Representatives soundly reject gas rationing bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders are blaming the stunning defeat of President Carter's standby gasoline-rationing plan on confusion over which Americans would have gotten the most fuel under its provisions.

After several days of intense White House lobbying on Capitol Hill, the House voted 246-159 Thursday night to kill the rationing plan under which Americans would have needed coupons to buy gasoline during a national fuel emergency.

Disregarding an impassioned appeal from House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill that "this is the only plan you'll have," the Democratic-controlled House handed Carter a bitter setback.

"Many Americans felt this was a plan to implement rationing," said

House Whip John Brademas, D-Ind., "even though the bill would only have given Carter standby authority."

In addition, Brademas said last-minute changes to the plan made by the White House to win votes needed in the Senate led to fears in the House that some drivers would have ended up with a disproportionate share of a limited supply.

"It is difficult for members to approve something they don't feel they can count on," he said.

O'Neill likened the issue to the 1938 congressional debate over implementing the national military draft, which was in place when World War II began three years later.

The majority leader said that in a major energy crisis the president would need a rationing plan.

He appealed to colleagues to put aside questions of how much gasoline their own districts would receive if rationing were invoked.

Carter declined immediate comment, but Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of a House Energy subcommittee, said it was unlikely the president would try to find another rationing plan acceptable to Congress.

A White House spokesman said Carter would comment on the situation today.

While Carter could send a new plan to Congress, the one voted on Thursday faced a Friday deadline for action and there is no legal requirement for him to fashion a new plan.

The rationing proposal originated with a 1975 law which required the president to propose various standby measures for use in case of a major cutoff of foreign imports such as the 1974 Arab oil embargo.

Carter made concessions to senators from rural states Wednesday, agreeing to base allocation of gasoline during an emergency on the amount used in each state in past years.

The rationing plan cleared the Senate Wednesday 58-39.

California House members — bitter over what they said was administration inaction in solving already-existing gasoline lines in their state — complained that their constituents would lose gasoline under the compromise agreed to in the Senate. Similar complaints were heard from Pennsylvania.

Crude oil shortage reduces capacity

Oil industry to be watched closely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger says he plans to watch the oil industry closely in the next few weeks to see that gasoline production is not held back in anticipation of higher prices.

But for the moment, Schlesinger told the House Ways and Means Committee Thursday, it is principally a shortage of crude oil — not any oil industry conspiracy — that has held U.S. refineries to 85 percent of capacity.

In an effort to reduce U.S. consumption of foreign oil, President Carter will begin phasing out federal oil-price controls June 1.

Schlesinger went before the committee seeking support for Carter's proposed new tax to take away some of the windfall revenues that will flow to the oil companies after decontrol.

The committee planned to hear today from Charles L. Schultz, Carter's chief economic adviser, on the economic effects of decontrol.

Rep. Ed Jenkins, D-Ga., told Schlesinger many Americans strongly suspect the current scattered shortage of gasoline is a deliberate effort by the oil companies to hold down production until decontrol begins and the maximum allowable price of oil is raised.

"We have no such evidence," Schlesinger replied.

He added that as oil imports from Iran continue to climb toward normal levels, refinery output should increase. The Energy Department will monitor the refineries and "if they are too conservative, we will take action," he promised.

The Carter administration contends controls have held the price of U.S.-produced oil artificially low in comparison with oil from the rest of the world and has contributed to a 30 percent decline in the value of the dollar abroad.

Schlesinger estimated that removal of controls will raise the price of gasoline five-to-seven cents a gallon by 1981 and will cause an overall increase in inflation of about 0.3 percent.

But the alternative would be worse, he told the committee. The decline of the dollar over the last few years "has cost the average American family many times over the modest cost of phased decontrol," Schlesinger said.

Carter's plan has come under attack from friends of the industry, who say oil companies should be allowed to use the windfall revenues however they want, and from liberals, who want to continue controls indefinitely in an effort to hold down prices.

The Treasury Department estimates removal of price controls will increase oil-company revenues in 1979 through 1981 by a total of $15.4 billion. After existing state and local taxes, federal income taxes and payments to owners of oil lands are subtracted, the oil companies would be left with $8 billion. Carter's proposed tax would take $2 billion of that $8 billion and use the money to help the poor pay their fuel bills, to aid mass transit and to finance development of new energy sources.

Meanwhile, White House press secretary Jody Powell indicated Thursday Carter would be reluctant to sign any legislation reimposing oil price controls unless it were accompanied by provisions to reduce U.S. reliance on imported oil, to restrain oil consumption, to encourage domestic production, to provide funds for alternate energy sources and to help the poor pay their fuel bills.

In other energy developments: —Rep. Thomas A. Daschle said Thursday administration officials "swear up and down" farmers will get all the additional diesel fuel they need to get this year's crop planted.

Eight missing after oil rig collapses in Gulf

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Eight persons were reported missing early today after an oil rig containing 34 men collapsed in the Gulf of Mexico, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard said 26 men have been taken by helicopter to John Sealy Hospital here for treatment of various injuries.

Four were admitted with conditions listed from fair to serious, the hospital said, including one man whose arm was sheared off in the accident late Thursday night.

Coast Guard divers were quickly dispatched to the rig in waters about 12 miles south of Galveston. They waited until daybreak to determine if it was safe to enter the submerged portion of the three-legged rig, which rested at a 45-degree angle.

Initial reports indicated 12 persons were missing, but the Coast Guard said there had been early confusion about how many were aboard the platform, owned by Atlantic Pacific Marine Corp. of Houston. The Ranger One rig is leased to Mitchell Energy and Development Corp. of Houston.

Bob McKinna, a spokesman for Coast Guard search and rescue operations in New Orleans, said only 34 crewmen were aboard the platform. Twenty-six were rescued.

McKinna said several more men reportedly were aboard a crew boat, the "Delta Seahorse," moored to the rig. He said the crew boat reportedly did not sink.

Three Coast Guard helicopters, the cutter "Point Monroe," Coast Guard divers and several civilian boats searched early today for the missing men. Survivor Paul Fromberg, 26, an employee of IMCO Service Co. Inc., said he was in the galley of the crew quarters when one of the structure's three legs collapsed beneath him.

Four crewman admitted to John Sealy Hospital

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Here is the list of the men rescued from the offshore oil rig which collapsed in the Gulf of Mexico and taken to John Sealy Hospital.

- ADMITTED
1. Louis D. LeFever Jr., 26, Lake Charles, La., lost arm, stable condition.
  2. Mike Carlisle, 20, Bogie Chitto, Miss., leg burns, satisfactory condition.
  3. Brent Bowers, 37, Coushatta, La., facial burns, critical condition.
  4. James Ferguson, 63, Hurst, Texas, fair condition.

- TREATED AND RELEASED
5. Paul Fromberg, 26, 3301 Morrison, Houston.
  6. R.C. Quick, 55, Fresno, Texas.
  7. James Copeland, 31, of Conroe, Texas.
  8. Felix Trim, 34, Abbeville, La., treated and released.
  9. Perry Lofton, 45, Marksville, La.

"I didn't hear any crash, there was a sensation of dropping," Fromberg said. "I was in the galley when it suddenly dropped and we were up in the air with furniture flying."

He said he found a floating raft.

10. Mickey L. Crosby, 28, Bogie Chitto, Miss.
11. Mark A. Oliver, 21, Lafayette, La.

School trustees to apply for $562,327

Big Spring Independent School Board members moved to apply for a total of $562,327 in state and federal funds Thursday in their regular meeting at the high school.

The largest part of the total, $422,000, will be Title I funds. Title I funds are earmarked for a program for educationally deprived students in the Big Spring District.

The federal funds will come through the Texas Education Agency if the application is accepted. The $422,000 is the highest amount the government has determined can be allotted to the district.

A total of $74,327 for a program for severely handicapped students will also be applied for. The money comes under the Education for the Handicapped Act. The federal funds are for a program that gives priority to severely handicapped students. The program started last year and is for students with cerebral palsy and other disabling illnesses. The bulk of the amount will be spent for specially trained personnel. The funds will also be funneled through TEA if the application is accepted.

Funds applied for under State Compensatory Education total $66,000.

The state funds will be funneled with the Title I money into a program for educationally deprived students. The board is applying for approximately $40 per student.

The State Compensatory application will be applied for under the Title I application. Most of the money will be put into salaries for the staff of the program but a large amount will be put into the computer Title I program in Runnels and Goliad that began this year.

