this, cleanse the dropper and top of the bottle with alcohol before replacing it. Examine partly used nose drops and if the contents become cloudy, or a sediment develops, don't use them. It may be dangerous.

Hot-Line is paying off

The Big Spring Arson Hot-Line and a reward offered by the city for conviction of arsonists have already begun to pay off.

Lee Andrew Cole, 29, 505 S. Bell, was charged with second-degree felony arson by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin, Friday afternoon. Bond was set at $15,000.

Police said Cole is suspected of setting fire to a bedroom at the residence of Bob Parker, 306 W. 17th. The fire was reported 10:10 p.m. Thursday, and according to Ricky Womack, local fire inspector, damage was extensive.

"We got a call on the hot-line about half an hour after the fire was extinguished. I am sure that the reward played a big part in our getting the call. We got information I am sure we wouldn't have if it hadn't been for the reward," said Womack.

Postal Service trying something new

Time was when a person could go along for months without hearing or reading anything about the Post Service, unless a mail train was derailed or perhaps a disenchanted postman had been caught burning the contents of his letter bag.

In recent years, the department has managed to stay very much in the news, which leaves one to conclude that either the department has hired itself a livewire group of publicists or it is trying more things that provoke a lot of comment.

Recently the Postal Department decided to boost postal rates on out-sized packages and, effective July 15, to ban the undersized ones.

The new rule means that you will have to pay a seven-cent surcharge on those giant valentines you send through the mail. If you insist on using the small envelopes for things like invitations and open houses, you'll just have to get yourself a pony and deliver them yourself.

The new rule means that the size of some utility bills going through the mails are going to have to be made bigger if they conform to specifications. That could mean considerable expense to the firms. If the Postal Department says letters and cards of uniform size will contribute to increased efficiency we'll take the government's word for it. Very soon, the Postal Service will begin offering, on an experimental basis, a courier service in three cities (Columbus, Ohio, Gulfport, Miss., and Chicago). The idea is that you take your package to a selected post office before 10 a.m., with the assurance that it will be delivered to its destination within your metropolitan area by 5 p.m. If you get your package to the central post office by noon, it will be delivered by 5 p.m., and so on. Cost of the new service will be $9 for items weighing less than a pound, $12 for one to 12 pound packets and $15 for bundles weighing from eight to 50 pounds.

Is the government, or more particularly the Postal Service, feeling the heat of competition? Some private delivery firms have already established themselves in the parcel delivery business. If they're doing well, and there is no reason to believe they're not, it might not be wise to make competition for them, especially since it was revealed the Postal Service is already operating in the black?

Perhaps the government agency would be better off trying to improve some of the services it already offers.

The one good aspect of the latter plan might be that competition will serve to keep prices down. It's hard to fault the Postal Service for experimenting, though. Give it E for Effort.

Around the rim

Walt Finley

Curvaceous Carla Walker, who returned to Big Spring Friday from a week-long fishing trip just in time to celebrate her birthday today, says the development of a new product is a three-step process.

1. An American firm announces an invention.
2. The Russians claim they did it 20 years ago.
3. The Japanese start exporting it.

EX-BAREFOOTED ADA COUGAR kicker, Eli Guinn, reveals OU is going to build a $12 million library addition. It's the first building of that size that won't give alumni priority seating between the 40-yard lines.

Speaking of excess profits, Eli wants to find out how much the IRS made this month.

You can now buy a battery operated electronic digital scale, I don't know exactly how it works but I presume the numbers light up and a voice yell:

"Heavy man, heavy."

The first-time job seeker has to ask himself which is worse — to have no experience, or to lie about it.

And here's one more tip for employment interviews. Be neat and prompt — and pretend you're interested in something besides the pension plan, vacations and holidays.

A TIP FROM FLOYD GREEN, manager of the Nu-Way women's softball team that edged the Herald Headliners, 11-0, last Tuesday:

"Remember, folks — for successful loafing, easy does it."

"NEWSPAPERS, if they are to be interesting, must not be molested."

Who said that? No, it was not some West Texas editor. It was Frederick the Great, 1740.

That travelin' man, Kenneth Hart,

FATHER: Aren't you thinner?
DAUGHTER: Yes. I weigh 120

pounds stripped for gym.
FATHER: What! Who is this man Jim?

ROBERT — I don't eat anything that's been sprayed or that's not organic.
TOM: How do you feel?
ROBERT: Hungry.

NIT: Romance is like chess?
WIT: Yep. One false move and you're mated.

YANK IN PAREE: We always whistle at girls in our country.

FRENCHMAN: You crazy Americans! Why do you give them warning?

COMEDIAN — In Egypt I had them rolling in the Nile.

GOLFER — I hope I make this shot. That's my boss up by the clubhouse.
FRIEND: Don't be silly. That's at least 300 yards — you'd never hit him from here.

FORMER CHIEF HERALD pressman, Gary Bishop, and his vivacious wife, Marsha, are celebrating his birthday and a wedding anniversary in San Antonio this weekend. Gary's department comment:

In this fiscal year the U.S. Postal Service will show a profit. But don't worry — a special Deficit Squad will see that the mistake will not be repeated next year.

That chief circulatin' man, Chuck Benz, who coined the moniker "Hoss" Poss, says look at it this way:
It's patriotic for a company to have a high income...How else would the government get such a big share?

Benz, a Carlsbad, N.M., native, says research revealed people used to believe that witches could raise storms, ruin crops and generally create havoc.

"We have those in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico only we call them tornadoes."

Pass the salt

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — "I never have understood why so many hawkish civilians and retired military men are against SALT II," Millirem said.

"They feel the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks will give the Soviets an edge on us," I replied.

"Nonsense. If we sign a SALT treaty we're going to spend billions of dollars on new weaponry that is not included in SALT. We will have to escalate our military budget to take into consideration all the advantages we had prior to a SALT II agreement. SALT will be a boon to the Pentagon chiefs because they can argue that unless they get what they want, this country will be at the mercy of the Kremlin's multiple warheads. Congress will have to give them anything they ask for to prove they are not stripping this country of its defenses."

"YOU MEAN SALT II doesn't limit the arms that the Soviet Union and the United States possess?"

"You're really dumb," he said. "An arms limitation treaty just forces the military leaders of the two powers to come up with more sophisticated ways of not being caught with their missiles down. If you reduce your throw weight capacity in one area, you have to strengthen it in another. The Air Force wants an MX system which is a giant underground railroad that will move our missiles around so the Soviets won't know where they are. This shell game has been priced at $30 billion. The military have a much better chance of getting it with a SALT treaty than if we don't sign one. They're going to go up on the Hill and prove that with arms limits it's essential we have the system or our missile bases will be caught naked in a first-strike attack."

"I thought SALT was supposed to save us money."

"DON'T YOU believe it," Millirem said. "SALT is the mother's milk of defense appropriations. Without it the military would have to make do with what they've got now."

"Do you think the Soviet military will ask for more money for their weapons if a SALT treaty is signed?"

"They have no choice. Their marshals will tell the Kremlin that SALT has put the Soviet Union in a very precarious position, and they will have to have billions of rubles if they expect the Soviets to have superiority over the United States. They will demand a crash program to make the missiles allowed under SALT three times as deadly as they are now."

"I guess I am dumb," I said, "but why would both countries go to so much trouble to work out a treaty on limiting nuclear weapons if they know it is going to cost them so much more in the end?"

HE SAID, "The reason the leaders of both countries want a SALT agreement is that, having started their talks, they will be put in a bind if they fail. Their reputation as peace-makers will be in serious jeopardy. Once you have a taste of SALT you have to eat it."

"So, we're damned if we have SALT II and damned if we don't."

"You can say that again."

"What's the answer?"

"What's the question?"

"Why are the Hawks and the retired military leaders so adamant against a SALT treaty if it means the Defense Department will get what it wants if an agreement is signed?"

"It beats me. All I know is that, if the President wants to get his SALT treaty through Congress, he will have to prove he is not going to let this country wind up second best in the missile race. Brezhnev is also going to have to assure his people that he hasn't given anything away to the United States."

"Where will it all end?" I asked.

"SALT III."

A medical problem behind bars

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I'm a 28-year-old prison inmate. I've been in for four years. Believe me, there's no help in here, and I need some. I read your column daily. I was a heavy drinker on the outside and had the DT's four times. My nerves never have gotten straight and I shake all the time. Also, doctor, my eyes have never cleared, and I look like I'm on a hangover 24-hours a day. They are a dirty yellow and I'd like to get them back to clear white if possible. Please tell me how.

S.P.

Your history of DT's (delirium tremens) and alcoholism is often associated with liver damage. The shaking and the dirty yellow color of your eyes are part of that. Your prison doctor would be able to diagnose jaundice by looking at your eyes. Any other eye problems you have could be checked out at the same time.

Your shaking can also be related to alcoholism, probably aggravated by tensions in prison. If you have access to a library, try to find a book on some form of relaxation technique.

I agree with you about the paucity of adequate medical attention in prisons. If the stories we read are true, next to capital punishment, the worst sentence is to be imprisoned with a medical problem. The inadequacy of prison medicine would make any prospective criminal go straight if he or she knew about it.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I developed cysts under my arms. My doctor immediately asked me if I was using a deodorant. I was. He told me to stop. Could this have caused the cysts? — K.S.

Yes, if the deodorant material was clogging your pores, which some kinds might do in some persons. Perhaps switching brands would help.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Can talking diuretics for a long time cause your legs to cramp? I have noticed this lately and wonder if it is important enough to report. — N.P.

It might be if the diuretic (water pill) is strong enough to cause you to lose too much potassium. It is certainly worth reporting to your doctor the next time you go in. You'll find a discussion of other causes of such cramping in my booklet on leg cramps. For a copy, send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I have a very serious question. I'm scared to hear the truth, but I must know anyway. I had two abortions when I was very young, one when I was 15 and the other at 17. Both times suction was used. It was about three months pregnant each time. I was too young to handle having children. I married at 18 and was pregnant at 19. My husband left me, so I had what they called a forced labor abortion because I was in my fourth month. I had no complications after having a D and C. I am now 22, remarried, and want children badly. I feel I need them. What are my chances of having a normal child? I've heard so many stories. Answer me truthfully. Should I wait longer? — Anon.

Your history of pregnancies attest to your fertility. The abortions should not affect your chances of becoming pregnant again assuming they were done professionally. The D and C (dilation and curettage) was a good idea.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: Recent headlines and articles in the Herald have made Goliad Middle School sound like a dangerous place to be. We resent the sensationalism involved.

Many of the news reports are exaggerated and contain untrue implications. The overall atmosphere of the school is greatly different from that portrayed by the news media. Most of our students are normal, motivated, and well-behaved. On any given day in any school in any district, there are fights and squabbles, most of which are extremely minor incidents. These are characteristic of children of this age, especially in the spring.

It is difficult for students and teachers to maintain an atmosphere of pride in our school system when we receive so much undesired adverse publicity.