Five teachers who were still being evaluated for teaching contracts for the 1979-1980 school year were approved. School board members went into executive session.

Teachers who begin teaching in September are evaluated in March. The five who were evaluated Thursday night started after November and were evaluated in May, as per district policy.

The formal resignation of Jack Bowers was accepted at the Thursday meeting. He was the choral director at the high school before he left the position last month.

A student suspension was reviewed at the meeting. Under the State Education Code a suspension made for more than ten days must be reviewed by the board. The board recommended the suspension and the high school student was suspended for the remainder of the quarter.

The Band Parents group requested that the school board consider employment of an assistant band director at the high school. Jean Kuykendall and Dale Wortham were the spokespersons for the group.

Also requested were uniforms and flags for a newly formed flag corps at the high school. Wortham said the uniforms would cost $86 each and the new flags would cost $800. The corps is an all girl group.

Board members Charles Bell and Dr. James Mathews will hand out diplomas at the high school graduation ceremonies.

The second meeting of the month was set for May 24.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: No law

Q. Is there a law requiring car washes to put a non-slip surface around the building to keep customers from slipping?

A. Local attorney Richard Palmer said he had never heard of such a law. A slip and fall case involving a car wash would have to be decided by a court of law on the merits of the facts of the individual case.

Tops on TV: 'The Best of Dean'

You'll get variety galore on tonight's NBC special, "The Best of Dean." The show, which airs at 8 o'clock, will feature show-biz greats who appeared with Deano over a period of seven years while "The Dean Martin Show" was a regular fixture. Following this, stay glued to the set for the ABC presentation of Robert Altman's "MASH." Airing at 10:30 p.m., this flick is better than a whole season of the TV series of the same name.

Calendar: Golf Association

TODAY
Chicano Golf Association will hold a meeting at Carlos' Restaurant at 7:30 p.m. Members are urged to attend.

The Head Start - Kindergarten Roundup for the Big Spring Independent School District begins with come-and-go registration at Lakeview from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. At Kentwood, the registration program is at 2:30 p.m., and parents must bring the child, birth certificate and medical shot records in order to register.

Big Spring Christian Academy Students present "Down By The Creek," a children's musical, at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium. The public is invited to attend. Admission is free.

The Big Spring High School Senior Talent Show begins at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium. Admission charge of $1 will go toward the purchase of the senior class gift to the school.

SATURDAY
The Howard County Library will show three films from 2 p.m. until 3 p.m. They are: "The Siege of the Alamo," "Woof, Woof!" and "Hooper Bloob Highway."

Espionage 'frightening'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York is the "spy capital" of the nation in numbers, but the amount of espionage in Southern California's aerospace industry "is frightening," says the new head of the FBI's Los Angeles office.

Herbert Clough Jr. said Thursday that Southern California is an espionage plum because "the goodies are here." Some 50 percent of all classified government contracts are in Southern California, he said.

He said a new FBI program to alert firms to the dangers of espionage has been effective, but would not discuss details.

Local AFA Chapter will remain active

Members of the Permian Basin Air Force Association Chapter 318 met with state and area AFA officials during a quarterly meeting Thursday night at the Brass Nail. After remarks were made by the AFA officials, and out-of-town members of the local chapter, it was decided that the local chapter would remain active and that future meetings would remain in Big Spring until the chapter could get through the rebuilding stages.

Frank Manupelli, Texas AFA president, said "Halinger also has a problem similar to the one being faced by the Big Spring chapter. They formed the Rio Grande Chapter after the closure of a base there. And they've got only half the members that you've got in Big Spring and they're going to remain active."

In reference to a question concerning the possibility of becoming a part of the Lubbock Chapter, Manupelli said "I don't think you want to be a part of the Lubbock chapter, even though it's an excellent one. If you are having a hard time getting people to come to the Big Spring meetings, you're not going to be able to get them to go to the Lubbock meetings. You will not continue to be a viable chapter if you merge with Lubbock."

He went on to say that the state had sent out questionnaires to members of the local chapter and received an overwhelming response indicating that they wished to retain the Permian Basin Chapter of the AFA and to have all meetings in Big Spring.

Manupelli said that the state and national headquarters of AFA would be more than happy to do whatever was necessary to keep the Permian Basin Chapter to even consider giving up the local chapter and merging with the Lubbock chapter.

Tim Glasgow, Texas AFA vice president, said that the AFA should be using more groups in the community to help in their "back-to-back" other organizations. He went on to say that the AFA could get speakers for such organizations as the Lions and Rotary clubs to tell the Air Force story and the need in this country for a strong national security.

James S. Long, West Texas vice president of AFA, said that with good food service and a quality speaker, the local chapter would receive the participation it had in the past when the Air Force base was still active. He said the Big Spring chapter was a good organization and would hate to see it change just because the Air Force decided to close Webb AFB, and said that the AFA was a vital link to the Big Spring community.

Haynes M. Bumgardner, Lubbock Chapter president, said that even though Reese AFB was still active, he did not feel that the base made the AFA chapter. "It is the downtown people of Big Spring, Midland and Odessa who make the chapter," he said. "You only have to have a small nucleus of people in a chapter to reach your objectives. And you still have blue suiters all over the world who are still members of the Big Spring chapter."

Manupelli joined Bumgardner in saying that it was the downtown people who usually did the work in the AFA chapters and not the blue suiters. And said that the local problems facing the Big Spring Chapter were the same being faced by all communities after the closure of a military installation.

The reason for the discussion, and for the gathering of the area and state officials, was a result of requests within the local chapter to affiliate with a chapter where there was still an active Air Force base. All of the officials said they did not see any particular problems being faced with the local chapter and said they were pleased with the turnout at the meeting at the Brass Nail.

Dr. John Key, acting president of the Permian Basin Chapter, opened the floor for motions concerning the local chapter. It was unanimously decided that the Big Spring chapter would remain active, that the name would continue to be the Permian Basin Chapter, and that meetings would be held in Big Spring until the local chapter could get over the current rough spots.

A nominating committee was also named to select a new slate of officers for the coming year and to place those names before the general membership for a vote. Named to the nomination committee were Col. Harry Spannaus, USAF, retired; Col. Ralph Brooks, USAF, retired; Dr. John Key; and J.G. Brock of Odessa.

Stacy reservoir permit decision due May 23

The Texas Water Commission will take action at 2 p.m., May 23 on a motion for rehearing of the permit awarded to the Colorado River Municipal Water District for a reservoir at Stacy.

A week ago the Lower Colorado River Authority and two other protestants filed the motion for a rehearing under which the TWC awarded CRMWD the permit to construct a dam on the Colorado River 25 miles southeast of Ballinger. Frank Booth, attorney for the CRMWD, filed an answer Tuesday to this motion and the TWC docketed the matter for action.

Should the TWC deny the motion for a rehearing, a course of action both sides anticipate, then protestants will have 30 days in which to perfect an appeal to District Court. An appeal, however, would be on the basis of the record in the record-length hearing and no new matters may be interjected.

The TWC awarded the CRMWD a permit to impose a 554,000-act. ft. lake with an annual yield of 113,000 ac. ft. Of this 88,000 would be for municipal use and 25,000 for industrial use.

Hance predicts cost of gas will spiral to $1.25 gallon

LAMESA — U.S. Congressman Kent Hance predicted at a Lamesa town meeting here the past weekend that the price of gasoline would go to $1.25 a gallon and said he did not hold out any hope for a cut in taxes this year.

Hance also said there had been a decrease in spending in every national program this year except for defense, adding that more money for defense is needed. "The problem with defense is that during the Nixon and Ford administrations, defense did not take priority," Hance said, "but Sec. of Defense Harold Brown has done a good job, especially in the last nine months or so, in selling the administration on defense."

Hance also predicted that congress will take no positive action on national health insurance.

Grier: Be honest and fair

Cecelia Mann selected valedictorian at HC

Cecelia A. Mann was named valedictorian of the 1979 graduates at Howard College, which conducted its 50th annual commencement exercises in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Thursday evening.

A crowd estimated at 700 gathered in the spacious coliseum to watch the parade of the 83 persons who earned associate degrees in either Arts, Applied Arts or Applied Science and to listen to Roosevelt Grier, the former NFL star who is now a television actor.

Salutatorians in the class are Mike Bowen and J. C. Schovajsa.

Honor graduates include Desiree Ann Bedford, Mike Bowen, Karla K'Lynn Boyer, Wanda Fay Brewer, Lorie Jolene Bynum, Diatra Fowler, Lyn Ann Garner, Cecelia Mann, J. C. Schovajsa and Debra Kay Willis Stephens.

Grier, who flew here earlier in the day from his home in Los Angeles, said he had learned to be content by looking at only the positive things in life.

He urged the graduates to master the art of communicating with one another and to be honest and fair in their business dealings.

"Where ever I go, I meet my brother and my sister," Grier said, "they don't have to be the same color."

Grier said he had become acutely aware of the presence of God.

"We're going to live forever," Grier said, in analyzing what his faith meant to him, "prayer is important. We should not be afraid to pray." Grier touched only briefly on his career with the New York Giants and the Los Angeles Rams, his association with the Robert Kennedy family and his experiences in the acting profession.

Joe Whitten, minister of music at the First Baptist Church, sang "One Day at a Time" before Grier was introduced by Dr. Charles Hays, Howard College president. The invocation and the benediction were pronounced by the Rev. Bill Henning, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

The degrees were conferred upon the graduates by Hays, college board president Don McKinney and Dr. Bobby Wright, the school's vice president for instruction. Harlen Thornton provided music at the piano for the processional and the recessional.

Degrees were presented to:

For the record

It was incorrectly reported to the Herald Thursday that the bond for Ismael Juarez was set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin at $2,500. The correct amount of the bond is $25,000.

Juarez was returned to Howard County from state prison when he was granted a writ of habeas corpus by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Seven truth tests studied

Another polygraph test was given at the DPS in Midland Wednesday night bringing the total to seven tests. A local man was cleared of involvement in the bizarre double murders of Ann and Tracey Reeves. Three of the seven tests are still under evaluation.

Easy-to-fix items hurt lawnmower's performance

There's nothing like starting the morning with a fresh cup of coffee. Likewise, a fresh supply of gasoline will help start your lawnmowing season off right.

Stale coffee may ruin your disposition, but stale gasoline can foul up your mower. According to service engineers at Champion Spark Plug Company, stale gasoline left standing in your tank may become contaminated with condensation over the winter. It can form harmful deposits on internal parts of the mower, hindering starting or trouble-free operation.

Champion advises flushing any leftover gasoline from the fuel system. It may also be necessary to clean out the carburetor as well.

A second major impediment to good lawn mower performance is a dirty air cleaner which could choke air from the carburetor. Before attempting the first cutting of the season, clean the filter. For a steel mesh-type cleaner, merely wash it with a solvent (not gasoline) and apply a fresh coat of oil.

For oil-bath type cleaners, pour out the old oil, clean the parts and put in new oil, preferably of heavy weight. If your mower has a disposable type paper air filter, merely install a new one.

A third common deterrent to dependable lawn mower operation is a worn or fouled spark plug. A new plug should be installed at the start of the mowing season. Also, the ignition lead should be checked for cracked insulation or other signs of wear.

According to Champion, the only other work the average do-it-yourselfer should attempt on his mower is general clean-up of debris on the mower and possibly lubrication of throttle, choke or control linkage.

Services like blade sharpening, breaker point adjustment or heavy maintenance projects are best left to qualified power mower repair shops.

Space-saving column good for number of ferns

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

If you would like to grow a number of ferns but your space is limited, fashion a space-saving fern column. Or you could make a column for a number of other plants.

Building a fern column isn't very complicated. Needed will be a piece of half-inch wire mesh 18 inches by 14 1/2 inches, an 8-inch-wide clay saucer, plaster of Paris, sheet moss, a few feet of galvanized metal wire and U-shaped hairpins.

Wrap the wire mesh into a column and secure it with wire. Make the column 4 1/2 inches in diameter and 18 inches tall. Mix plaster of Paris to cement the base of the wire column to the clay saucer and hold it erect. It will harden in a day.

Fill the column with a damp mix of one part perlite, one part soil and two parts peat moss. Roots of the fern should be planted in the mixture through holes in the wire mesh. Cover the exposed wire with sheet moss and secure it to the mesh with the hairpins.

And the ferns: They like bright, indirect light and moist soil:

You can also make a plant column for growing small ferns, flowers and foliage under glass. Robert C. Baur, who has written a booklet of instructions for making a plant column, says columns are easy to care for and offer an opportunity to display a variety of plants in a little space.

"Combining decorative appeal with the practicality of self-contained gardening, glass-enclosed, wire plant columns are the terrarium show-offs," says Baur, adding:

"Like the Wardian Case, forerunner of the terrarium, plant columns originated in England for displaying ferns."

In his booklet — available from Terrarium, 57 Wolfpit Ave., Norwalk, Conn. 06851, for $1 each, less in bulk — Baur tells how to assemble a column and provides lists of foliage, ferns and flowering plants.

Better Bird Feeder

Have squirrels been robbing your bird feeder? Glenn Dudderar of Michigan State University says you can manage squirrels at the bird feeder by fencing them out with 2 by 4 inch mesh poultry wire.

"If you enclose the feeder in wire, the smaller birds can walk in and out freely," he notes. "Larger birds can easily reach in to feed, but they can't monopolize the feeder. The squirrels, too, can poke their heads in and get a few sunflower seeds. But they won't be able to get all of the seeds, so there'll be plenty left for the birds."

Dudderar says a metal squirrel guard on the post of a free-standing feeder is effective only if the feeder is more than six feet off the ground. (But don't make it too high for you to supply comfortably.)

Or you can grease the feeder pole, making it slippery for squirrels. Be sure any tree, shrub, roof or fence or other potential launching pad is far enough from the feeder to discourage a jumping squirrel. Fix the feeder so squirrels can't work their way down a cord or wire holding it.

Nutrition essential

Furnishing your lawn with proper nutrition is an essential part of any lawn care program. And, the manner and timing of fertilizer application can make the difference as to whether the entire lawn receives adequate plant food, or whether it's a hit-or-miss operation.

Before applying lawn fertilizer be sure you have selected the proper product for the proper season. Some lawn fertilizers are all-purpose plant nutrient mixtures and can be applied at any time of the year. There also are special formulations made for use primarily in spring, or summer, or fall.

Note whether the product should be applied to moist or to dry foliage — or if it makes any difference. Also, note whether chance of rainfall within 24 hours after application makes any difference. Some fertilizer-pesticide combination products require a day-long period of dry weather after application for the pesticide to be most effective; while, for some types of fertilizer, the lawn should be sprinkled after applying.

Also, before applying any lawn and garden product, read the manufacturer's instructions carefully, says The Fertilizer Institute.

Make sure your fertilizer applicator is in good condition. Clean applicator holes with a stiff brush, and oil wheels and operating lever for smooth, even operation.

Then, when ready to begin application, apply one or two "header" strips across each of the shorter ends of the lawn to provide a turning space. Operate the spreader the long way of the lawn. To avoid double application, shut off the spreader gradually when approaching the header strips. Keep spreader closed as you turn to head back, then open again once header strip is cleared.

If trees or shrubs are in the lawn, shut off the spreader just before getting to the trunk, then open spreader once more on the opposite side and continue your spreading pattern.

Casting set by Florida Gas in southeast Howard

Florida Gas Exploration Co., Midland, was waiting on cement after setting 5 1/2-inch casing at an unreported depth, at its No. 1 Neel, in 33-33-T&P, indicated second producer and a 3/4-mile southeast extension to the Florac (Strawn) field of Howard County, four miles southwest of Big Spring.

Production was indicated with the recover of 590 feet of oil, along with 710 feet of drilling fluid, on a drillstem test at 9,340-406 feet. Recovery was 150 feet of drilling mud on a test at 9,532-10,017 feet, the total depth.

The discovery, the firm's No. 1-32 Stella Perry, was finalized Feb. 14 for 270 barrels of 41 gravity oil, with gas oil ratio of 1,040-1, through a 17-64-inch choke and perforations at 9,336-1370 feet.

A Borden County discovery has been indicated.

An unidentified discovery was indicated with the pumping of 21 barrels of oil, along with 21 barrels of fluid, in an unreported time at Westland Oil Development Corp., Houston, No. 1 Ralph Miller, in 32-30-6N-J.H. Gibson, 3/4-mile northwest of the depleted one-well NSD (Ellenburger) field, 3/4-mile southeast of the depleted Thirty-Three (Strawn and Ellenburger) field and eight miles north of Gail.

Western Week at Coahoma ends with rodeo

Western Week at Coahoma ended Friday, May 4 with the High School Rodeo. Cabell Mackie and Shaun Moser taking the all-around cowboy and cowgirl honors.