Good things are happening at Goliad Middle School. The band has presented some excellent public programs. Our choirs are presenting concerts at several schools. The athletic teams have acquitted themselves admirably this year. Our art department is exhibiting its work at the Heritage Museum. Several innovative programs are being conducted. Student conduct is vastly improved over last year.

We are proud of our students and our school.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My wife has left me because of my unfaithfulness. It is all my fault. I have tried every way to win her back without success, and now I fear I have lost her. Can you give me any advice to get her to forgive me? — L.D.

DEAR L.D.: You are hoping your wife will forgive you for being unfaithful, but one reason it may be hard for her to forgive you is because true forgiveness also involves forgetting the wrong done. She may find it very hard to erase the memory. She also may find it hard to believe you when you say you will be faithful in the future.

Right now you have a greater, more pressing need in your life — more important than trying to win back your wife. Yes, you have wronged your wife, but more than that you have wronged God. At one time you took a vow before Him to be faithful and loving to your wife alone, until death would part you. You need the forgiveness of God most of all.

The wonderful thing is that God loves you and wants to forgive you and bring you into a right relationship with Himself. "I, even I, am he that blot out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins" (Isaiah 43:25). I urge you to come to Christ in repentance and faith, and accept Him into your life as your ruler from now on.

Once you know God's forgiveness and realize that you can talk to Him in prayer, then start praying for your wife. Pray that the hurt she undoubtedly feels will be taken away. Most of all, pray that she, too, will come to Christ.

Cuevas returns; Jurek leaves

Death Row does shuffle

HOUSTON (AP)—As Ignacio Cuevas returns to his death row cell after a second trial and a second conviction Jerry Lane Jurek is preparing to leave cramped quarters in that isolated section of the state prison for his second trial.

Jurek, sentenced to death for the slaying of the 10-year-old daughter of a police officer in the Southeast Texas town of Cuero, is the latest on the double-tiered death row to have his conviction reversed with a new trial ordered.

For Cuevas, the second trial was conducted in Houston and the result was the same before—guilty and the death penalty for causing the death of a hostage during a bloody prison escape attempt in the hot summer months of 1974.

The site for the second go-round for Jurek is still a question mark, although a change of venue from Cuero is expected.

Bert Graham, a Harris County assistant district attorney and a member of the prosecuting team in the Cuevas trial, said recently, "The federal courts nowadays seem to find something wrong in all cases."

Cuevas, who spent almost four years on death row, was granted a new trial by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals on the grounds of a judicial error during jury selection.

Jurek, on death row now for five years, won a second trial when the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled the defendant's confession was not voluntary and thus could not be used against him.

Cuevas and Jurek have been on death row together. They both claimed ignorance.

Defense attorney Will Gray even referred to Cuevas during final arguments of the second trial as "a stupid man."

Jurek, a seventh-grade dropout with an IQ of 80, has maintained his confession was not voluntary because he was too dumb to understand police warnings that whatever he said could be used against him.

Otherwise, they have little in common.

Cuevas is short, about 5-foot-5 at the most, stocky and muscular, with black horn-rimmed glasses perched on his nose.

Jurek is about 5-foot-6 inches, thin, his shoulders stooped. His eyes are so light a blue they seem colorless. He speaks in a low voice and appears bashful, meek in manner.

Cuevas has never talked to newsmen.

Jurek has granted several interviews while on death row.

During one conversation with The Associated Press, he said, "I'll get out of here someday. I won't be executed."

He was the death row inmate who filed a lawsuit challenging the Texas death penalty. The U.S. Supreme Court upheld the state's capital punishment law and Jurek was scheduled to be the first to die in Texas in almost 30 years.

He was granted one stay of execution and then another and then another and finally a new trial.

Jurek also said in an interview that he talked with newsmen "to get my viewpoint out, so a lot more people will understand. I want the people to know about us. I want them to know the whole blame for the death penalty is on the U.S.

Supreme Court."

Cuevas was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in the shooting of a man in the West Texas community of Pecos.

He then joined two other convicts in a take-over of the educational building at a prison system unit called The Walls.

With his companions, Cuevas staged the longest siege in U.S. penal history, 11 days. Then in an escape attempt the two other inmates and two hostages were killed. Cuevas survived.

Jurek was convicted in February 1974 of slaying Wendy Adams, the daughter of a law enforcement officer.

The child's body, clad in a two-piece bathing suit, was found floating face down in the Guadalupe River several days after she disappearing from a city park where she had gone to swim with friends.

During the trial, the prosecution entered as evidence a statement from Jurek saying he had taken the girl from the park to Hell's Gate bridge, about four miles away.

Rare births announced

"We were expecting twins, but we never dreamed of triplets," said Pam Warneke, Wasson Rd., adding that the little kids "have very long ears".

The kids, two boys and a girl, are the offspring of Nannie, Melvin and Pam Warneke's 3-year old goat who topped her old record around 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The Warnekes said that Nannie, a member of the family for a year, was reported by her previous owner to have already delivered two sets of twins.

Mrs. Warneke said that the babies are all "in real good condition". Their future may be a bit confusing, however, because Ralph, the Warneke's St. Bernard dog, is convinced they are part his.

According to County Agent Andy Vestal, a well-cared for well-nourished goat will often have triplets," he said, "but it is rare to find a goat that is that well cared for."

He didn't know what the odds were for having triplets that baa-wowed.

Home owners under-insured often get rude awakening

By the Associated Press

The soaring cost of housing has left millions of American homeowners with less insurance than they need.

And homeowners without enough insurance could be in for an unpleasant — and costly — surprise when it is time to file claims.

The amount of coverage homeowners have should be based on the amount it would take to replace the house or any part of it — not on what was paid for it.

As a general rule, insurance companies require homeowners to have coverage equal to 80 percent of replacement value. If the coverage is less, homeowners will not be able to collect in full — even for partial damages.

Here's how it works: Suppose you have a house that would cost $50,000 to replace. A tree falls on the roof and does $1,000 worth of damage. Unless you have at least $40,000 in insurance — 80 percent of the replacement cost — you will not be reimbursed for the full $1,000.

The 80 percent level was set to enable companies to charge a fixed rate per $1,000 of insurance.

If A HOME could be insured for only a few thousand dollars — at a low rate per thousand — and the owner still could collect in full for partial damages, the companies would have to pay more in benefits than they could collect in premiums.

Because of inflation, it is easy to start out at the 80 percent level and quickly fall behind, so coverage must be updated regularly.

The size of the increases varies from area to area, depending largely on local construction costs.

Insurance Information Institute spokesmen say that in California, for example, construction costs have risen about 35 percent in the past three years; if a homeowner had to replace his house, it would cost 35 percent more than it did three years ago.

In Illinois, construction costs are up 37 percent; in Massachusetts, the increase is 26 percent.

A growing number of insurance companies offer policies including an "inflation guard adjustment." The amount of coverage is increased automatically every three months either by a fixed sum or by an amount tied to local cost increases.

INDUSTRY spokesmen say homeowners' insurance is relatively inexpensive when compared with auto or life insurance. Ronald W. Vinson, vice president of the Insurance Information Institute, said up to 30 percent of total U.S. personal income goes for housing and related expenses, including furnishings.

By contrast, he said, less than half a percent of total U.S. personal income is spent on premiums for homeowners' insurance.

There are several ways to cut premiums without falling below the critical 80 percent level. Many companies offer discounts if a house is less than five years old or if the home has a fire or burglar alarm system.

A homeowner may even be able to trim his annual premium by up to 2 percent simply by installing a smoke detector. Ask about all available discounts; don't wait to be told.

Increasing the amount of the deductible can decrease the premium. Boosting the deductible from $100 to $200, for example, probably will save 10 percent.

Deadline is approaching

Monday is the deadline to file a residential homestead exemption which allows for $5,000 of market value to be exempt from school taxes.

This is a final reminder to homeowners who reside and own a home within the Big Spring Independent School District. Applicants should come by the School Tax Office, 708 11th Place, and complete your Homestead Exemption application. You may mail the application if you have not already done so.

RRC hearing slated June 7

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission will hold a hearing June 7 to get public comment on state plans to conform with the federal Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977.

Completion of the submission program will enable the state through the Railroad Commission to administer the federal program at the state level.

One-car accident kills girl west of Big Spring

A four-year-old girl died Friday when her mother lost control of a car about eight miles west of Big Spring on IS 20.

Witnesses in the vehicle traveling behind the car driven by Beverly Turner of Huntsville, Tex., said they saw the child, Teshella Turner, in the back seat, attempting to crawl into the front seat.

When attending to her daughter, Mrs. Turner lost control of the car, regained it only to lose control again. The vehicle left the road and overturned.

According to State Trooper Ben Lockhart, the investigating officer, the girl was flung from the car as it overturned, suffering fatal head injuries.

Lockhart responded to the call at 1:45 p.m., as did Howard County Deputy Sheriff William Shankles and Justice of the Peace Bob West. West pronounced the child dead at the scene.

Mrs. Turner, who is in the U.S. Navy and who was en route to San Diego, Calif., to make arrangements for a new assignment in Hawaii, was admitted to Malone-Hogan Hospital in Big Spring for observation and reportedly is in good condition.

James Turner, father of the victim, had stopped in Dallas to take care of some business matters and visit with relatives, was to join his family later in San Diego.

Local arrangements were handled by Larry D. Sheppard Funeral Home. The body was shipped to Cox Funeral Home in Huntsville, where services will be held.

Survivors, in addition to the parents, include the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius See, Huntsville.

Earl's brand is added to display

The historical livestock brands of Joseph Heneas Finch, Seventh Earl of Aylesford, and W.T. Roberts, first permanent rancher in the area extending from Colorado River east to the Pecos River, have been added to a display of Texas brands at Texas A&M University.

The Animal Science Department of the University had invited each county in the state to nominate eight livestock brands and two historical brands no longer in existence to be burned into the oak wall of the branded stairway of the Robert J. Kleberg Jr. Animal and Food Sciences Center.

The nominated brands were burned into the oak paneling in branding ceremonies Monday and Tuesday.

The historical brands of Finch and Roberts were submitted by the Howard County Historical Society.

The eight livestock brands from this area, nominated by the Howard County Livestock Committee and Program Building Committee, were the J-E-Bar brand of the Hamoin Elrod Estate, the L brand of E.W. Lomax, the Long S brand of C.C. Slaughter, the A Bar Connected brand of the Loy Acuff Ranch, the Plus brand of O.E. Hamlin, the A & L Combined brand of Leroy Echols, the Seven J Connected brand of Buchanan Herefords and the T brand of the Guitler Ranch.

Participating in the ceremonies were Mrs. Emily Elrod, Mr. and Mrs. Loy Acuff, John Echols, Jack Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Repps Guitar and their son, John.

The group was accompanied to College Station by Howard County Extension Agent Janet Rogers and Assistant Extension Agent Andy Vestal.

Compressor roundup is set May 10 in Odessa

The annual Gas Processors Association Compressor Roundup is set for Thursday May 10. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. in the Ector County Coliseum complex located at 42nd and Andrews Highway in Odessa. Discussion sessions will begin at 9 a.m. A registration fee of $5 will be charged at the door.