Charlie Thompson of Lubbock was stock producer for the show, with Guitarr Ranch providing steers. Belt buckles were presented to the all-around, as well as to first place winners in each event.

Ron Belew earned the bareback bronc riding buckle; Cabell Mackie, bull riding; Paul Gossard, the tie-down, ribbon and breakaway roping buckles; Daron Moore and Tim Newton, team roping; Shaun Moser, barrel and flag races; Brenda Scott, pole bending; Randy Phillips and Paul Gibbs, rescue race; and Kyle Bennett, chute dogging.

Awards were presented Friday evening at the rodeo banquet in the Elementary Cafeteria. Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Mark Walker Sportsmanship Award to Brooks Wallis and Cindy McMahan.

'Gasless Weekend' draws fire

The Texas Oil Marketers Association President Maxey Grossenbacher, Rio Hondo, says the state's largest organization of gasoline distributors will not endorse a proposed "gasless weekend," May 17-20.

"We are in the business of providing petroleum products to the consuming public...we feel it is our obligation to Texas consumers to do everything possible to see to it that gasoline is available to motorists," Grossenbacher stated.

THE TOMA President made this statement in response to reports that certain service station groups around the country were planning to close down May 17-20 in protest of Federal price controls.

He says his Association, which does not represent service station dealers, but is composed of 700 companies which supply petroleum products to approximately two-thirds of the more than 18,000 service stations in Texas, has also been frustrated with Federal price controls which limit the margin of profit for wholesalers and retailers to unrealistically low levels.

"Our Association feels that the outdated price controls, which set our margin of profit as the amount on May 15, 1973, plus a very small adjustment, need to be revised to allow increased margins. We are pursuing this through the appropriate channels and the Department of Energy and do not feel that we should burden the public by closing service stations," Grossenbacher said.

perforations at 8,400-810 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 20,000 gallons and 20,000 gallons. Testing continued.

The NSD opener, W.A. Moncrief, et al, No. 1 R.C. Miller, was finalized Sept. 2, 1958 for 311 barrels of oil, plus 166 barrels of water, through a 20-64-inch choke and open hole at 8,740-754 feet.

The Thirty-Three field produced from the Strawn at 8,412 feet and the Ellenburger at 8,735 feet.

Pecan nut casebearer is major pest in Texas

The pecan nut casebearer is the major pest of Texas pecans. The over-wintering generation feeds first in buds and then in developing shoots in early spring. Succeeding generations feed on nuts during late spring and summer.

The adult is a light gray moth, with the forewings having a ridge of dark scales 1/2 inch in length.

This insect overwinters as a partially grown larva in a tiny silken cocoon. In the spring, larvae feed for a short time on buds, thereafter tunneling in developing shoots or may crawl down to the rough bark of large limbs to pupate. Moths emerge in late April or May.

Two or three days after adult females emerge, they deposit from 50 to 150 eggs on the tips of nuts. The eggs are greenish white when deposited but later assume a reddish appearance. First-generation larvae hatch in 4 or 5 days and migrate to buds below the nuts to feed. After a couple of days they enter the nuts at the base and feed. Bits of grass and webbing may be observed projecting from injured nuts. The larvae then pupate in the nuts and emerge as moths in June and early July.

The adults then deposit eggs in grooves on the tips or bases of nuts.

Second-generation larvae which hatch from these eggs also feed in the nuts. Less damage is produced by this generation because the nuts are larger and each larva requires only one or two nuts to complete its development. Pupation occurs in hollow nuts and moths emerge from late July to early September.

A third-generation usually follows, but nut shells are hard, and only a few larvae are able to penetrate the shells. Instead they feed in the shucks. Many larvae of the third-generation construct silken cocoons, while the remainder pupate and emerge as adults from late August to October.

Adults deposit eggs, which hatch into fourth-generation larvae. If nuts are not available, their shucks constitute the food source for this generation along with buds and stems. Overwintering cocoons are constructed by partially grown larvae by mid-November.

Casebearer control can be determined by examining the shoots in the spring. If shoots are wilted, observation for egg laying is needed.

Trees should be sprayed when eggs of the first-generation appear in May on the tips of young nuts. Egg deposition occurs after completion of pollination when nut tips turn brown. Satisfactory control may be obtained by using Guthion, Thiodan, Malathion, Zolone, or Sevin.

One or two applications may be required to control first-generation nut casebearers. However, if trees surrounding the treated area are not sprayed, moths may enter the sprayed area and a serious infestation of second-generation larvae may develop. If this occurs, an application may be required in June or early July when second-generation eggs are deposited.

U.S. serviceman shot, killed in Istanbul

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Unidentified gunmen shot and killed a U.S. serviceman in a suburb of Istanbul today, the state radio reported. He was the second GI slain in Turkey in less than a month. The radio, quoting official sources, said the killers, cruising in a Turkish-made sedan car, opened fire on a group of American servicemen waiting for their service bus in front of a motel in Atakoy, and wounded his companion, Sgt. Jeffrey P. Vail.

That ambush, staged in broad daylight in the heart of Turkey's third biggest city, was claimed by the Turkish People's Liberation Front, a remnant of a Marxist gang that pulled off many of the terrorist acts in the early 1970s.

Leftist terrorists shot and killed Master Sgt. Edward E. Claypool, in the Aegean port city of Izmir on April 11

Consumer regulations discussed

Ray Motesbocker, regional director for the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), discussed new and pending consumer regulations during a quarterly meeting of the Big Spring Chapter of Credit Unions. The meeting, held at the Brass Nail Thursday night, was attended by a near capacity crowd of employees and officials from the nine area credit unions.

In his opening remarks, Motesbocker said there are "a lot of things I would rather talk to you about tonight besides consumer legislation, but I feel nothing is more timely." He said that NCUA had been imposing new regulations on credit unions because they knew these new laws were "coming down the pipe."

Part of the reason for many of these new credit union regulations was a direct result of the new powers and accelerated growth of credit unions, Motesbocker said. And as a result, credit unions have become more visible to our elected representatives and other financial institutions. He cited such new powers as share drafts, 30-year mortgages, and share certificates as a few of the reasons for the credit unions' increasing visibility in the financial marketplace.

"Have credit unions given up some of their original intent for these new powers," Motesbocker asked. "I don't think so, but other financial institutions feel they have." He went on to say that not all credit unions would take advantage of the new powers granted credit unions, but that all would have to face the new consumer regulations that are being released this year.

As a result of the new consumer legislation, many new loan contracts and other materials are being changed to meet the new regulations. Many of these changes were enacted by Congress because they felt the average consumer could not understand the language of many of the contracts they had to sign and the amount they were paying for credit. Therefore, credit unions are being required to spell out percentage rates, put those rates in bold print, and explain the cost of the credit and the loan agreement in detail. As an end result, the loan contracts have grown to such a length that the average consumer does not take the time to read them.

Motesbocker went on to say that the National Credit

Union Administration did not make the laws, but that it was its job to enforce them and to insure that credit unions complied with them. "We all have to live with them," he continued, and said that NCUA could often find if credit unions were complying with the new regulations through the annual examinations NCUA makes on credit unions.

"Truth-in-lending was one of the first laws affecting NCUA that was not contained in the Federal Credit Union Act," he said. "All credit unions have a thick manual of federal regulations now as a result of these new laws, most of which were passed during the last ten years," he said, "as a result of Regulation Z. Regulation Z has been added to and has become more complex."

"There will be an impact on all financial institutions," he said.

PERFORMING TONIGHT — The public is invited to be in the audience when Big Spring Christian Academy students present their second performance of the children's musical "Down By The Creek" at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium. Admission is free. The entertainment, a repeat of the academy's 10 a.m. performance, will be highlighted with contemporary gospel music sung by the academy's Master's Singers' chorale. Some of the stars of the musical are, above, seated from left, Michael Pearce, Tina Pearce, Darrel Hinshaw, Bryon Gossett and Sammy Kerby, and standing, Kyna Kerby and Damon Boudreaux. Below, inertube-framed Sue Ann Edmondson is surrounded by, clockwise from lower left, Kevin Mullins, Lavinda Elliott, Jana Miller, Casey Burden, Steve Coates, Mariana Pearce and Chris McClure. Choir director, not pictured, is Mrs. Danny Burden.

One-time youngest pastor speaks at Baptist workshop

The Big Spring Baptist Association will meet for its annual Sunday School Workers Workshop Monday, 7 p.m., at the Crestview Baptist Church.

The theme of the meeting is "Rejoice, You're A Sunday School Worker." Special music will be provided by the Ladies Ensemble of First Baptist Church.

Dr. Jaroy Weber, who, at 16, was the youngest pastor to ever serve in Texas, will be the keynote speaker at the opening session at 7 p.m.

A native of Louisiana, Weber holds a B.A. degree from Louisiana College, a B.D. degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and a D.D. from Louisiana Baptist College.

All of Weber's education was acquired while pastoring some of the outstanding Southern Baptist Churches. During the ten years he pastored the North Orange Baptist Church, the church grew from a congregation of 23 people to a membership of 2,900 with a complete church staff. He baptized 1,534 of the congregation.

While pastoring First Mothers Day service set

A special program is planned for Mother's Day by College Park Church of God, 603 Tulane.

The Ladies' Choir will provide music for the special services. Gifts will be given to the oldest mother, youngest mother and to the mother with the most children.

The Rev. Louise Gilstrap will be the speaker. Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m. and morning worship is at 10:45 a.m.

The Rev. Earl Akin, pastor, welcomes all who wish to attend. A special welcome is extended to the parents of bus children.

DR. JAROY WEBER

Baptist Church in West Monroe, La., from 1949 to 1959, membership increased from 3,000 to 4,500 and the church budget grew from $60,000 to $324,000.

The same type of substantial growth in membership and budget was experienced by First Baptist Church, Beaumont, where he pastored for five years and by Dauphin Way Baptist Church in Mobile, Ala., where he served for seven years.

He accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Lubbock, the second largest church in the Southern Baptist Convention, in 1973.

Dr. Weber has traveled extensively throughout the world. On a mission trip in 1955, he visited 18 countries and in 1963 participated in the New Life Movement in Japan and other areas of the Orient.

He attended the 1966 World Congress on Evangelism in Berlin, Germany, and the 1974 congress in Lusane, Switzerland. He took an extensive tour of the Bible lands in the summer of 1972.

Weber and his wife, Nettie, have three children, Dr. Jaroy Weber Jr., a plastic surgeon in private practice in Palo Alto, Cal. and instructor at Stanford Medical Center; Billy, pastor of the Northway Baptist Church in Dallas; and Nettie Beth, an evangelistic singer.

Following what promises to be an inspiring talk from Dr. Weber, training sessions will be conducted by local leaders at the Monday workshop. The conferences and leaders are General Offices, Bill Rogers; Adults, Virginia Bryant; Youth, Ron Killough; Children, Lyn Phillips, and Preschool, Helen Rogers.

Rev. Sanford leads week-long revival

Revival services will be conducted at Berea Baptist Church, 4004 Wasson Road, May 13-20. Services will be held daily at 7:30 p.m. The evangelist will be the Rev. Dan Sanford, pastor of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church. He has conducted revivals in churches throughout West Texas and has earned a reputation as an outstanding Bible preacher.

Jehovahs Witnesses report large assembly turnout

L. Delton Rodgers, congregation spokesman for area Jehovah's Witnesses who attended the recent semi-annual Circuit Assembly in Arlington, describes the program as "spiritually uplifting." "It was based on the Bible Books of Titus and First Thessalonians and stressed our individual role to maintain a high moral standard in every aspect of our Christian life." Following the program and a talk encouraging the participants on being zealous and in public Bible teaching work, five presented themselves for water baptism. A peak attendance of 727 was reached during the weekend assembly.

LISTEN TO THE CHILDREN

For every teenager on drugs — popping pills or smoking marijuana — there are 48 on alcohol. 8,000 youth die every year due to accidents caused by alcohol. Another 40,000 are crippled. Half of all high school students admit they have experimented with drugs. Another third admit that they are regular users. That's one-third of 37,000,000 students. Half of all major crimes are committed by youth 16 to 17 years old. Last year youth committed 2,000 rapes, 16,000 muggings and 76,000 assaults on teachers. Youth vandalism costs an estimated $4,000,000 a year. Last year there were 1,000,000 runaway teenagers. 40 to 46 ran away because of abuse and neglect. The average age of these youth is 14 and going down all the time. Two-thirds of the homes in America are now broken homes. Nearly half of all marriages end in divorce. Police expect 1,000,000 cases of child abuse to be reported this year. In Los Angeles there are an estimated 3,000 prostitutes under the age of 14. Last year 4,000 teen committee suicides, and a reported 80,000 others tried.

What are these kids trying to tell us? Remember the saying — "If everything else fails, read the instructions." We're reading the results of failing to abide by the instructions of the manufacturer — God's Word.

A look at life

"Look at the red kite up there! See how high it's flying!"

The little boy follows her finger, and she is warmed and gratified by his smile of appreciation.

It seems as if mothers are eternally anxious to make sure that their children get all there is to get out of life—that they miss nothing.

Mothers would, if they could, show their children all that there is to see and give them everything—time for fun, time for play—new clothes, new toys, a television to watch cartoons, endless red kites and bright yellow balloons and, later, skis and sports cars.

Yet, in this eagerness to show and to give, aren't they in danger of overlooking some of the most important things of all? What of beauty, of serenity, of joy—the knowledge of God's goodness, His love, and familiarity with His house on earth... the Church?

Tween 12 and 20 —

What's better-- love or friendship?

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 17 years old and I care for this certain guy very much. We go places and do things together and we go out for lunch almost every day.

We are not going together. We're just friends. I would like our relationship to be more but everyone says "friendship" is better than being serious. Your opinion please. — Jan, Walnut Creek, Calif.

Jan: My best friend is my wife.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 14 and my boyfriend is 25. I really love him and would do anything to please him.

I'm troubled because if we were to get married he would continue to see all of his old girlfriends and I would have to accept it.

He also keeps old love letters (not mine) and refuses to get rid of them.

With what I'm telling you, do you think I should marry him? — Theresa, McAllen, Texas.

Dr. Wallace: I received a jacket from my parents for my birthday and I really loved it, but when I wore it once, my friends all said it was weird and I've never worn it since.

My mom and dad keep asking me why I don't wear the jacket (it was expensive) and I keep making up excuses.

Now I hate the jacket and will never wear it but I don't want to hurt my parents' feelings. Please help. — J.J., San Francisco, Calif.

J.J.: At no age is peer pressure more evident than the teen years.

I know it takes a lot of "guts" to say, "Sorry, I'll do it my way" but too often we bow to our friends because we don't want to be laughed at.

Be honest with your parents. Tell them that you did like the jacket, but that it is not in vogue and your friends think it's weird. They might not like the reason, but they should understand.

When tillage begins, other arts, follow. The farmer, therefore, are the founders of human civilization.

Most men who run down women are running down one woman.

IRS offertory hymn: "Take Our Bread." Mom's, don't get the idea that your delivery days are over when you give birth to your child...you'll be delivering that child for the sixteen years.

Speaking about delivering, Big Spring Seed & Chemical, 802 N.E. 2nd will deliver Bulk Fertilizer to you. We also have work gloves, water, coolers, seed, dog food, Treflan, Prowl, Quantit-10 fertilizer, and many other items. Want to disorientate your male nematodes? Come in and get Temik! Call 267-1310 or drop by for coffee.

Theresa: If you wouldn't have included your name and address, I'd have sworn that yours was a crank letter. I won't go into the "he's too old for you" ritual (but he is). If you were 29, I'd give you the same answer.

Tell this guy to continue seeing all of his old girlfriends but to stop seeing you and mean it.

Dr. Wallace: I am an attractive young senior with a beautiful shape. The problem that I have is that I constantly bite my fingernails. Whenever I'm on a date, I wear gloves.

I have tried to stop biting my nails but nothing seems to work. Help! — Brenda, Windsor, Ontario, Canada.

Brenda: In your case, nail biting is a habit which means you bite your nails without realizing it. To break this habit, it must take a conscious decision and a lot of willpower.

In the morning take a few minutes to clean and shape your nails the best you can. Polish your nails at first. This might act as a reminder not to bite.

Spend a few moments every hour looking at your fingernails. Be aware of them. Try to catch yourself each time you are tempted to fall back into the old habit.

Winners named

The sixth, seventh and eighth grade winners have been named in the special art exhibit which was on display the past week at the Heritage Museum.

Sixth and seventh grade winners are, first place, Darwin Miller; second place, Greg Nelson; third place, Quang Mai; and fourth place, Manuel Ruiz.

Eighth grade winners in the linoleum block division include first and second place, Heidi Brown; and third place, Khal Nguyen.

In the eighth grade drawing division, first and second place went to Jeff Whiteside. Third place was won by Tammy Martin.