Purpose of the Roundup is to provide a forum for free interchange of knowledge and techniques related to operation and maintenance of compressors, engines and associated equipment.

Seven topics will be presented for discussion. They are (1) Ignition, (2) Compressor Cylinder & Valve Maintenance, (3)

Centrifugal Compressor and Gas Turbine Operations & Maintenance, (4) Maintenance of Low Speed Reciprocating Engines, (5) Maintenance of High Speed Reciprocating Engines, (5) Engine Auxiliary Systems, (7) The Engine Analyzer. Discussion and Resource Leaders are recognized authorities in their fields.

The Compressor Roundup is co-sponsored by the University of Oklahoma Continuing Education Department and the Permian Basin Chapter of the Gas Processor's Association. The sessions will be held in small groups to provide for discussion where experience can be reviewed and examined in detail.

Hospital room rates boosted

SNYDER — Rates for private rooms at Cogdell Memorial Hospital here will be raised to $70 a day starting Tuesday.

Semi-private room rates will be boosted to $66 a day. Both new rates reflect an increase of $10 a day.

This is the first increase for the hospital since December 1977.

The West Texas Blood Service will have a blood mobile at Forsan High School on Tuesday, May 1. Students, parents in the community, school employees, ex-students, and any one else wishing to donate blood is urged to do so, from 8:30 to 4:00. Please call for an appointment any time Monday. Any student wishing to donate blood and not 18 years of age needs to stop by Mr. Woodley's office and get a permission slip. This permission slip must be signed by a parent or guardian and you must have it at the time you donate blood.

The Junior High Award Banquet will be Thursday, May 3 in the Forsan High School cafeteria. Mr. Woodley must know no later than Monday afternoon if students of parents plan to attend. Meal cost is $3.00 per parent and this money must be in to the office by Thursday morning.

The University Interscholastic League State Literary Meet is being held May 3, 4, and 5 at Austin. Participating in the State meet from Forsan are the following students: Carrie Poyner and Brad Robertson-Debate; Lisa McMillian-Feature Writing; and Dayton Robertson-Informative Speaking.

The Industrial Arts club will be in Odessa Friday May 4. The students will be participating in the West Texas Industrial Arts Student Project Fair. The fair will be at Midland High School and will be open to the public from 12:00 to 3:00.

Students are learning about body systems

By BRONWYN ALLEN and MELINDA CORWIN

Students in Mrs. Lancaster's seventh grade Science classes have been illustrating the body system. Each class divided into groups and outlined the body of one of the students in the group. After the body was outlined, each person in the group helped draw, label, and color all the body systems. The muscles and bones that were studied were also drawn. Each group had a captain assigned to maintain discipline and record the participation of each student in his or her group. The finished project was a great success and a rewarding experience for each student.

Mrs. Tate's sixth and seventh grade science classes are participating in spring projects. The sixth graders are mounting on poster board either pictures or actual specimens of some of the more common elements. They are required, also, to list some of the uses of the elements they choose to display. During the last six weeks, the sixth grade science classes have been studying energy and the atom. Earlier in the year they designed projects on the importance of the "Basic Four Food Groups."

The seventh grade science classes have mounted pictures of various animals and classified the organism as to the phylum, class, genus, and species. A brief history of the organism, habitat, food source, common names, etc. are listed. The classes made displays of the various ecological communities or environments earlier in the school year.

Both classes have been assigned another project for the quarter — making herbariums: a collection of dried plants. They will classify the various plants collected from trees and shrubs. Some of the above projects have been displayed on the hall bulletin board and in the library.

The first period library aids, Lesa Wilkerson and Cindy Denton, designed a "spring reading" bulletin board on the book display rack and the glass display board near the entrance.

On Tuesday, April 24, Mr. Hugh Wadill, from the Arlington TESCO, Texas Electric Service Company, presented a program on Solar Energy to all of the 6th grade science classes. He demonstrated different ways in which solar energy is being used today, pointing out its advantages and disadvantages. He even cooked hot dogs using a "solar cooker". According to Mr. Wadill, the key to new energy sources lies with the ingenuity of our young people today.

The librarian, Mrs. E. Person, has set up a "special reading corner" in the reference section. This area, which is newly carpeted, is intended to enhance the study and reading conditions for the students.

Friday, April 27, the beginning choirs were featured in a sixth grade assembly. They sang the selections they performed at the elementary schools. Accompanists were Dawn Underwood on piano, with Melinda Corwin accompanying Dawn on bells, Brenda Shirey, Kristi Kerkland, Larry Wheat and Miss Hull, also on piano. Cindy Chavez and Travis Collins accompanied on guitars.

On Tuesday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium, the advanced choirs will have a joint concert with Rannels. The Goliad choirs will sing the songs they will perform at their choir contest on Wednesday, May 2, when the advanced choirs will leave Goliad at 7:00 a.m. to travel to Odessa to Bonham Junior High School for their choir contest. The girls will perform their numbers at 9:18 a.m. and the boys will sing at 11:06 a.m. They will eat lunch at McDonald's and return home around 2:00-2:30 p.m. Several chaperones will be going.

Some more results of the girls' last track meet held in Snyder are Andi Burns, who received a first place ribbon in 1320 meter run, Vickie Halfmann, who received a ribbon for the hurdles, Linda Marshal who received a ribbon for the 80 yard low hurdles. Katy Thompson received a ribbon for the 1320 run and Jane Tercere received a ribbon for the 1320 runs, also.

Monday, April 23, eighth grade elective cards were passed out to all seventh graders. They were to choose the elective or electives they want at Rannels. Choir and band electives are for the full year. If the students didn't want choir or band, they chose 3 other electives which they will take for each quarter, 60 days each. Some electives from which to choose are money management, speech, Spanish, literature, drafting, teen interest, clothing, food, wood-working, business math, and art.

On Wednesday, April 25, the 5th six weeks report cards were handed out. The honor roll will be in a later Megaphone.

The eighth grade cheerleading tryouts will be held Friday, May 4. Seventh grade girls who have a 6 weeks average of C or above are eligible. Forms must be turned in no later than Monday, and the girls will start practicing after school. Each girl must be dressed in shorts, top, socks, and tennis shoes. The eighth grade cheerleading results will be in a later Megaphone.

The girls P.E. classes have been playing softball in the backsteps south of the building. Each team plays against one another at least 2 times. At the end of the season the 1st place winners from each class will be announced.

Coahoma High Students receive awards at Sul Ross Business Program

By JUDY COX
Tuesday, April 24, the Sul Ross Business Program was held on campus at Alpine. Three hundred twenty-six students from 27 different schools competed in accounting, typing, and shorthand. Approximately two hundred students also competed in the Free Enterprise essay contest. Coahoma was recognized as first place over-all achievement award for excellence. Other awards won by the ten students attending: Debbie Reid, scholarship, accounting, typing, and shorthand; Cindy McAdams, accounting, typing, and shorthand; Paula McCraw, accounting, typing, and free enterprise; Debbie Hinsley, accounting, typing, and shorthand; Linda Barr, accounting and typing; Josie Martinez, accounting and typing; Donna Camp, accounting and shorthand; Beth Rackley, accounting and typing; Jean Wanner, accounting and typing; and Roxanne Daniell, accounting, typing, and shorthand. Those students elected to the elite "400 Club" (over-all high point winners) were Debbie Reid, Debbie Hinsley, Cindy McAdams, Roxanne Daniell, Linda Barr, Paula McCraw, Donna Camp, Beth Rackley, and Jean Wanner. The students also won a second place plaque for their club exhibit that was edited by Josie Martinez. Mrs. Jewel Stovall, the business teacher, accompanied the students to Sul Ross.

The Coahoma band participated in the Extravaganza Saturday, April 21. The band received second place, which was $300 prize money. The money will go toward the trip to Houston May 3 through May 6.

Friday, April 20, members of the girls varsity track team traveled to Lubbock to participate in the UIL Regional Track Meet. Julie Hall placed third in high jump and the mile relay placed fourth in the finals.

Grady Banquet rescheduled

By JOANNA GRAHAM
The FHA-FFA banquet was postponed to May 15, due to several conflicts. The starting time for the banquet is 7:30 p.m.

FHA's Margret Rodriguez, Ginger Madison, Patricia Rivera, Rhonda Farrington, and Mrs. Heronema attended the State Convention at Fort Worth, April 26-28.

The High School boys regional track meet was Friday at the South Plains College, Levelland. Track pictures were taken on Tuesday and tennis pictures on Thursday.

Movie planning elaborate as book's

Michael Crichton's period thriller "The Great Train Robbery" was published by Alfred A. Knopf in 1975, a Book-of-the-Month Club selection, and in its Bantam Books paperback edition has sold more than 1,500,000 copies.

Until Edward Pierce, a handsome bearded rogue, made a daring getaway with a fantastic shipment of gold, bound in 1855 to pay troops fighting the Crimean War, no train in history had been robbed. The crime, culmination of more than a year of intricate planning, shocked the country and aroused the interest of Queen Victoria.

Now, after a period of preparation as long and as elaborate as Pierce's, a major motion picture of "The Great Train Robbery" has been completed. The Dino De Laurentiis presentation of a John Foreman Production is being released by United Artists, a Transamerica Company, and it opened Friday at the Cinema Theatre.

Michael Crichton, author of "The Andromeda Strain" and "The Terminal Man" and writer-director of the films "Westworld" and "Coma," directed from his own screenplay. Jerry Goldsmith penned the film's score.

The role of the bold adventurer Pierce seems tailored to the suave dashing style of Sean Connery, the irresponsible James Bond in six films and most recently star of "The Man Who Would Be King." "Robin and Marian" and "Meteor," Pierce's sidekick, Locksmith Agar, is portrayed by Donald Sutherland, star of "M A S H," "Kluge," "Don't Look Now," "Fellini's Casanova," "The Eagle Has Landed," and most recently "Invasion of the Body Snatchers," also released by United Artists.

Lovely new British star Lesley-Anne Down who rocketed to international celebrity in the British TV series "Upstairs, Downstairs," and in the films

Filmex creates two sentimental moments

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Closing night of the Los Angeles International Film Exposition, known more sensibly as Filmex, brought two warm and sentimental moments.

The first came before the showing of Orion Pictures' initial release in its brief history, "A Little Romance." Gregory Peck presented to Laurence Olivier with the second Filmex Trustees award (only Alfred Hitchcock has won it before).

"My voice is a little shaken and my composure is completely lacking in confidence," admitted the man generally considered the greatest English-speaking actor.

The second moment came at the end of the world premiere screening, when the audience gave a second standing ovation to Olivier for his performance in "A Little Romance."

Spotlighted in the aisle of the Plitt Theater in Century City, he invited his three coworkers to share the plaudits of the crowd. The quartet represented three generations of film makers: Olivier, director George Roy Hill and his young stars, Diana Lane and Thelonus Bernard.