Now on display at the Heritage Museum until May 17 are exhibits by high school students from Big Spring and Forsan.

Hints for physically limited homemakers

Homemakers with physical limitations can make work easier, says Linda McCormack, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, by using the following principles of work simplification:

(1) Arrange a special work place for each job. Keep supplies and equipment stored in fixed work places. Pre-position tools and supplies so that they can be grasped and used immediately.

Adjust the work-place height to the person and the job. Do not store often-used items out of reach.

(2) Select the right tools and equipment to do the job. Eliminate unnecessary motions like "smoothing" a bed. Locate machine switches and controls within easy reach. Select appliances with accessible controls. Change location of switches where possible, or use electric cords with their own switches.

(3) Choose equipment for multiple use. Do not buy one-use-only appliances. Try to use multi-purpose appliances, such as electric skillet, blender, toaster-oven.

(4) Use body efficiently. Sit to work whenever possible. Select a comfortable chair with adequate support for the back, or use a stool for short-time jobs.

Barricks, auxiliary attend convention

Sixteen members of the Veteran's of World War I Barracks No. 1474 and its Ladies' Auxiliary attended the 19th District Spring Convention April 28 at Citizens Center in Lubbock.

The next district meeting will be held at Big Spring in October.

A joint morning session was called to order by Commander Tom Gill of the Lubbock Barracks 1489. The welcoming address was given by Lubbock's City Councilman Bud Adderton with the response by Fritz Magford of Colorado City Barracks. Introduction of the 19th District officers was given by Commander M. Ireland and District President Jennie Barber.

A memorial service was also conducted by Maxie Ireland.

Mrs. Barber presided at the auxiliary's afternoon business session. Lennie Hardesty of Crosbyton presented the treasurer's report. Each auxiliary president gave a report on the activities of their auxiliary for the past year.

Election of district officers was conducted by Jett Russell, department membership chairman of Seymour, Tex.

Elected for 1979-1980 year were Orna Gill, Lubbock, president; Naomi Lowery, Lubbock, senior vice president; Virginia Wade, Lubbock, junior vice president; Bernice Micallef, Big Spring, conductress; Eula M. Phillips, Big Spring, chaplain; Virginia Bryant, Big Spring, guard; and Viola Younger, Big Spring, secretary.

Tom Gill, Lubbock was elected commander of District 10. Louise Neidermeier, Fort Worth, conducted the installation.

Dear Abby

Her Chest Holds No Hope

DEAR ABBY: Where can I get silicone injections to enlarge my breasts? I live in Pennsylvania and was told that injections are illegal in this state. In which states are they legal?

I wanted silicone implants but they are too expensive for me. Also, do I have to prove I'm 18 before a doctor will mess around with me? Sign me "Flat as a board" or...

A CARPENTER'S DREAM

DEAR DREAM: Silicon INJECTIONS are illegal in every state of the U.S.A. No physician will "mess around" with a minor. It's a major offense.

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 30, and for nearly five years I have carried one of your columns in my wallet. It is so worn I can scarcely read it, but it has done me more good than any single thing I've ever read. Please reprint it, Abby, for girls who need the advice as much today as I did then. I am enclosing the column. I am the girl who wrote the letter signed MOTHER HATER.

Sincerely yours
WISER NOW

DEAR WISER: Yes, I'll reprint the column. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: You will probably think I am a monster, but I am a girl of 14, and I hate my parents. Especially my mother.

She is so old-fashioned it's pitiful. She wants to pick out all my clothes and tell me how to wear my hair. I am the only girl in our crowd who doesn't wear eye makeup. She won't let me go in cars with boys. All she worries about is my reputation, and I swear I haven't done anything wrong. She is killing my chances to go with the right kids and be popular.

Don't tell me to talk it over with her because she will only give me a long lecture on this bull about how it's all for my "own good." I would like to be able to tell her things, but, heck, I don't want to get killed. I hate to sneak behind her back, but I have no choice. I sure wish I had a different mother.

MOTHER HATER

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who smiles a lot in his sleep?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: He's lucky. He could TALK in his sleep.

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (25 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212

Leftist guerrillas burn six persons to death

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — El Salvador's military government reported leftist guerrillas burned six persons to death in buses as thousands turned out for the funeral of 17 anti-government demonstrators.

Government spokesman Col. Rafael Flores Lima said guerrillas of the Popular Liberation Forces shot up two buses near Arcatao, a village 54 miles north of San Salvador, and set them afire Thursday. He said four passengers and two drivers burned to death before they could escape.

The Popular Liberation Forces is one of three underground leftist armies fighting a guerrilla war against President Carlos Humberto Romero's military regime.

More than 15,000 persons turned out for the funeral of the demonstrators, who were cut down by police bullets Tuesday as they rallied outside San Salvador's cathedral in support of anti-government militants occupying the cathedral and the Costa Rican and French embassies.

The rough pine coffins were brought out of the cathedral and placed on the bloodstained steps as mourners marched and chanted "Down With Repression!" and "We Want Freedom!"

The bodies, some in shrouds, others in tattered bloody clothing, were transferred to more expensive wooden caskets, and pallbearers from the crowd hoisted them on their shoulders for a politically-charged march to the cemetery that lasted three hours.

Along the 20-block route, the marchers chanted, "End The Tyranny!" "It's The Color Of Blood We Will Never Forget!" "Socialism Is Coming, No One Can Stop It!" and "Victory Forever!"

Four of the dead were women, and one was pregnant.

The marchers took turns shouldering the coffins. They wore gas masks against the stench of the corpses, which had lain on the cathedral steps or inside for almost two days in 90-degree heat.

"Glory To The Dead Of May 8," read a big banner carried by some of the marchers as the procession wound through San Salvador's narrow streets. Thousands lined balconies and rooftops to watch the march go by.

The government said secret negotiations with the leftists in the French Embassy broke down Thursday.

Mayor to force cover-up

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Mayor Bill Briare says he wants to rewrite the law in a way that may force actress Marilyn Chambers to stage a cover-up.

Briare says he'll propose an ordinance requiring that the public area be covered during performances in any establishment with a city liquor or gaming license. He claimed the change was not directed at Ms. Chambers' nude performance in "Sex Surrogate," a play at the Jolly Trolley casino on the city's famed Strip.

But, he added, "a convention city like Las Vegas just does not need this sort of image."

Ali 'outgrown' the ring

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali, never one to underestimate himself, says he has outgrown the ring.

"I'm a tycoon. I'm a world traveler. I'm too big for boxing. There's money to be made," Ali said Thursday.

"Boxing is great. Boxing is a good thing. Boxing made me what I am. But now I'm going on to bigger things," he said. Ali thus seemed to reconfirm what the sports world has been predicting — that he would not defend his title before a September deadline.

Ali spoke to reporters by telephone from Chicago during a news conference here promoting next week's 10-card match between Ali-sponsored amateurs and those led by former heavyweight champ Joe Frazier.

First Lady supports pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Rosalynn Carter, a Baptist, says her first meeting with Pope John Paul II was "an uplifting religious experience" and she supports his commitment to peace and human rights.

Mrs. Carter discussed human rights, refugee problems and the Middle East with the leader of the world's Roman Catholics during a 30-minute audience in the pope's private library Thursday.

Interest rates up on bonds

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The government has increased the interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds for the first time in 5 1/2 years, meaning extra money for millions of Americans.

The increase announced Thursday takes effect June 1 and raises the interest rate from 6 percent to 6 1/2 percent on bonds held to maturity.

Carolyn M. Johnston, director of public affairs for the Savings Bond Division of the Treasury Department, said that statisticians were still calculating what the increase would mean in dollars and cents to individual bond holders.

In general terms, however, she said that holders of Series E bonds will be able to collect more when the bonds reach maturity; if you buy a $25 bond, you will get more than $25 when it reaches maturity. Holders of Series H bonds, meanwhile, will get an increase in the semi-annual payments they receive. Bondholders do not have to do anything to get the extra interest; it is automatic.

Ms. Johnston said the raise means the government will have to pay about $400 million in additional interest each year on the nearly $81 billion worth of bonds held by some 25 million American families.

The interest rate on Savings Bonds has not been increased since Dec. 1, 1973, and critics have charged that the bonds represented a poor investment for small savers who saw their interest eaten up by inflation and who could earn more money elsewhere.

"Interest rates in general have been rising," Ms. Johnston said. The increase "keeps it (the Savings Bond) more competitive."

The two most common bonds now in existence are the Series E and Series H. Under a plan announced earlier this year, the Treasury Department is phasing out these bonds and replacing them with Series EE and Series HH bonds starting next Jan. 2.

FOLLOW THE BOUNCING BALL — Waiting for others to putt out, Tom Watson of Kansas City, Ks., bounces his ball on the head of his putter during the first round of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic in Dallas Thursday.

Watson takes lead in Byron Nelson Classic

DALLAS (AP) — Defending champion Tom Watson, a dues-paying member of Preston Trail Golf Club, parred a raindelayed final hole today to finish with a 6-under-par 64 and grab the first-round lead in the soggy $300,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic. Watson was standing on the ninth tee box, after completing 17 holes Thursday, when heavy rains forced 39 golfers in the 155-man field to complete play today. Watson completed his round with six birdies and no bogeys. He was just a stroke off the course record he shares with Buddy Allin.

The rains poodled Preston Trail again early today but the second round was under way. Larry Nelson held the overnight lead, having completed his first round with a 5-underpar 65. George Burns was at 66 and the trio of Brad Bryant, Lanny Wadkins and Morris Hatalsky at 67. Arnold Palmer was among a quartet at 68. In his victories in the Heritage Classic, which he won by five strokes, and the Tournament of Champions, which he won by six shots, Watson led from start to finish. He was second in four other tournaments. Nelson, like Watson, had a bogey-free round. He had birdies on Nos. 2, 5, 11, 15 and 17. "I kinda scraped around on the front side, but I played a little better on the back side. "I picked a lot of right clubs today. I used the wrong club only once, or maybe I hit badly with the right club then. I never had a bad lie, and I chipped well." Jim Dent, who led the first two rounds of last year's tournament, was one of many, including Lee Trevino, at evenpar 70. Conditions here preceding the first round were dry, providing a good roll and rewarding the straight hitters. But rain fell early Thursday, softening the fairways and greens.

Bass Club hosting tournament tomorrow

The Big Spring Bass Club will hold its May tournament tomorrow at the Twin Buttes Lake, Lake Nasworthy or O.C. Fisher. All are in the San Angelo area. Fishing times are from six a.m. to six p.m. The weigh-in will be at Twin Buttes Marina at 6 p.m.

The dues to join the club are a dollar a month for the remainder of the year. The club meets for the first Thursday of each month and tournaments are usually the second weekend of the month. Each tournament also costs five dollars entry fee, with a dollar calcutta for the biggest fish.

Last year's club champion was Maxey Ware, but Jerry Dudley is running away from the competition this year. Ken Sprinkle is in second place. Floyd Klaus has the biggest single fish of the year at seven pounds, four ounces. Billy Ward is second at six pounds, seven ounces.

Sprinkle had the biggest three fish string catch this year, with the total being 15 pounds, eight ounces. Second is Vic Keys at 15 pounds.

SWC track meet opens today

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — University of Houston shot put and discus expert Mark Baughman, whose occasional hobby is shooting mice with a blowgun, says contrary to myth, weight men aren't flaky. "I guess we're a little different from other track athletes because our event involves more emphasis on strength," the defending Southwest Conference discus champion said. "But I don't think we're really flaky. "It's just that the physical requirements set us apart from, say a long jumper or a distance runner." Baughman hopes to set himself apart from the rest of the discus and shot put contenders beginning today in the 64th annual SWC track and field meet at Texas' Memorial Stadium.

Baughman, the National Collegiate Athletic Association indoor national champion in the shot put, will try to beat off the challenges of Texas freshman Oskar Jakobsson of Iceland, and Texas A&M's Tim Scott in both shot put and discus events. Several other individual struggles likely will spice the two-day track and field circus include a battle between sprinters Curtis Dickey of Texas A&M and Houston's Rich Edwards in the 100 meters, 800 meter leaders Bruce Gingrich of Rice and James Mays of Texas Tech and Doc King of Rice, trying for his third straight 100 meter hurdle title.

Baughman is almost as adept with his two-foot long blowgun as he is when he picks up a shot put or discus. He started playing around with the blowgun while working at a summer night watchman's job in a nursery. He cured his boredom by shooting at mice. "I hit a few mice," he laughed. "I shoot it mostly in the dorm. We set up target ranges in the hall. My record for shooting a dart is about 85 yards on the field." The Texas Longhorns, strong in the field events and both relays, is the early team favorite, but defending champion Texas A&M and Houston, also strong in the field events, are top challengers. Baylor and Rice have been hampered by injuries. Dickey, the defending 100 meters champion, will get a strong challenge from Edwards in this year's event. Dickey, who missed much of the early track season because of spring football practice, won the Drake Relays 100 meters in 10.34. Edwards won the Penn Relays in 10.35 and nipped Dickey at the tape twice when the pair ran anchor legs on their school's 400 meter relay teams. Preliminaries and finals were scheduled today in the long jump, javelin and discus along with preliminaries in all running events. Running events finals will be Saturday night. Gingrich won the SWC 800 meters event last year but was disqualified for impeding a Texas runner. Mays has the fastest time going into the meet at 1:47.14 and Gingrich is second at 1:47.17 in a lightning quick field.

Montreal nips Boston in OT

MONTREAL (AP) — Larry Robinson, the Montreal Canadiens' All-Star defenseman, just didn't feel ready for an early summer. Neither did Guy Lafleur, Jacques Lemaire and Yvon Lambert. Trailing 3-1 after two periods, the Canadiens fought back to tie the count, rally again for a 4-3 deficit and go on to edge the Boston Bruins 5-4 Thursday on Lambert's goal at 9:33 of overtime.

Lambert steered in a pass from Mario Tremblay, then was buried by jubilant teammates in a pie-on as the Canadiens captured the deciding seventh game of a tough National Hockey League semifinal. Now the Canadiens, who were less than two minutes away from elimination, get a shot at the surprising New York Rangers and a chance for a fourth consecutive Stanley Cup championship. "When we were down 3-1, I knew that if we didn't go out and work our butts off, it was going to be an early summer," Robinson said. "I didn't feel ready for an early summer. If you don't give your all here, you're on holiday. You just can't say die until the last second. "Are we tired? We've got nothing to be tired about. At the most, we have seven games left. And that's for all the money. It would be a shame to throw it out the window." The Canadiens outshot the Bruins 52-30, not counting all the drives that were just off the net, but were frustrated repeatedly by Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert.

OVERTIME WIN — Boston Bruins' Brad Park (left) arrives at the net too late to block the shot by Montreal Canadiens' Yvon Lambert (center) which gave the Canadiens an overtime win in Stanley Cup semi-final action at Montreal Thursday night. The puck went underneath Bruins' goalkeeper Gilles Gilbert to put the Canadiens ahead 5-4 and give them a berth in the playoff final against the New York Rangers. (CP LASERPHOTO).

Three Montreal goals were scored on power plays, the last by Lafleur with 1:14 left in regulation after the Bruins were penalized for having too many men on the ice. "On the penalty, I'll take the blame," said Boston Coach Don Cherry, whose contract now expires. "It was my fault. We played as best we could. A lot of our guys played a super game. It was a tough one to lose. I feel like crying for my players." "This game was for the Cup, as far as I'm concerned," said Gilbert. "I said before the game whoever wins is going to win the Cup. I still think so." The Canadiens showed their toughness and spirit in closing out the series and defeating Boston in the Forum for the 15th consecutive time since 1976.

Doug Risebrough had a mask fitted to protect a broken nose, Bob Gainey came back after requiring 10 stitches to close a cut above his right ankle and veteran defenseman Guy Lapointe was carted off on a stretcher in the third period with torn ligaments in his left knee.

Texas Demo's bid more sedate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dallas representatives hoping to land the 1980 Democratic national convention for Texas put across their offer more sedately than their three competitors. But the message was clear—almost unlimited Texas wealth from the private sector is available to let the Democrats prepare for the 1980 presidential campaign freed from convention debts.

The site selection panel of the Democratic National Committee was to narrow the field to two today, with its choices among Dallas, New York City, Detroit and Philadelphia.

The selection for the August 1980 convention site is scheduled for June 28 after the selection committee makes field visits to the finalists.

Dallas' presentation followed a million-dollar bid by Philadelphia said to be the highest the committee had ever received.

Earlier, New York City imported some Radio City Music Hall Rockettes to sing "I Love New York," and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young reminded the Democrats that the Republicans chose his city for their 1960 convention to prove an urban commitment.

Dallas representatives said that unlike the other cities they would not be able to offer any public funds for the convention, but all costs would be absorbed by the private sector.