"A Little Supper" followed at the Plaza Four restaurant to celebrate the film, the end of a successful Filmex (100,000 patrons in two weeks) and the launching of Orion, formed last year by executives who broke away from United Artists. The consensus seemed to be that "A Little Romance" was a worthy start for a new company.

The story is a simple one. An American girl and a Parisian boy, intelligent kids in their early teens, flee their homes on a romantic journey to Venice, aided by a charming old fraud.

"A Little Romance" might have turned out to be a lot of Disney except for the sure touch of George Roy Hill, who managed to combine sentiment and cynicism in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," "The Sting" and "Slap Shot."

The casting was inspired. Olivier is expectably brilliant as the polished old boulevardier who happens to be a pickpocket. The happy surprises are the youngsters. Thelonus Bernard (his father is a freak for American jazz) was plucked off a Paris soccer field by a Hill scout and brought to the U.S. for a crash course in English. He seems assured of a lifetime acting career, if he so desires.

Diana Lane, at 14, is also a revelation. Her unspoiled beauty and naturalness make her a sure bet for stardom. Her next role is in the big-scale western, "Cattle Annie and Little Britches."

Numerologist consulted in series title change?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — They must have consulted a numerologist every time this new ABC series went through a title change.

First, it was "Five Women." Then "2800 Queens Boulevard." Finally, it bowed for a 10-week spring run as "13 Queens Blvd." It should be a lucky number for this new comedy — the most pleasant surprise of the spring season.

For starters, there's Eileen Brennan, who's played so many tough and dippy dames it's a delight to see her as a conservative housewife.

The surprise is that the show has class and taste, which is in short supply at ABC. It shows that you can kid about sex without getting as tasteless as "The Ropers," television's new low in that category.

Originally, the show was to focus on five women who live in the same garden apartment complex in Queens, New York. Their husbands would be heard in the next room or on the phone, but wouldn't be seen.

That concept, however, has undergone change, and will continue to do so. It is now down to four women plus Eileen's husband, played by Jerry Van Dyke. The series, which airs on Tuesday nights, also stars Marcia Rodd as a divorced neighbor, Helen Page Camp as a widow, and Louise Williams as her daughter.

Miss Brennan entered the picture when she got a call from Bud Yorkin, who produces the show with Bernie Orenstein and Saul Turteltaub. Her association with Yorkin goes back to the 1960s, when Yorkin and his then-partner, Norman Lear, saw her in "Hello, Dolly" on Broadway and cast her in the movie, "Divorce American Style."

"Bud said he was doing a show called 'Five Women' and asked me to read the script and see if I connected with any of them," said Miss Brennan. "I read the pilot and the part I liked best was the smallest part."

Studies available on Shakespeare

By JOHN W. DEATS
County Librarian
Shakespeare has finally "arrived," in that several of his plays have been broadcast on public television this season. The British Broadcasting Corporation is producing the entire repertory over the next few years, and the performances thus far indicate the series may win over a whole new audience to the majesty, excitement, and fun of Elizabethan drama.

The great playwright's life is wrapped in mystery, but one of the best modern studies available is S. Schoenbaum's "William Shakespeare: A Compact Documentary Life." The Manchester Guardian referred to it as "our best life of Shakespeare," with numerous documents included which serve to disclose details once lost to history. Similarly, "Shakespeare's Hidden Life: Shakespeare at the Law, 1585-1595" furnishes much evidence on the importance of the law in the works, and seeks to answer what the playwright was doing in his formative third decade. Then there is Marchette Chute's smoothly written book, "Shakespeare of London." As the title implies, this is a vivid portrayal of the total "milieu," the city, the fellow actors, and the audience, each a major influence on the developing playwright.

F.E. Haliday provides a lively account of "The Cult of Shakespeare," a literary following which initially sought to rewrite and de-vulgarize the plays, only much later to restore and perform them as originally written. Shakespeare was not considered worthy of interment in Westminster Abbey at the time of his death, alongside Chaucer, Spenser, and Beaumont. His greatness came to be recognized very gradually, and his country background was held against him by scholars such as Ben Jonson.

"The Merry Devil of Edmonton" is an obscure comedy, part of a collection of lesser known works in William Kozlenko's "Disputed Plays of William Shakespeare," Kozlenko makes a fascinating study of these plays, printed in their entirety, some of which might have been co-authored with other playwrights. For a better understanding of the corpus of his work, "Shakespeare's Plays in Digest Form" provides a short synopsis of each, with a handy chapter on the unique qualities of the stage of the Globe Theater.

"Shakespeare's Second Globe," by C. Walter Hodges, is a small masterpiece and mine of information about the structure which replaced the original Globe, destroyed by fire in 1613. Ironically, the second theater was doomed to be pulled down in 1644 to make way for tenement houses, two years after all the theater houses were closed by the Puritans in a fit of moral zeal.

Figures are misleading

By SCOTT CARPENTER and JIM DAVIS

Marble-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — If you get a thrill spending a few bucks for new clothes or trinkets, consider how Texas legislators must feel with $20 billion — give or take a few million — to unload.

What an ego trip! And with somebody else's money! Small wonder that House members seemed playful at times while considering an appropriations bill for 1979-81.

They could add a few million here, a few million there; then vote a 4 percent general appropriations cut to make the final figures seem reasonable.

Except for Republicans and a few cynical Democrats, everyone jumped behind the bill, which protects all the conservative-business elements while throwing in some money for welfare programs backed by liberals.

Most representatives can tell state employees and teachers in their districts that they gave them higher-than-proposed pay raises.

It's all on the record. But in a month that record won't mean much, and the party atmosphere will be gone from the appropriations process.

Total numbers indicate the House bill leaves $500 million for the tax relief demanded by Gov. Bill Clements and other programs. That's misleading.

Bills calling for $600 million in spending outside the appropriations bill still are pending. Not all will pass, but those that do, such as added funds for public schools, will cut deeply into that $500 million reserve.

It is questionable whether there is any reserve at all. That 4 percent cut is mostly symbolism. If implemented across-the-board, it could bring chaos to state government.

It doesn't affect salaries, the greatest single part of state expenditures. Small agencies could be left with higher-paid employees but little money for the programs they are supposed to carry out.

The 4 percent cut will give some flexibility to the conference committee that will work out differences in the House and Senate appropriations bills, budget leaders say.

That so-called "flexibility" means the leaders can cut the money added by the House. They then can cut the money added by the House. They then can dump the bill back on the members late in the session for a take-it-or-leave-it vote.

Some members — particularly the liberals whose programs are cut — will scream, but they will have their April vote record to show the voters.

All that is predictable. It isn't known what Gov. Coelments will do.

Even if the budget is higher than he wishes, he probably could make enough line-item cuts to make it acceptable to him.

But the legislators appear determined to give teachers more than the strict 5.1 percent pay raise Clements wants.

The next month had better see some Lyndon Johnson-style compromising, or the 1979 legislature could find out how hot Austin can be in the summer.

Speaking of temperatures... Last week Speaker Billy Clayton issued a column stressing the need for voluntary energy conservation efforts.

"At this point, it is up to us as individuals to help conserve our precious energy resources," Clayton said.

GSA accused of wastage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration is being accused of wasting millions of dollars because of "an unfortunately consistent failure to protect the government's rights and interests in dealing with private contractors."

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, chairman of the House Government Operations Committee, made the comment Wednesday following release of a study that said lax management by GSA resulted in the government spending an extra $16.7 million for leased office space in downtown Washington, D.C.

Cougars edge Steers

By NATHAN POSS

The Abilene Cooper Cougars displayed a good performance in energy efficiency, using four hits to take a well-played 2-1 victory over the Big Spring Steers in somewhat cool weather Saturday afternoon.

Meanwhile, the Steers had to be frustrated, pounding Cougar ace Eddie Jacques for 10 hits in the contest, but only managing to push across one run.

The game was a blank stalemate for five innings. Big Spring hurler David Manley actually hurled a perfect game for four innings. Cooper finally touched Manley for two hits in the fifth, but could not score.

Jacques flirted with trouble in every inning. The Bovines had base hits in each stanza, with their biggest threat in the early going coming in the second inning. Tony Rubio and Mike Gomez singled, and Rusty Hayworth was safe on an error with only one out. But Jacques snared Mark Warren's line shot and doubled off Rubio at third to stop the Steer uprising.

In the Cooper sixth, Mike Awalt walked. Mike Anderson then singled to left, but Mark Warren gunned down Awalt at third with the assistance of a Hayworth tag. With two outs, Tracy Thomas singled to score pinch runner Claude Brown from second base. Thomas advanced to second on the belated throw to the plate. He then scored on a Big Spring throwing error. It was the only Steer error in the game, but it proved to be costly.

Big Spring did not quit. They put runners on second and third in the sixth inning, using a walk to Manley and Myers single, plus a perfect double steal. But Jacques made the next two hitters ground to shortstop Thomas, and Big Spring could not dent the Cougar lead.

The Steers made one last gasp rally in the bottom of the seventh. Kevin McLaughlin drilled a triple to deep centerfield and scored on Mike Evans single. Ysa Rubio then laid down a perfect bunt to put runners on first and second. But Manley hit into a double play to end the game.

Big Spring returns to play Tuesday against Odessa High in Steer Park at 4:00. It will be the final game for Tommy Collins crew.

In NFL draft

Buffalo holding top pick

NEW YORK (AP) — At about 10 a.m., EST, next Thursday in a ballroom in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Pete Rozelle will call upon Buffalo to make a selection, someone from the Bills will scratch a name on an index card — and another instant millionaire will be born...

... unless the Bills trade away their first-round choice in the National Football League's annual draft of college players.

It would not be that unusual. Tampa Bay did it last year — and when Rozelle, commissioner of the league, called the meeting to order, the Houston Oilers wound up with Earl Campbell.

The Bills got this year's pick the same way — in a trade with San Francisco, the one that sent O.J. Simpson to the 49ers before the start of the 1978 season.

This year's crop of millionaires will undoubtedly include Charles Alexander, a running back from Louisiana State; Tom Cousineau, a linebacker from Ohio State; Russell Erxleben, a punter-platekicker from Texas; Jack Thompson, a quarterback from Washington State, and Mike Bell, a defensive end from Colorado State. They are among the so-called blue-chippers, the cream of the crop, players almost certain to be chosen before the first

Texas clinches SWC title

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas, which has won nine of the last 11 Southwest Conference baseball championships, clinched its first title in two years Saturday as it swept a double-header from Texas Tech, 3-1 and 5-1.

Texas pitchers Jerry Don Gleaton and Keith Creel went the distance in the two games, each giving up one run on four hits in the two games. There were other similarities in the two games.

It was the ninth win for both pitchers, and in both games Texas built its lead gradually, never scoring more than one run per inning. Both winning pitchers ended their games with 5-0 SWC records.

The victories give Texas its 52nd SWC championship out of 64 seasons. It was its 45 outright title, since the Longhorns had to share

Blalock leads LPGA

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)

— Jane Blalock carded a 7-underpar 65 in Saturday's second round of the LPGA's Otey Crisman Golf Classic, tying the Green Valley course record for women and giving her an eight-stroke lead going into Sunday's final round.