Ron Kessler, Dallas

County Democratic chairman, said his estimates showed the convention would cost between $500,000 and $3 million.

"How in the world is it possible for private individuals to put up this magnitude of money? I just can't see it," said selection committee member Sharon Rockefeller of West Virginia. "You really believe you can raise all that money?"

Kessler replied: "Yes."

Ted Strauss, a Dallas banker who is chairman of the local host committee promising to raise the money, added, "If we didn't, Mrs. Rockefeller, we wouldn't be here today. ... That answer is not a simplistic boast."

The host committee is a bipartisan group including "rich Republicans, rich Democrats," Strauss said. "We can raise this kind of funds if we have the convention."

He said Dallas' offer is actually from the whole state, where the last national political convention was held in Houston in 1928.

"This will be an offer by the entire state of Texas—the most vigorous, vibrant place in the world," Strauss said. "Needless to say, Texas is important to the Democratic party."

The state has 26 electoral votes.

The convention would be held at the Dallas Convention Center, where the main hall could seat almost 20,000 persons. Representatives promised more than 17,500 hotel rooms.

EVEN SUPERSTARS RUN OUT OF GAS — O.J. Simpson, "The Juice" fills up his Thunderbird after waiting in the long line behind him in Pasadena, Calif. Thursday. Simpson had just finished shooting a "Tree Sweet" orange juice commercial. Simpson wears number 32, his professional football uniform number.

PBPA annual meeting scheduled at Midland

The 17th annual meeting of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association has been scheduled for May 18 at the Hilton Hotel in Midland.

Agenda for the all-day meeting includes: a luncheon at noon; followed by a business session at 2:30 p.m., the President's Reception at 7 p.m., and the banquet at 8 p.m. All events will be held at the Midland Hilton.

Featured speaker for the luncheon will be Jack Allen, president of Independent Petroleum Association of America. The luncheon program will also include recognition of PBPA Scholarship runners-up and presentation of the Energy Secretary of the Year Award. The award is made each year by Richard S. Gaddy, a Midland Oilman.

The business session following the luncheon will feature a report on President Carter's decontrol proposals as well as reports from various association committees.

Sponsors at the year's meeting are: Lone Star Steel, luncheon sponsor; Permian Corp., Fort Worth Pipe & Supply and Cardinal Companies, sponsors of the President's Reception. The banks of Odessa are sponsors this year for the annual banquet. Each year the banks of Midland and Odessa alternate in sponsoring the event.

Banquet speaker will be Thomas Donohue, vice president of development, U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Before joining the U.S.

Tough, sardanic Sen. Dole graduates from briar patch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Bob Dole figures he's graduated from the briar patch — but he's brought along some thorns to distribute among his rivals for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination.

Dole played the political tough guy as the GOP candidate for vice president in 1976. He said President Gerald R. Ford assigned him that role.

So while Ford campaigned from the White House, Dole was the man on the road for the Republican ticket, campaigning head-on against the Democrats as "the point man, the lightning rod." He handled the hard line, in a sarcastic style that sometimes drew complaints even from Republicans.

"It was my role to take the heat — that's why I was on the ticket," he said after the 1976 election. "That's the hand I was dealt and I played it the best I could."

This time, it is Dole's campaign. He is heading home to Russell, Kan., Monday to say that, yes, he is running for president in 1980.

Dole says his experience, competence and energy will set him apart from others in what probably will be a 10-man field. Of course, the others all say about the same thing for themselves.

They also say they are going to campaign positively, emphasizing their own qualifications and not trying to cut up other Republicans. That is customary, almost obligatory, in the months before the direct competition begins.

Dole says that his vice-presidential campaign is an asset because of the recognition it brought. He also says his candidacy strengthened the Ford ticket, although his critics disagree.

This time, Dole says, his campaign will be better organized and, "We'll be setting the tone, I'll be the candidate."

He said the tone will be positive, but he obviously hasn't forgotten what he learned in the political briar patch. Dole was a tough, sardanic campaigner long before Ford picked him for the 1976 ticket.

Just for openers, in a half-hour conversation Dole had some thoughts on rival Republican candidates.

"I think I'm about the right age," he said. "I'm here where the action is." Dole is 55 and a senator. Ronald Reagan is 68 and a former governor. Age is a factor, Dole said, adding quickly that he isn't going to raise it as an issue.

Then there's John B. Connally. "He is a short-term Republican," observed Dole. Connally was a Democrat until 1973.

"I don't intend to make an issue of it," Dole said. "I like Connally and (George) Bush and Baker and the rest of them."

Baker is Howard H. Jr., the Senate minority leader. "I don't shrink from talking about the Panama Canal treaty just because Howard Baker voted for it," said Dole, thus offering both a disclaimer and a reminder that Baker supported the treaty to relinquish U.S. control of the canal. That's still a sore point with GOP conservatives.

That's relatively mild stuff. But then, it's only 1979.

Senate okays local option bingo games

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Senators approved a local option bingo proposal Thursday after Sen. Bill Moore jokingly asked if it would allow atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair to "open up a bingo game."

Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, assured Moore his bingo bill was limited to religious societies "organized primarily for religious purposes."

"She might take it to the Supreme Court — and she'd win," chided Moore, D-Bryan.

Mrs. O'Hair broke up an Austin church bingo game in October 1977 and accused police of not doing their duty by following up with arrests.

Schwartz's "Bingo Enabling Act" was sent to the House, 22-7.

If approved by the House, it would go into effect if Texans vote to change the state constitution and legalize bingo.

The Texas Constitution prohibits bingo, but a proposed constitutional amendment by Schwartz has cleared the Senate and the House, with amendments.

Schwartz, D-Galveston, said Thursday he would asked the Senate to accept House amendments, which would require quarterly reports to be filed with the state comptroller on how much money was taken in at bingo games and how it was spent.

Bingo games for money would be limited to non-profit organizations, such as churches, charities, fraternal and veterans groups and volunteer fire departments.

The proposed constitutional amendment legalizing bingo would be voted on Nov. 4, 1980.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAY 12, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning finds you able to work out a campaign of action to gain your most cherished longings. In the evening you able to comprehend an activity best suited to your nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Handle regular routines early in the day and then you can engage in favorite hobby with congenials. Take needed health treatments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make positive plans for the future and put more effort in the right direction. Use tact in handling one who is upset.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle regular chores in the early part of the day so you will have more time for recreational activity later.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Think of the best possible way to spend this day and carry through. Take time to improve your health and appearance.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't commit yourself to anything you cannot handle well. Spend as much time as you can with the one you love.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be sure to have a discussion with a trusted friend before you delve into an unknown adventure. Take needed exercise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Figure out a better way of handling your responsibilities. Use care in motion today and avoid possible mishap.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Handle personal affairs early in the day and later engage in social activities you enjoy. Try to be less critical of others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Analyze your position in life and take steps for improvement. Try to establish more harmony at home.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle private matters in a most astute manner and gain the respect of others. Your hunches are accurate now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Schedule your time and activities well so you can accomplish more. Discuss the future with family members.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Seek new outlets that could prove lucrative and give you added income in the days ahead. Make new contacts of worth.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those dynamic persons with more energy than most others and should be kept active since the mind is quick. Be sure to give good spiritual and ethical training early in life, and provide a good education.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

 Cold front triggers tornado Thursday

A slow moving cold front moved eastward across Texas today, triggering thunderstorms, very heavy rains and at least one tornado.
 The National Weather Service issued a tornado warning early today for northern sections of McLennan County and southern sections of Hill County after radar indicated a tornado near the town of West in Central Texas.
 There were no immediate reports of damage.

 Draft to be renewed?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Boys reaching age 16 this year will have to register as potential draftees when they turn 18 if a measure approved by the House Armed Services Committee becomes law.
 The committee voted 30-4 Thursday to renew draft registration starting Jan. 1, 1981, but there is no indication whether the full Congress will go along.
 The House may act as early as next week on the registration provision, which is contained in a $42 billion weapons authorization bill. The overall bill was approved by the committee, 35-2.
 The draft itself would remain suspended even if the registration provision becomes law. The measure under consideration would require young men to merely register so mobilization would be speeded up in case the draft is ever reinstated for a war or emergency.
 However, a House Armed Services subcommittee plans hearings within the next two months on a proposal to go one step further and draft up to 200,000 men a year into the Army Individual Ready Reserve.
 The measure approved by Congress how a registration system should be carried out and, as part of that, whether women should be included.
 President Carter has taken no position on draft registration.