Blalock's 65 coupled with Friday's 68 for a 133 total, putting her eight shots ahead of Pat Bradley, who was in second place at 141. Jo Ann Washam and Betsy King were tied for third with 143s. The leader's round included seven birdies, one eagle and a pair of bogeys. "There are not too many days in this game when everything goes for you like it did for me today," Blalock said. "I went for all the birdies I could get to build a lead."

Washam had the day's second-best round, a 4-under-par 68, over the 6,307-yard, par 72 Green Valley Country Club course. Bradley said, "It's going to be a heck of a job chasing Jane. She's at the peak of her game and putting well."

Strange leads New Orleans Open

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Curtis Strange, a 24-year-old former amateur champ from Wake Forest, slipped past Lee Trevino with a solid 5-under-par 67 and took the third-round lead Saturday in the $250,000 New Orleans open golf tournament.

"I'm just not wasting any shots, not making any mistakes," said Strange, who put together a 54-hole total of 203, 13 strokes under par on the 7,049-yard Lakewood Country Club course.

Strange, who joined the pro tour in 1977 and has yet to win, didn't make a bogey in his jaunt through bright, warm sunshine and took the lead with a pair of key birdies on putts of 20-25 feet on the 15th and 16th holes.

Wortham leads BSCC Tourney

Ross Wortham shot a round of 68 to take the first round lead in the annual Big Spring Country Club Tournament here Saturday. Action concludes this afternoon.

Wortham holds a one stroke lead over Kevin Heise. Mike Weaver carded a round of 70, with Grant Spencer and Bill Edwards in contention with rounds of 72.

Carl Small leads the handicap division after the first day. Small had a 67 to take a one stroke lead over Gene Gross and D.O. Gray.

Handicappers will tee off at 9:00 Sunday, with the scratch golfers scheduled for a 2:00 start.

CCity captures AA regional title

LUBBOCK — Colorado City, behind the efforts of Ricky Sanches, Ruben Garcia and J.D. Lewis, scored 47 points to tie with Post for the Class AA regional track and field crown here Saturday.

The Coahoma Bulldogs, with Gary Gee qualifying for state in the 120-high hurdles, and Randy Wallace in the pole vault, finished in tenth place with 19 points.

Sanchez was a double winner in the meet. The senior won the 120-high hurdles with a time of 14.1, then set a meet record in Class AA by blazing to a winning 38.1 time in the 330-intermediate hurdles. Lewis won the 880-yard dash, crossing the tape in 1:59. Garcia won the mile with a time of 4:31.

Other Colorado City Wolves scoring points included Gary Hulme in the discus, Dwayne Staats in the long jump, and the mile relay quartet.

Gee was second in the high hurdles and Wallace second in the pole vault, with the Bulldog scoring being rounded out by a fifth place finish in the 220-yard dash by Ronald Sundy and a sixth place finish by Barry Newton in the 100.

Under windy conditions, it was a day most of the elite field fired and fell back against Onion Creek Country Club's 6,384 yards and par 70.

White Sox race by Rangers

CHICAGO (AP) — Ralph Garr doubled and scored the winning run on a throwing error in the sixth inning and reliever Mike Proly pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the eighth to help the Chicago White Sox beat the Texas Rangers 3-2 Saturday night.

Garr doubled with one out in the sixth, took third on Mike Squires' fly ball and continued home when center fielder Al Oliver's throw to the infield was wild, snapping a 2-2 tie.

BORG ON THE MONEY — Bjorn Borg of Stockholm powers a return to Jimmy Connors in the last set point of the Alan King Tennis Classic finals held at Caesars Palace. It was Bjorn's first time at this event but he won easily with scores of 6-3, 6-2 over Connors.

Vuckovich handcuffs Red; Orioles streak ends

Brewers 11, Blue Jays 8

TORONTO (AP) — Cecil Cooper's one-out single in the 10th inning scored Gorman Thomas from second with the winning run and Paul Molitor delivered two more with a triple as the Milwaukee Brewers outscored the Toronto Blue Jays 11-8 Saturday.

Thomas opened the inning with a walk off Mike Willis, 0-1, and was sacrificed to second by Sal Bando. Larry Hisle drew an intentional walk and Cooper followed with his run-scoring single.

Sixto Lezcano then forced Cooper at second but Molitor followed with his triple over the head of center fielder Rick Bosetti to cap the rally.

Winner Bob McClure, 3-0, the last of four Milwaukee pitchers, banked the Blue Jays over the final 12-3 innings.

Braves 7, Cubs 2

ATLANTA (AP) — Dale Murphy capped a four-run Atlanta third inning with a two-run homer, powering the Braves to a 7-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday night.

The Braves pounded Rick Reuschel, 1-3, for all four runs after two were out. Jerry Royster and Gary Matthews singled before Jeff Burroughs doubled Royster home. Matthews scored on an error before Murphy slammed his eighth home run of the season.

The Cubs scored a runs off Atlanta rookie Rick Matula, 2-2, in the first inning on singles by Ivan DeJesus and Bobby Murcer and a groundout by Bill Buckner. Their other run came in the fifth when Buckner bounced into a double play with the bases loaded.

Dodgers 3, Mets 1

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Yeager slammed a two-run homer and Burt Hooton tossed a four-hitter to power Los Angeles past the New York Mets 3-1 Saturday and end a threegame Dodger losing streak.

With one out in the fifth, New York left-hander Pete Falcone, 0-1, walked Derrel Thomas. Yeager then lofted a 3-2 delivery into the screen about halfway up the foul pole in left field for this third homer of the season.

Hooton, 2-2, struck out eight and walked one in ending the Mets' three-game winning streak.

The only New York run came on Joel Youngblood's lead-off homer in the fifth, his third of the season.

A's 8, Orioles 5

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Wayne Gross' two-run triple sparked a five-run rally in the sixth inning as the Oakland A's defeated Baltimore 8-5 Saturday and stopped the Orioles' nine-game winning streak.

Oakland's sixth-inning spurge knocked out Baltimore loser Scott McGregor, 0-1. Three straight walks forced in another run, then Mario Guerrero lashed a two-run single for an 8-4 Oakland lead.

The A's also broke a 13-game losing streak against the Orioles and an 11-game string of victories by Baltimore at the Oakland Coliseum.

Winner Jim Todd improved his record to 2-1 in relief.

Larry Bird's agent blasts Red Auerbach

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Red Auerbach has been acting like a dictator, not a negotiator, during contract talks involving All-America Larry Bird and the Boston Celtics, attorney Bob Woolf claimed Friday.

Woolf, who is representing the 6-foot-9 senior who led Indiana State to a second-place finish in this year's NCAA basketball tournament, made the comment in a press conference he held concerning the stalemated negotiations.

The Celtics, of the National Basketball Association, had announced earlier this week they were breaking off negotiations for Bird, their No. 1 draft pick after his junior season last year.

"Dealing with Red Auerbach is a very difficult situation," said Woolf. "He treats everybody like he used to treat the referees. He taunts you, he baits you, he tries to intimidate you. He never lets up...He's more of a dictator than a negotiator and I don't think Larry deserves this kind of treatment."

Woolf was in Terre Haute to attend activities conducted as part of "Larry Bird Day" and to discuss the contract situation with his client. At night, Bird was honored at a $50 a plate banquet. Money raised from the banquet is to be used to create a scholarship in his name.

Woolf said he was willing to resume negotiations, but feels the next move is up to Boston.

Woolf read a statement concerning the negotiations.

He said he and Bird agreed on its contents.

The statement claimed that the Celtics had made only one contract offer.

"If the Celtics wish to remain with their first and only offer, then as much as we would like to be with Boston, we will choose to go elsewhere or enter the 1979 draft in June," the statement said.

Earlier, Bird spoke at a news conference after the mayor issued a proclamation honoring him. He supported Woolf's role in the negotiations.

"He's done a great job, negotiating and keeping his word," said Bird. He said any decision concerning a contract was up to Woolf.

Both Bird and Woolf said they had hoped to reach a settlement with Boston.

"They broke off the negotiations," said Woolf. "I've negotiated some 1,800 contracts in my career and I've never had anyone do that before...Maybe it's an effort to put us on the defensive."

There have been reports that Bird is seeking a six-year contract worth $6 million. Boston reportedly was offering $3 million over six years. However, Woolf refused to give any figures.

In the statement, Woolf said: "Larry Bird is a very private person and he considers his contract negotiations to be a private matter. He further considers the Celtics' public announcements of real or fictitious figures to be an invasion of his privacy."

Oilers planning defensive draft

HOUSTON (AP) — Although he doesn't intend to test his theory, Coach Bum Phillips thinks the Houston Oilers would be improved in 1979 even if they sat out this week's National Football League draft.

Phillips' belief rests on his hope of "drafting" from the Oilers' overstocked 1978 injury list that included key players like Billy "White Shoes" Johnson, fullback Rob Carpenter and wide receiver Eddie Foster.

"It will be like picking 'White Shoes' Johnson in the draft because we didn't have him all last year," Phillips said. "So even if we didn't pick in the draft, I think we'll be stronger because we're getting all those guys back."

The Oilers, while shocking the league with a 10-6 record and advancing to the American Football Conference finals, also had a shocking amount of injuries.

Johnson and Foster, both starters in 1977, missed virtually all of the 1978 season with injuries. They were joined on the injured reserve list by two other starters, Carpenter and wide receiver Mike Renfro and reserve defensive players Art Stringer and Jimmy Dean.

Wide receiver Rich Caster was hobbled over the last month of the season by a painful groin injury.

"I don't know if we'll have a better record but we'll be a better team," Phillips said. "If we'd won just one more

Major League Roundup

Cardinals 12, Reds 1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Vuckovich handcuffed Cincinnati with a three-hitter through seven innings while his St. Louis Cardinal teammates slammed 17 hits to beat the Reds 12-1 Saturday.

Lou Brock scored a pair of runs in two and had two singles and Mike Tyson spiced the Cardinal barrage with a solo home run.

Vuckovich, 2-0, pitched five innings of no-hit ball until Ken Griffey led off the Cincinnati sixth with a single. Johnny Bench and Cesar Geronimo added singles for the Reds in the seventh.

Cincinnati starter Tom Hume, 2-3, gave up the cardinals' first runs in the first inning; on a two-run single by George Hendrick.

Tyson jumped on Hume's first pitch of the second inning for a homer over the 375-foot sign in left field.

Expos 6, Giants 4

MONTREAL (AP) — Tony Perez drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single to pace the Montreal Expos to a 6-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants on Saturday.

The third-inning homer by Perez, his third of the season, came on the first pitch from Giants starter Ed

Six Communist countries boycotting place US women among favorites in world championship tourney

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Women basketball players from 12 nations open the 8th World Championships Sunday with the United States, Japan and South Korea rated as favorites.

South Korea has recently dedicated a $10.8 million modern gymnasium in a newly developing residential area in southern Seoul. It can accommodate about 20,000 fans.

The 12-woman American team, coached by Patricia Head, includes Carol Blazejowski, Collegiate Player of the Year in 1978, and Nancy Lieberman, and Ann Meyers, who played on the 1976 Olympic team that earned a silver medal. Lieberman also was selected as Collegiate Player of the Year in 1979.

Arriving Friday for the championships, Lea Plarski, manager of the American team, said that the U.S. women were hopeful of winning the title. But she predicted that Japan and South Korea would make the competition very keen.

Korean Coach Shin Dong-Pa said that Italy, which put up tough competition against a visiting Korean team last year, also would be among the teams to beat.

Russia, the defending champion, and five other Communist nations — Czechoslovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia, China and North Korea — have boycotted the championships, apparently for political reasons. None has diplomatic relations with South Korea.

It was ironic that Communist North Korea, which coincidentally is hosts the World Table Tennis Championships, excluded South Korea and Israel, who wanted to play, while the Communist nations boycotted the basketball championships although invited.

In place of the absent six Communist countries, the International Federation of Basketball Association, which sanctions the quadrennial championships, allowed the organizing committee to invite other countries, bringing the number of participants to 13.

Mexico, however, decided not to come at the last minute because it failed to field a national team for unspecified reasons.

The eight other participating countries are Australia, Brazil, Bolivia, Canada, France, Malaysia, The Netherlands and Senegal.

Tigers 5, Twins 3

DETROIT (AP) — Steve Kemp and Jason Thompson, returning to the Detroit lineup following injury, each knocked in a run and right-hander Kip Young notched his first victory of the season as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Minnesota Twins 5-3 Saturday.

The Tigers unleashed a 10-hit attack against four Minnesota pitchers as starter Dave Goltz suffered the loss, his third in five decisions.

The Twins took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning on Butch Wynegar's home run. The Tigers tied the game on Kemp's RBI single in the first and went ahead 2-1 in the fourth on Lynn Jones's run-scoring base hit.

Craig Kusick pulled the Twins even in the fifth with his first homer of the season. But the Tigers went a head for good in the same frame with two runs.

Haliicki, 1-2, snapping a 1-1 tie and providing a cushion for Scott Sanderson.

Sanderson, 1-1, pitched the first six innings of the Expos to pick up the victory with relief help from Woodie Fryman and Elias Sosa.

Nichols advances

ODESSA — Forsan's Weldon Nichols advanced to the finals of the Region I-A tennis regional tournament Saturday before falling to Petersburg's Kevin Brewington. Nichol's accomplishment earns him the right to compete in the state Class A tournament in Austin, which is scheduled for the second weekend in May.

Nichols advanced to the finals by defeating Hector Hernandez of Clint in the first round, Michael Rhoden of Memphis in the second round, and Junior Ashmore of Hale Center in the semifinals.

Brewington then defeated Nichols for the regional title 6-4, 6-1.

Forsan's Dayton Robertson was also entered in the competition. He defeated James Castleberry of Farwell in the first round before falling to Derrick Baker of Marfa in the next round.

Stanton impressive in A track regional

ODESSA — Marfa won the Region I-A track and field meet here Saturday afternoon, scoring 50 points to take the crown. District 5-A representative Stanton was second with 44 points.

The Buffaloes relied on strong finishes in both relays, with the mile relay qualifying for the state meet in Austin by placing second. It was comprised of the quartet of Herbert Moore, Mitch Elmore, Lewis Henry and Todd Smith. Their time was 3:25.34. The Buffalo 440-yard relay team finished in third place.

Stanton had two performers earn points in the individual competition, with Smith qualifying for state in the 440-yard dash. Smith won the event with a time of 49.69. Moore ran a 2:02.24 in the 800, good enough for third place.

Forsan's Todd Underwood captured fourth in the shot put with a heave 51'04".

GIVE ME SOME ELBOW ROOM — Kansas City Kings' Darnelle Hillman pulls down a rebound during Friday night's National Basketball Association Western Conference semi-finals against Phoenix Suns. Hillman is towering over his teammate Lucius Allen, right, and the Suns' Truck Robinson. The Suns defeated the Kings 120-99 and move into the finals against the Seattle SuperSonics.

Bullets host soaring Hawks

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — The Washington Bullets face the revitalized Atlanta Hawks in the final game of their National Basketball Association quarter-final playoff series Sunday, with Coach Dick Motta confident his defending NBA champions can pull out of a slump.

"Philadelphia beat us pretty good last year in the same circumstances, then we came back and won the series the next game," Motta said.

The winner of Sunday's game will move into the Eastern Conference finals against the winner of the San Antonio-Philadelphia series. San Antonio leads 3-2 with game No. 6 set for Philadelphia Sunday.

Philly to use same plan

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Philadelphia still trails San Antonio 3-2 in a best-of-seven playoff series and Coach Billy Cunningham says the 76ers still have their backs to the wall. But after Thursday night's rout of the Spurs, the wall feels a lot better to him.

"We had our backs against the wall and still do, but this turns the tables quite a bit. Now we go home to play," Cunningham said after the 76ers, starting disaster right in the face, trampled hapless San Antonio 120-97 on the Spurs home court.

The series moves back to Philadelphia for the sixth game Sunday and would return to San Antonio on Wednesday if a seventh game is needed.

Cunningham indicated he will stay with his oversized lineup, which includes massive, 6-foot-11 Darryl Dawkins at center, 6-11 center Caldwell Jones at forward and 6-6 forward Julius Erving at guard.

Erving got 32 points Thursday night as a guard. Cunningham had shuffled his lineup again in an attempt to overcome the absence of injured 6-6 All-Star guard Doug Collins and slow down San Antonio's prolific George Gervin.

Phoenix advances to Western Conference finals

Suns end Kings season

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Friday night was the first time Kansas City had dominated Phoenix on the offensive boards in their NBA Western Conference semifinal series.

However, the Kings couldn't come up with the offense to match it, and succumbed to the Phoenix Suns' excellent passing and finely tuned running game 120-99. The victory, paced by guard Paul Westphal's 32 points, allowed the Suns to capture the best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series, 4-1.

Phoenix will meet Western Conference defending champion SuperSonics in Seattle Tuesday as they open their best-of-seven series for the conference crown.

"I thought it was an excellent first half for us," said John MacLeod, whose Suns took a 70-46 halftime lead. "Kansas City did not shoot the ball well, and we played well, except for the offensive boards."

"I think this is really the first time that Kansas City had dominated the boards."

"I thought we came to play but we just couldn't get the shots to fall," said Kings center Sam Lacey, who wound up with a team-high 10 rebounds. "We got 29 offensive rebounds, but we just didn't capitalize on it. The effort was there but again we just played poorly offensively."

The second period proved to lead to the Kings' demise as they were able to hit only 18 percent of their shots from the field, connecting on five of 28 attempts.

The Suns outscored the Kings 40-25 in that period, with Westphal picking up half of his 24 first-half points.

NCAA football considers playoffs

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association reportedly has voted in favor of establishing an annual national collegiate football championship.

Arkansas Athletic Director Frank Broyles, a member of the NCAA's Extra Events Committee, was quoted by the Colorado Springs Sun in a copyright story today as saying the eight-member committee voted unanimously Tuesday to endorse a football playoff beginning at the conclusion of the 1980 season.

The plan reportedly calls for two semifinal games and a championship contest, all to be held after the regular post-season bowl games. The four finalists would be chosen after the bowl games by a selection committee, and the title game would be played on the weekend prior to the National Football League's Super Bowl.

Broyles was quoted as saying that representatives of the bowls were opposed to the change, "but a lot of people are eager and anxious to have a playoff."

The playoff proposal reportedly will be presented to the steering committee of the NCAA Council at its meeting this week in Denver. If approved there, the proposal would be placed on the agenda of the annual NCAA convention next January for a final vote.

In that 12-minute stretch, Westphal was 4-for-4 from the field and 4-for-4 at the free throw line.

The best team won, acknowledged Kings Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons.

"They just had more experience and it showed up in the playoffs," he said. "But we'll be back, and with more experience because of the playoffs, we'll be better."

"I think Kansas City played hard the whole series," MacLeod said. "It's a young club, with the exception of Lacey, and a team for the future."

Trailing by 24 points, the Kings came on strong at the onset of the third period, outscoring the Suns 15-6 in the first 5½ minutes. That Kansas City effort was keyed by guard Otis Birdsong, who got eight of his 21 points during that run, and by forward Bill Robinson, who tallied his first six points of the game then.

But after the Kings had whittled the Suns lead to 15 points at 76-61, two fouls and a traveling call allowed the Suns to regain their momentum.

Ward's to sponsor next Chamber Fun Breakfast

Sponsor of the next Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Fun Breakfast, scheduled for 6:26 a.m., Tuesday, May 8, is Montgomery Ward Company.

The meal will be served in the Howard College Cafeteria.

Because May is Cleanup Campaign month in Big Spring, the theme of the Fun Breakfast will be "Clean Up, Fix Up, Paint Up."

Everyone in the community is welcome at the Fun Breakfast. Anyone attending is eligible all but one of the cash awards to be given away.

Only Chamber members, however, can qualify for $300 in silver dollars to be awarded. If the winner is not present, the prize will be carried over to the next meeting.

Reservations should be made in advance by calling the Chamber office at 263-7641.

Emcees for the program will be Jim Baum and Pete Jones. Julie Shirey will provide music at the piano. In addition, a representation from the "Up With People" touring group will be on hand to offer a sample of the program they will be giving in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum that evening.

Another in a series of "Big Spring A Wards" will be presented during the program.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, APRIL 29, 1979
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a considerable amount of energy today and this is an excellent time to engage in activities you really enjoy. You can easily reconcile any differences you may have with mate.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Visit places where you can be inspired to greater heights. Make long-range plans to have more abundance in the days ahead.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have fine ideas about how to increase your present income and should act on visiting friends you want to see.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Fine day for shopping and doing important errands. Communicating with others is also wise. Make needed repairs to property, but watch the cost.
CANCER (June 22 to July 22) Plan how to increase your income so that you can hold your own in emergencies. Get good ideas from a successful person you know. Take no risks with stocks and bonds you may have.
LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) Gain personal aims that mean a great deal to you via orthodox methods. Enjoy good friends during spare time. Evening is fine for study and meditation, but retire early.
VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Plan the future as you like it in your own way. Listen to advice of a clever person who is interested in your welfare. Show particular affection for one of whom you are very fond.
LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Get the assistance of good friends for the new goals you plan to reach soon. Know what it is you want from the personal angle.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You are now able to handle community affairs well that have been awaiting your attention for some time. Bring your contacts up to date.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make the new contacts you wish to be allied with and get good results. Plan a vacation in mind carefully. Don't leave anything to chance.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure you keep promises so that you do not get into any kind of trouble later on. Make it a point to show more affection and safeguard your relationship.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do whatever will please your partners most and gain their goodwill, respect. Don't be stingy with compliments where deserved. Avoid one who is very depressive.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make the right decision concerning persons you want to have as allies in the days ahead. Any work you do now should have your own stamp of approval on it.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those persons who need to be praised more than others in order to raise the incentive. Criticism could be disastrous to your highly sensitive progeny. One who is romantic by nature and needs affection from the opposite sex, and will make a rather early marriage, be a good parent and loved by all.

TOM CASTLE BAND — On May 4, members of the Heritage Museum 'family' will kick off their annual Chuck Wagon Party with barbecue and the best of country music by the Tom Castle Band. Members of the band, left to right, include Hub Eastham, Margie Castle, Tom Castle, A.C. Powell, and Gertrude Hamlin.

"THE SOUND OF TEXAS" — This year's Sixth Annual Chuck Wagon Party has many surprises in store for the Heritage Museum members attending the event and Bob Lewis, alias Tumbleweed Smith, is just one of them.

Sixth Annual Chuckwagon Party May 4

Historical Big Spring, Texas preserved at Heritage Museum

By ROBBI CROW
Family News Editor

To most, Big Spring is a town located in West Texas that has always been here and always will be.

But if you've taken the time to tour the Heritage Museum, the realization of years of hardships suffered by many pioneers in order to create such a town as we know it today, become evident.

It is the purpose of the Heritage Museum 'family' to preserve the memory of the pioneers before us that we might not forget them and their efforts.

The local museum has proved to be a historical dimension to Big Spring of the 'olden days.'

May 4 marks the celebration date for the Sixth Annual Chuck Wagon Party sponsored by the Heritage Museum for members only.

Initiated in May of 1974, the party is a way of showing appreciation to the many benefactors including the city, the county and the Dora Roberts Foundation as well as the many faithful and dedicated members who make up the 'museum family.'

In addition to a mountain of food and fun, Tumbleweed Smith will be featured entertainer at this year's event for museum members and their guests.

According to Curator Mrs. Gerri Atwell, Tumbleweed plans to bring some of his favorite taped interviews gathered while producing his syndicated radio show, "The Sound of Texas" which is now heard on more than 70 Texas radio stations.

Smith's after-dinner presentations are laced with humor and reflect the fun of living in Texas. For the Chuck Wagon Party, Smith has included whistling by Crazy Ray, the Dallas Cowboys' number one fan; a report on the Luckenbach Cannon; the great goat pill flip-off; an artist at popping a shoe-shine rag just to name a few.

Known in Big Spring as just plain old Bob Lewis, Tumbleweed got his start in radio at a Big Spring station in 1960.

Lewis, married to the former Susan Zack and father of two sons, has won both national and international recognition for his work in broadcasting. He holds a lectureship at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin where he teaches occasionally in the mass communications Department of Broadcasting.

Also entertaining at this year's event will be the Tom Castle Band, and two dance groups from Faulkner's Talent World.

Tickets can be purchased at the museum for $6 each. Serving will begin at 7 p.m.

"From all indications, this year's Chuck Wagon Party promises to be the best one in its history," exclaimed the museum curator.

If you haven't been through the Heritage Museum in quite a while, and certainly if you haven't ever been through the historical world of Big Spring, make a special effort to drop by 510 Scurry and tour the museum.

It will make you appreciate the great town you live in all the more.

COUNTRY TIME — A good old-fashioned country time is what the Chuck Wagon Party is all about. Pictured here are a group of youngsters from Faulkner's Talent World who will provide additional entertainment at the

OUR HERITAGE — Without the dedicated work and support of the 'museum family', the preservation of Big Spring history would have been impossible. The annual Chuck Wagon Party was created to honor museum members for their continued support. Here, President Janell Davis, Mary Stipp, committee member; Edna Nichols, committee chairman; and Gerri Atwell, curator look over several of the items placed in the museum.

entertainment at the Sixth Annual Chuck Wagon Party slated May 4. These and other children will be on hand performing numbers of tap, tumbling and jazz.

Helen Gladden is Howard County Woman of the Year

Beta Sigma Phi ends 48th year

By ROBBIE CROW
Family News Editor
A dinner at the Big Spring Country Club preceded a night filled with excitement, sensitivity and honors as the chapters of Beta Sigma Phi gathered Thursday in celebration of the sorority's 48th Founder's Day Anniversary.

City Council President Jo Ogle provided the commentary for the evening as mistress of ceremonies. One of many highlights at the event was a musical presentation performed by "His Children" of the First Baptist Church. Joe Whitten directed the group in five versatile selections and then closed with the solo, "One Day at a Time."

"This year, Beta Sigma Phi is proud to announce that Helen Gladden has been chosen as the Howard County Woman of the Year," were the words proclaimed by Rose Stukel while presenting Mrs. Gladden, elementary curriculum coordinator for the Big Spring Independent School District, with the honor.

It was an evening full of surprises and appreciation as each Beta Sigma Phi chapter announced their pledges and girls of the year. Taking honors in Alpha Beta Omicron as Pledges of the Year were Theronne Baker and Susan Joslin. Carol Lowstetter was announced as the Alpha Kappa Omicron Pledge of the Year while Connie Edgemon was proclaimed Mu Zeta Pledge of the Year.

Those representing their chapters as Girls of the Year were Kathy Tedesco, Alpha Beta Omicron; Doris Arcand, Alpha Kappa Omicron; Maria Faulkner, Mu Zeta; and Linda Harp, Xi Pi Epsilon.

Debra Wilson reigned as this year's Beta Sigma Phi Woman of the Year. Judging was conducted by Loretta Glass; a guest at the banquet.

Concluding the nights events was the presentation of the sorority's prize-winning song, "Sister Put Your Hand In Mine," sung by Theronne Baker and accompanied at the piano by Susan Joslin.

'Friends' present third annual Tour of Homes

Five dollar donation opens doors

By ROBBIE CROW
Family News Editor
Beautiful homes featuring unique architectural and interior design will be on display May 6 from 2 to 5 p.m. when the Friends of Howard County Family Service Center presents the third annual Tour of Homes. As the largest fund-raising event sponsored by Friends, all proceeds will go to the Howard County Family Service Center.

Participants donating $5 will earn the opportunity to tour the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, 2411 E. 24th; Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Supal, 813 Highland; and Mr. and Mrs. John Arrick, 509 Westover.

Tickets are available from any member of the Friends as well as at the Family Service Center (located at the rear of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center); First National Bank and Security State Bank the first week in May.

Tickets may also be purchased at Nick's Togs in Highland South Mall; Fraser Hall Design, 601 Main; Final Touch and Swartz Ladies Wear, 125 E. 3rd. There will also be tickets available at the door.

Homeowners have asked that no food, drink, or small children be brought into their homes and that no pictures be taken.

Sponsored by the Big Spring State Hospital, the United Way of Howard County and the citizens of Howard County, the Howard County Family Service Center is directed by Cheryl Davis, M.S., psychologist.

As an integral part of Howard County, the center provides marriage counseling, individual therapy, child-parent counseling and a parenting group.

"Friends also provide service based on individual needs," explained one Friend member, Leslie Johnson.

Mrs. Davis is available to speak to groups such as the PTA, Hyperions and civic organizations, in order to inform them on the mental health field and the services provided by the family center.

Service fees are set up on a sliding scale, based on income. All services performed are done in the strictest confidence, working within the confines of the Confidentiality Act.

Important to any community are these beneficial services performed by the Friends, and by providing the Tour of Homes, the organization is supplying the center with needed funds while presenting the citizens of Howard County the opportunity to look at the lovely homes of Big Spring. Free babysitting will be provided at the First United Methodist Church during four hours.

Meeting the third Thursday of every month at 9:30 a.m. in the Conference Room of Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, members of the Friends feel that this is a most worthwhile organization and urge anyone interested to attend any meeting. Contact the Family Service Center at 3-1362 for additional information.

"We are looking to the citizens of Howard County to support the Tour of Homes as they have done in the past," concluded Mrs. Johnson.

Cinderella entry deadline is May 6

"The first official entry in the Cinderella District II Pageant is Melynda Grifford," revealed Nelda Colclazer, coordinator of the contest.

Melynda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Grifford and she is being sponsored by Dave Contracting.

May 6 has been set as deadline entry at which time a tea will be held for all contestants from 3-5 p.m. in the Cactus Room of the Howard College Student Union Building. Jane Gillit will speak on poise and charm.

All girls are urged to get entries in as soon as possible in order to participate in all pre-pageant activities.

J. Gordon Lunn will serve as master of ceremonies for the event and entertainment will be provided by last year's District II winners, Rhonda Griffin, Penny Brooks, Ginger Brooks and Stacy Mauldin.

MRS. WILLIAM LOUIS JONES

Wedding performed in Baptist church

Ruby Nell Murphy became the bride of William Louis Jones in a wedding ceremony Saturday afternoon in the Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Officiating the 2 p.m. rite was the Rev. Philip McClendon before a basket of gladiolus, carnations and chrysanthemums flanked by palms and an assortment of mixed flowers on either side.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover W. Murphy, 405 Hillside. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Thurmon L. Jones, Midland.

Providing the wedding music for the ceremony was pianist Mrs. Jerry V. Boone, sister of the bride.

The bride chose to wear a gown of bridal satin featuring an overlay of organza. The empire waistline was accentuated with a ruffled flounce forming a scooped neckline enhanced by a sheer buttoned yoke defining the high lace collar.

The gown was designed with long sleeves ending in deep ruffled lace cuffs. Her A-line skirt fell to a chapel-length train. She wore a waltz-length veil of illusion which fell from a bridal cap adorned with matching lace. A cascading bouquet of mixed spring flowers enhanced the bride's ensemble.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Anita Calverley, Garden City. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Jan Hutchings, Brownwood.

They wore floor-length gowns of blue designed with matching floral capes. Nosegays of mixed carnations enhanced their attire.

The groom's brother, Jimmy L. Jones, served as best man for the ceremony. Groomsman was Bill Winget of New Orleans. Seating guests were Alan Jackson and Bob Ketter, both of Midland.

Elizabeth Jones, niece of the groom from Richardson served as flower girl. She was attired in a dress styled identical to the bridal attendants.

The bride's nephew, Brant Murphy, served as ring bearer.

A reception was held in the couple's honor in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was draped with Irish linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of mixed flowers. The three-tiered cake topped with doves was served by Marca Jones, sister of the groom, Richardson; Jane Hutchings, sister of the bride, Brownwood; and Anita Calverley, also sister of the bride, Garden City. Crystal appointments were used.

The groom's table was laid with linen cloth and featured an arrangement of mixed spring flowers. Chocolate cake and coffee were served to those attending by the bride's sister, Mary Boone. Nancy Murphy registered guests.

Out-of-town guests attending included Mr. and Mrs. Travis Couch, Kilgore; Ray Waldrum, Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Garner, Palestine.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, Howard College, and Southwestern Texas State University. She is presently employed as a secretary at Texas Electric Service Co. in Midland.

The groom is a graduate of Robert E. Lee High School and is employed as an electrician at Mid-West Electric Co.

Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed location, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones will make their home in Midland.

Students will play in recital

The Howard College Auditorium will be the site of a recital today at 2:30 p.m. sponsored by the Piano Teachers Forum.

Students participating will be Mechelle Dorton, Nicki Davis, Joanna Hamilton, Rodney McMillon, Katy Thompson, Molly Thompson, Missie Wilson, Lori Gilbert and Kelly McCormick.

Others reciting will be Cary Lewis, Kristi Butts, Sharla Bailey, Rebecca Read, Carol Davey, Sam West, Scott Boland, Christi Bartlett, Kim Boland, Glenda Kohl, Merribeth Bancroft, Pamela Grant, Connie Grisham, Stacy Swann and Misty Johnson.

The Howard County Retired Teachers Association met in the First Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall Tuesday for a covered dish luncheon.

Melvin McFall voiced the invocation.

Dan Conley, president, presided at the business meeting. Members were encouraged to pay their membership fees for 1979-80 at this meeting.

Conley announced that the Senior Citizens Seminar will be held at the 14th and Main Street Church of Christ May 6-7. Officers of the local unit are urged to attend.

The May meeting will be held in the Tumbleweed room of Howard College at which time officers for 1979-80 will be installed.

Mrs. C.E. Prather and Mrs. Cecil Wasson were guests.

Daughter born to Heards

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Heard, San Antonio, formerly of Big Spring, announce the birth of their second daughter, Kristie Ellen April 26.

She weighed 7 pounds and 6 ounces at birth.

Newcomers to meet Wednesday

The Newcomer's Hand Craft Club will meet Wednesday, at 9:30 a.m. at the Reddy Room of the Texas Electric Service Building, 406 Runnels Street.

Mrs. Wilma Clarke will be hostess and Mrs. Macy Schwarz will give the second lesson in the art of wood carving.

Members should bring the plaque they started at the last meeting.

Maternal grandparents of the infant are Shirley Franklin and Dr. W.M. Franklin, both of Big Spring. Mr. and Mrs. H.F. Heard, Big Spring, are the paternal grandparents.

Kristie was welcomed home by her 5-year-old sister, Kasey Jo.

TWEEN 12 and 20

What time is curfew time?

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Will you please answer this question: What time do you think is a decent time for an 18-year-old to be home from a date? I am 18 years old and think I should be able to come home at 1:00 a.m. at the latest. My parents think I should be home by 11:30. My parents know I'm not doing anything wrong but they still worry. I think they worry too much. I have spoken to my parents and they will accept what you say. Please answer as soon as possible. — Ingrid, Stockholm, N.J.

Ingrid: I assume that you are referring to weekends and that you are still in high school. If these assumptions are correct, I would say that 12:00 midnight would be a reasonable time to be home on weekends but should be extended to 1:00 for special occasions.

Dr. Wallace: I am known as the family sleeper. During school days, I usually sleep nine hours a night and during the summer I almost always sleep for 10 hours. My dad says that I am wasting away my life in bed and that I really need only eight hours of sleep and any extra is just wasted.

What is the straight scoop? I am 17 years old. — Cynthia, Astoria, Ore.

Cynthia: Most 17-year-olds average eight hours of sleep per night but the amount needed really depends on the individual. For some, six and one-half hours of sleep is average while others the average is nine and one-half hours. It appears that you are one of the latter.

As long as you have a sense of well-being, you are getting enough.

Generally, the older you become, the less sleep you will need.

Dr. Wallace: I would like to have my nose altered and would like to know how I go about it. Is it expensive and will there be any pain? — Conny, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Conny: Your first step would be to contact your personal physician and have him recommend a plastic surgeon specializing in nose alterations.

The operation usually costs in the $1,000 to $2,000 range depending on the circumstances.

There is a certain amount of pain but oddly not in the nose. The cheekbones below the eyes are painful and for a few weeks you will have two black eyes.

Volunteer recruitment

campaign to begin at VA

Many exciting career opportunities arise in health occupations with a wide variety of fields related to medical programs and administration.

The Annual Recruitment Campaign for Student Volunteers at the Veterans Administration Medical Center will begin May 1 and last through May 31 with a training workshop in the Medical Center Recreational Hall, second floor June 1 at 1 p.m.

In order to qualify, students must be 15 years of age and must appear for a personal interview.

Interviews will be held daily in the Voluntary Service Office by appointment only, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Call J.E. Rouleau or Mrs. Lupe Dominguez at 3-7361 extension to arrange for an appointment and interview.

The minimum assignments normally are two days a week, preferably on alternate days. One day a week assignments can also be arranged.

Career opportunities include services in laboratory, pharmacy, library, voluntary, ward administration, recreational and occupational therapy, dietetics, chaplaincy, nursing, escort-messenger, radiology, ambulatory care, physical therapy and supply.

Jean Jennings named Secretary of the Year

Secretaries across the nation were honored this past week which was designated especially for them. Big Spring secretaries were no different, with a luncheon at the Brass Nail Restaurant Wednesday highlighting the week as National Secretaries Day. Guests were welcomed by the president of the local National Secretaries Association Jean Jennings who was later announced Secretary of the Year by Ella Vonne West.

Doris Huijbregtse introduced by Lucie Roberson, presented an interesting as well as informative talk on secretary status in the world today.

"Secretaries are an endangered species," revealed Mrs. Huijbregtse. She explained that the upward mobility of secretaries has improved over the years offering women stepping stones to middle management. "Even with today's computers and machines, nothing can ever replace the 'thinking' secretary," concluded the speaker.

As the new 1979 Secretary of the Year, Mrs. Jennings is office manager of Lee, Wilson, and Reynolds CPA. She has been employed by the firm for 9 years. As a member of the National Secretaries Association for 9 years, Mrs. Jennings has held the offices of president, vice president, recording secretary, corresponding secretary.

She is married to Jimmie Jennings and they have two daughters, Donna and Renee.

Can't Bare It At the Office

DEAR ABBY: I work in the office of a fairly large company located about four miles from my home, so I often bike to work. When I do, I wear tennis shorts and carry my work clothes in a back pack.

When I'm early, I have a cup of coffee with some of the other early arrivers while I'm still in my tennis shorts. After four months of this routine, my supervisor called me into her office and told me it was very "unprofessional" for me to be standing around in tennis shorts, and I was not to do it anymore!

I told her that as long as I didn't WORK in tennis shorts I saw nothing wrong with it, and I intended to continue. She looked me in the eye and said, threateningly, "We shall see!"

I'm not sure of what she meant by that, but since when can a supervisor tell an employee what to wear to work? Your opinion is needed.

IRKED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR IRKED: What you wear to work is your own business, but once you enter the building, what you wear in the presence of your co-workers becomes the business of your supervisor. Remember, too much exposure can be hazardous to your health — and your job!

Couple unite Friday

Mr. and Mrs. David Bosier are on a wedding trip to Fort Worth following their Friday evening marriage in the First Baptist Church. Officiating the rite was Dr. Kenneth G. Patrick, pastor.

The bride, the former Darlene Mitchell, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon H. Yates, 2863 10th Ave., St. Petersburg, Fla. The groom is the son of Gladys Bosier, 604 Roberts Cutoff, Fort Worth.

Sandy Sparks, Big Spring attended the bride as matron of honor. Best man was Roger Sparks, also of Big Spring.

Rip Griffin Truck Stop is the new Mrs. Bosier's place of employment while the groom is employed by Small Fishing and Tool Rental.

The couple will make their home at 811 Willia, Big Spring.

In the tradition of English and colonial cabinetry... Victoria Oak by Sumter Cabinet. A bedroom for today's generations who value the craftsmanship of the past... when hardwoods from abundant American forests were selected by immigrant cabinetmakers who built simple, yet handsome furnishings for the homes of a vigorous young nation. Recalling designs of the old country, aware of rugged everyday living needs, and proud of woodworking skills learned from their fathers... they created pieces of enduring beauty, grace and utility. Victoria Oak beautifully reflects this tradition.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns honored on 50th

Mr. and Mrs. George Burns will be feted with a reception celebrating 50 years of marriage today from 2-4 p.m. in their home.

The couple met in 1927 in the Midway Community south of Lamesa and were married May 11, 1929, in Big Spring by Claude Wingo, pastor of the First Christian Church.

Born in Riesel, Tex., Mr. Burns farmed throughout his life until his retirement in 1967. Mrs. Burns, the former Ollie Ballew, was born in Collin County, Tex.

Their home is located on a farm 2½ miles west of Ackerly on FM 2902.

Three children were reared by the Burns who are acting as hosts for the celebration. They include Mrs. Don (Shirley) Frazier, Albuquerque, N.M.; and Mrs. Gene (Dorothy) Burrow, and Wayne Burns, both of Big Spring.

They have seven grandchildren. Everyone is invited to come by for refreshments and visit the couple on their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

MAY MARRIAGE — Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McLeod announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara Ann to Miles William Boudle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben A. Boudle. The wedding will take place May 19 in the Wesley United Methodist Church at 7 p.m.

Miss Bryant weds Jack D. White

The Pantego Bible Church chapel was the setting for the April 21 wedding between Denise Bryant and Jack D. White, both of Arlington.

The Rev. Ken Kilinski, pastor, and the Rev. Gary Proietti performed the 11 a.m. double-ring ceremony before an altar featuring a unity and greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dub Bryant, Big Spring. The groom is the son of the late Roy White of Fort Worth.

The wedding music was provided by Chuck Kelly, pianist accompanying Faith Proietti, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was presented down the aisle wearing an off-white suit with a coordinating apricot blouse. She carried a cascading bouquet of mixed spring flowers adorned with greenery.

Attending as bridesmaid was Faith Proietti. She wore a baby blue street-length dress. Mike Marcum served as best man.

The groom's daughter,

Kimberly White, served as flower girl for the ceremony.

Immediately following the wedding, the newlyweds were honored at reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Riemondi.

A buffet luncheon was served to those attending as was a three-tiered cake decorated in the bride's colors of apricot and baby blue. An arrangement of spring flowers enhanced the table as centerpiece. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

The new Mrs. White is graphic production supervisor for CAM-1. She majored in advertising art at Eastern Texas State University.

The groom is a graduate of Texas Wesleyan University in Fort Worth and is now general manager of Southwestern Historical Wax Museum of Grand Prairie.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to San Francisco and Van Cover, British Columbia, the couple will make their home in Arlington.

Kennedys celebrate 50th anniversary

The five children of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kennedy will serve as hosts for a come and go open house honoring the couple on their 50th wedding anniversary.

Russell Kennedy and the former Nettie Mansfield were married May 3, 1929 in the home of Rev. J.W. Bowen of Morgan Community.

Kennedy, born June 10, 1902 farmed until his retirement in 1966. Mrs. Kennedy worked at McCory's Department store for 17 years, three years as manager. Children reared by the Kennedys are Edward Kennedy, Carrigo Springs, Joe Kennedy, Dallas, La Verne Atwell and Carl Kennedy, Odessa and Gayla Paul, Abilene.

The Kennedys are the grandparents of 14 and the great-grandparents of four.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the open house and the couple request that no gifts be brought.
